LOCAL PEOPLE AT HOME FROM TRIP TO FAR NORTH

Make Journey Part Way In Autos, Then Take Ship for Alaskan Shores

A 5500-mile trip to The Land-of-the-Midnight-Snow was enjoyed by a party of Glendale folk who returned yesterday from Alaska.

Two automobiles pulled out of local garages early in July bound for the north. One contained Mr. and Mrs. Harry W. Chase and daughter, Margaret, and the other contained Mrs. Louise G. Wood and son, Dale Wood. Both families reside at 1470 East Wilson avenue.

After passing through the red-wood forests, the party reached Eugene, Ore., where it was joined by R. J. Williams, who is a professor in the University of Oregon, and wife.

Vancouver was visited first and the party then turned south again to Seattle. Here the steamship, Queen, of the Admiral line, was boarded for the 2500-mile trip up the coast to Skagway and back. En route the boat stopped at several ports to load and discharge cargo and its passengers had an excellent opportunity to enjoy the scenery which compares favorably with the scenery of Norway.

Huge Block of Ice
The Kaku glacier, which is reported to be the largest in Alaska, was approached within half a mile by the Queen. This huge block of ice stands 300 feet high from the edge of the water and is about twenty-seven miles long. Occasionally a chunk drops off and then there is another iceberg.

One of these icebergs was struck by this vessel one night. Fortunately it was a small one. Very little damage was done, although there was considerable excitement on board at the time. "The captain got up on the bridge pretty quick in his night clothes," remarked Dale Wood. "About that time they got a wireless from somewhere to look out for icebergs."

The largest salmon cannery in Alaska, which is located at Yes Bay, was visited by the party. This was not in operation, but other canneries visited were, so the tourists had a chance to observe the magnitude of this industry. They were told that millions of fish were canned every year and that the men who haul them in get 5 cents apiece.

H. S. WEBB HOME FROM GOLF BOUT

Local Business Man Tells of State Tournament at Del Monte

H. S. Webb, owner of H. S. Webb & Company, dry goods dealers at Brand and Broadway, returned yesterday evening from the California Pebble Beach championship tournament staged at Del Monte last week.

Leaving here a week ago today, Mr. Webb drove to Santa Maria, where he spent the night in company with a number of friends from Pasadena, also bound for Del Monte. Driving all the next day, he arrived in Del Monte at dinner time Wednesday evening, and stopped at the Del Monte hotel. It is between this hotel and the Lodge on Pebble Beach, that the tournament is played every year.

Excellent Courses
There are two courses, says Mr. Webb, the Del Monte and Pebble Beach, which are regarded as being as fine as any courses in the world. The Pebble Beach course is especially difficult to play on since the greens are at the edge of the ocean, while in one place the golfer must drive across a wide canyon.

Mr. Webb was entered in the tournament, and won several rounds, but was finally eliminated. The tournament, he states, was won by Jack Neville for the men's championship, and by Mary K. Brown for the women's.

There were about 800 persons at the Del Monte hotel, he says, and practically all of them were golfers. Among the guests was a Rotarian with whom Mr. Webb became well acquainted, and who, with his family, displayed the true Rotarian spirit of friendliness toward a brother Rotarian.

Leaving Del Monte Sunday morning, Mr. Webb drove to San Luis Obispo, and leaving there yesterday morning, he arrived in Glendale in time for dinner yesterday evening. His new Buick sport ran perfectly, he says, and he was delighted with the excellent service given at stations along the way.

The roads are in fine condition, says Mr. Webb, except for a 25-minute detour at Margarita Pass, and the highways are being widened, to promote safety in driving when they are crowded.

September 13 Is Last Day to Wear Straw Hat, Mister

It's time to lay away the summer straw hat.

Fashion has decreed that about this time of the year the fall hat must take first place. To be exact, there is just one more day in which to buy that new hat, for Wednesday, September 13, is the last straw hat day.

Glendale merchants are looking for a big rush the last minute, although there seems to be some question in the mind of some as to just when is the "official day" to part with the summer companion. "The official day is September 13," says A. A. Jackson, 120 E. Broadway. "There was a time when some thought it was Labor Day, but for the past several years the date has been the thirteenth."

There are wild tales as to what happens to folks who fail to note the sign of the times. But there is still time, for tomorrow is the day.

Led by Chairman P. J. Haydelson of the Glendale Advanced merchant association's transportation committee, yesterday's luncheon meeting of the Merchants' Credit association became an enthusiastic rally for the electrification of Glendale avenue.

Upon suggestion of City Manager William H. Reeves, it was unanimously voted to appoint a committee of five to personally solicit contributions to the $250,000 fund necessary to deposit in trust before the Montrose & Glendale street railway company will initiate electrification work on the present steam line. The following members of the Merchants' association were appointed: Major H. M. Butler, chairman, assisted by Dan C. Kelly, Dr. Roy Hogue, E. E. Gordon, and Ed M. Radke.

Will Solicit Downtown

The committee was instructed to solicit funds from the business and professional men and women and property owners along Brand boulevard and adjacent streets in central Glendale.

C. A. Stuart acted as chairman of the meeting, which was attended by fifty members and guests. Routine business of great value to the members was transacted. It changed that all members of the joint committee on proposed new Southern Pacific station were present, and they went into a committee meeting immediately following the association meeting.

Local Hunting Party Secures Four Deer

Four fine deer on display yesterday afternoon at the Glendale Meat market were trophies of a month's hunting trip just completed yesterday by the arrival in Glendale of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Baird of 277 North Orange street and Dr. and Mrs. T. C. Young of 400 North Kenwood street.

The four bucks, the largest of which weighed 138 pounds, are declared among the finest deer ever brought home by Glendale hunters. The deer were killed in the country around Chester, California, 145 miles northwest of Reno.

The Bairds and Youngs left Glendale a month ago and upon arriving home yesterday they had traveled 2,250 miles, the last 750 having been covered in two nights. On the last lap of the trip they left Oakland at 6:15 o'clock Sunday night and arrived in Glendale at 10 o'clock yesterday.

In addition to the deer hunting they report splendid trout fishing.

TEST YOUR WITS BY PUZZLE PAGE

Successful Ones to Receive Prizes; Watch the News to Get Answers

What state do you come from, folks?
Also, how well do you know the United States and names of these geographically and names of these United States of ours?
The Glendale Evening News today presents a puzzle page with prizes approximating $16 in value for those of you who would test your wits regarding the names of a dozen states.

J. E. Walker of the Walker Jewelry company, 115 East Broadway, has donated an $11.50 white gold filled wrist watch as a capital prize which any woman will appreciate. It has a seven-jewel Swiss movement and is of the engraved cushion shape.

A gray ribbon bracelet adds to the beauty of the watch which was selected from Walker's large stock. A merchandise order will be issued the winner next Monday evening after the page appears again with puzzles solved and the awards announced. The lucky person may then call at the store and get the valuable gift.

Holds Second Honors

Mr. Walker states that he is now the second oldest merchant in Glendale, having been in business here continuously since 1910. R. M. McGee of McGee's Dry Goods store holds first honor in this regard.

While hundreds of other merchants have come and gone in the past decade, Mr. Walker has remained to prosper and boasts of the biggest business ever. He has branched out recently and is operating a highly successful store in Burbank.

Other merchants also are co-operating in giving valuable merchandising orders which are announced on the puzzle page. So get busy, folks. It's a good game.

C. C. Dill of Spokane, former congressman, seems assured the Democratic nomination for senator, while James A. RESCUE CREWS TO REACH ENTOMBED MEN FRIDAY
JACKSON, Cal., Sept. 12.—Making ten feet during the night, the rescue crew going through the much filled drift in the 3600 foot level of the Kennedy mine completed thirty-two feet for the twenty-four hours ending at 7 a. m. today for open space leading to the entombed men in the Argonaut, leaving seventy-nine feet to go before the eighty feet of rock separating the two mines is reached. Soft muck, while offering little resistance, requires quick timbering to prevent its caving in on the rescuers. Four rounds of blasts have been fired in the 3900 foot level of the Kennedy, two being shot during the night, making a total footage of sixteen feet gained at 7 o'clock this morning since 7 a. m. yesterday, leaving 125 feet of solid rock to be penetrated before making the Argonaut's lower region. Friday is the day set by the two rival gangs when they expect to break through. While there was no official announcement, state troops are expected to be on the scene to preserve order when the men are released. This was the statement of officials of the various state bureaus. It was pointed out that after the men have been reached it will be several hours before they can be brought to the mouth of the mine.

HIGH SCHOOL SETS NEW RECORD IN ENROLLMENT

More Than 200 Pupils Now Attending Over Number There Last Fall

Enrollment today exceeds the registration at the opening of school last fall by at least 211 at Glendale Union high school.

The total registration for this semester has not been tabulated yet, but it is known that at least 1225 pupils are in school. This number have signed up for work in the English department. Although most of the students in the school have at least one class in this department, a number of seniors and upper classmen specializing in mechanical arts or commercial subjects are exempt. Consequently, it is certain that enrollment will exceed this figure. Two days after the opening of school last fall the enrollment was 1014.

Crowd Departments
Each department will be crowded to its utmost capacity as anticipated and proved by the enrollment figures compiled late yesterday afternoon by the heads of the department. These are as follows: Foreign language, 72; history, 630; mathematics, 687; mechanical arts, 166; music, 168; commercial, 616; science, 424; arts, 213; domestic science, 208; boys' physical education, 590; girls' physical education, 610.

On account of the preliminary planning given to the work of registration and the system evolved to take care of the students efficiently on the first day of school, enrollment proceeded unusually orderly and systematically. Members of the faculty expressed themselves well pleased. For the first time in several years registration was completed the first day.

Today lockers are being assigned and text books issued and lessons assigned. Tomorrow recitations will begin and students will get down to hard work.

EARLY RESIDENT IS 'HOME' AGAIN

Guy E. Rice Is Back; Finds Many Changes Here In Time He Was Gone

Guy E. Rice, who lived here when "Glendale was just a mud" way back in 1887 until 1909, is "home again" as a member of the Parks-Malone Realty company firm and will have charge of the Fontana Farms department.

Mr. Rice lived in the Tropico section and attended the first high school here which held sessions in the present sanitarium building on East Broadway, built originally for a hotel.

"I used to drive a horse and buggy to school," he reminisced last evening "and along the way I would pick up four or five others who lived in the southern part of the community.

"In those days the present business section was nothing but a field full of jack rabbits. After twenty years away from ranching and have prospered on one of the Fontana farms where grapes, peanuts, melons, figs and other crops do well.

"I have left the ranch in charge of a foreman to get others here to join me in farming this great section of San Bernardino county."

Rev. H. D. Casebeer to Attend Council

Rev. H. D. Casebeer, superintendent of the Spanish department of the general conference of Seventh Day Adventist churches, is to leave Friday for Kansas City, Mo., to attend the annual international autumn council of churchmen. J. E. McElhaney, head of the Pacific Union conference with headquarters in Glendale, will also attend the council, going as head representative of the Pacific section.

Rev. Casebeer's work is most interesting, covering as it does the territory in the southern part of the United States from California to Florida. He is in charge of the evangelistic, educational and medical activities and oversees the administration of the Spanish training school at Phoenix, Arizona.

Alfred Folsom, who reported his bicycle stolen last night from his yard at 118 North Isabel street, found it this morning on the premises of the Glendale Sanitarium.

FRESNO MAN HAS GLENDALE BOOST

Attractive Window Display Important, He Says; Signs Also Help

"The most attractive window displays for any city of its size," that was the verdict of Alfred Kuehn, Fresno manager of the Pacific Coast Paper company, who recently spent several days in this city.

"I am a strong booster for Fresno," said Mr. Kuehn, "and we also, we do things up there, but I have thoroughly enjoyed my visit in your city."

In many of the smaller towns merchants are sometimes careless as to the manner in which they display their wares. Not so for Glendale. A walk up the principal streets will convince anyone that Glendale is on the way to being a big city.

The master of electric signs also interested me, for that, too, is an indication of a city that's up and doing."

Eight New Members Received by C. of C.

The Chamber of Commerce luncheon was just concluding and the business session of the second autumn forum meeting started today as The Evening News went to press. The first business to come up was the reports of the five special joint civic-organization committees.

The following new members were accepted: Betty Ellen Shop, 215 South Brand, Ready-to-wear shop; Bruner Marble & Tile Co., 615 Marsh-Strong Bldg., L. A., marble, tile and stone; E. R. Ripley Co., 200 W. Broadway, real estate and insurance; Gardner's Grocery store, 1011 E. Colorado Blvd., groceries and meats; Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Gardner, 125 W. Mountain St., artists; Parks & Malone, 131 S. Brand Blvd., real estate; Premier Laundry Co., 825 N. Pacific Ave.; Mitchell, J. R., 705 S. Verdugo Rd., goat dairy.

WHY NOT ENVY YOURSELF?

"How I envy the R—s," I heard a woman say the other day. "They have such a lovely home and with that money she has inherited they never need to worry about money, and they are both so fond of music. They must be perfectly happy."

I didn't tell the lady, because I would have been a breach of confidence, but I happen to know that they are not perfectly happy. On the contrary, they are not satisfied with their lovely home, because they wish they had chosen another location. The money that she has inherited makes trouble between them. And though they are both fond of music, they are jealous of each other's ability. Finally, he wants his mother to come and live with them and she isn't willing. These are just a few of the little obstacles that stand between them and happiness. The very same kind of obstacles you and I have had experience with. And yet these people seem to an outsider perfectly happy.

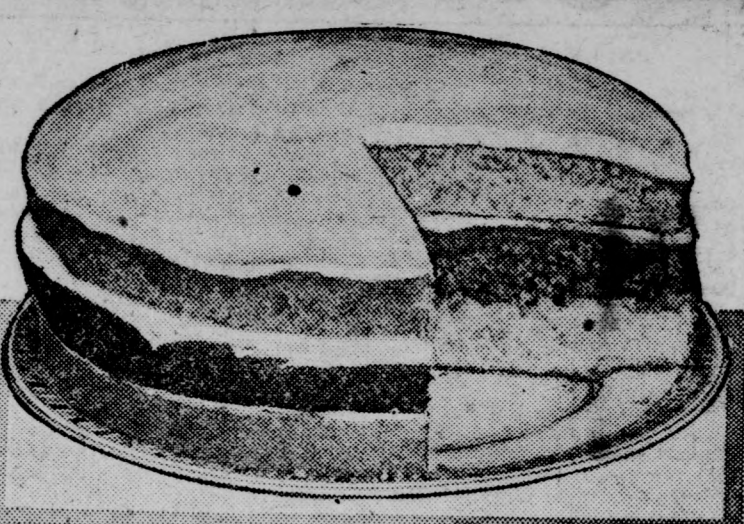

A Cause of Discontent

I wish I might have told her the truth, because I think a great deal of our own discontent comes from fancying other people are happier than we are.

Very few people are thoroughly happy. Or perhaps I should say, very few people know that they are happy at the time.

They may find it out afterwards, when they have had some big trouble, but to find out that you

Flapper Cake Proves Popular With Lots Of People and This Tells How It's Made

There is little doubt that the cake eater is a man of intelligence when he eats cake like this, nor that the flapper is a wise young woman when she serves this three-layered enticement to her suitors.

This was served by a dietetic expert to give the greatest variety of satisfactions—palatability, digestibility, novelty, sweetness and lightness and prettiness. The top and the bottom layer are plain. The middle layer is spiced. The icing is snow white delight.

You can begin to train your hair by brushing back each side, turning the ends under, and holding them in place with either a comb or a hairpin, and by fastening the ends in back in the same fashion. You will have to part your hair into three sections to accomplish this.

Fast arriving fall merchandise is taking the place of the lighter goods—a good sign that autumn is on the way.

They Say That

"The aeroplane of the future will be at once the most graceful and sublime machine ever created by the hand of man."

This is the statement of M. Anthony Fokker, the celebrated Dutch aeroplane inventor, who is now in England securing designs and plans which he will use in his work in furthering military and commercial aviation in the United States.

Aeroplane services crossing the Atlantic five or six times a day, and aeroplanes capable of destroying entire cities in a few hours, are the predictions which Fokker makes.

"The aeroplane of the future depends almost entirely on motor and fuel development," Fokker says. "If this continues at the same rate of progress we shall very shortly have completely noiseless machines racing every twenty minutes as regularly as the modern train service in all directions."

"The actual size and speed of the machines will not increase so enormously as the numbers employed. Some 120 miles per hour, with a range of several hundreds of miles will be the standard model for commercial purposes during the next ten years."

"Passenger machines will not, in the immediate future, hold more than twenty or thirty passengers; and bombing aeroplanes will be unable to carry much more than 15,000 pounds weight of explosives."

"Freight machines will, of course, be kept as distinct from passenger machines as are goods trains and expresses de luxe on a railway line."

"In twenty years' time the Atlantic will be bridged by an air service running five or six times a day. In fifty years' time I prophesy that the machines will contain all the comforts and attractions of a big ocean liner."

IS VACCINATION HARMLESS?

In the anti-vaccination literature not only are facts which show how vaccination has prevented smallpox suppressed, but isolated cases of the harm done by vaccination are given with the inference that these are common occurrences. Thus the danger from vaccination is enormously magnified.

However, vaccination is not always harmless any more than a scratch of any kind is harmless. We have heard of pin pricks and razor scratches and the cutting of corns resulting in death. The danger from the scratch caused in making a vaccination is due to the same reason for such accidents, that unless proper care is taken, the scratch may become infected.

Most of the infections after vaccination occur in those who have neglected the wound and in whom the regard for cleanliness is slight.

Before the government inspection of vaccine was installed and before the extreme care and cleanliness which are now used in the manufacture of vaccine was practiced, sometimes the vaccine itself caused infection. Now, however, a bad sore arm is a rare occurrence and serious complications are still rarer. Compared to the benefits given by vaccination the dangers are infinitesimal.

There have been a few cases of tetanus following vaccination. The fact that lack of care is the biggest factor in these few cases is shown by the figures from the United States army and navy, which show a record of millions of vaccinations without a single case of tetanus.

Special tests for tetanus of every lot of vaccine before it is placed on the market are now required by federal regulation. If, with the care that is used in preparing the vaccine, there is proper care after vaccination, there is no danger from tetanus.

In more than five million consecutive vaccinations in England, Acland says there was but one case of tetanus, and in this one case there was no evidence that it was in the vaccine.

When human vaccine was used it was shown that syphilis and tuberculosis and other diseases might be transmitted, but this you do not have to think of at all for the vaccine that is used now is bovine vaccine.

I would not mention these complications at all were they not so

A DAINTY LUNCHEON MENU

The following menu will be found "just the thing" for one of the many showers being given for the autumn bride-to-be. None of the dishes suggested are difficult to prepare, and if the directions are carefully followed, the menu can be used by the most inexperienced little housekeeper. I have prepared the recipes for eight persons.

Fruit cups in orange baskets
Cream of celery soup
Whipped Cream
Salted Wafers
Tuna loaf
Egg sauce
Piquant potatoes
Cauliflower in cases
Butter
Hearts of lettuce, Russian dressing
Thin sandwiches
Marshmallow cream
Coffee

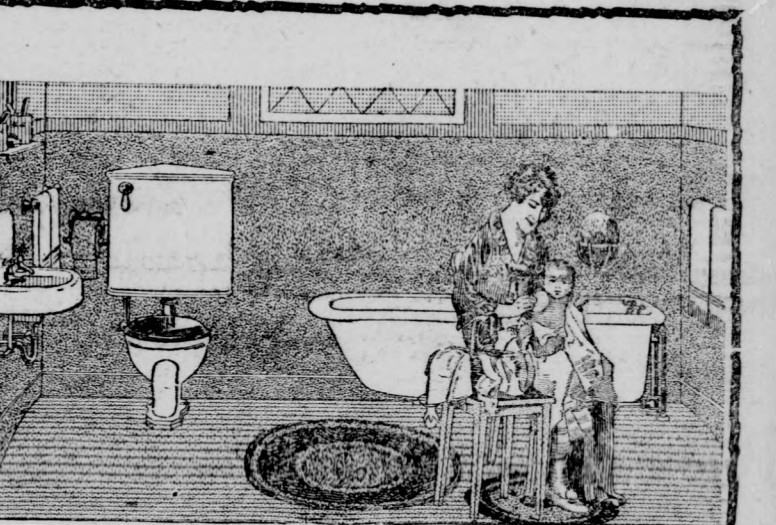

Fruit Cup in Orange Baskets—Select large, well shaped oranges. Wipe them carefully, cut them in basket shape. Remove pulp, and from the pulp from four juicy oranges add three bananas, sliced and cut up into cubes, three slices of canned pineapple, cut into cubes, one tablespoon lemon juice and three tablespoons powdered sugar. Toss lightly together and heap into orange baskets. Garnish with maraschino cherry and serve on pretty doily covered plate. If oranges are very large, cut them in halves, make handle of millinery wire, wind them with tulle and tie in a light and airy bow. In this case four oranges will be sufficient, using one-half for each person.

Tuna Loaf—Open and drain can of white tuna fish (there should be one and one-half cups), flake with fork and to it add one cup of soft, stale bread crumbs, one teaspoon salt, one-fourth teaspoon paprika, one teaspoon lemon juice, one teaspoon chopped green pepper and two well beaten eggs. Mix thoroughly, mould into loaf, roll in flour and place in a buttered loaf pan. Pour over three tablespoons melted butter and bake thirty minutes in moderate oven.

Piquant Potatoes—Make a white sauce of one quart milk, one-half cup butter blended with one-half cup flour, then add one-third cup finely cut canned pineapple, two teaspoons salt and one cup of grated cheese. Cook until cheese melts, then add four cups cooked potatoes, diced. Serve hot.

Cauliflower in Green Pepper Cases—Separate two cauliflowers into sections, wash well and cook in boiling salted water until tender. (About half an hour.) Drain and cover two cups with thick white sauce, well seasoned. Wash medium-sized green peppers, cut close from stem end and remove seeds and membrane. Put in saucepan, add boiling water to cover and add one tablespoon salt and cook ten minutes. Drain and fill with creamed cauliflower, covered with buttered crumbs and bake in moderate oven fifteen minutes, basting occasionally with butter and water.

Marshmallow Cream—Soften one and one-half tablespoons gelatin in one-half cup cold milk for five minutes then dissolve it by placing over hot water. Add one and one-fourth cups sugar and cool. When it begins to congeal, add two teaspoons vanilla extract and two teaspoons lemon extract. Beat two and one-half cups double cream until thick then beat it into first mixture, and continue beating until it is firm. Fold in the stiffly beaten whites of two eggs and four toasted marshmallows, cut into cubes. When the mixture begins to set pile lightly in sherbet cups. Place one-half of a toasted marshmallow on top and

Back From Camping Trip Through North

Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Offutt arrived Sunday night at their home at 257 West Broadway after a week's motor and camping trip in the north. They motored up the coast route and returned by the valley highway.

En route north and home again they visited all the cities and resorts of interest and while in Bakersfield were the guests of Mrs. Offutt's mother and brother, Mrs. J. C. Roberts and Ernest Roberts and family.

They report ideal road and weather conditions for travel and camping.

LETTER OF THE LAW

A railway director rebuked a ticket collector who allowed him to go through the gate without producing his pass.

"No matter if you do know who I am," he said, in reply to the collector's excuse: "I am entitled to ride free only when I am traveling with that pass. You don't know whether I have it or not."

The collector, nettled into action, demanded to see the pass.

"That's right," exclaimed the director. "Here—why—where—well, I declare, I must have left it at the office."

"Then you'll have to pay your fare," responded the collector, grimly.

A colored preacher in Alabama had at one time served a short sentence and was fearful lest his congregation discover the fact, as in his later years he had been a model of rectitude.

One Sunday, rising to begin his sermon, his heart sank to see a former cellmate sitting in the front row.

Quick thinking was necessary. Fixing his eye on the unwelcome guest, the preacher announced solemnly:

FULFILLING PROMISES BY PERFORMANCE.

Promises may get friends, but it is performance that must keep them. —Feltham

The test of business vitality is in performance, not in promises. If this were not so, anyone could attain success without effort, simply by setting up an imposing sign or publishing impressive promises of fair dealing.

But few succeed, while many fail. The law is "give and take," and those who chiefly take, without giving "value received," never attain the heights.

Because its promises have been conscientiously and consistently carried out in performance, the L. G. Scovern Co. has succeeded.

The Riddle of the Frozen Flame

By M. E. & T. W. HANSEW

"Never do that, Merriton, never do that," he said, softly. "I've been through the mill myself one year ago now, but the fear still stays—and it'll be a bit more red hell for the present. But if there's any saying you, any hit, I'll do it. That's all I wanted to say. Good-bye, and back up. I'm going to speak to the little girl now, and cheer her up, too. You'll hear everything as it comes along.

He squeezed the hand, manacled so grimly to the other, and smiled a smile brimming over with hope and promise.

"God bless you, Mr.—Headland," Merriton replied, and as Cleek beckoned to the two policemen, took his stand between them and entered the closed vehicle. The door shut, the engine purred, and the car shot away up the road toward the local police-station, leaving the man and girl staring after it, the same mute sorrow and sympathy shining in both pairs of eyes.

As it disappeared round a corner, "Toinette" turned to Mr. Cleek, her whole agonized heart in her eyes.

"Mr. Headland!" she broke out with a gasp of tears. "Oh, m'sieur, if you did but know—could but understand all that my poor heart suffers for that innocent boy! It is breaking every minute, every hour. Is there nothing that can be done to save him? I'd stake my very life on his innocence!"

Cleek let his hand rest for a moment upon the fragile shoulder, and looked down into the pallid face.

"I know you would," he said softly, "for even I know and understand what the love of a good woman may do to a man. But, tell me, that story of the revolver—your revolver. You can vouch for it. Your uncle did kill the dog France with it? You can remember? Forgive me for asking, or questioning for a moment the evidence which Mr. Brellier has given, but I am anxious to save that boy from the hands of the law, and for that reason no stone must be left unturned, no secret kept silent. Carry your mind back to that time, and tell me if that is true."

She puckered her brows together as if in perplexity and tapped one slim, perfectly-manicured finger against her white teeth.

"Yes," she said at last; "yes, it was every bit of it true—every bit, Mr. Headland. For the moment, in that room of terror, I had forgotten poor Franco's death. But now—yes, I can remember it all fully. My uncle spoke the truth. Mr. Headland—I can promise you that."

Cleek sighed. Then:

"But it was your revolver he used, Miss Brellier? Try to remember. He said that he told you of it at the time. Can you recollect your uncle telling you that he used your revolver to shoot the dog with, or not? That is what I want to know."

She shrugged her shoulders and spread out her hands.

"It is so difficult, I am trying to remember, and the matter seemed then so trivial! But there is no reason to doubt my uncle, Mr. Headland, for he loves Nigel dearly, and if there was any way in which he could help to unravel this so terrible plot against him—Oh! I am sure he must have told me so, sure. There would be no point in telling an untruth over that."

"And yet you can not recall the

WAVE LENGTH

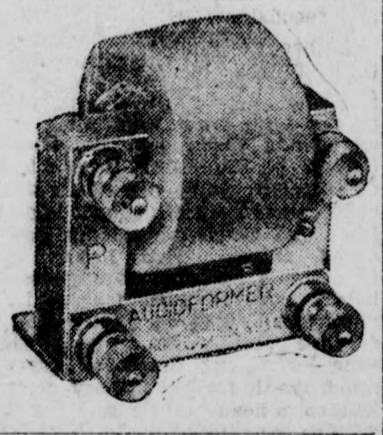

In the previous article we distinguished the above subject to a point explanatory of the actual meaning of wave length. Such a discussion must naturally lead to the tuning of instruments to various wave lengths. In the previous article we proved stations on the same wave length would jam each other. In radio, interference is overcome by tuning. It is true that developments have not reached the stage whereby this process is perfect. If it were so, our systems of communication would be radically changed, but to a certain extent this interference can be eliminated by employing apparatus that produces selectivity. In other words, enables us to select the signals we desire to listen to. With damped signals it is more or less difficult to

"Human interest is paramount in 'Certain People of Importance,' a thoroughly American novel of real people, whose experiences can be understood and appreciated by the average reader. This book, by Mrs. Kathleen Norris was recently published by Doubleday, Page & Co. and both critics and fellow novelists have proclaimed it a great American novel.

Mrs. Norris spent two years on the construction of this book, and achieved in it, she believes, her most significant work.

The theme is a cycle in the history of an American family, its emergence from obscurity to wealth and influence, and its descent in the third generation to the obscurity from which it sprang. As a setting Mrs. Norris has chosen her own familiar San Francisco, and has interwoven with the story its history from the

Uncle Wiggily Bedtime Stories

BY HOWARD R. GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE JUMPING ROPES

"Come on, Uncle Wiggily, come on with us!"

Several voices called this invitation outside the hollow stump bungalow of the rabbit gentleman one afternoon.

Uncle Wiggily, who had just awakened after a sleep in his easy chair, looked at Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy, his muskrat lady house-keeper. Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy had also been taking a little sleep.

"Did you hear that, Janie?" asked the bunny.

"You mean some one calling?" inquired Nurse Jane.

"Yes," spoke Mr. Longears, and again the voices called:

"Come on, Uncle Wiggily! Come on with us!"

"Well, I didn't dream it, anyhow," whispered the rabbit uncle.

"At first I thought I was dreaming."

"No, it wasn't a dream, for I hear the voices, too," spoke the muskrat lady. "I only hope, Wiggily, that it isn't the Skillery Scalery Gator after you again. If he is, there is no snapping turtle here to save you."

"I don't believe it's any of the bad animals," said Uncle Wiggily.

"Then the voice called out again: 'Come on, Uncle Wiggily! Come and play with us!'"

"It's all right," said Nurse Jane, who had looked from a side window. "It is four of the animal girls, Lulu and Alice Wiblewobble, the ducks, and Susie Littletail, the rabbit, with Nannie Wagtail, the goat. They are on the steps."

"Oh, well, they won't nibble my ears!" laughed Uncle Wiggily, and soon he had leaped down the garden path by the ducks, the rabbit and the goat girls.

"Where are you taking me?" asked Uncle Wiggily, as he skipped along, for he felt jolly and chipper after his sleep.

"We want you to get us some jumping ropes!" bleated Nannie.

"Well, then I had better go back in my bungalow and get some money," spoke Mr. Longears. "Jumping ropes cost money, even at the three and four cent store."

"You don't have to buy the ropes we want!" quacked Lulu, the duck.

"The kind we want are pieces of wild grapevine," added Alice, her sister.

"And with your strong teeth you can surely gnaw us off four pieces of grapevine that we can use for jumping ropes," added Susie.

"All right!" laughed the bunny.

Soon he and the animal girls were at a place in the woods where a tangle of wild grapevines hung down from a tree. It did not take Uncle Wiggily long to gnaw off four thin strands, which were as limber and easy to jump with as the ropes you girls use.

"I'm going to jump salt," said Lulu, and she did, jumping rather slowly, which is the way to jump salt.

"I'm going to jump vinegar!" quacked Alice, and she jumped a little faster than her sister, which is the way to jump vinegar.

"I'll jump pepper!" exclaimed Susie, and she jumped a little faster than either Lulu or Alice, for that is the way to jump pepper.

"I'm going to jump mustard," bleated Nannie, the goat. And she

"I'm going to jump salt," said Lulu.

GLORIA SWANSON SHOWS FASHIONS

Displays Wonderful Wardrobe In 'Her Gilded Cage' on T. D. L. Screen

A Gloria Swanson film is always a fashion revue, and in her picture, "Her Gilded Cage" now being shown at the T. D. & L. theatre, she is showing a wonderfully artistic and attractive wardrobe. Miss Swanson first appears in this story as a poor French dancer, later is seen in the modestly colorful costumes of a cafe entertainer, and then blossoms forth, under the guidance of an American press agent, as "Fleur d'Amour," the dance sensation of the season.

In addition to the film feature there is also a comedy vaudeville sketch, "Poor Old Dad," by Walter Montague. This sketch will be given tonight, and Wednesday and Thursday, twice each night.

WENT FOR FISH; CAUGHT FLOWERS

'Daisies' Outgrew Jar They Were Placed In; Took Them From House

C. M. Owen, Jr., 305 Stocker street, recently went fishing. He caught some fish, but that is another story. This is a story about flowers.

On his trip he came across some flowers growing wild. Knowing that the folks at home are fond of flowers he dug some up by the roots. On the way home he purchased a jar for them. "They are daisies," he explained. "That was some time ago."

The flowers grew fast—so fast in fact that it was necessary to take them out of the house. "They turned out to be sunflowers," he told some friends.

CALIFORNIA IS 72 YEARS OLD; LIST OF GOVERNORS

Brief Outline of History of Admission; Big Debate Held In Congress

The following article, with Bandini's "History of California" as authority, was prepared and published in The Glendale Evening News in answer to frequent questions relative to matters contained therein. It is suggested that school students cut out the article and preserve it for ready reference.

It was seventy-two years ago that California became one of the states of the American union. In the summer of 1848 the president in a special message to congress called attention to California and asked that the laws of a territory be granted to it. The south agreed provided half should be slave territory. The north resisted and so began a struggle in congress which lasted two years. Meanwhile, American settlers in California as well as Spanish Californians were extremely dissatisfied as they were living without suitable laws. Great suspense preceded the arrival of the steamer Panama on June 4, 1849 which was to bring word from congress and great was the disappointment when it was learned that nothing had been done except to pass the revenue laws which meant taxation without representation. Feeling ran high and a constitutional convention was called and opened at Monterey September 3, 1849. There were forty-eight delegates, seven of them being Spanish Californians. Later Daniel Webster quoted one of these delegates as Mr. Carrillo of "San Angeles."

Opposed to Slavery
The Monterey convention showed itself much opposed to slavery and a constitution was adopted for a free state with its boundaries as they are today. Colonel Fremont and Dr. Gwin were chosen senators and left in January, 1850 for Washington with a copy of the constitution for the approval of congress.

Congress continued to debate the matter until September 9, 1850, when California was admitted as a free state, the controversy calling forth some of the most memorable speeches of those mighty leaders, Webster, Clay and Calhoun. The steamship Oregon brought news of the action of congress to San Francisco early in October, 1850 and the rejoicing was great.

California's first state governor was Peter H. Burnett, who received 6,716 votes out of a total of 12,064. It is probable that Glendale alone will cast almost that many votes for Friend Richardson at the coming election.

List of Governors
Burnett, who was a Democrat, was followed by these governors: John McDougal, Democrat, 1851. John Bigler, Democrat, 1852. John Bigler, Democrat, 1854. John Neely Johnson, American Party, 1856. John B. Weller, Democrat, 1858. Milton S. Latham, Democrat, 1860. John G. Downey, Democrat, 1860.

Recovering Rapidly From Hurts In Crash

Friends of Mrs. C. L. Peckham of 615 North Central avenue will be glad to learn that she is recovering rapidly from injuries she received in an automobile accident three weeks ago.

The accident occurred one afternoon when Mr. and Mrs. Peckham were on their way to town and they suddenly came upon a stretch of ice and sandy pavement. Their car skidded, the two front wheels were crushed, the car tipped over to an angle of forty-five degrees and Mrs. Peckham was thrown against the side of the car so severely that her right shoulder was dislocated and she received other painful bruises. Right after the accident she was taken to a hospital and then removed to her home, where she has been confined to her bed for the past two weeks.

Under Military Rule
Pacheco is the only native Californian among the state governors and it was during his regime that the Native Sons of the Golden West, an organization of thousands of native born young Californians, was organized.

From 1846 to the time of admission to the Union California was under military rule, the governors being John D. Sloat, Robert F. Stockton, John C. Fremont, Stephen W. Kearney, R. B. Mason, Persifer F. Smith, Bennett Riley.

The governors under the Spanish regime, 1769 to 1815 were: Gaspar de Portola, Pedro Fages, Fernando Rivera y Moncade, Felipe de Neve, Jose Romera, Jose Arillago, Diego de Borica, Jose Arguello, Pablo de Solis. While California was under the dominion of the Mexican empire, April 1, 1822 to March, 1825, the state was governed by Luis Arguello.

On March 26, 1825 California became a province of the Mexican republic and during that era the governors were: Jose Echeandia, Manuel Victoria, Jose Figueroa, Jose Castro, Nicolas Gutierrez, Mariano Chico, Juan Alvarado, Manuel Michelorena, Pio Pico.
Governor Pico's administration came to a close August 10, 1846, with the end of Mexican domination of California.

COUNTY ACTION ON WIDENING PASS BEING URGED

Estimate of Cost Will Be Secured; Celebrate Over Mission's Birthday

Committees that have been working for months toward cutting down and widening Cahuenga Pass, according to authentic reports from Lankershim, have found themselves burdened with a man-sized job. The plan is to have the county take over the road and reconstruct it.

Before the county supervisors, Cecil Wilcox secured an agreement to instruct the road department and county surveyor to prepare an estimate of the cost of the necessary changes and reconstruction work. Some time ago the office of the Los Angeles city engineer estimated something in the neighborhood of $250,000 for the two miles of road work, which has been ridiculed as absurdly high by others of some accepted authority.

Supervisor Wright is given much credit for bringing the subject to a head. "Los Angeles and the county should not tolerate a mountain trail as one of the main highways into the largest city, on the Pacific coast," one authority says. "Cahuenga Pass should be made as attractive an entrance to Los Angeles as Colorado street bridge is to Pasadena."

Mission Anniversary
The Rev. Father J. B. Rourke of San Fernando and 100 of his parishioners had a big program staged Sunday in commemoration of the one hundred twenty-fifth anniversary of the founding of San Fernando mission. It was 125 years ago Thursday that Father Permin Lasuen, heading a band of Franciscan friars under the Junipero Serra, founded the mission and erected the building with the aid of the natives.

In the celebration the spirit of the old Mission Spanish fiestas was revived, and visitors were entertained with dances and songs typical of the days of the Dons. Juan and Juanita Zorroaguinos from the Mission play were among the entertainers, and Senor A. Fernandez of South America.

Town Gets Active
While Lankershim is setting the stage for a great revival of Chamber of Commerce activities, there are many other activities which indicate that the community is prepared for big strides. The Spanish-American Alliance formed a local lodge last week. This is a national organization established at Tucson twenty-seven years ago. It has given away to surviving dependents of its members nearly $3,000,000 and has a revolving fund of $250,000 and a membership of 6000 on the active list.

The Lankershim Community church organized a new choir last week, and the Ladies' Aid society plans to put on a rummage sale September 29-30. These items are noted simply as indications of the ever-increasing activities in Lankershim which show progress. Turkey has 28,800 miles of telegraph lines.

Political Banners On Monument Fence

URBANA, O.—"They might as well tack their signs on our tombstones out at the cemetery," exclaimed one of a number of veterans of the Civil war who voiced objection to the display of political banners and other advertisements placed on the fence surrounding the Soldiers' Monument on the city square here. Other local citizens joined, and political candidates promptly had the signs removed.

Damon and Pythias to Meet on Saturday

Glendale has a Damon and Pythias story all its own. Of course you know the old tale of true friendship upon which is builded the foundation of the Knights of Pythias lodge? How Damon and Pythias always stuck together, sink or swim?

Attorney G. W. King of Glendale is prominent in Pythian lodge circles, and many friends think of him as "The Pythian," or just "Pythias." He's interested in the regional planning conference, to meet here September 16, and so is George A. Damon, Los Angeles architect, who lives in Pasadena. When Damon comes to visit Glendale, King Pythias always hands him the keys to the city.

Modern tools were used by pyramid builders, indications showing they worked with solid and tubular drills and straight and circular saws.

PREPARE FOR BIG FOOTBALL PERIOD IN SOUTHLAND

Stalwart Youths Start First to Work and Pre-Season Games Being Set

With practically every high school and college in southern California opening their doors for the 1922-1923 grind the average sport fan is gradually shifting his interest from baseball, tennis, golf and the rest of the curriculum to American football. Uniforms have already been issued at several institutions, it being no uncommon sight to see scores of stalwart youths perspiring by the pound in their efforts to get down to weight in time for the pre-season games.

The University of California, Southern Branch, has taken the jump among the conference teams of the southland. Coach Harry Trotter having had his grid camp dates out for light workouts for more than a week. The team will be greatly aided this week in perfecting a squad that will be able to cope with any in the conference through the addition of Andy Smith to the coaching department.

The famous mentor of the Golden Bears, whose teams have ranked in the very first rank in inter-collegiate football circles of the entire country for the past two seasons, will devote his time while in Los Angeles to developing a winner at the branch. He will crowd as much football as possible into the minds of the Cublets while here, so that Coach Trotter will be "off to a flying start" next week when the more strenuous workouts are to be begun.

Favor L.A. High

In the Los Angeles city schools all pre-season dope seems to favor Los Angeles high school for the principal contender in prep circles, but it is still weeks too early to attempt to do any predicting. Coaches Bruce and Harry Kirkpatrick and Herb White are already hard at work trying to figure out who of their 250 candidates will be picked to represent the school when the first game is pulled off. All three are optimistic and are firm in their belief that the blue and white will be favorites for title honors when the city league season gets under way.

Glendale Material

Here in Glendale Coach Normal Hayhurst is having troubles of his own with an abundance of tank-bark material that sizes up favorably with any array of talent ever turned out at the local high school. With men like Captain Fred Stoff and Ronald West in the backfield, Cecil Wilson and Stillman Chase on the flanks and Clouse, Eiffler, Stockbridge and Barton on the line as a nucleus from last year's squad old G. U. H. S. is apparently in for one of the most successful seasons in the school's gridiron history. The date of the first game has not yet been announced, although a complete schedule will be published within the next few days.

Tagging All Bases

Babe Ruth went on a rampage yesterday. Bambino slugged out two homers, bringing his count to thirty-one for the season, and crashed out the two doubles against the Athletic pitchers and aided the Yanks to defeat Mack's men, 9-4.

Although the Giant pitchers failed to last nine innings in the doubleheader against the Braves, McGraw's men came through with a double victory, due to the fact that they outthrew the Braves. Each game was one by a 7 to 6 score.

The Browns kept pace with the Yanks by defeating the Tigers in a ninth inning rally. With the bases full and two out McManus came through with the hit that sent over the tying and winning runs.

The Senators buried the Red Sox deeper in the cellar when they batted out a 13 to 5 victory.

WOMEN RESUME GOLF MATCH PLAY

Mrs. Lee Mead May Be Real Contender for Title of Western Champion

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 12.—Thirty-two survivors of the qualifying round in the western women's golf tourney were further smiled upon by old Sol this morning as match play began at the Glen Echo Country club.

It was ideal golf weather and with a firmer turf on the links than there was yesterday, lower skies and more impressive playing was looked for in today's championship flight.

Mrs. Melvin Jones of Chicago, present title holder, was expected to survive her match with Miss Catherine Bryant, also of Chicago. The champion's card of 93 yesterday was eight below her match opponent and this should give Mrs. Jones the necessary confidence.

Mrs. Lee Mead of the Butterfield Country club, Chicago, by her performance yesterday was to be watched closely in the future play as a real contender for the aforesaid title. Her card of 86 stood out from those of other contenders, with the exception of a few, as to make it rather conspicuous.

LOCAL SQUAD MAY GO ON ROAD FOR THREE GAMES

Oatman, Kingman, Needles Are Being Considered As Battle Grounds

A three-game series at Oatman, Kingman and Needles, is being considered by John A. Cobb, manager of the Glendale Merchants baseball club. An offer to book the Merchants for this series was made by an Arizona scout who was present at the Glendale-Clearly game at the White Sox park, Los Angeles, a week ago Sunday.

A number of things must be considered, says Cobb, before he definitely accepts the offer. One of the principal problems, he says, is that of finance, and whether the team makes the trip or not depends largely upon the gate receipts at the next few games.

Advertising Glendale

As an advertising scheme alone such a trip would be a great success, in the opinion of local men who have considered the plan. City Manager William H. Reeves and Mayor Spencer Robinson, both ardent baseball fans and prominent among the boosters for the Merchants, are strong for it. Furthermore, they believe that if Cobb's men make the trip, they will come back with three more scalps hanging to their belts.

Cobb has tentatively accepted the offer, and it is probable that the next two or three games will decide whether or not the Merchants will make the trip. If plans are carried out as they are at present, the locals would leave Glendale in about three weeks. Cobb asks the support of the local fans, and in fact, of all Glendale residents, during the next few games, so that he will be able to finance the trip to the Arizona towns.

Sunday afternoon the Merchants are to play a return game with Joe Pirrone's All Stars, or Pirrone's Colts, as their manager now intends to call them. Pirrone is adding a number of younger stars to his gang, and promises that with his augmented organization he will come out to Glendale and reverse the order of things established at the last Pirrone game a few weeks ago.

The game will be staged at the local park, near San Fernando Road on Park avenue, and Cobb anticipates a game "as is a game." Local fans take notice and boost the locals for their three game series.

The Sport Crucible

By Davis J. Walsh
International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—That mid-August slump of the St. Louis Cardinals can be blamed on a player who was not with the club, as much as anything else, according to the eccentric, slab-sided reckoning of Branch Rickey. Branch admits that Jack Fournier and Milton Stock kicked so many of them away that he was forced to bench the pair of them in self-defense, yet he regards this as only one sour detail among so many.

The real answer, he affirms, was neither bad pitching nor careless fielding, but the absence of a player who obeyed that impulse and snacked one somewhere every time he saw men on the base paths.

"Austin McHenry," Mr. Rickey mutters, sotto voce, "where art thou, Austin?"

McHenry is at his home in Ohio, resting up at this season. He has been ill the greater part of the present year, and it was deemed advisable to give him every opportunity to recover his health.

He was sent home for the remainder of the campaign, but before he departed he left a trail of base hits in the pinches that contributed no little to the club's early success. However, let Mr. Rickey tell you about it.

"McHenry," he says, "stands third on my club for driving in runs, despite the fact that he played in only forty-four games against nearly 120 played by the rest of the team. He hit only 303, yet is headed over 380 all year, and Fournier, whose long hits in St. Louis has cleaned up many times.

"Both were in nearly every game the Cardinals have played. Many of the forty-four in which McHenry's name appears include games in which he was a pinch hitter for them so often, but he made every one of them count.

"That is what my team misses now. It is a club that needs a lot of runs to win. It didn't get them on the last eastern trip. Hornsby fell off a bit in hitting. Fournier's fielding became so unsteady that I had to get him out of there, and McHenry was so ill that I sent him home. Of the three McHenry's absence, I think, was the most disastrous."

Pat Duncan Proves Consistent Player

JOHNSON READY FOR MAT MATCH

Eddie Foss' Challenge Gets Snappy Answer; Fans Are Now Waiting

"I'm ready any time you are," is Carl Johnson's answer to a challenge sent recently to Johnson by Eddie Foss for middle-weight wrestling bout.

Foss is now in Camarillo, and states that he will come to Glendale whenever a match with Johnson can be arranged. He claims to be the champion middleweight of Iowa, with a string of victories that would run from here to Poodunk and back.

Carl Johnson, who came to Glendale several months ago from New York, is a wrestler of both repute and ability. For six years he was wrestling instructor at the New York Athletic club, and during the past few years has met and defeated almost countless satellites of the wrestling world.

Both Challenged Miller

Johnson and Foss have at least one thing in common. They have both challenged Walter Miller, the Los Angeles wrestler with whom Johnny Myers recently played play, and Miller has refused to play with either of the rough boys. If Miller will not wrestle them, they must scrap it out among themselves.

Johnson is now waiting for someone to promote the prospective bout. One of the local fraternal organizations now has the matter under consideration, and may take charge of the affair. It is expected that the bout will be arranged within a few days.

If local persons or organizations fail to become interested in the match, Glendale will lose one of the best wrestling bouts ever staged here, according to local sport fans who know both Johnson and Foss.

The World Over

By Franklin B. Morse
Pacific Sports Service

It would not be a matter of much surprise to followers of football in the United States if the question of coaching salaries was made an issue to be fought out of late there have been rumblings that a number of the smaller institutions are fooling their way as to the best method to bring attention to the matter.

It is well known that there are a number of football mentors who are receiving salaries for coaching teams that run all the way from $5000 to $10,000 a year, and those who are opposed to this scale point to the fact that it is more than should be paid for the services rendered, and that it is more important to the smaller institution, it is more than they are able to pay. Thus the larger football institutions are able to grab all the best talent in sight for the simple reason that the little fellows are not able to meet the high bidding.

Thus the plan under consideration is to place a maximum on the salary that any college or university can pay to a football coach. This maximum is to be such that all hands will have some kind of an opportunity to bid for the services of a competent coach. Thus, if all is on a par so far as the financial end is concerned, it will be up to the personal choice of the coach which of the building institutions he prefers to work for.

A moment's consideration brings out the fact, however, that the placing of a maximum salary scarcely is going to do what the little institutions are hoping for. There can be little doubt that the football coach is going to select the larger institution in which to do his work. There is more glory and reputation to be gained in putting out a successful big team than the team of a comparatively unknown college. Another thing with more material available at a large university, the coach is not likely to be so harassed in the matter of finding men for his team.

As a matter of fact, a coach is worth just what he produces in the way of results. It is going to be a difficult matter to put over anything like a maximum salary for this reason. It is a well known fact, acknowledged even by the faculties of colleges and universities, that a successful football team, baseball squad or track outfit is an asset to an institution by way of keeping it before the reading public. Few will say that had not Yale, Princeton or Harvard, in the past, been producers of great football teams, they would be so much heard from. Few will gain say that had not the University of California had some wonderful track athletes, that the name of the institution would be as well known as it is today east of the Mississippi river.

MAKES CHOICE OF TENNIS WINNERS IN ROUND 4

Sports Expert Offers List of Selections in National Singles Contest

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 12.—The fourth round matches in the national singles championships were postponed today owing to the heavy condition of the courts, due to the rain. They will be resumed tomorrow.

Play in the national junior championship for girls and the middle states championship for women was also abandoned for the day.

By DAVIS J. WALSH
For International News Service.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 12.—If your humble servant were to make book on the fourth round matches in the national tennis championship in singles, he would figure the round after the following manner and lay his odds accordingly:

William M. Johnston, No. 2 in the ranking list, to beat Howard Kinsey in straight sets.

Gerald L. Patterson, champion of Australia and England, to beat Francis T. Hunter, national leader champion in extra sets.

Favors Spanish Expert

Manuel Alonzo, champion of Spain, to beat Watson M. Washburn, former Davis cup player, in five sets.

Zeno Shmidzu, champion of Japan, to beat Wallace Johnson, the chop stroke kid, in five sets.

William T. Tilden, II, national champion, to beat Pat O'Hara Wood, of Australia, in straight sets, if he feels like it; in four sets, if he doesn't.

Vincent Richards to beat Herbert L. Bowman in straight sets.

Dick Williams to beat Elliott Benzin, in straight sets. The round is scheduled to begin at 1 o'clock this afternoon, but it is likely to go by default owing to rain. It looks like one of those steady, consistent all-day rains.

This writer has made his fourth round selections after due deliberation and with an eye to what is going on during the present tournament rather than what happened before it began.

Shmidzu is favored over Johnson because he figures to outstudy the Philadelphia veteran. It will be one of those back-court abominations and any time Shmidzu meets a player of his own school it is well to get down heavily on the Oriental.

Teacher Hurries to School; Is Arrested

The children are not the only ones who "wish that they would wait just a little longer" before starting school, if the case of E. A. Owens is any criterion.

Yesterday afternoon Harry Williams, Eagle Rock's motorcycle officer, spied Mr. Owens, who is a resident of Pasadena, driving west on Colorado boulevard at 31 miles per hour. Harry gave him the customary tag and Mr. Owens came into the Eagle Rock city hall to put up $15 bail. Owens stated, "The officials believed less than thirty miles per would get him to Fresno before Wednesday."

No Accidents In Eagle Rock City for Number of Days

Not an automobile accident has been reported at the Eagle Rock city hall since August 25.

This fact was made known yesterday after a careful check of records of the police department. The record has more significance in view of the fact that before that time Eagle Rock used to average one traffic accident every day or two. However, according to local authorities, the recent no-accident record may not mean as much as it would seem, because it is probable that a number of accidents have occurred which have not been reported.

"There is a state law," says Eagle Rock City Clerk B. B. Martsoff, "which requires that all accidents on the streets, roads or highways must be reported to the nearest police station within 24 hours after the accident. Failure to report an accident is punishable by a fine of $300 or a jail sentence of 90 days."

The purpose of the law, according to Mr. Martsoff, is to enable police officers to check up on late accidents, and ascertain the facts, so that in case of dispute over claims, the information will be at hand.

WOMEN GIVE OUT

Housework is hard enough when healthy. Every woman who is having backache, blue and nervous spells, dizzy headaches and kidney or bladder troubles, should be glad to heed this grateful woman's experience.

Mrs. E. J. Levengood, 812 W. 2nd St., Pomona, Cal., gave the following statement April 30, 1913: "I have never had need to use a kidney remedy since I was cured by Doan's Kidney Pills when living in Santa Ana. Before this I was much distressed at times with headaches and cold chills ran up and down my back. The doctor said I had kidney and bladder trouble and also lumbago. Doan's Kidney Pills removed these symptoms which had so annoyed me and I am indeed grateful for the permanent cure."

On October 3, 1919, Mrs. Levengood said: "My kidneys have not troubled me since Doan's Kidney Pills cured me. I am always glad to recommend Doan's."

BOYS 'RIDE SPOUT' WHEN FIRE PLUG IS SNAPPED OFF

Water Wagon, Steam Roller, Combine to Make Fun For Eagle Rock Kids

Eagle Rock kids yesterday afternoon revived the old-time sport of "riding" the spouting water from an artesian well when a fire plug at the southwest corner of Colorado boulevard and Virginia avenue was broken off and a jet of water shot four feet into the air.

Driver Anderson of the water wagon had parked the wheeled tank near the plug and had attached the large hose to fill the sprinkling wagon shortly after noon. A steam roller in use by the street department rolled up behind the wagon and frightened the horses, which started to run away, pulling the water wagon behind them. The hose tightened and the two-inch fire plug snapped off at its base. And up shot the stream of water.

Children Foregather Employees of the Eagle Rock water department were summoned to repair the plug, but the children of the neighborhood were there ahead of the repair car. They gathered around the fountain and for a few minutes were content with watching it and wading in the stream flowing down the gutter.

Before long the youngsters were playing in the spout of water itself, and then one boy suggested the idea of riding the gusher as small boys in the middle west used to ride the artesian wells there.

Boys Get Dampened The stream was not strong enough to hold the boys up, but it was large enough to soak them thoroughly, and by the time the workmen had dug down several feet through Claude S. Bramble's new paving to the valve and turned off the water, the youngsters looked as though they had been in swimming sans swimming attire.

More than one Eagle Rock mother last night lectured her small son on the dangers of "catching cold."

Lions Freed From Cars After Crash

CHERBOURG—A freight car, improperly handled, crashed into a bumper in the station here and split in two.
From the wreckage there emerged, unhurt, half a dozen full grown lions, property of an arriving circus.
Within two minutes not a train hand could be seen in the railroad yards—not a passenger on the platforms. Later one or two bolder inhabitants of the town appeared, armed with swords, rifles and hand grenades. The police force, with revolvers, prepared to arrest the beasts for arriving without proper passports.
The lions glanced about at the small town, yawned and fell asleep. Later they walked into another car without protest. The Cherbouurg station filled with travelers again.

PHONE SYSTEM SHOWN WORKING

Elks Given Demonstration of Many Difficulties That Operators Meet
Members of Glendale lodge, B. P. O. E., No. 1289, were given a real treat last night by employees of the Pacific Telephone & Telegraph company of Glendale.
Following the entertainment, which was instructive as well as entertaining, numerous Elks were heard to remark: "It's no wonder we sometimes get the wrong number."
The program which followed a brief business session of the lodge, opened with an introduction by R. L. Sawyers of the commercial department. Then followed a motion picture entitled "Our Story," which pictured Los Angeles, remarkable growth and what it had meant to the telephone company.
A vocal solo rendered by Miss Genevieve Richards of the installation department was well received.

Stage Favorites on Rolls of C. of C.

Eugene F. Sanders, assistant secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, keeps "plugging away" at his membership campaign, which is a campaign of tenacity rather than one of sudden force. Mr. Sanders, Secretary of 125 West Mountain street, among the newest members listed, is none other than the famed Louise Dresser, who has been for years a footlight favorite.

Local Woodmen Get Attractive Uniforms

Thirteen members of Glendale lodge, Modern Woodmen of America, all dolled up in their new and attractive lodge uniforms, went in a body to Pasadena last night to assist in staging initiation ceremonies there.
The new lodge "vestments" are gray-blue in color, neatly tailored, and without lace cuffs or the fancy frills so often adopted by fraternal orders.
"These uniforms are made simple and serviceable, yet neat, and the result is a spick and span appearance rather than a stage effect," a prominent Woodman explained.

LOCAL PEOPLE AT HOME FROM TRIP TO FAR NORTH

Make Journey Part Way In Autos, Then Take Ship for Alaskan Shores

years since the gold rush subsided, people up there seem to think that the country is likely to have a boom almost any time. They call attention to its unlimited resources of coal and minerals, and to the likelihood of vast oil fields.

At Seattle the Queen passed a wharf load of drilling machinery which the passengers were told was to be sent to Alaska by the Standard Oil company for experimental purposes.

"The population of Alaska has been decreasing steadily during the past ten years," remarked Dale Wood. "It is now about 50,000 and 25,000 of these are Indians. Skagway, which had a population of 25,000 during the gold fever, now has a population of only 400 or 500."

The northern lights were seen by the party, although not very distinctly on account of the season of the year. Twilight lasted until 9 o'clock at night. The party arrived in Alaska too late to enjoy daylight all night.

Several whales were seen by the party, no more than 100 or 150 yards from the ship. One of them seemed to have an immense fin which protruded directly upwards from its back about four feet. Unfortunately, they refused to "blow" just to please the spectators.

After returning by the Queen to Seattle, the party headed south in their automobiles and made the trip in about a week.

On motion of Councilman Davis it was ordered that hereafter no personal bonds would be recognized when filed with contractor's bid, that all bids must be accompanied by surety bond or certified check.

COMMENT THAT'S ALL

Have You House to Rent? Read the Advertisements Give This Paper Credit What Others Think

By Gil A. Cowan

"HAVE you a house to rent?" That's the question the local real estate men hear almost every hour of the day. And it will become the big problem—househunting—as the fall season turns into winter and hundreds of hom-makers come to California.

It is no secret that the shortage of homes will be serious in Glendale unless everybody makes room for another family.

There is reason for all of this, too. While other sections of the country are not enjoying the greatest prosperity, Glendale and Southern California remain crystal white on the economic map.

No sign of let up here, and there will not be. Better build.

By the way, folks, do you read the advertisements in The Glendale Evening News? Of course, you are expected to do so, but is it for pleasure or profit, or both?

When a business man spends money to tell you something in the columns of The Evening News, usually it is to your distinct benefit.

For instance, with the real estate market. As soon as a dealer gets something good he offers it for sale. You know as well as I that he wouldn't waste money, so it must be the best bet of the day.

Watch the ads for bargains, folks. It will pay you as well as the person advertising.

And after you have taken advantage of the offerings in The Evening News tell the person with whom you are dealing where you saw his advertisement.

This is more satisfying sometimes than the sale itself. It demonstrates the good judgment on the part of a merchant or other person in selecting this paper as an advertising medium.

Do you appreciate what others are thinking? Here is a random thought selected from the Hollywood Daily Citizen.

Brisbane points out there is no need of a general strike as long as there is the ballot box.

This is a thought we could all well afford to keep in mind. The ballot box is the key to democracy.

There is no need for revolution or extreme disturbance at any time as long as the ballot box gives to us the opportunity of giving our votes to the candidates we prefer and assures to the majority the prevalence of their sentiment.

If we don't like things, there is one right way of changing them and that is to convince the majority that they should support a change with their votes.

Our balloting system is weak in one respect—the nomination of presidential candidates—and the earlier we insure the nomination of presidential candidates by popular vote, the earlier do we make completely unnecessary any extreme measures for giving expression to our sentiments.

It's a great thing to remember that the ballot box is our means of securing the kind of government and the kind of political conditions we want.

It's a great thing to remember that we need have little cause to fear from a true expression of public sentiment.

Those who seek to suppress the right of people to give full expression through the ballot to their desires are the real menace to the country.

They are the real cause of radicalism and of unrest.

Insure the right of full expression and people are busy trying to win the majority to their cause and not busy seeking to win a temporary victory by means that are unworthy or unsafe or unsound.

A brush fire on the desert range provides a big punch in the picture with a beautiful ranchman's daughter as the heroine. You will enjoy the Glendale's show!

IT GOES BAD!
Dauber—Brushmen paints some very realistic work, doesn't he?
Kanvass—Yes. Last March he painted an apple, and I heard some one today say it was rotten.

ELKS' PICNIC TO BE LIVE AFFAIR

Verdugo Park to Be Scene of Doings; Committee Plans Program

A picnic under the shade of the live oaks in Glendale Verdugo park next Sunday will be staged by Glendale Lodge No. 1289, B. P. O. Elks.

Afternoon and evening will both be provided for in clean entertainment and contests, according to Dr. Milton H. Berry, Sr., chairman of the entertainment committee, which has charge of the arrangements. Assisting Dr. Berry are E. E. Drown, Charles Phillips, E. G. Herring and Harry Whaley.

Elks and their families will be admitted entirely free of charge, the committee states, and amusements have been placed on the program, with special attention to the entertainment of the women and children.

Something Doing
The scheduled contests, games and performances promise something doing every minute, with many valuable prizes for men, women and kiddies.

The entertainment committee, after three hours' canvass on Monday afternoon, gathered valuable and useful prizes to the value of over $600. Before the canvass is completed it is expected that the prize total will reach $750, it is announced.

The Glendale merchants and Elks have entered into the spirit of the affair and are doing all that they can to make the day a red letter one in the history of picnics in this city.

Old and New
Modern outing ideas and the old-time picnic stunts will be intermingled to satisfy all and assure ample action. Every child attending will receive a small prize to make him happy, and even the fat men will find an opportunity to compete in the contests of speed, skill and wit.

"Be sure to bring your family," Chairman Berry urges.

The prizes will be on display in some local show window by Wednesday, to show local Elks just what they may hope to win. There will be dancing of the latest varieties as well as the old-fashioned prancing that the older Elks and their guests will delight in swinging a nimble limb to again. Numerous prizes will be given for various dances, the first prize being $25.

As the minor details are arranged, the committee promises to issue information daily.

URGES PEOPLE TO HELP OFFICIALS FIGHT RABIES

Health Head Gives Reasons Why Quarantine on Dogs, Cats Is Necessary

The following signed communication with reference to the dog quarantine has been handed to The Evening News for publication:

To the Citizens of Glendale—During the past two weeks the state laboratory have examined the brains of four different dogs from Glendale and the following reports have been returned: Two dogs had positive evidence of rabies, one dog had strongly suspicious, or not negative, evidence; and one dog was negative.

In the above report the two dogs with positive evidence of rabies had bitten a man and a 12-year-old girl as their victims; the third, or the dog whose evidence could not be declared negative, but strongly suspicious, had bitten three little children; while the fourth dog, evidence negative, had bitten a 5-year-old boy.

Declares Quarantine
Under these existing circumstances, the State Board of Health recommended that the Pasteur treatment be administered to the first five persons mentioned.

In view of the fact that the above condition now exists in the city of Glendale, the State Board of Health of California has declared a quarantine to exist against rabid animals within the confines of the city of Glendale.

The state law declares: "Quarantine shall be defined for the purpose of this act as meaning the strict confinement upon the private premises of the owner, under restraint by leash or closed cage or paddock, of all animals specified in the order."

It is earnestly hoped that the citizens of Glendale will cooperate with the authorities in stamping out the dread disease, and at the same time protect their valuable dogs and cats from a probability of being bitten by any stray animal. It should not be necessary to state that primarily the quarantine was put into effect to protect the children and others whose lives were jeopardized daily by the danger of possible dog or cat bites; and for this reason only will the quarantine be strictly enforced until all danger is past.

Asks Aid of People
The health department asks the people of Glendale to obey the spirit of the law by keeping their valuable animals on their own private premises. The police will see that all stray dogs and cats will be disposed of and in that manner stamp out the disease and thereby have the opportunity of lifting the quarantine at an early date.

All dogs and cats found on public highways or streets will be taken to the dog pound, and the owners will be arrested. If the animal has no owner other measures will be taken to control the situation.

G. KAEMMERLING, M. D. City Health Officer.

Discussed by Council
Members of the city council, at a special meeting held last night, informally discussed the ordinance regulating dogs and cats and assured Dr. Kaemmerling, who was present, that his department would receive the backing of the municipal authorities.

It is stated that the council will again discuss the ordinance next

Thursday night, it being said that a number of dog owners desire to present some arguments to the municipal authorities relative to the situation in Glendale.

School Burns Down; Children Rejoicing

ROOSEVELT, L. I.—Children here went around recently with shining faces. The little old schoolhouse burned down and the problem of where to open classes this month is causing the local school authorities to knit their brows. The children are not worrying. The fire started on the second story of the school building, and the frame structure was a wreck!
