DEVOTED TO THE BEST INTERESTS OF THE SAN FERNANDO VALLEY

GLENDALE, LOS ANGELES COUNTY, CAL., FRIDAY, JANUARY 6, 1911.

No. 37

Vol. VI.

Tropico and Glendale are practically one community joining Los Angeles City on the north; the former five and the latter six miles in a direct line from the Court house in Los Angeles. Glendale is an incorporated city of the sixth class with about 2700 population. Pacific Electric cars leave sixth street depot half hourly, every half hour, connecting at Broadway every half hour. Rapidly increasing in population and importance, schools, churches, fraternal societies, business establishments and all the accessories of an up-to-date suburban community.

ANNEXATION DEFEATED

Outside Precincts Vote Adverseley—Carries in Glendale—Not Now, but Again!

The vote on annexation at Tuesday's election was as follows:

Glendale City	Yes	No
Tropico No. 1	258	135
Tropico No. 2	173	235
Tropico No. 3	61	106

It was certainly a lively fight. From dawn until dark the opposing forces did their best. Both sides were well provided with automobiles and other vehicles and but few voters escaped. In Glendale city it became evident early in the day that annexation would be supported by a good majority and the hopes of its proponents were high. But without the city at

GLENDALE WINS HIGH HONORS

Takes $150.00 Prize Cup at Pasadena Tournament of Roses

Assuredly the most conspicuous of the several notable advertising schemes which Glendale has put before the world was the magnificent float which figured prominently by taking the first prize in the annual Tournament of Roses on January 2d at Pasadena when tens of thousands of people including thousands of tourists, who plan to visit this city upon this auspicious occasion lined the streets for miles to witness the brilliant pageant.

In less than two weeks from the time that a letter from E. D. Goode, suggesting a suitable representation

On the other side arranged were the Misses Barbara Mitchell, Dorothy Lee, Hazel Royce, Helen Tupper, Viola Yorba, Leeta McCoy, Helen Mosher, Eva Donaldson, Birdie Shropshire, representing the same characters respectively.

At the ends of the float were

REAL ESTATE AND BUILDING.
The Overton Realty Co. reports the following sales this week: Lot on Kenwood street between First and Second to H. Vandergraw for $750. The new owner will erect a $2000 bungalow in this property soon. Sixteen acres belonging to H. Hardy in Sycamore canyon to Mr. Ogg of Los Angeles. This property was purchased especially for the fine hill land and the new owner will expand about $15,000 this winter in landscaping and generally improving the land. Later he will erect a country home which will probably cost about $10,000.

MRS. TESSA STINE PASSES AWAY.
It was with a mingled feeling of dismay and surprise that the residents of this valley heard of the death of one of its most popular ladies, Mrs. Tessa Stine. The multitude of friends of Mrs. Stine were taken entirely unawares by this altogether unfortunate incident. From mountain to mountain unusual interest has been manifested, and Mrs. Stine will be missed nowhere more than among her most intimate circle of friends, those who knew her best.

DEATH RESULTED FROM THE SHOCK OF THE OPERATION, WHICH WAS HELD AT THE CLARA BARTON HOSPITAL IN LOS ANGELES, SUNDAY. MRS. STINE HAD BEEN ILL FOR BUT A SHORT TIME, BUT AS HER CONDITION WAS GRADUALLY GROWING MORE SERIOUS IT WAS DEEMED BEST TO SUBMIT TO THE OPERATION.

VALUABLE ADDITION TO OUR CITIZENSHIP.
A recent number of the Peabody Gazette, of Peabody, Kas., contains an account of a farewell party given in honor of Dr. O. J. Furst, who has recently become a resident of Glendale. There were present at the reception forty of the prominent citizens of the county, the most of whom had known Dr. Furst for the greatest part of his residence of twenty-two years there. From the same paper we learn that Dr. Furst had served two terms as mayor of the town; he had been for two years president of the State Medical Society, and filled many other public positions.

upon this occasion was read before the Glendale Tuesday Afternoon club and a committee was appointed from the club to co-operate with similar committees from the Glendale Chamber of Commerce and other organizations. Glendale's splendid float was in the line of march. Other committees were at once appointed from the Chamber of Commerce, the Glendale Union high school, and the Valley Improvement Association with E. D. Goode as chairman of the joint committees.

The appropriate and eminently satisfactory subject chosen for the float was the Glendale Union high school which has attracted general attention throughout Southern California by the many athletic championships and trophies won and especially by the beautiful Latin play written by Miss Flood the instructor in Latin, and given under her personal direction when representatives of various colleges and schools of Southern California were enthusiastic auditors.

Glendale high school pupils come from excellent families of the various districts and Glendale is always satisfied that she will be properly represented wherever they go.

To Miss Belle N. Hall, art instructor in the high school, is due the honor of originating and planning of the details of the float.

Miss Hall's professional competency is recognized in the architectural drawings and specifications made by her for the Edison Electrical building, Christ Church, California Club and other buildings of Los Angeles, and it was eminently suitable that the scheme for the float including an exact reproduction of the high school building in miniature should have been placed in her hands.

Appropriately associated with her was the well-known artist Mr. Eugene Frank whom Glendale claims and who was appointed to the order and have an oversight of the building and painting of the canvas structure which was built by the well-known Flag Scenic Co. of Los Angeles.

Contractor Shropshire of Glendale built the seats, floor and other woodwork connected with the float which consisted of a reproduction of the high school building, seven feet high and fifteen feet long, mounted upon the main platform measuring twelve by twenty-four feet. The total height of the complete float reached within a few inches of the fifteen-foot limit allowed all floats.

A curtain four feet in depth, a veritable mass of ferns, having the word Glendale woven in with beautiful valley grown white carnations, entirely covered the wheels from view. Vast quantities of asparagus plumosus ferns and white roses covered the blankets of the six horses drawing the float. The miniature building placed upon a pedestal four feet high was surrounded by a bevy of 26 choicest young ladies of Glendale.

On one side of the float were the following ladies as the nine muses: Miss Emma Pulliam as Calliope, muse of epic poetry. Miss Pearl Goode, as Clio, muse of history, with her half-opened scroll recording all the happenings of her sister muses. Miss Fern Cook, as Melpomene, muse of tragedy, leaning on her club and holding her tragic mask. Miss Emily Elias, as Euterpe, the patroness of art. Miss May Church as Erato, with her nine-stringed lyre. Miss Mabel Evans, Urania, muse of astronomy, with her grouped Misses Alice McCoy, Harriet Nichols, Ruth Williams, Lillian Shropshire, Violet Turner, Elsie Church, Ruth Pierce, Margaret Nichols, each costumed to symbolical representations of the arts and sciences.

The young men acting as outriders were costumed as Roman soldiers, who gallantly guarded the float and guided the horses on their way to victory. These were Messrs. Jas. Wells, Jr., Paye Stone, Ed Krachey, Frank Mosher, Owen Emery, Sol Rehart, Arthur Knight, Granville McClure, Chas. Wells, Geo. Mitchell, Dwight Stephenson.

To carry out the elaborate scheme many gardens of Glendale rich in bloom at midwinter and the luxuriant nearby canyons yielded up their wealth of ferns and flowers for decorating the float. To place the thousand of fern, flowers and roses and carnations required the work of many deft fingers and the success of the undertaking is due not only to the various committees working in unison, but to many cheerful helpers working under the direction of Miss Hall who with her sister, Mrs. Anderson, and their mother remained in Pasadena several days during the preparations, working almost constantly day and night.

The highest praise is due Miss Hall for her professional efficiency, artistic ability and unremitting efforts in carrying out every detail of the classic and consistent plan.

Those who worked untiringly with her were Mrs. Goode, Mrs. Mitchell and Mrs. Church. Splendid service was given by Miss Waite, Mrs. Pulliam, Mrs. Frazier, Prof. Moyses, Mr. Gates, Archie Shaver and others.

One day's valuable assistance was rendered by Mrs. M. L. Anderson, the Glendale florist, whose artistic touch cent to the point of formation of the parade, and where they met with generous hearted co-operation from the residents.

On Saturday a crowd of pupils went to Pasadena on a hay rack and had a jolly busy day at work on the float. The girls' Grecian robes were made by themselves, while those for the boys were hired from a costumer.

The prize won by Glendale came under a special ruling made by the directors of the tournament whereby they reserved the privilege of awarding special prizes to anything unique and superior outside of the regular classes of entries.

Necessarily for so large a structure many flowers were purchased but it is safe to estimate that had not quantities been contributed and a large portion of the work been given the entire float would have cost close to one thousand dollars.

In composition it was classic, artistic and distinctive. In detail it was without doubt the most elaborate one displayed, and as it appeared enthusiastic cheers broke forth all along the four-mile line of march and cries of "What's the matter with Glendale!" arose, auto horns and sirens saluted and people waved handkerchiefs and papers as it continued to the judges' stand where it took the prize above all prize winners outside of Pasadena.

NOTICE!

After carefully reviewing our credit business for the past year, we have concluded that the only way we care to handle ANY CREDIT ACCOUNT is on a strictly 30-day or weekly basis, as the case may justify. We have therefore decided to place ourselves on record to that effect by publishing the fact in our local papers.

We have a great many people who deal with us on either a monthly or weekly basis who pay their bills promptly when due, and it is a matter of pride with them that their bills are so paid. We are very glad to have such accounts.

We are convinced that in the majority of cases where a balance is carried over from month to month, it is due to carelessness rather than to actual necessity.

We have therefore agreed to the following policy, which will be in force commencing January 1, 1911:

"We propose to do a conservative 30-day and weekly account credit business to responsible parties. By conservative, we mean that all accounts must be paid in full by the 10th of each month for 30-day accounts and on Saturday or Monday for weekly accounts. ACCOUNTS NOT SO PAID WILL BE CONSIDERED CLOSED. We believe that this is the only way in which we can successfully carry on a credit business and at the same time give our patrons the lowest cash prices."

ON NO OTHER BASIS DO WE WANT CREDIT BUSINESS.

Thanking our many friends for past favors, we subscribe ourselves as follows:

The increase of Los Angeles county in population in the decade just ended is 196 per cent, having jumped from 170,298 to 504,131. This gives us the greatest population of any county in the state, San Francisco only having 416,912.

The various banking institutions of Los Angeles will pay out in dividends this week the sum of six million dollars. This distribution of money, the rush of incoming tourists and the fact that taxes are paid, ought to have a perceptible beneficial effect on business generally and the money market in particular.

Miss Luiza Tetrastin, the great singer whom Patti has declared worthy to be her successor, made to a crowd of 100,000 people in San Francisco, on Christmas eve, a noble gift of song. On a stand erected near Lotia's fountain, she sang to the great crowd in the open air "The Last Rose of Summer" and the waltz song from "Romeo and Juliet." The Argonaut says that "honors a block away not merely recognized the melody, but felt the thrill that was carried with it."

Los Angeles has a new chief of police, Charles E. Sebastian. It is something of an experiment, in a city given to experimenting as Los Angeles is, to put a real policeman at the head of the police department, and the result will be watched with interest. We venture to predict that if Chief Sebastian is let alone he will prove to be a success, but it is unlikely that he will be let alone by the political police commissioners.

There are too many people outside of the police department who think they know how to run it.

The action of Mr. A. G. Spalding in refusing to go to Sacramento in the interest of his own candidacy for senator, is correct and dignified. By remaining away, he puts upon the legislators very heavily their responsibility under the new primary law which demands of them that they support the candidate having received the endorsement at the primary of a majority of the districts, or of their own district. Mr. Spalding had the endorsement of seventy-three districts, Mr. Works of forty-six. The election of any other candidate than Mr. Spalding will be directly contrary to the mandate of the primary election.

The abandonment of the famous "long wharf" at Santa Monica closes an interesting chapter in the political and commercial history of Los Angeles. While any portion of the wharf remains it will be a silent witness to the fact that at least once in its long career of political success, the Southern Pacific Railroad company met with a crushing defeat. It was only a dozen or fifteen years ago that Los Angeles made its great fight for a free harbor. The United States was going to appropriate a million dollars or so for the building of a breakwater. The Southern Pacific Railroad company had exclusive interests and rights at Santa Monica, and naturally exerted itself to have the great sea wall built there instead of at San Pedro, where other transportation companies had interests. There were expert reports favoring either site, and through two or three sessions of congress the fight went merrily on. Senator Stephen M. White led the light in the upper house, and Representative McLachlan did good service in the lower, the result being that the appropriation went to San Pedro, and the present magnificent breakwater is the result. But the Southern Pacific showed its faith in the Santa Monica site by building independently the great wharf, the abandonment of it being a tardy acknowledgment of error.

THE ELECTION.

We congratulate the people of Glendale city for showing by their vote on Tuesday last that they favor growth and progress. They had far less to gain by the success of annexation than had the outside adjoining community, and yet with an intelligence born of the knowledge of the benefits of local self-government, they voted to enlarge their boundaries. Notwithstanding numerous object lessons it appears that this knowledge is not as general outside the city boundaries as might naturally be expected. But this condition will not long exist. As time passes the contrast between conditions within the city of Glendale and the outside adjoining communities will become more clear and it will be greatly to the advantage of the incorporated city.

While it is a matter which every well wisher of the community should regret, that the movement for a united city has for the present failed, it has been defeated by the people who had the greatest need for it and therefore the principal loss falls upon them.

It was their privilege to reject the proposition and now there is no man to say them nay. The people who have backed this movement from the beginning in the broad spirit which desires the greatest good for the greatest number, will continue to work for it until it becomes an accomplished fact, undeterred by the wishes of special interests or the small jealousies of individuals and sections.

THE CHOICE OF A SENATOR.

The legislature on Tuesday of next week will proceed to elect a senator to succeed Senator Flint. In the new primary law an attempt was made to come as nearly as possible to electing a senator by a direct vote of the people. This, however, cannot be done, on account of that embarrassing, old-fashioned instrument, the constitution of the United States. The state-made law, therefore, starts out by the admission that the vote on the subject is to be considered as "advisory." And in further obedience to the well understood intent of the constitution, the law declared that representatives might either support for senator the choice of their individual districts, or the choice of a majority of the districts in the state. This, it seems to us, goes as far as any similar law dare go. A representative, whether in the upper or lower house of the legislature, is answerable only to the district that elects him, and not to the state at large. The situation at Sacramento, therefore, is this: John D. Works of Los Angeles, although getting by a small plurality the largest number of votes cast for any one candidate, failed to receive the support of a majority of the legislative districts, which support was given to A. G. Spalding of San Diego. It would seem, therefore, that if the legislators follow out the instructions of the voters of their districts, Mr. Spalding must be chosen senator. There can be little or no justification for any representative refusing to follow the "advice" of his district. Mr. Works will receive the support of the Los Angeles delegation, of course, but that will not be sufficient to help him in the upper house at Washington. In any event, the attempt to elect a senator by direct vote of the people does not seem to be near at hand in California, and neither one of the candidates named has any of the characteristics of a "popular choice."

In the event of anything like a dead lock over the question, the chances of Senator Flint being his own successor, are exceedingly good.

HOMELESS CHILDREN.

Don't you know somebody who would like to be a mother to a homeless child; some child-loving woman with a yearning love in her heart for a warm dependent wee bundle of flesh with all its hopes and possibilities. All children are entitled to a mother's love and without it, they droop like an improperly nourished plant.

The Native Sons and Daughters Central Committee on Homeless Children are looking for mothers. They are searching all over this great big state of ours for the people whose homes lack the sunshine of a baby's smile.

Should you happen to drop into the Central Committee's office, 855 Phelps building, San Francisco, some afternoon between the hours of 2 and 4, you would no doubt find the room full of people who are intensely interested in this project, which promises to be the greatest of its kind ever inaugurated.

THE GLENDALE FLOAT.

I wish to thank the members of the various committees who did such yeoman service in making our creation a prize winner. To Miss Belle Hall, teacher of art in the Glendale high school, the greatest credit should be given for our victory. She spent every day of her vacation in this work. She and our artist, Eugene C. Frank, worked out the design. Mrs. Anderson, Mrs. C. O. Pulliam, Miss Ida M. Waite, Mrs. Alex Mitchell, Mrs. Helen Fragar, Mrs. E. D. Goode, Mrs. F. L. Church, Mrs. Hall and Mrs. M. L. Anderson, worked on details for two days and far into the night, to make it a success. Mr. R. A. Blackburn gave up his business, put in full time on the work besides furnishing the service of his automobile.

All the young people responded nobly, and James Wells, Junior, worked day and night. Great credit is due Miss Alice Frank who by her persistent efforts, collected over one hundred dollars for the work. I consider it a great honor to enter the tournament parade, but to win a special prize for the finest float is certainly something every citizen should be elated over. It received more applause than any float in the parade and as an advertisement it is worth thousands of dollars to our city. In behalf of the citizens of Glendale, I again thank all who contributed to this grand enterprise.

E. D. GOODE,
Chairman of Joint Committee.

BACHELORS DANCE.

The dance held New Year's Eve at the Glendale Country Club was the culminating success of this year's social season. The hosts of the evening were Mr. Harry Lynch, Mr. Archie Shaver and Mr. Harry W. Peterson. Guests were received by the patronesses of the occasion, Mrs. John Pirie, Mrs. Thomas Thornton and Mrs. L. C. Brand.

The club rooms had been transformed into a bachelors' den and skins, portraits, posters, oil paintings and pennants decorated the walls. The lights were turned into Christmas bells and peppers and poinsettias added graceful touches of green. The fire place was banked with cedar boughs and illuminated with tiny lights. The orchestra was concealed in the alcove by a bank of palms.

Programs were made characteristic of the evening by bearing a photograph of the club fire place with two bachelors sitting before it indulging in pipe dreams.

Over sixty couples were present, a great many of them being out-of-town guests.

HAS PURCHASED "PEOPLE'S STORE."

Holden suffered no ordinary loss, Tuesday, when Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Halsey and two sons and little daughter left for California to reside. They will locate near Los Angeles. Mr. Halsey has been a resident of Holden for thirty years, has been prominent in business, social, civic and religious circles; having been mayor of this city, an elder in the Presbyterian church and superintendent of the Sunday school for many years. Mrs. Halsey was a leader in missionary church work. The best wishes of all our people will follow them with the benediction of the C. E. S. Mission—Holden (Mo.) Enterprise.

Mr. Halsey, we are glad to say, has decided upon Glendale as his California home, having purchased the stock and business of the People's Store, on Fourth street. He and his family are now residing on Fifth street, and expect to remain here permanently. We welcome them.

THE WEATHER.

These perfect winter days, with an almost cloudless sky, and a touch of frost in the morning, should delight the heart of the tourist. In the years before the railroads had brought farmers and consumers so closely together, a season which was marked by an absence of rain up to New Year's would have meant ruin to the few people who had their all invested in flocks and herds, and starvation would have been the fate of many dumb brutes. Now the herder loads his cattle or sheep on the cars and sends them to other pastures, or has brought to them from the irrigated sections of the state. There are yet too good, promising months ahead in which an abundance of rain may fall. The short season will mean a diminished acreage sowed to grain, but the late rains are the most valuable.

LIBRARY NOTES.

Mrs. Mary H. Gridley has again favored the library, this time with a presentation of Josephine Scribner Bates, "Little Girl Blue" and a handsome copy of the Passion Play which has been played during the last year.

The subscriptions for all the old magazines have been renewed this year with the addition of several new ones.

A library reader and friend has very kindly donated a complete set of Stevenson's works bound handsomely in cloth and leather.

A valuable addition has been made to the library's reference works in a set of Science History of the Universe containing ten volumes dealing with astronomy, geology, physics, chemistry, anthropology, zoology, biology, mathematics, art and letters, and philosophy.

A GOOD SUGGESTION.

Editor NEWS: In last week's paper you told about some boys who were arrested for stealing. If you will please ask the city officers to take some of the men and women that steal oranges and lock them up I think they would be doing a good work. I think it is the men and women thieves who teach the boys to steal. The boys see the old folks steal oranges, so they think they can steal anything they want to.

Both of these establishments will occupy space in the new Flower block now being built at Fourth street and Glendale avenue.

GUILD NOTES.

The Guild will meet next Thursday at two o'clock in the Guild hall and all members are earnestly requested to attend.

The Christmas tree held on Wednesday evening was thoroughly enjoyed by all the children present. The program consisting of readings and musical numbers was excellently rendered. The tree was loaded with gifts, each child being well remembered.

Local Resident Injured

Norman F. Evans was injured at the corner of Ninth and Main streets, Los Angeles, at about 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon in a collision of his motorcycle with a street car. Mr. Evans broke his left hand, cut a gas in his right knee and sprained his hip. He was taken to the Receiving hospital, where his injuries were attended by Police Surgeon Wright. The sufferer is doing nicely.

BASEBALL NOTES.

Sunday last Verdugo was victorious in the game called between Verdugo and the Diamond Stars. Score 11-3. The Jewel City team defeated the Eagle Rock team with a score of 3 to 2.

Next Sunday Verdugo will meet an athletic club.

The Jewel City team are using their new grounds on the corner of First and Louise.

Tropico Parent-Teachers Association

The regular meeting of the Parent-Teachers association of Tropico will be held in the Tropico school house Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock. The meeting is called by Miss Ira Hunter, secretary.

Glendale Boys on Probation

The four small boys who were arrested in Glendale a few days ago for theft were given a hearing before Judge Wilbur in Los Angeles, Tuesday afternoon, and were put on probation. They are now at their homes at this place.

Tuesday morning when school opened after the midwinter vacation fourteen pupils were waiting to be enrolled at the Fourth street grammar school.

Your Success and Ours

The success of this bank depends on the success of the people who deposit and borrow here. Only as our people are successful can we hope to continue to build up a strong business.

On the other hand, our people are dependent on the bank for many services which they could not get otherwise. The benefits of a bank connection are numerous, and good service is our specialty.

We are interested in the success of our patrons, we wish to see them prosper, and they do, for it is an undeniable fact that our customers are more generally successful than those people who have no bank connection.

If you are transacting your business through this bank, you have assurance of our personal interest in your welfare.

One of the pleasant social events of the holiday season was the dinner given by Miss Cecelia B. Harris and Miss Jennie C. Sloan, at their home at the corner of Seventh street and Central avenue. Those present were Mrs. J. W. Harris and Mr. R. Stanley Harris of Los Angeles, Miss Eunice L. Harris of San Francisco and Mr. W. S. Sloan of Glendale.

Miss Anna Woodberry and Miss Evelyn Ryan were among the guests of a party which spent New Year's day touring the coast. The party left Glendale at eight o'clock and passed through Hollywood and Santa Monica and up the coast to Topanga Canyon, where they stopped for lunch. The return was made through Ocean Park and Venice to Los Angeles; the entire trip covering eighty miles.

"BACK TO THE FARM"

XVIII.—The Country Town.

By C. V. GREGORY.

(Copyright, 1910, by American Press Association.)

THESE are two kinds of country towns—those which aspire to be big cities and those which recognize their place and opportunity as country towns. The former have more ambition than common sense. They are still led by the idea that the best of life is represented by the city and that the best measure of a city's worth is its size. The desire to grow in numbers may be to a certain extent a laudable ambition. The desire to grow in quality and the ambition to come into closer touch with the surrounding country mark the country town of the truest type. Like the country itself, such towns have all the advantages of the large city, with few of its disadvantages. One of the greatest problems that confront the city is its slum districts and its pauperism. The country town has no slums, and every one is self supporting. The red light and criminal districts of the cities are unknown to the country towns. The police force and the criminal courts of the city are unnecessary, and the money which these would cost can be used to plant trees and build sidewalks.

The cities are crowded almost to the limit of human endurance. The country town has less room than the country itself, but still there is plenty for every one. The cost of food that is so alarming to the city dweller is more or less of a joke to the resident of the country town. He has a garden in his back yard and a cow in a neighboring pasture. The cost of living may have affected his ability to purchase luxuries, but he will always have plenty to eat.

The country town has a distinctive place to fill in the development of the country. Some people would do away with the country town altogether and let all the farmer's business be done in the cities. Others would have the farmer patronize his home merchant at whatever cost. An average between these ideas will represent the attitude of the majority of the farmers toward the country town. To centralize all mercantile business in the large cities would be an unwise policy. The tendency is rather in the other direction. The movement of factories to smaller towns where the employees can live more comfortably is becoming general. Decentralizing of the mercantile business must follow.

The growth of the mail order business has been regarded as spelling the doom of the country town. That the mail order business has grown to its present proportions is the fault of the country retailer himself. The country town is essential to the prosperity of the farmer, but the farmer is more essential to the prosperity of the country town. If instead of appealing to the sentiment of the farmer and trying to cajole or frighten him into boycotting the mail order houses the country merchant had handled the problem in a businesslike way there would have been no mail order scare. In those country towns where the importance of the surrounding farmers is recognized and an attempt made to give the farmer a square deal there is little complaint of mail order buying. It is the merchants who treat the farmers unfairly who are most ready to raise the cry against the mail order houses.

In a good many towns the farmer is directly discriminated against. The stores maintain a delivery service for their city patrons. The farmer goes to the store for his goods. The city man usually pays once a month—sometimes not so often. The farmer nearly always pays for his goods in cash or produce. Yet both must pay the same price. The farmer is helping to pay the cost of a delivery system from which he gets no benefit. He is helping to pay the interest on credit accounts and, if instead of working desperately against anything that bears the name of parcels post on the ground that it will encourage mail order buying the merchant would turn in and work for a low rate parcels post on the rural routes he would eventually curb any tendency the community might have toward mail order buying. If he would deliver certain classes of goods to the farmers by such a parcels post he would be giving them no more than a square deal. Another way in which the merchants in country towns are unfair to the farmer is in the purchase of farm products. A good many times the merchants will combine to keep down the prices of potatoes and other farm products. Often they will ship in such products from a distance, forgetting their arguments in favor of buying in the home community.

One of the greatest injustices which the merchant in the country town has imposed upon the farmer and upon his fellows in town as well is that of useless duplication. In many country towns there are half a dozen groceries where one could easily do all the business. Three or four hardware stores are trying to live where there is trade enough to support only one. There is duplication in delivery systems, duplication in rent and clerk hire and in a dozen other items. All this the farmer and the town people who patronize the stores have to pay. To be sure that they do pay it there is often an agreement among the retailers to hold prices at a certain level. Then they complain when the farmer sends away for his goods. They forget that the farmer is a business man and that a business man cannot succeed unless he follows business principles and buys in the cheapest market. The remedy is free competition. Free competition may force some of the merchants out of business. This will be the best thing for the whole community. Better one prosperous merchant than half a dozen who are making a bare living. The real merchants, those who can run their business efficiently, will remain in business. The others would better be at work on the farm. The best interests of the whole country demand that business be decentralized—that it be taken to as great an extent as possible from the cities to the country towns. To make this possible the country towns must learn to handle this business at the least cost.

This consolidation of the business of the country towns will help to solve the mail order problem. The local merchant will not have to meet mail order prices. The farmer is willing to pay something for the convenience of getting goods when he wants them. He is willing to pay for the privilege of seeing what he is buying. He is not willing to pay the cost of a delivery from which he gets no benefit. He is not willing to pay some one else's bad debts. He is not willing to pay store rent and clerk hire for twice as many retailers as the trade demands.

In the most up to date country communities the country town and the farmers work together for the best good of all. Many of the country towns have commercial clubs that are alive to every opportunity for advancement. In many towns of the middle west these commercial clubs are the foremost agencies in securing short courses in agriculture for their communities. The demand for these short courses is so great that the agricultural colleges do not as yet have enough men to furnish as many of these courses as are desired. They are allotted to the towns which show the most interest and furnish the best equipment to work with. The efforts of the commercial clubs to meet these requirements have helped the farmers of many a community to have the agricultural college brought to their doors.

It is the same with farmers' institutes. The commercial club provides a place and helps bear the expense, realizing that its prosperity depends upon the prosperity of the country. Some of the towns have undertaken another move that is of great value to both town and country. They are grading up and graveling the main traveled roads for several miles out into the country. From here the work in many cases is taken up by the farmers, and the result is a system of good roads for the whole community.

In numberless other ways the commercial clubs and the farmers are working together to build up the community. Such a community can be told at a glance. The country shows it in smooth roads and well kept fences. The farmyard shows it in painted buildings and neat surroundings. The whole countryside wears a look of prosperity.

The town shows it in cement sidewalks and clean streets. It shows it in large, well supplied stores, making up in size what they lack in numbers. It shows it in neat homes and large parks. The town has a friendliness and respect for the country, and the country has a high regard for the town. The town is proud of every new barn that goes up in the country, and the country is proud of every new building that goes up in town. In the manners and looks of the people there is no distinction.

A stranger in town on a holiday could not tell the town people from those from the country. There is no difference, for in a larger sense they all belong to the country. They have combined the culture of the city with the freedom of the open air. They have found the best place in the world to live, and they are happy.

THE END.

GLENDALE'S LOSS TO BROADEN EAGLE ROCK

Action of Supervisors on Incorporation Held Over Until Monday

The defeat of Glendale's annexation project by the people of the territory proposed to be annexed, opens the way to make the boundaries of the proposed new city of Eagle Rock larger than they otherwise could have been. Pending the outcome of the Glendale election Tuesday, the question of calling an election to incorporate Eagle Rock was laid over by the board of supervisors until next Monday.

The Glendale annexation project had to carry both in the present city of Glendale and in the outside territory, each considered separately. It received a big majority in Glendale, but it lost in both of the outside precincts, Glendale's vote was 258 for the proposition and 105 against it, a majority of 153 for annexation.

In the outside territory the vote was 234 for and 341 against, a majority of 107 in opposition to annexation. When the incorporation of Eagle Rock was first suggested, it was the intention to have its boundaries reach into the present city limits of Glendale, but the Glendale proposition also included some of the same territory, so it was necessary for the Eagle Rock people to wait the result of the Glendale contest before they could definitely fix their boundaries.—L. A. Express.

The Glendale News

GLENDALE, CAL., JANUARY 6, 1911

A Good Bluff.

He was young and had just graduated from law school. His resources were exhausted, but he bravely swung forth his shingle and waited. But no clients stopped on that side of the street. His office rent was due, and his clothes were becoming shabby, but he went to his office with a regularity that would indicate a thriving practice. He was deep in an imaginary case, and when the authorities were all noted and arguments prepared he started forth downtown. He thrashed the mayor's son, whom he met in the street. The act aroused the righteous indignation of the townsmen, and he faced an angry court. But in his testimony he was able to include a sharp attack on the mayor and his administration. He quoted law from Lycurgus and Solon and gave them the page, number and chapter every time. The case was continued and sent up to a higher court. At last it reached the supreme bench, and the young man made the most of his opportunity to show his ability as a lawyer. He lost the case and paid his fine cheerfully, for he had established for himself a practice which assured his future.—Joe Mitchell Chapple in National Magazine.

President Johnson's Impeachment.

The house impeached President Johnson on Nov. 25, 1867, charging him with having removed Secretary of War Stanton in direct violation of the tenure of office act, with having appointed General Thomas contrary to the same act, with conspiracy with General Thomas and others for the intimidation of Secretary Stanton and the unlawful disbursement of the war department's money and with inducing General Emory, commanding the department of Washington, to disobey orders.

The house adopted the resolution of impeachment by a vote of 126 to 42. After the trial of the case before the senate the vote for impeachment there stood 35 to 19, thus being short of the necessary two-thirds. The senate adjourned sine die, however, without voting on some of the primary articles embraced in the charges against the president. Thereupon the chief justice of the United States court entered a verdict of acquittal on the record.—New York Times.

A Great Trade Secret.

As every one knows, the process of manufacturing the paper of which Bank of England notes are made is one of the greatest of all trade secrets. It is known only to the governor of the Bank of England and to three other persons intimately connected with the industry, which is carried on at Overton, a quiet little village in Hants. All that the outside world is allowed to know concerning this precious paper is that it is made, among other ingredients, out of charred hanks and Rhenish vines.

Quite as profound a secret is the manufacture of both the paper and the ink used for American banknotes. The former has the double advantage of not being a secret preparation, but one that only "takes" one particular kind of ink, which is quite unique, the American government paying the manufacturer, who alone possesses the secret, the sum of $50,000 a year for making it.—Pearson's Weekly.

How Did He Know?

Joe, the fat boy in the "Pickwick Papers," spent most of his time in slumber. He was happier that way. Probably there are a good many other people in the world a good deal like Joe, but most of them do not get the chance for sleep that he had. This scrap of conversation, recently overheard, would seem to indicate that, although this is a nervous age, the desire for sleep is not wholly dead.

"I don't feel well," remarked Smith as he took off his coat in the office, preparatory to sitting down at his desk. "The trouble with me is that I haven't slept as I should. I don't feel well unless I've slept."

"That's the same way with me," remarked his partner. "In fact, I think I feel best of all when I'm sound asleep."—Youth's Companion.

The First Oyster Eater.

The gluttonous Vitellius is reported to have eaten 1,000 oysters at a sitting. "He was a very valiant man who first ventured on eating of oysters," King James was wont to declare, a sentiment echoed by the poet Gay:

The man had sure a palate covered o'er With brass or steel that on the rocky shore First broke the oozy oyster's pearly coat And risked the living morsel down his throat.

Trying to Help.

Hotel Clerk to rural guest closing front entrance—Hey, there! What are you trying to do? Uncle Eben—Don't get excited, young fellow! I just thought, seeing as how I was probably the last one in tonight, I'd do the right thing and lock the doors fore going to bed.—Puck.

Matter of Intelligence.

Mrs. Suburbs—John, did you call at the intelligence office today to inquire about a maid of all work? Suburbs—Yes, my dear. Mrs. Suburbs—Couldn't you find one? Suburbs—Oh, yes; I found a dozen, but they were all too intelligent to come out to this place.—Chicago News.

No Necessity.

Perdida (at the candy pulling)—Where do we wash our hands? Myrtle—Oh, we don't have to do that. Pulling the candy makes them beautifully white and clean.—Chicago Tribune.

A Very Large Mine.

There was once in Cripple Creek an odd character named Burns. He was an odd person who always, no matter what his work, wore what used to be called a "Prince Albert." He struck a rich vein of ore and named that the Prince Albert. Being of a generous and convivial disposition, this lucky fellow was, of course, surrounded by many self-seeking friends. When he and they were in their cups some of them, with an eye to the main chance, managed to wheedle out of Burns on one pretext or another a deed of a share in his mine. With royal prodigality he scattered deeds about among his retainers and camp followers until finally something had to be done, and the case was taken into court. One of the lawyers had Burns on the stand. "Now, Mr. Burns," said the lawyer, "will you please tell the court how you can explain your conduct? The evidence shows that you have deeded away twenty-nine twenty-fourths of your mine. What have you to say to that?" "Well, sir," replied the witness, "you must remember, sir, that the Prince Albert is a very large mine."

A Cleanup.

The three amateur sharpers smiled. They thought they had found an easy mark. He was well dressed and glibly inebriated. And he bore a flight roll of bills that looked like a bologna sausage.

"Boys," he thickly said, "I'm going to spend this wad of stuff to the 'gov'ment laundry an' have it dry cleaned. It's sho' fearful dirty. Maybe one of you gents would kindly see it's addressed to proper place?"

"Why, yes," replied the gang. "We'll take care of it."

"Thanks," replied the victim. "An' now I must ask you to lemme have a few clean bills for emergensish. Don't you know?"

So they searched themselves and gave him a new twenty and a ten and a five. Then, taking the soiled wad, they hurried away.

Two days later the three clever ones were arrested for having counterfeited money in their possession.

But the guileless inebriate was seen no more.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

A Born Diplomat.

"Splendid!" exclaimed the old colonel as C company passed the saluting base.

"Did you hear wot ole nasty face sez?" No. 3 of the front rank asked No. 4.

"Stand fast after parade, No. 4, for talking in the ranks!" snapped a sergeant from near by.

"It wasn't me talkin'!" muttered No. 4.

"You'd better not git two on us in trouble," advised No. 3 in a whisper.

"Talking while marching past!" echoed the adjutant. "What on earth did you find to talk about then?"

"As we was passing the salutin' base," explained No. 4, "the colonel sez, 'Splendid!' Yes, I sez to meself, 'an' you've got the smartest officer in the British army to thank for makin' us splendid, and that's our adjutant.'"

"Er—sergeant, send the man away and don't bring such frivolous complaints before me again," snapped the adjutant.—London Answers.

The Change of a Word.

"You wouldn't think there'd be enough difference between the deff're and the indefinite article to matter much, would you?" said a lifelong enemy of a woman once just by writing 'the' where I meant 'a'." It was an account of her wedding I was doing. I said something about the ceremony being performed at the home of the bride's aunt, and then I added that there were present 'only the few friends of the family.' The bride never got over that 'the' in front of few. It happened five years ago, and when my name is mentioned she still froths at the mouth.—Washington Post.

Beaver Tales.

The Indians say that if a beaver sent out from the parents' lodge falls to find a mate he is set to repair the dam. If he falls a second time he is banished.

An Arab writer has the same story. He tells us that those who buy beaver skins can distinguish between the skins of masters and slaves. The latter have the hair of the head rubbed off because they have to pound the wood for their masters' food and do it with their heads.

A Surprised Landlord.

The very young travelling salesman was registering at the village hotel.

"I want a room with running water in it," he remarked.

"Runnin' water?" cackled the landlord. "What do you want to do, mister—practice indoor trout fishin'?"—Argonaut.

The Getaway Fellows.

"What is this 'wanderlust' you read of so often as compelling people to leave home?"

"I don't know," replied Mr. Camrox; "but, judging from my observation of people who have it, 'wanderlust' is German for 'creditors.'"—Washington Star.

His Literary Treasures.

"Jones took me to his rooms to see a collection of rare and curious manuscripts."

"What were they?"

"Recepted tailors' bills."—Cleveland Leader.

Family Jars.

The beginning of many family jars comes with the wife trying to jar a little money loose from the husband.—Atlanta Constitution.

Delinquent City Tax List of Property in the City of Glendale, County of Los Angeles, State of California, for the Fiscal Year of 1910-1911

DELINQUENT LIST

Ordinance No. 14, Section 39

Tax Collector must collect in addition to the taxes due on the delinquent list, together with the penalties due for delinquency, fifty cents on each lot, piece or tract of land, separately assessed, and on each assessment of personal property, which will be paid to the city and placed to the credit of the general fund.

Notice is hereby given, that default having been made in payment of taxes due the City of Glendale, State of California for the fiscal year of 1910-1911 upon the properties hereinbefore described, I, F. L. Church, City Tax and License Collector in and for the City of Glendale by virtue of the authority in me vested by law, unless the taxes & interest, together with costs and penalties added thereto are paid, will sell the real property on which said taxes are a lien, on Monday, the 3rd day of February, 1911, at the hour of 10 o'clock a. m. of that day, in my office in the City of Glendale, located on south side of Fourth Street, next to the post office, in the manner provided by law.

F. L. CHURCH,

City Tax and License Collector of the City of Glendale.

John S. Quest, for several years manager of the George Jr. Republic of China, has returned to Glendale, after being confined to a hospital in Pasadena for the past three months. He was afflicted with typhoid fever.

Lady Burned by Electricity Mrs. George Butterfield was severely burned by holding a rod charged by electricity at 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. Butterfield was holding the receiver of the telephone for her husband, who is an invalid, and unthinkingly she took hold of a pipe through which the electric light wires ran. She was unable to let go and for several minutes fought frantically. Finally exhausted by her efforts she fell to the floor insensible. The weight of her body as she fell loosened her hold on the rod and within a short time she had regained consciousness. She was much improved at last reports and is now doing nicely. Her hand was seriously burned by the electricity.

Don't You Know

that there are people who have lived in Glendale for as long as five years who know practically nothing of the town. About the only part of the city they have seen is the street between their home and the electric car line (if you are one of these people the Central stables can help you out. Remember Frank Showalter guarantees the guest turnouts.

His Apology

A recent refusal by a member of the English parliament to withdraw "one comma" of what he had said about a member of the government recalls the fact that Richard Brinsley Sheridan, once declined to punctuate an apology. In the house of commons one day Sheridan gave an opponent the lie direct. Called upon to apologize, the offender replied:

"Mr. Speaker, I said the honorable member was a liar it is true and I am sorry for it."

The insulted party was not satisfied and said so.

"Sir," retorted Sheridan, "the honorable member can interpret the terms of my statement according to his ability, and he can put punctuation marks where it pleases him."

Post's Licensee.

The poet was sick at heart. He just had submitted one of his very best productions to an unfeeling editor, who had rebuffed him in these gentle words:

"I wish there was a law about poets' license like the dog license law if I had my way a poet would have to take out a license every year and those who didn't would be killed."

New York Press.

Her Little Composition.

A class was reciting in a school. "Who can give me," said the teacher, "a sentence in which the words 'bit end' are used?"

Up jumped a little girl excitedly. "I can, teacher. The cat ran under the bureau and the dog ran after her and bit her end."

Method in His Generosity.

My husband is awfully good natured. I gave him a beautiful box of cigars for his birthday, and he only smoked one himself and gave all the rest away to his friends.—London Opinion.

Strong Evidence.

"What makes you think he had been to a drinking party?"

"He came home." sobbed the young wife, "wearing a phonograph horn for a hat."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Always Happens.

A man who goes around with a chip on his shoulder will finally encounter as big a fool as he is and there will be a fight.—Atchison Globe.

The sense of smartness is sure to make a man shallow.

This Weather

is ideal for a quiet drive around our city or a journey into the many canyons that extend far into the hills surrounding Glendale. The Glendale stables has some of the finest, easiest-running turnouts that can be secured anywhere, and it is a real pleasure to go driving in a rig that come from this establishment.

The Good Roads

will soon reach as far as Burbank, and in fact, will soon branch from Glendale to almost every part of the country. But don't wait until that time. People who have hired rigs from the Central stables and have taken trips out in the country around Glendale tell us that the roads in this section are of the finest, right now. See for yourself. Showalter has some dandy turnouts and he'll treat you right.

A COMPLETE LINE TO CHOOSE FROM. Tables, Dressers, Chairs, Beds, etc. Up-to-date and prices right at the Jewel City Furniture Co., 1104 W. 4th.

Berlin.

"Berlin," from which Berlin has caught her name, means uncultivated land. Slavonian Wends, the earliest settlers on the sandy plain, could make but little out of the soil. The population in 1832 was only 250,000. Less than forty years later it was 800,000, and now it runs into 2,000,000. The man who gave to Berlin its present form was Frederick II., but Frederick the Great and the Great Elector started the noble hobby of beautifying the wonderful city.

The Mantle of Charity.

The lady was making some remarks about the kind of clothing some other ladies at church had on.

"The finest garment a woman can wear," said her husband, "is the mantle of charity."

"Yes," she snapped, "and it is about the only dress, judging by the fuss they make over the bills, that some husbands want their wives to wear."

Sweden's "Church Boat."

"The 'church boat' is a popular institution in Sweden. It brings families to service from the farms around Lake Siljan to Leksand. The water route is the nearest and most convenient, and so the big boat goes from farm to farm along the shore picking up the churchgoers, who later return by the same route.—Wide World Magazine.

Counting the Cost.

"What's the cost of a marriage license?" asked a youth whose fancy had lightly turned to thoughts of conjugal felicity.

"Well," answered his friend, "30 shillings down and your entire salary each week for the rest of your life!"—London Telegraph.

Miss George Duffet was hostess New Year's Eve of a very charming evening spent at the home of her sister, Mrs. Robert McIntosh, of Durand street. The early part of the evening was passed in dancing and at the card tables. Dinner was served at midnight in the dining room tastefully ornamented with reasonable decorations. Covers were laid for twelve guests. Miss Helen Robenstein of Los Angeles was honor guest of the occasion.

Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Whitaker of Lomita Park made a trip to Mt. Wilson Wednesday of last week. Coming down the trail on the homeward-bound tramp, they were astonished to hear the chugging of an engine in a part of the mountain where no auto could penetrate. Finally they located the sound in the air above, and had a fine view of Aviator Hoxsey's flying machine just as he was turning back from his record-breaking trip between Dominguez and the peak.

Paris has forgotten the time when it used to go in terror of the wolves which carried off women and children from the streets and even raided the graveyards. At one time they became so mad with desire for human flesh that in a single week they devoured fourteen persons, all between Montmartre and the gate of St. Antoine. On the vigil of St. Martin (say Grace James in "Jean of Arc") there was hunted and taken a horrible wolf, "which it was said had done more, and more cruelly, than many others put together. That day he was killed. He had no tail, and from that he was called Courtaut. There was a man who talked about him as if he had been a outlaw of the woods or a cruel captain, and when he lived folk said to one another as they went forth to labor in the fields, 'Look out for Courtaut.' And on this day he was taken through Paris in a cart, dead, with his great jaws open, and all the people went to see, and they made holiday and rejoiced, because Courtaut could trouble them no more."

There was something wrong with the cake, the baker said. It looked all right, and it smelled all right, but his artistic sense told him it would not taste all right.

"Then fix it up with an extra coat of icing and we will keep it for a reater," said the proprietor.

"Who in the world would rent a cake?" someone asked.

"Wedding parties," said he. "They want a big cake in the center of the table for show, but a cake of that size good enough for a wedding would cost more than they can afford to pay, so they order fine cake put up in individual boxes for the guests and use the bride's cake just as an ornament. They don't buy it; they rent it. Sometimes a cake

TROPICO

Miss Carol Duncan of Los Angeles passed the New Year's holiday with her cousin, Miss Harriet Myers of Central avenue.

Miss Alta Stone has been entertaining her commante at Berkeley, who lives at San Diego, at her home in East Tropic during the holidays.

Mrs. Clarence Taggart of Los Angeles, and Miss Helen Pitner of Fresno, were guests Wednesday of Rev. and Mrs. W. C. Botkin at their home on Central avenue.

C. F. Higgins, who has been a resident of Tropic for the past few months, has moved with his family to a ranch near Whittier, having purchased the property.

Guy Rice and Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Rice of Porterville, have been passing the Christmas holidays with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Rice, corner Tropic and Central avenues.

A company of young people of Tropic held a watch night party in G. A. R. hall last Saturday night. The evening was passed in various games and dancing, Norman Evans of Glendale furnishing the music.

Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Retts, who have been passing the past several weeks with Mrs. Retts' mother, Mrs. Fannie Marple, have returned to their home in Yuma, Arizona. It is very probable that Mr. and Mrs. Retts will return to this place later to reside.

Kenneth Wilbur, who for the past few weeks has been with a surveying party in the mountains near San Bernardino, has returned to his home on Glendale avenue. It is Mr. Wilbur's intention to take up a course in surveying either at the University of Southern California or a northern college.

A watch night party was held at the home of Mr. Gallop, corner Cypress and Central avenues Saturday night. The time was passed in games and music and at about 11:45 refreshments consisting of cake and ice cream were served. In various manners the young people welcomed the new year and bid farewell to the old. About thirty were present, including only members of the Barons and Philistine classes of the Presbyterian Sunday school.

Mrs. E. B. Elias, assisted by Miss Emily Elias, entertained complimentary to Miss Lillian Elias at their home at the corner of Tropic avenue and Brand boulevard, Tuesday evening. The rooms were prettily decorated for the occasion, and during the evening many pleasing games were played and musical selections were rendered. The guests present included: Mrs. Alex Mitchell and Miss Lorraine Mitchell of North Glendale, Miss E. W. Richardson and Miss Eulalia Richardson, Mrs. A. P. Stone and Misses Alta and Alma Stone.

TROPICO METHODIST CLEANINGS.

The Ladies' Aid society of the church held an all-day meeting in the church parlors Tuesday.

Installation of the new officers of the Epworth League was held last Sunday evening. At the business meeting Tuesday evening the following new officers took their places: President, S. G. Biddle; first vice, Miss Julia Goodsell; second vice, Miss Nina Claver; third vice, Mrs. Lucretia Seal; fourth vice, Miss Josephine Cooke; secretary, James Askeland; treasurer, William Marple; organist, Miss Wanda Schofield.

The regular meeting of the official board of the church was held in the church Wednesday evening.

CELEBRATE WEDDING ANNIVERSARY.

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Chandler very pleasantly celebrated their fifty-fifth wedding anniversary at their home on Cypress avenue last Sunday, New Year's day. Although the affair happily was enjoyed by those present, it was unusually quiet. A course dinner was served at noon and the guests remained during the afternoon.

Only members of the immediate family were present, including Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Chandler, A. L. Chandler, Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Elias and Misses Lillian and Emily Elias, Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Weston and son, Edward Chandler, Weston, Mrs. Fieta Kinney and three children.

MISS MYERS ENTERTAINS.

The members of the Philathea class of the Presbyterian Sunday school were very pleasantly entertained by their teacher, Miss Harriet Myers, at her home on Central avenue, Friday afternoon.

Many flowers and much greenery was utilized to good effect in making the rooms appear unusually pretty. Games and music were enjoyed during the afternoon.

Guests present included: Misses Catherine Hobbs, Mabel Evans, Lillian Rachel and Alice Bisbey, Winifred Shes, Ellice Vance, Stella Miller, Mary Madson, Jennie Boring, Alta and Alma Stone, Gertrude Hatch, Lizzie Doyle, Jessie Gallop, Ina and Clara Verry, Gladys Hamilton, Ruth Harrison, Dorothy Wood, Carol Duncan of Los Angeles.

WEST GLENDALE

The "Antis" didn't have all their work for nothing after all, did they?

Mr. and Mrs. Phil Falter of 1451 Ivy street, left last week for an extended stay in Chicago.

Mrs. Herbert Kenody and daughter, Mildred, of Central avenue, left for Palo Alto, where they intend to remain.

The Misses Soderlin of Highland Park, have moved into their new residence, recently purchased on Hawthorne street.

Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Merriken, 1529 Ivy street, have as their guests their brothers from the East, who expect to take up their residence here.

Mrs. Laura Scammon and daughter spent the first of the week in Los Angeles the guests of their friend, Mrs. Leroy K. Daniels and mother, Mrs. Holmes.

Miss Bertha Fitzmier and sister, Mrs. Nellie Allender of Los Angeles, spent Sunday at the home of Mrs. J. Le Russ on Milford street. These ladies are two of Los Angeles' most popular teachers in the public schools.

Mr. A. Aldrich has started the construction of a residence on Oak street near Pacific. Some time ago Mr. Aldrich had his small home destroyed by fire on the same site, this time the home will be of a much better class.

Mr. Page and family enjoyed a drive to Pasadena on Monday and witnessed the Tournament of Roses. Mr. Dan Kelly, Jr., and friend also made the same trip and many other parties in West Glendale. Not a few young boys rode over on their wheels and still some more didn't have anything more substantial to travel on besides "Shank's Mare," but they saw the parade just the same and came home all O. K.

Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Elliott and children responded to an invitation sent out by Mrs. E. O. Copeland on New Year's evening. The hours were spent in general conversation and music, after which dainty refreshments were served. Among the musical numbers rendered was a duet by John G. Elliott and little Brother Copeland, which was more than appreciated by those not receiving invitations to the evening's entertainment.

Mr. Chas. H. Toll, vice president of the Security Savings Bank of Los Angeles, together with his wife and children, were visitors in Glendale on Sunday. Mr. Toll has traded his elegant home in Westmoreland Heights, Los Angeles, for the Canfield property, North Glendale, and will occupy the same about Feb. 1st. A great deal of improvements will be made in the house and a fine new cement milk house will also be built and other outside improvements. J. O. Elliott has charge of the work.

Dan Kelly, Jr., together with Albert Cornwall, will soon enter into the hardware business in the Flower block on Brand boulevard. Both these young men are highly qualified for the business and are honest, upright and industrious. Mr. Kelly has been and is at present one of the most trusted employees of the Adams McKee Hardware Co. of Los Angeles, and Mr. Cornwall is also employed in the same business with C. H. Allen of Glendale, and is well known throughout the valley. We wish them every success in their undertaking.

On account of the death of Mrs. Jessie Stine, wife of the clerk of Board of Trustees of West Glendale school, the school was closed on Tuesday. Mr. Stine has been clerk of this district for the past 18 or 20 years, and both he and Mrs. Stine took a great amount of interest in the school and as a token of respect the trustees and principal decided not to hold school on Tuesday, but on Wednesday morning everything was in readiness and the usual number of scholars in attendance. Mrs. Rensburger, the new teacher, has become one of us, taking rooms at the home of Mrs. Wm. Hyatt on West Fourth street. Miss Erickson has returned from her visit in Fresno and is more than ready for her duties, and the same can be said of all the others connected with the school, even the children are glad to be back again.

FUNERAL OF PROMINENT RESIDENT OF WEST GLENDALE.

The funeral services of the late Mrs. Tessa Stine were held at Pulliam's undertaking parlors on Tuesday afternoon. Such a large concourse of friends and relatives assembled to pay their final tribute, that a great many were not able to gain admittance to the parlors. Rev. Norton officiated and delivered a very beautiful sermon, laying particular stress upon the generosity of the deceased. Though young in years, Mrs. Stine could be classed among the old residents of the valley, coming here when about four years of age, and residing here ever since. The greater portion of her life being spent in West Glendale where she and her husband, Mr. Jessie Stine, and son, Richard, occupied a beautiful residence at the corner of Pacific and West Fourth street.

Mrs. Stine was an active worker in the Rebekahs, Eastern Star, Relief Corps, Tuesday Afternoon Club, and will be greatly missed by all the members. The floral tributes sent by the different orders and by hosts of friends were among the most beautiful that have ever been seen in Glendale. The trustees and teachers of the West Glendale school donated a very handsome piece. Every school in Glendale was represented at the funeral, Tropic also.

Mrs. Stine left a husband, Jesse Stine, son, Richard, attending U. S. C., a father, Mr. Philip Bullis, brothers, Wesley and Allen Bullis; sister, Mrs. Lester Woolley, and a host of friends to mourn her loss. Her death was caused by shock following a surgical operation at the Good Samaritan hospital in Los Angeles on Saturday last.

(Concluded from first page)

Tournament of Roses parade by civic bodies other than Pasadena, the Tournament directors last night voted to send to each of the cities making a handsome entry a $25 silver cup, with a $50 silver cup for Glendale, which through a mistake was reported to be the winner of the one and only prize for this class, a silver cup worth $150.

An official explanation was made this morning of the misunderstanding which gave rise to the report that Glendale's entry had the prize. The chosen judges for this class had made their report giving Azusa the first prize and a blue banner, with a red banner for Covina and a yellow banner for Alhambra, signifying second and third honors.

This report was mislaid and thinking that the civic entries had not been judged, and that the judges first appointed were not on the ground, Professor Garnett Holmes, the well-known dramatic coach of Berkeley, was asked to make the decision. He decided that Glendale was worthy of first prize. The original report was afterward found, and must, of course, have precedence.—L. A. Express.

Glendale Gets the Cup and Blue Banner

"Glendale gets the cup and blue banner." So read the slip of paper handed E. D. Goode at the judges' stand on Monday at the Pasadena Tournament of Roses. It is a safe to say that the Glendale Union High School gets whatever it goes for, as was evidenced by the array of trophies carried in connection with the Glendale float on Monday, and Glendale may be justly proud of this triumph and will await with eager expectancy the receipt of the cup properly engraved, which will remain an object of pride to the city.

NOTICE INVITING STREET WORK PROPOSALS.

Pursuant to Resolution No. 375 of the Board of Trustees of the City of Glendale adopted December 12, 1910, directing this notice, the Superintendent of Streets of said City invites and will receive at his office in the City Hall at 708 West Fourth street, Glendale, up to 7 o'clock p. m. of Monday, January 9, 1911, sealed proposals or bids for the following street work to be done according to Specifications No. 1 for cement sidewalks, in the City of Glendale, noted and on file, therefor adopted or herein mentioned, to-wit:

That a cement sidewalk five (5) feet feet in width be constructed along each side of Seventh Street from the East line of Brand Boulevard to the West line of Glendale Avenue (excepting such portions of said street between said points along which a cement sidewalk five (5) feet in width has already been constructed and now is to the official line and grade), in accordance with Specifications No. 1 for constructing cement sidewalks, on file in the office of the City Clerk of said City, and which said specifications are hereby referred to and made a part hereof.

That the proceedings for the above improvement shall be taken under an act of the Legislature of the State of California entitled, "An act to provide for work upon and the construction of sidewalks and curbing within municipalities," approved March 6, 1909.

The said Superintendent of Streets will fix thirty-five (35) days as the time within which the above work must be completed by the contractor.

Bidders must file with each proposal or bid a check payable to the order of the Street Superintendent of this City, certified by a responsible bank, for an amount which shall not be less than ten per cent of the aggregate of the proposal, or a bond for the said amount and so payable, signed by the bidder and by two sureties, who shall justify, before any officer competent to administer an oath, in double the said amount, and over and above all statutory exemptions.

In bidding use blanks which will be furnished by the Street Superintendent upon application. Glendale, Cal., Dec. 27, 1910. EDWARD M. LYNCH, Street Superintendent of the City of Glendale.
