President Gardner told how the organization had been in existence since 1866, aiding widows and orphans of war veterans, and helping veterans generally.
The Baron congratulated the Victoria unit on its commodious club rooms.
"If Canada as a whole could only get the regimental spirit that prevailed during the days of the Great War, what a wonderful thing it would prove to be in this Dominion," he said. "I trust that you will always keep the old regimental spirit to the forefront. The regimental spirit in the days of warfare was a spirit for everything that was good, and for everything that was bad, and this same regimental spirit to-day still signified and is typical of everything that is for good. I am delighted to meet you and I wish you all well."

...went through a similar shake in the early eighties.
The mission's tower, with its sweet toned bells, crashed while a kneeling congregation bowed within. Then the congregation walked out, led by the priest, over the adobe wreckage.
WRECKAGE CLEARED UP
Walls that could be saved were propped up with great timber stays, and throughout the night crews worked steadily clearing away the ruins.
Now and then a new tremor made itself felt, a reminder of the terrifying leading shake that had started the work of damage, and the pick and shovel squads sprang back for a moment beyond the awaiting piles awaiting its passage before resuming their work.

REBUILDING PLANS
William G. McAdoe of Los Angeles who owns one of the finest residences in the city, led a number of financiers in arranging with the local Chamber of Commerce for reconstruction funds at a meeting yesterday afternoon.

Mr. McAdoe suggested that the clearing houses of the state furnish a revolving loan fund of $2,500,000 for the purpose of assisting in the rebuilding of the business district of Santa Barbara. The plan has not been worked out in detail, but the local authorities are now taking it up. It will be drafted and whipped into shape in order that rebuilding may start at once.

EARTH TWISTED
"The twisting of the earth was like a violent storm at sea," said Harry Afford, janitor of The Daily News Building. He was one of the comparatively few men in the downtown district when the earth began its shivering.
"The first shock shook The News Building like a little ship in a big storm. It knocked several of us down. There was nothing to do, it was just a question of getting up and holding on. Then came the second shock."
"That was the one that did the damage. It just rocked back and forth, until the crunching and crashing sounds showed that the buildings were torn down."

OLE HANSEN'S STORY
Ole Hansen, former mayor of Seattle, gave the following eye-witness account of the earthquake:
"It was about 6.44 a.m. The air was sultry. Everything was very quiet. I noticed as I lay on my bed that quite a large wave dashed against the beach. The ground seemed to rise up with a crunch something like a million dogs crunching a bone. I leaped out of bed and the floor seemed to rise up and hit me. I stepped again and it seemed as if I could not reach the floor."
"Like all animals except the horse in time of trouble, I dashed for the open air and began to bang on the neighboring bungalows to rouse occupants and get them out in the open park."
"Then I heard an explosion like a great fuse flame such as they use in movies at night. It lit up the heavens and then flashed out. Right behind me I heard a rending. Two blocks away I saw the walls of the New California Hotel lean over gradually and collapse, leaving the occupants safely in bed, some covered and some uncovered. They all escaped."
"The ground rolled like a slight wave hitting a canoe. There was no excitement. Crash after crash came from the business district. The man sweeping the streets on the water-

WATER SUPPLY
The main water supply of Santa Barbara was reported safe late yesterday when word from the Gibraltar Dam, eighteen miles East of here, was that it was intact.
The tunnel through the mountains to Santa Barbara also escaped damage.
The breaking of the Sheffield Dam means elimination of one reservoir control, water officials said.

LIST OF BUILDINGS
The following buildings were either demolished or seriously damaged by the tremors yesterday: San Marcos Building, Arlington Hotel, Samarkand Hotel, Santa Barbara Mission, St. Francis Hospital, American Legion Building, Public Library, County Jail, Courthouse, Hall of Records, Elk's Building, Knights of Columbus Building, Holiday Building, Howard Canfield Building, Hotel Californian, Carrillo Hotel, Levy Building, High School, Wilson School, First National Bank, Presbyterian Church, County National Bank, St. Vincent's Church, Dent's Building, Parmas Building, Potter Theatre, Santa Barbara Moraing Press Building, damaged; Central Bank Building, damaged; Bulck Auto Garage, Cadillac Garage, El Camino Hotel, Paulding Hotel, Junior High School, Heath Building, Eisenberg's, Golstein's, Trentwith's, Great Wardrobe, Ott's Hardware, Houghton's, El Nido Hotel, Edgerly Court, Bothin Building, Carrillo Building, Pythian Building and St. Aloysius Hall.

front never quit sweeping. He shovelled and swept.
"We built a fire. The gas was gone so the bonfire sufficed. We cooked coffee and we ate our breakfast. A mile on both sides was practically destroyed."
Three very slight shocks were recorded in the last twenty-four hours up to 9 o'clock this morning on the seismographs at the Gonzales Meteorological Observatory, Napier Denison reports. They appear to have been about the same distance from Victoria as the California earthquake. The first was at 11.04 a.m. yesterday, the second at 8.06 p.m. yesterday, and the third at 1.27 this morning.

Ganges News

Special to The Times
Ganges, June 29.—M. and Mrs. Harry Nobbs of the Cranberry District, Salt Spring Island, have had an exceptionally fine crop of strawberries. Between them they have picked and brought to the jam factory at Ganges more than a ton of splendid berries. Royal Sovereign is the name of this fine, large sweet berry. Salt Spring Island seems especially good for growing all kinds of small fruits.

On Tuesday evening about fifty friends gathered at the home of Mrs. G. Mout, and during the evening Mr. Ivan Parfitt was presented with a lovely leather music case by Mrs. Jane Mout on behalf of the members of the United Church for acting as organist for the services each Sunday while he has been at Ganges.

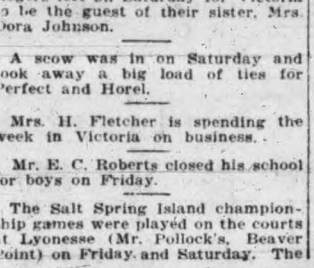

On Wednesday evening at the Mahon Hall, a dance was given under the management of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Jones. The proceeds were given to the Fulford Hall fund. Mrs. J. N. MANY HAPPY RETURNS

TO-MORROW WILL BE the fifty-eighth birthday of our Dominion. It also will be the birthday of the system by which the British Empire eventually became transformed into a commonwealth of nations...

Canadian statesmen, before and during Confederation time, were confronted with infinitely more difficult problems than any that have arisen since then.

Our progress since then has been remarkable. In material accomplishment Canada's record is unequalled by that of any other country of similar population in the world.

Every progressive country has difficult problems to deal with. Great Britain has been climbing over formidable obstacles for a thousand years.

COME OUT AND SEE

WHY NOT A BRITISH Empire Foreign Trade Council gathering on this Coast? Our friends across the way have just shown us what they can do when it comes to telling the world that the United States is right out after the Oriental markets. Practically everybody who is anybody in the commercial and industrial world in the neighboring republic thought it worth while to travel thousands of miles to talk things over in Seattle.

Every time the question of unemployment is broached in the House of Commons at Westminster additional argument is provided in support of some such Empire stock-taking.

It is small wonder that Mr. Baldwin should tell the House of Commons last night that he did not think another Imperial Conference at this stage would be of much assistance.

THE CANADIAN CLUB

POST-PRANDIAL DISSEMINATIONS frequently emphasize the desirability of developing a more lively Canadian spirit. It is good that such emphasis should be laid upon so important a subject.

No better instrument could be employed than the Canadian Club. It composes a membership of Canada's best citizens.

WIDE AWAKE

IF THE BRITISH AIR MINISTRY were to advertise all the progress it is making in aeronautical research, the people of the Empire and the rest of the world would be just as wise as this important department of the defence service.

Yesterday's special dispatch from London to The New York Times announced the fact that the King and Queen and a large contingent from the House of Commons were present at Saturday's display, a fairly convincing reply to the recent suggestion that for every one person attending an air race there are ten thousand at a football match.

WORDS OF WISE MEN

It will appear how impertinent that grief was which served no end in life. Men are apt to quarrel with their destiny and their lives as they do with their clothes.

To him who in the love of Nature looks for communion with her visible forms, she speaks a various language.

HEALTH & DISEASE

Pain on Passing Water

This may be due to irritants in the urine, to a sore outlet pipe of urethra, or more commonly, to a combination of these factors.

Some few people are subject to peculiarities of digestion, or indigestion, more especially when certain articles of diet have been eaten.

There are, however, certain infections which not only render the bladder outlet sore, but cause ammonia and gravel to form in the urine before it is voided.

There may be pain on passing urine when disease is present in the kidney only, but this "referred pain" is uncommon.

AT THE THEATRES

COLORFUL PHASE OF ROMANTIC WEST IN ZANE GREY STORY

Again Zane Grey and Paramount have joined hands in glorifying the Great West, and the result of their painstaking efforts revealed itself last night at the Dominion Theatre. "The Light of Western Stars" is the rather brilliant title of this new photo-thriller, and, as is typical of practically all Zane Grey stories, it depicts another glorious, colorful phase of the early, romantic West. This time it's the Arizona cattle country, back in those adventurous days when it was America's last frontier, that provides the picturesque setting for the stirring story of action, drama, conflict and love. From the moment the plot introduces Jack Holt as the daredevil cowboy, Noah Beery as the bandit chief and Billie Dove as the adorable heroine, the picture grips the interest like a vise and holds it till the final fighting finish.

All the essentials of Mr. Grey's original story have been carefully preserved by George C. Hull and Lucien Hubbard, who made the screen adaptation, and with the added advantage of marvelous desert backgrounds, the production has an air of realism that is refreshing in its details and significant because of its historic value.

To William K. Howard, the youthful producer, goes the major share of the credit, for it is his shrewd and resourceful direction that lifts "The Light of Western Stars" out of the class of the purely melodramatic Westerns into the realm of the epic photoplays.

Although the theme of the story concerns the mighty struggle between the forces of outwary and the forces of law and order, as typified by Beery on one hand and Holt on the other, it gains in dramatic intensity when those two clash for love of Miss Dove.

The action reaches a point of tremendous suspense when Beery captures Miss Dove and Holt, and she is about to be made a dash for freedom. Holt's escape and the thrilling developments that follow furnish plenty of excitement and drama.

"The Light of Western Stars" is the Light of Western Stars.

DAYS OF SLAVERY ARE REVIVED IN PLAYHOUSE SHOW

Back in slavery days in the United States the darkies used to gather in the evenings, and sitting in a circle around a blazing bonfire, would sing their plaintive melodies, while those with nimble feet, merrily pranced to the music of banjo and tamborine. That was in slavery days, but the idea persists, with the result that this unique form of entertainment was continued even after emancipation, and the minstrel show of today was born.

At the Playhouse, this week, the "Georgia Minstrels" are being presented in one of the old time darkie jubilees, and it is a coincidence that the attraction is being offered in conjunction with the fitting of the big picture, "Abraham Lincoln." Because Lincoln was the great emancipator of the colored people, the "Georgia Minstrels" might be played as a prologue to the picture or the picture as an introduction to the "Georgia Minstrels," but whichever way the attraction is taken, the entire programme at the Playhouse this week is a consistent and cleverly arranged entertainment.

BARBARA LA MARR AN ALLURING CIRCE ON CAPITOL SCREEN

Barbara La Marr has added charms which would have made the Circe of old, luring mariners to their doom upon her rocky shores, turn green with envy. She has beauty of face and figure, of course; and she has, particularly in this picture, a wealth of lavish costumes which would rival a style show.

In fact, we review the action, we seem to see an ocean of billowy silken and satiny waves with the loom, from one gorgeous drapery to another. And, to compete the simile, we see schools of men swimming about her, their hearts on their lips, as they speak.

"The Heart of a Siren," at the Capitol Theatre, as directed by Phil Rosen, is beautifully screened. The story is of a stage siren whose allurement captivate all Europe. The merry page she leads her army of worshippers throughout the gay capitals of the continent affords the picture some settings which, for rich picturesqueness, rival anything we have seen.

Then comes Conway Tearle in the role of a poor but aristocratic London diplomat, and the siren, for the first time, tastes humiliation. He ignores her. Now, what would any siren do in such a case? She sets forth, at once, to crush the heart of this "pig of an aristocrat" and succeeds. But she loses her own heart to him in so doing.

Thus, the maddening whirl of gaiety suddenly swerves into highly emotional drama, and the plot works into a thrilling climax.

It proves a special vehicle for the display of exceptional histrionic ability by Miss La Marr and Tearle, as well as the remainder of the big cast, which includes Harry Moore, Ben Fitting, Clifton Webb, Ida Darling, William Ricciardi and others.

"A GIRL OF THE LIMBERLOST" AT THE COLISEUM THEATRE

Gene Stratton-Porter, authors, had an audience of more than a hundred million persons.

Her books, including "A Girl of the Limberlost," "Michael O'Halloran," "Laddie," "The Heart of a Siren," "The White Flag" and others, have had combined sales of more than ten millions of copies.

She was a regular monthly contributor to two magazines, the combined circulations of which total almost two millions of copies for each issue.

She was a regular contributor to a syndicate of newspapers, the Sunday circulation of which is above the five million mark.

Still many other millions of readers will see the advertisements of "A Girl of the Limberlost," the screen version of which has been made under the direction of James Leo Meehan. This splendid picture is now showing at the Coliseum Theatre.

WOUNDED MAN WED GIRL FROM ENGLAND

Pretty Ceremony Unites Fred C. Holmes and Miss Nina Davidson. Duncan, June 29.—On Saturday afternoon at St. John's Church, Duncan, the marriage took place of Nina May Davidson, who lately arrived from England, and Frederick Crease Holmes of Duncan. The Rev. A. Bischoff performed the ceremony, assisted by Rev. E. G. Christmas. The bride, who was given in marriage by Mr. Roland Wilson, wore a handsome gown of beige georgette crepe, with scarf and hat in suite, and carried a bouquet of rose and ferns. Mrs. R. P. Roberts, the bridegroom's sister, was matron of honor, wearing a dainty canary-colored silk, trimmed with georgette crepe, hat and scarf to match, and carrying a bouquet of pink and mauve sweet peas. Pretty little Monica Roberts made a dainty flower girl, dressed in white organdie with touches of blue, a wreath of flowers on her head and carrying a basket of pink sweet peas. Mr. F. H. Lemson acted as best man. The service was fully choral. Mr. W. A. Willett at the organ. About fifty guests attended the reception, which was at the home of Mrs. "Holmesdale." WIFE LOSES CLAIM AGAINST HOSPITAL

Vancouver Woman Alleged Inattention Caused Husband's Death. Vancouver, June 30.—A jury in Supreme Court yesterday dismissed the action brought by Mrs. Mary C. Watson, Burnaby, against the Royal Columbian Hospital and Dr. C. E. Drew of New Westminster for damages for the death of her husband while undergoing treatment in that institution last July. Mrs. Watson based her claim for compensation upon the assertion that through inattention upon the part of either the doctor or the hospital authorities, her husband had been allowed to develop in a wound in her husband's abdomen.

TYPOS TO HOLD THEIR FIRST ANNUAL PICNIC

Local Printers, With Their Families, Will Spend Labor Day Together This Year. At the monthly meeting of Typographical Union, No. 201 of this city, it was decided to hold a picnic on Labor Day. The committee was appointed composed of two members from The Times, Messrs. Bowers and Wyatt; two from The Colonist, Messrs. Stokes and Davidson; and two members from the job offices, Messrs. Neelands and Meiville. In most cities on the continent the annual printers picnic and the annual printers ball are events to look forward to and the committee believe that the printers of Victoria can make these events just as popular. It has not yet been decided whether it shall take the form of a boat excursion or just a picnic in some of the ideal picnic grounds on this island.

TO-MORROW'S HOROSCOPE

By Genevieve Kamble. WEDNESDAY, JULY 1. Conflicting conditions are to be read from this day's planetary operations. While it is a most propitious time for those in the employment of others, presaging recognition, favors or advancements and for those seeking the influence of those in high places, yet other testimonies point to menacing situations and experiences. The health may prove a disturbing factor and there may be some danger of accident in a motor trip. Quarrels might terminate adversely and changes, travel or removals are not encouraged. Those whose birthday it is are under a contradictory reign for the year. It is a fortunate time for anyone in the employment of others or for those seeking the recognition of those in authority, but litigation or quarrels might be disastrous and the health and physical safety should be given consideration. Defer change and travel. A child born on this day is likely to be restless, intractable, stubborn and unruly—which may mitigate against its success. It may do well in the employment of others.

THURSDAY, JULY 2

Fairly favorable conditions are predicted on the basis of this day's lunar and mutual aspects. There is a possible prospect of a fortunate journey, change or removal, rather radical in nature. New contracts, either commercial or professional, are well respected and the strong position of Jupiter bespeaks probable financial success. However, it might be well to guard against publicity, and those in the employment of others should be careful not to give offence. Those whose birthday it is may look for fairly favorable conditions during the year, which may offer opportunity for an important change, contracts are encouraged and the financial outlook is excellent. However, it is urged that precaution be taken against deception. A child born on this day should be talented, versatile and original as well as inventive and independent in thought and action. It may be fond of travel and should succeed in its undertakings.

RED CROSS WORKSHOP IS DOING FINE WORK

Manager Okell Tells Kumtuks Club of Work of Incapacitated Veterans. That every dollar spent at the Red Cross workshop meant not only the assisting of war-wracked veterans towards earning a living but also meant a full dollar's worth of value, was the statement made by Manager Okell in the course of an interesting address before the Kumtuks Club yesterday. Mr. Okell spoke of the growth of the Red Cross workshop movement, which originated in Victoria in 1921 and had since spread to other cities throughout the Dominion. The local branch on Johnson Street now employed thirty-four men, all incapacitated by war injuries and unable to compete in the ordinary labor market. These men turned out excellent work in the way of cabinet making and woodwork of all kinds, basket making and repairing, repairing seagrass and basket chairs, painting and kalsomining, weaving, and a host of other things. He appealed to the women to support this commendable local industry.

BEDTIME STORY

Uncle Wiggily's Roman Candles

Copyright, 1925, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate (By Howard R. Garis.)

"Where are you going now, my dear?" asked Uncle Wiggily, his new wife of him one morning as she saw him hopping down the back stoop on his tiptoes so he would make no noise.

"Hush! Not so loud!" the bunny gentleman whispered, holding one paw over his lips. "I don't want any of our forty-seven little bunnies to hear, but I am going to the store to get some Roman candles for Fourth of July, which is on Saturday. We are going to have a grand celebration, but I want to keep it secret about getting the candles ahead of time."

"Well, whatever you do, don't hide them under the front stoop, as you did the skyrocket!" advised Mrs. Longears with a laugh.

"No, indeed!" chuckled the bunny gentleman. He hadn't forgotten how some of the bunny children found the rocket and set it off. Though it was a good thing they did, for the rocket swooped through a bush where the Fuzzie Fox was hiding and frightened him away.

"So it is Roman candles you want this time, is it?" asked the monkey doodle gentleman when Uncle Wiggily hopped into his store. "Well, here are fine ones. Do you know how to shoot them?"

MIGRATION PLANS ARE BEING AIDED

Delegates to Empire Service League Convention in Ottawa Hold Discussion

Ottawa, June 30.—If we fail to develop the magnificent resources of the Empire, may they not be taken away from us and given to somebody else? asked General Sir Andrew Russell of New Zealand, addressing the British Empire Service League here.

After the opening ceremonies yesterday and the adoption of reports the conference of ex-service men of the Empire got down to resolutions and took up first the proposal to extend British Empire settlement and to appoint a committee of the conference to devise means of promoting more rapid migration of veterans.

CAREFUL SELECTIONS Captain W. Appleby of Great Britain promised the British Legion would select for settlement overseas its most suitable men and its best women. He said the employment services of the Legion regarded the selection of the women as more important than the choice of the men.

NEWS FROM ARCTIC BY RADIO PLANNED

Chicago, June 30.—Radio messages from the Arctic region have been brought to civilization, but not yet the human voice. When the Donald B. Yachtsmen Tuning Up For Races To-morrow

Hundred Boats Anchored in Cadboro Bay all Set for Pacific Coast Regatta; Powerboats Finishing Race From Seattle This Evening; Four Class R Boats Will Compete for Coast Championship; Races for all Types of Craft

Yachtsmen are busy at Cadboro Bay to-day tuning up their craft for the big races to-morrow. Close to 100 yachts from Vancouver, Seattle and Victoria, with two from California, are swinging at their mooring and early to-morrow morning the sailers will be taken in tow and pulled around to the Royal Roads, where the races will be held.

Some of the boats were out in the Strait yesterday scudding along before half a gale. The big two-stickers found the wind much to their liking, but the little fellows stayed at their moorings while their crews went over their rigging to see that everything was in shape.

This evening the fleet in Cadboro Bay will be augmented by a big procession of power boats. They will finish the two races which started yesterday from Seattle. Yesterday the boats raced from the Sound port to Roche Harbor and to-day they are completing the lap to Cadboro Bay.

INTEREST IN CLASS R BOATS

The greatest interest in the regatta is centring around the Class R boats. They will be racing for three trophies, the Lipton, the Victoria and the Pacific Coast Yachting Association's Cup. The winner of the races will be declared the Pacific Coast champion.

The S. Tom, with the crafty Ted Geary at the helm, seems to be a favorite with yachtsmen for the championship. The S. Tom will be her best if the wind is light and it is generally conceded that she cannot be beaten under these conditions.

The Rowan, of Vancouver, will be raced by Roy Matland. This will be her first race on the Pacific, but on the Great Lakes she won the championship from all Canadian and American entries.

The Turenga, which will sail under the Victoria colors, is being sailed by Ernie Rogers, of the local yacht club. The Turenga is sailing her first race since her design and rig were altered. She will be the only boat in the Class R which will be shipped here for the races. Little is known of the Lady V. ability.

ALL KINDS OF RACES

There will be other races for all types of craft and a great regatta is expected. To-morrow's programme will be as follows:

- 10 a.m.—Special sweep.
- 10.05 a.m.—Schooners and yawls, thirty feet L.W.L. and over.
- 10.10 a.m.—Sloops twenty-five feet L.W.L. and over.
- 10.15 a.m.—Schooners and yawls, under thirty feet L.W.L.
- 10.20 a.m.—Sloops, under twenty-five feet L.W.L.
- 10.25 a.m.—Star class.
- 10.30 a.m.—Kitten class, race for the Gale Cup, property of the Royal Vancouver Yacht Club.
- 2.30 p.m.—Race for "R" class yachts. Best of three races on points. First race, triangular course, three times round. Time limit four hours.

WEDNESDAY, JULY 1

- 2.30 p.m.—Outboard motor boat races at Cadboro Bay.
- First race—Boats powered with one motor with piston displacement of twelve cubic inches and under.
- Second race—Boats powered with one motor with piston displacement over twelve cubic inches and under seventeen cubic inches.
- Third race—Boats powered with one motor with piston displacement seventeen cubic inches and over.
- Fourth race—Long distance endurance race, twelve miles. Free to all.
- A long distance power boat race from the mouth of Esquimalt Harbor to a buoy anchored off Pedder Bay, thence to the Yacht Club, Cadboro Bay; leaving the buoy, Trial Island and Fiddler Reef lighthouses to port. Finish opposite clubhouse, Cadboro Bay. This race will start after the finish of the "R" class race.

Stecher Refuses to Wrestle Lewis in a Championship Match

St. Louis, June 30.—Joe Stecher, claimant to the heavyweight wrestling championship, has declined the $5,000 purse offered by promoter Tom Packs of St. Louis for a bout with Ed. "Strangler" Lewis, another title claimant, it became known to-day.

Stecher told Packs he had no desire or intention of granting Lewis a match in the near future, but that he was willing to meet any other grappler Packs might wish to send against him in the local arena. Stecher has declared that Lewis, during the four years he held the undisputed title, entirely ignored his challenges.

Indoor baseball fixtures for to-night are: Section "A," Naval Barracks vs. Hilliercists, at Macaulay Park; Esquimalt vs. Garrison, at Work Point; Y.M.C.A., a bye. Section "B," Garrison vs. Onwegoes, at Central Park; Tillamook vs. Foul Bay, at Foul Bay. Priors, a bye.

Giants Pushed Out Of First Place By Drive of Pirates

For First Time This Season New York is Not Leading National League

Washington Again Beats the Athletics and Are But Half a Game Behind Leaders

New York, June 30.—The Giants are taking the dust from the Pirates to-day. For the first time since early in the season, New York is not in the lead of the National League.

When the Pirates were ahead of the Braves, 3-1, in the second inning yesterday, rain stopped the contest. The Pirates trimmed the Reds 8-1, and thus regained the lead with a four-point margin.

Cincinnati was relegated into the second division, St. Louis moving into fourth place in the first rank by remaining idle.

Stan Coveleskie, the veteran spitballer, hurled Washington to a 4-1 victory over the Athletics, slicing the lead of the Mackmen to half a game. The downfall for the American leaders also marked the first defeat of Sam Gray, Philadelphia pitching ace.

The chronic ailment of the Yanks, dropping a game after winning two, still persists. For the eleventh time this season, the Yanks failed to extend a two-game winning streak by losing to the Red Sox on June 25. Boston had lost nine straight.

Detroit held fast to fourth place in the standing by winning twice from Cleveland. Cobb turned out three doubles and a single out of four attempts in the opener.

The Browns pushed off the White Sox in the first of a series, five to two. Moechler yielded only five hits, while the Browns got 15 off Carlson, and Knight to win 3-3. Fournier slammed his 14th homer. The Phillies made a triple play.

AMERICAN LEAGUE

Cleveland, Ohio, June 30.—Detroit won two games from Cleveland yesterday, taking the first four to one and the second 7 to 4. Cobb made four hits out of five times at bat, including three doubles in the first game and Klugman, Cleveland's second baseman, made a double and three singles in four times up in the second game. Matush, batting for Haney, a Detroit third baseman, in the second game, hit a home-run.

First game—R. H. E. Detroit 4 12 6 Cleveland 1 0 0 Batteries: Daus and Bassler; Spence and Myatt.

Second game—R. H. E. Detroit 7 10 1 Cleveland 2 0 0 Batteries: Leonard and Bassler; Karr, Spence and Walter.

COVELESKIE BEATS GRAY

Washington, June 30.—Washington drew up to within half a game of the league leading Philadelphia Athletics yesterday, defeating them 4 to 1 for the third time in the four games played of the series. Sam Gray, pitching ace of the Athletics, who pitched three innings in the sixth inning, was charged with his first defeat of the season, while Coveleskie, by winning yesterday, drew up to a tie with the Athletics for the best pitching average in the league, with nine wins and one defeat. Lamar, who got three of the Athletics' seven hits, carried his string of consecutive hitting games to twenty-nine.

At Washington—R. H. E. Philadelphia 1 7 1 Washington 4 6 0 Batteries: Walker and Gray; Coveleskie and Ruel.

BROWNS BUMP SOX

St. Louis, June 30.—The St. Louis Browns got off to a good start on their stand at home by defeating the Chicago White Sox yesterday 5 to 2, in the opening game of their series. Moechler allowed only five safeties. The only White Sox scores came in the eighth when Bollins hit a home-run, scoring behind Davies, who had singled. Cvegroog was batted out in the eighth after the Browns had made three runs.

At St. Louis—R. H. E. Chicago 2 5 1 St. Louis 5 9 1 Batteries: Cvegroog, Connelly and Schalk; Moechler and Dixon.

BREAK LOSING STREAK

Boston, June 30.—Three Yankee pitchers were pounded for sixteen hits yesterday as the Red Sox broke their losing streak in nine straight and won 10 to 3. Babe Ruth was out of the line-up nursing a bruised right ankle. He will have the ankle X-rayed to-day.

New York, June 30.—R. H. E. Boston 5 8 1 New York 10 3 0 Batteries: Ferguson, Shawkey, Bowl and Schanz; Quinn, Winfield and Picinich.

NATIONAL LEAGUE

Cincinnati, June 30.—Pittsburg went into first place yesterday by defeating Cincinnati 8 to 1. The Pirates kept the hits well scattered. Ed Rousch, centre fielder and mainstay of the Cincinnati team, was out of the game on account of a strained leg.

Pittsburg 8 13 1 Cincinnati 1 1 0 Batteries: Morrison and Smith; Rixey, Brady and Harrgrave.

VANCE TOO STRONG

Philadelphia, June 30.—Dazzy Vance held the Phillies to five hits yesterday, and the Robins won 3 to 3. Vance increased his 1925 crop of strikeouts to 103 by fanning six bat-

Victoria and Vancouver cricketers begin the first match of their 1925 series for the Flumerfelt Cup to-morrow morning at 10.30 o'clock at the grounds of the University School.

The Vancouver cricketers will arrive here on the morning boat and after breakfast will travel to the scene of combat. The match will continue all day, stumps being drawn at 6 o'clock. There will be a break for luncheon and tea.

While the "A" teams are battling here the "B" elevens of the two cities will meet in Vancouver. This is the first time that the "B" clubs have had a match of this kind.

Victoria is anxious to win in order to be in good shape to win the championship. Victoria has usually been successful in winning the home match. The second match of the series will be played in Vancouver and should a third game be necessary the venue will be decided by the toss of a coin.

An all-day cricket match will be played on Beacon Hill to-morrow commencing at 10.30 a.m. between the Victoria Hudson's Bay vs. Vancouver Hudson's Bay. A good programme has been arranged for the entertainment of the visitors. The Victoria team will be as follows: Major Jukes, Haines, Parkes, Harrison, Payne, Hansen, Shrimpton, Ellis, Durrant, Fea, Eaton.

Sons Will Battle Chemainus In Two Games On Holiday

Two Fine Ball Games Looked For; First at 11.30 and Second at 4 o'Clock

Up-Islanders Sending Down Strong Team; Cups go to Winners of First Game

Everything is set for the two exhibition baseball games to be staged to-morrow at the Royal Athletic Park between the Native Sons of Canada, and Chemainus. The first game will be staged at 11.30 o'clock in the morning and the second at 4 o'clock in the afternoon, following the parade.

A large turnout of fans at both games is looked for as Chemainus have a snappy team, while the Sons showed what they can do by their great victory last night over the Eagles. The Natives have one of the hardest hitting bats seen here for some time. They are mostly young players, but are making a great bid for the amateur league title. They have won their last four games, and are at present tied with the C.P.R. for the league leadership.

The up-Islanders may send several heavy hitters on their club, including Horton, McBride and Brown. These men are all cramping the ball over the 250 mark in their leagues.

The winners of the morning game will receive the individual cups presented by the Carnival committee. Bob Whyte, the idol of all fans, will be the umpire in the morning game. In order to accommodate the fans both gates at the park will be open to-morrow.

The teams will be as follows: Sons of Canada—Miller, c.; Brynjolfsson, 1st b.; Dunn, 2nd b.; D'Arcy, s.; C. Campbell, 3rd b.; Salloway, l.f.; Holman, c.f.; Smith, r.f.; McIntyre, p.; Curtis, p. Taylor, start.

Montreal, June 30.—E. J. Mulqueen, formerly president of the Canadian Olympic Committee, and D. S. Lamb, of McGill, secretary of the Amateur Athletic Union, Canadian delegates to the Olympic congress at Prague, are home and have turned in a preliminary report to W. R. Findlay, president of the Amateur Athletic Union, in which they say among other things that through the representations of the Canadian delegates the Winter sports of 1924 have been definitely recognized as the first of the Winter sports programme and Canada thus has the first Olympic hockey championship. Winter sports will in future be a definite feature of the games, it is stated. The opinion is expressed that lacrosse may be included as an international sport and made part of the games.

Giant Peterson and Audrey Show Speed

Local Girl Wins Second Canadian Championship in Record-breaking Time While Portland Paddler Swims Sensationally in Sprints; Burroughs Scores Popular Win in Diving; Fadden is Scream as Springboard Comedian; Final Programme To-night

Audrey Griffin, of Victoria, and Julian Burroughs and J. O. Peterson, of Portland, were the outstanding performers last night in the Crystal Garden Gala. Merlin Fadden, of Seattle, who lost out in the diving to Burroughs, crowded into the hearts of the fans just before the evening's entertainment closed by giving one of the funniest exhibitions off a springboard ever seen here. Fadden was a shade behind in the fancy diving but he was miles ahead when it came to the "springboard comedian championship."

The programme last night created immense interest. The garden was crowded to its capacity, there being over 1,000 spectators. It was a brilliant spectacle and favorable comments were heard on all sides, not only on the merits of the programme but on the interior of the Garden as a setting for a gala. The events which will be only contested. The only Canadian championship at stake was won by Audrey Griffin, which makes her the holder of both the 100 and 200-yard national titles. Audrey won the hundred on Saturday night. Last night she had a bitter struggle on her hands with the midget Portland swimmer, Lois Murfin, sixteen years of age, which was just as close as fast as the distance has been covered in this part of the country. In the 100 yards Peterson got under a minute in one of the heats, swimming in 59 seconds. Audrey was time was slower in the finals. Tommy Wellburn of Victoria created a surprise by swimming second to Peterson in the hundred and defeating the other swimmers, Washer and McMillan.

BEAUTIFUL DIVING—The competition for diving honors brought off another thrilling tussle between Fadden of Seattle and Burroughs. The exhibition was a real treat and one of the best things of the gala. Fadden was not up to his Saturday night form while Burroughs was very consistent and the way he cut the water and executed his dives brought forth round after round of applause. To-night will see this pair in action for the last time and both will be keyed up to the highest pitch in an effort to win the "rubber."

Victoria obtained a first in the plunge, Barrett of the V.A.S.C. getting almost sixty feet away before his time limit expired. He defeated Spier of Seattle, who has a big reputation for plunging. Victoria failed to win in the life-saving competition. Babine and Pitt were first announced as the winners, but a check-up round after Parsons and Dougan of Vancouver had made the best time.

Lois Murfin obtained a popular victory when she won the 100-yard swim. She nosed out her little clubmate, L. Cody. Audrey Griffin was third.

CLAIMS A RECORD—A new Canadian record is claimed for Washer of Seattle in the 100 yards back-stroke. He ran away with the race, winning in 1 minute 14.5 seconds. Victoria failed to win in the life-saving competition. Babine and Pitt were first announced as the winners, but a check-up round after Parsons and Dougan of Vancouver had made the best time.

Wall Street TO-DAY

Last Minute News on Stocks and Financial Affairs

New York, June 30.—(By R. P. Clark and Company).—The tone of the market was much improved to-day and the excitement of yesterday following the earthquake news from California had entirely subsided and some of those who were active selling in the late dealings of the previous session were disposed to re-instate long lines. The result was that values in all departments recovered practically of yesterday's losses. The industrial stocks were prominent on the upside, as were the motors and rubbers. May earnings figures of the leading carriers are showing up very well and attracting favorable comment, especially so with respect to the western carriers. The copper metal market displays a hardening tendency, although the price of lead was reduced slightly to-day. The current prices of crude rubber and the belief that a period of higher prices is likely to continue for this commodity is promoting a bullish feeling toward the stocks of business engaged in this line of business and particularly so in the direction of companies that are supposed to have fair-sized stocks on hand and enjoy some profits.

The market displays impressive recuperative powers.

New York, June 30.—(By B.C. Bond Corporation's Direct Wall Street Wire).—The Wall Street Journal's stock market editor this afternoon says: "Stocks developed considerable strength to-day notwithstanding a disposition shown by traders to wait easier call money before making extensive buying commitments. Although Monday's six per cent rate was not duplicated, the ruling rate was 5 1/2 per cent, a factor which exercised important influence in reducing the volume of dealings. But despite the leisurely pace which characterized the trading, the main list registered fair gains.

Heavy short-selling precipitated by the earthquake scare in the previous session had imparted additional strength to the market's underpinnings, and fairly brisk operations followed the rise went ahead all day in important stocks.

Professionals attempting to raid the market met disappointment. Gulf States Steel showed special strength, reaching a new high ground on the current advance at 8 3/4. It is believed the rise in Gulf States common is based on something more than manipulation under pool auspices. Attention is called to the fact that business has recently improved. Judge Gary recently visited and was very favorably impressed. A large block of stock has recently changed hands.

The generally favorable May earnings statements produced Northwestern carriers tended to stimulate the interest in stocks of these roads which has been much in evidence in recent weeks. Opinion is gaining ground that some sort of a price increase will be forthcoming when the I.C.C. meets to consider the application of western roads for a higher rate structure. This, it is pointed out, will relieve the northwest rails to an inconsiderable extent from difficulties with which they have been plagued since release from Government operation.

CHICAGO GRAIN

Chicago, June 30.—(R. P. Clark & Co.).—Wheat gave appearance of being thoroughly liquidated. Fair export trade, indicated by a steady report to-morrow and finally rust complaints from Saskatchewan aided in lifting prices to a fair gain for the advance. Shorts were free to liquidate their positions. Sentiment underwent considerable change and the majority were of the opinion that the market would respond readily to demands of bullish nature.

Cash news was encouraging, with Kansas City reporting mills after wheat there. The trade had it that the winter wheat would probably be placed at approximately 400,000,000 bushels or under by local experts. It may take some time for the market to recover from the heavy liquidating load placed on it the last few days, but prices are down now to a level where they will be very sensitive to adverse news. On the dips regard the buying side with favor.

Chicago, June 30.—(By R. C. Bond Corporation's direct Pitt wire).—Wheat was fairly active and higher to-day. Market showed stubborn resistance to continual pressure from commission houses. Considerable short covering and buying by locals who are anticipating some bullish private crop estimates being given out to-morrow. The heavy crop reports from Northwest and Europe generally favorable. No claims of damage of serious nature from rust. Believe profits will accrue to those who make purchases on setbacks.

Corn: Covering by shorts on the strength in wheat, together with some commission buying, on the theory that corn has had break enough for the present was responsible for a fair upturn in the corn market. Crop reports and weather conditions favorable. Don't care to be short any corn at this prices.

WILL START WORK ON LUMBER PLANT

Building operations will start immediately at the Great Central Lake Townsite for the plant to be constructed by the Great Central Lake Sawmills Limited on Boot Lagoon. The company recently acquired extensive limits from the Esquimalt and Nanaimo Railway lands department.

The original plan for a 75,000 feet capacity cut has been enlarged to 100,000 feet. Economy of overhead cost will permit the increased output for a small increase in cost on the smaller plant, and it is expected the new mill will employ from 100 to 125 persons. Purchase has already been made of a large quantity of machinery, which will be forwarded to the lake at intervals for erection. The company intends to press construction, not that it is up to the launch line of the railway has been completed.

In connection with this development, which will be the joint effort of the King-Farris Lumber Company and the Bloedel, Stewart & Welch interests, Mr. Bloedel, who is largely interested in logging near Union Bay, has acquired extensive limits in the Campbell River district. He is the president of the Bloedel-Donovan Lumber Company and is one of the leading lumber men of the Coast.

TIMES CROSS-WORD PUZZLE

Here's another puzzle full of four-letter words, not to mention other sizes. But get out your short word vocabulary for this one, especially.

Cross-word Puzzle 2353
HOW TO SOLVE THE CROSS-WORD PUZZLE.
Every number in the form represents the beginning of a word, reading either horizontally or vertically. If there is a black square to the left of the number, the word is horizontal; if above it, the word is vertical. The same number may occur both horizontally and vertically. The definitions for the correct words to fill the form are found below, with numbers corresponding to those on the form. Run through the definitions till you find one that you recognize, and put it in its proper place on the form, one letter for each white square. This will furnish several cross-clues to the words linking with it at right angles. Continue in this manner till the form is completely filled. If you have solved the puzzle correctly it should read both horizontally and vertically with words corresponding to the definitions. The correct solution of today's puzzle will be printed in the next issue of The Times.

"The Steadfast Heart"

By Clarence Budington Kelland

"It—it means a great deal to me," Lydia understood. Her anger gave place to something else; to something she could not analyze. In it was something of fear of Angus Burke, of shame, of distrust of herself, of astonishment—but back of it all was a warmth of gladness, an uprush of gladness—a joy which frightened her while it made her happy, a joy of which she was ashamed. . . . Events had forced her to think of the possibility of loving Angus Burke, to a point beyond thinking of this possibility—but, strangely, never had she considered the point of Angus Burke loving her! . . . Suddenly she knew she had feared for months that he would not love her, that she was neglectful to him. . . . For a moment she lost herself, basked in the happiness of it—was glad—glad he had unconsciously confessed his love. Somehow it was different from a formal confession, more excusable—that is the way she put it. A direct proposal from him would have affronted her—her inhibitions would have forced her to be affronted. Her love would have aroused her—her pride—to resentment at a proffer of love from him—A Burke. But this was different, accidental, unpremeditated, excusable. It was as though she had discovered for herself a thing he chose to keep secret. . . . Angus, too, was conscious of the significance of his words; wondered in fear if Lydia understood the disclosure—feared that her astuteness could not mistake it. . . . No sooner had the knowledge of his love come to him than, following close upon it, came the certainty that it must be in vain. Lydia Canfield was not for him, never could be for him. . . . He clenched his hands behind him. Lydia did not speak—she scrutinized the sidewalk, lifted her eyes to Angus's and dropped them again. She was agitated. The trip to Deal was forgotten. . . . It had been swallowed up in something infinitely more portentous, more demanding. . . . It was Angus who spoke first, spoke out of distress and confusion. "You won't go," he said. "You mustn't go." . . . Lydia did not reply. If she had spoken she would have sobbed. Her indignation was pitiful, would have been pitiful if one could have penetrated the disguise of her self-control to peer into her heart and her mind. It had come suddenly to Lydia Canfield that she was marching under orders to face the crisis of her life. "Good-by, Angus," she said gently. "Good-by, Lydia," he said, understanding her, that she wanted to be alone, to hide. "Good-by, Lydia." Again unconsciously his tone was a caress. . . . He walked with dragging steps to the bank, went through the outer office to his little private room without a word to Gene Goff or his assistant, and closed the door after him. There he sat down before his desk, thrust his hands deep into his pockets, and stared at the wall before him. . . . He loved Lydia Canfield! In this he sensed disaster and sought to reason it out—as men have vainly endeavored to reason out such matters since the dawn of time. . . . Until this day his love had been a foreign emotion to him; his awareness of it had been purely literary—even now he scarcely comprehended it. . . . So, according to his custom and his nature, he tried to reason it out, to get to the bottom of it, to catalogue and to place it in its appropriate pigeonhole. . . . Yet, with all his bewilderment and travail, he was conscious that he was glad. This love, unasked, had brought a joy into his life, a joy he had not dreamed life capable of holding. . . . It made Angus more human. He could feel the vital change taking place in himself—felt the magic working of the philosopher's stone.

SCHOOL DAYS By DWIG

As he sat in the presence of his love, he discovered that the world and its business were more understandable to him than ever before—he was able to repress up-tild (y'w helpy hoo, fib) better to comprehend the actions of mankind, to perceive motives which had been hidden from him. . . . From the fog of events he seemed to look forward to a future which held out some sort of glowing promise—but he could not see the features of it. . . . Hitherto his future had appeared to him as nothing but a stretch of years: Now it was a living, vibrating possibility to be awaited with joy or with sorrow; a something which forced into his life an object and made living worth his while. . . . The fact of the matter was that in that hour Angus Burke knew his real birth—he began to live. . . . He thought of Lydia—thrilled joyously as she entered his mind. To this point his musings had been pleasurable. Now, suddenly, he understood that love is a craving, a hunger for a definite, individual, a ravenous demand for a supplement to one's self—a craving which, unsatisfied, fed on itself and was capable of bringing grief or even despair. . . . Love, he comprehended, was a forerunner of marriage, a moving cause of marriage. It urged on it that end, was Nature's force which drove mankind to mating. He had never thought of marriage clearly; had never asked himself why one man selected for his wife a certain woman instead of any woman. . . . Now it was clear, sharply, painfully clear. . . . He loved Lydia Canfield! . . . Love! "I can never have her," he said to himself. "Never. . . . He compared himself to her, compared her life, with his life, nor could he drive his imagination to see his future in intimate contact with Lydia's. It was unthinkable. He remembered Lydia's pronouncements on the subject of family; remembered how she revered blood ancestry—how she had scorned the Reynolds girl for marrying John Fritch. . . . and Fritch had nothing against him except that he was a nobody. John Fritch's father had been honest; his mother had not been deceived—John Fritch himself had never killed a man, nor been behind the bars of a common jail. . . . Angus set his jaw. "I'll never. . . speak of it. . . . to her," he said. "I'll—hide it. . . . Countless young men, doubtless, have made the same declaration. As well seek to hide a sunset! . . . Next day Angus waited with ill-concealed impatience to learn if

Lydia went to Deal. It was, however, a matter of the gravest importance to him. . . . Without knowing it, he persisted in Angus Burke's heart. . . . Hope always lingers. . . . Hope always lingers. . . . Lydia did not go to Deal.

CHAPTER XXII

Events have a way of moving with such sluggishness that their motion is all but imperceptible—of no moving until they seem to gather impetus with a startling suddenness for a momentous onrush to some predestined objective. There is a subtlety and finesse about it, a patient effort on the part of fate to catch its object unaware and hurl him forward to its purpose before he realizes he has been caught in the avalanche-rush. It was so now with events in Rainbow: For years they had crawled, had seemed at a standstill; but now the irresistible pressure had begun, and before it Angus Burke, Lydia Canfield, Judge Crane, Dave Wilkins—and others all but forgotten in the monotony of the drama—were being driven headlong to their several climaxes. . . . To be continued.

SPEECHES BRIEF BUT NO SHORTER SESSIONS AHEAD FOR CANADIAN PARLIAMENT

Revision of Rules Would Hold Oratory Down to Forty-minute Spells But Ban on Late Night Sittings Would Drag Out Sessions; All Bad Words to be Forbidden in House of Commons.

Special to The Times
Ottawa, June 30.—In future members of the House of Commons will have to make it snappy. Just forty minutes from the moment they rise to address themselves to Mr. Speaker, the ladies' gallery, the press correspondents and the country, they will have to quit. Just forty minutes for their grateful tributes to the elder statesmen now sick or otherwise prevented from being present; for their special pleadings in behalf of their constituents; for their smashing attacks upon their opponents; and for their flowery perorations. Just forty minutes for the whole lot.

This is the decree of the special committee appointed by the House of Commons to revise the rules and, disjunctly as it may be to a House more generously endowed with "language" than most, there appears no avenue of escape. The five weeks' budget debate this year created from Halifax to Victoria a demand for more efficiency and dispatch in the transacting of public business which could not be ignored.

Unofficial but reliable figures show that the daily cost of running the House of Commons is $30,000. On this basis the budget debate cost the country $1,050,000, which is a pretty high price to pay for any budget. It must not be imagined that this forty-minute rule will shorten the sessions. This is by one of the changes recommended. There is another which will bring each sitting of the House to a close at 11:30 p.m. However, it is rather doubtful if this early adjournment change will be approved. The average member becomes a confirmed night hawk very early in his parliamentary career and rarely objects to sitting until the small hours of the morning.

WANT FIXED END
The special committee apparently of the opposite opinion and in support of the recommendation of the report states that "Members of Parliament have to dispose of a heavy correspondence and attend committees and call on departments for their constituents and they should not be forced to sit up until the early hours of the morning."

As far as looking after their constituents goes, the Members certainly do not work union hours. Any Minister in charge of a department will tell you that the average member devotes six days a week in pursuit of harbor improvements, railway stations, branch lines, new post offices and so on, and that on the seventh day he goes to church hoping to hear a sermon on the well-known passage from Paul, "He that loveth not after his own will is worse than an infidel." However, there are but two of the changes in the rules recommended by the special committee.

BAD WORDS BANNED
For example, an honorable member could not refer to an opponent as a "windbag," nor could he insinuate that a member had been elected by "the refuse of a large constituency." Also such colorful expressions as "fodge, graft, calumny, hypocritical, jockeyed, pharisees, ruffians, traitors, slanders, villains" and so on, were banned. Neither could Members of Parliament enliven a debate by such descriptive words as "blacking, obstructing, duplicity, malice, or scurrility."

These and any more expressions which used to brighten the proceedings of Parliament have been prohibited. Now, however, the special committee is of the opinion that it is unwise to go into detail in this connection and the recommendation is that all these examples of unparliamentary language be struck out of the rules and the whole matter be left to the judgment of the Speaker.

Of course, it does not follow that expressions which appear on the list of unparliamentary terms are never used. It is a popular practice among members deliberately to refer to a member in an unparliamentary way. Then when called upon to retract, the offender withdraws the offensive term in such a way as to make it perfectly clear to the House that he means "it just the same." W. Neil, of Comox-Alberta, is an expert. Recently when called to order for using unparliamentary language in reference to H. H. Stevens, of Van-

BEER PARLORS ARE WARNED TO OBSERVE LAW MORE STRICTLY
Must Keep All Undesirable Women Off Premises, Licensees Are Warned
Improvement in Sanitary Conditions Demanded by Liquor Control Board

Beer parlor operators in British Columbia must be more careful about the enforcement of Government beer regulations. In some cases beer licenses will be suspended or cancelled unless licensees are more strict in the conduct of their establishments.

This warning has been sent out to all licensees in British Columbia by the Liquor Control Board. It was made known to-day. The Board is not altogether satisfied with conditions in some beer parlors, according to the circular letter distributed among licensees. Some of its rules, framed for the protection of the public, are being ignored, it is declared.

Licensees are instructed particularly to be careful about the kind of people they admit to their establishments. Undesirable women must not be allowed to patronize beer parlors and licensees, it is pointed out, are under no legal obligation to sell beer to such persons. Operators it is stated, will have to take the consequences of admitting these people.

CROP PROSPECTS
Winnipeg, June 30.—Crops on the prairies continue to show the most promising prospects in many years, and throughout the wheat belt growing conditions have been uniformly good, according to a Canadian National Railways crop report. Wheat generally is in shot blade, and in parts of Manitoba and Saskatchewan has reached a height of twenty-four inches.

Good luck in baking is usually due to good judgment in using MAGIC BAKING POWDER

ANCIENT INDIAN GRAVEYARD FOUND
Santa Barbara, Cal., June 30.—An ancient Indian graveyard, believed to antedate the California mission period, has been discovered near Purisima Mission in the Santa Ynez Valley near here, by Don Meadows and Ray Gruwell, Orange, Cal., research workers. A number of prehistoric specimens, including several Indian skeletons, skulls, beads, and arrowheads, were obtained. The burial plot, once the "happy hunting ground" of the bronzed warrior of the West, was situated in the centre of what was a large bean patch, which, up to the time of the discovery, completely obliterated all trace of the important find. According to Meadows, they dug through three different layers of graves, each from three to four feet in depth. It is possible there are other graves below, he says. The graves were buried in a sitting posture with the knees crooked beneath the chin. Of forty skeletons which were unearthed, every one was found facing the West—toward the setting sun. Above each grave, as a soft partition between it and the one above, was found a limestone slab several inches thick.
