HOUSE OF DOOM.

It Was Erected Upon a Site in Washington Which Henry Clay "Swapped" for a Jackass.

Attorney General Griggs says that the new building for the department of justice, erected according to the plans already accepted, will cost half a million dollars more than was expected.

Commodore Rogers a generation ago brought to Washington from Spain four Andalusian jackasses, not ordinary animals, but of the most pure lineage.

FOREIGN GOSSIP.

It is estimated that half of the suicides in Paris are due to losses at the races.

Malaga usually has 16 rainy days a year, and at least 200 days there is not a cloud in the blue sky.

A view of the sanitary situation of Europe shows that it is the damp, chilly, cloudy north which is healthy, and the dry, warm, sunny south which is unhealthy.

The agricultural part of Chili, which lies south of Valparaiso, is being rapidly developed, and the cities of Talcahuano, the principal seaport, and Concepcion, the commercial metropolis of that section, are full of enterprise.

Norway has a law dealing with cremation. According to the act, every person over 15 years of age can be cremated after death if he or she made a declaration in the presence of two witnesses. For those under 15 a declaration on the part of the parents is necessary.

No other fibrous plant except cotton is grown to any extent in central Asia. In a few places mallow hemp is found in small quantities, and a long, durable yarn is made from it, but the industry has not reached any commercial importance, the yarns serving for household use only among the natives.

The principal Australian colonies have passed laws restricting Chinese immigration. The number permitted to land is measured by the tonnage of cargo brought in the vessel upon which they come. Thus, from a laden vessel of 2,000 tons about three Chinamen would be allowed to land.

Visiting Trained Nurses. The New and Successful Plan of Serving by the Hour That is Now in Vogue.

The new departure of hiring trained nurses by the hour is more and more popular in New York. Three or four times ago the experiment was first tried and it is being introduced into other cities throughout the country.

The suggestion was first made by Miss Kimber, a young Englishwoman, who graduated at the Bellevue training school in the eighties, and after a few years' practice of her profession in New York, returned to her home in England. She pointed out to her associates that only the comparatively wealthy could afford to pay the weekly fees of $25 to $30, and also that in the average city household the limited room allowed no accommodation for a nurse.

It happens, too, in many cases of illness, that a trained nurse is not a necessity except at certain times of the day. Miss Kimber and a number of other graduate nurses then announced their willingness to pay hourly visits, at the rate of moderate rate of 50 cents for the first hour and 35 cents for each additional hour or fraction of an hour.

Now all the nurses' registries in New York keep lists of those who give hourly as well as weekly services, and the demand for them is increasing steadily from the usual private sources, and from physicians who need assistance in riding operations or in emergency cases. The plan has been of great benefit to the nurses as well as to their patrons. The profession is one of the most fatiguing in which a woman can engage, and long rests between difficult cases are absolutely necessary to her health. Thus a nurse's income, which seems large, is not really so, owing to these periods of enforced idleness. To be able to earn a little without working many hours in the day is of manifest advantage to the resting nurse. Again, many women who take the hospital training course have homes of their own and prefer to spend most of their time in the domestic atmosphere. To such the hourly engagements are especially congenial, keeping them in constant touch with their work and affording them a certain income.—Harper's Bazar.

NEW YEAR FORTUNE-TELLING. Chinese Avail Themselves of a Propitious Time—Questions Asked.

At New Year's time in Pell and Mott and Doyer streets, the so-called priests in the joss houses reap a harvest. There is no more propitious week in the year than this for fortune-telling. The work of the "priest" is to throw the largest of all living reptiles yet known and discovered only six years ago, and proved to be one of these forest eagles. It was found in the island of Samar (one of the Philippines), by Mr. Whitehead, whose death in Hainan was lately recorded. He brought the skin back to South Kensington, where it lies among the treasures of the bird department. Nothing is yet known of its habits; but the few natives who know it say that it lives on monkeys, caught on the tree tops. It seems almost incredible that so large and interesting a bird should not have been discovered before. But the tropical forest is still a possible place to find more giant eagles. It is extremely likely that some may be discovered haunting the Congo forest. In the corresponding regions of South and Central America the hairy eagle is found—a bird so large and formidable that it would seem impossible not to observe it. But the great height above them invisible. Mr. Salvin in all his travels in those regions only once saw a wild hairy eagle. In examining the skins brought to this country, one is struck with the astonishing thickness and strength of the "wrists" and the size of the talons. Azara said that they "would kill animals of thrice their own weight." But what is their weight? Mr. Whitehead guessed that of his great eagle at 16 pounds. The hairy is not so large. There is a species of hairy eagle in Mexico which used to be tamed to take deer.—Cornhill Magazine.

THE GREAT RAPTOR.

A Giant Eagle That Frequents the Forests of the Philippine Islands.

Wherever the great tropical forest grows, whether in the old world or the new, a separate class of great forest eagles seems to be produced.

The largest of all living reptiles yet known and discovered only six years ago, and proved to be one of these forest eagles. It was found in the island of Samar (one of the Philippines), by Mr. Whitehead, whose death in Hainan was lately recorded.

THE OLDEST TREE IN THE WORLD.

The town of Kos, the capital of the small Turkish island of that name lying off the coast of Asia Minor, possesses the oldest tree in the world. Under its shade Hippocrates incalculated his disciples in his net-hoos and views concerning the healing art 2,400 years ago.

Tradition carries the age of the tree back to the time of Aesculapius, of whom Hippocrates was a lineal descendant), which would add some 400 years to its age. A great part of the trunk is built round, and there is a fountain known as Hippocrates' fountain. The circumference of the trunk is 30 feet, and there are two main lower branches, which are supported by masonry columns.—Albany Argus.

Paris Them to Sleep. The wound inflicted by a mauler bullet the missile mostly used by Boers, is quite circular and much smaller than that of a lead pencil. When a man is hit by one of these bullets he feels no pain or shock; but a stupid sensation, and a strange tingling in the ears are felt, which render the majority of soldiers unconscious.—N. Y. Sun.

Civilization in Africa. Africa is the last of the five great continents to be opened up to modern civilization. It lies at the doors of Europe, and claims the oldest civilization known.—N. Y. Sun.

Great Actions. The actions of a small man sometimes make him great.—Chicago Daily News.
