THE UNION BAG AND PAPER CO.
NEW YORK

CHEAP MEATS AND POULTRY.

Herein Union Cookery Bags offer great economy. Cuts of meat and poultry too tough for use by the old method are thoroughly cooked and made tender and good by Union Cookery Bags. Especial care has been given to this department because of the great possible saving. Do not overlook it.

CUT DOWN YOUR MEAT BILL.

Here is a Great Saving.

In addition to the important advantages in cooking, Union Cookery Bags are also used for wrapping food placed in the refrigerator.

Meat, butter, and kindred articles will keep much better when kept in Union Cookery Bags.

Meat will not shrink or discolor if placed in these Bags.

TO RECLAIM DRY BREAD, ROLLS, ETC.

Dip in water quickly. Seal in a bag as usual. Place in the oven for a few minutes. The bread will come out as good as if freshly baked.

THE BAGS.

Do not use ordinary bags. They will make the food taste of paper. The special paper bags required are the Union Cookery Bags. Do not attempt to cook in any other bag. They are the only cooking bags in the United States approved and recommended by the representatives of M. Soyer.

Do not put wooden dishes or receptacles of any kind into the bags with meat, fish, poultry or vegetables. They are not only useless, but detrimental.

THE OVEN.

Any oven will do — coal, gas, oil or electric. Nearly all ovens have wire or perforated shelves. If yours has a solid shelf, use a wire broiler or grid set over a pan. Never place the bag on a solid shelf. It is essential that heat circulate on all sides of the bag.

The shelves in modern ovens are movable and should be taken out when possible before heating the oven. The filled bag can then be placed on the shelf and the shelf placed in the oven, being taken out in the same manner when the food is cooked. This avoids handling the bag and possibility of accident.

Don't have the oven too hot. Union Cookery Bags require a moderate oven only. The old paper test of oven heat is good. In gas ovens one full burner, or, preferably, two burners about half full, will usually give moderate heat.

The bag will burst if placed upon a very hot surface at the start. Therefore, draw the wire or perforated shelf from the oven, or use a broiler or grid. Thus the filled bag is placed upon a cool surface and the whole heats up evenly at the same time when placed in the oven.

Never place the bag upon a solid shelf,

Directions

1. Remove shelf from oven, if you don't use a grid.
2. Prepare the food as usual.
3. Select a Union Cookery Bag amply large for the food to be cooked. Handle it carefully.
4. Moisten the bag slightly all over with water to make it pliable and avoid breaking.
5. Grease the bag inside with butter, drippings, lard or olive oil, using a brush or cloth.
6. Lay the bag flat on the table, lift the upper edge of the mouth and carefully insert the food.

7. Press the surplus air out of the bag.

8. Fold the mouth of the bag two or three times. Fold in the corners to insure hermetical closing. Fasten with three or four clips or pins.

9. Place the filled sealed bag on the wire or perforated shelf or grid, seam side up, and put in the oven. Do not place the bag too near the flames. The bag usually turns brown as cooking progresses. If it becomes very brown shortly after being placed in the oven or the slightest smell of scorching paper appears, reduce the heat, for the oven is too hot. Heat makes the bags brittle and they may break if touched during cooking.

If broiler or grid be used, set it over a shallow pan in the oven.

10. When the food is done draw the shelf or grid from the oven, or slip a plate gently under the bag and so remove it. To save the juices, cut a hole in the bottom of the bag and hold a dish under the opening.

11. Slit the bag with a sharp knife, remove it carefully from about the food and throw it away.

HOW TO KNOW WHEN FOOD IS COOKED.

Follow the Time Table. If the heat declines, or for any reason it becomes necessary to learn the progress of the cooking a long needle may be used to test the food. The small hole made will not injure the process.

If the bag should break while in use, enclose the food and broken bag in another bag, greased inside, and proceed as before.

To insure perfect browning, make a few holes in the top of the bag 5 or 10 minutes before the cooking is completed.

EXPERIENCE.

Do not be discouraged if your first efforts are not rewarded by complete success. The process is new and a little experience is necessary. The method is a demonstrated success, however, and Union Cookery Bags will amply reward a little patience at the beginning.

A Great Chef's Opinion

"Cooking in paper bags appeals to housewives as an economical, labor-saving method of preparing a meal. Indeed, food thus cooked retains a delicious flavor and zest which are not obtainable through the old way.

"The sealed bag prevents loss of the rich juices and shrinkage of the food, and the heat is more thoroughly distributed. This confinement of the heat, of course, greatly reduces the time required for cooking and makes a material reduction in the fuel bill. As the bag is always placed upon a gridiron in the oven, there is no washing of pots and pans, and the malodorous fumes peculiar to many dishes are unknown.

"At the house, or at the apartment, the paper bag may well be employed to great advantage and satisfaction. The up-to-date hostess will entertain a party of friends at a 'paper-bag dinner,' and as the toothsome viands are brought upon the table concealed in those queer looking browned sacks, naught but exclamations of delight can escape her guests when the novel puffed pouches are slit open and give forth volumes of savory, piquant odors. Again, if the busy, thrifty, woman be delayed by a long afternoon shopping, and reaches home only to find time enough to prepare a 'hurry-up' dinner for her family, the paper bag readily lends itself to hasty cooking.

"Fish, roasts and most vegetables can be easily prepared and made ready to serve in a surprisingly short period.

"Until the cook is accustomed to the various times required for different dishes, she will probably be harassed by doubts as to when the dish is done. The Time Table will guide her accurately, or the insertion of a long needle will do no harm.

"The cooking of our food in a paper bag is not new. The present idea, without doubt, grew out of the old and familiar method of cooking en papillote. But the difference between these dishes en papillote and the latest idea of cooking in bags is that, as a rule, most of the old dishes were prepared and sometimes half cooked, before they were put into the paper. Of course, this was therefore a matter for the chef and many assistants, who desired to attain a certain flavor, rather than a device to save labor. In olden times our forefathers used to cook their game and fruits wrapped in leaves and parchment, and ourselves, when camping, frequently wrap a bird in a piece of old linen, then in coarse brown paper, and roast it on the ashes of the camp fire. Now, the idea is brought into the home and made practical. All that is necessary is an oven, a grid and a paper bag.

"The bag keeps in all the smell of cookery, all the albumen of the food, and prevents loss of weight in cooking. In either roasting or baking, beef loses 25 per cent. of its weight when cooked by the ordinary methods. In the paper bag, however, it loses none of its weight and no particle of its essence.

"When the food is taken from the bag a small quantity of concentrated gravy first rolls out, and it is the purest and best broth that can be imagined. Cooking time in preparing the meal is reduced by at least one-third. There is not the faintest trace of odors from the kitchen, not even in the case of vegetables, which sometimes smell strongly; cauliflower, for instance.

"The paper-bag system notably allows freedom from grease. Many dishes that are too rich for digestion when cooked in the usual way may be put into a paper bag with no more butter than is necessary to grease the bag, and will be found to have gained in savor and delicacy of taste, while so completely free from grease that they will not disagree with the most delicate digestion. Furthermore, there is no scrubbing out of a greasy oven, with drippings clinging to its sides, no washing out of the dripping pan or baking dish. A spotlessly clean oven is left, and when the bags have been burned up and the dishes washed, the cook's labors with the finished meal are over.

Many housekeepers have discovered how to freshen and re-heat bread by wrapping it in a paper bag. Biscuits that have been kept for twenty-four hours, while having lost only one per cent. or one-half per cent. of moisture by evaporation, are, nevertheless, dry. Their crusts are brittle, though the heart will be moist. If the moisture can be redistributed the biscuit will become almost as good as when first baked. Nothing will accomplish this redistribution as well as paper wrapping.

"Soups cannot be cooked in bags, as the expansion caused by evaporation bursts the paper. Vegetables and desserts give varying success, some turning out to perfection and others proving less palatable. But eggs in every style, fish, entrees and roasts are always delicious, and it is here that the epicurean, though frugal housekeeper, will reap the many profits of paper-bag cookery.

"In general, it may be stated that there are less dangers to be avoided in paper-bag cookery than in any other method. Here it is not necessary to open the oven door every once in awhile to baste the food or to see how the cooking is progressing. The oven can be relied upon to do its work thoroughly if directions are followed and a little experience gained."

Fish Recipes

COD, salmon, halibut or any other kind of fish suitable for boiling can be cooked successfully in a paper bag. After cleaning, trimming and wiping the fish thoroughly, butter the inside of a paper bag of suitable size; then put in the fish, with one or two slices of onion and carrot, a little vinegar or lemon juice, and enough salted water to moisten the fish well. Allow about a pint of water to two pounds of fish. Fold in the end of the bag with two folds, then fasten with several wire clips and place it carefully onto a cold wire tray or grid and put it in the oven to cook.

The oven should register about 225 degrees when the fish is put on. The time required for cooking depends greatly on the shape and thickness of the fish. Two pounds of cod will take about 25 to 30 minutes.

To serve take out the bag carefully with the grid; slit the paper and lift out the fish with a fish slice or small skimmer and place it on a hot dish. Garnish with sprigs of parsley and serve.

BAKED HERRINGS.

Remove the heads from three or four fresh herrings. Split them open and take out the backbones. Season the inside with salt and pepper and dip them in a little milk and dredge with Scotch oatmeal. Melt some fat and with it brush over the prepared herrings. Then place them side by side in a paper bag, fasten the end, and cook on a wire grid or perforated shelf in a hot oven for about 10 minutes. Dish up and serve.

BAKED MACKEREL.

Procure a good-sized mackerel, wipe it with a damp cloth, split it open and remove the bones, also the head and fins. Prepare a stuffing composed of two ounces of chopped beef suet, two or three tablespoonfuls of bread crumbs, one teaspoonful of savory herbs and some chopped parsley. Spread the inside of the mackerel with this, fold over and put the fish in a greased paper bag, pour a little oiled butter over the fish and fasten the bag securely. Bake on a wire grid in a moderate oven for about 25 minutes. Dish up and serve plain or with anchovy sauce.

FILETS OF MACKEREL.

Procure two good-sized mackerel, wipe them and carefully remove the fish from the bones. Place the filets thus obtained in a deep dish, season with salt and pepper and a little lemon juice, then pour over a tablespoonful of vinegar and add a few thinly cut slices of carrot and onion and one bay leaf. Cover the dish and allow to stand for about half an hour. Take up the fish and drain on a cloth. Put the cut vegetables in a well-buttered grease-proof paper bag, and upon them place the filets of fish, skin downwards, then brush over with a little oil or butter. Fold over the end of the bag, fasten with clips and cook in a quick oven on a grid or trivet from 8 to 10 minutes. Take out the bag, remove the fish onto a hot dish, put a little neatly-shaped parsley butter on top of each. Garnish with thin slices of lemon and sprigs of parsley and serve.

COD STEAKS WITH HAM.

Procure two slices of cod, each weighing from half to three-quarters of a pound. Wipe it and place on a buttered dish. Prepare a mixture of bread crumbs, savory herbs and parsley and bind it with a little beaten egg. Place this upon each slice of fish and season with salt and pepper. Put a slice of raw ham or lean bacon on top of each, then place the fish in a well-greased paper bag, fold the end and fasten with clips. Put the bag on a grid shelf in a fairly hot oven. Bake for about 20 minutes. Dish up, and, if liked, pour round some anchovy sauce and serve.

FILETS OF FLOUNDER.

Remove the filets from a medium-sized flounder, cut each filet in two, season with salt and pepper and sprinkle over a little lemon juice; fold each filet in two or roll up (skin inwards). Put a small piece of butter on top of each and place carefully in a buttered paper bag, fasten the ends with clips, and cook for about 10 minutes on a wire grid in a hot oven. Cut open the bag and lift out the fish carefully onto a hot dish. Garnish with sprigs of parsley and serve.

STUFFED HADDOCK.

Wash, scale and wipe a good-sized fresh haddock; remove the eyes. Prepare a stuffing with two tablespoonfuls of chopped suet, two tablespoonfuls of bread crumbs, half teaspoonful of herbs, one teaspoonful of chopped parsley and season with salt and pepper. Moisten the stuffing with half an egg. Stuff the body of the fish and sew up the opening or simply fold in ends. Brush it over with beaten egg and sprinkle over some browned bread crumbs and place a few very small pieces of dripping, wrap carefully in greased paper bag, fold the end and fasten with wire clips and place on a wire grid in the oven. Bake in a fairly hot oven from 25 to 30 minutes, according to size of fish. Dish up, remove the string, and serve.

FILETS OF HADDOCK.

Cut the filets neatly from a good-sized fresh haddock, cut each filet in two, season with salt and pepper and sprinkle over a little lemon juice. Put a small piece of butter on top of each filet and place carefully in a well-buttered paper bag, fold in twice, fasten the ends with clips and cook for about 10 minutes on a wire grid in a hot oven.

FRIED FILETS OF SOLE.

Remove the skin and fins from two soles, cut off the head portion, dip the fish filets in milk and then in flour. Put them in a well-buttered paper bag with about two ounces of clarified butter, fold in the end of the bag and fasten with clips, place on a wire grid and cook in a very hot oven for about twenty minutes. Turn the bag twice during the cooking process. Take up the fish, drain and dish up. Garnish with quarters of lemon and sprigs of parsley and serve.

SOUCHET OF FISH.

This can be made of flounder or sole, or any other kind of white fish. If soles are used they must be skinned on both sides. Trim the fish and wipe it thoroughly. Peel one small onion, half a small turnip, a small carrot, and cut each into thin slices, then into fine julienne strips. Put the fish with the vegetables in a well-buttered paper bag. The fish should be put between the vegetables. Add as much salted water as may be required to well moisten the fish (half to three-quarters of a pint). Fold in the bag and fasten with clips, turn up the corners and put it carefully on a grid shelf into a moderate oven. It will take about half an hour to 40 minutes to cook the fish and vegetables. Take out the fish, put it on a hot dish and sprinkle over the vegetables and a little stock. Sprinkle over some chopped parsley and garnish with slices of lemon.

FISH CAKES.

Take half a pound of cold fish, freed from skin and bones, half pound of cooked potatoes, one ounce of butter or dripping, two tablespoonfuls of milk, salt and pepper, one egg and bread crumbs. Chop the fish finely. Mash the potatoes and mix them with the fish, season with salt and pepper. Melt the butter or dripping, add the fish, etc., to it, then mix all together with the milk. Shape the mixture into small flat cakes of even size. Beat up the egg on a plate, then egg and bread-crumbs the cakes and again shape. Now put them into a well-buttered paper bag, close up the end and fasten with wire clips. Put into a very hot oven on a grid shelf and cook for about 20 minutes. Turn the bag twice during the cooking process. Cut open the bag with scissors and place the fish cakes onto a hot dish. Garnish with sprigs of parsley and serve.

TWICE LAID.

This is the name of a dish in which cold fish and potatoes are used.

Mash about a pound of cold potatoes with a fork, remove the skin and bones from half a pound of cold fish and break it up into flakes. Mix with the potatoes and season with salt and pepper. Melt an ounce of dripping; when hot mix it with the fish and potatoes and shape into a flat cake. Place this in a well-greased paper bag, fold the end and fasten with clips. Put it on a wire grid and bake in a fairly hot oven for about 20 minutes.

CREAMED OYSTERS.

Remove the beards from a dozen large oysters. Stir the liquor into a basin containing the yolk of an egg and a dessertspoonful of flour. To this add a little lemon juice and half a gill of cream or milk. Season with salt, pepper and nutmeg. Cut each oyster in two and put them with six sliced mushrooms in a well-buttered paper bag; pour in also the prepared liquid. Close up the bag securely with clips, put it on a wire grid in a moderately heated oven and cook for about 12 minutes. Dish up the oysters, pour over the sauce, sprinkle some chopped parsley on top and garnish with slices of lemon and pieces of toasted bread. Serve hot.

BREADED OYSTERS.

Remove the beards from twelve large oysters, drain them on a cloth and egg them carefully, then roll in fresh bread crumbs. Put them in a thickly-buttered paper bag with about two tablespoonfuls of oiled butter. Close up the bag securely and cook on a grid shelf in a hot oven for about 8 minutes.

OYSTER CAKES.

Take a dozen large sauce oysters, remove their beards, and put these with the oyster liquid into a basin and mix up with three tablespoonfuls of rich white sauce. Add a little cream and stir in one or two yolks of eggs and a cupful of bread crumbs or finely crushed cracknels or milk biscuits. Divide the oysters into quarters and mix with the above, season to taste with salt, pepper, and a pinch of cayenne. Whisk the whites of two eggs to a stiff froth and incorporate with the above. Put the mixture into one or two small, well-buttered paper bags, duly fastened at end, and bake on a wire grid in a fairly hot oven for about 20 minutes. Slit open the bags and take out the cakes, put them on a hot dish, garnish with parsley and slices of lemon and serve.

FISH SAUCES.

The liquor or stock from the fish should be utilized for making a tasty sauce. Strain the required quantity of liquor into a hot basin and stir in enough cream to thicken. If liked richer, one or two yolks of eggs should be stirred into the cream before mixing it with the fish liquor. This would be called cream sauce. By adding a little anchovy essence, anchovy sauce is produced, while, by adding some chopped parsley maitre d'hotel or parsley sauce is produced. Salt and pepper should be added to taste.

FILET OF FLOUNDER WITH WHITE WINE.

Cut from a good-sized flounder half a pound of the best filet. Add a pinch of salt and of pepper. Put into a bag with half a glass of white wine and two teaspoons of fish stock. Cook 20 minutes.

SPANISH MACKEREL WITH TOMATOES.

Put into a saucepan a piece of butter size of an egg; add one medium-sized onion chopped, then three tomatoes, skinned, seeded and chopped. Salt and pepper to taste. Cook for 5 minutes. Then put a large mackerel into the bag, cover with the above ragout, and let cook 35 minutes

KINGFISH WITH EGG PLANT.

Brown in the pan one small onion in butter. Add the egg plant cut into half-inch cubes, with two tablespoons of ketchup. Cook 10 to 15 minutes, then salt and pepper. Put the fish into the bag, add the above ragout, and cook 25 minutes.

Take a pound of the filet, and salt, pepper, and roll in flour. With a dozen or 15 oysters do the same. With the oysters, however, use less salt and more pepper. Put the fish into the bag and carefully lay the oysters around it. Pour over the whole half a glass of white wine and half a glass of fish stock. Cook for 20 minutes.

WHITEFISH NORMANDE.

Make a ragout of 8 whole mushrooms, 10 very small onions, 8 medium-sized oysters, half a glass of sweet cider, one tablespoon of brandy, half a glass of fish stock, and some fine herbs tied in a bunch. Salt, pepper, and roll in flour a pound of choice whitefish filet. Over this spread evenly the above ragout, and cook in the bag for thirty minutes.

CODFISH FINES HERBES.

Weigh out a pound of codfish steak, and having salted and peppered to taste, dust it thoroughly in flour and put into the cooking bag. Add a dessertspoon of chopped fine herbs, a piece of butter size of an egg, half a glass of white wine, and the juice of half a lemon. Close the bag and let cook for a half hour.

FILET OF KINGFISH DUGLERE.

The filet must be well seasoned with salt and pepper, and then roll in flour. To a pound and a half then add three tomatoes, cut into quarters, two chopped onions, and two or three sprigs of parsley, with a piece of butter size of an egg. Put into the bag and pour over the whole half a glass of white wine. Cook for 20 minutes.

LOBSTER AU FOUR.

Take a two-pound live lobster and cut it in half. Break the large pincers, salt and pepper, and add two or three chopped, small onions, a small bunch of fine herbs, and a piece of butter size of an egg. Put into the bag and cook for 30 minutes.

Meat Recipes

TRIM the meat if necessary and cut off any projecting bones, as these often cause the paper bags to burst. Wipe it with a cloth, then weigh the joint. Allow from 20 to 25 minutes to each pound of meat. Veal and pork require a little more time than beef or mutton, as the former should always be well done. Dredge the cut side of the joint with flour seasoned with salt and pepper. Have ready the correct size of a paper bag. Select it rather too large than too small, so that there is no possible chance of its breaking when the joint is put in. After spreading a little dripping or butter over the meat put it in a well-greased paper bag. Fasten the end after folding it with several wire clips. Next place it on a grid shelf in a hot oven and cook till tender. When done open the bag and dish up the meat. Serve with gravy.

The time required for cooking depends upon the size and weight of the joint. It is safe to allow about 20 minutes to every pound. For other information on this point the time table found at the beginning of this book should be consulted.

GRAVY FOR ROAST MEATS.

Pour any fat found in the bag while warm into a basin, which keep for future use. Pour a little hot water or stock into a basin containing the liquor from the roast meat, stand it in the hot oven and add a little gravy salt. This will color the gravy. Season with pepper and salt and strain over the meat on the dish. When the joint is cut some of its juice will run out and will improve the gravy already in the dish.

BOILED BEEF.

Procure about two pounds of salt beef and soak it for several hours in cold water. Peel and scrape two small turnips and two carrots, cut them into quarters and put them with the meat in a well-greased bag of the required size. Add as much water as the bag with its contents will conveniently hold and fold in the end, fasten with wire clips and place it on a cold wire grid into a moderately heated oven. Cook thus for about 50 or 60 minutes. When done take up the meat, put it on a hot dish, garnish with the cooked vegetables and pour over a little of the liquor. Serve with boiled suet dumplings.

SUET DUMPLINGS.

Mix six ounces of sifted flour with three ounces of finely chopped beef suet and a pinch of salt, also half a teaspoonful of baking powder. Moisten with enough cold water to produce a fairly stiff paste. Make this up into small balls and put them in a well-greased paper bag with about half a pint of water. Fold in the end of the bag and fasten with wire clips, place it on a wire grid in a hot oven and cook for about 35 to 40 minutes.

CHOPS AND STEAKS.

These can be successfully cooked in paper bags. Wipe the meat and trim off some of the fat, if found necessary. Chops should be skewered to keep them in shape. Season with salt and pepper and brush over the chops or steaks with oiled butter. Put them in a well-greased paper bag, place them on a grid shelf in a hot oven and cook for about 15 or 18 minutes, according to the thickness of the meat. A little parsley butter, that is, butter mixed with salt and pepper, lemon juice and chopped parsley, should be put on the meat when dished up. There is usually a little gravy in the bag in which chops or steaks are cooked. This should be poured over the meat.

PORK SAUSAGES.

Divide a pound of sausages and prick them with the prongs of a fork, then put them side by side into a well-greased paper bag. Close it up and fasten with clips. Place on a wire grid and cook in a fairly hot oven for about 15 minutes.

MUTTON CUTLETS.

Cut the best end of a neck of mutton into neat cutlets, flatten each and trim neatly. Season with salt and pepper and place in a well-buttered paper bag, fold in the ends, fasten with clips and cook in a fairly hot oven on a grid shelf from 12 to 15 minutes.

MUTTON CUTLETS WITH TOMATOES.

Flatten slightly and trim neatly six or more mutton cutlets, season each side with salt and pepper and place a slice of tomato upon each. Sprinkle over with chopped parsley and chives, then put the cutlets carefully into one or more buttered paper bags, place in a very hot oven on a grid or trivet and cook from 12 to 15 minutes. To serve, cut open the paper bag and take out the cutlets carefully, arrange them on a hot dish, garnish with sprigs of parsley and send to table.

VEAL CUTLETS.

Procure about four or five veal cutlets from the best end of the neck of veal. Flatten with a cutlet bat, then trim the sides neatly and scrape the bones clean, season each with salt and pepper. Melt about half an ounce of butter and add to it about a teaspoonful of finely chopped parsley, one small peeled and finely chopped shallot and a little lemon juice. Brush over each side of the cutlets with this, then place them side by side into a thickly buttered paper bag, fold in and fasten the ends, then put the bag on a grid shelf or trivet and cook in a hot oven from 18 to 20 minutes. Slit open the bag and arrange the cutlets neatly on a hot dish, garnish with parsley and quarters of lemon and serve with a sharp tomato or piquante sauce.

Note.—If liked, a few finely cut slices of streaky bacon can be cooked at the same time as the cutlets. These can be placed on top of the cutlets or may be cookd in a separate bag.

STEAMED CHOP.

Procure two or three mutton or lamb chops and trim each neatly, cutting off the superfluous fat, fold in the ends and fasten with a skewer, then season with salt and pepper, and spread over each side with butter. Place the chops in a well-buttered paper bag with a few slices of onion and carrot and, if liked, a few pieces of celery and also three tablespoonfuls of water. Close up the end of the bag and fasten with clips. Then cook on a grid or trivet in a hot oven for about 25 minutes. Slit open the bag, take out the chops and remove the skewers, arrange the chops on a dish, pour over any liquor found in the bag, sprinkle over a little chopped parsley and serve hot.

A dish of mashed or fried potatoes should accompany this dish.

FILET OF VEAL (DUTCH STYLE).

Cut a few filets of veal into individual portions, season each with salt and pepper, a few drops of lemon juice. Brush lightly with melted butter and turn in sifted bread crumbs. Put in a buttered bag with a teaspoonful of bouillon or stock, fold and fasten bag, and cook in a moderately hot oven 20 minutes.

ROAST BEEF WITH SWEET POTATOES.

Salt and pepper to taste four pounds of beef. Slice in half six sweet potatoes, and put all into the bag. Add an eighth of a pound of butter, close the bag and cook for one hour.

ROAST LEG OF LAMB.

Salt and pepper the roast and put it into the bag. Add a quarter pound of butter, close the bag, and let cook for three-quarters of an hour.

BEEFSTEAK PUDDING.

Take about one pound of beefsteak, half a pound of flour and four ounces of suet; cut the meat into thin slices and dip into a little seasoned flour, previously mixed with salt and pepper, on a plate. Roll up each with a small piece of fat inside. Chop the suet finely, mix with the flour and a pinch of salt; make into a stiff paste with about a gill of cold water, roll out and line with it a greased, shallow pudding basin, keeping back one-third for the cover; lay in pieces of meat and season. Pour in a little water, moisten the edges and cover the top with paste; tie over with buttered paper, then place it in a good-sized bag and cook in hot oven for about an hour and three-quarters. Remove the paper, un mould the pudding and dish up, or serve the pudding in a basin.

BOILED HAM.

One can hardly expect to get a large ham successfully cooked in a paper bag, but a portion, say about half a ham, or a small gammon, can be cooked to perfection. After soaking the ham or gammon in water for several hours wash it thoroughly and enclose it in a well-greased paper bag with a sufficiency of water. Close it up securely and cook on a grid shelf in a moderate oven. It will take from an hour and three-quarters to two hours and a quarter for, say, four to six pounds of ham to cook, as the process must be necessarily a slow one.

CURRIED VEAL.

Cut about a pound of lean veal, filet or leg part, into small, thin slices, free from skin and sinews. Mix on a plate a tablespoonful of flour with a dessertspoonful of curry powder and a dessertspoonful of dessicated cocoanut. Season the meat with salt and pepper, add to it half a sour apple peeled and chopped, then mix with the curried flour, etc. Have ready a well-buttered paper bag of the desired size, put in it the prepared meat, also about half a pint of cold water or stock. Close up the end of the bag and fasten carefully with wire clips. Vegetable Recipes

ONLY lately has any attempt been made to cook vegetables in paper bags. While it is not advisable to adopt this method for every kind of vegetable, the experiments made have proved that quite a number can be successfully cooked by the paper-bag process, notably so the following: Artichokes, broad beans, Brussels sprouts, beans, carrots, cauliflower, celeriac, celery, cucumber, endive, chicory, seakale, mushrooms, parsnips, peas, potatoes, salsify and tomatoes. These must in each case be washed, trimmed and prepared the same as for an ordinary cooking process, duly seasoned and placed with a little water, and in some cases, butter as well, in a grease-proof paper bag (sealed up), and put in a moderately-heated oven on an iron grid, not a solid shelf, as is usually found in coal ovens. The heat will thus reach the contents of the bag from all sides and top and bottom. From 15 to 35 minutes should be allowed to cook any kind of vegetable; some will take even less time.

Dried peas, lentils and haricot beans are excellent cooked in paper bags, but they must be allowed to soak for rather longer than usual before cooking them.

It is well to remember that all vegetables must undergo some kind of preparation, washing, draining, scraping, peeling, etc., before they can be cooked in the correct sense, and unless that is done well the success of a dish is often spoiled, so that the paper bag cannot be of much help unless that is done.

Always cook the vegetables on the same day on which they are prepared and wanted for table.

Vegetables of strong flavor, which include almost every kind of green vegetable, are not recommended to be cooked in a paper bag. They should be cooked in a large quantity of water, sufficient to well cover the articles to be cooked.

The water in which they are cooked must be well seasoned with salt. About a teaspoonful to every quart of water is the average proportion used.

As a much smaller quantity of water is used by the paper bag system than by the ordinary way, the liquor in which vegetables have been cooked is valuable and should be made use of.

BROAD BEANS.

This is an excellent way of cooking young broad beans: shell them and put the beans with salted water in a buttered paper bag, seal it up and cook on a grid shelf for 20 minutes in a moderate oven. Mix a little of the stock or liquor of the beans and a tablespoonful of cream with the yolk of an egg, and add a little chopped parsley and a few drops of lemon juice. Dish up the beans and pour over the prepared sauce.

BAKED POTATOES.

Wash and scrape, or peel thinly, one to one and one-half pounds of new potatoes; parboil them for a few minutes in salted water; then drain, sprinkle over with butter and put them into a buttered grease-proof paper bag. Fasten the bag securely and place on a grid or trivet in a hot oven and bake for 25 or 30 minutes.

POTATO CHIPS.

Wash and peel thinly four or five potatoes and cut them into very thin slices. Put them on a cloth and drain thoroughly so as to absorb all the moisture. Have ready a well-buttered paper bag, put in the prepared potato chips and close up the bag. Fasten the end with clips and place on a grid shelf in a hot oven. Cook thus for about fifteen minutes, turning the bag once or twice during this period. The potato chips will be found quite crisp by this time. Open the bag, season the chips with fine salt and dish them up.

SAUTE POTATOES.

This is an excellent way of reheating cold potatoes. If the potatoes are not peeled, peel them and slice them thinly, season with salt and pepper. Have ready a paper bag of the desired size; pour over the sliced potatoes a liberal quantity of melted butter and put them in a well-buttered paper bag, fasten the end, place it on a grid shelf and cook in a fairly hot oven about 18 or 20 minutes. and place them in a buttered paper bag, close it up securely, put it on a wire grid and bake in a moderate oven for 20 minutes.

BAKED ROLY PUDDING.

Rub three ounces of beef dripping into half a pound of flour and mix with milk or water to a fairly stiff paste. Roll it out on a floured board and spread thinly with jam. Roll it up carefully, put it in a well-buttered paper bag, and bake on a grid shelf for about three-quarters of an hour in a moderate oven.

BANANA SOUFFLE.

Take four bananas, not overripe, peel them, put them in a pie dish, and pour over a little lemon juice. Have ready a buttered souffle dish. Separate the yolks from two eggs, adding two ounces of castor sugar, and beat up to a cream. Next cream up in a basin two ounces of fresh butter, add slowly two ounces of sifted flour, then stir in the yolk of eggs. When well mixed add the bananas, previously passed through a sieve. Beat all together, lastly add the stiffly beaten whites of eggs. Put the souffle quickly in a paper bag, fold and fasten the end of the bag with clips. Bake in a hot oven for about 20 minutes. Send the souffle to table quickly.

Bananas served in this way can be easily digested by the most delicate person, and are always received with delight.

ORANGE CAKE.

Take two eggs, their weight in butter, powdered sugar and ordinary flour, the grated rind of two oranges and one table-spoonful of milk.

Beat up the eggs, cream together the butter and the sugar; mix the flour with the baking powder; add the flour and the eggs alternately to the creamed butter, mix well, then stir in the orange rind. Pour into a buttered and floured paper bag, close up the end and fasten with clips and bake on a wire tray in a moderately heated oven for about 18 minutes.
