

D
629
.U7B64

GABRIEL

116²
117 B64

Foreword

THIS SOUVENIR was compiled and edited by the enlisted men of the Medical Detachment, Base Hospital. It is contemplated to serve a two-fold purpose; first, as a memory-book for the personnel of this organization and second, to give to those who might be interested, an illustrated theme of our daily work. To the average reader it will represent a picture book, showing how we looked when the camera man said "ready," and also what we have to say about ourselves, but to the officers, nurses and enlisted men who have constituted the organization, it will mean much more. To them its pages will bring back memories of days filled with new problems, doubts and abnormal situations incident to the battles for the preservation of life to which they have given their entire services.

In a more pleasant way, it will serve to recall many friendships and associations which were formed during our part of the fight for Democracy.

It is a sincere regret that we were unable to obtain the home address of every individual who has served at this hospital, but as the personnel has been scattered to all parts of the universe, this accomplishment was practically impossible.

The issue of this publication was accomplished by the efforts of the following noncommissioned officers: Hospital Sergeant Charles H. Arbuckle, Sergeant First Class Vaud A. Travis, Sergeant Abe Witebsky, Med. Dept., and Sergeant Gabriel S. Youngwood, Q. M. C.

J. EARL ALEXANDER,
C. O. Det. Med. Dept.

Lieut. Col. L. H. Hanson

LIEUT. COL. L. H. HANSON, Medical Corps, took command of this hospital on Nov. 20, 1917. At that time the measles epidemic was at its height and the hospital was overcrowded with patients. Most of us, who constituted the personnel then, were new in the service and although we were willing and anxious to handle the situation as it should be done we found that our efforts were not sufficient and that something was lacking. We soon found out where the trouble was. Col. Hanson took command, and with him came a system of organization and administration which made our work a pleasure. There was no more overlapping of the duties of various individuals and departments or any dissension as to what policies would be pursued.

The Colonel diagrammed the hospital routine so thoroughly that there was no excuse for blunders, and we passed through the epidemic with a very low mortality rate. His years of training and experience in the regular army had fitted him for just this sort of emergency. He is an officer who demands results and is endowed with a peculiar ability to get the best out of his subordinates. He has a strong personal magnetism which has endeared him to the Officers and Enlisted Men whom it has fallen his lot to command. Those of us who have served under him are sure that we shall take back to civilian life a few "pointers" which we can attribute to our training at this hospital.

Col. Hanson has had an interesting career in the service of the U. S. Army. His duties have taken him to most of the old army posts in the United States and to Mexico, the Phillipines, Europe, China and Japan.

He graduated from the Army Medical School, Washington, D. C., in 1906, and has served at the following stations in this country since that time: Fort Lisicum, Alaska; Ft. Sam Houston, Texas; Hot Springs Army and Navy Hospital; Fort Hamilton, N. Y.; Galveston, Texas; Fort Leavenworth, Kansas; Columbus, New Mexico; Laredo, Texas; Syracuse, N. Y., and Camp Bowie, Texas.

Published

Oct 1 1918

LIEUT. COL. LOUIS H. HANSON, M. C.
Commanding Officer

Captain J. H. Hickson

CAPTAIN J. H. HICKSON, Sanitary Corps, has been Adjutant at this hospital since September 24th, 1917, the date on which the hospital was officially opened on the present site. He is a graduate of the school of experience in army matters and is a worthy right hand man to the Commanding Officer. On first impression one may think him a little too "hard," but that is only during duty hours and after 5 P. M. he greets you with a smile, and (if his automobile is in good shape) a funny story. Those of us who have had our little difficulties, with which we did not care to bother the Commanding Officer, have found in him a willing counsel and a true friend. The captain is a believer in hard work and does not hesitate to communicate his convictions to those around him. He has made a host of friends and admirers during his stay at Camp Bowie, and handles the particular duties of Adjutant in a manner second to none.

He entered the service as a Private, Company "B," 5th Infantry, on March 5th, 1895, and has served continuously since that date. He was later transferred to the Medical Department and served as Acting Steward, Hospital Steward, Sergeant First Class and Master Hospital Sergeant. It was from this grade that he was commissioned in the Sanitary Corps.

He was in the forward car of the first troop train to arrive in Tampa, Florida, en route to Cuba in the Spanish-American War and was detached from the command and sent to the General Hospital at Ft. McPherson, Georgia, for duty. The captain was present at Tien Tsin and Peking, China during the Boxer War. He was also on duty on U. S. Army Transport Hancock, which carried soldiers from San Francisco to Taku, China, from which he got shore leave and went to the front. During the six years of his service in the Phillipine Islands he was in numerous engagements with the Ladrones and Insurrectos and was awarded the "For Service" medal. He also served three years in China, going there at the time of the revolution in 1912, and two years on the Mexican border.

CAPT. JOSEPH H. HICKSON, S. C.
Adjutant

Major James C. Greenway

Since his arrival at Camp Bowie, September 27th, 1917, Major James C. Greenway has been Chief of the Medical Section. Prior to entrance in the service, Major Greenway was director of the Department of University Health, Yale University.

MAJOR JAMES C. GREENWAY, M. C.
Chief of Medical Service

Major William Jepson

MAJOR Jepson was born in Aarhus, Denmark, on June 29th, 1863, and came to the United States when seven years of age, the family locating at Seymour, Iowa. His early education was received from the public schools of Iowa. Later he received the Degree of B. Sc. from the University of the Northwest, the Degree of Master of Arts from the University of South Dakota. He has a Degree of Doctor of Medicine from the Medical Department of the University of Iowa, and later the same Degree from Jefferson Medical College and the University of Pennsylvania. He is a Fellow of the American College of Surgeons and of the Royal College of Physicians and Surgeons of Edinburg, Scotland. In 1902, he was appointed to the Chair of Professor of Surgery in the Medical Department of the University of Iowa, which position he filled until 1913. Major Jepson was Surgeon of the 56th Inf., Iowa National Guards from 1907 to 1916, and Surgeon of the 2nd. Inf., Iowa, in the Mexican Border Service in 1916, being discharged from the Service at the close of that campaign. He was re-commissioned Major in the Medical Corps of the U. S. Army on May 30th, 1918. Major Jepson has made his home in Sioux City, Iowa, since 1886, where he has built an extensive practice, devoting his time entirely to general surgery.

MAJOR WILLIAM JEPSON, M. C.
Chief of Surgical Service

Fredelia L. Dixon, A. N. C.

Chief Nurse

MISS Fredelia L. Dixon was born in Corsicana, Texas, but was reared and educated in Iowa, where she started her career of public service by teaching a country school for three years. She then entered the Edmundson Memorial Hospital at Council Bluffs, Iowa, to begin her training as a nurse. There, for the next three years, she was engaged in surgical work, followed by a year of the same work at the People's Hospital in Peru, Illinois. She next entered public school nursing and continued this work until December 19th, 1917, when, in response to the Government's call for nurses, Miss Dixon offered her service to the country. She was ordered at once to Camp Travis, San Antonio, Texas, where she remained until October 4th, 1918, when she was ordered to Camp Bowie, Texas, to serve as Chief Nurse. Here, with her efficiency, her quiet charm, and her kind friendliness she has won the admiration and affection of all the Base Hospital personnel.

FREDELIA L. DIXON, A. N. C.
Chief Nurse

Administrative Staff

LIEUT. COL. LOUIS H. HANSON, M. C.	Commanding Officer, Base Hospital
CAPT. JOSEPH H. HICKSON, S. C.	Adjutant
CAPT. J. EARL ALEXANDER, Q. M. C.	Commanding Officer, Detachment, Medical Department
1ST. LIEUT. JOE N. EVERHEART	Chaplain
2ND LIEUT. JOHN K. PADEN, Q. M. C.	Quartermaster
2ND. LIEUT. STANLEY H. CLARK, S. C.	Medical Supply, Property Officer
2ND. LIEUT. FRANK M. STAUFFER, S. C.	Registrar
2ND. LIEUT. GEORGE McCANN, S. C.	Mess Officer

ADMINISTRATIVE STAFF

Medical Service

MAJOR JAMES C. GREENWAY, M. C.
Chief of Medical Service

CAPT. HOWARD S. COLWELL, M. C.
CAPT. ALEXANDER JOSEWICH, M. C.
CAPT. JOHN P. KENNEDY, M. C.
CAPT. CECIL DENHAM, M. C.
CAPT. CHARLES S. AITKEN, M. C.
CAPT. PAUL R. ALLYN, M. C.

Supervisor
Tuberculosis Examiner
Supervisor
Neuro Psychiatrist
Ward Surgeon
Ward Surgeon

CAPT. JOHN F. CLARK, M. C.
CAPT. WILLIS G. COOK, M. C.
CAPT. FRANCIS J. SULLIVAN, M. C.
LIEUT. WALTER CARY, M. C.
LIEUT. WESLEY W. KUNTZ, M. C.
LIEUT. CLARENCE H. WIENEKE, M. C.

Ward Surgeon
Ward Surgeon
Ward Surgeon
Ward Surgeon
Ward Surgeon
Ward Surgeon

PRIOR to October 1, 1917, but six officers had been assigned to the Medical Service, of which one, the Chief of Service, is still at the hospital. During October, seven more medical men reported for duty. The strength of the Medical Service was increased to twenty by the end of November. Our small group was hard pressed during November by the onslaught of measles, pneumonia and other acute, infectious diseases. It became necessary to transfer officers from the Surgical Service, from Regimental Infirmaries and Field Hospitals, so that the actual number of medical men on duty increased rapidly, providing in a remarkably short time, adequate medical attention. The need for these officers became progressively more manifest for it will be remembered by all that some of the most wonderful battles were fought "on this side" by many a keen-eyed youth, who came in anticipation of the struggle with "Kultur" and "Hun" rather than the "bugs."

As regards health, the War Risk Insurance Bureau will experience little difficulty with our Medical Service. It is a remarkable fact that despite the hot-bed of infection in which they worked during long hours, no officers on duty with this section, have suffered from anything more incapacitating than influenza or more humiliating than mumps, although several, perhaps many masked to avoid infecting others, have been known to continue on duty while very ill.

In passing, the historian would like to refer to the spirit of good fellowship that has existed among our officers. Many have left this camp with the names and addresses of associates, in the hope that some day the fortunes of war will be compensated by those of peace, and that travel will be more leisurely and friendly in nature. They are not so far separated from each other, for only about twenty-five per cent of the Medical Service of this hospital have been sent overseas. We have not been clannish, for our friendships have extended to other branches and sections, especially to the A. N. C. Civilians have endeared themselves to us by their kindly receptions and it has been the good fortune of some of us to meet many good people from all sections of the Sunny South.

The deep personal interest in patients and the kind attitude toward enlisted personnel displayed by our officers, has been most pleasing and has resulted in the greatest good to all concerned. The splendid cooperation of other services has made possible and worth while, the greatest efforts put forth by our section. Nurses have manifested the spirit of the times, for those of us who remember the long hours when physical and mental fatigue went unnoticed by them, will realize why results were achieved and why the work was made less difficult and play more pleasant. Finally, thanks are due to the Chief of the Service and the Commanding Officer for the confidence reposed and the many courtesies extended, which have exceeded our fondest expectations.

MEDICAL SERVICE

Surgical Service

MAJOR WILLIAM JEPSON, M. C.
Chief of Surgical Service

CAPT. ISAAC A. WITHERS, M. C.	Supervisor	LIEUT. CHARLES S. SEELY, M. C.	Ward Surgeon
CAPT. ERNEST F. DAY, M. C.	Ward Surgeon	LIEUT. CHARLES W. WAY, M. C.	Ward Surgeon
CAPT. LOUIS A. HAHN, M. C.	Ward Surgeon	LIEUT. JOHN E. B. ZIEGLER, M. C.	Ward Surgeon
CAPT. ACHILLES L. TYNES, M. C.	Ward Surgeon	LIEUT. ALBERT C. ROGERS, M. C.	X-ray Service
LIEUT. CLARENCE C. HICKMAN, M. C.	Ward Surgeon

EYE, EAR, NOSE AND THROAT CLINIC

MAJOR IRA H. DILLON, M. C.	Chief of Eye Service
CAPT. NEALIE E. ROSS, M. C.	Chief of Dental Service
CAPT. CHARLES P. SCHENCK, M. C.	Chief of Ear, Nose and Throat Service
LIEUT. GEORGE W. TINSLAR, M. C.	Assistant in Dental Service
LIEUT. CLEVELAND H. BROOKS, M. C.	Assistant in Ear, Nose and Throat Service

UROLOGICAL SERVICE

LIEUT. JOHN M. LIPSCOMB, M. C.	Chief of Service
LIEUT. REX ROY ROSS, M. C.	Assistant.

"OVERSEAS" SERVICE

MAJOR HARRY S. FINNEY, M. C.	Supervisor
------------------------------	------------

SINCE the organization of the Base Hospital, the Surgical Service has undergone many changes, but a high standard of efficiency has always been maintained. Under the present Chief of Service there exists a well-balanced working staff, which well represents the type of men who have served for the past year. The working plan has been that of dividing the men into operating teams, placing on each team, one Captain and one Lieutenant. Each team took a day as its turn came in rotation, doing on that day, such work as came to hand, either as assistants to the Chief of Service, or as a complete operating unit, as might be directed.

The records for the year 1918, show that 1934 surgical operations were performed with mortality of approximately three-tenths of one per cent. This includes both Minor and Major operations for which either a local or general anesthetic was given, a record of which any hospital might be justly proud.

At the present time, due to the receiving of "Overseas" wounded, eleven wards are maintained by the Surgical Service, five of which are exclusively for "Overseas" patients, who are classified as to their injuries, and given such treatment as their condition demands. The remaining wards are classified as follows: Clean Surgery, Septic Surgery, Nose and Throat, Fracture and Urological Wards, each ward being placed under the supervision of one Surgeon, who attends the patients in the ward.

No small part of the work of the Surgical Service has been the Chest Surgery, following the recent influenza epidemic. The handling of these cases has been in conjunction with the Medical Service and the results obtained have been gratifying to the entire Hospital Staff.

SURGICAL SERVICE

Nurses, Base Hospital—Roster

Dixon, Fredela Chief Nurse

Ballard, Zora
Baldwin, Marion
Bartlett, Cecelia
Barton, Virginia
Bisig, Bertha
Bosold, Susan
Bradwell, Dora
Brownfield, Henrietta
Chiles, Madeline Collins, Maxine
Condon, Essa
Dibble, Blanche
Durand, Jessie
Elsesser, Minnie Emmens, Edith Fallon, Mary
Fallon, Sally
Felland, Belle Frazier, Margaret
Fuller, Hilda
Giger, Emma Gross, Catherine
Hadley, Mateldia
Hayes, Frances
Hayes, Bernie
Henderson, Florence
Higgins, Della
Hintze, Anna
Houzvecka, Bessie
Kaib, Lucy

Woodbine, Ia.
Fort Worth, Texas
Chicago, Ill
Bethany, Mo.
Fort Worth, Texas
Des Moines, Ia.
Des Moines, Ia.
Des Moines, Ia.
Omaha, Neb.
Fort Worth, Texas
Wichita, Kans.
Columbus, Ohio
Joliet, Ill.
St. Jose, Mo.
Columbus, Ohio
Kansas City, Mo.
Fort Worth, Texas
Fort Worth, Texas
Brownwood, Texas
Niobrara, Neb.
Pittsburg, Kans.
Greely, Colo.
Hayes, Kans.
Cleveland, Ohio
Liverpool, Ohio
Del Rio, Texas
Denver, Colo.
Los Angeles, Calif.
Kansas City, Kans.
Council Bluffs, Iowa
Denver, Colo.

Kelly, Maud Jane
Kernan, Olive Kline, Martha
Leuck, Emma Logan, Margaret Lynch, Veronica
Lytton, Sallie
Malloy, Martha
Martin, Isabelle
McNulty, Sarah
Meyer, Margaret
Miller, Ellanora
Mullarky, Marie
Neidie, Gladys
Parker, Laura Pfanenstiel, Mollie
Porter, Lucille
Priehard, Alta
Prosser, Edith M.
Rarey, Doris M.
Reilly, Cecelia
Reynolds, Catherine
Reiderat, Edna
Stewart, Grace
Ward, Helen Wimmerhom, Carrie
Wilson, Mariou Lusk
Wortman, Elizabeth
Wright, Ella
Yager, Bernice

Ochalata, Okla.
Kansas City, Kans.
Zansfield, Ohio
Cleveland, Ohio
Des Moines, Iowa
Des Moines, Iowa
Lampassas, Texas
Los Angeles, Calif.
Duluth, Minn.
Denver, Colo.
Denver, Colo.
Ellis, Kans.
Denver, Colo.
Salida, Colo.
Boone, Iowa
Hayes, Kans.
Des Moines, Iowa
Ballinger, Texas
Nanticooke, Penn.
Kenton, Ohio
Springfield, Mo.
Lincoln, Neb.
Kansas City, Kans.
Fort Worth, Texas
Denver, Colo.
Port Arthur, Texas
Sanford, Maine
Madison, Neb.
Chicago, Ill.
Brenham, Texas

NURSES ASSIGNED OVERSEAS

February, 1918
Albright, Ester M.
Swift, Agnes L.
March, 1918
Schertz, Margaret R.
April, 1918
Anderson, Sara E.
Beatty, Lorraine T.
Ewert, Sophia A.
Hansen, Ruth C.
Hildebrand, Anna C.
Spokesfield, Gertrude L.
May, 1918
Croner, Agnes T.
Dewey, Lida J.
Purvey, Mary A.
Hart, Helen A.
Jacobs, Susan C.
Macnamara, Florence E.
Marquardt, Alice
Petteway, Gertrude
Stimtz, Ida M.
Willard, Dora L.
Wiseman, Blanche A.
July, 1918
Hancock, Alta J.

Schertz, Emma G.
Schunk, Pauline
August, 1918.
Atchison, Vera M.
Athay, Florence L.
Avery, Carolyn T.
Belknap, Hazel
Black, Alpha F.
Borman, Elsie
Ergan, Gertrude
Bryant, Fannie E.
Cantwell, Nora K.
Clow, Hazel J.
Conrad, Anna B.
Crutchfield, Myrtle P.
Dillman, Cora A.
Dunton, Bernice
Feeley, Beulah
Fife, Roxie S.
Fitzhenry, Julia C.
Frey, Anna M.
Garard, Lillie M.
Glock, Mable M.
Gluff, Viola M.
Gross, Iuey A.
Hartz, Ottilie L.
Harriman, Bertha M.

Hengeveldt, Grace M.
Holmes, Ethel E.
Hyneman, Katherine
Jenkins, Lillian A.
Keinath, Ethel M.
Kelley, Catherine A.
Kennedy, Carrie M.
Kerutis, Mary A.
Keyser, Frances F.
Kingston, Harriet A.
Krick, Josephine
Lehman, Eva
Little, Edna R.
McGrath, Mary H.
Melvin, Alma J.
Nykanen, Wilhelmina
O'Byrne, Nannie
Ogden, Alice S.
Peterson, Myrtle A.
Pilegard, Anna K.
Pilegard, Christine
Reidenbach, Alice F.
Robinson, Anna C.
Rohr, Emma B.
Schrader, Helen L.
Shilling, Leota J.
Sperry, Elsa M.
Stanley, Lydia

Stroupe, Marie
Swezy, Daisy O.
Urnes, Elizabeth
Ziller, Adah M.

September, 1918.

Boggs, Lillian M.
Courtney, Ruth
Ponahue, Anna D.
Dow, Lully M.
Fern, Loretta G.
Grimes, Elizabeth D.
Hartfield, Mattie
LeGro, Emma J.
MacAleer, Fay L.
McGuinness, Elizabeth
McGuinness, Mary
Nelson, Phillipa
Odman, Elsa A.
Parten, Mollie E.
Roach, Esther C.
Ross, Ethel E.
Sargent, Helen M.
Sinclair, Margaret L.
Tolander, Laura E.
Wey, Catherine L.
Wiedman, Lillian Young, Lena

Number of nurses who have reported at Base Hospital since Oct. 14, 1917, 234.
At Base Hospital at the present time, 61. Greatest total strength in one month, 115, Nov. 1918.

NURSES, BASE HOSPITAL

ENLISTED MEN

ENLISTED MEN

Laboratory

MAJOR CARL BOETTIGER, M. C.

LIEUT. WM. PRICE, M. C., Assistant

IN the latter part of 1917, the Laboratory, Base Hospital, Camp Bowie, Texas, opened its portals and became from that day, a valuable ally to the Medical personnel of the Hospital. At the time of the opening, it was only a small factor in the organization, being composed of but two rooms, presided over by one officer and one enlisted man. Today the Laboratory is one of the largest factors in the Hospital. The floor space takes up about five times its original area and the personnel has increased ten-fold.

For the benefit of those who are not familiar with the working methods of the Laboratory, it may be said that the object is to determine the nature and to aid in the extermination of "bugs," not those in the Psychopathic Ward, but those which inhabit the inner regions of mankind and seek to destroy his physical being. Many and varied are the processes which must be gone through before the different organisms can be found and classified. To begin with, there is a culinary department. This department is very essential in the Laboratory, for it is here that the food, upon which the organisms grow, is prepared. At the time of the opening of the hospital, when there were but few patients and the work carried on was very meagre, this department was not a part of the Laboratory. The number of patients soon increased and the amount and scope of work became such that its addition was necessary. There was not room enough in the Laboratory proper, to install a kitchen, so, in order to make room for it, the Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat Clinic moved to other quarters and full equipment for cooking and sterilizing purposes, was put in its place.

Even with this additional room, the Laboratory was not large enough and it was thought that in order to carry on the work on the increased scale, it would be necessary to move into a larger building. This idea was thought impracticable, but in May the north end of the building was torn out and a new room, 24 feet square, was added and equipped.

The extent of the work today is such that there is not a patient who enters the hospital but that he feels, in one way or another, the presence of the Laboratory. Some one of the Laboratory force is always at his bedside. Even in his dreams he sees them, towering over him like giants, needle in hand. Such is the conception that enters his fevered mind, that he pictures the Laboratory technician as a blood-thirsty individual, whose greatest delight is to inflict punishment on his defenseless head. Not until he is far on the road to recovery, does he realize the importance of the ordeals to which he has been subjected, and learn to praise his tormentors.

About ten months after the opening of the hospital, the Laboratory took on a very different aspect. The cause for the same was occasioned by the appearance of a bevy of six lady technicians, two of whom still remain to dispel the sombre atmosphere of the place.

Previous to January 31st, 1918, 73,999 specimens had been examined. Although the Armistice has been declared among warring nations and the strife of mankind has ceased, the war at the Base Hospital, against the Bacterial Enemy, still continues. Already the dead hosts of the enemy number (with their allies, the hook-worm, hundreds of whom fell in a single day) 73,999 battalions and the number still increases. It is hoped that in the near future, with the aid of our valuable assistants, 'Brer' Rabbit, Guinea Pig and a fresh contingent of white mice, the enemy will be entirely exterminated and mankind once more will rest in peace.

LABORATORY

LABORATORY PERSONNEL

X-ray Department

THE X-RAY Department was opened on or about November 1st, 1917, with Lieut. Ogburn in charge, who was relieved by Lieut. Dewey in May, 1918. Lieut. Dewey remained in charge of the department until December of the same year, when Captain Day took over the department. Lieut. Rogers is now in charge with Sergeant Kusart and Private Bay as assistants. The number of plates the department has made runs into thousands. The majority of these plates consists of pneumonia, empyemas, fractures and foreign bodies, such as machine gun bullets, fragments of shells, etc.

With the bedside unit, the pneumonia examinations are made in the wards and the most interesting fact of this work is the question of differentiating unresolved pneumonias, pleurisy, and empyemas. In cases that develop empyema and drained with resulting cavity formation, emulsion of bismuth is injected at various intervals to determine the size, shape, and location of the cavity. The cavity itself will not show on the plates, but when bismuth is injected and fills it, this gives the desired results, as bismuth is opaque to X-ray and will form or project a shadow. This same fact is made use of in examination of the stomach and bowels for ulcers, cancers, and other diseases.

The X-ray shows pus and disease of the accessory sinuses of the nose, or what is commonly known as "catarrh." In the photograph will be seen a patient in position for an exposure of the sinuses. If the sinuses are diseased and filled with pus, the X-ray will not penetrate, and therefore will cast a shadow on the photographic-like plate. Then of course these plates are developed as any ordinary photograph.

The flouroscope is a very interesting apparatus. By its means and in conjunction with X-rays we get a motion picture, as it were, of the parts. It is merely a flourescent screen made of certain chemicals, through which we look and see shadows of the various organs of the body, as the heart, lungs, bones; also foreign bodies as shrapnel, bullets, etc.

This apparatus was used very extensively on the Western Front for the location of foreign bodies, setting of fractures, deduction of dislocations of joints, etc.

The X-ray is very valuable to the dental officers. It is the only means by which we are able to tell the presence or absence of an abscess at the roots of teeth. If an abscess is present, its shadow will be cast on the film. We can also tell if a root canal is properly filled or not. The fillings cast a very dense shadow.

X-RAY ROOM

Operating Pavilion

Main Operating Room, showing Nurses and Surgeons in action. Note the unmasked face in the distance, too fair a flower to be allowed to blush unseen, but whose skill and energy have gone far toward making the surgical work a success.

The Anesthetist is not really trying to flirt with the camera man. It is just her genteel modesty that forbids the showing of more than one eye, although to add lustre to the picture both should be seen.

Sterile masks hide the identity of the operating team, and in consideration of their regard to medical ethics their names will not be divulged. The Assistant Nurse you could never guess, but her consistent accuracy and unfailing good humor have made the Operating Pavilion a garden of flowers to "bloom" the winter through.

The patient made an uneventful recovery.

OPERATING PAVILION

Dental Service

WHEN the Base Hospital was opened, one dental surgeon, Lieutenant William A. Baker, was assigned to take care of all the dental surgery of the Hospital. The equipment consisted of one partial base outfit, with such instruments as could be obtained from the supply at that time. Upon Camp Bowie and the nearby Aviation Camps being filled, the demand for dental services grew and two more dental surgeons were assigned for temporary duty and given portable equipment. The personnel of the office at that time consisted of three dental surgeons, Lieutenant William A. Baker, Chief of the Service, with enlisted men as assistants. The quarters occupied at that time were very inadequate, but soon a separate building was erected to take care of the Head Surgical Unit, of which the Dental Service is a part.

This building consists of waiting rooms, orderly rooms, record rooms, special operating rooms, recovery room, and individual rooms for Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat, and Dental Clinics. The Dental quarters at present are large enough to accommodate four operators, with full Base Equipment.

A Base Equipment consists of everything that is necessary to completely equip a first-class and modern dental office such as compressed air, hot and cold water, all modern electrical contrivances, including mouth lamps, cauteries, electric water heaters, spray bottle warmer, ionization for sterilization of root-canals and treatments for abscesses. The instruments are the very best obtainable, selected from the stocks of the leading dental manufacturers of the United States, complete sets for each operator. A nitrous-oxide and oxygen inhaler is part of the equipment of the office. The X-ray work which is a very valuable asset, is taken care of by the X-ray Laboratory of the hospital, very efficient and prompt service being given always. The bacteriological work is also referred to the main Laboratory, where specimens are examined, a report made and a copy of same returned to the Clinic.

The Prosthetic Laboratory is fully equipped for doing all kinds of mechanical work, dentures, the necessary crowns and bridges, and all forms of mechanical splints for fractures. This work is done by men specially trained for the service and is under the supervision of the Chief of Service.

An office is maintained in one of the wards to take care of the colored patients, which is equipped up to the standard, the same care and attention being given them as is given the white patients.

Ten Dental Surgeons have served at the hospital during the period of the present administration. The personnel at present consists of three Dental Surgeons: Captain N. E. Ross, Chief of the Service; Lieutenant George W. Tinslar, operating at one chair and Lieutenant O'Farrell, in charge of laboratory work. Each operator has a trained nurse as an assistant, Miss S. Lytton being in charge. An enlisted man acts as orderly for the rooms. This personage is the faithful Clayton.

DENTAL SERVICE

Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat Service

The Eye Service with Major Ira H. Dillon, M. C., Chief of Service, and the Section of Otolaryngology (Ear, Nose and Throat), Capt. Charles P. Schenck, M. C., Chief of Service, are located in what is commonly known as the E. E. N. T. Clinic.

The many patients who have been treated in the Eye Room will give testimony to the excellent service rendered in the perfection of their vision. The Eye Service has a modern equipment of optical instruments. Under the direction of Major Dillon, defective vision among the Corps Men and patients has been minimized.

The organization of the Section of Otolaryngology (Ear, Nose and Throat), was begun under the direction of Capt. Walter J. Mathews, M. C., who reported as chief of this Section on Sept. 9th, 1917. The department has had many additions in personnel since its organization, but likewise has sent away many for "overseas" service. Others were transferred to various posts in the United States. At the present time, Capt. Schenck and Lieut. Brooks remain. There follows a list of officers who have served in this service, in the order in which they reported for duty:

CAPTAIN WALTER J. MATHEWS, M. C.
CAPTAIN CHARLES P. SCHENCK, M. C.
CAPTAIN JOSIA F. BUNTING, M. C.
CAPTAIN WALTER W. BOYNE, M. C.
CAPTAIN WELLINGTON A. LEBKICHER, M. C.
CAPTAIN HENRY B. ORTON, M. C.
LIEUT. JESSE F. BOONE, M. C.

LIEUT. CLEVELAND H. BROOKS, M. C.
LIEUT. MATHEW S. ERSNER, M. C.
CAPTAIN HORACE T. AYNESWORTH, M. C.
LIEUT. LOUIS GREENBERG, M. C.
LIEUT. THOMAS A. DICKSON, M. C.
LIEUT. WILLIAM M. JOHNSON, M. C.
LIEUT. GEORGE T. BLACKWELL, M. C.

Hundreds of men have been made more fit and more resistant to the invasion of disease by the removal of the tonsils or of obstructions to breathing through the nose. However, the outstanding feature of the work has been the great volume of mastoid surgery which has been necessary as a result of the several epidemics of measles, mumps, influenza, pneumonia, etc. From the thousands of running ears which followed these epidemics, it is not surprising that as many as 147 cases have been operated for mastoiditis. This department is very proud of its unique success in operating 24 of these cases under local anesthesia, all of whom made nice recoveries.

It is not possible to name all the nurses and Medical Dept. men who have had a part in maintaining a high state of efficiency in this department; but splendid cooperation was had from the following nurses, and perhaps others: Misses Weisman, Athey, Wright, Melvil, Keritas, Ogden, Frey, Hagan, Hind, Webb, Williams, Nusko, LaDue, Wortman, Giger, Bradwell, Elsesser and Reynolds.

Without exception all corps men assigned to duty in the department have rendered faithful and efficient service in the discharge of their duties, and their team-work has been largely instrumental in the smooth running of the wards. Among others, the following are remembered with appreciation of their cooperation: Thomas, Wright, Young, Bartleson, Smith, Lambert, Count, Reed, Woods, Bade, Erickson, Page, Agee, Hankle, Pinnock, Leach, Ramsey, Stanford, Cook, Hardy, Giomi and Davis.

EAR, NOSE AND THROAT SERVICE

Officers' Ward

THE OFFICERS' WARD was opened on October 10th, 1917. From a newly constructed building, with a mass of lumber, putty, nails and litter left by the carpenters and glaziers, to a modernly equipped hospital ward for the treatment of the Officers who become patients in the hospital, was accomplished in a remarkably short time.

This ward has been through all the trials and vicissitudes of two epidemics and has emerged with an excellent record for efficient work. Since the first patient was admitted with a diagnosis of measles, the ward was never empty, there having been as few as six and as many as fifty patients at one time. Almost every disease and disability has been treated in the Officers' Ward. The majority of the patients came from Camp Bowie, but the three aviation fields in the vicinity of Fort Worth have contributed many patients for the ward. At the present time there are a number of "overseas" patients, who narrate interesting accounts of what happened "over there."

Among the officers who have had supervision of the ward are Major William R. May, formerly of New York, now with the A. E. F., in France; Captain W. J. Fitzpatrick of Texas, now a physician in civilian life; Captain F. J. Sullivan, of St. Louis, Mo., and Captain Charles S. Aitken of Philadelphia, Pa.

Some of the nurses who have done efficient work in the ward and who will long be remembered by the patients are Miss McDonald of Massachusetts, now at Fort Sheridan, Ill.; Miss Urnes of Minneapolis, Minn., Miss "Tiny" Heinerman of New York, Misses Crick and Fife of Fort Wayne, Ind., and Miss Crutchfield of Texas, all of whom are now with Base Hospital Units in France.

The present personnel consists of the following: Captain Paul R. Allyn, Ward Surgeon and Medical Consultant from Illinois via Fort Riley; Captain T. J. Tynes, Surgical Consultant from "Ole Virginny," via Ogelthorpe, Ga.; Miss Sarah McNulty, Nurse in Charge, a graduate of St. Joseph's Hospital, Denver, Colorado; Miss Essa Condon, graduate of Protestant Hospital at Columbus, Ohio; Miss Grace Stewart, of Texas, formerly with the British Aviation Service, and Miss Leona Mapes, a graduate of the Technical Normal School and Grant Hospital Training School, Chicago, Ill.

Sergeant Hibbs was former wardmaster and was transferred to Officers' Training School. Sergeant Hoffman, the present wardmaster, is assisted by Private First Class Harry Danielson and Private McClanahan.

To have made the Officers' Ward what it is, and to have maintained its record of efficiency, has required time, thought and study. These, Lieut. Col. Hanson and Major Greenway have bestowed with untiring energy, and their daily visits and personal interest have been greatly appreciated by all.

(9)

OFFICER'S WARD

The Hospital Ward

WHEN we realize that our country spent more than twenty-five million dollars in construction of additions and improvements to Army Hospitals in the United States during the first six months of 1918, it would seem that a single ward or group of wards would be too insignificant to bear mention. When we further consider the marble corridors and handsome appointments of hospitals to which we have been accustomed, a description of a ward would seem impossible and ridiculous. However, the picture of a ward of this temporary hospital from within or without is pleasing; a visit is a delight.

Standardization is at once apparent; it is necessary as it promotes every interest of hospital service. Each ward is a well lighted, ridge-ventilated pavilion about twenty-four feet wide and one hundred and fifty-seven feet long. The large single room or ward proper accommodates thirty-two patients very nicely. In addition suitable rooms situated at one end and sufficiently large, serve on the one side of the ward for offices, isolation room and utility room, and on the other, linen room, bathroom and diet kitchen. A ward laboratory is a feature of several of the medical wards. A solarium the length of the entire ward is a valuable adjunct in the treatment of our patients.

Most of the wards are single, although in some cases two wards are connected by a common corridor. Several of the wards are of two story type, and they are used as a rule for convalescent patients. The usual type of construction is not applicable in case of contagious disease isolation wards, for here many smaller rooms are necessary. All wards are separated so that isolation, ventilation and other features have not been ignored in any respect.

Every device, although simple in some cases, has been introduced for the comfort and safety of the sick soldier. Ample fire protection, by means of extinguishers, alarms and exits, is provided. Cleanliness is the watchword and any day may be made inspection day. Adequate wire screens are provided for every ward. Comforts and occasional luxuries appreciated by every soldier have been provided by hospital as well as outside agencies.

The cubicle plan of housing patients, especially valuable in acute infectious and respiratory diseases, is a noteworthy feature of the ward scheme inasmuch as it minimizes possibility of cross infection and also affords a certain degree of privacy. It has been strictly adhered to with remarkably good results. Our wards may well serve as a model to civilian hospitals in this respect. However small the ward may seem in the sum total, a visit will disclose that it is an institution in itself, worthy of much study.

GROUP OF PATIENTS

HOSPITAL WARD

The Receiving Office

OUR BUILDING is called the Receiving Ward, but the name tells only a part of our story. In the early days of the hospital we were practically one with the Administrative Department, living with them in what is now known as the Officers' Cottage at the north-east corner of the Hospital grounds. In October, 1917, we moved to our present building with Sgt. Hall, Lex Collins, Danny Dillon, Walt Young, Homer Burkhart, Vilas Dragoo and Walter Smith comprising our working force. Captain Bledsoe was placed in charge of our new building. The Captain is a versatile man and he proved his worth in a short time. To act as Registrar and Receiving Officer during the days when patients were admitted by the hundreds and at the same time to have general supervision of the ambulances, the clothing room, telephone exchange, information desk and post office, was a big job, but the Captain filled the bill and won the admiration of all. Our change of location gave impetus to our growing popularity and where we had previously granted admission to from six to twenty daily, they now came to us by the hundreds.

Approximately 23,500 men have sought admission through the Receiving Office, where they have faced such "kings" as Vilas Dragoo, Walt Young, "Big" Johnson, "R. I." Berry, Danny Dillon, Frederick Stanton, Shirley Scott and "T. L." Davis, who have in turn ruled at the Receiving Desk. To these men and many others who have assisted in the Receiving Office, including Gentry, Finsterbush, Sweeney and Sansbury, the incoming patients have given their "pedigrees" and much other interesting information, before being directed to a comfortable bed. When ready to leave the hospital, the patients report back to the office, where "Burky" furnishes transportation. He depends principally on the ambulance men. The character of the weather or the time of the day or night mattered not to "Slim" Nelson, "Wee-Wee" Wiewel, "Shorty" Morgan, "T. L." Davis, "Dick" Omohundro, Gripp, Menke, Morrison, Beringer or Gentry, who were always on the job, with the G. M. C.'s and Whites for a "call" or a trip "to duty." Other familiar faces about the Receiving Office were those of Captains Bledsoe, Kiehnhoff, Lynch, Allen, Dixon and Lieutenants Linett, Johns and Canfield, who have at different times acted as Receiving Officer.

Closely connected with the Receiving Office is the Clothing Room, where Smithy, Grimmer and Spelman have checked in the clothing of patients as they were admitted and checked it out again as they were ready to be discharged. Among the numerous changes which were made, was the opening of the Information Office, where "Jimmy" Griffen rules as "king" and diplomat. "Information" used to be a part of the Receiving Office, but its importance warranted more distinction. It is to this office that the general public flock for information regarding patients, and for permission to visit the wards. The public are indebted to Griffen, George Sommers, Coleman, Rechten, Eden, Akard, Sansbury and Kettenring, who have visited the wards hundreds of times to ascertain the condition of patients, in answer to phone calls, or for some one who called "out of visiting hours."

In connection with the Information Office we must not forget Capt. Edwards of the Red Cross. The Captain's work is to keep the relatives of the patients informed as to the condition of the boys who are seriously sick, to spread cheer among the patients in the wards and to render any assistance possible to patients, Corps men, or their relatives. He is always on the job with a smile and a word of cheer. Eugene Hightower acts as the Captain's assistant in attending to the heavy correspondence and hard work connected with Captain Edwards' duties.

RECEIVING OFFICE (Exterior)

RECEIVING OFFICE (Interior)

The Registrar's Office

THE REGISTRAR'S Office represents work. It requires considerable office room and represents many phases of hospital industry. It formerly occupied two small rooms in the south-east corner of the Receiving Office, at which time Sergeant Hall, Lex Collins, Perry Simpson, Manny Newberger, Walt Young, Ross Hicks, Fred Sparks and Harry Huff were familiar figures. Last Spring (1918), it was necessary to secure more commodious quarters, so we moved to the present office. Since this change we have added the S. C. D. work, the Detachment of Patients and the Discharge of Patients, to the duties of the office. Numerous files practically surround the room, containing clinical records of 23,000 cases treated in the hospital, each of which has been reported one or more times individually to the Surgeon-General's Office, records of S. C. D. cases, indices of patients, receipts for patients returned to duty, service records of the Detachment of Patients, pay-rolls, hospital fund statements, daily reports, etc. Many have helped in the work connected with this office and at the present time, Sergeants Waller, Huff, Herz, Burkhardt, Hiatt, Faherty, West and Privates Rechtin, Hoenig and Burkhardt (Bill), keep the seven Royals hot and add continually to the already extensive mass of records and data collected in the office. Emergency fire buckets are kept nearby in the event that one of the typewriters ignite.

It is in the Registrar's Office that statistics of every conceivable sort are compiled. From the vast amount of information on hand, the men are called upon for statistics, relative to diseases, operations, admissions, discharges, days lost in hospital, length of stay per patient during certain periods, organizations from which men are admitted, white patients, colored patients, patients admitted from command, patients from overseas, officers, nurses, civilians, and dozens of other subjects.

Lieut. Stauffer succeeded Capt. Bledsoe as Registrar in July, 1918, and consequently fell heir to a variety of duties such as Commanding Officer of the Detachment of Patients, Supervisor of the Information, Telephone Exchange and Post Office. Nothing in the way of work ever stumps the Lieutenant. He leads a busy life. If it is not one thing, it's a dozen.

Sitting at the telephone board through long hours, saying "Number, please", or "Is it official business?", we have "Slim" Nelson, Leon Smith, Grupert, Gripp, Menke, Knight, Fowler and others. The post office force are exceedingly popular with all. They cheerfully hand out those sweet epistles of "love and everything" and those packages of cakes, candies, etc., which are so numerous about a hospital post office. In the capacity of mail men, Felix Herz, John Cotton, Frank Harrison and Byron Burleson have done heaps to add a bit of cheer to camp and hospital life.

The men in this and other departments in the Receiving Building have shared well in many promotions and the men have all played with interest and earnestness, whatever their part in the big strife, happened to be.

REGISTRAR'S OFFICE

The Detachment Office

IN ORDER to obtain a proper conception of the Detachment Office, it must be considered from three different viewpoints. To the enlisted man it is a place where a number of "hard-boiled" Sergeants stay all day and the greater part of the night, for the purpose of doing three things: namely, finding excuses to restrict men to the limits of the Base Hospital grounds, assign them to the wood-pile or court-martial them for petty offenses; locating odd jobs to which men may be assigned when they call for "down-town" passes; and "bawling guys out" for neglecting some duty. To the officers of the Base Hospital the Detachment Office is a place where men can be obtained at any time for any emergency. If each of ten officers wants ten men within ten minutes, all the Detachment Office must do is to square the ten and thus procure the one hundred which is the sum called for. When only one man is given, then the problem becomes more complicated, for there are so many unknown quantities. To the office force the Detachment Office is the junction between the officers and enlisted men. It is the desire of the office force, first, to see that all duties of the enlisted men are performed properly; second, to obtain as many privileges for the enlisted men as possible without detracting anything from the good of the service.

In the early days of the Base Hospital the Detachment Office was not a separate office as it is now, but the work was done in the office of the Commanding Officer by Sergeant First Class Kesselring, who acted in the capacity of First Sergeant and worked under the direct supervision of the Commanding Officer.

During November, 1917, the enlisted personnel of this detachment was more than doubled when one hundred and fifty-seven men were sent here for duty from Camp Dodge, Iowa. The work in connection with the detachment grew to such proportions that a separate office was opened in the front of Barracks G-2, in which to conduct this work, and Sergeant Brownlee was appointed First Sergeant. Within a short time after this office was opened, Lieut. Fite was assigned to duty as Detachment Commander. Captain Pirtle succeeded Lieut. Fite as Detachment Commander with Sergeant Brownlee remaining First Sergeant. Captain Pirtle was ordered overseas and was replaced by Lieut. Bernard. Sergeant Brownlee was commissioned Second Lieutenant and was succeeded by Sergeant Long as First Sergeant.

The little office served its purpose very well, but the growth of the detachment necessitated the increase of its size and office force. In September, 1918, two hundred and fifty men were assigned to this detachment which made the strength of the enlisted personnel approximately six hundred and fifty men. The office has been enlarged from time to time until at present the floor space is nearly three times its original dimensions. The handling of this size detachment required an organized office force which now exists as follows: Captain J. Earl Alexander, Detachment Commander; Hospital Sergeant Charles H. Arbuckle, First Sergeant; Sergeant First Class Vaud A. Travis, Assistant First Sergeant in charge of discharges, with Sergeant Raymond C. Stanford and Corporal William D. Galleshaw assisting in discharges; Sergeants First Class Harry H. Henkelman and Joseph A. McQuillan in charge of the Personnel Department, which covers correspondence, pay rolls, filing, morning reports, weekly reports, monthly returns, Insurance, Allotments and Records. Sergeant Harry D. Duncan and Corporal Eloi Thomann assign to duty each enlisted man of this detachment and keep records of assignments. Sergeant Henry M. Richards is in charge of the sick book and roll calls in addition to being responsible for the dress and soldierly bearing of the men of this detachment. Private First Class Eugenio Sancturi assists Sergeant Richards and personally inspects the clothing worn by the men when they call for passes to Fort Worth.

DETACHMENT OFFICE

Quartermaster Department

QUARTERMASTER—2ND. LIEUT. JOHN K. PADEN,
Q. M. CORPS, U. S. A.

Quartermaster Office and Warehouse

Q. M. Sgt., Sen. Gr., Louis A. Stern, 1st Sgt.
Property, Sgt. 1st Cl. James L. Sheehan
Warehouse, Sgt. Herbert Silbermann
Transportation, Sgt. Gabriel S. Youngwood
Assistants, Corp. Chris. Overton, Corp. A. F. Allen,
Pvt. 1st Cl. Webster Everhart
Fuel, Sgt. Templeton, Med. Dept.
Garage, Sgt. Hale, Pvt. Hyer, Asst., Med. Dept.
Outside Trucking, Pvt. W. M. Unger

Quartermaster Shop

Q. M. Sgt. Sen. Gr., Robert C. Carey, in charge of construction
Shop, Sgt. Thomas N. Carroll, in charge
Electrical, Sgt. Joseph L. Redeker
Plumbing, Sgt. Dennis L. Boland
Painting and Glazing, Sgt. Ren D. Taggart
Carpentry, Corp. Colin T. Campbell.
Shop Assist., Pvt. D. F. A. Devine
Outside Police, Sgt. Hanson, Sgt. Lund, Med. Dept.

There are other men attached to the Q. M. Shop. They are mentioned in the article on the Construction Dept. Sgt. Lee H. Burroughs has been detailed as Mess Sergeant.

THE QUARTERMASTER Department has a sphere of activity which is quite different from that of the rest of the hospital. The Q. M. does not dabble in medicine, surgery or medical supplies. It is rather a supply and storage department for Quartermaster Property for the hospital, a warehouse for the distribution and reclamation of clothing for the enlisted men, a medium for the transportation needs of the hospital, a Supply Depot for fuel for the many buildings of the hospital, and a Construction Department, effecting the maintenance and repair of the hospital structures, roadways and approximately seventy acres of ground. It can be readily seen that there is always something and often many things to be done by Q. M. carpenters, plumbers, electricians, painters and general utility men, for the up-keep of the hospital and its buildings and grounds.

When the hospital first opened, back in the Fall of 1917, the Quartermaster work was handled by the efficient management of Captain J. Earl Alexander, at that time a Second Lieutenant. He was assisted by men from the Medical Detachment. On March 2, 1918, a detachment of sixteen men of the Q. M. Corps, in charge of Sgt. John K. Paden, reported for duty from Camp Joseph E. Johnston, and, on March 25, 1918, four more reported from the same camp, in charge of Sgt. Carey. Captain Alexander perfected the organization and soon the Q. M. Detachment was ready to meet any emergency. In September, 1918, Sgt. Paden, who now held the rank of Q. M. Sergeant, was transferred to Officers' Training School at Camp Johnston, Florida. He returned to the Base Hospital in November, 1918, commissioned 2nd Lieutenant, and took up the duties of Quartermaster, relieving Captain Alexander, whose entire attention was then given to the Medical Detachment as Detachment Commander. The men of the Q. M. Detachment received promotions and at the present time, the Q. M. personnel consists of one commissioned officer, twelve noncommissioned officers and four privates.

The Quartermaster Department is in charge of the Garage, which houses the Base Hospital motor vehicles. From twelve to twenty vehicles have been placed in the Garage. The transportation needs of the hospital are met by these vehicles. At the present time two passenger cars, three trucks and four motorcycles and side cars meet the demands for passenger transportation, and effect the hauling of commissary, laundry, medical supplies, baggage, mail, coal (additional detail of Peerless Trucks) wood, gravel, manure, ashes and miscellaneous supplies.

The Q. M. is ever ready to meet emergencies. Anything wrong at your place? Call up the Q. M.

QUARTERMASTER DEPARTMENT

Q. M. C. Shop

THE BASE HOSPITAL QUARTERMASTER, Lieut. John K. Paden, is proud of his "Shop," and rightly so. A glance at the description of the work done by the department will show the extent of its accomplishments. The construction work is in charge of Q. M. Sgt. Sen. Gr. R. C. Carey. He is assistant Fire Marshal, Lieut. Paden being Fire Marshal for the Base Hospital. He is also in charge of the maintenance of hospital roads. The Construction Department built an elevated corridor, connecting the Red Cross Building with the hospital corridors. Corporal Campbell was in charge of this work. The department built an auto shed, paid for by the officers, a stable for ten riding horses, three fire stations for fire equipment, four tennis courts, two for the officers and two for the enlisted men, enlisted men's tailor and barber shops, sheds over hot water heaters, board walks and many other works in construction about the hospital. Pvts. Howarth and Beard are credited with the building of the fire stations. The Chapel, Officers' Ward and Detachment Office were lined with beaver board by Pvts. Lynch, Morrison, Williams, Roshto and Ishmeal, Med. Dept. A handy mechanic about the shop is Pvt. Schmidt, Med. Dept. He has constructed an operating table and cabinet for the Detention Hospital in Fort Worth, and numerous other tables and cabinets for use of the Base Hospital. Sgt. Carroll, who is in charge of the Carpenter Shop, designed and laid out the walls of the pool under the direction of Lieut. Col. Hanson. He also designed and constructed the fire-places in the office of the Commanding Officer, Officers' Quarters and Indiana Inn.

Capt. Alexander and Lieut. Paden have artistic quarters. They are located in Indiana Inn, a magnificent bungalow designed by Capt. Alexander and built by Pvt. Hosterman.

The plumbing of the Base Hospital is kept in good condition by the efforts of Sgt. Boland, who is in charge of the Plumbing Department. The department installed the apparatus for the reclamation of bandages and surgical dressings, in the Laundry Building, installed all up-to-date plumbing in the Post Exchange Barber Shop and put in the plumbing fixtures in the G. U. Ward Dental Clinic. A steam table and a potato peeler were connected up at the Patients' Mess. In addition, Sgt. Boland assisted by Pvt. Cogburn, attends to all heating and plumbing repairs about the Base Hospital.

The Painting and Glazing Department under Sgt. Taggart has done all the interior decorating of the Administration Building, Detachment Office, Indiana Inn, Post Exchange, G. U. Ward and Operating Pavilion. He has also made the necessary interior and exterior signs for hospital buildings, roads and grounds. Assisted by Pvt. Dodd, the department takes care of all the glazing for hospital windows and doors.

The Electrical Department under Sgt. Redeker installed the large electrical sterilizing units, in the Operating Pavilion, Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat Clinic and G. U. Clinic. Seven large electrical heaters for sterilizers were installed and the Electrical Bath Cabinet and Knee Dry Hot Air Apparatus were connected up in the "overseas" convalescent patients' dressing station. Six motors were connected up at the Patients' Mess and connections made on Motion Picture machine with light dimming device at the Red Cross Building. Maintenance of all electrical equipment is taken care of by the department with the assistance of Pvt. Pugh.

BASE HOSPITAL STABLES

The Base Hospital Stables, located west of the Quartermaster Shop was constructed by the Q. M., for the sheltering of ten horses, secured from the Camp Remount Depot, for the accommodation of those Officers and Nurses who followed the equestrian sport. Mounts have been supplied to Officers and Nurses who have been afforded many agreeable hours of riding in the country neighboring the Base Hospital. Many of the horses have become favorites. "Elk," "Colonel," "Babe," "Buck," "Coon" and "Bob" will long be remembered. A School of Equitation was held for the Officers, the mounts being supplied by the Base Hospital Stables, with the result that many have become masters in the art of riding.

QUARTERMASTER SHOP

BASE HOSPITAL STABLES

Base Hospital Medical Supply Depot

THE BASE HOSPITAL Medical Supply Depot of Camp Bowie, Texas, first began operations on August 29, 1917. It was here and active while the Base Hospital grounds were as yet but a stretch of Texas prairie, noisy with the hammering of carpenters by day and the howling of Texas coyotes by night. In those days, when the hospital was abuilding, the Medical Supply Personnel was housed in Warehouse No. 10, which is located in the extreme eastern portion of the camp. This warehouse had been constructed mainly for a receiving and storing place for supplies. To meet the emergency that existed at the time, the Property Officer was obliged to stock the warehouse with supplies enough to equip a hospital of two thousand beds, and to make the warehouse serve the purpose of an office for the personnel, as well. Primitive indeed, it was as an office. No office equipment, no shelves for the arrangement of stock, nothing in fact was there to make it an office except the men and the will to win. But the Property Officer, Capt. Theodore H. Connor, then Lieut. Connor, knew how to manage the situation. With men as unfinished as the hospital itself, Capt. Connor began the issue of supplies to the entire camp. Even his own office was not equipped. Each night the Captain, using his different pockets as pigeon holes, would gather up the receipts from the day's transactions, take them to his quarters and bring them with him again, the following day. He was the office. When he walked, it walked. When he slept, it lay dormant. After two months had passed with this makeshift for the emergency, word came that the Base Hospital had been sufficiently completed to receive patients. It was announced that the building for the Medical Supply Depot was up-to-date with offices, store and issue rooms and was ready for occupancy.

On April 30, 1918, Capt. Connor was called to take up duties at Whipple Barracks, Arizona, and Capt. Wm. K. Smith became property officer. Being a doctor, his professional skill soon made him needed elsewhere and on August 31, 1918, the assignment was given to Lieut. Stanley A. Clark, who was destined to remain at the post until this history was brought into being. With uniform efficiency and outstanding courtesy to all, he has kept the hospital supplied with necessary medical equipment. He has done his part in making the Base Hospital the great institution it has become. For while Napoleon was wise enough to observe that "an army moves on its belly," it has been left for modern military wiseacres to observe that at times an army goes on its back, particularly during an influenza epidemic, and it is equally important that the army be well cared for when it is impotent, as when it is hungry.

By an order following the armistice of Nov. 11, 1918, the Medical Supply Depot has recently lost its name. It has been placed in a larger organization of Purchase, Storage and Traffic. This change, however, is unimportant, for while names come and names go, the work goes on forever, and so well have the officers and the enlisted men of the Base Hospital Medical Supply waged war on work (sometimes to elude it, sometimes to vanquish it) that there has circulated far and near an epithet which in its completeness summarizes the history of this organization, namely, "The Fighting Medical Supply."

BASE HOSPITAL MEDICAL SUPPLY DEPOT

Post Exchange

THE POST EXCHANGE of the Base Hospital, Camp Bowie, Texas, was organized in August, 1917, under Lieut. Wm. K. Smith as Exchange Officer, Sgt. S. E. Brownlee as Exchange Steward and Pvts. S. Ensminger and R. Sawyer as clerks. The Exchange began on a very small scale, carrying but little stock, with counter space of only six feet. At the time, it had a patronage of about two hundred Corps Men and about four hundred patients. The stock was then valued at about $500, with but few varieties of merchandise. The sales amounted to approximately $35 a day.

In December, 1917, Lieut. Col. L. H. Hanson, Commanding Officer, took over the supervision of the Exchange. He ordered counter space enlarged, stock increased, more clerks and the installation of an efficient book-keeping system. Lieut. J. D. Collins succeeded as Exchange Officer, Sgt. E. P. Charais as Exchange Steward, with Pvt. A. Witbsky as book-keeper and assistant. Pvt. Ben Hammerand was added to the Exchange force. On Feb. 9, 1918, Lieut. Wm. K. Smith was re-appointed Exchange Officer. The business increased to an average of $100 daily. The profits of the Exchange were spent, by order of the Commanding Officer and the Exchange Council, of which Major Dillon was president, for better Mess Supplies and for the comforts of the enlisted personnel. Pvt. Wm. E. Harbour joined the busy Exchange force. During this month a first class modern barber shop with complete equipment and up-to-date fixtures, purchased with the profits of the Exchange, was installed. A baseball team was organized and furnished with complete equipment and uniforms. An efficient laundry agency was added to the Exchange for the accommodation of the enlisted personnel.

On May 1st, 1918, Lieut. George T. Van Zandt succeeded as Exchange Officer. Pvt. Lewis B. Knowlton was added to the Exchange as clerk. On July 3, 1918, Lieut. H. C. Denson succeeded as Exchange Officer, Sgt. Abe Witebsky as Steward, Harbour as book-keeper and Knowlton as stenographer and clerk. On August 2nd, Lieut. George McCann became Exchange Officer. During the month, instruments for the Hospital Jazz Band were purchased by the Exchange. In October, 1918, Lieut. J. N. Everheart took the Exchange duties. A periodical agency was installed. A tailor shop for the enlisted personnel and recently a butcher shop where meat can be purchased at reasonable prices, by officers, nurses and enlisted men, have been added to the activities of the Exchange. Additions to the force were Pvts. A. F. Hurt, G. H. Eastman and F. L. Weaver.

From the profits of the Post Exchange a beautiful Swimming Pool, featured elsewhere in this book, was constructed. The success of the Post Exchange is due to the management and supervision of Lieut. Col. L. H. Hanson, efficient officers in charge, stewards and their assistants. It is the aim of our Commanding Officer to furnish every possible convenience to the officers, nurses and enlisted men as well as the hospital's patients. The Post Exchange has always proven to be a great asset in this respect.

BARBER SHOP

A great feature and accommodation is the Post Exchange Barber Shop. It is a first class establishment, and absolutely sanitary. It is always ready to serve the officers and enlisted men. The best civilian barbers are employed and the most modern equipment is used. A visit to the Barber Shop at the Exchange is an absolute assurance that there will be no trouble passing the detachment inspector before the trip to town after duty.

BARBER SHOP

POST EXCHANGE

Hospital Mess

ON SEPTEMBER 24th, 1917, the U. S. Army Base Hospital, Camp Bowie, was opened. Ward A-4 was picked for the temporary location of the Mess Hall by Major Pariseau, who was the Commanding Officer at that time. The first meal was served in Ward A-4 on September 24th, 1917, the day the hospital was opened. For over a month, Sgt. Joseph F. Myers, Mess Sergeant at that time, and three cooks, toiled untiringly, day and most of the night, preparing food that was rationed to the personnel and the patients of the Base Hospital.

The Nurses and Officers were served in the same Mess Hall, but were served separately. The ward men carried the food to the patients in vessels of various description. To-day the equipment of the mess makes it possible for the patients to receive their food from sterilized aluminum containers which are wheeled to the wards in rubber-tired diet carts.

To-day the equipment of the Mess consists of three steam meat cookers, three vegetable cookers, three meat boilers, one cereal cooker and one elaborately constructed steam table. In place of the field ranges, we have two large Duplex ranges with natural ventilators. Two electric potato peelers, one Crescent dishwasher, two electric food choppers and many other minor accessories make the equipment complete and modern and are the delight of the cooks and kitchen police. The Mess Halls are equipped with aluminum dishes instead of the mess kits. The battery of urns, glowing with coppery sheen, supplies unexcelled coffee to the diners. Nineteen cooks, assisted by about fifty K. P.'s, prepare the meals under the direction of the present Mess Officer, Lieut. George McCann and his assistants, Sgts. Lee H. Burroughs, Aaron G. Woody, Guy W. Gregory and Frederick C. Ingram. Sgt. Burroughs succeeded Sgt. Myers, who was commissioned 1st. Lieut. and transferred to Camp Cody, Deming, New Mexico.

Beans and beef are fine when a man is well, but when sick he just lies in bed and longs for the goodies mother used to make. At the Base Hospital, there is someone to make them for him. We have three dietitians, Miss Gladys Bunt, Miss Nancy Kritzer and Miss Leona Mapes, who visit the various wards daily to learn what will tempt the patients. Of course they are not hungry, not until they are greeted with the savory odors from the dainties prepared by the dietitians in their various kitchens. Even the culinary skill of dear mother fades into a dim recollection then.

Jazz is served too, once a week at the Base Hospital Mess, by Sgt. Miller's unexcelled five-piece orchestra which is composed of men of the Medical Department. All are masters of their respective instruments.

DIET KITCHEN

MESS

KITCHEN

Officers' Mess

THE OFFICERS' MESS of the Base Hospital was organized under the supervision of Major Pariseau, Commanding Officer, September 24, 1917, in the rear of Ward A-4. Major Pariseau appointed Lieut. William K. Smith, M. C., Mess Officer and Joseph F. Meyers, Mess Sergeant. Sgt. Meyers had seen a number of years of service with some of the largest Messes in the army.

At the beginning, it was a very hard task, but with Sgt. Myers and his experience and able management, rapid improvement was made. We were feeding just seventeen officers, but the list grew so rapidly that it was soon necessary to seek larger accommodations. On November 3, 1917, the Mess was moved into what is now an Officers' Ward. In our new location, things went on nicely for a while, until an epidemic broke out in all army camps, which brought many new officers to this hospital. This again overcrowded us and it was necessary to obtain still larger quarters. By this time Lieut. Col. L. H. Hanson had succeeded Major Pariseau as Commanding Officer, bringing about other changes. Lieut. Smith was relieved by Lieut. J. D. Collins, M. C. as Mess Officer. Sgt. Meyers was retained as Mess Sergeant. Through the efforts of Lieut. Col. Hanson and Lieut. George McCann, the present Mess Officer, we soon had one of the finest Messes in the army, located in the center of the New Officers' Quarters, in the north-east corner of the hospital.

OFFICERS' MESS

The Nurses

TOO MUCH praise cannot be given to the Womanhood of America for the role the Nurses have played in the struggle for Democracy. Stepping forth with eagerness to render invaluable assistance to their country, with never weakening courage they have withstood the vicissitudes of war in a manner that can be paralleled only by true patriotic heroism.

In order to find these undaunted and heroic qualities, it is unnecessary for one to go any farther than the Nurses' Quarters at the Base Hospital. The first rays of this light of sunshine for the many who have been patients in the hospital during the war, broke forth on October 14th, 1917, with the arrival of the first nurse at the Base Hospital. Nurses continued to arrive until by December, eighty-five were laboring day and night on the task of caring for some two thousand patients, afflicted with pneumonia and measles and all the complications that accompany and follow these diseases. It was strenuous work for all during this period, known as the "Battle of Measles." It struck the hospital before it was completed or fully equipped, consequently many suffered hardships and worked overtime trying to cope with the situation. It was here that every branch, working in cooperation, displayed its colors, during this endurance test. None stood the test more nobly and emerged from this formidable situation deserving more credit, than did the Nurses. During the epidemic, Nurses were sent here from different units stationed in all parts of the United States, and, as these units were called for "overseas" duty, the members here were called to join their respective organizations. In all, ninety-four represent this Base Hospital in France, two hundred and thirty-four have reported here for duty, one hundred and eleven being the largest number on duty at any one time. Sixty-one still remain to care for the patients, many of whom are "overseas" patients.

In the early life of the hospital, there was a lack of places for entertainment and recreation. The Red Cross, however, started in on its good work and in short order accomplished it. Two fine recreation halls were built, one for the Corps Men and Convalescent Patients, the other for the Nurses. The Red Cross Convalescent Hall is featured elsewhere in this volume. The Nurses' Recreation Hall is a cozy building with every accommodation for rest and comfort. Here it is that peace and quiet, and recreation and pleasure is sought after a strenuous day. There is a large and choice library. Here the Nurses entertain and are entertained. Afternoon tea is served by the Red Cross. Weekly dances are given by the Nurses with music furnished by the Corps Men's Orchestra. Hallowe'en, Christmas and New Years were celebrated in accord with their respective customs.

NURSES' MESS

NURSES' QUARTERS

NURSES' RECREATION HALL

Enlisted Men's Barracks

THE SEVEN BARRACKS, well built and ventilated, are the homes of the enlisted personnel of the hospital. We have been housed in these barracks ever since the establishment of the hospital. It was thought at several times that we would have to move into tents to provide space for the use of patients coming from the organizations in camp and from the Detention Camp. But these were unusual times and happenings such as the measles and influenza epidemics. We would have gladly made way for the sick, during those strenuous periods in the history of the Base Hospital, but our Commanding Officer, being an exceptionally good manager, held the day by arranging for more room in the wards. He felt the importance of having the Corps Men kept in comfortable quarters, for substantial rest while off duty. He realizes that unmolested rest is essential for an efficient day on duty. So it was that in spite of the crowding of the available facilities during the epidemics, both patients and Corps men were comfortably quartered.

The center building will long be remembered by all members of the detachment as "Denny Myers" Mess Hall, for here it is that "Denny", the old soldier and admirer of rookies, named and used the "Ragged Cadet," "Apple Knocker," "Back to the farm" movement. He also had prepared for some who entered the hall dirty-faced, nose-bags, so that there would be no trouble for them to secure a good square meal.

In the front end of each of the barracks buildings, there are four rooms partitioned off for the use of noncommissioned officers, who have individual quarters. The remainder of the enlisted personnel are housed in large rooms, well lighted with electricity and well heated. The official capacity of each is fifty-six men.

The most interesting of the barracks buildings is the second one, for in it are the Detachment Office and the Post Office for the enlisted men. Both are drawing-cards. The boys do not always take advantage of the barracks for their rest and quiet and between the hours of six and twelve mid-night many go on pass to Fort Worth or Dallas. And this is possible only after they have passed inspection at the Detachment Office inspection window.

The barracks are the homes of the enlisted men and will long be remembered for the many pleasant hours spent in "bunk fatigue" and other indoor sports.

ENLISTED MEN'S BARRACKS

The Swimming Pool

ON ONE of the finest locations of the Base Hospital Grounds, the Swimming Pool is built. Work was started on August 6, 1918, on which day, the excavation was begun. The site was chosen near the Red Cross Convalescent Hall because of the natural advantages at that point. At this location there is a slope in the land, advantage of which was taken in designing the outlay of the pool. In the latter part of September the Base Hospital swimmers were sporting in the refreshing waters of the pool. To make swimming possible during the winter months, with protection against the elements for the swimmers, a building was constructed, enclosing the pool, and arrangements made for heating. This work was completed early in December. The project was ordered and directed by Lieut. Col. Hanson and Capt. Alexander and was constructed under the supervision of the Q. M. C., by the men of the Q. M. and Medical Detachments. The profits of the Post Exchange were used to defray all expenses.

As the pool holds 135,000 gallons of water it is a valuable asset, in an emergency, for fire-fighting purposes. It is located at the highest point of the hospital grounds. When the pool is drained, it makes an excellent auditorium, seating 1000 persons. It was used for this purpose on the visit of Billy Sunday to the Base Hospital, on which occasion the staff, personnel and patients of the Hospital assembled in the pool to listen to Billy Sunday and his party.

A few facts of interest concerning the structure of the pool follow. The walls are constructed of reenforced concrete, sixteen inches wide at the base and ten inches wide at the top, with extra reenforcement at the corners. The inside dimensions of the pool are thirty-five feet wide and eighty-five feet long. The depth slopes from four to eight feet. The floor is of concrete, six inches thick. There are twenty sky-lights in the roof and one in each shower and dressing room, which furnishes the building with fresh air and adequate ventilation as well as sufficient light during the day. At the north end of the building there are comfortable dressing rooms and showers. A walk, six feet wide, runs around the pool. This walk and the floors of the dressing rooms are carpeted with rubberoid. A well built spring-board has been placed at the deep end for fancy divers. The building is connected by a walk with the Red Cross corridor.

The plumbing system was installed by Sgt. Boland, Q. M. C., and the electrical system by Sgt. Redeker, Q. M. C. The illumination of the building makes possible the use of the building after dark, and as one passes the pool of an evening, a pretty sight is afforded. Pvt. Haley, Med. Dept., was a valuable assistant to Sgt. Carey in the construction work.

All will join in appreciation of the great project undertaken by our boys and the Swimming Pool at the Base Hospital is sure to prove its worth by affording many a refreshing swim to those who will take advantage of the cooling waters.

SWIMMING POOL

Red Cross Convalescent House

THE RED CROSS Convalescent House was formally opened by George W. Simmons, Manager of the Southwestern Division of the American Red Cross, Saturday afternoon, May 19, 1918. Present at the dedication were officers of the 36th Division, officers of the Base Hospital, Nurses, several hundred convalescents, Corps Men and civilians of note. Major Simmons gave an impressive speech; Lieut. Col. L. H. Hanson, Commanding Officer, Base Hospital, responded on behalf of the Base Hospital. Selections were given by the Smileage Quartette of the Sanitary Train, then stationed in camp.

The building was erected by the Red Cross at a cost of $19,000, to be used as a home and recreation center for convalescent patients, Corps men and "Overseas" wounded. It is constructed in the form of a cross, the roof painted red and the entire building being a symbol of a Red Cross. The interior furnishings, fire-places, easy chairs, writing rooms and game tables give the place a home-like appearance. One wing of the cross is occupied by a stage, complete with foot-lights, drop-curtain, dressing rooms and piano. Another wing constitutes the entrance, and the remaining two wings are partitioned off into writing rooms and library.

The American Library Association makes its home in the Red Cross Building and the shelves that line the hall with books well worth reading, are filled with volumes on Science, Psychology, Medicine, Travel, Essays, Poetry, Fiction, etc. Miss E. S. Goree of the American Library Association, is in charge. The building can be turned into a concert hall or a dancing pavilion in a very short time. Every attention has been paid to the amusement and comfort of the convalescents and enlisted men.

The building was opened for social purposes on July 1st, 1918, Miss Carrie Tilton, Army Nurse, in charge. On July 10, an excellent program was rendered by the New York Minstrels, in "Camp Follies of 1918." The troupe was composed entirely of soldiers. The Q. M. and Medical Detachment furnished the talent. Their efforts were greatly appreciated by the large attendance. On August 17, an unusually successful dance was given by the enlisted men in celebration of the first anniversary of the Base Hospital.

The influenza epidemic beginning the latter part of September, caused the house to be closed for social purposes. The building reopened on October 29, 1918, with Captain Edwards, Assistant Director of the Red Cross in charge and Miss Sadie S. Prosser as resident nurse. Early in 1919, Mrs. Edward H. Skinner, wife of a Medical Staff Major, now in France, became hostess. Dances by the Red Cross, by the noncommissioned officers and by the privates, and motion pictures, as well as vaudeville acts from the Majestic Theatre, are recent and current features.

At this time, "overseas" patients, their relatives and friends, are making good use of the hall for a comfortable resting and meeting hall, and with the many visitors, their gifts, flowers and good cheer, the atmosphere is one of gaiety and festivity.

Captain F. E. Edwards, Associate Field Director, A. R. C., is in charge of the Red Cross Hospital service, supplying the patients with stationery, stamps, games, entertainments and recreational activities, writing letters for them and communicating with their families in case of serious illness. Captain Albert D. Evans, Assistant Field Director, A. R. C., is in charge of the supply house and assistant to the Field Director of the camp. Mrs. E. H. Skinner, hostess of the Red Cross Convalescent House, makes the boys feel at home and arranges wholesome entertainment for them. Miss Edwin Sue Goree, Librarian, A. L. A., supplies the boys with books, magazines and newspapers. Mrs. Rogers C. Goree is Assistant Librarian and Hostess. Privates Mark Hackney, Earl S. Darrah and Benjamin Moschetti, members of the Medical Detachment, are detailed for duties at the Red Cross House.

Major C. W. Connery

THE HISTORY of the Red Cross work at this Hospital very naturally calls for a well deserved tribute to Major C. W. Connery, who was Field Director from November 30th, 1917, to December 15th, 1918. Major Connery took his appointment at a time when the Red Cross situation meant work, and he proved himself equal to the duties set before him by his organization. No responsibility was too great nor any task too small for the Major to handle and he did the double duty of smiling when he worked. It was in this way that he very honestly fell heir to the title of "The Sunshine Major." It was through him that the men of the emergency army at Camp Bowie first learned to honor and respect the name of the American Red Cross. He reflected the spirit of the great organization which he represented and was one of the best known and most popular officials in this camp.

When the epidemic diseases were at their height he kept in close touch with the Commanding Officer from early morning until late at night so that he would not miss a chance to render assistance in some way or other. During the winter months he was especially watchful and was always on the lookout for the patients and others who could be aided in any manner by the Red Cross.

It was one of his greatest pleasures to be able to turn over the Red Cross Convalescent House and Nurses' Recreation Hall to the Commanding Officer of the Hospital. These two buildings were constructed under his supervision and they have been the source of much pleasure to the convalescent patients, their relatives and friends, as well as the personnel on duty here.

In Major C. W. Connery we found a worthy representative of a magnificent organization, and a man whose acquaintanceship will bring many pleasant memories to those with whom he was associated during his service at Camp Bowie. May all go well with him, may his life glide on peaceful and quiet, with no more rain than may form a rainbow and no more clouds than may glisten in the sunshine, and may the Veiled One in heaven bring us to meet again.

MAJOR C. W. CONNERY, FIELD DIRECTOR
AMERICAN RED CROSS

RED CROSS PERSONNEL

RED CROSS CONVALESCENT RECREATION HOUSE

It Has Been Rumored

that

Lieut. Ziegler, after filing 144 applications for discharge, is now delighted with the Service and has asked for an appointment in the Regular Army.

that

Capt. Ross, that even-tempered and debonair young officer who hails from the Lone Star State, was greatly perturbed recently when he heard that the U. S. was declaring war on the Mexicans—to make them take Texas back.

that

Capt. Edwards, the Red Cross Theatrical man has been asked to manage the Byers Theatre.

that

Mrs. Skinner is writing a hand-book on Army Administration which will enable us to lay aside our time-worn manuals and regulations.

that

Capt. Sullivan has written an article for his home paper concerning his experiences in the Army and has very appropriately called it "Around the clock with a small town Doc."

BREAKING IN FROM WHAT CHEER.

Commanding General: (on inspection) to new Ward Surgeon, "What's your name?"

New W. S. (taking out a cigar) "Seely, sir, from What Cheer, Iowa, sir --just been in a week sir. Have a seat, sir, everything's fine and,—"

Commanding General: "And what's YOUR official capacity?"

Lieut. Seely: (scratching his musatche) "Oh, about 6 pints."

(Drinks on the C. G.)

LOOKING 'EM OVER AT THE BYERS

NOT ONE OF THE "57 VARIETIES"

THE SUNSHINE MAJOR

ONE OFFICER LOOKS FOR BIRDS' NESTS

WOULDN'T IT BE FUNNY

if
Capt. Hickson parted his hair in the middle

if
You saw Judge Unsell in a bathing suit

if
Major Jepson rode a bicycle

if
Lieut. Seely sang tenor

if
Capt. Edwards should join a theatrical chorus

if
Capt. Josewich had red hair

if
Major Greenway should take the measles

if
Capt. W. K. Smith were a traffic cop.

A. W. O. L.

The M. P.'s have recently had a terrible tragedy to be recorded in the annals of their regime at Bowie. Miss Peggy Louise Hansone, well known in official circles at the Hospital, went A. W. O. L. and could not be located by the military sleuths. Peggy is a modest, brown-eyed debutante of the Howard Chandler Christy type with long silken curls and dainty feet. She is a confirmed naturalist and is especially fond of birds.

Peggy returned home, of her own free will, with no excuses to offer.

Things to be Doubted

Sgt. Miller has been asked to accept a place on the Faculty of Columbia University as instructor of Sociology and Ethics.

Sgt. Carey has an uncle by the name of Stern.

Sgt. Lambert was a member of the House of Lords.

Sgt. Abe can talk with his hands tied behind him.

Pvt. Brinker, age 25, has had only 16 years at college.

Sgt. Burroughs resigned his enlistment to get a commission.

No more beans to be served on Saturday. No more fish on Friday.

Sgt. Hiatt was a dancing instructor in civil life.

Pvt. Sancturi is a "kid brother" of Marco Polo.

Pvt. Langlinois has challenged Jess Willard to a bout.

The next president of the United States will be Sgt. Manoushagain.

Sgt. Woody took first prize in public speaking and oratory at Cooks' and Bakers' School.

Pvt. Jenkins is called "shorty."

Sgt. Worman was severely wounded in the battle of Bunker Hill.

The Base Hospital is about to be demobilized.

Sgt. Estes volunteered to call roll.

Sgt. Dannelley obtained a sixty day furlough in order to attend the services incident to the christening of his wife's sister's husband's nephew.

Pvt. Unger has been discharged from the service.

Sgt. Brown has planned a series of lectures on Prohibition and Woman Suffrage.

Sgt. Hansen is a self-confessed woman hater.

A committee of privates recently interviewed the Captain relative to having First Call sounded at 5:30 A. M.

Reveille and Roll Call have been abolished.

When Shakespeare first staged Hamlet, Pvt. Ward played the role of Ophelia.

Sgt. Benson has asked for a discharge on the ground that he is needed at home to feed mother's gold-fish.

Sgts. Burkhart and Huff were seen in front row seats either at the Pershing or the Lyric, for several Sundays.

Sgt. Arbuckle has been restricted for fifteen days for running the Guard Line.

The Q. M. has a supply of new shoes on hand.

The Canteen is giving away a Stetson hat to every purchaser of a Lovera cigar.

Sgt. Redeker became a "Dip" Carrier because he changed winter socks for summer.

Sgt. Dennis L. Boland and Sgt. Thomas N. Carroll are of German parentage.

Sgt. "Tennessee" Brown was born and reared in "Noo York."

Sgt. Vaud Travis spends all his time off duty reading Milton or Chaucer, and has written a new pamphlet entitled, "The Girls worry me not".

Fort Worth has added to its number of attractions three saloons and four cabarels.

Sgt. Lund arrived at the Mess Hall on time yesterday.

We can't find a "knock" for Sgt. Jarvis.

3
SERGEANT MAJOR SYMPTOMS

Sgt. Arbuckle, our Top Sergeant, has the reputation of never being at loss for an answer. One of the officers made a bet with a brother officer, that he would in less than twenty-four hours ask Sgt. Arbuckle a question that would baffle him. Sgt. Arbuckle accompanied the officer on his rounds, in the course of which the Mess Hall was inspected. Pointing to a large can of water just commencing to boil, the officer said, "Why does that water only boil around the edges of the can and not in the center?" "The water around the edge, Sir," replied Sgt. Arbuckle, "is for the men on guard—they have their breakfast half an hour before the remainder of the Detachment."

WHO WAS FLATTERED?

Sergeants Worman and Doughty were at a dance. A young lady approached them and modestly inquired, "Are you men brothers? I have a dance with one of you but you look so much alike that I don't know who is who."

Sgt. Burkhart is our "bashful boy." For nearly two weeks he allowed a pretty picture postcard, addressed to him, to remain in the mail box, rather than claim it, just because it expressed a sweet sentiment and was addressed in a feminine hand writing.

One of the boys tells a story on Sgt. Rupert Berry. While in town with his girl, they passed a booth where fresh pop-corn was for sale. "My! Berry, ain't that nice?" said the girl. "Ain't what nice?" asked Sgt. Berry. "Why the pop-corn, it smells so awfully good," replied the girl. "It does smell kind of fine," drawled Sgt. Berry; "we will walk a little closer so you can get a better smell."

"Miss Day will now favor us with a vocal solo, accompanied by the "milk-man," Sgt. Major Miller of the Base Hospital." This was the announcement made at a recent Kiwanis Club banquet at the Metropolitan, at which Sgt. Miller had drawn the prize, consisting on this occasion, of three dollars' worth of milk tickets donated by the Alta Vista Creamery Co.

An attractive little nurse rushed into the Registrar's Office and handed a package to Frank Harrison with a half dollar with which to pay the postage. She was in a hurry and told him he could keep the change. Harrison and Burlson matched to see who would get the change. Burlson won. An hour later as he returned from the post office, Burlson was asked by Harrison, "How much change did you get?" "Change! The darned thing cost me 17 cents," grunted Burlson.

WHERE IGNORANCE IS BLISS

Frank Powell hailed a passing auto and climbed in. A little further down the road he passed Sergeants Sawyer and Huff, walking. "Come on, have a ride," called Powell, and the car slowed down. When the car reached the city the boys climbed out, and as Powell started to leave, he turned to the driver and said, "Much obliged for the ride, old fellow!"

"Much obliged? How about the "six bits" for this ride. Can't you read that sign?"

The sign on the wind-shield read "Service Car," but Frank could not read.

"I thought you were just giving us a lift," said Powell, who had only fifteen cents in his pocket.

"You asked these fellows to ride, now you pay," insisted the driver.

The two sergeants dug down in their O. D.'s for the price of the three fares and went their way.

Sgt. Raymond Stanford is a lawyer in civil life. Very often he has told of the wonderful law-suits in which he participated. We received the following speech from one of his home friends, made by Stanford in behalf of his client whose cow had been killed by a train. "If the train had been running as it should have been run, or if the bell had been rung as it should have been rung, or if the whistle had been blown as it should have been blown, both of which did neither, the cow would not have been injured when she was killed."

ONE LOOK WAS ENOUGH.

Among the early arrivals at the hospital from the Detention Camp, was a colored patient by the name of Senator Griffen. His name attracted the attention of Sgt. Jimmy Griffen, who asked Sgt. Burkhart to let him know when the man came to the Registrar's Office for discharge. On the morning that the man was marked "duty", "Griff" came in and looked the gathering of shining black faces over.

"Senator Griffen, stand up!" and in almost the same breath he snapped "Sit down!" as he saw the physiognomy of his man rising before him—the worst looking one in the crowd.

The Guard House

THE GUARD HOUSE is a squatty, square-shaped bungalow type building. It has a rather odd cupola which serves both as a decorative and a ventilating medium. The Guard House is divided into compartments consisting of a reception room, in which congregate the main guards while off duty, to relate stories of their adventures, real or otherwise, a room for the Sergeant of the Guard and a room in which the prisoners stay for a good part of the time they are under sentence. The building has electric lights, a telephone, stoves and other furnishings and in a sense, has many of the comforts of life, making it a pleasant place in which to stay. It is well-built and compact, admirably suited and located for its purpose.

There are two main sentinels at the Guard House. They belong to the heavy-weight class. One dislikes intensely to buy cigarettes and the other occasionally likes to engage the prisoners in conversation. They are in spite of these little failings, fine men and make excellent guards.

Naturally, there are prisoners. Many of them became so, because they could not resist the lure of wine, woman and song. These three possessed a charm all their own. Then, some tried to run over the main guard, something quite impossible to accomplish. There are still others to whom the Guard House just naturally appealed. Many a good soldier does not feel as if he has been thoroughly educated in a military sense, unless he shall have completed a period of training in the Base Hospital "Detention Home."

Captain J. Earl Alexander is Commander of the Guard. At night, Carlton is Sergeant of the Guard and Kelby is day Sergeant. Except in case of emergency, about all Carlton does in the afternoon is to salute the Officer of the Day and say something like, "Sir, the Guard is formed," at the same time doing several "about faces" in order to make the proceeding formal and snappy. In the morning he renders his report. As a rule he has nothing to do during the night except to stay awake and see if he can catch some guard "off-guard." If it be possible, Kelby does even less than Carlton. He answers the telephone and shouts "Attention!" when an officer enters. If a prisoner is to be sent for, Kelby orders a "chaser" after him. Otherwise it would be dangerous—for the prisoner. He also sees that all restricted men "saw wood with a wood-saw Esau Wood saw, saw wood."

"Halt! Who's there?" may be heard very often during the night. If these words do not greet the ears of the listener, then it will be "Corporal of the Guard, Post No. 9." Some of these calls are loud enough to awaken all persons who are within the limits or even near the Base Hospital. Others are not quite so squawky in character. Calls of either type need alarm no one for they are made by members of the Hospital Guard. They have played an important part and are always on hand, cloudy or fair, cold or warm, ever keeping watch over life and property.

JUDGE UNSWELL DEALS OUT JUSTICE

— HE ALWAYS MADE YOU SWEAR.

IN "GUARD" WE TRUST

SOMEBODY COMING!

I WANT TO GO HOME TO MA!

I WANT TO GET MARRIED

I WANT A NEW PAIR OF SHOES

I HAVE A $400.-JOB WAITING

CAN I GET OFF RESTRICTIONS I WILL BE GOOD!

I WANT A 1-0'CLOCK - PASS!

DISCHARGE? YES JUST PUT IN YOUR APPLICATION WITH TWO AFFIDAVITS

I WISH TO SPEAK TO THE COLONEL

REQUEST FOR DISCHARGE

REQUEST FOR DISCHARGE

REQUEST FOR DISCHARGE

REQUEST FOR DISCHARGE

"A FLANKING MOVEMENT AT DAYBREAK."
(Detachment Office)

“Bowie Jazz”

At the Base Hospital

MUSIC hath charms! Jazz Band music hath special charms. The Bowie Jazz Band at the Base Hospital was first organized on May 1, 1918. At that time it had as its musicians, enlisted men from all parts of Camp Bowie, representing various organizations of the 36th Division and Camp. The nucleus, however, consisted of Base Hospital men in the person of Sgt. Gabriel S. Youngwood, Corporal Colin T. Campbell, Q. M. Corps, Sgt. Jack Long and Bugler Carl Stewart, Medical Dept. The men who came from organizations outside the Base Hospital brought the Organization to a total of ten Jazz Boys. With the movement of troops from camp, the personnel of the band changed from time to time over the period of ten months of its existence. At the present time all the men in the band are stationed at the Base Hospital.

The services of the band were sought for many celebrated occasions. Some of the events at which the boys played their part, are listed here: General Greble's Reception and Dance, Colonel Roscoe's Reception and Dance, Colonel Hasson's Reception and Dance, at the Rivercrest Country Club. Burney's Fair and Dance for the Red Cross, at the Burney Mansion. Base Hospital Officers' Dance, Base Hospital Nurses' Dances, Base Hospital Non-Com's Dance, Carruthers Field Officers' Dance, at Carruthers Field, Taliaferro Gymkhana, at Taliaferro Field.

Functions for Red Cross, Y. M. C. A., Knights of Columbus and Jewish Welfare Board.

On February 8th, 1919, the Jazz Band visited a Convention at Tulsa, Oklahoma, under the auspices of the Chamber of Commerce and the Kiwanis Club of Fort Worth.

Here they are, every one an ardent follower of Jazz Music:

SGT. GABRIEL S. YOUNGWOOD,	Director, At the Piano	BUGLER CARL STEWART	Cornet and Trombone
SGT. JACK LONG,	Banjo-Uke	PVT. GUY McDONALD,	Cello
CORP. COLIN T. CAMPBELL,	Drums, Bells, Traps	SGT. "ZEP" WATROUS,	Singers and
PVT. EMANUEL DOHAN,	Violin	PVT. WALTER M. UNGER,	Dancers
PVT. I. RUDIN,	Violin

MILLER'S JAZZ PHIENDS

The history of Jazz Band Music at the Base Hospital is not complete without an account of Sergeant Major Byron C. Miller's "Jazz Phiends." The band was organized in December, 1918, and since that time has played for many functions at Camp Bowie and the neighboring Aviation Fields.

The band has played for dances given by the Officers, Nurses and Corps Men at the Base Hospital and has entertained at the Mess. The men who dispense the "Jazz" are masters of their respective instruments. Their popularity is surpassed only by their modesty, in not submitting their picture for publication in this volume.

SGT. MAJOR BYRON C. MILLER, Director, At the Piano	SGT. ARTHUR WORMAN, Drums, Traps
SGT. ERNEST C. AINSWORTH, Trombone	BUGLER CARL STEWART, Cornet
PVT. EMAUNEL DOHAN, Violin	PVT. GUY McDONALD, Cello

Stewart, Dohan and MacDonald have given their talents to both Bands at the Base Hospital. Pvt. Phil Fowler is the vocal soloist for the Jazzphiend Organization and has entertained on several occasions.

JAZZ BAND

Indiana Inn

THE STRUCTURE on the opposite page is located in the residential district of the Bowie "Base" and is known as Indiana Inn. It has no connection with the Canteen or the Good Cheer Cottage as the name might imply; nor is it supported by the Righteous Reformers of the Awful Army. However it has, at times, been designated as the judgment seat for the settlement of such questions of sociological research as Gas movements and Badger propaganda. It was founded in the early "teens" of this settlement by one of the first of the commissioned colonists, (who ventured forth from Indiana) at the time when this land was still claimed by coyotes and National Guardsmen.

The founder, being a stranger and a little shy of the horned toads, sand storms and oil phantoms, conceived the idea of erecting a dwelling of hibernation where he could baffle these Texas travellers and, also, from behind the walls of wire screening, poke fun (and broom straws) at the pesky mosquitoes, armed for battle.

To the ordinary onlooker the Inn appears to be a large brick chimney, a national flag and many gallons of green paint, with a gravel walk on either side. Upon approaching this gravel walk, leading to the door, (if the time is right) the strains of some popular fox trot, an Al Jolson record or mighty Caruso solo, a la Victor ($7.00 each) may lead one to believe that there is something behind the said brick chimney which is not visible from Texas. Upon entering the doubtful domicile the visitor realizes he has been camouflaged. He opens his eyes, takes in the comforts of life and wonders if this can really be war. Such Wartime Wonders loom up as a cozy fire place, shaded lights, oriental draperies, a Victrola and cabinet, a fancy enameled water cooler, an electric stove, chinaware, willow furniture, photographs, fraternal designs, musical instruments, and a full set of athletic equipment, and in fact everything essential to a man's happiness with the exception of the Elusive Fluid, John Barleycorn—(Indiana being a dry state the founder of this haven is never homesick.)

The Inn has been a popular rendezvous during the Battle of Bowie and has entertained hosts of unusual characters. Prominent among these are war veterans from Louisville, Ky., Hot Springs, Ark., Birmingham, Ala., Detroit, Mich., Chicago, Ill., and San Francisco, Cal. The advent into our midst of many official "lights" late of Bohemian circles has been answered at Indiana Inn by various forms of afternoon teas conspicuous by the absence of good tea and general formality.

Guests are welcome at the Inn between the hours of 4 P. M. and 5:30 P. M. at the regular Monday Open House, which is held on Tuesday or Wednesday and announced Thursday or Friday, Saturday being a half holiday and Sunday the Sabbath.

Walk right in!

INDIANA INN

THE CAPSULE

Roster of Officers Since the Opening of the Base Hospital

LIEUT. COL. LOUIS H. HANSON, M. C., U. S. Army, Commanding Officer

MAJORS

Abell, Irvin
Albee, George C.
Boettiger, Carl
Day, George H.
Dillon, Ira H.
Finney, Harry F.
Flynn, James G.
Fryar, Thomas V.
Gambrell, J. D.

1136 So. 2nd St., Louisville, Ky.
South Orange, New Jersey
New Paltz, New York
800 East Main, New Albany, Ind.
Auburn, Nebraska
1560 Vine St., Denver, Colo.
2111 29th St., Galveston, Texas
U. S. Army
(Attached)

Greenway, James C.
Jepson, William
Leighton, William E.
Loos, Harry C.
May, William R.
McNaught, Francis H.
Pariseau, George E.
Rodman, John E.
Wilson, H. T.

Greenwich, Conn.
Jepson Hospital, Sioux City, Iowa
U. S. Army
721 Euemo Row, Coronado, Calif.
129 So. LaSalle St., Chicago, Ill.
715 Fillmore St., Denver, Colo.
U. S. Army
189 Summit Ave., Summit, N. J.
U. S. Army

CAPTAINS

Aitken, Charles F.
Alexander, J. Earl
Alyn, Paul R.
Anderson, Robert B.
Ainsworth, Horace T.
Blakely, Rupert M.
Bledsoe, Robert E. B.
Boyne, Walter W.
Bunting, Josiah T.
Carson, Harry R.
Clark, John F.
Cleaves, Prentice B.
Colwell, Howard S.
Connor, Theodore H.
Cook, Willis G.
Davis, Amplias W.
Day, Earnest F.
Deeson, H. D.
Denham, Cecil C.
Dewey, James E.
Dixon, Charles D.
Faucett, Paul H.
Fee, Arch G.
Fiedling, George A.
Fitzpatrick, William W.
Fox, Walter H.
Hahn, Lewis A.
Hale, James W.
Harris, James G.
Hilblits, William
Hickson, Joseph H.
Jackson, Thomas T.
Jenne, Byron H.
Josewich, Alexander
Kennedy, John E.
Kiehnhoff, George W.
Lebkicher, Wellington A.
Lockwood, Thomas F.

3423 Woodland Ave., Phila. Pa.
2049 Park Ave., Indianapolis, Ind.
Waverley, Ill.
Sterling Place, Brooklyn, N. Y.
922 No. 17th St., Waco, Texas
Coalhill, Ark.
Taylor, Texas
722 No. 9th St., East St. Louis, Ill.
Philadelphia, Pa.
Sheridan, Wyoming
4919 Sheridan Road, Chicago, Ill.
Cherokee, Iowa
656 Main St., Worcester, Mass.
U. S. Army
650 5th Ave., Fort Worth, Texas
Mortons Gap, Ky.
Kingman, Kans.
U. S. Army
Tador, Iowa
204 Elmwood Ave., Topeka, Kans.
11 Hillcrest Ave., San Antonio, Texas
Columbia, Tenn.
U. S. Army
Sawville, Calif.
Paris, Texas
Waucoma, Iowa
Guthrie, Okla.
1520 Washington St., Waco, Texas
Muskogee, Okla.
Charleston, Mo.
724 Penn. Ave., Fort Worth, Texas
606 Moore Bldg., San Antonio, Texas
103 Bethune Ave., Detroit, Mich.
2505 Chicago Ave., Minneapolis, Minn.
Due West, S. C.
485 Cecelia Ave., Los Angeles, Calif.
1355 Perkiomier Ave., Reading, Penn.
Austin, Texas

Lohse, John L.
Ludwig, Frederick
Lynch, Huddle
Martin, William
Matthews, Walter J.
Moore, Tarleton
Nevitt, Rollin Roy
Ogburn, Herbert H.
Orton, Henry B.
Osborne, Henry M.
Petch, Thomas R.
Pfieffenberger, Mather
Pirtle, Robert T.
Prather, Hugh E.
Price, John T.
Quigley, William J.
Rathburn, Grover C.
Reed, Stephen J. H.
Reeves, Arthur F.
Roberts, Vernon
Rogers, Orville F.
Rosenthal, Morris I.
Ross, Nealie E.
Sawyer, Prince E.
Schenck, Charles C.
Scupham, George W.
Sigler, Glenn V.
Smith, William K.
Smith, Samuel C.
Stewart, Thomas H.
Sullivan, Francis J.
Tynes, Achilles
Unsell, Joseph E.
Waggoner, Eathan E.
Weidman, Otto G.
Withers, Isaac A.
Young, Willis E.

80 Monte Vista Ave., Oakland, Calif.
1815 Mulberry St., St. Joseph, Mo.
859 S. 5th St., Salt Lake City, Utah
U. S. Army
Abilene, Texas
5015 Ross Ave., Dallas, Texas
Mildred, Kans.
Kemersville, N. C.
312 Mt. Prospect Ave., Newark, N. J.
Colver, Ind.
901 Mim St., Eureka, Calif.
453 Bluff St., Alton, Ill.
Louisville, Ky.
Hickman, Ky.
Harrodsburg, Ky.
612 No. Parkside Ave., Chicago, Ill.
1228 Nye Ave., Fremont, Neb.
38 Moyston St., Schenectady, N. Y.
191 Woodfin St., Ashville, N. C.
1556 5th Ave. E., Cedar Rapids, Iowa
465 Washington St., Dorchester, Mass.
328 West Berry St., Fort Wayne, Ind.
Carthage, Texas
2020 Nebraska St., Sioux City, Iowa
714 Spright Ave., Waco, Texas
Homewood, Ill.
Highmore, S. Dak.
Malvern, Ark.
819 Barrett Ave., Louisville, Ky.
37 Gordon Place, Atlanta, Ga.
5896 Belmont Ave., St. Louis, Mo.
126 No. August St., Staunton, Va.
Louisiana, Mo.
Tonkawa, Okla.
1491 Chapel St., New Haven, Conn.
908 Henderson St., Fort Worth, Texas
3620 Blaine Ave., St. Louis, Mo.

1ST. LIEUTENANTS

Absher, Drius C.
Autrey, Alfred R.
Babcock, Troy L.
Baker, William A.

U. S. Army
Eagle Lake, Texas
Parnell Ave., Fort Wayne, Ind.
Belle Rue, Ill.

Barnes, Benjamin S.
Bartholomew, Erick K.
Bartlett, Clifford L.
Battey, Percy B.

Hebron, Ind.
2600 Division St., Chicago, Ill.
U. S. Army
Box 56, Independence, Iowa

THE CAPSULE

FIRST LIEUTENANTS (Continued)

Beard, Frank G.
 Beckner, Ernest J.
 Bernard, Holman
 Biggs, James B.
 Blackwell, George T.
 Boone, Jesse F.
 Brooks, Cleveland H.
 Brown, Arthur C. F.
 Brown, John H.
 Bumgardt, Alfred H.
 Busby, Charles B.
 Calhoun, Charles E.
 Callaway, John T.
 Calvin, Warren D.
 Canfield, Harry E.
 Chaput, Lucien R.
 Chilcott, Israel H.
 Cary, Walter
 Cleveland, Andrew H.
 Collins, Joseph C.
 Council, Murand
 Crutcher, Albert B.
 Culbertson, W. F.
 Cunningham, Robert S.
 Davis, Calvin S.
 Davis, Charles E.
 Deason, Giles A.
 Denson, Hugh C.
 Dickson, Thomas A.
 Dille, Harry H.
 Ellsworth, Elijah M.
 Ersner, Mathew A.
 Everhart, Joe M.
 Fay, Harold W.
 Fite, William P.
 Foster, Marion H.
 Gilbert, Taylor C.
 Gorham, Frank B.
 Greenberg, Louis
 Gregg, Orin R.
 Halsey, Henry A.
 Hand, William C.
 Harris, Charlton S.
 Hearin, Willard C.
 Hesser, George E.
 Hickman, Clarence C.
 Hodges, Frank C.
 Holleran, Walter N.
 Hughes, John J.
 Hunt, Samuel L.
 Ireland, Edwin Jackson, William
 Johns, Lemeal J.
 Johnson, William M.
 Jones, Elmer W.
 Justin, Arthur W.
 Kelly, Thomas B.
 Kinsley, Arthur
 Kitchen, John C.
 Kitchens, Lewis W.
 Kleinman, Francis
 Kuntz, Wesley W.
 Levy, Robert L.
 Maitland, Mo.
 Goodlin, Kans.
 U. S. Army
 1429 6th Ave., Huntington, W. Va.
 Gorman, Texas
 Lagro, Ind.
 Camden, Ark.
 U. S. Army
 Mansfield, Ark.
 Cardill, Okla.
 Brooklyn, Iowa
 Siloam Springs, Ark.
 100 So. Charles St., Birmingham, Ala.
 312 West Wayne St., Fort Wayne, Ind.
 2162 2nd Ave., S. Minneapolis, Minn.
 7 Altomount St., Haverhill, Mass.
 7716 N. Ashland Ave., Chicago, Ill.
 120 Alta Vista, Dubuque, Iowa
 1825 College Ave., E. St. Louis, Ill.
 Arlington, Texas
 605 Caddo St., Cleburne, Texas
 Mineral Wells, Texas
 1422 Prospect Ave., Kansas City, Mo.
 Anderson, S. C.
 105 Brookline St., Atlanta, Ga.
 Woodward, Okla.
 Henderson, Texas
 3440 Norwood Blvd., Birmingham, Ala.
 3510 Yoakum Blvd., Houston, Texas
 R. F. D. No. 4, Des Moines, Iowa
 69 No. Dorant St., Kingston, Penn.
 1518 N. 6th St., Philadelphia, Penn.
 Pottshoro, Texas
 3904 Hartford St., St. Louis, Mo.
 Muskogee, Okla.
 Alderson, Okla.
 Irving, Texas
 U. S. Army
 4516 12th Ave., Brooklyn, N. Y.
 Alva, Okla.
 67 Riley Ave., Wyoming, Ohio
 Hartley, Iowa
 422 Woodward Bdg, Birmingham, Ala.
 Canton, Texas
 U. S. Army
 3266 Dudley St., Lincoln, Neb.
 Greenville, N. C.
 1846 Crenshaw Blvd. Los Angeles, Cal.
 U. S. Army
 612 West 5th St., Fort Worth, Texas
 Cold Water, Kans.
 Sioux City, Iowa
 Tallapoosa, Ga.
 1121 Maison Blanch, New Orleans, La.
 Wellington, Texas
 Humboldt St., Union Hill, N. J.
 429 S. Lake St., Fort Worth, Texas
 Liberal, Kans.
 320 West 13th Ave., Denver, Colo.
 Sarah, Miss.
 Hebron, Ind.
 Baylis, Ill.
 116 West 91st St., New York City
 Lewis, John R.
 Linett, Joseph N.
 Macomber, Harold G.
 Magoun, Charles E.
 Martin, Thomas
 Maxey, Kenneth F.
 McClain, Franklin C.
 McKinley, Chauncey A.
 McLaurin, John G.
 McVey, George M.
 Miller, Bronlow E.
 Mitchell, Crairemont H.
 Mitchell, Thomas A.
 Monroe, Charles W.
 Moore, Charles H.
 Mott, Albert G.
 Murr, Paul A.
 Newton, William D.
 Overton, Robert C.
 Pegrant, Robert A.
 Pickler, Howard S.
 Price, William H.
 Priessnan, Frank A.
 Prothro, Ernest W.
 Purcell, Georgs W.
 Raab, Frank H.
 Reynolds, Fred D.
 Reynolds, Robert L.
 Richards, William D.
 Robinson, Michael
 Rogers, Albert C.
 Ross, Rex Roy
 Russell, Franklin H.
 Ruth, Roy F.
 Sanders, Frank G.
 Sanders, Harry C.
 Schmenck, George F.
 Schelter, Louis J.
 Schumaker, James B.
 Scott, Russell P.
 Seely, Charles S.
 Sherman, William L. R.
 Small, Victory R.
 Smith, Harry M.
 Smith, Hester B.
 Stanford, James B.
 Tinslar, George W.
 Turner, Grover C.
 Van Zandt, George T.
 Way, Charles E.
 Welch, John L.
 West, Walter E.
 West, Willis K.
 Wheeler, Albert L.
 Wieneke, Clarence H.
 Wilson, O. W.
 Wolford, Robert B.
 Wolfers, Herbert S.
 Woods, Lee C.
 Woodward, Frank A.
 Young, A. M.
 Ziegler, John E. B.
 Gainesville, Texas
 1351 Edway, Brooklyn, N. Y.
 1415 Welton St., Denver, Colo.
 Sioux City, Iowa
 Moscow, Penn.
 U. S. Army
 Butler's Landing, Tenn.
 350 Lula Ave., Wichita, Kans.
 5021 Ross Ave., Dallas, Texas
 U. S. Army
 60 Dornot St., Kingston, Penn.
 Leon, Iowa
 1816 Wood Ave., Colorado Spgs, Colo.
 Arthur, Ill.
 1432 Mel. Crescent, Birmingham, Ala.
 162 Moriss St., Yonkers, N. Y.
 Crestoline, Ohio
 U. S. Army
 (Attached) Cleburne, Texas
 Myrtle, Miss.
 Smith's Center, Kans.
 9 Cleveland St., Charleston, S. C.
 Basco, Ill.
 U. S. Army
 263 Main St., Tuscon, Arizona
 Beleville, Ill.
 Brundidge, Ala.
 Waterville, Kans.
 Rockwood, Tenn.
 307 West Jackson St., Muncie, Ind.
 Ocell, Texas
 201 East Park Ave., San Antonio, Tex.
 Butonia, Miss.
 Box 806, Upland, Calif.
 1928 Hurley Ave., Fort Worth, Texas
 171 West 12th St., New York, N. Y.
 644 Nocia Ave., Ontario, Calif.
 943 Trumbull Ave., Chicago, Ill.
 Miami, Ind.
 U. S. Army
 What Cheer, Iowa
 1126 Charlotte St., Detroit, Mich.
 U. S. Army
 Koplan, La.
 300 Willbionet St., Dallas, Texas
 1240 Union Ave., Memphis, Tenn.
 Mosca, Colo.
 U. S. Army
 Granger, Texas
 Wahoo, Neb.
 395 Bunker Hill, Charleston, Mass.
 Trenton, Mo.
 Oklahoma City, Okla.
 233 E. LaFayette Ave., Balitmore, Md.
 1009 Sacramento Ave., Chicago, Ill.
 (Attached) Sylcauga, Ala.
 (Attached) U. S. Army
 879 19th St., Milwaukee, Wis.
 515 1st Place, Birmingham, Ala.
 610 5th Ave., S. Great Falls, Mont.
 (Attached) U. S. Army
 525 Summit Ave., Eau Claire, Wis.

2ND. LIEUTENANTS

Autrey, Alfred R.
 McCann, George

Eagle Lake, Texas
 1021 Roberts St., Augusta, Ga.

Paden, John K.
 Stauffer, Frank M.

2312 Prince St., Berkeley, Calif.
 Baylis, Ill.

THE CAPSULE

Roster — Enlisted Men

Detachment, Medical Dept.

HOSPITAL SERGEANTS

Waller, Thure
Miller, Byron C.

Kansas City, Mo.
2531 3rd Ave., Altoona, Penn.

Arbuckle, Charles H.
Jarvis, Archie W.

917 No. C St., Muskogee, Okla.
1812 Capitol Ave., Omaha, Neb.

SERGEANTS FIRST CLASS

Huff, Harry T.
Kelby, Gjert
Hur, Ben
Henkelman, Harry H.
Berry, Rupert L.
Knoff, Clarence B.
Herz, Felix
Burkhart, Homer
Manoushagain, Nerses

Rockwell City, Iowa
Fairview Hospital, Minneapolis, Minn.
432 S. Broadway, Greenville, Ohio
Hutchinson, Minn.
501 N. Herron St., Princeton, Ill.
904 N. Laverne Ave., Chicago, Ill.
312 10th St., Goldfield, Colo.
Vanos, Okla.
New York City, N. Y.

Haskett, Leslie
Horney, DeWitt C.
Howarth, Ervin M.
Murray, William J.
Dannelley, Paul E.
Travis, Vaud A.
McQuillan, Joseph A.
Cummings, Guy L.

2209 Madison Ave., Anderson, Ind.
Sugar City, Colo.
1536 8th Ave., Greeley, Colo.
Lamontz, Iowa
717 S. Ash, McPherson, Kans.
Gen. Del., Fallon, Nev.
Logan, Mont.
R. F. D. No. 1, Burlington, Wash.

SERGEANTS

Hlatt, Harlan N.
Dragoo, Vilas W.
Estes, William B.
Eusminger, Samuel W.
Benson, Raymond A.
Brown, Thomas R.
Frick, Peter N.
Radebaugh, Olin D.
Lambert, Charles L.
Woody, Aaron G.
Witebsky, Abe
Hansen, Martin A.
Carlton, Merrill L.
Feyereisen, Andrew J.
Scott, Shirley Z.
Stanford, Raymond C.
West, Leslie
Gutzler, DeMotte W.
Spellman, Clark E.
Templeton, George W.
Ingram, Frederick C.
Taggart, Ren D.

Council Bluffs, Iowa
Creighton, Neb.
Conway Springs, Kans.
Holton, Ind.
Freemont, Neb.
Henderson, Tenn.
1101 W. Iowa St., Evansville, Ind.
1320 Logan Ave., Danville, Ill.
Record Bldg., Lewiston, Ill.
Afton, Okla.
610 8th Ave., N. Minneapolis, Minn.
623 Wash. Ave., Minneapolis, SE, Minn.
Ringgold, Texas
Greene, Iowa
Orient, Iowa
Canton, Texas
114 Michigan Ave., Pueblo, Colo.
1439 L St., Fresno, Calif.
603 Elm St., Atlantic, Iowa
209 N. Eastern Ave., Joliet, Ill.
7403 Penn. Ave., Pittsburg, Pa.
815 S. Independence Ave., Enid, Okla.

Faherty, Charles G.
Worman, Arthur
Griffin, James W.
Gregory, Guy W.
Doughty, William H.
Duncan, Harry D.
Ehman, Albert
Lund, Harold S.
Turnquist, Harry R.
Wood, Frank C.
Berg, Clarence A.
Paddock, John C.
Richards, Henry M.
Thompson, Alex Jr.
Watrous, Floyd E.
Hoffman, Fred
Ainsworth, Ernest C.
Long, John W.
Meyers, William H.
Hale, Walter J.
Kussart, Roy J.

St. Louis, Mo.
2637 N. 10th St., Terre Haute, Ind.
613 Richards St., Knoxville, Tenn.
Konantz, Colo.
Gen. Del., Weatherford, Okla.
Loco, Okla.
R. F. D. No. 5, Charleston, W. Va.
3501 Humbolt Ave., Minneapolis, Minn.
512 24th Ave., Moline, Ill.
Tolbert, Texas
Drummond, Wis.
Gen. Del., Niles, Okla.
1226 H St., Fresno, Calif.
Gage, Mont.
Coon Rapids, Iowa
Lacona, Iowa
619 5th St., Brookings, So. Dak.
Canadian, Texas
121 E. 1st St., Junction City, Kans.
1424 Gulick Ave., Decatur, Ill.
Eddyville, Iowa

CORPORALS

Stevens, Gerald H.
Stephenson, George D.
Galleshaw, William D.

1817 7th Ave., Altoona, Pa.
Box 481, Antlers, Okla.
809 S. Hazelwood St., Sherman, Tex.

Burleson, Bryan C.
Thomani, Eloi A.
Moore, Thomas J.

R. F. D. No. 1, Richland Spgs. Texas
2311 Belmont Ave., Fresno, Calif.
1908 Red River St., Austin, Texas

COOKS

Albrecht, Frank
Ferris, Bentley W.
Heard, William I.
Hegman, Wyno
Hodges, Thomas A.
Hornbaker, Harry H.
Johnson, Ralph A.
Jones, Howard P.
Liaskas, George

1126-R Ala. St., San Francisco, Calif.
North English, Iowa
Holdenville, Okla.
Colon St., Ely, Minn.
Greensburg, Ky.
Bonaparte, Iowa
R. J. Spring Hill, W. Va.
2322 E. 6th St., Los Angeles, Calif.
Sedro Woolley, Wash.

Meyer, Fred C.
Minnick, John C.
Morgan, Ona R.
Ness, Gilbert A.
Possnecke, Henry A.
Sawle, George H.
Walden, Samuel M.
Watson, Steve E.
Westcott, Floyd H.

341 Georgia St., Vallejo, Calif.
1504 Crystal Lake Ave., Minneapolis.
Onawa, Iowa
Parshall, N. Dak.
55 Mullin Ave., San Francisco, Calif.
149 3rd St., San Francisco, Calif.
Coffeyville, Kans.
Keystone, So. Dak.
145 1st St., Newark, N. J.

PRIVATES FIRST CLASS

Abbott, Ora C.
Agee, Frank E.
Alsobrook, Henry B.

Farmington, Ill.
Olean, Mo.
Manning, Ark.

Anderson, Edwin C.
Anderson, Fay W.
Applegate, William H.

Seips, Mont.
855 23rd St., San Diego, Calif.
307 W. Grant St., Streator, Ill.

ROSTER — ENLISTED MEN

PRIVATE FIRST CLASS

Ash, Joseph C.
 Bade, William R.
 Ballinger, Melville D.
 Barnes, Dell E.
 Barry, Marque
 Bartleson, Hobart
 Bay, Charles F.
 Berg, Ole M.
 Beringer, Charles A.
 Bowers, Frank B.
 Boyd, Donald
 Brunk, Lewis F.
 Buell, Clark E.
 Burchett, Ellis R.
 Burgess, Joseph
 Burkhardt, William P.
 Campain, Fred J.
 Capps, Eugene A.
 Carlson, Emil
 Carter, Leroy
 Cederquist, Henry S.
 Cofoid, Viggo
 Count, Albert F.
 Daniel, William H.
 Danielson, Harry F.
 Day, William E.
 Deep, Lee
 Dobbins, Charles W.
 Dravis, Otto
 Ebel, William C.
 Elkins, Patterson
 Evans, William E.
 Fowler, Philip L.
 Frederick, John P.
 Fritts, Reuben H.
 Ganes, Therlow
 Gentry, Alvin P.
 George, Joseph W.
 Grimmer, Frank L.
 Gripp, Richard
 Haley, Roscoe M.
 Hall, Everett C.
 Harbach, Ralph A.
 Harbour, William E.
 Harrison, Frank
 Hartman, Max G.
 Hartmann, Reuben
 Hauser, John
 Heier, Ole G.
 Heisler, William J.
 Hlava, William
 Hobson, Ray
 Hoenig, Louis J.
 Holstine, Charlie
 Horten, Carl R.
 Hostermann, Glenn M.
 House, George A.
 Johnson, John L.
 Jordan, Collins A.
 Jorgensen, George

J. R. 4, Bedford, Ind.
 892 Irvin Ave., Houston, Texas
 Chenoa, Ill.
 527 E. Nelson St., Oklahoma City, Ok.
 32 6th Ave., San Francisco, Calif.
 1919 Payne Ave., Wichita, Kans.
 Walnut, Iowa
 Dungeness, Wash.
 Barnesboro, Penn.
 Otell, Ill.
 Stockton, Calif.
 Virginia, Ill.
 El Paso, Ill.
 P. O. Box 816, Burlie, Idaho
 R. F. D. 1, Hunt, W. Va.
 552 14th St., San Diego, Calif.
 Clarks, Neb.
 313 Bowie, Austin, Texas
 2622 3rd St. N. Minneapolis, Minn.
 Tiskilwa, Ill.
 Route A, Kingsbury, Calif.
 Hennepin, Ill.
 1324 1-3-514 Ave., Rock Island, Ill.
 Ashland, Ill.
 1311 1st St. S., Minneapolis, Minn.
 11 Washington Ave., Richmond, Calif.
 59 Richards St., Salt Lake City, Utah
 Weir, W. Va.
 R. F. D. 1, Stanley, Iowa
 Kief, N. Dak.
 R. D. 2, Charleston, W. Va.
 Chillicothe, Ill.
 Osceola, Iowa
 1204 W. Empire St., Bloomington, Ill.
 Issaquah, Wash.
 Clinton, Ill.
 Beaver Crossing, Neb.
 Wellsville, Utah
 R. F. D. A, Guymon, Okla.
 R. F. D. 2, Coal Valley, Ill.
 Enterprise, Utah
 2551 Curlew St., San Diego, Calif.
 497 40th St., Milwaukee, Wis.
 St. Albans, W. Va.
 123 N. Vernon St., Dallas, Texas
 New Braunfels, Texas
 Cullom, Ill.
 Brooklyn Center, Minn.
 Petersburg, N. Dak.
 White Earth, Minn.
 Ravenna, Neb.
 404 2nd St., Lincoln, Ill.
 2727 Brighton Ave., Los Angeles, Cal.
 O'ort, W. Va.
 Scherwood, N. Dak.
 147 11th St., Felvis, Ill.
 Arcola, Ill.
 Burley, Idaho
 White Earth, Minn.
 Bowman, No. Dak.

Jubera, Steve
 Kane, Clyde F.
 Kelley, Earl A.
 Knowlton, Lewis B.
 Krueger, Bernard F.
 Krueger, Otto W.
 Kuriger, Alfred J.
 Langhinis, Claude J.
 Leis, Joseph M.
 Linnane, Willie
 Little, William C.
 Matthies, Herman W.
 McLaughlin, John J.
 McMahan, Leland
 Meier, Frederick W.
 Miller, Leonard H.
 Miller, William R.
 Morrison, Cyrus
 Morrow, Hershel R.
 Murray, George A.
 Nelson, Manford
 Ochse, Charles C.
 Oelkers, William H.
 Oliver, Ovel
 Omohundro, Richard N.
 Petell, Eugene J.
 Philpott, Henry C.
 Pine, Clarence N.
 Presco, Harry C.
 Pugh, Clarence A.
 Ramsey, Claude W.
 Rehtin, John T.
 Rhinhart, Marion E.
 Rison, Frank B.
 Roeseh, Henry C.
 Sancturi, Eugenio
 Schmidt, Charles F.
 Seward, Hartford
 Shea, John J.
 Sheldon, Francis S.
 Sizer, Charley
 Smith, Edward F.
 Sommers, Herman D.
 Soot, Oliver
 Stanton, Frederick
 St. Claire, Raymond H.
 Steele, Walter F.
 Steitz, Albert J.
 Stenlos, Peder
 Stephens, George M.
 Stewart, Carl E.
 Sweeney, Joseph
 Vowell, Homer T.
 Walt, Macolm
 Weaver, Floyd L.
 Weller, Aloysius
 Winterbourne, Frank L.
 Wirkkula, William Woods, Harold L.

107 Nicollet Ave., Minneapolis, Minn.
 Bealeton, W. Va.
 Columbus, Mont.
 Farmington, Utah
 Lacon, Ill.
 Wimbledon, N. Dak.
 Wilmington, Ill.
 R. F. D. 1, Box 13, Youngsville, Ind.
 1101 E. 20th St. N., Portland, Ore.
 Obnitz, Iowa
 Mineola, Texas
 1423 E. Flanders St., Portland, Ore.
 Scranton, N. Dak.
 815 13th Ave. S., Nampa, Idaho
 Newman, Calif.
 Paola, Kans.
 949 N. Boulevard St. Baton Rouge, La.
 418 E. Pacific Ave., Spokane, Wash.
 Route 1, Caddo Mills, Texas
 321 N. Brown St., Titusville, Penn.
 Brook Park, Minn.
 6th St., Penn, Ill.
 McCracken, Kans.
 2423 Penn Ave. N., Minneapolis, Minn.
 2011 7th Ave., Moline, Ill.
 Chesterfield, Idaho
 2663 Calif. St., San Francisco, Calif.
 Route 1, Boise, Idaho
 5804 62nd Ave. S. E., Portland, Ore.
 1609 Appleton St., Long Beach, Calif.
 Merkle, Texas
 2017 E. College St., Columbus, Miss.
 Albee, Ore.
 Antlers, Okla.
 Route 4, Saybrook, Ill.
 922 Townsend St., Chicago, Ill.
 743 E. 33rd St., Los Angeles, Calif.
 Snicarte, Ill.
 New York City, N. Y.
 Greenfield, Ia.
 Alexander, Minn.
 Creedmore, Texas
 4425 N. Artesian Ave., Chicago, Ill.
 Orofino, Idaho
 Minneapolis, Minn.
 320 Minn. Ave., Billings, Mont.
 1018 Natoma St., San Francisco, Calif.
 109 W. Weacater St., Massilon, Ohio
 Fairview Hospital, Minneapolis, Minn.
 Green River, Wyo.
 Box 225, Flamerno, N. Dak.
 810 E. Freemont St., Bloomington, Ill.
 Norman, Okla.
 441 Cole St., San Francisco, Calif.
 Ossin, Ind.
 Chatsworth, Ill.
 Yuma, Colo.
 Orr, Minn.
 925 2nd Ave., Grinnell, Iowa

PRIVATE

Abrahamson, Orban O.
 Abreu, Antoneo
 Alcorn, Renold E.
 Aldous, John L.
 Allison, Buel
 Alvy, Jack
 Anderson, Alfred

Rupert, Idaho
 77 Johnson St., San Francisco, Calif.
 Route 1, Box 22, Greenway, Ark.
 Downey, Idaho
 Lubbock, Texas
 R. F. D. 1, VanBuren, Ark.
 Bredette, Mont.

Anderson, Elmer W.
 Anderson, William H.
 Ardoin, Manuel
 Armstrong, Cluster L.
 Appleby, Clyde
 Bailey, Sterlon P.
 Barlow, Ed

Route 2, New Lisbon, Wis.
 816 Ave B., San Antonio, Texas
 Woodlawn, La.
 Howe, Okla.
 R. F. D. 4, Box 121, Moody, Texas
 Buhl, Idaho

ROSTER — ENLISTED MEN — PRIVATES

Barton, Wilson P.
 Bass, Joe
 Beard, George M.
 Beasley, John J.
 Beaver, Chester G.
 Beaver, Harry V.
 Bello, Dave F.
 Bennett, Dallas L.
 Bernham, Edward Biron, Wilfred
 Bishop, Ralph
 Blackshire, Charles E.
 Blackwell, Ransom S.
 Blum, Samuel
 Boatman, Robert H.
 Bono, Antonio
 Bowers, Jesse F.
 Bratton, Roy L.
 Bray, Elmer W.
 Briukman, Robert
 Brooks, Willie L.
 Bruels, George P.
 Bruner, Luther R.
 Bunton, Robert D.
 Burdette, Everett D.
 Butcher, James
 Butler, Harry Byrns, Mathew
 Campanella, Guisippi
 Cardella, Angelo
 Carrier, Dana
 Carsey, Ralph S.
 Carter, Harry
 Casey, John E.
 Cauthron, John S.
 Chatterton, Thomas G.
 Cheshier, Vernon
 Chesser, Burlie C.
 Clapp, William
 Clark, Earl
 Clayton, Walter O.
 Clemens, William J.
 Cochran, Cecil C.
 Cogburn, Homer V.
 Cole, John L.
 Condon, Riley H.
 Conger, Harvey H.
 Cook, Oren E.
 Copenhaver, Thomas F.
 Costanzo, Santo
 Coste, Fred T.
 Craddock, Frank
 Crawford, John F.
 Crisler, Victor A.
 Criswell, John A.
 Crouch, Robert A.
 Crummer, Ellsworth F.
 Dagsen, Lester H.
 Darnell, Claude L.
 Darrah, Earl S.
 David, Emair
 Davis, Thomas L.
 Davis, William I.
 Deck, Preston J.
 Peering, Harvey L.
 Delaney, Edward T.
 Dempsey, John O.
 Dodd, Sherman J.
 Dohan, Emanuel
 Domey, Fritz E.
 Doooley, Alva R.
 Dorsey, Grady
 R. F. D. 2, Box 102, Clyde, Texas
 R. F. D. 2, Cappel, Texas
 720 Bayland St., Houston, Texas
 172 28th St., San Francisco, Calif.
 Blue Lake, Calif.
 1109 W. 54th St., Los Angeles, Calif.
 215 Park Ave., San Jose, Calif.
 Oglesby, Ill.
 9 Central Ave., Woonsocket, R. I.
 Roby, Texas
 Sissonville, W. Va.
 R. F. D. 1, Hunt, W. Va.
 233 E. 21st St., New York City, N. Y.
 Stonewall, Okla.
 Portland, Ore.
 Horseshoe Bend, Idaho
 Wewoka, Okla.
 Sulphur Springs, Texas
 Comfort, Texas
 Ochiltree, Texas
 417 4th Ave. S. E., Minot, N. Dak.
 Wesley, Okla.
 R. F. D. 1, Kyle, Texas
 R. F. D. 1, Roncreuerte, W. Va.
 Accoville, W. Va.
 Northport, Wash.
 Calumet, Okla.
 434 W. 3rd St., San Pedro, Calif.
 South Dos Palos, Calif.
 Spring Hill, W. Va.
 Crown, W. Va.
 Slater, Colo.
 Silver, Ark.
 R. F. D. 1, Edom, Texas
 Silatz, Ore.
 633 3rd Ave. S., Mineapolis, Minn.
 Egypt, Ark.
 Midway, Texas
 Marathon, Texas
 423 S. Lincoln St., Blackwell, Okla.
 Madill, Okla.
 1612 Lee Ave., Fort Worth, Texas
 Leo, Texas
 Philadelphia, Miss.
 Route 1, Throckmorton, Texas
 China Springs, Texas
 49 N. Michigan Ave., Pasadena, Calif.
 Copenhaver, W. Va.
 339 Caruthers, Portland City, Ore.
 529 11th St., Oakland, Calif.
 Ethel, W. Va.
 Jacksonville, Texas
 Hedley, Texas
 Peacock, Texas
 St. Albans, W. Va.
 Pocatontas, Iowa
 Hyrum, Utah
 2504 Walworth St., Greenville, Texas
 Planto, Iowa
 Nunez, Ind.
 Helena, Okla.
 Greenberry, W. Va.
 Idaho Falls, Idaho
 Olive, New Mexico
 Eureka, Nevada
 3345 A 18th St., San Francisco, Calif.
 Hugo, Okla.
 35 Harrison St., East Orange, N. J.
 Sarpio, N. Dak.
 534 5th St., Crossett, Ark.
 219 Williams St., Waxahachie, Texas.
 Doss, John
 Duncan, Oscar E.
 Dunlop, Isham
 Eastman, Gordon H.
 Ebeling, Frederick H.
 Edens, Volley F.
 Elsholz, Otto
 Erickson, Oscar P.
 Ernst, John
 Estes, Clem O.
 Farr, John
 Fennel, Herbert
 Finn, Henry G.
 Flaughter, Everett W.
 Frazier, Charles O.
 Friedman, Harry
 Gabel, Chris
 Gardiner, Gronloff
 Gartshore, John M.
 Gharrett, Barton N.
 Giomi, James
 Gipple, Donald E.
 Goff, Charlie E.
 Goodman, Norman
 Gordon, William
 Gori, Bruno
 Gossi, George W.
 Grunes, Guy M.
 Hackney, Mark R.
 Hamilton, Harry O.
 Hankins, Vee D.
 Hardy, Sidney C.
 Harney, Edmond W.
 Hatfield, Herley
 Harrison, Walker
 Hatley, Roy O.
 Haynes, General O.
 Hayes, Elihue A.
 He-dberg, John M.
 Hein, Louis
 Henke, Peter C.
 Henson, Jack
 Hiden, George
 Biggs, Thomas F.
 Hightower, Elgyn
 Hightower, Eugene H.
 Hill, Oliver
 Hivala, Wayne
 Hobbs, Clarence B.
 Hodgan, Roy E.
 Hoffman, Wilbert B.
 Holly, Homer
 Holt, John D.
 Hoskins, Elijah V.
 Howarth, Thomas
 Huff, Harry E.
 Huggins, Bruce A.
 Hullum, Ira D.
 Hurt, Austin F.
 Ingram, Augustus
 Ishmael, James L.
 Jank, Gustav A.
 Jenkins, Mont A.
 Johnson, Berry H.
 Johnson, Erick F.
 Johnson, James H.
 Johnson, Julius
 Jones, Owen J.
 Justice, Elbert
 Kerr, George
 Ketterning, William C.
 Kimble, Ellis
 Ethel, W. Va.
 R. F. D. 4, Wolfe City, Texas
 Dunbar, W. Va.
 1229 B St., San Diego, Calif.
 311 Arleta Ave., San Francisco, Calif.
 Station A, Charleston, W. Va.
 Lathrop, Calif.
 Grand Central Hotel, Seattle, Wash.
 912 N. 9th, Pocatello, Idaho
 R. F. D. A, Clovis, N. Mex.
 908 Monroe St., Fort Worth, Texas
 Marion, Ore.
 Minneapolis, Minn.
 R. F. D. 1, Columbia, Mo.
 S. 2nd St., Sweetwater, Texas
 R. R. 2, Donnelson, Iowa
 1256 Madison St., Red Bluff, Calif.
 Federal Hotel, Monterey, Calif.
 R. F. D. 2, Argenta, Ill.
 418 N. 2nd St., Albuquerque, N. Mex.
 Route 1, Bentonville, Ark.
 R. R. D. 2, Box 15-A, Alexandria, La.
 R. F. D. 1, Mount Pleasant, Texas
 227 W. Main, Spokane, Wash.
 26 San Jose Ave., San Francisco, Cal.
 Clayton, Idaho
 R. F. D. 1, Collision, Ill.
 Grady, N. Mex.
 Mangum, Okla.
 Route 7, Pine Bluff, Ark.
 R. F. D. 1, Longview, Texas
 Baboa Apts., Portland, Ore.
 St. James, Ark.
 Alpine, Texas
 Adamsville, Texas
 Carpenter, W. Va.
 Appleton, Ark.
 Meridian, Wash.
 Welfare, Texas
 826 Oceanview Ave., Woodhaven, N. Y.
 Boumeont, W. Va.
 588 5th St., Portland, Ore.
 Bryan, Texas
 Arcadia, La.
 Altus, Okla.
 Fort Benton, Mont.
 725 W. Park St., Butte, Mont.
 Route 2, Madill, Okla.
 Chase, B. C., Canada.
 Clendennin, W. Va.
 Wadena, Minn.
 R. F. D. 2, Oakley, Idaho
 Malad City, Idaho
 844 Diamond St. San Francisco, Calif.
 R. F. D. 2, Eau Claire, Wis.
 Jester, Okla.
 Waurika, Okla.
 Logan, W. Va.
 679 Cole St., Bushnell, Ill.
 Arcadia, Okla.
 Ander, Texas
 R. F. D. 5, Guthrie, W. Va.
 Bedias, Texas
 206 1st Ave. S Great Falls, Mont.
 600 W. Heard St., Edmond, Okla.
 2552 S. Tacoma Ave., Tacoma, Wash.
 Box 157, Blackfoot, Idaho
 Man, W. Va.
 721 S. Central, Medford, Ore.
 R. R. 1, Bowen, Ill.
 R. F. D. 1, Tyrone, Okla.

ROSTER — ENLISTED MEN — PRIVATES

King, Lawrence L.
Klapuck, Rudolph
Knight, Claud J.
Knight, Lawrence A.
Knudsen, Martin
Kuttner, Eugene C.
Kuttner, Otto J.
Lacefield, Glen Laengrich, Carl H.
Laiche, Adelon B.
Laurella, Giovanni
Leach, Francis W.
Leach, William E.
LeBlanc, Edward
Lehmann, Maurice J.
Lewallan, Marshall E.
Leyrer, Arthur
Lloyd, Samuel C.
Lowe, Roy W.
Lowery, Fred M.
Lugo, Frank
Lundeen, Fred F.
Lynch, Francis R.
MacDonald, Guy
Manley, Cale J.
Marshall, Patrick P.
McCarter, John E.
McClanahan, David C.
McDermott, Harry E.
McMahan, Charles M.
Miller, Larkin S.
Minto, Robert W.
Montgomery, Bruce C.
Montgomery, William M.
Moore, Hayward F.
Moore, John R.
Morgan, Mike
Morrison, Sidney E.
Moschetti, Benjamin
Muehe, Walter R.
Mullin, Roy E.
Muri, Berner
Myers, William H.
Nardini, Olinto
Neumann, Willie
Newman, Joseph
Northam, Otho E.
Norvell, Jesse
Olson, Harry
O'Reilly, Edward T.
Ortun, Nils
Owen, Benjamin J.
Palmer, John E.
Palmer, Lawrence W.
Paoli, Enrico
Passalacqua, Frank E.
Pennock, Preston K.
Peter, John
Peters, Lawson M.
Phillips, Otis
Planchich George
Porzeński, John Procin, Steve Purser, Jefferson D.
Reed, Walter T.
Renfro, Roy M.
Renk, Frank C.
Richardson, Burns
Ryder, Carson A.
Robinson, Rich
Rosenbloom, Jacob
Roshto, John H.
Ruffna Hollow, W. Va.
Route 1, Moulton, Texas
232 Buford St., Beaumont, Texas
El Paso, Texas
545 E. 45th St. N., Portland, Ore.
407 Incline St., Lake Charles, La.
Tolbert, Calif.
Langley, Ark.
R. F. D. 2, Jones City, Okla.
Morganza, La.
Terry, Mont.
610 Savine Pass Ave., Beaumont, Tex.
R. F. D. 1, Florian, La.
Houma, La.
Loyal Valley, Texas
Pocahontas, Ark.
719 Averado St., Los Angeles, Calif.
Gibtown, Texas
326 25th St., Ogden, Utah
Scalton, La.
Salinas, Calif.
1099 A Forest St., Bellingham, Wash.
670 9th Ave., San Francisco, Calif.
1111 Victoria Ave., Los Angeles, Calif.
Route 3, Choteau, Okla.
Greenville, Tenn.
Minden, Texas
R. R. 1, Kingston, Texas
Willmot, Ark.
R. F. D. 1, Forney, Texas
New Edenberg, Ark.
Eagleville, Calif.
Antelope, Idaho
Route 1, Montgomery, Texas
Weatherford, Texas
Box 443, Hammond, La.
Mullan, Idaho
R. F. D. 1, Box 65, De Roche, Ark.
103 6th St., Santa Rosa, Calif.
1317 Ave L., Galveston, Texas
Fort Worth, Texas
Cody, Wyo.
R. F. D. 1, Stayton, Ore.
Gunville, Calif.
Geronimo, Texas
R. F. D. 2, Box 22, Scranton, Ark.
623 E. 7th St., Okemah, Okla.
Sumner, Texas
1322 Revere St., San Francisco, Calif.
920 S. Henderson, Fort Worth, Texas
Voteer, Wis.
Box 346, El Central, Calif.
Moorhead, Mont.
122 S. Hamilton, Pomona, Calif.
119 Culebra, San Francisco, Calif.
Benicia, Calif.
1602 Main St., Fort Worth, Texas
Garrison, N. Dak.
204 Nelkin St., Natchitoches, La.
Eagle City, Okla.
Docton, Wash.
1512 W. Perry St., St. Louis, Mo.
Ukaruni, N. Dak.
Big Springs, Texas
Villedplatte, La.
White, Texas
55 E. 8th St., Wynona, Minn.
Dallas, Texas
Lynn, Ark.
R. F. D. 2, Athens, La.
665 Alabama Ave., Brooklyn, N. Y.
Pineville, La.
Rosier, James L.
Rodriguez, Benjamin F.
Rudolph, Arthur W.
Runyan, Tee J.
Rye, Robert H.
Saiz, Timoteo
Schmitz, Grin W.
Schulze, Herman
Scott, Franklin H.
Sharpe, George J.
Schulze, Frank M.
Siemsen, William F.
Sikorski, Stiney
Simmonds, Richard E.
Simons, William A.
Simmons, William M.
Skwortz, Edwin J.
Sloan, William
Smalley, Charlie C.
Smith, John B.
Scheinder, Emil
Staffa, Raymond
Stafford, Bert
Stanke, Rudolph W.
Stansbury, Warren J.
Stratt, Pete
Swan, Arthur A.
Sweeney, Sidney L.
Taylor, Henry R.
Taylor, Lyman B.
Thom, Otto A.
Thomasson, Walter V.
Thompson, Guy V.
Toberman, John J.
Toler, Clarence W.
Trask, Ray E.
Tripp, Earnie
Trulakis, Stavros
Tuttle, Dallas R.
Tyree, Arch W.
Underdahl, Andrew
Unsworth, John R.
VanVoorhis, Albert F.
Wade, George L.
Wagenblast, Edwin M.
Wallace, Jesse L.
Ward, John
Ward, William H.
Wardle, Clyde C.
Ware, Homer A.
Wasserkrug, Morris
Weed, Orin
Weinberg, David
Wesch, Charles W.
Whisenand, Benjamin E.
Wilbourne, Junious V.
Wilkinson, Andrew J.
Wilkins, Thomas M.
Williams, Glenn L.
Williams, James A.
Williamson, Walter W.
Wilson, Sheridan H.
Wilson, William A.
Wiseman, Louis
Wood, Alfonso
Wood, John D.
Woody, Jesse E.
Yezites, John
Young, Urick F.
Zaletel, John
Zerega, Vittorio
Zwemer, Clarence W.
Holloway, La.
R. R. 1, Sibley, Ill.
Malvern, Ark.
Cadiz, Ky.
Sena, N. Mex.
1644 Santa Rosa Pl., Los Angeles, Cal.
R. F. D. 1, New Braunfels, Texas
St. Xavier, Mont.
Harelson, La.
Grow, Okla.
1631 Franklin, Davenport, Iowa
Bryan, Texas
788 Elizabeth St., San Francisco, Cal.
2943 Folsom St., San Francisco, Cal.
511 N. Chestnut, Lansing, Mich.
R. D. Box 115, San Antonio, Texas
Volga, Iowa
Breckenridge, Texas
R. D. 3, Box 8, Winfield, La.
Hitchcock, Okla.
Louise, Texas
R. F. D. 1, Pearl River, La.
2471 San Bruno Ave., San Francisco.
Perry, La. (Calif.)
1311 Commerce St., Tacoma, Wash.
Tuckerman, Ark.
P. O. Box 33, Vinton, La.
Dongole, Ill.
Fullerton, Ky.
Center, N. Dak.
R. F. D. 2, Clyde, Texas
Hailey, Idaho
Manteno, Ill.
4432 Morgan Ave., Los Angeles, Calif.
1762 Druid St., Portland, Ore.
Arlington, Iowa
Sunny Side, Utah
R. R. 2, Good Hope, Ill.
R. F. D. B, Ballinger, Texas
Hartland, N. Dak.
Macedonia, Texas
R. F. D. 3, Boise, Idaho
R. F. D. B, Childers, Texas
Soda Springs, Idaho
Lane, Okla.
Lytle, Texas
R. F. D. 2, Tulsa, Okla.
1003 N. Harrison, Pocatello, Idaho
Diana, W. Va.
4104 California St., San Francisco, Cal.
Los Gatos, Calif.
47 Olive St., New Britain, Conn.
68 Berlin St., Newark, N. J.
908 Sheridan St., Laramie, Wyo.
Thornton Hotel, Port Arthur, Texas
R. F. D. 4, Lufkin, Texas
Pickens, W. Va.
820 S. Elm St., Hope, Ark.
R. F. D. 1, Box 70, Grandbury, Texas
Canton, Miss.
Hoggs, W. Va.
S. Greenfield, Mo.
Stockton, Calif.
Ponda, Iowa
Romulus, Okla.
Stringtown, Okla.
Boneville Hotel, Tacoma, Wash.
Montpelier, La.
620 Broadway St., Joliet, Ill.
119 N. Market, San Jose, Calif.
119 W. 10th St., Holland, Mich.

ROSTER — ENLISTED MEN

INACTIVE LIST

Hospital Sergeants Kesselring, William A. Hall, Nicholas C. Myer, Joseph E. Brownlee, Shelby E. Sergeants First Class Wassam, George D. Collins, Lex D. Gason, Harry Conklin, Fred E. Christopher, Warren N. Downs, James L. Sawyer, Richard V. Oldham, Albert E. Johnson, James P. Thomas, Louis L. Gilbert, Donald L. Rudd, Worth C. Slade, Herbert C. Wright, Tony M. Sergeants Nitcher, Charles LaBouff, John J. Young, Walter V. Charais, Edward P. Lundahl, Walter N. Freese, Herbert L. Yonkin, Joseph C. McDaniel, John P. Miller, Joseph B. Newberger, Manuel Simpson, Perry J. Wells, Mahlon D. Pettit, Ralph F. Ackerman, John W. Donelson, Harold D. Wenger, Joseph L. Brown, Omer G. Duncan, Roy H. Hicks, Ross L. Engle, Charles C. Erickson, Erick C. Jenne, Woodford C. Cooks Janouch, Francis E. Maggard, James H. Powell, Guy C. Welch, Robert T. Williams, George Williams, Vaughn	Privates First Class Anderson, Volmer U. Ayres, Rowe G. Berry, James A. Bigelow, Edward Branstetter, Robert T. Bridges, Hillard M. Cole, William H. Collins, Thomas D. Cotton, John W. Creech, John W. Cross, Everett T. Crowder, James H. Day, George W. Duggan, George O. Fanning, Ira D. Finsterbush, George Fox, Frank A. Gibson, Harry C. Hibbs, Cecil Hoffman, James C. Humpfus, John M. Justice, Floyd W. Kleinman, Nathan Levitt, Homer J. Lively, George Y. McBurnett, Robert N. McDaniel, Harley B. Myhre, George E. Naumann, Edward Parten, George W. Ryder, Raymond M. Secor, John H. Smead, Frank N. Smith, Walter D. Sparks, Fred W. Voigt, George A. Vollmer, Richard W. Wallace, Leo Wentz, Howard K. Whiteside, Ralph V. Williams, William T. Winsor, Carl K. Privates Abeyta, Apolonio Addison, John B. Akard, Clarence M. Allard, Lewis J. Jr. Anderson, Curtis L. Andrews, John L. Andrews, Henry M. Andrews, Julian M.	Apolon, Nick J. Archbold, Irvin H. Armenta, Frank Ashworth, James A. Babm, Porter R. Bakke, Oscar M. Burnard, Paul M. Barnett, Virgil Baskett, Ralph G. Bates, Thomas N. Bauman, Fred Booker, Dick M. Boone, William W. Jr. Bowers, Cecil G. Boyovich, Maxailo Braconier, Jean H. Brinker, Rayphield R. Brooks, Levi W. Bubb, Elmer H. Budahn, Hugh Bunch, Loyd L. Burke, John W. Busick, Silas L. Cademator, Harold Cady, Hubert E. Calvert, George R. Carlisle, Eric R. Carlson, Clarence N. Carroll, Dutch Carter, Homer N. Cervan, Bohumil F. Chandler, Earl G. Chanovich, Bazo J. Cheatum, Shelton Cheney, Bernice L. Clark, Wilhe T. Coates, John S. Cochran, Cisrow Cohen, Martin Coleman, Jesse H. Collette, Frank A. Conley, Moscow Cooper, Walter B. Cowell, Harry Crouch, Edward Daniels, Carl J. Davis, Elmer F. Davis, William T. DeGagne, Arthur M. Dickey, Loren R. Dillon, Daniel A. Donati, Ernesto Donaway, Claude Dougherty, Frank T. Drake, Albert Dumbroski, Mike Dunlop, Orville L.	Elmer, Harold W. Eby, William H. Echard, Sidney W. Ehler, Chas. E. Ellis, Robert W. Elwood, George J. Engstrom, Harold E. Everts, George B. Ferrif, Frank Fink, Bert A. Finley, Waddie T. Fitzsimmons, John E. Flatley, Thomas H. Fleming, Ed C. Fontana, Humbert Frederickson, Frederick Fuller, Reuben R. Galli, Peter Garrett, Joseph T. Gary, Alvin C. Gastonguay, Emile P. Gaudern, William S. Ghiz, Albert Gibson, Charles D. Giolo, Attilio Goodwin, Roy C. Gordon, Garner J. Graham, Charles O. Grennan, Thomas L. Grubert, Fred Gustafson, Gustaf G. Hankla, Claud Harrigfeld, William E. Hammerand, Benjamin Hansen, Francis C. Haslen, Will G. Haubrick, Felix J. Hayes, William E. Heminger, Frank G. Herbert, Ernest J. Herrin, Percy Herrmann, Jacob Hestir, William B. Hightower, Carlton L. Hill, Henry W. Hodges, Henry J. Holmes, Cyrus V. Howard, John W. Howe, Lester W. Hughey, Jesse C. Ireland, Samuel W. Johnson, Harold J. Jones, Frank C. Jordan, Marvin E. Kent, Lucie A.	Kapphan, Harry H. Kidd, William J. Kight, William M. Kouyunjian, Khorens Kuhn, Tobsas I. Lallier, Scott W. Lamb, James Lane, Edgar Lange, William F. Largey, Alfred Larsen, George A. LeDuc, Oswald J. Liebmann, Walter E. Lindsey, James E. Lindstrom, Henry E. Low, Hugh S. Lowry, James H. Lowry, James V. Lungdren, Carl J. MacRobert, Clifford Martinez, Alberto Matthews, Bert Mathis, Benjamin H. Mattos, Daniel J. McBroom, William E. McCartney, Albert L. McDougle, Walter C. McFarland, Malry H. McGarry, Fred I. McGwin, Arthur C. McKee, Shores H. McKenzie, Charles B. McMillin, Reuben T. Melson, Claude E. Menke, Joseph W. Monroe, William L. Cohen, Ray A. Nailon, Willie T. Narewski, Joseph Nelek, John W. Nicholson, Lawrence Pate, Leonard F. Paulsen, Jens Peace, Commodore Pearson, Clarence Pearson, James W. Pearson, Nels J. Pehrson, Paul J. Pinnick, Joseph Polosky, William Dowell, Frank Price, Samuel C. Preslar, John P. Provine, Roger Rador, Joseph L.	Ramsey, Clarence A. Reagan, Thomas B. Reed, Earl N. Reinking, Benjamin Rhoads, Nelson Rios, Antonio R. Roberts, Julius L. Roberts, Sam H. Robinson, Isadore Robinson, John Rogers, Robert W. Rowbotham, Thomas G. Sabedra, Ricardo Saeger, Allen E. Sandovyl, Frank Saterhak, Theodore Saverch, Claude W. Scattaglia, Vito Schwartz, Michael Skelley, Fred Smith, Fennie E. Smith, Harold T. Smith, Leon W. Spain, Waldo Spurgeon, William M. Stanton, Arthur G. Stericken, Andrew J. Taggart, James A. Taylor, David W. Taylor, William I. Teal, Richard L. Tertadion, Hacher Tervault, Nelson D. Tierney, Martin J. Jr. Torkocheretes, Tom Trent, Clint Turner, Grover C. Tyner, Aaron Vallindras, George L. Vrla, Frank E. Ware, Willie C. Watkins, Harry Weltman, Sidney E. Wesghan, Arthur Wiewel, Ronald W. Willey, Earl Williams, Earl L. Williams, Harvey E. Wilson, Harrison E. Wink, John F. Wood, Otis C. Wood, Samuel E. Woodward, Edward E. Wright, Austin T. Zaffaroni, Angelo Zeigler, Gordon
---	---	--	---	--	---

ROSTER Q. M. DETACHMENT T—BASE HOSPITAL

Stern, L. A., Q. M. Sgt. Sn. Gr., 249 W. 112 St. N. Y. C. Carey, R. C., Q. M. Sgt. Sn. Gr., 3550 W. 22 St., Chi., Ill. Sheehan, J. L. Sgt. 1-cl., Franklin Sq. Hse. Boston, Mass. (Care Sheehan, Mary E.) Carroll, T. N. Sgt., 48 Hoyt Ave., Astoria, L. I., N. Y. Boland, D. L. Sgt., 69 E. Utica St., Buffalo, N. Y. Redeker, J. L. Sgt. 2252 Main St., Wheeling, W. Va. Silbermann, H. Sgt., 426 E. 140 St., Bronx, N. Y.	Youngwood, G. S. Sgt., 1061 E. 13 St., Brooklyn, N. Y. Allen, A. F. Corp., The Rock, Georgia, RFD. 1. Campbell, C. T. Corp., 170 Pearl St., Somerville, Mass. Overton, C. Corp., Mitchell, Ind. Everheart, W. L. Pvt. 1-cl., R. 4, Lexington, N. C. Andre, A. G. Pvt., RR. No. A, Box 98, Gresham, Ore. Unger, W. M. Pvt., 601 W. 164 St., N. Y. C. Devine, D. A. Pvt., 99 S. 3 St., Brooklyn, N. Y.
---	---

INACTIVE LIST

Sgt. Lec H. Burroughs

Pvt. 1st Cl. W. O. Jones

Pvt. J. Hoffman

Pvt. E. La Fleur

THE CAPSULE

IN MEMORIAM

PVT. OTIS C. WOODS - March 24, 1918 PVT. WALTER W. FOX October 13, 1918
PVT. ARTHUR WISIGHAN - July 21, 1918 PVT. FRANK LARZA - October 17, 1918
PVT. ERNEST J. HEBERT - August 2, 1918 PVT. WALKER W. CRUMP October 21, 1918
PVT. JAMES E. LINDSEY - January 22, 1919

CAPTAIN STEPHEN J. H. REED, M. C.

He left his widowed mother home,
He left his sweetheart by her side.
He answered freedom's call alone
To go where country might decide.

He scoffed at work in rear base post.
Safety was naught, fear he had none,
He sought the front, where needed most,
Just where our Yankee lads had come.

He braved the ocean's storms and ice,
Escaped the English Channel's maw
And submarines of German vice
To land in France he risked his all.

He worked at regimental posts.
Bore hardships with a cheerful air,
Saw horrors that one fears the most
And treated sick and wounded there.

Field Hospital short time he stayed,
Where all desired him as a mate,
Then Ambulance he gave some aid,
And there he sadly met his fate.

'Twas in a captured dugout post
To flesh-torn, suffering lad he went.
Outside the shrapnel burst quite close
To kill all those on first aid bent.

Swish, aswish the gas shells came
With thuds, exploding near the post,
But on and on he worked, the same,
His life was least, the lad's the most.

Bang! Bang! came T. N. T.'s galore,
Destroying land, the road, the tree,
But on he worked, just as before,
That well and strong the lad might be.

Then Boom! Whiz Bang! the worst of shells
The Seventy-Seven, came through the door
Making the dugout worst of Hells,
Message of Death it always bore.

The first desire the captain sought,
His patient's life, and nothing more.
He covered, saved, but dearly bought,
Looked up and smiled, and sagged to floor.

At Glorieux they buried him,
Quite close the gate of Strong Verdun,
Comrade soldiers sang his hymn,
Martyr of Hill 281.

Written in memory of Captain Stephen J. H. Reed,
M. C., by his friend and comrade, Arthur R. Hansen,
Capt., M. C., U. S. A.

SILVER STRIPES INSTEAD OF GOLD

"Darling here's your warrior bold;
Silver Stripes instead of Gold
Shine upon his sleeve today,
Cause he couldn't sail away."

"But my darling don't you bleat;
No one thinks you had cold feet!
You had to do as you were told—
Silver Stripes instead of Gold."

Birds-eye view base hospital camp Base San Felipe

Wanda Minor Studio
600 N. Main St.
Portland, O.
1918

LIBRARY OF CONGRESS

0 020 913 355 6