I offer my prayers to the Almighty God, who created this Universe from his own will. His canopy is the heaven and carpet is the earth, his torch-bearers are the Sun and the Moon and all the animals are his dancers. He sees this dancing with pleasure, being gratified, He supplies them with rain, fruits, clothes, and corn in reward.

I, again, bend my head to Him who made the human being the king of His creatures and endowed him with His knowledge, protected him while in womb, produced milk for him in the breast of the mother. When a child he (the human being) played carelessly: the parents supplied him with fine ornaments and clothes, they showed him every consideration. When full grown and still neglectfull of his Creator, he wasted his life, as if he lost a pracious stone. Every body, therefore, should be thankful to the Almighty Father, who created beings of great variety and made sovereigns to protect them, such as Her Most Gracious Majesty the Queen Empress Kaiser Hind whose benevolent rule and impartial Justice imparted, have made the people of India happy and free from fear.

When the sun of the prosperity of the British Government rose up in the East, the darkness of injustice and plunder disappeared from this country. We cannot fully express our heart-felt gratitude to Her Majesty for the benefits which our Indian people have derived within the last fifty years of Her Majesty's reign. The completion of the fifty years' successful reign of an English sovereign is called the Jubilee. At the celebration of this Jubilee the sovereign with his subjects enjoys great festivities and rejoicing, as was the case with the Jubilee of Her Majesty's reign, which was celebrated, in India on the 16th and 17th February 1887, and in England on the 21st June 1887. There was a general holiday in all the offices. Forces were paraded, the school boys were fed, prisoners were released from the Jails, salute guns were fired congratulatory speeches and addresses were made presented, Darbars were held, cities and towns were illuminated, fire-works were shown. All the merchants and tradesmen and shop-keepers decorated their permises, houses and shops with ever green, flowers, buntings and thus expressed their loyal feelings, in honor of the celebration of the Jubilee, throughout the length & breath of Her Majesty's dominion.

So did the rulers of Native states of India, specially, His Highness the Maharajah of Jodhpur, who has got public offices built of stone at the cost of Rs. 350000 between the Raikabag and the city of Jodhpur, in memory of this gracious occasion; and sent his wise and able brother Sir col. Pratap Singhji Sahib Musahib-ala Raj Marwar, to London to be present at the celebration of Her Majesty's Jubilee there and to congratulate Her Majesty on his part for the same.

As I have special connection with H. H. Maharajah Kishore Singhji Sahib, the commander-in-chief and brother to H. H. the Maharajah of Jodhpur, he earnestly desired me to write a book to commemorate the Jubilee. At this desire of his, my ambition was heightened as according to our sacred writings, although the Moon is bright, but being placed in the forehead of Shiva she has got still brighter lustre & hence greater superiority for being worshipped by the Hindus. Now I lay my request before the able learned persons that the Sanskrit language is very difficult one, and is not easily understood specially its prosody such as " Naikabhed " Alankar, Dhun, Vyanjana, Aun-yokti, Prustar, Nasht, Uddisht Meru, Pataka, Chittra Kavya, and different kinds of its verses are the most difficult, but by the grace of God, by the kindness of my teachers and by my studies, also I would have written something on the subjects, but as I have to produce this book before the European officers of Her Majesty's Government, who like plain and simple compositions, as is evident from the style of their eminent authors. Besides this, I, also, wish that those who have limited knowledge of Sanskrit, as well as the students of the schools and colleges, whose second language is sanskrit may be benefitted by this little book. Owing to these reasons, this work has been composed in the simple Sanskrit poems. I have sanguine hopes that Her Majesty, the Kaiser Hind, His Excellency the Governor General Lord Dufferin, Col. Waltar the Agent Governor-General for Rajputana, Col. Powlett the Resident of Jodhpur, His Highness the Maharajah of Jodhpur and all the brothers of His Highness, especially Col. Sir Pratap Singhji Sahib Musahib-ala Raj Marwar & Sir Kishore Singhji Sahib the commander-in-chief of the Marwar forces, will be pleased with my humble exertion. I have written this book with tolerable accuracy & still I solicit the favour of my kind readers to correct the mistakes (if any,) or to inform me of them so that I may be able to correct them in the next edition.

RAILWAY

Railway carriages are drawn by steam power, on the rails made of iron, with great speed. The steam is shut up and accumulated in an iron carriage called the engine. It has a machine by which man can move it speedily or slowly. This engine is kept foremost in the train and all the remainder carriages are connected behind it to each other fastened by iron chains in a row. The train can run a mile in a minute but to avoid breakage it is carried at the rate of a mile in two minutes. By means of Railways, the trade and commerce, are carried on easily. Because, the products of a country where they are abundant, & thus cheap and in a poor state, are carried easily to another country, where they are not produced, are sold at a higher rate. The progress in commerce and trade is the cause of the union of countries.

In former times the commercial men and tradesmen had but a limited profit, as they had to pay higher hires and to sustain terrible losses on the disturbed roads. Now they take double profit comparatively, with little labour. The journey of months has been reduced to days and that of days to hours, Besides this the earnings of the workmen have been increased, This system is the excellent invention of Wat. We should be thankful to her Majesty, the Queen Empress of India under whose reign, this system was introduced.

STEAMER

As the Railway train is carried by the steam, so is the steamer drawn by it. It has two wheels moved by various machines and often it is kept in motion through the screw which placed near the helm and under water, both of them work by means of steam power. To move the steamer, slowly or speedily rests in the hand of man. No leaward wind is required for it, besides this, there is but very little fear from the storm. By the assistance of the steamer the communications to and from London, Bengal, Ceylone, Madras, Aden, Jidda, Egypt, Arabia, Sindh, China, Persia, Bushire, Karachi, &c. have been increased. Merchandise, letters, news-papers are received very soon. The travellers and passengers, who have to go under, the trouble, on the disturbed roads, now have to travel without difficulty.

TELEGRAPH

Before the establishment of the British Government in India the people of this country used to receive messages in months, and days, but at present under auspices of Her Majesty's Rule, we receive our messages through the telegraph in hours and minutes, even from distant countries, whatever message be despatched the same is received without slightest mistake, at once.

By the Grace of the Almighty God this telegraph communication has been introduced in this country. Very many thanks to Her Majesty for the convenience of the people of India.

POST-OFFICES

There are three kinds of post-offices:- the first is that the mails of which are carried by mail-carts&c and these offices are situated in the cities, towns and large villages. Second is that travelling post-office which work in a red-coloured carriage and travels with the train, delivering and receiving mails on various stations.

The 3rd. is that which works, in the steamers, receiving and delivering mails at the different seaports, by means of which the communications between different countries which are separated by a large portion of Ocean or which have no Railway-lines by land, are carried on, without difficulty.

By means of registered article system, Money Order, post-card, different sort of postage stamps, paid and unpaid letters and insurance, the people of this country are highly benefitted, receiving letters, news-papers, and many things by parcels. We must thank Her Majesty also for this good of the country.

COLLEGES AND SCHOOLS

In large towns, there are Universities, where the students of that as well as of other provinces go to acquire the degrees. Next to the University is the college, where the students from the zillah schools go up to continue their higher studies. There is a zillah school in every district and besides this there are numerous Vernacular public village schools nearly in every large Village, where the boys and children of the Patwaries and cultivators of all castes go to learn their lessons. There are also many Girl-schools where female teachers are appointed to teach the girls who attend the schools. Every branch of science & art and industry, is taught in these colleges and schools by the competent and able teachers. The Inspectors of schools visit the school, while on their tour, they examine the students, and give them books, watches, hand-kerchiefs, cash amounts and sweatmeats in rewards and prizes. The knowledge, which our Benares Pandits used to acquire with great trouble, doing menial services to their teachers &c, is given gratis without trouble, to the sons of Patwaries and cultivators, under the auspicious rule of Her Majesty.

ROAD Etc.

Under Majesty's benign rule the roads have been made both in land and water (for carriages and ships) so that the travellers who are not acquainted with the road, can reach their destinations, without the fear from the wild animals; besides this, bridges, saráis (inns) and public Offices have been built for the good of the people. Impartial laws have been framed, trees have been planted on both sides of the roads, to shadow the travellers. Cannals, tanks, BANDS, & wells have also been built Lucifer matches, electric & gaslights have been introduced, Police have been appointed; for the protection of the subjects. Ice machine and many other inventions have been brought into use. Dispensaries & Market have been opened; the people are enjoying the benefits from mint mills, silver, & gold mines, telescope, spectacles of varieties watches, clock observatories &c. The people were never in such a place, even in the times of our well known Kings Vikram Aditya & Yudhistir, as they are free from all fears, at present, under the auspicious rule of Her Majesty's For these public goods, Pandit Lalchand gives his best thanks to Her Majesty's Government.

THE IMPERIAL ASSEMBLAGE.

DEHLI.

The important assemblage took place on the 1st January 1877 at Dehli. Her Majesty took the title of Kaiser Hind or the Empress of India. All the Rajas and Maharajas, Nawabs, Chiefs Sardars, the editors, and correspondents of News-papers, the Civil and Military officers and the trading Merchants were invited to join it. The seats for the Native chiefs were arranged in semi-circular form. The numbers of salute guns of the chiefs in general, was increased, and they received high honours, such as, the banners and titles, on this gracious occasion.

THE RAWAL PINDI DARBAR.

This gathering was held to witness the camp of exercise which took place here. The army was divided into two divisions the one attacking the other and this defending itself. They were stationed from Umbala to Dehli. Both the attack and defence were pretty well. This was the specimen of real fight, only the balls, shots or any kind of weapons were not used. The cavalry, the artillery and the infantry were equally on command. Many of the Native chiefs and their generals attended it. And also the Amir of Cabul named Abdur Rahiman Khan was invited and he attended the Darbar,

His Excellency the Viceroy and Governor-General treated the Amir kindly and warmly Money, guns, rifles &c. were given him as present. Then the Amir left for Cabul.

THE CALCUTTA EXHIBITION

This Exhibition was held in 1884. The important products, arts & and industry of the country were exhibited. There were different courts for the goods of different provinces and countries.

Nearly all the Maharajas and Chiefs of India visited it and they purchased various a valuable things from the Exhibition.

The courts were beautifully decorated and many persons came out to visit them from distant countries.

THE PESHAWAR DARBAR.

This Darbar was held in November 1887 when His Excellency the Viceroy and Governor General returned from his frontier tour. A large elephant procession with a grand display passed through the city which was magnificently decorated.

In this Darbar, all the frontier chiefs and tribes men were present His Excellency read out his persian speeoh the contents of which were as follows.

Whereever His Excellency went on his frontier tour he found the chiefs and tribesmen loyal and their conduct was satisfactory. His Excellency was highly pleased to see the chiefs and tribesmen maintaining peace throughout the country, where His Excellency paid a flying visit.

BATTLE OF CRECY.

This battle was fought between the French and the English on the 26th August 1346. The French far out numbered the English, but they were undisciplined and ill-led and their Genoese cross-women, whose bow-strings had just been so wetted by a shower as to be almost useless, gave way before the terrible Volleys of the English archers, still their was sharp-fighting, and at one time Edward, Prince of Wales, a lad of 16 on his first campaign, was so surely pressed that a knight was sent to his father to beg for reinforcements. The king, on learning that his son was neither slain nor wounded, refused. "Let the boy win his spurs," he said (that is, prove himself worthy of knight hood); and gallantly they were one. "Fair son" said the king at the end of the day, embracing the young Prince, "God give you perseverance! You are my son, for loyally you have acquitted yourself this day; you are worthy to hold land."

BATTLE OF ASSAYE.

Assaye a small village in Hindustan Barar Province situated 28 miles North of Jaulna, and two hundred and twenty North East from Bombay is chiefly remarkable as the spot where the battle was fought, on September 23, 1803 between the British and Native forces under Wellington, then General Wellesley and the combined armies of Daulat Rao Sindhia and the Raja of Berar. The forces under Wellesley Amounted to 14300 of which 4500 were brought into action. The combined Indian army is variously stated at 30000 to 50000, and of these about 10000 are regularly disciplined infantry commaned by the French officer. Notwithstanding this desperity of Numbers, the enemy was completely routed, and British supremacy established in India. 98 pieces of cannon, 7 standards, the camp equipage and a large quantity of ammunition, fell into the hands of the Victors. The slain on the side of the British Indian army, amounted to 1566 men, killed and wounded, on that of the confederates to 1200.

BATTLE OF WATERLOO.

Not a year had passed when Buonaparte returned to France, where he was again received as Ruler. His old soldiers rallied round him, while the Allied Powers whose representatives were then sitting at Vienna to settle the affairs of Europe, declared him an outlaw and made ready for war, Great Britain granted large subsidies, to her allies, whose finances were so exhausted that without such assistance they would have been unable to move. The English Commander-in-chief, now Duke of Wellington, and the Prussian General Blucher gathered their forces together in the Netherlands. Buonaparte designing to interpose between the British and the Prussian armies, and to overthrow them separately, crossed the frontier to attack them on their own ground. After severe engagements between the English and the French at Quartre Bras, and the French and the Prussians at Signy, June 16, 1815 Wellington and Buonaparte joined battle near Waterloo, June 18. The day was stubbornly contested, the British standing with the utmost firmness for more than 5 hours until the Prussians as they had promised, came up to their support. The Imperial guard, the flower of the Buonaparte's army, then advancing to the charge against the British was driven back; upon this Buonaparte seeing that all was lost, fled and the Victory was complete. The British and the Prussians entered Paris; while Buonaparte, finding it impossible to carry out his design of escaping to the United-States, surrendered himself on board the British man of war Bellerophon, and was sent by the allied sovereigns captive to the Island of St. Helena, a British possession where he ended his days, May 5, 1821.

THE CELEBRATION OF JUBLIEE IN INDIA.

Her Majesty's Jubilee celebration in India was an uncommon instance, with great pomp grandeur on the 16th and 17th June 1887. A great rejoicing and festival was kept up for two days in all the Native State as well as in British India. There was a General holiday in all the offices and schools, large Darbars were held in cities and towns, salute guns were fired, cities were illuminated fireworks displayed, speeches and addresses were delivered. The Native chiefs showed their loyalty warmly to the Government. Dancing and singing parties were given, school boys were fed, prisoners were released from the jails. Many schools offices, bridges were built in the memory to the Jubilee. Societies, Institutions and news-papers were set up and called after the Jubilee. Most hearty congratulation with thanks should be given to Her Majesty.

JUBILEE CELEBRATION IN LONDON.

I have been favored with this account by Chaubay Khub Chand one of the followers of His Highness Maharajah of Holkar, (in his London trip). The population of London was about 5 Millions and is equal to a territory 12 miles long and 8 miles broad i. e. nearly 125 square miles.

London is the Capital of England, and is situated on the both banks of the River Thames.

Her Majesty's Jubilee was celebrated here on the 21st of June 1887. Almost all the ruling princes of India, members of the foreign Royal families, merchants, editors, and correspondents of the newspapers, ambassadors, agents and representatives of Native Princes of India, Military and Civil officers and nearly all the representatives of the Nations in the World attended the ceremony that is to say, there were no country, religion or community in the world whose members were absent on this gracious occasion.

HER GRACIOUS MAJESTY VICTORIA ALEXANDRIA THE QUEEN EMPRESS OF INDIA.

Victoria means, Victorious and Alexandria means Majestic like Alexander the Great because Her Majesty is Victorious, prosperous and Majestic like the said Greek King. Her Majesty's Dominions are far larger than those of the renowned Greek King; Viz—India with its adjacent Islands, and England with its neighbouring Isles, that is Ceylon, Singhapur Malacca, Australia, Newzealand, Southern Africa, America, Canada, and the Islands about it.

All men know that the Sun does not rise and set at the one and the same time in every country: besides this, the Dominions of Her Majesty are very large therefore it is a well known fact that the Sun never sets in the dominions of Her Majesty, that is the sun is always shining in one of the parts of Her Majesty's Dominions.

Whatever praise may be said of Her Majesty still much of it remains, which is beyond expression. In short whatever good qualities the parents wish to be in their children and children wish them to be in their parents all of them are found in Her Majesty. Owing to lamentable death of Her Majesty's husband and mother Her Majesty always likes to live in loneliness. At the same time there is no difference in the discharge of the sovereign duties in giving free and impartial justice to the subjects. All of the subjects should pray for her long life and happiness, who is so kind and just and under whose reign the people of this country enjoy undisturbed peace.

THE JUBILEE CELEBRATION AT JODHPUR.

The Jubilee marks the most important event of the year. It was observed with great eclat in February 1887, in Marwar.

- (1) There was a Grand Darbar of the Nobles, Sirdars, and high officials of the State, held on the evening on the 17th February at Rai-ka-bag.
- (2) An Imperial salute of 101 guns was fired.
- (3) A review of the Marwar forces was held.
- (4) A permanent Jubilee memorial was adopted.
- (5) A dinner and BALL was provided.
- (6) 50 prisoners were released.
- (7) A general holiday was observed.
- (8) There were illumination and pyrotechnic works.

On the 17th February 1887, the grand Darbar was held at Rai-ka-bag at 5-0' clock in the evening.

All the ladies and gentlemen having taken their respective seats, His Highness the Maharaja arrived in due course, and was received with a few dejoy of the cavalry and infantry, which were arranged in review order, the bands playing, " God save the Queen " The formal business of the Darbar being over, Major E. A. Fraser, Additional Political Agent and Guardian to the Heir apparent of Jodhpur in the absence of col. Powlett the Resident, who was unavoidably prevented by same important Boundary works, in the Sirohi Border, rose and read the followig address on behalf of His Highness the Maharaja, the Vernacular translation of the same being read by Munshi Hardiyal Singh Secretary to the Musahib-Alá.

ADDRESS.

" Ladies, gentlemen and Sardars, I rise by desire of His Highness the Maharaja of Jodhpur and in the unavoidable absence of col. Powlett, the Resident, on other duty, to address a few words to this assembly. in the first place His Highness wishes me to state briefly what has been done in Jodhpur to commemorate Her Majesty's Jubilee, as possibly some of those present are not fully acquainted with the arrangements that have been made. A sum of Rs. 15000 has been granted in aid of the Institute in London. The public offices which are in course of construction at an estimate of over 3½ lacks of Rupees will be considered as permanent memorials of this occasion.

A portrait in oils of His Highness's son and heir Sardar-Singh is to be presented to the Queen Empress.

Further a grand Darbar of the Nobles and the officials of the state is held this day, with the review of the troops, to be followed by illumination and fire-works. The release of 50 prisoners from the jail, Royal salute, school feasts, charitable gifts and alms to the poor and banquets.

Similar holidays, illumination and festivities have also been arranged in the districts away from the Capital.

His Highness has tried in every way to make the occasion as much as possible one of the public and general rejoicings.

It affords the Maharaja great pleasure to see you around him to day and to feel that the hearts of all present are stirred by a true spirit of loyal and devotion to our wise, noble, and gracious sovereign, the Queen Empress, whose love and sympathy to-wards all classes in her Eastern dominions has been so freely given during her long and prosperous reign.

Ruling chiefs in the position of the Maharaja are well aware how intimately the security of their States is connected with the permanence and stability of the great Empire which the event of the past half century, have served to develope and consolidate.

May long live H. H. the Maharaja of Jodhpur, who is glorious & loyal to the British Crown. May he enjoy happiness, with all his brothers & family. This is the prayer of Pandit LalChand.

H. R. H. THE PRINCE OF WALES.

His Royal Highness, the Prince of Wales, visited India in 1876. Rajàhs, Maharajàhs, chiefs and people of India, who cannot go to England were satisfied to see H. R. H. the son of their Empress here. H. R. H. made many native princes, his honourary Aide-de-camp & bestowed the medal thereof on them as especially, Maharajah Kishore Singhji Sahib, the commander in chief of the Marwar Forces & brother to his Highness, the Maharaja of Jodhpore received both of the above mentioned honours, at the hands of H. R. H. with great pleasure. Besides this, H. R. H. appointed Maharajadhiraj Col. Sir Pratap Singh, the brother of the above mentioned Maharajah of Jodhpore, his Aide-de camp, & gave him the medal thereof & showed him special kindness bestowing upon him, these honours for his life, paying the price of the medal from this Royal Highness' own pocket. At the present Silver Wedding of their Royal Highnesses' Her Majesty the Queen Empress, in person paid a visit of congratulation to their Royal Highness, at Marlborough House, and remained to the banquet which was held there in the evening, at which the Royal princes, & other members of the Foreign Royalties, were also present. In celebration of the event, London was gorgeously illuminated.

Pandit Lalchand, gives his best congratulation, on this Wedding to their Royal Highness. May long live, their Royal Highness, the Prince & Princess of Wales, under the protection, of Her Majesty.

His Royal Highness, the Duke of Edenborough.

H. R. H. the Duke of Edenborough also, visited the country and thus, the chiefs, and the people, had an opportunity, to see the son of their sovereign in their own country. General rejoicing was kept up throughout the country. Great enthusiasm was shown in giving H. R. H. entertainments, with dancing and singing, fireworks, and illumination. By the grace, of the Almighty God, His Royal Highness, returned to his native land, safely, after visiting the important places in India. May long live the Duke, the son of our Gracious Empress in sound health.

To be presented to His Royal Highness the Duke of Cannaught, Commamder-in-Chief of Bombay.

1. Her Majesty the Queen Empress of India, has been very gracious tous, to send your Royal Highness, with Her Royal Highness the Duchess of Cannaught, to India.

2. We the people of India, who cannot go to England, owing to certain causes, and cannot see Her Majesty have the goodfortune, to see your Royal Highness here.

3. But, we are so much pleased to see your Royal Highness as if we see Her Majesty; according to our sacred writings " a son is the image of the parent ,,

4. Your Royal Highness' appointment as the Commander-in-chief of the Bombay Presidency is our good luck.

We offer our congratulations on your Highness, this appointment.

5. May your Royal Highness, with your family and brothers enjoy happy and glorious life for ever, under the protection of Her Majesty.

6 We shall be highly pleased to see your Royal Highness appointed as the Commander-in-chief of India and afterwards the Viceroy and Governor-General of this country. This is prayer of Pandit Lalchand.

SPEECH BY HIS ROYAL HIGHNESS THE DUKE OF CANNAUGHT OF THE VOLUNTEER ARTILLERY CORPS.

BOMBAY 14TH FEBRUARY 1888.

This mornig the Duke of Cannaught inspected the Artillery Corps Addressing the men His Royal Highness said;—“ when your corps was first raised it was considered questionable whether Volunteer Artillery here would be a success; but the few months you have been in existence has removed all doubt, and Major Roughton is to be congratulated upon the gratifying results which his great care and attention have achieved. I am convinced the movement was one in the right direction and that each member of the corps has devoted due and proper attention to his duty, you have done a great deal of useful work; but remember that there is much to be done. I know you have laboured under difficulties, but hope here may be some means by which you will be enabled to drill under more favourable circumstances and to have head-quarters of your own, with dummy guns and stores close at hand. In your past drills you have had all the disadvantages of makeshift arrangements which I trust will be speedily improved upon. I am very glad you have come forward to form this corps for both here and in Calcutta Volunteer, Artillery corps were much needed. Owing to the many calls for artillery in all parts of India some auxiliary assistance in these garrisons was necessary. I am therefore very much pleased to find that so great an interest is being taken by you in your work, and to see you have attained such proficiency.”

May God keep such a Duke safe and healthy and prolong his life for ever. This is the prayer of Pandit Lalchand.

ROYALTY AT A NATIVE WEDDING.

On Wednesday, at the invitation of Mr. Vurjeevandas Madhavdas, the head of well-known and ancient Madhavdas Runchordas family, and of Mr. Hurkissondas Narotumdas, Mr. Vurjeevandas's nephew, their Royal Highness the Duke and Duchess of Connaught were pleased to honour by their presence the performance of the marriage ceremonies at Bombay of Mr. Hurkkissondas's daughter.

This is the first joyous occasion, when the member of the English Royalty, the son of our most Gracious Queen Empress, joined in the Marriage ceremony of a principal native gentleman (the subject of Her Majesty). Owing to this cause the whole of the Indian subjects are extremely loyal to Her majesty, such as the people were faithful and loyal to the Emperor Akbar and many Rajputes sacrificed their lives in his cause, in many battles against his formidable enemies. May God protect Her majesty for ever, this the prayer of Pandit Lalchand.

HIS EXCELLENCY LORD DUFFERIN THE VICEROY AND GOVERNOR GENERAL OF INDIA.

The people of India generally are praising Lord Dufferin, who tried his best to make the Indian population happy and appreciated the loyalty and knowledge thereof bestowed upon them the honors and the titles with the medals such as His Excellency did three pandits at Benares, at the opening of the Dufferin Bridge there. Also Pandit Lalchand wishes to receive the similar honors at His Excellency's hands, as the reward for his work " The Jubilee Promodika " His Excellency's sweet speeches filled the hearts of Aryans with pleasure, and the eloquent speeches were agreeable to their ears, His Excellency always has extreme consideration to obey the Views of Her Majesty's orders. He gave at all times, advice knowledge and ease to the subjects, and made the chiefs and tribesmen happy while on his frontier tour and opened a bridge across the Ganges at Benares in his name.

I write an address as a congratulation at the opening of the Bridge.

ADDRESS.

O Lord Dufferin ! thou, by opening the comfortable bridge hast removed the troubles which the inhabitants of Kashi had to suffer from rain, cold, air, railway and sun when they had no bridge over the River. These troubles could not be removed by any one except God.

Thou hast opened the Dufferin Bridge for the comfort of the people. May this act of benevolence prolong thy life. Thou with thy family mayst ever enjoy happy and glorious life.

By thy justice lion and goat, having forsaken their natural enmity drink water at one spot. As thou art the hero of heroes, so thou mayst live with glory. The opening of the bridge may be welcome to thee. This is the prayer of P. Lalchand.

Yours well wisher.

GOVERNMENT SECRETARIES.

I have to thank the Govt. Secretaries and other European high Officials of Her Majesty's Govt. who have been kind enough to favor me, with the letters of thanks, as mentioned below. I have written more than one shlokes (stanza) in honour each of them.

Foreign, military, & Private Secretaries to the Govt of India.

His Excellency the Governors, of Bombay and Madras; His Excellency, the Commander-in-chief of India; the commissioners of Delhi & Benares.

Col. Waltar, the Agent Governor General for Rajputana.

Col. Waltar, has tried his best to benefit the people & treated the ruling chiefs with great kindness & honoured them with titles & medals by visiting the capitals of their states; such as he did His Highness, the Maharana of Udeypore; as follows;—

INVESTITURE AT UDEYPORE.

The Máharáná of Udeypore, on the 10th December, Saturday afternoon was invested with the insignia of Grand Commander of the star of India by Col. Walter, in brilliant Darbar, held in outer Court of the palace.

In investing His Highness, Col. Walter said the pleasure of being a few days in Udeypore again enhanced the pleasure he felt in presenting the Máharáná with the insignia of an Order instituted as the highest mark of royal favour for important services. Mewár had been ever faithful to the British Crown & he only hoped the star of the house would ever shine bright. The star about the Maharáná's breast & the collar might be regarded as symbols of the links in the chain of loyalty & frindship which always, bound Mewár to the British Empire.

I beg to offer my heart congratulation to His Highness, the Maharánà upon this mark of Imperial appriciation, which have been bestowed on him. Long may he live and the admiring effection gratitude, & loyalty of his people & in the enjoyments of the confidence of our beloved queen Empress.

Col. P. W. Powlett the Resident of Jodhpore.

Since his appointment in the Jodhpore Residency, he has made the people happy and the Native states have received innumerable benefits at his hands. May God, keep him in Rajputana with continued promotion. Such as a kind hearted Official can be found by good luck; for this reason we Marwaris are very fortunate to have him as our Resident. May God keep him in sound health & give prolonged life.

Thanks to God the Almighty Creator.

I write seven slokes (stanzás) in celebration, as thanks to the Almighty Creator, who has been kind enough to make me finish the book, without any obstacle.

Chaubay Raghunath Prasad, the translator of the book.

In conclusion, I have to thank my worthy friend, Chaubay Raghunath Prasad, the late Head master of the Rampore Rohelcund School & the late Naib Vakil, Indore Darbár in the Residency Indore who has assisted me in my composition furnishing me with important matter as well as translating the book for me. I have found Raghunath Prasad by the PRASAD (favour) of Raghunath (Ram) Vishnu (the supreme being of the Hindus).
