

SNOW IN GLENDALE

RAIN STORM FORESTALLS HEAVY FROST—IS SUCCEEDED BY SNOW WHICH MELTS AS IT FALLS

As far as Southern California is concerned the weather prophet proved wrong in his forecast of a killing frost for Thursday morning. Instead of frost rain came. This was fortunate as it kept the frost away. Throughout the northern part of the state the forecast held good.

Rain began to fall last night in Glendale. It ceased and began again fitfully and by morning had settled into a steady downpour. By 10 a. m. this drizzle had changed into snow and the people of Glendale were treated to a sight such as they have not beheld for many years. The snow melted as it fell, at first, but after a while it began to show signs of accumulating in places. A heavy snow-storm has been raging in the mountains all night.

In North Glendale the snow seemed somewhat heavier than in the city.

Mr. H. E. Bartlett of 101 S. Brand boulevard, who has kept the weather records since 1906, says that in all that time he has had no record of snow. This is the first time there has been a fall of snow during almost nine years that could be called appreciable. "Since last night up to 8 a. m. this morning," said Mr. Bartlett, "there has been a rainfall of .11 of an inch. I have seen snow fall at Uplands and I believe it has fallen in other years at Pomona and is falling there during this storm; but Glendale is certainly witnessing a fall of snow for the first time during the years I have been in the city."

In every way the rain is a welcome visitor, as citrus growers, having no reason to anticipate any such unseasonable weather as the "killing frost" foretold by the San Francisco weather man, had made little preparation for such conditions. In some districts the smudge pots were ready but fortunately were not needed.

As the day advances the snow fall gets heavier and vacant lots have become white in places, which is quite an extraordinary sight for the citizens of Glendale. There will be few children of the present generation who can say as so many have been able to say in the past, that they never saw snow.

LANES ENTERTAIN

The Yuletide decorations of holly and mistletoe were effectively used throughout all rooms and as a table adornment when the O. C. Lanes, Sr., entertained relatives at dinner Christmas day in their cozy home at 1427 Vine street. After a delicious course dinner in keeping with the season, the gifts left by Santa Claus upon a beautifully trimmed tree were untied by Mr. and Mrs. O. A. Lane, Mrs. E. J. Lane of Glendale; O. C. Lane, Jr., and Miss Dora Kennedy, both of Burbank, and the charming host and hostess for the day.

McBRYDE'S GROCERY WINS IN WINDOW DISPLAY CONTEST

McBryde's Grocery, 1208 west Broadway, Glendale, which entered a window display contest put on by the Association of Hawaiian Pineapple Packers about a month ago, received a check Wednesday morning as their award for winning first prize in the contest, which was participated in by retail stores all over the United States. Mr. N. W. McBryde says that the window decorations cost very little money and as the picture was also taken by members of the grocery firm the prize money was practically clear gain.

A HAPPY CHRISTMAS DAY

Happy, indeed, was the Christmas day dinner gathering at the W. M. Crawford home, 916 South Central avenue. The day afforded Mr. Crawford the pleasure of acting as host for the occasion after his serious illness and operations, performed early in the month of November.

Crimson poinsettias and Christmas greens adorned the attractive table, at which covers were arranged for Mrs. A. Williams of Sawtelle and her daughter, Mrs. J. E. Yancey of Bakersfield; Rev. I. H. Henry and those presiding, Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Crawford.

COLORADO WILL BE DRY

DENVER, Colo., Dec. 30.—Colorado's saloons and liquor stores, to be closed by law after tomorrow night, enjoyed great and final prosperity today. One of the saloon keepers forced to close up is the Colorado Fuel and Iron Company, owned by John D. Rockefeller. Their mining camp saloons will be forced out also.

PRaise FOR CLIMATE

DR. A. E. JOHNSON, FROM MINNESOTA, THINKS GLENDALE A FORETASTE OF PARADISE

After twenty-five years spent in the fierce winter cold of northern Minnesota, Dr. A. E. Johnson decided some time ago to come to Glendale, where he found a climate that answered all his standards of natural beauty, healthiness, sanitation, good water supply and intelligent and kindly neighbors. For five years the doctor has been in the habit of visiting different parts of the Pacific coast in search of the ideal climate and he is satisfied at last that he could not go any farther a. u. fare better than in this delightful city of the foothills.

"When I left Minnesota," said the doctor to a representative of The Glendale Evening News, "the state was wrapped in the embrace of winter. Everything was frozen tight. The ice stood in the water pitcher in the morning; the dry snow driven on the wings of the winter blizzards sifted through invisible cracks of the most carefully constructed houses."

"For twenty-five years I have had my residence in Cloquet, the famous lumber town, about twenty miles west of Duluth. I had an excellent practice there. The town is practically owned by the Weyerhaeuser Lumber company. It is the largest lumber town in the United States, that is to say, it produces more lumber than any other town in the United States."

"It may easily be conceived that there was no lack of practice in that place. A medical man could have there the advantage of as varied a practice as he could expect in the clinics of a city hospital. Twenty-five years of that work predisposes one for a milder climate and scenes where life is not so strenuous. I therefore have chosen Glendale, which I picked out for my residence after five years' search. One gets a foretaste of Paradise in this lovely garden city."

"I have taken rooms and an office in the T. A. Wright building, Broadway, and there I hope to build up a general practice such as that to which I have been accustomed. I am a regular practitioner and have the regular degree of M. D. (doctor of medicine). My long and varied practice in Minnesota entitles me to more restful surroundings and I feel sure I have found them in this city."

"Already I have found a large circle of acquaintances and friends. At church and in the lodge I am daily making further acquaintance with the many excellent people who are citizens of Glendale. When my wife comes west in the spring, as she intends to do, we will take up a house somewhere and extend our acquaintanceship still further. We are both of us desirous of doing whatever duties we may be called on to discharge in the community."

"From everything I see and from my widening circle of friends I learn every day how fortunate I have been in choosing this city as my place of business and my abode. When I hear Glendale people talking of the present weather as 'cold' I just think with some amusement how they would feel if suddenly set down on the bleak shores of Lake Superior with one of the winter lake storms arising with death in his breath. I am content."

MR. GILLIS IN GLENDALE

Walter E. Gillis, superintendent of the Seventh-day Adventist publishing house in Shanghai, China, arrived in Glendale yesterday, having just crossed the Pacific on the Persia Maru. He left Shanghai November 10, and arrived in San Francisco on Christmas day, having spent several weeks in Japan. He probably will remain in Glendale several months.

Mr. Gillis has been in charge of the publishing plant at Shanghai for the past five years. He will remain in America for nearly a year on furlough, returning in time for a large conference meeting in November. He heartily endorses the creation of the Asiatic Division conference, which was brought about last month by the denominational leaders at their world convention in Loma Linda, Cal. He said the work of the Adventists is growing so rapidly in China that added facilities must be provided at once. "The circulation of the Adventist magazine, printed in native Chinese characters, is at least twice as large as that of the combined circulation of all other magazines in that country," said Mr. Gillis. "The output of our books and tracts in Chinese compares favorably with that of other denominations, in spite of the fact that we have been in China but a few years."

WEATHER FORECAST—Clearing tonight; Friday fair; continued cold; freezing temperature Friday morning; northeasterly winds.

One of the Austrian destroyers, the Litta, was sunk; another, the Triglav, was literally smothered under a shower of shells and blew up. The rest of the Austrian vessels fled.

TRAINING FOR NAVY

HILL MCGILLIS TELLS OF STRICT DISCIPLINE AT THE GOAT ISLAND STATION

After graduating from the Glendale High school in the class of 1915, Hill McGillis, son of J. N. McGillis, 205 Lomita avenue, chose the United States navy as his profession. He entered the United States naval training station at San Francisco and has been there for a period of six months. "I have been home for the Christmas holidays," said Hill, to a representative of the Glendale Evening News, "and have enjoyed my visit with my family and old friends very much, but I am quite anxious to get back again to San Francisco and begin the real life of the United States navy. I expect that I will be sent out to Manila and that I will be on the Asiatic station for a long time, cruising throughout the Far East, up to Japan and perhaps as far as Vladivostok."

"In the naval training station at San Francisco the great feature is discipline. To obey is the first duty of Uncle Sam's naval boys. Once that principle has been drilled into their heads they begin to learn their duties quickly. The station is the scene of constant activity from early morning to a reasonable hour at night. We have infantry drill, artillery drill, physical drill on the Swedish system. I cannot speak too highly of this system. It is the best setting-up drill that is known. One can see the difference it makes in the boys in a very short time. Their chests begin to develop and their muscles to clothe their bodies in admirable symmetry."

"We have also been taught marine signalling, which is interesting and highly useful. Navigation we learn from books and put as much of it in practice as can be done on shore. It is always possible to use the sextant and to become thoroughly acquainted with the use of the compass; to take the altitude of a star and indeed to learn all the practical parts of navigation. Boat sailing is another part of our training which is interesting and highly popular."

"It is always possible for a naval apprentice to go into the yeoman branch of the service. In that case he would be sent to Mare Island and there given a thorough education and training in clerical work incident to the navy; typewriting, bookkeeping and other practical commercial subjects. There are only three schools of this nature in the United States. "Three other Glendale boys besides myself are in the naval school. These are Ben Durham, Chancellor Livingstone and Donald Cowlin. They entered about the same time as I did and are likely to be drafted to different ships. Cowlin is in the hospital school. We are all looking forward with much interest to our coming foreign travel. The station at Oakland is fitted up for 1200 men and has at present about 900 men in training. Quite a number of these will be drafted to sea-going ships in the first week of the new year. I expect to leave about January 8 and be gone for quite a while."

TOURNAMENT OF ROSES

With both championship football squads trained to a hair and a million blossoms ready for the floats in the Tournament of Roses, all is in readiness for the twenty-seventh annual New Year's day celebration at Pasadena, Cal. Preparation has been made for the largest crowd in history, 10,000 additional seats having been placed in Tournament park.

The day's program will open with the midwinter floral pageant in which hundreds of floats will appear. All must be decorated with flowers, but not an artificial blossom will be allowed. Every city in Southern California will be represented in the parade.

At 1 o'clock in the afternoon the Universal Film company will take motion pictures of the pageant at Tournament park in full view of the public. The floral spectacle will be worked into a Southland romance.

Following the pictures at 2:15 o'clock comes the clash for gridiron supremacy between the west and east coasts. The Washington State University squad will meet the Brown University huskies. The game is the first intercoastal ever staged, and it has aroused country-wide interest. In the evening a complimentary ball will be tendered the visiting football players.

The Junior class of the Glendale High school is making most elaborate preparations for its New Year's eve dancing party given in the Masonic hall, Brand boulevard. The Thorpe orchestra of Glendale will furnish the terpsichorean numbers.

GLENDALE AT SHOW

LARGE NUMBER LOCAL BREEDERS ARE EXHIBITORS AT LOS ANGELES POULTRY SHOW

Walter M. Ross of the Red Wing ranch, who is secretary of the Poultry Breeders' association of Southern California, says that practically all the prominent breeders of Glendale are among the exhibitors at the Los Angeles poultry show this week. All the best birds that were shown in this city are in the Los Angeles lists. "In all," said Mr. Ross, "there are 1,500 birds on exhibition. This comprises 87 different varieties. There are 50 turkeys in the pens. Twenty of these come from the famous Elliott-Brant ranch at Owensmouth."

"There is a fine selection in every class. A. P. McDonnell of Vine street, is showing his fine White Rock birds. Dr. G. Irwin Royce is conspicuous with his Ravens, Bluettes and bantams. H. L. Gill is in the lists with his barred Plymouth Rocks. Unfortunately R. M. Whitten, Kenneth Road, is unable to be present on account of the serious illness of his father, so that a formidable competitor has been removed from the White Orpington class."

A. G. Goodacre has on exhibition his famous Partridge Orpington which has been exhibited at Crystal Palace, London, Eng.; Madison Square Gardens, New York city; at Chicago, St. Louis, Seattle and at all the Western shows. This bird is attracting much attention.

C. E. Batey of Anconaland; John D. Alexander of Tropic; B. F. Nance, the breeder of Campines; J. P. McDonnell, C. W. Thomason and some others will do credit to the Glendale district.

A number of fancy pheasants, peacocks and guinea fowls are also on exhibition. One feature of the show is the large number of real estate men who are advertising their poultry land. In this section San Fernando valley land shows up well as an ideal poultry country. There is a fine exhibit of electric incubators and breeders.

FAMILY AFFAIR

Society has been enjoying a busy week, with the promise of many gay affairs to usher in the New Year.

An elaborate family dinner of very recent date was given by Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Archer in their attractive home at 621 West Seventh street, the day being December 25th.

The oval board was most artistically decorated, the center of which held a cascade shower of Black Prince roses and strands of smilax falling to the white damask cloth.

Members seated at the festive board included Dr. and Mrs. S. Young and little daughter Winona of Los Angeles, Mr. and Mrs. Warren Roberts, Dr. and Mrs. E. F. Archer and son Lyle and the dear parents, who were host and hostess for the happy occasion.

The finding and opening of gifts which had been carefully hidden in the holly-decorated living and dining-rooms afforded the amusement and fun during the afternoon following the dinner hour.

JUNIOR CLASS DANCE

It is expected that a most enjoyable time will be provided by the Juniors of Glendale High school at their dance, Friday, December 31. The Juniors are a lively crowd and brimful of fun and hospitality, so that all who are fortunate enough to be able to attend the last dance of the old year will enter on the new year in good and jolly company. The dance will be given in the Masonic temple. Thorpe's orchestra will provide the music. A charge of 75 cents a couple will be made. The executive committee is: Harry Glazier, Marjorie Imler, Catherine Phillips, Evangeline Hunchberger and Margaret Boucher.

ANNUAL CHURCH MEETING

The annual meeting at the Central Christian church on New Year's eve promises to be the largest in attendance and interest that has ever been held in the history of this church.

Roll call of the entire membership, numbering nearly 300, yearly election of officers for the church and Sunday school, as well as the reading of reports in all departments of the church, will make this a most important meeting.

Unique social features will brighten the occasion and at the conclusion of the evening the ladies of the church will serve refreshments.

No collection taken nor money asked for. Every member or friend interested in this church is urged to attend the New Year's eve meeting.

CAPTAIN BOY-ED'S FAREWELL

Captain Boy-Ed, discredited attache of the German embassy at Washington, felt that he could not leave the United States without getting rid of some of the "venom of his spleen." Evidently the gallant captain thought it impossible to say farewell to the United States without saying what he thought of the newspapers and other features of American daily life.

Had an American attache taken on himself to have uttered so much criticism of German powers it is doubtful if the incident might not have become international. It is characteristic, however, of the German junker to despise all who are not of his "class" and slavishly to worship those above him while being unspeakably and vulgarly insolent to those whom he considers below him.

It goes without saying that anyone who is so "low" as to edit a newspaper is in the gay captain's estimation a very low fellow indeed. Therefore, after having been compelled to digest his bitter feelings throughout a long time he at last gave vent to them when on the eve of sailing for his beloved Prussia. The statement given by Boy-Ed at the last moment attempted to insinuate that his expulsion from the United States was the result of newspaper misrepresentations. As a matter of fact, Boy-Ed was known to the United States government to have been carefully fostering and financing in behalf of his own government daily plots against American industries, against the safety of this government and against the lives of its citizens. His personal connection with those plots was carefully ascertained before he was declared "persona non grata" and his recall requested.

One of the singular statements made by Boy-Ed is so characteristic of the German "junker" that it is worth while noting: "Our enemies have been and are being supplied by the United States with all forms of death-dealing munitions of war without which they would long since have been overcome." Naturally; if the French and British and Russians and the brave Belgians had been unarmed it would have been very easy for Germany to have overcome them; but only half-armed as they have been Germany has found it impossible to overcome them. It would be very convenient, of course, for a nation to find some other nation to disarm its foes and then to go in itself and effect their destruction.

In fact Boy-Ed is as childish as he is devoid of the moral sense. He talks like a baby and, using the weakest of arguments, seems to think that the American intelligence is so low that it will never notice the difference. The idea that the end justifies the means is part and parcel of the creed of the superman; but it is not the creed of any loyal American or of any self-respecting man. Boy-Ed and others of his ilk have fared very poorly when their modern ideas of political morality, international faith and the plighted word have come in contact with the plain republicanism of the United States.

EFFECT OF WAR ON BIRTH RATE

Not only is war a wastage of human life, it also acts indirectly on the birth rate and still further reduces the numerical strength of a nation. In Great Britain among the civilian population there were 77,000 fewer babies this year than in 1913. There were also more than 50,000 additional deaths among the same population. In the County of London alone 17,000 fewer babies were born. In Greater London, which includes contiguous suburbs, there was a birth decrease of 25,000 within the year, while 15,000 more civilians than normally have died.

London's outer ring, which includes cities not properly termed suburbs, has had 8,000 fewer infants and 5,000 more deaths than in 1913. Birmingham, Manchester, Sheffield, Dublin, Edinburgh and Glasgow also are affected. In addition to the babes unborn, the United Kingdom's frightful infant mortality, indirectly due to the war, is mounting periodically.

Without doubt the effect of the war on the human mind has brought about this unnatural condition. There is little wonder that the ancient litany beseeches the Almighty to deliver us from "plague, pestilence and famine" and also from "battle, murder and sudden death"—from sudden death on account of its effects on the mental attitude of others rather than from a personal point of view.

How can happy domestic conditions prevail when families are rent asunder to provide material for the trenches? Medical men also tell us that the excitement produced by the war tends to bring on consumption or to predispose toward that fell disease. Cerebral hemorrhage and heart disease are also superinduced by worry and shock.

It is significant that the majority of civilian war victims are persons of more than 50 years of age. Four hundred such deaths occurred in London during the single week ending Nov. 20.

"Kultur" has not kept the Germans from being affected in like manner. Figures of mortality and birth rates in Berlin show that the German capital is losing civilians abnormally at the rate of 400 a week. The birth rate is more than 400 less a week than normally. Hamburg, Cologne, Breslau and other German cities also are suffering natural death far in excess of the birth rate.

Vienna reports indicate that the Austrian capital is losing 400 citizens a week either through death or non-existent maternity. Births in Paris are about 390 a week as against 800 normally. The weekly civilian death rate has not been officially computed. The belligerent nations have thus suffered indirect losses as well as direct in the matter of birth and death on account of the war.

The full amount of those losses will not be known for some time. Meanwhile the losses go on and often it is the brightest and most valuable lives that the war god devours. It will be long before Europe makes up those losses.

Wisdom is knowing what to do next; skill is knowing how to do it, and virtue is doing it.—David Starr Jordan.

Still, the fact that President Wilson visited his dentist the other day is no sign that he has lost his nerve.

Austria complains that the United States is not polite. Neither is the killing of non-combatants the finest expression of good manners.

Science says that dimples are defects, and nobody cares a rap what science says on the subject.

NEW YEAR AT THE FAIR

PANAMA-CALIFORNIA INTERNATIONAL EXPOSITION WILL OPEN AT SAN DIEGO JAN. 1, 1916

SAN DIEGO, Dec. 30.—The Panama-California International exposition will succeed the successful Panama-California exposition the moment time turns from midnight of December 31 into the new year of 1916.

The new exposition will be launched informally for a full year's run by the many thousands of "watchers" who will celebrate the technical closing of the 1915 exposition with carnival and specialties on the grounds from 6 o'clock until 12 New Year's eve. After midnight, their celebration will be in welcome to the new exposition and the new year.

Formal official opening of the new exposition, or continuation of the enlarged 1915 fair, will take place during the day of January 1, beginning with a grand military parade at 10 o'clock in the morning in which the officers and men of the warships of the Pacific fleet in the harbor will participate with the coast artillery corps, cavalry and marines, national guard, naval reserves and military organizations. More than 2,500 men will take part and there will be no less than eight bands in the line of march.

Of a comprehensive musical program for the opening day, the outstanding feature will be a concert by Mme. Ernestine Schumann-Heink, assisted by Ellen Beach Yaw, the "California Lark," at the Spreckels outdoor organ, already famous as the largest in the world. Mme. Schumann-Heink, whose home is near San Diego, joyfully wired her willingness to cancel Eastern engagements and appear at the exposition on opening day. The great diva did much toward the musical success of the 1915 exposition and upon her own appearance drew the largest crowd recorded at any event during the year. "Lark Ellen," as Madame Yaw is familiarly known in the musical world, also appeared in concert at the passing exposition and assisted the music committee in many ways.

Specially invited guests of the exposition directors for the opening ceremonies include the governors of all Western states and a goodly number are expected to participate in the exercises. Prominent men, principally from the West, also are expected to attend among the crowds who will take advantage of low rates by rail and water and the system of paved state highways.

Many of the foreign and greater commercial exhibits from the closed San Francisco exposition are arriving for addition to the 1916 exposition here and, as the best of the present exhibits are to be retained, the 1916 fair will display the cream of the exhibits of the two 1915 fairs in the matchless beauty of the buildings and grounds of the San Diego exposition.

MAPLE SYRUP ON SNOW

One of the effects of the extraordinary fall of snow which greeted Glendale's astonished eyes this morning was the wakening up of old memories in the hearts of those who thought of the days when they tapped the sugar maples in midwest and eastern woods and cooled the toothsome dainty on the snowbanks. One who put the idea into practical experiment was Mr. D. A. Lane, 1432 Ivy street. Mr. Lane had on hand some pure maple syrup which he had obtained from his old home in Michigan. When he saw the snow he realized that he must act quickly. He boiled down the syrup and getting a pan of snow cooled the hardening liquid and treated him neighbors to some genuine maple sugar.

PREPARING FOR ELECTION

These are busy days at the city clerk's office. The approaching election is creating work there in addition to the ordinary duties. Some idea of the work that is being done there may be obtained from the fact that the election calls for the issue of 3900 sample ballots to the voters.

Perhaps if the generous Rindge outfit object to having farmers use the road past the ranch, they could be induced to supply the discomfited citizens with flying machines.

Vulcanizer Explodes

What appeared at first to be a death-dealing black hand plot Tuesday morning, proved to be but an explosion of a steam vulcanizer in the O. C. Lane garage.

The tire fixing machine took a notion it wanted to attempt a few of Art Smith's capers. It blew itself through the garage ceiling, soared a couple of hundred feet in the air and dropped on top of Wright's tailoring establishment. At the latter place a hole was broken in the roof and the heavy plate was stopped only when it hit a ceiling beam. Needless to say, the tailor and two customers were terribly frightened.

At the garage, Messrs. Jay Henry and Robert Ackley, who were within twenty feet of the blowout, were left unscathed. The total damage at the garage is estimated at approximately seventy-five dollars. The entire business section was disturbed by the racket until its cause was learned.
