

Boston, June 10, 1842.

Dear bro. May:

91

Our friend James Lincoln calling at our office this morning, I showed him your letter in regard to the time of holding the annual meeting of the Plymouth Society, at East Abington; when he said it would not answer; but he would see you on the subject, and let me know the result.

We have had a Board meeting this morning, and by their request I would state to you that, early in the fall, we shall be glad to employ you as one of the agents of the Mass. A. S. Society, provided you can make your arrangements at Scituate in a manner satisfactory to yourself, and feel disposed to consecrate yourself to the preaching of anti-slavery doctrines, that the prison-doors may be opened, and the captives set free.

We are all pretty well at home. Our best regards to Mrs. May.

In haste,

Your loving friend,

Wm. Lloyd Garrison.

N. B. You will see, by the Liberator of this day, that a series of meetings on anti-slavery and non-resistance is to commence next week on the Cape. Can you not exchange with bro. Wolcott, and attend some of them?

1845

1845

The first of the year was a very dry one, and the crops were much injured. The weather was very hot, and the ground was very hard. The crops were much injured, and the yield was very small. The weather was very hot, and the ground was very hard. The crops were much injured, and the yield was very small. The weather was very hot, and the ground was very hard. The crops were much injured, and the yield was very small.

The second of the year was a very wet one, and the crops were much injured. The weather was very cold, and the ground was very soft. The crops were much injured, and the yield was very small. The weather was very cold, and the ground was very soft. The crops were much injured, and the yield was very small.

The third of the year was a very dry one, and the crops were much injured. The weather was very hot, and the ground was very hard. The crops were much injured, and the yield was very small. The weather was very hot, and the ground was very hard. The crops were much injured, and the yield was very small.

The fourth of the year was a very wet one, and the crops were much injured. The weather was very cold, and the ground was very soft. The crops were much injured, and the yield was very small. The weather was very cold, and the ground was very soft. The crops were much injured, and the yield was very small.

1/2 lb of red pepper
India Ink. -

Samuel J. May,
South Scituate,
Mass.

Wm Lloyd Garrison
June 10, 1842