

ATTRIBUTION GENERATOR: CORRECT LICENSE NOTICES FROM WIKIMEDIA COMMONS AND WIKIPEDIA

<http://attribution-generator.org>

The Attribution Generator creates the correct license attribution for all available pictures on Wikimedia Commons and Wikipedia which are licensed under a Creative Commons license. In order to generate your attribution, you just need to answer three questions:

- Do you want to use the picture online or in a printed publication?
- Do you want to use the picture as-is or would you like to edit it?
- Do you want to use the picture stand-alone or together with other pictures?

The tool generates the license attribution according to your answers. Just copy and paste your result to where you'd like to use it.

So far, more than 30,000 license attributions have been generated with the Attribution Generator since its release in 2016. The Attribution Generator is a service by Wikimedia Deutschland.

Insert the URL of a Wikimedia Commons picture or Wikipedia article and click "Let's Go."

STEP 2

If you pasted the URL of a Wikipedia article, all pictures contained in that article will appear. Please choose one.

STEP 3

Please answer the following questions.

STEP 4

STEP 6

You're done!

STEP 7

Of course, you can also generate an attribution for online use.

STEP 8

You can also create an attribution for edited pictures.
