YANKEES COME FROM BEHIND, WINNING GAME AS WELL AS SERIES

Bob Meusel's chime in with a stinging single that scored two runners and won the game. To Meusel, who like the Babe, was a disappointing hitter in the two past series with the Giants, goes the honor of contributing the hit that won the series for the American League. The fifth run of that heart-breaking lining crossed the plate when Cunningham's in sliding the ball to the plate after Meusel's hit, threw to grandstand. It was a great victory for the Yankees as it showed them in all their fighting tops. They appeared hopelessly beaten in the seventh inning, and it looked as though the series would go into the sixth and deciding game with the teams looking at three games apiece. Pennock Won Two Games Herb Pennock, the fragile Yankee southpaw, gets the credit of being the only pitcher to win two games in the series. He won on Thursday and again to-day. He did not see the game out to-day as he made way for a pinch-hitter in the eighth when Sam Jones pitched the last inning. The Giants scored once in the first, fourth, fifth and sixth by hard hitting. Frank Snyder, the Giants' catcher, got his first hit of the series in the fifth when he clouted one of Pennock's slants for a homerun. Frisch's triple and Meusel's single scored the Giants run in the sixth. The Giants outdid the Yankees for the first time in the series, getting ten solid blows to the champions' bats. The Yankees, however, played heady baseball.

First Inning Yankees—Witt sent up a high fly to Groh. Dugan up. Frisch tossed into the upper right field stands. Meusel fanned. One run, one hit, no errors. Giants—Baneroff up. Baneroff fied out to Witt. Groh singled into left. Frisch got a single off Pennock's leg. Groh going to second. Young up. Groh scored on Young's throw. Frisch and Meusel were thrown out at third. Witt to Dugan. Meusel fanned. One run, three hits, no errors. Second Innings Yankees—Pipp out. Nehf to Kelly. Ward crashed a single into left. Schang hit into a double play. Nehf to Baneroff to Kelly. No runs, one hit, no errors. Giants—Cunningham fied out to Witt. Kelly fouled out to Schang. who ran to the Giants' bench to make the catch. Snyder whiffed. No runs, no hits, no errors. Third Inning Yankees—Scott out. Nehf to Kelly. Pennock up. Nehf also threw out Pennock. Witt fied out to Meusel. No runs, no hits, no errors. Giants—Nehf fanned. Baneroff out. Dugan to Kelly. Groh sent a long liner to Meusel. No runs, no hits, no errors. Fourth Inning Yankees—Dugan up. Frisch robbed Dugan of a hit by a remarkable running catch. Ruth got a base on balls. Meusel up. The Giants protested. Meusel threw out Meusel at first. Ruth going to second. Pipp up. Baneroff threw out Pipp at first. No runs, no hits, no errors. Giants—Frisch up. The crowd cheered Frisch. Frisch beat out a bunt. Young up. Ward threw out Young in the seventh. Frisch went into Witt. Meusel fied out to Witt. Cunningham up. Frisch scored on Cunningham's single to right. Kelly up. Ward threw out Kelly. One run, two hits, no errors. Fifth Inning Yankees—Ward up. Ward went out. Baneroff to Kelly. Schang up. Frisch threw out Schang, robbing him of a hit. Scott up. Frisch tossed out Scott. No runs, no hits, no errors. Giants—Snyder got a home run into the left field stands. It was his first hit of the series. Nehf was a strikeout victim. Baneroff up. Scott got Baneroff at first. Groh sent a fly out to Ruth. One run, one hit, no errors. Sixth Inning Yankees—Pennock up. Pennock struck out. Witt up. Nehf took Witt's hopper and got him at first. Dugan was thrown out by Groh. No runs, no hits, no errors. Giants—Frisch up. Frisch got a long hit into left field for three bases. Young up. Ward threw out Young at first. Frisch holding third. Meusel up. Frisch scored on Meusel's single past Ward. Cunningham went out to Pipp unassisted. Meusel going to second. Kelly struck out. One run, two hits, no errors. Seventh Inning Yankees—Ruth up. Ruth struck out. Meusel up. Groh took Meusel's grounder and got him at first. Pipp up. Baneroff tossed out Pipp at first. No runs, no hits, no errors. Giants—Nehf was pitching a superb game and a bewildering change of pace. Snyder up. Snyder sent a liner into left for a single. Nehf up. Nehf struck out. Baneroff was thrown out on a grounder that bounced from Pennock's gloved hand to Ward, who by a quick throw got to second. Meusel going to second. Groh went out. Scott to Pipp. No run, one hit, no errors. Eighth Inning Yankees—Ward up. Ward's fly fell into Kelly's mit. Schang pushed

LYDD GEORGE IN MINNEAPOLIS

Mr. Lloyd George will arrive in Chicago at noon to-morrow and will leave Thursday to visit Lincoln in Springfield, Ill., where he will speak. Excepting the period of incognito for Wednesday, a busy programme has been planned for the distinguished visitor.

Declared Canada Just on Threshold of Its Greatness
Winnipeg, Oct. 15 (Canadian Press)—Mr. Hon. David Lloyd George, in his last Canadian address, gave to the Canadian people a message of pride in the country's past and confidence in her future. Addressing 5,000 persons here Saturday night in the Olympic rink, the man who guided Britain's destinies through the war's crucial years, aroused his audience to heights of enthusiasm as he eloquently spoke of the achievements of the British Empire and the Canadian army, and of what the Dominion and the Empire should expect to accomplish in the future.

Thanked People
Mr. Lloyd George said in opening that he expected to thank the people of Canada in his last address in the Dominion for the warmth and kindness with which he had received him, his wife and his daughter, and he reacted deeply that he could not go further west. Winnipeg and Manitoba had developed enormously since his previous visit, seven years ago.

Great Opportunity
You have an opportunity in Europe of the quality of the men you turn out. So do our foes. The trouble in 1914 started many a people and came as a test for you. Gallantly did your young men stand it. There were no provinces in the Empire more loyal than the prairie provinces. They turned out tens of thousands of gallant men to aid the Empire in her danger, to fight under the banner of liberty on the battlefields of Europe, and your very distance from the struggle made the response the more remarkable.

Farwell to Winnipeg
Winnipeg, Oct. 15.—Right Hon. David Lloyd George and his party left here yesterday afternoon in the midst of another ovation as had marked the ex-Premier's progress across Canada. The Canadian Pacific Governor, Sir James Alkins, and the Mayor, The same steel-train that had brought him to the west coast, left for the private car on the end which had been placed at Mr. Lloyd George's service by the Welsh Societies of the United States. The Canadian Pacific station was surrounded by large crowds, who cheered heartily as the British war-time premier passed through.

Common Policy Urged
Australia is not begging favors for herself, he declared. "We are a prosperous people, but our prosperity for the future is bound up with the economic development of the whole Empire. While that common policy is being worked out, our domestic troubles are grave enough without the addition of a controversy which as experience taught us twenty years ago, would only become embittered."

TO BUILD SECOND POWER LINE HERE
The work will proceed all winter, and sub-contract will be let immediately. One of the chief of these contracts will be to supply poles. Apart from the technical labor of stringing the wire, much of the work will be of the ordinary labor type, and will keep a considerable number of men employed. It is expected to open the line sometime next Summer.

CROSSED BORDER
Emerson, Man, Oct. 15.—A large and enthusiastic crowd of Canadian and United States citizens gathered at the Canadian Pacific Railway station here to bid Godspeed to David Lloyd George as he crossed the international boundary en route from Winnipeg to Minneapolis last night.

GIRLS SAVED, BUT WOMAN LOST LIFE

Ottawa, Oct. 15.—Mrs. Ellen Campbell, widow of Alexander Campbell, was instantly killed and seventeen members of the Fourth Ottawa Troop of the Girl Guides had narrow es-apes when the party was caught on the White Bridge, a C.P.R. bridge over the Rideau River near here, late Saturday afternoon. That all the members of the Girl Guide troop escaped injury is due to the presence of mind of the troop captain, Miss Eunice Parker, and the splendid obedience to her orders of the troop members.

The girls, while on their usual Saturday afternoon hike, decided to take a short cut over the bridge, which has neither walk nor upright sides. The party had advanced to within a short distance of the west shore when a locomotive was seen in the gathering dusk coming from the east. Mrs. Campbell, who was in the lead, hurried some of the younger girls off the bridge and returned to help the others.

Narrowly Escaped
Miss Parker, who was in charge of the older girls, shouted, "All lie down flat." The girls obeyed the command of their leader and were not harmed although the locomotive passed within inches of them.

SAYS DICTATORSHIP TO BE GERMANY'S LOT

Winnipeg, Oct. 15 (Associated Press)—Discussing the position of Canada in the British Empire, in response to a question while on a train Saturday, Mr. Lloyd George said:

"We cannot compel Canada to take part in any conflict," he declared. "We could give no orders from Downing Street to any Canadian to fight our battles. Canada came of her own will to the last war; that was a matter of honor."

Asked whether Canada would be left off outside the Empire, he replied that she was on the shoulder of a pretty big elephant now. "The howdah is pretty high," he added.

German Situation
Mr. Lloyd George was informed through news dispatches read over the wireless telephone of the occurrence of bread riots in Germany. Expressing concern, he said he regarded the coming of a dictatorship in that country as inevitable and, in fact, as necessary because of the emergency situation.

WAS SERENADED BY CANNIBALS

English Woman Returns After Thrilling Trip Through Australia

London, Oct. 15.—How cannibals serenaded her one night in the Australian bush was told to a press representative by Miss Lily Butler, who was known to many thousands of soldiers in France during the war as "Mother of Blighty." She arrived home recently after a long Empire mission, in Australia made at the invitation of the government.

She crossed the vast desert of the interior in a car, in buggies, on pack horses, in bullock carts, and on camels.

Recorded by bushmen and stockmen, she went right up into the "Never-Never-Land," to places where no other white woman had been before.

"Once," she said, "we were so close to a tribe of aborigines who were cannibals that I could see them in the distance, and I must admit I was particularly anxious that I should not figure on their menu, and the serenade of their blood-curdling yells did not assist my slumbers."

Two Operators Eaten
She went to this uncomfortable place after her car had broken down at Charlotte Waters, in Central Australia. Thirty miles away across the blue, sandy desert there was a telegraph station, and there, when food and water had been exhausted and there was no prospect of repairing the car, she sought the shelter of the cable operators. "But," she said, "I could not sleep tranquilly when outside I could see the natives who two years before had eaten the cable operators at that particular station."

"My native name was 'Aricucha,' which, translated into plain English, means, 'Fat laughing white old woman.'

Ats Their First Born
"One of the most horrible practices I encountered was that which compels the mother to eat her first-born child. This they do as a sacrifice to their gods so that the other children may be lucky."

"If a man or a woman goes off with another's partner, both are condemned to death, and they are either speared, stoned, or burnt to death. There is no escape for them, as the wonderful system of communication between the natives enables them to be found wherever they have sought refuge."

As for the effect of the revolution on France, he declared that it was something would mean no reparations. In reply to a question, however, he said he believed it doubtful in that event if France would extend the sphere of her military occupation. "I think," he explained, "that the French army officers would be against it, and, after all, there is not much beyond the Ruhr that France wants."

Self-Preservation
As for the dictatorship should fall, Mr. Lloyd George continued, then revolution would come. In fact, he added, a dictatorship was the only thing standing between the German people and revolution. And if revolution should come, he said, there would not be one, but a conflict of revolutions—white and red, counter-revolutionary fighting, virtually anarchy and chaos.

NEW CHIPPEWA MONUMENT UNVEILED

Ceremony on Ontario Battlefield Site of War of 1812

Niagara Falls, Ont., Oct. 15.—An impressive ceremony carried out on Saturday afternoon, one mile above Chippewa, was the unveiling and dedication of the monument erected on the battlefield site of the war of 1812. The plan for the monument was furnished by the Historic Sites and Monument Board of Canada, acting through the Dominion Park Branch and the Queen Victoria Park Commission. The Park Commission has control of a considerable portion of the battlefield, which is traversed by the boulevard, and it will maintain the surroundings.

The ceremony was attended by members of Parliament, historians, clergy, patriotic organizations, school children and citizens.

The site of the monument is the position occupied by the battle of the American troops where the charge of the Royal Scots was made.

PROTESTS AGAINST DISTURBING OF GRAVE OF OGLETHORPE

London, Oct. 15.—Four of the London morning newspapers have protested against the removal of the remains of General Oglethorpe, founder of Georgia.

One editorial proposes to be at a loss to discover why Oglethorpe University should require the British people to "connive at sacrilege to make a student's holiday." Another refers to "American who have a craze for bones" as "well-meaning ghouls." A third says that "these body-snatchers will have to stay their sacrilegious hands."

ULTIMATE TAXATION RELIEF IN BRITAIN CHAMBERLAIN'S HOPE

Birmingham, Eng., Oct. 15 (Canadian Press Cable)—In a speech here Saturday, Rt. Hon. Neville Chamberlain, Chancellor of the Exchequer, said it would be foolish to count on a remission of taxation in the near future and added: "We are not yet out of the woods. We have in front a weary and perhaps exhaustive struggle, but I see some hope dawning in the future."

HARVESTER WAS BEATEN AND ROBBED

Regina, Oct. 15.—H. R. Pridgeon, a British harvester, told the police that he was set upon and knocked into unconsciousness at 1 a.m. Saturday by four men, who robbed him of $190. He said his meeting with the men followed a chance friendship made with a man at Francis.

Pridgeon has furnished a complete description of two of his assailants to the police.

Stanley McKee, now in custody awaiting trial on a variance charge, informed the police that he overheard the robbery planned while in a local theatre.

THE PRINCE LEAVES

It was not possible for very many people in Canada to catch even as much as a glimpse of the young man who changed his name from the Prince of Wales to that of Lord Renfrew for the period of his holiday in this country. But it is safe to say that the observance of the distinguished visitor's desire for freedom in the fullest possible sense did not prevent a display of interest in all his doings and movements almost equal to that which would have marked a more formal tour of the country as a whole.

It is perhaps just as well that the visit which has just been brought to a close should have taken the form it did. It has given the Prince an opportunity to understand more about the people of the country who do their work on the broad acres. Bowling along in an automobile through crowded streets in any part of the world is pretty much a standardized ordeal and impressions gleaned are of very little practical use to the future ruler. But the sort of personal investigation that has been permitted the Prince on this occasion will have taught him more in a short month than the most complete library ever could expect to do.

When the Prince left Quebec on the Empress of France yesterday he definitely expressed his intention to visit the Dominion again as soon as circumstances would permit. What form the third trip will take will not be known until the time comes. Many things may happen between now and then; but he can rest assured that whether he comes as Baron Renfrew as the Prince of Wales, or as the bearer of any other name he will always find warm welcomes and warm friends.

WE HAVE DONE OUR PART

Although it is fitting that the Commissioner of Fisheries in British Columbia should lose no opportunity to impress upon the authorities at Ottawa the need for continued efforts to reach a really working understanding with our neighbors in respect of the sockeye fishery, it goes without saying that unless a majority of the members of the Senate of the State of Washington can be weaned from the influence which effectually blocks American co-operation with this country upon the manufacture of armaments at the Vickers works. It is now stated that 30,000 people are depending on public support in that town. These facts have just been presented to the Ministers of Labor and Health by a deputation which waited upon them. Sir William Joynson-Hicks said in reply that Barrow had been killed by the Washington Conference. He was not responsible for that agreement because he was "an old-fashioned Conservative" who believed in keeping his powder dry. Would Sir William care to conduct a political campaign at this stage and state of Britain's condition on a platform that would have none of "that agreement"?

Official opinion at Washington already has been expressed. The members of the International Commission which sat on this Coast a little more than four years ago were persuaded at that time that unless an effective prohibitory regulation were invoked nothing could save this most valuable part of our salmon fishery. All that was predicted by Mr. Babcock on that occasion has come to pass. Returns from the sockeye have dwindled to insignificant proportions and an industry which should easily be worth $30,000,000 a year to British Columbia has been dissipated because selfish interests on the other side of the border will not co-operate with the Canadian authorities and preserve it. Canada already has appended her signature to two treaties; but State prerogatives and sectional influence have persuaded the United States Senate against completing the document.

There the matter rests and will rest unless the Dominion Government should succeed in convincing the authorities at Washington that intervention in the proper quarter is really a matter of vital international concern. Canada will undoubtedly find some way of assisting her neighbor to enforce her prohibition law by taking steps to curtail the shipment of liquor from this country. Now is the time for a little reciprocity.

TO MAKE A START?

There would seem to be very little to justify anything but acceptance of the Belgian suggestion that that country's reparations plan be examined and discussed by the Reparations Commission. It is pointed out that such reports as would be made by the inter-allied representatives could then be used, at least, partially if not wholly, as a basis for a final and concrete proposal.

At the best before France will announce herself as satisfied with Germany's eventual guarantees most of the technical and financial experts of all the countries involved will want to spread themselves and have more than one field day with facts and figures that merely baffle the ordinary man in the street. If some of these preliminaries could be disposed of by the Reparations Commission, and the outline of a proposal formulated that stands some chance of satisfying France and convincing Germany that she can and will have to accept it, conditions in the debtor country may be prevented from dropping into a state that would make reparations still more difficult to collect. For it can be set down that even Germany, intelligent and organized and drilled Germany, will resort to anarchy if the last remaining stock of national pride should disappear.

Meanwhile it looks as if a dictatorship is the only effective barrier that Germany can put up against a revolution that might easily result in a re-drawing of the map of Europe. The Allies are more than ordinarily interested in the turn of events during the last few days.

BODY SNATCHERS

While the light it has thrown upon an earlier civilization may have completely justified the intrusion upon the last sleep of King Tutankhamen, it can not be seriously argued that any necessary purpose will be served either by snatching the bones of Psochontas from the tiny churchyard at Gravesend or by removing the body of General Oglethorpe from the vault at Crahanam. Surely the great majority of our good friends across the border should see no necessity to indulge patriotic instinct by such displays of sacrilege. Georgia's history and present day position among the States of the Union will not be one whit enhanced by the transference of all that remains of its founder from its peaceful resting place to the other side of the Atlantic.

It seems to us that there should be a general order, throughout the English-speaking world at any rate, prohibiting such exhumations except in cases where the ends of justice may be involved. The practice is revolting to all but those who have allowed a ghoulish instinct to take possession of them.

AN EXCELLENT SHOWING

One thousand five hundred and nine cars registered at the Victoria Auto Camp during the season which has just come to a close. If each party spent a couple of days at the camp and spent fifteen dollars a day the city's business would represent something like $45,000 from this one source alone.

In the absence of any means of judging what would be the actual expenditure of each party or person if it would appear that the sum mentioned is an extremely conservative one. But if it should not exceed $45,000 the camp will have justified itself and the cost of its establishment and operation will have been an excellent investment.

It might be appropriate to suggest at this time that such improvements in and additions to the equipment of the camp as may be required in the light of this year's experience should be considered long enough in advance to guarantee the maximum return from the moment the establishment commences to operate next year.

Note and Comment

The Prince of Wales has undoubtedly taken a "shine" to Canada and we shouldn't wonder if he came back here to find a bride. In any case the future Princess will not have to teach her royal husband how to dance.

Germany has tried every conceivable dodge to convince the world that she can not pay her reparations bill. She may have fooled some countries; but she has not fooled France. France knows that Germany can pay and will pay when she discovers that she is going to be made to pay. At the same time a state of anarchy is to be feared and guarded against in the interests of world peace.

In the old days Barrow-in-Furness thrived upon the manufacture of armaments at the Vickers works. It is now stated that 30,000 people are depending on public support in that town. These facts have just been presented to the Ministers of Labor and Health by a deputation which waited upon them. Sir William Joynson-Hicks said in reply that Barrow had been killed by the Washington Conference. He was not responsible for that agreement because he was "an old-fashioned Conservative" who believed in keeping his powder dry. Would Sir William care to conduct a political campaign at this stage and state of Britain's condition on a platform that would have none of "that agreement"?

Some Thoughts for To-day

Every work of Genius is tintured by the Feelings, and often originates in the events of times. Isaac Disraeli.

My garden is a forest lodge
Which older forests bound;
The banks slope down to the blue lake-edge,
Then plunge to depths profound. Emerson.

As diamond cuts diamond, and one hone
Smooths a second, all the parts of intellect
Are whetstones to each other; and genius,
Which is but the result of their mutual
Sharpening, is character too. C. A. Bartol.

Our Contemporaries

A HEARTENING OUTLOOK
St. John Telegraph-Journal.—Dr. Charles A. Reeds, observer in charge of the seismographs at the American Museum of Natural History in New York, assures the residents of the Atlantic coast that there is no probability of an earthquake in that region for the next 10,000,000 years. According to the professor, California may be rocked any day. He says: "To-night, to-morrow, most anytime, residents there may find themselves sprawling on main street with a ton or so of bricks decorating their anatomy."

A NEEDLESS FORMALITY
Regina Leader.—The member for Winnipeg North is appointed Solicitor-General, and a clerk of the Privy Council is sent all the way from Ottawa to Winnipeg to administer the oath of office. A considerable expense must be involved in this procedure. The present President of the United States was sworn into office by a Justice of the Peace in the little hamlet where he happened to be when the mantle of authority fell upon him. Sending a clerk across half of Canada to swear in a Solicitor-General seems a waste of public funds. The present Government is merely following precedent and established custom, but here would seem to be a good place for it to say good-bye to both.

LUMBER

To the Editor.—I often read how many our friends south of the boundary line get when we want to retain our pulp experts by placing on a tax and especially so when we wish to export wheat free into their prosperous country. I never hear much kick coming from down South when they are having hundreds of millions of feet of lumber either in log form or rough cut. When down at San Pedro I saw the beginning of an immense plant and the building of ships to take there an immense track of standing timber from our west coast. When in Vancouver I saw the good ship City of Los Angeles loading cedar logs from off a barge that had been cut by three Japanese who were going to give employment to our friends on the other side, and even to a lot of men who have left here. From news reports I read Canada's debt is still rising like a thermometer on a hot day, and from papers I get from our City Hall I discover my taxes have risen 12.00 per cent in twelve years, and still going up so I hear. When will the peak of patience be reached? Now, I would like to suggest that on all lumber exported out of B.C. Why goodness me, it looks as though we could pay off our own national debt and even the debt the Old Land owes the States in a few years, of course, providing it did not cost 99 cents for every dollar collected. It appears to me that now is the appointed time, now the day of our salvation, for without a doubt we have come to the time when we should come into our heritage.

CREDIT
To the Editor.—Your correspondent Mr. Milne always seems to have something interesting to say when he writes. He is one of the few who attack our financial system in the right place—the banking system—but he sometimes uses words which I don't think he means. He says the banks have a monopoly of the "creation" of credit. I opine of the "creation" of the "issue" of credit. The banks can no more "create" credit than they can "create" ink mice with feather tails. They simply "control the use of it." The only thing I ever knew a bank to "create" was empty bottles for the unemployed. They do that right along. Canada's credit is like a water main that runs right by our doors. All we need is to be connected—A.P.

WON ARGENTINE DERBY
Buenos Aires, Oct. 15.—The Grand Premio Maccione, which is the Argentine Derby, was won yesterday by the colt Sislej, the entry of a Uruguayan stable. The race, which was at 2,500 metres, carried a purse of 80,000 pesos. The time of Sislej was 2:35 2-5.

the banks have a monopoly on the plumbing business. The natural resources are the water supply—the workless workers are the pipes and connections—and the plumbers hold us up. Truly as Mr. Milne says, "It is high time we put our financial house in order. We do nothing but borrow-borrow-borrow." (I think that reads like a quotation from Mr. Marchant) and what do we borrow? Simply the right to use our own credit. We pay the banks for the use of little permits called bills to enable us to use something that belongs to us. It's certainly a great business. Mr. Milne speaks about this national credit, but does not tell us how it would be issued. If our money is to be separated from the gold basis (which makes our dollar a unit, representing a certain amount of gold), and is based on our national credit instead, what would the "unit of currency" be then? Mr. Milne hinted in one of his previous letters that he would explain this, and I have been waiting patiently ever since.

The Living Voice of CARUSO and all the Pascentry of Song of AIDA
"His Master's Voice"
Victor Record No. 6000

Instrument Illustrated Console Victrola No. 215—$200.00

The Theatre of the Home

The stage is set, the performers ready. Your mood this evening calls for the inspiring strains of Verdi. Suddenly you hear Caruso singing "Celeste Aida"—(Heavenly Aida)—clear, sweet, vibrant, real as life itself. For the moment you sit in an orchestra seat at the opera—with all its pomp and pageantry.

Then perhaps you long for the sweet strains of "The Last Rose of Summer"—and as the soft clear notes of Elman's violin sound in your ears, you can all but see him draw his bow across the magic strings.

But whether it be Caruso, or Elman, or the boom of Sousa's band, or the latest happy-go-lucky dance hit—"HIS MASTER'S VOICE" Victrola and "HIS MASTER'S VOICE" VICTOR Records prove their superiority by making you forget the man-made reproduction and remember only the sensation of having living artists and real musical instruments—a few feet beyond the chair in which you sit.

And by virtue of such mastery performance "HIS MASTER'S VOICE" Victrola is the standard by which all instruments are judged. Often this causes many to refer to all instruments as Victrolas but for your own best interests as well as ours, remember there is only one real genuine Victrola—and that bears our famous trade-mark "HIS MASTER'S VOICE" under the lid. Be very careful to see that it is on the instrument you buy.

ALGERINE RELEASES HERSELF FROM ROCKS

Suffered Damage Following Grounding on Brodie Rock; Port Engine Disabled; Hercules Will Carry on Salvage Work While Nanosee Has Gone to Algerine's Assistance

The Pacific Salvage Company's steamer Algerine is off the rocks. Stranding Saturday night on Brodie Rock while en route to the motorship Kenecott, she suffered considerable damage, but despite the fact that her port engine was disabled, managed to pull herself off the rocks without assistance.

Damage Sustained

The damage done to the vessel, which was on her way to salvage the cargo of the American motorship Kenecott, ashore at Hippa Island, is considerable. Her fore foot was carried away, while the bottom has been set up under the boilers. The port engine was disabled. The sheeting forward has been started, but according to information from Captain J. M. Hewison of the Algerine there are no leaks.

Takes Crew

The Hercules, which was rushed to the scene, has taken on Capt. W. H. Logan, London Salvage Association's representative, and several of the salvage crew from the Algerine, and will transport them to the scene of the Kenecott wreck. The Kenecott is said to be a total loss but the cargo may be saved, at least a portion of it, which comprised 8,000 tons of copper ore and canned goods from Alaska for Seattle.

Tug to Assistance

At present the Algerine is anchored at Port Stevens, off Britia Island, and two miles from Brodie Rock. Here she will await the arrival of the Nanosee, which was dispatched from Vancouver at 8 a.m. this morning to help tow the Algerine to Victoria.

The Algerine left Victoria last Wednesday night to attempt the salvage of the motorship Kenecott at Hippa Island, Queen Charlotte Islands, and was en route to that vicinity when she struck the submerged rock at 5:30 o'clock Saturday night. The vessel got in touch with Gonzales by wireless and reported her plight. The Hercules, which is one of the company's new vessels, and which was stationed at Vancouver, was immediately dispatched to the scene. The Hercules has powerful towing facilities and all salvage equipment necessary so that the work the Algerine was dispatched to do will be carried out by the Hercules.

The Algerine was manned by thirty-nine men and all of them are safe.

Vancouver, B.C., Oct. 15.—With both parties to the dispute marking time, the week-end passed quiet along the various waterfronts in British Columbia, where a strike of longshoremen is in progress. Joe Bush's Fork Ball Plays Havoc With Giants; Yankees Win Again

Only Thirty-two Men Faced Bush In Yesterday's Game and Irish Meusel Was Only Giant to Hit Safely; Yankees Slashed Off Fourteen Hits, Including Dugan's Homerun, and McGraw Used Four Pitchers in Order to Stop Ruth; Giants' Only Hope to Stop Yankees From Winning Series To-day Is Art Nehf; Yesterday's Score 8-1

New York, Oct. 15.—Sweeping forward with irresistible power on the high tide of triumph, the New York Yankees battered the world's champion Giants into submission yesterday for the second successive time and took a formidable lead of three games to two in the 1923 struggle for diamond supremacy.

Battled at every turn by the marvellous, almost flawless mound work of "Bullet Joe" Bush, reeling under the terrific force of the Yankee bombardment, the Giants were submerged by a score of 8 to 1, put to a rout as complete as it was devastating.

Bush, of the red flannel shirt and puzzling fork ball, held the Giants at bay with three hits, all of which were made by Irish Meusel, whose triple in the second inning led to his team's only score. Except for this brief flurry, Bush was invincible, dominating the game with his masterful hurling while the Yankees, winging their high guns into action, without delay, won the battle with a barrage of seven runs in the first two innings.

Two of McGraw's aces, Jack Bentley and Jack Scott, were shelled into retirement in less than three innings; two others were called into the fray before the echoes of the last fusillade in the air decided the game.

Tremendous Crowd. The record crowd, a mighty gathering of 65,000, that filled the Yankee stadium to overflowing while 50,000 more fought in vain to get an entrance, witnessed the Giant debacle and the Yankee star at its greatest point of ascendancy.

The paid attendance of $2,871 eclipsed by nearly 400 the previous record set in the third game of the series at the stadium, two days ago, while the receipts, passing the $200,000 mark, for the second time, brought the total "gate" of the series to within $75,000 of the million-dollar mark.

Realizing that they have their first world's title within their grasp, the Yankees played like champions and as though inspired to wipe the memory of two bitter defeats at the hands of the Giants.

Behind the wonderful box work of Bush, the team displayed all the dash and power of attack that carried it to record breaking victory in the American League.

For two days John McGraw has thrown in reinforcements without avail. Five of his moundmen were pounded Saturday and four were rushed in with the Yankees in the first game of the series.

Today the clan of Miller Huggins not only added sufficient "brute force" to beat down the Giants, but played and pitched like champions and as though inspired to wipe the memory of two bitter defeats at the hands of the Giants.

Behind the wonderful box work of Bush, the team displayed all the dash and power of attack that carried it to record breaking victory in the American League.

For two days John McGraw has thrown in reinforcements without avail. Five of his moundmen were pounded Saturday and four were rushed in with the Yankees in the first game of the series.

HITTING HERO

JOE DUGAN

Yankees' first baseman, now heralded as the best man on any hot corner in any league. Yesterday Dugan got four hits, including a home run. Dugan has provided the fielding features of this year's world's series.

except Pipp added to his batting record. Jack Bentley, $65,000 southpaw, started the game for the Giants but was driven to cover under a fusillade in the second inning.

Jack Scott, who had been knocked out in less than two innings Saturday, attempted a come back, but lasted only until the fourth, when he was replaced by Virgil Barnes.

Barnes stopped further scoring but was relieved for a pinch hitter in the eighth and Claude Jorjard retired the Yankees in order in their last time at bat.

Meusel Triples. Two hits, a base on balls and a sacrifice fly gave the Yankees their initial try of hitting with Witt out. Dugan singled to right and Bush was walked. This strategy, which failed Saturday, went awry again yesterday, for Meusel clubbed out a hander to left center, tallying Dugan and Ruth. Pipp drove a liner toward the right field bleachers that Young caught with a jumping one.

Young trotted home after the catch. Young's brilliant play, however, prevented possibly further damage, for Ward singled and stole second, but was stranded when Schang struck out.

Three hits, another walk and two errors gave the Yankees four more runs in the second. Successive hits by Dugan, Ruth and Meusel resulted in the eighth run, a hander to left center, tallying Dugan and Ruth. Pipp drove a liner toward the right field bleachers that Young caught with a jumping one.

Young trotted home after the catch. Young's brilliant play, however, prevented possibly further damage, for Ward singled and stole second, but was stranded when Schang struck out.

TWIRLED WONDERFUL GAME FOR YANKEES

JOE BUSH

The Giants were powerless before the masterful pitching of Joe Bush yesterday and were let down with three hits, all of which were collected by Emil Meusel. It was the finest pitching feat of the series. Bush was robbed of another win in the series by "Casey" Stengel's home run in the opening clash.

DRURY LANE PLAY ON SILVER SCREEN

"The Sporting Earl" Fine Attraction at Royal Opening To-day

The Royal Theatre will to-day hold the Canadian premier showing of the big English Drury Lane melodrama, "The Sporting Earl." "The Sporting Earl" is one of the most popular English pictures that ever came over to Canada. It is somewhat on the style of the former big American successes, "Mickey" and "The Whip," having all the delightful comedy of the one and the hurricane action of the other.

The story of "The Sporting Earl" concerns Sir Horace Pilkington, baronet, who leaves an eccentric will by virtue of which one of his nephews inherits his entire fortune and the other nephew, afterwards known as "The Sporting Earl," is left the baronet's racing stable. "The Sporting Earl," without a single penny to his name, is the possessor of a stable of horses which includes Cheerio-Arfo, known throughout English sporting circles as the fastest and gamest horse that ever went over the Ascot water jump. The picture is full of laughs, thrills, fights, steeplechases, includes a big fire, and centres around the story of the baronet's will, which is nothing short of whizz-bang.

The cast includes Victor Herbert as "The Sporting Earl," and Lillian Hall-Davis as the girl in the case.

DOMINION STARS ALICE JOYCE

Screen Favorite Returns in Stirring Picture, "The Green Goddess"

Alice Joyce has returned to motion pictures. This actress who gained millions of admirers in all countries of the world by her beauty and loveliness may be seen once more on the silver sheet. She will appear at the Dominion Theatre this week as the heroine of "The Green Goddess," the distinctive picture in which George Arliss is starred.

Those who have seen this production of one of the greatest Broadway successes of recent years declare that Miss Joyce never has been lovelier and that certainly she never had a role giving her such an opportunity to display her ability as an actress. It is no wonder that this photodrama had such a remarkable run at the Sam H. Harris Theatre in New York City.

Miss Joyce, who was born in Missouri, was the first great world-wide favorite of fandom. She it was who demonstrated the possibilities for one star to being the entire motion picture going public to worship at her feet. She achieved this pinnacle and held it until the time of her retirement two years ago. Her last four pictures were "The Inner Chamber," "The Scouring Ring," "Her Lord and Master," and "Cousin Kate."

There was a universal regret when Alice Joyce announced that, temporarily at least, she was through. It was believed that she never would return. Then, early in 1923, the good news came. Alice Joyce was to return. What was the picture—what was the role which had lured her? This was demanded on all sides. Miss Joyce was won over to a return by the part of Lucilla Crespin, the English heroine in "The Green Goddess," Forrest Hale's adaptation of the celebrated William Archer stage play. Distinctive Pictures Corporation, the producers, approached Miss Joyce with the script. It suited her precisely.

It was what she had been looking for because in reality it was the lack of a suitable production and nothing else which caused Miss Joyce to cease work two years ago. Distinctive Pictures Corporation, the producers, approached Miss Joyce with the script. It suited her precisely.

Miss Joyce will take a part which she believes fits exactly her mood and her ideal of what a screen role should be. As Lucilla Crespin she is called upon to be brave and calm in the face of many kinds of danger—she is at first in mortal peril for the safety of her children; then she must bear up under the physical strain incident to a tremendous airplane accident in which she is nearly hurled to death; then she falls into the clutches of an Indian Rajah whose advances are repellent to her; then her husband is killed before her eyes; then she faces the death penalty along with the man whose devotion to her in her trials has engendered reciprocated love—these tribulations call for countless subtleties of emotion and she has gone through them superbly under the direction of Sidney Olcott.

Miss Joyce's return is welcomed for her sake alone. It is doubly welcomed because she makes it in such a vitally appealing photodrama as "The Green Goddess."

A regimental smoking concert for all members of the Sixteenth (Canadian Scottish) Battalion and their friends will be held at the Armories on Tuesday, the 16th, commencing at 8.15 p.m. Dress: Service dress. Both pipe and brass bands will attend.

KIWANIS PLAN TWO FUNCTIONS

Grand Smoker This Evening, and Welcome to Bremerton Club To-morrow Noon

Members of the Victoria Kiwanis Club will be hosts to-night at a smoker to be held in the Westholms Grill room, when a special programme will be presented. Tickets are to be had from Kiwanian Thomas Kejway, and each member is requested to bring a friend.

The programme committee in charge of the entertainment is keeping its plans a secret, but it is promised that the affair will live long in the memories of those who attend as the most successful event of its kind yet staged under Kiwanis auspices.

The regular Tuesday luncheon will take place at the Dominion Hotel to-morrow, commencing at 12.15 p.m. On this occasion the local unit of the club will be host to the Bremerton Kiwanians.

The guests, as in the case of the Bellinham Club, feted recently, will stage the entertainment with a programme that has novel features. The directorate of the Victoria body asks for a complete attendance to welcome the visiting club from the United States.

SHADOWLAND IS FANTASTIC ACT

Novel and Artistic Dancing Creation Feature of Pantages Vaudeville

Characterized as one of the most novel and artistic creations of the season, "Shadowland," a fantastic spectacle, directed by the beautifully formed colored shadows, as presented by that master of stagecraft, Max Teuber, is the feature attraction of an exceptionally well-balanced vaudeville bill which will open at the Pantages Theatre tomorrow night.

Appearing in silhouette, five young girls offer a series of dancing studies, including "The Awakening of Spring," "Shadows of Egypt," "Shadow Follies," "Bubbles," "In Roseland" and "The Statue of Light." Colorful electrical effects and special settings are said to enhance the beauty of this production.

Another big feature will be a return engagement of Joe Roberts, famous banjoist, who is always assured of a warm welcome in Victoria. He will appear in a selected repertoire of classical, popular and syncopated numbers. Mr. Roberts is known from coast to coast for his remarkable musical technique. His numbers will include difficult selections written by famous composers and popular numbers.

Joe Holland and Kathleen O'Den will introduce their favorite comedy success, entitled "Ain't Nature Grand." Comedy songs and some smart patter make up the content of these two and an amusing kissing number is included in their offering.

Two superior artists, Kate and Wiley, will be seen in a novelty combination performance, including some artistic athletic posing.

"The Poster Girl," one of vaudeville's dainty novelties, will be presented by a talented young girl offering an artistic programme of impressions of famous stage celebrities. Many changes of costume add a distinctive setting add to the attractiveness of this presentation.

Ritter and Knappe have a European juggling number in which they manipulate small as well as heavy articles. On the screen the features will be a new Century comedy and one of the latest scenic reels.

PANTAGES OFFERS WESTERN DRAMA

"In Wyoming" Offered by Macy and Baird Players

At the Pantages Theatre to-night the Macy and Baird Players will present "In Wyoming," Willard Mack's famous western drama of life on the plains and the days of cattle rustlers.

In this play Toby appears as a winner merchant selling wringers, but in reality a Pinkerton secret service man in disguise on the trail of an escaped murderer.

The leader of the cattle rustlers and the murderer turn out to be one and the same person and Toby finally gets his man after many exciting and thrilling escapades.

Next Friday and Saturday a farce-comedy will be the offering, namely, "Why William Went to France." This play was originally starred in by William Collier, the famous comedian, and the fun is fast and furious.

MINING STORY HOLDS COLUMBIA AUDIENCE

"The Little Church Around the Corner" Has Strong Heart Interest

Mob scenes of power, and the reproduction of a mining town during a period of labor trouble, are promised by the Columbia Theatre management to its patrons, in connection with the showing of "The Little Church Around the Corner" for a week commencing to-day.

Claire Windsor has the featured role in this adaptation from the well-known stage play of Charles Blaney, which was drafted for the silver screen by Olga Printzlau.

Warner Brothers, the producers, spent considerable sums of money in this picture before the Pennsylvania mining town was reproduced to the last finishing stroke; it is said the fidelity is so close as to deceive even those who resided in the mining town from which the scene was copied.

"The Little Church Around the Corner" is the story of the struggle going ON DAVID GRAHAM, THE YOUNG SOCIAL WORKER, BETWEEN HIS ALLEGIANCE TO HIS OWN PEOPLE, THE POOR OF A MINING TOWN, AND THE COMFORTABLE LUXURIES OF RICH LIFE.

He wins the love of Lela Morton, daughter of the millionaire mine owner, but suddenly decides that his place is with the poor.

He reaches the mining town just in time to lead a rescuing party and save the lives of trapped miners. Then the town is agitated. Morton arrives to protect his mine, and the workers pounce on him. Through David's entreaties, he is saved; the young man performs a miracle by giving a mute girl power of speech.

Just as he is about to win his sweetheart, he is arrested and thrust into jail for murder, on circumstantial evidence of a quarrel with the man who was killed, and who was a suitor for Lela's hand. How the two classes—rich and poor, owner and workers—are bound together through his sacrifices, follow in a number of climaxes dramatic and interesting.

Claire Windsor's supporting cast includes Kenneth Harlan, Hobart Bosworth, Walter Long, Alec Francis, Pauline Stark, George Cooper, Margaret Soddon, Winton Hall and Cyril Chadwick. William Selzer directed.

VICTOR EDMUNDS IN RECITAL TO-NIGHT

Magnificent Programme With W. F. Davies at the Organ

Because opportunity will be furnished to the public to hear Victoria's own tenor, Victor Edmunds, in one of his rare recitals, it is anticipated that there will be a large audience in Christ Church Cathedral this evening at 8.15.

Mr. Edmunds is so well known here that the mere mention of his recital is all-sufficient, but he has arranged a magnificent programme which calls for special mention. Recitatives and airs from Handel's "Messiah" and "Judas Maccabaeus" and several beautiful anthems will be included, together with organ numbers by W. F. Davies, organist of the cathedral.

A collection will be taken in aid of the choir fund of the cathedral.

NEWS AND NOTES FROM THE MINES

Old Gibson Mine
The Old Gibson mine in the Kaslo district is to be developed under new management. The property has been taken over by the Daybreak Mining Company, and J. C. Roberts, president of the company, and Robert Gunning, of Portland, Ore., have arrived at the mine and are making preparations to start work as soon as possible. The mine already has a 500-foot level, but this is to be extended 1,000 feet now.

George Lingard, Sr., is in charge of a gang of men which has been placed at work on the property getting out timbers which will be used in the construction of two bunkhouses.

Trail Shipments
First shipments for the year from the Rambler and Washington properties, in the Siocan, are recognized in the current statement from the Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company of Canada, of receipts at the Trail smelter. The famous old producer, the Rambler, is represented by a shipment of eight tons of ore or concentrates, while the Washington, which also ships from Rambler, has sent in thirty-nine tons. So far as shipping goes, the Washington is virtually a new property. Receipts at Trail continue small, as they have been ever since the Sulivan started shipping its products in the form of concentrates from the Kimberley mill, the figures for the first week of October being 4,495 tons. The total for the year, to date, is brought to 216,919 tons. The week's receipts in detail, aside from the mines already quoted, are: Alamo mill, ninety-nine; Corkin, Province, Zwicky, ninety-five; Galena Farm, Silverton, forty-one; Knob

Hill, Republic, Wash., 152; Quilp, Republic, 108; T. H. Pidduck, Alice Arm, thirty-six; Silvermith, Sandan, 283; company mines, 3,525.

Georgia River Group
Grant Mahood, one of the successful operators of the Stewart camp, has left for the East on business after starting operations on the Fish Creek for the American Mining and Milling Company, and checking up the work done this Summer on the Georgia River property, which he recently acquired under bond. A new vein, located and stripped for twenty-five feet three weeks ago, is of a most promising nature. Preliminary shipped sampling, from the bottom of the cut, gave the following assay returns in order named: Gold, 25.42 oz. value $708.40; 120.84 oz. value $2,418.80; 6.54 oz. value $130.80; 9.16 oz. value $182.20; 12.52 oz. value $250.40; 8.04 oz. value $150.80. In addition to this exceptionally high gold content there was as well fair silver values, ranging from seven to forty-six ounces.—Portland Canal News.

New Shipping Zinc
The Black Rock mine of Deep Creek shipped to the Trail smelter 540 tons of zinc ore for two weeks ending August 31, 1923; during the year 2,366 tons. Besides this large tonnage has gone to an eastern smelter. The next shipments will be made to the Canton, Ohio, smelter, John Gorrien, the president and manager, has returned from Minneapolis and is busy installing the mill, which will be operated from the electric sub-station in Northport, the poles and wires having been placed in position this Summer.

Spotted Horse
Work on the Spotted Horse mine at Greenwood, has been commenced by the Jubilee Mining Company. A. J. Morrison, in charge, has a gang of men building a blacksmith shop. Preparations are being made to drive a tunnel on the lead near the old railway grade.

Then women ate no "denatured" white flour, prepared since the Sulivan started shipping its products in the form of concentrates from the Kimberley mill, the figures for the first week of October being 4,495 tons. Roman Meal is 400 parts in each 1,000 parts "Excess Alkali." The only alkaline cereal sold to-day. It clarifies and softens the skin because it keeps the blood normally alkaline, free from irritating acids which must find a way out of the blood by the pores of the skin or kill the body that retains them.

Roman Meal makes delicious porridge. Muffins made from it "melt in your mouth." And for the sake of your children and your own well-being, you should always mix Roman Meal with your white flour (at least 25 per cent) to restore valuable properties lost in making flour white.

MUSIC LOVERS' NIGHT AT ROYAL

A. Prescott, director of the Royal Victoria orchestra, has arranged a particularly fine programme for this week's Music Lovers' Night. He has also arranged a very fine programme of music to accompany the great English Derby Lane melodrama, "The Sporting Earl," which is the feature attraction this week. Some of the numbers to be rendered during the evening are as follows:

Overture, "La Golconda"..... Pouchelli
Serenade..... C. Chaminade
Serenade, "Butterfly"..... J. H. Denny
"Barcarole"..... A. Bubenzer
Fox Trot, "Love"..... Young and Lewis
Valse, "Dreamy Melody".....
Fox Trot, "That Old Gang of Mine"..... Billy Rose

In addition to this discovery artist for this week will be a pleasing addition to the musical programme.

BARRIE COMEDY AT PLAYHOUSE

"The Admirable Crichton" to be Staged by Compton Players

Playhouse patrons will welcome the play for this week, Sir James Barrie's clever comedy, "The Admirable Crichton." Barrie's popularity as a playwright is established, and the play in question is generally conceded to be the best written by him. The real humor of the author emanates through the entire production, the standard of comedy being of a very high order. The plot in which Lord Loam, his three daughters, with two friends, also Crichton, his butler, and Tweener, his kitchen maid, find themselves wrecked on a desert island, all save, Crichton being quite helpless to meet the difficulties of the situation; how they all finally take their orders from him till he becomes absolute lord and master, and how, when they are eventually rescued and are back in England, Crichton resumes his position of butler, is too well-known to elaborate on. Mr. Compton will play Crichton, another excellent reading may be expected from him. Lady Mary, Lord Loam's eldest daughter, will give Miss Peggy Dundas a role in which she will undoubtedly outstand. Herbert Leslie will be Lord Loam, a part well suited to his ability, and Miss Agnes Burton will play the character role of Lady Brocklehurst. Miss Dorothy Clancy, who has already made such a favorable impression in her first appearance last week in Victoria, will be Lady Agatha, another of Lord Loam's daughters, and Miss Winifred Macguire will be Lady Catherine. Bruce Bredin has a great opportunity as the Hon. Ernest Woolley, a pleasant young parson will be played by Clifford Winterston. Miss Peggy Lewis as Tweener, the maid, will be certain to score as heavily as she did as the slavery in "The Passing of the Third Floor Back." George Durham as Lord Brocklehurst, with Gibson Gunn, Wilfrid Hill and George Fenton in minor roles, round out a cast of excellent quality.

Special scenery is being built by the Playhouse master mechanic, W. J. Campbell, and painted by Wilfrid Bullock, whose work has earned universal praise. The Playhouse trio have a specially fine musical programme, and everything points to another big success for the Compton Comedy Company.

NOBODY'S LOVER

By RUBY M. AYRES

Spicer frowned. He could not quite understand this lack of enthusiasm. He did not quite realize how much Jake had suffered during this past fortnight.

"Well," he asked, "Aren't you bucked about it? Don't you realize what it means? A new lease of life. Which I don't blink well want."

Jake answered violently. "My worthy cousin can add this legacy to the fortune he's already got, if he likes. I don't want it."

"You've other people besides your and know where you had gone. Well, she came to dinner at our place a week ago, and Elia or somebody asked how you were. I never saw a girl look so mortified, though she laughed, and said that she had heard from you once, but as there was nothing important in the letter she had not troubled to answer it."

Jake moved restlessly. "Afterwards, Spicer continued, 'she told me that it was a lie and that she had not heard a word from you. She was desperately hurt about it and begged me not to let anyone know.' He shrugged his shoulders. 'This is how I keep my word, you see.'"

"You make a fine advocate, but somehow I am unconvinced," Jake said cynically. "You're a pig-headed idiot," Spicer answered. "You always were, so far as that goes, but there's a limit, Jake."

"There is, and you've almost reached it," was the reply.

"You can be as nasty as you please," his friend answered imperiously. "But for once I'm going to have my say. You've got this further legacy—five thousand, isn't it? Well, I'll just outline your duty to you. Go back to town, tell Miss Lorimer the truth about your health, give her a chance to decide whether she thinks you're worth sticking to, or not, and then clear off and take this voyage to . . . wherever the doctors told you to go. Hang it all, man! Do you want to be stuffed out without making a fight for it? I know if I were in your place I'd fight tooth and nail."

Jake grinned. "Well, if you're quite finished, I'll tell you a few facts. He sat up and passed a hand across his eyes. 'I don't see why the devil I should explain myself to your or anyone else,' he said, with a sort of growl. 'But as you're a damned good chap . . . He held out his hand. 'And you're a damned idiot,' said Spicer, taking it.

"Agreed!" he said. "Well, now listen, and first of all understand that this is the last time we allude to the subject. You think that—that Miss Lorimer—thinks something of me. . . . Perhaps she does."

He paused. "But she's young—she's about ten years younger than I am, and she's got all her life before her. She'll forget me before . . . He laughed harshly. "Well, probably before the daisies are growing over my carcass. You blame me for . . . for . . . Oh, damn it! You know what I mean! The whole thing is hopeless, and you know it. That's why I'm here! The damned place has driven me half-mad. If it hadn't been for Patrick—he touched the dog with his foot—I should have walked over the cliff and ended it."

"That shows you what I've come to. . . . However, I didn't, and here I am, telling you things which I never intended to say to anyone."

Jake went on without answering. "A week ago I made a fool of myself again. I wrote to—Miss Lorimer, and told her the whole truth, and asked—asked—what she thought about it. I suppose it ought to have been a foregone conclusion. I gave her a loophole, anyway, and I said—if she wasn't interested not to trouble to answer my letter."

He stopped and drew a hard breath. "Well, it's a week ago and she hasn't answered." He looked up at Spicer. "I admire her good taste," he said grimly.

"She never got the letter," Spicer declared. "I'd like to bet anything I possess that if she has had it she'd have been down here on the first train."

Jake laughed. "You'd lose, old chap. I was a fool to write to her at all, but I was fairly up against it. . . . If I'd waited till the morning it would never have been written. However, I am not sorry in a way, because now, there's no possible mistake."

"I'll bet my life that she never had that letter," Spicer said again excitedly. "I'll ask her when I get back to town."

"Jake's eyes blazed. 'You do, and I'll shoot you first and then myself,' he said savagely.

He rose, and started his restless wandering round the room. "No, John, my boy. Let sleeping dogs lie. I know what I wanted to know, and if I'm content it's no concern of yours. Have a cigarette."

"No, Jake—you know Mrs. March is dead."

"Yes, I saw it in the paper, and I should think she is well out of it."

"You know that Ursula has left the house and gone to this college."

"No. It's no concern of mine."

Jake glanced at the clock. "If you want to get back to town to-night you'll have to be off," he said.

"I'm not going back without you."

"Then you'll stay here for ever."

Spicer sat down with an air of determination.

"I'm not sure that I couldn't get you certified as a lunatic," he said angrily. "I shall tell Simpson what I think about it."

"You can tell Simpson to go to the devil."

Jake's nerves were on edge.

"Elia sent her love," Spicer said after a moment, "and she told me to say that she expected you back home with me."

"Elia's an angel," Jake answered. "But I'm going to stay here."

There was a silence, broken only by the voice of the sea and the wind outside.

Spicer watched his friend anxiously. He was at his wits' end to know how to persuade him. Suddenly he said: "Jake, if our positions were reversed, you know that you'd never rest till you'd booted me out of England."

"You're different. You're a married man. There isn't a soul who'll go out and buy crepe when I'm dead."

"You're talking morbid rot. Buck up, and be a man! If this had happened a year ago you'd be defying the doctors and taking a first-class passage to the other side of the world."

Jake did not answer.

"What do you think will happen if you hang on here?" his friend went on angrily. "It's not fair to any of us."

Jake . . . He rose suddenly and laid a hand on the younger man's arm. "Here, I'll make you an offer. If you'll take this voyage to Australia, or wherever it is, Elia and I will come with you. I'm comfortably off, though it's no fault of my own, I admit, and she'd love the trip. What do you say?"

"That you're a rattling fine sport, but that it can't be done."

"Think it over. Don't decide in a hurry. I'm staying to-night. Think it over, and tell me in the morning."

"Oh, all right." At that moment Jake would have agreed to anything to put an end to the argument.

"How's friend Baily?" he asked, by way of changing the conversation.

"Last time I saw him he was with Miss Lorimer," Spicer answered, without thinking. "They were going to a theatre, or somewhere."

Jake's mouth quivered.

"I never liked that chap," he said with an effort, and thought of the night when Ursula had told him of Baily's proposal.

"So Miss Lorimer's started to conquer the world, eh?" he asked presently.

"Yes—only a week ago, I believe, but Elia heard someone talking about her the other night, and they prophesied great things for the future."

Jake thought of the night when he and Ursula had stood in the moonlight and turned their money. He had wished then for her success. He hoped with all his heart she would win it, if it meant her happiness.

When Spicer had tumbled off to bed that night, Jake came downstairs again, and making up the fire, drew up his chair.

The little note Ursula had sent to his rooms lay unopened in his pocket, and he took it out as if it were something very precious. A kind little note! And so like her in its half-reserved, half-friendly tone.

. . . . If you have time to write to me, you had better address it here."

"If he had had time! When all the days since they parted had been a fight not to go back to her, terminating at last in that one despairing appeal!"

She had not answered it, and that was the end. But he raised the note to his lips before he tore it across and threw it into the fire.

Spicer—good old sportsman!—did not understand. He judged all women by the one whom he loved.

Patrick crept up to Jake and pushed a sympathetic nose into his master's hand, his brown eyes full of affectionate understanding. Jake smiled, looking down at him.

"Yes, you're quite all right for a cog, old man," he said. "But you might have been."

NEVER has a policyholder suffered loss through the failure of a regular life assurance company operating under charter from the Dominion of Canada. Can as much be said of any other class of business?

The soundness of each Canadian life company is rigorously tested, and the renewal of its license each year depends upon the result of an examination into its affairs by inspectors from the Government Insurance Department. Where else are trust funds so carefully guarded?

To guarantee the fulfilment of policy contracts, the Dominion Government has fixed a minimum standard of reserves to which every company is obliged to conform. The Imperial Life maintains reserves greatly in excess of the Government standard. Every regular life assurance company in Canada must at all times provide security of an amount at least equal to its liabilities to policyholders. The Imperial Life provides security of more than $130 for every $100 of liability to its policyholders.

A deposit is required to be made with the Receiver-General by each regular life assurance company doing business in Canada. The Government deposit maintained by The Imperial Life is more than four times the amount required by law.

Just write your name and address on the coupon below and mail it to us. Then we'll send you a free copy of our booklet, "A Few Facts." This outlines many distinguishing features of The Imperial Life—features which ensure absolute security and liberal profits for Imperial policyholders.

LATEST NEWS FROM FINANCIAL CENTRES

IMPROVED ACTION AT NEW YORK TO-DAY
(New York, Oct. 15.—After the somewhat meaningless fluctuations in the stock market last week, the action of the day-to-day was encouraging to the element believing in higher prices. Week-end developments carried no particular influence market-wide, but, despite this, stocks acted very well. The general list gave rather conclusive proof to the belief that the market was in an upward condition and that the short side was becoming somewhat distressed, particularly in the afternoon dealings a better tone developed than there was considerable buying which emanated from professionals.

BUYING ORDERS STEADY AT CHICAGO
(Chicago, Oct. 15.—The market for wheat has been steadier than expected in view of the news which mainly favored the seller. Commission houses were well supplied with buying orders on the set-backs, however, and took the slack out of the market on the set-backs. The Canadian news continued rather bullish also with news having much effect on the market. The outside trade apparently is small, but the market has support on the dips, with the impression existing that the Government will do something to maintain prices at this higher level.

Says Observatory is Among Great Watch Towers of Science

"I doubt if the people of Victoria realize the value of one of the great watch towers of science being located here," said Dr. Ambrose Swasey, of Warner & Swasey, Cleveland, Ohio, to The Times yesterday.

Dr. Swasey's firm, leaders in the field of machine tool and astronomical mountings in the United States, made the mountings for the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory on Saanich Hill. The doctor was renewing acquaintance with Dr. J. S. Plaskett, the director. Dr. Swasey has not been in the city since 1918, when he came here with a party of astronomers. Then the solar eclipses as observed at Goldendale, Wash.

draw him at that time, and it was the recent observation of the solar eclipse at San Diego which brought the veteran now to the Pacific coast.

Science and Industry

Dr. Swasey, whose personal memory goes back to the gold rush to California, pointed out that in his lifetime the Pacific coast had made the greatest strides in agriculture, industry, and commerce of any part of the world. Side by side with it was the remarkable fact that the greatest reflecting telescopes in the world were located on hillsides close to the greatest of the world's oceans. "It is not," he pointed out, "an accident of monumental generosity which has settled the location of these great instruments, but the equable climate. As at Saanich, so at the Lick observatory and at the Mount Wilson observatory and at the Mount Lick observatory, the choice was not made without the most rigid examination beforehand. There is the fact in connection with the Victoria observatory, that in the midst of a tremendous war effort, the Canadian Government went on with its undertaking and carried it to fruition before the Great War came to a close. No other observatory has that record, and perhaps there may be no parallel again in looking over the plans for the new administration block it occurred to me that every effort should be made to secure efficient work at Saanich under the conditions which will render that possible. Your observatory has already taken a large place among the great observatories of this continent.

The Observatories

"These outposts of science facing the Pacific Ocean point a path for scientific progress of which older centres of population may be envious. They have been fortunate not only in securing exceptional equipment, but in the direction of men of outstanding ability in the science of astronomy. It has been my privilege in a long lifetime to have known many men of science, and I know you have at the Dominion observatory men worthy of the great opportunity. Dr. Plaskett is a man of whom this city should be proud."

Dr. Swasey's firm were the pioneers in the field of large instrumental equipment. With the thirty-six-inch telescope at the Lick observatory, erected in 1857-58 a new era in astronomical observations began. That was the firm's first great undertaking, since which its officials have mounted great instruments for the Yerkes observatory, the United States Naval observatory, and many others, and now have in their shops work for an observatory in the Argentine Republic and for Ohio Wesleyan University.

Dr. Swasey, who was accompanied here by his daughter, Miss Swasey, left on the afternoon boat for Seattle on route home.

Imperial Oil Supplies Information to Chamber Directors

Following Alderman A. E. Todd's motion that the Chamber of Commerce take action in an effort to bring gasoline prices in Victoria down to a similar basis to those of Seattle and other United States coast cities, the directors were supplied with information on the matter at today's luncheon.

Low prices on the other side are due to a price cutting war now raging there, and California competition cannot be met without closing down the refinery at loco and importing gasoline from California, a letter from the Imperial Oil sales department, of Vancouver, stated.

During Embargo

"A fact that is generally overlooked at the present time by many consumers in British Columbia," the letter stated, "is that the Imperial Oil Ltd. constructed the refinery at loco at a cost of from $2,000,000 to $3,000,000 in order to provide petroleum products for British Columbia at a time when such products from California were not available. An embargo on California petroleum products then existed, and the only available supply of crude oil at that time for British Columbia was on the west coast of South America."

"Motorists will remember that in 1920 there was such a scarcity of gasoline on the American side that it was being rationed out to the motorists, and only a limited amount supplied to each; that in British Columbia we had no shortage, due to our Pacific arrangements, and that the motorists here never experienced any difficulty in procuring gasoline at a reasonable price."

Refused Offer

"At that time dealers and brokers from the state of Washington approached us again and again and offered us ten cents a gallon more than British Columbia prices, but we felt it only honorable to refuse these attractive prices and keep our own customers in British Columbia supplied."

After referring to a large unexpected over-production of crude oil in California within the last few months of questionable duration, the letter continues, "The officials of the Imperial Oil Ltd. feel that when the present temporary situation in California passes, gasoline consumers in British Columbia will again benefit by the operation of the local refineries."

A Dominion Bureau of Statistics chart is enclosed in support of the contention that of all the basic commodities, gasoline is the only one being sold at pre-war prices.

Recent Reductions

Referring to recent reductions in the price of gasoline in Victoria, the letter states that the decline is in sympathy with a general reduction in gasoline throughout the entire Dominion of Canada. It is not an accounting of any decrease in manufacturing costs, but a result of the low prices now in effect due to the price cutting war now raging throughout the United States.

COMPTROLLERSHIP TO BE SETTLED

Issue Will be Before Council To-night; Church Taxation Case

Chief interest in the meeting of the City Council to-night will center in the appointment of comptroller. A list setting out the qualifications and salaries of the applicants has been prepared from the thirty-three submitted, including four of the present City Hall staff.

As is usually the case when the council has an important appointment to make, there are many rumors, but perhaps that which gains most credence is that an attempt will be made to defer the selection until after the annual election. It is certain there is a strong party in the council which stands for a selection from the applicants already employed by the council.

Church Tax Case

At the same meeting it is expected some finality will be reached with regard to the application of the James Bay Methodist Church, which has asked for some adjustment to be made with respect to taxes claimed against the church property for the years 1920 to 1922 inclusive. The deputation from the church which waited on the members of the finance committee on Monday afternoon, but if the taxes for 1920 to 1921 could be set off against those claimed for 1922 and 1923, a settlement would be accepted. It was then decided to ask the city assessor and city treasurer to prepare for the committee a

CONFER UPON ISSUE OF BETTER GRADING

Victoria Hothouse Association Takes Question up With Mainland Growers

When G. E. McIntosh, Dominion Fruit Commissioner, was in the city recently representatives of the Victoria Hothouse Association conferred with him with regard to tomatoes being brought within the scope of the Root and Vegetable Act, a measure designed to enforce rigid grading of the commercial commodity.

On Friday a meeting was held in Vancouver, under the auspices of the Mainland Tomato Growers' Association, at which Robert Peters, secretary of the Victoria Hothouse Association, attended, at which a schedule to govern the trade was discussed.

Following is the grading standard suggested and agreed to by mainland and island producers:

- The package shall be a standard four-basket crate as defined in Sec. 16 of Standard Packing Regulations at Fruit Act, 1914.

AFTER-EATING DISTRESS

and all forms of stomach trouble, such as gas pains, acid, sour burning stomach are all relieved in two minutes by taking JO-TO. JO-TO sold by all druggists.

other tomatoes free from cracks and disease.

- In order to allow for variations incident to commercial grading, handling and packing, in each of the grades mentioned in sections 2 to 5, an allowance of 10 per cent of any lot may be under the requirements in respect to uniformity of their grades, in size and shape by count.
