The books mentioned above contain up-to-date and accurate lists of names and addresses of many thousands of the leading residents of their respective towns. These books are valuable as a help in revising your mailing lists. They are widely circulated among those who are well able financially to buy anything they need seen advertised in the pages of these books. The names are all obtained by personal canvass and no copying is resorted to. We hope all our old friends will not forget us and that we shall gain many new ones as subscribers and advertising patrons.

WALTER M. WHITEHILL

TREASURER

We've often read how "laundry-day"
Occurs in foreign lands,
And how they do their work, with naught
But soap and human hands.

They carry all their clothing down
To some convenient stream
And soak and splash the livelong day,
Until they think they're clean.

But, now, compare our modern life,
With all its easy ways,
And how much better for the wife,
Although the husband pays.

No longer must the housewife go
To the brookside for the day,
But calls up "Wellesley two-four-eight"
And the "Brookside" comes her way.
