Solicitor General's Report on the Charter of Connecticut, and on the Grant of New Jersey.

[New-York Entries, III. II.]

May it please your Lordships

In obedience to your Lordships Orders of the 5th Instant here unto annexed I have considered of the Charter granted to the Gov<sup>r</sup> and Company of Connecticut, and I have also considered of the Grants made to the Proprietors of East and West New Jersey in America and I am humbly of Opinion that notwithstanding any thing in the said Charter or Grants, that there Majesties by virtue of their Prerogative and Sovereignty over those Colonies, which is not granted from the Crown to the Gov<sup>r</sup> and Company, nor to the proprietors by any of the Chart<sup>rs</sup> may appoint Governors for those places with such Powers and authorities for the Government thereof, and for raising men and furnishing Provisions for the necessary defence of his Subjects and the neighbouring Colonies against their Enemies as their Majesties shall in their great wisdom judge reasonable

And I conceive that the Proprietor of New York may assign his Propriety in New Jersey which is part of New York to others but cannot by any such Grant or Assignment absolutely sever New Jersey from New York but that still it remains a part thereof and dependent on the Gov<sup>rn</sup>t of N: York and lyable to contribute men and provisions for the supp<sup>t</sup> and protect<sup>n</sup> of N: York against any Enemies.

Sir

The papers I send with this will take more time to peruse then I doubt you can spare from Affairs of more weight and moment, they will shew you that I am placed by a very ill neighbour, who while I am labouring to compose and heal the wounds of this Province occasioned by the highest outrages which could be committed by men in the time that Leisler took upon him the Government, S<sup>r</sup> W<sup>m</sup> Phips as will appear by these attested copies of a letter from a pardoned Criminal quotes S<sup>r</sup> W<sup>m</sup> Phips for author, will shew you the Sentiments and Principalls of that Knight, he has seized upon Martins Vinyard which has ever been part of this Government it is neither named in that Charter nor his Commission, those people hold all their lands by the Seal of this Province and have contributed to Our Publick charge for the defence of Albany, yet I must not levy warr against him, though provoked by his unmannerly Letter to meet him there, which I would chearfully doe, but I hope to see him when without prejudice to their Majesties Interest assert our Resentment.

I hope you will favour me so far as to lett me know if that place be under his Government. I find the Council here, men of the best parts Quality and Estates of any in the Province I cannot name six as may Instructions require to fill vacancys as they fall. It is utterly impossible for this poor decayed Province to defend themselves without help from our neighbours Our Furr Trade is quite lost, our charg very great the neighbouring Collonies acknowledge no Governm<sup>t</sup> from the Crown, but Harbour all our desserters, rob us of all Trade, by employing no duties, the Act for Navigation not observed or valued

S<sup>r</sup> I have Express just now from Albany, which say the French and their Indians are upon the march towards Schonadetudy, which calls me from this work, to attend that Service, it is a Curse on these occasions to attend wind and water, yet we cannot march by land, so that I must attend that uncertain motion which I shall endeavour in a few hours. I am

Some time since I returned my aeknowledgmt<sup>s</sup> for yours of Nov 11th and the Bookes you were pleased to send mee I have perused

I am now to tell you after greate paines to quallefie and allay the heates of these people, to which you are noe stranger, I had soe farr gain'd my point (by perswation with some, givinge equall justice to all, forbidding names of distiction and exhorting to unitie) that all things appeared seren and noe wave to ruffle, noe cloude to obscure our peace; the face of love was not moore smooth.

But on a suddine I heard from all parts of severall meetings, violent expressions, with reflections on some of the Councill, demands of reperation for Lesliers bloud &c soe suddaine a storme surpriz'd mee, while I was considering and beating my thoughts about it, Providence directes the original letter of which I send youe a Dutch and English cobby, into my hands. By which it appeares, if what is their asserted bee trew, that your Govern<sup>r</sup> is the incendiary or rather the bellows that blows up the dying embers of former discontents.

How suttable this is to the trust Their Majesties repose in him, and howe much it conduces to their Service will best appeare when the matter comes before them in Councill. It is utterly impossible for mee to heale and accommodate things according to Their Majesties cōmands and my owne native temper, while that Knight gives countenance and encouragement to those actions, the punishm<sup>t</sup> of which their Majesties in Councill have allowed as legall. I send you a cobby of what I though fitt to say to that Gov<sup>r</sup> and am

Sir

I send you the cobby of a letter writt from Boston by one Abraham Gouverneur. I have caused it to be translated and send you both the Dutch and English cobbies.

Possibly you may not know the person, but the ill consequence which this letter has produced, being sent from one hand to another of y<sup>e</sup> discontents in these parts of their Majesties dominions, and your name being used as a voucher to what he asserts I thought myself obliged to lett you know, if the things alledged be true, you have forgott your duty to their Majesties and your manners to Gentlemen.

If you have not discoursed these things to that fugitive who has fled from this Province, after conviction and sentence passed on him [for] murder, and what he says be fictitious, invented by himselfe; you will think fitt for your own vindication to secure his person and return him to this place, being that of his former residence and from whence he has fled with apparent designs of disturbing the peace of this government.

I hope you will think itt reasonable to give me satisfaction in a matter of this moment, wherein the cheife concern is their Majesties service

Boston 12. Octob: 1692

Worthy Father &amp; Mother, greeting

I hope that my two last letters came to your hands, and having now an opportunity I durst not omit letting you know how things are here, as also the sad mischance of little John and his Son; they were afloat again from that place where they first drove on shoar, but were cast away on Nantucket Shoales and both drowned; all my cloathes, linnen, silver pocket book, and bookes, all is lost, so that I have nothing but two Shirts and one cravat. Therefore I earnestly desire that you please as soon as possible to send me my gold ringes or the vallew in money, as also some shirtes, and presse M<sup>r</sup> Beckman either to send mony to go over to England, or some mony to remaine here. I had no clothes but that old black coat, & waiting for little John, I had not yet bin with the Governour; but last week I sold my gold, the smallest of the hatbands, and have earned a little money here, so that I was advised to buy a suit, and I have bought me a new suit of very fine cloth, with aperttainences; it cost me about six hundred gilders. I would have made me a worse, but I must be every day in company with the great ones. I wait but for news from home and the mony of Beekman. I must then furnish my self with all things; for it is here already very cold, it freezes almost every night. Yesterday I went to the Governour and presented him with what I had translated out of French (of which I would send a copy but is yet forbidden.) It was done, by severall other hands, but mine was accepted, and he gave me thanks. It will be speedily in print and then I shall send it over. Then I made myself known to him who I was, and told him what had passed at York. When I began he left all the Gentlemen that were with him & went into a room with me and I told it him. He said, this old King James Council that is at York spoiles all, and they must be out; the Governour is a poor beggar and seekes nothing but money and not the good of the country; but there is yet hopes, M<sup>r</sup> Manley your lawier in England is chosen Parliament man and your cause will be inspected there to some purpose and I doubt not but ther will be satisfaction for estates, and I hope (for it would be pittie it were not) for blood also; for if what Gov<sup>r</sup> Leisler and ye have don be ill, how comes their Majesties to sit pou the throne. We had some other discourse, and at last he said to me: You are heartily welcome, if you go to England I shall assist you, and if you will carry my letters to the King you will serve me. I answered yes, very willingly. He said to me again, if you go not, you are nevertheless welcome, and let me know it that I may take care for you; and when you receive any letters from York, let me know it, and I desire to know wherein I can further your cause in England and it shall be don. I thanked him kindly, and would have desired of him letters of recommendacón, but he was hindred, and told me that within twelve dayes he would send for me to discourse with him two or three hours. I have bin with severall of the Council and they all say the same. The Lord God move all our people to do their utmost. Not elce at present, but with hearty Salutacons to all our friends I remaine

Your duty full Son

ABRAHAM: GOVERNEUR.

Let M<sup>r</sup> Leisler read this letter as also M<sup>r</sup> Beekman, greet them all together. I would have writ to them but must within half an hour go to severall of the Council, and I knew it but an hour since. Keep all secret by all means.

A. G.

Receive 50 Guilders of Doct<sup>r</sup> Staets according to the inclosed and send it me with the first. If a Sloop come send me a barrel of pickled oysters: send also 2 Stooves, let it not be omitted

Sir

I have sent you severall letters since your arrivall at New York, and have been inducd thereto because I did hope a good correspondence might have been maintained between us in things that concerne their Majestyes governm<sup>t</sup> and interest and the good of their subjects but your aversion to soe good a purpose does sufficiently appeare by your contriving wayes to prevent such a correspondence. You want some person of understanding to read over that letter you sent me a copy of, distinctly, that you may see y<sup>e</sup> coherence of one sentence with an other, and how to make true stops. The want of this hath occasioned your misapprehension of y<sup>e</sup> sence, whereby you make y<sup>t</sup> in y<sup>e</sup> discourse to M<sup>r</sup> Governier, w<sup>ch</sup> he gives as his owne opinion and character of yow. Butt I neede be at noe paines to make yow rightly understand the sence, because noe part thereof concernes mee, as appeares by M<sup>r</sup> Governier's letter unto you herein inclosed. I see noe cause to deliver M<sup>r</sup> Governier unto your Jayler for I have examined him concerning his being sett att liberty, and it appears by a certificate frô the Clark of your Council by your order given that in pursuance of the Queen's cômmand you were obliged to lett him out of prison.

Yowr absurd abusive letter plainly demonstrates that if (as yow say) I have forgott manners to Gentlemen I have forgott what you never had. I have observed my duty to their Majesties upon all occasions, and in particular by my letter to yow wherein I desired to know how farr yow can contribute to our assistance in the Spring if their Majesties are pleased to order a squadron of Frigatts for an attaque upon their enemyes att Canada; but instead of an agreeable answer and your concurrence in soe just and good a designe w<sup>ch</sup> is soe much for their Majesties hono<sup>r</sup> and the good of the English nation (w<sup>ch</sup> might have been expected from a person in your station) you send a herald to give mee a challenge to meet yow in the spring at Marthas Vineyard, w<sup>ch</sup> by force yow intend to take y<sup>e</sup> governm<sup>t</sup> of, notwithstanding their Majestyes grant by their royall chartar, whereby the governm<sup>t</sup> thereof is annexed to the Province of y<sup>e</sup> Massachusetts Baye; and your jayler hath been as insolent in delivering this challenge from yow (w<sup>ch</sup> he saith is by your positive order) as yow have been inconsiderate in directing him soe to doe. For that difference (if any) is not to be decided by yow alone. However if yow are soe resolved yow may expect me att Marthas Vineyard in the Spring to assert y<sup>e</sup> power wherewith their Majesties have invested me; w<sup>ch</sup> if yow think fitt to dispute, I shall take such measures to defend as yow may not like. I have noe more to add, but that I am sorry Their Majestyes affairs are like to suffer by y<sup>e</sup> humours of some persons (yowr advisers) who without duely regarding their duty to Their Majestyes put yow upon using Their Majestyes names as a colour for their private designses, a thing too mean for any who bears their Royall commission to hearken unto, and must be attributed to forgettfullness of y<sup>e</sup> duty and respect that their most Sacred Majestyes cômmand, w<sup>ch</sup> you have unjustly charged me wth in your letter.

Sir I am yours

May it please yo<sup>r</sup> Excellency.

I would have given yo<sup>r</sup> Excell. an account by an express last Wednesday the 5th instant of the approach of the five hundred and fifty of the enemy viz<sup>t</sup> 350 French and 200 of their Indians to the Maquas Castles which we had by a youth that was taken at Schenectady 3 yeares agoe and made his escape from them just as they were to fall upon the two first Maquas castles an hour before day, but did expect they would have attacked this place, soe that the businesse would have bin over before yo<sup>r</sup> Excell. could have advertisement. They continue there still as our skouts give us daily intelligence. I fear they are about to compell our Indians to a peace or else are fallen upon the third Castle of the Maquaes because we can have no account from them in what condicón they are, notwithstanding we have skouts out thither. There are 40 Maquaes (all we can hear of) gone out with ten christians to watch the enemys motions and are impatient that a party of christians doe not joyne with them to engage the enemy, which I thought not adviseable soe long as they are soe advantageously posted in such a Fort: but assoon as they remove from thence and we can have any Indians down, have thought fit with advice of all the commicón officers (whom I called together to consult about the matter) to dispatch three hundred men out of the fusileers & inhabitants, to pursue them; for which purpose have bread baked and provisions ready which I send to Schenectady to morrow. I immediately upon the news, commanded all the farmers in, who readily obeyed, & sent fifty men to Schenectady to reinforce that garrison, & upon a view of all the forces to day, doe finde in fort and towne, with Schenectady, about six hundred men. It seems the enemy dispair of going home by ice & therefore make noe great haste. I know not but yo<sup>r</sup> Excell: may have an opportunity with the first sloops to send up some men, I wrote to Esopus to send us what men they could spare, and have an answer just now that Capt: Demyre comes with fifty men, whom I expect to-morrow. I sent the Mayor to Schenectady on Thursday last to send out skouts continually and to pacify the Indians who are much concerned and think we slight them; and indeed I dare not tell them the reason of not sending out men soe fast, because they were always made believe we were stronger than we are; these frontiers being just mann'd for defending them and not to spare soe many as to goe out and engage such a body of men soe farre off. I can give yo<sup>r</sup> Excell: noe further account at p<sup>r</sup>sent, only designe to keep them in alarm when they come out and gall them in their march, but not to engage them except upon advantage, since their design is doubtless desperate and not well furnished with provisions, except what they have found in the castles. I expect to have our post (which we sent to New Yorke) in, every day, thinking long to hear of your Excéll & Ladyes welfare. I am

Sett out from New Yorke y<sup>e</sup> 7 Janua: 169 $\frac{2}{3}$  and upon Monday y<sup>e</sup> 16th ins<sup>t</sup> aboutt 4 of y<sup>e</sup> clock in the afternoone I applyed my selfe to y<sup>e</sup> Hon<sup>ble</sup> Coll Joseph Dudley and Govern<sup>r</sup> Usher att Boston att S<sup>d</sup> Ushers house, where after I had presented lett<sup>rs</sup> from his Ex<sup>ty</sup> Coll: Fletcher Govern<sup>r</sup>, directed to themselves they showed themselves extraordinary ready to serve his Ex<sup>ty</sup> Coll: Fletcher and while together S<sup>r</sup> W<sup>m</sup> Phips (haveing ben gon to Roade Island) came to town, there Hono<sup>rs</sup> sentt a person to S<sup>r</sup> W<sup>m</sup> Phips to acquaintt him there was an express come from his Ex<sup>ty</sup> y<sup>e</sup> Govern<sup>r</sup> of New Yorke, who was recommended to them to introduce him into his presence, desiring to know whether they might waitt on him this evening or when, he returned an answer to morrow morning att 9 of y<sup>e</sup> clock. Att w<sup>ch</sup> time I waited upon him wth his Hono<sup>r</sup> Jno: Usher, and soone after our being admitted Coll: Dudley came to town, though very stormy. His Hono<sup>r</sup> J. U. acquainted His Ex<sup>ty</sup> yth he was desired by Coll Fletcher to introduce me into his presence. I then acquainted His Ex<sup>ty</sup> I was come express to him, and soe d<sup>d</sup> his lett<sup>r</sup> in p<sup>s</sup>ence of his Hono<sup>r</sup> J. U., Joshua Moody and one Jackson y<sup>e</sup> Govern<sup>r</sup> clerk. Sir W<sup>m</sup> Phips opened y<sup>e</sup> letter and gave his clerk Gouverneurs letter w<sup>ch</sup> being in Dutch S<sup>r</sup> W<sup>m</sup> Phips said there was need of an interpreter. I acquainted him itt was translated into English. After y<sup>e</sup> lett<sup>r</sup> was read, I demanded Abr<sup>m</sup> Governur. He said, should consider of itt, & then reflected upon Govern<sup>r</sup> Slaughter, Major Inglesby and our present Govern<sup>r</sup> highly justifying y<sup>e</sup> acting of Leisler, saying if he had delivered y<sup>e</sup> fourtt to Major Inglesby he had deserved to be hanged. I told him for nott doing of itt he was hanged. He told me if Slaughter had lived, he mustt have held up his hand att y<sup>e</sup> bar for putting Leisler and Milborne to death. I made him for answer, if he had itt would be for not hanging of them all. I required his answer to Martins Vinyard. He said he had sentt one alredy. I required another, for his Ex<sup>ty</sup> Fletcher had rec<sup>d</sup> none. He then fell a railing att Govern<sup>r</sup> Nicholson, saying he had never done a good action in his life. I replyed, I never heard of a bad one, and said y<sup>e</sup> King knew him to be a better man. He then said y<sup>e</sup> King did never know him, he was recommended by some courtio<sup>r</sup>, and did seem to reflect upon those att Courtt att home, as if persons were putt in places of trust w<sup>ch</sup> were nott for their Maj<sup>ty</sup>s service. I acquainted him I had orders from his Ex<sup>ty</sup> Govern<sup>r</sup> Fletcher to signifye to him thatt he intended to be att Martins Vinyard early in y<sup>e</sup> Spring before he wentt to Albany. S<sup>r</sup> W<sup>m</sup> Phips making some pretence yth Martins Vinyard was in there Charter I acquainted him y<sup>e</sup> Govern<sup>r</sup> of N. Yorke would be glad to see him there. S<sup>r</sup> W<sup>m</sup> Phips ask<sup>d</sup> if I came to challenge him. I replyed I came to deliver my message w<sup>ch</sup> I had done. He asked if I had any such orders. I did tell him I had private instructions for my selfe, w<sup>ch</sup> I would nott shew him, nor any other. He told me if they were my own words I was an impudent fellow. I told him I thought soe to, butt y<sup>e</sup> words were nott mine. S<sup>r</sup> W<sup>m</sup> Phips did tell me he did take y<sup>e</sup> words as a challenge and would certainly meett wth Govern<sup>r</sup> Fletcher I told him he might interprett y<sup>e</sup> words as he pleased. He did tell me if He did here Governour Fletcher was att Martins Vinyard he would take him prison<sup>r</sup> if itt cost him 2<sup>d</sup> and he would have cause to repent of itt. Many reflections he did throw upon Govern<sup>r</sup> Fletcher, saying he would doe his business att home, an yth he would nott be long att Yorke, & y<sup>u</sup> he was short livde; and wentt on vindicateing of Leisler. I told him y<sup>e</sup> King and Councill were of another mind, haveing given judgm<sup>t</sup> they were legally tryed condemned and executed. He told me he knew better, and he knew there was noe such judgm<sup>t</sup>. He knew well enough how things were acted & carryed on. I told him Coll: Fletcher broughtt itt over. He told mee itt was a false thing. I told him I was suer he did bring over noe false paper. He said he was sure he had. I demanded again y<sup>u</sup> Gouverneur mightt be seized & delivered me, according to Governo<sup>r</sup> Fletchers lett<sup>r</sup> he being und<sup>r</sup> sentence of condemnation and runn away, and had occasioned a disturbance of y<sup>e</sup> peace of his Maj<sup>ty</sup>s subjects. He said he would take itt into consideration and speak with him, and then give me an answer. I acquainted him Gouverneurs letter reflected upon him selfe; nott withstanding all w<sup>ch</sup> he did nott condemn y<sup>e</sup> person for writeing nor disowne the matter of factt butt said itt was the business of y<sup>e</sup> King's Governours to actt whatt they could ag<sup>t</sup> y<sup>e</sup> comon enemy. S<sup>r</sup> W<sup>m</sup> Phipps declared y<sup>u</sup> Governo<sup>r</sup> Fletcher had orders from the Queen to release y<sup>r</sup> prisson<sup>rs</sup> butt contrary thereunto keptt them prisson<sup>rs</sup> while he forces them to petition.

The next day after my arrivall at Boston being the 17th of Jan<sup>r</sup> 169<sup>7</sup>. I wayted on S<sup>r</sup> W<sup>m</sup> Phipps and tould his Excell. I was sent express to him by his Excellency the Governo<sup>r</sup> of New Yorke, giveing him his letter in the p<sup>r</sup>sence of Governo<sup>r</sup> Usher, Joshua Moody and the Governo<sup>r</sup>s Secretary or Clarke. S<sup>r</sup> Will<sup>m</sup> after he had opened the letter, takeing out the letter of Governeer being in Dutch, he said there was need of an Interpreter; I tould S<sup>r</sup> William I did believe it was translated into English. After this letter was read I demanded Abraham Governeer to be delivered to me, that I might take care to send him to New Yorke. S<sup>r</sup> W<sup>m</sup> tould me it was a thing to be considered, and that if Governeer had done any wrong Coll: Fletcher might prosecute him at Boston, and as for what he had formerly donn, he was pardoned by the Queen and Councill, which pardon Coll: Fletcher had brought over with him, but instead of giveing the prisson<sup>rs</sup> the benefitt he keptt them in goale, till he forced them to signe against their wills to that they were never guilty of in the least wise. He reflected extraordinarie upon Governo<sup>r</sup> Sloughter, Major Ingoldesby and his Excellency Governo<sup>r</sup> Fletcher, highly commending the actions of Jacob Leysler and Jacob Milborne, saying if that they had delivered the fort to Major Ingoldesby they had deserved to be hanged. He tould me if Sloughter had lived he must have held his hand at the barr, for hanging Leysler and Milborne; that there was severall Governo<sup>r</sup>s sent abroad that did not minde their Majesties interest, and that Governo<sup>r</sup> Nicholson was an ill man and had never donn a good acc<sup>o</sup>n in all his life. I tould him I never heard of any ill that ever he did, and I supposed their Majesties knew him well before they sent him to Virginia. Sir W<sup>m</sup> said their Maj<sup>ties</sup> did not know him, but that he was recommended by some that ware about their Majesties, who for money gott in many that were not for the Kings interest. He knew how things went at home, and many other reflecting speeches he had concerning those aboute their Maj<sup>ties</sup> I tould I was ordered by his Exc<sup>ell</sup>. the Govern<sup>r</sup> of N. Yorke to demand his answer, relateing to Marthins Vineyard. He tould me had sent one already. I tould him it would be well taken if he pleased to send the cobby, for I believed the other did not come to hand. Soe he fell to vindicate Leysler and Milborne againe & reflected much upon his Exc<sup>ell</sup>: Coll. Fletcher, saying he would doe his buissness at home, and that he would not be long at Yorke, and that he was short liv'd; he tould me that the acc<sup>ions</sup> of Major Ingoldesby were much condemned at home, I tould him it seemed otherwise by the Order in Councill wherein the Lords give their oppinion that they were legally condemned and exected. He tould me he knew better, for that at first Major Ingoldesby makinge greate friends before Leysler's sonne came home, he ran farr, but after Leysler's sonne came home the currant ran the other way, and that there was noe judgem<sup>t</sup> that they were legally exected. I tould him I saw a cobby: he said it was a forg'd and false paper. I tould Sr W<sup>m</sup> I was to acquaint him that his Excellency the Govern<sup>r</sup> of New Yorke intended to be at Martins Vineyard early in the Spring, and that he would be very glad to meet him there. Sr W<sup>m</sup> askt me if I were come to challenge him. I tould him noe, but to deliver my message, which I had done. He askt me if I had any such instructions. I tould him, yes, or elce I should not have given him that account. He would have seen them: I tould him they were for my direction and not to show to his Exc<sup>ell</sup>. He tould me if the words were my owne I was an impudent bould fellow, and sayd he tooke the words as a challenge, and would certainly meet Govern<sup>r</sup> Fletcher, I tould him I had delivered my message, and he might interpret them as he pleased, but I sawe noe harm in them. He tould me if he heard Govern<sup>r</sup> Fletcher was at Martins Vineyard he would take him prisoner if it cost him two pence. I tould him I hoped that his Exc<sup>ell</sup>. would be pleased to give me an answer relateing to the matter of the Vineyard, and alsoe deliver Abrá: Gouverneur. He sayd that to the matter of the Vineyard he would send an answer, but for Gouverneur he refused to deliver him: and for that time I tooke my leave.

The 19th of Jan<sup>ry</sup> the Marshall came and tould me I must appeare before the Councill; upon my coming in Sr W<sup>m</sup> ordered me to relate the message that some time before I had delivered to himselfe. I tould his Excellency I was not sent to the Councill but to himselfe to whome I had delivered my message, and had nothing to move to that hon<sup>ble</sup> Board. Sr W<sup>m</sup> demanded my instructions I tould him I could not be soe unfaithfull to my master who had sent me. He tould me he would comitt me till I did shew them. He tould the Councill that I had challenged him to meet Govern<sup>r</sup> Fletcher at the Vineyard; upon which I tould the Councill I understood noe challenge in the words, I onely tould Sir W<sup>m</sup> that Govern<sup>r</sup> Fletcher did intend to be at Martins Vineyard in the Spring and that he should be glad to see Sr W<sup>m</sup> there. He tould me the Governours impertinent letter hinted as much. Sr W<sup>m</sup> spoak to the Councill that I might be comitted, & ordered the Marshall to take me into his custody and carry me into the next room; which he did. In about half an houre I was called in before the Councill, and Sr W<sup>m</sup> tould me I was discharged for the p<sup>sent</sup>, but must attend the Councills farther order.

The 26th I went to the Town House where the Councill satt, sending word by the doore keeper that I was belowe to attend his Excellency and Councill according to his order, and alsoe desired to knowe if any thing were moveing in answer to whatt I came about, and towards my dispatch. The doore keeper brought me word that Sr W<sup>m</sup> was busie in Council and would desire me to waite upon him some other time at his house, where he had something to say and deliver to me.

The 25th I went to Sr W<sup>ms</sup> and sent him word I was come to waite upon him. Sr W<sup>m</sup> came to me I tould him according to his order I was come to waite upon his Excellency, and to receive his answer and letters to his Excellency the Governo<sup>r</sup> of Yorke. He tould me he had onely writt one letter, and that was all he intended to send: for he had writt foure before to Yorke, but had received noe retourne but a brawleing scoulding impertinent letter, and noe wise relateing to the Kings buissness; therefore he would write noe more concerneing that matter, but something in answer to his quarrelling letter. Then he tould me he had heard in London that Coll: Fletcher was a gentleman and a good souldier, & that he was advised to consult him in the matter of Canada, to which end he had sent foure letters. I tould him I never heard of the arrivall of any, but I doubted not but his Excellency knew who they went by. He tould me he sent one by Coll: Dudley; which I acquainted the Coll: of, and he protested he sent none by him. In some of his letters, Sr W<sup>m</sup> tould me, he had left it to the Governo<sup>r</sup> of Yorke to appointe the place of their meeting, but that Coll: Fletcher slighted it, and he would retourne an accompt thereof home. Then he tould me he scorn'd to speake against Coll: Fletcher behinde his back, for he was afraid of noe man. I tould Sr W<sup>m</sup> that his Excellencie knew best whether he had or noe, but it was my oppinion that all men of sence would beleive that Sr W<sup>m</sup> had spoke the words Abrah: Governeer writt, because Sr W<sup>m</sup> did not punish Governeer for writeing soe gross a lye of him or elce to send him to New Yorke to his Excell: the Governo<sup>r</sup> who had sent me to demand him. He made me noe answer to that, nor in all the time of my discourse did he seeme to denye the words y<sup>t</sup> Abrah: Governeer writt. He tould me if I was not come upon their Maj<sup>ties</sup> service, he would have made me the severest example that ever was in New England. I tould him I did not doubt but being a free born borne subject I should have the benefit of the law, being in an English Province. He tould me yes and the extremity thereof. I tould him I had noe dread upon me, neither would I be frighted from doeing my masters buissness who had sent me, and I was of oppinion all this discourse was much besides the buissness I was come aboute, therefore I pray'd his answer relateing to the Vineyard. He asked me when I intended to goe. I tould him next Tewsday at farthest. He bid me come when I would and I should have his letter for 'twas ready. I tould him I was ready to receive it now if His Exc<sup>ell</sup>: pleased and had nothing elee to wait for, but his Excellencies dispatch, for which I had waited above tenn dayes. He tould me I must come in the morneing before I went. I tould him I should be gone early before His Excellency would be stirring, but if he pleased I would waite upon his Excellency on Munday night. He bid me doe soe; and sundry times spoke in the favo<sup>r</sup> of Barry and Governeer, telling me he would beleive them before me, and very much speaking in favo<sup>r</sup> of Leysler, condemning Major Ingoldesbey and Governo<sup>r</sup> Slaughter.

The 30th Jan<sup>ry</sup> about five a clock, the Councill being broke up I went to Sr W<sup>ms</sup> house alone, and he standing upon the steps of his house I tould him I was come to waite upon his Excellency for my dispatch towards Yorke. He tould me his letter was ready and gave it me. I prayed an answer relateing to the Vineyard. He bid me tell Governo<sup>r</sup> Fletcher that if he came to Martins Vineyard to medle with the govern<sup>mt</sup>, he would take care to secure him that he should never retourne back againe—I asked Sr W<sup>m</sup> if I should retourne this for his answer to the buissnesse of the Vineyard. He tould me yes. Sr I shall be shure to doe it; see you had best, said Sr W<sup>m</sup>. I againe demanded Governeer to be delivered to me that I might see him to Yorke. He tould me noe, I ask't him if this was his result. He tould me he was none of Governor Fletchers goaler—I tould him I hoped his Excellency would hono<sup>r</sup> me with a pass. He tould me noe he should give me none.

[New-York Entries, III. 19.]

Sir

I was called from my last by the acts of an in fall the French and their Indians had made, on the out skirts of this Province of which I send you a narrative, and I still beg your Friendship Countenance to this poore part of the English Empire

S<sup>r</sup> our Neighbours on the Right and left sitt at ease, they Govern by their own Fancies, Connecticut full of people keep up a Commonwealth, Power oppress the better sort who dessent from them but will not send a man or Sixpence to our relief.

And from that Collony I could march up men dry foot to Repell our Enemies, from hence we have a voyage of fifty leagues to Albany, In my absence the Council here writ to all the Neighbouring Collonies for men or money, the Republick of Connecticut quarrell att the Superscription of the Councils Letter for want of their proper Tittle. From Pensylvania they say they have nothing to send us but their good wishes. East Jersey has sent us £248 and promiss to make itt £400 those remoter Collonies I have not yet heard from. Wee have quite lost Our Furr Trade. we pay ten p<sup>r</sup> cent for money borrowed to carry on this war, and no prospect that I see of paying the principle, The Fort of this place quite out of Repairs dropping down, So are the buildings especially the Chappell, nothing in my sight but an addition of Connecticut and some other Colonys can support us by paying equall duties to the Crown, the Acts for Navigation are wholly violated by these out lyers.

I humbly beg that Arms for two Troops of Dragoons may be sent over, they are of great use on our Frontiers.

Two Companies more of Foot where of one for Maj<sup>r</sup> Schuyler who has behaved himself well understands the Indian Language and their way of fighting, would encourage and strenghten these dejected and dispirited people, though the French were beaten they are not sattisfied that one man gott off, and had our Indians been true to us, 'twas next to impossible that a man of them should have Escaped.

A journal of the expedición of His Excell: Ben: Fletcher Capt: General & Governour in Cheife of the Province of New York, to the frontiers, against the French & Indians of Canida.

169 $\frac{1}{2}$  Feb. 12. Sunday about 10 or 11 a clock at night an expresse from L<sup>t</sup> Col Beeckman of Ulster County gave his Excell. an account of advice from Albany, of the French and Indians consisting of 550. being within 20 miles of Schenectady on the 8th instant, an hour before day, ready to fall upon the 2 first Castles of our Mohogs. Whereupon his Excell ordered the Col: of the Militia of the City of New Yorke to draw out his regiment next morning.

13th Munday. Orders were sent to Col. Courtlandt of Kings County and Coll: Willet of Queen's County to detach out their regiments 150 men to be forthwith ready to imbarq at the ferry.

About 8 a clock morning the City Regiment being under arms his Excell. on horseback at the head of the regiment demanded who were willing to follow him to the frontiers against the enemy: they unanimously threw up their hatts crying one & all. Upon which the Col: was ordered to detach 150 of the fittest men, to be under the command of three captains with their Subaltern Officers ready at the first beat of drum, & dismisse the regiment.

About 10 a clock his Excell: did send the expresse forward to Lieut Coll. Beeckman with orders to gett all the horses in the County of Ulster together in readynesse to carry his Excell. & the detachments to Albany from Kingston, by land, in case the river were not open, and to forward any confirmation of the news to his Excell: which he expected before he did intend to imbarq.

14 Tuesday. By break of day an express from Major Ingoldesby confirming the former news and that the two first Castles were taken by the French and Indians. Whereupon eight Sloops were ordered with necessary provisions and ammunicón to goe round the Fort and be ready to saile and the detachment of the City Regiment did immediately imbarq about 4 a clock afternoon; the tide offering, his Excell. attended with the Officers of the detachment & severall volunteers, did imbarq and sett saile.

17th Friday About 9 a clock his Excell. arrived at Albany (being 50 leagues distant from New York) with 5 of the sloops, having mett much ice in the river which gave some difficulty: the rest arrived towards evening. As soon as they came on shoare his Excell ordered Capt: Schuyler to march 50 of the men to Schenectady about 11 a clock his Excell: followed with 16 horse leaving instruccóns with Coll: Bayard to forward all the rest of the detachments, as they did arrive, towards Schenectady without losse of time together with the ammunicón & provisions.

About 3 a clock afternoon His Excell met Major Ingoldesby about 8 miles from Schenectady on his returne from Albany, having gone from thence that morning to visit Schenectady. His Excell: arrived at Schenectady (being 20 miles from Albany) about 5 a clock.

9 a clock at night Captain Schuyler with his men arrived & found provisions and lodjing in readynesse.

15th Saturday. By break of day the men were ready to be transported over the river, but a violent storme did hinder their transportacón 'till afternoon & sundry Indian women loaden with provisions were sent along with them.

This day about noon Maj<sup>r</sup> Merrit with the rest of the City detachment did arrive at Schenectady and were immediately furnished with quarter ammunicón and provision ready to march next morning.

19th Sunday. By break of day the rest of the forces that were fitt to march did attempt to get over, but great quantiytes of loose ice did hinder them, till about ten a clock the ice setting, they got over it on foot, which in two hours after was dispersed and the river open again. This party caryed a further supply of provisions and ammunicón.

20th Munday. By break of day those of the City detachment who were not able to march the day before being refreshed, His Exc<sup>ll</sup>: detached from the garison of Schenectady soe many as made them 42, who did immediately march with 13 horses loaden with provisions & ammunicón.

About 2 a clock afternoon arrived at Schenectady Captain Stillwell with the detachment of King's County consisting of 50 men who were ordered to refresh themselves 'till next morning, and three horses with provisions ordered to be in readynesse to attend them.

21st Tuesday The horses being caryed over the river and the men ready to be transported, came an express from Major Schuyler giving intelligence of his being neer at hand on his returne, who arrived about 4 a clock afternoon: upon which the men & horse were remanded and sent back to their homes.

There marched by his Exc<sup>ll</sup>: order from Schenectady to joyne Maj<sup>r</sup> Schuyler since his Exc<sup>ll</sup> arrivall there 208 effective men besides guides and caryers of supplyes, with considerable quantiytes of provisions and ammunicón which are since returned.

4 a clock arrived Coll: Willet at Albany with 120 men from Queenes County, who were next morning remanded home to their habitacóns, together with the rest of the detachments.

At night his Excellency sent to call those Indians that were returned from the fight, to meet him next morning at Albany.

23th Thursday. A proclamacón issued requiring all the out farmers to draw themselves into neighbourhoods for their better security against the sculking enemy.

25th Saturday. The Indians being arrived last night & giving their attendance this morning, his Exc<sup>ll</sup>: being accompanied with the Magistrates of the City and the Souldiers and militia in arms, came to the City Hall and made his speech to the Indians, which was interpreted to them by the Interpretesse Helle.

26th Sunday. About 8 a clock in the morning 4 of the Cheif Sachems came to his Excellency with some further propositions, which he did immediately answer to their satisfaction.

27th Munday. His Exc<sup>ll</sup>: caused a proclamacón to be published prohibiting the selling of rum to the Indians and did imbarque for New Yorke, where he arrived Thursday morning following, and was received with such expressions of joy and thankfulness the place could afford.

We underwritten have compared our particuar journalls and do attest this copy to be true.

Major Peter Schuyler's Report to Governor Fletcher.

[New-York Papers, III. E. 52.]

In obedience to your Excell: commands with the other officers under my command I give this particular account of our proceedings since the first intelligence of the enemys descent into the Mohogs cuntry.

1697, Feb: 8th Wednesday. About 2 a clock afternoon we had the alarm from Schenectady that the French and their Indians had taken the Maquas Castles: Soon after we had the news that a young man named Jan Baptist van Eps (taken a Schenectady 3 yeares agoe) was runn over from the French, as they were to attack the first Castle of the Mohogs, and come to Schenectady, who related that the French were 350 Christians and 200 Indians, Major Ingoldesby sent forthwith his warrants to command in the farmers of Captaine Gerrittse and Capt Theunisses Companyes of Militia.

This night Lieut John Schuyler and Cornet Abeel with 55 horse march'd to Schenectady.

9th Thursday Cornet Abeel by express from Schenectady desired that Major Peter Schuyler or Maj<sup>r</sup> Wessels might be sent thither to pacify the Indians who were enraged that noe Christians went out to pursue the enemy: upon which Major Schuyler at his own request was permitted to goe that evening.

As soon as Major Schuyler arrived there he sent out Scouts to spy the forts and the enemys motion and withall to give intelligence to the Tionondage Indians of the enemys coming: but they having gone 12 miles in the woods returned about 12 a clock at night saying they could not get over the river.

10th Fryday. Major Schuyler sent Lieut John Schuyler and Lt John Sander with 6 more to view the Mohogs fort that was possessed by the enemy who brought news that the French were in both the forts: of all which he gave advice to Major Ingoldesby at Albany.

11th Saturday. Major Schuyler sent 10 christians and 40 Indians to ly near the enemy and to watch their móon, who made a small fort to retreat into, and soe spyed what the enemy did.

12th Sunday. News were brought to Schenectady by some of the s<sup>d</sup> Scouts that they had heard firing at the Maquas forts, which was supposed [to be] the Tionondage Indians against the French; which news Major Schuyler sent forward to Albany. Whereupon Major Ingoldesby detached about 200 men out of the severall companyes of the Militia, Fusileers, and troop, commanded by Capt Peter Matthews, Capt Arant Schuyler, Capt: B. Phipps Capt. Killian van Renslaer and Capt: Thomas Garton, who arrived at Schenectady about 2 a clock afternoon & joyned Maj<sup>r</sup> Schuyler. The waggons with bread arrived that night.

Thursday last our Scouts had brought in the news that the French were there still and that they had alsoe cutt off the 3<sup>d</sup> Castle of the Mohogs called Tionondage and that none of the upper Indians were come downe: all which was communicated to Maj<sup>r</sup> Ingoldesby forthwith, and Maj<sup>r</sup> Schuyler sent to him for orders to march.

13th Munday. This morning having rec<sup>d</sup> noe answer of the last express Maj<sup>r</sup> Schuyler sent another for orders to march, and being press'd by the Indians who threatned else to desert us, was forced to march the men over the river without orders, which came about 4 a clock in the afternoone, when most of the men were gott over the river. This very time we had news by our Scouts that the French had burnt the 3 Maquas Castles and were marched away; which Maj<sup>r</sup> Schuyler ordered L<sup>t</sup> Young to signify to Maj<sup>r</sup> Ingoldesby.

We marched 12 miles that evening being 273 Christians, in the night about 10 a clock one of our Scouts came in and told us that 600 of our uppermost Indians were coming down. Maj<sup>r</sup> Schuyler forthwith sent the same messenger that brought us the news, to Maj<sup>r</sup> Ingoldesby, and desired that provision and ammunicón should be sent after us, not knowing how much the Indians may want.

14th Tuesday. About 1 or 2 a clock in the morning we decamped and marched to the small fort made by our 50 Scouts, about 6 a clock in the morning, where we had advice the enemy were not above 8 miles from us. Upon which L<sup>t</sup> Harme van Slyck and 2 Indians were sent to discover the enemy, who brought word they were marched. Two Indians came to us with news that there were 300 of our upper Indians within twenty miles of us; whereupon we sent 2 Indians back to hasten them up, and to let them know we were there to joyne them. We sent out 3 Mohogs to discover the enemy: about 4 a clock in the afternoon we decamped and marched to the place where the enemy had lain the night before.

15th Wednesday. In the morning two of our Indian skouts returned (the 3rd run over to the enemy) who brought us news that they had seen the enemy within 10 miles. Our Indians came up with us about 12 a clock, being 290 men and boys, some armed and some without arms; a consult being had we marched about 4 a clock & encamped alltogether, having marched about 10 miles that afternoon. This night a consult was held and spyes sent out to discover the enemy.

16th Thursday. Early in the morning we marched & having gone teun miles found the place where the enemy had lain 2 nights before and halted there. An Oneyde Indian came from the enemy, being sent to our Indians to debauch them over to the French, whom wee did not think fitt to send back, being a prisoner taken at Tionondage.

We sent an express to Major Ingoldesby to acquaint him that the enemy had built a fort and were resolved to fight us, and sent for supplies of provision ammunition & men. We marched on towards the enemy and met with one of our wounded Indians, who informed that the enemy staid for us in a fort. Upon which we marched about 2 miles, where a Christian boy Arnout the Interpreter's son, came to us, who had been 3 years a prisoner among the French. He gave account that the enemy were about 600 or 700 men, and within 3 miles. We marched forward to find some convenient place to encamp & to fortify ourselves from the enemy that night. We had scouts out, Christians and Indians, all night, to watch the enemys mocón; who brought account in the morning that we were within a mile of their fort.

17th Fryday. We decamped and marched towards the enemy with scouts before us, and did not take a direct line, but went round for fear of an ambuscade; about 8 a clock in the morning come in sight of their fort, where our scouts came and shewed us where the enemy lay. Upon which all the officers were commanded to take their posts and make ready to engage, being 250 Christians and 290 Indians. The enemy seeing us gave three hosaa's, which we answered with as many and as loud as they, and made the woods ring.

Our Indians went to work to fall trees and fortifie, but the enemy sallied out immediately. We engaged them and beat them into their fort. Our Indians fell to worke againe, and desired our Christians to help, which they did. The enemy sallied out with all their strength a 2<sup>d</sup> time, encouraging their men, crying they run wee will cut them all off & gett their provisions. We received them briskly and beat them back into their fort with the losse of severall of their men. Our men fell to worke againe about the fort; the enemy sallied out the 3<sup>d</sup> time, but were as well repulsed as before & beat back into their fort with considerable loss; our Indians bringing severall of their heads and scalps into our fort. After this the enemy was quiet and we finished our fort. Assoon as this skirmish was over we sent an express to Major Ingoldesby to acquaint him what had passed, praying him to hasten our recruits with provisions & amunicón for the greatest part of the men had not had any provision in 2 dayes time. We sent out scouts of Christians and Indians all that night to discover the enemys mocón, and lay all night in our fort. It was extreme bad cold snowy weather.

15th Saturday. Being cold stormy weather and snow insomuch that we could scarce see any tract, our scouts came in this morning, which gave account that the enemy were in their fort, some being still popping at our people. About 9 a clock an Indian that left the French in their fort, told us he thought the enemy would retreat, that they were packing up their baggage. Upon which Major Schuyler ordered the Captains to draw out their men to march round the enemys fort to stop them; but the same time had an account they were fled: he commanded the Officers to pursue them to hinder their retreat, till men and provisions came up; but the men wanting provisions, refused to march. The officers with 60 Christians and some Indians pursued the enemy till they had made a small fortification, but the Officers not having men to engage them, nor to make a fort, returned, leaving 2 Officers with 40 men and 100 Indians to watch their mocón, expecting our provisions to come up that night.

19th Sunday. About 7 a clock in the morning we had an account that our provisions were neer at hand, which came up to us about 9 or 10 a clock, with 80 men commanded by Capt Simms, the provisions being immediately distributed among the men; those that were first served were commanded away after the enemy with 5 biscakes a man. About 4 a clock the van commanded by Captain Peter Matthews & Captaine Arent Schuyler came up neer the reer of the enemy, the scouts telling us we were within less than an English mile of the enemy, we desired the Indians to joyne with us and fall upon their reer till the rest of our men came up, sending in the mean time to our people to march in all haste: but the Indians halted and could not be perswaded to march, the Mohogs being most unwilling, because the enemy had dropp'd severall prisoners, who told them that if they pursued them they would kill all their wives and children whom they had prisoners.

After an hours consultacón of the Indians most of our men came up. We marched with all speed thinking to overtake the enemy before they gott to the rivers side; but there being a flake of ice in one part of the river and all open above and below, the enemy gott over before we came up. We encamped at the rivers side that night.

20th Monday. In the morning Major Schuyler resolved to march over the river to pursue the enemy, ordering the Officers to gett their men ready for that purpose, but many of the men being wearied with fategue, their shoes quite worn out and provisions scarce, were not able to make any further pursuit; but that which did most of all discourage us is the great averseness the Indians had to fall upon the enemy because of their wives and children: whereupon we marched back.

21 Tuesday. Upon our arrivall at the frontiers at Schenectady we found your Excellency had been there since the 17th instant with 250 men from New Yorke and more coming up: Yo<sup>r</sup> Exc<sup>ll</sup>: had sent three severall detachments successively with meū ammunicōn and provision for our assistance; but we returning another way missed of them.

In this engagement we lost four private souldiers and 4 Indians, two Officers and 12 Christians and Indians wounded; and had an account of some of our Indian prisoners that made their escape, that we killed thirty three of the enemy, whereof we found but twenty seven corps, amongst which was their Captain Commandant and two other officers, with two of their commanding Indians, and six and twenty wounded.

We rescued between 40 & 50 prisoners

We found when we came into the enemies fort that they had burnt their blanketts and baggage & beat their kettles to pieces to lighten their retreat Since their retreat we are informed by divers of the prisoners who come home dayly, that all our men prisoners, except 5, have made their escape or are sett at liberty, and but few women and children left with them, not being able to carry the prisoners off, by reason of their wounded men, whereof they carry thirteen. The Indians after their naturall barbarity did cutt the enemies dead to pieces, roast them and eat them.

May it please Yo<sup>r</sup> Excellency,

Wee are extremely sensible of your Exc<sup>ll</sup>: speciall care, not only for the safty & security of this yo<sup>r</sup> Excellencies governm<sup>t</sup> in generall, but in p<sup>t</sup>icular for the extraordinary reguarde taken for this citty, being the utmost frontier thereof, seated near 150 miles up in the Countrey, whilst the same was attacked by the enemy of Canida who had surprized and burnt the 3 Castles of o<sup>r</sup> Indiān Mohog's, killing diverse of their fighting men & led in captivity upwards of 130 women and children, & that yo<sup>r</sup> Exc<sup>ll</sup>. should within two days after notice received from hence make that dispatch as to be here soe suddenly with 300 men & sufficient p<sup>r</sup>visions & stores of war for our immediate reliefe; which was more then ever could be expected in this winter season.

Wee therefore out of a deep sence of yo<sup>r</sup> Exc<sup>ell</sup>. unparelled affection to & care for us, cannot but esteem our selves highly oblidged to yo<sup>r</sup> Excellency and begg of you to accept our unfeigned thanks, assuring yo<sup>r</sup> Exc<sup>ell</sup>. as wee shall never forgett yo<sup>r</sup> extraordinary care of us, soe wee shall ever admire and beg the continuence of yo<sup>r</sup> Excellencys benign government over us. And since the Maquase nation is wholly dispersed by the enemyes late burning all their three Castles & our farmers live stragglng up & down the country in great danger to be cutt off by sculking Indians, wee pray that yo<sup>r</sup> Excellency in yo<sup>r</sup> wisdom will be pleased to order some convenient place where the remnant of the said Nation may be convened together & fortified against any attaque of the enemy, & that the farmers may bee ordered to fortify themselves in Comp<sup>s</sup> together that the enemy may not have an advantage of them.

[New-York Papers, III. E. 58.]

The speech of his Exc<sup>ell</sup>. Benjamin Fletcher Captain Generall and Governour in Cheife of the Province of New Yorke and the Territoryes depending thereon in America to some of the Cheife Sachims of the Indians of the Five Nations, convened at the City Hall in Albany the 25th day of February 169 $\frac{3}{4}$  after the defeate of the enemy, being drove out of this Province.

Brethren,

It is not unknown to some of you that I came last October into these parts for noe other cause than to secure us and you from the attempt of the French and their Indians, our enemyes & yours.

And in order to this I sent up a supply of amunicón artillery and christian soldiers, sufficient to prevent any insult from our enemies, and it had the effect I expected, for they durst not face the weakest of our garrisons.

I came now for your reliefe and have lost noe time; the same day that I had the account from hence that the enemy was in this Country, I put my selfe on board a sloop and brought with me one hundred and fifty Christian Soldiers besides volunteers, and arrived here before I could be expected. I did immediately march to Schenectady, from whence I sent supplies of two hundred and odd men with provision & ammunicón up to you, who with those under the command of Maj<sup>r</sup> Schuyler that had joyned you before might have secured an intire victorie & prevented the French and their Indians from any possibility of getting back to their own homes, but it has pleased God to order it otherwise.

I had alsoe two hundred Christians more upon their march, who arrived here and would have been a considerable reinforcement to us, but the accón being over I commanded them back to their former residence 'till further orders.

It is obvious to me and (I beleive) to you all that the calamity is fallen on you by yo<sup>r</sup> own faults. I could never suppose my brethren the Maquas would be soe supine and carelesse as to suffer the French and their Indians to enter their Castles without the least resistance.

The men that have an enemy neere must sleep with their arms in their hands and one eye open; that is they must keep scouts and spyes soe as never to become a prey to their enemies by their own negligence.

I must therefore advise you that for the future you keep strict watch, soe that I may have timely notice of the enemys mocón, and you will then see how easily they will be defeated.

I hope it is now apparent to you that the great King of England is ready to apply his arms for yo<sup>r</sup> defence, when you consider that in a very few dayes I am come personally to your assistance with neer four hundred Christian soldiers

I have had the honour to bear command under the great King of England my master, where I have seen the French fly before his victorious arms, & last summer it pleased God to add to his victories by the defeate and distruction of their fleet, in which most of their ships were burnt and sunck.

I am come now in great haste and brought noe p<sup>r</sup>sents with me, but designe (by the blessing of God) to be with you at the beginning of summer to renew the antient covenant chain, and to give you further assurances of the great King of Englands favour to you and of my own readynesse upon all occacóns to appear as his servant for yo<sup>r</sup> protection against our enemies and yours, and to give you something to wipe off yo<sup>r</sup> tears for the losse of your relations, which I heartily condole.

My p<sup>r</sup>sent care now is to provide for the Maquas Nation, about which I have given my direccons to Maj<sup>r</sup> Schuyler, who will appoint them a place for their residence. I have alsoe ordered some corne for your present support, which you will receive.

I must add that it concerns your honour and reputacón to make some brisk attempt upon our enemies, and this with what secrecy & expedicón you can, that those people may see you retain the antient courage of your ancestors; and I doe not question but God will give you success by a severe revenge upon our enemys and yours.

I am informed that your young men have killed the horses of some Christian soldiers, who were upon the same service with you. It is not brotherly, and I desire for the future you will take care to prevent such outrage, that the antient covenant chain may be p<sup>r</sup>served inviolable on your parts, as it will be on my masters the Great King.

To conclude I must tell you that I doubt there is some false brother among us, who keeps intelligence with our enemyes, concealing their designs & exposing ours; if you have one French man among you he will be true to his country and betray you. I have ordered you some bread and beere, and desire you will drink the healths of my great Master and Mistress, the victorious King and most illustrious Queen of Great Brittain, France & Ireland, and all America, and soe I bidd you farewell.

Sadekanaktie Sachim of the Onondages, Speaker. Hille, the Interpretesse.

When wee arrived at Schemectady after o<sup>r</sup> march against the enemy yo<sup>r</sup> Excellency was pleased to desire us to come heither, where wee have heard yo<sup>r</sup> Excellency speake and also participated of yo<sup>r</sup> favours. Wee confess the French of Canida our enemyes have fallen upon o<sup>r</sup> brethren the Mohogs & destroy'd their three castles, & we can blame nothing for it but their not hearkening to yo<sup>r</sup> Excellency's wholesom advice in October last, which was, to keep good guard & out Skouts. Wee returne yo<sup>r</sup> Excellency our hearty thanks for yo<sup>r</sup> care in providing for them that they may not starve in the midst of this extreemity.

BROTHER CAJENQUIRAGOE. Yo<sup>r</sup> Excellency has p<sup>o</sup>posed to us to attack the enemy in their Country to show them that wee have not lost the courage of our ancestors. Wee return you our hearty thanks for your good encouragement. Wee are now in some manner drunk with the blood lately shedd by them. It is not usuall for us whilst und<sup>r</sup> such greife and anxiety as doth now seize us, to pursue to revenge our selves of the enemy. You have lost your blood as well as wee & therefore the blood ought to be revenged unanimously by both sides.

BROTHER CAJENQUIRAGOE. You have recommended to us to attack the enemy at their homes in Canida. You have been acquainted with us of old, that it hath always been o<sup>r</sup> custom first to condole the death of those who are killed by the enemy, being all one heart, one blood one soul.

Nevertheless wee design to goe out and fall upon the French, but we must first secure our Castles; since we know that the Governo<sup>r</sup> of Canida does intend to send out a considerable party; whether wee know not.

You presse us to goe & attack the French in Canida by land. Wee expect that according to the many promises & engagements made us, to hear that you send a considerable force with great gunns by sea, that the enemy being assaulted both ways may be overcome. Wee press this the harder because a great part of our Strength is already broke; therefore take it not amiss that wee push this point of taking Canida by sea, since it is impossible to take it by land alone.

BROTHER CAJENQUIRAGOE. Wee return yo<sup>r</sup> Excellency our hearty thanks that you are soe ready to assist us upon any occasion, & for yo<sup>r</sup> good advice to be watchfull & keep out good scouts & spies. It is probable wee had done a great deale more dammage to the enemy had we been soe well provided with all sorts of ammunition and armes as the Indians of Canida are. Some of our men have gunns & no powder & ball; & some but bowes and arrowes, which Maj<sup>r</sup> Schuyler can testifye who see us when wee came up to him: whereas the Governo<sup>r</sup> of Canida supplies his Indians with all sorts of armes and amunicōn, which we found when wee engaged them.

Wee pray yo<sup>r</sup> Exc<sup>ell</sup>. to have a carefull eye over us since this party of the French that have destroyed the Maqua's Castles is but a part of his strength; he is at work with the Ottowawaes & Dowaganhaes Indians, where he has a great magazine & supplies them with all sorts of ammunition. And wee fear that force will come down upon us still.

BROTHER CAJENQUIRAGOE. Wee return yo<sup>r</sup> Excellency thanks for remembring o<sup>r</sup> dead & that you will condole their losse when you come up in the beginning of Summer; but yo<sup>r</sup> Exc<sup>ell</sup>. can expect noe return from us; our condition and capacity is soe meane.

BROTHER CAJENQUIRAGOE you did inform us of a great victory that our Great King has got upon the French at sea, which is wonderfull & all the Nations are heartily rejoyced at it, and hope that God Almighty will give the same success to their Maj<sup>ties</sup> armes in this part of the world over his and our enemys the French in Canida.

Wee pray that yo<sup>r</sup> Exc<sup>ell</sup>. would be pleased to acquaint our Great King of our mean condition & in what posture wee are in, how easy it is to destroy Canida if all their Ma<sup>ties</sup> Subjects in these Colonies would unite & joyne together, with some ships which o<sup>r</sup> great King can more easily spare us after this late sea victory over the French.

Brethren.

I must tell you of yo<sup>r</sup> mistake to thinke that this party of French that have destroy'd the Castles of the Mohogs are but part of the Governo<sup>r</sup> of Canida's strength; for it is his greatest strength that he can spare & the best men he had, nor could they come here but with great difficulty and hardship; and believe the greatest part of them that escaped will never returne, but perish in the woods; therefore be not discouraged, keep out good scouts & spies and give me but timely advertisement of their coming (you have experienced my readinesse for yo<sup>r</sup> reliefe) and I doubt not if Monsieur Frontiniack with all the power of Canida come to assault us, but to overcome him by the strength of this P<sup>r</sup>vince, without any assistance of our neighbours.

I doe grant yo<sup>r</sup> request of a Smith, and will order one to live in yo<sup>r</sup> country to repair yo<sup>r</sup> armes.

PROPOSITIONS made by four of the Cheif Sachims of the 5 nations to his Excéll.
Benjamin Fletcher, Captain Generall &c in Albany the 26th of February 169<sup>2</sup><sub>3</sub>.

BROTHER CAJENQUIRAGOE

Wee come to acquaint you that last night one of our men in a fitt of drunkenesse hath killed an Indian that came over from the French; at which wee are much concerned; and therefore come to know how yo<sup>r</sup> Excéll. resents it.

Wee desire yo<sup>r</sup> Excéll. will be pleased to prohibite the selling of rum whilst the warr is soe hott, since our soldiery cannot be kept within bounds when they are drunk.

BROTHER CAJENQUIRAGOE. Wee made answer to yo<sup>r</sup> Excéll. speech yesterday, but had not time to consult with that deliberation wee ought to have done. Wee therefore beg yo<sup>r</sup> Excéll. pardon for what is omitted, & where wee did faile in our duty, wee doe declare in behalfe of all the Nations that wee are singularly obliged to yo<sup>r</sup> Excellency for your extraordinary dispatch & suddain arrivall with soe considerable a force for our reliefe; the like was never done before. Wee see yo<sup>r</sup> Excellencys readiness & alacrity to help and assist us & doe also return yo<sup>r</sup> Excellency thanks for leaving direccóns with Maj<sup>r</sup> Schuyler to take care of the Maquas Nation.

Wee are thankfull for yo<sup>r</sup> Excéll. kind expression to be soe ready to come for our reliefe & that you warn us to looke out and come & acquaint you assoon as wee see the enemy afarr off coming. Wee will doubt no more of yo<sup>r</sup> Excéll. power to protect us, since we have a sufficient proof thereof in this expedition.

BROTHER CAJENQUIRAGOE. Wee doe engage to make a narrow enquiry as soon as we come into our country about the French p<sup>o</sup>soners, whom wee suspect may betray us. Wee have had twice words with the Oneydes about that priest Millett, that is among them, & wee intend to try the third time.

Wee desire yo<sup>r</sup> Excellency may come up as soon as the barke is loose upon the trees, since wee have a designe upon the enemy.

Wee forgott to answeare yo<sup>r</sup> Excéll. concerning o<sup>r</sup> young men killing the horses. Wee confess it is not brotherly; it is very ill done, and as soon as wee come into o<sup>r</sup> cuntry wee will take such methods to p<sup>r</sup>vent it, wee will find out those that have done it & cause them make satisfaction.

His Excéll: did reply.

That he was much concerned that they should exercise their arms against one another, whilst there is an enemy in the field; he hoped for the future they would prevent such irregularities, that they may rest sufficiently satisfied in the readinesse of the armes of the Great King of England to assist them & that for his own part he will never spare to expose his person for their security; that the rum shall be p<sup>r</sup>hibited according to their request & that the greatest thing he does require of them is to bee vigilant and careful & not to suffer themselves to bee surprized hereafter, & then they need not fear the French.

WILLIAM and MARY by the Grace of God of England, Scotland, France and Ireland King and Queen defenders of the Faith &c To Our Trusty and Welbeloved Benjamin Fletcher Esq<sup>r</sup> Captain Generall and Governor in cheif in and over Our Provinces of New York and Pensilvania, and our County of New Castle and all the Territories and Tracts of Land depending thereon in America. And to our Governor or Commander in Cheif of Our Province of New York for the time being Greeting.

Whereas our Colony of Connecticut in New England by its neighbourhood to our Province of New York will be best defended and secured from the attempts of our Enemies, and may with most expedition assist our said Province as there may be Occasion during this time of Warr, by uniting the Forces of our said Colony and Province.<sup>1</sup> [And Whereas by Act of Parliament made in the thirteenth Year of the Reign of the late King Charles the Second, it is declared that within all our Realms and Dominions the Sole and Supream Power, Government Command, and disposition of the Militia and of all Forces by Sea and land, and of all Forts and places of Strength is of Right belonging to us,] We reposing especial Trust and Confidence in your Prudence Courage and Loyalty have thought it necessary for our Service and for the better Protection and security of our Subjects inhabiting in those parts, to constitute and appoint, and we do by these presents constitute and appoint you the said Benjamin Fletcher or our Governour or Commander in Cheif of Our Province of New York for the time being, to be our Lieutenant and Commander in Cheif of the Militia, and of all the Forces by Sea and Land within our Colony of Conecticot, and of all our Forts and Places of strength within the same.

And for the better ordering Governing and Ruling our said Militia and all our Forces, Forts, and Places of Strength within our said Colony of Conecticut. We do hereby give and grant unto you the said Benjamin Fletcher, and to our Governor or Commander in Cheif of our Province of New York for the time being, [to be our Lieutenant and Commander in Cheif of the Militia, and of all the Forces by Sea and land within our Colony of Conecticott, and of all our Forts and Places of Strength] full Power and Authority to Levy, Arm, Must<sup>r</sup> Command or Employ the Militia of our said Colony and [as occasion shall serve,]<sup>2</sup> them to transferr to our Province of New York and Frontiers of the same, for the resisting and withstanding of our Enemies Pirats and Rebels both at land and Sea, and for the defence of our said Province and Colony against the Invasion or attempts of any of our Enemies. And them if occasion shall require, to pursue and prosecute in or out of the limitts of our said Province and Colony or either of them. And if it shall so please God them to vanquish and being taken either according to the Laws of Arms to put to death, or to keep and preserve alive at your discretion and to do and execute all and every other thing which to our Commander in Cheif of our Militia and of our Forces by Land and Sea doth or ought of Right to belong, as fully amply as any our Captain Generall doth or hath usually done.

And whereas by our Commission under our Great Seal bearing date the 24th day of December in the third year of our Reign. We have constituted and appointed our Trusty and Welbeloved Sr W<sup>m</sup> Phips to be our Lieutenant and Commander in cheif of the Militia, and of all the Forces by Land and Sea within Our Severall Colonies of Conecticut Rhode Island and Providence Plantation the Narraganset Countrey or Kings Province, and our Province of New Hampshire and all our Forts and Places of Strength within the same, with the severall Powers and Authorities therein Contained. And whereas for the aforesaid recited reasons and Considerations, We have thought fitt to place the command of the Militia in Our Governor of New York for the time being. Our Will and Pleasure is, That all the Powers Granted to the said Sir William Phips for the Commanding ruling and Governing of the Militia within our said Colony of Conecticut; and of all the Forts and Places of Strength within the same, do from the Publication of these presents cease and determine.

And that you the said Benjamin Fletcher the Governor or Commander in Cheif of our Province of New York, shall and may from hence hold execute and enjoy the office and Place of Our Lieutenant and Commander in Cheif of the Militia, and of all the Forces by Sea and

Minutes of the Committee of Trade, &c.

Minutes of the Committee of Trade and Plantations y<sup>e</sup> 12th June 1693.

Upon reading a letter to the Earl of Nottingham from Coll: Fletcher Govern<sup>r</sup> of New York, complaining that the neighbouring Colonies Harbour their Deserters and Rob them of their Trade Imposing no duties, and that the Act of Navigation is wholly violated by those outliers. Their Lordships recom<sup>d</sup> this matter to the Lords of the Treasury, and a Letter to be writt to those Colonies from the Committee, that their Majesties Expect the Orders of the Treasury herein should be obeyed.

M<sup>r</sup> Attorney Generall is ordered to look into the Matter of the Government of the two Jerseys, and to consider the Charters of Connecticut and Rhode Island and Report to the Committee.

The Queen to be moved to send Arms and Accoutrements for Two Troops of Dragoons to New York.

To know from M<sup>r</sup> Recorder what convicts are in Newgate for Transportation that they may be sent to New York to Recruit those Companies.

Sir

Mr Lodwick
Council to give an Act of the Province.

The Council have obliged this Gent: Lieuten<sup>t</sup> Col: Lodwick to lay the condition of this Province before the Lords and your self, if you can spare him time, he will say more than I can write, and being a long resident here, a man of very good principles and strict morralls, he will find credit with you

from Pensilvania.

I cannot promise much assistance to this Province from that of Pensilvania,

I have spent some weeks there but never yett found so much self conceite they will rather dye then resist with Carnall weapons, nay they would perswade me their Province was in no danger of being lost from the Crown, tho they have neither, Armes or Amunition, nor would they suffer those few to be train'd who were free for it, their minnutes of Council and Assembly which are now Transcribing for you, will appear a farce.

a Seal for Pennsylvania wanted I was at a loss for want of a Provincial Seal this of New York I could not carry with me, nor would it do, That Province being yet distinct, acting by their own Councell and Assembly. I desire you will please to move that a Seal may be sent or their Majes<sup>ty</sup> warrant to make this of New York in force for that Province.

And Great Guns. We shall also want twenty peeces of Artillery for a Fort with Powder, Ball, &c But I know not whether ever these People will answer so great a Charge to the Crown, they will not fight for themselves, nor part with money to such as will do it for them. The next Ship I hope will bring you the perticulers of my Procedure amongst those people, I am now hastning to Albany having notice that one of our five Indian Nations, are offering at a Treaty with those of Canada. I Kiss your hand and am Sir

BEN: FLETCHER.

Instructions from his Excellency Benjamin Fletcher &c & the Council of New York to Lieu<sup>t</sup> Coll: Lodwick containing what he is to offer to the R<sup>l</sup> Hon<sup>ble</sup> the Lords of the Comitée for Trade and Forreign Plantations. Dated the 13th June 1693.

To represent to the Lords Comitée for Forreign Plantations the estate and condition of this Province, the burthen and pressure it lies under, how deeply in debt, their treasure exhausted, their men wearied out with supporting the frontiers of Albany; that it is wholly impossible longer to subsist unless assisted by the neighbouring Provinces both with men & money; that yet notwithstanding Her Maj<sup>ty</sup>'s mandatorie letters to the several neighbouring Governm<sup>ts</sup> to assist this Province, little or no assistance has been given or can be hoped for, through the remoteness of some governments and excuses and delays of others; and that from Pensilvania no assistance at all can be expected, they being most Quakers will give no men or money for warr, and so long as they are a distinct government and governed by their own Assembly nothing can be hoped for unless their Maj<sup>ties</sup> shall please to join that government to New York; by which this Province may be able to out vote them.

And that the annexion of the Jerseys to this Province would be greatly advantagious to their Maj<sup>ties</sup> interest in the preservation of these their Majesties plantations in general; for that this Province lying under sore taxes and pressures, most of the young men and such other householders as can any way remove; depart this province to the neighbouring governments, where they are wholly free from tax or any other contribution towards the common security; to the great discouragement of this Province.

That the Colony of Connecticut is full of people seated near and convenient for the assistance of Albany, and our transportation to the frontiers is extream chargeable and uncertain, depending on wind & tides for 150 miles up in the country; when they can march dry foot in two days

by land; that it would be the greatest safeguard to this Province if that Colony of Connecticut were annexed to this Province, the safety of all New England depending on the security of Albany. That if our Canton Indians, who seem to stagger and are inclined to make peace with the French of Canada, through want of those usual supplies and presents which this poor Province cannot longer support it self under, and they should be induced to make up a separate peace, the ruin of the whole country would unavoidably ensue; and that if the frontiers of Albany should happen to be pushed by the enemy, the neighbouring governments cannot hope to escape; for if we loose our Indians, who are our chiefest & cheapest bulwarks against the French, we cannot keep less than 1000 men in garrison at the frontiers; which would in one year ruine the whole province to maintain.

That not only this Province would be exposed to the enemy, but more immediately Virginia and Maryland they having no fortifications, but lying in remote settlements would be in continual danger of being cutt off, by very small partys; whereby their Maj<sup>ties</sup> revenue would considerably suffer.

That our neighbour governments are wholly exempted from any impositions or customes as are paid att New York; which greatly discourages the trade of this Province and apparently lessens the revenue for the support of their Maj<sup>ties</sup> interest here; our merchants and traders removing thither.

That whereas Canada is the chiefest seat of the enemy; if they were removed, which might be done by a joint supply from all these governments, with order and assistance from England, would at once free these Plantations from further pressure, and would conduce to the advantage & encouragement of all these Provinces in general, as well as the honour of their Maj<sup>ties</sup> in particular.

To represent rightly the late transactions of Capt: Leisler, to give a full account of all affairs from the beginning, especially since the arrival of Gov<sup>r</sup> Slaughter.

Having assurance that a commission goes to thee with this Ship to command my Province att least during the warr and my absence I thought fit by the same oppertunity to give thee this caution that I am an Englishman and that Country and Govern<sup>t</sup> of it inseperably my property, dearly purchased every way and much indebted to me and my children yett: that there is noe Quo Warranto brought nor tryall or judgment judicially past in that Affair, and therefore I must impute it to some misinformation given the Lords of the Committee of Plantations and an excess of Care in them over the English Territories. I therefore hope thou wilt tread softly and with caution in this affair, thou hast formerly discoursed largely in favour of free and property principles. I expect a prooffe of it in my owne case and that my Deputys shal find noe interruption, my Pattent makinge the same Provisiion for my Deputys as If I my selfe were upon the spott and that is my title. The discouragem<sup>t</sup> it will give y<sup>e</sup> inhabitants who upon the faith of the Crown went theither. The decay of their infant trade (the return of their Ten yeares Wildernesse Toyls and inconveniences) are prevailing motives with me to this Request which I recomend to they serious and friendly Consideration

“For what concerns the Commicòn to the Governor of New Yorke to add you to his care during the warr and my absence I refer you to Thomas Holme the bearer who is fully instructed as alsoe to some other letters of that import, in short insist upon your patent with wisdome & moderacòn but stedly integrity you are to hear and obey the Crowne of England speaking in the language and voice of the law which this is not but sic volo sic jubeo &c doubtlesse upon misadvice of your emulous neighbours that suggests the French will make way into the Colonyes by you Sett forth the falshood of it by your singular Scituation by land and sea, your hazard, charges, labours and that the Government was your motive more than land and that you were a people that could have lived here at home and went not upon motives of guilt or poverty and that it will tend to the ruine of the Plantacòn which has brought and daily brings in more custome to the Crowne than revenue to the Government there and send this over to Tho: Barker, Phi: Ford, Jos: Martin and Fran: Plumsteed and others concerned and both freinds and others of London and Bristoll will deliver your representation to the Lords of the Plantacòns or to the King and Council if you will but protest against any proceeding of the Governor of New Yorke upon his arbitrary Commieòn which as I said before must follow from misinformacòn and an excess of care in the Lords to preserve the Colonyes from the French”

By another letter to the freinds in Pensilvania<sup>1</sup> M<sup>r</sup> Penn writes “to finde out a hundred persons in the Countrey of Pensilvania each to leud him one hundred pounds without use for three years and without any oy<sup>r</sup> security than his own bond and promises them that within six months at farthest after the receipt of it he will imbarque for that place with all his family.

Some meetings have been about it and It is reported that how much soever they appear his freinds they stagger when he comes neer their purses those that are able want better security and those that are not (to excuse themselves saying they would if they could.

Collonell Fletcher by his Letter of the 15th of August to the Lords Comiss<sup>rs</sup> of the Treasury acquaints their Lordships.

He fears the fleets not proceeding to Canada when heard by the Indians will be the loss of them to the French.

Having appointed a Committee of Councill to Consider the production of Hemp, Pitch, Tarr, and Rozin they find.

My Lord

I have not yet received any commands from your Lord<sup>sh</sup> nor omitted any opportunity of returning an account of their Maj<sup>ties</sup> affaires in this Prov<sup>ee</sup> and that of Pensilvania; all the minutes of Councill and acts of Assembly, are sent and I hope safe in the plantation Office; because I cannot bee sure duplicates are sent now with an account also of my Treaty with the Indians att Albany, I am unwilling to burthen your Lord<sup>sh</sup> with long letters, I have enlarged to Mr Blaithwaite and humbly beg your Lord<sup>sh</sup> Countenance in such things as may appear reasonable for the defence of these Provinces.

The 8th instant I received an account from Mr Povey, by the way of Boston that your Lord<sup>sh</sup> had writ by some other vessell of which I heare nothing, nor of those papers hee mentions as formerly sent; Hee tells mee their Majesties have given mee the comand of Connecticut Mallitia, w<sup>ch</sup> will bee of greate advantage to the service, if I can find a way to make them raise mony for their paym<sup>ts</sup>; daly complaints come from the Colony, of the arbitrarie Tyranicall proceedings of those Reepublicans; I wish my Commission weer come, I am hard put to it for men att this instant

My Lord, I shall be now necessitated to make many jorney into Pensilvania and Connecticut for which I have noe sallery, and a Seaman dying heer lately his name James Gilerease, without any will or heire, that I can yett heare of (tho they pretend there is both) if none appear, his Estate is their Majesties which if graunted to mee will enable mee the better to goe thro' my dewty, I can not tell the vallew, but hee was supposed to bee worth five hundred pounds. My Lord, I blush to aske this, but am advised to it, former Governors look'd on it as a right, which I can not, I hope your Lord<sup>sh</sup> will pardon mee.

Sir Francis Wheelers departure with the Fleet from Boston, when wee expected to attack Canada startles us all.

My Lord, I am. Your Lord<sup>sh</sup>'s most faithful humble and obedient servant

[New-York Entries, III. 56.]

New York 15 August 1693.

Sir

No money raised in Pennsylvania for the Government.

I have received no Orders from Whitehall concerng this Province, so soon as I had their Majesties Comands for the Government of Pensylvania, I went thither to settle it and tarryed about six weeks could not prevaile with the People to settle a Revenue to defray the charge of the Government or to give assistance to New York, they have no regard to the Queen's Letter, so that instead of assistance it is like to prove a trouble, so soon as I returned I went to Albany to confirm the old Covenant chain with the

firmed with the Indians

Staggering Indians of the five Nations, from whence lately returned I understand the French of Canada are gathering in all their strength from their many small Fortifications upon the River of Canada, to Quebeque and Moyall, the Greatest next the Sea and this Province,

The French Endeavour a Peace
with the Indians.

And did liberally for a Peace with our Indians, which I have endeavoured to my Power to hinder, my arm is shortned for want of assistance, Count Frontiniae is buissy with his Fortifications at Quebeque and if lett alone a yeare or to more 'twill require an Experienced Officer and considerable force to turn him out.

If we loose our Indians Virginia Maryland and all our Neighbours will have their hands full, I do all I can to prevent it and write often to them, all the assistance I have received this year is Six hundred pounds New York money from Virginia and three hundred pound sterling from Maryland, Sr William Phips will give nothing

at Albany.

The Commissars for the Colonies to meet in Octr

A stone Fort is wanting at Albany and money to build withall, I have appointed the first Wednesday in October next for a meeting of Commissioners from the Neighbouring Government to Concert and agree upon Quota's of men and money for the reinforcements of Albany and the Fronteers during the warr, it is doubtfull to me if they will come or do any thing to purpose.

If I have not the absolute government of Connecticut 'twill be hard to bring them to any thing, The Ketch Alborough is of no service here being a dull sailer and too small force, for the Privateers that infest Our Coast, the Commander Cap: Edward Chant deserves a better, a light friggatt of thirty Guns that sails well would be of Service.

Mr Dudley is gone for England Mr Pinborne having removed himself and family hither is admitted again to the Council board and is one of the Judges of the supream Court. The Revenue is continued but for two Years, notwithstanding my many Endeavours to have it settled upon their Majesties for life, I have used many arguments for it but it is to no purpose, they told me plainly the burthen is so unequal, it cannot be born, Connecticut Pensylvania and the Jerseys pay nothing and under no duty, Our Inhabitants flee thither for ease and leave us almost destitute. Wee do now muster three thousand men in this Province, not many Years ago near five thousand<sup>1</sup> pounds I have dissolved the last Assembly and called another who are to meet the 7th of September next,

If Pensylvania Connecticut and the Jerseys were in the same Circumstance which is best effected by uniting them into one Government the burthen would be light and cause of complaint removed.

I beg your endeavours for the Province and to procure the Forces I writ for by the Packett, the other Publick writings you know best to mañage them. I sent M<sup>r</sup> Brooks to Bost: to know if S<sup>r</sup> Fran: Wheeler had any Còmands for me from their Maj<sup>ty</sup>. I am

We have been as if in great Darknesse or cloud for some time and now the light is come againe the Sunn Shines.

We return o<sup>r</sup> hearty thank's for the presevacòn of o<sup>r</sup> wives and children in o<sup>r</sup> absence while wee were hunting in the winter. Give two bevers.

Twenty year's agoe wee were received as Children of this Government and have lived peaceably ever since under its protection. and seeing severall of o<sup>r</sup> people are detained Prisoners in New England upon Suspicion to have killed some of their People at Deerfield wee submit the whole matter to the judicious Consideration of his Excell<sup>ty</sup>; Give 3 bevers.

Rode was Speaker.

Lord of the Swirl arrow — A name given to his Excell:
for his Expedition
March to their assistance when the French & Indians had destroyed three of their Castles in Feb: 1693]

Brother Caijenquiragoe

When o<sup>r</sup> Castles were destroyed by the French this Spring you came up very speedily for o<sup>r</sup> Succour and Reliefe which was extreme acceptable to us & when you went away to New York' you Promised to come up this Summer and see us which you have done accordingly Wee are heartily glad to see you for wee were afraid wee should never have seen you any more & wee bid you heartily welcome. Doe give a Bever Skinn

Brother Cayenquiragoe

When you went back to New York this Spring you was pleased to order us to look out and keep good Scouts & Videtts which Wee have done by sending a Party out into the Enemies Country who had a small brush with them & gott three Scalp's which being a noisome sight Wee doe not thinke it convenient to bring them forth to o<sup>r</sup> brother Cayenquiragoe. You and wee have done this together for the Ammunition and Provision was yours which wee used in this execution and wee are joyntly concerned in doing the mischief to the Enemy: doe give a bever Skinn.

Brother Cayenquiragoe

Wee must acknowledge that yo<sup>r</sup> kindnesses to us have been very great' you have supplied us with Provision & Ammunition ever since the Enemy destroyed our Castles Wee earnestly desire the continuance of yo<sup>r</sup> favour & affection toward's us for wee are a mean poor people & have lost all by the Enemy. You are pleased to repair o<sup>r</sup> Armes, when any of o<sup>r</sup> People breake their gunn or hatchett you cause yo<sup>r</sup> People to mend them for which wee are very thankfull. We could not stay for the other Nations since o<sup>r</sup> obligations are greater than theirs & wee have received the greatest kindnesses from you therefore wee come first to return our thankfull acknowledgment & gave a bever Skin

Brother Cayenquiragoe

Before we knew that o<sup>r</sup> men were deteyned by the people of New England you were soe kind to send an Exprese thither for their releasement this is soe particular a kindness and favor that wee must return o<sup>r</sup> thank's in an especiall manner.— When Maj<sup>r</sup> Schuyler was at Canida with o<sup>r</sup> people he lost many men. (but the beating of the French that time was the meanes that p<sup>r</sup>served us) Wee have thoughts ever since of supplying the Roomes of those Christians who were killed there, with Prisoners taken from Canida but cannot gett such a number. Nevertheless haveing one now wee freely deliver him to Cayenquiragoe as a p<sup>r</sup>ticular token of Gratitude

His Excellency's Answer.

I did not expect to see you before the arriveal of the other four Nations but perceiving you are prompted by yo<sup>r</sup> affection & zeal to the service of the great King & Queen of England & gratitude for those mark's of favo<sup>r</sup> you have received from their Majesties I am heartily glad to see you & well satisfied wth the service you have done against the French & their Indians by which I perceive you have not lost your antient courage since you dare attacque them in the face of their Castles.

I am come up according to my promise to strenghen the Fronteers, to condole the dead & give you more markes of their Majesties favo<sup>r</sup> to you but shall differr the giving of those presents untill the other four Nations are come. I accept the Prisoner from you, & shall be always willing that the warr be made wth honour, & no Prisoners put to death, but in the heat of accón unlesse for such crimes as doe deserve it by martial Law I have sent to New England for those of your Nation deteyned Prisoners there & hope they will be returned.

You may always depend upon my readiness to assist you, if you give me such notice that I may have time enough to come up to you, You must consider the length of the way it is 150 miles by water & the journey depends upon the chance of wind & tyde therefore be sure to give early notice.

His Exc<sup>ll</sup> gave four & twenty brass kettles for the boiling of their Victuals their former kettles being destroyed by the French at their Castles in Feb: last also some bread & rum & invited the cheife Sachim to dine with himself dismissing the rest.

July 2<sup>d</sup> 1693 about 9. a clock at night The Speaker of the Five Nations with two of the Sachins of the Onondages Nation desired a Private conference with his Excell: the Governo<sup>r</sup> which was granted them.

Brother Cayenquiragoe

Wee are glad to see you here and are come to discourse with you in private about matters of import. Wee have heard much of a design to subdue Canida with a fleet—o<sup>f</sup> Young men are eager & full of heat to make an end of that warr pray tell us the truth for if there be no such thing wee must mannage o<sup>r</sup> Youth accordingly

Brother Cayenquiragoe

We have often had changes of Governo<sup>r</sup>s here and it was a long time before they could be acquainted with o<sup>r</sup> Constitution and affair's soe soon as they come to understand us they are gone. Wee desire to know how long you will stay Wee would not have you depart. Wee know yo<sup>r</sup> heart is good, You have demonstrated it by yo<sup>r</sup> swift coming to o<sup>r</sup> assistance with soe considerable a Force when the French & Indians had made an Impression upon o<sup>r</sup> Mohogs Country for which wee return you hearty thank's. Doe Give Seven Bevers.

His Excell: answered

Brethren

The Great King my Master knows best his own time and Season to make an attack with a fleet to subdue Canida as yet I have advice of no such design whensoever I shall have notice thereof, I shall acquaint the brethren.

As for my stay here it must be only dureing my great' Masters pleasure yet doubt not but I shall continue soe long as to see Canida subdued.

Indians of the Five Nations vizt Maquaes Oneydes Onondages Cayouges & Senekes in the City Hall at Albany the 3<sup>d</sup> day of July 1693.

Brethren

When I saw you in this Place last February I proposed to be here early in the Summer at the time the bark would run as you desired.

In this I was disappointed by the Command's of the Great King & Queen of England & who were graciously pleased to send their Royall mandate requireing me upon receipt of it to repair unto Pensilvania and take that Province into their Majesties immediate care & government

I received this commission in Aprill and the execution of it tooke up the remainder of that month & all the month of Maye. At my return to New York I found myself indisposed but in six day's I was ready for this Journey I have taken care to strengthen our fronteeers with recruits of Christian Soldiers & warlike necessaryes.

I formerly told you & must tell you again that o<sup>r</sup> Enemyes cannot easily hurt us unless you are careless and by yo<sup>r</sup> drunkenness infeeble yo<sup>r</sup> Sell's this is a vice Strictly to be prohibited & punished it is a greater shame to martiall men than others it makes their Sleep like death an soe they become an easy prey to a watchfull though weak Enemy. Let me therefore desire you to be sober & vigilant, then you will be always in a condition to make good yo<sup>r</sup> ground 'till reliefe come or at least to retreat with armes in yo<sup>r</sup> hands.

The blow you received last winter is fresh in o<sup>r</sup> memories you know it came by a Supine watchlesse humour of my brethren the Mohaques. You also know I marched into Schenectady the same day the Enemy was defeated not far from it, but that is over Let it caution you for the future. Could I have joynd you before the Engagement in all humane appearance very few if any had escaped.

In my last Conference with you I told you that some of yo<sup>r</sup> young men had killed severall horses of o<sup>r</sup> neere Schenectady you promised me that Satisfaction should be made & that all such Irregular accōns should be restrained for the future in which I hope you have taken effectual care. In my way to this place I met Intelligence of a barbarous murder committed at Deerfield in New England & that three Indians in allyance with this Government were imprisoned there upon Suspicion of the fact. I caused the matter Immediately to be examined & have sent two Expresses to New England to give them the best Satisfaction that I can gather by such Evidence as appears to me here. Since my arrivall two small parties of the Maquaes came in from Canida with some markes of their Success, by which I observe they retain' that courage for which they have been soe long famed they brought in one French Prisoner which they have p<sup>r</sup>sented unto me. He informes me that the Enemy lost Eighty men of that Party which they had sent last winter to destroy the Maquaes Castles & that 33 more wounded were bro<sup>t</sup> into Mount Royall severall wherof since dyed & that the French were upon Quitting all their small Forts to strengthen their great ones & withall that they intend to reinforce Cadaracqui.

I have rec<sup>d</sup> an Informātion as if some of the brethren were wavering and inclined to a peace with the Common Enemy I desire to know the truth of that matter & am assured that such thoughts must only arise from the Instigation of the Jesuit Miltett which some of the brethren have soe long suffered to live amongst them & whose only practice is to delude & betray them let me therefore advise you to remove that Ill person from amongst you.

The answer of the five Nations to his Excell Benjamin Fletcher &c in the City Hall of Albany the 4th day of July 1693.

Brother Cayenquiragoe

Wee are involved in a bloody war which causes us to sett in sorrow & grieffe & since we are about to speake of matters of import we clear the mouth and throat of the Interpretress that she may speake o<sup>r</sup> meaning plainly & truely to you doe therefore give her three bevers.

Then having repeated some parts of his Excell speech to them Yesterday. sayd.

Brother Cayenquiragoe

Wee are much rejoiced that the Great' King & Queen of England doe take Notice of us soe farr as to extend their gracious favours to us by soe considerable a present for which wee return o<sup>r</sup> hearty thank's & more especially for the Gunns & Ammunition.

Wee are glad that o<sup>r</sup> Brother Cayenquiragoe, renew's & Confirms the Covenant chain not only between us & this governm<sup>t</sup> but also' for New England, Virginia, Maryland & Pensilvania which Covenant shall for ever be kept inviolable by all the five Nations as long as the Sunn shall shine. Wee pray that o<sup>r</sup> brother Caijenquiragoe may have A watchfull Eye that none of those Collonyes hold correspondence with the Common Enemy but use their Endeavours to destroy them.

Wee heard nothing of that which you proposed Yesterday concerning the Priest Millett living in Oneyde untill wee came to this 'Town'. Wee forthwith made inquiry amongst o<sup>r</sup> bretheren the Oneydes who told us, there was an Indian sent wth Letters to Canida by Millett which surprized us verry much.

Brother Cayenquiragoe

You are o<sup>r</sup> great tree whose roots extend's themselves to the Outmost Parts of the government. Wee desire you may not be disturbed when any of our prisoners who are o<sup>r</sup> slaves doe misbehave themselves, for it shall never be countenanced by us but all proper method's shall be taken to p<sup>r</sup>vent the like misbehaviour for the future.

And in like mann<sup>r</sup> Wee begg that care may be taken that none of the Prisoner's you have do any harm<sup>r</sup> o<sup>r</sup> correspond with the Enemy as wee suspect was done by Chevaleer Deaux & that he was sent to Canida with letters by some of o<sup>r</sup> brethren.

Brother Caijenquiragoe

In former times our propositions were quite otherwise o<sup>r</sup> discourses were then of Peace & givinge of presents to one another but now the case is altered. Our speeches are now of nothing but Warr prompting one another to Armes as for o<sup>r</sup> parts Wee are resolved to stieck close to the Warr to the last drop of o<sup>r</sup> blood & altho wee are tossed to & fro' We will remain stedfast to the last man according to o<sup>r</sup> first Conclusion this Wee acquaint you o<sup>r</sup>, our Great Brother for yo<sup>r</sup> own<sup>r</sup> Satisfaction.

Brother Cayenquiragoe

Wee had information in o<sup>r</sup> Country that o<sup>r</sup> brother Caijenquiragoe had not only received Command's from o<sup>r</sup> great King' to be Governo<sup>r</sup> of Pensilvania But that you were fitting a fleet to goe & take Canida this was extream' joyfull News to us & all o<sup>r</sup> Youngmen who were to be Commanded by So do garees Sachim of the Senekes, were glad to end the warr at one push to facilitate the fleets success in subdueing that place to remove all our troubles & make an end of this blood shed but to o<sup>r</sup> great sorrow now Wee hear of noe such designe.

Brother Cayenquiragoe

You are the Great flourishing Tree of o<sup>r</sup> shelter, that keep's the Covenant Chain bright Wee have one request to make which is that you will be pleased to stay with us & not return' to England, since you are acquainted with o<sup>r</sup> way's & method's & if there be any thing you have to acquaint the great' King & Queen withall you may write it to them & not goe from us for the King knows you to be a wise man & therefore will believe you.

Brother Cayenquiragoe

Wee are verry glad y<sup>t</sup> the Province of Pensilvania is come und<sup>r</sup> yo<sup>r</sup> government Wee pray that you would bring some of their men heither with their Bow's & Arrow's & Hatchetts in their hands for this is the place of Action which ought to be defended.

Wee are glad that the Showannoos who were o<sup>r</sup> Enemyes did make their application to you last fall for protection & that you sent y<sup>m</sup> heither to endeavour a peace with us as also that you have been pleased to send Christians along with them to their Country' to conduct them back againe wee wish they were come to assist us against the Common Enemy.

Brother Cayenquiragoe

Wee begg of you to lett us have a Smith & a gunn stock maker in our Castle to mend our armes when they are broken.

Now wee have done only must tell you again' that wee are extreemly glad & roll & tumble in joy that o<sup>r</sup> Great King & Queen have been pleased to enlarge their favours to us in our greatest necessityes & that there is soe much Unity amongst all the brethren.

Albany the 4th of July 1693.

This evening after the Young Indians had ended their sport of killing the two fatt bulls which were presented by his Excell with bow & arrow & roasting & Eating, His Excellency invited severall of the Chief Sachims & Captains of the most note and bravery on board their Majesties Ketch Albrought rideing before the City of Albanye & treated them to their Extraordinary Satisfaction, upon their desire his Excell gave them account of the success the King of England has had against the French King beyond the great lake of the great victory which the English fleet obtained against the French the last Summer, with the Perticulers of that defeat also of a great fight that had been on land where of great King attacked the Enemy in their Camp because they would not come out to fight him where many men were slain on both sydes but that there is noe news yett of this Summers action.

His Excell did encourage them to manifest their valour & courage against the Common Enemy as their Ancestors have done, reminded them of the Priest Millett that they must expect that all their designs will be destroyed soe long as he is kept amongst them, & therefore advised them speedily to remove that dangerous Person.—His Excellency also bid them be mindfull of w<sup>t</sup> he sayd to them & true to the Covenant they have renewed which they all promised to observe & keep inviolable whereupon as a scale thereunto his Excell ordering the firing of five gunns which they answered with the like number of shouts.

It was Particularly observed that Odongaowa the long Oneyde who was the only suspected Indian and the most Peticuler friend of the Jesuit did rise up & sing a song of warr (which after their way is the same with a vow) that he would now presently goe & fight the French praying Indians of Canida & promised further to His Excell that he would take perticular care that no' letters from Canida should come to the Priests hands but would have them secured at their first coming & sent down to his Excellency to be read that the poison may be discovered which is hid therein whereupon they went on shoare with great satisfaction. His Excell ordered them a salute of five Gunns which they answered with soe many shouts after their wilde manner.

Albany the 4th July 1693

His Excell sent for the Sachims of the five Nations to have private conference & sayd,

Brethren

It is high time for you to goe home to yo' Castles & see they be secured from all attempt's of the Enemy I design to goe to New York' to take charg' of that Trust the Great King my Master hath reposed in me but I must tell you before Wee part that I cannot but take notice that you have omitted the answering these three proposalls which I made to you the day before yesterday.

First about the horses which yo' young men killed I doe hear of no' Satisfaction yett made but complaints come to me every day of things of this nature.

Then relateing to the Priest Millett at Oneyde whom the bretheren of Oneyde doe still harbour among them I must tell you again' that he betrays you & all yo' Councills, and that you may see that I desire not to deminish yo' Number I am willing to give you a Pretty Indian Boy in Liew of the Old Priest and accordingly the boy was brought and delivered them.

And then concerning the two Expresses that I sent to New England about those two Indians detained in Prison there upon suspicion of the murder Committed at Deerfield.

The Sachims of the five nations answered

Brother Cayenquiragoe

Wee forgott that Article concerning the horses but shall take care that whoever kills any horses or cattle belonging to the Christians the Person or p'sons offending shall make satisfaction for the same.

As for the Jesuit Millett the Oneyde Sachim said he would perform his promise relateing to that matter which was that as soon as the Indian Messenger did return' from Canida all the letters and papers should be taken from him and forthwith brought to o<sup>r</sup> brother Cayenquiragoe before the Priest shall see them, I am willing to take the boy in exchange for the Priest but the Priest must stay at Oneyde till the return' of the messenger from Canida I desire the Boy may stay here untill' wee bring the Priest which shall be as soon' as the sayd messenger return's.

Wee are very thankfull to you o<sup>r</sup> Great' brother Cayenquiragoe for the sending two Expresses to New England about that accident at Deerfield and o<sup>r</sup> people imprisoned there wee doubt not but in a short time it will be made appear' that the Canida Indian's have committed this murder, And the Brethren of New England who are in Covenant with us must have patience till such cases can be found out, Wee doubt not but the Governo<sup>r</sup> of New England is a man of that prudence & conduct who will not be soe hasty since it cannot be long undiscovered.

Brother Cayenquiragoe

We acquaint you that it is proposed by all the five Nations to make Peace with the Dionondadees a Nation of Indians that are in allyance with the French of Canida which will strengthen us and weaken the enemij, the Sinekees who live neerest to them have undertaken to effect this business and doe take presents of Wampum from the rest of the Nations to confirm the peace. Wee desire yo<sup>r</sup> Concurrance in the matter and that as you are o<sup>r</sup> Eldest Brother you send tokens also and receive them into the Covenant Chain'.

Whereupon his Excell' replyed that he approved of their proposalls and was willing they should proceed to make peace with the Dionondades and for that purpose gave them a belt of Wampum.

Whereupon the Indians gave five shout's

Albany the 5th of July 1693.

His Excell' after the private conference this morning did further Recommend to the Chief Sachims and Captains of the five Nations the necessity of their Speedy return' to their severall Castles there keeping continuall Scouts to observe the Enemies motion.— It is reported they are drawing up their forces towards Cadaracqua (which is their uppermost fort upon the lake deserted by them about four years agoe), That his Excell' did not know whether the Enemies designe was to make an attempt against the Uppermost Nation the Onondages, Cajouges, & Senekes or upon the lowermost the Maquaes & Oneydes did recommend to them to joyn the forces of the Uppermost Nation's as it was formerly agreed to if attacked promising to take care of the lowermost Nations if his Excell' have but timelye Notice of their approach as he did last winter.

His Excell having a Private acco<sup>t</sup> of the Great Services of Perticular Sachins and Captains of this Governm<sup>t</sup> sent for them to his chamber apart commended their bravery repeated his former recommendation, & presented them by his own' hand's with fashionable laced Coat's & hatt's & severall other presents suitable to their Services which they rec<sup>d</sup> as a more perticular sign' of his Excell special favour repeating their former vows & soe departed with signes & expressions of perfect satisfaction more than ever was observed in any former treaty.

His Excell Speech to the River Indians att the City Hall of Albany the 6th of July 1693.

Children. This is the first time I have seen you since my coming to the government though you are seated nere this garrison & derive yo<sup>r</sup> protection from it.

I have now sent for you to lett you know what part of yo<sup>r</sup> conduct & behaviour I like and what I dislike, some of you have done well & like valiant Soldiers in joyning with the five Nations to attack the Enemy in Canida this deserves commendation.

But on the other hand its very unlike Soldiers and dutyfull children to draw out the whole force of yo<sup>r</sup> Castles to hunt leaving yo<sup>r</sup> weomen & children exposed to the accidents of hardships which attend a Country engaged in warr against soe watchfull an Enemy as this is.

For the future you must give Notice & have permission to goe on these occasions & take care to leave a sufficient force behinde you.

There is another stupendous folly you are guilty of when your hunting is over you'll set down' nere some place where in a few day's you drink out what has cost you the labor of some month's & then come home beggars as you went, the evill consequence of this appeared lately unto you at Deerfield & I hope will caution you for the future but I must advise you that from henceforth you bring all the effects of yo<sup>r</sup> hunting into yo<sup>r</sup> own' Country, which by prudent management will support you the rest of the year'.

The answer of the River Indians to his Excellency the 6th of July 1693. interpreted by Robert Sanders.

Father

Wee thanke you for yo<sup>r</sup> great' care over us & wee shall observe all yo<sup>r</sup> directions & Command's now given us. You are that high tree und<sup>r</sup> whose branches wee shelter whereby our old men weomen & children have been protected in o<sup>r</sup> absence from the late incursion of the French o<sup>r</sup> Common Enemy, Wee shall not for the future go abroad a hunting or against the Enemy wthout leaveing a sufficient guard, Wee will make frequent round's from this City on both sydes the River to discover the sculking Enemy & doubt not but o<sup>r</sup> youngmen shall receive the promised reward when they bring in the heads of those lurking foxes.

Father

Wee give our hearty thank's for sending two expresses to New England on o<sup>r</sup> behalf. Wee assure you that wee are Innocent of the mischeffe done at Deerfield & soe are likewise those Prisoners that are there in Custody beleive us o<sup>r</sup> hearts are good and wee desire only to live und<sup>r</sup> yo<sup>r</sup> protection in peace & quietness.

Father

Wee return' you also o<sup>r</sup> hearty thank's for renewing and making bright that covenant chain' wee will alway's Oyle and greeze it that it shall never Rust but be kept inviolable with you o<sup>r</sup> father and with all the brethren of New England Virginia Maryland & Pensilvania and thereupon presented his Excell with half a belt of Wampum.

Major Peter Schuyler to Governor Fletcher.

[New-York Papers, IV. F. 11.]

May it please your Excellency

Last night about Eight a Clock Jurian the Maquase whom I had sent to Onondage with some River Indians to get the certainty of the late news of the French coming upon the 5 Nations arrived here & said it was all stories; But he had letters from Canida the Jesuits messeniger being returned two days before he came to Oneyde, I was in hopes the Oneydes according to their promise had taken the Packet before it had come to the Jesuits hand & soe sent it hither but perrusing the Superscription found there were two letters directed to D<sup>o</sup> Dellius the one from the Jesuit himself the other from the Superior at Canida I asked why they did not take the letters & send them heither as yo<sup>r</sup> Excell had commanded but Jerian tells me the Jesuit hath as great authority in Oneyde as any Sachim of them all & rules the roast there soe that little good can be expected so' long as they are guided by our Enemy. yo<sup>r</sup> Excellency will perceive what the French would be at by the sayd two letters to D<sup>o</sup> Dellius w<sup>ch</sup> I beleive are writt by the Gov<sup>r</sup> of Canidy's Induction Therefore I shall not need to comment upon them. I thought this business of such moment that I was once in the minde to come down' & waite upon yo<sup>r</sup> Excell for advice but feareing other accidents might happen in the meane time I have perswaded D<sup>o</sup> Dellius & M<sup>r</sup> Livingston to goe down' express & waite upon yo<sup>r</sup> Excell to give you a full Information of the businesse I need not informe yo<sup>r</sup> Excell how weary the five Nations are of the Warr nor of what bad consequence it is to have such a gen<sup>l</sup> meeting at Onondage devised by the French to divert them from annoying his terrytories or making any incursions upon his frontiers this Season, Or probably to spinn out time till he be ready to make some attacque upon them or us, Since I presume he dare not leave Quebeck for the present. It is without all doubt he has some great design' that he is so' earnest to make a peace with the 5 Nations or else it must be very low with him if soe its a pittty our fleet should slip the oppertunity. Jurian tells me the messenger at Oneyde braggs much of his strength, of their fortifications at Quebeck, number of men fyrcing mortar peeces & such stratagons. I was once resolved to send Jurian the messenger back againe to disswade them from any meeting (which will not be effected without difficulty) being only invented by the French to amaze them & withall to Incourage them to prosecute the warr against Canida with all vigor as they engaged to yo<sup>r</sup> Excell but thought fit first to acquaint yo<sup>r</sup> Excell & waite yo<sup>r</sup> Excell Command's which I pray may be dispatched as soon as may be, for I keep Jurian here till yo<sup>r</sup> farther ord<sup>r</sup> I have nothing to add but that I am

I ad these few lines to the letter which our Reverend Father the Superiour hath write to you which is to advise you that Tarriha my brother and hospes (who was gone to Canida as the Oneydes did signify by a belt of wampum which was sent to Albany) is returned he brings with him a collarr of wampum accompanied with a letter by which the Count of Frontiniae Govern<sup>r</sup> of Canida doth declare to us that it is none of his fault that the whole world and above all the Iroquis Indians (being the five Nations doe not come to a peace altho' he is in a condition more than ever to resist his Enemies and annoy them when he shall see cause.

He hath put a stop to all the fighting partyes who joyned together and were ready to depart upon their severall designs and he himselfe as was said to be upon the way and above Mount Reall has promised to Tarreha not to proceed till the term of two months be expired that he lett him. Moreover he invites all the Iroquois Indian Nations to send each two Deputyes to treat with him of means to procure a peace w<sup>ch</sup> the Christians of Oneyde have desired of him.

He promises an intire assurance to the said Deputyes in coming and going lett the issue be what it will.

You shall if you please let all your Geñt know the whole premeses that they may not on their parts hinder or obstruct the great good of a peace which is wished by all people of good inclinations aswell as by the Christians of Oneijde who doe pray all the world to make it their interest to assist and favour them in soe pious a designe I am with my heart and respect

The Oneydes causes me to add that the young Indian boy be not brought them which they would have given them at Albany but that some body may be brought to them who understands the Scriptures well.

Juriana the Maguas being come here with some River Indians to informe himselfe of the present affaires he has understood by Tarriha that the Indians of Canida have brought nine scalps from towards Boston and that Sajatese and Onontquirott are named to be the heads of that party who have done this fact soe that he belevies that the Maquaes & River Indians who are put in prison at Pekamptekook are wrongfully accused and he and the other Indians complain that they are scandalized by false suspicions and that they are alsoe calumnyed as we see now that the letters were which were sent to Onondage 3 or 4 years agoe of which was said quite contrary things than the letter did import. Wherefore they desire me to add that nothing may be altered in the last letter which they cause me to write. I have read the same before the French that are here and keep a copy of it and all shall be examined in the meeting that is to be held at Onondage. I would add more things to this but time will not permitt. I am a servant of the English and am ready to sacrifice my selfe for them if they would only let me know wherein I can serve them.

The Reverend Father Lamberville writes me from Paris that he see M<sup>r</sup> Nelson there who was taken prisoner towards Boston he says likewise in short of me that I am a servant of the English and that if they know us they would not mistrust us as they declare they doe. I am obliged to them that they have declared they have wished to see me released from that imprisonment<sup>t</sup> of the Indians but it seems it is God that keeps me there and I belevie that none but he can deliver me I alsoe comfort myselfe in my imprisonment that I am a prisoner of Jesus Christ.

I pray again that the English Gentlemen would remember that I have formerly contributed to the sending home of seven English who were prisoners there they passed all throw Albany and among the rest two young children who were cloathed in black of my own cloaths their mother told me if ever I came to Virginia or Maryland that she would come tenn miles to meet me—the last that was sent was a young girl which the Annastogus had brought prisoners here for which Maj<sup>r</sup> Andros who was then Governor of New Yorke did promise four Indians women. I am not in the least thanked hitherto for it probably he was gone to England when the girl was sent back. Be it as it will We expect noe reward but from God I say this only to witnesse that I am a Servant of the English Gentlemen & its known in Canida and in France.

I add this to that it is the same Count de Frontiniae who sent formerly twenty English throw Albany back to Boston and that he took the hatchett from the River Indians who had taken them prisoners I knew that the Envoys who conveyed them were received with trumpetts sounding at Boston and well treated during the 6 dayes they were there &c.

From whence is it then that the troubles doe continue soe long and that it is refused to hearken to a good peace which would prevent the killing and murdering of the people as is now done.

[New-York Papers, IV, F. 28.]

Brethren

I am strangely surprized that notwithstanding the solemne vows latly made at Albany when wee Renewed the ancient covenant chain you promised to keep bright and clean soe long as the sun shall shine after all this the Oneydes should receive a Belt of peace from the Governour of Canida and propose a meeting of the Sachims of the Five Nations Mahikanders & Christians with seaven bands of Wampum, to consider of an answer thereunto They should not have defiled their hands by touching of it, 'twas there Duty to have sent it with the Packett of Letters immediatly unto me and to have delivered that old Preist in Exchange for the young boy according to their promise.

Brethren

You know Albany hath always been the antient place of treating when the Showanno<sup>s</sup> came to New Yorke to make peace I would not hear them speak untill they went to Albany and the brethren were present.

I have often told you that the Preist Milet<sup>t</sup> would betray all your Councils soe long as he lives amongst you which now plainly appears for he hath refused to deliver the pakett from Canida to be sent unto me least the poison should be discovered.

Brethren

Since it is manifest that it is by means of that Jesuite Milet<sup>t</sup> that the Brethren of Oneyde are soe farr deluded as to receive the belt of Wampum hold correspondence with your and our enemy & propose a meeting at Onondage to consider of an answer to that poisonous belt all which defiles the covenant chain I doe expect that you will abhor the thoughts of consenting thereunto and for a further testimony of yo<sup>r</sup> innocency in this matter cause the old priest Milet<sup>t</sup> with all his papers to be sent unto me according to the promise and agreement that our peace and quiet and the unity amongst the brethren which hath continued soe long, may not now be broaken & disturbed by his means but flourish while the sun shines.

Brethren

If the Governour of Canida had proposed first peace to me I should have sent for you to the wonted place of treaty at Albany and made you acquainted therewith, and unlesse I doe advise you thereof you are not to hearken to the Governour of Canida or any other not to hold any correspondence without my knowledge & consent if you observe the covenant chain.

You know I have been ready to come to your assistance and am not afraid of any force which the Governo<sup>r</sup> of Canida can send I am still true & stedfast to my promise and wil. continue to give you all the protection and assistance which is needfull soe long as you prove stedfast to the antient covenant chain.

I am yo<sup>r</sup> freind and elder

Abstracts of Governor Fletcher's Letters to the Committee.

Collonell Fletcher by his Letter to the Committee of the 15th August 1693 acquaints their Lordships.

That pursuant to her Maj<sup>ty</sup>s Commands he put a stop to Proceedings upon the Recognizances taken from Persons concerned with Leisler, but severall of them had been Estreated and the money disposed of for the support of the Government, which the Parties concerned desire may be restored to them for which he has no order, nor can the money be spared, the Government being already Considerably in Debt.

New York August 15th 1693.

My Lord

The want of a seale for the Province of Pensilvania is some obstruction to their Maj<sup>ties</sup> affaires ther, I cannot legally make Judges, Justices, Sherrifs or pass any graunts ther which will bee valid. The annexing this Prov<sup>ce</sup> to New Yorke will heale that sore, otherwise I humbly begg a seale may bee sent.

Some Quakers who have acted in the Gov<sup>t</sup> by M<sup>r</sup> Pen's Comission and are very fond of Lording it over their bretheren, are now sending their Delligates to Court in hope to gett M<sup>r</sup> Pen restor'd or themselves impower'd to Act, or at last if these faile they desire to bee under the Govern<sup>t</sup> of Mary Land; these have all declined to Act under their Majesties Comission; M<sup>r</sup> Tho: Lloyd late Gov<sup>r</sup> under M<sup>r</sup> Pen, I observed creep away when hee sawe mee order their Majesties Comission to be publish'd, yett I sent for him presently after, and offered him the first place at the Councell Board, well knowing hee would not accept it; I tooke care ther should not want witness of his oppinion, who express'd their senc of his pride, as they had before durcing the tyme of his acting as Governor.

The others are less people: David Lloyd, Tho Duckett, John Simcock, Griffith Owin, John Bristow, but they have all as much as in their [power] lay endeavoured to baffell my endeavors in that Prov<sup>ce</sup> for their Majt<sup>ies</sup> service.

I received an address from the peaceable and well affected freeholders, and inhabitants of the Towne and County of Philladelphia sign'd by one hundred and odd hands (w<sup>ch</sup> I send) acknowledging their Majesties favor, and the other Countys I heare are sending addresses of the like nature, by w<sup>ch</sup> your Lord<sup>p</sup> will see these, who will trouble you, are only a faction.

I have by a shipp the Happy Jane sent your Lord<sup>p</sup> an account of my proceedings theer with the names of the Officers ette, the minutes may bee divertive if your Lord<sup>p</sup> can spare tyme to reade them.

My Lord, I am your Lord<sup>p</sup> most humble, faithfull and most obedient servant
BEN FLETCHER.

Memorial of Colonel Lodwick to the Lords of Trade.

[New-York Entries, III. 50.]

To the Right Honble: the Lords Committee for the forreign Plantations

Charles Lodwick on the behalf of his Excellency Benjamin Fletcher their Majesties Governor and Council of the Province of New York in America most Humbly layeth before your Lordships the present State and Condition of that Province.

That the Burthen and Pressure it lies under being deeply in Debt, their Treasure being Exhausted their men wearyed out with continuall Guarding the Fort of Albany, which forces them to leave their private affairs and neglect their Husbandry, whereby great quantities of Corn has been usually produced and yearly carried out for the sustinance of the Sum<sup>r</sup> Plantations and the Indian Trade being wholly stopt which is the only maintenance of the Inhabitants of Albany, for want of which Trades and continual charge of the wars without the assistance of the Neighbouring Provinces it is altogether impossible for them longer to support themselves against the French.

That notwithstanding their Maj<sup>ty</sup> Lett<sup>rs</sup> Mandatorie to the several Governments to assist this Province litle or no assistance has been given or can be hoped for through the remoteness of some, Governments and Excuses and delays of others.

That Pensylvania being most Quakers will give no men or money for warr unless they were joind to the Government of New York, by which that Province may be able to out vote them.

That this Province lying under heavy Taxes and Pressures, most of the young men and those that can any way remove, depart this Province to the neighbouring Government where they are wholly free from Tax or any other Contrybution towards the Common Security, to the great discouragement of this Province.

That the Colony of Connecticut is full of People, seated near and convenient for the assistance of Albany and our Transportation to the frontiers is extream Chargeable and uncertain depending on wind and tides for a hundred and fifty miles up the Country, when they from Connecticut can March in two days by Land.

That our Canton Indians who seem to stagger and are inclinable to make peace with the French of Canada through the Want of those usual Supplies and presents which hath Yearly lost this Province about Seaven hundred pounds will henceforth during the warr require double that sum which this Poor Province can not long supply.

That should these Indians be induced to make a Seperate Peace, the Fort of Albany and the whole Country would unavoidably be lost, and with them our Indians who are Chief Bulwarks irrecoverably fall to the French and become Our Enemies.

By which means not only this Province would be Exposed to the French, but more Immediately Virginia and Maryland they having no Fortifications but lying in remote Settlements, would be continually exposed to the Ravages of very small Parties, and be in great danger of being lost.

Wherefore the Governor and Council humbly pray your Lordships that the Stores they have desired for the Supply of the Garrison at New York and Albany, may be sent thither as soon as may be.

That four Companies of Foot may be sent to reinforce those Garrisons and maintained at the charge of their Majest<sup>ies</sup> there during this Warr.

That Connecticut New Jersey and Pensilvania may be added to the Government of New York thereby to strengthen that Province being the Frontier of all the North Parts of America against the French.

That some money may be sent thither yearly during the warr towards the necessary charge of Presents to the Indians.

That all the Governments upon the Continent may be ordered to contribute proportionably in Men and Money for the defence of Albany during the Warr.

CHARLES LODWICK

[New-York Entries, III. 90.]

Coll: Fletcher in his Letter of 5th of October 1693 to Mr Blathwayte writes.

Exts from Colonel Fletchers
Letter to Mr B about Prisons under Sentence of death for assisting Leisler.

That his Majesties Order directed him to discharge all Recognizances and Proceedings upon Leisler, Commanding the Fort &c, which he supposed a warrant for opening the Prisons which he did and studiously endeavored to accomodate the heats he found between the Parties. Severall of y<sup>e</sup> Prisoners being under sentence of death, he advised them to make application for their Pardon and offered his Interest to procure it; but they continue positive not owing their liberty a favour or departing from the Justification of their Crimes. But on the Contrary some of them stood and were Elected of the Assembly which he could not suffer, this they say is setting up the Arbitrary Power, the other Party say it is no less to releive them, he hopes he shall be warranted for the release of the Prisoners, and desires they may be pardoned or Executed, they will not own a crime but persist that what they did was for King William and Queen Mary, Yet he would willingly heal the wound and desires directions in it.

May it please your Lordships

the Commission for Comd of the Militia of Connecticut received

Their Majest<sup>s</sup> Ship the Richmond Capt: John Evans Commander arrived at Sandy point the first Insant I have received the Commission for the Command of the Militia of Connecticut Colony, which I shall observe and one hundred and twenty Arms for Dragoons which may be Serviceable upon a Suddain attack.

Recruits of men & stores
at Canada.

I am advised Count Frontiniae Govern<sup>r</sup> of Canada hath gott 500 men and recruits of Stores of warr Artillery &c this Summer from France I expect he will trouble us this winter with a greater Force then in February last, their design (as we understand it here) is at least [to] Compell our Indians to a Peace, Our Indians are become very weary of the Warr and indifferent to us, it is plain they cannot continue long neutrall.

The Indians
discouraged by St Francis Wheeler doing nothing.

St Francis Wheeler coming to Boston with the Squadron of Ships and doing nothing hath almost quite discouraged them, the French outbid us in presents but have not yet prevailed, Our Indians upbraid Our neighbouring Colonies with Sloath and Cowardice, the first nation of our Indians called Mohaques are mostly destroyed by the War, some of them run over to Canada, a French Jesuit (Milet) who has been many years a Prisoner amongst the Oneyds, hath gott such Interest with that Nation and the other three, they cannot be prevailed upon to surrender him tho' I have proffer'd a Sum of money and an Indian Boy in Exchange for him, and promised not to hurt his Person that Jesuits turning doth much harm to our Indians, I am resolved to remove him if possible.

families removed dayly.

500 men
raised for Albany

cannot defray it.

The Province of New York is hardly circumstane'd at present we do not now muster 3000 Militia formerly five thousand; more Families are dayly removing for Pensilvania and Conecticut to be eased from the Taxes and detachments, The Assembly have provided for 300 men to be at Albany this winter, (too small a number by half to Justify fronteers) and £6000 to defray the charge of one year, to expire the first of May of next The Revenue doth not defray the charge of the Government the Warr augmenteth the incidentall charges, there are other funds for support of Albany chiefly by Taxes since the arrivall of the late Governor Sloughter the Frontiers have cost this small Province about £20,000 which lyes heavy upon the Inhabitants.

Pursuant to their Majest<sup>ies</sup> Commands to the Govern<sup>ors</sup> of their severall Colonies and Provinces upon the Main of America, I have wrote to desire a Commissioner may be appointed from each to meet at New York on the fourth of October instant to concert and agree of a Quota of men and money from each Colony and Province for the defence of the Frontiers during the Present Warr, Sr William Phips hath given a denyall, notwithstanding their Majest<sup>ies</sup> possitive Commands as may appear by the Copy of my Letter to him and his answer. Sr Edm<sup>d</sup> Andros hath sent one, none came from Maryland, Pensilvania deny the carnall sword, nor will they dip their money in blood, they add nothing to us but trouble being a distinct Government and y<sup>e</sup> Plurality Quakers, Connecticut hath sent a Commissioner, I find nothing will be done, those who are here pretend they cannot proceed to adjust a Quota without other Commissioners, which when it will happen I cannot divine, since some have the boldness already to give denial to their Majest<sup>ies</sup> Royall Commands, I send here with a Copy of the scheme of the Quota's proposed to the Governors for your Lop<sup>s</sup> Consideration.

The Commissioners from the Colonies meet but nothing done.

A Scheme of the Quota sent over.

Virginia and Maryland discount the money already sent.

Virginia did send us six hundred pounds New York money, and Maryland three hundred pounds ster: before they knew of his Mat<sup>ies</sup> Order for the five hundred pounds and two hundred and fifty pounds. Sr Edmund Andros writes he hath sent so much as will make the former £600 five hundred pounds Ster.; And Coll: Copley did write that he had over done their Majest<sup>ies</sup> Orders although the former Summs were given by the Consent of the People in Assembly whom we have thanked for it as a neighbourly kindness flowing from the sense they had of Our hardship, and the benefit they partake by our Protection, We must acknowledge the latter favour more immediatly to their Most Excellent Majest<sup>ies</sup>, tho' at present disappoint of the benefit thereof, East Jersey hath given us four hundred pounds and Sixty five men who are now at Albany, I attribute this Chiefly to the Good Principles of Coll: Andru Hambleton their Governor who is ready on all occas<sup>ions</sup> for our assistance.

Connecticut will withstand the King's Commission.

Connecticut as your Lordships will perceive (by the Copy of Mr Bulkleys Letter) are preparing to withstand their Majest<sup>ies</sup> Commission for my Command of their Militia, it shall not move me from my duty they have levied a Tax of one penny a pound upon the People for Maj<sup>r</sup> Winthrop who (I am inform'd is to be their Agent and goes home in the Mast Ships, it is said the East End of Nassau Island part of my Government, do join them in this application that they may be lopp'd off from New York and joined to Connecticut.

More Men or a Stone Fort wanted at Albany.

Wee are not able to build a stone Fort at Albany which with good Artillery and fewer men than now requisite would make a better defence, that Fort is already rotten out of repair and will cost a great deal from time to time to renew it Our wood in this Countrey will not last as the wood of the Northern Parts, This Province cannot hold it thus longer, their Majest<sup>ies</sup> large Territories upon this Main are so divided in Government and circumstance from one another they drive private interest, and though we be a numerous People, yet weak exposed to the Enemy and fit for no design. It falls to our share to be in the first line of Battle.

I heartily wish for another Squadron of Ships with Land Forces to put an End to the matter next Summer, we are blessed with abundance more health in these Northern Parts than the Leeward Islands.

Stores wanted.

I have desired more Artillery and stores contain'd in a list of them under Covert of the Boxes with Packetts directed to M<sup>r</sup> Blathwayt by the happy Jane and the Dolphin, I humbly beg your Lordships intercession for them and for twenty Great Guns more and that they may be longer than those I brought over with me, which it seems were never proved, the first I tryed splitt, Our Rivers are broad I have sounded in sev<sup>al</sup> places between the Fort at New York and Sandy hook, and design to make a Platforme on the

A new Plat forme raised at N: York.

Out most Rocks under the Fort and Erreet a battery thereon, it is so designed that by the swiftness of the tyde no ship can ride before the Town, but must have her Stemn or Stern towards it, The powder wasts apace being necessitate to supply the Forts at Albany and Schenectudy and the Fusileers out of their Majes<sup>tyes</sup> stores.

If the taking of Canada is not Expedited next summer, I humbly offer the necessity of building a Stone Fort at Albany and sending over four Comp<sup>ys</sup> a Granadiers with Pay to ease the People and Taxes and detachments or they will all go into the neighbouring Provinces they decrease a pace by the loss of that Post with the Indians (which doth Consequently follow) Virginia and Maryland will be in great danger, I humbly beg that the two Companies may at least be recruited to two hundred.

Our detachments came in slowly, most of them without Arms, I do likewise desire your Lo<sup>ppes</sup> will procure 200 light Fuzees for a Present from their Majes<sup>ties</sup> to [the] five Nations of Indians, they will not carry the heavy firelocks I did bring over with me being accustomed to light small Fuzees in their hunting.

I have lately called an Assembly<sup>l</sup> only settled for two years, but could not carry it, they have never the less given it for five years longer, the People give this reason, The Rivers on both sides are free of any duty upon Trade whilst this is clogg'd, and to give it for life may be presidentall and will entail an inconvenience upon them if their Neighbours be not brought under the same duties.

The Revenue settled 5 years.

And a fund for the Ministers of N: York and 3 other Counties.

I have gott them to settle a fund for a Ministry in the City of New York and three more Countys which could never be obtained before, being a mixt People and of different Perswasions in Religion.

I have sent herewith a Copy of Maj<sup>r</sup> Dirck Wessells Journall and sundry other papers for your Lordships Information.

Advice of the approach of the Enemy

He is going to Connecticut for assistance.

I have within two days [heard] of the approach of the French to Albany as your Lordship will see by the Copyes of Maj<sup>r</sup> Schuylers letters of the 3<sup>d</sup> and 5th instant, I am despatching what force I can gett in readiness thither. I am bound imediately to Connecticutt to Publish my Commission and gett assistance from thence and March Strait to Albany if there be occasion

I shall not fail in my duty to their Maj<sup>ties</sup> but beg leave to [inform] your Lordships that tho' I have a difficult and troublesome post yet a farr less Salary than either the Govern<sup>or</sup> of Virginia or Maryland.

Boston August 2: 1693.

On the 27th ult: about 7 at night I came to this town, and immediatly went to wait on his Excell<sup>t</sup> S<sup>r</sup> Will Phipps, and S<sup>r</sup> Fran: Wheeler at his Excell<sup>t</sup>s hous. I there deliver'd your Excell<sup>t</sup>s letters to them; and did expect S<sup>r</sup> Will: would have ask'd me som questions relating to N: York but instead thereof, he entertain'd us with a flat Harrangue, of the expence N: England had bin at since the present warr; the poverty of its' people &c—I suppose to soften me that the answer to such things I might have directions to demand from him, might take better impression. I sayd little that night he desired I would com to his hous Next day; w<sup>ch</sup> I did twice; but found him not at home, the like I did the following Day in vain.

The first Inst: about 11 in y<sup>e</sup> morning I went again, in company wth Coll<sup>l</sup> Depeyster, Mr Hancock and som others, wee were then so fortunat as to find him at home, and wth him a gen<sup>l</sup> of his Council he desired us to sitt down, then ask'd how your Excell<sup>t</sup> did. I told him, well; but stru[gg]ling hard to support a tottering govern<sup>t</sup> that must (maugre all your endeavours) fall to ruin, if speedy assistance were not sent by him and the rest of the neighbouring govern<sup>ts</sup> (pursuant to their Maj<sup>ties</sup> letter to him &c<sup>a</sup>) to enable us to defend the fronteers at Albany. This put him into a ferment. I waited till his passion coold a little; then told Him the ill circumstances York lay under; the wavering temper of our Indians; their weariness of the war; The great presents your Excell<sup>t</sup> was forced to give them when last at Albany; The great taxes repeated upon us. The harrasing of our people (to the great depopulation of the Province) for the defence of the fronteers. The high tax we now bow under. and what I thought might inform him well of our condition. Then I proceeded to demand 200 men (furnish'd at all points and to be pay'd by his govern<sup>t</sup>); as a fit quota from the same; pursuant to their Maj<sup>ties</sup> said letter then in his custody; and told him it was your Excell<sup>t</sup>s directions to me to demand that number as a reasonable aid from the Matatusets Colony. This put him into a rude passion. what he said was loud & angry; but so confus'd I knew not what to make of it.—at length I could understand him to say; I will not send a man nor a farthing of money to the assistance of N: York. and (continued he) 'tis a monstrous thought to suppose I should. I could not forbear replying in these words, 'tis then S<sup>r</sup> the monstrous thought of the Queen. how? how? (said hee) a monstrous thought of the Queen (Repeating then words three or four times angrily over) Yes (said I) for had not her Maj<sup>tye</sup> and the Council of England thought it reasonable and requisite that you and the rest of their Maj<sup>ties</sup> Govern<sup>ts</sup> should send aid to New York, no letter had bin directed to you or them to that end.

The next thing I mov'd to him was that he would send Cômmission's to New York, in the beginning of Octobr<sup>e</sup> next, to meet those from the other Govern<sup>t</sup> that the proper quota's of men and money may be agreed upon, to be sent to N: York from each Govern<sup>t</sup>, pursuant to that letter. This aggravated his former heat, and made him angrily say; if they have no other business no Commiss<sup>s</sup> shall com from me.

I found his reason was Drown'd in passion and the Storm increasing, so thought it high time to leave him.

The gen<sup>l</sup> of his Council present, al the while seem'd asham'd of his behavior, and desir'd me to blame his education for what I saw. I told him his Govern<sup>t</sup> was very hott. he Returned; S<sup>r</sup> you must pardon him 'tis dogg-days he cannot help it.

I do observe the people here are highly tax'd and no less displeas'd at the ill peniworth they have for their money their Govern<sup>r</sup> is little fear'd and less lov'd. He selects his company out of the mobb, for the most part, amongst whom noys and strutt, pass for witt, and prowis; Some few of the better sort pay him respect and complement, for their eas sake, rather than any esteem they have for him; the rest redicule him.

Severall of their late assembly have told me; they could have no account of y<sup>e</sup> Cuntrys money, when required: nor any reasons why the Cuntry was so much in debt. That his whole maugery was crooked, bending much more to his own interest than the good of the people.

New York in the midst of calamities has this comfort that her taxes are apply'd purely in her defence, and to acquire her safety only. that the acc<sup>ts</sup> of publick money are at all times (if desired) layd before the Assembly that your watchfull care and steady guidance gives her people all the reasonable hopes of safty their circumstances will admitt. all which is wanting here.

By next post I will give your Excellence what has past between S<sup>r</sup> Fran: Wheeler, and me. and at this time begg leave to conclud

My self what I must ever be

1693 Aug 5th I begun my journey from Albany & came that night to Schenectady.

6th I gott to the first Castle of the Mohaques where I was inform'd of one Mohaq with four Indian women & a girl run over to Canida.

7th I passed the 2<sup>d</sup> Castle & came to the third where the Sachims of the 1st 2<sup>d</sup> & 3<sup>d</sup> Castles of the Mohaqs being mett I communicated his Exc<sup>ll</sup> letter to which they answered.

Tell Brother Caijenquiragoe it is our opinion that the upper nations ought not to have heard the proposalls made by the Governor of Canida but to have rejected them without answer neither ought there to be any generall meeting at Onondage, as for our parts we will not goe up to them but will be obedient to his Excell Commands.

Concerning the Jesuite Milet We judge it convenient two of our Sachims goe along with you with a belt of Wampum to desire the Jesuite and his papers may be delivered up to Caijenquiragoe according to promise lately made at Albany.

Having no belt of Wampum ready they desired me to tarry till they sent for one soe I tarryed one day while their messenger was gone for the belt. I understood by their discourse they had inclinacóns to be at the meeting at Onondage which I opposed and told them I have their answer already only tarry for the belt that I may show in the meeting that it is your advice the Jesuite and his letters be surrendered up to Caijenquiragoe

Whereupon they gave to Jurian & Joseph who accompanied me 7 hands of wampum.

August 9th I proceeded for Oneyde and on the way mett two messengers who were to call the Mohaques to the Generall meeting and told me the Senekes & Caijouges were already there I caused the messengers to turn back with me & lay in the woods that night.

10th We came to the first Castle of the Oneijdes.

11th We came to the second Castle of the Oneijdes where I ordered their Sachims to meet me & said

Brethren I am sent by his Excéll with this letter & communicated it telling them the Mohaques refused to come to the meeting and would be obedient to his Excéll ord<sup>r</sup> desired they would surrender the priest & his letters to Caijenquiragoe according to promise & laid down the 7 hands of wampum.

They answered tell Brother Cayenquiragoe. The Senekes and Caijouges are already at Onondage. That the Senekes have sent for us soe cannot give any answer until the Generall meeting at Onondage we would not goe but that the Senekes have sent for us and that the Preist should goe up with them which I forbid.

Then Canossadero the Preists Master forbid him to goe up, the Preist replied What would they have of me I have no papers touching publick affairs only some letters from my Neece & other particular freinds who salute me those of any concerne are already gone to Albany I told them there was no letters come to his Excell only one to Domine Dellius wherein he is thanked for his kindnesse to the Preist.

12th We parted from Oneyde and lodged in the woods.

13th We arrived at Onondage where the Sachims made us welcome with 14 hands of wampum.

Then told them saying.

Brethren

I am sent by his Excéll to offer you something. They endeavoured to put me off till the Generall meeting which was to be the next day I replied that I must speak with every nation severally and am not directed to any Generall meeting.

An Oneyde Indian that had been in Canida with six more told me that when they came to the Castle of the praying Indians of Canida he and one more of his company went into it and from thence to Mount Real where he mett the Governor of Canida who asked him if he was one of those who tore the flesh of his living subjects and eat it, that he answered, not; but that he was one of them that helped to burn them. The Governor of Canida replied that now the Great King of France was enraged, that he had sent to Canida thirty great ships with abundance of men and he expected thirty more to come that he had just then received the news of 1500 Wagenhanes Indians<sup>1</sup> come down to his assistance but he had offered peace to the five Nations to which he expected an answer in twenty dayes and them that refuse it will he fall upon with all that strength and destroy them, alsoe that beyond the Great Sea all are in peace and that the French King hath beat both English and Dutch & forced them to peace.

After this the Sachims asked me what news in New Yorke. I answered there were 3 of our Mohaques come lately from Canida to Albany who know nothing of all this, that when they were there noe shipes were arrived in Canida. That our King had 800 sail of shipes lay ready to transport 80 000 men to France which doth not savour of peace that the two Indians that were in prison in New England for the murder were come to Albany and that there were three French privateers lately upon our coast & the biggest of the three having 36 gunns & 250 men is taken.

August 14th I communicated his Excéll letter to the Sachims of Onondage and demanded their answer They bid me tell Brother Cayenquiragoe he speaks very well, we are glad to hear his wisdom before we are all met together because we with the help of the Senekes and Caijougues will make a good army.

Then I communicated his Excéll. letter to the Senekes who bid me tell Brother Caijenquiragoe We are glad to hear him speak here with so great wisdom we are come heither according to our old custome to consult the wellfare of our Countrey we will take his orders into consideracôn.

Lastly I communicated the letter to the Cayougues who bidd me tell Brother Caijenquiragoe We are glad to hear his wisdom and his thought of the Governor of Canida before the Generall meeting.

In the afternoon the Oneydes made their complaint to the other three nations that I had hindered the Jesuite Milet from coming to the meeting who were all for sending for him, but I withstood it and asked if they did not yet understand his Excéll orders and that they are already debauched by that venemous belt then desired Milet and papers might be delivered over to his Excéll that the house may not more be betrayed by his subtill intregues but live in quietnesse after this the Sachims held a long consultation and gave the Oneydes an answer in the negative.

This day happend an alarm in Onondage five Onondages went to the lake whereof one was caried away by the enemy.

There were alsoe two French men & 2 French women prisoners a fishing from Onondage a dayes journey from the Castle three of them were killed the fourth being a woman was scalped and on the 15th arrived in the Castle reported the miseheife to be done by the praying Indians of Canida

15th All this day is spent in consultation about his Excéll orders and the Governor of Canida's proposalls.

16th The Sachims were all assembled and Konassadero the Sachim of Oneyde spoak saying as for the Mohaques they have refusd this meeting to you Brethren of the Onondage, Caijougue & Seneke.

It is now two years since that you were all agreed that if there were occasion to send to Canida that an Oneyjde should goe now it happened that Tarriha had a French prisoner which he caryed to Canida to redeem his brother and so the Governor of Canida made use of this opportunity to send this belt along with him to show to the five Nations that he did therewith offer them peace which belt I now deliver to you and refer it to the brethren to accept or reject it I am the same man I was before & my people will agree to yo<sup>r</sup> result.

Whilst they considered of an answer I went with the Interpretesse to Aquadarondes wigwam he being the Cheife Sachim of Onondage and lame a bed endeavouring to understand of him how he thought the Nations were inclin'd he told me saying.

Aquadarondes
Sipocchi My understanding stands still about their different inclinations for the Mohaques are as if conquered, the Oneijdes wavering, the Senekes have great force but more inclined to bever hunting than warr so that the Onondages ly in the greatest danger. You hear in your ears the cry of the women & children for the losse of their husbands & relations, great promises were made now neer five years agoe that Quebeque should be taken by Sea but I dont hear that it is done. I speak not in reference to Our Brother Caijenquiragoe he behaves himselfe like a soldier and hath not been long here. New England, Virginia & Maryland doe nothing that we hear of. Our Brother hath renewed the Covenant for them but that doth not knock the enemy in the head, so my senses are as drunk not knowing what to doe.

August 17th I advised with him whether I should repeat his Execell orders at the Generall meeting which he was inclined to have done and said he wondered that our brother Caijenquiragoe should be against a Generall meeting upon this occasion for it is our order and method to have publick meetings upon all occasions. I replied that it was a false step in them to have received a belt from the enemy whereupon Aquadarando resolved to goe to meeting himselfe.

Afternoon the whole house was mett & Aquadarando was brought by four men who spake to the four nations in a Song saying.

We Onondages sing a Song that others may sing after us for it is our old custome.

The Enemy is like a bear that we must beware of and not be deceived by fair words we must not alsoe wholly reject him so as not to hear him at all, it is well known the Governor of Canida hath alwayes deceived us soe likewise the Jesuite in Oneyde that causes all this disturbance amongst us in our country. We hearken too much to the Governor of Canida that he should offer us his deceitfull patronage without considering that we have been for ever in covenant with our brethren without deceit herein Governor of Canida shews his desire but I beleive him not who knows where he will open his deceitfull design, you have heard my opinion I refer the rest to the brethren and laid down a great belt of Wampum.

Then I repeated his Execell orders in his letter desiring they should take it to consideracón not to break the covenant chain and laid down a belt of Wampum.

18th The Sachims met together to consult but gave noe answer.

19th There being eighty Sachims present Kajarsanhondare made answer saying

Tell Brother Caijenquiragoe We have of old made a covenant which we will keep inviolable, here hangs the belt of the Governor of Canida but I say according to the resolution taken by us all We reject the desires of the Governor of Canida and are resolved not to goe to him. We will not doe as we have done formerly lay hold of his messengers but we will let him know by a messenger that if he will treat of peace he must goe to his Execell he is Our Master we have put all our force under his command he is Master over us just as the Governor of Canida is over his Indians whereupon they laid down a belt of Wampum of thirteen beights.

Tell Our Brother We did think the businesse of attacking Quebeq had been better manag'd than it is we hear nothing of it now Our brother is a soldier let us see something of it that we may overcome the Eneyry.

Tell Our Brother Caijenquiragoe if any mischeif be done to any in covenant with us as in New England it must not be said upon the hearing of our language p'sently the five nations have done it nor upon so light occasions must we be imprisoned it is always known by whom the mischeife is done

Tell Our Brother Caijenquiragoe that we repeat once more that here is our old house it is resolved he is our master and shall continue soe and we will hear noe body speake that have a minde to treat of peace they must goe to our Brother whereupon they laid down a belt of wampum.

I replyed you say his Excëll. is yo<sup>r</sup> master but it doth not appear soe now for you goe contrary to his order he forbidds you to hold correspondence with the enemy & you are sending a new message to them. He does expect that as a token of yo<sup>r</sup> sorrow you will send the Jesuite & his papers to him but I hear nothing to that It is certain the Governor of Canada designs by him to betray you if you hearken to him and not follow his Excell Counsell.

Aquandaronde the Sachem of Onondage answered that they had not hearkened to the Governor of Canida but only would let him know that his Excëll is Master, and if he will speake of peace he must goe to his Excëll what concerns the Jesuite Milette We have done our outmost endeavours to get him but the Owners will not deliver him.

Last Saturday night Joseph a Christian Indian tells us the News that an Indian was come from Canada to Oneyde & that the Sachims of the Upper Nations was to come and meet & consult there that the Messenger was arrived at Canada wth the Jesuits letter and that the Prisoners we had at Canada were secured least they should runn away for a party were designed to make an attack some where this fall but the Indians would not tell where this Joseph had from a Sinneke Indian come from Oneyde and heard this from two Indian Women who accidentally discoursed this Messenger before he gott to the Oneyde Castle I caused the Guards to be doubled and view'd all the mens armes and caused every man to be supplied wth Powder and Ball and sent word to the Farmers to be upon their guard this evening two Indian women came to this towne who tells us that three days agoe a party of 10 French and 20 Onagonque Indians<sup>1</sup> takes a Squa Prisoner near Tionondoge the third Castle of the Maquase and after that they had her halfe a day resolved to send her back & two Indians with her into the Castle to tell the Indians to keep at home in their Castles and not to stirr out they would doe them no harme but come and fetch them away but the two Indians hearing some gunns fired in the Castle were afraid to go in but gave the woman a fathom of wampum to tell the message & with all cutt of the womans hair which they said was for a signe y<sup>t</sup> they had been there, the woman comes immediately into the Castle and tells what had happend who forthwith sent to the first Castle of the Maquase and so the news was brought hither while we are examining of the said woman news is brought us from the flats that the waggon goeing thither wth provisions was sett upon by the enemy the 2 horses killed & two Souldiers taken prisoners viz<sup>t</sup> John Stilsberry & W<sup>m</sup> England the rest escaped the Fort imediately fired two gunns to allarme all the Farmers & the express that carrys this to Sopuz commands all y<sup>e</sup> Farmers to come in & desires y<sup>t</sup> Co<sup>ll</sup> Beekman would send us a 100 men not knoweing but that there may be a considerable force. Since they have taken so much pains to keep our Indians quiett I have sent an express to the Maquase to order them to come hither with their wives and children and sent forward to Oneyde & Onondage to be upon their guard and send some men downe hither we received very luckily, 80 good men from your Excelly within this four days. We are all well & upon our guard & do not fear a brush since we have so good advertisem<sup>t</sup> I thought it my duty to give your Excelly & acco<sup>d</sup> of all transactions knoweing your Excelly will be gladd to hear we cannot be surprised if any thing extraordinary happens I shall not faile to give your Excelly an account from time to time upon w<sup>ch</sup> yo<sup>r</sup> Excelly may depend So shall take leave & remain

May It pleas Your Excelly

My last was the 3<sup>d</sup> Instant giving your Excelly an account of the two men taken prisoners by y<sup>e</sup> enemy near the flatts that very night another party of the Enemy being on the East side of Hudson's River fired 6 shott at a canoe coming downe but hurt nobody only shott through the canoe this makes me beleive the party is divided in small troops to annoy the farmers We sent out two partys yesterday to desery & range the woods but see none and this day another party of 30 men are sent as farr as Canassigioene to range the woods on this side the Maquase River and they of Schenectady are to meet them there, The farmers I send out to range the woods on the East side of our River fearing that some sculking partys may stragle downe as far as Kinderhook but the only way in my opinion to be sure wether there is a great party or not or wether they will settle themselves at the lake S<sup>t</sup> Sacrament or on this side the Great Lake is to send Scouts of Christians and Indians as farr as the Crown Point, I am about to procure such but know not what way to pay them haveing neither money nor goods of my owne nor of the publicks in my hands neither cann I find any body willing to advance any more for the publick; I long much to have an answer from our Indians, there are two Xians gon from Schenectady with the express as soon as they return shall send Your Excelly an Acco<sup>t</sup> I declare I never did so much suspect the fidelity of our Indians as now the Maquase seem but little concerned at all this news. It is as if they were disposed to goe along with the Enemy as soon as they come, they are weary of the warr and we cann have no service of them without Ready Pay which I am in no capacity to comply withall they tell me they will stay in their Castles & hold it out, when the French comes and keep good watch but it is no sine of watchfullness when the enemy have now twice been at the Gates of their Castle Undiscovered and tied a bunch of small reeds or straws at the very door I diswaded them from staying in their Castles if any army comes but to keep out good Scouts towards the Lake and as soon as they spy the Enemy come with a great force to give us an acco<sup>t</sup> and make their retreat hither with their wives and children where they will be protected I expect the hundred men from Sepus to morrow I will keep them till I am satisfied there is no army on this side the Lake. It will be no great inconveniency to them since their land is sowed I cann scarcely beleive the French will venture so late in the year with any great force only some partys to keep us in alarme & in y<sup>e</sup> mean time endeavor to gain our Indians as soon as I have the least certainty of an army shall send your Excelly an express. Our Indians are all of opinion that these partys are the fore Runners of a greater body. I shall keep good watch and if they come shall receive them as well as the Force I have shall be able. Our men are all brisk and well. I have ordered the Comissary to furnish them with ammunition on acco<sup>t</sup> of their pay so they are all new fitted for they had none of their owne neither is there any of the Publicks to give them. I am sorry the New Jersey men will be relived this Season since they are well disciplined & Brisk men and if they be I hope your Excelly will send up money to pay them here w<sup>ch</sup> they expect since severall have bought armes of the inhabitants wth w<sup>ch</sup> they can not be so well fitted at home. Governor Fletcher to Sir William Phelps.

Fort William Henry the 31st of August 1693.

Sir

Yours of the 24th instant came to hand the 30th wherein you acquaint me of a peace concluded with Eastern Indians, which I am glad to hear and hope itt will prove firm and stedfast; for which I thank you.

Forasmuch as I have nott syllable touching the 200 men you promised, I take leave to putt you in mind of mine of the 31st of March last when I first desired that assistance. Your answer thereunto of the twentieth of Aprill following wherein you told me that their Maj<sup>ties</sup> affaires calling for your pressence to the Eastward you had left directions with y<sup>e</sup> gentlemen appointed for the managinge the Millitary affaires in your absence, to order me the number of men I desired, to march with all speed from Road Island and Conecticut, they being the nearest places unto me and assoon as the agreem<sup>t</sup> between the Govern<sup>rs</sup> of Virginia Maryland Pensilvania and your selfe concerning a quota of men or other assistance to be given by each of you for our assistance, is concluded upon, you should endeavour to be the first in serving their Maj<sup>ties</sup> to the uttermost of your power, according to such Agreement. Which are the words of your own letter.

I have since that time wrote to you several letters amongst other things complaining of the want of those men, as you may finde by those of the 10th of June, 17th of July, and 2<sup>d</sup> of August, which M<sup>r</sup> Stoughton L<sup>t</sup> Governour, advises were forwarded to you, yett there is nott one man come to Albany from any part of your governm<sup>t</sup>, nor does itt appear to me by your last there is any care taken thereof as yett.

Sir. A party of our Indians have lately returned from Canada having two prisoners, one Mons<sup>r</sup> Crevier a considerable person, the proprietor and cheife man of a Collony called S<sup>t</sup> Fransoe, and his Servant, the heathen have bitt of five of his nailes, he is now sick of his hard marches and wounds att Albany. Maj<sup>r</sup> Schuyler hath given .£50 for his redemption from y<sup>e</sup> flames. He gives account of the arival of the French consisting of nine Saile, three more being putt back for reparation; two of the nine about 40 guns each, that they have brought recruits of 500 men with stores of ammunition and provisions, that Chevaler Deaux was on board one of the Ships put back to stop lakes, but dayly expected, that the French are dayly adding to their fortifications att Quebeck, and that they have built strong batteries and many guns planted on them.

Sir. I doe expect another attack from the French of Canada this winter, as I had in February last and have many reasons for itt. Our fronteers are but poorly mann'd, which we cannot remedy without your assistance, and must depend upon itt at this juncture; not doubting but that you haveing made such an advantagious peace with the Eastern Indians, to the great ease both of the charge and duty of your people, you will rather increase then fall short of the number of 200 already promised and that your commissioner will be here att the time appointed to assist the others in agreeing upon a quota of men and money for the defence of the fronteers dureing the warr, that it may never be said that the handfull of French in Canada should gain a foot of ground upon any of their Maj<sup>ties</sup> dominions on this Maine, but that their Majesties intrest may always flourish and overcome their enemies, which is the zeal and ambition of Your Excellencies

Humble Servant

Sir William Phips to Governor Fletcher.

[New-York Papers, III. E. 62.]

Sir

By a ship arrived here from Cadiz the 15th current, we have confirmacón of the unhappy news of the loss and disaster befalling the Streights fleet of English and Dutch, of which had lately an account via Madera by a vessell belonging to New Yorke touching at Road Island, tho' with some moderaçón as to the loss then reported and not with that advantage to the French as was fear'd; the narrative whereof I have inclosed.

As to yo<sup>r</sup> Exc<sup>ell</sup> proposal for a meeting of Cómisioners at New Yorke from their Maties severall Governments of New England, Virginia, Maryland and Pensilvania to concerte and agree upon a certain quota of men and money for the defence of the fronteers in that Province I have to acquaint you that the epidemicall and mortall Sickness and other calamitous occurrents within this Province, renders it difficult for any from hence at present to attend such a congress; and the alteracón made with reference to the militia of Connecticut Colony since your Exc<sup>ell</sup>: first mocón for such a meeting, the comand thereof being transferr'd unto yo<sup>r</sup>selfe, over and above the addition of Pensilvania, seems to make it less necessary or reasonable to expect assistance from this Province for the support of Albany: when as besides the many other adversities and losses which have befallen this people, the burthen of a long & chargeable warr has been borne by themselves, with very little assistance from their neighbours, whereby they are soe exhausted and such a vast debt contracted, as is almost insupportable, and still continue to be at a very considerable growing charge for the necessary guarding of the fronteers of this Province and maintainance of a guarrison at Pemaquid. For altho' the late submission of the Eastern Iudians may give probable hopes of a present quiet with them, yet wee may rationally expect annoyances from the French and to be attackt both by sea and land by them and the Indians joynd to them.

I shall not be backward to contribute what assistance I may to the defence of their Majesties interests in the neighbouring Governments, without hazard of exposing the same more immediately under my care, and had the militia of Connecticut remained within my command I should upon yo<sup>r</sup> Excell. desire thereof have given out orders for the enforcing of yo<sup>r</sup> posts with some men from thence as I formerly intimated; but the circumstances of that affair being altered, it cannot now be expected. I hope what is offered will excuse the none appearance of Commisicōners from this Province on the occasion mencōned.

I shall lay before their Majesties the state of this their Province, and humbly endeavour their satisfaccōn herein, and to my utmost promote their interests as I may have opportunity.

Yo<sup>r</sup> Excell. humble Servant

-May it please Your Lords<sup>ps</sup>

I am stayd this day from proceeding to Connecticut and Albany by the taking of the Capt<sup>o</sup> of a French Privateer on the north side the Island Nassaw, whom I have examin'd this morning.

I find him a French Protestant about 18 month an Inhabitant of this Province being naturaliz'd by King James, and a Master of a Sloop belonging to this place, his name John Reaux, in his Voyage to Boston he sunk his Vessell and run away with 6 or £700 in Money for which he was Imprisoned and Broak Goal at Boston and with some of their Prisoners of Warr gott to Canada in a small Shallop, from thence went to France, he came from Rochell three Month's agoe in a Bark with four Guns four Pateraros and 35 men, says he hath a Commission from the French King and in his way took a Ketch belonging to Boston, on the Banks of Newfound Land, and on Fryday the six instant took a sloop from Rhode Island, says he could have taken more but being minded to take on board his and family brought the Bark into the sound and for that purpose came on shoar and was discovered. I hope by this time the Vessell is taken having sent after her. I have been urged by some whom he had defrauded to have him forthwith Try'd and Executed, and have advised with the Councill.

pleasure about Exercis the French Prisoner.

It is resolv'd that he be kept in close Prison until their Majes<sup>ty</sup> Royall pleasure be known therein for which I beg your Lords<sup>ps</sup> favour, the Prisoner deny's he knows any design from France against this Province.

I have this day taken my leave of the Councill being bound for Connecticut and Albany, where I shall tarry the whole winter if there be Ocasion, I have recommended to them the Administration of the Government during my absence, and that they be carefull to make Provision for the building of the Platforme I have designed, so that we may fall about it next Spring

Col Fletcher by his Letter of the 27th of Octo<sup>r</sup> 1693. from Connecticut writes

That at his coming to Conecticut he found a great Consternation among them. He told the Gov<sup>r</sup> his errand & gave him his Comission and desired he would order it to be read, who answer'd that if Col: Fletcher had anything to offer he would hear it, whereupon Col. Fletcher order'd his own Sec<sup>ry</sup> to read it, and Col Fletcher refers to the Papers for what past on this occasion.

Col. Fletcher coming to Conecticut on y<sup>e</sup> 23<sup>d</sup> of Octo<sup>r</sup> acquainted the Gov<sup>r</sup> & some others of his being come with their Ma<sup>ty</sup>s Comission to command the Militia of that Province.

The next day he went to the Gen<sup>l</sup> Court or Assembly of the Province then setting & acquainted them he was come by his Ma<sup>ty</sup>s Comands to publish his Comission which he desired might be read.

To which they only answered they were ready to hear what his Exe<sup>ly</sup> had to offer or to be read to them.

Whereupon Cól. Fletcher caused his Comission to be read to them by his Sec<sup>ry</sup> and gave them a Mem<sup>o</sup> in writing requiring their ready compliance that he might proceed to the execu<sup>o</sup>n of his trust & desir'd their answer in writing.

They desir'd Cól. Fletcher to hear their Charter read, but he told them he had no business with the Charter or Civill Power but to cômmand the Militia of the Colony.

The next day Cól. Fletcher sent to the Gen<sup>l</sup> Court to let them know that he had recieved then an Express from Albany giving an Acco<sup>t</sup> of the weakness of the Garrison, & the growing strength of the Enemy. That the Jerseys who are under the same circumstances with Cónecticut in respect to their Charter had submitted to the King's right of the Militia. That the letters from Albany say they expect to be attacked by the Enemy, & if that post be lost for want of their compliance they might be sensible of the ill consequence to themselves.

To which Cól. Fletcher reply'd no, but that he would Cômmissionate the Gov<sup>r</sup> to act in all things during his absence as fully as if he were present.

And Cól. Fletcher further lets them know he is resolved to put his Cômmission in execution & to issue a Proclamacón shewing the care he has taken for the satisfaction of their Mat<sup>ys</sup> subjects in that Colony, leaving the Militia in the same hands he found it. And accordingly made the Gov<sup>r</sup> a tender of a Comission for the Chief Cômmand and that he had no power or intention to invade the Civill rights But that he will not depart y<sup>e</sup> Colony till he has seen y<sup>e</sup> Comission obeyd.

To which Cól. Fletcher answerd that when they would yeild obedience to their Mat<sup>ty</sup> Cómmission he would consult with them about setling y<sup>e</sup> Militia, till when he would prosecute the Execution of it till he found an open violation thereof.

The 28. the Gen<sup>l</sup> Court broke up and Cól. Fletcher understanding some personall affronts were intended him by the people if he publisht any proclamation then He sent it to y<sup>e</sup> Sec<sup>y</sup> of y<sup>e</sup> Colony requiring him to publish it who said he would give it to y<sup>e</sup> Gov<sup>r</sup>.

And Cól. Fletcher being advised that the people were ready to be in a Cómotion left the colony.

In all this time about 40 persons presented themselves to submit to y<sup>e</sup> Kings Cómmission.

I have been in this Collony 20 dayes laboreing to perswade a stubborne people to their dewty. I Publish'd their Majesties Commission in their Generall Court at Hartford. Assured them I had noe pretentions to their civell administration. But the mallitia being lodged in the Crowne, and in noe case to bee seperated or demiss'd from it I cam wth comission under the greate seale to take that care and charge, they refuse all obedienc. Have seperated not only from the Church, But Crowne of England, and allowe of noe appeale from their Courts nor the Lawes of England to have any force amongst them, some of the wissest have saide wee are not permitted to vote for any members of Parliam<sup>t</sup>, and therefore not lyable to their lawes. I did designe from henc to march with what force I could gett and put my selfe into Albany this winter but am now disappointed, I must returne to Yorke and take other measures for the security of that place.

I never sawe the like people They have raised a considerable Tax to send one Mr Winthrop their Agent for England, yett pay noe obedienc to the Crowne nether their Agent or any in office have taken the oathes or subscribed the Test. I could not force obedienc havinge noe Company but a few servants and two freinds nor did I think it the King's service to carry on the contest to Bloude tho they threaten to draw mine for urging my Masters right. May it please your Lo<sup>ps</sup>

Having wrote from Connecticut by way of Piscataqua to my Lord Marquiss Carmarthen Lord Nottingham and M<sup>r</sup> Blathwayt, I now humbly address your Lordships being returned from thence your Lords<sup>ps</sup> will percive by the Copies of severall Passages herewith sent what contempt is thrown upon their Maj<sup>ty</sup> authority twere tedious and perhaps troublesome to repeat the personal slights I met with in this service I must confess to your Lords<sup>ps</sup> I found the whole Countrey upon their Penitentials upon my return wishing to have their money returned from Major Wentthrop whom they have employed to Solicite for their Old Charter Government and wish the Generall Court at Hartford had made a dutifull Submission to their Majesties Commands, Maj<sup>r</sup> Palmer M<sup>r</sup> Gershom Bulkely two Rosewells and M<sup>r</sup> Trowbridge are Gentlemen of the best Education sense and Estates amongst them, they with many other well-affected people have suffered very much by the Arbitrary illegall Proceedings there. If Connecticut be annexed to New-York, those I have mencōned are the fittest in the Colony to be of the Councill, I find by their Charter they have no other Military power than upon cases of urgent Necessity to array their people which doth not extend to a fixed standing Militia, I am perswaded their irregularitys have been so great, that if a Quo Warrant were brought agst their Charter, they would not offer to defend it, I am informed the East End of the Island Nassaw part of this Province have joyned them to use the same Person Maj<sup>r</sup> Winthrop that they may be cut off from this Province, they likewise [are] mostly of an Independent principle, and think any thing may be Effected at Whitehall for money whilst every one pursues their sluggish ease, Albany is in Eminent danger of being lost.

I did endeavour to get assistance from the Neighbouring Colonies and Provinces and pursuant to their Maj<sup>ties</sup> Commands to have Quota's of Men and Money ascertained for each to secure the Frontiers but this is defeated, I wrote and desired a Commissioner from each to Meet at New-York in October last to agree thereupon and did propose a Scheme of the charge and number of Men. S<sup>r</sup> William Phips denyed to send any, others came, but pretended they could not proceed unless there were a full meeting of a Commissioner at least from each, S<sup>r</sup> Edmond Andros and Collonel Copley have discounted a former [Bill] given to the Assistance of this Province for the Sums lately ordered by His Most Excellent Maj<sup>ty</sup> out of his Treasuries of Virginia and Maryland. Collonel Andrew Hamilton the Proprietors Governors of the Jerseys hath proved most zealous and forward to Our Assistance, and hath prevailed with the Assembly in these Colonies to give us thirty men with pay from the first of May next during the Warr.

Our hardships grow upon us. Canada by a late information hath received seven hundred men and Stores of Warr from France this last Summer, Our Indians falter and the Enemy pass them and turn their swords upon our Farm<sup>ts</sup>, which is their great Cunning and likely to prove our Enemies So that now there is no remedy left but a Squadron of Ships with land forces next Summer to take Canada and put an end to it or the building a Stone Fort at Albany and sending over four Companies of Granadiers from England at their Ma<sup>ty</sup> charge. These small Colonies on this Main are much divided in their interest and affection as Christian and Turk.

I hope your Lordships will Consider of the Artillery and Stores I wrote for, and the great want of them to furnish a Platform here for the security of this Port and City, I am
 may it please your Lo<sup>pp</sup>s

 obedient servant,

Att the Court at Whitehall the 11th of January 1693<sup>4</sup>.

PRESENT— The King's MOST EXCELLENT MAJ<sup>ty</sup> in Council.

Order for Coll: Fletchers presents by the Act of 1 penny per £ in N. York.

Upon reading a Report from the R<sup>ts</sup> Hon<sup>ble</sup> the Lords of the Committee of Trade and Plantations dated the 5th instant, Representing that an Act lately past by the Assembly of New York, whereby a Rate of One Penny in the pound is granted to their Maj<sup>ties</sup> to be raised upon all Real and personall Estates there, which Rate the Assembly humbly pray may be allowed to Collonel Fletcher Governor in Cheif in New York, in Considerat<sup>o</sup> of his Care and Vigilance in visiting the Frontiers and putting them into a posture of defence and safety.

It is this day Ordered by His Majesty in Council, that the said Collonel Fletcher be and he is hereby permitted to receive the Present intended him by the said Act. Whereof all persons concerned are to take notice and to Govern themselves accordingly.

May it please your Lo<sup>ps</sup>

I send herewith Copies of several papers relating to the present Circumstances of New York and Indians of the five Nations, by which I humbly offer what discouragement hath Possessed them through the Negligence and sloath of our Neighbours leaving the burthen of the warr wholly upon this small Province not able to give them that Succour which is requisite, nor to make that appearance on the Frontiers which was necessary to Justify all the Parts thereof, The French of Canada have new supplys annually from France, and are a growing Vigilent Enemy, Our Indians are now upon overtures of Peace with Count Frontinac and break all their Covenants and Engagements with us, would be at a Neutrality but its much feard that the French will not allow that upon them, but make them wholly their own, I did foresee so soon as I arrived in New York, and have been unwearied in my applications to our Neighbours, And tho' their Majesties out of their true sence of the Condition of their Territories and dominions upon this Maine have ordered assistance to be given nothing is done to purpose. Their Majes<sup>ty</sup>s subjects here, tho' considerable in number, are so scattered at a distance, and into so many distinct Governments, that they are divided in affection and interest, which renders them weak. I sent for Commissioners from each Province and Colony to concert and agree upon Quota's of men and money for the support and defence of the Frontiers during the warr, as I have already informed your Lordships (some sent Commissioners others none) those that came pretended they could not proceed to Act without a full meeting, so that design is frustrated: S<sup>r</sup> William gave a positive denyall.

Their Majesties have Graciously Ordered five hundred pounds from Virginia and £250 from Maryland which was discounted for bills for other sums given before that time at [as] their neighbourly assistance notwithstanding [by] their Majes<sup>ty</sup>s Order [they] were to be paid out of their own Coffers and the Bills from Maryland drawn by Collonel Copley are returned protested. There are two hundred forty-five Fusileers upon the Fronteers upon Pay and the Company of Granadeers in the Fort; the farmers circumjaacent are all gather'd into the city. I have ordered other forces to march from Ulster County, and have issued forth orders to have detachments of the militia in readiness to march at beat of Drum and Expect every hour intelligence of the Enemy's approach, when I design to head the militia march to Albany and put my selfe in that Post. I shall not be wanting to do my utmost Endeavours for their Majes<sup>ty</sup>s service. Whilst this small Province is thus harrassed, our neighbours are all at ease, and purchase their private advantages.

I have projected the building a platforme whereon to raise a battery for the defence of New York from attempts by sea being the Key and Centre of the English Plantations on this main, the Inhabitants are now at work to gett Stockades to fill up the water, it will take some time to finish it.

I hope your Lordships will procure the great gunns and stores I have desired; these I brought over with me are not so long as I could wish them, Our Rivers being above a mile over. I am in want of Money to Pay off the two Companies of Granadiers, which I humbly desire your Lor<sup>ps</sup> will cause to be transmitted. I hope their Majest<sup>ys</sup> will provide for the taking of Canada next Summer or send over a Regiment of Foot with money to build a stone Fort at Albany, otherwise I do not see how their Majest<sup>ys</sup> interest on this main can be preserved, this Province must sinck under the burthen, which will be the greatest trouble that ever happened to their Majesties Colonies and Provinces upon main, and being each of them under the same or worsor circumstances than this Province is attended with at this present juncture.

May it please your Lordships

I am

Your Lor<sup>ps</sup> most faithful and most Obedient Servant

Message of the Onondages to the Governor of New-York.

[New-York Papers, IV. g. 13.]

Onondage the 22th of November 1693.

I Johannes Luijkasse who went thither with the Smith being sent for by the Sachims of Onondage who said as followeth :

We acquaint the Governor and Major Schuijler that the Indian messenger is returned from Canida and do now send for you in all haste as we do for all the Indians the Caijoges, Senekes, &c<sup>a</sup> to come and keep Council here in Onondage and to hear all the news doe not fail to come for we are one flesh and blood and this is matter of great moment we doe not passe you by—true it is that it was coneluded by us when the messenger went to Canida that he should bring the news to Albany and that we all should come there—but since he is come here the Council or Assembly shall be kept here now we shall hear all what the French have said to the Oneyde and I am charged to acquaint the Maquas with this Message.

Signed JOHANNES LUIJKASSE

The said Johannes Luijkasse says that he was charged secretly by the Sachems of Onondage to tell Major Schuijler when he came up towards Onondage not to hinder the Maquas nor Oneydes as last time from coming to the Assembly but rather further their journey that so by a generall consultation of the six once a firme conclusion may be made and desire that the parties may make all possible haste to come up mentioning of ten days ti[m]e. The Messenger Tarriha who is now come from Canida and has brought a belt of wanpum from the Governor of Canada to the 5 Nations—who says—will have nothing to do with Caijenquiragoe the great swift arrow meaning his Excellency Benjamin Fletcher but will only treat with the five Nations that which concerns them must come from over sea.

The Onondage Sachims say further in answer to what was sent to them concerning some Indians to come down from each Nation for scouts and to guard Albany that at the Generall meeting that matter shall be treated of

A true copy examined by Rob<sup>t</sup> Livingston Johannes Luijkasse says further that Tarriha and two of the cheifest Sachims of Oneyde told him that the Governor of Canida had now sent for ten of the principall Indians of each nation two. to treat with him at Canida and being asked what the belt of wampum meant, the said Tarriha said that should be told at the Generall Meeting at Onondage and not before.

Report brought from Oneida by Joseph, a Mohawk Indian.

[New-York Papers, IV, g. 44.]

PRESENT —

Joseph a Christian Mohaque Indian who was sent with a belt of wampum to Oneijde to demand Tarriha the Messenger come from Canida with letters from the Governor being returned this 2<sup>d</sup> of December 1693 — Saith as follows.

That he delivered his message with the belt of wampum to the Sachims of Oneijde and told them they were to meet here at Albany according to what was concluded this summer and therefore Tarriha with the French letters were to be sent to Albany upon which the Sachims of Oneijde replied there were no letters come from the Governour of Canida that they knew off only a belt of wampum which was sent to Onondage where all the Sachims of the five Nations were designed to meet and consult about that matter and before that meeting was over could give no farther answer whether they should come hither or not.

The said Joseph says he discoursed with Tarriha the messenger come from Canida who said as soon as he came neer Mount Real he was met by a great many Officers and Cheifemen of the place who asked him where the 800 men were of the five Nations that were to come & fall upon them since a Mohaq Indian (called Caghnarageyade) brought the news that Tarriha was only sent to betray the French for no sooner would he be come but a great party would follow and destroy the French. The said Tarriha was no sooner come but put into a canoe and sent unto Quebec where he delivered the belt of wampum sent by the five nations to the Governor of Canida and told him it was concluded by them not to hearken to any peace but if the Governour of Canida was minded to discourse of that matter he must send to Albany and do it there where upon the Govern<sup>r</sup> was very wroth and turnd his back upon the belt and would not receive it, but after he had consulted with the Jesuites that had been formerly among the five Nations was advised to take up the belt of wampum and signify his pleasure by another belt to the 5 Nations which the messenger has now brought whereby he demands as he did before; that two of each nation do come to Quebec acknowledge their Errour and begg peace and then he will receive them again as children unto his covenant and said further to the five nations children you are strangely deluded by the Governour of New Yorke who has styled himselfe Caijenquiragoe a strange name not used by any of the former Governours of that place will you wage war with the French who have supplies daily from France if you are killed where have you any recruits to supply your places you are made beleive that we have a warr with you but we have not begunn yet now I will hang over the Great Kettle of warr and show that I am an Enemy to the English for they of Boston have been here to visite me and promised to come again but I see none of them and therefore I must goe and visite them this winter.

The said Tarrilha sayes there are great preparations making for a design this winter and the French say it is upon New England but say likewise they are Eneniyes and must not be trusted and that the people of Albany may be upon their guard.

On the 30th of Decem<sup>r</sup> last came here a writing from the Jesuit Millet, the contents was an explanation of the three belts of peace w<sup>ch</sup> the Indian Messengers should bring to the Govern<sup>r</sup> of Canida, I have copyyed said writinge from word to word, and gave copy to Coll. Ingolsby to be sent to yo<sup>r</sup> Excell<sup>y</sup> The originall together with a Translate made bij mij selfe, Maj<sup>r</sup> Schuyler tooke with him to Onontage I do find some words to be doubtfull in those 2 or 3 lines which do begin, J'ay resolu de m'exposer, &<sup>e</sup> With yo<sup>r</sup> Excell<sup>y</sup> leave I suppose the same to be, That he had hazarded himselfe as being more willing to dye, or to be throwne into the Kittle, then to live longer in the Indian Countrij where Honontonchiomni gives the Goost, Honontonchiomni I think do's signify<sup>r</sup> as much as Konossioni, which is the whole howse, or all the Indians together;—

S<sup>r</sup> I have not answered the Jesuite upon the letter, w<sup>ch</sup> I sent to yo<sup>r</sup> Excell<sup>y</sup> because I saw no occasion for it; I heare that Maj<sup>r</sup> Schuyler is coming back and will be here this day or the next because of the rumour that the French are comming agst us or Onontage, What truth in that tiding is, time will tell us, if they do attack us I hope God will blesse o<sup>r</sup> armes, in whose Omnipotent protexion by my prayers I do recommend yo<sup>r</sup> Excell<sup>y</sup>, and remaine

Interpretation of three Belts sent by the Five Nations to the Governor of Canada.

[TRANSLATED FROM THE FRENCH.]

[New-York Papers, IV. g. 21.]

All the Iroquois assembled at Onondaga, having sent an express to me at Oneida to invite me to repair to Onondaga for the purpose of writing down the message they had resolved to send to Onontio, or to Count de Frontenac, and I having, in consequence, proceeded thither with Susan and other Oneidas, they, on exhibiting to me their belts, authorized me to write what follows:

The Ist. in which there are five black squares on a white ground, indicates the Five Iroquois Nations, who have all unanimously agreed to this embassy from the Iroquois to Kebec. They, therefore, say by this belt: Here we are, Father Onontio, by your invitation, on your mat, and among the rest, I, whom you call to Gannisoran, having for the third time heard your voice which called on me by name—Here I am. You enquire, I'm told, what is te Gannisoran afraid of, that he hesitates to come? Father, I fear your war kettle, and it has prevented me coming sooner. At last I have resolved to expose myself to destruction, to be thrown into the kettle and to die for the preservation of (pour faire vivre) the land of the Iroquois or the Notinnonchioni, who are at the point of death &c Will you hearken then, Father, to what I might say? I prefer allowing you to speak first, for, they say, the Iroquois have no more reason left; and we shall examine among ourselves and see if it be afterwards in our power to satisfy you.

The IId. which is a large belt and almost entirely black, says, that if Onontio himself does not upset his war kettle, this belt of the Iroquois, his children, is for the purpose of throwing it down.

The III<sup>d</sup>. belt, which is the longest of all, is to say, that the Iroquois desire their message to be transmitted over the sea, and carried even to the Kings of France and of England, particularly to the King of France, in order that he, himself, may speak to this article, and grant them, if in his power, such a peace as they desire, that is, generally; not only between all the Indians but between all their relations, especially between the Kings of France and England; and they request that they may have an answer as soon as possible.

Fifty days are allowed these ambassadors; if they delay as long as sixty, it will cause uneasiness.

The Iroquois were desirous that I should open the letter which the Minister of Albany wrote to the Reverend Father D'Ablon, but as it is sealed I said, we were forbidden so to do, but that I should request the Reverend Father D'Ablon to communicate its contents to us, and that I should, then, read it to the Iroquois.

I received yo<sup>r</sup> Excell<sup>s</sup> letter p. y<sup>e</sup> expresse the 16th of December last with inclosed orders for Maj<sup>r</sup> Schuijler's Journey to Onnondage who accordingly prepared all things for his journey but 2 days after some of the principall Indians coming from thence told us the Sachims were coming down which put a stop to his journey for a while thinking it would be much better to have them to comply with their promise to yo<sup>r</sup> Excell. and come to us then we goe to them the 30th December following we had an expresse come from thence and 2 Sachims who advised us that the Sachims could not come that they had had a meeting at Onnondage where the Preist Milet was present where some overtures of peace were discoursed of but had come to no conclusion till they had heard from hence that they had ordered the Jesuite to take minutes of what had passed at the said meeting which they had sent to see if the Preist had acted faithfully in the matter who had somewhat enlarged but in the main they had agreed to send to Canida and make peace which I beleive they will if not done already and if they doe and the French should attack us I cannot beleive they will be neuters but rather prove our enemies the copy of said paper is inclosed, this hastened Maj<sup>r</sup> Schuijlers journey after he had sent on an expresse to them that he was on his way and that they should assemble together at Oneyde, he went from hence the 3<sup>d</sup> instant accompanied with Maj<sup>r</sup> Wessells and the Interpretesse and being between the Maquaes and Oneydes Castle they gott the alarm that the French are coming upon Onnondage which they rather beleive may be designed heither and therefore turn back as your Excell. will see by the inclosed letter. I have sent now by this expresse to Coll. Beeckman to send what forces he can gett ready in Ulster County with the very first and designe to send for all the farmers in and make what force I can since we have so long warning and doubt not but shall be able to make a good defence although the fusileers here in Towne and at the outposts are not above 245 men as your Excell will see by the muster rolls sent up now I have not time to enlarge as soon as any thing offers shall send your Excell an account therefore shall conclude with my duty to your Excell & me Lady and that I shall always be

y<sup>e</sup> 4th of January 169th

After y<sup>t</sup> I had stayd 14 days for y<sup>e</sup> Sachims coming doune who sent word that they would come to Albany & understanding by Johannes Luykasse & Two Sachems sent by them that they desyred to be excused from y<sup>e</sup> Journey in this Season of the yeare I did according to his Excell Benj. Fletcher Cap<sup>t</sup> Gén<sup>l</sup> Instructions depart from Albany the 4 of January takeing Major Wessells and Hille y<sup>e</sup> Interpretesse along with me to goe to Oneyde where I had appointed y<sup>e</sup> Sachims of the 5 Nations to meet me and arrived that night at Schinnechtadij.

The 5th d<sup>o</sup>. We went from Schinnechtadij, and arrived y<sup>t</sup> day to y<sup>e</sup> Praying Maquase Castle called Tionondoroge.

The 6th d<sup>o</sup>. We went from y<sup>e</sup> first Castle of the Mohoges to the last where we founde all the Sachims and young Indiance conveynd who receivd us kindly making a long speech of what had passed in former times with many repetitions were glad to see us there not doubting but it would tend to the well being of all the Nations for we said they<sup>1</sup> lye amazed & discomfited upon our knees and know not what we shall doe wee understand y<sup>t</sup> it was concluded in the last meeting at Onondage when Maj<sup>r</sup> Wessels was there in the Sommer y<sup>t</sup> y<sup>e</sup> Gove<sup>r</sup> of Canida should not be heard speake by any messages but directly at Albany by his Excell. but we understand y<sup>t</sup> Tarriha is again come to Oneyde & y<sup>t</sup> the French Gov<sup>r</sup> doth still insist for Commissioners to be sent to him from the 5 Nations to speak of Peace and therefore doubt not but y<sup>w</sup> are sent for by y<sup>e</sup> 4 Nations for that purpose altho we are much troubled when we consider y<sup>e</sup> dilliculty of y<sup>e</sup> way by the extream deep snow which will hinder your journey.

Maj Peter Schuylers answer to the Mohogs

Brethren

You say y<sup>w</sup> lye all discomfited why so? y<sup>w</sup> have brisk men, still I doe rear yow up again & put yow upon your feet & yow shall goe along with me to the Gen<sup>l</sup> meeting at Oneyde where I have called all the 4 Nations together True it is y<sup>t</sup> Tarrigha the Messenger is arrived from Canida, to Oneyde and that the 4 Nations sent word to his Excell: that he was come requesting his Excell: to send some Commissioners to be present at a meeting at Onondage but before the Messenger came to Albany had sent an expresse to the Sachims acquainting y<sup>m</sup> that I expected them & y<sup>e</sup> Messenger to come downe to Albany according to y<sup>e</sup> last conclusion made at Onondage & that in the meantime I would inform his Excell: y<sup>e</sup> Gen<sup>l</sup> of y<sup>e</sup> arrivall of the Messenger to Oneyde and receive his Excell<sup>e</sup> commands about it but in stead off y<sup>e</sup> Sachims and Messengers coming doune according to engagement y<sup>e</sup> 4 Nations send us a resolution which they have taken & caused y<sup>e</sup> Jesuit putt itt upon paper and sent it to Albany and woul have our [a]dviser upon it. I have therefore by his Excell. commands undertaken this troublesome journey to which I invite the Brethren to goe along with me and help to consult y<sup>e</sup> publike good of y<sup>e</sup> whole house I have sent an expresse before y<sup>t</sup> the Sachims doe meet me at Oneyde upon w<sup>ch</sup> y<sup>e</sup> Sachims desyred me to stay y<sup>e</sup> Sabbath day being y<sup>e</sup> 7 of January & they would counsell together according to there custime & I stayed there the 7 & y<sup>e</sup> 8 they deputed 1 of there Sachims to accompany me to y<sup>e</sup> Gen<sup>l</sup> meeting to goe along with us to Oneyde.

The 10th d<sup>o</sup>. We march<sup>d</sup> from Tionondoge & haveing gone about 12 miles founde a verry deep snow which made me almost resolve to turn back being impossible to p<sup>r</sup>form the Journey upon y<sup>e</sup> way a Indian mett us who brought us y<sup>e</sup> news a[s] I writt it y<sup>e</sup> 10th Instant from y<sup>e</sup> Oneydes boss<sup>2</sup> to which this is referr<sup>d</sup> he told us further y<sup>t</sup> the higher we went y<sup>e</sup> deeper the snow was & y<sup>t</sup> we could not possibly gett throw upon w<sup>ch</sup> wee resolved to turn back and to send 2 Indians forward with a belt of wampum to acquaint y<sup>e</sup> 4 Nation y<sup>t</sup> I was come so farr but y<sup>e</sup> deep snow hindred my coming to y<sup>m</sup> and therefore expected y<sup>e</sup> Sachims with a hundred brisk young Indians to come with all speed to Albany charging them expressly not to send to

[New-York Entries, III. 91.]

At the Committee of Trade and Plantations At the Council Chamber at Whitehall, the 12th of March 1693<sup>¼</sup>.

Upon reading a Letter from Coll: Fletcher Governor in Cheif of New York dated the 5th of October last Representing that in pursuance of his Maj<sup>ty</sup>s order he had discharged all Proceedings against Persons for assisting Leisler setting them at Liberty, And that Gerardus Beekman Mindert Courteen, Tho: Williams, Johannes Vermellies, Abraham Brasier, and Abraham Gouverneur being under the sentence of death for the same, he advised them to make Application for their Pardon, But on the Contrary not owning their liberty a favour or departing from the Ju[s]tification of their Crimes some of them have been Elected of the Assembly which Collonel Fletcher could not suffer, Wherefore humbly Prays they may be Pardoned or Executed, And the Lords of the Comitée taking notice that upon a former Representation of the Committee on the 7th of April 1692, Her Majesty was pleased to declare in Council that upon the Humble application of the said Persons her Maj<sup>ty</sup>s would order them to be pardoned and their Estates to be restored to them as objects of Her Maj<sup>ty</sup>s mercy, for which nevertheless no application has been since made their Lords<sup>ps</sup> agree to lay this whole matter before his Maj<sup>ty</sup>s in Council, and thereupon to move his Maj<sup>ty</sup>s that for the

New York the 25th March 1694.May it please your Lo<sup>pp<sup>s</sup></sup>

Our Indians of the five Nations are now become so weary of the warr and so farr prevailed upon by the presents and Power of the French of Canada that it is impossible to engage them to turn their Arms that way; by the papers accompanying this your Lordships will perceive what steps the Indians have already made towards a Peace. I have been at great charge and pains to divert them hitherto, and am now going to meet them at Albany,

He is going to Albany to persuade the Indians from fighting with the French

It is beleived by the best Experienced people in this Country there's a Necessity to give way to their humour of making peace with Canada, including the safety of this Province, Provided the French nor the Indians make no Incursions upon us nor come on this side the Lake, but I doubt they cannot be neutrall. Nothing has given discouragement to the heathen more than the weakness of Our Forces being negle[ct]ed by our Neighbours, the warr is left wholly to a small handful of people in this Province who are [in] the first line of Battle, and by Necessity must be Exposed to defend Our Neighbours on the Maine whilst they sit at ease, Our Assembly did lately sitt and in hopes of speedy releif have

[Board of Trade Papers, New-York, III.]

PRESENT — The Mayor and Aldermen.
 Deganistore, Sachim of Onnondage Speaker.
 Brother Cayenquiragoe and Quider.

Wee the Representatives of the Five Nations are come hither to acquaint you that our children the Oneydes one of the Five Nations have of their own accord sent a Messenger to Canida who returning brought us a belt of peace from the Gov<sup>t</sup> of Canida but we answered him that we being dependants of this Govern<sup>t</sup> could not resolve to any thing without Cayenquiragoe.

As soon as Tarriha the Messenger from Oneyde came to Canida with our message and Belt, the French asked him where the six hundred Men were to come to attack them, for Cannockhere a Maquass deserter told them that it was concluded by the Five Nations to betray them, but Tarriha told them, there was no such thing.

Tarriha being come to Quebec to the Gov<sup>t</sup> delivered the Belt, and told the Count Frontinac, that if he would have peace he must goe to Albany and get it, for the Five Nations would do nothing without Cayenquiragoe. Upon which the Gov<sup>t</sup> of Canida was angry and said, he had nothing to doe with the Gov<sup>t</sup> of New Yorke, he would only treat with the Five Nations, for the peace that related to the Christians must come from over sea, and said further, he was sorry to see the Five Nations so much degenerate as to receive the English at their fires in Onnondage and submit to them, wherein formerly they were only Five Nations, and now they had taken in the sixth Nation to rule over them.

The Gov<sup>t</sup> of Canida said further, if you had told me to come and treat in any of your Castles, I would have come, but you tell me I must go to Albany, which is a place I can not goe to, to treat of that subject: you have done very ill to let the people of Albany so triumph over you that you can doe nothing without their consent, therefore I must tell you again, that two of each Nation come to me, whereof Dekanitsore must be one, I having orders from the King my Master that if you come in your proper persons and desire peace to grant it to you.

Children of the Five Nations!—said the Governor of Canida, I have compassion upon you little children, therefore come speedily and speake of peace, else I will stop my ears for the future and by all means let Dekanitsore come, for if the Maquasse come alone, I will not hear them, lett some of all the Five Nations come. Now Tarriha goe home and tell the Five Nations this, and that I will stay for their coming till the trees budd or the Bark runn in the spring. I go home for France and leave a Gentleman here to command, and if you come not in that time, he has my orders to raise souldiers, and see then what will become of you. I am really much concerned and grieved to see that the Five Nations are so much debauched by Cayenquiragoe the Gov<sup>r</sup> of New Yorke, who is come in a ship lately to that Country and by Quider; for formerly the Cheife of the Five Nations used to come and converse with me but now the Gov<sup>r</sup> of New Yorke has soe much deluded them, that they will not hearken, but let them see what will follow if they proceed. Here ends the Gov<sup>r</sup> of Canida's discourse with Tarriha the Oneyde Messenger who arrived with the Message in Oneyde in November last.

The Five Nations by their Speaker Deganitsore, make their apology, that they did not take the letters from Tarriha and send them to Albany according to their promise, laying the blame upon the Oneydes whom they had enjoy[n]ed to do it, but they have deceived them.

They also make their apology for their not coming hither to Albany as soon as Tarriha came, to consult about the Second Belt sent by the Gov<sup>r</sup> of Canida; the reason was, because Aquenderonde the Cheife Sachem of the Onnondage had a sore leg and could not travaill,<sup>1</sup> whereupon he (Dekanitsore the Speaker) took upon him to call the meeting at Onnondage and invited Quider to it.

When the four Nations were convened at Onnondage (the Maquas were not there) the Simেকেs, Cayouges, & Oneydes said: why do we not go to Albany as it was concluded in the last general meeting, and there consult on this weighty affair; but the Onnondages replied, no, let us send for Quider heither with the Maquas, since Kagueendaronda is not fit to travail, and so sent a Messenger accordingly; when they had been convened some days the Simেকেs, Cayouges & Oneydes asked the Onnondages if they were fully resolved to keep the meeting at Onnondage and not go to Albany, and if they would conclude any thing upon the Gov<sup>r</sup> of Canida's second Belt; the Onnondage replied, Yea, we are fully resolved to send an answer to Count Frontinae, then the three Nations threw each a Belt of Wampum down for the Onnondages and said, let us then answer the Gov<sup>r</sup> of Canida of peace.

The Onnondages took up the three Belts and said, they thanked them, but withall said, they would send no Message to the Gov<sup>r</sup> of Canida, with the advice and consent of the Brethren of the East, that is this Gov<sup>mt</sup>, and the Mohawques and thereupon resolved to send an account to Albany of all their proceedings for they had in said meeting proposed to send three Belts of Wampum to Canida with the following propositions; but not without the consent and knowledge of Quider.

First Belt. Omundio (the name they give the Gov<sup>r</sup> of Canada) you have often send for me, and now I am come; you asked why I was affraid to come, the reason is because of the Great Kettle of Warr, which you hung over, but now since I am come will you grant what I shall ask with the other two Belts I brought along with me; and soe designe to lay down the first Belt.

Second Belt. We doe not only throw down the kettle of warr and spill it but break the kettle into pieces that it may not be able to be hung over again, meaning an everlasting peace.

Third Belt. Hearken Onnondio, You are sent from the French King your Master as Cayenquiragoe is sent from our King and Queen of England what I am now going to say to you is by inspiration of the Great God in Heaven. You say you will have nothing to doe with our Brethren of Cayenquiragoe's Govern't, but we must tell you we are inseparable, we can have no peace with you so long as you are in warr with them, we must all stand and fall together, therefore we can doe nothing in it nor have peace except our Brethren and you are in peace.

This being concluded the Jesuit Millet who was sent for to Onnondage, insisted very much to have that honour to make two propositions with two Belts to send to Canida to promote the publick good. (he being in the room of a principal Sachem of Oneyde became Sachim in his stead, and therefore has a vote with the rest of the Sachims of Oneyde; there is likewise a Gentleman lately taken prisoner from Canida and given in the room of the Cheife Sachim of Onnondage) The preist was told to speak and to write what he had spoak, who spoke as he writt in the paper, which we brought only with this distinction that Lamberville the Preist was to be sent for back from France to Mount Reall not to Onnondage, and that they doe not acknowledge him for their pastor.

The Speaker Dekanitsore proceeded in a long discourse related how that two Indian Squaes were running away from Quebecq, who met with six Sinnekes a hunting, one of the said Squaes staid with the Sinnekes, but the other went to the Canida Indian praying Castle called Cachanuage, & there told the great inclination she had to go to her own Country again, whereupon, the Sachim of the French praying Indians called Tatachquiserax said that he was sorry for the Five Nations since if they would not make peace with the French, they would go in the spring with a great army and destroy them and their Castles but take possession of their Country, for the Gov<sup>r</sup> of Canida was makeing great preparations, had given orders for the makeing of Draechbants or Belts, they carry packs withall by 200 and 400 and therefore told the said sqaue, that he would send an Indian along with her to Onnondage to warn the Five Nations to come speedily before the French destroyed them; the said Sqaue and Indian arriving at Onnondage they sent for all their Indians from hunting that they might see, they were upon their guard and sent for the six hundred Indians that ly between them and Canida, whom the said Indian and Sqaue passed by and despatched the Indian back to Canida, with another Indian of their Castle since he could not goe soe far away alone and with him a Belt of Wampum, whereby they sent them word, that they would come in the spring and speak with the Gov<sup>r</sup> of Canida, for, said Canisore, here is the Flagg which is delivered me to be the sign and so sent them back to Canida.

This is a true account of all the Messages we have received from Canada, and as for the Preist Millet that lives in Oneyde we have been often told by the Gov<sup>r</sup> Cayenquiragoe and Quider and indeed by all of any note that loved our welfare that the said Jesuite would deceive and delude us and we finde it now to be true by his own letters which he has wrote and now interpreted to us by Dñus Dellius, but by all his art and subtilty he has not so far deluded us, but we are still the same people as we were, and therefore shall not trust him for the future.

After this the Speaker Dekanitsore stood up and said.

Brother Cayenquiragoe and Quider.

Whatever misunderstandings have arisen between us occasioned by Jesuits letters or otherwise let them be buried in oblivion and our hearts re-established in love and unity as formerly, and whatever storys may be brought upon by the Rumcaryers, believe them not till you have a token from us. We have now told you what the Gov<sup>r</sup> of Canida says and his words are now before you, therefore consult what is proper to be done and acquaint us that we may consider upon it; we are now come to you, and if there should be occasion for your company in the Country, by reason of our Sachims indisposall, we desire that you be not backwards to come. doe give a Belt of Wampum 11 deep and seven fathom wampum.

After they had done speaking, the letter which Dñe Dellius received yesterday of the Preist Millet was interpreted to them as also the said Jesuits explanation of the 3 Belts that the Five Nations would have sent to the Gov<sup>r</sup> of Canada and the explication of the two Belts of wampum which he desired he might send to Canida. And the Sachims were dismissed and told to meet tomorrow when they should have an answer.

Brethren. As soon as I had notice of Tarriha's returne with the second Felt of Peace from Count Frontinac Gov<sup>r</sup> of Canida, I sent to his Exceelleny Cayenquiragoe our Gov<sup>r</sup> General the news but never did imagine that you would be so treacherous to your own interest and promise as to offer, to have called any meeting to consult of that matter, when it was so positively agreed upon at the last meeting at Onnondaye that Albany was the place of meeting, and that all power was given to Cayenquiragoe over the Five Nations as the Gov<sup>r</sup> of Canida has over his Indians, and further, that none of the Brethren were to hearken in the least to that perfidious Enemy, but immediately to have sent their Messenger and his letters and belt heither. You may be sure his Excell<sup>cy</sup> will not be satisfied with your apology and excuse in a matter of so great import, after your engagement to Act nothing without his knowledge and consent, if you had imployed your time to perswade your Children of Oneyde as you call them to deliver up the Preist Millet according to their promise who is a pest in your Country and puts you upon all these irregularityes, you would have done better.

You have now related to me the transactions in your Country concerning the affairs of Canada and say, that the words of the Gov<sup>r</sup> of Canada is now before me; I need not take much time to consult about it, having his Excell<sup>cy</sup>s particular commands lately from New Yorke to tell you that you break of holding any correspondence with the French or sending to Canida, but on the contrary to deliver up the Preist Millet who daily betrays all your actions.

Brethren. I need not enumerate the many tokens his Excell<sup>cy</sup> Cayenquiragoe has given how firm and strickt he keeps the old Covenant Chain since his arrival to the Govern<sup>t</sup>, for before ever he saw your faces he would not hear the Farr Nations (who made their application at New Yorke) speak of peace until they came to Albany, the place of Treaty and the Five Nations present.

This Govern<sup>t</sup> hath been always true and steadfast to you and ready at all times to protect and defend you against the French as when they came to hurt you in February last, nay I would fain know if any of the Brethren can tax us or instance any one thing wherein you ever found this Govern<sup>r</sup> unfaithful to you, and on the contrary, have not the French (of whom you have received this last Belt of peace and sent them word you will come to them in the spring) always been perfidious to you and when they speak most of peace they have warr in their hearts; did not they do so at Cadaraqui. The Gov<sup>r</sup> of Canada expects you shall come to him and ask peace and forgiveness and become his Children and Slaves, whilst in the mean time he is afraid of your greatnesse; the French have always done the first mischeife, even in time of peace, and ought to beg your pardon and forviveness in your own Country if they desire it which if they doe that, you then signify it to his Excell<sup>ty</sup> the Great Swift Arrow and take his advice and directions.

I am ashamed to see such a consternation and confusion among the Brethren of the Mohawques when I passed by 3 weeks agoe complaining, that they were got upon their knees, whom I was forced to rear up—the French have not brought you so low yet, are we not all in one Covenant Chaine, it is against the honour of your Ancestors to truckle to the French and the going to Canada for peace will be a marke that you are in the wrong and bring you and posterity into perpetual infamy & slavery to the French for ever hereafter. His Excell<sup>ty</sup> has charged me further to tell you that if the French have any thing to offer to you in your own Country, he promises upon intimation thereof to give them a passe for their protection to come along with you to Albany when his Excell: will meet and speak with you and I doe therefore now in his Excell<sup>ty</sup>s name warn you to be here with the principal Sachims of the five nations in seaventy dayes, when his Excell: will be here to meet you.

Lastly, not to burthen your memorys, remember but these two things, and tell it to the rest of the Sachims as soon as you come home, not to keep any the least correspondence with the French, but be faithful to your last agreement made at Onnondage, not to doe any thing without Cayenquiragoes advice and consent. Doe give a Belt.

Next, that you will be faithful and faile not to be here at Albany to meet his Excell<sup>ty</sup> in 70 dayes time, & that you Dekanitsore come along with the Sachims, and I will send his Excell<sup>ty</sup> an account accordingly. Doe give a Belt of wampum.

The Five Nations Reply to Major Schuyler's answer in Albany the 5th of February 1693.

Brother Cayenquiragoe and Quider.

The Gov<sup>r</sup> of Canida has often sent for us to treat a peace upon which we have had several consultations, in the mean time Cayenquiragoe and the Maquaes have with patience waited for our coming hither and wee Five Nations are come now to acquaint you, that what you have said to us now is acceptable, all misunderstandings being taken away, you have told us to keep no correspondence with the French and given us a Belt of wampum thereupon we<sup>ch</sup> Belt we will lay before the Souldiers of the Mohawks, Oneydes, Onnondages, Cayouges, and Sinnekes, & waite their answer. We have understood that you also tell us, that if any of the French or their praying Indians come to us in our Countrey to treat that we shall bring them hither and that they shall have a free passe and not be molested, you have also proposed to us to be here in 70 dayes to meet his Excell<sup>ty</sup>, which we accept and promise to doe, we have never disobeyed your commands as it was concluded at Onnondage, that all should be referred to his Excell<sup>ty</sup>, so we acquiesce and hold that resolution firme, but as for the Dekanitsore to come in person, I cannot promise, before the Assembly of our Nations have concluded the point, and if they think fit to send me, I shall be willingly to come.

We did not expect when we came hither, to hear that positive proposition of not keeping any correspondence with the French, there is now a time of 70 dayes appointed to meet again if there be any mischeife done by the Enemy, in the mean time let nobody complain, neither let us blame one another, and if there be any thing further to be said, let it be spok now while we are convened together. Doe give a Belt of Wampum 14 deep.

We conclude with that repetition, that if there be any thing else that can be devised or thought upon for the publick good and our preservation and security in general, let it be proposed now and consulted while we are together, and so ended their discourse.

After they had done, Major Schuyler asked whether they did not now promise to stop all correspondence with the French, either by the Jesuite or otherwise for the space of 70 dayes and until they see his Excell: Cayenquiragoe.

The said Dekanitsore answered, that he would lay downe the Belt of Wampum in all the Five Castles and tell that by it was signified to hinder all correspondence with the French, but he would engage that they will perform it.

Major Peter Schuyler's Answer to the Five Nations' Reply—

Albany the 6th of February 1693.

Brethren. I have convened you together again to tell you that I am not satisfied with your dubious answer, you made yesterday, it not being agreeable to the proposal made to you by His Excell<sup>ty</sup>'s commands, therefore I would have you be plain, and consider better of it and give me your answer; I would not have you to truckle to so perfidious a people as the French have alwayes proved themselves to you, doe not be discouraged. Doe give a Belt of wampum.

It seems the Heavens are propitious unto us, for this day we have the Forerunners of the Showannees Farr Indians come to Towne with one of our Christians that was sent thither, who gives us an account that they are coming with seaven Nations of Indians with women and children, in all a thousand souls, and are upon the way hither with Arnout the Interpreter; as you have the news from their own mouths, therefore be brisk, be not afraid, & acquaint the Five Nations herewith when you come home. Doe give five fathom wampum.

The Sachims of the Five Nations being convened in the City Hall, the Speaker of the Five Nations Dekanitsore came and called Major Schuyler and the Mayor and Aldermen and Justices of Albany who were all in Towne being sessions time, and said they were ready to speak, saying:

We have according to your desire, maturely considered the affair you told us of yesterday and earnestly desire that you would be pleased to grant that which we have considered, and desired an answer thereupon.

Major Schuyler answered, that whatever should be proper for him to grant, he would do it, especially if it were for the honour and safety.

The Indians said:

Brethren. You have now shut up the way from hence to Canada, and we agree and concur in the matter, but think it requisite to send a Messenger to their praying Indians, to tell that we do not come because we have committed an error this fall, by sending an Indian of Onnondage back to Canida with the French praying Indian, to tell the Gov<sup>r</sup> of Canida of Canida our coming in the spring, but we finde the Jesuite is false in all his doings, and therefore we will send word to the French praying Indians by this way over the Lake, that the French need not expect us in the spring, for we must attend Cayenquiragoes Commands; we do not designe by this Messague to send for the Gov<sup>r</sup> of Canida heither, but to hear what he has to say.—

We have concluded to send two Messengers, a Maquaes and an Onnondage, the one called Adaggeras, and the other Ohistade, and we desire that this may be granted, and as a token that you approve of our proposition, we desire that you will be pleased to send me along with them, and if not, at least to write the explanation of our Belts and Message, that there may be no mistake and that the French may take no advantage.

Major Peter Schuyler produced his Excell<sup>ty</sup>'s instruct<sup>ns</sup> and caused them to be read before the Mayor and Aldermen and Justices asking their opinion, if he could grant to send the said Messengers as the Ind<sup>ns</sup> desire.

Whereupon they answered, nem: con: that since they finde it impossible to keepe them from making peace with the French or keeping Correspondence with them, that the granting their sending of Messengers to the French Praying Indians this way, may divert them from further treaty for the present and the Message be only to tell them, that they can not expect the Five Nations in the Spring, as they promised since they are to meet his Excell<sup>ty</sup> Cayenquiragoe, that if the French or their Indians, had any thing to say to the Five Nations, they might come to them in their own Countrey and in the mean time, there be no correspondency with the French from their Country till they had seen his Excell<sup>ty</sup>.

The Indians were answered that it should be granted them to send the two Messengers upon the aforesaid conditions, that neither Priest nor any other Indian should correspond or send or go to Canada till they had spok with his Excell<sup>ty</sup> and that the Messengers are to tell the Praying Indians, that they must not expect Commiss<sup>ns</sup> from the Five Nations in the Spring as they promised, since the Gov<sup>r</sup> Cayenquiragoe has laid his commands upon them to meet him at Albany, and that if the French or their praying Indians have any thing to say to them, they may come to them in their Countrey, for Cayenquiragoe has promised them a passe that they may freely come to Albany, where he will meet them.

This was agreed to, and the Indians desired this to be added, that in the mean time there be a cessation on both sides till the Messengers return.

Albany the 9th of Febr<sup>y</sup> 1693.

After the three proposals were translated into French, the Sachims of the Five Nations came to Major Schuyler at the Maqua's house and said; The Five Nations do grant, they have committed a mistake in sending to Canida without the knowledge of this Govern<sup>t</sup>, do therefore desire leave of Quider who represents his Excell<sup>ty</sup> Cayenquiragoe the Great Swift Arrow, to send two Messengers to the Canida praying Indians, with the following Message and tendered three Belts of Wampum to be given with the proposals.

Major Schuyler told them to give the three Belts to the Messengers themselves and tell what they should say, and it should be so sett down upon the paper, which they agreed upon, should be as follows :

Explication of three Belts of Wampum which the Sachims of the Five Nations, convened at Albany the 9th day of February 169<sup>3</sup>, do send to the Jernaistes, or French praying Indians of Canida, by two Indians, a Maquas and Onmondage.

1. The first Belt says that the Sachims cannot come to Canida in the Spring as they sent word by the last Messenger from Onmondage, for the Gov<sup>r</sup> Gen<sup>l</sup> Cayenquiragoe the Great Swift Arrow, has sent for all the Indians to meet him at Albany in April next, when the Five Nations have concluded to be present.

2. The second Belt says, that if the Jernaistes, the French praying Indians, or the French have any thing to offer to the Five Nations, they may come to them in their own Countrey, this Belt opens the way to come and go in all security.

3. The third Belt signifyes that their hatchet of warr and that also of their friends, shall be bound till they have an answer hereof which they expect in 40 dayes, provided that the French and Canida Indians during that time also binde up theire hatchett of warr.

With which explanation and three Belts the two Messengers went from the Flatts to Canida the 10th of Febr<sup>r</sup> and four Christians that had been out Scouts went to convey them as farr as the great Lake

New Albany 12 Feb: 169<sup>3</sup>.

Sir

When the agents of the Indians were in this City on the 2<sup>d</sup> of this instant month, came to my hands from the Jesuit Milet the inclosed letters with 6 gold Spanish pistolles, to buy for him some shirts and stockins, which letter I have answered as appears by the inclosed Cobby, w<sup>ch</sup> was sent him with the s<sup>d</sup> goods. Upon the desire of the Indians but chiefly of Maj<sup>r</sup> Shuyler have I translated into French the explication of the Belts which two Indians tooke with them to Canida, in an open paper. The Kannassoor who was the Chief of the Messengers here, insisted verry much to have a cobby, to the end the French, as he alledged, should not deceive him with a wrong explication, w<sup>ch</sup> s<sup>d</sup> cobby was given him.

S<sup>r</sup> itt is almost incredible how much the Indians are inclined to make peace with the Frensh; and to divert them therein have I infused the Proselites and by them the other Mohaakx, that they have the greatest reasons to be dissatisfyed about the proceedings of the other Indians, who have without their preallabel advice and consent, thus farr treated for peace with the Frensh; and by them I gave alsoo the other Nations to understand that they could not make any peace with the Frensh, without breaking their word & covenant with yo<sup>r</sup> Excell. and in time to make all the Indians and Christians of this and the other governm<sup>t</sup> to be their ennimies, and when they should once happen to fall into warre againe with the French, which would undoubtedly [be] ere long, as the experience of former times have evidently made apeare, were they, with their wives and children then would bee, and to whom they should fly for succour.<sup>1</sup> And therefore if they continued in those proceedings they would find them most pernicious for their country and people. These and the like reasons did prevaile upon them for that time; but I am apprehensive that by the delusions of the Jesuit in their country they will be otherwise perswaded. I hope the affairs may continue in the posture they now are till your Excell. arrivall here, when I doubt not but by your Excell. prudent conduct and wisdom all may be brought to a good end, and in the interim recomanding your Excell. by my prayers, in the protection of the Almighty God, with a profound respect I am, Sir,

It is with some averseness I write because I have not received an answer to that which I writt to you by Oannouroxas d'Annie, which was of consequence.

My Brothers Bannasitoron and Tarsha makes me take the pen in my hand again, to know what has bin the occasion of severall false reports & ill discourses which dishonours the Agoiandres Iroquois

They called me to Onnontage where they were assembled, and made me write in full council, where I desired the Armourer and Smith of Onnontage might assist, after I had given the paper to Bagsantara, he asked my leave to send it to Albany. I told him I had made him Master of it by putting it into his hands, and that it was his writing, or the resolution of the whole councill rather then mine, because there was one article in the explication of the first Belt I did not approve of, and which was against the true Christian manner of speaking, or of children well instructed according to the order of God.

Bagsantara had ordered the Messenger to bring back the said paper, and to make three, so that they might desire the Minister of Albany to inform us in French or Iroquois what the could dislike that it may be corrected in the Councill if it should seem convenient, because they endeavour to doe things soe well, that they may not be reproached Wee are seen from Heaven, and from farr upon Earth.

The Messenger in going by said that M<sup>r</sup> Schuyler was bringing the paper and letters not only from Mous<sup>r</sup> the Minister but alsoe from Bonando all this proved false. They make me write this letter to know what there is of truth, and what has bin disliked in the explication of the three Belts because all is not soe firmly done, as not to be altered, if it be thought convenient therefore those articles must be marked, upon which any objection shall be made.

I am informed they discourse att Albany my letters must not be carryed to Cannada, and they desire to know who is the Author of these reports? and if he would have the Ambassadors ill received or that they should not returne? 'Tis well known that without my letters Tarsha had not returned as he did his returne shews the malice of these Calumnies, and of many others. I add that the Councill of Oneyd have resolved to send me wth the Ambassadors which are designed for Montreal or Quebec, and therefore I may be the Messenger my self of your letter w<sup>ch</sup> I received from your Gannisoren and of what else you will add. I recomend this Journey to your prayers, and am with all my heart

I have six Spanish Pistolls given me to assist the Poor, the Orphans, and the other unhappy wretches of this Mission. be pleased S<sup>r</sup> to give them to your Lady that she may buy some shirts great and small & some stockings as cheap as possible.

I shall write to Cannada what I will receive, and they will partake of the benefitt and of the Glory which will return to God. If this Messenger and a lame woman called Haunccion one of my sisters can't carry all, I desire to write to me what remaines, so that I may have it brought by another oppertunity.

They sent this time Spanish gold rather then French, to the end it may give no suspicion. Our profession obligeth us to be obliging to all, and to offend none? Why do they then despise us? and why doe they endeavour to cry us down by severall false imputations. Is it not enough that wee have suffered within this five yeares. S<sup>r</sup> you spoke to me about endeavouring my deliverance, but if those slanderers had bin beleived, instead of my being delivered they would have added to my bondage. What will these gentlemen say to God when he makes sensible of the good entertainm<sup>t</sup> I have received from the Indians in comparison to what they have said and done against me God forgive them as we wish he will forgive all.

You write to me I have not answered your letter of the 9th of Decemb<sup>r</sup> last, the measures you take obliged me to the contrary, for to say that if the English Gentlemen did not take care they would make themselves the sole authors of the Warr, and that they heap mountains of difficulties one upon the other, and digg Precipices and Abysses from whence they can never withdraw without a speedy recourse to the mercy of God and imploring the Clemency of true Kings, whom God has established as his Lieuten<sup>ts</sup> of Earth. S<sup>r</sup> Between you and I, you ought to know the English Gentlemen does not fear the French Gent: they are strong enough of themselves to resist them, as was evident last Winter in the Woods, and besides the King has sent his orders, by the last vessells that arrived from England to the Governours of Virginia Maryland and New England to joyne their forces with those of Albany, so that you see they are not yet reduced to that condic<sup>o</sup>n that they must speedily implore the clemency of your King. You aske my advice in your letter of the 31st of Jan<sup>r</sup> 1694 upon the explication you have made upon the Belts. I tell you sincerely that it is directly in opposition to a peace and to what you write almost in all your letters that you are a friend and a servant to the English, for after what manner would you have these words upon the first Belt explained, it gives Mons<sup>r</sup> Le Comte a fine Game to play who has taken the Iroquois for his children to re-establish their affaires, to strengthen their Cabane, and chiefly to render their land independant to quite another Master and to regulâte all well for the time to come, and also those of the second Belt. That they require the Reverend Father John De Lamberville or Tajorbensere that they all own him for their Pastor, and cry out highly to be defended against the Wolves, and other visible and invisible Enemies that infest their Land & seems to devour them all and make them perish.

S<sup>r</sup> I leave it to you to judge if these are true methods to advance the peace, for the which you say you have taken so much paines, as for me I am apt to beleive, it is rather to kindle then extinguish the War, so that as long as you continue these maxims there is noe hopes of success toward a peace. If the French desires it lett them take good resolutions upon what the Agiandres Iroquois informs them by three Belts which they have sent this day from hence to y<sup>e</sup> KarigSistes of Canada, and that they may not be misinterpreted the Agiandres<sup>l</sup> desired me to write down the signification of them, and that none may deceive them I have given a copy of the same to Tekannasore.

As for the six Spanish Pistolls w<sup>ch</sup> you sent me my wife has bought 26 shirts and 26 pair of stockings. I have given them all to the Messenger that brought the gold and to that lame woman you call your sister, So S<sup>r</sup> If I can serve you in any thing else you need but command

I am apt to beleeve we are past all danger for this winter, neither did I much fear y<sup>e</sup> enemy so long as they have not y<sup>e</sup> 5 Nations secure, which they hard labour for; but I hope wil be deceived, when yo<sup>r</sup> Excell comes to discourse and to convince them of their error. We have had them here 10 days and they have at last promis'd faithfully (but little faith is in them) not to keep any correspondence with y<sup>e</sup> French, but to meet yo<sup>r</sup> Excell. here in 70 days. In y<sup>e</sup> mean time y<sup>e</sup> messingers they sent to Canida will return, by whom we shall heare what they say to it. I fear nothing will p<sup>r</sup>vent their inclinations for peace with y<sup>e</sup> enemy, except we were so fortunate to committ some spoyle upon y<sup>e</sup> enemy, whereby we might be made formidable in their eys, complaining they see nothing that y<sup>e</sup> English gain upon y<sup>e</sup> French.

I blush to think how base people are growne & y<sup>t</sup> they should so palpably discover it as they doe now, by there voluntary gift, as they call itt; never were people more generous then they were to a papist Govern<sup>r</sup> who never did nor designed them any good, & now when y<sup>e</sup> Heavens has blest us with a Gov<sup>r</sup> of our owne religion, we know not what pretence to make to shuffel it off. They may repent itt when too late; our stockadous for y<sup>e</sup> Forth ar most rid out; y<sup>e</sup> Magistrates appointed p<sup>r</sup>sones to view them if y<sup>e</sup> number was compleat, and for y<sup>m</sup> that are wanting I have writt warrants to y<sup>e</sup> Justices to eause them to be brought and y<sup>e</sup> certificate I shall bring with me, hoping to have y<sup>e</sup> hono<sup>r</sup> to kisse yo<sup>r</sup> Excell. hands about y<sup>e</sup> middle of March. All our men are well and in health, notwithstanding they are on every other day, but hes been but a short time, and will soon come to a therd days duty. Journal of Captain Arent Schuyler's Visit to the Minnisinck Country.

[New-York Papers, IV. B. A. 89.]

May it pleas your Excell.

In persuaunce to y<sup>r</sup> Excell: commands I have been in the Minnisinck Country of which I have kept the following Journall: viz<sup>t</sup>

y<sup>e</sup> 4th Sunday. Morning. I went from Bergen & travilled about ten English miles beyond Haghkingsack to an Indian place called Peckwes.

y<sup>e</sup> 5th Monday. From Peckwes North and be West I went about thirty-two miles snowing and rainy wether.

y<sup>e</sup> 6th Thuesday. I continued my Journey to Maggaghkamicck<sup>1</sup> and from thence to within half a days Journy to the Mennissinck.

y<sup>e</sup> 7th Wendsday. About Eleaven a Cloek I arrived att the Minnisinck, and there I mett with two of ther Sachems and severall other Indians of whome I enquired after some news, if the French or their Iudians had sent for them or been in y<sup>e</sup> Mennissinck Country. Upon w<sup>ch</sup> they answered that noe French nor any of the French Iudians were nor had been in the Mennissinck Country nor thereabouts and did promise y<sup>t</sup> if y<sup>e</sup> French should hapen to come or y<sup>t</sup> they heard of it that they will forthwith send a mesinger and give y<sup>r</sup> Excellency notice thereof.

Inquireing further after news they told me that six days agoe three Christians and two Sha<sup>n</sup>wans Iudians who went about fifteen months agoe with Arnout Vielle into the Sha<sup>n</sup>wans

Country were passed by the Mennissinck going for Albany to fech powder for Arnout and his Company; and further told them that s<sup>d</sup> Arnout intended to be there wth seaven hundred of y<sup>e</sup> said Shañwans Indians loaden wth beavor and peltries att y<sup>e</sup> time y<sup>e</sup> Indian Coarn is about one foot high (which may be in the month of June.)

The Mennissinck Sachems further s<sup>d</sup> that one of their Sachems & other of their Indians were gone to fech beavor & peltreis which they had hunted; and having heard no news of them are afraid y<sup>t</sup> y<sup>e</sup> Sinneques have killed them for y<sup>e</sup> lucar of the beavor or becaus y<sup>e</sup> Mennissinck Indians have not been wth y<sup>e</sup> Sinneques as usiall to pay their Dutty, and therefore desier y<sup>t</sup> your Excell. will be pleased to order y<sup>t</sup> the Senneques may be told, not to molest or hurt y<sup>e</sup> Mennissincks they being willing to continue in amity with them.

In the afternoon I departed from y<sup>e</sup> Minnissincks; the 8th, the 9th, & 10th of Feb. I travilled and came att Bergen in y<sup>e</sup> morning and about noone arrived att New Yorke.

This is may it pleas your Excell. the humble reporte off your Excellency's most humble servant.

His Excell<sup>y</sup> being called in haste to meet the Sachims of the five Nations of Indians at Albany, we humbly acquaint your Lords<sup>pp<sup>s</sup></sup> that as he went on board he received a letter from Connecticut the Copy whereof is Enclosed by His Excell<sup>ty</sup>s order.

We know very well that twice so much can be had or done in that Colony, for ready money, as for Country Pay which is their six hundred pound rates, some pay Wheat some Indian Corne some Beef, Porke, Pease, Butter, Cheese, Flax, Hemp, Hides, Tallow, Soap, Tarr, &c. at double the value of their purchase for ready money, Wee are now sending Sloops along that coast to gather them up, when the charges are defalcated the neat produce of this six hundred will scarce amount to three hundred pounds New York money, which is the first assistance from that Colony since the arrivall of Gover<sup>r</sup> Sloughter.

We believe His Excellency hath sufficiently recommended to your Lordships, he is unwearied in his Endeavours for their Maj<sup>ty</sup>s Service, but the Province is so Exhausted it cannot answer those things His Excellency proposeth for the defence of it; it is uneq<sup>l</sup>, the burden ly wholly upon us, when we sinck the rest must follow Our fate though at present they are advantaged by Our People.

Wee pray heartily for success to their Majesties Arms, the safety of his Maj<sup>ty</sup> Sacred Person and subscrihe

At the Committee of Trade and Plantations. At the Councill Chamber at Whitehall. Friday the 13th of April 1694.

PRESENT — Lord President,
Duke of Shrewsbury

Earl of Bridgewater

New York.

A Letter from Coll. Fletcher to the Committee dated the 22<sup>d</sup> of January last, read, giving their Lordships an account of the recent condition of that Colony and the great danger the same was in from the French and Indians, except they might have some succours from the Neighbouring Colonies. Whereupon their Lordships taking into further consideration the Report of M<sup>r</sup> Attorney and M<sup>r</sup> Solicitor Generall upon the several Charters of Connecticut Rhode Island and New Jersey, in order to the uniteing the strength of those Colonies for the defence of New York and Albany against the French and their Indians, Whereupon their L<sup>ds</sup>. entering into a further consideration of the opinion of M<sup>r</sup> Attorney and M<sup>r</sup> Solicitor Generall, who upon hearing the agents and others concerned in the respective Colonies have reported to the Committee, That the Charters and Grants of those Colonies do give the ordinary power of the Militia to the respective Governments thereof, But that their Majesties may constitute a Chief Commander, who may have authority at all times to Command or order such proporcion of the forces of each Colony or Plantac<sup>o</sup>n as their Ma<sup>ties</sup> shall think fitt and further in time of Invasion and approach of the Enemy, with the advice and assistance of the Governors of the Colonies to conduct and command the rest of the forces for the preservation of each of those Colonies as shall most stand in need thereof, not leaving the rest unprovided with a competent force for their defence and safety. Their Lordships upon the whole matter agree to offer their opinion to his Majesty that suitable directions be sent to Col. Fletcher or the Governor of New York for the time being, and to the Government of Connecticut Colony.

And that the quotas of men, not exceeding one hundred and twenty, be the measure of the assistance to be given by the Colony of Connecticut and at all times during the warr to be commanded by the Governor of New York accordingly.

And their L<sup>ds</sup> proceeding to consider the scheme transmitted by Coll. Fletcher of the several quotas to be furnished by the rest of the Colonies to the assistance of New York, agree the measure of assistance to be given by those Colonies respectively, be a Quota not exceeding Forty Eight men from the Colony of Rhode Island & Providence Plantations, 350 men from the Province of the Massachusetts Bay, Two hundred and forty men from Virginia, one hundred and sixty men from Maryland, and Eighty men from Pensilvania, Colonel Fletcher having already a commission for the command of 700 men from New Jersey, for the assistance of New York, as there might be occasion.

All which their Lordships will represent to His Majesty at a fitting occasion.

To the KING'S MOST EXCELLENT MAJES<sup>ty</sup>

That your Pet<sup>rs</sup> by Letters Patent of the late King Charles the second under the Great Seal of England in the fourteenth year of his Reign, were Incorporated by the name of the Govern<sup>r</sup> and Company of the English Colony of Connecticut in New England in America, And by severall Constitutions and Powers specified in the said Letters Patents had granted to them as well the civill Administration of the affairs as of the Lieutenantancy and Power of ordering, arraying, modelling & conducting the Militia of the said Colony, for the speciall defeuce and Security of the same.

That your Pet<sup>rs</sup> from the date of the said Grant untill the month of October last have enjoyed the said libertys and Priviledges without forfeiture or Molestation therein (Except a little interruption they received upon the Generall impeachment of the English liberties towards the latter end of the Reign of the late King James the second) to the great increase and comfort of the Inhabitants of the said Colony, and the defence and security of your Majes<sup>ties</sup> neighbouring Provinces.

That Benjamin Fletcher Esq<sup>r</sup> the present Govern<sup>r</sup> of your Maj<sup>ty</sup> Province of New York in said month of October last, by Colour of your Majesties Commission whereby (for the uniting the forces of the said Colony against the Common Enemy) he was created your Majes<sup>ty</sup> Commander in Chief of the Militia of the said Colony, did demand of your Petitioners not only to submitt to him a Lieutenant Generall and Commander in Chief over the full Quota of the Militia of that Colony in conjunction with those of the Province of New York and the other adjacent Governments (which your Petitioners were always ready to doe and to send their said Quota when and wherever Commanded by him) but likewise that yo<sup>r</sup> Petit<sup>r</sup> should surrender to him the Particular Lieutenantancy of the said Colony of Connecticut and their power of assessing, Modelling, and Establishing the Militia thereof granted to them by the said Charter, threat[n]ing withall to enforce obedience to his said demands, to the great terrour and discouragement of the Inhabitants of your Maj<sup>ty</sup> said Colony

That the said Benjamin Fletcher hath likewise Endeavrd by severall artifices to insinuate himself into the Civill Government of the said Colony.

And such the proceedings of the said Benjamin Fletcher are repugnant to the before mentioned Grant of King Charles the second and the true Intention of your Majes<sup>ties</sup> said Commiss<sup>ns</sup>, (as your Pet<sup>rs</sup> do in all humility humbly conceive) Your Petitioners therefore humbly pray that the said C<sup>o</sup>mmission may receive such explanation and restriction, and your Petitioners have such speedy releif and order for quieting the said difference for the future as to your Majes<sup>ty</sup> in your Royall Justice and wisdom shall seem most conducting to the prosperity of your Maj<sup>ty</sup> people and Interests in the said Colony of Connecticut

Order upon a Report of Mr. Atto: and Solicit<sup>r</sup> Genl relating to the Militia of Connecticut.

A Petition having been presented to his Maj<sup>ty</sup> by Maj<sup>r</sup> Generall Fitz John Wentthrop Agent for the English Colony of Connecticut in New England in America, in behalf of the said Colony by the name of the Govern<sup>r</sup> and Company of the English Colony of Connecticut in New England in America, setting forth that the Pet<sup>r</sup> by Letters Patt<sup>ts</sup> under the Great Seal of England in the fourteenth year of the late King Charles the second were Incorporated by the name of the Governor and Company of the English Colony of Connecticut in America, with Power as well for the Civill administration of affairs as the Lieutenantcy for ordering, arraying modelling and Conducting the Militia for the Speciall defence of the Colony, That from the date of the said Grant until the month of October last, they have Enjoyed the said liberties and Priviledges without forfeiture or Molestation, Except some Interrup<sup>ts</sup> they received in the Reign of King James y<sup>e</sup> Second, That Coll: Fletcher Governor of New York in October last by colour of His Majesties Comission whereby for the uniting the Forces of the s<sup>d</sup> Province and Colony he was created Commander in Chief of the Militia of the said Colony, and did demand of the Petitioner not only to submit to him as Lieutenant Generall and Commander in Chief over the full Quota of the Militia of that Colony in conjunction with those of New York and the adjacent Governments, But likewise the particular Lieutenantcy of the said Colony and the Power of assessing Modelling and Establishing the Militia thereof. The Petitioner therefore humbly praying the said Commission may receive such Explanation and restriction as to his Maj<sup>ty</sup> in his Royall Justice and Wisdome shall seem meet; and his Maj<sup>ty</sup> having been pleased to Referr the said petition to the Right Hon<sup>ble</sup> the Lords of the Committee of Trade and Plantations to consider the matter of the said Petition and to Report what they conceive fit for, his Maj<sup>ty</sup> to do therein And the Lords of the Comitteee having received the Report of their Maj<sup>ty</sup> Attorney Generall and Solicitor Generall upon the matter of the said Petition, together with the Address of the Colony of Rhode Island and touching the uniting the strength of those Colonies against the French, which Report is in the words following.

Report Attorney &
Solicitor Generall

In obedience to your Lordships Commands Signified to us by M<sup>r</sup> Blathwayt the second of January and the third of February last, by which wee were to consider the severall Charters of Connecticutt and Rhode Island, and the Grants of East and West New Jersey and to report our opinion upon the whole matt<sup>r</sup> what may be done for the uniting the Strength of those Colonies and New York under a Cheif Cōmander to be Comissionated by their Maj<sup>ty</sup> for the defence of their Maj<sup>ty</sup> subjects in those Parts against the French, and also to consider the annexed copy of the Petition of the Governor and Company of Cōnecticutt and to Report our opinion thereupon,

We have considered the matters to us referr'd, and do find that King Charles the second by his Charter dated the 23<sup>d</sup> of April in the fourteenth year of his Reign did incorporate John Winthrop and severall other Persons therein named, and all others who then were or after should be admitted and made free of the Company to be a Corporation by the name of the Gov<sup>r</sup> and Company of the English Colony in Connecticut in New England in America, with such Powers, Priviledges, and Capacities as are usually Granted to Corporations of like nature, and to have continuance and succession for ever, and therein the Bounds of the Colony are described, and a Grant thereby made to the Corporation of all land and soyle, Ground, Havens Ports, Jurisdictions Royalties, Priviledges, Franchises, and hereditaments within the same or thereto belonging. To be holden to the Corporation and their Successors in trust for the benefit of themselves and their associates free men of that Colony their Heirs and Assignes of the Kings of England as of their Mannor of E. Greenwich by the fifth Part of the Oar of Gold and Silver then found with Power to the Corporation to make Laws, Elect Governours Deputy Governours and Assistants, Erect Judicatures and Courts and chuse officers for the Civill Government, and thereby also Power is granted to the Cheif Commanders Governours and officers of the Company and others Inhabiting there by their leave or direction for their Speciall defence and Safety to assemble, Martiall, array and put in Warlike posture the Inhabitants of the Colony, and to Comission such Persons as they should think fitt to lead and conduct the Inhabitants and to Enconnter resist kill and slay all that should attempt or enterprise the Invasion or annoyance of the Inhabitants or Plantations, and to Exercise Martial Law and take and surprize the Invaders or attempters of the Plantation or hurt the Company and Inhabitants and on just occasion to invade and destroy the nations or other Enemies of the Colony.

Wee also find that King Charles the Second in the fifteenth year of his Reign, did Incorporate divers persons by name, and such others as then were or after should be admitted and free of the Company by the name of the Governor and Company of the English Colony of Rhode Island and Providence Plantations in New England in America, and granted them in Effect the like Powers and authorities both Civill and Military as are before mentioned to be granted to Connecticutt.

Phips's Cõmission and Powers related to the Colony of Connecticut, and by the same Commission constituted Benjamin Fletcher Esq<sup>r</sup> their Maj<sup>ty</sup> Captain Generall and Commander in Cheif of New York Pensilvania New Castle and the Territories and Tracts of Land depending thereupon to [be] the Commander in Cheif of the Militia and of all Forts and Places of Strength within the same, with Power to Levy, Arme, Muster, Command and Employ the Militia of the said Colony, and up<sup>n</sup> any necessary and Urgent occasion during this Warr, to Transferr to the Province of New York and Frontiers of the same for resisting and withstanding Enemy's Pyrats and Rebels both at Land and Sea and defence of that Province and Colony of which Commission and the large Powers therein contained as to the Colony of Conecticut by their annex'd Petition do complain and pray redress against the Exercise in such manner over the whole Militia and therein shew their reasons against it

Wee have heard Coll: Wintrop and his Council on the behalf of the Colony of Connecticut and M<sup>r</sup> Almey and his Council on the behalf of Rhode Island and Providence Plantation and D<sup>r</sup> Cox appeared on the behalf of East and West New Jersey and produce some writings shewing how the same were granted out from the Crown to the Duke of York, and by the Duke of York to others, but the Doct<sup>r</sup> not Clayming any title to himself, it doth not appear to us in whom the Estate of Law of those Places or of the Government thereof Civill or Military doth now reside, nor how the same is Exercised.

But having received the annex'd Estimate from M<sup>r</sup> Blathwayt, we Cõmunicated the same to the Agents for Connecticut Rhode Island and Providence Plantation, who declared their readiness during times of danger, to provide their respective Quota's therein Contained, and in cases of Encrease of danger or other necessary Occasions during the continuance thereof their respective Quotas to be proportionably encreased with other Colonies, But as to the remaing Militia beyond the Quota's (which it seems in those Countrys consists of all males between sixteen and sixty years of age) they humbly desire that it may remain under the Ordinary and usuall Gov<sup>rn</sup><sup>ts</sup> and command of the Colonies according to their Charters, And [not] to be commanded out unless in times of actual Inversion or Eminent danger for the Security and necessary preservation of some of the Colonies, and at such times only when such of the Colonies where out the Forces shall be drawn are not in danger and that at all times a sufficient Power of the Militia may be always kept in each Colony under the direction of the Government of it for the safety and necessary preservation thereof.

We are humbly of opinion that the Char<sup>ts</sup> and Grants of those Colonies do give the Ordinary Power of the Militia to the respective Governments thereof, But do also conceive that their Majesties may constitute a Cheif Commander, who may have authority at all times to Command or order such proportion of the Forces of each Colony or Plantation as their Maj<sup>ty</sup> shall think fitt, And farther in lines [times] of Invasion and approach of the Enemy with y<sup>e</sup> advice and assistance of the Governors of the Colonies to Conduct and Command the rest of the Forces for the preservation and defence of such of those Colonies as shall most stand in need thereof not leaving the rest unprovided of a competent force for their defence and safety, But in time of peace and when the danger is over, the Militia within each of the said Provinces ought as we humbly conceive to be under the Government and disposition of the respective Governors of the Colonies according to their Charters.

All which nevertheless is most humbly submitted to your Lo<sup>ps</sup> great wisdom.

2<sup>d</sup> April 1694.

EDWARD WARD,
THOMAS TREVER.

And the Lords of the Committee having Presented to his Maj<sup>ty</sup> in Council the Report of M<sup>r</sup> Attorney and Solicitor General upon the matters above mentioned, His Maj<sup>ty</sup> in Council is pleased to approve the s<sup>d</sup> Report, and to signify his Pleasure that the Quota not Exceed'g one hundred and twenty men be the measure of the assistance to be given by the Colony of Connecticut, and at all times during the War to be commanded by the Govern<sup>r</sup> of New York, and the R<sup>t</sup> Hon<sup>ble</sup> S<sup>r</sup> John Trenchard his Maj<sup>ty</sup>s Principall Secretary of State, is to prepare Lett<sup>rs</sup> for His Maj<sup>ty</sup>s Royall Signature for the signification of His Maj<sup>ty</sup>s Pleasure herein to the Governor of New York and Connecticut accordingly

WILLIAM BRIDGEMAN.

To the Right Hon<sup>ble</sup> the Lords of the Comitée of Trade and Plantations:

Maj<sup>r</sup> General Winthrop humbly prays your Lordships in behalf of their Maj<sup>ty</sup>s Colony in Connecticut that the Gov<sup>r</sup> of New York may have order in the Execution of their Maj<sup>ty</sup>s Commands Concerning that Colony, not to draw out more of the Quota appointed for the Colony of Connecticut then in proportion wth that w<sup>ch</sup> at the same time he shall draw out of the other Colonys or Provinces, Viz<sup>t</sup> Boston, Rhode Island, New York, Pensylvania, East and West Jersey, Virginia, and Maryland.

It is also humbly prayed that it may be incerted in their Majesties Letter to the Gov<sup>r</sup> of Connecticut, Their Maj<sup>ty</sup>s Royall approbation of their Civill administrations which will be an Extraordinary Grace and fav<sup>r</sup> to their Maj<sup>ty</sup>s good Subjects in that Colony.

MEMO<sup>m</sup> the 15th May, 1694.

M. R.

Trusty and Wellbelov'd Wee greet you well having received the humble Petition of Our Colony of Connecticut in New England, Praying that our Comiss<sup>s</sup> unto our Governor or Commander in Chief of our Province of New York for the command of the Militia of our said Colony may receive such Explanation and restriction as in Our Royall Justice and wisdom Wee shall think fitt, Wee have referr'd the consideration of the said Petition to the Lords of our Privy Council appointed a Comitée of Trade and Foreign Plantations who having consulted our Attorney and Solicitor Generall what may be legally done by Us for uniting the Strength of Our said Colony of Connecticut and the adjacent Colonies for the defence and Security of Our subjects in those parts agst the French and having presented to Us the opinion of Our Attorney and Solicitor Generall that we may Constitute a Chief Commander with authority to Comand or order such Proportion of the Forces of each Colony as we shall think fitt; and further, in time of Invasion and approach of the Enemy, with the advice and assistance of the Governours of the Colonies to Conduct and Command the rest of the Forces for the Preservation and defence of such of Our said Colonies as shall most stand in need thereof, as by Our Order in Councill dated the 19th of April last upon the Report of our Attorney and Solicitor Gen<sup>l</sup> in this matter, which order or a Duplicate thereof you will herewith receive, is more at large Sett forth. Our Will and Pleasure is, that in the Execution of the Powers of your said Commission for the Command of the Militia of our Colony of Connecticut, you do not take upon you any more than in time of War, to Command a Quota or part of the Militia of Our said Colony of Connecticut, not Exceeding the number of one hundred and twenty men, Which we have thought fitt to signify our Pleasure to the Governor and Majistrates of Our Colony of Connecticut to be the measure of the assistance to be given by Our Colony; And you are not to command or draw out any more of the said Quota of the Militia of our said Colony of Connecticut than you shall in Proportion command or draw out from the respective Militias of the adjacent Colonies Except in case of eminent danger of an Invasion of the Enemy, In which case Our Will and Pleasure is, that with the advice of the Governor of Our said Colony of Connecticut, you Conduct and Command the rest of the Forces of that Our Colony for the Preservation of Our said Colony, or of such other of Our Adjacent Colonies as shall most stand in need thereof, you taking care that you do not leave Our said Colony of Connecticut unprovided of a Competent force for the defence and safety thereof. And we not doubting of the ready and chearfull obedience of Our good Subjects in Our Colony of Connecticut to Our Royall determination in a matter wherein the Security and Preservation of all Our good Subjects within Our said Colony and the Parts adjacent is so much Concerned, We have signified Our Pleasure to the Governor and Majistrates of Our Colony, that as occasion shall require they give obedience to Our said Commission and the Powers and Authorities thereof, to be Executed in such manner as herein directed, And so We bid you heartily farewell, Given at Our Court at Whitehall this twenty-first day of June 1694 In the Sixth year of Our Reign.

By Her Maj<sup>ty</sup> Command

JOHN TRENCHARD.

*Order in Council relative to the Quotas which the other Colonies are to furnish

At the Court at Whitehall the 2<sup>d</sup> of August 1694.

The Right Hon<sup>ble</sup> the Lords of the Committee of Trade and Plantations having this day represented at the Board that by a Letter from Collonel Fletcher Gov<sup>r</sup> in Cheif of New York dated the ninth day of October last their Lordships are informed that not wthstanding the signification of their Majesties Pleasure to the severall Colonies and Provinces of New England Maryland and Pensilvania the 11th of October 1692, to aid and assist him for the Security of that province against the French and to agree of a Quota of men or other assistance to [be] given by each Colony or Province for the defence of New-York as occasion may require the same, some of the Governments afore mentioned having omitted to send Commissioners to assist the Quotas to be furnished by them respectively nothing had been done therein and upon considering the Scheme of the Severall Quotas proposed by Coll: Fletcher to be furnished by those Plantations Whereupon the Measure of the assistance to be given by the Colony of Connecticut and Province of Pensylvania has already been agreed upon by their Lordships and her Majesties Pleasure thereupon Signified in relation to the Quotas of Connecticut the Committee having this day moved at the Board that the Governor of Virginia, Maryland, and the Massachusetts Bay, may receive the directions for supplying the Respective Quotas hereunder mentioned as the measure of the assistance to be given by these Plantations respectively in like manner as the same has been Ord<sup>d</sup> to be given by the Governor of Connecticut, and that the Governor of New York be ordered to Command the same Accordingly. It is this day ordered in Councill, that a Quota not Exceeding three hundred and fifty men to be furnished by the Province of Massachusetts Bay, a Quota not exceeding two hundred and fifty men to be furnish'd by the Colony of Virginia, a Quota not Exceeding One hundred and sixty men to be furnish'd by the Province of Maryland be the measure of the assistance to be given by these Plantations respectively for the Security of the Province of New York, and S<sup>r</sup> John Trenehard Kn<sup>t</sup> their Maj<sup>ty</sup> Principal Secretary of State, is desired to prepare Letters for Her Maj<sup>ty</sup> Royall Signature Declaring Her Maj<sup>ty</sup> pleasure to the respective Gov<sup>rs</sup> Massachusetts Bay, New York, Virginia, and Maryland accordingly.

At the Committee of Trade and Plantations at the Council Chamb<sup>r</sup> at Whitehall the 1 & 3<sup>d</sup> of August 1694.

The Lords of the Committee having had under consideration two Reports of M<sup>r</sup> Attorney & Solicitor Generall touching M<sup>r</sup> Pens Right to the Province of Pensylvania, and the countrey of New Castle with the Territories and Tracts of Land depending thereon in America, and of Collonel Fletchers Commission for the Governm<sup>ts</sup> of that Province and Countrey, which Matters are referred to their Lordships by Order in Councill of the 12th of July last, And M<sup>r</sup> Attorney and M<sup>r</sup> Solicitor having by their said Reports represented their opinion that by Letters Patents under the Great Seal bearing date in the thirty-third year of the late King Charles the second, the Province of Pensylvania with y<sup>e</sup> Government thereof was granted to the Petition<sup>r</sup> and that by two other Grants from his then Royall Highness the Duke of York in the year 1682, the Countrey of New Castle with other Lands upon Delaware River and Bay are also Granted unto him, But that the Government thereby Grant<sup>d</sup> unto M<sup>r</sup> Pen, was subject never the less to their Maj<sup>ty</sup> Sovereignty over the same, by virtue of which Sovereignty in Case of Extraordinary Exigencies happening or arising through the default or neglect of the Pet<sup>r</sup> or of those appointed by him to protect or defend the said Province or the Inhabitants in times of War or Eminent danger their Majes<sup>ty</sup> may constitute a Govern<sup>r</sup> for the Preservation of the said Province and of their Majes<sup>ty</sup> subjects there, that upon the reasons and grounds mentioned in Collouel Fletchers Cõmission, Their Maj<sup>ty</sup> might lawfully Grant such Commission, But when those reasons and Grounds do fail or cease, the right of Government doth belong to the Petition[er], and the Committee being attended by Mr Pen, who having declared to their Lo<sup>ds</sup> that if her Maj<sup>ty</sup> shall be graciously pleased to restore him to his Propriety according to the said Grants, he intends with all Co[n]veniẽnt speed to repair thither, and take care of the Government and Provide for the Safety and Security thereof all that in him lies. And to that end he will carefully transmitt to the Councill and Assembly there, all such orders as shall be given by her Maj<sup>ty</sup> in that behalf, and he doubts not but that they will at all times dutyfully comply with and Yield Obedience thereunto, and to all such Orders and directions as their Maj<sup>ty</sup> shall from time to time think fitt to send, for the supplying such Quota of Men or the defraying their part of the charges as their Maj<sup>ty</sup> shall think necessary for the safety and preservation of their Majes<sup>ty</sup> Dominions in that part of America. That he will appoint the same person to be his Deputy Govern<sup>r</sup> that is now Commissionated by Collouel Fletcher to that post, And if the Government there shall not take due care that such Orders as their Majes<sup>ty</sup> shall think fitt to give as aforesaid be duly complied with He will then submitt the direction of the Military to their Maj<sup>ty</sup> Pleasure, Mr Pen having also by writing under his hand declared his agreement, that such of the Laws past in the Generall Assembly of Pensilvania in May 1693, by Vertue of their Majesties Cõmission to Coll: Fletcher as shall not now be confirmed nor rejected by her Majes<sup>ty</sup>, shall have the full force and Vertue of Laws and be putt in Execution there, untill the same shall be altered or revoked by the Assembly.

And having further declared that he is willing to subscribe the declaration of Fidelity to their Majes<sup>ty</sup> mentioned in the Act of Parliam<sup>t</sup> Entitled an Act Exempting their Maj<sup>ty</sup> Protestant Subjects dissenting from the Church of England, from the Penalties of Certain Laws with a saving to Mr Pens Principle of not Swearing or using the word before God, And the Cõmittee taking notice that the Assembly of Pensilvania have by An Act past there Express their humble Submission to their Majestyes Pleasure for the taking the said Provinces and Countries into their hands, and for supplying the absence of the Proprietors by sending a Person to preserve and Confirm the Inhabitants in their Rights and Liberties, and as a dutyfull acknowledgement of their Maj<sup>ty</sup> care and tender regard herein, have humbly presented to their Maj<sup>ty</sup> an Assessm<sup>t</sup> of Money upon all Estates within the said Province and Countries for the support of their Maj<sup>ty</sup> said Government, Their Lords<sup>ps</sup> agree to recomend Mr Pen to Her Maj<sup>ty</sup> favour, that he may be restored to the administration of the Govern<sup>t</sup> of the Province of Pensilvania COUNTRY of New Castle and Territories and Tracts of Land depending thereon in America, to be held and enjoyed by him in like Manner as he held and Enjoyed the same before the date of Collouel Fletchers said Commission, and that so much of Coll: Fletchers said Commission as relates thereunto may be revoked, with directions nevertheless that upon the Application of the Gov<sup>r</sup> or Commander in Cheif of New York for the time being, a Quota not exceeding Eighty men or the value of the Charge thereof be forthwith sent from the Province of Pensilvania to New York as the Measure of the Assistance, Their Lordships are humbly of opinion may be reasonably given by the Province of Pensilvania towards the safety and preservation of the Province New York as occasion shall require the same, And that Mr Pen do forthwith take care, that due Provision be made at the Public charge of the Province of Pensilvania for the furnishing such assistance as shall accordingly be from time to time demanded or required by the Govern<sup>r</sup> or Commander in Cheif of New York, who is never the less to be directed not to require at any time [a greater part] of the said Quota or the value thereof to be furnished by the Province of Pensilvania than he shall in Proportion require from the adjacent Colonies respectively.

WILLIAM and MARY by the Grace of God King and Queen of England Scotland France and Ireland Defenders of the faith, &c, Whereas upon Information that by reason of Great miscarriages in the Government of our Province of Pensilvania in America, And the absence of the Proprietor the same was fallen into disorder and Confusion, By means thereof not only the Publick Peace and Administration of Justice was broken and violated, but there was also Great want of Provisions for the Guard and defence of Our said Province against our Enemies, Whereby it was apprehended that Our said Province and the adjacent Colonies were much in danger of being lost from the Crown of England, for prevention thereof as much as in us lay and for the better defence and Security of Our Subjects Inhabiting those Parts during this time of War, We did find it absolutely necessary to take the Government thereof into Our hands, and under Our Imèdiate care and Protection, and did there upon by letters Patents, under Our Great Seal of England bearing date the twenty-first day of October in the fourth year of Our Reign, Constitute and appoint Our trusty and Welbeloved Benjamin Fletcher Esq: Our Captain Generall and Governor in Cheif of Our Province of New York to be Our Capt<sup>n</sup> Generall and Governor in Cheif in and Over Our s<sup>d</sup> Province of Pensilvania and Countrey of New Castle, and all the Territories and Tracts of Land depending thereon in America, with directions to take the said Province and Countrey under his command and Government, And did thereby Grant unto the said Benjamin Fletcher, and in case of his Death or Absence out of our Provinces of New York and Pensilvania Our Countrey of New Castle and Our Colonies of East and West New Jersey, unto such Person as should be appointed by Us to be Commander in Cheif of Our said Province of New York or to Our Council of Our said Province the like Powers and Authorities as were granted by Our Commission to the said Benjamin Fletcher bearing date the Eighteenth Day of March in y<sup>e</sup> said Fourth Year of Our Reign, for the Ruling and Governing of Our said Province of New York, and whereas humble application has been made unto Us by Our trusty and Welbeloved William Penn Proprietor of Our said Province of Pensilvania that he may be restored to the Administration of the Government thereof as formerly, And whereas the said Proprietor has given Us good assurance that he will take care of the Government of Our said Province and Territories and Provide for the safety and security thereof all that in him lyes, Wee have thereupon thought fitt to restore him to the full administration of the Government of Our said Province and Territories, and accordingly Our Will and Pleasure is that so much of Our said Commission bearing date the twenty-first day of October in the Fourth Year of Our Reign as does Constitute and appoint Our Trusty and Welbeloved Benjamin Fletcher Esq<sup>r</sup> to be Our Capt<sup>n</sup> Gen<sup>l</sup> and Governor in Cheif of Our said Province of Pensilvania, Countrey of New Castle and the Territories and Tracts of Land Depending thereon in America, together with all the Powers and Authorities thereby Granted for the Ruling and Governing of Our said Province and Countrey, do from the Publication of these Our Letters Patents cease Determine and become Void, and are accordingly declared Void, of which all Persons whom it may concern are to take notice and govern themselves accordingly, under pain of Our highest displeasure.

MEMO<sup>m</sup> This Commission past the Great Seal the 20th of August 1694.

Trusty and Welbelovèd We greet you well, Whereas upon the Petition and application of Our trusty and Welbelovèd William Pen Esq<sup>r</sup> humbly Praying that he may be restored to the Administration of the Government of Our Province of Pensilvania Countrey of New Castle and the Territories depending thereon, where of he is Proprietor in America, and upon the good Assurance he has given unto Us that he will take care of the Government of Our said Province and Countrey, and Provide for the Safety and Security thereof all that in him lies, We have been Graciously pleased to restore him to the Administration of the Government of our said Province and Countrey, and for that purpose to revoke so much of our Cômmission to you beârg date the twenty-first day of October 1692, Whereby you are appointed Our Capt<sup>o</sup> Gener<sup>ll</sup> and Governor in Cheif of Our said Province Countrey, and Territories, We have thought fit hereby to signify the same unto you to the end you may Yeild all due Obedience to Our Royall Pleasure herein, And Whereas it hath been represented unto Us that notwithstanding the signification of Our Pleasure to Our Severall Provinces and Colonies in the Northern parts of America the 11th day of October 1692, that they be aiding and assisting to you for the defence and Security of Our Province of the New York against the attempts of Our Enemies, and to agree upon a Quota of men or other assistance to be given by each of Our said Provinces and Colonies for the defence and Security of Our said Province of New York, Some of Our said Provinces or Colonies having omitt<sup>d</sup> to send Commissioners to adjust the Quotas to be furnished by them respectively, nothing hath been done therein. We having already Signified Our Pleasure to Our Colony of Connecticutt in relation to the assistance to be given by Our said Colony, We have further thought fitt to signify Our Will and Pleasure to the said William Pen, and to Our severall Provinces and Colonies of the Massachusetts Bay, Virginia, Maryland, and Rhode Island, that a Quota not exceeding Eighty men with their Officers, or the Value of the charges of maintaining the same by our said Province of Pensilvania, three hundred and fifty men of the Militia of our Province of the Massachusetts Bay, one hundred and sixty men of our Province of Maryland, two hundred and forty men of Our Colony of Rhode Island and Providence Plantation be the Measure of assistance to be given by our said Provinces and Colonies respectively for the defence and Security of our said Province of New-York, Which said Quotas of men or other assistance, We have required and Commanded the said William Pen, together with Our Govern<sup>r</sup> or Commander in Cheif of our said Provinces and Colonies respectively upon your application to provide and send to be [under] your command and direction for your assistance in the defence of our said Province of New York, And for as much, as we are given to understand that there is no Establish<sup>d</sup> Militia within Our Province of Pensilvania and Countrey of New Castle, We have further chargèd and required the said William Pen to give order that due Provision be forth with made as the Publick charge of our said Province and Countrey for the said assistance to be given to you by our said Province of Pensilvania and Countrey of New Castle at such times as you shall find it necessary for our service and the security of our Province of New-York to demand and require the same, But our Express Will and Pleasure is, And We do hereby Strictly charge and Command you, not to demand or require at any time a greater part of any of the said Quotas or other assistance from any of Our said Provinces or Colonies than you shall in proportion demand or require of the rest of Our said Provinces or Colonies respectively, We not doubting of their ready and Cheerfully Obedience to our Royal Pleasure in a matter wherein the Security and Preservation as well of all Our Good Subjects Inhabiting those parts of America, as of our subjects within our Province of New York is so much concerned, And so We bid you farewell. Given at Our Court at Whitehall the 21st day of August 1694, In the sixth year of our Reign.

New York 19th Nov<sup>r</sup> 1694

May it please your Lordships

Pursuant to my duty I do acquaint your Lordships, that their Majesties Ship the Richmond that attends here at great charge, is of little service in conveying our Navigation more than three months in the year (to witt) May, June and July, which is the time the Privateers infest this Coast. It is difficult to ly upon this coast the other months of the year by reason of abundance of ice and the North West winds.

The trade of this place to the West Indies has much declined, our merchants fall upon new invention to trade to Newfoundland if the King's Ship were permitted to convey our vessells thither she may be back time enough to prevent the danger of any privateer upon this Coast, may do some Service that way against the Enemy, here are some small vessells of force that sail well and can assist upon occasion.

By my Commission for the Government of New York their Majes<sup>ty</sup> empower me to erect Courts of Admiralty and app<sup>t</sup> officers pursuant to such Cômision as I shall receive from the Admiralty, the Cômision I have received from your Lordships, restrains me from appointing a Judge Register and Marrishall who are the principle Officers of the Court.

Nothing yet has happened here during my administration but sometime a small matter may fall in the way, and it not being worth any mans while to go to the charge of suing out a Commission for those places, nothing can be done warrantably.

I am informed hitherto this as well as other Provinces in America, have adventured to hold Courts of Admiralty, not only without any Cômision from the Admiralty, but Contrary to that reservat . . . which I can not think warrantable and is a lessning of Authority.

I therefore humbly beg your Lo<sup>ps</sup> that I may be impowered to appoint a Judge Register & Marraschall of the Admiralty for this Province and the dependency mençoned in my Commission, I shall always be ready and very careful to observe your Lordships dirrections and commands therein, and in all other things as becometh

Lords of the Adm<sup>ty</sup>

19 November 1691.

May it please your Lo<sup>pp<sup>s</sup></sup>

As my Instructions direct I transmit to your Lordships the minutes of Council and Acts of Assembly passed in their Maj<sup>ty</sup> Province of New York an Inventory of the Arms ammunition and Stores of War remaining in their Majest<sup>ys</sup> Garrisons under my care which I shall husband to the best advantage for their Majesties Service. I humbly beg your Lordships to consider it is a time of Warr and I am under an indispensible necessity not only to supply the Companies of Granadeers on the English Establishment but all the Militia who are garrisoned on the Frontiers or that March upon any insult from the Enemy with the Indians who keep firm to the Covenant chain (as they call it)

An Indian lately returned from Canada whose information I send your Lordships tells me the New England Indians were with Count Frontinac at Mount Reall boasting their mighty Acts, and throwing a number of Scalps at his feet reproaching the other Indians for not producing the like testimony of their Valour against the People of Albany.

The Count carrassed them with presents and fine words and Immediately Ordered One hundred and fifty to march against New England, of which I gave Sr William Phips notice.

He als Assured them he Would march personally against me which when he designs I beleave he will make it a Secrett

Some of our Indians having carried back to Canada Eight of the French whom they had formerly taken Prisoners Count Frontinac dismissed Eight of their Maj<sup>ty</sup> Subjects two whereof belong to New England whose Examination I send to your Lo<sup>pp<sup>s</sup></sup>

I have ordered the Inhabitants of Ulster to repair their fortifications and put themselves in order of defence and keep out scouts before I received intelligence of the design the Enemy hath against that place, and have sent them an Account thereof to urge their dillig<sup>ee</sup>

Albany is in better circumstances than it ever yet was, I have caused it to be new Stockaded and furnished it with an addition of 20 Great guns, there is 200 men in Garrison besides Major Ingoldesby's Company of Granadiers, I have furnished them wth powder partridge shott and round shott, and what else necessary for their defence so far as the Kings Stores heretodoth enable me.

I know 500 men is the least can be Expected to adjust the several posts but the Province being under great pressures having no assistance from their Neigh<sup>ts</sup> it is impossible for me to gett that number.

I am endeavouring to send up One hundred men more but find great difficulty in it some leading men of Leislars party having got into the Assembly, who in that time voted for eighteen pence a day to each Soldier and leyed it upon the Countrey, and now will allow but eight pence cutting off four pence a day from what they had last year, which dispirits the men they choose to run rather than serve, Eight pence here is not five pence Sterl: and all things of Provisions & cloaths are three times dearer than in England.

I recommended to the Assembly the ruinous Condition of this Fort and the Lodgem<sup>ts</sup> of the Soldiers of which they would take no notice.

I sent them the Kings letter for rebuilding the Chappell and desired them to consider of a good fund for the mounting the great guns his Majest<sup>ys</sup> lately sent, they passed a Bill for four hundred and fifty pounds New York money for the Chappell, and one hundred and fifty pounds for the Guns not payable this twelve monthis (a small sume) it shall be applied the best way I can to these uses, I have desired two of the Councill to oversee the work receive and pay the money.

I am in hopes to preserve the Indians from starting to the French a present from the King and the appearance of the Companyes which I dayly expect will rivit them in their Allegiance, I have desired M<sup>r</sup> Heathcott to attend your Lordships with a note of such things as I conceive may be most acceptable and not cost above £200. I find the Sachims so far influenced by my last treaty that they have not gone to Canada and left of corresponding with the French Governor upon an alarm lately given that the French were upon their March against Albany three hundred of the uppermost Nations came down to the Mohaques Castles to our Assistance.

I can obtain no Assistance from the adjacent Colonies except the Jerseys who have sent thirty men which is owing to the good affection of Coll: Hamilton their Gov<sup>r</sup> But they are now making warr upon us in point of Trade having prohibited by Act of their Assembly, the transportation of Pipe staves, shingles, or Plank to New York, by which they will draw the Shipping thither and Establish a free port to the great prejudice of this place and sink the Trade of it, they pay no duty to the King and all will flock to it.

We already feel that of Pensilvania where they Trade at large under no regulation this being much nearer and upon the same River with us will utterly ruine the Revenue of this Province.

Pensilvania New Castle and the Jerseys were formerly part of this Government and now they wound it, My Commission for Pensilvania and the other for Connecticutt cannot cure the malady if they were all united again into one Government they will fall under the same Law duties and Services.

I most humbly beg your Lop<sup>s</sup> that the Substance for the Companies here may be duly paid, and a yearly Supply of Stores sent over, I shall always endeavour to adjust my loyalty to their Maj<sup>ties</sup> and my duty to your Lordships I am

Your Lo<sup>ps</sup> most humble most faithful & most obedient Servant

Albany Oct: the 1st 1694.

May it please yo<sup>r</sup> Excell:

I received your Excellency's kind letter of the 4th instant for which I returne my most hearty acknowledgments. Since M<sup>r</sup> Livingston left this towne there has been nothing of moment, but what I here inclosed send to yo<sup>r</sup> Exec<sup>ll</sup>. The Govern<sup>or</sup> of Canida threatens hard though I am of opinion he never designes to ataeque this place, unless he is well informed how ill a condition we are in. I have mounted all the guns and made up the Stone Mount, and made a Magazeen under it, which is well arched. I hope it will be to your Exec<sup>ll</sup>'s satisfaction. I desire your Excell.; will be pleased to send up some more powder and some partridge Shot, and a Water Lanthorn or any thing else which your Excell. may think convenient for these garrisons; then we shall endeavour to give y<sup>e</sup> French a wellcome if they come.

The 15th instant hapened a sad accident to Henry Ransler, having his barne and barricks of corn burnt to the ground. The same hapened the last yeare about 14 dayes sooner. Likewise a fire att Schanectady, which has burnt 1000 skipple of wheat. My wife and selfe desires our duties may be acceptable to your Excell and my Lady, wishing your Excell. all health and prosperity, which is the hearty desires and well wishes of him that will ever remain

Schanectady 13th Oct<sup>r</sup> 1694.

There is an Indian Squae who hath been prisoner three years, and an Indian, come from Canida 24 days agoe, and arrived in the Praying Indians Castle, say, that some Cayouges have been with the Governour att Mont Royall, with some French prisoners; and presented them to the Governour in the presence of severall nations of Indians and say that they came to reject the kettle of warr. Whereupon the Governour of Canida replied, I know not who has the power to doe that, for I give all my people the ax in their hands again.

Say, that there were many of the Praying Indians that would not take up the hatchet; they who would not take up the hatchett said to the Governour if wee take up the hatchett again, lett us goe and kill Cayenquiragoe, for the sooner the better then there is an end. Whereupon the Governour answered, not so hastily, we will doe it in y<sup>e</sup> winter when there is ice. Whereupon the Praying Indians went out a hunting for 20 days. Say, that the Governour was resolved to come to fight the Onnondages this winter, but they had held him till now Say, the Onnondages had told the Governour of Canida that Cayenquiragoe thought to surprize him; and therefore would see and take 1 or 2 prisoners from hence before there comes ice, to hear how the matter is; that Wahawa is still alive.

The Informacon of Matthew Pawling and Nicholas Smith being examined by his Excell. Benjamin Fletcher Capt: Gen<sup>l</sup> & Governour of New Yorke &c at Fort William Henry the 10th day of Novemb<sup>r</sup> 1694

His Excell asked.

How long have you been in Canida

Answer. Pawling four years and about 5 months. Smith about three years.

Q: Where were you taken

Ans: In the Province of Wells in New England.

Q: How come you to be dismissed from Canida.

Ans: Some of the Indians of the five Nations brought home some French people who were prisoners in y<sup>e</sup> Indian Country, whereupon Count Frontinac dismissed eight of us, Six whereof belong to this Province he gave us this passe & 25 dayes provision Each, two of the eight carryed in Canida for fear of the Indians & the danger of travelling the other four are at their homes in the Fronteers and we in our way home came to acquaint yo<sup>r</sup> Excell. of what we know of y<sup>e</sup> Enemy moc<sup>o</sup>n & designes.

Q: What hath Count Frontinac been doing att Mount Reall this Summer I perceive your passe is dated from Quebec.

Ans: He has been mustering all his forces & treating with all the Indians in allyance with him. We heard the Indians of New England were there alsoe & we saw some of the Prisoners were lately taken att Oyster river.—We heard he had sent out spyes to discover the Esopus Country below Albany who give account that the people are not vigilant & live scattering It was said there is a designe to march against the Mohaques & Esopus this winter, & they have their snow shoes in readynesse

Q: Heard you nothing of a peace concluded att Mount Reall between the Governour of Canida & the five Nations of Indians belonging to this Province.

Ans: We heard some of them come to make peace with Count Frontinac which he denyed unlesse they would engage to make warr against the English Colonies which they utterly refused yet notwithstanding were brought to Quebec<sup>e</sup> & treated very splendidly with firing all the Great gunns & many bombs & Granada Shells.

Q: What Shipping are att Quebec<sup>e</sup>

Ans: There are two shippes of warr this summer brought over 25 Great Gunns which are not yett mounted one ship of fourty gunns the oy<sup>r</sup> 20 & 300 men between them who under the command of Deboraville<sup>1</sup> are gone against the English factory in the North West passage it was said he has a grant of y<sup>e</sup> profitts of that place for three years time if he take it, if he faile of it he is to cruise upon this coast.

Q: Was there any partyes sent any where this summer.

Ans: Wee heard a Party were sent towards New England with larg encouragements to destroy what they can.

Ans: By the water side there is platformes a stone brestwork very low will give litle shelter to their men the greatest has 12 gunns which will throw a ball of 30 pounds the fort stands very high in the upper town which is fortified to the land side by a wall made 16 foot thicknesse of brush faggotts & Earth Palisados laid on the outside & small sharp pointed stockados coming from the head of the palisados pointing outwards to p<sup>r</sup>vent running over the wall this wall is not yet finished but they have two ingineers come over this sommer & wee heard they intend to build a stone wall round the town. In the Fort & Town of Quebecq<sup>e</sup> there one hundred & fourty gunns & not above three hundred inhabitants that can bear arms

Q: What prisoners did you leave behinde you.

Ans: 63 men women & children, there was a rumour that they would shortly be dismissed by way of France. Wee made choice to come over land to Albany: they were so civill to us to give us a small compase & a draft of the way.

Q: When did you sett out from Qubecq<sup>e</sup>

Ans: the 5th of Octob: last.

November the 10th 1694

Then Matthew Pauling & Nicholas Smith were sworne to the truth of the above answers by His Excell: command

To the Right Hon<sup>ble</sup> the Lords of the Comitee of Trade and Plantations.

May it please Your Lóps.

WHEREAS Coll: Abraham De Peyster and M<sup>r</sup> Robert Livingston have by their peticon presented unto me the 6th of December 1694, Sett forth that in the year 1689. when Jacob Leisler had taken upon him the administracón of the governm<sup>t</sup> of the Province of New Yorke under pretence of their Maties Service, was seized and forcibly carryed away from the comón store room for powder, in the city of New Yorke twenty five barrills of powder whereof fifteen barrills did belong unto Coll: Abraham De Peyster and ten barrills to M<sup>r</sup> Livingston; which twenty five barrills of powder were remaining in the store room of their Matyes fort, at the arrivall of Coll: Henry Sloughter late Governo<sup>r</sup> of the s<sup>d</sup> Province, dec<sup>d</sup>. and are since disposed of for their Matyes service praying that they may have the same quantity of powder delivered to them out their Matyes store room in this Fort, or that I will recommend their case home to yo<sup>r</sup> Lóps.

I doe hereby certify that I have examined the allegacóns of the s<sup>d</sup> peticóners and finde them to be true, but having under consideracón it is time of actual warr, a great distance from England and that I have transmitted an accompt from time to time to yo<sup>r</sup> Lôps. of all the stores of ammunicón in the Province, and there being a daily consumption of powder to supply the garrisons of New Yorke, Albany, Schenectady, Kingston, and other advance posts, also the Indians that are sent out upon partyes, I think it not convenient att present to diminish their Maties store in this Province by giving out the s<sup>d</sup> quantity of powder to the peticióners; therefore humbly submitt their case to yo<sup>r</sup> Lôps I am

[New-York Entries, III. 206.]

May the 29th 1695.

May it please your Lords<sup>pp<sup>s</sup></sup>

Since my last conference with the Indians of the five Nations at Albany I find them wholly diverted from hearkening to the Government of Canada, who seems to have a working head and experiences as well as years, The French Count is much enraged thereat, and treated hard to destroy their Castle at Onondage for breach of promise, and because they did not return to Canada to conclude the Peace he pretends they have made, he has sent two messengers this winter to that effect, I sent herewith a Copy of the Message with the result and answer of the five Nations thereupon soon after their answer came to Canada, Our Indians were alarmed with reports that the French and their Indians were on their March to destroy Onondage and resettle Cadaraquin which put the Sachims in some Consternation, and having wrote to me for assistance I presently supplied them with Ammunition and Ordered three hundred men to march to their defence, the alarm proved false, but I have ordered them to keep strict watch.

The five Nations have lately sent down two of their greatest Sachims (the one their principall Orator the othere their greatest Warriour) to return me thanks and to desire my advice how to proceed in the war against Canada and have engaged to me follow my directions and pursue the warr with Vigour, I did make presents to them above the value of fifty pounds they seemed well satisfied and full of resolutions at parting, If his Majesty shall think fitt to order that small present for the Indian Kings which I mencioned in my last (a copy of the list is here inclosed) 'twould be a great encouragement to them, they are the greatest barrier we have against Encroachments of the French in Canada.

Some small sculking party of French and Indians have lately killed an old man near Albany and carried away one or two prisoners

The Council of this Province have cleared acco<sup>t</sup> with M<sup>o</sup> Slaughter the late Governor Slaughter's Widd: who is found to be indebted the sum of One hundred and thirty pounds fifteen shillings seven pence three farthings New York money for the use of the two Companys, she supports herself in a Nationall opinion that your Lordship will allow her 1000 pounds out of their Majesties Revenue of this Province which she alleages was given her husband by Act of Assembly intituled an Act to Enable his Excellency to defray the extraordinary charges of the Governments &c this Act (as I am informed) was made to Endemmyfy the Coll: for receiving the duties which were formerly esteemed the Kings Revenue in this Province before there was an Act of Assembly Authorizing the same and to order the application thereof towards defraying the charges which did accrue in the Government sometime before Governor Slaughter's arrivall and untill the passing of the said Act, the charges did far exceed the sume that was raised, if your Lordships do signify your pleasure in this matter 'twill be a favour to her, She tarryes in the Country to this end.

Upon the removall of M<sup>r</sup> Dudley & M<sup>r</sup> Pinhorne from the Council for non residence being by instructions tyed up from proceeding to business (except in case of absolute necessity) without a Quorum of five, some of the Councill being superannuated, others living remote in the Country and some often taken up in their private Vocations I found a necessity to call M<sup>r</sup> Cab Heathcott to the Board who has been very Serviceable and forward upon all occasions and pursuant to my instructions I did transmitt an Account thereof by sundry vessells to your Lordships which Vessells happened to miscarry, I therefore again pray Your Lordships for a warrant for his confirmation.

Just now comes advice from Boston of the arrival of the two Companies of Grandiers there, I humbly beg your Lords<sup>ps</sup> the subsistance of the four Companies be punctually paid and an anuall Supply of Stores sen[t] over, I am obliged to furnish with amunition the Country Fusiliers upon the Frontiers and the Indians that are dayly sent out in parties as well as the Companies upon the establ<sup>mt</sup> of England.

I have received intelligence likewise from Albany for a speedy design the French have either against Albany or Oynondage, I send a Copy thereof herewith for your Lordships Information, I have alwayes ordered affairs so as to be in continual readiness to oppose the Enemy w<sup>ch</sup> hath been chargeable and burdensome to the Inhabitants of this Province whilst our Neighb<sup>rs</sup> have enjoyed a continued tract of protection and safety during the warr and have given very little assistance I am

Your Lo<sup>ps</sup> most humble faithful & most

Message from the Governor of Canada to the Five Nations, and their Answer.

[New-York Papers, IV. B. A. 48.]

Cayenquiragó Govr of New York
 Onontio Governor of Canada
 Canissoone 5 Nations
 Canesselage } two forts in Canada
 Cagnawage }
 Onogungos Eastern Indians in N Engld Ottowawas & Dionondades are Indians in amity with the French.

Propositions made at Onondage the 31th of January 169½ By two Praying Indians come from Canada one a Mohaq<sup>c</sup> called Tiurhadareio otherwise diakognorak'igl's the other an Oneyde called Jehanontsiesta sent from Onontio Governour of Canada

The Interpreter was adogew the Great Oneyde Who began

The two Messenger's are sent from Onontio as Servants.

1st Onontio say's Children I wipe of the tear's from your Eyes & the blood of those that are sorrowfull in the house or Canossoene. Gives three fatham wampum.

2. Children I am told a great storme of winde makes your mindes weaver to and fro' retain no Evill thought's of me I am still Onontio the Good over the five Nations or Canossoene be not afraid of me then. Gives a belte

3. Children the Canossoene take notice w<sup>ch</sup> I now let you know Oneydes I thanke you for your Good inclinations and the knowledg' you had in sending to me the father Milet with three or four French whom you had taken prisoners. I see yo<sup>r</sup> wisdom is greate, Cayenquiragoc the Governo<sup>r</sup> of New York' has don' the like' & I also to him, now my will is that you deliver unto me all the French Prisoners' great and small that you have in the Canossoone. Let me see them all in Canada in the Spring I am not Idle but take much care of the Prisoners of the Canossoone that are detained by the Ottowawas and Dionondages I intend to Unite yo<sup>r</sup> mind's in the Spring. Give a belt of wampum.

4. Children I do not doubte but you remember well what I proposed to you formerly but now I send for you who are the Sachims of the whole Canossoene to speake with me in Canada in the Spring. I will speake of good thing's be not jealous or fearfull of my ill intent I will sent a guard to meete you & convey you to Canada that wee may speake together, bring my flesh the prisoners with you. Give a belt of Wampum.

The Indians hereupon gave four times the Shout saying Jo: Hue. Hue. Hogh.

Propositions made by the praying Indians of Canada' that lives in the fort's of Canessedage & Cagnawage.

1. Brethren & Countrey men hold wee pray & keep' strong and fast what Onontio now proposes to you. We pray you again' & again' Brethren. Give a Belt of Wampum.

2 Brethren the way shall be safe & wellcome in the Spring we will meet you half way in good cannoes & convey you safely. Give a belt of Wampum.

The Indians hereupon shout Jo. Hue. Jo. Hue.

After the Proposition were made the Messenger's say'd.

Wee Praying Indian's must now let you know' w<sup>t</sup> wee are bid to say.

1. Oneroaha bids' us tell you that Onontio will again put a garrison at Cadaracqui.

2. Adiejagthaa bid's us tell you that Onontio hath sent the Onogungos to New England to fighte & not to fetch beaver's this winter but scalp's.

3. Another Praying Indian bid us tell you that Father Milette told him Cayenquiragoé has sent to Onontio by the Prisoner's he sent back' Letter's of Great familiarity & concern' contriveing to ruine the Canossoene desireing Onontio to fall upon you & promiseing to withdraw from you ammunition

The Answer given the 4th of Feb. 169 $\frac{1}{2}$  at Onondage by the five Nations.

Kaqueendara Speaker

You servant's & Mengerss of Onontio hearken well & remember well what wee now speake unto you.

Then takes up the three fathom of Wampum & touches one with his finger saying this wipes the tear's from our Eyes touching the other say's this washes away the blood.

Then putting them all three together sayd 'Throw away the bitter Gall out your body Onontio & clear up yo<sup>r</sup> understanding. Give three fathom wampum.

Onontio you call us children you have begotten. What Father are you. You deale with us whom you call Children as with hogg's which are called home from the woods by Indian Corn & then put in Prisons untill they are killed thus you have dealt by us whom you call children you have sent for us often to Canida' & Cadaracqui & in our return our Indian's were either killed or taken Prisoner's. O Onontio you say wee must keep the firme covenant chaine which you have broake many times in time of Peace' how did Ogquesé endeavour with his Arme'y to fall upon our Brethren the Mohags twenty six years ago. Afterwards in time of peace you sent for our Sachims who wente and you by yo<sup>r</sup> Indians in the way fell upon them & killed Eighte Some year's after you sent for us againe & in our return' your Indians the Dionondades fell upon us in the Lake' & killed many Wee threw all this into a deep Pit of oblivion, how have you dealt by our People at Cadaracqui, Oh y<sup>t</sup> smart's still. Remember w<sup>t</sup> you have done to our brethren in Schenectady, so soon you heard of Warr over the broad lake' you murthered & burnt all what was there both man & beaste notwithstanding about a month before you had sent Cajenhod an Oneyde into our Country with a deceitfull message & Letters to Milette O Onontio are you so' forgetfull that will not do' it is not many month's agoe since you were desired to be quiet from warr by Dekanisoré as you desired us & now' wee are informed you have sent the Onongungos to fight against our brethren in New England that will not succeed Onontio it is true' Wee have invited father Millet to us & then made him Prisoner Wee likewise keepte Dionakarondé (or Chavaleer Deaux) when he came amongst but then it was Warr between you & us. Give a belte of Wampum

Onontio do' not thinke that our mindes doe waver to and fro as by a Storme of wind as you please to tell us & that yo<sup>r</sup> heart is Good. O Onontio is yo<sup>r</sup> heart and mind' Good why then do you send the Onogungos yo<sup>r</sup> souldier's and servant's against our brethren in New Engl<sup>d</sup> to kill them. Our hatchett is not grown' blunte you know very well our brethren & wee are one body therefore take the hatchett from the Onogunges. Give a belt of Wampum

Onontio you demand of us all the French prisoners great & small to be brought to Canida which wee will not grant untill you first send unto us & Cayenquiragoé our brother all the Prisoners you & thee Donondades have, send them & then wee will tell you w<sup>t</sup> wee will do. Give a belt of Wampum.

Onontio Wee will send no' Sachim from the Cannassoone to Canida nor any Prisoners, if you minde to speake with us send yo<sup>r</sup> messengers to us send yo<sup>r</sup> wise people the son of Ogquess<sup>1</sup> Stawislawie & Orrasa<sup>2</sup> they can speake our Language very well, Send also our people who are yo<sup>r</sup> prisoners belonging to us & our brethren send y<sup>m</sup> to Onondagé. Give a belt of Wampum.

Onontio your fyre shall' burn' no' more at Cadaracqui it shall never be kindled again. You did steale that place from us & wee quenched the fyre with the blood of our children You thinke your selves the ancient inhabitants of this country & longest in possession yea all the Christian Inhabitant's of New York & Cayenquiragoé thinke the same of themselves Wee Warriours are the firste & the ancient people & the greatest of You all, these part's and country's were inhabited and trodd upon by us the warrior's before any Christian<sup>3</sup> (then stamping hard with his foot upon the ground) sayd, Wee shall note suffer Cadaracqui to be inhabited againe. Onontio we Canossoené do<sup>s</sup> say we will never suffer you to kindle your fire at Cadaracqui I repeat this again & again. Give a belt of wampum.

The answer to the French praying Indians February 4th 169<sup>5</sup>.

The Speaker first gave three fathem wampum to wipe of the tears' and blood of those that were troubled.

Brethren & Countreymen deliver to Onontio all the Prisoners you have belonging to us & our Brother Cayenquiragoé & bring them to Onondage. Give a belt of wampum.

Brethren and Countrymen Give unto Onontio a portion of understaunding & perswade him to demand all the prisoner's from the Ottawawa, & Dionondades & bring them hither to Onondagé Give a belt of Wampum.

The Canossoené send with the Messenger's two belts of Wampum to the Donondades in answer to their two belt's and red stones that they sent last year.

Feb. 15th 169<sup>4</sup>.

Yesterday arrived messengers from the Seneke's & Cayouges with two belts of Wampum to acquainte the Onondage's that Count Frontinac has sent a private message to them by Ohonsacktaddie one of their Nation with a great belt of Wampum to tell that he will fall upon the Onondages in the Spring & desire' the other four Nations to be sylente for which he gave two reason's, first Dekanissoré has broke his word in not returning to Canida. secondly Dekanssore has gon' to Albany to meete Cayenquiragoe, & has given defyaunce to all the strength of Canida & deny'd to observe any agreemente or proposall of his.

The whole five Natiou's send seven hands Wampum, to inform' the Mahikanders or River Indians of this.

The Sachims complains much for want of Powder.

February 15<sup>o</sup> 169<sup>4</sup>.

The Sachims & Captaines have desired me to write to Cayenquiragoe as followeth.

Brother Cayenquiragoe

Wee expect the Enemy daily Lett us have powder & lead Wee do not go' on the other syde the lake to hunte, but keep watch lest the Enemy surprize us as soon' the weather is open wee will make our Castle stronger Wee desire you will discharg' the selling of rumm to any of our Nations Let our Indians have powder & lead instead of rum Let the Blacksmiths repair our armes for nothing.

Ho Cayenquiragoe Lett us live Lett us note want ammunition Wee have too small a bag for a beaver Give order that they be made somew<sup>t</sup> bigger then shall wee be satisfied that all is Lyes Onontio hath sayd unto us & that you do not endeavour our ruine Let not our Enenyes rejoyce and laugh at us.

Just now comes tidings by a Seneka Squae who was taken prisoner by the Praying Indian's of Canida & runn away from them. She is a strong lusty weoman.

She says, That a Party consisting off the Dawaganhas, & French praying Indians are sett oute from Canada for Cadaraqui & that the French were to follow in three or four day's time. That she left them as they begunn their march. She believes they are already gott to Cadaraqui I have not yet learned of her how many day's it is since she left them.

That they are to rendezvous at Cadaraqui & from thence to come againste Onondage & the whole five Nations.

Caqueendara Decannissore & all the other Captains desire the assistance of three hundred Christians with as many River Indians & Mahikander's as can be gott together saying, that now is the time for Cayenquiragoe, to perform' his promise in assisting us

Intelligence received from Albany.

On the 15. of May 1694 Saddageras a Sachim of the Praying Indians did arrive at Albany with seven hands of Wampum to acquaint Cayenquiragoé that Canaqualho a Mohog<sup>g</sup> of the uppermost Castle Last year went to huute neer Canida haveing a desire to see his brother who was amongst the Canida Praying Indian's & on the sixth of January last brought his brother from Canida with him to the Countrey of our Indians that he heard them say the Governo<sup>r</sup> of Canida has some great desig<sup>n</sup>e against Albany or, Onondage whereof she acquaints Cayenquiragoé & have sent intelligence to Onondage that the Brethren may upon their guard

Hee say's that they left behind them in Canida Canaqualho's relation to watch their motion & bring intelligence thereof.

On the 18 of May came Canaqualho to Albany & confirms this intelligence & say further that six of the Dawaganhaes or far Indians have been at Canida to know if the Governo<sup>r</sup> of Canida was inclined to make peace with the five Nation's & that the Governo<sup>r</sup> of Canida did answer that he had said so' with his mouth but his heart was for warr the Dawaganhaes reply'd it is by your will wee make warr with the five nation's & therefore wee will conclude no' peace with them, then the Governo<sup>r</sup> of Canida presented them with six barrells powder.

Hee say's moreover that when he left Canida one Onwondaquiro & Adawakto wth eighteen Canida Indian's were sent out by the Governour of Canida toward's Albany to take a Prisoner that hee may be informed w<sup>t</sup> Cayenquiragoé does & if he designes to come against Quebeq<sup>t</sup> by sea, that he was informed the Governo<sup>r</sup> of Canida told the Dawaganhaes he was about to resettle Cadaracqui to be nearer to annoy the five Nation's and assist them. And that the Governo<sup>r</sup> of Canida did also say to the Dawaganhaes true it was he did send for two men of each of the five Nation's & two from Cayenquiragoé & did pretend he designed to conclude a peace with them but if hee had gott them once in Canida he had either made them bend to all his proposalls or used them as they did Chevaleer Deaux.

Upon Tuesday the 20th last came to me an Indian named Joseph one of my proselites from Canida in thirteen days time the last fall he went from the Maquaes Castle to Onondage to assist at their meeting in the name of the Second Castle of the Maquaes to assist and consult upon the propositions the Indian messengers made there in the name of the Governour of Canida Our Indians perswaded this Joseph to go along to Canida with the messengers to see how affairs went there so soon as he came to Mount Reall he was very coldly received and was not permitted to speak with any body. the 2<sup>d</sup> day after his arrivall he was sent to Quebeq<sup>e</sup> where the Governour spoke very kind to him and said that he looked upon him as an enemy and a spy and if ever he came again he would put him to death the five nations having deluded him so many times that he would not hear of any offers of peace for he was certainly perswaded that the five Nations have made an indissoluble covenant with Cayenquirageo and unlesse in the space of two months there came two of every nation to comply with him he will undoubtedly fall upon them with an army all preparac<sup>o</sup>ns being making thereto.

The said Joseph informs that the Governour of Canida had sent to the French Maquaes Indians to go out against this Government to bring in some prisoners to informe him of the affairs of these parts the Indians were unwilling to goe but by the persuasion of the Jesuits three small partys went out and two partys were returnd again before Joseph came away one party brought in three of my proselites taken at their hunting place the other party brought in that young man lately taken from Greenbush neere Albany being asked what news were at Albany he answered there was a great many old England soldiers arrived at Albany and after a few dayes a great many more were expected and that yo<sup>r</sup> Excellency had an army ready to goe and destroy Cadaracqui and another army to go against Mount Reall with a fleet of six hundred sail of ships to attacque Quebeque.

Joseph reports further that there were fifty of the proselites a hunting together and discovered by the French Maquaes. That the Governour had sent sixty bushloopers with one hundred & forty Indians (but no French Maquas Indians) with expresse order not to take a prisoner alive but kill all, before he came from Mount Reall there was news that the parties were mett together and that our Indians were upon their guard but knows not what is become of it.

The Indians told him further that if the messengers of the five nations would come to Canida the Governour would serve them as our Indians served Chevaleer Deaux & his Company.

This is all the Relation I can give yo<sup>r</sup> Exc<sup>l</sup>ll from this proselite there are two of the proselites with two Maquaes & two River Indians this last week gone to Canida to fight and to see if they can take a prisoner upon their return yo<sup>r</sup> Exc<sup>l</sup>ll shall have an account they have promised to be here in the space of fourty days the leader of the party is one Brandiho who received the last year a present of cloaths from yo<sup>r</sup> Excellency I hope they will have good successe.

New York.

The Petition and Case of Robert Livingston of Albany in New York referr'd to the Committee by their Excellencies order in Council of the 22<sup>d</sup> of this month read, Praying to be reimbursed the severall Sums he has expended for the good of the Government of New York and the Pet<sup>r</sup> being called in and heard he alledges that the money raised by Act of Assembly for the payment of the Petitioner and other Creditors of the Publick has not been applied to that use by reason of the great Exigencies of the Government for the defence of the Frontiers, that unless Orders shall be given here in England for the Pet<sup>r</sup>'s satisfaction he has no hopes of relief in New York by reason of Coll: Fletcher's proceedings there, for the proof whereof he produces divers witnesses before the Committee.

And Philip French of New York Gentlem<sup>n</sup> being sworn says that having heard it discourst at New York before the election of the Assembly about May last that Coll: Fletcher said he would pistoll any man that should chase Peter De la Noy to serve for that place, the Deponent went to dine with Coll: Fletcher with intent to know the truth of such Report and having spoke of it there in Coll: Fletcher's presence, he the said Coll: Fletcher did not deny but rather owned that he had said so, Whereupon the Deponent asking why he put up De la Noy, he answered that he did not, and the Deponent saying that Coll: De Peyster had reported it so Coll: Fletcher said De la Noy and De Peyster were both Rascalls.

That at the time of the said Election for New York, the Deponent heard there was a great deal of trouble in the town about it, and on the day of election he saw many Soldiers and Seamen with clubs in the field, of which he took notice to one of the Members of Council that was there and seeing severall of those called Leisler's Party going out of the field he the Deponent enquired the reason of it from some of them who told him there was a rumer of pressing in the field and therefore they would not stay. The Deponent further says he heard there had been great beats in the Assembly about the Accounts of the Publick Money. The Deponent further says Major Howell told him the last Spring, he feared he the said Major Howell should meet with some trouble because the Governor having called a Court Martial of the Militia Officers to consider of the Relief of Albany, and the Detachments to be sent thither which the Officers consented should be sent upon the credit of being paid by the next Assembly, But that the said Howell was afterwards sent to Albany with the Detachment. The Deponent says he heard it said all the Goldsmiths in town were employed in making Snuff boxes and other plate for presents for the Governor, and that Capt: Sims Captain of a Merchant Ship was a Lieutenant of the King's Company at Albany, William Kid Master of the Brigantine Antegoa being sworn says at the election of Assemblymen for the Town of New York, about 3 months since he saw Soldiers and Seamen with Clubs &c in the field, and many went off the field least they should be prest, and he heard there were freedoms given to severall persons over night before the Election And the Deponent and others Masters of Ships were spoke to by the Sheriff to bring their Seamen on shore to Vote.

Samuel Bradley of New York being sworn says the Evening before the Election of Assembly men in May last for New York, he saw at the Majors house severall freedoms made out to the Purser, Gunner, Boatswain and others of the King's Ship, and the next day he saw severall of the men of wars men in the field. That he the Deponent ask't M<sup>r</sup> Tutall the Sherriff whether the freedom intended for the Deponent was made out, which the Sherriff said was ready with the freedom of severall others.

John Albrugh a Dutch man being sworn says when the Assembly men were to be elected for New York about May last he saw some of the Soldiers and Seamen of the Man of War in the field and he was afraid to stay there for fear of being prest the soldiers were not in their soldiers coats. That the Deponent's Master being an Assembly man he heard his Master say he had ask't the Gov<sup>r</sup> for an Account, but he was not clear about and soon after the Governor broke the Assembly.

Joseph Davies being sworn say's he saw with an Assemblyman, a short account which came from the last Assembly of about fifteen hundred pounds said to be remaining in the Governor's hands of which he heard the Assembly did desire a more particular account before they would anything else, upon which the Gov<sup>r</sup> did dissolve the Assembly.

The Deponant being Master's Mate of the Nassaw he was ordered by the Master of the said ship to bring the seamen of the said ship to shoar to vote at the election.

Their Lordships order that Captain Shelly Master of the ship Nassaw be summoned to attend the Committee at their next meeting when their Lordships will take this matter into further consideration.

And Cap<sup>t</sup> W<sup>m</sup> Kid sworn says that John Tutall the sherriff of New York spoke to him to get his people from on board his vessell they being Inhabitants of New York to vote at the election about three months since, for such persons as the Governor desired should be elected, but y<sup>e</sup> Deponent cannot say it was by order from the Governor.

The Deponent further says the Soldiers came into the field a great many together without their soldiers cloaths or their arms with sticks in their hands but they did not vote.

Giles Shelly Master of the Nassaw being sworn says that about May last that he being with his ship Nassaw at New York when the Assembly men for that place were to be elected, he told his Mate, Boatswain and Gunner who were inhabitants of the place they might go on and vote at the election that his mate and boatswain went on shoar, but his Gnnner staid on board his ship. The Deponent says he had no orders from Coll: Fletcher for so doing but he spoke to them of his own accord not knowing but he had right to vote at the Election being Inhabitants of New York, the Deponent says he was in the field at the time of the said Election, and he did not see any of the seamen or others belonging to the Men of Warr except the Cap<sup>t</sup> But he saw the soldiers come into the field and they went into the Millyard, which is an enclosure not far from the place of election where they remained till the election was over, they had not their arms but sticks in their hands, nor were they in their soldiers cloaths, but they did not come into the field among the Inhabitants that voted.

Ben: Blidenbough being sworn says he was present at the election of Assembly men for New York in May last, where he saw some soldiers come out of the town with staves in their hands, but they did not vote nor did the Deponent then hear any discourse of pressing for the Frontiers, tho' he believes some of Leislars party might absent themselves for fear of it.

The Deponent says it was reported at New York that the Assembly had demanded an Account of the money given to Coll Slougher the former Governor, but that Coll: Fletcher had not given it to them, at which they were dissatisfied, and would give no more money, and that they were soon after dissolved.

He says that he never heard that the Soldiers voted at elections except such of y<sup>m</sup> as had right by being Inhabitants of the Town.

Thomas Jeffrys Master of the ship New York Merchant being sworn says, he was present at the election of Assembly men for New York about May last he saw no opposition nor did he hear any body was dissatisfied with the election except some who were displeas'd that M<sup>r</sup> John Graham the Attorney Geneall was chosen, the Deponent was no freeman therefore did not vote, and the Deponent says that M<sup>r</sup> Clark the Coroner and Cap<sup>t</sup> of the Militia offered him the Deponent about two years before to make him free which he refused.

The Deponent says that none of the men of his ship came on shoar that day, nor did he hear that any freedoms had been given out upon this occasion.

M<sup>r</sup> Levingston further complains to the Committee that M<sup>rs</sup> Rich<sup>d</sup> Merryweather and Jacob Harwood of London Merchants had charged him with an Accompt of nine hundred and one pounds six shill<sup>s</sup> for procuring and for the discompt of the talleys for £1670. granted to him in the year 1693 for £2172 New York money advanced to Coll. Codrington in 1688. for the support of the forces employed against the French, besides a former accompt wherewith the said Merchants had charged him for advance & interest relating thereunto, and M<sup>r</sup> Merryweather and M<sup>r</sup> Harwood attending are called in and being heard M<sup>r</sup> Merryweather owns that he had caused the said Accompts, which being presented is now read, to be transcribed out of M<sup>r</sup> Harwoods Book of Acco<sup>ts</sup> and given to M<sup>r</sup> Levingston, and M<sup>r</sup> Harwood says y<sup>t</sup> is the same accompt. Whereupon their Lordships taking notice that the said Acco<sup>t</sup> appears to the Committee by the severall articles to be very unreasonable order the same to be shewn to M<sup>r</sup> Attorney Gen<sup>l</sup> for his opinion what may be done by the King for M<sup>r</sup> Levingston's relief, to the end he may not be defrauded of the benefit of the said talleys, being for money which he advanced for the service of the Crown.

[New-York, B. T. V., A21.]

Upon the request of M<sup>r</sup> Rob<sup>t</sup> Livingston I doe testify that upon my arrivall to the Government of New Yorke, I founde him in the Offices of Clerke and Collector of Albany, and upon the difficulties that I had of getting and securing the Five Western Nations of Indians from the French interest, he was very helpfull & assistant in interpreting and writinge all the Propositions that past on both sides; and that he is a person fitt to be employed in that station, there being none of those parts, of the King's subjects, that can speake y<sup>e</sup> languages as he doth. I being sensible of the trouble and charge he hath undergone in that service doe think it very dillicult for him to be employ'd in those publike offices (particularly that of being Secretary or Agent to y<sup>e</sup> Five Western Nations of Indians) and at y<sup>e</sup> same time to minde his owne private affaires.

In wittesse whereof I have hereunto putt my hand this seaventeenth day of September anno D<sup>o</sup> 1695.

[New-York, E. T. V., A. 36.]

To the Right Hon<sup>ble</sup> the Lords of the Committee of Trade and Plantations.

My Lords

I have been hitherto cautious of troubling your Lordp<sup>s</sup> with the difficultyes of my present condition ; but the ill usage I have met with from my correspondents here, force me to lay myself more naked then I hop'd to fynde occasion for. It was my zeal for y<sup>e</sup> Crowne and the English intrest in America made me launch out my whole estate which I have been 20 years labouring for to gett for y<sup>e</sup> service of both ; and the dissapointments I met with there, by delays of repayment (to say no worse) put me upon undertaking a voyage for England, where I hop'd to receive the moneys due upon my Talleys, at least to sett me up again in my way of trade.

But instead of that, I am not only cutt off £900 of that money, but am kept out of the rest and other effects my correspondents have in their hands, and threatned with tedious and expensive suits, unlesse I will comply with there unreasonable terms. My Lords this hard treatment together with the disasters of my voyage and the melancholick consideration of haveing left a wife and numerous family of young helpless children, under streights, have almost broken my spirits ; and unlesse Your Lordp<sup>s</sup> support me by effectual orders to New Yorke for my money due there, and by settleing some sallary upon me dureing life, which may not be in the power of our angry Govern<sup>r</sup> to stop or pervert ; I shall be in a worse condition than I was 20 years agoe when I first entred upon the service of y<sup>e</sup> Crowne, and must sink into poverty and misery. Coll Dongan late Gov<sup>r</sup> of New Yorke hes been a witnesse of the trouble and charge I have undergone in y<sup>e</sup> service of y<sup>e</sup> publicke and can inform your Lordp<sup>s</sup> whether I am capable of serving it for the future. The necessityes of my family require my speedy return, and force me to beg a dispatch from your Lordp<sup>s</sup> which I humbly hope yo<sup>r</sup> Lordp<sup>s</sup> will pardon

and most obedient Servant

Statement of Mr. Livingston's Case and Proofs.

[New-York, B. T. V., A. 35 ]

PROOFS.

M<sup>r</sup> LIVINGSTON'S CASE.

In April 1692 a Warrant was sent to the Governor of New York from the Lords Commissioners of the Treasury reciting that whereas the officers and Soldiers of the Two Companies of Foot lately at New York, had by their petition prayed their accompts might be stated which being referred to Coll. Sloughter the Gov<sup>r</sup> of that Province, he had certified that having examined the books and vouchers of M<sup>r</sup> Cortland who acted for the said Company there appeared to be due £1103 9 8 to the Officers and Soldiers, & to M<sup>r</sup> Cortland for money disburs<sup>t</sup> for subsistence and other incidents relating to the s<sup>d</sup> Companies £1356 13 11 $\frac{1}{4}$ . The Governor is thereby ordered to direct the Receiver Generall in New York, to pay the said sums amounting to £2460 3 7 $\frac{3}{4}$  out of the revenue of New York, the necessary charges of the Government being first provided for.

The Petitioner produces a letter under the hand of M<sup>r</sup> Courtland directed to S<sup>r</sup> Edmund Andros whom he had ordered to receive the said £1356 3 11 $\frac{1}{4}$  desiring him to pay to M<sup>r</sup> Livingston £490 19 2 $\frac{3}{4}$  being his part of the sum which he advanced on the said accompt.

The Pet<sup>r</sup> alledges that as to the other £37 - - $\frac{1}{4}$  was advanced by him to the Officers & Soldiers over and above the said sum of £490 19 2 $\frac{3}{4}$  included in M<sup>r</sup> Cortland's accompt.

By the Journall of the Assembly and Councill of New York in Novemb. 1692. it appears that a C<sup>o</sup>m<sup>i</sup>ttee of the Councill and of the Representatives being appointed to expedite a state of the Publick Debts; they Report y<sup>e</sup> Publick Debts to amount to £4550. whereof they find that the third article of £2163 3 7 $\frac{3}{4}$  ought to be deminished £30 for so much paid to Ensign Russell.

The Petitioner disburs<sup>t</sup> the sum of £561 8. New York money for the subsistence of two Companies of Soldiers in the late reign of King James, & two hundred pounds more for the support of the Garrison of Albany at the time of the late happy Revolution which sum of £561 8<sup>s</sup>. being included in Collonel Courtland's Acco<sup>b</sup>s was, after a Reference to & a full examination and Report thereof by Colonel Sloughter the late Governor of New York and his Councill recommended by the Lords Commissioners of His Majesties Treasury to Collonel Fletcher the present Governor to be paid after the necessary charges of Government provided for.

PROOFS.

Mr Levingston alleges this £200 to be included in the article of the Publick Debts upon which the Committee of the Council in Assembly in Novemb<sup>r</sup> 1692 report that they leave the 4th Article of £1105 2 3 expended at Albany, to be inspected into by the House for the particulars.

In November 1692 an act was passed in the Generall Assembly of New York for the payment of y<sup>e</sup> Publick Debts, whereby severall rates and dutyes were imposed upon goods, for the space of two years, & appropriated to the payment of debts due to such as had advanced money for the support of the Government to be paid to them respectively by quarterly payments, according to the proportion of their said Debts of w<sup>ch</sup> duties no accompt has been as yet transmitted from New York.

And if orders may be sent to Collonel Fletcher to cause the said Act to be put in execution, and the money levied thereupon to be applied to the uses to w<sup>ch</sup> the same is thereby appropriated the Petitioner conceives his debt may be satisfied out of the same.

In the year 1657 when the French at Canada were making preparations to attack the Five Nations of Indians belonging to New York, Coll. Dongan then Gov<sup>r</sup> there, sent some of the forces of the Countrey to Albany, and went himself to sustain the Indians against the French; towards the charges of w<sup>ch</sup> expedition a countrey Rate and other taxes were laid by the Gov<sup>r</sup> and Council in New York amounting to £3813 6 4 whereof the Pet<sup>r</sup> alleges £1129 3 6 to remain yet unpaid in the severall Countyes; which he humbly prays Coll. Fletcher may be directed to cause to be levied and y<sup>e</sup> Pet<sup>r</sup> to be paid y<sup>e</sup> said sum of £388 out of y<sup>e</sup> same.

CASE.

And since by an Act of Assembly of N. York made three years agoe, the other two hundred pounds are appointed to be paid out of the Additionall Duty of Goods, imposed for that purpose; but Coll. Fletcher alleges the necessities of the Governm<sup>t</sup> require that the whole revenue, & applies it to other uses than it was first appropriated by the Act, whereby Collonel Courtland's whole accompts remains yet unpaid & the Petition<sup>r</sup> debt unsatisfied.

And the Pet<sup>r</sup> in the year 1655 advanced £355. S. 7 New York Money to the Officers and Soldiers employed in the expedition against the French of Canada, when they invaded the Indians (our Allyes) bordering upon the English Colony; as by an account signed by the Auditor of New York appears; for payment of which a tax was laid upon the inhabitants of the Province whereof £1200 remains uncollected and the Pet<sup>r</sup> debt still unpaid.

sums, amounting to the s<sup>d</sup> sum .£358 upon the credit of the pay due to said Officers and the soldiers under their command.

Interest of £527 19 from the first of August 1688 to Aug<sup>t</sup> 1695 is £295 13

Interest of £233 9 10 from the first of March 1688 to Aug<sup>t</sup> 1695 is £121 16

Interest for £388 8 7 from y<sup>e</sup> first of July 1688 to July 1695 is £217 5

The whole interest for the sums above mentioned amounts to £1503 10

Towards payment whereof the Pet<sup>r</sup> proposes that the £1105 2 3 remaining in arrear of the Tax raised by the Gov<sup>r</sup> and Council in 1688 may be paid to him, & the residue out of the Revenue of N York by quarterly paym<sup>t</sup> in two year's time.

The Petitioner desires, orders to be paid out of the Revenue in New York, what shall appear to be due to him for subsisting the said forces to Nov<sup>r</sup> last.

The Petitioner humbly prays the like quantity of powder may be delivered to him out of His Maj<sup>ty</sup> Stores here in England.

By the publick Proceedings transmitted from time to time from New York, it appears M<sup>r</sup> Levingston has been very serviceable to the Country in relation to the Indians in those parts; for which it does not appear by the

The Petitioner in the same year 1688, advanced to Coll: Dongan y<sup>n</sup> Gov<sup>r</sup> of New York for support of the forces employed in that expedition, the further sum of £2172. New York money making £1670 sterl money, which being included in Coll: Dongan's Acc<sup>t</sup> the Pet<sup>r</sup> about two years since received Tallyes upon the 3th of the Customes (yet unpaid) for his Principall money only, & there remains due to the Pet<sup>r</sup> for five years interest incurr'd before his receipt of the Tallyes after the rate of 8 p<sup>r</sup> cent (which is the legal interest in New York) six hundred sixty eight pounds.

The Petitioner hath subsisted all his Majesties forces both in New York and Albany, from the time of the late happy Revolution, till Nov<sup>r</sup> last; for which there then remained due to the Petitioner nine hundred pounds.

In 1689 when Jacob Leisler assumed the government of New York, he took from the Pet<sup>r</sup> ten barrells of powder, which remained in His Majesties stores at the arrivall of Coll: Sloughiter His Majesties first Governour of that Province, and have since been expended in His Majesties service, as by the certificate of Colonell Fletcher, ready to be produced, may appear

The Petitioner hath for 20 years last past executed the office of Sec<sup>y</sup> or Agent from the Gov<sup>r</sup> of New York to the Five Nations of Indians bordering upon Albany and allys of the English; as by the Memoriall of his negotiations yearly Accompts of the Revenue of that Province any fee or salary has been hitherto allowed to him; and the Pet<sup>r</sup> producing a certificate from Coll Dongan of the great hindrance that employment is to his private affairs, he humbly prays a salary or yearly allowance during his life for his further encouragement in this service which the Petitioner hopes may amount to £100 st<sup>r</sup>l<sup>1</sup> per ann<sup>m</sup> as of His Majesties Bounty.

The Petitioner further prays he may be confirmed in the said offices for his life.

transmitted to the Plantation Office, may appear—In w<sup>ch</sup> employments the Pet<sup>r</sup> spent much time and pains, but never received any salary or other recompence for it.

The Petitioner for Sixteen years past hath executed the Office of Collector of the Excise and Quit Rents of Albany; for which he has had no more than the small salary of £50 New York money p<sup>r</sup> ann<sup>m</sup>.

The Petitioner hath also executed the Offices of Town Clerk, Clerk of the Peace, & Clerk of the Court of Common Pleas at Albany; the salary and perquisitts thereof never exceeded 20£ p<sup>r</sup> ann<sup>m</sup>.

The Petitioner being reduced to great streights by reason of his large disbursements for the Crown, & his publick employments not affording him a competent subsistence, he was forced to come for England to seek relief; the which voyage (the ship loosing her rudder in a violent storm) he was exposed to the utmost hazards and extremities at sea above five months, being reduced to a pint of water and a little cocoa nutt, a day, for seventeen weeks together, till he was driven upon the coast of Portu[g]al, from whence he travelled through that country and Spain, to the Groyne<sup>1</sup> where he embarked for England.

The Petitioner considering the many important and necessary occasions His Majesty hath for money during this expensive war against France, waves all expectation of being reimbursed here, and humbly proposes to your Excellencies and prays:—

of New York to pay the Petitioner his disbursements of £761 8 with interest out of the additional customes arising there, and that the said duties may not be applyed to any other uses then what they were given for

That an order may be sent to the same Governor to levy the money appointed for defraying the charges of the expedition against y<sup>e</sup> French in 1688, and to pay the Pet<sup>r</sup> his disbursements of £358 8 7 with interest out of the first money to be so raised.

That an Order may be sent to the same Governor to apply the residue of that money towards satisfaction of y<sup>e</sup> interest due to the Pet<sup>r</sup> for y<sup>e</sup> 1670<sup>l</sup> advanced by him to Coll Dongan for subsistance of the forces in 1688.

That an order may be sent to the same Governor to repay the Petitioner the £900, advanced by him for subsistance of His Maj<sup>ties</sup> forces since the Revolution; out of the taxes laid for the payment of the Forces.

That your Excellencies will please to order as many barrells of powder to be delivered to your Petitioner out of His Ma<sup>ty</sup> stores here, as were taken from your Petitioner by Jacob Leisler

That the Petitioner may be confirmed in his employments of Collector of the Excise of Albany, and Town Clerk, Clerk of the Peace and Clerk of the Court of Common Pleas at Albany during his life, with the usual salaries and fees, and to be executed by himself or his sufficient Deputys

That the Petitioner may have such a salary during his life out of the Revenue arising to His Maj<sup>ty</sup> in New York for his executing the office of Secretary or Agent from the Governor to the 5 Nations of Indians, as your Excellencies shall think fit; for which the Petitioner will oblige himself to keep true records of all transactions with them and to transmitt them to England.

Mr. Robert Livingston to the Lords of Trade.

[New-York, (B. T.) V. A 13.]

To the Right Hon<sup>ble</sup> the Lords of the Cōmittee of Trade and Plantations.

May it please Yo<sup>r</sup> Lordships.

My occasions are very urgent and require my returning to New York within three weeks, which forces me humbly to beg of yo<sup>r</sup> Lordships that my case may receive yo<sup>r</sup> Lordships speedy and absolute determination, though I have not produc'd all my accounts, formally stated by the Audit<sup>r</sup> & certify'd by the Govern<sup>r</sup> of New York, as I am informed is usuall upon all addresses of this nature. Besides that I was a stranger to the manner of proceedings at this Hon<sup>ble</sup> Board, and am at too great a distance to rectify that error now; I hope it sufficiently appears to yo<sup>r</sup> Lordships that I could not have obtain'd from the Govern<sup>r</sup> any favor that was necessary to recōmend my case to yo<sup>r</sup> Lordships, but I hope the justice of it will support it self, and the orders I desire will p<sup>r</sup>vent my putting any fraud upon the Government, if I could have so base a design.

The first sum I seek relief for is £561 8<sup>s</sup>. This is included in Coll: Courtlands account which has been audited at New York, been approv'd of at this Hon<sup>ble</sup> Board and order'd by the Lords of the Treasury to be paid; and if a generall order be sent that Coll: Courtlands account shall be paid, it will be as satisfactory to me, as if I had a particular order for my own use only.

The second sum of £200 is included in the amount called the Albany account, which has been examined and settled by the Assembly there; and a generall order for payment of that account will answer my end.

The third sum of £358 8<sup>s</sup> has been examin'd and sign'd by the Audit<sup>r</sup> of New York, whose certificate I have ready to produce.

The fourth sum of £668 sterling money, which I humbly beg the allowance of for five years interest of £1670. advanc'd to Coll Dongan in 1688, may be as well computed here as at New York, being only a point of cōmon arithmetick, and I hope will be thought very reasonable for the following consideration.

I am charg'd by my Agent here with £495 4 5½ for the advance and interest of some of those individual goods which make part of the said £1670, and I am charg'd with £901 6 for the expences of procuring and discounting the Tallys I had for that £1670. principall; so that unlesse the £668. be allow'd me for interest, I shall not receive above £275. for my whole £1670. disburs'd, and if the £668. be allowed to me I shall still lose £627. by advancing that sum of £1670. for the service of the Crown.

The fifth sum of £900. was adjusted before I came from New York; but to obviate all objections concerning that money, I desire only an order for so much as remain'd due to me in November last for subsisting His Ma<sup>ty's</sup> forces, without ascertaining any particular Sum.

The quantity of powder taken from me by Leisler and spent in His Maj<sup>ty's</sup> service is acknowledg'd by the present Govern<sup>r's</sup> certificate; which I have ready to produce.

The Offices I have formerly executed I am willing to continue the execution of, or to lay down, as your Lordships shall conceive most for His Ma<sup>ty's</sup> service; But if your Lordships shall think it fit to continue me Agent to the Indians, I humbly beg the encouragement of a salary of £100 p<sup>r</sup> Ann sterl<sup>e</sup> money tord's my charges and losse of my time from my private affairs, and that I may be constituted in my severall employments by an order from y<sup>r</sup> Lordships.

All which is humbly submitted to y<sup>o</sup>r Lordships great wisdom and justice by

At the Cômmittee of Trade and Plantations. At the Council Chamber at Whitehall Tuesday the 1st of October 1695.

PRESENT —	Earl of Oxford	M <sup>r</sup> Vice Chamberlain
	E. of Montague	M <sup>r</sup> Sec <sup>y</sup> Trumbull

The Proofs upon the severall articles of M<sup>r</sup> Levingston's petition are read and the draught of a Report thereupon read and approved after which information having been given to the Committee that M<sup>r</sup> Levingston is the Person that protested against the Proclaiming their Majesties at Albany their Lordships order the Proceedings of that time transmitted to the Plantation Office to be lookt out in order to the informing the Committee of the truth of the matter, and that M<sup>r</sup> Hackshaw, Cap<sup>t</sup> Harbin Cap<sup>t</sup> Shelly M<sup>r</sup> Jackson and others who may give an Acco<sup>t</sup> of that matter to the Committee be summon'd to attend at the next meeting M<sup>r</sup> Levingston who is heard upon this Information averrs that he proclaimed their Majesties himself in person, but that indeed he had protested with others against the Proceedings of Jacob Leisler and others at New York.

Mr. Robert Livingston to the Lords of the Treasury,

[New-York, B. T. V., A 80.]

My Lords

His Maj<sup>s</sup> in Council having been pleased to refer to your Lop<sup>s</sup> consideration the report of the Lords of the Committee of Trade and Plantations made upon my petition; I humbly crave leave to give your Lop<sup>s</sup> a short account of my case relating to the principal sums mentioned in that Report which otherwise will appear obscure to your Lordships.

None of the severall sums enumerated in the Report accrued due to me by y<sup>e</sup> sale of goods to y<sup>e</sup> Crown, whereby I could get any profit, but were advanc'd by me in specie when y<sup>e</sup> exigencies of the Province of New Yorke required greater supplys than the Revenue of that place could afford, and I rais'd 'em out of a true zeal for the Crown, that the country might not be expos'd to a French invasion, as it otherwise must have been. The principall sums are allow'd by y<sup>e</sup> Lords of the Committee of Trade and Plantations to be just, and an order of Council is pass'd for payment of 'em at New York, and I humbly hope it will appear as reasonable that I should have interest for those sums, as that I should receive the principal it self, for these following considerations:—

1. I advanc'd a great part of those moneys upon my credit and have paid interest for 'em.
2. The rest of the moneys, advanc'd out of my own pocket I could have improv'd in trade, or at least have lent out at y<sup>e</sup> same interest I desire from the Crown.
3. The want of these monys for so many years since I disburs'd 'em, have forc'd me to trade upon credit to and from England, and I have been constrain'd to allow to my correspondents here for y<sup>e</sup> advance and interest of that credit, much more then I now ask
4. The Tallys deliver'd to my Agent in April 1693. for y<sup>e</sup> sum of £2172 N. Yorke mony (being y<sup>e</sup> first sum mentioned in the Report) have been so farr from reimbursing me the principal £2172. that being struck upon the Three fourths of y<sup>e</sup> Customs after £883000. and not obtained but after a long solicitation, my Agent hes charg'd me, and Arbitrators have allowed him for expences & commission money and discount of those tallys above £500; so that the interest of that sum, if allowed me, will still leave me a looser severall hundred pounds upon that single article.
5. The straights I lay under from y<sup>e</sup> want of the principal monys I have disburs'd for y<sup>e</sup> Crown forc'd me to take a voyage hither wherein I mett with great hazards extremeties and losses and shall be at the expence of £500 before I can get home.

These reasons I hope will be satisfactory to your Lordps and induce your Lordps. to allow me interest, not only for y<sup>e</sup> time past, but to y<sup>e</sup> time of payment of y<sup>e</sup> principal sums; all which (except y<sup>e</sup> first sum of £2172.) are still remaining unpaid.

The salary of £100 sterling during my life mention'd in y<sup>e</sup> Report, will I hope appear a modest request for my past and future services, when I have told your Lordships that I have perform'd the office of Secretary or agent from y<sup>e</sup> Govern<sup>r</sup> of N. Yorke to the 5 Nations of Indians for 20 years past, neglected my own private affaires, spent at least £50 per ann<sup>m</sup> entertaining of those people at my own house, and never received any allowance or recompence whatsoever for it. The other small offices mentioned in the Report I have executed for 15 or 16 past without exception, the salaries and perquysites of all which never exceeded £70. p<sup>r</sup> ann<sup>m</sup> New Yorke money, and will not I hope be thought too great to be confirmed to me for life, to be executed by me or my sufficient deputies.

My Lords. The necessities of N. Yorke dureing y<sup>e</sup> warr are so great that it will be very difficult to raise y<sup>e</sup> principall moneys due to me, and impossible to raise y<sup>e</sup> interest out of y<sup>e</sup> Revenue of the Province; and therefore I humbly pray that instead of £1503 10<sup>s</sup> New Yorke money to be paid there y<sup>r</sup> Lps. will recommend me to His Maj<sup>e</sup> for y<sup>e</sup> value to be paid here. Without such assistance I shall not be able to carry any cargoe home, & shal have as litle credit there as I have here where I am a stranger, but shall with my wife and six children be expos'd to contempt and want.

My Lords. Thogh my own interest and the sake of my family touch me very neerly, I have a great regard to His Maj<sup>s</sup> interest in what I ask; for if I return to N. Yorke without some suiteable encouragement from hence, al people there wil be very backward in advancing money for the publick, whatsoever exigency befalls it, and what y<sup>e</sup> consequences of that may bee I dred more then I can expresse; for New Yorke being a fronteer place and extremely impoverish'd by the war, many of the inhabitants have already deserted it.

My Lords. My affares require my immediate return to America, and y<sup>e</sup> Lords of the Admiralty have commanded the ships to be ready to depart on New years Day; and therefore I most humbly beg the favor of your Lordps speedy resolution and Report concerning,
My Lords

Your Lordships most obedient Servant

ROB<sup>t</sup>. LIVINGSTON.

[New-York, (B. T.) V., A. 50.]

May it please Your Majesty.

In obedience to Your Ma<sup>s</sup> Commands in the annex order of Councill relating to Robert Livingston of New York; We have consider'd the matters thereby referred to us and do most humbly report to your Majesty:—

That as to the Peticioners craving of interest after the rate of £S p<sup>r</sup> cent for the summe of £2172 New York money, from the time he advanced the same there, for the support of the forces against the French in the year 1688 untill April 1693 the time he had Tallyes assigned him here for £1670 sterling money, in satisfaction of the said principall money of New York; We humbly conceive it reasonable to be allowed as well in justice to the Pet<sup>r</sup> (who alledges he might have made advantage of his money in trade or otherwise) as for the encouragement of others to be serviceable to Your Ma<sup>y</sup> on the like occasion; the said interest of £S p<sup>r</sup> cent (being as we are informed the usuall rate allowed there) amounts to £S6S 16<sup>s</sup> 0<sup>d</sup>

And as to his other cravings of like interest for the three summes undermentioned, to wit

For £233 9 10. expended for the support of the garrisons at Albany & New York from 1 st March 1688 to August 1695. ....	121 16

And for £388 8 7. advanced to the soldiers in New York who were employed in the expedition against the French in the year 1687. from 1st of July 1688 to 1st July 1695. . . . . 217 5 0 making together £634 14 0. we are humbly of opinion that in regard Your Ma<sup>ty</sup> by an Order in Council dated the 21st of November last (a Duplicate whereof is hereunto annexed) hath directed the Governour of New Yorke for the time being to take care forthwith that the Pet<sup>r</sup> be satisfied out of the Revenues there, what he shall make appear to the said Governour and Council to be justly due to him (which Order as we humbly conceive will only extend onely to the payment of the principall summs therein mencōned) it may also be equitable to allow him like interest of £S p<sup>r</sup> Cent as above, to be computed from the time he shall make it appear that he advanced the said summs there, untill the time he shalbe reimbursed the same.

And whereas by a memorial delivered to us by the said M<sup>r</sup> Levingston he sets forth, that during the warr the necessities of New York will be so great that it will be very difficult to rayse the principall, and impossible to rayse that and the said interest due to him; and prays that in lieu of the said summs amounting to £1503 10—money of New Yorke, he may receive the value of the said interest here; We humbly propose (if Your Ma<sup>ty</sup> shall so thinke fitt) that for the said £868 16—interest, which is already adjusted, and of which the principall has been already satisfied here, Your Ma<sup>ty</sup> may be graciously pleased to direct payment of £668 sterling (being at £30 p<sup>r</sup> Cent discount, which, as we are informed, is the value of the said £868 10<sup>s</sup> in New York) either by the hands of the Earl of Ranelagh to be placed in his account for Contingents of the Army, or in such other manner as Your Ma<sup>ty</sup> shall please to appoint. And that as to what shall appear to be due to him for the interest of the last mencōned three summs, from the time of his advancing the same respectively untill the time of their repaym<sup>t</sup>, may be satisfied out of the Revenues of the Province of New York, by an Add<sup>l</sup> order from Your Ma<sup>ty</sup> to the said Governour at the rate of 8 p<sup>r</sup> Cent as aforesaid.

Lastly in consideracōn of the long and faithfull services of the said M<sup>r</sup> Levingston in all the treatyes and Negotiations with the Indians in those parts, he having been (as is certified) at great trouble and charge therein, and having not hitherto had any salary for the same; We thinke he may deserve as a reward for the time past, and to encourage him in Your Ma<sup>ty</sup> service for the time to come, a salary of one hundred pounds sterling p<sup>r</sup> ann. to be settled upon him out of the Revenues of New York, during his life, to commence as Your Majesty shall thinke fitt. And we have no objection against his being confirmed in the offices of Collector of the Excise & Quitt Rents, Town Clerk, Clerk of the Peace, and Clerk of the Court of Common Pleas at Albany, with the usuall salaries during his life, as desired.

All which is most humbly submitted to Your Majesties great wisdom

[New-York Entries, III. 254.]

Trusty and Welbeloved Wee greet you well, Whereas upon your representation, That notwithstanding Our Pleasure signified to our severall Colonies in the Northern Parts of America, That they should agree upon a Quota of men or other assistance to be given by them respectively for the defence of Our Province of New York, some of the said Collonies having omitted to send Com<sup>rs</sup> to adjust the said Quotas, nothing had been done therein, the severall Governors of Our said Colonies were directed to send the respective Quotas of men or other assistance appointed by us for the defence and security of Our said Province, We declaring Our Pleasure, that two hundred and forty men of Our Militia of our Colony of Virginia and one hundred and sixty men of Our Militia of Our Province of Maryland should be the measure of the Assistance to be given by our said Colony and Province upon the application of our Governor or Comander in Cheif of our Province of New York, and it having been represented unto us by our respective Governors of our Colonies of Virginia and Maryland, that having in Obedience to Our Commands herein recommended to the care of the Gen<sup>l</sup> Assemblys of our said Colony and Province respectively the providing fitt supplies for the said Quotas, they had alleged that the Inhabitants being very poor by reason of the war and the low price of Tobacco, and the apprehensions of Forreign Indians, putting the countrey to great charges to secure their Frontiers, they are become incapable of affording any assistance to New York, and had humbly Prayed to be Excused from all contribution of that nature but that for the present the respective Assemblys have appropriated the Sum of five hundred pounds for our Colony of Virginia and two hundred pounds for our Province of Maryland to ly ready for the service, and have accordingly given power to the respective Governors to apply the same as there shall be occasion. We have thereupon signified Our Will and Pleasure to Our trusty and Welbeloved S<sup>r</sup> Edm<sup>d</sup> Andros our Governor in Cheif of our Colony of Virginia and to our trusty and Welbeloved Francis Nicholson, our Governor in Cheif of Our Province of Maryland, to dispose of the said severall sums of five hundred pounds and two hundred pounds respectively upon your applicat<sup>n</sup> towards the defence and security of our Province of New York which said respective sums of five hundred pounds and two hundred pounds, Wee are pleased to declare shall be instead of the Quotas or other assistance to be given by Our said Colony of Virginia and Province of Maryland towards the defence and security of our said Province of New York, Until we shall signify our further Pleasure therein, Given at Our Court at Kensington this second day of January 169<sup>5</sup> In the Seventh Year of Our Reign

Examinations taken before the Right Hon<sup>ble</sup> the Lords of the Committee of Trade and Plantacous.

At the Committee the 25th of August 1695.

Philip French of New York gentleman being sworn says that having heard it discours at New York before the election of Assembly about May last, That Col. Fletcher said he would pistoll any man that should chuse Peter De la Noy to serve for that place, The Deponent went to dine with Cól. Fletcher with intent to know the Truth of such Report and having spoke of it there in Cól Fletcher's presence he the said Cól. Fletcher did not deny but rather own'd that he had said so. Whereupon Deponent asking him why he put up De la Noy, he answer'd that he did not and the Deponent saying that Col. Depeyster had reported it so Col. Fletcher said De la Noy and Depeyster are both rascalls.

That at the time of the said election for New York the Deponent heard there was a great deal of trouble in the Town about it and on the day of Election he saw many soldiers and seamen with clubbs in the field of which he took notice to one of the Members of the Councill that was there, and seeing sever<sup>ll</sup> of those call'd Leislars party going out of the field, he the Depon<sup>t</sup> enquired the reason of it from some of them who told him there was a rumer of pressing in the feild and therefore they would not stay.

The Deponent further says, he heard there had been great heats in the Assembly about the Acco<sup>ts</sup> of Publick Money.

The Deponent further says, Major Howell told him the last spring, he feard he the said
Major Howell should meet with some trouble, because the Govern<sup>r</sup> having called a Court Martial of the Militia Officers to consider of the Releif of Albany and the detachm<sup>t</sup> to be sent thither which the officers consented should be sent upon the credit of being paid by the next Assembly But that he the said Howell was against it, and the said Major Howell was afterwards sent to Albany with the detachments.

The Deponent says that he heard it said all the Goldsmiths in Town were employed in making snuff boxes and other plate for presents for the Governor And that Capt. Tims [Sims] Capt<sup>r</sup> of a Merchant ship was a Lieuten<sup>t</sup> of the Kings Company at Albany.

William Kid Master of y<sup>e</sup> Brigantine Antegoa being sworn, says at the Election of Assembly men for the town of New York about three months since he saw soldiers and seamen with clubbs &c<sup>e</sup> in the feild & many went out to the feild least they should be prest and he heard there were fredoms given to sever<sup>ll</sup> persons over night before the election and the deponent and other Masters of ships were spoke to by the Sherriff to bring their seamen on shoar to vote.

The Deponent further says That M<sup>r</sup> John Tutall the Sherriff of New York spoke to him to get his people from on board his vessell, they being Inhabitants of New York to vote at the Election about three months since for such persons as the Govern<sup>r</sup> desired should be elected but the Deponent cannot say it was by order from the Govern<sup>r</sup> The Deponent further says the Soldiers came into the feild a great many together without their soldiers cloaths or their arms, with stick in their hands but they did not vote.

The 25th of August 1695.

Samuel Bradley of New York being sworn says the evening before the Election of Assembly men in May last for New York he saw at the Mayor's House sever<sup>ll</sup> fredoms made out to the Purser, Guñer, Boatswain and others of the King's ship and the next day he saw sever<sup>ll</sup> of the Men of War's Men in the feild.

That he the Deponent askt M<sup>r</sup> Tutall the Sherriff whether the fredome intended for the Deponent was made out which the Sherriff said was ready with the fredome of sever<sup>ll</sup> others.

John Alborough a Dutchman being sworn, says that when the Assembly were to be elected for New York about May last he saw some of the soldiers and seamen of the Man of War in the feild and he was afraid to stay there for fear of being prest, the soldiers were not in their Soldiers coats.

That the Deponent's Master being an Assembly man he heard his Mast<sup>r</sup> say he had askt the Govern<sup>r</sup> for an accmpt but he was not clear about it, and soon after the Govern<sup>r</sup> broke the Assembly

Joseph Davies being sworn says he saw with an Assembly man a short acco<sup>t</sup> which came from the last Assembly of about fifteen hundred pounds said to be remaining in the Govern<sup>r</sup>s hands of which he heard the Assembly did desire a more peticular acco<sup>t</sup> before they would do any thing else upon which the Govern<sup>r</sup> did dissolve the Assembly.

The Deponent being Master Mate of the Nassau, he was order'd by the Master of the said ship to bring the seamen of the said ship to shoar to vote at the Election.

Giles Shelly Mast<sup>r</sup> of the Nassau being sworn says that about May last, that he being with his ship Nassau at New York when the Assembly men of that place were elected, he told his Mate, Boatswain & Gunner who were Inhabitants of the Place, they might go and vote at the Election, that his Mate and Boatswain went on shoar but his Gunner staid on Board his said ship, The Deponent says he had no orders from Cól Fletcher for so doing, but he spoke to them of his own accord not knowing but they had right to vote at the Election being Inhabitants of New York. The Deponent says he was in the feild at the time of the said Election, and he did not see any of the seamen or others belonging to the Man of War except the Captain. But he saw the Soldiers come into the feild and they went into the Mill yard which is an enclosure not far from the place of Election where they remained till the Election was over, they had not their arms but sticks in their hands, nor were they in their soldiers cloathes But they did not come into the feild amongst the Inhabitants that voted.

Benjamin Blidenburgh being sworn says he was present at the Election of Assembly men for New York in May last were he saw some soldiers come out of the town with staves in their hands, but they did not vote nor did the Deponent then hear any discourse of pressing for the frontiers, tho' he belevies some of Leislars party might absent themselves for fear of it.

The Deponent says it was reported at New York that the Assembly had demanded an acct of the money given to Col. Slaughter the former Govern<sup>r</sup>. But that Col. Fletcher had not given it to them at which they were dissatisfied and would give no more money and that they were soon after dissolv'd.

He says he never heard that the soldiers voted at elections except such of them as had right by being inhabitants of the town.

Thomas Telfers Mast<sup>r</sup> of the ship New York merch<sup>t</sup> being sworn says he was present at the election of Assembly men for New York about May last, he saw no opposition nor did he hear any body was dissatisfied with the election, except some who were displeas'd that M<sup>r</sup> John Graham the Attorney Gen<sup>l</sup> was chosen, the Deponent was no freeman and therefore did not vote. But the Deponent says that M<sup>r</sup> Clark the Coroner and Cap<sup>t</sup> of the Militia offer'd him the Deponent about two years before to make him free which he refused.

The Deponent says that none of the men of his ship came on shoar that day nor did he hear that any freedoms had been given out upon this occasion.

The Deponent says he saw the soldiers in the feild but they had not their soldiers cloaths nor their arms, nor did they come upon the ground where the election was, but they were together in a considerable body.

[Journal, IX, 1.]

His Majesties Commission for promoting the Trade of this Kingdom and for inspecting and improving His Plantations in America and elsewhere.

WILLIAM the Third by the Grace of God King of England, Scotland, France and Ireland, Defender of the Faith &c. To our Keeper of oure Great Seale of England or Chancellor of England for the time being, Our President of Our Privy Council for the time being, Our first Commissioner of Our Treasury And our Treasurer of England for the time being, Our first Commissioner of our Admiralty and Our Admirall of England for the time being, And our principall Secretarys of State for the time being, And the Chancellor of Our Exchequer for the time being, To Our Right Trusty and Right Well beloved Cousin and Councillor John Earl of Bridgewater, and Ford Earl of Tankerville, To our trusty and Well beloved Sir Philip Meadows, Kn<sup>t</sup>, William Blaitwayte, John Pollexfen, John Locke, Abraham Hill, and John Methwen, Esquires, Greeting :

Whereas We are extremely desirous that the Trade of Our Kingdom of England, upon which the strength and riches thereof do in a great measure depend, should by all proper means be promoted and advanced; And Whereas We are perswaded that nothing will more effectually contribute thereto than the appointing of knowing and fitt persons to inspect and examin into the general Trade of our said Kingdom and the severall parts thereof, and to enquire into the severall matters and things herein after mentioned relating thereunto, with such Powers and Directions as are herein after specified and contained.

KNO WYEE therefore that We reposing espetiall Trust and Confidence in your Discretions, Abilities and Integrities, Have nominated, authorized and constituted, and do by these presents nominate authorize and appoint the said Keeper of Our Great Seale or Chancellor for the time being, The President of Our Privy Council for the time being, The Keeper of our Privy Seale for the time being, The first Commissioner of Our Treasury or Treasurer for the time being, The First Commissioner for executing the Office of Admirall and Our Admirall for the time being, Our Principall Secretarys of State for the time being, And Our Chancellor of the Exchequer for the time being, And you John Earl of Bridgewater, Ford Earl of Tankerville, Sir Philip Meadows, William Blathwayte, John Pollexfen, John Locke, Abraham Hill, and John Methwen, or any other three or more of you, to be Our Commissioners during our Royal Pleasure, for promoting the Trade of our Kingdome, and for Inspecting and Improving our Plantations in America and elsewhere.

And to the end that Our Royall purpose and intention herein may the better take effect Our WILL and PLEASURE is, and We do hereby order, direct and appoint, That you do diligently and constantly as the nature of the service may require, meet together at some convenient Place in Our Palace of Whitehall which we shall assigne for that purpose, or at any other place which we shall appoint for the execution of this Our Commission.

And We do by these presents authorize and impower you Our said Commissioners, or any Three or more of you, to enquire, examin into and take an Account of the state and condition of the general Trade of England, and also of the severall particular Trades in all Forreigne parts, and how the same respectively are advanced or decayed, and the causes or occasions thereof; and to enquire into and examine what Trades are or may prove hurtfull, or are or may be made beneficiall to our Kingdom of England, and by what ways and means the profitable and advantageous Trades may be more improved and extended and such as are hurtfull and prejudiciall rectified or discouraged; and to enquire into the severall obstructions of Trade and the means of removing the same. And also in what manner and by what proper methods the Trade of our said Kingdom may be most effectually protected, and secured, in all the parts thereof; And to consider by what means the severall usefull and profitable manufactures already settled in Our said Kingdom may be further improved, and how and in what manner new and profitable Manufactures may be introduced.

And we do further by these presents Authorize and require you Our said Commissioners, or any three or more of you, to consider of some proper methods for setting on worke and employing the Poore of Our said Kingdome, and making them usefull to the Publick, and thereby easing Our Subjects of that Burthen; and by what ways and means such designe may be made most effectuall; and in generall, by all such methods and ways as you in your Discretions shall thinke best, to inform your selves of all things relating to Trade and the promoting and encouraging thereof; As also to consider of the best and most effectuall means to regaine, encourage and establish the Fishery of this Kingdome.

AND OUR FURTHER WILL AND PLEASURE is, that you Our said Commissioners, or any Five or more of you, do from time to time make representations touching the Premises to Us, or to Our Privy Council, as the nature of the Business shall require, which said Representations are to be in writing, and to be signed by Five or more of you.

And We do hereby further Impower and require you Our said Commissioners to take into your care all Records, Grants and Papers remaining in the Plantation Office or thereunto belonging.

And likewise to inform your selves of the present condition of Our respective Plantations, as well with regard to the Administration of the Government and Justice in those places, as in relation to the Commerce thereof; And also to inquire into the Limits of Soyle and Product of Our severall Plantations and how the same may be improved, and of the best means for easing and securing Our Colonies there, and how the same may be rendred most usefull and beneficiall to our said Kingdome of England.

And We do hereby further impower and require you Our said Commissioners, more particularly and in a principal manner to inform yourselves what Navall Stores may be furnished from Our Plantations, and in what Quantities, and by what methods Our Royall purpose of having our Kingdom supplied with Navall Stores from thence may be made practicable and promoted; And also to inquire into and inform your selves of the best and most proper methods of settling and improving in Our Plantations, such other Staples and other Manufactures as Our subjects of England are now obliged to fetch and supply themselves withall from other Princes and States; And also what Staples and Manufactures may be best encouraged there, and what Trades are taken up and exercised there, which are or may prove prejudiciall to England, by furnishing themselves or other Our Colonies with what has been usually supplied from England; And to finde out proper means of diverting them from such Trades, and whatsoever else may turne to the hurt of Our Kingdom of England.

And to examin and looke into the usuall Instructions given to the Governors of Our Plantations, and to see if any thing may be added, omitted or changed therein to advantage; To take an Account yearly by way of Journall of the Administration of Our Governors there, and to draw out what is proper to be observed and represented unto Us; And as often as occasion shall require to consider of proper persons to be Governors or Deputy Governors, or to be of Our Councill or of Our Councill at Law, or Secretaries, in Our respective Plantations, in order to present their Names to Us in Councill.

And We do hereby further Authorize and impower you Our said Commissioners, to examin into and weigh such Acts of the Assemblies of the Plantations respectively as shall from time to time be sent or transmitted hither for Our Approbation; And to set down and represent as aforesaid the Usefulness or Mischeif thereof to Our Crown, and to Our said Kingdom of England, or to the Plantations themselves, in case the same should be established for Lawes there; And also to consider what matters may be recommended as fitt to be passed in the Assemblys there,

To heare complaints of Oppressions and maleadministrations, in Our Plantations, in order to represent as aforesaid what you in your Discretions shall thinke proper; And also to require an Account of all Monies given for Publick uses by the Assemblies in Our Plantations, and how the same are and have been expended or laid out.

And We do by these Presents Authorize and impower you Our said Commissioners or any Three of you, to send for Persons and Papers, for your better Information in the Premises; and as Occasion shall require to examin Witnesses upon Oath, which Oath you are hereby impowred to Administer in order to the matters aforesaid.

And We do declare Our further Will and Pleasure to be, That you Our said Commissioners do from time to time report all your doeings in relation to the Premises in writing under the hands of any Five of you, as aforesaid, to Us, or to Our Privy Council, as the nature of the thing shall require.

And We do hereby further Authorize and impower you Our said Commissioners to execute and perform all other things necessary or proper for auswering our Royall Intentions in the Premises.

And We do further give power to you Our said Commissioners, or any three or more of you, as aforesaid, from time to time, and as occasion shall require, to send for and desire the advice and assistance of Our Attorney or Sollicitor Generall or other Our Council at Law:

And We do hereby further declare Our Royall Will and Pleasure to be, that We do not hereby intend that Our Chancellor of England or Keeper of Our great Seale for the time being, The President of Our Privy Council for the time being, The Keeper of Our Privy Seale for the time being, The Treasurer or first Commissioner of Our Treasury for the time being, Our Admirall or first Commissioner for executing the Office of Admirall for the time being, Our Principall Secretaries of State for the time being, or Our Chancellor of the Exchequer for the time being, should be obliged to give constant attendance at the meeting of Our said Commissioners, but only so often and when the presence of them or any of them shall be necessary and requisite, and as their other Publick service will permitt.

Copy of Coll: Fletcher's letter to His Grace The Duke of Shrewsbury.

May it please Your Grace.

Thanksgiving. I have received the Joyful news, of that happy deliverance to His Maj<sup>ty</sup>, and his Govern<sup>t</sup> from the base, and horrid conspiracys, and plotts of His Enemies, and a day of thanksgiving is appointed, throughout the province, to be observed by all His Maj<sup>ty</sup>'s subjects, who I may say, are unanimously rejoiced.

Association. The Association is signed by me, and the Council, and copys thereof transmitted to each County to be signed, by all Officers, Civil and Military, Freeholders and inhabitants whatsoever; There is but one Gent: in the City has refused, he is a Roman Catholick, and had made application unto me, a copy of His petition is herewith sent.—

We are very sensible of Your Grace's care of this province, and humbly beg the continuance of Your Grace's patronage and protection

Present. I hear the present for the Indians was ordered, but is not yet come over. Our Indians will not bear heavy arms, and therefore I did likewise apply, for 400. light Dutch fuses, to be given them, as itt is found needfull.

I have sent Your Grace a copy of the latest intelligence from the frontiers.

Forces The four companies were very much weaken'd by death and desertion.

Recruits I did prevaile with the Assembly to provide a fund for £3 a man levy money, to raise 120 men Volunteers, to recruite the company, who are listed for one year, there is likewise some encouragement, provided for the companies the same time; I was necessitated to take this method, not being able to get one man from the neighbouring Colonies

Subsistence notwithstanding my frequent application. It is very needful the subsistence of four companys be punctually paid, they are all I can depend upon.

Brook and Nicoll. I was advised by the Council and Assembly of this Province, to send over M<sup>r</sup> Brooke and M<sup>r</sup> Nicolls, both of the Council here, to represent our present state, and circumstances to His Majesty, and have not heard of their arrival, they have instructions relating every minute affair of this province, and I hope will have credence, as I have humbly requested from Your Grace. Governor Fletcher to the Lords of Trade.

[New-York Entries, A. 10.]

May it please Your Lordships.

On the 25th inst: I received the duplicate of Your Lord<sup>sh</sup>'s letter of March the tenth which I did communicate to His Maj<sup>ty</sup>'s Council for this province, who Joyne with me in thanks to almighty God for that wonderfull and great deliverance. We are infinitely obliged to Your Lord<sup>sh</sup>'s care of this His Maj<sup>ty</sup>'s Province.

A ship belonging to this place from Madera happily mett at sea that vessell which had Your Lord<sup>sh</sup>'s packet for Virginia and brought me a Gazett which gave me an account of that horrid News of the Plot. conspiracy against His Majesty's sacred person. I caused it to be reprinted here and proclamation was issued by advice of the Council for a day of thanksgiving throughtout this province before the duplicate from Your Lord<sup>sh</sup> came to hand. This place has suffered much in Trade having lost several considerable ships, but the good success of His Maj<sup>ty</sup>'s fleet (which we daily pray for) will I hope repay all.—

The sudden departure of His Maj<sup>ty</sup>'s ships of warr from Virginia does straiten my time so much that I cannot send a copy of all our publick papers—I send a list of the contents of the paquet sent home by the ship Heathcote.

Answers about
Assistance I have returned into the Plantation Office Copys of my last application to Connecticut Rhode Island and Pensilvania with their evasive answers.

Recruiting the 4.
Company I have no other forces to depend upon but the four Companys in His Maj<sup>ty</sup>'s pay consisting of 400 men which were much weakened, by death and desertion, I could not think of a better way to keepe them complete in their numbers but by inlisting men for a certain time none lesse than a year, The people in these parts will not list but with the condition of being discharged within a year, two or three according to agreement, if His Maj<sup>ty</sup> approve of this way it will save the charge and trouble of recruits from England, but this can hold no longer than the Assembly will allow the fund which they have granted this last session of three pounds a man levy money with an advance of four pence a day for one year determining in May 1697. I humbly beg His Maj<sup>ty</sup>'s pleasure in this matter being necessitated to this expedient by the disappointment I mett from all the neighbouring Colonies from whom I have not been able to obtain a man.—

Remittance from Virginia. S<sup>r</sup> Edmund Andros promised the quota appointed from Virginia by her late Maj<sup>ty</sup>'s letter, but could not effect it, he hath transmitted one thousand pounds New Yorke money towards the alleviating of our charge, it amounts to £769 sh. 4. d. 6. sterling, Gov<sup>r</sup> Nicholson of Maryland sent us £133. S<sup>r</sup> 7<sup>d</sup> sterling.

Disturbances on the Frontiers. Several skulking partys of French and Indians disturb the people in their husbandry who live upon the Fronteer, but our Indians do revenge that part with better success upon the French.<sup>1</sup>

<sup>1</sup> These daring Incursions of the Enemy had already called forth the following action on the part of the New-York Government: "Resolved for the future, that Six pounds shall be given to each Christian or Indian as a Reward who shall kill a french man or indian Enemy—within three miles of Albany or any other Settled farme in Albany Ulster or Dutchesse Countyes & ordered Proclannoon issue accordingly." New-York Council Minutes, VII, 189. The printed proclamation, dated 11th May, 1696, is in New-York Colonial Manuscripts, XL. — Ed.

Four Dutchmen have lost themselves by their own carelessness in venturing after their cattle without arms. I have always thought 500 men necessary to the defence of Albany and Schenectidy etc, yet I hope with those three companies to justify those places against the French and their Indians, while I can keep His Maj<sup>ty</sup>'s Indians firm in their obedience, to which end I am obliged to make large presents to them lest they fall to the french who use all their artifice to debauch them.

Forces need to be 500.

I did humbly address Your Lord<sup>sh</sup> for a present from His Maj<sup>ty</sup> which I hear was ordered, tho' not yet come over, I have since desired 400 light Dutch fuses for those Indians, tho' as strong as horses, will not march under heavy arms.

I do again humbly apply myself to Your Lord<sup>sh</sup> for them and an annual supply of powder and other stores during the Warr.

Having no other forces to depend upon but His Maj<sup>ty</sup>'s four companys, I do earnestly entreat Your Lordships that their subsistance may be punctually paid.

An Association was signed by myself and such of the Council of this Province as were in Town. I have ordered a copy to be transmitted to each county to be signed by the Justices, Sherifs, Freeholders and Farmers. I have ordered an account to be taken of such as shall refuse it, I do not know of ten papists in the province.

The Richmond Frigate is a great charge and but little use she was ordered to fitt for sea the beginning of March but is not yet a floate; The Capt<sup>n</sup> tells me there is no conveniency in this place for careening a vessel of her burdon, a light and nimble sailor might do service.

A Pirate lately came into providence (as I am informed where they shared their money left their ship and separated. Many of them came this way and are gone to the neighbouring provinces and Colonies only one remains in this who had given security not to depart without lycence and to live ameanable to the Kings Laws. Their Treasure was Spanish money, they enrich the Charter Governments—I am Hartford May 30th 1696.

Excellent Sir.

Yours and Yo<sup>r</sup> honored Councils letter bearing date the 26th Instant to our Governour hath been read in Council whereby we understand yo<sup>r</sup> dissatisfaction at our Generall Court's letter of the 22th instant, which we conceive proceeds from want of charitable and right understanding thereof. Their intent was to send yo<sup>r</sup> Excell: a rationall and plain answer to yo<sup>r</sup> former letter, and such as might manifest their loyalty to his Majestyes interest and command, and also as much as might be, a complying with your own propositions in yo<sup>r</sup> letters, wherein yo<sup>r</sup> Excell: informed you would furnish our men with arms, and to them it seemed rationall that their arms should be conveyed to some convenient place that our men might receive them to march with them through the woods, for their defence, where you cannot but expect they may be alarmed in their travell. Also it seemed most for His Majestyes interest that our soldiers should have such Officers over them as do proceed from among our selves, for we hope that we have men fitted with skill and dexterity to command against such enemies as do molest His Maj<sup>tyes</sup> good subjects in these parts, and if our soldiers have officers that they know and are acquainted with and bear love to, they will be more free to attend the service and will be more forward and couragious in venturing them selves with their Officers in repelling the enemy, and is such a reasonable thing that we do not doubt but his Maj<sup>ty</sup> would well approve of it and would graciously grant our soldiers such an encouragement. But if yo<sup>r</sup> Excell: see not cause to concede with us in this matter, you will find our soldiers very unwilling to march to Albany when they come to Albany both officers and soldiers were ordered to attend yo<sup>r</sup> Excell. direc<sup>cion</sup> and further order which we do conceive is rationall on our parts. S<sup>r</sup> we do not desire to elude or be misterious in our letters, neither do we say your commission is repealed, yet we know it is restrained, and therefore desire yo<sup>r</sup> Excell: & Council to be charitable towards us who do intend sincerely the service of his Majesty and defence of his good subjects according to our power and do depend upon yo<sup>r</sup> Excell: furnishing our Officers and soldiers with arms and ammunition and suitable provision & pay you may remember that in yo<sup>r</sup> former letter you appointed us to order Cap<sup>t</sup>. and 2 Lieu<sup>s</sup> and two drummers &<sup>c</sup> for on company, ye desired us to send to Albany, which makes us to wonder and be a little startled at what you say in Yo<sup>r</sup> Excell. & Council's letter now, that you will finde our souldiers Officers. Sir you do not mention to us any of our neighbour Colonies quota's that you have summoned and are ready to joyne with ours in his Ma<sup>y</sup>s service there, which we did expect. Sir we shall not enlarge ; we have said what is with us, and if yo<sup>r</sup> Excell. do not see cause to accept of our proposalls we leave it to yo<sup>r</sup> further consideracón and rest.

Sir,

I have formerly at sundry times made applicacón to yo<sup>r</sup> predecessour the Gov<sup>r</sup> of R<sup>d</sup> Island for the quota of assistance assigned in the Royall mandate, from that Province, being 48 men, for the defence of the fronteers of this, and have not p<sup>v</sup>ailed to gett so much as one man nor any oy<sup>r</sup> assistance, the copys of the severall answers I received were transmitted to the Plantation Office to be laid before his Ma<sup>y</sup>s<sup>e</sup> and hearing of yo<sup>r</sup> coming to the Government, I was apt to expect a more dutifull compliance to the royall commands ; but to make things as easy as may be, I desire you to send 48 men or such number of them as you can gett, at the charge of your government to New Yorke, and I will furnish them with the K<sup>r</sup> arms and ammunition victuals lodgings & pay, and they shall remaine in the service upon the fronteers one year from their arrivall at New Yorke and shall have £3. a man levey money p<sup>d</sup> into their hands at their arriveall. Esteemed, Yo<sup>r</sup> lines bearing date from New Yorke April the 22<sup>d</sup> 1696 I received, and having represented them to his Maj<sup>ties</sup> Generall Assembly sitting at Newport May y<sup>e</sup> 6th 1696. upon perusal thereof we take notice that yo<sup>r</sup> Excellency is pleased, as you say, haveing made application according to the Royall mandate, for forty eight men, and that for the defence of the fronteers of New Yorke, and have not prevaied so much as to get one man or any other assistance; signifyinge also that the copies of the severall answers you received were transmitted to the Plantation Office to be laid before his Ma<sup>ty</sup>; and further signifyng that you hearing I was come to the Government you were apt to expect a more dutifull compliance to the royall command, but never the less to make things as easy as may be you are free to take up with easier propositions as are more largely incerted in yo<sup>r</sup> Excellencies letter. In answer whereunto I reply that forasmuch as those answers of ours are transmitted to the Plantation Office for His Maj<sup>ties</sup> determination we humbly are ready to submit there unto, beleeving that our Kings Majestie requires no impossibilities of any of his subjects, and for a further manifestacón heereof we take notice that her late Ma<sup>ty</sup> in said Royall mandate doth declare that if the Governour or Comander in Cheif draw of any forces in the time of invasion for suport of the interest, he should not leave the Colony unprovided from whence the forces are drawn. We are not unwilling but always ready to serve his Ma<sup>ty</sup> wth our persons & estates, but this his Ma<sup>ties</sup> Colony by reason of the government of the Province of the Massachusetts detaining several townes from us, being a considerable part of the Colony incapacs us, so that if we part with any men, it may be the overthrow not only of this Colony but indanger the rest of the Colonies & Provinces for those reasons followinge:—In the first place we have three inlets that no forts can be erected to annoy the enemye lying neer 40 miles fronting upon the Otian, and also in moderate seasons they may land almost in any part of the governm<sup>t</sup>; so that the greatest security consists in suitable numbers of forces to watch their mocón at the severall suspected places; so that wee finde our all, if atact, is to little for the defence of our frontere, laying in as much danger of the enemye as any of his Maj<sup>ties</sup> governments in America. I hope you need not question but as formerly we have always held a good correspondency betwixt this His Majesties government and his government of New Yorke; we shall use our utmost endeavor to promote the same and in obedience to his Majesty be ready to serve you.

Since the writing of the above premised, one of the 12th instant arrived here one Capt. Lovrell from Jamaica a privett man of warr of six guins 102 men bound for the Coast of Canida; he commanded with him one small shipp which he took of the Coast of Cuba, the mariners leaving her as was suspected, being neare land found no person in her by reason of the fogges laye long of & on this coast, soe that they were very suspitions to be enemies, which occasioned some trouble, but sending out a boate of 20 men was discovered and made knowne to us and are both come into our harbour of Newport endeavoring for a pilate with intent to proceed as premised. This I thought needful to give a notion of,<sup>1</sup> being a general concerne, and as we should gladly receive in the like case. Heere being nothing more of novelty to communicate I take leave with dew respects and remaine in any office of love to my power

[ New-York Entries, A. 22.]

Sir

I am honoured by your's of March 14. which with that from the Lords of Council came to me by express from Virginia on the 25th of May—I immediately ordered the Military expressions of joy for His Maj<sup>ty</sup>'s safety, then summon'd the Council, a publick day of thanksgiving was ordered by proclamation and an Association signed, copies drawn and sent into the several Counties and Towns as also to our little Garrisons on the frontiers. His Maj<sup>ty</sup> hath a small handfull of loyall subjects in this Province we have not ten Papists in it and those of no ranke or fortune—

So many pacquets from hence have successively miscarried that I scarce know where to begin, what I have to say, I must employ hands to cobby what is material if any thing can be call'd so that comes from hence.

Remittance from Virginia. Sir Edmond Andros from Virginia has sent us Bills for one thousand pounds to our Assistance; Men which we want more, he could not send; The disposition of that money will be return'd in our accounts to the lords of the Committee and those of the Treasury. As to my own part I have never touched one farthing of the money either raised in the Province or given by our neighbours for its defence and their own, but signed warrants by advice of the Council for such payments as they thinke indispensably necessary to the common good. This £1000 only amounts to 769.£ 4sh: 6 pence sterling. Here we love a great sound and noise, but the substance does not answer.

Remittance from Maryland. Governour Nicholson of Maryland has sent us 133.£ Ssh: 7 pence sterling.
No assistance from Pennsylvania & Rhode Islands. Pennsylvania neither one man nor one penny Connecticut the same and so Rhode Island. Such letters I never received as from those two last what they write lookes like English yet I cannot find out their meaning. This regard has been paid to Her late Maj<sup>ty</sup>'s letters, and they pretend to justifie themselves by making their own constructions of those Royal Commands.

The Indians tho' monsters want not sence but plainly see we are not united, and it is Weakness by di-whole, every little Government setting up for despotick power, and allowing no appeal to the Crown, but valuing themselves upon their own strength and a little Juggling will in defeating all commands and injunctions from the King I send all their answers to my applications for Assistance.

The French Indians this spring have destroy'd some careless people nigh our garrisons of some which you have an account with this. They are wolves, ley so close, no man can discover them, a hare sitting is much easier found in England; The parties

 I send daily out, they lett pass (lurking close) but if a naked man, woman or child pass they kill them or take them. Our Indians act the same part and with greater success on the French plantations—

No assistance coming from our neighbour Colonies, I could finde no way to secure this Recruiting the 4.
Companies province but by endeavouring to keep up the fower companys to their number (after some deaths and dissertions which had much weaken'd them) I were forced to enlist men for one year or more (for no man here will be a souldier for life) By this way I have compleated the companys, and have three hundred effective men on the frontiers, one hundred in this Fort; This way is not practized in England, but abroad in Holland and France it has been usual if His Maj<sup>ty</sup> please to allow of this method; the companys here will always be compleat, and save the charge and trouble of recruits from England. The Assembly have given some encouragement to it, allowing levy money and some advance of pay, for one year the bill will be sent by the next opportunity; The ships from Virginia being ready to sayle and a land post staying for these letters it cannot be engrossed timely.

Richnd Frigate The Richmond Frigate is a great charge and of no use. Her upper worke very crazy; ordered to sea the beginning of March, but yet not afloat.

Sir, I doubt these papers may miss a passage, dare hold you no longer from your more weighty affairs. I humbly kiss your hands and acknowledg all your favours and shall never alter from being.

Sir,

Your most humble faithful and
 most obedient servant

Collonell Fletchers letter to the Lords of the late Committee of Trade and Planta<sup>ms</sup>

May it please your Lordships.

Since my last addresse to your Lordships may 30th I received an answer to my application
Pensilvania. for Assistance from Pensilvania in a letter from that Governor and the draught of a bill whereof copies are herewith transmitted.

Your Lordships will perceive these people have as little regard for the interest of their

New Modell of Government.

proprietor Mr Penn as they have for His Maj<sup>ty</sup>s service and are endeavouring to erect a new modell of Government of their own invention and by their own Authority.

The town of Philadelphia in fourteen years time is become near equal to the City of New Yorke in trade and riches, the hardships that this province hath undergone in the defence of the Frontiers and the detaching of our people hath drove many of them thither to enjoy their ease, and there being no duty upon trade in that Colony it is a discouragement to the trade of this province whose inhabitants are left wholly to bear the burthen of the Warr, whilst they grow by the hardships of our circumstances and derive all their protection from our forces.

The Council and present Assembly of this province are willing to [the utmost of] their power to do, for the preservation of it, their greatest discouragement is, the inequality of their circumstances with that of their neighbours of Pensilvania the Jersys and Connecticut, who are all free from duty and were formerly part of this province; I found in the two companies that came last from England two Frenchmen, Charles Moreill and James Wood, Roman Catholicks; I could not

trust them at Albany lest they should correspond with their countrymen of Canada, and this being the first opportunity, I now send them by the ship Beaver, that they may be exchanged or disposed of as his Maj<sup>ty</sup> shall think fitt.

Two Gentlemen of the Council of this Province Mr Brooke and Mr Nicoll who were appointed to attend His Maj<sup>ty</sup> and your Lordships are taken into France and have lost all their papers and instructions; I have now transmitted copies if they are come to England they will give Your Lord<sup>shps</sup> an account of every minute affair of the Province and will attend your Lordships pleasure.

May it please your Lordships.

I just now received an answer from Connecticutt to my application for assistance; the copy whereof are also transmitted. Your Lord<sup>shps</sup> will see, there is nothing to be got from them but words. I did apply to them last winter, for a company at their own charge, leaving them to nominate their own Officers which they evaded; I have since desired only sixty men for one year to fill up the companys, I proffered three pounds a man levy money, Arms Ammunition victuals and pay, their Assembly men offer fifty eight men a Capt<sup>e</sup> & Lieut<sup>t</sup> for four months, unless they see cause to call them home sooner, provided I send first into their Country the arms and provisions and perform all what I proffered with pay for their Officers which would be very chargeable and cannot be performed having no fund to pay the Officers or answer that charge. I have no encouragement to believe them having met so many evasions and disappointments, whilst I made this application I used other endeavours and have recruited the companys; I shall not be wanting with the forces I have to secure the Garrisons and preserve the people settle[d] there, to my utmost power, am nevertheless still of opinion that 500 men is the least number requisite for a sufficient security to these frontiers.

to be 500.

There are several Quakers in the City of New Yorke from a pretence of tendernesse of conscience and aversion to the carnall weapon will not signe the Association nor take an oath. I have given orders to release them.

Quakers

Roman-Catholicks I have transmitted to your Lord<sup>ss</sup> a list of the Roman Catholicks, and reputed Papists in New Yorke who are all disarmed and obliged to give bond with surety for their good behaviour or be confined in prison—I am

May it please your Lordships

Coll: Fletchers letter to the lords of the late Committee of Trade etc.

May it please Your Lordships—

Occasion of desertions The desertion from the Companies and recruits sent last from England was encouraged by the great wages given to labourers in the neighbouring Colonies where the people protected and concealed them pretending charity lest they should be put to death, whereupon I issued forth proclamation promising pardon to such as should returne to their respective garrisons at a certain time, and did assure the Governour of Connecticut by my letter that such should be pardoned that he sent back or that return'd voluntarily, whereupon severall were returned and some came of themselves

Desertion at Schenectady. The 10th of January last at Schenectidy being the advance garrison of this province to the French and their Indians, the whole guard deserted in the night and marched off with their arms.—Lieut' Bickford the Officer that Commanded there pursued them about twenty miles kill'd some, and made all the rest prisoners who being tryed at Court Martiall were all condemned to dye and one of them suffered, the rest being very penitent, and considering the scarcity of men in this Country, upon the petition of the men and Officers I did thinke it for His Maj<sup>ty</sup>'s service to let them partake of his mercy which I hope his Maj<sup>ty</sup> will approve of—The copy of the Lieutenant's letter to me and all the papers and proceedings are herewith transmitted to your Lordships, there has happened no des[er]tion since—I am

[New-York Papers, A. B. A. S. No. 4.]

I thought it my duty to acquaint Yo<sup>r</sup> Exc<sup>ell</sup>. of what hath happened here this winter; on the 10th of January about 12 of the Clock at night deserted the whole guard, except one, & others to the number of sixteen broak through the north west Blockhouse next the water side. They drew the g<sup>t</sup> guns of both powder and shott: About two in the morning I went to visite the guard but found none. I immediatly sent express to Coll. Richard Ingoldesby and pursued them my selfe with ten of the inhabitants and eleven Soldiers, but was forced to leave the Serjeant with seven redcoats in the wood, being not able to march as the expedición required. There lay a little snow and they keeping a path all night I followed on their tracts, but assoon as it was day they left the path and steerd by the sann. About 4 a clocke in the afternoone I came up with them being withiu two pikes length before I discovered my selfe. I commanded them to lay down their arms; they returned no answer, but with presented musketts, but having the advantage of being presented at them, made the first fire, with which two or three fell; the rest immediatly fired briskly on us, and we on them for a considerable time, during which I still call'd on them to lay down their arms, and that there was another party near them; but they still held out firing till seven of them lay on the ground and then the rest surrendered; whereof five are dead and the other two not yet recovered of their wounds. I had my party sworne by order of Coll. Richard Ingoldesby before Capt Sanders Glenn Justice of the Peace, to satisfy Yo<sup>r</sup> Exc<sup>ell</sup>. of what I said to those deserters both before and in the accón; the which have sent Yo<sup>r</sup> Exc<sup>ell</sup>. inclosed, and [I] had them so advantagiously posted that God be thanked none were shott or wounded.

Here is a strong and regular Fort built by the inhabitants with foot works and a stone magazine fitt for this garrison. Here has been no noise from the enemy this winter, which is all I have to trouble Yo<sup>r</sup> Exc<sup>ell</sup>: with at present, only my humble duty to Yo<sup>r</sup> Exc<sup>ell</sup>: and my Lady. I am, Yo<sup>r</sup> Exc<sup>ell</sup>. faithfull obedient servant whilst

[New-York Papers, A. B. A.S. No. 5.]

and drawing the great guns of both powder & shott, (part of them having charge of s<sup>d</sup> Blockhouse) that night being the cheife guard of the garrison. The s<sup>d</sup> Lieu<sup>t</sup> Beckford about 2 a Clock in the morning finding the garrison deserted sent immediately expresse to the Hon<sup>ble</sup> Coll. Richard Ingoldesby at Albany, the s<sup>d</sup> Lieu<sup>t</sup> Beckford pursuing the s<sup>d</sup> deserters one John Danielse John Wemp and Gerryt Gylbertse<sup>1</sup> and severall others to the number of thirteene the said Lieu<sup>t</sup> Beckford & party about 4 a Clock in the afternoone overtook the s<sup>d</sup> deserters who immediatly commanded them to lay down their arms, they returned no answer but forthwith p<sup>r</sup>esented their musketts, the s<sup>d</sup> Lieu<sup>t</sup> Beckford & party having the advantage of being p<sup>r</sup>esented fired first at the said deserters, wherewith 2 or 3 fell, the rest immediatly fired on the s<sup>d</sup> Lieu<sup>t</sup> & party during a considerable time the said L<sup>t</sup> Beckford still called to them to lay down their arms, but the said deserters made no answer till seven of them were dead & wounded, then the rest surrender themselves prisoners.

The said Lieu<sup>t</sup> Beckford craveth the judgement of this Court and that the delinquents may be proceeded against according to the articles of warr in that case made & provided

The Answer of the afore mentioned prisoners in their defence to the complaint of L<sup>t</sup> Abraham Beckford. the 21st day of April 1696.

Thomas Clattery being brought before the Court Martiall was asked what he had to say in his defence saith that he was ignorant of the penalty of the articles of warr, being a young man, but owns that they were severall times read to him, & was deluded by others that deserted with him, but intended for Albany towards night to submitt himselfe for pardon; so gives himselfe to the mercy of the Court Martiall and further saith not.

John Osmond being brought before the Court Martial was asked what he had to say in his defence, acknowledgeth that he deserted; the occasion was because his own Officer was commanded from the fronteer of Schennectady, & further saith not.

William Simson being brought before the Court Martial was asked, what he had to say in his defence acknowledgeth that he deserted by reason of a new officer sent to that garrison and that he was continually threatned by him & once struck; further saith not.

John Broosse makes oath that the s<sup>d</sup> William Simson said if his piece had gone off he would certainly have killed Lieu<sup>t</sup> Beckford.

John Yorke being brought before the Court Martial was asked what he had to say in his defence did acknowledge that he deserted but knew nothing of the intent till about halfe an hour before they went, the cheife occasion was by reason of the Officers unkindnesse, but owns that his officer never struck or punished him.

James Williams being brought before the Court Martial and was asked what he had to say in his defence doth acknowledge that he deserted by reason that he had been hardly dealt with by his officer and received severall stroaks from him with a stick when engaged in a quarrell with his fellow soldiers in the garrison, and likewise that the inhabitants were very unevill to him in calling him severall bad names, and that he had bad encouragement from the Officer when he first came to them at Schennectady in threatening to punish them severely if they robbed or plundered the inhabitants, and further saith not.

Jacob Kneiffe being brought before the Court Martiall and was asked what he had to say in his defence, doth acknowledge that he deserted by reason that his own Officer was commanded from them & that the inhabitants were very unkind to him in calling them English doggs, & further saith not.

Hezekiah Hawkins brought before the Court Martial & was asked what he had to say in his defence, doth acknowledge that he deserted and was perswaded thereunto by the others that deserted with him who now are killed, & was unkindly used by Lieu<sup>t</sup> Beckford, but never was struck or punished by him.

Thomas Cool being brought before the Court Martial and was asked what he had to say in his defence, doth acknowledge that he deserted by reason that Lieu<sup>t</sup> Beckford was severe towards him, though never punished or struck, & that the inhabitants were unkinde & uncivill by calling them English doggs.

David Jones being brought before the Court Martial and was asked what he had to say in his defence, saith the reason of his deserting was because his officer was commanded from thence & the new Officer sent severe towards them in threatuing if they abused the inhabitants to punish them, but acknowledges that he has committed a fault & is very sorry for his crime.

John Stewart being brought before the Court Martiall was asked what he had to say in his defence, saith that the reason of his deserting was, the occasion of having a strange officer to command them, who was very-cruell to him and abused him and caused him to be whipt by the Company for nothing.

In answer to which Lieu<sup>t</sup> Abraham Beckford sayeth that the aforesaid John Stewart was a great thiefe which severall of the garrison could justify and that was the reason of his being punished and also that he was out of the garrison at unseasonable time of night committing of robbery and was discovered by him that was upon sentry.

James Pappy, Serjeant, complaineth & informeth this honourable Court that about Septemb<sup>r</sup> last one Thomas Mebe belonging to Capt. William Hydes Company deserted from His Ma<sup>tyes</sup> fronteer at Albany towards New England & about the first of January last was taken up by some of the country & brought into a place called Hartford and there delivered to his said Capt: afterwards deserted from him the 2nd time & brought up to him again to Wether[s]feild

Thomas Mebe being brought before the Court Martiall was asked what he had to say in his defence saith that he deserted but was deluded by others that deserted with him, doth therefore crave the favour of the Court Martiall.

Charles Oliver complaineth and informeth this Hon<sup>ble</sup> Court that about September last one Rich<sup>d</sup> Waters belonging to Capt. Hydes Company deserted from His Ma<sup>tyes</sup> fronteer at Albany and was taken & brought back in 5 or 6 dayes after, about a mile from said garrison.

Richard Waters being brought to the Court Martiall and was askt what he had to say in his defence doth acknowledge that he deserted and was tempted by the Divell & lost himselfe in the woods & had a designe for New England, but wished himself back to the garrison again, & is verry sorry for the fault he has committed and prays the Court will be favourable to him.

The Court having considered the whole matter and it is the unanimous opinion of the Court, who respectively were asked, that the aforesaid prisoners were really guilty of desertion & mutiny and that according to the article of Warr they ought suffer death but do humbly desire of the President that they may be shott like souldiers, being the most customary in the Army.

It is therefore sentenced that they all shall goe from whence they came and from thence to the place of execution where they shall be shott to death. so God have mercy upon their souls

Letter from Coll: Fletcher to M<sup>r</sup> Blathwayt dated the 13th of July 1696.

Sir

Hearing of an opportunity by Boston, so many Packets and Letters being miscarried I thought fit this [time to] run the venture of giving you the account; I have sent two large packets to you at Whitehall and directed one on board each of the ships of war who were to saile from Virginia the beginning of this month. Inclosed is the Association signed by all the inhabitants of the City of New Yorke, those from the Counties are not yet finished and returned; there is also an address of congratulation from the Council of this Province who were very hearty to joyne with me in appointing a day of thanksgiving for the great and happy delivrance of His Maj<sup>ty</sup> and his Kingdom of England which was cheerfully observed throughout the Govern<sup>t</sup>; duplicates of instructions and papers sent home by M<sup>r</sup> Brooke and M<sup>r</sup> Nicolls and many other publick papers and letters that were lost.

By the supply the Assembly gave, I am enabled to recruite the companies for one year which if continued from year to year will save the charge and trouble of sending recruits from England. The three companies is all I now depend upon on the Frontiers. I have not procured one man from the neighbouring Colonies; 500 in my opinion is the least number requisite to serve the frontiers.

The Wessell sent from Plymouth hither with His Majesty's Royall Commands is taken on our coast and the packett sunk which is a great trouble to me. By some chance letters from private friends, I understand M<sup>r</sup> Livingston hath exhibited an information against me, I cannot know the particulars but hope Their Lordships will be so favourable not to credit him until I be heard.

I have all the Gentlemen in the Council and all the honest men in the Govern<sup>t</sup> ready to vouch for my behaviour. Since I came amongst them I never meddled with a farthing publick money nor disposed of any but by advice, and consent of the Council who were always Judges of the several uses. His Brother in law Coll: Cortland is ready to testify that I ow'd him not a farthing when he left this place. I have several times advanced to him money for victualing the companies before it was due particularly at parting

Some publick money that were raised by an additional duty for payment of debts contracted before my arrival here, were made use of by advice of the Council to answer some emergencys as the charge of an expedition to the Fronteers in the month of Febr<sup>y</sup> 169<sup>3</sup> when the French had invaded our Indian Country and burn'd their Castles etc and the Assembly now in their last session have taken care to refund this money by continuing the same duty.

It is to be seen under his own hand that if every Governor had paid him as well as I, it had been a Thousand pounds in his way. I hope M<sup>r</sup> Brooke and M<sup>r</sup> Nicolls are come to England they are able to vindicate me against any thing what may be objected from any in this province, and are ordered to attend His Maj<sup>ty</sup> and their Lordships to give the true state and circumstances of affairs here. I am

obedient servant

Order in Council referring certain Papers back to the Lords of Trade.

[New-York Papers, VI. A. No. 1.]

Att the Councill Chamber in Whitehall the 20th day of August 1696.

PRESENT — Their Excellencies the Lords Justices in Council.

Upon reading this day att the Board the annexed Report from the Council of Trade relating to the present state of y<sup>e</sup> Plantations together with a Memoriall of Chidley Brooke and William Nicoll Agents from the Governour Council and Assembly of His Maj<sup>ties</sup> Province of New Yorke, concerning the present condition of that Province. Report of the Lords of Trade.

To their Excellencies the Lords Justices

May it please Your Excellencies

A Paper relating to the present State of his Majesty's Plantations in the Northern parts of America (whereof a Copy is hereunto annexed) having been communicated to us on Friday last by His Grace the Duke of Shrewsbury at the Board of His Majesty's Commission for Trade and Plantations; And we judging that the matter contained in that Paper is of great importance and may possibly require something more speedily to be done in it than the yet unsettled state of our office (unfurnished with and hitherto even unprepared to receive those necessary helps that belong unto it) capacitates us to deliberate upon and represent; Do therefore humbly beg leave to lay it before Your Excellencies that such order may be taken in so weighty and urgent an occasion as unto Your Excellencies great wisdom shall seem necessary and expedient

From our office at Whitehall
July the 7th 1696.

Mr. Pilsworth's Report on matters relating to New-York.

About the middle of March 169<sup>2</sup> I was frequently conversant with Sir Thomas Lawrence at his Lodging at the Standing Wardrobe in Whitehall and because he was appointed His Majesty's Secretary for the Colony of Maryland in the West Indies I acquainted him with an Information that I had received from a friend of mine of a designe the French had form'd against the English Colonies in America he desir'd (if it was possible) that he might speak with my friend that gave me the account if he was in England, I told him he was in England and would continue here about a fortnight that during his stay here I would perswade him to come to him, this I effected, he came to Sir Thomas, and after he had given him some account of the Affair, acquainted him that if I would go to Amsterdam, I should be directed to those who would confirm the account he gave. Sir Thomas Lawrence then applied himself to Sir John Lowther of Lowther and desired him that he would be pleased to acquaint the King with it which he did, I was then desired by Sir Thomas Lawrence to wait upon Sir John Lowther, who, when I attended him at his house in Saint James' Street acquainted me that he had orders to bring me to My Lord Portland, and that if I would go to Amsterdam, my Lord would write a letter of recommendation to a person that would assist me in any thing I should desire towards the discovery of this designe. I then waited upon Sir John Lowther according to his order at the house of Commons and he then presented me to the Right Honourable the Earl of Portland, who was walking in the Court of Requests, My Lord Portland then appointed me to wait upon him in two or three days either at Kensington or at Whitehall, and a letter should be ready for me. Upon Tuesday April 7. O. S. I received a letter from My Lord Portland's Secretary directed to the Honourable M<sup>r</sup> Wilsen Burgomaster of the Stadt of Amsterdam. Upon Fryday April 10. O. S. I received by My Lord's order a Pass from My Lord Secretary Shrewsbury's Office to go over into Holland and to returne. Upon Wednesday April 15 O. S. I went for Harwich and waited for a winde till April 22 I then went on board the Eagle packet boat, and arrived at Helvoet Sluijs about nine of the clock. Fryday morning April 24th O. S. I sett forward thence directly for Amsterdam where I arrived upon Saturday May 5 N. S. in the Evening. Upon Sunday Morning May 6 N. S. I waited upon Burgomaster Wilsen and delivered to him the letter I brought from My Lord Portland. He promised me all the assistance he could contribute with all readinesse and cheerfulness, he desired me to attend him about Six a Clock that evening, in the mean time he would consult with the other Burgomasters, which he was obliged to do, before he could act anything in the affair. According to appointment I did attend at Six and then he told me he had communicated My Lord's letter to the other Burgomasters and they had authorized him to act as he should judge best and most expedient according to what I should desire. I then desired that he would be pleased to encourage M<sup>r</sup> Levinas van Schaick to deal freely with me in relating what he knew of the present state of the West India Colonies belonging to England; he assured me he would, and accordingly upon Munday May 7 N. S. about 3 a Clock in the Afternoon he sent for M<sup>r</sup> Van Schaick who promised to give me an account, as well as he could recollect, by the Fryday following being May 11. N. S. In the mean time I waited upon M<sup>r</sup> Wilsen upon Wednesday May 9th N. S. and desired to know if he had advice of any French men of warr that were sailed from that Coast to the West Indies (for I had account of five) he told me he had so likewise but that there was a Report bruited abroad that they were returned, but he should know certainly by the next post upon Friday May 11. N. S. And if I would wait upon him then I should know the certainty of it, which I did, and is contained in the following account together with M<sup>r</sup> Van Schaick's and M<sup>r</sup> Blanckenstein's and some other particulars from other advices as follow.

The five Nations of the Indians which are in allyance with the English Colonies in America, and particularly with the Province of New York (known by the names of the Makousen, Oneyedas, Onondages, Calouges, and Sinnekes, are a people that live westward from Albany, the first about fifteen leagues, and the last about 120. They are much inclined to warr as they have made appear upon several occasions though they are but few in number, it is a considerable advantage to the English to secure their friendship, and to be in league with them.

The French of Canada are very sensible how much they suffer'd by warr with some of these people about thirty years past and have ever since courted their favour or else (that they might be freed from such troublesome apprehensions) have secretly contrived to undermine and extirpate them; To this end under the pretence of converting these Indians to the Christian Religion they have sent certain Jesuits among them, who by subtil insinuations have endeavoured to draw them from their own Country into Canada, persuading them that there they could be better and more advantageously instructed in the Christian Religion, and so farr they have prevailed that they have drawn a considerable number of them into Canada, who have settled themselves there near to Mont Royall. These have done the French very eminent Service in the warr they have been and are still engaged in, with other Indians part of the Five Nations in so much that without them it had been almost impossible for the French to have preserved Canada. By the assistance of these Indians they have destroyed a considerable town called Schoney Stadt and several Plantations in the County of Albany, and the English and Dutch inhabiting there labour under such terrifying apprehensions of the Injuries they are likely to receive from these Indians that many of them have deserted their habitations, and those that continue there are very much impoverished.

The remaining parts of the five nations which are much Superior to those who have inclined to the French interest have for ten years past or thereabouts been engaged in a warr against the French and the Indians that went with them into Canada, the French endeavouring utterly to extirpate them, because they would not joyne with them and trade to Canada. In order to effect this (and indeed to destroy the English by the help of his Indians afterwards the French King in a Treaty held between him and the late King James, in the second year of his Reigne) did very subtilly obtaine this Article, viz.

That if either of the Subjects of England or France should be engaged in a warr with the Natives of America, then in such case the other party should not harbour, encourage, or give ammunition to their Enemeyes the Indians.

When this was concluded between the Kings of England and France the French immediately came and surpris'd the Sennekes, the strongest of the five nations, with a body of about three thousand French and Indians; The French hearing of their approach fled from their habitations, and sent their Wives and Children into the wilderness, and, with a small number placed in Ambuscade, waited the coming of the French, and as soon as they advanced up to them, charged them and maintained a fight with them for some hours, but, the others being so much superior in number, they were overpowered and obliged to retreat into the woods, and leave the Feild to the French, who destroyed their Towns and plundered all they could. Thus began the warr. The French doubted not after this expedition to have subdued the Indians and compell'd them to accept of such Articles of peace as they should think fit to propose to them: But soon after, these Indians, to revenge this insult, went into Canada, with a considerable body of their people, and killed many of the French, and tooke many Prisoners. For a considerable time past the French have endeavoured by all possible artifices to allure them to a peace; The Governor of Canada has assured them that though as a father he has chastized them for many insolencys yet he is ready to receive them againe for his children, and hath desired them to meet him at Cadaragqua, a French Fort upon one of the Lakes, where they keep about one hundred men in garrison. The Indians gave notice of this to the Government of New York and Albany, with whom they always held a very good correspondence.

The English Subjects used all their endeavours to dissuade them from treating with the French and to encourage them to engage in the warr promised to assist them and receive them, and their Familys into the Province of New Yorke, if the French should prove successfull against them; They likewise engaged to divert their enemies by endeavouring to take Canada from the French, but this hath not been yet undertaken.

The Indians have suffer'd very much by this war, and, having lost many of their fighting Men, begin to be weary of it, and are inclined to make a peace with the French which if they should do and be gained to their interest it would prove very fatall to the English Colonies on the North part of America, especially to Virginia and Mary land into either of which the Indians can march in a few days.

If this small number of Indians which the French have drawn to them from the five Nations, have so terrify'd Albany, the consequence must of necessity be dread full should they gain the whole body of these Nations; The inhabitants of all the northern Colonies must abandon their dwellings or be destroyed.

The French daily make very large Offers of Presents to induce those Indians to a peace with them by the insinuation of one Pierre Milet a Jesuit who has lived with them above these six years, and is by them very much esteemed; He is a perfect Master of their languages and Customs, therefor it is to be feared will much influence them in this affair unless timely prevented; Various meanes have been used to perswade the Indians to send this Jesuit from among them, but to no purpose, for though many of them were made sensible that he ought to be removed, Yet his friend would not suffer him to be taken from them.

M<sup>r</sup> Van Schaick has been informed that the French have a perfect designe in hand of destroying the English Plantations in America. He has seen letters from France wrote by an English Pyrate of note to an English Gentleman of quality, in which he advised, that the French had sent some ships to the West Indies loaded with variety of presents for to obleige the Indians and that more were preparing. He doubted not but that they would effect their designe if nothing suddenly intervned; There were in the letters some other Particulers as the quantity and quality of the presents sent to them, which he could not remember; He said after he had read these letters he desired the Gentleman to acquaint his Majesty with it, it being a case of so great consequence, To which he answered that he had already imparted it to a Person of Quality that was true to the King's interest.

It is absolutely necessary to continue these five nations in his Majesty's interest in order to preserve those Colonies, and the most proper method to effect it is by renewing (as they express it) the Covenant Chain which is always done at Albany by giving of presents to them, which at this juncture would be most gratefull and acceptable to the Indians who are now very poor, because the Warr has disturbed and prevented their Beaver hunting by which they mostly subsist: 800 or 1000 pounds sterling value laid out in such goods as they most esteem, if well applyd, may accomplish this designe. The persons most proper to treat with them, being very much beloved by them, in the Provinces of New York and Albany, are M<sup>r</sup> Peter Schuyler, late Mayor of Albany and one of the Council, M<sup>r</sup> Dirck Wessells Justice of the peace at Albany and D<sup>o</sup> Godefridus Dellius a Dutch Minister, these always treated with them by the help of one Aornaut Cornelisse a poor Englishman their Interpreter who has lived a long time with the Indians and frequently converses with them.

The goods which the Indians put the highest value and esteem upon are slight Liege guns, powder, lead, strowd water cloth, red and blew, blanketts, duffels, Woolen stokins, red, blew, and white, and smal brass kettles.

The most secure way to continue the Indians always in the English interest would be the taking of Canada from the French, by which means His Majesty will not only secure his owne Colonies which are now continually in great danger, but also become Master of all the North part of America, increase a great trade to the English Nation, and bring all the natives under subjection.

Fryday May 11. N. S.

It was then confirmed to the Honorable Burgomaster Wilsen that Monsieur Renaut was sailed with five Ships for the West Indies to enterprize some thing considerable, and that those men of Warr were victualled for ten months; They sailed from the Coast of France about the 4th of May. There is likewise ready at Rochelle a convoy of three men of warr bound with some merchant ships for the American Islands under the command of Monsieur d'Iberville who is to joyn Monsieur Renaut so soon as he has conveyd the Ships to their respective Ports.

Ditto.

Mr Blankenstein assured me that it was the opinion of all considering men that the West India Plantations or Colonies adjoining to Canada, were in great danger of being destroyed, That the French had made preparatiours of arms and other gratefull presents to delude the Indians belonging to the five nations to a peace that he himself had very considerable tracts of land there and some Plantations, but he could not thinke it safe to be there till a league was confirmed with the Natives, That if an honest indifferent person that designed only the honour of the King and good of the Plantations was sent from England, by particular order and commission, to joyne with those mentioned by Mr Lavinus van Schaick, that they might not be influenced and overawed by the Governor he did beleive the designe might be easily accomplished, and all the French Intrigue disappointed; That it would not be very difficult, by the help of Eight or ten men of warr to destroy all the French interest in Canada, because they could draw a land force sufficient for such an enterprize from Albany and New Yorke.

There were two small shipp which were designed to be privately loaden with light small guns and other arms from Liege, and what things might be necessary for the Indians, which were seized at Amsterdam by the Admiralty and exposed there to Sale August 5th 1695 and no person appeared to own them.

Deliver'd to Mr Secretary Blathwayt May 19th 1696, at the Hague

CHARLES PILSWORTH.

Their Excellencies The Lords Justices of England.

The humble Memorial of Chidley Brook and William Nicoll.

Sheweth

That they were sent from the Governor Councill and General Assembly of His Majt<sup>ies</sup> Province of New York about the month of November last with a humble Address of thanks<sup>1</sup> to his Sacred Majt<sup>ie</sup> for the Royal care of and bounty to that Province, with all dutifull acknowledgment of their hearty Affecc<sup>o</sup>n and Zeale to his Majt<sup>ies</sup> person and Governm<sup>t</sup>

That they had also Comission and Instructions<sup>2</sup> to lay before his Majt<sup>ie</sup> the State and Condition of that Province in relation to the warr with the French and further to move and appear in any matter or thing that may conduce to the good and wellfair of that Province.

That being on their Voyage hither in the month of January last near the Islands of Silly they were taken by a privateer of S<sup>t</sup> Malo and carried into france where they remain'd Prisoners till the beginning of the month of Aprill.

That when they found the Ship they were in was not capable of any longer Defence they sunk all such Papers and writings as did any way concern the publick or the Warr.

That they were instructed humbly to offer to and acquaint his Majt<sup>ie</sup> that the french of Canada have resettled a fort at a place called Cadaraque from whence they were driven by the Indians the beginning of the warr.

That since y<sup>e</sup> said settle<sup>m</sup>t the Indians of the five Nations have seem'd much colder in their friendship to the English and it is to be feared that they will not only strike up a peace wth the french but make open warr upon the English.

That it has not been possible for the Gov<sup>r</sup> of New York wth the forces he has there to hinder y<sup>e</sup> settle<sup>m</sup>t of the french at Cataraque it being scituate more then 500 miles from the uppermost plantacóns, and the way thither through a country of thick woods, and great Lakes, without any Road, and where no provisions for any considerable party of Christians are to be had.

That if those 5 nations of Indians should be drawn over to the french all the English Plantacóns on the mayne Land that are setled at great distance from one another will be liely to be wholly ruined & destroyed by small parties of french & those Indians.

That the Province of New York by its scituation, yearly presents, & assistance given to those Indians (to the great impoverishing of that country) has hitherto (except any defeccón has happued since Nov<sup>r</sup> last) with great difficulty kept those Indians from quitting the English interest.

That in that Province consisting of about 3000 Families towards defraying the charge of the warr has been raised since the year 1690 above 30000<sup>l</sup> & all the Assistance had from the neighbouring Collonyes has only been about 3000<sup>l</sup> though all the English plantacóns on the Continent are equally (if not more) concern'd in the danger.

That notwithstanding so much money has been raised from that Province and the other assistance given by its neighbours, the expence of the warr has been so great, that the Govern<sup>m</sup>t at present remains much in debt, and will not be longer able to subsist unless some effectual methods are found to support it.

That the Indians being weary of the warr, observing the great Recruits of Men, armes and stores yearly sent from france, are very sensible of the danger threatned them by the neighbourhood of the french in Cadaraque who are much better fortified there then formerly, and by this they are inclined to hearken to the Proposals made from those of Canada who by menaces, guifts, and all other meanes endeavour to gett those Indians to engage on their side.

They humbly therefore Pray Your Excellencies to interceed with his Maj<sup>ties</sup> to order some speedy and effectual care to be taken that the Evills which apparently will attend the Indians confederating with the french, and their settling in those parts may bee prevented.

Governor Fletcher to the Lords of Trade.

[New-York Entries, A. 46.]

Coll: Fletchers Letter to the Lords of the late Committee dated the 22. Aug: 1696.

May it please Your Lordships.

The Governour of Canada invades our Indian Country. French and 2000 Indians, was in our Indian Country and that the people of Albany were in some consternation lest the Indians of the Five nations should joyne with them and fall down upon Schenectady and Albany. He surpris'd one castle at Oneyde which he burnt, and destroyed the Indian corne. The Onondages sent away their old men, women and Children to the Southward, the Young men carry'd till they perceived the French were too numerous for them, then burnt their Fort, and retreated, leaving their corne to be destroyed. It is reported by some prisoners that did escape, that an Indian brought tydings to Count

Frontenac, that I was on my march from Albany, with a great army as numerous as the trees of the woods, which hastened his retreat; the Cayounges and Sinnekes are no hurt. I wrot to Connecticut for their quota and to the Governour of the Jerseys for men to meet me at Albany, but all my endeavours could not obtain oueman from them.

The Council of N. Y. have resolv'd to supply the Oneydes & Onondages with corn the ensuing yeare.

It is resolv'd in Council here for His Maj<sup>ty</sup>s service that the Oneydes and Onondages be supplied with corne the ensuing yeare which will add to the charges of this province.

His Maj<sup>ty</sup>s present to the Indians is not yet given them

I have herewith transmitted to your Lord<sup>sh</sup>s a copy of my proceedings at Albany on this occasion, I have delayed the giving them the present from His Maj<sup>ty</sup> untill such time I can gett them all together and having received advice from the R<sup>t</sup> Hon<sup>ble</sup> the Lords of His Maj<sup>ty</sup>s privy Council of a designe the French have upon some part of America, I hastened to Yorke for in a month or six weeks time the winds are esteemed a defence to this coast.

Three of the Lieutenants of the Establish'd company's have often troubled me with papers desiring to be discharged, at last have resigned their commands; on the day of their resignation I granted Commissions till His Maj<sup>ty</sup>s pleasure be further known, to Lieut. Abraham Beckford in the stead of Lieut<sup>t</sup> Matthew Shank, belonging to Coll Ingolshby—to Lieut: Simon Young instead of Lieut<sup>t</sup> George Sydenham belonging to Capt<sup>t</sup> Weems, and to Lieut<sup>t</sup> Charles Oliver instead of Lieut<sup>t</sup> Roger Wright belonging to Capt<sup>t</sup> Hyde. who have all served as Cadees in the Irish warr in the English troops and two of them have been Lieut<sup>ts</sup> in the Country forces and behaved themselves well in the action against the French and Indians in Febr<sup>y</sup> 1692.

May it please Your Lordships.

The frequent alarms, we have from the French puts us to a great charge and expence of Ammunition besides the supplying of the Indians and the Forts of Albany and Schenectady;

He desires an annual supply of stores and that the subsistence for the Companies be punctually paid.

I therefore beg leave to give your Lordships the trouble of interceeding with His Maj<sup>ty</sup> for an annual supply, and that the subsistence of the Company be punctually paid, being all the force I have to depend upon for the safety of this Province.

He sends an answer to the depositions taken against him.

I have transmitted herewith an answer to the depositions taken against me before your Lord<sup>sh</sup>s as your Lord<sup>sh</sup>s were pleased to command— I am

May it please Your Lordships

Your Lordships most obedient most dutiful and most humble servant.

New York 22nd August 1696.

BEN FLETCHER.

Proceedings of Governor Fletcher at Albany.

[New-York Papers, A. B. B. 39.]

An Account of the late Expedition to Albany in the Month of August 1696.

July 31st His Excell: Benjamin Fletcher had certain intelligence that the French were on their march against the Indians of the Five Nations.

Sunday Augst the 2<sup>d</sup> Intelligence came the French were in the Indian country and that the inhabitants of Albany were apprehensive of their marching against that garrison.

His Excell. the same day did recommend to the Council to cause the guns and batterys to be put in order and about noone took his departure for Albany.

On the 7th of Augst his Excell: arrived at Albany and called a Council of such gentl<sup>o</sup> & officers are were upon the fronteers.

At a Council held at Albany the 7th day of August 1696.

PRESENT —	His Excellency Benjamin Fletcher Esq <sup>e</sup>
	Evert Banker Esq <sup>r</sup>	Capt. Peter Mathews

His Excell the Governour said:

Gentl. Assoon as I had certaine notice from you that the Enemy were marched into the Country of our Indian freinds, and by the number of their forces did seeme to threaten this place and Schenectady, I made all the haste I could to yo<sup>r</sup> assistance, losing no more time but while I wrott to Connecticut & the Jerseys for such supplys of men as I conceived necessary upon this occasion by this letter which I received at the same time (with those from Albany) from the Lords of His Matyes Council in England, you will see that I could not reasonably draw forces from New Yorke nor be well spared from that place my self; yet by advice of his Ma<sup>tyes</sup> Council there I am come up with a part of my own Company and desire yo<sup>r</sup> advice what is most proper to be done for the King's service and yo<sup>r</sup> own safeteyes and for the securing the Indians in their fidelity and renewing the covenant chain: this we are to consider, that time may not be lost and the Country not burthened by an unnecessary charge.

His Excell further proposed sending thirty men of his own Company now brought up with him with a detachment of twenty out of each of the three companyes here, into the Indian country to cover the retreat of our Indians and secure them from their fears.

The Council were of opinion the French being retreated it would be an unnecessary charge. And offered their advice that the Sachems of the Oneydes should be sent for (who are here) and their losse condoled; which was accordingly done.

The Council are of opinion that the members of Council present with the Officers of the Companies and principle inhabitants of this place should meet and consult with the Cheife Indians now in town about the propperest methods for bringing back those Indians that are fledd, and settling them firm again in the covenant chain, and make report what they have done therein to His Excellency — Which His Excell did approve of and order accordingly.

May it please Yo<sup>r</sup> Exc<sup>ll</sup>.

In obedience to yo<sup>r</sup> Excell. order of the 7th instant we underwritten have mett & considered about the propperest methods for bringing both those Indian Nations viz<sup>t</sup> the Onondages and Oneydes that are fled, and renewing with them and the rest of the Five Nations the Covenant Chain, and having thereupon sounded the opinions of the Sachims of the Maquas and Oneydos Nations and severall of their Cheife men now at Albany, do humbly offer as our opinions that since we are informed that it is now twelve dayes ago the French army left the Indian country and that the Senekes and Caijougues are still undisturbed in their own Country that the Onondage Nation upon the approach of the enemy have set their own Castle on fire and are fledd to be out of the enemyes reach, that the Oneydes Nation have in like manner left their Castle and great part of them already are come in here to Albany for releife in their wants of provision and amunic<sup>o</sup>n &c and that the Maquas Nation or great part of them are in like manner come hither, We cannot perceive that it can be any service to send any great body of men now to the Upper Nations, who are seated at that distance from hence, neither can any men be well spared from Albany, here being only three establishd companies in garrison with a detachment of Yo<sup>r</sup> Exc<sup>ll</sup>. own company now brought with you, besides a few inhabitants; which we judge to be litle enough for the defence of the place: but we humbly suppose that its of absolute necessity that small parties be frequently sent out to clear the coast from such small troops that may come to annoy the adjacent farmes in getting in their harvest; and lastly with submission we are of opinion that the best method to reduce the Indians that are fled and to unite them with the rest to this government as formerly in renewing the Covenant Chain, is, —

First, that trusty and faithfull Indians be procured & sent to the Senekes and Caijougues in their castles and to the Onondages that are fledd, with instrucc<sup>o</sup>ns to acquaint them that his Excellency the Governour upon the first news of the French invading their country came to Albany from New Yorke in order for their assistance & releife.

2. That upon his Exc<sup>ll</sup>: coming heither he had intelligence the enemy was already departed out of our Indian Country.

3. That it is hardly possible to have a meeting with all the brethren of the Five Nations now to consult with them what may be proper for the common good and to present them with those things which are sent to them from his Exc<sup>ll</sup>. great master the King of Great Brittain.

4. That therefore yo<sup>r</sup> Exc<sup>ll</sup>. do appoint the brethren to meet you thereunto at Albany this day two months, but if it should so happen that by reason of the Onondages being fledd the brethren could not then meet in a body at that time that the Onondages, and Senekes & Caijougues will consult and pitch upon the time, and to give Yo<sup>r</sup> Excellency timely notice thereof to the end the brethren of the Maquas and Oneydes may be acquainted therewith accordingly. Dated the 5th of August in Albany 1696.

The Instructions

INSTRUCCIONS for Major Peter Schuyler one of his Ma<sup>tyes</sup> Council for the Province of New Yorke, M<sup>r</sup> Godfrey Dellius Maj<sup>r</sup> Dirck Wessells and the May<sup>r</sup> of Albany for the time being, commissioned by me in my absence to conferr with the Five Indian Nations for his Ma<sup>tyes</sup> service pursuant to the s<sup>d</sup> Comission.

To send out trusty and faithfull Indians with one or two Christians that understand the Indian language to the Castles of the Sinnekes Caijougues and Onondages who are fled, to acquaint them that upon the first news I had of the French invasion I came up to their releife & assistance.

That at my arrivall at Albany I had intelligence the French were retreated out of their country.

That I am desirous to have a meeting of the Five Nations at Albany to consult with them what may be propper for their comon good and safety, and present them with such things as are sent from my Great master the King.

And that I desire to meet them the eleventh day of October next, but if it should so happen there be [that by] reason of their seperacón and flight the brethren cannot meet in a body at that time, the Onondages, Sennekes, and Caijougues being the uppermost Nations do consult & appoint a time and give me notice thereof, to the end the brethren of the Maquaes and Oneydes be acquainted therewith that the meeting may not faile

That if any of the Sachins came down in my absence you hear and answer their propositions as you shall finde most to conduce to his Ma<sup>tyes</sup> service & the safety of the Province.

That by all oportunityes you give a minute account of these affairs to me and his Ma<sup>tyes</sup> Council for this Province and from time to time follow such further directions and instruccions as you shall receive from us.

And it is hereby further directed by and with the advice of those of his Ma<sup>tyes</sup> Council here present that the s<sup>u</sup>me of One Hundred pounds be lodged in the hands of Mr Dellius towards the defraying the necessary charges of these persons thus employed for his Ma<sup>tyes</sup> service for which he is hereby obliged to give a particular account to me and his Ma<sup>tyes</sup> Council at New Yorke or to the Governour & Council for the time being. Given under my hand and seale at Albany the tenth day of August in the eighth year of his Ma<sup>tyes</sup> reigne Anno Domini 1696.

Mr Philip French deposeth that he heard it discoursed at New Yorke that I should say I would pistoll any man that should choose Peter Delany for an Assembly.

I humbly answer:—I am ready to produce to Yo<sup>r</sup> L<sup>o</sup>ps. the hands of 500 persons dwellers of New York who will averr that they never heard any such report in that place till it came from London. As to the assertion of Philip French that he dined with me to the intent to know the truth that he spoke of this in my presence:—

A. I do not remember any such discourse, nor ever kept minutes of what passed at my table.

He swears that I did not deny but rather owned that I spoke these words:—

A. I must leave the weight of such deposition to yo<sup>r</sup> L<sup>o</sup>ps prudent considerac<sup>o</sup>n.

That I should say Dela Noy and Coll. De Peyster were both rascalls.

A. This is his own language and not mine.

He goes on in his depositions and says that all the time of elecc<sup>o</sup>n there was a great deal of trouble in the town about it.

A. I humbly protest to Yo<sup>r</sup> L<sup>o</sup>ps. that I never heard of any trouble or noise about it.

That he saw many seamen and soldiers with clubs in the field.

A. I stirred not abroad that day; it has been indifferent to me who are chosen Assembly men; I have only wished they might be honest men and such as might endeavour the safety of the fronteers and the prosperity of the Province which has been my chiefest care; yet it appears to yo<sup>r</sup> L<sup>o</sup>ps by those deposic<sup>o</sup>ns that none of my Company though in the feild gave a vote, and I can assure yo<sup>r</sup> L<sup>o</sup>ps, I did not suffer one man to goe off their guard tho' severall of them were freemen of the City. It is hard for any Officer to be accountable for the walkes of such part of a Company as are off their duty.

As to those the deponent calls Leislars party, I am a stranger to them. But when he says there was a rumour of pressing in the feild:—

A. I must averr to yo<sup>r</sup> Lôps, there has been no presse for land service since my coming to this Province.

M<sup>r</sup> French further alleages he heard there had been great heats in the Assembly about the accounts of publick money.

A. This matter will be best demonstrated to yo<sup>r</sup> Lôps. by the minutes of Council and Assembly which are lodged in the Plantation Office, being constantly transmitted there. By them it will appear that I never received one penny of the publick money or issued a warr<sup>t</sup> for the payment of any sùme but with the advice and consent of his Maj<sup>ties</sup> Council for this Province. I humbly desire yo<sup>r</sup> Lôps that M<sup>r</sup> Chidley Brooke his Matyes Receiver Generall and M<sup>r</sup> William Nicoll who are now in England may be examined upon this and the rest of these depositions; they are both of the Council here and now attending yo<sup>r</sup> Lôps to lay the state of this small part of his Matyes dominions before his Majesty and yo<sup>r</sup> Lôps: they are men of credit and witnesses of all my accòus.

Maj<sup>r</sup> Howell was commanded with a detachment of Militia to Albany, it was his turn, he had pay as Maj<sup>r</sup> and Captaine.

M<sup>r</sup> French further deposes that he heard it said all the goldsmiths in town were employed in making snuff boxes & other plate for presents to me.

A. It had been more to the purpose if he could have proved the plate had been presented to me, I acknowledge to yo<sup>r</sup> Lôps. two snuff boxes were given me by two gentl. that I had an opportunity to obleige.

To the last part of M<sup>r</sup> Frenches depositions which is all hearsay; I acknowledge to yo<sup>r</sup> Lôps at my coming to this Province I found one M<sup>r</sup> Surims [Simms] Leiu<sup>t</sup> to Còll: Ingoldesby's Company by the Kings còmission. I sent him into England with my instruccòns and letters to procure recruits for his Matyes two Companyes of Grenadeers posted at York and Albany; as to his being Mast<sup>r</sup> of a ship I can say nothing, but this I can assure Yo<sup>r</sup> Lôps. for my own part I have neither ship nor barke part nor parcell in any vessell whatsoever nor any hand in trade.

What he deposes is answered in my reply to Philip French, only in relation to the making of freeman, I am humbly of opinion yo<sup>r</sup> Lôps. will not make me accountable for what freedoms the May<sup>r</sup> may give or what methods the Sherifff may take upon y<sup>e</sup> occasion of eleccòns; conceiving my selfe unconcerned in both those matters and having never yet heard a complaint as to either.

As to his second deposition it is as the first, and will never appear to yo<sup>r</sup> Lôps. that I ever named one man for the Assembly, being wayes indifferent, having nothing to ask or desire of them but their care to secure the frontiers

Samuell Bradley being of the same substance with that of William Kidds, requires no further answer

John Albrough deposes no new matter, only that his master being of the Assembly he heard his master say he had asked the Governour for an account, but was not cleer about it, and soon after the Governour broke the Assembly.

A. I humbly desire yo<sup>r</sup> Lôps. will be pleased to allow M<sup>r</sup> Chidley Brooke and M<sup>r</sup> William Nicolls to be examined upon these two points, who will make it clear to yo<sup>r</sup> Lôps. that I have ever urged the Assembly to look into the publick accounts, and that I never dissolved the Assembly but with the advice and concurrence of the whole Council.

Joseph Davies swears that he saw with an Assembly man a short account of about £1500 said to be remaining in the Governours hands. I must again desire yo<sup>r</sup> Lóps. will allow M<sup>r</sup> Brooke and M<sup>r</sup> Nicolls to declare their knowledge on this point and that the minutes of the Council and Assembly may be produced. It will then appear to yo<sup>r</sup> Lóps as I have said before that I never received one penny of publick money; my part has only been to signe warrants for such payments as has been concluded of in Council here.

Giles Shelley is answered in what has been already said.

Benjamin Blydenburgh in the latter part of his deposition says it was reported the Assembly had demanded an Account of the money given to Governour Slaughter the former Governour and that I had not given it.

A. This is a report on hearsay as all the rest are and is new to me. I humbly protest to yo<sup>r</sup> Lóps. I never received any money belonging to Governour Slaughter, therefore could not account for it. I desire M<sup>r</sup> Brooke & M<sup>r</sup> Nicoll may be called to speake to this matter.

Thomas Jeffers offers nothing but what has been already said; which I humbly conceive is answered, so that I have no more to add, but humbly submitt to yo<sup>r</sup> Lóps. great wisdom and justice.

I am, Yo<sup>r</sup> Lóps. most obedient & most humble servant.

Governor Fletcher to the Lords of the Privy Council.

[New-York Entries, A. 52.]

Letter from Coll: Fletcher to the Lords of the privy Council dated the 22nd Aug: 1696.

May it please Your Lordships.

I had the honour of Your Lord<sup>ps</sup> of the 15th of Feb<sup>ry</sup> and the 15th of April last and Your Lordships commands shall be punctually obeyed. The act of Parliament was published; I caused it to be printed for the better information of all His Maj<sup>ty</sup>s subjects in this province.

I had likewise the honour of your Lord<sup>ps</sup> of the 20th of April which I did communicate to the Council who are infinitely obliged by Your Lord<sup>ps</sup> care for this Colony —

At the same time I received that of the 20th came certain intelligence from Albany that Count Frontenac with 1000 French and 2000 Indians was in our Indian Country, and that the people of Albany were in some consternation. I left necessary orders with the Council and repaired to Albany, when I came thither, I had intelligence the French had burnt the Castle of the Oneydes, taken some women and Children, and destroyed their corne, when they approach'd to Onnondage, the Onnondages set fire to their own Fort, and fled to the Southward, leaving their corne to be cut down by the Eneny. I have transmitted copies of my proceedings at Albany to [the] Plantation office which I hope Your Lordships will approve.

When I returned to New Yorke I found the people very forward in the reparation of their Breast workes and platforms according to order having furnished the Gunns with new wheels and carriages where wanting.

I shall always be ready to obey your Lordships' Commands and adjust my duty to His Majesty in the defence of this Province to my utmost ability and beg leave to be accounted

May it please Your Lordships

Your Lordships

most dutiful most obedient and

most humble servant

Representation of Messrs. Brooke and Nicoll to the Board of Trade.

[Journal, IX. 70-2.]

Whitehall August the 26th 1696.

At a meeting of His Majesty's Commissioners for Trade and Plantations.

PRESENT — Lord Privy Seal

Duke of Shrewsbury

Earl of Tankerville

M<sup>r</sup> Chancellor of the Exchequer.

Brook & Nicoll M<sup>r</sup> Chidley Brook and M<sup>r</sup> William Nicoll, attending acquainted the Board that the French of Canada had the last Summer possessed themselves of a Fort at a place called Cadaraqui, which thô at 4 or 500 miles distance from New Albany is an annoyance to them, and the Indians of the Five Nations their Neighbours. That those of the Five Nations which they had by the insinuating Arts of their Priests gained to their side came in small parties, skulking through the woods, and had lately killed five or six men near Albany; That the way of those Indians is thus, to hide themselves in Woods and Bushes, and as soon as they have done any mischief fly into the Woods, — where it is impossible to follow or finde them. That the Remainder of these Five Nations hate mortally those of themselves that are joynd with the French. That they lie not above 30 miles from Albany. That the most numerous of them called Senecas are not above 1000, and the whole scarce 2500 men. That they are as so many Cantons leagu'd together, but under one head in time of War. That it is highly our Interest to keep their Friendship: Which must be done by making them presents ever and anon: Powder, Lead, Guns; Hatchets, Kettles, Clothing &c. And besides this to keep up a Reputation with them, it is necessary to have an appearance of strength upon the place, and to have wooden Forts advanced as far as may be on our Frontiers with some little Garrisons in them. That the French do appear to have them stronger than we, having 1500 Soldiers actually in the King's pay at Canada. That the French Inhabitants there apply themselves chiefly to trade, not planting. That the French King to promote intercourse with them gives five pistols to any Frenchman that marries an Indian Woman. That these Five Nations speak languages something different one from the other. But no Englishman understands y<sup>m</sup>. That our Chief way of conversing with them is first by the Interpretation of a Dutch woman, and from her by a Scotchman. That the Inhabitants in the Town of New York are one half Dutch, a quarter part French Protestants, and a Quarter part English. They all live under our laws and are very glad to do so: That the product of the Country of New York is chiefly Corn. Their land produces ordinarily 15 bushells on an Acre: Wheat is very good which they carry to the other Plantations. And hitler they bring Pelletry: That they have great deale of Wood in the Country, some Pitch pine, but chiefly Oak. The White Oak is the best: They build many ships with it; but it lasts not so long as our English Oake. That they have some Iron-mines; but the Iron is brittle; and little of it made. That they are accustomed to make presents to their several Governors, but only once. And that the last to Colonell Fletcher amounts to the value of about 600.£. In the end the Board desiring these Gentlemen to draw up in writing a scheme of what presents were fit for the Indians, what Forts necessary to be built, and in what places, What Forces necessary to be maintain'd; And whatever else they thought usefull to the Province, they promised to do it.

Whitehall September the 4th 1696

At a Meeting of His Majesty's Commissioners for Trade and Plantations.

PRESENT—Lord Keeper	M <sup>r</sup> Pollexfen
Duke of Shrewsbury	M <sup>r</sup> Locke

New Yorke
Miller's case

shewed a Generall Order from Colonell Fletcher to M<sup>r</sup> Gilbert Heathcote for his <sup>1</sup> Rev. JOHN MILLER, M. A., was commissioned Chaplain to the two companies of grenadiers in the colony of New-York, on the 7th March, 1694, in the summer of which year he arrived in this country. A law having been passed in Sept., 1693, for settling a ministry in the province, he demanded (15th Feb'y, 1694), in virtue of his license from the Bishop of London, an induction into the living lately established for the maintenance of a Protestant minister in the city of New-York. His pretension having been submitted to the Council, they decided, nem. con., that he was not thereby entitled to that living. New-York Council Minutes, VII., 54. Mr. MILLER left New-York in June, 1695, after (to use his own words) "having been very near three years resident in the province, as chaplain to His Majesty's forces, and constantly attending the Governor." During his residence, he had the opportunity of observing many things of considerable consequence in relation to the Christians and Indians; and also took draughts of all the cities, towns, forts and churches of any note, and several other matters, to enable him to give an exact account of the then state of the province of New-York. On his return passage, he was taken prisoner by a French privateer in July, 1695, and obliged, unfortunately, to throw all his papers overboard, to prevent the information they contained falling into the enemy's hands. He, however, employed the time of, what he calls, his "long imprisonment," to retrieve, by the help of his memory, some part of what he lost; and, on his return to England, presented to the Bishop of London "A Description of the Province and City of New York with plans of the City and several Forts as they existed in 1695." The MS., on the dispersion of Mr. Chalmers' library, came into the possession of Thomas Rodd, bookseller, London, by whom it was published in 1843. It is an 8vo. tract of 43 pp., and contains, among other curious things, a plan of an American episcopate, which, however, seems to have been overlooked in the Rev. Dr. Hawks' very interesting paper on the subject, in Coll. of Prot. Ep. Hist. Soc., I., 136. It recommended the appointment of a bishop of New-York, who was not only to exercise authority in all the English provinces in the North part of America, but to be commissioned, at the same time, governor of New-York, New-Jersey, Connecticut, Rhode Island, and also of Canada, the conquest of which country was embraced in the plan. Deacr. p. 23, et seq. Mr. MILLER's commission and license are recorded in the Secretary of State's Office, in Book of Commissions, II., 71. — En.

Pay dated the 22<sup>d</sup> April 1693. But a Servant of M<sup>r</sup> Heathcote's accompanying him produced a letter of Colonell Fletcher's to M<sup>r</sup> Heathcote dated the 29th May 1695. in which the state of his Accounts is limited to the 1st of June 1695. And said that M<sup>r</sup> Heathcote had paid him all that he had order for: Wherewithall nevertheless M<sup>r</sup> Miller not being satisfied his complaint arising upon an account betw<sup>e</sup>en him and Colonell Fletcher he was thereupon told that the decision of that matter did not belong to this Board.

Being then further enquired of about the state of that Province he gave these following Answers.

That there are about 3000 Families in New York and about 5000 Families in Connecticut.

That he was at Albany when the French came down that way in the year 1693. It was into the Mohacs Country, beyond Schenectidy. There were of them about 2 or 300, and as many of their Indians. The Force sent against them was from Albany much about the same number (English and Indians) under Major Schuyler, who speaks the Indian Language. Other forces sent from New York came too late. Major Schuylers Order from Colonell Ingoldsby who commanded in Albany was that when he found he was near the Enemy he should fortify himself; He did so; And in the mean time while sent out detachments who in several attacks killed about 30 or 40 of the French party, whereupon the rest fled, and have not since returned. This was the only incursion of any moment that was ever made upon that Country before his coming away in June 1695.

That the Town of Albany is fortified only with stockado. There is but one Minister of the Church of England and one Schoolmaster in the whole Colony of New York A Dutch Minister there had instructed some Indian children. But the English in New York had not endeavoured it. There are many Interpreters

That the Trade of Albany is cheifly Beaver. Formerly it may have been to the value of £10,000 a year but is now decay'd, by reason of the Warr between Our Indians and the French, not diverted to any other place. The burdens also of that Province have made 2 or 300 families forsake it, and remove to Pensilvania and Maryland cheifly and some to New England.

That the Presents usually given to the Five Nations are not distributed to particular Men amongst them: But in general to the whole. It is done in the Governor's name as by order from the King. Their returns are in Beaver and Otterskins to the value of 20 or 40£. Those presents of theirs are made to the Governor: He is doubtfull if not sometimes mentioned for the King.

Plan submitted by Messrs. Brooke and Nicoll for securing New-York.

[New-York Entries, A. 19.]

In obedience to Your Lordships command when we waited on this Board signifying that we should lay before Your Lordships such proper methods as may be taken for securing New York and the rest of the English Dominions on the main land of America, from the French inroachments we humbly offer as our Opinions

The French to be dispossest of Canada

That the best and secursest means would be the dispossessing the French of Canada and settling an English Colony in that place.

By this

Benefits that would arise from thence

This Kingdom might be wholly eased from any further charge in keeping Garrisons in those parts.

Peltry

The whole trade of Furrs and peltry will be a reasonable consequence of the successe of such and attmpt.

Indians

The Indians on that Continent will not only be deprived of all meanes of making warr on and doeing mischief to the English but become altogether at their command, there being no other people from whom they may purchase or procure arms Ammunition clothes or other necessaryes, their long trade with Europeans hath accustomed them to, and which they now cannot well live without.

New discoveries

Further discoveries with much more ease and safety might be made into the Inland parts of the Continent, which both by the French and other reports are full of minerals and in particular to abound in great quantities of copper.

But if such an undertaking do appear to Your Lord<sup>sh</sup> either not fezible or impracticable as too full of hazard or too great a charge. Then we humbly submit the following particulars to Your Lordships consideration.

Presents to the Indians

That about 1000.£ be yearly laid out in Arms Ammunition Clothes, etc for presents to be made to the Five nations or Cantons of Indians to encourage and preserve them firm to the English Interest, and to be continued tho' the warr cease —

1000 men to be kept on the Frontiers.

That during the war a garrison of about 1000 men may be kept on the frontiers of New Yorke towards Canada that the Indians may see we have a sufficient force as well to defend ourselves as also to assist them against the French if there be occasion

Forts at Albany
Senececlady etc

That a regular Stone Fort may be built at Albany and fortifications made at Senececlade, Canestigaon,<sup>1</sup> the half moon flats etc. and suitable forces posted in them.

Recruits

That yearly recruits of men and of stores of warr may be sent over to make good the number and supply the wants of the forces there.

Some of our English Youths to be had amongst the Indians.

That five or six hardy youths (of good natural parts and well understanding grammar) at least may be sent to reside among those Indians to learn their language perfectly, and be acquainted with their customes and manners, that thereby the govern<sup>t</sup> may have the better insight into their measures and designe, and with more facility treat with them whenever it is necessary.

Conversion of the Indians.

That some protestant English clergy may be encouraged to dwell for some certain time with those people to endeavour their conversion to the Christian Religion.

A fort near the Lake.

And that as soon as it shall be judged feasible a strong fort and good settlement may be built and made in some convenient place near the Lake—Wee are

Your Lordships most humble and

most obedient servants

Proceedings of Board respecting New-York Memorial.

Whitehall September the 12th 1696.

At a Meeting of His Majesty's Commissioners for Trade and Plantations.

PRESENT.—Earl of Tankerville                      Mr Locke Mr Pollexfen.

New Yorke
 Brook & Nicoll

Mr Chidley Brooke and Mr William Nicoll attending according to summons presented to the Board a Memorial of the Methods proper for the security of New Yorke and from the Incroachments of the French. The first of which is the taking of Canada. But if that be not feizable; Then that 1000.£ be laid out yearly here in presents to be sent to the Five Nations of Indians. That a Garrison of 1000 men be maintained on the Frontiers of New Yorke during this War. That a regular stone Fort be built at Albany, and Fortifications in several other places. That Recruits of men and stores be sent from hence yearly during the War. That five or six Young men be sent to reside among the Indians to learn their language; as also some Clergy to endeavour their conversion to the Christian Religion.

The Board then enquiring of them further upon several heads, their answers were to this effect.

That if the Designe were to attack Canada some men might be sent from England, and the rest drawn out of the Colonies; the strength thereof they reckon'd or guessed at in this manner. The Massachuset alone reckon themselves 10 000 men fit to bear arms. In Road Island there are about 300 Families capable to furnish 40 or 50 men. The Militia of Connecticut is about 3000 men. These three have formerly furnished about 1500. The Militia of the two Jerseys is about 1000. The Militia of New York was in 1693 about 3000: but they are decressed; many being removed from thence, to avoid the trouble of Detachments and to live more easily in other Colonies free from taxes.

To attack Canada Forces must be employed both by land and sea. For those by Land New Yorke would be the most convenient Rendezvous, it being the center of those Colonies: And Albany lies nearest to the French Frontiers, some hundreds of miles distant from the Great Lake, but they knew not perfectly which way Waving the proposition of attacking Canada; They said that singly for the Defence of the Country, if there were not a necessity of keeping up a Reputation with the Indians, the 400 men that are there already would be sufficient to defend it. They know not how many of those 400 are remaining of the Men sent over from hence, and how many new Recruits: Some few have dyed, but many deserted. However they are at present so many effective men; But the recruits that are included in the number cannot be depended upon longer than a year, unlesse the Assembly make new provision for the charge of them. Before the war there was never but one Company.

They do not know what stores were remaining in the King's Magazeens at the time of their leaving the Country. But said that Colonell Fletcher did usually send accounts of those stores to the Secretaries Office and the Plantation Office. And that there had been no consumption of those last sent but in salutes or such like ordinary occasions.

The culture of their ground is chiefly plowing and sowing. They supply the Southern Plantations with Corn. They pay 4th upon 50 or 100 acres of land, Quit Rent to the King, no duty upon goods outwards. Their Returns are from Jamaica Money, from Barbados Sugar, Molosses and Rum. Upon Rum some duty is laid, but none on Sugar. Commodities from hence pay generally 2 per cent. but those proper for the Indian Trade more. The whole value of the King's Revenue there is about 4000.£ per annum. (More than sufficient in time of peace for the public charge of the Country) Mr Brook is Collector and has received it so. His accounts he said are in Mr Blathwaytes Office, who is Auditor of the Accounts of all Plantations. But he offerd to bring a Copy of his account of the last Quarter to this Board, for a specimen of their method.

Their methods of Justice are in this manner. The Justices of the Peace determin causes of small value. Next is their County Court. From that lyes appeal to the Supream Court, which consists of Five Judges Commissioned by the Governour. From that again lies appeal to the Governor and Council who are as a Court of Chancery, And in the last place, for sums of 300.£ or more from them lies appeal to the King.

The presents made by the Indians, in returne of those given them they said were very small, perhaps to the value of 40th or 3.£ in returne of one of the value of 200.£. And those the Governours took ordinarily as their perquisites.

They further acquainted the Board that there is one Nelson, who had been long a Prisoner in Canada and is able to inform the Board very particularly of the strength of the French in that place.

Upon Enquiry about Mr Graham Attorney General at New Yorke, they said that he had been put in there in the Reigne of King Charles the Second: And was by the late King James removed to Boston, where (in the time of the Revolution) he was imprisoned but in the year 1691 upon a letter from the Committee of Trade and Plantations, he was restored to his place in New York'.

[New-York Papers, A.B. A.10.]

Gov. Fletcher to Gov. Treat.

New Yorke June 17th 1695.

Sir.

Her late Majesties royal letters under her sign manual bearing date at Whitehall the 22<sup>d</sup> of August last past, signifying her Royall Will & Pleasure that a Quota not exceeding 120 men with their proper officers shall be the measure of assistance to be given by the Collony of Coneticutt for the defence and security of the Province of New York, which said Quota of men her late Maj<sup>ty</sup> required and commanded you upon my application, to provide and send to be under my comãd and directions for my assistance in the defence of the said Province of New York; and finding it necessary for his Majesties service, in order not only to the security of this Province of New Yorke but other His Maj<sup>ty</sup> Provinces and Collonys in this part of his dominions; I do hereby apply my self to you accordingly that the said Quota of men, 120. with their proper officers viz' one Cap<sup>t</sup> two Lieutenants & three Serjeants, three Corporalls and two Drummers be provided and sent to Albany by the first day of August next, in obedience to the comand of her late Majesty and for his Majesties service in order to the general defence of this part of His Maj<sup>ty</sup> Empire. I am Sir, Your humble Serv<sup>t</sup>

BEN: FLETCHER.

For His Maj<sup>ty</sup> special Service
To the Hon: Coll. Robert Treat Gov<sup>r</sup> of the Collony of Coneticutt, these.

New Yorke June 19th 1695.

Sir. By an express last night from the fronteers of this Province I have notice that a very considerable body of French are within a few dayes march of Albany. I do therefore again apply myself to you for your Quota of one hundred and twenty men and that they be forthwith dispatched to Albany for the security and defence of that place; it being much for his Maj<sup>ty</sup>s service, I cannot doubt your compliance herein; I also send you an abstract of a letter from Maryland. I have not time to enlarge but am, Sir

Your humble Serv<sup>t</sup>

Superscribed. For His Maj<sup>ty</sup> special Service.
To the Hon. Coll Rob<sup>t</sup> Treat.
Gov<sup>r</sup> of Conecticut, these

Governor and Council of Conn: to Gov. Fletcher.

May it please Yo<sup>r</sup> Excellency.

Your letters of the 17th of this instant wee have in Councill this day, wherein you say by virtue of a royall letter from her late Maj<sup>ty</sup> you apply your self to us & you send for 120 men with a Capt. two Lieutenants three Sergeants three Corporalls and two Drummers to be at Albany the first of August next for his Maj<sup>ty</sup>s service for the defence of this part of his Maj<sup>ty</sup>s Empire; as also your letter of June 19th 95 is before us wherein you say by an express last night from the frontier of your Province that a considerable body of French with their Indians are within a few daies march of Albany and therefore you do apply your selfe to us for our quota of 120 men forthwith to be dispatched to Albany for the security and defence of that place &c which wee have considered and wee do assure your Excellency that to this day we have not received one word from her Majesty wherein she lays any such command upon us. Yet notwithstanding we hope we shall be as ready to attend our duty to assist in the defence of his Maj<sup>ty</sup>s interest and our fellow subjects, as any of our neighbours whatsoever, but we desire not to be put to needless charge. For take it for granted that a party of French and Indians be come over the Lake, before we possibly can get up thither they will have done what mischief they can do and be returned; which is alwaies their wonted custome. Besides we are of opinion that the quota of 120 men is to be required of us in proportion with the neighbouring Collonies & Provinces when there is an invasion made upon you by the enemy and not at other times. For indeed we are a poor people and God is pleased to frown upon us severall wayes by the sea side, as we hear, our Corn is much blasted and upon the river it is much of it like to be destroyed by the overflowing of the water; so that we fear whether we shall have enough preserved to find the good people bread in this Colony. All which will induce us to be as good husbands as we can, and we do pray your Excellency upon these accounts to be favourable as you can towards us and put us to as little charge as may be. Besides your news from Mary Land gives an account that the French are sending all the force they can to give trouble and to damage in these parts, and we cannot but expect them upon our parts, they lying open to them more than New Yorke, and we having so little strength to oppose them & Yorke being well fortified we are afraid we may be in the greatest hazard of an assault by the enemy and may need helpe as much as any in New England, and if it so fall out we shall need your help which we hope you will readily grant us. Sir we pray you to put a candid construction upon these lines and be assured that when we understand our duty we shall be very ready to address our selves to the attendance of it: which with our service to Your Excellency we take leave to subscribe your humble Serv<sup>ts</sup> the Gov<sup>r</sup> and Council of Their Ma<sup>ty</sup> Collony of Coneticutt

Hartford July 9th 1695.

Excellent Sir

Your letter of the 1st instant we received and therewith a Copy of Her Majestys letter and on the same day in the evening we received the original her Maj<sup>ty</sup> letter dated June 21. 1694.<sup>1</sup> in the sixth year of their Maj<sup>ty</sup> reign, whereby we understand the explanations and restrictions given to your Excellencys Cómmission, and we shall accordingly attend their Maj<sup>ty</sup> comands and directions therein as there may be occasion, not only with our Quota, but with the whole militia of the Collony, when Their Maj<sup>ty</sup> service requires it. We shall not ad, but with respects and service rest your humble Serv<sup>ts</sup> the Governour and Council of Coneticutt

August 5. 1695.

Sir

I did acquaint you of three men run from my own Company of Granadiers, and sent a hue and cry after them; the men were taken up at Fayrefield imprisoned and afterwards rescued by the people of the town, where I understand they are concealed. I sent a cómmission Officer with the Kings pinnace to bring them back, but the people refused to discover them untill he was gone. Sir there are also 14 of the new forces run away from Albany and are all sheltered in your Collony. I never did delight in blood, if it be only a principle of Compassion to the mens lives, I do ingage none of them shall suffer death for this fault only let them be returned, that the garrison may see there is no possibility to escape to prevent a greater inconveniency. I cannot think it prudence for your people to meddle in this matter, which is apparently to the hurt and prejudice of the King's service and their own ease and security. I did receive the intelligence of the privateer last night; I heard of her on Saturday afternoon when I ordered 33 of the Grenadiers of my own Company, on board, to strengthen the Richmond, who sailed yesterday noon. I hope other parts have done their endeavours and that the enemy shall be taken. Sir, His Majesty hath appointed the Quota of men 1198 from the severall Collonyes and Provinces on this maine, to be under my Command: it cannot be supposed for no end, and that the King's service can be benefited by your saying you are in readiness, unless you obey. I therefore persist in my application to you for one hundred & twenty men, with their proper Officers, to be forthwith sent to Albany, & that suitable provision be made for their subsistence pay and incidents. The reason of my application to you first is your nearness to the frontiers. I have take care for their releif from the remoter Collonyes and that the burthen fall proportionably as the King directs. I am Sir

Your humble Servant

BEN: FLETCHER.

Governor and Counc: of Conn. to Gov. Fletcher.

Hartford Aug<sup>t</sup> 12th 1695.

Excellent Sir.

Your letter of the 5th of this month is now before us, whereby we are informed of three men of your Excellency's Company that are fled from New Yorke who were taken up at Fayrefeild and there imprisoned and afterwards rescued by the people of the town and concealed from your Officer &c which is altogether unknown to us and very offensive to us, & shall be inquired into by us or our order, and according as it doth appear when examined they shall be dealt withall according to their demerits. You also inform of fourteen of your new forces that are fled from Albany & sheltered in our Collony, which we must profess we have no knowledge of, and upon our inquiry as yet we can receive no such intimation: but upon your Excellencys notice we shall forthwith send out hue and cryes to seize all such persons as are suspiciously guilty of being such persons to be secured and returned. For we are of your Excellencys opinion that for us to be any wayes abetting or incouraging to such persous unlawfully withdrawing from His Maj<sup>ty</sup> service, it is prejudicial to his Majesties interest and to the ease and security of his good subjects. Sir, we thank you for your care in sending forth and furnishing the Richmond friggat with men to go forth against the cõmon enemy and we pray God grant them good success in expelling off the enemy that is upon our Coasts. Your Excellency is pleased to signify unto us His Maj<sup>ty</sup> hath appointed a Quota of 1198 men from the severall Collonys and Provinces of this America to be under your comand; of which Quota ours you assert to be 120 men, and that you persist in your application to us that they be forthwith sent to Albany with suitable provisions to be made for their subsistence pay and incidents; to which we must say as formerly in our letter of July 9th 1695. that we stand ready not only with our Quota but the whole Militia of our Collony upon any invasion or necessity requiring, to assist your Excellency to repell any enemy that shall molest any of his Ma<sup>ty</sup> subjects, but we do understand by Her Maj<sup>ty</sup> letter of the 21st June 1694. in the sixth year of their reign that in this time of war our Quota is 120 men, which is the measure of the assistance to be given by our Collony and that your Excellency is not to comand or draw out more of the said Quota or Militia of our said Collony of Conecticut that [than] your Excellency shall in proportion demand or draw forth out of the adjacent Collonys; and we are ready according to our proportion to send our aid upon demand with the rest of the adjacent Collonys. Besides we are this day informed from our neighbours of the Uper Towns that they were yesterday alarmed by the Indians there, the Enemy having assaulted and slain severall freind Indians and also destroyed two families of the English in one of the Northern Plantations near the river in the Massachusetts, so that we are alarmed that way, and of necessity some help should be afforded them or elce they will not be able to defend themselves. Besides our town of New London calls upon us for assistance there, so that upon the whole we request your Excellency to be as favourable as you may; not that we are unwilling to contribute to the releif of their Maj<sup>ty</sup> subjects or to be guided therein by your Excellencys comand, but request you would please to consider our circumstances. Besides in yours you do not tell us of any present hazards nor how long our men shall continue in Albany, and that you expect us to supply them with provision &c which will be too hard for us to do; yet we should be glad to be acquainted with the whole of your expectations. We are not sensible of any present danger at Albany and having such supply of men already to keep garrison there as needfull, we think it not his Majesties intentions in his letter that his subjects should be burthened more than is needfull, neither do we see that we are bound to supply our men with provisions and other supplys when they are upon Their Majesties service out of our Collony. We have not to enlarge, but our service to your Excellency and that we are your humble servants The Governour & Council of their Maj<sup>ty</sup> Collony of Conecticut this deliver for his Majesties Service.

New Yorke Aug<sup>t</sup> 19th 1695.

Sir

I received yours of the twelfth instant. I did signify to you that his Maj<sup>ty</sup> had appointed from the provinces and Collonys on this main 1198 men. You want not my assertion what your Quota is, having Her Maj<sup>ty</sup> Royal Cômmission to inform you His Maj<sup>ty</sup> expects a ready and chearfull compliance. It cannot be supposed His Maj<sup>ty</sup> can intend any ease or assistance to this Province by charge of maintaining 1198 men, which with their officers and incidents would amount to £30000 per annum. Sir Edmund Andross the Gov<sup>r</sup> of Virginia has not thought fit to dispute the Royal comand nor to ask a reason for my application to him, knowing that I am only accountable to his Majesty. I have ordered you herewith a copy of his letter. These forces from Virginia were designed for the releif of Yours the first of May next. I have taken the same care and measure of my applications to the other Collonys and Provinces for assistance which I have to Conectiutt and if I can find any thing proposed by you that can answer the end I shall be always as favourable to your people and ready for their defence as for any of his Maj<sup>ty</sup>s Collonys whatsoever, so that the charge of this intended assistance fall equally as designed. But to prevent further delay or excuse I do acquaint you that I have intelligence of the French being upon their march to besett Cadraqui with all the strength they can spare, and the Indians have desired our assistance; therefore I persist to demand your Quota and to make provisions for their subsistence pay & incidents, untill the first of May next pursuant to their Maj<sup>ty</sup>s cômmission, which you are required and comanded to give obedience to, according to the signification of their pleasure.

As for the run aways that are sheltered among you I earnestly desire that care be taken to discover and send them back to their garrisons, if no assistance is to be expected from you pray let us not by your means have our forces diminished. I am, Sir,

BENJ: FLETCHER.

Gov. and Coun. of Conn: to Gov Fletcher.

Hartford Aug<sup>t</sup> 29th 1695.

Your letter of the 19th instant is now before us, and [as] you inform us we are fully satisfied of his Maj<sup>ty</sup>s cômmands and of our Quota, which is to be 120 men, as also that your Excellency hath speciall directions that you do not cômmand or draw out more off the Colony of Conectiutt than you shall in proportion comand or draw out of the Militia of the adjacent Collonys &c which we are ready to attend and join with you and them as occasion shall require; but for us to be called forth eight months or more before the rest are called forth we do not see the reason of it. We return you thanks for your promise of kindness or being favourable to us, so that the [Men &] charge of the intended assistance fall equally as designed, which we have no great scruple, provided it be equally proportioned to attend. As to the French their resettlement of Cadarackque it cannot be thought they are able to do anything there; 'tis thought the Indians may be sufficient to keep them off. Besides we understand by some of Albany that there is two hundred of the Friend Indians gone over the Lake to fall upon the French, which will put them upon their [other] considerations. But as to your persisting in laying your cômmands upon us for our Quota of 120 men, we can say no other but that if your Excellency please to call for our Quota in proportion with the rest of the Collouyes & Provinces we are ready to do our part which we judge is as much as can be required of us.

Sir, we must plainly tell you that we are grown poor; we cannot possibly find 120 men nine months at Caderaque, with pay, provision, and other incidents; we cannot possibly do it, and therefore may not promise [to do] more than we are capable of doing, and yet would not fall short of our duty. At this time for our own defence and the releif of our neighbours up the River are forced to send up thirty men to their ayd, who are there now and must continue still. Besides the blast and unseasonable weather hath not only destroyed the principal of our cropp but hath disenabled us so that we are not capable of fulfilling your comands, and therefore desire your Excellency to consider some way for our ease. Sir, we could not deny them up the river aid, because it was upon our own defence, they being our frontiers, and are very much alarmed by the enemy, severall friend Indians being killed and some taken captive and five English being assaulted & one wounded very much in both his arms [being broken] & shott into his body in going into their mill. Besides at another garrison at Billeri[k]a they burnt the house & killed ten and carryed away five more children, one man lost his wife and seven children there; Upon which we could not but send them some aid upon their earnest request; and we pray your Excellency [that] what are employed in this service be part of our quota by their Maj<sup>ty</sup> appointment. As to your soldjers run from their posts we have sent out hue and crys to seize and return them & shall upon our utmost prevent their escape both now and for the future. Excellent Sir we shall not enlarge, but request your candid consideration of these lines and that you would please to be as favourable to us as you may, and be assured that we are your Excellencys most humble servants, The Gov<sup>r</sup> & Council of His Maj<sup>ty</sup> Collony of Coneticutt.

Sir.

By the last post I did expect your answer to mine concerning yo<sup>r</sup> quota and the deserters that are sheltered in your Collony; having received yesterday the inclosed propositions from Albany I am now with all expedition bound thither and constrained to renew my application to you and urge your dispatch in sending up your Quota of men with what is necessary, for them to meet me there. I had appointed the first of August last for their being at Albany, your nearness to that garrison puts a necessity upon me to call for your men at this juncture; I shall take care they be relieved by the remoter provinces in due time, and that the burthen fall proportionably. Excellent Sir.

Your letter of the 2<sup>d</sup> instant we have received and considered your renewed applications for our sending up our Quota of 120 men with what is necessary for them to meet you at Albany, and you will take care that they will be relieved by the remoter Provinces in due time : to which we give this our answer, We did in ours of 29th August last, viz that if your Excellency please to call for ours of the Quota in proportion with the rest of the Collonyes & Provinces concerned, we are ready to do our part according to his Maj<sup>ty</sup>s cōmand, which we are ready to conceive is it<sup>1</sup> his Majesty doth expect from us. It seems to be unreasonable that we should be called upon for our whole Quota of men, and that none of the rest of the Provinces should be called to send theirs at this juncture, especially seeing you are designing them to Cadaraque a place so remote, where the charge will be so great to grant them any suitable supplies for the subsistence of those that shall be appointed there this winter season. We know not what farther to say, and hope this may satisfy your Excellency. But our Generall Court being near, if you please to move them to consider of your motion. If God will, they will meet on the second Thursday in October next by whom you may receive their resolves in this, or what other you shall see reason to mention to them &<sup>c</sup> In our former we told your Excellency what charges we were at in serving<sup>2</sup> our frontiers up the River, which we are ready to believe is that as will be acceptable to our superiors at home. Also as to what you mention of our Covenant with the Indians to go hand in hand with them in their defence, we are ready to do our duty and will not be wanting to answer what we have engaged with the rest concerned with us. We have not to ad, but our respects and that we are, Your humble Serv<sup>ts</sup>

[New-York Papers, A.B. A.11.]

In pursuance of a comission from the Gov<sup>r</sup> of his Majestyes Collony of Conecticut to command the forces designed against Canada, I set forwards from Hartford on the 14th of July 1690. and in seven dayes, by a tedious march through the difficult and almost impassible parts of the wilderness, I arrived at the City of Albany with the additional forces of Conecticut; Capt<sup>n</sup> Joseph Fitch and Capt<sup>n</sup> Johnsons companies being commanded thither some time before. Here I found the designe against Canada poorely contrived and little prosecuted, all things confused and in noe readiness or posture for marching the forces towards Canada, yet

On the 29th of July the Rev<sup>d</sup> M<sup>r</sup> Walker of Woodbery who accompanied me by the desire of the Gov<sup>r</sup> to preach to the army and M<sup>r</sup> Chancy Chaplaine to the Forces sent before me, returned to Conecticot to waite upon the Gov<sup>r</sup> with my letters, and report the difficulty of our affaires and increasing of the Small Pox in the Army, many being dead in the several Companies.

On the 30th of July I gave order to three Companies of Conecticot and a Company of their Indians to march to the Flats about foure English miles from Albany, the Dutch Companies being two dayes march before them; they made their way North and North by East.

Augst 1st early in the morning I followed the army and quartered this night at a place called the Still Water soe named for that the water passeth soe slowly, as not to be discerned, yet at a little distance both above and below is disturbed and rageth as in a great sea, occasioned by great rocks and great falls therein: We made our way North and North and by East.

Augst 2<sup>d</sup> We marched forwards and were overtaken by a post with letters from the Gov<sup>r</sup> of Boston & Conecticot signifying the readiness of the Fleete to sayl towards Canada; and quartered this night at a place called Saratogo, about 50 English miles from Albany, where is a blockhouse and some of the Dutch soldiers. At this place I overtook M<sup>r</sup> Wessells Recorder of the City of Albany and a Company of the principall Gent<sup>l</sup> vollunteers of that City. At this post I received letters from the Mayor of Albany,<sup>1</sup> then up in the Country, that Cannooes were making for the army. Thus far the way has bin very good; onely foure great wading rivers, one of them dangerous both for horse & man. This day I sent Capt Nicholls with some horse to Albany to hasten our provition; our course North East & by North.

Augst 3rd Wee still continue here by the side of Hudsons River where it is fordable and had notice our provition was coming up to us, part of the way in waggons and then in canoes.

Augst 4th I consulted with the Officers and 'twas concluded to march forwards, and then devided our provition, w<sup>ch</sup> was about 35 cakes of bread for each souldier besides pork which was scarce eatable. At this post I left Lieutenant Thomas Avery with some soldiers to guard our provition to us, w<sup>ch</sup> was coming up y<sup>e</sup> river. From this place the burgers and Dutch souldiers carried their provition up the river in birch canoes, and the English souldiers theirs on horses, being noe more canoes. We marched eight English miles this day, and quartered near the Dutch companies, at the Litle carying place,<sup>2</sup> where the water passeth soe violently by reason of the great falls and rocks that canoes cannot pass, soe were forced to carry their canoes & provition on their backs a pretty way to a passable part of the river: our Course N. by E.

Aug. 5th the English soldiers marched with their provition on horses to the Great carying place,<sup>3</sup> about 8 English miles from the Litle carying place, where we overtook the Dutch companies, carrying their canoes and provition over the Great carying place on their backs about 12 English miles; very bad & difficult passing. This hardship the Burgers & Dutch souldiers performed vigorously and without any repining w<sup>ch</sup> made me think noe thing would be difficult for them to performe. Our way this day a continued swamp, abounding with exceeding tall white pine fit to mast any ship. Noe gras for our horses this day; our course has bin North.

Augst 6th We marched over the carying place about twelve English myles, and encamp at a branch of the Woodereke called the Folk [Fork] that leads into the Lake and is accounted part of the Lake water, as it constantly payeth its tribute; in this Creek canoes pass into the Lake called Curlers Lake and soe to Mont Royall, & thence to Quebeck. Our way a continued swamp of stately white pine. From this place horses can pass noe farther. Our course this day East North East.

Aug<sup>t</sup> 7th I sent 30 horse under the comand of Ensigne Thomlinson to Sarotogo for more provition, and leaving the forces at this place under the care of Capt<sup>r</sup> Nicholls I passed down the River, takeing Capt. Fitch & Capt<sup>r</sup> Prentis with me and two files of Musketiers in birch canoes, managed by some of the Burgers, and the New England Indians marching by the river side comanded by Capt<sup>r</sup> Stanton to the Wood Creke or Houtkill, where I had intercourse with the Mayor of Albany, the Burgers and the Maquaes Captaines. Here I encamped on the North side the Wood Creek; our course this day, North East.

Aug<sup>t</sup> 8th I called a Councell of Warr and treated with the Maquaes Sachems and their Cheif Captaines, and delivered to them that I was sent hither from all the governments of New England for their Majestyes service against the French and Indian enemies, and am to put them in minde of the ancient freindship betweene the English and the five Nations, and doe now ask their advice for the best way to prosecute the war against Canada. Upon which they seperated and consulted a considerable tyme and then answered by a Cheif person of each nation, that they had considered the proposition, and did leave it wholly to our selves to order about it. It was then thought by the Council of War that this answee did not sufficiently engage them in the designe against Canada. It was farther proposed to them that they would give advice what number would be proper to send out for scoutes to finde the other Nations who were to meet at Fort La Mot; they answered upon long consideration that they advised the whole army to march; which did not appeare possible to the Councill of Warr.

Aug<sup>t</sup> 9th We still encamp here, where Capt. Johnson returned to me, whom some dayes since I sent to Albany to pres the Commissaryes for a farther suply of provition; but noe thing considerable could be procured; and my letters from the Commissioners of Allbany did assure me that provition is not to be had upon the place. Capt Johnson alsoe gave me account that at his coming from Albany, a Dutch souldier came from Arnout the interpreter, then up in the Senocks Country, and was to goe with them and the other Nations to meet at Fort La Mot; and informed that by reason of the Small Pox soe generally among them they could not comply with their promise of soe many hundred souldiers, that the Great God had stopt their way; which was the expression they used. This newes did a little dishearten the Burgers, who freely offered themselves in the designe; but haveing noe letter from the Comissioners at Allbany of this matter I dispatcht an expres immediately to know farther therein.

Aug<sup>t</sup> 10th I am informed that the souldiers w<sup>ch</sup> I left at the Fork about 12 miles distant were taken sick daly.

Aug<sup>t</sup> 11th I desired the Mayor of Allbany a person of the greatest intrest in the Indians, to take with him a Company of the Burgers and the Cheif Capt<sup>r</sup> of the Maquaes and 15. of the New England Indians, to goe downe the River about six miles lower, to try if more canoes can be made. This day I sent the Dutch Doctor to visit the souldiers w<sup>ch</sup> I left at the Fork, who tells me that Lieu' Hubble is sick of the Small Pox and others likely to be taken, and some are sick of other distempers.

Aug<sup>t</sup> 12th A very rainy day and about five of the clock in the after noone I received letters by an expres from the Gov<sup>r</sup> of Conecticot & the Comissioners at Allbany confirming the report of Arnouts returne from the Upper Nations.

Aug<sup>t</sup> 13th I sent for the Mayor and Maquaes Captaines from below the River, the tyme being soe far spent, the barke would not peepe, and soe noe more canooes could be made. Upon his returne I called a Councill of War, most of my officers being present, and the Cheif Captaines of the Maquaes, to whom I mentioned as is written in a paper the same day.

Aug<sup>t</sup> 14th Wee discourst farther with the Great Captaines of the Maquaes; the account thereof is in a paper written the same day.

Aug<sup>t</sup> 15th This day findeing noe possibility of getting provition to support the forces here any longer, and that here was not Canooes to transport half the Christians, and that wee could not by any meanes at this port, eyther alarme or spoyle the enemy; it was thought most adviseable to returne with the army; having first given order to Johannes Schuyler brother to the Mayor & of great vallew to the Indians to take under his command 40 Christians such as he should think fit, and 100 of the Maquaes, Skataco, and River Indians, and enter into the enemyes country, and soe to Laprere De Magdelena one of the neerest places wee could expect to surprise any of the enemy. This aftermoone having dispatched Capt<sup>n</sup> Schuyler and spared him what provition we could, wee returned to the Fork, and the Doctor haveing taken the best care that was possible to remove Lieu<sup>t</sup> Hubble and the sick souldiers, we marched to the head of the Wood Creek, and in the evening he dyed.

Aug<sup>t</sup> 17th Wee marched to Saratoga many of our sould<sup>rs</sup> being sick and lame.

Aug<sup>t</sup> 18th Wee marcht to the Halfmoone about ten miles from Albany

Aug<sup>t</sup> 19th Here I leave the forces under comãd of Capt<sup>n</sup> Fitch and goe myselfe to Albany to consider the most convenient and safe quarters for the sold<sup>rs</sup> the Small Pox being yet in severall places nere the Citty

Aug<sup>t</sup> 20th I sent orders to Capt. Fitch to march the forces on the South side Hudson's River to the Greene Bush within sight of the Citty.

Sept. 2<sup>d</sup> Capt Johannes Schuyler with the party of Christians & Indians w<sup>ch</sup> I sent out from the Camp at the Woodcreek returned to Albany haveing been at La Prere de Magdalene, they kill'd 12 men and took 15 men and 4 women prisoners.

Sept 3<sup>d</sup> I sent an expres to the Gov<sup>r</sup> and Councill of Conecticot to give acc<sup>t</sup> herof.

Sept 5th Haveing no post from Conecticot and the season very cold and noe shelter for the souldiers who were poorely clothed, I sent Capt<sup>n</sup> Nicholls to the Gov<sup>r</sup> & Councill for speedy orders

Sept. I have letters from the Gov<sup>r</sup> and Councill at Hartford, and orders to march the forces of Conecticot to Hartford

Whitehall September 16th 1696.

At a meeting of His Majesty's Commissioners for Trade and Plantations.

PRESENT — Earl of Tankerville

M<sup>r</sup> Hill

New York
Gouverneur
& Leisler

M<sup>r</sup> Abraham Gouverneur & M<sup>r</sup> Jacob Leisler mentioned the 11th of this Month, offered themselves to acquaint the Board with what they know relating to the State of New England and New Yorke: And upon divers questions asked them answered to this purpose.

That the state of New Yorke is indeed miserable. But that wholly from the conduct of the Governour and Council who instead of treating with the Indians about business, treated with them about the Governour's titles.

M<sup>r</sup> Gouverneur said that he came from New England in January last, and was at New York in 90, and 91, in Colonel Slaughter's time. That upon Colonel Fletcher's coming thither in 92, the old Assembly being dissolved he called a New one: But fore'd the Electors to chuse whom he pleased by vexing and imprisoning those that oppose his intentions. In 94 another assembly was called: Who being worthy men he soon dissolved. And again in 95, he called another, in the Election of which he caused Soldiers and Seamen to be drest in countrymen's clothes, and arm'd and made them vote and deter the Inhabitants that would not vote as he desired: And he hath kept people in Bonds that would have come over to represent these and their other grievances: But that some were coming over in the last Virginia Fleet, but were taken in the way by some of Mons<sup>r</sup> Nesmond's Squadron, and afterwards retaken and carried into Holland, from whence it is uncertain when they may come.

They said that in the whole Province of New Yorke they believed there may be about 8 or 9000 Families. That the Militia might be from 12 to 14 000 this was in the year 89. At which time M<sup>r</sup> Gouverneur said he was employed in the Secretary's Office there, and had oft seen the Muster Rolls, but he believed that since that time 150 Families may have removed out of the Province, compelled thereto by the oppression of the Governour and his harassing them in detachments to Albany 300 at a time. They said that the inhabitants did all the service: The King's Soldiers were of no use: Twenty men were sufficient to keep that Garrison. And the money raised upon that Province, by the General Assembly, for the charge of the Warr, since the year 90 to the end of 95, they reckon'd might be about 40000.£.

Concerning the Presents made the Indians, they said it was don sometimes once a year sometimes twice. That the greatest that ever was given till 89, did not amount to above 150.£. It was no more then, to M<sup>r</sup> Gouverneur's certain knowledg: for it went through his hands. All the presents made since Colonel Fletcher's coming there (now about four years) they reckon'd to be worth 1000.£. And the returns made by the Indians they said were usually of more value than what given them: And always given as to the King.

They said that the Indians (our freinds) were offended that he had not given them the assistance promised, which should have been cheifly men to joyne with them against the French Indians their Enemies. Those Freind Indians come frequently to Albany and buy guns and ammunition there. Many in that country understand their language; chiefly Arnold Cornelisse Ville, who had been interpreter, but was turned out because he had been concernd in the Revolution in opposition to Captain Ingoldsby. The Trade with the Indians they said was much gone to Canada: because part of the Mohaques were joynd with the French.

The French Fort of Cadaraqui they say is 150: or 200 miles Northwest of Albany. Governour Leisler (this M<sup>r</sup> Leisler's Father) pulld it down; but the French have rebuilt it of stone Schenectidy is in the way to it.

There are very great feudes in the Country, ever since the Revolution. Those who joynd with Governour Leisler in it are 19 to one; But now oppressed and kept out of all manner of place or employment in the Government. This Gouvernour was condemned with Governour Leisler (who was executed) M<sup>r</sup> Chidley Brook lately sent from thence was one of their Judges. But tho' the Parliament here have reversed the Attainder, both M<sup>r</sup> Leisler and he are kept out of part of their Estates.

After these discourses were desired to draw up in writing an exact Memorial of whatever they knew relating to the state of that Country, and to give it to the Secretary: But charged to be sure to put in nothing but what they can justfy. Which they promised accordingly to do.

Governor Fletcher to the Lords of Trade.

[New-York Entries, A. 48.]

Collonel Fletcher's letter to the Lords of the late Committee dated the 17. Sept<sup>r</sup> 1696.

May it please Your Lordships.

Ever Indians return'd from Canada with a prisoner and a Soldier's scalp

Since my last by way of Maryland nobody of the Enemy did appear, a small party of our Indians returned from Canada with one prisoner and the Scalpe of a Soldier.

French Indians kill a man and wound another

About ten days ago a sculking party of French Indians killed a man and wounded another near Schenectady.

A party of the upper nations fell upon some French and killed several of them

A party of the upper nations returning from Canada mett the French army in their retreat and fell upon a party in their reare and killed several of them and were hotly pursued but escaped.

He is going to Albany to meet the 5 Nations.

The Onondages are returned and have sent to me to desire I will meet them and the five nations immediately at Albany; I am this day to embarque.

He hopes to secure the Indians by an addition to H. M's present.

I have added upon this occasion considerably to the present sent over by the Gracious favour of His Most Excell<sup>t</sup> Maj<sup>ty</sup> and hope I shall rivet them in the affection of His Maj<sup>ty</sup>s interest.

Necessaries for the Soldiers given by the Assembly

I take with me shirts, coats and shoes for the comp<sup>ys</sup> to the value of .£500. which was given them by the Assembly of this Province for their encouragement.

No Indian eorn to be brought down the river till April next.

I have with advice and consent of the Council of this Province issued a proclamation prohibiting any Indian Corne or pease to be brought down the River until April next, that the Indians may be first supplied in their extremity a Prize drove upon their coast

Since I came last from Albany, arrived here a ship from Jamaica, the Sarah and Elenor which with other six saile homewards bound were taken by a French Squadron of ships near Hispaniola under Convoy of a small French Privateer being bound for France, were met by a storme wherein most of them lost their masts and were seperated, this vessel being drove upon this Coast was Piloted into this harbour the Master being dead and no other Officers on board. I did appoint four Merchants here to have the care and oversight of the ship and loading for the Merchants and owners, she is reported to be of £8000. value.

Intelligence abt
the French.

There were ten Frenchmen on board whom I have disposed of into sundry vessels to be exchanged as prisoners of war; they do report that the French squadron had taken a Gallion with 900,000 peices of eight, they were before S<sup>t</sup> Domingo and threw some Bombs but were beat of, they went up the Coast of Jamaica I have heard no further concerning them.

Newport Gally and Pemaquid Fort taken by the French

The designe upon
Albany

He can get no assistance from his neighboures

He has the King's

Two French men of warr have infested the coast of New England have taken the Newport Gally and Fort of Pemaquid, I have advice from the Lieut<sup>t</sup> Gov<sup>r</sup> that he understands from the Prisoners who are relieved that the Gov<sup>r</sup> of Canada has positive orders to attack Albany; I shall not be wanting in my care to defend and secure it, but am not able notwithstanding the many applications I have made to obtain one man from Connecticut or the Jerseys or Pensilvania.

Capt<sup>n</sup> W<sup>m</sup> Kidd Commander of the adventure Gally did sail from hence 12. dayes agoe having 150 men on board, in his way hither he tooke a French Banker which was condemned here and appraised at 350<sup>l</sup>. I have the King's tenths and shall account for it as the Lords of the Admiralty direct.

Laws and other
transmitted.

I have herewith transmitted the Minutes of Council and acts of the Assembly with duplicates of what was sent by way of Maryland, and now add a copy of M<sup>r</sup> Livingstou's petition and the opinion of the Council of this province thereupon, which with all the circumstances of affairs in this province will be represented to his Maj<sup>ty</sup> and Your Lord<sup>sh</sup> by M<sup>r</sup> Brook and M<sup>r</sup> Nicoll.

Stores and subsistence

I must humbly renew my application for a yearly supply of stores of warr and the payment of subsistence for the four Comp<sup>ys</sup> being all the force I have to depend upon in this Province—I am, May it please Your Lordships—Your Lord<sup>sh</sup> most dutiful most obedient and most humble servant

Governor Hamilton to Governor Fletcher.

[New-York Papers, A.B. B. 97 & 98.]

May it please yo<sup>r</sup> Exc<sup>ll</sup>.

I have formerly acquainted yo<sup>r</sup> Exc<sup>ll</sup>. that I had set some young men who had been formerly to Albany to invite others; they now informe me that Captain Matthews is soe much in their good graces that if he come down he is the likeliest man to prevail. I would have him first finde out Matthew Moore of Woodbridge who was of his Company. He knows the temper of the young men and can the best assist. They must be soothed into it; for asserting the power of the Commission will make them all run the Province. I am really ashamed grieved they are so awkward; they still object the exemption or noncompliance of the neighbouring Colonies, nor will this ever be remedied unless the support of the fronteers reaches all North America: as it is the remoter Colonies are soe many asylums. I am with true regard; may it please yo<sup>r</sup> Excell.

[New-York Papers, A. B., B.38.]

May it please Yo<sup>r</sup> Excell:

Could I make our people as sensible of the hazard Albany lyes under, as I am, and that the weaknesse of that garrison, which they cannot be ignorant [of] may in great probability tempt the enemy to attack the place, as they have Pemaquid, upon the same grounds, I am sure they would find it their interest to run to its defence; but whom have I to work upon but a stiff and an obstinate people who shutt their ears to all reason and become debauched by the ill example of the neighbouring Colonies which they still obtrude to me.

Yo<sup>r</sup> Excell. may beleave 'twas with great difficulty I obtained what I did, that in case of an invasion they should march to the fronteers and be at liberty to return when the accón was over or the enemy retreated; and even to obtain this I was forced to promise them 12<sup>d</sup> a day from Yo<sup>r</sup> Excell. and pledged my own credit to procure them 12<sup>d</sup> more at the first sitting of an <sup>1</sup> ANDREW HAMILTON, originally a merchant of Edinburgh, emigrated about the year 1685 to New-Jersey, which province he had previously visited, as special agent of the proprietors. He was one of the Council of Lord Neil Campbell, whom he succeeded as Deputy Governor in 1686. On the deposition of Andros, in 1689, Hamilton embarked for England, in order to consult with the proprietors, but was taken prisoner on his voyage and detained some time by the French. He was appointed Governor of New-Jersey in 1692, in September of which year he returned thither. Whilst he was in England, Thomas Neale obtained a patent to establish post offices throughout the American Colonies, and on the 4th of April, 1692, appointed Mr. HAMILTON his deputy for all the Plantations (New-York Commissions, II. 33, 40), who brought the subject before Governor Fletcher and the New-York Legislature in October following, by whom an act was immediately passed "for encouraging a Post Office" Council Minutes, VI. 52, 66. The credit of devising this scheme for the establishment of post offices in the Colonies belongs, therefore, to Governor HAMILTON, and not to his son John, as some suppose. On his return to this country, Mr. H. continued to administer the government to the satisfaction of the Crown and the People until 1698, when an act of Parliament was passed, which, it was presumed, required all persons holding any place of profit or trust to be natural born subjects. Governor H., being a native of Scotland, was in consequence superseded, and returned again to England in the spring of the year. He was, however, restored to his office in 1699. He appears to have been a man of intelligence, who deserved and possessed the confidence of all, and was more esteemed in the province than any of his predecessors. He administered the government of New-Jersey but a brief period after this, having been appointed Deputy Governor of Pennsylvania on 1st November, 1701. He died in Philadelphia, in January, 1709. His first wife was Ann, the widow of Robert Wharton of New-York, and daughter of Deputy Governor Rndyard, and he left one son, John, who subsequently held several offices in New-Jersey. Whitehead's East Jersey under the Proprietors. — E.

Assembly, they live so plentifully at home and have so great wages besides severall of our youth gone to the Southern Colonies to be free from detachments, and several as I am told gone aboard Captain Kidd, that there is not a possibility to prevaile with them to continue in garrison, and indeed very difficult to effect any thing.

I am truly melancholly to see our selves thus baffled by a handfull of French nor will it ever be otherwise untill the Crowue send a force to root them out of America or put an indisputable command upon every Colony to furnish a Quota and pay them; for while it rests in the brests of our Assemblies to raise a fund for the support of the fronteers or neglect it, and in the choice of the people to march or stay at home, Yo<sup>r</sup> Excell. is not to be told at this time of day what part they'll choose.

I will notwithstanding call an Assembly in Octob<sup>r</sup> next and will inforce the necessity of the fronteers with all the zeal I am sensible they require. I am,

May it please Yo<sup>r</sup> Excell.

Yo<sup>r</sup> Excies most faithfull and
most obedient servant

The Humble Petition of Robert Livingston.

Sheweth.

That your Excell. petitioner haveing by severall petitions to there Excell: the Lords Justices of England, the Right Hon<sup>ble</sup> y<sup>e</sup> Lords of y<sup>e</sup> Cōmittee of Trade and Plantations most humbly represented unto them that there was due by y<sup>e</sup> government of New Yorke unto your Excell. Petitioner the severall summs hereafter specifyed, to witt £527 19 3½ for disbursements for y<sup>e</sup> officers and souldiers of y<sup>e</sup> two foot Companies at New Yorke in the reign of y<sup>e</sup> late King, as also £233 9 10. expended by him for y<sup>e</sup> support of y<sup>e</sup> garrisons at Albany at y<sup>e</sup> time of y<sup>e</sup> late happy Revolution, and also y<sup>e</sup> summe of £388 8 7. to y<sup>e</sup> officers and souldiers at New Yorke employed in y<sup>e</sup> expedition against y<sup>e</sup> French in y<sup>e</sup> year 1687; whereupon there Lordships were pleas'd to recommend y<sup>e</sup> allegacōns of y<sup>e</sup> Exc<sup>ell</sup>: petitioner therein expressed relating to y<sup>e</sup> said summs unto his Most Excellent Majesty, with there Lordships opinion that in case it shall appeare to your Excell: and Councill y<sup>t</sup> y<sup>r</sup> Excell: petitioners allegacōns to y<sup>e</sup> s<sup>d</sup> summs are true, that your Excell: petitioner be forthwith reimburs'd y<sup>e</sup> same, preferable to all others, out of y<sup>e</sup> money arising by an Act of Gen<sup>l</sup> Assembly entituled An Act for y<sup>e</sup> satisfyeing and paying y<sup>e</sup> debts of y<sup>e</sup> Government, passed in March 1693. Your Excell: Pet<sup>r</sup> in most humble obedience of his Most Excell<sup>t</sup> Ma<sup>ty</sup> order in Councill, bearing date y<sup>e</sup> 21th of Novemb. 1695. brings here unto your Excell: and Councill the vouchers and proofs that your Excell. Pet<sup>r</sup> has for y<sup>e</sup> s<sup>d</sup> summs viz<sup>t</sup> for y<sup>e</sup> first sūme of £527 19 3. a certificate under y<sup>e</sup> hand of Coll. Cortlandt one of y<sup>e</sup> members of His Maj<sup>ty</sup> Council, bearing date y<sup>e</sup> 6th day of May 1691: for y<sup>e</sup> somme of £490 19 2<sup>3</sup>/<sub>4</sub>, and for y<sup>e</sup> somme of £25 12 4<sup>1</sup>/<sub>2</sub> y<sup>e</sup> particular acknowledgements under y<sup>e</sup> hands of y<sup>e</sup> respective souldiers to whom y<sup>e</sup> said somme was advanced, and for y<sup>e</sup> somme of eleven pounds seven shillings and eight pence, and acknowledgement under y<sup>e</sup> hand of y<sup>e</sup> Leif<sup>t</sup> Sharpe, to whom y<sup>e</sup> same was paid, making in all y<sup>e</sup> afores<sup>d</sup> somme of £527 19 3<sup>1</sup>/<sub>4</sub>. And also your Excell: Petitioner brings further his vouchers, for y<sup>e</sup> afores<sup>d</sup> somme of £233 9 10. to witt for y<sup>e</sup> £200 being allowed to your Excell: Petitioner by y<sup>e</sup> Committee of y<sup>e</sup> Representatives upon his proper account, as more particularly appears by an order of your Excell. and Councill for y<sup>e</sup> payment of y<sup>e</sup> same; and for y<sup>e</sup> £33 9 10. being y<sup>e</sup> residue of y<sup>e</sup> said summe, appears to be due to y<sup>r</sup> Excell: Pet<sup>r</sup> by an assignment of Joseph Yetts to whom y<sup>e</sup> s<sup>d</sup> somme is due. Your Excell: Pet<sup>r</sup> therefore humbly prays y<sup>t</sup> your Excell. and Councill would be pleased to permitt your Excell. petitioner to exhibite the afores<sup>d</sup> proofis now ready to be laid before y<sup>r</sup> Excell: and Councill for y<sup>e</sup> maintaining y<sup>e</sup> allegacions in y<sup>e</sup> s<sup>d</sup> peticōn expressed, and likewise y<sup>t</sup> y<sup>r</sup> Excell: would be pleased to issue y<sup>r</sup> Excell warrant for y<sup>e</sup> payment of y<sup>e</sup> aforesaid respective summs, according to y<sup>e</sup> direction of his most Excell Maj<sup>ty</sup> in Councill, and likewise y<sup>t</sup> y<sup>r</sup> Excell. & Councill would be pleased to recommend unto y<sup>e</sup> Generall Assembly y<sup>e</sup> other somme of £355 8 7 mention'd in His Most Excell. Maj<sup>ty</sup>s said order, y<sup>t</sup> effectual care may be taken with y<sup>e</sup> Assembly for the satisfyeing y<sup>r</sup> Excell: Petitioner therein, according to His Maj<sup>ty</sup>s most gracious favour extended to your Excell. Petitioner by His Maj<sup>ty</sup>s said order. And whereas your Excell. Pet<sup>r</sup> did further alleadge that there was due to y<sup>r</sup> Excell. Pet<sup>r</sup> £900. for subsisting His Maj<sup>ty</sup>s forces in New Yorke and Albanie till Novemb<sup>r</sup> 1694. your Excell: petitioner is inform'd since his arrivall here, y<sup>e</sup> same has been paid unto Colonell Cortlandt, who was an equal sharer with your Excell: Petition<sup>r</sup> therein, tho' at y<sup>e</sup> same [time?] of y<sup>r</sup> Excell. Petitioners departure from this Province there was due to y<sup>r</sup> Excell. Petitioner in manner aforesaid y<sup>e</sup> s<sup>d</sup> somme of £900 as y<sup>r</sup> Excell. Petitioner is now ready to make appear under the s<sup>d</sup> Colonell Cortlandt's hand; but y<sup>e</sup> same being paid, y<sup>r</sup> Excell Petitioner hath no further to say, but as in duty bound shall ever pray

At a Council held at His Maties Fort in New York the 15th day of Septemb<sup>r</sup> 1696.

PRESENT— His Excell. Benjamin Fletcher &amp;c

M<sup>r</sup> Robert Livingston did tender his commiçôn to his Excell. in Council, which was read and severall of the members of Council objecting that his allegaçôs upon which he has obtain'd the same are false, and that he is an alien born

It is ordered, the whole Council be a Committee to consider what is to be done therein

DAVID JAMISON Cl. Concilij.

In obedience to the above reference we have duely considered His Most Sacred Matyes Commiçôn to M<sup>r</sup> Rob<sup>t</sup> Livingston granted upon his petiçôn whereby he is confirmed in his severall employments of Collector of the Excise, Receiver of the Quitt Rents in the County and City of Albany and Town Clerke of the Peace and Clerke of the Comôn Pleas there, and in the execution of his office of Secretary or Agent for the government of New Yorke to the Indian Nation and that the fee or sallary of one hundred pounds sterling p<sup>r</sup> Annum be allowed to him as a recompence of his past services and for his future encouragement in the diligent performance of the s<sup>d</sup> employment.

We humbly offer that in the employment of the Collector of Excise, Towne Clerke at Albany, Clerke of the Peace and Clerke of the Cômôn Pleas there, the said M<sup>r</sup> Livingston has officiated for severall years past, for which he has been sufficiently rewarded by the severall fees, perquisites and sallaries thereunto belonging, by which and other employments of the Government he has attained to a very considerable estate; in soe much that thereby he has raised himselfe from nothing, to be one of the richest men of the Province.

As for the office of Rec<sup>r</sup> of the Quitrents, the same has been alwayes performed by the sheriffs of the severall Countyes; and for the Office of Secretary or Agent to the Government to the Indian Nations, We humbly offer that there never was any such officer as Agent or Secretary to the Indians, all treatyes betwixt the Government and the Indians having been performed in a most solemn manner by the Governours themselves in person, or upon some occasions of small moment by the Commanders in Cheife or Magistrates of Albany by speciall direction and instructions for the same.

And all that M<sup>r</sup> Livingston can pretend to have done therein, was to render from Dutch into English what passed at the conferences, which has, for more than forty years past, been the duty of the Town Clerke of Albany as appendant to his Office; nor was the s<sup>d</sup> Livingston sent on any publick message or ever had any power of Agency to treat with the Indians, having no knowledge of their language, or influence on the Nations, and so altogether uncapable of doing the Crown any manner of service for that Sallary, which amounts to the full three fourths of the whole revenue of Albany, so will fall heavy upon that poor Province, His Matyes revenue being greatly in debt and much impair'd by the present war, which has occasioned sundry extraordinary and unavoidable expences for the support of the Government, so that it will not now extend to defray the contingent emergencies thereof and those moderate

sallaryes settled on such Officers as this government cannot want, who are, many of them, in arrear throw failure thereof

We also humbly offer that said Livingston is an alien, born of Scotch parents in Rotterdam and no native borne subject of His Matyes kingdome of England or Ireland or of His Matyes territorys or Dominions in America, and soe consequently disabled from executeing any place of trust relateing to the Treasury, by a late Act of Parliament made in His Matyes kingdome of England in the 7th and 8th year of His present Majestyes reigne, as relation being thereunto had may more at large appear intituled an Act for the preventing frauds and regulateing abuses in the Plantation Trade: all which premisses duely considered:—

We are humbly of opinion that this our Report should be humbly laid before His most Sacred Majesty, and that s<sup>d</sup> Livingston be suspended the benefite of his said sallary and acting as Agent or Secretary to the Indians any other ways than as it belongs to the Town Clerke's Office, as also from his receiving the Quitrents and Excise untill His Matyes royall pleasure be further knowne

Letter from Coll: Fletcher to M<sup>r</sup> Blathwayt dated the 18th of Sept<sup>r</sup> 1696.

Sir.

I am not willing to take up much of your time by my scurry scriblings; having said all that occurs to my thoughts in this hasty call from the Five Indian nations, who have been driven by the French from their wooden castles and are returned; they desire to see me at Albany in a very short warning and I am now ready to step on board.

The French Count of Canada has made but a very silly businesse of it after three years preparation afrighting a few naked Indians only; by this, he shews them his strength and his mercy, being this summer recruited from France, he told all he took prisoners, his business was to bring them under the protection of His Master but not to destroy them. Our Cheife Sachims would not be perswaded to stay and treat, but seeing his force, they fled and are now return'd. I hope to revitt them in their allegiance, by the presents sent from His Maj<sup>ty</sup> and an addition from this province; but yet I want the most cougent argument; a good body of men I have always said, and must persist in it; that five hundred is the least that can be thought a sufficient guard for those frontiers. But not one man could I get upon repeated applications to our adjacent Colonies, when I had intelligence that the French Count was upon his march towards Albany with three thousand French and Indians.

500 men necessary to guard the frontiers.

No assistance from their neighbours.

I was necessitated with a detachment of my own company to hasten up thither, where I had no other force but the three Companies in His Majesty's pay—the Count did civilly retreat. Tho' I am informed from Boston those French Captains who with the Indians tooke Pemaquid, did say the French King had sent positive orders to the Governour of Canada to take Albany without that exception if he could get it.

Want of Stores and assistance. But I am under hard circumstances, no stores of war sent from England, no assistance from our neighbours embarked in the same Bottom, which I humbly desire you will please to represent to His Majesty and the Lords.

Three Lieutenants have given up their Commissions I have spoke to M<sup>r</sup> Povey of three Lieut<sup>s</sup> who in effect deserted, they refused to serve, gave me resignations—I immediately filled their places till His Majesty's pleasure may be knowne.

Livingston. I desired the Council here to consider M<sup>r</sup> Livingston's affair and make report of it being unwilling to be present in their debates, least it should be supposed I influenced them, which I am sure I would not endeavour tho' he hath done me much wrong there. Those papers will be sent over after I am gone to Albany. He hath many relations and countrymen here, I will allow them to be Judges—I am

most obedient servant

[New-York Papers, No. 6. 7.]

May it Please Your Grace.

The many favours your Grace vouchsafed unto me when in England, engageth me with the greatest of gratitude on all occasions to acknowledge them, and makes me now most humbly to supplicate your Grace to accept of my most humble and most dutiful thanks.

On my arrival here, I made it my business to hasten to Albany, where our Governour was, and did present to him your Grace's letter; but that gentleman was so incensed against me for appearing at y<sup>r</sup> Council board, that he not only vented his rage and fury with great indignation, but has stepped over all his duty to his Majesty, and y<sup>r</sup> Grace's letter. He has suspended not only me from executing my offices, but also His Majesty's Commission, by which means seateth himself in a higher station than your Grace, and takes upon him to controule what is transacted by your Grace at Whitehall. it is an act without President, it having never been known that a subject has questioned his Prince's power. He makes such resentments of my complaining of his suspending the execution of the Act of Assembly made for the satisfying of the debts of the Government, and has thereby conceived such prejudice against me, that he endeavors to obliterate all my former service done to the Crown in this Government, and to gain his Council to address his Majesty and Y<sup>e</sup> Right Hon<sup>ble</sup> the Lords of the Plantations against me, saying that the Commission was surreptitiously obtained. and that there was never such an office before. And with such reasons, and others that I cannot discourse, endeavours to justify himself for the inroad he has made upon His Majesty's Authority, not remembering that when he came first into the Government, he made a new office, which is now of little benefit to the Province, in which he placed one of his Domestic Servants, giving him a Commission to be Accountant General, and annexed a salary thereunto of £50 per annum, which never was in the Province, and also, to make the Clerk of the Council now dependant upon him, gives him a salary of £50 per Annum, which never was before. And likewise gave y<sup>e</sup> Attorney Gen<sup>l</sup> a Salary of £100 per ann. all which sallarys never were before, but because of his own establishment, they were no grievance, but because His Majes<sup>y</sup> by your Graces favour has been pleased to give me a sallary of £100 a year for my services, that is a violence to y<sup>e</sup> interests of the Province, by which methods Your Grace may judge how unhappy a subject in the Plantations is circumstanced if upon application to His Majesty for releif from the oppression of a Governour invading the laws, he is not only thereby exposed to be ruined in his private fortune, but by y<sup>e</sup> imperious dominion of y<sup>e</sup> Governour he is made to forfeit all His Majesty's favors, and all past services, to be buried in oblivion.

I further presume upon your Grace's patience to acquaint Your Grace, that I am not able by any means to obtain a sight of what is represented to the right Hon<sup>l</sup> the lords of the Committee against me, so I am thereby disabled to make my reply thereunto for my justification otherwise than what I have herein enclosed, so that I must have recourse to your Grace's favor most humbly to beg your Grace's patronage against this violent and angry enemy who not only threatens to crush me and my family to pieces, but does at the same time with the unprecedented instrument of rejecting and discrediting Your Graces letter in my favor—All which boldness I most humbly supplicate your Grace to pardon, being incited unto this presumption by the great zeal I bear unto His Majesty's service and the dutifull affection I have for your Grace's person, whose prosperity and happiness I daily pray for, and shall ever acknowledge myself, may it please your Grace, your grace's most obedient and most devoted servant,

24 Sept: 1696.

To the Right Hon<sup>ble</sup> his Majesty's Commissioners for Trade & Plantations &c

WHEREAS your honors, when I last waited upon you were pleased to express your desires of having communicated unto you the copy of what I formerly preferred unto his Grace the Duke of Shrewsbury, relating to the Northerne parts of America &c in conformitie whereunto I againe humbly expose unto your reflections, not only what I conceive is the present Circumstances, but likewise what I presume may be most proper for the maintenance and increase of the English Interest, and the honour and service of the Crowne in those Parts &c

But before I proceed, I must beg your honours patience & leave to give some account of myself, as a necessary introduction unto what I have to say &c As that for the space of 26 years, I have been continually conversant with the French in the Countries of Nova Scotia, Acadie & Canada for which reason I was in the year 1691 made choice of by the Gov<sup>r</sup> & Council in New England to settle and establish one Coll: Edward Tyng in the Command of Port Royal, a place that then had been newly subjected to the Crown of England, in which enterprize I had the misfortune to be taken by the French, who notwithstanding the acquaintance and interest I had with them did, (to prevent the information, they thought me capable of giving unto the Court of England about their Countries & affaires in those parts) see cause to make an exception unto my release whereby I have actually suffered above four years and half's imprisonment, In which space of time, I have continually endeavour'd to discover what I thought might be of use to our interests, and accordingly have sometimes opportunity both in Canada, and in France, to give such informations as if due notice had been taken, would have been of good effect, as by some instances I could well note, were it not to avoid too much prolixity &c The improvement I would make hereon serves only to pray an enquiry whom I am that soe you may be the better confirmed in the truth of my informations, in which as I seek not any particular advantage or interest, so I trust the readier beleife & credit may be given unto what I shall here expose &c

Now having thus premised concerning myself, I must here omit what I formerly offered unto his Grace the Duke of Shrewsbury concerning the affairs of France &c and shall only proceed unto what relates unto our Northern Plantations in America, wherein as I have by my long experience a particular knowledge, so am the bolder to lay before your honours, that as things are now circumstanced, unless we timely prevent the designs & enterprizes of the enemy in these parts, we may in a short space run the hazard of the loss and subversion of those late flourishing Collonies of New England Road Island Conecticot, New York Pensilvania Maryland & Virginia &c and that for these following reasons, which I shall bring under two generall heads: the first is from the methods which the French have for some years, and doe yet practice both in regard of their own, and our Indians, as also towards their own people and secondly in respect of ourselves for want of taking such measures as might oppose the enemies progress with the natives as also from our confusion in matter of Government in diverse or most of those Collonies, and more especially from the disunion amongst them which is cause by so great a number of Govern<sup>rs</sup>

I shall begin with the first head, relating to the French wherein your honours may please to take notice that the Great, and only advantage, which the enemy hath in those parts, doth consist chiefly in the nature of their settlement, which contrary to our Plantations, do depend upon the improvment of lands &c, theirs of Canada has it's dependance from the Trade of Furrs & Peltry with the Indians, soe that consequently their whole study, and contrivances have been to maintaine their interest and reputation with them, which has been much augmented by that late foolish, and unhappy expedition from New England by S<sup>r</sup> William Phips; as also for want of due care of settlement in the Countrie of Nova Scotia after the taking of Port Royall &c wherein by fatall experience we may lay it downe as a maxime, That those who are masters of the Indians, will consequently prevail in all places where they are neglected as we have too much done; the French are so sensible of this, that they leave nothing unimproved in this regard; as first by seasonable presents, secondly by choosing some of the more notable amongst them, to whom is given a constant pay as a Lieutenant or Ensigne &c, thirdly by rewards upon all executions, either upon us or our Indians, giving a certaine s<sup>u</sup>me p<sup>r</sup> head, for as many Scalps as shall be brought them fourthly by encouraging the youth of the Countrey in accompanying the Iudians in all their expeditions, whereby they not only become acquainted with the Woods, Rivers, Passages, but of themselves may equall the Natives, in supporting all the incident fatigues of such enterprizes, which they performe, by advancing upon any exploite, the most forward and deserving, unto some office amongst the regular troops, or otherwise by procuring from France, some marke of honour, as a letter from the Minister, with some small pension, I have known one of this nature which did create such an emulation, that if the Earl of Frontenac had not restrained their forwardness for fear of leaving the Countrey naked, the whole body of their Youth would have perpetually been out in parties &c<sup>e</sup> Fifthly but the great and most effectual means they have taken for the confirming their Indians, and for the subverting, or corrupting of ours, is that for some years ever since the war, they have from time to time transported into France, some of the most eminent and enterprizing Iudians (not only of their own, but of ours whom they have happened to take their prisoners) for no other intent, than to amaze and daze them with the greatness & splendour of the French Court and Armie where the king hath so thought it worth his countenance as to send them into Flanders, where the Armies have been expressly mustered before them, to show their greatness, at the same time they are not wanting to insinuate to them our weakness, poverty and incapacity of protecting them, which they readily beleive, not having any other notion or Idea of Our Nation, force and strength, then what they see from our poor Settlem<sup>ts</sup> about them, and from which they cannot expect sufficient support, so that even those of Our New York Iudians, who have at all times been at perpetual enmity & war with theirs, & consequently with them, are now either turned to their side, or else stand doubtful what to doe, and for the fuller compleating of their designs herein, there are actually at this instant now att Versailles six Sagamoos, or chiefs sent from Canada, Hudsons Bay and Nova Scotia to sollicite such help and assistance against us, as if due and timely care be not taken to oppose them will I fear prove fatal, and when we come to see the consequence by the disturbance, and desolations of our Southerne Collonies, which when our Iudians shall be wholly affrightened or gained to their sides, will at all times be easy for them to effect, by reason of their scituation upon the Lakes, and Rivers on the back sides of all our Collonies from New England to Carolina, I then say that these things will be come more obvious & sensible unto the Nation from the losse of that great revenue unto the Crown, which is drawn from the produce of those Countries, we have had usefull experience what may be done in this kind from the destruction, which has been made of the province of Maine, and a great part of New Hampshire, whereby we have in a manner lost our Mast Timber & fishing Trade &c<sup>e</sup>

Now having so far insisted on the advantages which our enemies have, and doe draw from our remissness &c<sup>e</sup> I shall further presume to offer what remedies I humbly conceive may be most proper for the prevention of their designs, and the mischiefs which otherwise will attend us in those parts &c<sup>e</sup> as first in regard of our Iudians, no better methods can be taken, then by imitating the French, both as to their encouragements at home, as also to have some chiefs of the diverse nations of the Indians to be sent into England whereby to give a counterpoise unto the French reputation and greatness, (which a sight of the City of London and what else may be shewed them here) or if need be in Flanders, will easily effect in as much, as those who shall be brought over cannot conceive any thing equal or greater then can be expose unto them, hereby upon their good usago returne home, and the report they will make; We shall influence and gain an esteem of our power, number, strength riches &c<sup>e</sup>, so that those who are

our friends will be encouraged those who are wavering will be confirmed, and we shall ballance or equal our reputation to that of the French, with those who are declared against us &c, there are other things in regard of our Traffique and trade with them which will properly belong to the Governors who shall reside on the place, to establish such Justice and equality in our dealings with them, as may redress abuses in this kind, for where a full trust, and dependance can be obtained, there love and inclination will follow, even amongst them as amongst other people. It were not likewise amisse to speak something concerning matters of Religion, which in a manner we have wholly neglected the propagation of, amongst them except in some few parts near Boston, altho there be a very considerable fund or stock established in this Kingdom under the title of an Indian stock, to which do's belong a Governor, and assistants, whose improvement is rather for an increase of said stock herein England, then for the instruction, incouragement, maintenance and conversion of the heathen, according to the intention of the Downers an enquiry herein might be of great use, and indeed the great neglects we are under in this regard are att once, both shamefull and injurious, whereas our enemies the French, by the zealous propagation of their superstitions &c which they doe by Missionaries always sent and maintained amongst them, may even at our doors, and with our Indians, I say that they do hereby insinuate themselves, unto our prejudice, so as to become Masters of the consciences of the heathen, and by consequence must always have them at their devotion &c, and tho' our Indians have often made complaints hereon, for want of the like due care & instruction yet little or no notice hath been hitherto taken thereof &c

Fourthly I must not omitt the due encouragement which ought to be given to our hunters or bush-lopers as they are called about Albanie, so that in all the expeditions that our Indians shall from time to time make upon the enemy, they may be still accompany'd with some suitable number of our people both to accustome themselves as the French doe, as also to enliven and back the undertaking, for otherwise it cannot be thought that they should always expose themselves in our quarell, whilst we remaine by our fires &c and at the same time the enemy is never wanting in their personall assistance unto their Indians; wee are not without as good men as they, but want the like methods, discipline and encouragement, as for instance, in an action performed by one Skyler of Albanie, whilst I arrived at Quebec in the year 1691 where he made one of the most vigorous & glorious attempts, that hath been known in those parts, with great slaughter on the enemies part, and losse on his own, in which if he had not been discovered by an accident, it is very probable he had become master of Monreall, I have heard the thing reported so much to his honor by the French, that had the like been done by any of their nation he could never have missed of an acknowledgement, and reward from the Court &c tho' I doe not hear of any thing amongst us hath been done for him, I speake this only to shew what discouragements our people are under, whilst the French neither omitt, nor spare for the carrying on of their designs.

Fifthly I am now to make another remark upon the principall, and greatest defect and mistake, in which we have been, and are yet under, I meane the number and independency of so many small Governments, whereby our strength is not only divided and weakened, but by reason of their severall interests, are become and doe in a manner esteeme each as foreigners the one unto the other, soe that whatever mischiefs doth happen in one part, the rest by the reason of this disunion remaine unconcerned and our strength thereby weakened; whereas were the Colonies of New England, Hampshire, Road Island, Conecticot, New York joined in one, we then should be near to [ten?] or 15 for one of those of the French in Canada, and might reasonably propose, that instead of a bare defence, we might be in a capacity, with the assistance of some ships from England to make an entire conquest of that place, to which enterprise if the security of our interest in America, or if honor profit or facility in the undertaking could be argument to induce we are thereby invited to be no longer negligent.

I see not any particular advantage that our Nation can pretend unto in this present war but this, which is such that if known, would I presume be no longer omitted. I have herein to instance from the value of the traffique in Furrs and Peltreys, which is not less then about 200,000 p<sup>r</sup> annum; whilst I was at Quebec, they esteemed to have had much above that value in the towne, since which upon their taking of fort Nelson, in Hudsons Bay, they are become in a manner sole masters of that trade, and will be continually encroaching, unlesse we put some stop thereunto I am not ignorant of the difficulties that may be objected and the discouragements we are under from the unfortunate attempt of the late S<sup>r</sup> William Phiſps, wherein we could not reasonably expect much better, the affair being so rashly undertaken, without order, method, provisions or conduct and yet had the enterprize been well timed as to the season of the yeare, and the forces from Albanie proceeded, as was designed, the place had undoubtedly been ours, so that our miscarriage herein ought not to affrighten us from the attempt once more, wherein I shall further enlarge as far as is requisite, by giving what account I can, both of our own and enemies circumstance, their numbers and forces, as also the methods and ways for the execution &c

I shall now close in what I have to say in discovering the reasons for my Jealousies of the French enterprising upon some or more of those places mentioned wherein your honors may please to take notice, that when I was removed from Angoulesme to the Bastile, I had sent unto me, to treat about the manner and circumstances of my release, the Marquis de Chinry and Monsieur de Lagery who is the intendant Generall of the Commerce, and foreigne affairs of France, with whom after divers discourses, we fell into talk about Canada, New Yorke and New England on which we all agreed, in the wofull and miserable state those Countries were in, on both sides from the barbarous cruelty of the heathen, and that nothing were more to be desired, than for some good accommodation if it could be found out to which was proposed the setting on foot, if possible the late treaty of Neutrality for those parts, which was concluded on in King James's Reigne, between the Lord Chancellor Jelferies and others that were then appointed, and the French Ambassadour Barillon, the difficulties that remained with us, was how to find out a way to treat and with whom, since that the French was at so great a distance, as not to acknowledge King William to be King of England &c to which we found out this experience, that a power should be procured unto the respective Governors, on both sides to treaty and conclude in their own names during this war, whereon I as a private person demanded whether they thought such a thing might be agreeable to the Court of France, and if so, whether they in their private names (without engaging the honor of the Crowne) would give me the assurance in case that the thing should be approved of in England, and the offer made unto them, that they should likewise accept it, they told me they would make the proposal unto Monsieur Panchartraine,<sup>1</sup> and so give their answer, in about a week afterwards, they came to me again, told me that there would be no difficulty in France, the thing being very well liked of, and that I might make the motion, if I thought fitting, the matter remain'd in this posture for some time, untill the arrival of the Canada ships, and the six Indians I formerly mentioned, on whose applications things were so altered as did procure a petition from the Canada Company, for my further detention, as being dangerous to their interest, in case I were at liberty; the thing was discoursed before the King in Council, and if my affairs had not been so far ended with them, I should have been detained unto the end of the war; I was ignorant of these things until by a visit from some Gentlemen who came from Canada, I was told the reason of my long remaining in the Bastile and the danger, I was in but at length they were swayed by a point of honor to performe their words, since I had complied in every Article unto their demands; my passport was at last procured, and brought me by the aforesaid Monsieur de Lagny and the Marquis de Cheury, who told me that the sentiments of the Court were then changed concerning the neutrality, and that I should make no mention of it in England; I am since informed that Monsieur D'iberville he (who was their Commander att the taking of Fort Nelson) is appointed with considerable force to carry back the said Indians, and so to attempt upon the Coast, what he shall be directed unto; I know the person to be a very enterprising man, and what the effects may be, are rather to be feared than determined, especially if the state of those countries be reflected a little upon, being without Governour, Souldiers Officers, or fortifications, or at least such as are rather to be dispised then otherwise; of all which the French are noe ways igourant; I have heard them often discourse as truly and pertinently of those parts as any Englishman the best acquainted could ever doe &c

I am now to beg pardon for the weaknesse or length of this information, which I have thought to be my duty to offer unto your honors, shall at all times be ready to give what further satisfaction unto any particulars as may be required from me, This is what I have already given unto the Duke of Shrewsbury &c, I shall proceed to discover their strength, and circumstances, which I annex with this a part &c.

[JOHN NELSON, the author of the above paper, was a gentleman of Boston, of good family, and a near relative of Sir Thomas Temple. At the breaking out of the Revolution, in 1689, he succeeded in obtaining the surrender of the fort from Andros, to whom he had previously, with other of the principal inhabitants of that town, addressed a letter, calling on him to deliver up the government. On his way to Port Royal (now Annapolis, N. S.), in 1691, Mr. N. was taken by a French ship, commanded by M. de Bonaventure, and sent to Quebec, where he was treated with great liberality and regard by Count de Frontenac. Whilst there, he found means to give information, to the authorities at Boston, of an expedition fitting out against the coast of Maine, as well as of the condition of the capital of Canada. This having been discovered, he was sent off to France in 1693, where he was confined in a small hole, for two years, without opportunity of seeing any person but a servant who brought his victuals to a grate. A gentleman, who had taken notice of the person who carried the victuals from day to day, had the curiosity to inquire what prisoner was there, and to speak to him at the grate, and to ask if he could do him any service. Mr. NELSON desired no other favor than to have a letter sent to England, to inform Sir Purbeck Temple of his condition, which was done, and, soon after, a demand was made of his release or exchange. He was then looked upon as a person of some importance. He was sent to the Bastile, and, just before the peace of Ryswick, was allowed to go to England, upon his parole, and security given by a French gentleman for his return. [It was during this temporary visit that he seems to have laid the above paper before the British government.] The peace being concluded, and he intending to return, was forbade to do it by King WILLIAM; but, to prevent any trouble to his friend, he went, contrary to order, and surrendered himself. Being discharged, upon his return to England he was brought into trouble there, for going back to France contrary to the King's order, but at length returned to his family after ten or eleven years' absence. Byfield's Account of the Revolution in New-England, p. 4, in Forcé's Tracts, IV. Hutchinson's History of Massachusetts Bay, I., 376, 378. — Ed.]

Whitehall September 25th 1696.

At a Meeting of His Majesty's Commissioners for Trade and Plantations

PRESENT—Lord Keeper

Leisler and Gouverneur.

M<sup>r</sup> Jacob Leisler and M<sup>r</sup> Abraham Gouvernier attending gave in a Memorial of the state of the Province of New York from the year 1687. In which is (first) an account of Captain Leisler's conduct, and the consequences of it in the Revolution. Ingoldsby's opposition to Leisler. Leisler's imprisonment, Condemnation and death. Slaughter oppression of Leisler's party. Colonel Fletchers continuing to do the same. His packing of Assemblies. Misapplication of Publick money, and detaining persons that would come over to inform against him.

They then added, that what concern'd the transactions in Captain Leisler's time was of their own knowledge, And what is of fresher date, is from letters and other Papers of good credit. They added also that the Passengers coming from New Yorke, that they formerly mentioned to have been carried into Holland, they now heare, are Prisoners of France. But expect it will not be long before they may be exchanged and come over hither.

After this they deliver'd in a Paper intituled Grievances at New Yorke from the 1st September 1692 to the 31st October 1695, which is signed by several persous of whom they gave the following characters

John Hutchings a Lievetenant in the Kings standing forces, that went over with Colonel Slaughter

John Provost a Merchant of New York City, of considerable estate, who has lived there these fifty years in good repute. In Captam Leisler's time, he was of the Council and a manager of the business with the Indians at Albany, but has borne no office since.

Gabriel Tomazen, a Trader with the Indians, he did live at Albany, but now at New Yorke, he was Captain of a Company at Albany.

Abraham Brazier, a Blockmaker, he has borne no office but in Captain Leisler's time.

William Churcher, a Bricklayer, he has born Military offices.

Meyndert Koerten, a rich farmer, that lives upon Long Island.

Gerrard Beckman, a Doctor of Physick, has been Major of a Regiment in Captain Leisler's time, not since.

The Contents of this paper are in substance as followeth.

The first part relates to Captain Leisler's Government: Then follows

7. 8. Major Gerrard Beckman and P: de Lanoy, were obliged to give their parole and bond not to depart this Province.

9. Major Robert Leacock was kept prisoner in the feild to hinder him from voting for Representatives.

10. Captain William Churcher taken and kept prisoner when he came to vote.

11. All such as had opposed this present Government in England advanced to places of trust.

12. Most of the present Council opposers of the Revolution.

13 Colonel Fletcher hinders free Elections; especially the last, by bringing Soldiers with their Captains disguised and armed, to vote as freemen: And Seamen with clubs to deter the Electors.

14 Free Elections in several of the Counties hindered and false returns made.

16 Several persons call'd to account before the Supreme Court for assisting a Serjant, who had a Warrant from Captain Leisler, to secure William Nicholls (one of the Council present) for high misdemeanours (as his own letters testified,) These persons were imprisoned, and two of them condemned by default (their Council being imprison'd also and none to plead for them) in 500.£ damage.

17 The money sent by other Colonies misemployed. The Governour would give no account of 40000.£ rais'd to the Assembly.

19 Money raised by this illegal Assembly (1000.£) to send to England to maintain and defend their actions there. William Nicoll sent.

20 Fortifications of New York out of repairs, and not regarded. The Guns sent by the King not mounted, tho' 160.£ was given by the Assembly to do it.

They then produced also some letters. Two of which relate to Captain Leisler's conduct. One from Robert Walter complains of the arbitrary election of their Assembly men.

Another of the 19th October 1692 from Maurice van Nieuwenhuys to the same purpose.

P. de Lanoy's letter of 15th September confirms the 9th and 10th Articles before written. His letter of the 2<sup>d</sup> October 1695 confirms the 13th and 17th Article before written.

[New-York Papers, A. B. A. 13.]

The State of the Province of New York from the yeare of our Lord 1687.

8000 families 12000
fighting men.

In the yeare 1688 there were in this province about 8000 families out of which there might be raised 12000 fighting men, from 16 to 60 years of age.

Sr Edm. Andross
Govr
Franc Nicholson
Lieut Govr

In this yeare and some time before, this Province was under Sr Edmund Andross Governor of New England, who by his Lieut Governor Francis Nicholson Esq<sup>r</sup> and seaven or more of his Councill had the government of this Province and raised taxes and exercised other legislative Acts without any Assembly 1689.

Sr E. Andross in N.
Engld. The people for ye Revolution.

In Aprill 1689. those of New England who were well affected to the Protestant interest seized Sr Edward Andross their Govern<sup>r</sup> and then declared in favour of the Revolution. Upon the arrivall of this newes in New Yorke in May following the Protestant party perceiving that Mr Nicholson, Sr Edmund Andross his Lieut would not declare for his now Ma<sup>tie</sup> the people seized the Fort, and the Cap<sup>t</sup> of the Militia by turnes commanded, and soone after, those Cap<sup>ts</sup> & the people in generall proclaimed the King and Queene (soone after which Mr Nicholson left New Yorke) and then sent Circular letters to all parts of this Province to choose their Representatives for a Generall Assembly; which was done accordingly and in June following Under made Comdr in Chief by the Assembly. this Assembly mett and constituted Capt Leisler, Cap<sup>t</sup> of the Fort for their Maj<sup>ties</sup> service, till their Ma<sup>ties</sup> pleasure were knowne. In Aug<sup>t</sup> then following the same Assembly appointed the said Capt Leisler Comander in Chief of this Province.

The K's letter to ye Comander in Chief. In December then following there came to New Yorke a messenger with a letter from his Ma<sup>ty</sup> thus directed (viz<sup>t</sup>) To our trusty and Well beloved Francis Nicholson Esq<sup>r</sup> our Lieut<sup>g</sup> Governor and Comander in Cheife of our Province of New Yorke in America and in his absence to such as for the time being take care for preserveing the peace and administring the lawes in our said Province of New Yorke in America. This letter was delivered to Capt Leisler (Nicholson haveing been gone some months before) by which letter such as then comanded in Cheife were impowered to take upon them the governm<sup>t</sup> till

Leisler by authority continued Gov<sup>r</sup> 13 months. further Order. Under this Authority the said Capt Leisler continued Governor about 13 months. Some after Cap<sup>t</sup> Leisler had thus received authority, he gave such assistance and encouragement to the Indians then in Armes against the French, that those Cadaraki taken. Indians took the fort of Cadarake which fort is sayd to be about 260 miles from Albany. About 6 months after the French lost this Fort, they sent Agents to treat with those Indians for a peace of which Capt Leisler being informed he likewise sent one M<sup>r</sup> Arnold Cornelisson Viele who was his Indian interpreter and in great French Agents to treat with our Indians. Who were by Leislers conduct seized. esteeme with the Indians to keepe them firme to the English interest, and this M<sup>r</sup> Arnold did soe effectually p<sup>r</sup>vaile that the Indians seized those French Agents, some of which they destroyed, but the Cheife viz<sup>t</sup> le Chevalier D'eau they sent prisoner to Capt Leisler who kept him in custody all the time of his governm<sup>t</sup>, but was discharg<sup>d</sup> from confinem<sup>t</sup> by Coll. Slaughter, and under Cap<sup>t</sup> Ingolsby's governm<sup>t</sup> made his escape to Canade.

1793. Capt. Ingolsby with Commission to obey ye Comander in Chief, sends Brook to demand ye Fort of Leisler. He refuses. Ingolsby attacks ye Fort. In January 1690. Cap<sup>t</sup> Ingolsby arrived at New Yorke with a Comission to obey the Comander in Cheife for the time being, but upon his arrivall he sent M<sup>r</sup> Chidley Brooke (now Collector of New Yorke) and his Lieut<sup>g</sup> into the Fort to Cap<sup>t</sup> Leisler and M<sup>r</sup> Brookes demanded the Fort to be delivered up to Cap<sup>t</sup> Ingolsby, which Cap<sup>t</sup> Leisler refuseing, Ingolsby with his owne Company and severall others, waged warre against the Fort, and this M<sup>r</sup> Brookes threatened many that unless they would assist Cap<sup>t</sup> Ingolsby against Cap<sup>t</sup> Leisler they should be declared rebels & treated as such.

Coll. Slaughter, Gov<sup>r</sup> arrives; Leisler sends to congratulate his arrivall. He imprisons those sent. Leisler delivers the Fort to him. About 6 weekes after Cap<sup>t</sup> Ingolsby's arrivall Coll. Slaughter who was made Gov<sup>r</sup> of New Yorke, came to New Yorke viz<sup>t</sup> 19 March 1690. in the evening. As soon as Cap<sup>t</sup> Leisler was thereof informed, he sent two persons to congratulate his arrivall, but Coll. Slaughter imprisoned them. Notwithstanding which Cap<sup>t</sup> Leisler tooke immediate care for the delivery of the Fort the next morning to Coll. Slaughter, we<sup>ch</sup> was done accordingly.

Coll. Slaughter at ye instigation of Brookes & imprisned Leisler & others; and indicted him for High Treason. But Coll. Slaughter at the instigac<sup>o</sup>n of one M<sup>r</sup> Dudley, President of his Councell, this M<sup>r</sup> Brookes and severall others, treated Cap<sup>t</sup> Leisler and many more as traitors, for not delivering the Fort to Cap<sup>t</sup> Ingolsby (whose Comission by expresse words was to obey the Comander in Cheife, which Cap<sup>t</sup> Leisler had bene by virtue of his Ma<sup>ties</sup> letter above 12 months before Cap<sup>t</sup> Ingolsby arrived.) Many of this Province upon Cap<sup>t</sup> Leislers being thus treated, fledd from New Yorke, others that remained were imprisoned as ryoters for acting under Capt Leisler, and Capt. Leisler wth severall others indicted for high Treason & murder, in holding out the Fort against Capt. Ingolsby, and tryed before M<sup>r</sup> Dudley as President, Capt Ingolsby M<sup>r</sup> Brookes and others.

Dudley, Ingolsby
Brooks & his Judges.

Leisler insists upon ye Authority recd
by ye R<sup>s</sup> letter.
The Court would give no answer to that upon him the Govern<sup>r</sup> to this the Court would give noe answer, unless Capt Leisler would plead, which Capt. Leisler and M<sup>r</sup> Milbourne refused to doe till that question was answered by the Court. Whereupon the Court gave judgm<sup>t</sup> against them both as traiters and they were accordingly executed. This whole matter being proved before the Parliament in 1694 the Attainders of Capt. Leisler, M<sup>r</sup> Milbourne, and M<sup>r</sup> Gouverneur were by Act of Parliament reversed.

He & Milbourne condemned and executed.

Coll Slaughter call an Assembly. Refuses to admit such as were of Leisler's party. The Assembly give £100 to In-golsby & £100 to an other for what they had don agst Leisler) out of ye publick money.

Whilset Capt. Leisler and severall of his party were, as before, in custody, Coll: Slaughter called an Assembly, but such as were chosen and had bene well affected to Capt. Leslers interest, were refused to be admitted into the Assembly; which Assembly thus partially chose gave Capt: Ingolsby £100. for what he did against Capt. Leisler, and to another for the same reason £150. both summes out of the publick money and this Assembly declared what Cap<sup>t</sup> Leisler did was illegal and desired his execucon; which was granted.

Slaughters death
Ingolsby Governor
Several proceeded agst at Ryoters.

Coll. Slaughter continued about 5 months in the governm<sup>t</sup> and then dyed. Upon whose death the then Councell att New Yorke appointed Capt. Ingolsby to be their Governor, and dureing his administracón severall were proceeded against as ryoters for what they did under Capt Leisler, and some of these p<sup>r</sup>tended ryoters havinge some time before given baile in £50, for their appearance came to England to informe the King and Councell, with the before mencóned proceedings, and dureing their absence their estates were seized and their securiteyes proceded against and foure times as much leyed as the baile amounted unto.

Others threatend yt
if they did not plead guilty to ye Ryot, to be indicted
kept 11 ms in prison.

Others were threatend that unless they pleaded guilty to the indictment for a ryott they should be proceeded against as traytors, which they refusinge to doe, were kept about eleaven months in custody, but were then discharged by his Ma<sup>ties</sup> generall order, which comanded the Govern<sup>r</sup> of New Yorke, not only to discharge their persons but likewise to vacate the said recognizances and all proceedings thereon.

Their efforts not restored upon their release.

But notwithstanding neither the money or goods seized upon those recognizances were restored. For Coll. Fletcher who was by their Ma<sup>ties</sup> appointed to succeed Coll. Slaughter was served with the said Order of his Ma<sup>tie</sup> and his Councell, but refused to obey the same unles those prisoners would petition him for their discharge; threatning them that unless they did petition him and his Councell he would hang them. Whereupon they petitioned for their liberty and were discharged, but notwithstanding Coll. Fletcher had bene often petitioned for a restitucón of what had bene seized by vertue of the before mentioned recognizances, noe restitucón could ever be had of any part thereof.

Fletcher calls an Assembly; refuses those of Leisler's party and orders a new election. They chosen again; he would not admit them. Put in whom he pleased.

Coll. Fletcher soone after his arrivall called a General Assembly, but finding that most of those chosen had bene well affected to Capt. Leislers interest, he did refuse them and comanded the Electors to goe to a new eleccon. Upon which second eleccon the same being again chosen, the Governor would not admitt them, but packed an Assembly of whom he pleased.

1694.
Refuses to this Assembly act of ye money rais'd &
dissolves them.

In the latter end of 1694 the then Assembly perceiveng that the publick taxes and revenue in about 3 yeares had beene neare £40000 and that the same was generally misapplied, they desired the Governor that an Acco<sup>t</sup> might be given them how the publick moneys had beene disbursed; but the Governor (notwithst-nding at the first meeting of this Assembly he promised the same) refused to doe itt, saying itt was the Assemblies business to raise the money & the Governour and Councells to lay it out, and that he would give an acco<sup>t</sup> thereof to none but his Ma<sup>ty</sup>; with which answer the Assembly not being satisfied but still insisting upon an account, Coll Fletcher dissolved them.

1695.
Calls a new Assembly. Threatens to shoot such of ye last if they were chosen. Seamen & Soldjers armed at ye Election.

In 1695. Coll. Fletcher called a new Assembly, but threatned those of the last, that if they came to any elecc<sup>ns</sup>, he would shoot them, and thereupon imposed upon the freeholders seamen and soldjers armed with clubbs and bayonets, as electors, and by those electors packed an Assembly, who appointed Mr Brookes and M<sup>r</sup> Nicholls to come for England as their Agents to represent to his Ma<sup>ty</sup> the state of the Province.

1694.
Money to repair ye fortifications; but neglected.

In 1694 the Assembly gave Coll. Fletcher money to repair the fortifications of the City of New Yorke, but the same was neglected and the money misapplied.

Besides the before menc<sup>o</sup>ned miscarriages, there have beene many more particular abuses committed too tedious here to be related; and the present Governor to prevent any discoveries of his male administrac<sup>o</sup>n, forceth such as he hath cause to suspect may come for England to give any informac<sup>o</sup>n of his mismanagem<sup>t</sup> to enter into bonds not to depart that governm<sup>t</sup>.

Wee whose names are under written can attest what is herein before menc<sup>o</sup>ned relating to Capt. Leisler's governm<sup>t</sup> and sufferings, and as for the other abuses comitted since Cap<sup>t</sup> Leislers death, wee have received informac<sup>o</sup>n thereof by severall letters from very credible persons still residing att New York.

5. That Lieut John Hutchins Esq. who had the King's immediate comission was imprisoned at Albany & so sent to N. Yorke, and coming before the Gov<sup>r</sup> B. F. was suspended, & kept out his pay, because he had favoured y<sup>e</sup> case of Capt. J. Leisler and the actors under him; in the first place, haveing send the people back that came to make the insurrection at Capt. R. Ingoldesby's arrivall, raised by the meanes of Joseph Dudley and Chidley Brooke, Collector, for w<sup>ch</sup> their actions was no reason, and especially to the s<sup>d</sup> Brooke haveing been admitted in his Collectors place, before s<sup>d</sup> time, by Capt J. Leislers order, w<sup>ch</sup> for him was all he could expect; and in the 2<sup>d</sup> place haveing by many perswasions indeavoured to hinder y<sup>e</sup> Gov<sup>r</sup> H. Slaughter not to order the execution of J. L. & J. Mill: it being against his letter to the King for their reprieve and against his comission from his Maj<sup>ty</sup>

6. That the unjust and considerable forfeitures taken in a violent manner from Capt. Jacob Mauritz and M<sup>r</sup> Johannes Provoost for non appearance to the Supreme Court at New Yorke, w<sup>ch</sup> was taken of by the Queens order and promised it should be repaid, and was never paid or brought amongst the debts of the government, onely to oppress them that had acted under Cap<sup>t</sup> J. L. they haveing been both of his Councillors.

8. That P. Dela Noy who had been Mayor of New Yorke City and Collector in Capt. J. L. administration was also bound to give his parole not to depart this Province, on pretence y<sup>t</sup> the publick acc<sup>ts</sup> were paid by order of an unlawfull comander, w<sup>ch</sup> acc<sup>ts</sup> were by Gov<sup>r</sup> B. F.

orders examined by two of the present Council his adversaries, opposers of the Revolution, and could have no other although required; so never had any determination or satisfaction for disbursem<sup>ts</sup> for the Governm<sup>t</sup> and continues under the same parole.

9. That Major Robert Leacock who had been one of Capt. J. L. Council was kept a long while by a Constable prisoner in the field to hinder him to give his vote for Representatives to sitt in the Assembly for the County of N. Yorke; and this was done for to have in such members as would bee against Capt. J. L. actions.

11. That such persons who in the time of Capt. J. Leislors administration had been rebellious and factious to destroy the interest of his present Maj<sup>ty</sup> and to oppose his Authority then in the government, were advanced to places of trust both civill & military, and others who had acted under him kept out, slighted and affronted, named creators of disorders, and rebels; especially by them of the present Council, they & others indeavouring to revenge in that nature.

13. That the Gov<sup>r</sup> B. Fletcher hath obstructed, by his own actions and winking at others, the free elections of the Representatives to sitt in the Generall Assembly, by severall threatnings, calling them that favoured Capt. J. L. case, rebels, in open feild, when came to give votes for the County of New Yorke; and especially in y<sup>e</sup> last election, when sold<sup>ts</sup> out of the Fort with their Capt. came wth coloured coates to pass for free men, and armed wth bagonettes, and the seamen of his Maj<sup>ties</sup> ship Richmond wth clubs to deter y<sup>e</sup> people from voting for such members they would have; and suspecting a designu was against them, y<sup>e</sup> major part went away without voting and full of dissatisfaction, lost their priviledge; and this was done for, to have them out that favoured Capt. J. L. case.

14. That the elections for Representatives of the Province were also in severall Counties obstructed from free votes by some intregues and undue returns, all for y<sup>e</sup> same ends as afores<sup>d</sup> to have in members who would be avers Capt. J. L. proceedings, to maintain their case with authority, and especially were the Gov<sup>r</sup> Council & others in authority against them that were condemned by the Supreme Court, calling them traitors under the law & condemnation, altho' his Maj<sup>ties</sup> discharge was in the Province by an authentick copy, w<sup>ch</sup> was undervalued, and there was no admission of service, as appears in the person of Major Gerrardus Beekman.

17. That the burthens of deteachment & taxes were exceeding prest upon this Province, when adjacent places were most excused, so that the power of his Maj<sup>ties</sup> sent to them to assist had but little effect to assist for the fronteers, that little mony they gave was not employed for that use, but spent by other incidentales, by w<sup>ch</sup> our taxes could not be made a penny less. But his Maj<sup>ty</sup> was gracious to ease our burdens, paying all the militia at home, w<sup>ch</sup> was never done before, but the Administrators here augmented y<sup>e</sup> burthens, that all y<sup>e</sup> income taxes being neere £10000 by calculation were not enough to pay the charges, where of the Assembly could not have, when required, a satisfactory acc<sup>t</sup>; but answer was made they had nothing to doe with it; the Gov<sup>r</sup> and Councill were to answer itt. This was dissatisfaction for the Country.

18. That the Dutch Ministers in the Province did preach against the actors in the Revolution under Capt. J. L. comand, by what instigation the know, that they had deserved by their rebellion great punishment and were to acknowledge their faultes; y<sup>e</sup> people sensible of their just case, could not indure to hear such sermons, they were opposers of the Revolution. The Minister of N. York<sup>1</sup> could not find in his heart to pray for their Maj<sup>ties</sup> as was required, till Capt. J. L. did give him a forme. At y<sup>e</sup> arrivall of Govern<sup>r</sup> H. Sloughter when Capt J. L. and all under him as much as they could gitt were imprisoned, he was overjoyed, and tooke his text out 27 Psalm, he should have perished if he had not hoped to see y<sup>e</sup> good in the land of y<sup>e</sup> living, and Saul like had a good like in the destruction of y<sup>e</sup> innocent; and how instrumentall at the time of execution, is notorious.

The Minister of Nassow Island is deceased<sup>3</sup> was first for the Revolution and brought the Country unanimis to act; but afterwards being seduced, was brought to a contra opinion and created division, was suspected by y<sup>e</sup> people, especially about a contrivance to take the Fort, for w<sup>ch</sup> was tryed condemned, fined, imprisoned and upon subjection to Capt. J. L. released without fine; for this was much affected to Capt. J. L. execution and made intollerable sermons and died without y<sup>e</sup> least reconciliation.

some for England to defend their actions, as if they could contend wth supream authority in passing the Act.

The Gov<sup>r</sup> returning it was concluded w<sup>t</sup> y<sup>e</sup> major votes of the Members of the Assembly (how arbitrary some of them came in is before demonstrated) to send an Agent & to raise a tax of £1000; to that end W<sup>m</sup> Nicholls, one of the Councill, was voted & appointed, an unreconcilable enemy to Capt J. L. and all actors under him, by his letters threatned to destroy them and make them exampels to all rebels, vexing at present people upon y<sup>e</sup> acco<sup>u</sup>. This brought dissatisfaction, most people saith it was not free Assembly and would not pay tax for such an Agent, whoe under colour to act for the Province with others that doe goe over, should worke out their sinister designs.

The fortifications allmost out [of] repairs in y<sup>e</sup> City of New Yorke, y<sup>e</sup> Bulworkes not reguarded but one at y<sup>e</sup> water side disposed of to private service, the great sums [Guns] sent by his Maj<sup>ty</sup> for the City not erected, altho £160 was long since granted by y<sup>e</sup> Assembly to performe the same, no powder (not so much as any stok known) belonging to the City or annother warlike affaires at present in being to resist an enemy, so that no officers upon a sudden invasion are able to defend their posts, there being no publick stok for y<sup>e</sup> City required in time of warr.

21. That the opposers of the Kings interest in y<sup>e</sup> time of the Revolution under Capt. J. L. administration for y<sup>e</sup> most part by credible information have given private depositions to cleare them at present in authority, and declare against Capt. J. L. proceedings; all w<sup>ch</sup> may bee easily evinced when known, and are undermining manners easily to be done when is approved by the authority. But truth will overcome all, w<sup>ch</sup> wee know is come to light & will be maintained by his most Excellent majesty.

The premisses are GRIEVANCES past and to be removed out y<sup>e</sup> province of New Yorke, all which can be deposed when required.

Letter from Peter De La Noy relative to Governor Fletcher's Conduct.

[New-York Papers. A. B.A. 85.]

N. Yorke 13th June 1695.

Sir.

I have received yo<sup>r</sup> letter by Capt Harbin wth y<sup>e</sup> inclosed w<sup>ch</sup> I shall forward to your friends according to your directions. I humbly thank you for your news of Europe, and I return you the best account of our condition here w<sup>ch</sup> though perhaps not worth the knowledge of many people in England, yet because you desire it, and it in some measure concerns your interest in this Country, I hope may not prove altogether unacceptable to you. We are under the common calamity of war, as you are, but want the blessing of a free government and our ancient libertys w<sup>ch</sup> you so eminently enjoy in England and make the war easie to you. I remember the remark you made when our present Govern<sup>r</sup> was sent hither, viz<sup>t</sup>. that he was a necessitous man who you fear'd would therefore more consider the advancement of his own private fortunes than the publick benefit of the Province; and I can now assure you we found you a true prophet, and wish you could foretell our deliverance as well as you did our oppressions from this arbitrary man.

At his first arrival here he insinuated into the inhabitants the great interest and credit he had at Whitehall, w<sup>ch</sup> would baffle any complaints that could be made against his administration and this back'd with the grandeur of a Coach and six horses (a pomp this place had never seen in any former Govern<sup>r</sup> no more than himself been us'd to it in his own Country,) struck such a terr<sup>r</sup> into the people, as easily prepar'd 'em for the pack-saddles he has laid upon 'em. To recount all his arts of squeezing money both out of the publick and private purses would make a volume instead of a letter, & therefore I shall only mention some few of the stratagems that from thence you may guesse of this Hercules by his foot. The Assembly as is usuall to new Govern<sup>rs</sup> made him a complement, and gave him a penny in the pound of the inhabitants estates. The Assess<sup>rs</sup> observ'd the method formerly practis'd in such cases, but his Excellency thinking the some not sufficient (though it amounted to above £600) accus'd 'em of partiality & threatned to comit 'em to goal for not assessing the inhabitants high enough. He takes a particular delight in having presents made to him, declaring he looks upon 'em as marks of their esteem of him, and he keeps a catalogue of the persons who show that good manners, as men most worthy of his favo<sup>r</sup>. This knack has found employm<sup>t</sup> for our silversmiths and furnish'd his Excellency with more plate (besides variety of other things) than all our former Govern<sup>rs</sup> ever received. Such clowns as dont practise this good breeding, fall under his frowns, or a haughty glance of his eye at least, if they dont feel the weight of his hands. The Souldiers one would think were but a poor game for so great a man to prey upon, but yet they feel their share of his hungry avarice. I was lately informed by one of the Council at Albany that his Excellency takes 10<sup>s</sup> p<sup>r</sup> an: out of every one of their subsistence money, & if the furnishers of that money cannot by reason of the rise of provisions subsist 'em for 5<sup>d</sup> p<sup>r</sup> day, they are order'd to raise it 5<sup>1d</sup> of purpose that his 10<sup>s</sup> may be secur'd. Some Officers he makes his fav<sup>ites</sup> who are his tools and pimp to his frauds upon the publick. He has made the Lieutenant of his own Company of Grendiers at New York, at the same time, a Captaine of Fusileers at Albany, and permits the Lieutenant of Grandadiers at Albany to go Mast<sup>r</sup> of a ship to Jamaica, England, or where else he pleases, and to enjoy his pay all the while: in which his Excellency goes a snack. He made one M<sup>r</sup> Hancock, a profligate fellow, Sheriff of New York and though that varlet stab'd a poor Frenchman in prison without any provocation, yet he was continued in his office till his villany made him to scandalous even for his Excellency's patronage. He very often takes his progress to Connecticut, Pennsylvania, and other places, and all that tyme lives suitable to his character, but his table is maintained at the charge of the province without any abatement of the salary the King allows him for that purpose. His pride and arrogance to all the neighbouring Govern<sup>rs</sup> has been a great detriment to this Province & frequently the occasion of retarding that relief which was necessary, and would otherwise have been afforded us in time of extremity. Instead of that fair understanding and correspondency w<sup>ch</sup> became men in their posts, Sr Willm Phipps and he maintained a paper war betwixt themselves and constantly exchang'd scurrilous letters, which upon a strict enquiry I find wholly owing to the haughtinesse of our Govern<sup>r</sup>. His vanity is as remarkable as his other qualities I have mention'd of which the following instance will give you a sufficient proof. In Feb<sup>r</sup> 1693<sup>3</sup>. when the French burnt the Maquasse castles, Coll Fletcher upon the news of it embark'd himself & some trainbands of New York & heaving the advantage of a fair wind arriv'd in two days at Albany which is distance from hence 144 miles; from Albany he went to Schenectida and sent his men to Maj<sup>r</sup> Shuyler who comanded the party in the Woods; but the French were beaten and run away before these men came up to Shuyler. However our Generall was resolv'd not to lose the glory of his expedition, but at his return to Albany the Comand<sup>r</sup> of that Fort was order'd to draw up his forces in their arms for receiving his Excellency and salute him with the discharge of all the great guns. The Mayor and Aldermen were ordered to make an humble addresse of thanks & a present for his so speedy coming to their relief, and the noble exploits he perform'd for them. The poor people had abundance of gratitude and were ready for an addresse, but pleaded their impoverishment by the war against making a present. The Indians who are a very discerning people saw through the man, and complemented him with the Indian name of Kayenquiragoe, which signifies in English Great Swift Arrow. His Excellency, who never was wanting to set a full value on his own worth construed this name to be a significant acknowledgm<sup>t</sup> of the swiftnesse of his expedition (which by the way he was beholden to the wind for) but the cunning Indians as I was since inform'd design'd it as a droll upon the man and his vain glory; for they haveing enquired into his name understood that Fletcher is the name of a trade, viz<sup>t</sup> of an Arrowmaker,<sup>1</sup> bestowed that Indian name upon him as a sarcastical pun. However puff'd up with the Albany addresse and the Indian complement, he returns to New York, where his tools procured him another addresse and a present of a golden cup worth £120. which they took up at interest and owe at this day. This is the famous expedition and these the glorious addresses which he sent over to the Plantation Office in England and caus'd to be printed there<sup>2</sup> for spreading the renown of his American Atchievements. Poverty you know Sir is but a poor protection against power, and this the Albany men experienced the next time his Excellency visited that place. For when he found that he could not wheedle a present out of 'em, he made use of his authority to get one in this manner. He ordered two of the principall gates of the City where the Indians used to enter, to be shut up, cautiously alledging the danger of keeping open so many gates during the war; severall poor traders who had built their houses near those gates purposely for the Indian trade would have been ruin'd if these gates had continued shut, and therefore rais'd a contribution of fifty or sixty of their best furs which they presented to his Excellency & thereby removed his Excellencys apprehensions of the danger those gates exposed the City to; for at the request of the May<sup>r</sup> & Aldermen the gates were opened again & the City as safe as when they were shut. This account I had from one of the contributors to the present. I had almost forgot another useful piece of policy he has to get money. We have a parcell of pirates in these parts which [people] call the Red-Sea men, who often get great bootys of Arabian Gold. His Excellency gives all due encouragement to these men, because they make all due acknowledgem<sup>t</sup> to him; one Coats a captain of this hon<sup>ble</sup> order presented his Excellency with his ship, which his Excellency sold for £500. and every one of the crew made him a suitable present of Arabian Gold for his protection; one Capt. Twoo who is gone to the Red Sea upon the same errand was before his departure highly caressed by his Excellency in his coach and six horses and presented with a gold watch to engage him to make New York his port at his return. Twoo retaliated the kindness with a present of jewells; but I can't learn how much further the bargain proceeded; time must shew that.

These things though bad enough in any officer and more particularly in the Gov<sup>r</sup> of a Province, yet me thinks are of much less malignity than what I am now going to add, and that is the base and insolent behavior of our Govern<sup>r</sup> tor'ds a Generall Assembly. This we account the barriere and guard of our libertys and propertys, but it signifies very little since his arrivall. If any act for the benefit of the people be desired to passe, he sells it 'em as dear as he can, and if they will not rise to his price they must goe without it.' The people of Sopus to obtain the Act called the Boulting Act (which you understand the meaning of) were forc'd to pay severall hundred pounds, and because the undertakers for the money were puzzell'd to raise it by any other meanes, they jumbled it with the publick tax which swell'd it so high & made it so heavy as had well nigh occasion'd a mutiny. .

The Assemblies have been ready to raise money even beyond the abilities of the Country; some of w<sup>ch</sup> they appropriated to pay off the particular debts contracted for the support of the Governm<sup>t</sup>; part of this money had been diverted to other uses and therefore the Generall Assembly desired an account of it, as well to vindicate themselves to the Country as to trace out the misemployment of the revenue. But this was lookd upon by his Excellency as an intollerable piece of sawcinesse, for which he first brow beat 'em, then threatened 'em, and at last punish'd 'em with a dissolution. A new Assembly was to be chosen, and that it might be agreeable to his Excellencys own hum<sup>r</sup> he us'd as many sinister tricks as you have ever heard complain'd of in yo<sup>r</sup> House of Commons in England. He made severall seamen and soldiers freemen of New Yorke, of purpose to qualify 'em to vote in the election of Assembly men threatened the inhabitants who were inclined to vote for the old Assembly men, to presse 'em and put 'em on board a man of war, which lyes all the year long in the Road, not half mann'd, of purpose to terrify the poore seamen. His passion transported him so far at last, that he swore he would shoot any man through the head who durst appear to vote for the old Assembly men. By these meanes he gan'd his point, for the people terrified with the apprehension of being press'd and sent away from their familys durst not appear or stay in the field, but left him to choose whom he pleas'd. The Assembly of Pensylvania received but little better usage from him during his government of that province. He quarrell'd with them for refusing to give him a halfpenny per pound out of the tax of a penny per pound which they rais'd tor'ds carrying on the war, and was so stiff in this particular that he wearyed out the obstinacy of yo<sup>r</sup> freinds and carryed his point.

In short S<sup>r</sup> no body lives tolerably under him but those who submit themselves to be his creatures and in his interests, such as the Judges & other officers who are dependant of him. His accounts indeed are pass'd by the Council, but when such jobs are to be done, his creatures only are summoned such as I mentioned before, who dare not oppose him, but are forced to approve what he requires. After this all you will perhaps wonder when I tell you that this mans bell ring twice a day for prayers and that he appears with a great affectation of piety, but this is true, and it is as true that it makes him only more ridiculous, not more respected. For we are a sort of downright blundering people that measure mens piety more by their practice than by their pretence to it, or ostentation of it. What I have writ and much more, will be prov'd if the people might be countenanced to doe it, but the app'hension of his great power at Court discourages them from attempting it, lest a miscarriage should provoke him to a yet more barbarous usage of 'em and force 'em to leave the Province as many hundred have done since his arrivall there. I will undertake that if any neighb'ing Govern<sup>r</sup> shall be commissioned to take an account of the peoples grievances upon oath, the inhabitants shall cheerfully bear the charges of such cômmission, and make such full proof of his arbitrary and illegall administration as will satisfy the Lords of the Cômmittee of Trade and Plantations that this is a very unfit man to rep<sup>r</sup>sent the Great Restorer of the English Libertys.

And now S<sup>r</sup> that I have told you our distemper you will easily guesse at the cure we desire. It is the removall of this man, and we are not solicitous whether he is gently r-call'd or falls into disgrace, so we are rid of him. If I may p<sup>r</sup>sume to tell you my thoughts what would be for the safety of these countreys I wish his Maj<sup>ty</sup> would place a General Govern<sup>r</sup> over New England, New York and the Jerseys, so as the Assemblies, Courts of Judicature and Laws of the respective colonys may remaine and be kept separate and entire as they now are; for our laws & manner of trade are different from one another and the distance betwixt us would make very uneasy for the rest of the Provinces to resort to any one for comôn justice. But a Union under one Govern<sup>r</sup> would be very convenient and particularly in time of war, and be a terrour to the French of Canada, who assume a boldnesse purely from our divisions into separate bodyes and the piques that are to comôn amongst the severall Govern<sup>ts</sup> of which the French don't want a constant intelligence. Besides such a Union under one Gen<sup>l</sup> Govern<sup>r</sup> will be a meanes of making an easie conquest of Canada, which if effected, would make His Maj<sup>ty</sup> Emper<sup>or</sup> of North America secure the sole trade of Beaver to England, and defray its whole charge out of the booty to be found there. To satisfy you I don't say this at a venture I doe assure you the English in these Colonys out number the French of Canada no lesse than in the proportion of twenty to one, and what might not such a force united effect against so small a body, and yet this handfull of French are continuall thornes in our sides; which is wholly owing to our seperate government. Sir, besides your own cômmands, I have been importuned by many Gent. of this Province to give you an account of our circumstances, and to beg your advice and assistance to deliver us out of 'em, which will be a charitable and generous act, to the whole Province, and the greatest pleasure to as well as obligation upon, Sir,

Your most humble serv<sup>t</sup>

[New-York Entries, A. 25.]

To Coll: Fletcher Gov<sup>r</sup> ette

Sir

His Majesty having been graciously pleased, by His Commission under the great seal of England, to authorise and constitute Us his Commissioners for promoting the trade of this Kingdom and for inspecting and improving His Plantations in America and elsewhere, We have thought fitt to acquaint you that it is His Majesty's pleasure and express Command that the Governors of all his foreign plantations do from time to time give unto us frequent and full information of the State and condition of their respective Govern<sup>ts</sup> and Plantations, as well with regard to the Administration of the Govern<sup>t</sup> and Justice in those places as in relation to the Commerce thereof; and more particularly that the said Governors transmit unto Us yearly accounts of their said Administration, by way of Journal; Together with the acts of the Assemblies in the respective plantations and exact accounts of all money given for publick uses, and how the same is from time to time expended or laid out. All which things, you are therefore accordingly to observe in relation to the Province of New York committed to your charge.

Particularly we desire and require you, by the first opportunity to send us a compleat list of the names of the Present Council of the Province and together with that a further list of the names and characters of such persons as you thinke proper to supply the vacancies that may happen either in the Council according to Her late Majesty's instructions dated the 7th day of March 169½ or in any other Office, wherein they are to be confirmed, by His Majesty's approbation.

And further we desire you to inform us what number of Inhabitants there are within that whole province? What of Freemen? and what of Servants, white and Black?

To what degree are those numbers decreased since your entrance upon that Government, or since the last estimate, that you understand to have been made of them.

What way do you conceive most proper to prevent the removal of the Inhabitants out of that Province into any of your neighbouring Colonies—

What is the whole number of the Militia of that Province?

What commodities are exported from that Province to England?

What trade is there either by exportation or importation with any other place? and from whence is that province now furnished with supplies (particularly of any manufactures) that it was wont to be furnished withall from England.

How is the trade of that province increased or decayed of late years? and what hath been the reason of such increase or decay?

What are the present methods used to prevent illegal trade? and what further methods do you thinke advisable for that purpose.

What number of ships or other vessels are there belonging to that province, and what number of sea-faring men?

What number and what sorts of those Vessels have been built there?

What Naval Stores of any sort (Masts, Timber, Pitch, Tar, Rozin, Hemp, Salt peter etc) is that province able to furnish? More particularly is the Tar made there as good for shipping and cordage as that of Sweden?

Tar and Hemp. Is there an increase in the Quantity of Tar and of Hemp made in that province, as you gave reason to hope in your letter to the Lords of the Treasury the 15th of Aug: 1693. and if not, how comes so profitable a designe to have been hinder'd? and how may it yet be promoted?

Manufactures. What other Manufactures are settled in that province, of any sort whatsoever?

Train Oyle. What quantities of Train Oyle are made, annually in Long Island? and what Fishery. other improvement in any sort of Fishery is or may there be made upon that coast?

To all which enquiries We also further desire you to add whatever else you may in your owne prudence thinke conducive to His Maj<sup>ty's</sup> service, to the interest of England, to the advantage of that particular province and to our assistance in the discharge of the trust reposed in us.

Several of his letters and other papers received. And now in the last place we are to acquaint You that several of your letters have been transmitted to us, viz<sup>t</sup>. The copy of one of the 30th May to His Grace the Duke of Shrewsbury; another of the same date to M<sup>r</sup> Blathwayt and another of the same date with two of the 10th June to the R<sup>t</sup> Hon<sup>ble</sup> the Lords of the late committee for Trade and Plantations, and together with those letters a packet of several papers relating to the affaires of that province, but no list of the said papers, which ought to have been sent along with them.

Laws. We finde also that these acts of your Assembly that we have received (which are dated from the 25th of March to the 24th April last) are not under the seal of your province; which gives us to suppose that some other more authentick copy of the same (under seal) has miscarried. And therefor we must desire you to send us yet another copy of the same, in authentick form; And for the future to send all the duplicates of your Acts in the same manner; that whichsoever of them arrives first may be authentick.

Present for the Indians. We hope you have before this time received the presents for the Five nations of Indians, that were ship'd by M<sup>r</sup> Heathcote and parted from England in may last and that by the distribution thereof amongst them you will have been inabled to keepe those Indians firm to the English interest.

Richmond Frigate. Inlisting soldiers Subsistance Quota. The remaining subjects of your letters about the Richmond Frigate, your inlisting of men Their subsistance, the quota, and other things we shall lay before His Majesty.—

So we bid your heartily farewell

Report of the Lords of Trade on the Northern Colonies in America.

[Plantations General Entries, XXXIV., (A.) 50.]

To their Excellencies the Lords Justices

In obedience so your Excellency's Command of the 20 of August last, we have read the papers thereunto annexed, which leading us unto the consideration of the present state of his Majesty's Plantations in the North Continent of America we find that his Majesty hath been at the charge of sending four Companys from hence thither, and for the maintaining of them there for many years last past, We are also told (for we cannot yet get a sight of the accounts) that that little province, besides the loss they have sustained at sea, as Coll: Fletcher their Governor writes, hath been at above £30000 charge in securing their Frontiers against the attempts of the French, and the Indians joined with them; this great burden having been thought too heavy to be borne by this single province, which was as it were the outguard to his Majesty's neighbouring Plantations in America, Her late Majesty of ever blessed memory was pleased to write to the Governor of Virginia, Maryland, Pensilvania and New England to agree upon a Quota of men or other assistance to be given by each Colony or province for the defence of New York as occasion should require, but by the pretence or various pretences of the severall provinces, the intended Quota having not been settled and the Colonies concerned not coming to any agreement according to her Majesties direction, she was pleased for the preservation of those plantations to establish the following Quota 1694 viz :

MEN WITH THEIR OFFICERS
Connecticott .....	120
Rhode Island .....	45
Massachusetts .....	350
Maryland .....	160
Virginia .....	240
Pensilvania .....	50

And to signifie her pleesuee to those provinces that that Quota of men, or the value of the charge of maintaining them should be the measure of assistance & be given by the said provinces respectively for the defence and security of New York, which order her Majesty by reason of the distinct and independent Governments and interests of those his Majesties provinces hath very uncertainly and imperfectly been complied with, some of them having sent more some less in proportion to their severall Quota's, & some none at all.

His Majesty has subjects enough in those parts of America, not only to defend themselves against all the attacks they may apprehend from the French in Canada, and the Indians joined with them, but even to drive them out from thence, but they are so crumbled into little Governments and so disunited in those distinct interests that they have hitherto afforded but little assistance to each other, and seem as they now are, to be but in an ill posture, and a much worse disposition to doe it for the future. And it is almost incredible that his Majestys Governor of New York in the middle of above forty thousand English that he has in his neighbourhood should say as he does, that he has but the four Companies his Majesty sent, and are in his Majesty's pay, their to rely on for the defence of that frontier, in case of any attempt from the French.

We having with our utmost care considered this whole matter are humbly of opinion

1. That there is force enough in those plantations to resist and repell all attempts may be made upon them by the neighbouring French, and their Indians, nor can it be imagined that so great a number of English there, should thinke it much to employ their own hands & purses in the defence of their own Estates, lives and families; but should expect to be wholly supported from England, which hath spent so much blood and Treasure in the carrying on so lasting and expensive a war.

2. We humbly conceive that the strength of the English there cannot be made use of with that advantage it ought for the preservation of those Colonies unless they be united, no though his Majesty should be att the charge to send more force from hence; for if as is pressed by the Governor of New York, the souldiers that his Majesty has there in pay should be made up full 500, that indeed might be a garrison able sufficiently to secure Albany against the French, but not the other plantations, since the French would certainly then decline that fortress and endeavour to make an impression upon some of the other provinces, careless of their own defence and not so well guarded.

3. That a great part of that Countrey being by Grants from the Crown in the hands of private Proprietors, and so cannot possibly be united under one Governor, We are humbly of opinion, that there can be no other way of uniting the forces of those severall plantations to make them effectual for the preservation of the whole, but by putting them all under one Military head or Capt: Gen<sup>l</sup> which that his Majesty has a power to doe, both the necessity of the preservation of his people in time of danger must needs satisfye every reasonable man as well as the judgement of his Majesty's Attorney and Sollicitor General given the 2 of April 1694, convinces us that it may be done by law, their words in answer to a reference made to them concerning this matter, are as followeth

We are humbly of opinion that the Charters and Grants of these Colonies, Viz: Connecticut, Rhode Island, Providence, East & West Jersey do give the ordinary power of the Militia to the respective Governors thereof, but do also conceive that their Majesties may constitute a Chief Commander, who may have authority at all times to Command or order such proportion of the forces of each Colony, or Plantation, as their Majesty's shall think fit, and further in times of invasion & approach of the enemy with the advice of the Governors of the Colonies to conduct & command the rest of the forces for the preservation & defence of such of those Colonies as shall most stand in need thereof, not leaving the rest unprovided of a competent force for their defence and safety, but in time of peace when the danger is over, the Militia within each of the said provinces ought, as we humbly conceive to be under the Government and disposition of the respective Governors of the said Colonies according to their Charters.

Whereupon we crave leave humbly to represent to your Excellencies, that we cannot conceive how it is possible that those provinces should be preserved unless his Majesty shall be pleased to constitute and appoint dureing the war some active, vigilant and able man zealous for his service and Government to be Capt: General of all his forces, and all the Militia of all the Provinces Colonies and Plantations on the Continent of the Northern America with a power to levy arms, muster, Command and employ them on all necessary occasions for the defence of those Countries under such limitations and instructions as to his Majesty shall seem best for his service & the good of those Colonies, and also to appoint and Commission officers to traine & exercise at convenient times such of the inhabitants as are fit bear arms, that they may be expert and ready at handling of their Arms & Military exercises, since it will be too late to begin to make them souldiers, and fitt them for the defence of the Country when the danger is come upon them.

But because the Quakers inhabiting some of these provinces out of mistake or pretence of conscience refuse their personal aid in the use of force against his Majestys and their enemies, it may be left to the prudence of the said Capt. Generall to receive from them in money their share of assistance for the support of those men, whom he shall at any time find necessary to raise and employ in their and their neighbouring defence.

2. And we further humbly offer that we conceive it necessary that the said Capt. Generall should have the power of Governour of any of the said plantations immediately depending on the Crowne whilst he is present in it.

Unless this be done, we doe not see how those provinces can be preserved, for in the present state they are in, wherein they doe and alwaies will refuse one another mutual assistance, minding more their present profit than common defence, it is not conceivable how it can be avoided, but that they should fall into the power of so active an enemy as France, and one after another be all destroyed. The Massachusetts Connecticut New Hampshire Pensilvania, Maryland, & Virginia, all alledge in ex[c]use for not sending aid to New York, that they are all of them exposed to the enemy as much as that province, and yet we do not find that they are in a very good posture of defence, much less can they be depended upon for a timely and vigorous assistance to one another in case of danger, unless some body be there on the place with power to compell them to it. Whereas a vigilant General there having under his eye the care of the whole, would always be at hand to oppose the enemy with so many of his forces that are nearest which would be with greatest safety & least charge to those Countreys, and without any disturbance or expence to the remoter.

This he would be enabled to doe by having constant intelligence from the neighbour Indians our friends of the motions & signes of the enemy, upon which consideration we must crave leave further to represent that the said Capt Generall should be instructed to take all manner of care, to keep the five nations, and what other Indians are yet in amity with us firm in friendship; for it is beyond question that it would be utterly impossible for his Majesties subjects to subsist in those plantations, but they must inevitably be forced to leave them, if all the neighbouring Indians should once be got over to the French & become our enemies. To prevent that and for securing them to his Majesty's interest, it will be expedient that the said Cap: Gen<sup>l</sup> should from time to time make them such presents sent froa hence, as he should find necessary, and that some of the most eminent & leading amongst them should be entertained, and have constan pay as Ensigns or Lieutenants of his Majesties, and be treated as his officers, and next that they should be rewarded for all executions done by them on the enemy, and the Scalps they bring be well paid for, Further that some lusty and vigorous youths of the English, should accompany them in their expeditions, huntings and other exercise, who by inhabiting amongst them would learne their language, grow acquainted wth their Woods Rivers and Passes, and come in a little time to be able to endure their fatigues; all which would be a means to familiarize them to us and strengthen their union with us, and to this, those young men should be encouraged by a certaine assurance of rewards and preferment, which they should never fail of according to their deserts in this service. That some of the bravest or most credited amongst our Indian friends should be brought (if they can be perswaded to it) into England to see the strength of his Majesty's forces by sea and land, and the populousness of his Dominion especially of his great city of London, the certaine knowledge whereof would be of great force to confirme them in their union with us; And that also Captives of the enemy Indians should be brought into England for the same purpose. The knowledge of his Majesties power and greatnesse serving to deterr the One, as well to hearten and animate the other.

And lastly that effectually means should be taken for the conversion of them to the protestant faith; for among these here, as well as all other men, Religion has been found to be one of the strongest bonds of union: To this good use we humbly conceive the Governour and Company here in London for propagation of the Gospell in New England, and the parts adjacent in America, will be very ready to apply their stock, and Revenue when they shall be made to see, that the converting the Mohaques, and others of the five nations (to which they have already contributed some small matter) is of the greatest importance imaginable for preserving of those of the protestant religion who are in those parts, as well as for the gaining new converts to it.

These things relating to the Indians we think we may with the more confidence recommend, they being with great care and earnestness practised by the French for gaining and holding of the Indians in Canada, where if they goe on by these means to prevail on them as they have hitherto done tis to be apprehended, his Majesty's subjects shall not be long quiet and safe in these his Northern plantations, On the back of which the French daily and with great industry extend themselves, and seem to have some other view then bare planting there, which gives us just reason to adde that we humbly conceive some such effectual course as we have here proposed, should be speedily taken, for fear it should come to late for there seems to us great probability that the French even at this time have some aime that way.

[New-York Entries, A. 29.]

May it please Your Majesty.

Besides what we lately laid before their Excell<sup>ties</sup> the Lords Justices concerning the general State of New York and the rest of Your Maj<sup>ty's</sup> Plantations in America, Coll: Fletcher's letter of th 30th May 1696 refer'd also to us by their Excell<sup>ties</sup>, mentions several particular matters which we humbly conceive may be consider'd a part what resolution soever it shall please Your Maj<sup>ty</sup> to take in reference to those provinces in General.

Whereupon we crave leave humbly to represent to Your Maj<sup>ty</sup> that it is our opinion that Presents for the Indians. Four hundred light Dutch Fuzees, which Coll: Fletcher hath desired for the use of the Indians, if they are rightly disposed of there, may be of great use for the confirming the Indians in their Friendship and union with the English, and for arming of them against the French: And therefore we humbly conceive it expedient they should be sent.

Supply of Powder and other Stores.

He also writes for an annual supply of powder and other stores during the War. Upon our endeavours to inform ourselves the best we can concerning that matter, we finde in the books concerning the plantations, transmitted to us the annexed list sent by Coll: Fletcher of Stores which he demanded in May 1695, which we do not finde have been sent. We also enquired of Mr Brooke and Mr Nicoll concerning the State they left the stores in there, when they came thence, but they could give no information concerning that matter, tho' they are members of the Council there, sent over (As Coll: Fletcher writes) by the Government, to lay before Your Majesty a true state of that Country; having in their passage, been taken prisoners by the French.

Powder etc.

Though their ignorance and Coll: Fletcher's silence in this point leaves us uncertain, what quantity of Powder and other ammunition there is yet remaining in Your Majesty's Magazin's there; yet we are humbly of opinion that the supplies he desires should be sent him: That so, whatever may happen, the province may not be destitute of necessaryes for their defence.

Richmd Frigat

Coll: Fletcher further writes that the Richmond Frigat there, is a great charge, and of little use, which is confirmed to us by Mr Brooke who says that she Cruising as usuall in the summer, hath never yet taken one privateer, and that she is laid up all the winter. Instead of her Coll. Fletcher desires a light and nimble sayler as fitter for that service.

Richmd Frigat to be recalled.

Whereupon we humbly conceive it would be for Your Majesty's service that the said Richmond Frigat should be recalled and that another light and quick sayler, as Col: Fletcher proposes (if it may consist with Your Majesty's affairs) should be sent in her place, so as to arrive there at the end of their winter, which we are inform'd is about the beginning of March; and should be made a convoy or a part of a convoy to any Merchant ships going from hence to those parts, at that time as there shall be occasion, and ordered to stay there under the direction of the Gov<sup>r</sup> of New Yorke, for the service and guard of that and the neighbouring provinces, till the beginning of the next winter; and then to convoy any ships going from New York and the neighbouring provinces with provisions to Barbadoes, the Leeward Islands, or Jamaica, and to stay at Barbadoes or Jamaica for the defence of either of those Islands, and the trade thereof, till the merchant ships returning from thence to England, with the crop of those Islands in the spring, she also should return with them as an additional strength to their convoy, and to supply her place in New Yorke another such Man of war should be ordered hence thither to be there against the end of the following winter, and so annually. By this means Your Majesty's ships of warr intended for the guard of New Yorke and the neighbouring colonies will not for the future be laid up uselesse all the winter season, but will serve to convoy the ships going with Provisions from these northern Provinces to the southern Plantations, at a time seasonable for them to come there to take in freight from thence (as they often do) and so come to England with the rest of the merchant ships under convoy.

The 4 companies
filled up

He further adds that he hath filled up Your Majesty's four companies there with men raised in that province at the rate of three pounds p<sup>r</sup> head and fourpence a day increase of their pay, for which the Assembly have raised a fund to defray that charge unto May next; till which time these recruits are listed. We are humbly of opinion that

The same method

Coll: Fletcher should be encouraged to continue on this method of keeping those companies full, till Recruits can be sent from hence, or till Your Majesty having leisure to take into your Princely consideration the general state of that, and the neighbouring Colonies which we laid before Their Excell<sup>ties</sup> the Lords Justices, Your Maj<sup>ty</sup> shall resolve on such measures as to your Royal wisdom shall seem best for the securing those Your Maj<sup>ty</sup>'s Northern Plantations in America, And since Coll: Fletcher complains of frequent desertions, to which the retreat deserters finde in the neighbouring plantations gives an occasion, We are humbly of opinion that the proper remedy for this is that the several English Plantations in the Northern America should each of them respectively make effectual laws, to prevent the receiving and harbouring of deserters or Fugitives from any other of Your Majesty's Plantations. To which purpose we humbly conceive it convenient they should be writ to.

Laws to be made against Deserters and Fugitives

Mr Caleb Heathcote
to be of the Council.

In a former letter of his dated 29th May 1695. Coll: Fletcher writes that upon the removal of M<sup>r</sup> Dudley and M<sup>r</sup> Pinhorn from the Council for nonresidence, he found it necessary to call M<sup>r</sup> Caleb Heathcote to the Board and prays for a warrant for his confirmation. It does not appear to us, that any such warrant hath been hitherto sent; and therefore we humbly propose, that the said Caleb Heathcote be confirmed one of Your Maj<sup>ty</sup>'s Council there, and that Coll: Fletcher be writ to, to fill up the other vacant place in the Council

Subsistence.

Coll Fletcher further presses in several of his letters that the subsistence for the four companies should be punctually paid, which, with all the rest we with all humility submit to your Majesty's great wisdom —

Signed.

Governor Fletcher to the Duke of Shrewsbury.

[New-York Entries, A. 152.]

9. Nov<sup>r</sup> 1696.

To His Grace the Duke of Shrewsbury

May it please Your Grace.

Since my last of the 17th Sept<sup>r</sup> I have been at Albany to strengthen the friendship and alliance of the Five nations of Indians I found them true to the English but inclinable to peace — They make remarks how the small number of French in Canada hold out and vex the English that are so numerous upon this Maine. They have earnestly solicited me to write to the great King and to get them an answer in the spring whether he will send his Canoos of seventy guns, and destroy Canada; that they may make a peace for themselves, and have sent to His Maj<sup>ty</sup> a small bundle of beaver skins, some black stroakes upon the outside, representing the River of Canada and three round stroakes signifying the three principal places. I have transmitted herewith a copy of their propositions and humbly beg Your Grace to lay this affaire before his Maj<sup>ty</sup> and procure me some answer or directions. They are a people of some consequence to His Maj<sup>ty</sup>'s plantations on this Maine, and a barrier between the French and us.

He has been at Albany with the Indians.

Indian's propositions

He has delivered them the present sent by the King to the Indians.

I have delivered to them the present sent over by His Majesty with some addition made at the charge of the Govern<sup>r</sup> in consideration of the great loss sustained in this descent of the French into their Country, I have also prevailed with the Assembly to provide for their maintenance this winter having lost all their corn.

The revenue
anticipated.
People uneasy.

Our frequent alarms brings a hard duty and charge upon the province so that the revenue is much anticipated and cannot answer it. The people uneasy because of the inequality of the burthen. Our neighbours on both sides who reap an equal benefit of the Protection, will give no assistance of men or money.

The Assembly have re-created the 4
companies.

I have prevailed with the Assembly to recruite the companies and am just now embarking for Albany upon intelligence that the Governour of Canada designs to attack it this winter, I hope my presence will encourage the Inhabitants of Albany to continue there.

Indian

One of the fighting Captains of Oneyde came down the River with me and was desirous to see if the Great King of Britain fights the French as it is reported at Albany, I could find no interpreter to accompany him so am necessitated to take him up with me and send him back to own Castle.

A Party of French
near Albany, beaten by Indians.

A party of French lately appeared near Albany to the number of thirteen were engaged by eleven Indians and beaten; the Commander being wounded (since dead) with two more surrendered. His Commission was from the Governor of Mount Reall to do what mischief he could, against the English and Indians of this Province.

Indians sent against the French

A party of three and twenty Indians and three Christians were sent out to march with all speed to the great lake,<sup>1</sup> who went, destroyed their Canoes, and met seven of the party whom they cutt to pieces, and brought in their scalps. 'Tis believ'd the rest will perish in the woods.

The examinations of the Prisoners are remitted to the Plantation Office.

May it please Your Grace.

Present for the Indians.

There is a continual expence of ammunition upon our frontiers, I must humbly beg Your Grace to intercede with His Majesty for some light Fuzees for the Indians; An annual supply of ammunition and stores of war, and the punctual payment of the subsistence of the four comp<sup>es</sup> being all the force I have to depend upon. I finde it hard and difficult to recruite the comp<sup>es</sup> here but have prevailed with the Assemblies to enable me by levy money, which is punctually paid to the men and are to be discharged at a certain time. Men can not be had here upon other terms, the wages for the labourer are so high.

Ammunition and stores—
subsistence.

The companies recruited—

Colonel Ingoldsby hath a furloe from His Majesty for a twelve month. Officers here are more difficult to be got than men. I hope His Majesty will not give Furloes to any more of the officers here. I shall always do my utmost to adjnst my duty to His Most Excellent Majesty and his province and approve myself

May it please Your Grace

humble and most obedient servant

Governor Fletcher to the Lords of Trade.

[New-York Entries, A., 158.]

From Coll Fletcher to the Lords of the late Committe

May it please Your Lordships.

Since my last of the 17th September I have had a Treaty with the Indians of the Five nations and send herewith a copy of what passed.

An engagement between some French and some
River Indians—

Since my return from Albany a party of 13. French with an Indian guide appeared near that place, and were beaten by eleven River Indians the French Commander being wounded (since dead), with two other surrendered. A party of 3. Christians and 23. Indians from Albany were commanded immediately to march to the great Lake, who went and destroyed their Canoes, and meeting seven of their party (the Indian guide one) cut them all to pieces and brought in their scalps, two of our Indians are wounded. The French endured great hardship and fed upon Acorns, 'tis believ'd none of them will get to Canada, I have transmitted the examinations of the Prisoners.

The Scamp: upon the frontiers much weakened. —
The Assembly have given a supply to recruit them for a Year.

The three companies upon the Fronteers were much weakened by death and desertion. I prevailed with the Assembly to recruit them for twelve months in may last since my return from Albany the Assembly have satt and given a new supply to recruite them against the Winter.

He has an account
the French will attack Albany this winter. —
Recruits sent to Canada
No assistance from the neighbouring Colonies.

The Inhabitants of Albany are under apprehension of an attack this winter, which I also have an account of the Governor of Canada has recruits last summer from France, and no relief is to be expected from the neighbouring Colonies at New York, which has put many of the Inhabitants upon thought of removing to New York, for which reason I thought and am now imbarcking with a detachment of my own Company to put myself in that post this winter and hope, I shall take off all their doubts and fears.

I shall be shut up by the ice for four months from the rest of the Province, I have left necessary orders and the same weather is our security from the attempts of the enemy by sea.

No assistance from the neighbouring Colonies.

I have made frequent application for assistance from the neighbouring Colonies, which are fruitless.

Our Indians inclined to make a seperate peace.

Our Indians were hearty and well disposed but much inclining to make a peace for themselves.

He sends a bundle of beaver with the Indians description of Canada to the King.
The Indians press for an answer against spring.

I have remitted a bundle of Beaver with their description of Canada which I send to His Most Excellent Majesty, directed to Mr Balthwayte, they have limited me to get an answer against the spring.

Address and Association.

Journal of Governor Fletcher's Visit to Albany.

[New-York Papers, A.B. B.40.]

A Journall of what passed in the Expedition of His Exc<sup>ll</sup>: Coll: Benjamin Fletcher Captaine General and Governour in Cheife of the province of New Yorke &c to Albany, to renew the Covenant Chain with the Five Canton Nations of Indians, the Mohaques, Oneydes, Onondages, Caijouges & Sennekes.

Sept. 17th 1696. On Thursday after sunsett his Exc<sup>ll</sup>: imbarqued at Greenwich; on Tuesday morning arrived at Albany.

This day the Sachims of the other three Nations arrived and desired time to rest themselves till tomorrow

29th His Exc<sup>ll</sup>: called the Sachems together and spake

His Exc<sup>ll</sup> said:—

Brethren. It is an inexpressible satisfaction to me that I see you here; I do heartily condole the losse our brethren the Onondages and Oneydes have sustained by the late eruption of the French army from Canida.

Upon the first certaine intelligence I had, I came up in person with [what force] I could hastily gather for your assistance.

And I am now here and present you the Onondages and Oneydes these two belts of wampum as a confirmacōn of my sincerity and these kettles to repair your losse in that kinde.

Brethren

Two months agoe I received at New Yorke the first intelligence that the French had made an insult upon your countrey. I forthwith came up as I said before to yo<sup>r</sup> releife and assistance. I had an account before I did reach Albany from some of your people that the French army were retreated & marched back towards Canida. I then sent expresses desiring you all to meet me at this place; some time after I received yo<sup>r</sup> answer that you would meet me about this time in Albany; and I am now come up a second time this summer in order to renew the covenant chain and to consult with the brethren what is most propper and may be most conducing to the common good and safety of the whole House.

Brethren

I do acquaint you from my most illustrious Master the King of Great Brittain France and Ireland that he will alwayes extend his gracious proteccōn to you and as a seal of it His Majesty has commanded me to deliver you these presents to keep bright the Covenant Chain from all rust and to strengthen it in behalfe of all his Majestyes subjects, not only of this Province, but those also of New England, Connecticut, the Jerseys, Pensilvania, Maryland and Virginia.

Brother Caijenquiragoe.

We returne you thanks for what you have said the day before yesterday in condoling of our losse, and for the kettles which you gave us to boyle our victuals in the room of those that are lost by the enemy as also for the two Belts of Wampum given us as a token of yo<sup>r</sup> sincerity, by which our hearts are mightily rejoiced and lifted up in this our poor condition.

Brother Caijenquiragoe

We are exceedingly rejoiced that the Great King over the Seas has sent us in this our low condition, by which our hearts are lifted up, we were ready to sink in a miserable perishing condition and this makes us revive again. He laid down six Beaver Skins.

Brother Caijenquiragoe.

We come to desire you to acquaint the Great King that the enemy has brought us to a very low condition and have destroyed five of our Castles; one is now left, and if that be destroyed we know not what to do; we know not what shall become of us next; pray let the Great King know this.

Brother Caijenquiragoe.

We desire that since the Great King of England &c has cannoes of seaventy gunns a piece and many forces, you may acquaint him that it is a great pity we should be so plagued with soe small an enemy as the French and Indians of Canida. We are not able of ourselves to destroy them.

We are become a small people and much lessened by the warr. If the people of Virginia, Maryland, Pensilvania, the Jerseys, Connecticut & New England who have all put their hand to the Covenant Chain will joyne with the inhabitants of this place, we are ready to go and root the French and all our enemies out of Canida. He then laid down a bundle of six Quebecq
Montreal
Troy rivier. Bever skins and on the outside thereof a draft of the river of Canida with the cheife places there of marked, to show the smallnesse of the enemy and how seated upon Canida river; which they desire may be sent over & shown to the Great King.

Brother Caijenquiragoe.

We again thank you for the message you have brought from the Great King.

And we pray you to send again to him for us with all vigour and speed, and to lay before the King what we have here said; faile not in writing, faile not to let the King know it. We give these five beavers to the man that writes, to pay for the paper penn & ink.

Brother Caijenquiragoe

We desire you to acquaint the Great King as before, that we are a small people and he has a great people and many cannoes with great gunns; we desire you to write to him to know whether he will send them to distroy Canida or not, against the next time the trees grow green; and if he will not send forces to distroy Canida then to send us word thereof that we may make peace for ourselves, for ever, or for some time.

And we earnestly pray you will desire the Great King to send us an answer by the next time the trees grow green. He laid down a bundle of six bevers.

Brother Caijenquiragoe.

We come to condole the losse you daily receive having daily alarms of sculking partyes of the enemy doing mischeife. Then laid down a belt of Wampum.

Brother Caijenquiragoe.

I am come with the whole House to consider what tends to the comon good of the whole House.

Brother Caijenquiragoe

We come here to quicken the fire, and renew the Covenant Chain.

Brother Caijenquiragoe.

We come to renew the Covenant Chain with all the brethren of New England, Connecticut, New Yorke, the Jerseys, Pensilvania, Maryland & Virginia that they may partake of the warmth of the fire.

Brother Caijenquiragoe.

We recommend to all that are in the Covenant Chain to be vigorous to keep it up.

Brother Caijenquiragoe.

When all is said I drinck to all yo<sup>r</sup> healths & then I deliver you the cupp

Brother Caijenquiragoe.

There has been a cloud and we come to remove it, as the sun in the morning remove the dar[k]nesse of the night.

Brother Caijenquiragoe.

The Tree of safety and welfare planted here we confirme it.

Brother Caijenquiragoe

As the tree is planted here and confirmed, so we make fast all the roots and branches of it, all the brethren of the Five Nations and the brethren of Virginia Maryland, Pensilvania, the Jerseys, New Yorke, Connecticut, & New England.

Brother Caijenquiragoe

We wish we may rest in quietnesse under that tree. We fill it with new leaves, and wish all that are in the Covenant Chain may have the benefite to sitt down quiett under its shaddow.

Brother Caijenquiragoe

I do hereby renew the Covenant Chain with all that have put their hands in it Virginia, Maryland, Pensilvania, the Jerseys, New Yorke, Connecticut & New England.

Brother Caijenquiragoe.

We renew the Covenant Chain in behalf of the whole House, the Mohaques, Oneydes, Onondages Caijoutes and Sinnikes.

Brother Caijenquiragoe.

We have lately had the losse of two Castles by the enemy, we have concluded to do our best to assist them and we desire Caijenquiragoe will do the same.

Brother Caijenquiragoe.

We wish the Cannoes may go to and again in safety that the Great King may know what we have here said and that we may have an answer. We now have made our word good; here is the cup. Then laid down some small bundles of bever saying,—It is but small, but is as it were saved out of the fire.

His Excell stood up and said:—

Brethren.

I have heard what you have said, and have here renewed the Covenant Chain with all the Five Nations the Mohaques, Oneydes, Onondages, Caijoutes, and Sinnikes, in behalf of the Brethren of this Province, Virginia, Maryland, Pensilvania, the Jerseys, Connecticut & New England; and I assure the Five Nations of his Maj<sup>tyes</sup> protecc<sup>on</sup>. I have provided for you some victuals and drink to drink the King's health, and in confirmac<sup>on</sup> thereof that it may last as long as the sun & moon endures I give this Belt Wampum.

His Excellency said:—

Brethren.

It was proposed by the Speaker of the Five Nations the first day that I should write to my Great Master the King of England &c concerning the warr that is between the Five Nations and the French and Indians of Canida and that I should gett an answer from the Great King to you the brethren against the next Spring.

Brethren

I must assure you its utterly impossible in so short a time to send over to my Great Master and to receive an answer for reasons which I shall now give you.

The way over the great Sea is long, the danger and hazards are many, and in the winter season [happen] many storms and contrary winds.

Brethren, I do promise you to use all the speedyest means with the first opportunity to write to the Great King and to get you an answer which I am sure will be to yo<sup>r</sup> content and satisfaction and so soon as it comes I shall communicate it to you.

Brethren.

In the mean time I have appointed Maj<sup>r</sup> Schuyler M<sup>r</sup> Dellius Major Wessells and the Mayor of the City of Albany to receive yo<sup>r</sup> propositions upon any occasion that may happen in my absence

Brethren

I do heartily wish you home well to yo<sup>r</sup> own Castles and that you may look out and be careful not to be surprised; you can never be too watchfull. I now take my leave of you and give each of you a kegg of rumm for a dram to comfort you in the way home, and a coat to keep you warme in the winter. I shall see you again (God willing) next summer or sooner if yo<sup>r</sup> affaires call, if it please God to continue my health.

The Sachims offer to make some propositions. Sanonquirese Sachim of the Mohaques Speaker

Brother Caijenquiragoe.

We have been a long time in the Covenant Chain with the brethren of New Yorke, in which afterwards at sundry times the brethren of Virginia Maryland Pensilvania, the Jerseys, Connecticut & New England came and linked themselves. They like'd the chain of peace, but where are they now; they do not like to take part with us in the war. They are all asleep; they came not to our assistance against the enemy, their hands hang down straight, and their armies are lame; we see none minde the warr but the brethren of New Yorke.

We are now down upon one knee, but we are not quite down upon the ground; lett the Great King of England send the great cannoes with seaventy gunns each, and let the brethren of Virginia, Maryland, Pensilvania, the Jerseys, Connecticut & New England awake, and we will stand up straight againe upon our feet; our heart is yet stout and good; we doubt not but to destroy the enemy. Then laid down a Belt of Wampum.

Brother Caijenquiragoe.

We again desire you to write to the Great King and to gett us an answer against the next time the trees become green and that there may be no delay. Let it not be said to us the canoes are lost under water, or that the wind has carried them into another country, or the like excuse, but let us have the answer against the trees grow green, without faith, for we are in great need of it. Then laid down a Bever skinn

To which His Excell. made answer

Brethren

I shall be faithfull and exact to my promise to you. I shall send to the Great King my master by the first opportunity and be carefull in sending you the Great Kings answer, as I told you before; but I cant be positive to a time when the voyage depends upon the winde & weather which are soe uncertaine. I wish you well to yo<sup>r</sup> castles.

The principle Sachim of the Mohaques called — Oheee

The whole number of Sachims answered Heeeeee Hogh &<sup>c</sup>

Oct. 4th Cloaths were delivered out to the Companyes being a gratuity of the Assembly to those soldiers that had served the preceding winter; being of the £500 tax.

5th The Companyes were mustered by Mathew Clarkson Esq<sup>r</sup> Sec<sup>r</sup> and afterwards the Oaths administered to them, and every man had two dollars paid him of the 4th a day, likewise granted by the Assembly; the money was taken up upon credit, the tax not being paid nor the first moiety payable till the 29th of Septemb<sup>r</sup> last.

His Excell. on the head of each Company did encourage the men and told them not to believe the reports of factious disaffected persons; promising that the four pence a day should be paid into their own hands. In the afternoone the same day His Excell: imbarqued for New York, being attended to the shoare by the May<sup>r</sup> Recorder & Aldermen and the Common Council, with the soldiers and train bands in arms, and having recommended to the Magistrates of the City and the Officers to be vigilant and amicable and to unite in their endeavours for the defence of the place, took leave of them about 3 a clock after noone.

Examinations of Three French Prisoners at Albany.

[New-York Papers, A.B. B.41.]

The Examinacôns of Joseph De Boake Philip Andrie la Coudre & Isaaq Giggon la Pomere, taken by Capt James Weems and Captain William Hyde in Fort Orange at Albany, seপরতly exâied. the 16th of October 1696. —

Joseph de Boake<sup>1</sup> being called saith that on the 24th of September last by an order in writing from Mons<sup>r</sup> Callier Govern<sup>r</sup> of the Isle of Montreall he marched from the said place having under his command one and twenty French and one Indian with forty five dayes provisions, that they were twelve days upon the river and landed upon the shoare of Lake Shamfahire<sup>1</sup> above the point of La Sheblare;<sup>2</sup> there left their three Cannoes with all their provisions but tenn dayes, which they took with them and designed to make an eager attack upon some part of the Five Nations or the English their enemys. After eight dayes travell they arrived at some uninhabited houses over against the Flatts where he advanced himselfe with two more to discover what he could, leaving the rest of his party behinde him about a league and halfe; but discerning three Indians burning of a ring, fearing lest he should be discovered retreated to his party, and betook them selves to a thickett that night, and next morning marched towards Kinderhook, and next day about two hours before sunsett they were attacked, being only at that time together of them, thirteen, the rest being dispersed or lost. After some shott being discharged on both sides his party and he retreated, the Examinant being greivously wounded in the arm was not able to proceed; therefore advised his party to surrender to some of the English in the next villages; for he was not able to head them any longer, by reason of being very faint with the losse of much blood, and earnestly importuned them to submitt according to his council least they should fall into the hands of the Indians, who would have no mercy of them: all refused but two who joyned with him and in three dayes after surrendered to the inhabitants of Scotack who brought them to Albany this day.

The Examinant further sayeth that he commanded the battoes and canoes that caryed Count Frontenac with his army of 1600 French and 460 Indians in his expedición within three leagues of the Onondages Castle where they landed with two small feild pieces, and two small mortars to throw hand granados, and the very same day moved up towards the place but found the Castle burnt down & demolished, being done a day before their arrivall there, that they destroyed all the Indian Corn round the place, then moved to the Oncydes Castle, which they burnt, and destroyed all their corne, finding in the Castle thirty men women and children which surrendered themselves prisoners to them; then returned home and by the way met with some small skirmishes.

The said Examinant says further that in Septemb<sup>r</sup> last arrived at Quebec twelve ships, whereof six men of warr with 300 recrutes, stores of ammunicón, provisions and money to pay the forces; and further saith not.

Isaaq Giggon La Pomere upon his examinacón answers every question to the same effect of Joseph de Boake, but that he was not in the expedición with Count Frontenac into the Indian country, that he had no offer of any gratuity for doing mischeife in these parts and is ignorant of any that has or is to be given, but by dependance upon voluntary generosity of their Governour.

Philip Andre de Caudre answers in his exaícón to all questions after the manner of the former examinacóns, but knows nothing of the expedition into the Indian Country. and knows but very little of the arriveall of any shipping or recrutes to Quebec but by report.

Governor Fletcher to Mr. Blathwayt.

[New-York Entries, A. 188.]

To Mr Blathwayt

Sir.

He has treated with the Sachins of the Five nations.

They are willing to attempt with us
the conquest of Canada

A party of French defeated.

The French have received recruits.
They design to attack Albany.

No assistance from their neighbours to be expected.

Connecticut, the Jerseys etc will not assist them.

He desires some light fuzees for the Indians An annual supply of forces and ammunition and the subsistence for the four companies.

Since my last I have been at Albany and treated with the Sachins of the Five nations they complain of the tediousness of the war and the sloth and negligence of the neighbouring Provinces. They have desired me to write to the Great King and get them an answer against the spring, and are willing to push along with us for a conquest of Cannida or to make peace for themselves, the propositions come herewith. I have directed the Beavers which they present to His Sacred Majesty in a box to you to do as you think most proper and have acquainted his Grace the Duke of Shrewsbury.—

We have had the good fortune to defeat a party of French that came from Cannida to make discovery and take prisoners, three of them did surrender and seven being overtaken by a party of Christians and Indians from Albany were cut to pieces in the middle way betwixt

The French have had Recruits last Summer from France and I am informed have a design to attack Albany in the Winter. I am now imbarking for that place to remain there this season and take a detachment of my own company with me. I cannot depend upon the assistance of our neighbours. I hope by the grace of God with the forces I have and such as I shall be able to draw together from Ulster and Dutchess Countys, upon an alarm to be ready, to give them such warm entertainment as will make them quickly repent their journey. This will be my third voyage to Albany this year.

There is a great consumption of powder and stores by our frequent alarms and to supply the Indians and extraordinary charges accruing in time of war. The neighbouring provinces will neither contribute to the duty nor charge; Connecticut and the Jerseys will do nothing. I humbly desire your assistance in procuring some relief to this Province from the neighbouring Colonies, some light Fuzees for the Indians which I wrote for formerly; an annual supply of forces and ammunition and that the subsistence of the four companies be punctually paid—and am

Sir. Your most obedient and most humble servant

Memorial of Messrs. Brooke and Nicolls relating to the Defence of New-York.

[New-York Papers, A. B. A.19.]

The humble Memoriall of Chidley Brook and William Nicoll.

In our memoriall to their Excellencies the late Lords Justices of England referr'd to yo<sup>r</sup> L<sup>ō</sup>pps. wee have set forth the state and condic<sup>ō</sup>n of the Colony of New York in America in relation to the Warr and dangers from the French in those parts & upon yo<sup>r</sup> L<sup>ō</sup>pps. comands in one other memoriall humbly offered our opinions of the methods to be taken for the securing that Colony and the other English plantac<sup>ō</sup>ns in that country from the ruine the French neighbourhood there apparently threatens; Wee now humbly lay before yo<sup>r</sup> L<sup>ō</sup>pps. the following p<sup>t</sup>iculars as very necessary for the safety & good of that Colony, to witt:—

1st That the Fort at New York may be strengthend and enlarg'd, it being at present only a defence against Indians, and that an Engineer be sent over to that purpose, and for the other forts and fortificac<sup>ō</sup>ns menc<sup>ō</sup>ned in our former memoriall.

2<sup>d</sup> That the pay of the Companyes at New York may be made sterling money, the value of money there is a full third less than here, two pence sterling is stopt in England for Clothes, and it costing six pence p<sup>r</sup> diem New Yorke money to subsist them; the men every day are brought in debt & the excessive price of clothes &c in those parts make the hardship on the officers not less than the private men; for this reason the Assembly have found it necessary for the p<sup>r</sup>esent subsistence of the men to grant them an allowance of 4<sup>d</sup> p<sup>r</sup> diem a man addic<sup>ō</sup>nall to their pay till May next.

4. In the fort of New York are two small mortarrs the diameter of the one is 8 inches &  $\frac{3}{8}$ . 7 inches &  $\frac{3}{8}$  the other, 100 granado shells for each are wanting; as also

5. Six large union flags for his Ma<sup>ties</sup> severall forts in that Colony, which we pray may be added to the stores already ordered.

These things wee humbly desire may be granted, and that the Colony of New York (which by it's scituac<sup>ō</sup>n and the course of the Rivers and by the amity and good understanding it has had with the Five Warlike Nations of Indians is become a Barrier to the rest of the English Dominions on the main land) may receive such seasonable reliefe and assistance that the English interest may take no prejudice by any iuroachm<sup>t</sup> or invasion by the French there. Wee are obedient Serv<sup>ts</sup>

Council of New-York to the Lords of Trade.

[New-York Entries, A. 162.]

Letter from the Council of New York to the Lords of the late Committee.

May it please Your Lordships.

His Excellency our Governour went to Albany the tenth inst: to remain there this winter upon some intelligence he had of orders the French Governour had to attack Albany and of Recruits of men and stores come to Cannada.

The Inhabitants threaten to leave Albany

Many of the inhabitants did threaten to remove their families unless there were a better force to keep it. The Indians accuse the neighbouring provinces of sloth & negligence.

The Assembly have recruited the Forces.

The Assembly of this Province to recruit the Companies upon the Frontiers, and to be eased from the burthen of detachments have given six pound a man levy money for six months service besides the King's pay, and a groat a day. There is no assistance to be expected from our neighbours, they will do nothing.

No assistance from their neighbours.

The winter sets in a pace is the reason His Excellency left us with directions to seal up his packet, lest the river be shutt up.

They desire their neighbours may bear an equal proportion in the charge of the war—

We hope our Gracious King will consider of the hard circumstances this province is under to preserve and maintain His Maj<sup>ty</sup>'s interest in these Parts, and give effectual directions that the neighbouring provinces be brought to bear an equal share of the duty and charge of the warr.

His Excell<sup>ty</sup>'s personal presence at Albany this winter (we doubt not) will be a means to allay all the doubts and fears of the people and encourage the Indians and secure the Garrison.

He cannot always remain there, this City and fort may be surpris'd from sea in summer, and it is the seat of Govern<sup>t</sup>

If the inhabitants of Albany remove the Indians will be discouraged.

When the Inhabitants of Albany begin to remove they will be apt to follow one another it will discourage our Indians they are much courted by the French.

We are

May it please Your Lordships

dutiful and most humble servants.

Mr. Penn's Observations on the Proceedings of Governor Fletcher.

[Journal, IX., 275-6.]

Whitehall December the 11th 1696

At a Meeting of His Majesty's Commissioners for Trade and Plantations.

PRESENT—Earl of Bridgewater

East New Jersey As a Proprietor of East New Jersey, M<sup>r</sup> Penn complained also that the Governour of New Yorke obliged the ships that came thither with goods from England to pay New Yorke customes. To which he was answered that Colonel Fletcher was ordered by his instructions to do so: And the necessity of that practice was shown, by the neighbourhood of that Propriety to the King's Province of New Yorke, which is such that if goods were received there custom free, they may be clandestinely transported into New Yorke to the defrauding of His Majesty's customs there.

Quota He spoke also of the Quota required from the neighbouring Colonies for the defence of New York And said that he conceived the best way of regulating it would be, by stated Deputies from each Province, to meet in one common Assembly: The effecting of which was observed to require one Captain General or Vice Roy to preside But upon these heads he was desired, and he promised so draw up a schem more fully in writing.

New York He delivered to the Board a letter to himself dated in New Yorke the 13th of June 1695 (the name subscribed being blotted out)<sup>1</sup> which he said he had kept eight months in his hands, being unwilling to concern himself in the matters that were contained in it, which were chiefly complaints against Colonel Fletcher. But however he thought Complaints agt Coll. Fletcher. fit in the end to discharge his hands of it; so left it with the Board to consider of. He suggested also in discourse some complaints of violence and harsh carriage in Colonel Nicholson Governour of Maryland.

After he was withdrawn, their Lordships hereupon ordered that the Secretary should write both to him, and Major General Winthrop (who it was said had formerly also made some such like complaints) to desire them to give the Board particular Accounts in writing of what either themselves or any persons were able to prove against either of the foresaid Governours.

Gentlemen.

I can add little to what I said at my departure from York; I then left a Packett to be dispatched by way of Virginia which I hope will come safe after so many have been lost.

His reasons for going to Albany.

Account of his voyage to Albany

Some River Indians rout a Party of French

He rewards them and is sending some of them with some Christians to the great lake.

He sends a message to the Five Nations.

He is putting the wooden Forts into the best order he can.

He had got 25 men from Connecticut recruits arrived at Canada the Gov<sup>r</sup> of that place designs to attack Albany this winter.

He desires stores according to the list formerly sent.

The French endeavour to draw off the Indians.

Pay and Cloaths for the 4. comps

The dearth of labour makes it difficult to get soldiers.

The frights and daily removal of these people with the intelligence of a design'd attack from Canada on this place oblig'd me to put myself into it for this winter.

The tenth of November I left Yorke with a detachment only of my own company with much difficulty, the wind at North West and the weather exciding cold, we got up beyond Ulster, we were twice driven on ground by the Ice, and the 15th lockt up by it, so we continued all that day and night, the 19th I went on shore over against a great tract of Ice and so walk'd on full five miles, to a little Dutch Town called Potcoke;<sup>1</sup> where I lodged that night in my cloaths with Dundalk accommodation, next morning by the Assistance of Major Schuyler who I met by chance, got horses and waggons and March'd to Kinderhook; the next day being the 21st I reached Green bush, and walk'd from thence over the Ice to Albany, to great appearance of satisfaction in the people.

My first business was to send for the River Indians, who knock'd a party of seven Frenchmen in the head, who were sculking upon our Coast—For their better encouragem<sup>t</sup> I gave them six pound, for each man they kill'd, they were much pleas'd with it and promis'd to continue in Loyalty to the King, and to supply me with some scouts this winter, to ly upon the lake, which scouts I am now dispatching with some Christians mixed with them.

My next care was to dispatch a Messenger with a belt of Wampum to the Five nations to let them know I am personally here to cover and assist them against the common Enemy, and that I expect they should continue firme to the covenant chain and in their loyalty to the Great King my master.

In the mean time I am endeavouring to put these wooden Fortifications into the best method of defence that I can, and seeing the companies dayly exercised at the relief of guards, having here no more men than the three companies with a detachment of thirty from my own; this is all that had occurred since my arrival, only I got by much importunity twenty five men from Connecticut as Recruits for the companies here—The French Gov<sup>r</sup> of Canada has this summer received considerable recruits of men and stores of war and spits forth his brags, that he will be Master of Albany this winter; he shall meet the warmest Intertainment I can give him.—

I must desire you to enquire after a list of Stores I formerly sent to the Plantation Office, I have not the copy by me, I remember four hundred light fuzees I desired for the Five nations, also I desired some Stronds, Duffels and Blankets might be sent to them.

The French do endeavour both to awe and bribe them, I am sure it is for the King's service, that they be encouraged. I must also desire your endeavours that pay and Cloathing may be sent over for the four companies.

The rate of labourers here makes it difficult to get men, the Officers are also under great hardships, they can not eat and buy a coat out of their subsistance, you know how scarce and dear provisions and cloths are in this country.

It seems strange to me that any mallice should be found to impeach you for want of Loyalty and affection to His present Majesty, I have been a witness of your zeal and fervour to his service. That noxious calumny will blow over of itself, it cannot stick upon you—I am—

and servant

Conference between Governor Fletcher and the River Indians.

Maj<sup>r</sup> Derick Wessells Mayor of Albany

His Excellency said: Children.

I send for you to let you know my sence of the good service you have lately done in cutting off those French and Indians our common Enemy, who came here to make what destruction they could upon the subjects of my Master the Great King of England etc. those men fight not like Soldiers, and should be used as beasts of prey.

You have received the encouragement promised by my Proclamation, six pounds a head, and I do expect a continuance of your fervour in the prosecuting these common enemies, disturbers of our Peace, and you may expect all due incouragement for what service you shall do.

I am further to acquaint you that I shall want some scouts this winter to March up to the lake to make what discovery they can of the motion of the French.

I expect you should name able and active young men, such as can be confided in, and I shall see them paid and send some Christians with them.

Children. I hear you are much dispersed and scattered upon the River, in so much that I can not see a body of you, by this you become weak and a prey to your Enemies. I do therefore require you to settle together and that I may see you in a body as the Five nations, by which you will be stronger, and better able to secure yourselves and do service for the Country.

Some murders have been lately committed in New England by Indians, who they conclude to be of your nation; the Governor of that place has desired me to lay my commands on you that none of your people may hunt that way.

I do therefore advise you as my children that you give obedience to this my command, that none of you may move into those parts they have sett the price of 50 pounds a head for every strange Indian that's brought in, let this caution you.

I give you this kegg of Rum to comfort your hearts this cold weather, so I bid you Adieu.

The oldest of the Sachims called Suckwane answers:—

Father. Many of our Sachims are out now a hunting we are but few here we dayly expect them to return and thank our father for his advice, when our Brethren return we shall then give a full answer to what our Father has now said.

Information of two River Indians bout the French's design of invade Albany 16th of Decemb<sup>r</sup> 1696. transmitted in Coll: Fletcher's letter to M<sup>r</sup> Brook and M<sup>r</sup> Nicolls of the 20th December last.

Who gives this account that one of their Brethren named Olassan being with some of the Onongonges Indians at Canida and lately returned to their Castle which is within two days march of the said Onongonges.<sup>1</sup>

Says that the French Count declared that he resolved to march a considerable force against Albany this Winter and cutt off that place; I together with my comrade being out a hunting took into consideration to acquaint our brethren at Albany with the intelligence, that they may strengthen their Guards and be not surprized by the Enemy, and accordingly we are come and give the said account —

Governor Fletcher to Messrs. Brook and Nicolls.

[New-York Entries, A. 168.]

Letter from Coll: Fletcher to M<sup>r</sup> Brook and M<sup>r</sup> Nicolls dated Albany the 20th of Dec<sup>r</sup> last d'd to the board by the said M<sup>r</sup> Brook and M<sup>r</sup> Nicolls.

Gentlemen.

I have given you an account of my voyage to this place, the threats of the Enemy and frights of the Inhabitants obliged me to make this my winter quarters.

Since I closed my former, some things occurred to my crazy and disturbed head which I think fit to mind you both of, tho' I do not question either your memories or diligence in the affairs committed to your care in which this poor province is so deeply concerned.

The revenue not above £3000 per annum.

The revenue is small, uncertain and depending upon Trade, in which we have received great loss, I think at best its but three thousand pounds a year.

The charge of the war double that sum—

The salaries and incidentals of this war, sloop hire, transportation, presents to Indians with the necessary repair of our wooden Fortifications ettc does call for at least twice that sum yearly; so that unless means be found out for supply and assistance during this war, I can't see what will become of the Province.

If they be not assisted they can not sustain.

I have not the Secretary or Clark of Council with me, neither my own books or memorials to help my memory, but I offer these things to you as proper to be urged for our relief.

His proposition for the Regulation of the Quota in the several Colonies.
Connecticut

Connecticut is a Colony full of men, if instead of the one hundred and twenty men which they are commanded by the Crown to send upon my application, which they are also obliged to pay and arm, that upon the weakning of His Maj<sup>ty</sup>'s four companies by death or desertion, they be commanded to send one hundred men or such number as shall be wanting to compleat the said companies within the compass of the said one hundred which they may exchange or relieve yearly if they desire it.

Jersey

The Jerseys is also convenient for assistance of men, and may very well spare forty to be quartered on the frontiers, and be annually relieved if they desire it.

Pensylvania

Pensylvania whose principles will not permitt them to contribute to the spilling of man's blood may be commanded instead of their Quota of men to pay four hundred pounds yearly.

Maryland.

Maryland instead of their proportion of men pay five hundred pounds yearly.

Virginia

Virginia instead of theirs to pay one thousand pounds yearly.

This is the least I can propose for the security of this province upon which depends the safety of all the rest, and is far short of those succors, which they were formerly obliged by the Royal commands to send us.

These summs of mony to be paid unto the Receiver Generall of His Maj<sup>ty</sup>'s province of New York, and an exact account to be kept of the disposition of it by him and the deputy auditor that the several Govern<sup>ts</sup> may see if they desire it, that its applyed to such uses and no other as does contribute no less to their security than that of this province.

You both know what constructions have been made of former orders, how the sence and genuine meaning of them has been wrested by their interpretations to excuse them from paying any obedience to those Royal commands.

So that if any orders be obtained you will take care that they be positive and no loop holes left for them to creep out of.

New England harras'd and can give no Assistance.

We can expect no assistance from New England, they are sufficiently harrassed, the Fort of Pemaquid lately taken from them.

Rhode Island obeys
no command from the Crown

Rhode Island pays no obedience to any command from the Crown.

The Assembly will not give money for the Soldiers but for a limited time—

You well know our Assembly will not be prevailed upon to give money for the payment of men on the frontiers, otherwise then for a limited time, and such money comes in heavily, so that it does not answer the end. The men many Soldiers often disbanded before their money can be raised

The ill consequences thereof.

times break up and disband before the money is received (from the Country) which occasions clamour, and the great mischief is, there is no reinforcement to supply the places of those who are discharged, this being done by act of Assembly (which is Publick) our Enemies know our weakness at such times, which renders us lyable to a surprize.

Remedy.

To prevent this inconvenience my whole endeavours are to keep up His Maj<sup>ty</sup>'s companies by recruits from Connecticut ettc, which will be more for His Maj<sup>ty</sup>'s service as being much easier and readier then to expect them out of England.

He desires stores.

I must again mind you to sollicite for the stores of war according to a list formerly sent to the Plantation office, I have not a copy of it in this place; we have not flints in this Garrison nor York for one hours firing.

And two barre-lls of Musquet Flints.

I therefore earnestly desire two Barells of muskett Flints, and may be sent by the first ships.

He transmits the Examination of an Indian of Onongongo. The complaints of Mr. Livingstone's salary being too great.

Just now an Indian comes to me from Onongongo, I send his examination.

Mr Livingstone comes upon us with a Commission for one hundred and thirty pounds a year as Secretary or agent to the Indians, a place never known here, nor of any use; fifty pound a year as Collector ette This amounts to a great sum especially when we groan under so great a burthen, and the revenue is not less then two whole years in debt, and the inhabitants of the Province much impoverish'd by the pressures of this war.

His acct of Mr. Livingstone.

This man by false insinuations to the Lords of his sufferings, has prevailed upon their Lord<sup>sh</sup>s for these salaries when you, the Council, and all men know, he has made a considerable fortune by his employments in the Government, never disbursing six pence, but with the expectation of twelve pence, his beginning being a little Book keeper, he has srewed himself into one of the most considerable estates in the province, you have the opinion of the Council upon this head, in which I do concurr and hope you'll endeavour to keep a man of such vile principles from sucking any more the blood of the Province, for he has been a very sponge to it.

I know I shall be hard push'd at upon his score, but if I suffer 'tis in a righteous cause, for he is known by all men here, to have neither Religion nor morality, his whole thirst being at any rate and by any ways to enrich himself and has said as I am credibly informed by many persons, he had rather be called knave Livingstone, then poor Livingstone.

I protest to you my whole intent in the urging this matter is His Maj<sup>ties</sup> service and the good of the Province, his salaries which amounts to one hundred and four score pounds a year this money is more then either the Judges or any other officer appointed by the Commission for this Govern<sup>t</sup> is allowed. I do not see how he can be paid at least while the war lasts, nor of what use those officers are — I am

My disordered head for my late loss has occasioned a wrong calculation but my desire is that these Colonies may give such assistance that I may be enabled to keep a constant body of five hundred men here including His Maj<sup>ties</sup> three companies three hundred of the number, by which I may Carrison Cenestigaona and the half moon, which will be a cover to all our out farms, and prevent the inroads of seukling parties; be a security to Connecticut and our little towns down the River — I am

Memorial of Mr. Livingston to the Board of Trade.

[New-York, (B. T.) VI., 307.]

The case of Robert Livingston most humbly represented to there Lordships consideration.

May it please Your Lordships.

After the exhibic<sup>o</sup>n of my petic<sup>o</sup>n to His Excell. and Councill y<sup>e</sup> 10th of Septemb. 1696. I did attend a Committee of y<sup>e</sup> Councill, when I produced to them the vouchers mentioned in the said petic<sup>o</sup>n, to which there was no opposition but unto y<sup>e</sup> assignm<sup>ts</sup> of Lief<sup>t</sup> Sharpe, Yetts, and others, which they alleadged I had bought, and for which they had already issued warrants. I acquainted them that I had those assignments for satisfaction for money I lent them to subsist themselves and family in y<sup>e</sup> time of y<sup>e</sup> Revolution here, when they were out of service and could not procure bread of any other person, and they were so senceible of my kindnesse to them, y<sup>t</sup> for my reimbursement they made me y<sup>e</sup> same assignment; which I pressed might be allow'd me; however could have no answer but what is so gen<sup>ll</sup> which I have annexed to a copy of y<sup>e</sup> petic<sup>o</sup>n now sent; but what was objected I have hereunder answer'd.

Object<sup>o</sup> That I cannot have a preference for y<sup>e</sup> money due by y<sup>e</sup> Additionall duty, because it is by a new act, so appropriated y<sup>t</sup> it cannot be changed.

Answer — The first Act was so appropriated y<sup>t</sup> y<sup>e</sup> uses could not be changed without a perversion of y<sup>e</sup> law; and if that had been duly executed, there had been no complaint now, for y<sup>e</sup> law assign'd eight quarterly payments, so there could be stop'd a quarterly payment at a time for y<sup>e</sup> supply of those extraordinary necessities alleadged; but it seems there was never a quarterly payment due; but there always happen'd such an extraordinary necessity, that y<sup>e</sup> money could never be employed to y<sup>e</sup> right use, which is very rare to happen in any governm<sup>t</sup> without design that such extraordinary necessities should happen eight severall times so successively to defeat y<sup>e</sup> uses of a law made for y<sup>e</sup> payment of a warrant from y<sup>e</sup> Right Hon<sup>ble</sup> y<sup>e</sup> Lords of y<sup>e</sup> Treasury of England.

Objections against His Maj<sup>ty</sup> Commission.

That there never was any such office of Secretary or Agent to the Indians, and therefore no sallary allowed, but executed by the Town Clerk, ex officio.

Answer It is true that as I was Town Clerk I did officiate in the station as Secretary to y<sup>e</sup> Indians and have ever been so called by y<sup>e</sup> Indians since y<sup>e</sup> year 1675. as all y<sup>e</sup> town of Albany can witness but the drawing interpreting and translating of y<sup>e</sup> Indian Propositions, as I did, from Dutch into English, was never done by any Town Clerk before; moreover it has been since y<sup>e</sup> warr, forty times more troublesome then in former times, as the returns to y<sup>e</sup> Plantation Office can witness, and is y<sup>e</sup> reason of my addressse unto his Maj<sup>ty</sup> for a sallary for y<sup>e</sup> same, and if considered by my noble Lords, y<sup>e</sup> refusall of his Maj<sup>ty</sup> Commission will only proceed from mallice, for y<sup>e</sup> duty is at all times & seasons. When y<sup>e</sup> Indians come with any intelligence or propositions, it is first taken from y<sup>e</sup> Interpreter & putt into Dutch, and from y<sup>e</sup>

Dutch translated into English, and after y<sup>t</sup> corrected, then writt fair & sent to his Excell: and then registered in a book by itself; and other copies made as His Excell: shall direct; and this done perhaps forty or fifty times in a year, besides y<sup>e</sup> solemn negotiations with them and his Excell. commonly once or twice a year; so all mankinde may judge whether any person can doe that for nothing; besides the attendance and writing, I have been accustomed to runn up and downe, and buy y<sup>e</sup> Indian presents, to keep account of them and putt them in order, w<sup>ch</sup> hath often hindred me from other businesse of great moment. Nor doe they consider at y<sup>e</sup> time of Coll: Fletchers arriveall, when y<sup>e</sup> Province was in greater distresse than now, being considerably in debt, and not haveing such assistance from our neighbouring Collonyes as since his arriveall, that he erected a new Office of Accomptant Generall, and gave to one of his domestieks with y<sup>e</sup> salary of fifty pounds p<sup>r</sup> ann<sup>m</sup> and established another sallary of £50 p<sup>r</sup> Ann<sup>m</sup> on y<sup>e</sup> Clerke of y<sup>e</sup> Council and £100 p<sup>r</sup> Ann<sup>m</sup> on the Attorney Generall, which never were before, but being of his owne establishment, y<sup>e</sup> necessities of y<sup>e</sup> Province could be easily step'd over; but now because of His Mat<sup>tes</sup> Establishment, y<sup>e</sup> necessities of y<sup>e</sup> Province (which are not half so great, provision being made to pay y<sup>e</sup> debts of y<sup>e</sup> government) must be a barr to His Maj<sup>tes</sup> Commission, tho' a worse necessity must be dispensed with to gratify Collonell Fletchers Commission.

It is objected I am a Scotchman, and so by a new Act of Parliament cannot officiate in y<sup>e</sup> Treasury.

Answer It is true I am of Scotland by birth, but born after King James the First came to the Crown of Eng<sup>l</sup>d and as all others of y<sup>t</sup> nation liveing and purchasing lands in England an the Plantations have always been esteemed upon all tryalls where that has been controverted, as native English, now after my liveing in y<sup>e</sup> Province of N. Yorke 22 years with a Commission in the Government and owner of a great many tracts of land and buildings of a considerable value; if after all this I must become an Alien, what must those be that are in the Council and all other places of trust throwout the government, that are of French and Dutch birth and have not that naturalization I have, they at y<sup>e</sup> same time being by y<sup>e</sup> act of Parliament as incapable to be concerned in y<sup>e</sup> Courts and Treasury as I am, and if y<sup>e</sup> interpretation of y<sup>e</sup> law be such y<sup>t</sup> none can officiate in those stations but such as are native English, according to the liberrall construction, then there must be a new Collony of English natives transplanted here to officiate in these Stations.

It is further objected that I have gott all my estate by y<sup>e</sup> Government.

Answer What estate it hath pleased God to blesse me with I have gain'd with great industry and pains, as most of y<sup>e</sup> Province can witness; but if it be by the government, it is by lending and advancing it for y<sup>e</sup> service of the governm<sup>t</sup> without so much as bare interest, and if this be the thanks for my former services, I am very unhappy; When I virtualled in Coll: Dongan's time, I was 23 or 2400 £ advance; when in Coll: Sloughter and Coll. Ingoldesby's time a 1000 £ in advance, and on Colonell Fletchers arriveall when I begann by y<sup>e</sup> delays I mett with in y<sup>e</sup> payment, to be weary of continuing in y<sup>t</sup> station, inquiry was made for others to undertake y<sup>t</sup> service, but could fynde none; then Coll. Fletcher employed M<sup>r</sup> Brooke now in England and others, to treat with me to accept again: then it seems I was not in their esteem so despicable a person y<sup>t</sup> could advance for y<sup>e</sup> subsiting of 300 men besides y<sup>e</sup> souldiers in garrison, at least 14 or 1500 £ and be out of my money a year before it was repaid; and when I left it off, y<sup>e</sup> government could not fynde others to serve them on so easy terms, but was forced to advance money to y<sup>e</sup> Victuallers, and does to this day.

It is also objected that I never received y<sup>e</sup> Quitt Rents nor had authority for y<sup>e</sup> receiving y<sup>e</sup> same.

Memorial of Messrs. Brook and Nicolls to the Lords of Trade.

The agents for New York humbly represent, that having been sent from New York by the Governor, Council and Assembly, to lay before His Maj<sup>ty</sup> the State of the Countrey, and humbly to pray that some further Assistance may be given that Province against the French, they have pursuant to their instructions and Your Lord<sup>sh</sup>s directions proposed several matters as necessary for that purpose, whereupon divers orders upon Your Lord<sup>sh</sup>s representation to His Maj<sup>ty</sup> have been given for the strengthing that Government against the French.

But in as much as no diretions have been as yet given upon the following heads which the said Agents have [humbly] laid before Your Lord<sup>sh</sup>s viz<sup>t</sup>

They desire presents may be sent yearly to the Five nations of Indians.

The Lords of Trade to Governor Fletcher.

[New-York Entries, A. 65.]

To the Hon<sup>ble</sup> Benjamin Fletcher Esquire Capt General and Governor in chief in and over His Maj<sup>ty</sup>s Province of New York and the Territorys depending thereon in America or to the Commander in Chief for the time being.

We herewithall transmitt to you a Duplicate of our former letter which was dated the 25th Sept<sup>r</sup> last and have since then received your severall letters of the 13th of July, 22<sup>d</sup> of August, 17 & 18th of Sept<sup>r</sup> to M<sup>r</sup> Blathwayt, as also two of the 22th of August and one of the 17th of Sept<sup>r</sup> to the Lords of the late Committee, the contents of all which have been duly considered. And the matters that have appeared to us of any importance to the Province of New Yorke, whether mentioned in any of those letters or suggested to us by Memorials from M<sup>r</sup> Brook and M<sup>r</sup> Nicolls Agents for that province here have been laid before His Maj<sup>ty</sup>.

Enlisting of Men to fit up the four companies—

And we are thereupon now to inform you that His Maj<sup>ty</sup> does approve of the method you have taken for keeping up the four companies in that Province by increasing the pay of the Soldiers four pence a day, and the allowing of three pound p<sup>r</sup> head upon the inlisting of new ones for which you say the Assembly of that Province have provided a fund until May next. And His Maj<sup>ty</sup> has thereupon directed us to require You to use your best endeavours for the continuance of the same methods until recruits can be sent from hence, or till His Maj<sup>ty</sup> shall otherwise declare his pleasure thereupon.

Deserters and Fugitives.

To remedy the desertions that you complain of as occasioned by the reception given to deserters and fugitives in the neighbouring Provinces His Maj<sup>ty</sup> has been pleased to order us, to write to his several Governors in all his Colonies and provinces in America, that they take care in each of their respective Govern<sup>ts</sup> that effectual laws be made against receiving and harbouring not only of deserters but also of such fugitives as leave any of his Plantations contrary to the laws provided for that purpose in each Plantation respectively, which order we have already communicated to some, and are continuing to do it to others as opportunity offers— And you are therefore likewise in the same manner required to observe it.

Pirats.—

And whereas further complaints have been made to His Maj<sup>ty</sup> from other Colonies and especially from Jamaica, that the great temptation to Piracy by the entertainment given to Pirats in several places has been another means of seducing their inhabitants from them. And His Maj<sup>ty</sup> being highly sencible how much such practices tend to the dishonour of the English name and nation, has thereupon ordered us strictly to require the respective Governors of all His Plantations to take due care for the future that no Pirats or sea Robbers be anywhere sheltered or entertained under the severest penalties. Wee are obliged in giving you this notice to recommend it so much the more particularly to your care, by reason that in the Informations lately given upon occasion of the Tryall of several of Every's crew, your Govern<sup>t</sup> is named as a place of protection for such like villains, and your favour in particular to Capt<sup>n</sup> Tue given as an instance of it.

Caleb Heathcote to be of the Council. Upon Your desire that M<sup>r</sup> Caleb Heathcote be confirmed one of the Council in that Province His Maj<sup>ty</sup> has accordingly been pleased to order it. But we are thereupon to inform you that nobody appearing in M<sup>r</sup> Heathcote's behalf to take out the Warrant, it has lain for some while and lies yet without effect. The reason of this has been told to us to be, because he is about removing from thence; but however we desire you upon upon this occasion to take care for the future, that whoever you recommend upon the like occasion may appoint somebody here to look after the dispatch of what is desired for them—

Engineer Upon your desire for four hundred light Fuzees to be disposed of amongst the Indians and a more particular memorial about an Engenier Stores ettc, by the forementioned agents of New York, His Maj<sup>ty</sup> has been pleased to order that an Engenier be accordingly sent thither together with the forementioned Fuzees and a supply of stores according to the following list:

Viz <sup>t</sup> —	Cannon Powder .....	60 Barrels
	Fine Powder .....	40. Barrels
	Match .....	100 weight
	Showells and Spades.....	8 dozen.
	Hand baskets .....	100.
	Stock locks large .....	4. dozen
	Spring locks d <sup>o</sup> .....	4. dozen.
	a Bell for the use of the Fort : 30 inch: diameter
	Muskett locks for spare Barrells .....	50.
	Hooks and Fringes larg and small.....	8 dozen.
	Starch for making up Cartridges.....	50. pounds.
	White lead. Red d <sup>o</sup> with others Colours .....	100 weight
	Falcon Shott .....	200 d <sup>o</sup>
	White marlin.....	50 pounds
	Cartridge boxes for demy Cannon.....	2 dozen
	Lanterns ordinary.....	1. d <sup>o</sup>
	Lamb black .....	12. barrels

Two hundred shells for Mortars and six Union Flags which we doubt not but the agents will accordingly take care to see shipt—

Accounts of stores
required. But upon this subject of Stores as wee thus inform you of His Maj<sup>ty</sup>'s care for your supply, so we are also to direct you to send us frequent and particular accounts of the consumption and remains of the Stores that are sent to you which may be a guide in any deliberation here about the further quantities, that may from time to time be needfull, which we shall expect to see punctually observed.—

Richmond Frigate. We heaving also laid before His Maj<sup>ty</sup> what you write about the great charge and little use of the Richmond Frigate, for the defence of that and the neighbouring provinces, His Maj<sup>ty</sup> has thereupon been pleased to order that the said Frigate be recalled, and that another light and quick sailer be sent in her place, which to continue there during all the summer,

Regulation of cruising under your direction for the service and guard of that and the neighbouring

Provinces, and towards the beginning of Winter to saile as a convoy with any ships bound from those provinces to Barbados, the Leeward Islands or Jamaica, and there to stay for the defence of any of those Islands, and the Trade thereof till the Merchant Ships shall return from thence to England in the spring, when she also is to return with them as an additional strength to their convoy, and in order to supply her place in New York that another man of war of like force be annually sent from hence thither, to be there against the end of each winter, and to be employed in like manner in the above mentioned services. This is the method that has appeared to us most usefull and most practicable, for the service of all those Colonies, but if there be anything in it unsuitable thereunto, and particularly to the season of your ships carrying provisions to the Southern Plantations, we desire you to inform us thereof that a Reformation may be made therein accordingly —

Complaints agst the Capt of the Richm<sup>d</sup>
Frigat.

Several other complaints having also been made to us, that the Capt<sup>n</sup> of the Richm<sup>d</sup> Frigat had kept a Brewhouse and Bakehouse for the service not only of his own ship, but of Merchant men, and that he did not keep up the complement of his seamen compleat. We are thereupon to desire you to have an eye upon the conduct of the companies of His Maj<sup>ty</sup>s ships in that province, in order to the prevention of all such irregularities for the future.

Commanders of His
Maj<sup>ty</sup>s ships to be under the direction of Governours

And to enable you the better to do this and Generally to inspect His Maj<sup>ty</sup>s Naval Service in that Province, we shall next acquaint you that it is His Maj<sup>ty</sup>s pleasure which he has accordingly directed to be observed that all the Commanders of His ships of war that are sent to any of his Plantations for the defence and service thereof, be under the direction of the Governours of each of those respective Plantations, during their continuance there. And further that when any Capt<sup>n</sup> or Commander of any His ships in any of His said plantations shall have occasion for seamen to serve on board the ships under their Command, they do make their application to the Governours or Commanders in chief of His Maj<sup>ty</sup>s Plantations respectively to whom as vice Admiralls, His Maj<sup>ty</sup> is pleased to commit the sole power of impressing seamen in any of His Plantations in America or in sight of any of them, such Governours or Commanders in chief being at the same time required upon such application to take care that His Maj<sup>ty</sup>s said ships of war be furnished with the number of seamen that may be necessary for His Maj<sup>ty</sup>s service on board the said ships from time to time.

Expedition of the French against the Indians.

Your diligence in repairing to Albany upon advice of Mons<sup>r</sup> Frontenac's late expedition, his speedy retreat upon your approach and the care you were taking thereupon for the relief of your neighbour Indians and for confirming them in our friendships are all things that we observe with satisfaction. And whereas you thereupon renew your complaints of the backwardness of several of your neighbour Colonies in supplying their

Quota

Quota appointed by Her late Maj<sup>ty</sup> for the defence of those frontiers we have writt to some and as occasion offers shall write to every one of these, the most effectually we are able, that they be more observant of a regulation so absolutely necessary to their common safety.

Conduct towards
Indians

Upon the information that has been given us of the great advantage that the French draw from the Methods they practice of insinuating into the friendship and familiarity of the Indians, and especially by their sending some of them over into France, from time to time in order to strike their mindes, with an idea of the French strength, we can not but mind you as much as in you lies, to do the same thing by endeavouring if possible to accustom some of your neighbour Indians to our manners and sending some hardy youths amongst them, to be inured to their fatigues and learn their language, and especially by all the engaging arts you conceive most proper to persuade some of them to consent to be transported hither, with assurance of their being well used in their passage both, forwards and backwards and very kindly entertained, whilst here, that they may be thereby filled with an advantagious opinion of His Maj<sup>ty</sup>'s greatness and power.

Publick Papers

Associations
defective.

Besides your letters that we have mentioned in the beginning of this we have received also the publick papers therein specified, amongst which are several Associations, but all of them (except one signed by a few civil Officers in Albany County) defective in a very essential expression, which is not well; however since then the agents of that province having shewn us another in due form signed by yourself and the military Officers, we shall say no more of the first omission. Amongst these papers we find also upon examination a copy of those laws under the seal of your province, of which we mentioned in our last letter another copy without a seale, and they with many of longer date, that we received from the late Committee are now all under consideration, together also with the complaints of the three Lieut<sup>ts</sup> and the case of M<sup>r</sup> Levinston, upon all or any of which when any determination is made you shall be informed of it.

Order in Council about the two Mohawk Indians brought to London.

[New-York Entries, A. 88. ]

At the Court at Kensington the 25th of Febr<sup>y</sup> 1696.

His Majesty being informed that two of the four Indians (of the Five nations dependances of New York and under His Maj<sup>ty</sup>'s protection) that were made prisoners at the surrender of York Fort in Hudsons Bay to Capt<sup>o</sup> Allen, are brought up to this town, was thereupon pleased this day to order in Council, that the said Indians be put into the care of M<sup>r</sup> William Nicoll and M<sup>r</sup> Chidleigh Brooke agents of the Colony of New Yorke who are not to permitt Mons<sup>r</sup> De la Forest late Gov<sup>r</sup> of the said Fort or any other person to speak with them without leave from M<sup>r</sup> Secretary Trumbull, and the said agents are to see that the Indians together with their interpreter be well accommodated and treated during their stay here, and when they return to that Colony to take them into their company, and to see them provided with all necessaries for their passage, and it is further ordered by His Majesty, that the Commissioners for sick and wounded Men and prisoners of war, do forthwith furnish the said Agents with such allowances, as the Council of trade shall judge fitt to direct for the services aforesaid; which sum or sums are to be allowed the said Commissioners upon their accompt.

JOHN NICHOLAS.

Report of the Board of Trade on the Union of New-York with other Colonies.

[New-England B. T. Entries, A. 134.]

TO THE KING'S MOST EXCELLENT MAJESTY

May it please your Majesty

In obedience to your Majesty's Order in Council dated the 10th of December last, we having taken into consideration the Representation of your Majesty's Lieutenant Governor, Council and Assembly of the Massachusetts Bay in New England thereunto annexed, humbly praying that your Majesty's severall governments within those territories may be jointly concerned in the prosecution of the war and supporting the charge thereof; and having at the same time received severall memorialls from the Agents of that Province here, and from other persons concerned both in that and the neighbouring colonies relating to an Union proposed to be made amongst them for common defence; We humbly beg leave to lay before Your Majesty the state of what has been offered to us upon that subject.

The importance and advantages of an Union for mutual defence and common security are by all sides agreed on; but the objections against the methods proposed for putting it in execution are various, according to the different interests of those by whom they are made.

The proposition chiefly insisted on in the forementioned Memorialls is that the person whom Your Majesty shall be pleased to send Governour of the Massachusetts Colony may also be the Civil Governour of New York and New Hampshire and Generall of all the Forces of the Massachusetts New York and New Hampshire Connecticut, Rhode Island and the Jerseys.

Connecticut Agent against the Union. But to this the agent of Connecticut here (in the name of the Governour and Company of that Colony) has objected, that the imposing even a Military Governour over them, with power to demand men ammunition and provisions, and to lead and carry their men at the pleasure of the said General, out of the said Colony, without consent and advice of the said Governour and Company, will be hard on the inhabitants, and (as they conceive) contrary to their charter.

Proprietor of New Hampshire against ye Union. The proprietor of New Hampshire (who by your Majesties appointment is the present Governour thereof) has also objected to us his reasons against the subjecting of that Province to the Government of the Massachusetts; as tending to increase a charge upon the inhabitants there, without any addition to their security, and without any appearance (as he argues) of assurance to Your Majesty that the government of the said Province will be better administered by strangers than by the said Proprietor and the inhabitants themselves.

New York Agents against ye Union. The Agents of New York have more particularly than others opposed the Union of that Province and the Massachusetts under one Civill Governour by these following considerations:—The nearest limits of those Provinces (say they) are two hundred miles distant from one another, Connecticut and Rhode Island lye between them, New York being the less both in bounds and strength & being most exposed to the enemy, is incapable of giving any assistance to the Massachusets in time of danger, the towns of New York & Boston having been always rivalls in trade, this Union would (in that respect) be very prejudicial to the former. The residence of the Governour of New Yorke at Boston would oblige the inhabitants of New Yorke to reparae thither, upon many occasions relating to the Civill Administration, and be very grievous and burdensome to them. The Sallary of the Governour of New York being paid out of certain funds raised by the General Assembly of that Province for a limited time, and expended by him amongst them, it would seem a hardship to them if that money should be issued out of the Province for the support of the Governour residing at Boston.

The Massachusetts Agents answer to the foregoing objections.

To which the forementioned Agents of the Massachusets have answered:—that the distance between the territories of New Yorke and the Massachusets is much less than the Agents of New York have represented it, and that the inconveniencies by them said to be consequential of the residence of a Governour at Boston, may be avoided by his removal sometimes (as occasion shall require) to New Yorke, and at other times by having constantly a Deputy there. But what they finally pray is, that the advantage of a Military Head or Captain Generall being agreed to, Your Majesty would therefore be pleased to appoint one accordingly, and the support of such a Captain Generall requiring necessarily a much greater expence than any other particular Governour, they submit their proposition of uniting the Governments of the Massachusets, New York and New Hampshire (in order to the better defraying of that charge) unto Your Majesty's Royall pleasure.

Opinion. This being the state of that matter as it hath been sett forth to us the fore-mentioned Memorials; and we having also humbly laid before their Excellencies the late Lords Justices (by our Representation dated the 30th of September last<sup>1</sup>) our opinion that it is hardly possible Your Majesty's Colonies on the Northerne Continent of America, can be preserved, unlesse Your Majesty shall be pleased to constitute during this war, some active vigilant and able man to be Captain Generall of all Your Majesty's forces and of all the Militias of those Colonies; which opinion we then grounded upon a report of your Majesty's Attorney and Solicitor Generall dated the 2<sup>d</sup> of April 1694 declaring it Your Majesty's right to constitute a Chief Commander with such authority, especially during the war; and further also we having more particularly proposed to Your Majesty (by our Representation dated the 25th November last) that the Governour whom your Majesty shall please to constitute over the Province of the Massachusets Bay may likewise have the superior command throughout all New England for the security and defence thereof during the war: We now humbly crave leave to add that the distinct Proprieties, Charters, and different forms of Government in severall of those neighbouring Colonies, make all other Union, except under such a Military Head (in our opinion) at present impracticable, and that what hath yet been done towards such a Military Union for Common defence (by the appointment of a Quota in the year 1694) hath been so little complied with, that it requires the exertion of a more vigorous power than hath hitherto been practised, to make it produce the desired effect.

But upon the whole, it being evident that notwithstanding the different constitutions of the

Governments of the Massachusetts, New Hampshire and New York, yet Your Majesty hath the right of appointing Governours in all those places, and also (according to the forementioned opinion of Your Majesty's Attorney and Sollicitor Generall) the right of constituting a Military Head both over them and all other Your Majesty's Provinces, Colonies and Plantations in America during the time of war: We are humbly of opinion that Your Majesty be graciously pleased to constitute a fit person to be Governor over the Provinces of New York, Massachusetts Bay and New Hampshire, and that the same person be also Captaine Generall of all Your Majesty's forces both there and in Connecticut, Rhode Island and the Jerseys, and that the cheif residence of such Governor or Captaine Generall during the war be appointed to be at New York, that the Province being most in danger to be attacked by the enemy, and the inhabitants not one fourth part of the number that are in Massachusetts, and also, because the sallary of £600. now paid to that Governor arises (or has been alledged) out of subsidies granted by the Assembly there. But nevertheless that the said Governor or Captaine Generall may have liberty to remove from thence to Boston and back againe from time to time, leaving Lieutenants in either place respectively as occasion shall require

And in the last place we are also humbly of opinion that the General Assemblies of all those neighbouring Colonies by the prudent conduct of such a Captaine Generall may be made to understand their own true interest and thereby induced to enact such laws in their respective governments as shall be necessary to enable the said Captaine Generall to execute Your Majesty's Commissions, so as shall be most for your Majesty's service, their own defence and generall advantage

All which nevertheless is most humbly submitted

To the KING'S MOST EXCELLENT MAJESTY

May it please Your Majesty.

Having in obedience to Your Majesty's commands, humbly laid before Your Majesty draughts of the severall commissions for the Earl of Bellomont for the Government of Your Majesty's Provinces of New York, the Massachusetts Bay, and New Hampshire; we humbly beg leave to lay before Your Majesty the draughts of the severall instructions, which we have likewise prepared for the said Earl relating to the foresaid governments; and further to represent to Your Majesty that in the draughts of these instructions for New York and the Massachusetts Bay having left the respective sallaries for the Governour and Lieu' Governor of those Provinces, in blank, to be filled up as Your Majesty shall please to direct, we have hereunto annexed the state of what we finde has been allowed unto other Governours and Lieutenant Governours and more particularly to Sr Edmond Andros whilst he was Governour and Commander in Chief over the same Provinces

All which we most humbly submit to

State of the Sallaries of His Majesty's Governours & Lieutenant Governours in the Provinces of New England and New Yorke.

In the yeare 1656 Sr Edmund Andros being then constituted Governour of all New England (in which New Hampshire is included) but not of New York, had £1200 sterling appointed him for his sallary for one yeare, payable here, untill the revenue there should be settled.

In the yeare 1657 the Charter of New England having been surrendered to the Crowne and the settled Revenue there being continued by order from England, Sr Edmund Andros was paid the foresaid sallary of £1200 sterling, there, out of that revenue.

In the yeare 1658 the government of New Yorke being united to that of New England and the said Sr Edmund Andros being constituted Governour of both those Provinces, there was added to his sallary £200 sterling more, out of the £600 allowed out of the revenue of New Yorke for the support of their Governours; and the remaining £400 of the New York allowance was appointed to be paid to the Lieutenant Governour.

After that, upon His Majestys accession to the Crowne, (the two governments being divided) the Governours of New York have had their former sallary of £600 sterling p<sup>r</sup> Annum, allotted them out of the revenue of that Province. The Revenue of the Massachusetts Bay (by the New Charter given them by His Majesty) is disposable by the Assembly there; and the revenue of New Hampshire is inconsiderable.

It is to be further observed that whilst the government of New England and New York were united under the same constitution, by the surrender of the severall Charters of New England there was only occasion for one Lieutenant Governour of the whole; but the governments of the Massachusetts Bay, New Hampshire and New York continuing now separate and divided in their constitution (tho' under the same Governour) it will be requisite that there be three distinct Lieutenant Governours; so that a salary will be likewise wanting for the Lieutenant Governours of the Massachusetts Bay, and New Hampshire, which is humbly conceived ought to be paid by the respective Colonies; those Lieutenant Governours never having been of any charge to the Crowne.

Report of the Lords of Trade against the Act declaratory of the Rights, &c., of the People of New-York.

[New-York Entries, A. 125-129.]

Fourthly and lastly, one Entitled, an Act declaring what are the rights and Priviledges of their Majesties subjects inhabiting within their Province of New York<sup>1</sup> which doth in our humble opinion give unto the representatives of that province, too great and unreasonablen priviledges during the sitting of the Assembly; and to all inhabitants (except Inholders) such an exemption from the quartering of soldiers as we conceive may be inconvenient to His Maj<sup>ty</sup>'s service there, and contains also several large and doubtful expressions. For which reasons we are humbly of opinion that the said act be repealed, and that instead thereof (for satisfying the mindes of the inhabitants of that province) the effect of a Charter granted by His late Majesty King Charles the Second to the Colony of Virginia, according to the annexed copy, may be proposed to the General Assembly there, to be by them enacted and then transmitted hither for His Majesty's Royal approbation.

Heads of a Charter granted by King Charles the 2nd to Virginia annexed to the foregoing Representations.

HEADS of Charter granted by His late Majesty King Charles the Second to the Colony of Virginia which are proposed to be enacted (mutatis mutandis) in the Province of New York.

That all the Inhabitants of the Province of New York in America shall have their immediate dependance upon the Crown of England under the rule and Govern<sup>t</sup> of such Governor or Governours as His Maj<sup>ty</sup> his heirs or successors shall from time to time appoint in that behalf, and upon no other person or persons whatsoever—And further that the Governor for the time being shall be resident in that Country except His Maj<sup>ty</sup> his heirs or successors shall at any time command his attendance in England or elsewhere, in which case a Lieut<sup>t</sup> Gov<sup>t</sup> shall be appointed by His Maj<sup>ty</sup> his heirs or successors, to continue there during the absence of such Governour.

That all lands now possest by the severall and respective Planters or Inhabitants of the said province of New York are and shall be confirmed and established to them and their heirs for ever; where the property of any particular man's interest in any lands there shall not be altered or prejudiced by reasons thereof.

That all lands possess by any subject inhabiting in the said province of New York which is escheated or shall escheat unto His Majesty his heirs or successors shall and may be enjoyed by such inhabitant or Possessor, his heirs or Assignes for ever paying composition for every acre.

That the Governor and Council of the said Province of New York for the time being, and in the absence of the Governor the Lieut<sup>t</sup> Gov<sup>t</sup> and Council or any five or more of them whereof the Governor or Lieut<sup>t</sup> Governor (if there) to be always one and in case of absence or death of such Governor or Lieut<sup>t</sup> Gov<sup>t</sup> the Council of the said province for the time being, the first in nomination, in which Council is in that case to preside, shall and hereby have full power and authority to hear and determine all Treasons, Murders, Felonies and other offences committed or done within the said Govern<sup>t</sup> so as they proceed therein as near as may be to the Laws and statutes of His Majesty's Kingdome of England.

And lastly, for the more entire satisfaction and security of the subjects of His Maj<sup>ty</sup> his heirs and successors which now do or hereafter shall inhabit in the said Province of New York, and to give the more liberal and ample encouragement to Plantations there, that all and every clause, article, and sentence herein contained shall be from time to time for ever hereafter as often as any ambiguity doubt or question shall or may happen to arise thereupon, expounded, construed, deem'd and taken to be by his Maj<sup>ty</sup> meant and intended, and shall enure and take effect in the most beneficial and available sence to all intents and purposes for the profit and advantage of the subjects of His Maj<sup>ty</sup> his heirs and successors of the said province of New York aforesaid, as well against His Maj<sup>ty</sup> his heirs and successors as against all and every other person or persons whatsoever any Law, Statute, Custome or usage to the contrary thereof in any wise notwithstanding.

Memorial of the Earl of Bellomont to, and Answer of, the Lords of Trade.

[New-York Entries, A. 146-149.]

To the Right Hon<sup>ble</sup> the Lords Commissioners of the Council of Trade and Plantations

The memorial of Richard Earl of Bellomont.

The said Earl thinking it his duty to lay before Your Lordships the necessity of sending two hundred recruits to compleat the four companies that are in His Maj<sup>ty</sup>'s pay in the Province of New York which is the only standing force, his Maj<sup>ty</sup> has on the Continent of America to which end, and for avoiding the inconvenience of parting with such a number of Men out of His Maj<sup>ty</sup>'s army here, the said Earl humbly proposes that he may have leave to raise two hundred men here in England for the above said service and whereas the raising and marching those recruits to the Port where they are to be shipt will necessarily occasion an immediate expence, the said Earl craves leave to inform Your Lordships, that there is a considerable sum of money, now ready to be paid out of the Paymaster General's Office for the subsistence of His Maj<sup>ty</sup>'s forces in New York, which by all accounts from that Province are reduced to less than half the number of the establishment, and whether part of that money may not be applied to that service, the said Earl submits to Your Lordships consideration.

The said Earl being informed that a quantity of Fire arms was lately sent over to the present Gov<sup>t</sup> of New York to distribute by way of present to the Five nations of the Indians in amity with us, for which reason the said Earl is advised that if the present now intended, were made up partly of arms and partly of Powder and bullets, it would be more acceptable to the said Indians. Therefore the said Earl humbly proposes that Your Lord<sup>sh</sup> will please to represent to their Excellencies the Lords Justices in Council, that the R<sup>t</sup> Hon<sup>ble</sup> the Earl of Romney master General of His Maj<sup>ties</sup> ordnance be impowered to use his discretion in proportioning the said present to the intended value of two hundred pounds.

All which is humbly submitted to your Lordships —

10 June 1697.

To the Right Honorable the Earl of Bellomont.

My Lord.

Letter to the Earl of Bellomont upon his foregoing Memorial. The Lords Commissioners of the Council of Trade upon the perusal of Your Lord<sup>sh</sup>'s memorial which I laid before them this morning have commanded me to acquaint Your Lordship with the state of those matters before them as they stand at present.

Four Companies. Coll: Fletcher has been directed by His Maj<sup>ty</sup>'s order to use his endeavours to keep up the four companies in the province of New York by the continuance of a fund which the Assembly of that province granted for that purpose.

Complaints agst the officers. Several complaints against the officers of those forces referred first to the Examination of this Board have not been so clearly made out as was pretended, and upon a representation made by their Lord<sup>sh</sup> to His Maj<sup>ty</sup> of the bare matters of fact, that appeared to them on both sides, those matters stand now referred by his Maj<sup>ty</sup> to the Duke of Schonbergh and other the Generall Officers sitting at the Horse Guards.

Subsistence for the four companies. Their Lordships did some while ago represent to His Maj<sup>ty</sup> the necessity that the subsistence for those four companies should be punctually paid, and very lately upon a Memorial of your Lordship's, they have represented more particularly to their excellencies the Lords Justices, the expediency that the arrears of off-recknings and subsistence which may be due to those Forces should be paid them upon the arrival of Your Lord<sup>sh</sup> in that Province.

Stores— Together with the arms which Your Lord<sup>sh</sup> mentions to have been lately sent thither, there was also sent a proportion of Powder and other warlike stores.

So that upon all these heads the Lords Commissioners of the Council of Trade do not well see what more remains proper for them to do in consistency with what has been already done, and they therefore refer the whole to Your Lordship's consideration — I am — etc.

Commission for the Earl of Bellomont.

Direction of the Commission—

WILLIAM the third by the Grace of God King of England Scotland France and Ireland defender of the faith etc. To our Right trusty and Right welbelovéd Cousin Richard Earl of Bellomont, GREETING. We reposing especial trust and confidence in the prudence courage and loyalty of you the said Richard Earl of Bellomont, out of our especial Grace certain knowledge and meer motion, have thought fit to constitute and appoint, and we do by these presents constitute and appoint you the said Earl of Bellomont to be our Capt<sup>l</sup> General and Gov<sup>r</sup> in chief in, and over our province of New York and the territories depending thereon in America.

To act according to his commission and instructions etc.

And we do hereby require and comand you to do and execute all things in due manner that shall belong unto your said command, and the trust we have reposed in you according to the several powers and directions granted or appointed you by this present Commission, and the Instructions herewith given you, or by such further powers, Instructions and Authorities as shall at any time hereafter be granted or appointed you under our signet or sign manual, or by our order in our privy council, and according to such reasonable laws and

Statutes, as now are in force, or hereafter shall be made and agreed upon by you with the advice and consent of the Council, and Assembly of our said province under your Govern<sup>t</sup> in such manner and forme as is hereafter expressed.

After having taken the oaths etc: to administer the same to the members of the Council.

And we do hereby give and grant full power unto you the said Richard Earl of Bellomont after you shall first have taken an oath for the due execution of the Office and trust of our Capt<sup>a</sup> General and Gov<sup>r</sup> in Chief in and over our said province of New York and the territories depending thereon which our said Council or any five of them have hereby full power and authority, and are required to administer unto you, to give and administer to each of the members of our said Council, as well the oaths appointed by act of Parlm<sup>t</sup> to be taken instead of the oaths of Allegiance, and supremacy, as the Test and the oath for the due execution of their places and trusts and likewise to require them to subscribe the late association mentioned in an act of Parliament made in the 7th and 8th years of our Reign, entituled: An act for the better security of His Maj<sup>ty</sup>'s Royal person and Government.

To suspend any of the Council if there be just cause

And we do hereby give and grant unto you full power and authority, to suspend any of the members of our said Council, from sitting, voting and assisting therein, if you shall find just cause for so doing.

Three to be a Quorum.

And if it shall at any time happen that by the death, departure out of our said province, or suspension of any of our Councillors, there shall be a vacancy in our said Council (any three whereof we do hereby appoint to be a quorum) Our will and Pleasure

To give an account of all vacancies in Council, that His Majesty may appoint others—

If there be less than seven residing in the Province, he may chuse as many as will make up that number and no more and they to be re- poid Councillors till approv'd or others nominated by His Majesty.

is: that you signify the same unto us, by the first opportunity, that we may under our signet and sign manual, constitute and appoint others in their stead. But that our affairs at that distance, may not suffer for want of a due number of Councillors, if ever it shall happen that there be less then seven of them residing in our said province, we do hereby give and grant unto you full power and authority to choose as many persons out of the principal freeholders inhabitants thereof as will make up the full number of our said Council, to be seven and no more, which persons by virtue of such choice shall be to all intents & purposes Councillors in our said province, until they shall be confirmed by us, or that by the nomination of others by us under our sign manual and signet, the said Council shall have seven persons in it.

With the advice of the Council to call Assemblies.

We do hereby give and grant unto you full power and authority, with the advice and consent of our said Council from time to time as need shall require, to summon and call General Assemblies of the Inhabitants being freeholders within your Govern<sup>t</sup> according to the usage of our Colony of N. York.

The members of the Assembly to take the oaths etc or else not to be capable of sitting tho' elected

And our will and pleasure is that the persons thereupon duly elected by the major part of the Freeholders of the respective Counties and places, and so returned, and having before their sitting, taken the oaths appointed by act of Parlm<sup>t</sup> to be taken instead of the oaths of Allegiance and supremacy and subscribed the Test and the Association aforesaid (which oaths you shall Comissionate fit persons under our seal of New York to administer and without taking the said oaths and subscribing the said Test and Association none shall be capable of sitting tho' elected) shall be called and held the general Assembly of that our province and territories depending thereon.

With the consent of the Council and Assembly to constitute Laws etc.

And that you the said Earl of Bellomont by and with the consent of our said Council and Assembly, or the Major part of them respectively, shall have full power and authority to make constitute and ordain laws, statutes and ordinances for the public peace, welfare and good Govern<sup>t</sup> of our said province and of the people and inhabitants thereof, and such others as shall resort thereto, and for the benefit of us our heirs and successors.

Which are to be agreeable to the laws of England.

Which said laws, Statutes and ordinances are to be (as near as may be) agreeable to the laws and Statutes of this our Kingdome of England.

And to be transmitted within three months after the making thereof for H. Majty's approbation or disallowance.

Provided that all such laws, statutes and ordinances of what nature or duration soever, be within three months or sooner after the making thereof transmitted unto us under our seal of New York for our approbation or disallowance of the same, as also duplicats thereof by the next conveyance.

And if any of them (not before confirm'd) be disallowed by His Majty they shall be void and of none effect.

And in case any or all of them, being not before confirm'd by us shall at any time be disallowed and not approv'd and so signified by us our heirs and successors under our or their sign manual and signet, or by order of our or their privy Council unto you the said Earl of Bellomont or to the Commander in Chief of our said province for the time being then such and so many of them as shall be so disallowed and not approved, shall from thenceforth cease determine and become utterly void and of none effect, any thing to the Contrary thereof notwithstanding.

To have a negative voice in passing all laws.

And to the end nothing may be passed or done by our said Council or Assembly to the prejudice of us, our heirs, and successors, we will and ordain that you, the said Earl of Bellomont, shall have and enjoy, a negative voice, in the making and passing of all laws, statutes, and ordinances as aforesaid.

To adjourn prorogue or dissolve the Assembly.

And that you shall and may likewise from time to time as you shall judge it necessary, adjourn, Prorogue and dissolve all general Assemblies as aforesaid.

To use the publick seal.

Our will and pleasure is, that you shall and may keep and use the publick seal appointed or to be appointed by us for our province of New York.

And to administer the oaths to all persons passing through or abiding in the Province as he shall thinke fit—

We do further give and grant unto you the said Earl of Bellomont full power and authority from time to time, and at any time hereafter by yourself or by any other to be authorized by you in that behalf, to administer and give the oaths appointed by act of Parliament to be taken instead of the oaths of allegiance and supremacy, to all and to every such person or persons as you shall think fit, who shall at any time or times pass into our said province or shall be resident or abiding there.

To establish courts of Judicature etc.

And we do by these presents give and grant unto you, full power and authority with the advice and consent of our said Council, to erect, constitute and establish, such and so many courts of judicature and publick justice, within our said province, and the territories under your Govern<sup>t</sup> as you and they shall think fit and necessary, for the hearing and determining of all causes as well criminal as civil according to law and equity, and for awarding of executions thereupon, with all reasonable and necessary powers, authorities, fees and privileges belonging unto them as also to appoint and commissionate fit persons in the several parts of your Govern<sup>t</sup> to administer the oaths appointed by act of Parliam<sup>t</sup> to be taken instead of the oaths of allegiance & supremacy and the test, unto such as shall be obliged to take the same.

To commissionate fit persons to administer the oaths.

To constitute Judges, Justices etc, and to administer the oaths to them—

And we do hereby authorize and empower you to constitute and appoint Judges, Justices of the peace and other necessary officers and Ministers in our said province, for the better administration of Justice and putting the laws in execution and to administer or cause to be administered, such oath or oaths as are usually given for the due execution and performance of offices and places and for the clearing of truth in judicial causes.

Appeal from the Courts to be made to him provided the value exceed 100*l*.

We do further by these presents will and require, that appeals be permitted to be made in cases of Error from our Courts in New York, unto you our Govern<sup>r</sup> and to our Council & in your absence from our said province to our Lieut<sup>t</sup> Gov<sup>r</sup> and our said Council in civil causes. Provided the value appeal'd for do exceed the sum of one hundred pounds sterling, and that security be first given, by the appellant, to answer such charges as shall be awarded in case the first sentence shall be affirm'd.

Appeals to be permitted to be made to His Majesty provided the value exceed 300*l*. etc.

And whereas we do judge it necessary, that all our subjects may have liberty to appeal to our Royal person in cases that may deserve the same, Our will and pleasure is, that if either party<sup>1</sup> shall not rest satisfied with the judgment or sentence of our Gov<sup>r</sup> or Lieut<sup>t</sup> Gov<sup>r</sup> and Council as aforesaid, they may then appeal unto us in our privi Council, Provided the matter in difference exceed the true value and sum of three hundred pounds sterling, and that such appeal be made within fourteen days after sentence and security be likewise duly given by the appellant to answer such charges as shall be awarded in case the sentence of the Gov<sup>r</sup> & Council be confirm'd. And provided also that the execution be not suspended by reason of any such appeal unto us.

To pardon all offences treason and murder excepted, in which cases power to reprieve till His Majesty's pleasure be known.

And we do hereby give and grant unto you full power and authority where you shall judge any offenders in criminal matters or for any fines or forfeitures fit objects of our mercy, to pardon and remit such offender's fines and forfeitures before or after sentence given. Treason and willful murder only excepted, in which cases you shall likewise have power upon extraordinary occasions to grant reprieves to the Offenders, until our Royal pleasure may be known therein.

Power to collate persons to Ecclesiastical benefices.

We do by these presents authorize and empower you to collate any person or persons in any Churches, Chappels or other Ecclesiastical benefices within our said province and territories aforesaid, as often as any of them shall happen to be void.

Power to levy & arm the Inhabitants.

We do hereby give and grant unto you the said Earl of Bellomont, by yourself, your Capt<sup>ns</sup> and Commanders by you to be authorized, full power and authority, to Levy, arm, muster, command and employ, all persons whatsoever within our said province of New York, and other the territories under your Gov<sup>nt</sup> and as occasion shall serve them to transfer from one place to another, for the resisting and withstanding of all Enemies, Pirats and Rebels both at sea and at Land, and to transport such forces to any of our plantations in America, as occasion shall require for the defence of the same against the invasion or attempts of any of our Enemies.

To pursue the Enemy.

And them if occasion shall require to prosecute in or out of the Limits of our said province or Plantations or any of them.

And them to put to death if taken or keep alive at his discretion.

And if it shall please God them to vanquish, apprehend and take, and being taken either, according to law of arms, to put to death or keep and preserve alive at your discretion.

To execute martial law in time of invasion.

And [to] execute martial law in time of invasion, during the continuance of the same as also upon soldiers in pay; and to do and execute all and every other thing or things which to a Capt<sup>e</sup> General doth or ought of right to belong, as fully and amply as any our Capt<sup>ns</sup> General doth or hath usually done

To build Forts Castles, Townes etc.

And we do hereby give and grant unto you full power and authority, to erect, raise and build in our said province and territories depending thereon, such and so many Forts and platforms, Castles, Cities, Bourroughs, Townes and fortifications as you by the advice aforesaid shall judge necessary. And the same or any of them to fortify and furnish with ordnance, amunition and all sorts of arms fit and necessary for the security and defence of our said province.

And them to fortify etc.

To erect a Court Admiral.

And we do hereby give and grant unto you the said Earl of Bellomont, full power and authority to erect one or more Court or Courts Admiral within our said province and territorys for the hearing and determining of all marine and other causes and matters proper therein to be heard, will all reasonable and necessary powers, authorities fees and privileges.

To exercise the powers belonging to the office of vice Admiral.

As also to exercise all powers belonging to the place and office of vice Admiral of and in all the seas and coasts within your Govern<sup>t</sup> according to such Commission, Authorities and instructions as you shall receive from ourself, under the seal of our Admiralty or from our high Admiral or Commissioners for executing the office of high Admiral of our foreign plantations for the time being.

To appoint Commanders of ships.

And for as much as divers mutiues and disorders do happen by persons shipt and employed at sea, to the end therefore that such persons may be the better governed and ordered, We do hereby give and grant unto you the said Earl of Bellomont our Capt<sup>n</sup> General and Gov<sup>r</sup> in chief, full power and authority to constitute and appoint Capt<sup>ns</sup> Masters of ships and other Commanders Commissions to execute the Law martial and to use such order to his being brought to answer for the same by Commission under our great seal of England, or from our said high Admiral as is before expressed. In which case, Our will and pleasure is, that the Capt<sup>n</sup> or Commander so by you suspended, shall during such [his] suspension and Commitment be succeeded in his said Office by such Commission or warrant officer of our said ship appointed by our Commissioners for executing the office of our high Admiral of England or by our high Admiral of England for the time being, as by the known practice or discipline of our Navy does and ought next to succeed him, as in case of death sickness or other ordinary dissability happening to the Commander of any of our ships of war and not otherwise, you standing also accountable to us for the truth and importance of the crimes and misdemeanours for which you shall so proceed, to the suspending of such our Capt<sup>n</sup> or Command<sup>r</sup> Provided also that all such disorders and misdemeanours committed on shoar, by any Capt<sup>n</sup> Command<sup>r</sup> Lieut<sup>t</sup> Master or other Officer, seaman Soldier or person whatsoever belonging to any of our ships of war or other vessells acting by immediate Commission or warrant from our Commissioners for executing the Office of our high Admiral of England under the seal of our Admiralty or from our high Admiral of England for the time being, may be tryed and punished according to the laws of the Place, where any such disorders offences and misdemeanours shall be so committed on shore, notwithstanding such offender be in our actual service and born in our pay on board any such our ships of war or other vessells, acting by immediate Commission or Warrant from our Commissioners for executing the Office of our high Admiral or from our high Admiral as aforesaid, so as he shall not receive any protection for the avoiding of Justice, for such offences committed on shoar from any pretence of his being employed in our service at sea.

Our will and pleasure is, that all publick moneyes raised or to be raised within our said province and other the territories depending thereupon be issued out by warrant from you by and with the advice and consent of the Council and disposed of by you for the support of the Govern<sup>t</sup> and not otherwise.

And we do hereby likewise give and grant unto you full power and authority, by and with the advice of our said Council, to agree with the Inhabitants of our province and territories aforesaid, for such lands, tenements and hereditaments as now are or hereafter shall be in our power to dispose of.

And them to grant to any person or p<sup>r</sup>sons for such terms and under such moderate Quit Rents services and acknowledgements to be thereupon reserved unto us as you by and with the advice aforesaid shall think fit

Which said grants are to pass and be sealed by our seal of New York, and being enter'd upon record by such officer or Officers as you shall appoint thereunto shall be good and effectual in law agst us, our heirs & successors —

And we do hereby give you full power, to order and appoint Fairs, Marts, and Markets, as also such and so many Ports, Harbours, Bays, Havens and other places for [the] convenience and security of shipping, and for the better loading and unloading of goods and merchandizes, as by you with the advice and consent of the said Council shall be thought fit and necessary and in them or any of them to erect, nominate and appoint Customehouses, Warehouses and Officers relating thereunto, and them to alter, change place or displace from time to time as with the advice aforesaid shall be thought fit.

Upon such suspension the next warrant officer to succeed.

The Gov<sup>r</sup> to be accountable for such suspension.

Captains of ships etc. committing offences on shoar to be tryed and punished according to the laws of the place.

No money to be issued but by warrant with consent of the Council

To dispose of lands etc. by advice of the Council.

Under moderate quit rents etc.

Vice to be discontinued

And we do by these presents, Will, Require & Command you to take all possible care for the discountenance of vice and the encouragement of virtue and good living, that by such example the Infidels may be invited and desire to partake of the Christian faith.

Not to dispose of any place usually granted under the great seal of England:

And further Our will and pleasure is, that you shall not at any time hereafter, by colour of any power or Authority, hereby granted or mentioned to be granted take upon you to give, grant or dispose of any Office or place within our said province and territories, which is now or shall be granted under the great seal of England, any further than that you may upon the vacancy of any such Office or suspension of any Officer by you put in any person to officiate in the interval, until the said place be disposed of by us, under the great seal of England, or that our directions be otherwise given therein.

All officers to be obedient to him.

And we do hereby require and command all Officers and Ministers, Civil and Military and all other inhabitants of our said province and the territories depending thereon, to be obedient aiding and Assisting unto you the said Earl of Bellomont, in the execution of this our Commission and of the powers and authorities herein contained. And in case of your death or absence out of our said province and territories aforesaid unto such person as shall be appointed by us to be our Lieut<sup>t</sup> Gov<sup>r</sup> or Commander in chief of our said province, to whom we do by these presents give and grant all and singular the power & Authorities aforesaid to be executed and enjoyed by him during our pleasure, or until your return to our said province and territories, and if upon such death or absence there be no

To be Gov<sup>r</sup> during His Majesty's pleasure

And lastly we do hereby declare ordain and appoint, that you the said Earl of Bellomont shall and may hold execute and enjoy the Office and place of our Capt<sup>m</sup> General and Gov<sup>r</sup> in chief in and over our province of New York and the territories depending thereon, together with all and singular the powers and Authorities hereby granted unto you, for and during our will and pleasure, immediately upon your arrival within our said province of New York and the publication of this our Commission from which time our Commission to our Trusty & welbeloved Benjamin Fletcher Esq: to be Capt<sup>m</sup> Gen<sup>l</sup> and Gov<sup>r</sup> in chief of our said province and territories depending thereon is immediately to cease and become void.

To be Capt<sup>m</sup> General of the Militia and all forces by sea & land in E. & W. new Jerseys.

And whereas there are divers Colonies adjoining to our province of New York for the defence and security whereof, it is requisite that due care be taken in this time of war. We have therefore thought it further necessary for our service, and for the better protection and security of our subjects inhabiting those parts to constitute and appoint and we do by these presents constitute and appoint you the said Richard Earl of Bellomont to be our Captain General and Commander in Chief, of the Militia and of all the forces by sea and land within our province of East and West New Jersey and of all our Forts and places of strength within the same.

And for the better ordering Governing and ruling our said Militia and all our forces Forts and places of strength within our said province of East and West New Jersey; We do hereby give and grant unto you the said Richard Earl of Bellomont, and in your absence to your Lieut<sup>r</sup> Gov<sup>r</sup> or Commander in chief of our province of New York, all and every the like powers as in these presents are before granted and recited for the ruling, governing and ordering our Militia and all our forces forts and places of strength within our province of New York to be exercised by you the said Richard Earl of Bellomont and in your absence from our territory and Dominion of New York by our said Lieutenant Gov<sup>r</sup> or Commander in Chief of our said province of New York within our said provinces of East and West New Jersey for and during our pleasure. IN WITNESS whereof, We have caused these our letters to be made patents.—Witnesses, Thomas Archbishop of Canterbury, and the rest of the Guardians and Justices of the Kingdome—At Westminster the 18th day of June in the ninth Year of our Reign 1697.

Governor Fletcher to the Lords of Trade.

[New-York Entries, A. 261.]

To the Right Hon<sup>ble</sup> the Lords Commissioners of the Council of Trade & Plantations.

May it please Your Lordships.

I have received Your Lord<sup>ps</sup> commands of February the first, the 19th inst: together with the duplicates of Your Lord<sup>ps</sup> Queries of the 25th of Sept<sup>r</sup> and did issue forth orders to the Justices of the peace of the several Counties to enable me to give Your Lordships the more accurate and perfect answer.

He has received the Council of Trade's letters.

He will give an account of the state of the Province etc.

I shall not be wanting in my duty to give Your Lord<sup>ps</sup> information of the state of affairs of this province in all its circumstances, and what I may observe useful and necessary for His Maj<sup>ty</sup>'s service and the good prosperity thereof.

Stores.

I do most humbly acknowledge the great care and goodness of our most gracious Sovereign to His subjects here, in giving Artillery stores of war and other things needful for their defence and safety and Your Lord<sup>ps</sup> goodness in laying matters that relate to us, before His Maj<sup>ty</sup>.

The Assembly will not raise a supply as formerly for the Soldiers.

I have endeavoured with the Assembly in March last, to raise a supply to enable me to give the like encouragement as formerly to the Soldiers, and did acquaint them of the good effects it had, that since the money was paid them in their own hands (which I caused punctually to be performed) not one man had deserted, but could not prevail so far.

They have raised a fund to recruit the 2 regts at Albany for one year and instead of 44 given the last year, they allow now but 34 a day, which has so discouraged the soldiers the many have deserted.

The have raised a fund for levy-money, to recruite only three companies at Albany for 12 month from the first of May past with 3<sup>d</sup> a day instead of 4<sup>d</sup> given the last year, which husbandry has given such discouragement, that many have since deserted, and I find greater difficulty of finding men to make up their complement. They have no regard to the company Quarter'd in this place, tho' upon all occasion I have detached part of them to Albany; part of them were with me all the winter there; and I have detached part of them to strengthen the Richmond upon extraordinary occasion, as of a French man-of-war being on our coast. Since the passing Men desert. of that act 25 men are deserted from the Fort.

I send hues and cries and officers after them into the neighbouring provinces, which is very unsuccessful, I hope His Maj<sup>ty</sup> Royal commands will prove effectual.

He desires 150. Recruits from England or Ireland agst next May. I humbly offer my opinion that one hundred and fifty recruits be sent from England or Ireland against May next, and then those annually listed may returne to their labour which brings them in this Countrey three shillings a day, and holds no proportion with their pay, a smaller number annually will be required to keep them full afterwards.

The soldiers in great want of clothes. The 5 years since the 2 old comp<sup>ies</sup> had full mountings — Our winters are extreme cold and long, the men are then in great misery want of clothes, it is now five years past since the two old comp<sup>ies</sup> had full mounting.

He will observe the orders about fugitives and deserters — I shall carefully observe your Lord<sup>sh</sup> commands concerning fugitives and deserters in this Province.

May it please Your Lordships —

As to the complaint given in for entertainment of Pyrates in this Province.

Bills agst Pyrates I brought over with me from the Plantations Office by their Majesties commands, the draft of a bill against Piracy, which was enacted here to be of force for some time, which act did give pardon and liberty to all such as should come into the Province within the limitation of that time, and enter into bond for their good behaviour and not to depart the province without Licence, in which time a ship Commanded by one Coats which Acet of the Pirate Coats. had been in the time that Capt<sup>n</sup> Leisler took upon him the Govern<sup>t</sup> taken from the Enemy condemned and sold to the use of the Captors and hearing that Capt<sup>n</sup> Leisler was dead, they threw a great deal of East India goods over board, and most of them separated and left the ship at the East end the Island of Nassaw, when I heard of this, I called the Councilll who were of opinion to have the ship brought up to New York, which was accordingly done, and these few that came in her, had the benefit of that act, and gave Bond accordingly; there never has been any other since come into this province.

Of Capt<sup>n</sup> Tue, to whom he gave a Commission. Capt<sup>n</sup> Tue brought in no ship to this Port, he came here as a stranger, and told me he had a sloop of force well Manu'd and not only promised but entered in to Bond to make War upon the French, in the mouth of Cannada River, whereupon I gave him a Commission and instructions accordingly.

As also to others. I have given some private Commissions to others of like nature, who have done service against the Kings Enemies.

One Hoare an Irishman with a Commission from Sr Wm. Beeston took a Rich French Prize. An Irishman one Hoare by a Commission from Sr W<sup>m</sup> Beeston of Jamaica took a considerable prize from the French loaded with sugar & Indigo, which he carried into Road Island and there disposed of the loading as I am informed, the prize ship being of better force and fitter for his purpose he put on board of her and applied to me for a Commission to go against the French on the banks of To whom he also gave a Commission Newfoundland and Month of Canada River, which I gave him and took security, for his observing my instructions. I have not heard of him since.

It may be my unhappiness, but not my crime if they turn Pyrates, I have heard of none yet that has done so.

Aet of Captn Kid who has a Commission from the King for suppressing of Piracies.

One Capt<sup>n</sup> Kid lately arrived here, and produced a Commission under the great seal of England, for suppressing of Piracy, when he was here, many flockt to him from all parts men of desperate fortunes and necessitous in expectation of getting vast treasure, he sailed from hence with 150 men as I am informed great part of them are of this province; It is generally believed here, they will have money p<sup>r</sup> fas aut nefas, that if he misse of the design intended for which he has commission, 'twill not be in Kidd's power to govern such a hord of men under no pay.

Mr. Caleb Heathcote does not leave the Province.

Mr Caleb Heathcote is not to leave this Province and hath given directions for the taking out of the warrant, he is a Gentleman, hath been very usefull, and has advanced his private fortune for His Maj<sup>ty</sup>s service, to answer an emergency when money was not in the Treasury, and zealously affected to His Maj<sup>ties</sup> Govern<sup>t</sup> and Interest.

The orders given abt the convoys for the Province he thinks will be advantageous.

What is ordered concerning the Frigats that attend this coast, must be of service; the provisions that go from hence and fall into the Enemy's hands for want of convoy are a great strengthening of them, who are not otherwise able to fit so many privateers in the West Indies.

Provisions are exported from hence at all times and seasons of the year, even in the winter when there is ice in our Rivers, a vessell outward bound will find an opportunity of wind and weather to get to sea, when strangers dare not venture upon our Coast.

When it is publicly known what method Your Lordships propose, the Merchants will order their affairs to the greatest safety and least hazard.

He will obey the orders relating to the Commandirs of the Ks ships

I shall obey Your Lordships directions in looking after the conduct of the Capt<sup>ns</sup> of His Maj<sup>ty</sup>s ships here; I have been several times on board the Richmond, when I have seen her well mann'd, her lying up many months during the hardships of our winters and the little conveniency we have for careening and fitting such ships occasions great charge to His Majesty and little use to this place. Our protection from November to March being the north-west winds.

He does not know that the Commandir of the Richmd takes or Brewes for any ship but his own.

I have not heard of his Baking and brewing for any vessell but his own, and have also observed him not negligent of his duty. I shall take care to supply His Maj<sup>ty</sup>s ships here with what men are wanted, and prevent irregularities of impressing to the hurt of Trade.

His being at Albany all winter gave the inhabitants great satisfaction—

I was necessitated to put myself into Albany this winter, where I continued until the month of March, which gave the inhabitants great satisfaction and kept them together, I cannot in these summer months leave this Garrison being the frontier to the sea.

His treatment to some of the Indians.

I have been at great pains to gain the hearts of the Heathen, and have as much of their esteem as any Governor ever had before me, I have taken their Chief Sachims to my table; some of the principal leading men of the Five nations, came down the River to pay me a visit, whom I treated with all manner of kindness and Courtesy, I ordered them on board the greatest ships we have and the guns to be fired, the King's birth day happening in that time; I ordered them to be by when all the guns were fired, I caused some of them to be loaded with ball, to show them how far they could carry upon the River, I caused Granada shells to be fired before them and let them see the armory. I ordered six horses to be put into my coach and my coachmen to drive them round the City and into the Country to take the air, by which they were extreanly obliged, and dismissed them with considerable presents, at which they did express great satisfaction.

Two Indian princes had a designe to go Engld but changed their mindes.

When I came down from Albany last fall, Two of the Indian princes follow'd me and had some purpose of going for England but altered their mindes.

I have had a boy about fifteen years (the son of a great warrior that dyed brave in an engagem't against the French, about three years agoe) in my family upwards of a twelvemonth and put him to school, he can speak both Dutch and English, but of late his Mother came down and inticed him away to kindle his fathers fire and built up his house.

He will observe the Councils commands abt the Indians. Associations

I shall pursue Your Lordships further Commands concerning the Indians.

The Associations that were sent us from Whitehall, were of two sorts, and came by different conveyances which caused the mistake, but they were both, signed and returned, some might miscarry.

Copys of their Acts & Journals are preparing to be sent.

I am glad to hear of the arrival of these our Acts of Assembly, several packets have been lost since the warr, I hope those by way of Virginia are come to hand safe by this time, other copies and Journals are preparing for next safe conveyance.

He can vindicate himself agst the complaints given in against him.

As to the complaints given in against me, I thank God I have a clear and undisturb'd mind and shall be able to vindicate myself.

The Towns of Rye and Bedford have revolted to Connecticut and by them countenanced.

Some time before I came down from Albany two small towns of Rye and Bedford in Weschester County, that ly next to Connecticut being much in arrearages of Taxes have revolted to Connecticut, who countenance them notwithstanding I found them at my arrival part of this province, and so have continued till now, which is contrary to a stipulation made between the Colony and Coll Dongan An<sup>o</sup> 1683 under the hands and seals of their Gov<sup>r</sup> and Assistants; I am loath to make warr upon any of His Maj<sup>ties</sup> subjects, and therefore lay this matter before your Lord<sup>sh</sup>; They have invaded us with a Capt<sup>o</sup> and fifty men armed with Fuzees on Horseback, to disturb the Election of a representative, pursuant to the King's writt at the Town of Rye. I never found them so forward to give assistance to Albany, upon an approach of the Enemy, notwithstanding my frequent application & the Royal Commands, that did oblige their obedience.

I have desired them not to countenance these irregularities, but to suffer these Towns to remain as they were, until Your Lordships, give your determination, which I am at all times ready to obey, but they will not hearken unto me — All this I humbly submitt unto your Lordships and shall endeavour to approve myself — May it please your Lord<sup>sh</sup> most obed<sup>t</sup> most dutiful and most humble servant.

Governor Fletcher to the Lords of Trade.

[New-York Entries, A. 294.]

May it please your Lordships.

Advice from Curraço of the French and of Adml Nevill.

Since my last there is arrived a sloop from Curraço in her Ballast that came from thence the first of June last, the Dutch Gov<sup>r</sup> there gives me advice the French have taken the Fort Boca Chica, and are before Carthagena, which is doubted they are also masters of; Having spared much provisions to the Spaniards on this occasion he craves liberty to purchase here for money; his sloop being immediately searched by the Custome house Officer, and the Master taking oath he came without any loading, the Council were unanimously of opinion for giving him liberty upon so urgent and good a designe.

The sloop in her way hither touched at the Bohemia Islands, where the Master understood that Admirall Nevill had been at Petit Guavas, and was gone towards Carthagena in good health and condition.

Propositions from the Indians.

Your Lordship will see by the inclosed propositions the unwearied pains and Craft of that French Count Frontenac to draw over our Indians, and how necessary it is for His Majestys service to preserve their allyance to this province.

a Scotch ship arrived at Pennsylvania.

Want of subsistence

I hear there is a ship of 30. Guns from Scotland arrived at Pennsylvania.

May it please Your Lordships, we are under great hardships for want of a due and constant returne of the subsistence of the four Companies.

Several Bills he has drawn upon the Agents, returned protested.

I have drawn sundry Bills upon the Agent which are returned protested for not being paid in money but Bank bills, in which there is 19. in the hundred losse, as I am informed other payments have been with charge—This accident has given that checq; to the credit of my bills that neither victuallers nor Merchaunt will accept of them.

Want of subsistence and cloaths.

I humbly beg your Lord<sup>ps</sup> favour in this matter disappointments in our cloaths and subsistence greatly discourages the service.

The three Lieutts.

These Lieut<sup>ts</sup> Your Lord<sup>ps</sup> mention, must throw some crimination on me to cover their own guilt, they quitting His Maj<sup>ty</sup>s service at a time when the Enemy was expected

The Companies constantly victualled upon his credit and the Lieutts paid as money came to hand.

The companies have been victualled ever since I came over, upon my Bond & Credit, I constantly paid these Gentlemen as money came to my hand, either to themselves or Capt<sup>ns</sup> as their acquittances will show.

Livingston

When Mr Livingston gave in his complaint against me, he had not one penny due to him from me or the Govern<sup>t</sup> since my coming to it, that 900.£ he charges me with while he was given over here for lost, was all paid to his order, ere he got to England.

I hope when it pleases God I may attend Your Lord<sup>ps</sup> it will appear I have above all things studied to serve His Maj<sup>ty</sup> as becomes an honest man in endeavouring the safety and prosperity of this Province, both which have hitherto attended it, and in all other parts of my duty, I shall adjust myself a loyal subject &.

[New-York Papers, A. B. B.32.]

Propositions made by the Sachims of Onondaje in Albany this 9th of June 1697.PRESENT. — Coll. Peter Schuyler
DelliusMajor Dirck Wessell Captaine Evert Banker.

Dekanassore Speaker

Brother Cajenquirago.

Odatsigthia is lately come from Canada as alsoe the 2 Mohaques that the Father sent thither with the woman and child that were prisoners; of the two last wee hear no newes, but of the first, that is Odatsigthia he hath related to us what he had said to the Onondia, that he had an affection for his own country and would therefore returne thither. Whereupon Onondia answered that he did well that he might return to his own country but that he would give him a belt of Wampum to deliver to the 5 Nation: which he did; the Belt was folded double, the one halfe was a token of the affection he had for Odatsigthia and the other halfe was to show the Five Nation the inclination he has to make peace with them and pursuant thereunto they should send one out of each family to him, or if that was to be too troublesome, they should send some of their principle men to him, or if they could not resolve upon that, then they should send some of their meanest persons; but if they should still scruple, [that] they should declare their thoughts of peace to Odatsigthia, who would tell it him, for he would leave nothing undone, but would use all endeavours to come to the peace.

When Odatsigthia brought this Belt from Onondio unto our Castle, Onegade said that it was resolved by the generall vote of old and young men and women &c that none of their Castle should againe goe to live at Canada because Cajenquiragos people as well as other nations charged them with being affected to the French.

Brother Caijenquirago.

About this Belt from the Onondio we summons all the 5 Nations in, by seven hands of Wampum wee asked the Oneydes if they had informed the gentlemen of Albany with it, who said they had not; wee have also neglected to send 7 bands of wampum to Albany to desire them to assist us in our generall meeting, particularly about the treaty of peace, which of old is used to be done there. Before the missinger returned that wee sent with the seven hands of Wampum for the whole house to meet, the Onondio had killed one of our people, but because it was one of our own people, not of another nation, and also that we are desired to make peace, we resolved that we would not therefore put a stop to it. Upon our 7 hands of Wampum the Sinnodwannes<sup>1</sup> Cajogers nor Maquas appeared to consult about the Onondios Belt, but they sent us word they would leave the mater wholly to us.

As you Cajenquirago gave us leave about 2 years since to make peace with the Onondio, and wee have therefore resolved to send Aredision and Sontragtowane as Agents to the Onondios with a belt of Wampum folded double with these words

You told Odatsigthia when he came from Canada that you inclined to peace & to that end you sent a Belt of Wampum to desire us to come to you to make peace: Father, is that true:—

And having said this they should let fall the fold out of the Belt of Wampum. We do not know how your heart is inclined you speack of and send to make peace, and at the same time you knock our people in the head, and commonly when you send for us you sharpen you Ax. They shall throw down the Belt and say;—Father, speack now.

Whatsoever answer the Ono[n]dio shall give them they shall reply only thus:—Father, the words you have spoken to us Wee shall carry to our country and consider of them; send along with us 2 French men and 2 praying Indians, and they can returne with our resolutions & carry backward and forward what shall be further proposed.

Brother Cajenquirago.

Last winter you sent a belt of Wampum by Sadegajeidon to the whole house to inform them of your arrivall at Albany, to cover it and us from the insults of the enemy, for which we heartily thank you; but that Belt came but just now to us; wee have sent it up further to Cajouge & Sinnodowannes; had that Belt been delivered in time, it would have been of great service to the publick.

Brother Cajenquirago

I will not conceal any discourse that passed between Odatsigtha & Onondio. The Onondio said:—

Child, you go now to your own Country, I am wholly inclined to peace. I would have your arm tyed to mine that hereafter we might live peaceable together.

Odatsigtha answers;—

No Father, I will not have my arm tyed to yours, because you might lift up your arm against my own people & then my arm would hang to yours.

Then the Onondio answered him<sup>1</sup> that he would never make warr againe with the 5 Nations. The Onondio sends for Canaghkonje<sup>2</sup> to go and dwell 3 years in his bosome, & in that time he will know his intentions. All this we have sent to the Upper Nations for advice, though we beleve it will not be agreeable to the whole House because the Onondio hath deceived them in this manner more than once.

Brother Cajenquiragoe.

Wee thought the 2 Mohaques which our Father sent to Canada were detained by the Onondio [and] in order to release them we had prepared a great Belt of Wampum to be sent by our messenger, but hearing they were returned we kept the Belt.

Brother Cajenquiragoe.

Wee sent lately 7 hands of wampum by Juthory (who is since killed) to desire you to assist us in the rebuilding of our Castle & have been informed by some in his company that you give us a favourable answer we hope, you have not forgot it [it] will be a very convenient time to do it when our corn is eatable; for we do not reckon that it is peace though there is discourse of it.

Upon this they give 7 hands of Wampum

<sup>2</sup> This word is "Canaghkouse" in the text, but it is corrected according to the original in New-York Colonial Manuscripts, XLI. It is supposed to be equivalent to Konossioni (see ante, 78), which means The whole house, or the entire Five Nations.—Ed.

Answer to the foregoing Propositions made by the Sachim of Onondagoe.

PRESENT — Collonell Schuler
Dellius

Major Wessells
Captaine Banker.

Brethren

That Odatsightha had brought a Belt from the Onondio out of Canada wee were informed off before by others & thereupon wee sent a Belt by Kanach-Konje the 26th of May last unto you the contents of which wee informed you off the day before yesterday to which we referr you, but we cannot enough admire that you should call a general meeting of all the 5 Nations to consult upon the Belt sent by the Onondio & moreover that you and the Oneydis should conclude to send two messengers to treat of peace with Onondio without giving the least knowledge [thereof] to Cajenquiragoe.

Brethren

We are almost afraid to write it to Cajenquiragoe, for, besides, your entring upon such matters is a breach of your so many repeated promises not to treat with the enemy on any account, without his advice, so it is also a breach of the covenant chain made between us & you wherein it is concluded by each of us that we should assist one another in carrying on the warr, and that wee should live and dye together, and more then all this you are perticularly obliged to us, because we entered into the warr upon your accounts; for we were in peace when you were in actual warr with him, and besides you know how Cajenquiragoe hath assisted you with amonition, provisions, &c You say that the Sinnodowanney<sup>1</sup> Cajouge & Mohagues were not at your meeting, but notwithstanding had left the affair wholly to you. what relates to the 2 Upper Nations we cannot say any thing to it, although we cannot believe they should so much forgett themselves, but what relates to the Mohagues they have informed us that they sent a Belt of Wampum 16 deep to you, to stopp your proceedings, at least untill Henrick and Tjerck returned from Canada, so that you cannot say that they left the matter wholly to you.

You say that Cajenquirago 2 year agoe gave you leave and perticularly you De Canassore to goe to Canada to make peace with Onondio.

Brethren

We were present at the same time; it was only by way of discourse to try your affection and if so be you would make peace because he had been informed you begged it almost upon your knees of Onendio, that you should take care that the subjects of the Great King beyond sea should not be damaged thereby. Whereupon you resolved then as you did also last year renew to Cajenquiragoe that you would not enter into any negotiations of peace with Onondio.

Besides Brethren this Belt which wee now give is wholly to put a stop [to] your intended message, & if so be you still persist in your designes (which wee cannot think you will) you shall at least stop so long untill all the Sachems of the 5 Nations do meet and consult with Cajenquiragoe at Albany.

In the mean time let us tye your armes to ours and lift them up together against the common enemy; remember what Onondio lately did to Juthory and yesterday at Schenectade and here to day, to our people.

Brethren, we cannot imagine how you became so dronck in your understandings as to call Onondio your Father. Wee know no Father Onondio here, he is our and your enemy; do you call your enemy your Father, who has no other thoughts but to kill and distroy you. Our 2 Mohaques who were lately at Canada were wiser; they called him to his face no otherwise then Onondio.

What you speak of being assisted in re-building your Castle;—Brethren, you shall always find Cajenquirago very ready to do it.

What you say about the Onondios desire to have Kanack konje lodged in his bosome for 3 years that he might better know his intentions:—Brethren wee believe that the whole House long agoe knows his heart to be nought therefore not necessary for Kanack Konje to go; also we believe he is too wise to go, and that you will perswade him to the contrary.

What you say of Oneyde that its concluded there that none of them hereafter shall go live at Canada:—Brethren, Their words are very good if they are but confirmed by their deeds.

What you mention about the Belt which Cajenquirago sent by Sadegojendon last winter to you to informe you that he was come to Albany with some forces to cover us and you from the insults of Onondio and that the said Belt was but just come to your hands; Brethren—it is well done that you have sent it to the Upper Nations; therein you may see how willing ready and carefull Cajenquirago is to serve us; and would the Onondio have fought with him as he threatned, he would have received him very well with powder and ball, but for the Onondio he makes a great noyse just like empty cask[s], which sound most.

Upon this they were given a Belt of Wampum.

You may please to take notice that after the Surrender of Acadie unto the French, in the year 1670, by S<sup>r</sup> Thomas Temple, the successive Governours of New York (did by virtue of orders from England as I suppose,) make claime unto part of said Countreys, that is to say, from Pentagoet to the River S<sup>t</sup> Croix, as having of it inserted in the Duke of Yorks Patent; But the French still kept possession until Sir Edmond Andross made an attempt upon it, by summoning in one M<sup>r</sup> S<sup>t</sup> Costeine to acknowledge his dependence on the Crown of England;—upon whose refusal, he went with a Frigatt to Pentagoet, pillaged his house of what he found in it, but himself escaped; on which arose (by the said Costein's instigation) the Indian war with which we have ever since been infested.

[Journal, X. 161.]

Whitehall July the 16th 1697

At a Meeting of His Majesty's Commissioners for Trade and Plantations

PRESENT—
 Earle of Bridgewater
 Sir Philip Meadows
 M<sup>r</sup> Locke.

New York
 Ingoldsby

Colonel Ingoldsby, lately arrived from New York, attending according to summons, presented to their Lordships an Account of the Condition of the Forces there, which was read. And upon Enquiry made of him in discourse he more particularly added; That he hath been these seven years in His Majesty's service there. That the four Companies as sent from England, should have been four hundred men; but by sickness and accident by the way were lessened before they came thither. They are kept up by annual levies in the Countrey, at the great charge of that province: But there are little above half the number left of those same men that went over. Provisions are dear: And their subsistence small, So that unless the Officers assisted the Soldiers (as he himself hath done considerably) they would be ready to starve and this the Officers themselves are not able to do, but by having their Companies sometimes a little weak. This War ruins the people; The Inhabitants are decreased in number. The English and Indians when he came away, were in very good Correspondence: But the French out do us much in caressing them. About two years ago there was two hundred pounds raised for an Expedition to attack and demolish Cadaraqui, at which time it might easily have been don; And he himself was orderd upon that service with three hundred men; But afterwards countermanded. Last August the French with their Indian Friends, to the number of about Two thousand men, well armed made an Incursion into the Country of the Onondagues but soon retired. It is absolutely necessary that there be always a good force kept at Albany; New York being so far distant, that it is impossible (upon any attack) to send force from thence time enough for their assistance. The Fortifications at Albany are very much ruined: And consist of but one Stone Mount, with three Flankers; The rest are only Stockados.

He then presented to their Lordships a Draught of the Indian Country above Albany towards the great Lake on one side, and Quebec on the other.

Instructions for the Earl of Bellmont.

By the Lords Justices.

Tho: Cantuar.
J. Somers. C:
Romney
Orford.

Earl of Bellmont

To repair thither.

You are hereupon to fit yourself with all convenient speed to repair to His Maj<sup>ties</sup> province of New York in America and being arrived there, you are to take upon you the execution of the place and trust His Maj<sup>ty</sup> hath reposed in you, and forthwith to call together the members of His Council for that province, by name Frederick Flypson, Stephen Cortlandt, Nicolas Bayard, William Smith, Gabriel Mienveele, Chidley Brook, William Nicolls, Thomas Willet, William Pinhorne, Peter Schuyler, John Lawrence, Richard Townley and John Young Esq<sup>rs</sup>.

To publish his Commission.

You are with all due and usual solemnity, to cause the said Commission under the great seal of England, constituting You His Maj<sup>ty</sup>s Captain General and Governour in chief as aforesaid, to be published in the said province.

To take the oaths himself and also to administer the same to the members of the Council.

You shall take yourself and also administer unto each of the members of His Maj<sup>ties</sup> said Council as well as the oaths appointed by act of Parliament to be taken instead of the oaths of allegiance & supremacy, as also the test, and the oath for the due execution of your and their places of trusts, and both, you and they shall likewise subscribe the Association mentioned in a late act of Parliam<sup>t</sup> Entitled: An act for the better security of His Maj<sup>ty</sup>s Royal person and Government.

To communicate to them such of His Instructions as he shall think fit—

You are to communicate unto his Maj<sup>ties</sup> said Council from time to time, such and so many of his instructions as you shall find convenient for his service to be imparted unto them.

The Council to have freedom of debate and vote.

And you are to permitt the members of His Maj<sup>ties</sup> Council, to have and enjoy freedome of debate and vote in all things to be debated of in Council.

Not to act with the Quorum of less than five, except upon extraordinary occasions.

And also by His Maj<sup>ty</sup>s Commission aforesaid he hath thought fit to direct, that any three of the Councillors make a quorum. It is nevertheless His Maj<sup>ties</sup> will and pleasure. that you do not act with a Quorum of less than five members except in case of necessity.

To transmit the names and Character of six persons fit to supply the vacancies in Council.

And that His Maj<sup>ty</sup> may be always informed of the names of persons fit to supply the vacancies of His Council in New York, you are to transmit unto His Maj<sup>ty</sup> and the Commissioners for trade and foreign Plantations with all convenient speed, the names and characters of six persons inhabitants of the said province and territories whom you shall esteem the best qualified for that trust, and so from time to time when any of them shall dye, depart out of the said Province, or become otherwise unfit, you are to supply the first number of six persons by nominating others to His Majesty in their stead.

And when any of them shall dye to name others to His Majesty in their stead.

To send to the King and Commissioners for trade and Plantations the names and qualities of the members appointed to be the Councilors.

You are from time to time to send His Majesty and Commissioners for Trade and Plantations the names and qualities of any members by you put into the said Council, by the first conveniency after your so doing.

To take care that the Councilors be men of Estates and abilities etc.

In the choice and nomination of members of His Majesty's Council, as also of the principal Officers, Judges, Assistants Justices, and Sheriffs, you are always to take care that they be men of estate and ability, and not necessitous people or much in debt, and that they be persons well affected to His Majesty's Govern<sup>t</sup>

Not to suspend any of the Council without good cause and to transmit the reasons etc for his so doing.

You are not to suspend the members of His Majesty's Council without good and sufficient cause, and in case of suspension of any of them, you are forthwith to transmit unto His Majesty and to the said Commiss<sup>s</sup> your reason for so doing, together with the charge and proofs against the said persons and their answers thereunto.

To send authentic copies of Laws etc.

You are to transmit Authentic copies under the publick seal of all Laws, Statutes and ordinances, which at any time shall be made or enacted within the said province, unto His Majesty and the Commissioners aforesaid, within three months or sooner after their being enacted, together with duplicates thereof by the next conveyance, upon pain of His Majesty's high displeasure, and of the forfeiture of that years Salary wherein you shall at any time or upon any pretence whatsoever, omit to send over the said laws and ordinances as aforesaid, within the time above limited.

Rules abt acts for raising money —

You are not to pass any act or order in any case for levying money, or inflicting fines and penalties, whereby the same shall not be reserved to His Majesty for such publick uses as by the said act or order shall be directed. And His Majesty does particularly require and command, that no money or value of money whatsoever be given or granted by any act or order of Assembly, to any Gov<sup>t</sup> Lieut<sup>t</sup> Gov<sup>t</sup> or Commander in Chief of his said province, which shall not according to the stile of acts of Parliam<sup>t</sup> in England, be mentioned to be given and granted unto His Majesty, with the humble desire of such Assembly, that the same be applied to the uses and behoof of such Govern<sup>t</sup> Lieut<sup>t</sup> Govern<sup>t</sup> or commander in chief if His Majesty shall so think fit, or if he shall not approve of such gift or application, that the said money or value of money be then disposed of and appropriated to such other uses as in the said act or order shall be mentioned, and that from the time the same shall be raised it remain in the hands of the Collector or receiver of the said province, until His Majesty's pleasure shall be known therein.

Not to come to Europe without His Majtys express leave

And for as much as great prejudice may happen to His Majesty's service and the security of the said province, by your absence from those parts, for prevention thereof, you are not to presume upon any pretence whatsoever to come to Europe without having first obtained leave for so doing from His Majesty under his sign manual and signet or by his order in his privy Council.

Upon his absence from the territories of New England and N. York one half of the salary which would become due to him during such absence to be allowed to the Lt Gov<sup>r</sup>

And as His Majesty is willing in the best manner to provide for the support of the Govern<sup>t</sup> of his said Province by setting apart sufficient allowances to the Lieut<sup>t</sup> Gov<sup>t</sup> or commander in chief residing for the time being within the same. His Majesty's will and pleasure is, that when it shall happen that you shall be absent from the territories of New England and New York, of which His Majesty hath appointed you Gov<sup>t</sup> full one moiety of the salary and of all perquisites and emoluments which would otherwise become due unto you, shall during the time of your absence from all the said territories, be paid and satisfied unto such Lieut<sup>t</sup> Gov<sup>r</sup> or Commander in Chief, who shall be resident upon the place for the time being, which His Maj<sup>ty</sup> does hereby order, and allot unto him for his better maintenance, and for the support of the dignity of that Govern<sup>t</sup>

Publick money to be issued by his warrant with advice of the Council.

You shall not suffer any publick money whatsoever to be issued or disposed of otherwise then by warrant under your hand, by and with the advice and consent of the Council.

Acts of the Revenue attested by him to be transmitted half-yearly

You are to cause the accounts of all such money or value of money attested by you, to be transmitted every half year, to the Commissioners of His Maj<sup>ty</sup>'s treasury or the high Treasurer for the time being, and to the Commiss<sup>rs</sup> for Trade and Plantations, wherein shall be specified every particular s<sup>um</sup> raised or disposed of, together with the names of the persons to whom any payment shall be made, to the end, His Maj<sup>ty</sup> may be satisfied of the right and due application of the revenue of his said province and the territories depending thereon.

Not to remit fines and forfeitures, nor dispose of Escheats without His Maj<sup>ty</sup>'s direction

You shall not remit any fines or forfeitures above the sum of ten pounds before or after the sentence given, nor dispose of any Escheats whatsoever until you shall have first signified unto his Majesty the nature of the offence or the occasion of such fines, forfeitures and escheats with the particular s<sup>ums</sup> or value thereof which you are to do with all speed unto the Commissioners of His Maj<sup>ty</sup>'s Treasury or the high Treasurer for the time being and to the Commissioners for Trade and plantations, and until you shall have received His Maj<sup>ty</sup>'s directions therein, but you may in the mean time respite the payment of the said fines and forfeitures.

To pass no law etc that may lessen the Revenue.

And you are, particularly, not to pass any law or do any act by grant settlement or otherwise, whereby His Maj<sup>ty</sup>'s revenue may be lessened or impaired, without his especial leave or command therein.

The Sec<sup>ry</sup> to provide copies of the Acts etc to be transmitted.

You are to require the Secretary of the said Province or his deputy for the time being, to provide transcripts of all such acts and publick orders as shall be made from time to time together with a copy of the Journals of the Assembly, to the end, the same may be transmitted unto the Commiss<sup>rs</sup> for Trade and foreign Plantations, which he is duly to perform upon pain of incurring the forfeiture of his place.

To transmit a map of the territory under his Govern<sup>t</sup>

You shall transmitt unto His Maj<sup>ty</sup> by the first opportunity a map with the exact description of the whole territory under your Govern<sup>t</sup> with the several plantations upon it and of the fortifications —

To send a list of all Officers etc, and an account of the present revenue—

You are likewise to send a list of all officers employed under your Govern<sup>t</sup> together with all publick charges and an account of the present revenue, with the probability of the increase or diminution of it under every head or article thereof.

Not to displace officers without a cause—

You shall not displace any of the Judges, Justices, Sheriffs or other Officers or Ministers within the said province of New York, without good and sufficient cause to be signified unto His Majesty and to the Commiss<sup>rs</sup> for Trade and Plantations and in the appointment of Judges and Justices of the peace, you are not to express any limitation of time in the Commissions which you are to grant to fit persons for those employments, nor shall you execute yourself or by Deputy any of the said Offices nor to suffer any person to execute more Offices than one by Deputy.

Not to dispose of Patent Offices.

You shall not by colour of any power or authority, grant[ed] or mentioned to be granted unto you, take upon you to give, grant or dispose of any office, or place, within the said province which is or shall be granted under the great seal of England, any further, than that you may upon the vacancy of any such office or place, or suspension of any such Officer by you, put in any person to officiate in the interval, until you shall have represented the matter unto His Maj<sup>ty</sup>, which you are to do by the first opportunity, and that his pleasure be thereupon signified unto you.

To establish any new Court or Office etc. You shall not erect any Court or Office of Judicature not before erected or established without His Maj<sup>ty</sup>'s especial order.

To transmit an account of all Courts Officers etc. You are transmit unto his Maj<sup>ty</sup> with all convenient speed, a particular account of all establishments of Jurisdictions, Courts, Offices & Officers, Powers, Authorities, Fees and privileges granted or settled within the said province, to the end, you may receive His Maj<sup>ty</sup>'s especial direction therein.

To regulate salaries and fees etc. You shall likewise take especial care with the advice and consent of the said Councill, to regulate all salaries and fees belonging to places and paid upon emergencies, that they be within the bounds of moderation and that no exaction be made upon any occasion whatsoever.

Court of Exchequer. Whereas it is necessary that all His Majesties rights and dues be received and recovered, and that speedy and effectual Justice be administred in all cases concerning his Maj<sup>ties</sup> revenue, you are to take care that a court of Exchequer be called, and to meet at all such times as shall be needfull, and you are to inform His Maj<sup>ty</sup> and the Commiss<sup>rs</sup> for Trade and Plantations upon your arrival at New York, whether his service may require that a constant Court of Exchequer be settled and established there.

The sole power of impressing of seamen vested in him— And whereas upon complaints that have been made to His Maj<sup>ty</sup> of the impressing of seamen in several of his plantations, his Maj<sup>ty</sup> hath thought fit to order and hath given directions to the Commissioners of the Admiralty accordingly, that when any Capt<sup>n</sup> or Commander of any of his ships of war, in any of his said plantations shall have occasion for seamen to serve on board the ships under their command, they do make their application to the Governours and Commanders in chief of his Maj<sup>ties</sup> Plantations respectively, to whom as Vice Admirals his Maj<sup>ty</sup> is pleased to commit the sole power of impressing seamen

To furnish his Majties ships with men as there shall be occasion. in any of his plantations in America, or in sight of any of them. You are therefore hereby required upon such application made to you by any of the commanders of His Maj<sup>ty</sup>'s said ships of war within his province of New York and the territories thereon depending, to take care, that his said ships of war be furnished with the number of seamen, that may be necessary for His Majesties service on board them from time to time —

Religion Ministers Churches. You shall take especial care that God Almighty be devoutly and duly served throughout your Govern<sup>t</sup>, the book of common prayer as it is now established read each sunday and holyday, and the blessed sacrament administred according to the rights of the Church of England. You shall be careful that the Churches already built there, be well and orderly kept, and more built as the Colony shall by Gods blessing be improved, and that besides a competent maintenance to be assigned to the Ministers of each Orthodox church, a convenient house be built at the common charge for each minister, & a competent proportion of land assigned him for a Glebe and exercise of his industry.

Parishes to be limited and settled. You are to take care that the Parishes be so limited and settled as you shall find most convenient for the accomplishing this good work.

No Minister to be preferred to any ecclesiastical benefice without a certificate from the Bp. of London

His Majesty's will and pleasure is that no Minister be preferred by you to any ecclesiastical benefice in that province, without a certificate from the Right Rev<sup>d</sup> the Bishop of London, of his being conformable to the Doctrine and discipline of the Church of England, and of a good life and conversation—

Any Minister giving scandal to be removed.

removal of

And if any person preferred already to a benefice shall appear to you to give scandall either by his doctrine or manners, you are to use the best means for the removal of him and to supply the vacancy in such manner as His Maj<sup>ty</sup> hath directed.

Ministers to be admitted into vestries.

And also His Maj<sup>ty</sup>'s pleasure is, that in the direction of all Church affairs, the Minister be admitted into the respective vestries.

To Collate the benefices, grant lycences for Marriages etc.

same, excepting of Wills which is reserved to you His Maj<sup>ties</sup> Governour and to the Commander in chief of his said province for the time being.

And to the end, the Ecclesiastical Jurisdiction of the said Bishop of London may take place in that province as far as conveniently may be, His Maj<sup>ty</sup> does think fit that you give all countenance and encouragement to the exercise of the benefices, granting Lycences for Marriages and probate of Wills which is reserved to you His Maj<sup>ties</sup> Governour and to the Commander in chief of his said province for the time being.

Table of marriages to be hung up in Churches—

You are to take especial care that a table of marriages, established by the Cannons of the Church of England, be hung up in all the orthodox Churches and duly observed.

No school master to keep school without a lycence from the Bishop of London.

there, or that shall come from other parts, be admitted to keep school without Your Lycence first had.

His Majesty does further direct that no schoolmaster be henceforth permitted to come from England, and to keep school within his Province of New York, without the lycence of the said Bishop of London, and that no other person now there, or that shall come from other parts, be admitted to keep school without Your Lycence first had.

To punish drunkenness and debauchery.

To proceed by law.

To administer the oaths to all publick officers.

To permit liberty of conscience to all but Papists—

Orders about the Militia.

Not to make frequent and unnecessary marches.

You are to take care that drunkenness and debauchery, swearing and blasphemy be severely punished, and that none be admitted to publick trust and employment whose ill fame and conversation may bring scandal thereupon.

You are to take care that no man's life, members, freehold or goods be taken away or harmed in the said province, otherwise than by established and known laws.

You shall administer or cause to be administered the oaths appointed by act of Parliament to be taken instead of the oaths of allegiance and supremacy as also the test, to the members and officers of the Council, to all Judges, Justices, and all other persons that hold any office in the said province, by virtue of any patent under His Maj<sup>ty</sup>'s great seal of England, or the seal of this province of New York, and likewise require them to subscribe the forementioned Association—

And you are to permit a liberty of conscience to all persons (except Papists) so they be contented with a quiet and peaceable enjoyment of the same, not giving offence or scandall to the Government.

You shall take care that all Planters and Christian servants be well and fitly provided with arms, and that they be listed under officers, and when, and as often as you shall think fit, mustered and trained, whereby they may be in a better readiness for the defence of the said province under your Government.

And you are to take especial care that neither the frequency nor unreasonableness of remote marches, musters and trainings, be an unnecessary impediment to the affairs of the Inhabitants.

To transmit yearly an account of the arms ammunition etc.

You shall take an Inventory of all Arms, Ammunition and stores remaining in any of His Maj<sup>y</sup>'s Magazines or Garrisons in his said province, and of those now sent thither, and transmit an account of them yearly to His Maj<sup>y</sup>, by one of his principal Secretaries of State, and to the Commiss<sup>rs</sup> for trade and Plantations.

To demand an acct of stores lately sent etc.

You are also to demand an account of the stores of war lately sent thither, according to the list of stores you will herewith receive, and of what other arms and ammunition have been bought with the publick monys or otherwise for the service of the said Province, and the same to transmit unto His Maj<sup>y</sup> as aforesaid.

To settle publick store houses.

You are to take especial care that fit store houses be settled throughout the said Province, for receiving and keeping of arms, ammunition and other publick stores.

To erect Forts, fortifications etc.

Whereas it hath been represented unto His Maj<sup>y</sup>, that it will be necessary to enlarge the fortifications of Albany and to make others at Schenectade to prevent the incursions of the French and their Indians from Canada, you are with the advise of the Council to raise such Forts, Castles or Platforms at Albany, Schenectade or other places within your Govern<sup>t</sup> as you shall find requisite for this service; Provided the charges thereof be defrayed out of His Maj<sup>y</sup>'s revenue in New York, or by contribution of the inhabitants.

To assist any of the neighbouring Plantations in distress.

In case of distress in any of His Majesty's Plantations, you shall upon application of the respective Govern<sup>t</sup> thereof to you, assist them with what aid the condition and safety of your Government can permit.

Due entries to be made of goods exported and imported and copies thereof yearly to be transmitted—

And that His Maj<sup>y</sup> may be the better informed of the trade of His said province, you are to take care, that due entries be made in all ports of all goods and commodities imported and exported from thence and from and to what places they come and goe, and that a yearly account thereof be transmitted by you unto His Maj<sup>y</sup> by one of His principal Secretaries of State, or to the Commissioners of his Treasury or high Treasurer for the time being, and to the Commissioners for Trade and foreign Plantations.

To give an account of the strength of the bordering neighbours.

You are from time to time to give an account as aforesaid, what strength your bordering neighbours have (be they Indians or others) by sea and land, and what correspondence you do keep with them.

No innovation within the River of New York nor goods to pass up the same but what shall have paid the duties at N. York

And whereas His Maj<sup>y</sup> is informed that some of the Colonies adjoining to his said province under Colour of Grants, or upon some other groundless pretences, endeavour to obstruct the Trade of New York and Albany, you are not to suffer any innovation within the River of New York, nor any goods to pass up the same, but what shall have paid the duties at New York, to the end the chief benefit of that trade may be preserved to the Inhabitants and traders of New York and Albany, the same being agreeable to the laws of the said Province, to former practice as well as necessary for the collecting those customs and other duties which are to be raised for the support of His

To prevent any trade between East Jersey and the Indians other than by the river of New York.

Majesties Govern<sup>t</sup> there; and in case you find the Inhabitants of East Jersey have any other way of Trading with the Indians, than by the said River of New York; you are to use your endeavours to prevent the same, and to give his Maj<sup>y</sup> advice thereof with your opinion what is proper to be done therein.

To encourage the Indians.

You are to encourage the Indians upon all occasions, so as they may apply themselves to the English trade and nation rather than to any other of Europe.

To Assemble the Five nations of Indians.

And you are to call before you the Five nations or Cantons of Indians viz<sup>t</sup>: the Maquaes, Sinecas, Cayouges, oneids and Onandages, and upon their renewing their submission to His Majesty Govern<sup>t</sup> you are to assure them in his name, that he will protect them as his subjects against the French King and his subjects, and when any opportunity shall offer, for purchasing great tracts of land for his Majesty from the Indians for small sums, you are to use your discretion therein as you shall judge for the convenience or advantage which may arise unto His Majesty by the same.

To purchase lands for His Majesty from them

To suppress the ingrossing of commodities and to regulate commerce.

You are to suppress the ingrossing of commodities, tending to [the] prejudice of that freedom which commerce ought to have, and to settle such orders and regulations therein with the advice of the Council as may be most acceptable to the inhabitants.

To Encourage merchants

You are to give all due encouragements and invitation to Merchants and others, who shall bring trade unto the said province, or any way contribute to the advantage thereof, In particular to the Royal African company of England.

Particularly the African Compy.

To observe the Treaty at Madrid in 1670 between England and Spain —

You are carefully to observe all the Articles contained in the Treaty for composing of differences restraining depredations and establishing of peace in America, concluded at Madrid the 1st/<sub>2</sub> day of July 1670 with the Crown of Spain, an Authentick copy whereof you will herewith receive. And in case of any private injury or damage which shall be offered or done, to any of His Majesty's subjects in those parts by the subjects of the King of Spain or any other province or state in amity with His Majesty, you shall take care to give His Majesty an account thereof with all convenient speed, and not to permit or encourage reparations thereof to be sought any other way then what is directed and agreed on by the said Treaties. —

To inform His Majesty if any injury be offered to his subjects and not to permit reparations.

To get a law past for qualifying such as Jurors.

Whereas His Majesty thinks fit for the better Administration of Justice that a law be passed, wherein shall be set the value of Men's estates either in Goods or Lands, under which they shall not be capable of serving as Jurors; You are therefore by the first opportunity of transmitting any laws hither for His Majesty's approbation, to prepare and send one to that purpose.

To endeavour the conversion of the negroes and the Indians to the Christian Religion

You are with the Assistance of the Council, to find out the best means to facilitate and encourage the conversion of Negroes and Indians to the Christian Religion.

To build work houses for employing the poor

You are to endeavour with the Assistance of the Council to provide for the raising and building of publick workhouses in convenient places for the employing of poor and indigent people.

The Govrs salary.

His Majesty's will and pleasure is, that you do take to yourself as Governour, the sum of four hundred pounds per annum, out of the revenue arising in his said province, and that you cause to be paid out of the said revenue to His Majesty's Lieut<sup>t</sup> Gov<sup>r</sup> the sume of two hundred pounds p<sup>r</sup> annum, as likewise to the several officers both civil and military, such salaries and allowances as have been annually paid unto them, until you shall receive His Majesty's farther directions therein.

No alteration to be made in the value of the currant coynae

You shall not upon any pretence whatsoever, permit any alteration to be made in the value of the current coynae, either foreign or belonging to His Majesty's dominions, without having first signified unto His Majesty the reasons for so doing, and received His pleasure therein —

Writs to be issued in His Majesty's name.

You are to take care that all writts be issued in His Majesty's Royal name throughout his said province and the territories depending thereon.

No printing press to be kept without his Licences —

For as much as great inconveniences may arise, by the liberty of printing within the province of New York, you are to provide all necessary orders, that no person keep any press for printing, nor that any book, Pamphlet or other matters whatsoever be printed, without your especial leave and licence first obtained.

Mr Levingston's case recommended. Whereas Robert Levingston an inhabitant of the said province of New York did in the year 1695. humbly lay before His Maj<sup>ty</sup> several petitions and memorials relating to sums of money with interest thereupon, pretended to be due unto him for disbursements (and otherwise) upon account of publick service in that province, and relating also to certain offices and employments, upon all which His Maj<sup>ty</sup> then gave directions by several particular orders in Council according to the subject matter of each demand, but the Governor and Council of that province, to whom the examination of his said demands were referr'd, have thought it fit for His Maj<sup>ty</sup>'s service, to defer the execution of his foresaid orders, until upon further information His Majesty should be pleased to give further directions therein; His Maj<sup>ty</sup>'s will and pleasure therefore is: that you, (together with his said Council of that Province) do enquire and examine particularly as well into all the said Robert Levingstons demands, upon which the foresaid orders were grounded, as into the reasons that have hitherto induced the foresaid Govern<sup>r</sup> & Council, to defer their compliance therewithall, and that you report to His Maj<sup>ty</sup> your opinion upon the whole matter.

To do anything for the advantage of the Province And if any thing shall happen that may be of advantage and security to the said province, which is not herein or by His Maj<sup>ty</sup>'s Commission provided for, His Maj<sup>ty</sup>'s will and pleasure is, that with the advice and consent of His Council, you take order for the present therein, giving speedy notice thereof, that so you may receive, His Maj<sup>ty</sup>'s ratification if he shall approve of the same, Provided always, that you do not by colour of any Power or Authority hereby given you, commence or declare War, without His Maj<sup>ty</sup>'s knowledge and command therein, except it be against Indians upon emergencies, wherein the consent of the Council shall be had, and speedy notice given thereof unto His Maj<sup>ty</sup>; And you are upon all occasions, to send unto His Maj<sup>ty</sup>, by one of his principal Secretaries of State, and the Commissioners for Trade and Foreign plantations, a particular account of all your proceedings, and of the condition of affairs within your Government.

The laws relating to the Plantations and the Trade thereof to be punctually observed. And whereas the Lords Spiritual and Temporal in Parliament, upon consideration of the great abuses practised in the Plantation trade, have by an humble address lately represented to His Maj<sup>ty</sup>, the great importance it is of, both to His Maj<sup>ty</sup>'s kingdome and to his Plantations in America, that the many good laws, which have been made for the Govern<sup>t</sup> of the said plantations, and particularly the act passed in the 7th and 8th years of His Maj<sup>ty</sup>'s reign, entituled—An act for preventing frauds and regulating abuses in the Plantation Trade, be strictly observed; you are therefore to take notice, that whereas notwithstanding the many good laws made from time to time, for preventing of frauds in the Plantation trade, it is nevertheless manifest, that very great abuses have been and continue still to be practised to the prejudice of the same, which abuses must needs arise either from the insolvency of the persons who are accepted for security, or from the remissness or connivance of such as have been or are Governors in the several Plantations, who ought to take care that those persons who give bond should be duly prosecuted in case of nonperformance. His Maj<sup>ty</sup> taking the good of his Plantations, and the improvement of the Trade thereof, by a strict and punctual observance of the several laws in force concerning the same, to be of so great importance to the benefit of this his kingdome, and to the advancing of the duties of his Customes here, that if he shall be hereafter inform'd that at any time there shall be any failure in the due observance of those laws within the foresaid province of New York and the territories thereon depending, by any wilfull fault or neglect on your part, His Maj<sup>ty</sup> shall look upon it as a breach of the trust reposed in you by him, which he shall punish with the loss of your place in that Govern<sup>t</sup> and such further marks of his displeasure, as he shall judge reasonable to be inflicted upon you for your offence against His Maj<sup>ty</sup>, in a matter of this consequence, that he now so particularly charges you with.

To give due encouragement to the officers of the Admiralty and customs.

And whereas His Maj<sup>ty</sup> has given orders for the Commissionating of fit persons to be vice Admirals and Officers of His Admiralty and Customs in His several plantations upon the Continent of America and particularly within his dominions of New England and New York, His Maj<sup>ty</sup> does therefore hereby will and require you, to give all due Countenance and encouragement, unto the said Officers of his Admiralty and Customes in the execution of their respective Offices & trusts in all the places under your Govern<sup>t</sup>

By their Excellencies command.

Additional Instructions to the Earl of Bellmont.

By the Lords Justices.

Romney

His Majesty having taken into His consideration which of your Governments in America you should first repair to, and being satisfied that your going to New York should not be delayed, by reason that is the frontier province the most exposed to the Enemy, which will therefore more immediately require your care to settle everything there in a fitting posture, either for the defence of the Country or for anoying the Enemy. His Maj<sup>ty</sup> hath thought fit hereby, to order, that you go accordingly directly to New York, unless after your departure from hence you shall meet with advices that may more necessarily oblige you to repair to any other of your Govern<sup>ts</sup> in which case it is left at your liberty to repair to any other of your Govern<sup>ts</sup> before your going to New York.

By their Excellencies command

JAMES VERNON.

Governor Fletcher to the Lords of Trade.

[New-York Entries, A. 296.]

May it please Your Lordships.

Since my last of the 22 of June and 2<sup>d</sup> of July copies whereof are now sent, I have received no further commands from Your Lord<sup>sh</sup>s.

A ship from Enzel taken by the French and carried to Canada.

The men well treated and sent to Albany with provisions etc.

Upon which Coll: Fletcher releases so many French.

He transmits a copy of the last Indian propositions—

The Albany Indians have had advantage of the French this last summer.

The Earl of Bellomont is expected with clothing for the soldiers relief of the Richmond in which is expected cloathing for the four companies here, who are in great want but have no account yet either of the Earl or the ship, which is a great obstruction of affairs, the common people being of opinion that there will be no taxes for carrying on the war, when the Earl arrives but on the contrary, and that all that is raised will be repaid them.

He has paid the victuallers staff & warrant officers to the 1st of May last there is yet six months due.

He cannot get money for the subsistence of the Soldiers, another now being appointed Governour

The Councils proceedings thereupon—

Soldiers in want.

He has sent 500*l* of the Country's money for the Soldiers at Albany.

Upon a copy of the Council of Trades letter to Mr Stoughton for assistance to Newfoundland 3 vessels were dispatched from New York with provisions.

A Brigantine, one Cales Master bound from England hither with a cargoe of the value of *£*6000 was taken by a French privateer and carried into Canada; the French Gov<sup>r</sup> was kind to the prisoners and gave them provisions and things necessary and let them travell to Albany, whereupon by the advice of the Council, as well to maintaine fair quarter, as to ease the province of the charge of some old men and women, that were taken by our Indians, I set so many at liberty with necessaries for their journey to Canada.

I have taken this opportunity of the Pinke New York Merchant, which proceeds without convoy, to pay the duty I owe your Lordships to remit the copy of the latest Indian propositions and to give your Lord<sup>sh</sup>s an account that this province is in safety, and that our Indians of Albany have had the advantage of the French of Canada both as to death & prisoners this summer.

We have long since heard the Earl of Bellomont is commissioned for the Govern<sup>t</sup> of this Province and that of New England, and has been expected all the months of July and August, and that the Foy frigatt is appointed for the relief of the Richmond in which is expected cloathing for the four companies here, who are in great want but have no account yet either of the Earl or the ship, which is a great obstruction of affairs, the common people being of opinion that there will be no taxes for carrying on the war, when the Earl arrives but on the contrary, and that all that is raised will be repaid them.

I have cleared off the Victuallers and Staffe and Warrant Officers, to the 1st of May, there is six months due to them the 1st inst: another being appointed Gov<sup>r</sup> I cannot have money upon bills for the subsistance; I did call together the Council and laid the matter before them who have agreed that if the Victuallers do raise money upon interest to answer a further supply of provisions for the ensuing winter, they will order the payment of Interest out of the Revenue. I doubt it will prove difficult to raise money upon that order. I hope the Earl will soon arrive, if the cloathing does not come suddenly, there is no hope of getting them up to Albany this Winter, and the men are in extreeme want.

I have on the tenth instant sent up *£*500 of the Countreys money towards the relief of the Soldiers, which will be of some help, and should have been there as I was last winter, were it not for the daily expectation I have of being recalled.

The Lieut<sup>g</sup> Gov<sup>r</sup> of Boston keeps a constant friendly correspondence with me, he sent me a copy of your Lord<sup>sh</sup>s directions to him for giving assistance to Coll: Gibson in Newfoundland, and because the inhabitants of Boston have great part of their bread from hence and have been in great necessity, he wrote to me to perform the said order, which I communicated to the Council who all agreed, that the Merchants of this City should be convened, and the letter and your Lord<sup>sh</sup>s directions communicated which was done, whereupon three vessels were quickly dispatched full of provisions to Newfoundland whereof we have advice the two first are arrived.

The province much improved these last five years. My chiefest endeavour, as it always has been is to assert my duty to His Majesty in studying the safety of the province, and I blesse God, my endeavours have not been ineffectual; It has improved more in building and Trade these last five years, than in many years before, which I shall be able to demonstrate to your Lord<sup>sh</sup> when it shall please God to bring me to my native Country of England, and to justify myself as to my loyalty and honesty. I am may it please Your Lord<sup>sh</sup>—Your Lord<sup>sh</sup> most obedient and most faithful humble servant.

BEN FLETCHER

Messrs. Schuyler, Dellius and Wessells to Governor Fletcher.

[New-York Papers, A. B. B.34.]

May it pleas Your Excell:

PRESENT —

Coll. P. Schuyler
Dellius
Major Wessells

Brethren

Wee come here to lay before you our poverty and that wee are menaced by the French and Twightwicks Indians,<sup>1</sup> both our enemies.

Wee beg that you'l please to assist us with powder and lead that we may be capasitated to defend our selves and anoy y<sup>e</sup> enemy.

They lay down two otters and four beavour skins.

Brethren

Wee are sorry to have it to tell you the loss of our brethren the Sinnikes suffer'd in an engagement wth y<sup>e</sup> Twichtwichts Indians; our young men kill'd severall of the enemy, but upon their retreat some of their Cheife Capt<sup>s</sup> were cut off.

You know our custome is to condole y<sup>e</sup> dead by wampom, therefore we desire you give us some for these Beavours; soe laid down ten Beav<sup>r</sup> skins. The wampum was imediatly given them for the said skins, and the day following appointed for a confarence upon the first proposition made by them for powder & lead &c

The next day wee accordingly mett, and the said Sachems and Capt<sup>s</sup> being present wee adressed ourselves to them saying;—You desire of us powder and lead, what occasion have you for those necessaries of warr, or how can you aske for such assistance from us when in the mean time you have prively sent messengers to the French Gov<sup>r</sup> of Canida (our enemy and yours) with Belts of Wampum, desireing to make a peace. Whereupon the said Sachins and Capt<sup>r</sup> reply'd that they were wholly ignorant of y<sup>e</sup> matter and had no hand in it, directly or indirectly, or ever heard of such a thing till they arrived at Onnoudage (upon their journey hether) where they were informed that messengers were sent to Canida from thence, but with no design or intent of peace, but purely to delude that Gov<sup>r</sup> and to gaine time that their young men might hunt in safety.

And as for their own parts they assured us that they would never make peace or agree to it wth the French Gov<sup>r</sup> of Canida, without the consent and good likeing of Cayinquiragoe and the <sup>*The 5 Nations.</sup> whole *Canossioone, and that they would always keep bright and clean the Covenant Chain wth Cayinquiragoe and never suffer any rust to grow upon it.

Upon which wee gave them fifty pounds of powder and soe much lead of the late stores sent up by your Excell. for that purpose, as alsoe some rum to Cheir up their hearts.

With submission to your Excell. wee thought it proper to put some notions in the heads of those Indians to keep them warme in the warr, and that Canida might bee alsoe in an alarme of a design on that place this winter; therefore desired that each nation should furnish us with twenty pair of snow shoes about Christmas time; upon which we gave them seven hands of wampum to communicate the same to all the 5 Nations.

Two days after wee dispatched these Indians there arrived with us at Albany three Sinnikes Sachems and brought to Coll. Schuyler four Beav<sup>r</sup> skins, desireing they might have wampum for them; which they had; who assured us the same as the afore mentioned Cayugers.

Wee are further to inform yo<sup>r</sup> Excell: that wee design to dismiss the Bushlopers, their service being cheifly in the sūmer. Wee engaged to pay them when discharged, which wee shall doe by our particullar bonds, if money be not remitted soe timely as to answer the same; which wee doe not doubt Your Excell. directions in, when is paid by the country; being witness of your Excell: tender care of the whole Province in gen<sup>l</sup> and this fronteers in particullar, and allsoe your Excell. prudent conduct in the managem<sup>t</sup> of affairs with the Five Nations, keeping them firm to his Maj<sup>ties</sup> interest to this very day, notwithstanding their many waverings occasioned by the tediousnesse of the war and the bribes and treats of the French of Canida.

Wee have not to add, but shall be always ready and cheirfull to observe your Excell. cōmands and remain

Your Excellencys
Most humble & obedient servants

Earl of Bellmont to the Lords of Trade.

[New-York Entries, A. 203.]

To the Right Hon<sup>ble</sup> the Lords Commissioners of the Council of Trade & Plantations.

My Lords.

I have had the misfortune to be driven off the coast of New York by violent storms, which broke our shrouds, and other parts of our Rigging, insomuch, as the Capt<sup>n</sup>, and other Officers of the ship, fearing our main mast would come by the Board, bore away to Barbados where we arrived the 5th inst: and find the Island very healthy. Our ship was weakly mann'd, which was one reason why our Capt<sup>n</sup> thought it necessary to bear away, for by the men's continual labour during the bad weather, which I believe lasted a fortnight, they were so wearied out, that we had not hands enough to work the ship; besides we had not a sufficient stock of water to last as much longer. Since my arrival here a Boston Ship (bound thither from the Maderas) came in hither, having been driven off the coast of New England by the same storme that made us beare away.

Within four or five days after our leaving England we were separated from our transport ships, and the rest that came under our convoy by hard weather, tho' we made as little saile, as we could to bear them company.

It has been no small disturbance to me to miss of getting into New Yorke, but I will endeavour to redeem this losse of time when I come thither, by a more than ordinary application to the business of that Country, and especially to the exact performance of your Lordships Commands and Instructions.

I am with respect.

My Lords,

Your Lordships most humble and faithful servant,

BELLMONT.

Jan<sup>r</sup> 8, 1697.

Our Capt<sup>n</sup> promised to refit the ship by the 7th of next month, when we intend, God willing, to saile again for New Yorke.

Mr. Penn's Plan for a Union of the Colonies in America.

[Plantation General Entries, XXXIV A. 102.]

A Briefe and Plaine Scheam how the English Colonies in the North parts of America Viz: Boston Connecticut Road Island New York New Jerseys, Pensilvania, Maryland, Virginia and Carolina may be made more usefull to the Crowne, and one anothers peace and safty with an universall concurrence.

1st. That the severall Colonies before mentioned do meet once a year, and ofener if need be, during the war, and at least once in two years in times of peace, by their stated and appointed Deputies, to debate and resolve of such measures as are most adviseable for their better understanding, and the publick tranquility and safety

2. That in order to it two persons well qualified for sence sobriety and substance be appointed by each Province, as their Representatives or Deputies, which in the whole make the Congress to consist of twenty persons.

3. That the Kings Commissioner for that purpose specially appointed shall have the Chaire and preside in the said Congresse.

4. That they shall meet as near as conveniently may be to the most centrall Colony for ease of the Deputies.

5 Since that may in all probability, be New York both because it is near the Center of the Colonies and for that it is a Frontier and in the Kings nomination, the Gov<sup>r</sup> of that Colony may therefore also be the Kings High Commissioner during the Session after the manner of Scotland.

6. That their business shall be to hear and adjust all matters of Complaint or difference between Province and Province. As 1st where persons quit their own Province and goe to another, that they may avoid their just debts tho they be able to pay them, 2<sup>d</sup> where offenders fly Justice, or Justice cannot well be had upon such offenders in the Provinces that entertaine them, 3<sup>o</sup> to prevent or cure injuries in point of commerce, 4th, to consider of ways and means to support the union and safety of these Provinces against the publick enemies In which Congresse the Quotas of men and charges will be much easier, and more equally sett, then it is possible for any establishment made here to do; for the Provinces, knowing their own condition and one anothers, can debate that matter with more freedome and satisfaction and better adjust and balance their affairs in all respects for their common safty.

7<sup>y</sup> That in times of war the Kings High Commissioner shall be generall or Chief Commander of the severall Quotas upon service against the Common enemy as he shall be advised, for the good and benefit of the whole.

The Lords of Trade to the Earl of Bellmont.

[New-York Entries, A. 299.]

My Lord.

The letters we have writt to your Lord<sup>sh</sup> since your departure from England, have been dated the 12th & 30th Nov<sup>r</sup> and 15th Dec<sup>r</sup> last, of all which duplicates having been sent by different Conveyances, we think it not needful to repeat any thing of the Contents thereof—

We now herewith send your Lordship His Maj<sup>ty</sup>'s Proclamation of the 25th of the last month prohibiting his subjects to enter into the service of foreign princes and States, that you may cause it to be published in the usual places of His Maj<sup>ty</sup>'s province of New York, and as much as in you lies take care that His Maj<sup>ty's</sup> pleasure therein expressed be duly observed, and the transgressors thereof punished, and we having sent at the same time other proclamations of the same tenour to the Massachusetts Bay and New Hampshire with the like directions, your Lord<sup>sh</sup> may please thereupon to give unto each of His Maj<sup>ty's</sup> Lieut<sup>ts</sup> Governors there, what further orders may be necessary for the better observance thereof.

Two letters, one to Connecticut, the other to Rhode Islands.

We send you likewise herewithall two letters one to the Governor and Company of Connecticut another to the Gov<sup>r</sup> & Comp<sup>y</sup> of Rhode Island, the contents of both which being alike according to the copy thereof which is also here enclosed for your Lord<sup>sh's</sup> perusal, we desire your Lord<sup>sh</sup> to send them forwards, and if either of those Govern<sup>rs</sup> make any difficulty in complying with what we have required of them, in relation to the Acts of their respective General Assemblies or laws to give us an account thereof, and how you conceive they may be best removed.

Agents. There is one thing very usefull, practised by some of His Maj<sup>ty's</sup> Plantations, which is: to have some persons, constantly residing here as Agents whom we may call upon for further information as may be requisite upon occasion; the want whereof has occasioned delays in publick affairs; and, as there are now no such agents here for the Province of New-York, we cannot but offer it to you as very fit that care should be taken therein.

Port at Perthamboy in East New Jersey

Since your Lord<sup>sh's</sup> departure from hence, the proprietors of East and West New Jersey having been very pressing for the priviledge of Ports in those Countries, we have been obliged to enquire carefully into their pretended right thereunto, and to lay our opinion before His Maj<sup>ty</sup>, that they have no such rights, and that it is not convenient it should be granted to them; upon which His Maj<sup>ty</sup> having been pleased to give directions accordingly, and a copy of our representation being inserted in the order of Council made thereupon, we send you herewithall a copy of the said order, that you may understand the reasons of that determination, and take care that the rights and priviledges of the province of New York be not infringed.

Naval Stores. Your Lordship is undoubtedly so sensible of the great importance of producing all manner of naval stores in his Majestys plantations in America so that this Kingdome may be supplied therewithall from thence, that we need not suggest any reasons for it. But nevertheless we cannot omit to mention it as a thing which his Maj<sup>ty</sup> from the first opening of our Commission has particularly recommended to our care, and upon which therefore we desire Your Lordship to take and transmit unto us all the information possible, and at the same time apply your own thoughts to the promoting of the production of whatever sort may be most suitable and best brought to perfection in any of your Govern<sup>ts</sup>. We are

My Lord,

Your Lordships most humble servants.

The Lords of Trade to the Earl of Bellomont.

[New-York Entries, A. 306.]

My Lord.

WHEREAS great complaints have been made, and daily continue, of many mischiefs committed of late years in the East Indies, and other parts of the world by Pirates, and sea Robbers, and of the too favourable entertainment, protection and encouragement which it is notorious have been given to many of them in several of His Majesties Colonies in America, both in their preparation, or fitting out from thence, and in their returne thither as to a secure receptacle: His Maj<sup>ty</sup> taking the same into consideration together with the further consequences of such like pernicious practices, which, by the resentment of princes and States concern'd, and otherwise, will infallibly more and more tend to the prejudice of Trade and bring great Scandal upon the English name and nation; and desiring that this evill may be effectually cured in the root and spring of it. Has thereupon been pleased to direct us to send unto the Governours of all His Plantations in America; Copies of an act past in the Island of Jamaica: for restraining and punishing Privateers and Pirates, which may be very usefull to that end, and to require all his said Governours respectively to use their utmost endeavours with the Assemblies in each of His said Plantations, for the passing of acts there to the same effect, and when past to be very vigilant in the exact execution thereof.

Now we having delivered to your Lord<sup>sh</sup> a copy of the forementioned Act past in the Island of Jamaica, together with our letter of the 26th of August last, and (upon presumption that there was already some Act of the like nature in force in the Province of New Yorke) required then only your care in promoting the passing of one to the same purpose in the Massachusetts Bay, we are obliged upon this occasion, that His Maj<sup>ty</sup>'s pleasure may be observed uniformly throughout all His Plantations to recommend the same thing unto your Lordship's care for the province of New Hampshire also. And further, to avoid any misunderstanding concerning either the Massachusetts Bay, or New York, whereas since the writing of our foresaid letter, we have seen an Act of the like nature past in the Massachusetts Bay, which we esteem not so effectual as that of Jamaica, and are not certain whether that enacted at New Yorke be not also less effectual than it ought to be, we are obliged to recommend it also to your Lordships care that the laws on that subject in both those provinces may be to the same effect, and that His Maj<sup>ty</sup>'s further pleasure in the execution of the said laws when enacted be punctually obeyed throughout each of His Maj<sup>ty</sup>'s provinces under your Govern<sup>t</sup>.

Just as this letter was intended to have been dispatched, we have received one from your Lordship dated in Barbadoes the eight of January last by which we are glad to understand your Lord<sup>sh</sup>'s Safty there, after the fatigue and hazard of so long and violent a storme as you have been exposed to, and hope the remaining part of your voyage will have been more fortunate. As for what you write to our Secretary about the incursions of the Eastern Indians upon some part of New England and New Hampshire, which he hath communicated to us, we suppose it will not be long before we may, receive your Lord<sup>sh</sup>'s opinion from a nearer view of those matters after your arrival in that Country, and therefore the engaging of our Indians in a war with them, who have put themselves under the protection of the French seeming to us a matter of consequence, we will expect to hear further from your Lordship thereupon — We are

Mr. Randolph to the Lords of Trade.

[Plantation General Entries, XXXIV. A. 296.]

To the Right Hon<sup>ble</sup> the Lords Commissioners of the Council of Trade and Plantations.

May it please your Lordships

In obedience to your Lordships Commands signified by M<sup>r</sup> Secretary Pople in his letter to me of the 1 of April & 1697 to give your Lordships from time to time an account of whatsoever I shall judge proper for their knowledge in order to his Majesty's service, in any of the Colonies wherein I shall reside; I humbly represent that I arrived the 16 of December past at Annapolis the Cheif Town in the Province of Maryland I administered the Oath to Colonel Nicholson the Governor, the 11th of January past; he continues very zealous to put the Acts of Trade in execution and to the end no illegall Traders may for the future gett off with slender security, he has put all forfeited Plantation and bonds in suite, and recovered Judgments against severall of the inhabitants who were bound with the Masters of Vessells, carrying their Tobacco from thence to Scotland directly, which makes many of them (being Scotch Traders) very uneasy to the Governour.

I fearing I could not comply with the time limited by the Act for administering the oath to the Governour of Pensilvania, sent the Commission, ordered to remain in Virginia for administering the oath to the Governour for the time being, by my servant to S<sup>r</sup> Edmond Andros who as accordingly taken the oath, and is very strict himself and obliges the officers of the Customs to be very diligent and punctuall in their respective places

With much difficulty I gott over Chesepeak Bay and travelled to Pensilvania calling at New Castle upon Delaware Bay tis inhabited with Scotch and Dutch cheilly and a few French, and one or two Englishmen, they are under an arbitrary Quaker Government where neither Judges, Juries, nor Witnesses are sworn even in tryalls of Criminalls, as about four yeares agoe, when I was there (as I was informed, but will more particularly appear by the Record of the said tryall if they kept any) one Richardson was tryed, condemned and executed upon a supposed murther, so that His Majesty's subjects inhabiting in those parts and Pensilvania also, are in no wise secure in their Estates, Lives and Liberties, nor can it be expected that the officers of

His Majestyes Customs can have Justice done, where there are no persons qualified by an oath to try their causes upon Seizures and otherwise.

I came to Philadelphia, and administred the oath to M<sup>r</sup> Markham the Governor the 17th of March past but he has not his Majesty's Order in Council allowing him to be Governor of that Province.

Colonel Nicholson hearing of some of Every's men were in Philadelphia forthwith sent the Lords Justices Proclamation (for apprehending them) to M<sup>r</sup> Markham, who instead of securing, supported and encouraged them; two of the cheif (Clinton and Lassell) were carried to Carolina from Philadelphia, by one Medlicott another of Every's men and surgeon of his ship; another of them (one Clause a cooper) lives now in Philadelphia, I have seen him almost every day in the Streets, and James Brown (one also of that Company) is married to Mr. Markhams Daughter.

I humbly enclose a copy of their examination attested by David Lloyd the Attorney General, I likewise send a copy of the preface of their laws in which they shew themselves independent from the Crown, not acknowledging his present Majesty King William the third, to be their Sovereign Lord and King.

I have ordered one of the inhabitants of Philadelphia to be arrested (being security for a Vessel which carried her Tobacco to Scotland directly from thence) upon his forfeited Plantation Bond of £1000, another upon a Bond of £500; I went to the Governor and desired him to appoint an Attorney General to prosecute those Bonds for his Majesty, but he did nothing in it.

He has adjourned the Courts for six months and by that means he has given a fair oppertunity to the Persons arrested to secure themselves and Estates from future trouble, and to those also (whose forfeited Plantation Bonds he refuses to shew me, so that his Majesty's Service is neglected, the Acts of Trade eluded, and the officers of the Customs putt to charge and trouble to no purpose. M<sup>r</sup> Markham has likewise discharged a vessell of New York belonging to Colonel Heathcot, and Captain Evans commander of the Richmond Frigott now at New York, seized by his own warrant for loading tobacco before bond given, since he received and published the Act for preventing frauds.

About ten days ago twas discovered that five or six vessells from the Red seas were upon the coast one of them was in att Connecticut Colony (a propriety) and unlivered part of her goods which were seized upon by his Excellencies directions to Captain Gulliford commander of his Majesty's Frigot the Fowy.

The Swift Frigott (Captain Bostoek Commander) being run aground at North Carolina, and in danger to be lost, I there in pursuance to my Instructions from my Masters the Commissioners of His Majesty's Customs, intend to take my passage upon the Fowy with his Majesty's Commission to administer the Oaths to the Governors of Carolina and Bermudas and to carry the Commission and Instructions to the Bahama Islands, where I am well informed by a master of a vessell belonging to this place (who lately came from thence) that Captain Webb the proprietors Governor seizes and clears Vessells, making the masters pay what he pleases, and takes no notice of M<sup>r</sup> Graves appointed to be the Collector of his Majesty's Customes in that place.

Your Lordships may please to Remember that besides the proprietors Governors taking the Oath, and being approved of by his Majesty's Order in Council before their entrance into their respective Governments; (as in the Act for preventing frauds is enacted) That the Right honourable the Lords Spiritual and Temporall all assembled in parliament for the better regulating the Proprietors Governours did humbly propose to his Majesty that the owners of the severall Propriety's who live in England, should give good security to the value of two or £3000 to his Majesty, that their Governours should punctually observe all the Acts of Trade &c. and that none of their Governours be approved of by his Majesty's order in Council, untill such bond were given I believe that none of the present Governours (except Captain Webb Governor of the Bahama Islands) are approved of by his Majesty's order in Council neither have any of the owners (living in England) given such Bond, so that notwithstanding the Act for preventing frauds, the severall Commissious and all other methods directed, for the bringing these independent propriety's to due conformity to the laws and Government of England, have been of no effect, and the sending officers of the Customs thither with great Salaries (as Mr Penn has truly observed, from the temper of his friends) is only a charge to the Crown.

For preventing these and many other open violations and contempts of his Majestys laws and authority it is humbly proposed that his Majesty be pleased to take into his own hands the Government of all these petty independent Platations and appoint Governours by his commissions, reserving all ways to the owners of such Proprieties all their Right and property to all intents and purposes as fully and amply as by their said letters Patents &c. are granted to them &c. otherwise should a hundred Acts be made for the regulation of them, they will pay no obedience to them.

I take leave further humbly to propose to Your Lordships that it is absolutely necessary for his Majesty's service, that the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty do send at least two small light Frigatts to be under the Command and direction of his Excellency the Earl of Bellomont, besides these now already appointed for New York and New England otherwise twill be impossible to prevent illegall Traders and Pirates, especially from trading in the Provinces and Colonies extending about eight hundred miles from New England to Carolina upon the coast of America, as also to defend lawfull traders from spoile and Rapine often committed by Pyrates on this coast, New York being the center and is scituated near the main Ocean, so that Vessells may in much less time cruise to the Eastward or Westward as occasion shall require from thence

All which is humbly submitted by

New York the 26 of April 1698.

E: RANDOLPH.

Earl of Bellomont to the Lords of Trade.

[New-York Entries, A. 212.]

To the Right Honorable the Lords of the Council of Trade

My Lords,

In my letter of the eighth of January last I gave your Lordships an account of my arrival at Barbadoes.

On the ninth of March I left that Island, and on the second of April I landed at the City of New York, and entered on the Govern<sup>t</sup>, and by the advice of the

His arrival at New York.

An Assembly called.

If administration of the late Govern<sup>t</sup>

I must likewise with great concerne informe your Lordships, that by the late administration of this Government, His Maj<sup>ty</sup>'s affairs have so been put out of frame that it will cost me very much pains and trouble to bring them into order and to support the dignity of His Maj<sup>ty</sup>'s Govern<sup>t</sup> and the just observance of his laws.

Corruption of Officers of the Revenue.

The carelessness and corruption of the officers of the revenue and customes have been so great for some years past that although the Trade of this place hath been four times as much as formerly and the City greatly enlarged, and enriched, yet His Maj<sup>ty</sup>'s revenue arising from the Customes, hath decreased the one half from what it was ten years since; and the Merchants here have been so used to

Man of warr; that he had no boat, and other excuses; and when I gave him positive commands to do it, which he could not avoid, yet his delay of four days time gave opportunity to the ship wholly to unlade a rich cargo of East India goods, believed to be worth twenty thousand pounds; and only the last boats laden from her were seized to the value of about one thousand pounds, and I am informed that several other ships have since my landing here, transgressed the acts of Trade which I could not prevent.

New York a nest of Pirates.

This city hath likewise been a nest of Pirates, and I already find that several of their ships have been (and now are) out, have their owners and were fitted from this Port, and have Commissions to act as privateers, from the late Gov<sup>t</sup> here; but I have given a full account of this matter in a particular letter to your Lord<sup>sh</sup> by this conveyance.

Male administration of Coll: Fletcher.

Since my arrival here I have received many complaints of the male administration of the late Gov<sup>t</sup>; but I had no authority to call him to an account of them; indeed, the cry of the people, is so great that Coll: Fletcher hath imbezeled and converted to his own use, great sums of their publick moneys, and finding that he designed for England before the sitting of the

He converted great sums of publick money to his own use.

Assembly (for quieting the people in that point, and to give Coll: Fletcher an opportunity to cleare himself from that Calumny) I passed a Commission to a certain fitt persons to receive, state and audit all the publick accounts of this Govern<sup>t</sup>, but because the proofs and vouchers of Coll: Fletcher's accounts would detard his designed voyage for England, by the Richmond Frigate, in respect to His Maj<sup>ty</sup>s Commis<sup>n</sup> which he so lately bore, I chose to give him the least uneasiness, and accepted of his giving security to be answerable to His Maj<sup>ty</sup> for all publick monys which will be found irregularly disposed of by him, during his Govern<sup>t</sup> of this province, and I have I hope thereby somewhat quieted the peoples minds which were disturb'd on that occasion.

Trade between New York and Madagascar

I think it necessary likewise to informe you Lord<sup>sh</sup> that there is a great trade managed between this port and Madagascar, from whence great quantities of East India goods are brought, which are certainly purchased from Pirates; I am at a loss what method to take in this matter, and therefore pray your Lord<sup>sh</sup> directions therein. I find that this practice is set up in order that the spoils taken by the Pirates (set out from this City) may be brought in hither in East India goods bought of Pirates brought from thence.

Reasons for this Trade.

merchant ships, whose owners are likewise owners and interested in the Pirates ships, and I particularly find, that one Capt<sup>n</sup> Moston Commander of the ship Fortune (now under seizure)

altho' an unfree bottom had a Commission from Coll: Fletcher to be a privateer, and as if protected by that did publicly load here for Madagascar and came back laden with East India goods supposed to be partly the produce of the cargo and partly the Pirates goods, which were landed and concealed all but the last boat (as I have before informed you) and it was so contrived that this ship the Fortune was with Coll: Fletcher's Commission sent from hence to Madagascar at the same time that Hore and Glover's ship (two most notorious Pirates) were there, both of which had Commissions from Coll: Fletcher at New Yorke.

No Naval Officer.

I likewise find that no Naval Officer was appointed by Coll: Fletcher to be a check on the Collector; but both offices were discharged by Mr Chidley Brooks; how faithfully your Lordships shall be made acquainted by the next conveyance.

No register for ships kept --

He has appropriated one also in Naval officer

Consequence of the want of such Officers.

No care was taken for any register for ships in New York but I have since my arrival appointed a distinct Naval Officer and a Register according to the authority and intent of the act of Parliament; the neglect of it hath been of ill influence to Trade; for that many Merchant ships will be seized in other parts, for not having certificates from the Register, as the Act of Parliament appoints, this neglect hath indeed been in other Govern<sup>ts</sup>, which hath occasioned the seizing of several Remedies. ships here. To remedy which, the Surveyor General of the Customes M<sup>r</sup> Randolph, and the Collector of the Customes M<sup>r</sup> Brooks, with consent of the Council have agreed with me, that securities being given to the value of the ships, that certificates from the Register of the places to which the said ships belong, shall be produced here in a certain time, and to answer any damage may accrue thereby to His Maj<sup>ty</sup>; the ships should be permitted to proceed on their voyages, which I hope your Lord<sup>sh</sup> will approve of as a proper provision to prevent frauds or any injury thereby to the King, and yet not hinder trade. I have by this conveyance given an account of this affair to the Right Hon<sup>ble</sup> the Lords of the Treasury, to be imparted to the Hon<sup>ble</sup> the Com<sup>rs</sup> of the Customs.

He has given an account thereof to the Lords of the Treasury.

I have given orders to Coll: Romar His Maj<sup>ty</sup>'s chief Engineer, to survey all the fortifications of this Govern<sup>t</sup>, and shall myself within a month visit the Frontiers of Albany, and order such new Fortifications to be made on the Frontiers as may secure this Province in time of warr or invasion.

He has ordered the Inhabitants and the 5 Nations of Indians to be numbered.

Their peace with the French.

I have given order for the numbering the Inhabitants of this Govern<sup>t</sup> and of the five nations of Indians, who are half destroyed by this warr, and have appointed them to meet me at my arrival to Albany, to renew their friendship, which was almost lost; four of their five nations having agreed on a peace with the French, before our peace with the French was proclaimed.

The ill condition of the Forces.

I find the Forces in pay here in a miserable condition, not half the number by the establishment, and almost starved, and many complaints of hardships done them before my arrival. I shall examine them all, and shall give what remedy I am able, and then give your Lordships a faithful account thereof.

The Jerseys have obtained leave for 2. ports.

Consequence thereof.

I presume your Lord<sup>sh</sup> will likewise think it worth your serious consideration that the Govern<sup>t</sup> of the Jerseys have obtained leave to make two Ports for trade in their Govern<sup>t</sup> which will be a destruction to the Trade of the City and province of New York, who have established laws, for Customs by which a considerable revenue is raised to support the Govern<sup>t</sup>; but if the said ports of the Jersys are permitted to lade and unlade ships free from such impositions, all Merchants will resort thither, being but twenty miles distance, which will be the ruine of this the King's Govern<sup>t</sup>, which is the Bulwark, defence, and support of His Maj<sup>ties</sup> neighbouring provinces, and the laws of this province that exacts customes & imposts of goods do expire this next year, and I fear it will be difficult if not impossible to get them revived, or that the people will be willing to lay that Clog on their trade which the Jersys will be freed from, so that a revenue which well managed may advance six thousand pounds or 7000.£ p<sup>a</sup> annum will fall and nothing be left to support the Government.

He would not permit Proclamations to be printed for making Perth and Burlington Free ports.

I would not permit proclamations to be printed in this City establishing PerthAmboy and Burlington to be free ports; until I made your Lordships acquainted with this matter, and received His Maj<sup>ty</sup>'s further pleasure about it; I am assured that the Assembly of this province at their meeting will fully represent this matter to your Lordships, to be laid before His Maj<sup>ty</sup>, with all the fatal inconveniences that attend it.

He has sent the articles of peace etc. to Canada.

I have sent the proclamation and articles of peace, and have returned nineteen French prisoners with letters to the Gov<sup>t</sup> of Canada & Montreall, which was neglected until my arrival, and I am inform'd that those Governors had no account thereof before, nor received any orders therein from France.

He transmits the printed laws.

I have pursuant to your Lord<sup>ps</sup> orders transmitted by this conveyance a printed collection of all the Laws of New York together with print<sup>d</sup> procl<sup>ms</sup> for suppressing of vice and to prevent corruptions in the Elections and returns of Representatives for the ensuing Assembly, a practice much complained of.

Also copies of his Letters to the Admiralty Treasury and the Commissars of the Customs.

I have likewise inclosed copys of my letters by this conveyance to the Lords of the Treasury and the Lords of the Admiralty & the Commissioners of the Customs, with copys of all papers referred to in them for your Lord<sup>ps</sup> perusal—
I am with respect,

My Lords,

Your Lordships most humble & faithful servant,

BELMONT.

Coll: Fletcher has got a Certificate of his good Government.

P. S. Just now I have received a copy of an address or certificate which Coll: Fletcher the late Gov<sup>r</sup> here hath procured, declaring his Justice & good Govern<sup>t</sup> of this province, of the Current of the laws and increase of Trade, which he designs to make use to obsoleve him from all complaints that may be made against him. I do not question but to send to your Lord<sup>ps</sup> by the next conveyance several depositions of several of the subscribers that will prove matter of fact point blank contrary to their Certificate, which 'tis supposed Coll: Fletcher's guilt and their own involv'd together, prevailed on them to sign.

Earl of Bellmont to the Lords of Trade.

[New-York Entries, A. 828.]

To the Right Hon<sup>ble</sup> the Lords Commiss<sup>rs</sup> of the Council of Trade & Plantations.

My Lords

I have wrote largely of the General State of this Govern<sup>t</sup> in letters of this date, this is particularly to informe your Lord<sup>ps</sup> in relation to Pirates and the proceeding of the late Gov<sup>r</sup>

Pirates protected by Coll: Fletcher.

Fletcher to encourage and protect them, which I have [been] industrious to discover in obedience to repeated orders and instruct<sup>ns</sup> which I have received from His Maj<sup>ty</sup>, most strict in the matter, and I find that those Pyrates that have given the greatest disturbance in the East Indies and Red Sea, have been either fitted from Whence fitted.

New-York or Rhode Island, and mann'd from New-York. The ships commanded by Mason, By whom commis- Tew, Glover and Hore, had their commissions from the Gov<sup>r</sup> of New York. The sionated. three last from Fletcher. and although these Commissions (which are on record here) appear to be given only against the Kings enemies; yet it was known to all the inhabitants of this City that they were bound to the Indies and the Red sea, it being openly declared by the said Commanders, whereby they raised men and were quickly able to proceed, and so notoriously publick that it was generally believed that they had assurance from Coll: Fletcher, that they may returne with the spoyle to New York and be protected, as it will now plainly appear, by the protections he did give to them, at their return, and the rewards they gave him for them. It is likewise evident that Tew, Glover and Hore, had commissions granted them by Coll: Fletcher when none of them had any ship or vessell in Colonel Fletcher's Govern<sup>t</sup>, yet they had Commissions and were permitted to raise men in New-Yorke, and the design publique of their being bound to the red sea, And Capt<sup>m</sup> Tew that had been before a most notorious Pirate (complained of by the East India Company) on his returne from the Indies with great riches made a visit to New York, where (although a man of most mean and infamous character) he was received and caressed by Coll: Fletcher, dined and supped often with him, and appeared publickly in his coach with him, and they exchanged presents, as gold watches etc. with one another, all this is known to most of the City, and on this Coll: Fletcher gave him his Commission. Mason's ship returned under the command of one Coats, about the year 1693, and the crew having shared the booty came into this Govern<sup>t</sup>, and received encouragement, and had protections given them by Coll: Fletcher as will appear by the deposition N<sup>o</sup> 1. of one Burgesse one of the Pyrats, and by N<sup>o</sup> 2. the deposition of Edward Taylor another of the Pyrates, Your Lordships will plainly see the bargain that was made by him (in behalf of the ship's crew) with Coll: Fletcher and M<sup>r</sup> W<sup>m</sup> Nicoll one of His Ma<sup>ty</sup>'s Councill and the rewards they were to have, and did receive from the said Taylor and company. I have indeed promised on my honour to intercede with His Ma<sup>ty</sup> by your Lord<sup>sh</sup> for the said Burgesse and Taylors pardons; otherwise, I should not have been able to have had their evidence and made this discovery, and therefore I must pray your Lord<sup>sh</sup> favor therein, that they may have the benefit of my promise to them, which hath occasioned their criminating themselves. and I believe it much less criminal in men of their loose principles to act such things, then in a Govern<sup>t</sup> to give them such encouragement & impunity. And Coll: Fletcher received for his favour to that ship's crew, their ship which he sold to Coll: Heatheote for eight hundred pounds, besides what private presents report saith were made to his Lady and daughter; and besides his reward for particular protections which, I find were commonly rated at one hundred dollars p<sup>r</sup> man, and besides gratifications to his broaker M<sup>r</sup> Nicoll of His Maj<sup>ties</sup> Councill and other small rewards to his Clerk Daniell Honan, as doth appear by the said depositions. I have likewise discovered that protections were publickly exposed to sale at the said rates, to Pyrats that were of other companies and I have already gain'd some originals of which I have sent the copies inclosed N<sup>o</sup> 3. by which your Lord<sup>sh</sup> may see Coll: Fletchers art to get money, and how far he was from suspecting or prosecuting these Pyrats, when their guilt made them seek and buy the protection, that the lawes give all honest men, and which such had a right and claime to without purchasing Coll: Fletchers hand and seal for a further assurance, but this I submit to your Lordships consideration. It is indeed suggested that Coll: Fletcher took bonds from these protected Pyrates that they should not depart the province without Lycence, but I am informed, several had lycence but whether they were only colourable securities from men of invisible Substances, or what the certain condition of them was, I cannot learne, for that the said bonds are not deposited any where on behalf of His Maj<sup>ty</sup> nor can I find that any of the Pyrats or their bonds were ever prosecuted. Instead thereof, I find that the last mentioned protections were purchased and no bonds given for them. I also find one Coll: Bayard of His Maj<sup>ty</sup>s Council was broker for Coll: Fletcher in the procuring them, and your Lord<sup>sh</sup>s will perceive what reward Coll: Fletcher and what Coll: Bayard had for their favour to these Pyrats, and the manner of their battering by the inclosed depositions N<sup>o</sup> 4 & N<sup>o</sup> 5.

I have likewise informations of one Rayner who is said to be one of Every's crew who landed at the East end of Nassau Island and had a treasure valued at fifteen hundred pounds; himself and chest of money were seized, by Josiah Hobart High Sheriff, but on application made to Coll: Fletcher and (as believed) a considerable reward given, both Rayner and his chest were discharged, he soon after purchased land in this Govern<sup>t</sup>, but on the publishing the proclamation about Every's men he fled out of this province. I find one Emott and Weeks were brokers for him to Coll: Fletcher, and what Emott would discover I have sent inclosed N<sup>o</sup> 6. I shall as soon as possible transmitt the depositions of Hobart (the Sheriff) and of Weeks (who was Rayner the Pyrate's friend) having sent a summons for them.

I am likewise informed of many other protections that have been purchased from Coll: Fletcher, but am assured that there never was any prosecution made against any Pyrate during his Administration of the Govern<sup>t</sup>. And (what may surprise your Lordships) although M<sup>r</sup> James Graham His Maj<sup>ty</sup>s Attorney General is a man of known ability and of great integrity to His Maj<sup>ty</sup>s service, yet Coll: Fletcher transacted this whole matter of protecting Pyrates without consulting the said Att<sup>ny</sup> General or having his advice and consent in a matter so highly relating to His Maj<sup>ty</sup>s Crown and dignity and of so great consequence to the East India Trade of Eng<sup>l</sup>d

I find indeed to give a colour to the advantage Colonel Fletcher made by Pyrates, he himself made a proposal in Council and overaw'd and amused them, into an order, that Coats's ship and crew should be permitted to come into New York, under pretence of desiring the benefit of a clause of an Act of the Countrey made concerning Pyrates which the Council consented to as appears by a copy thereof inclosed N<sup>o</sup> 7. But your Lord<sup>sh</sup>s will find they could have no benefit by the said Act, which is inclosed N<sup>o</sup> 8— However, under colour thereof they were admitted and protected and never prosecuted.

I had likewise certain information since my arrival here, that five sayle that were seen and supposed to be Pyrates, were hovering on this Coast, and one of them lauded some men on the Jerseys (as the Gov<sup>r</sup> of the Jerseys acquainted me) and Enquiry, who was in the Govern<sup>t</sup>, of which, when they were informed, they went on board and departed, not daring to come under my Govern<sup>t</sup> with the same assurances of safety they had before experienced, so that the alteration of the Govern<sup>t</sup> is comonly reputed here to be a great loss to Coll: Fletcher on this account. On these proofs, I summoned His

His Excellency Earl of Bellmont and Council's resolutions to Fletcher and Nicoll.

Maj<sup>ty</sup>'s Council on the 5th day of May and communicated my instructions about Pyratts, and the aforesaid evidence in relation to Coll: Fletcher and Mr W<sup>m</sup> Nicoll; and the Gentlemen of the Council then present did expresse their abhorrence of these practices and were of opinion with me that the whole evidence should have the seal of the province affixed, and be transmitted home to His Majesty, with Coll: Fletcher a prisoner. And as to Mr W<sup>m</sup> Nicoll they believed he ought to answer for this offence here where he committed it, they believing that he had not estate at home to support him, and that it would ruine him to send him from his affairs here, and by marriage being related to several of them, I found him [them] somewhat tender of him, & although in my own Judgement I was inclined to think that he being one of His Maj<sup>ty</sup>'s Council and involved with Coll: Fletcher in this part of his male Administration, and betraying of trust, that he should likewise be sent with him to answer the same to His Maj<sup>ty</sup> in England. But was prevailed on to accept of two Thousand pounds security for the appearance of Mr W<sup>m</sup> Nicoll; when demanded to Nicoll suspended. answer to what shall be objected against [him] on behalf of His Maj<sup>ty</sup>, and suspended him from being one of the Council until His Maj<sup>ty</sup>'s further pleasure be known therein. On my proposal, the Council Joyned with me that a Proclamation should forthwith be made against Pyratts, that the present Government may not justly have the imputations of the neglect of the former which Proclamation is N<sup>o</sup> 9. And I must desire your Lordships to offer to His Maj<sup>ty</sup>'s consideration, the case of those Pyrattes that have surrendered themselves and received protec<sup>tion</sup> from Coll: Fletcher, and that I may have your Lord<sup>sh</sup>'s directions therein, I have not proceeded against them, because their protections being an Act of the Govern<sup>t</sup> and being a publique faith, I would not violate it nor do any thing therein, until I have received His Maj<sup>ty</sup>'s pleasure in relation to them.

What to do with the Pyrattes that surrendered to Coll: Fletcher.

Nicoll's Character.

In pursuance of His Maj<sup>ty</sup>'s commands I give your Lord<sup>sh</sup> this account of my removal of Mr Nicoll from the Council, to which I must add that Mr Nicoll is a man of good sense and knowledge in the law, but I am informed that he hath been a great instrument and contriver of many corrupt and unjust practices in the late administration of this Govern<sup>t</sup>, of which as other proofs come to my hands I shall transmitt them to Your Lord<sup>sh</sup>, and hope His Maj<sup>ty</sup> will not restore to the Council a person so capable and willing to betray the trust of his part in the Govern<sup>t</sup>. And as to Coll: Fletcher although the Council were of opinion that he should be sent home a prisoner to His Maj<sup>ty</sup> on the account of his protecting and encouraging

Why Fletcher not sent prisoner.

Pyrattes, yet I have presumed not to deal harshly with one who hath been honoured with His Maj<sup>ty</sup>'s Commission for this Govern<sup>t</sup> and have only transmitted the foregoing proofs (which are all that in so short a time could be prepared) that your Lord<sup>sh</sup> may be fully appraised of this matter which may be offered to His Maj<sup>ty</sup>'s consideration by your Lord<sup>sh</sup> and that His Maj<sup>ty</sup> and your Lord<sup>sh</sup> may be satisfied of my zeale and industry for His Maj<sup>ty</sup>'s service in this point which I have so stricktly in charge, so that having by this opportunity given your Lord<sup>sh</sup> other accounts of the state of this Govern<sup>t</sup>, I shall confine this letter only to this subject of the Pyratts and conclude with respect.

Disappointment in catching Pyratts.

P. S.—Since my closing the foregoing I believed I had an opportunity to surprise and take a considerable number of Pyrattes expected on board His

Maj<sup>ty's</sup> ship Richmond and gave instructions and took the best measures I could in order thereto, as your Lord<sup>sh<sup>ps</sup></sup> will find by the inclosed copy of my letter to the Lords of the Admiralty, with the copies of the papers refered to therein, which although it had not the success I expected, yet was all that could be done therein, and which I hope will meet with your Lord<sup>sh<sup>ps</sup></sup>

I have just now found the records of the Commissions to the Pyrats and made discovery of the bonds the Pyrates entered into to Coll: Fletcher when he granted them Commissions, and they appear so fraudulent that it is a manifestation that he was made acquainted with their design of Pyrac<sup>y</sup>. The Commission to Capt<sup>o</sup> Thomas Tew to Command the Sloop Amity is dated at Fort William Henry in N. York the second of

But the bond given by Capt<sup>o</sup> Tho<sup>s</sup> Tew to Coll: Fletcher is for three thousand pounds, and is signed by Tho<sup>s</sup> Tew and Edward Coats (another notorious Pyrate who was protected by Coll: Fletcher and was Commander of the Private Ship Jacob bestowed on Coll: Fletcher as aforesaid) and his private Secretary Daniell Honan. The bond from Capt<sup>o</sup> Hore was for three thousand pounds, and signed by the said Capt<sup>o</sup> Hoar, John Feay (a Popish taylor of this city and a beggar) and again Daniell Honan, Coll: Fletcher's private secretary.

These bonds were kept by Coll: Fletcher in his private secretary Daniel Honan's custody, who about three months before my arrivall blots out his own name in the body of the bonds, and blots out his own name which he himself signed, and tears off his own seale, leaving the other names and seals intire. And thus having defaced and razed both the bonds (as to his name and seal) I have received them. And forthwith summoned the four witness to the bond and took their depositions who plainly prove that the said bonds were perfected and signed and sealed by the said Honan. The copies of the said depositions I have sent your Lord<sup>sh<sup>ps</sup></sup> inclosed marked N<sup>o</sup> 10, and humbly referr it to His Majesty's consideration how far Coll: Fletcher is answerable for taking such knights of the post's security for these men, who have since been the worst of Pyrates (as may be proved by a multitude of evidence both here and in England) and without doubt Coll: Fletcher is answerable for the Trust of his private Secretary, who was bound with them, and who suffer'd the Bonds to be thus defaced in his own custody.

French Encroachments in America.

[Brit. Mus. Lansdowne MSS., No. 649, fol. 73.]

Extract of a letter from M<sup>r</sup> Randolph, dated at New York, 16 May, 1698.

I was yesterday desired by M<sup>r</sup> Frederick Phillipp, one of the most ancient inhabitants of New Yorke, and greatest trader to Albany, and other merchants trading with the Five Nations of Indians in amity with the Dutch at Albany, to represent to your Lordships that the French have for many years encroached upon the trade, and also upon that part of the Country to the Southward of their bounds, by making Settlements at the heads of all the great rivers in His Majesty's Plantations, from the Penobscot northward to South Carolina: so that two or 300 French may upon any difference betwixt the Crowns of England and France, come down in small parties, and ruin and destroy all the Inhabitants, who live Ten or fifteen miles distant one neighbour from another, especially in Virginia and Maryland, where there are no Towns.

The northward of the River of Penobscot, has always been accounted the dividing line between the English and the French, running from thence N. N. W. up into the Country, by which means the Beaver hunting trade, (now taken from us by the French) will be secured to us, and thereby the Five Nations of the Indians will bring all the peltry to Albany, and Continue their Friendship to us.

I take leave to inform your Lordships that all the Country of Acadie to the Eastward of Boston is a very great fishing place, where is also abundance of Excellent Copper and Masts &c, and did belong to the Crown of England, but the French got it from us by a Treaty to the very great disadvantage of the Crown.

I humbly take leave to propose, that (upon a Treaty about adjusting all differences between His Majesty and the Crown of France) the articles formerly made between the King of England and the French King, about the Boundaries in those western parts of the World, may be accordingly agreed upon and settled.

The Earl of Bellmont to the Lords of the Admiralty.

[New-York Entries, A. 345.]

To the Right Hon<sup>ble</sup> the Lords Commiss<sup>rs</sup> of the Admiralty.

My Lords.

Act of the Earl of Bellmont's proceedings with Capt<sup>n</sup> Evans upon his memorial for 40 seamen upon suspicion of having Pirates on board.

At my arrival in this Govern<sup>t</sup> I found His Maj<sup>ty</sup>'s ship the Richmond here, the Commander had received your Lord<sup>sh</sup>'s orders to sayle with all expedition for England, and about the eighteenth day of April last, Capt<sup>n</sup> Evans brought me a memoriall (a copy whereof is N<sup>o</sup> 1.) expressing that the ship Richmond wanted forty saylors; I replied to Capt<sup>n</sup> Evans that it would be difficult to get so many saylors, there being so few in this port, and that it would make a great disturbance amongst the Merchants, to which Capt<sup>n</sup> Evans answered, he believed he could be manned by the

Pyrates. I was somewhat startled at his proposal, and told him it would be dangerous, to trust the King's ship with such men, for that perhaps they may rise and knock the others on the head and run away with the King's ship; to this Capt<sup>n</sup> Evans answered, he did not fear that, or words to that purpose, and so left me, but I continued under apprehensions that mischief may happen by that Method of manning the Richmond, and was confirmed in it by Capt<sup>n</sup> Evans his attending me some days after, and desiring my order for tenn saylors, on which I demanded whether he had got all his complement to ten; he replied yes, he had got thirty voluntiers who would pay for their passage. On this I considered by what way I may seize the Pyrats and prevent what design they might possibly have on the King's ship, and therefore without revealing the matter to Capt<sup>n</sup> Evans of whom I was Jealouz, I told him I would have his sayling orders ready and the Kings pacquets against he was ready. On which acquainted me he designed to sayle from the City of New York to the watering place on Staten Island, and in a day or two he would fall down to Sandyhook, where he expected six or eight men to come on board him, and that when he was ready to sayle he would come up to the City of New York, and receive from me my orders and pacquets, and he accordingly did so; and on the 5th day of May he attended me at Fort William Henry, and against his coming I had prepared a Commission and instructions, and had all necessary orders given, and on his attendance, I confined him to a chamber in my house for some hours, and delivered a Commission and instructions to Capt<sup>n</sup> Culliford (a copy of the Commission is N<sup>o</sup> 2). to Command His Maj<sup>ty's</sup> ship the Richmond, during the suspension of Capt<sup>n</sup> Evans, and large instructions (a copy whereof is N<sup>o</sup> 3) how to behave and manage himself in that offaire for seizing the said Pyrats, and for fear of opposition appointed forty saylors well armed to attend him in boats and 4 Gent<sup>l<sup>n</sup></sup> (whom I durst confide in) to be assisting to him and the same day I summoned His Maj<sup>ties</sup> Council and acquainted them with the whole matter; and it was resolved, that for His Maj<sup>ty's</sup> service, Capt<sup>n</sup> Evans should be confined or give in security to appear when demanded, untill I could have account from the Richmond what had been done by virtue of my commission and instructions to Capt<sup>n</sup> Culliford. But that I might not be too harsh with a Gentleman that bore His Maj<sup>ty's</sup> Commission, I took Capt<sup>n</sup> Evans his own recognizance of one thousand pounds to appear & discharged him the same evening; and the tenth of May in the Morning, I had an account from Capt<sup>n</sup> Culliford that the Lieut<sup>t</sup> of the ship was absent in the Jersys, that he had searched the ship, and muster'd the saylors, and had found no pyrats nor any suspected persons. But I found by the Muster Roles he sent me (a copy whereof is N<sup>o</sup> 4.) that there was still the forty men wanting of the ship complement, of which Capt<sup>n</sup> Evans had assured me as aforesaid that he had listed thirty, but whether any Pyrats were to come on board on any sign made from the ship Richmond or to come on board her at sea, I can make no further discovery, then the jealousy Capt<sup>n</sup> Evans created in me by his own speeches, which were the occasion of all this trouble to him and to me, whereupon on the 11th day of May I recalled Capt<sup>n</sup> Culliford together with the Gentlemen and saylors employed with him, and restored Capt<sup>n</sup> Evans to his Command on his protestation that he never had any Pyrats on board, nor expected nor would receive any on board the King's ship, and on the same day he gave me a memorial (a copy whereof is N<sup>o</sup> 5.) wherein he desired ten saylors, on which I gave him a warrant to press so many, I must add that my jealousy in this matter was strength'ned from the great friendship between Capt<sup>n</sup> Evans and Coll: Fletcher late Gov<sup>t</sup> of this province, who hath been a constant encourager of Pyrats, by his Commissions and protections given them, by which he hath much enriched himself, and who was on board and goes for England in the Richmond. But of this whole matter I have given

His Majesty a full account by this conveyance. The severall strickt orders I have from His Maj<sup>ty</sup> in relation to Pyrates occasioned this my proceeding with Capt<sup>o</sup> Evans of which I have now given your Lord<sup>sh</sup>s a full acc<sup>t</sup> which is in every particular true of my own knowledge, and which I shall at any time attest by my oath which I hope will therefore have some weight with your Lordships to whose consideration I refer, and am with due respect

My Lords

Your Lord<sup>sh</sup>s most humble and faithfull servant

New York May 15th 1698.

BELLOMONT

Capt<sup>o</sup> Evans cruised not during Fletcher's time, having not orders which is suspicious.

P. S. I am informed that Coll: Fletcher in five years time very seldome gave orders to Capt<sup>o</sup> Evans to cruise least (as it is believed) his cruising should be a hindrance to the Pyrates bringing in their spoyle to New York and least he should give disturbance to the unlawful traders, who have had the greatest liberty imaginable in this port, but this the Journals of the Richmond will best informe.

Several Pyrats ships have been hovering about this Govern<sup>t</sup> since my arrival here, and put some men on shoar, who on notice of the alteration of the Govern<sup>t</sup> returned on board and the ships are gone to some other place, where they have greater hopes of impunity.

An extraordinary 6th rate sailer desired to attend these govern<sup>t</sup>s

It is my opinion that it will be very much for His Maj<sup>ty</sup>s service, that an extraordinary sayler of a sixth rate full mann'd and a brisk active Commander should be appointed to attend these Govern<sup>ts</sup> (which would discourage and destroy these vermine who have hitherto made New York their nest of safety) and will be of great use to assist these other ships of warr already here

I have detained the Richmond but a few days till I could prepare packetts for His Maj<sup>ty</sup>s service Capt<sup>o</sup> Evans came to me for sayling orders pretending to be ready the eighth of May the day I searched his ship and on the seventeenth day he told me he had not got his number of men, for which he had a press warrant and since the 17th day he hath attended my dispatch,

Earl of Bellomont to the Lords of Trade.

[New-York Entries, A. 356.]

To the Right Hon<sup>ble</sup> the Lords Commiss<sup>rs</sup> of Council of Trade and Plantations.

My Lords,

The Council of Trades letter of the 30th Novr for publishing the peace received.

Since I finished my letter of the 18th instant to your Lord<sup>sh</sup>s, I have received by way of Boston one letter from you on the 30th of last Nov<sup>r</sup> directing the publication of the peace, which had been performed here and in my other Govern<sup>ts</sup> before my arrival here from Barbadoes. I have also received at the same time Your Lord<sup>sh</sup>s letter of the 23rd Febr<sup>y</sup> and with it two packetts directed to the Governours and Company of Connecticut and Rhode Island, which I forwarded to them by the last post respectively, and now to answer each paragraph of your Lord<sup>sh</sup>s letter of the 23rd Febr<sup>y</sup> in order.

England; I shall defer the nomination of one till the next opportunity.

Your Lord<sup>ps</sup> representation of the 27th Oct<sup>r</sup> 1697 and His Maj<sup>ty's</sup> order in Council thereon, relating to the Port of New York, I immediately communicated to the Council and have accordingly published a Proclamation (which I herewith send) declaring His Maj<sup>ty's</sup> pleasure in maintenance of the Priviledges of this port against the pre-tended right of Perth Amboy in East Jersey, which has given great satisfaction here, for, upon a report that the proprietors of the Jersies had obtained His Maj<sup>ty's</sup> consent, that Perth Amboy in East Jersey and Burlington in West Jersey, should be declared ports, several of the Merchants of this Town were going to remove to Perth Amboy, where they proposed to themselves, the advantage of importing all sorts of merchandize free from duty; of this their resolution I writ Your Lord<sup>ps</sup> an account in my letter of the 15th inst: before the receipt of your last letters.

Naval Stores.

I am glad Your Lord<sup>ps</sup> are pleased to renew your orders for the carrying on the good design of Furnishing naval stores from New Hampshire for the use of His Maj<sup>ty's</sup> Navy, which I shall obey with a great deal of pleasure, though that design have hitherto been obstructed by some cross accidents. I do not for all that despair of its succeeding well and answering His Majesties glorious ends, for the advantage of England, and your Lord<sup>ps</sup> great care for its encouragement. A foolish and unhappy parcimony in the surveyors, M<sup>r</sup> Bridger, M<sup>r</sup> Furzer and M<sup>r</sup> Jackson, the two first appointed by the Admiralty and Navy boards, and the latter by S<sup>r</sup> Henry Ashurst, to make survey of the woods, and other conveniencies, in these His Maj<sup>ties</sup> territories, for Naval Stores, has been the occasion of great disappointment and losse of time in that affair.—They were ship'd on board the Deptford, by an order of the Admiralty, of their procuring, and so were forced to Barbados where M<sup>r</sup> Furzer and Bridger fell sick of the Peaver three or four days before I left Barbados, contracted by a debauch they made; M<sup>r</sup> Furzer dyed, who I believe was the best of the two, but M<sup>r</sup> Bridger recovered, followed me hither, and I have sent him to Boston with a letter earnestly recommending him and the design he is employed in, to their effectual kindness and furtherance a copy whereof I now send your Lord<sup>ps</sup>—M<sup>r</sup> Jackson is still here upon some businesse, but is to follow M<sup>r</sup> Bridger in a day or two; my letter is directed to the Lieut<sup>t</sup> Gov<sup>r</sup> Council and Assembly, and will go to them in a fit juncture of time, because the Assembly of that province are now sitting. One thing I am apprehensive may somewhat obstruct the progress of this design for the present though the Govern<sup>t</sup> of Massachusetts Bay were well affected to it, and that is the Eastern Indians being still in warr with the English of that province (as by a copy of M<sup>r</sup> Usher's letter to me your Lord<sup>ps</sup> will see) it will be very expensive for the Province of Massachusetts to maintain a sufficient Guard, for the Surveyors, but if they require it of me, I'll furnish them with forty or fifty soldiers from this and the other garrisons in this province. I am told this Country is much fitter for producing of Hemp and Flax, than that about Boston, and some persons have been talking to me of encouraging by an act of Assembly, the propagation thereof; but day labour is so excessive dear in this Country, that I am jealous it will never do so well here as in Ireland; however, I will give such a design all the Countenance I can, that His Maj<sup>ty</sup> may be certain of being supplied with those species here, if he should miss of them else where in his own Dominions. I shall God willing go to Albany about a Month hence (when the Assembly have ended their session) where the Five Nations of Indians are appointed to meet me, and I will try to engage them to fall upon the Eastern Indians that infest the inhabitants of New Hampshire and Massachusetts Bay, if I be not informed in the mean time that those Indians have ceased their hostilities.

By the next opportunity your Lord<sup>sh</sup> shall have such further proofs of Coll: Fletchers male Administration as will to the full equall any thing I transmitt to you by this conveyance. I have been forced to stay the Richmond Frigate eight or ten days for the packetts I now send your Lord<sup>sh</sup> and the rest of the Ministers, wherein I have taken a great deal of pains, and have been wholly employed day and night near three weeks in preparing these things for your information and that of the other Ministers.

I have been so moderate towards Coll: Fletcher and his friends that I have turned out none of them, not so much as his Sheriffs, who are complained against for very foul practices in the elections and returns of Members to serve in the present Assembly, notwithstanding my proclamation strictly forbidding any such practices, by which means great discontents arise among those who are precluded by foul play from their right of sitting in the House, and such irregularities are dayly committed in the House in the point of order, that I begin to despair of their doing any good for His Maj<sup>ty</sup>'s service or their Countrie's—

What I have last writt leads me naturally to observe to your Lord<sup>sh</sup> the great pains Coll: Fletcher took to divide the people here and to foment the feud between Leisler's party and the opposite party, and went so far in it as to publish a book (and took the advice of Council in doing it) to revive the old story of Leisler.—By the next opportunity your Lord<sup>sh</sup> shall have that book sent you, and the order of Council, that directs its being printed, and you will then judge whether this book was not calculated for putting this Town and Countrey into a combustion.<sup>1</sup>

I send your Lord<sup>sh</sup> two Affidavits taken against M<sup>r</sup> Pinborne by M<sup>r</sup> Attorney in my presence, he has been of the Council here, and a great creature of Coll: Fletchers during his whole Govern<sup>t</sup>, and one of the Judges. I gave him fair play by confronting his accusers with him and will turn him out of the Council and his Judges place next Coucill day. Earle is a man of a good estate, I am told in East Jarzie, and I

One of the reasons given by Lord Bellomont for removing Bayard, subsequently, from the Council was "that he had advised the printing a fraudulent and malicious pamphlet entitled a Letter from a Gentleman in New York, in which it was endeavord to cast every species of odium upon Leisler and the Revolution he effected." Dunlap's History of New York, I, 229. I must not forget to do M<sup>r</sup> Graham the Attorney Gen<sup>l</sup> right in acquainting your Lord<sup>sh</sup> that all the light and information I have had of the affairs of this Province, are owing to him, he is a man of great sagacity and temper. Not a man of the Council has ever come to offer me any account of the State & condition of the Province, as if they had sworn allegiance to Coll: Fletcher and not to His Maj<sup>ty</sup>, but I will very shortly let Your Lord<sup>sh</sup> know their reserve proceeds from the conscienciousness of their own guilt, and I will prove it against some of them.

Earl of Bellmont to Secretary Poppo.

[New-York Entries, A. 966.]

There is so great load of business on me at this time that I am not able to send the Lords of the Council of Trade all the evidences against Coll: Fletcher that I designed, the Assembly now sitting, and such a world of complaints especially from the Soldiers who have been wronged of their pay, that I have scarcely had time to write those letters to the Lords of the Council of Trade, and to the other Ministers, that decency obliged me to. And M<sup>r</sup> Clement my Secretary using me so ill as to stay behind me has been a great disappointment to me and occasioned to me great pains and trouble. There is an inconsistency in my Instructions which I desire may be rectified. I am made Capt<sup>n</sup> Gen<sup>l</sup> of the Militia of the Jarzies, and yet I am by a particular instructions to forfeit half my salary and perquisites to my Lieut<sup>g</sup> Gov<sup>r</sup> for and during the time I am out of this province or any of those under my Govern<sup>t</sup>. The like inconvenience I should suffer if I went into Connecticut Province. M<sup>r</sup> Stanly who is my particular friend will shew you an essential fault in my Lieut<sup>g</sup> Gov<sup>r</sup> of New York's Commission, which I desire may be rectified at the same time with the others I have mentioned to be in my instructions; I desire you will please to send to M<sup>r</sup> Stanley to communicate that matter to you. I also desire you will move the Lords of the Council of Trade to ascertain, what fees and perquisites do properly belong to me when I am absent from any of my Govern<sup>ts</sup>—for example, when I am in Boston Govern<sup>t</sup>, whether my Lieut<sup>g</sup> Gov<sup>r</sup> of New York shall be entitled to the perquisites of New York Govern<sup>t</sup>, which are seizures of ships a 3rd part as p<sup>r</sup> act of Parliament, Probates of wills, Lycences of Marriage, fines and forfeitures and passes for ships — As for the first, which is seizure of ships, the Act of Parliament puts that out of doubt in my opinion, since it appropriates that perquisite to the Gov<sup>r</sup> only, at the same time it gives him the nomination of a Naval Officer, and the Act takes no notice of a Lieut<sup>g</sup> Gov<sup>r</sup> or Commander in chief for the time being: As for the other perquisites also, I desire their Lord<sup>sh</sup> opinion and determination, whether by my removing from one Govern<sup>t</sup> to another as my duty obliges me, I am to be a looser and sufferer; for, every Journey will be very expensive to me, and I will undertake to make it appear, that at that rate my Lieut<sup>t</sup> Gov<sup>r</sup> will have a better time of it then I shall. Let me intreat you to dispatch to me their Lord<sup>sh</sup> order in the foregoing matters. I send you copies of my French letters to the Count de Frontinae Gov<sup>r</sup> of Canada and Mon<sup>sr</sup> de Caliere Gov<sup>r</sup> of Montreal (both in the same sheet of paper) and also of my instructions to the persons I charge with those letters, and who were sent to notify the peace to those Gov<sup>rs</sup>. If you think it worth a while, I desire you will shew the letters and Instructions to their Lord<sup>sh</sup>.

I shall covet to maintain a more than ordinary strict correspondence with you, resolving to inform you of every transaction here and in my other Govern<sup>ts</sup> however minute it be. I am

Sir

New York 25 May 1698.

Your Affectionate humble servant

BELMONT.

P. S.—Since I writt this letter I have shewed my Instruction which subjects me to the losse of half my salary and perquisites to my Lieut<sup>t</sup> Gov<sup>r</sup> whenever I absent myself from any of my Govern<sup>ts</sup> to a friend or two that are Lawyers, and they are of opinion it entitles me to all the perquisites so long as I am within this province or in my other Govern<sup>ts</sup>, provided I go not out of New England, but they say it is darkly worded and ought to be better explained. I send you a copy of that very instruction that you may the better know my meaning, and I desire you will please to discourse with M<sup>r</sup> Stanley before you propose that matter to the Lords, and then move for a plainer Instruction.

My humble service I pray to M<sup>r</sup> Lock, & hope this last severe winter has not prejudiced his health, the sure way of conveying letters to me is by the way of Boston, whence the post comes every week to this place. I desire you will send to the pay office to prevent Coll: Fletcher's receiving any part, for I shall prove great sums of moneyp upon him which he has defrauded the Officers and Soldiers of here.

Earl of Bellomont to the Lords of the Treasury.

[New-York Entries, A. 540.]

To the Right Hon<sup>ble</sup> the Lords of His Maj<sup>ty</sup>s Treasury:

My Lords.

I entred on the Gov<sup>mt</sup> of New York the second day of April last and (as one of the most material parts of my duty to His Maj<sup>ty</sup>) I have made a most strict enquiry into His Maj<sup>ty</sup>s revenue arising from the Customes and I do find that Officers thereof have been most corrupt and negligent, and that there have been the greatest abuses committed in relation to Trade (which without being acquainted with the particulars) may most reasonably be inferred by the Trade this port hath had which is double to what it was ten years since and the City grown vastly rich and populous and encreased to double the number of houses; and yet by comparing the accounts of the customes I find them greatly decreased, and on enquiry I am informed there hath been a most lycencious Trade with Pyrats, Scotland and Curaçao, and the Collector here M<sup>r</sup> Chidley Brook is most extremely backward in the discharge of his duty, and this I find by my own observation since my arrival here, and I am informed of some of his actions, which do not suit with the trust reposed in him, which when they are made evident to me I shall forthwith suspend him from his Office, and put another in, that may be more faithful in that Employ, until your Lord<sup>ps</sup> pleasure shall be signified to me therein —

Thro' connivance of the late Govern<sup>t</sup> a seizure ordered by the Earl seem'd a violation of their property.

The late Govern<sup>t</sup> hath conniv'd at those Lyberties of breach of the Acts of Trade, and the Merchants here are so accustomed thereto, that on a small seizure I order'd to be made, just after my arrival here on some East India goods imported in an unfree bottome, the whole city seem'd to be in an uproar, and lookt on it as a violent seizing of their property. I shall not be discouraged but proceed to take care that the acts of trade shall be duly observed as my oath obliges me, and if possible I will find out trusty officers that shall justly observe their oath and duty to assist me, of all which I shall give your Lord<sup>ps</sup> a constant account.

Want of a distinct Naval Officer and a Register, cause, that ships without certificates may be seized in their ports
as some are here, who giving security
have time allowed.

There was no Naval Officer distinct from the Collector, nor any register appointed by the late Gov<sup>t</sup>, whereby inconveniences will arise to ships belonging to this Port, who have taken no certificates from hence and will therefore be seized in other ports, as we have seized several ships here on the like occasion, but by consent of M<sup>r</sup> Randolph Surveyor Gen<sup>l</sup> of the Customes and the Collector here, I have admitted the ships to give in security to the value that they shall in a certain time produce certificates for the said ships from the places they belong to, and that no fraud shall be, or injury to the King thereby; I have permitted them to load and proceed in their voyages, and this method I hope your Lord<sup>ps</sup> will approve of.

Mr Palmer appointed Naval Officer etc upon £5000
security.

I have appointed M<sup>r</sup> Thomas Palmer Naval Officer and Register of this province, who is of good reputation and hath given in to me sufficient security of £5000 for the just discharge of the Offices, which security shall be given to whom the Hon<sup>ble</sup> the Commiss<sup>rs</sup> of the Custome shall please to appoint.

Proceeding about the project of the Jerseys.

I have refused to permit Proclamations to be printed in this City by the Gov<sup>t</sup> of the Jerseys publishing that Perth Amboy and Burlington are free ports, because I find that the laws of this Province do raise a considerable Revenue for the support of this Govern<sup>t</sup> from Customes on Goods, which the ports in the Jerseys will be free from, and the port of Amboy being but twenty mile from this, The Merchants will all transport themselves thither, and carry away all the trade to the destruction of this Govern<sup>t</sup> I thought this affair of so great consequence, that I have likewise given this account thereof to the Lords of the Council of Trade, that I may have His Maj<sup>ty</sup>'s pleasure therein for my direction.

I shall justly observe the instructions I have from your Lord<sup>ps</sup> in relation to Trade and shall take care, that such accounts as you have ordered shall be from time to time transmitted to you.

Computation on comparing the Revenue of 1687 with those of 1692 etc.

I have sent your Lord<sup>ps</sup> inclosed N<sup>o</sup> 1. an acc<sup>t</sup> of the produce of the revenue of New York for the year 1687. and comparing it with N<sup>o</sup> 2. an acc<sup>t</sup> of d<sup>o</sup> for the years 1692, 1693, 1694, 1695, 1696. 1697. Your Lord<sup>ps</sup> will be convinced that the decrease of the Revenue in a place so extremely increased and enriched by Trade as this City is, must be occasioned either by the connivance of the Govern<sup>t</sup> or corruption or neglect of the Officers or altogether; which do make it highly for His Maj<sup>ty</sup>'s service and increase of his Revenue, that greater assistance of more faithful officers should be given me, that the acts of Trade may be observed amongst this people, who hitherto have had so small a regard to them

BELLOMONT.

New York May 25th 1698.

Earl of Bellmont to the Commissioners of the Customs.

[New-York Entries, A. 553.]

To the Hon<sup>ble</sup> the Commissioners of the Customes.

Gentlemen.

I have by this conveyance given an account to the Lords of the Council of Trade and the Lords of the Treasury of His Maj<sup>ties</sup> revenue arising from the Customes of New York, which have for these several years past been much inferior to what they have been ten years since, as will appear by comparing N<sup>o</sup> 1 & 2 enclosed; and yet the Trade hath been vastly greater and this city much increased, the cause of which hath been the connivance of the late Govern<sup>t</sup> and the neglect and corruption of Customhouse Officers. I have already given a check to their licentious Trade and ordered a seizure on goods imported in an unfree bottom; But the observance of the laws of trade was so great a Novelty that it gave as great discontent as if it had been an infringement of their charter. I have some informations of the ill behaviour of M<sup>r</sup> Chidley Brooks, which, when the proofs appear I shall transmit them to you, and I fear be forced to suspend him, who, in my own observation, hath been most remiss and backward with good Officers to assist me. I am well assured the revenue of the Customes would be much advanced, in which I shall take all the care imaginable. M<sup>r</sup> Randolph the Surveyor Gen<sup>l</sup> I find is an active understanding Officer, but his employ won't suffer his long attendance at one place; he was here last, but is now gone towards Boston. He acquainted me, that he would in his letter to you, mention how ships in an unfree bottoms and prohibited goods, do frequently unlade in Connecticut, without interruption, and then the empty vessells come up to New York there being no provision as yet made of officers in that Colony. There are likewise several ships from this Port that go to Madagascar and there (as is supposed) do Trade with the Pyrats, nor do we know how to remedy it. I have just received His Maj<sup>ty's</sup> orders in relation to the Ports of the Jersies, on which I publish<sup>d</sup> a Procl<sup>am</sup> (inclosed N<sup>o</sup> 3) which hath given great satisfaction to the Merchants here.

An arrest was lately laid on Mr. Randolph in this city on account of a seizure he made in Virginia, which was regularly made by him in discharge of his Office. I considered that if such vexation and trouble were permitted to be done him, the Kings service could never be done, for an arrest might be so timed as to prevent a considerable seizure, and his securities at home, are lyable to any of his mismanagements; and yet I could not tell how to stop the regular course of the Law, all I could do was to sent for the parties and tell them how ill I took their proceedings against a King's Officer, what damage it might be to the King's affairs, and that they should look to it, that they had good cause of action, or they should for ever have all the discountenance I could give them. However, ordered security to be given in for M<sup>r</sup> Randolph and he proceeded towards Boston—I wish some method could be found to prevent for the future such rubbs in the Officers ways, and that I may have directions therein. I have not at present to add but Am

Earl of Bellmont to the Lords of Trade.

[New-York Entries, A. 896.]

To the Right Hon<sup>ble</sup> the Lords of the Committee of Trade.

My Lords,

Acct of the several letters and packetts sent formerly by the Richmond Frigatt.

I sent your Lordships several packetts by the Richmond Frigat, who had my sailing orders the 29. May last, and in them letters of the 8th, 15th & 25th May with copies of my letters to the Lords of the Treasury, to the Lords of Admiralty and the Commissioners of the Customes with papers referred to in them, duplicates of all which I send your Lord<sup>ps</sup> by this conveyance. And this is to inform your Lord<sup>ps</sup> what further proceedings I have made for His Maj<sup>ty</sup>s service in this my Govern<sup>t</sup>

The male Administration of the last Govern<sup>t</sup> makes his Administration difficult.

Coll: Fletcher's management of the Council & their compliance with him.

The Male Administration of the late Govern<sup>t</sup> hath so corrupted and debauched the minds of most that I have found in Authority here, that I meet with the greatest difficulties and obstructions in the discharge of my duty. Coll. Fletcher had so managed the Council here by gratifications of grants of lands, connivance at their unlawful trade ettc (which I have hinted in my last letters to your Lord<sup>ps</sup>) that on perusal of the Council books, I do not find, that they would contradict him, but joined with him in almost every thing that was proposed to them altho' never so extrajudiciall.

Since Mr Nicolls removal from the Council he has had evidence of Mr Nicolls making a bargain with several in the country for £400 for passing an act prejudicial to New York which was passed by Coll: Fletcher and part of the money received.

I gave your Lord<sup>ps</sup> an account of my removal of Mr William Nicolls (chief Broker in the matter of protecting Pirates) from His Maj<sup>ty</sup>s Council, since which I have evidence of his making a bargain with several of the country, for passing an Act of Assembly to the prejudice of the City of New York and by Agreement was to receive four hundred pounds for the same, which Act did pass by Coll: Fletcher's consent and thereon part of the money actually paid to Nicolls the rest due by obligation, he being at that time one of His Maj<sup>ty</sup>s Council and received this reward for his endeavours therein, and by all reasonable inference a Factor for Coll: Fletcher in this matter, as well as in the business of protecting Pirates, as may appear by the enclosed (N<sup>o</sup> 1.) I do not question, but to obtaine much further proof of that matter which, when it comes to my hands, I shall transmitt to your Lord<sup>ps</sup>. I hope your Lord<sup>ps</sup> will prevent so evil an instrument from being restored to the Council. Since my removal of him, he hath been most industrious in making Caballs, and encouraging discontents, and as I am informed proposing privately, that a Bank of money shall be raised by the Merchants, who have their unlawful trade now interrupted, and some persons to be employed as their agent to go home, to make complaints of I know not what wrongs done by me. But I am well assured of myself, as I am [of] your Lord<sup>ps</sup> Justice, and that I shall be supported in doing my duty, against all that pretend to be aggrieved at it. On the motion of

He fears he shall be obliged to send Mr Nicoll home a prisoner.

Mr Pinborne suspended from the Council for scandalous words agst His Majesty.

He now sends the depositions agst Pinborne, who was turned out of the Council by Fletcher, but by means of a present to Coll: Fletcher was readmitted & made Judge of the Provincial Court with a salary of £100 per annum and had great grants of land Pinborne of a scandalous character he has cheated one Woolley out of 4000<sup>l</sup>, and purchased an Estate with it.

Pinborne (as is said) hath converted to his own use, purchased an estate with it in Jerseys, and forthwith makes conveyances of the said Estate to the use of his wife and children, that it may not be liable to M<sup>r</sup> Wooley's demands for which a suit is now commencing by M<sup>r</sup> Wooley's Attorney here; I have likewise suspended him for the aforesaid reasons from being a Judge of this Province, and I am persuaded your Lord<sup>sh</sup> will not restore so scandalous a person, so justly suspended by me.

Mr Chidley Brooke suspended from the Council and all other offices.

His reasons for it.

At the same time that I suspended Judge Pinborne from the Council, I likewise suspended M<sup>r</sup> Chidley Brooke from the Council and from his Offices of Collector of the Customes and Receiver Gen<sup>l</sup> of New Yorke, for that of my own knowledge he hath been most careless, negligent and backward, in the discharge of his offices, and that thereby His Majesty's revenues has visibly decreased in the customes, in a place where Trade hath greatly advanced, as will appear to your Lord<sup>sh</sup> by the accounts and other papers inclosed N<sup>o</sup> 3. which I have likewise transmitted to the Lords Commissioners of the Treasury. In this I consulted with M<sup>r</sup> Randolph surveyor General of the Customes here, and a diligent officer, who gave me his judgement on the matter under his hand, and I could not believe that a man so faulty, in so great a Trust, was worthy to sit, or capable to give me faithful advice, as one of the Council, and I hope for the same reason your Lord<sup>sh</sup> will not think him fit to be restored. He was indeed a great Devote to Coll: Fletcher, which he could not have been unless he would have joined in conniving at an unlawful trade in this City, and at my first arrival Coll: Fletcher himself told me, that M<sup>r</sup> Brook's employ was of more profit and better, than the Govern<sup>t</sup> of this province, which can only be so by unlawful gaines, he having made but very few seizures in six years time.

The advantage of Mr Brooke's employ.

Mr Brook first advanced by the Earl of Bellomont's Father.

the Council, I was prevailed on not to send him home a prisoner, on the account of his dealing for Pirates, but I fear I shall be forced to do it for the Quiet of the Govern<sup>t</sup>.

Since his suspension I was obliged in duty and honour to His Majesty to suspend one William Pinborne from the Council, for speaking most scandalous & reproachful words of his Majesty's person. The proofe was plaine and full, and he confronted, when the depositions were taken, which are inclosed, and the persons that made them of good reputation. To which Pinborne hath written a most false and foolish defence which was read before myself and Council and rejected, as p<sup>r</sup> the papers relating to this matter (N<sup>o</sup> 2.) This man, Coll: Fletcher found one of the Council but turned him out at his first arrival here, because he was an Inhabitant of the Jerseys, and a nonresident of this Govern<sup>t</sup> as appears by the minutes of Council; but he presenting Coll: Fletcher with some plate, and by some other proper methods being thought a fit tool for him, he was again made of the Council by Coll: Fletcher and made a Judge of this Province with £100 p<sup>r</sup> annum salary, and had great grants of Lands made him by Coll: Fletcher. Besides his disaffection to his present Majesty, this Pinborne (as I am informed) is a person of a most scandalous character being Employed in this Province a servant or Factor for one M<sup>r</sup> Woolley, a woollen draper near Algate in London, who intrusted him with four or five thousand pounds of goods which this

I have thus dealt with this Gentleman purely in discharge of my duty to His Majesty which no consideration shall direct me from, for M<sup>r</sup> Brooks being borne in one of my relations families in Ireland, was first preferred by my Father and then put into the Customs by the Earl of Bolingbroke's interest, who is bound in £2000 for his fidelity.

to in England. The minutes of Council at my suspending of Judge Pinhorn and M<sup>r</sup> Brook are inclosed.

Brooks & Nicolls appointed by an Assembly, corruptly called, to be Agents in England;

they had a thousand pounds to defray their expence in opposing an Act reversing the attainder of Leslier.

and to get the act for which Nicolls bargained (as above) past in England.

Coll: Fletcher's chief instruments have been Papists and Jacobites.

instruments of the Revolution here.

Coll: Fletcher's Sheriffs were the scandalous persons and notwithstanding the Earl of Bolingbroke's Procla, have made eleven false returns of Assembly men out of nineteen that the house is composed of.

six of the house made a remonstrance to which three others agreed, but it was rejected.

The six withdrew and made a protestation.

But he has not meddled with what is their rights and liberties.

He has dissolved the Assembly who have used villanous tricks to justify the Sheriffs returns.

Had I permitted this Assembly to have sat and acted it would have justly given, a general discontent to the people who had few true representatives amongst them, after the Remonstrants had left them. The papers relating to this Assembly are N<sup>o</sup> 4.

He will appoint better Sheriffs and call another Assembly.

An instance or two of the Sheriffs undue returns.

afterwards advanced in the Customs by my own interest, and I myself am security in two thousand pound bonds for his just discharge of the Office of Receiver General and Collector of the Customs of New York, which I am liable to in England. The minutes of Council at my suspending of Judge Pinhorn and M<sup>r</sup> Brook are inclosed.

I may further, too, observe to your Lord<sup>sh</sup> that M<sup>r</sup> Nicolls and this M<sup>r</sup> Brooks were employed by Coll: Fletcher (and an Assembly which was most corruptly called by him, as I doubt not in proper time to demonstrate to your Lord<sup>sh</sup>) to be Agents in England, and had one thousand pounds of the Countreys money, to defray their expences, to oppose an Act of Parliament for the reversing the attainder of Leslier, Miburn and others most unjustly executed here, for their forwardness in the late happy revolution and to get passed at home, an act of Assembly passed here about Bolting of Flower for which Nicolls had the £400. as aforesaid, and indeed all that are disaffected to the present Govern<sup>t</sup> Papists and Jacobites have been the Intimates of Coll: Fletcher, and have been employed by him in the severe persecution, of all that favoured Leslier and his party,

Another difficulty I severely labour under is: that I found the Sheriffs of the Counties here, appointed by Coll: Fletcher, to be of the scum of the people, Taylors, and other scandalous persons, who notwithstanding my proclamations strictly commanding all fairness of elections, and legal and just returns of Representatives, for the Assembly last sitting, have expressly contrary to their oath, and duty, most apparently made corrupt and false returns of Members, in so much, that of nineteen persons that make up the members of this Assembly eleven of their elections were disputed, but they being a Major vote of the house have established themselves, and have proceeded with the greatest confusion and disorder imaginable, which hath occasioned six of the nineteen, to make a remonstrance to the house, which three others consented to in the house, which made nine of the nineteen but the major part rejected it, on which the six withdrew, and did petition myself and Council and made a protestation against the proceedings of the house, both to the house and to myself and Council, but as I have in nowise followed my predecessors steps, in managing elections, so neither have I interposed with the rights and liberties of the house of Representatives, but being so well convinced on on what corrupt grounds this Assembly have proceeded on, in consideration thereof, and the aforementioned petition and protestation I have thought fit to dissolve this present Assembly, who have sat near a month and have done nothing but villanous tricks, to justify the falseness and unfairness of the Sheriffs returns.

Had I permitted this Assembly to have sat and acted it would have justly given, a general discontent to the people who had few true representatives amongst them, after the Remonstrants had left them. The papers relating to this Assembly are N<sup>o</sup> 4.

I shall forthwith appoint better men Sheriffs in the several Counties and call another Assembly who may enact laws to unite the minds of the people and do their King and their Country service and I shall only give your Lord<sup>sh</sup> these two instances of the Constitution of this last Assembly. The first is that a writ being directed to one Sheriff as Sheriff of the City and County of York and County of Orange to returne four persons that should be elected by the Freemen and Freeholders of the said City and Counties, the Sheriff hath returned four persons and by his Indenture under his hand & seal affirms that the four persons that he hath returned were Elected by the Freemen and Freeholders of the City and County of New York and Orange County, when at the same time it is evident, and he himself acknowledges, that he did not permitt one Freeholder of the County of Orange to have a voice in the Election of these representatives, and secondly these four persons so unjustly returned (ioyning with other disputed members) have excluded two others from sitting in the Assembly who were fairly Elected and returned for Counties, and sworne, on pretence that they are under an Attainder on account of their forwardnesse, in the late Revolution whereby they have raised a flame, by stirring up the remembrance of those unjustly executed for the same, and shewed their malice against the present established Govern<sup>t</sup>—And the whole of the remonstrance and the petition of the Remonstrants appearing to be truth. I find by what unjust measures the former Governour procured pack'd corrupt Assemblies to gratifie his pride and avarice, but I shall alter the method and restore the blessing of an English Govern<sup>t</sup> by a free and fair Election of Representatives, altho' it will cost me much time and a great deal of trouble to purge corruptious that have taken such deep root here.

It will cost him much trouble to purge the corruptious of that Govern<sup>t</sup>.

Trade between New York and the Pirates at Madagascar.

I have in other letters given your Lord<sup>sh</sup> an Acc<sup>t</sup> of a frequent trade between this Port & Madagascar; for when the Pirates who had Commission from this Port, had taken prizes in the Indies or Red Sea they brought the spoiles to

Madagascar and then Merchants ships from this port were fitted out by the owners of such Pirates ships, and others who laded here publicly with goods usefull to the Pirates, as Liquors, Arms and Gunpowder, and these ships returned back to this port with East India goods, either purchased from the Pirates or belonging to them, and the Owners that set them

An Instance. The ship Fortune traded with Hore, both commissioned by Fletcher

forth, as will appear by a deposition (N<sup>o</sup> 5) concerning the ship Fortune, who tho' an unfree bottom, had Commission from Coll: Fletcher to be a Privateer—But laded publicly at this Port, went to Madagascar and tooke in East India goods there, out of [a] private ship [of] one Capt<sup>l</sup> Hore who had likewise a Commission from Coll: Fletcher some of which goods and the Ship Fortune at her returne, [I] procured to be seized being two and twenty owners of the lading) are so incensed, that as they corrupted most of the evidence, that it was hard to procure enough to condemne the goods and the ship, so they have terrified those that were evidence, that they resolve to remove from among them; and the Merchants do daily curse and threaten those few persons that have assisted me in His Maj<sup>ty</sup>s service.

His proceedings in Council about four ships bound for Madagascar.

The sixth instant four Merchant ships laden here and bound for Madagascar came to me to be cleared. I delayed them until I called the Councill, and offered to them that I had just reason to suspect that these ships bound for Madagascar, designed to trade with the Pirates, to supply them with necessaryes, and to bring thither their goods, and therefore believed it necessary that each ship should give in good security not to trade with Pirates: but the Councill (some of them being concerned in these ships) unanimously opposed this method, as not prescribed by Law, and because it was never practised here before, so that I was forced to discharge the said ships, and permitt them to go on their voyage as will appear by the Minutes of that Councill. The same day I had intelligence of East India goods that were not legally imported at one Mr. van Sweeten's house and I forthwith sent the Collector and searcher of the Customes to seize there; who found them and seized them: / But a Tumult of the Officers who came to Van Sweeten's house, and according to their advice the said officers were locked up and imprisoned for three hours before I had notice of it, and then my intelligence told me the officers were in danger of being murdered; I thereupon sent the Lieut<sup>e</sup> Gov<sup>r</sup> and three files of men with my servants who broke open van Sweeten's doors, and freed the Officers from their Imprisonment, and assisted them in carrying the goods seized to the Custom house. On this van Sweeten put in a false and scandalous petition, and thereon I summoned a Council, and had the whole matter heard before them, who have made a minute of Council thereof. The depositions relating to this seizure and imprisonment of the Officers, and other papers are inclosed N<sup>o</sup> 7.

The next morning I againe sent for the Custome Officers and acquainted them where they might make another seizure; whereupon M<sup>r</sup> Monsey (whom I constituted one of the two Commissioners for executing M<sup>r</sup> Brooks's office, and who was before chief searcher for these six years past) told me: that indeed he would officiate no longer in his office, and desired me to nominate another and would not give me any reason for it but laid down his Employment. And for want of an officer that day I missed of seizing one thousand pounds worth of goods which were immediately after conveyed to some other place. I must observe to your Lord<sup>sh</sup> that this Monsey was brought over thither by M<sup>r</sup> Brooks as his servant and hath been employed as searcher under him, but without doubt hath had as good a correspondence with the Merchants here as his Master, otherwise he would never have thrown up his Employ (which he had accepted from me but five days before, and which advanced him from £50 p<sup>r</sup> annum which he had before as searcher, to two hundred pounds p<sup>r</sup> annum as Commissioner) but he found that now he must be kept to his duty, and disoblige the Merchants, and therefore he would act no longer; and besides, he came that morning to me to lay downe his Commission, from discoursing M<sup>r</sup> Brooks (as he confessed to me) and 'tis reported he goes for England with M<sup>r</sup> Brooks to endeavour to Justifie the proceedings of his Master in his Employs here. Of these matters I have wrote largely to the Lords of the Treasury a copy of which is inclosed.

These proceedings of mine amongst the Merchants have raised their minds against me, and hath so influenced even the Council that I have very little assistance given in the Govern<sup>t</sup> And I find the designe of the Merchants is both, to give me disturbance at home by unjust complaints, and to make me uneasy here, by scandalous reports, and drawing back and opposing me in every thing (for on the forementioned seizures, three Constables were sent for but would not be found, and the Sheriff was one of the chief persons concerned, and had great quantities of East India goods in his house, which I narrowly missed of seizing, so that he could not be trusted, and the violence offered to the Custom Officers requiring a speedy assistance, made me send the King's Soldiers in pay with the Lieut<sup>e</sup> Gov<sup>r</sup> to break open the doors to release them which now they make a great clamour at and threaten severe complaints home, and their hopes and boasts are either to prevaille on your Lord<sup>sh</sup> that I may be recalled, or else make me so uneasy here that I may desire it myself. But since I seek for no advantage for myself, but with great difficulty pursue His Maj<sup>ty</sup>s interest, I do not question but your Lord<sup>sh</sup> will give all discouragement to these their wicked contrivances, and that I shall rather deserve thanks from my Prince for doing my duty.

Coll: Fletchers I must represent to your Lord<sup>ps</sup> the miserable condition of the King's forces abuse of the Sol- are in, which obliges me to take notice of the carriage of the former Governor diers. who used the soldiers so barbarously that they deserted, and left the companies so Empty at my arrivall, that instead of one hundred men according to the Establishment, my company hath about thirty five centinells, scarce sufficient to relieve the duty, for altho' the pay is thirty pounds per cent worse then sterling, yet Coll: Fletcher deducted out of each private man subsistance one half penny p<sup>r</sup> diem, which for four hundred men, makes seventeen shillings p<sup>r</sup> diem for several years, which makes a considerable summe that the Soldiers have been cheated of, besides what the King hath been wronged in Col: Fletcher's sending home full Muster rolles, when there hath not been half the number effective men.

Besides, this province as an encouragement gave the King's soldiers an additional pay of four pence p<sup>r</sup> day, great part of which was pocketted by Coll: Fletcher, and never given the men, which caused them to desert, he likewise with his officers made great advantages of the souldiers labour, obliging them to pay for anothers performing their duty and to give their subsistance to him and his officers for liberty to exereise their Trades.
 Other hardships, which made many desert, I have taken of them, and have new clothed the forces, and yet feare I shall not be able to recruit, and fill the companies, without sending an Officer for England; At present our companies are so weake that should a war breake out our frontiers not being guarded this province will be in great danger; but a full account of the State of these companies of their wrongs and abuses, shall in a short time be laid before your Lord<sup>ps</sup>.

Since my last I have gotten full proofs in relation to Coll: Fletchers protecting the Pirate Rayner, one of Every's crew with his reward for the same, which I now transmitt N<sup>o</sup> S. There will likewise be laid before you, an account of all the male Administrations of Coll: Fletcher in this Govern<sup>t</sup>, with the proofs of
 and dishonoured by him, and by what means he hath so generally corrupted the people here, that they are and will be in a conspiracy against any Governor, that regards the King's honour, and just execution of the laws, and endeavour to make him weary of the Govern<sup>t</sup>, as they give out they designe to make me, and altho' the pension His Maj<sup>ty</sup> allows me as Governor here, is very small, yet I shall not be tempted to enrich myself, by sharing with them in the gaine of their unlawful trade.

Your Lord<sup>ps</sup> will likewise find, that as the two Gentlemen removed from the Council by me viz: M<sup>r</sup> Brooks and M<sup>r</sup> Pinhome, were two of Capt<sup>n</sup> Leslier's Judges who, I find, was most barbarously murdered for his forwardnesse in the Revolution here, so the late Governor made advantage to divide the people by supposing a Dutch and English interest to be different here, and therefore under the notion of a Church of England, to be put in opposition to the Dutch and French churches established here, he supported a few raseally English who are a scandall to their nation and the Protestant Religion, and here great opposers to the Protestant Religion, and who joynd with him in the worst methods of gaine and severely used the Dutch, except some few Merchants, whose trade he favored, who ought to have an equal benefit of the English Govern<sup>t</sup> who are most hearty for his present Maj<sup>ty</sup>, and are a sober industrious people and obedient to

Coll: Fletchers
 abuse of the Soldiers.

He cheated them of their pay.

He been cheated of, besides what the King hath been wronged in Col:
 Fletcher's sending home full Muster
 rolles, when there hath not been half the number effective men.

Other hardships
 upon the soldiers:
 Acct of what the Earl of Bellomont had done for the soldiers.

He has now got full proof of Coll:
 Fletcher protecting Rayner a Pirate which he now transmitts;

as also
 An acct of all Coll:
 Fletcher's male administrations.

Brooks and Pin-home were two of Capt<sup>n</sup> Leslier's Judges.

Judges who,

Coll: Fletcher made divisions amongst the people.

Gov<sup>l</sup>. I have the consent of the Council in nominating an Agent for this province that according to your Lord<sup>sh</sup> direction the affairs and state of this province may from time to time be represented to you. And I have therefore under the great seal of this province, constituted Thomas Weaver Esq: to be agent, and have given instructions to him to attend your Lord<sup>sh</sup> accordingly, he is a person of good education and repute and hath served His Maj<sup>ty</sup> as Attor: Gen<sup>l</sup> of the Leeward Islands, with an unspotted reputation, he hath been known to me these many years and hath been an eye witness of all that passed since my entrance on this Gov<sup>l</sup> & is prepared with full informations to lay before your Lord<sup>sh</sup> the State of this Prov<sup>ce</sup>, to whom I hope your Lord<sup>sh</sup> will give credit being myself answerable for his integrity, & just discharge of his trust, and therefore I hope he will have your Lord<sup>sh</sup> countenance and favour in his addresses to you, on the account of this Province or in relation to my particular affaires, for all which he will have constant instructions from hence to attend your Lord<sup>sh</sup> best leisure with them — I am with respect — My Lords,

Your Lordships most humble and faithful servant,

BELLOMONT.

Earl of Bellomont to Secretary Popple.

[New-York Entries, A. 431.]

To Mr Popple

Sir.

Mr Weaver sent as Agent.

Mr Weaver the bearer being appointed Agent for this Province, and carrying with him evidences and vouchers of every thing done here since my being in the Govern<sup>l</sup>, I shall be the shorter and less troublesome to you in this letter, only, that I must recommend him to your Friendship and favour, and that you will be pleased to give him opportunities, as often as he applies to your Board, to be heard to all businesse relating to this province, or myself particularly. He is a Gent<sup>l</sup> of the Law whom I have long known, and whom I dare comend for an honest man, and of good understanding; he will deliver you

The Engineer Report of the condition of the frontier garrisons sent.

Coll: Romar the Engineers Report (among other papers) of the condition of the Frontier Garrisons and places; they are of my transcribing, and you must not wonder at the badness of the French, 'tis his own and such as he speaks; I desire you will lay those Instructions of mine to Romar, and his two letters to me by way of Report before the Lords of the Council of Trade, because one of His Maj<sup>ty</sup>s instructions to me is to give an account home of the fortified places.

Clamours against the Earle of Bello-
mont.

The Merchants in this town, have upon my inspection into the Trade raised such Clamour that I shall be impatient to receive orders from your Board in answer to the representation I make by Mr Weaver to their Lord<sup>sh</sup>, for nothing but the Ministers countenance to me will mortifie them, and bring them to a right temper; therefore you will do me a singular kindness, to quicken the Lords of the Council of Trade to send me orders as soon as tis possible, after Mr Weaver's arrival in England, for I do not see, how I can stir from hence to my other Govern<sup>l</sup> till I receive orders upon the representation I now make home, and Mr Weaver will tell you some reasons for it which I do not think fitt to write. I desire you will please to send or deliver my letter to Mr Penn. I am with much esteem

Sir—Your most humble servant

New York June the 27th 1698.

BELMONT.

P. S.—7th July 1698.

Since my letter was, as I thought, ended, a ship is arrived here from London which has brought me (besides several duplicates of letters from their Lord<sup>ps</sup> of the Council of Trade) a letter of the 21st of last March, intimating His Maj<sup>ty</sup>s just resentment against Piracy so much encouraged from His Maj<sup>ty</sup>s Plantations, and also recommending the passing such an Act of Assembly ag<sup>t</sup> Pirates as was passed in Jamaica, a copy whereof was sent along with me from England. I shall observe their Lord<sup>ps</sup> orders in endeavouring to get the same Act to passe in my three Govern<sup>ts</sup>. There is an Act passed here against Privateers and Pirates which I send now to their Lord<sup>ps</sup> by Mr Weaver; if it be not approved of, I will try to get the other to pass here, and hereafter in Massachusetts Bay and New Hampshire, but the people here are so out of humour at present, that I do not think it fit for me to call another Assembly, or leave this Province till I receive some new orders from England which shall put a censure upon the late Gov<sup>r</sup>s Administration which is the source of all the difficulties I meet with, and supports the insolence of his party; but if Coll: Fletcher's Administration here meets with that discountenance and punishment in Engl<sup>d</sup> which in my poor judgement it deserves, the people here will be as tame as Lambs, and all their ill humour will vanish, and then I need not doubt but an Assembly will be tractable in continuing the Revenue to His Maj<sup>ty</sup>, which is the thing I chiefly stickle for. I desire you would urge two or three things to their Lord<sup>ps</sup> above all others, that I might have a power to vacate all Fletcher's grants, which are so extravagant, that the province can never be peopled, there are half a dozen of his grants that come not much short of Yorkshire, for extent of land, and the persons that are the grantees have no merit. One Henry Beckman a Lieut<sup>t</sup> Coll: in the Militia has a vast tract of land as large as the midling county of England, for which he gave Fletcher a hundred dollars, about 25 pounds English, and I am told he values his purchase at £5000. The Mahawks land, 50 miles in length, I hear the Grantees value at £25,000. Coll: Smith's grant in Long Island alias Nassau Island cost him I am told but fifty dollars, tho' worth more than any grant of 'em all. And so of several other grants, a list whereof I send by Mr Weaver. He has granted away and sold all the conveniencies of a Gov<sup>r</sup> here (viz:) a Farm call'd the King's Farme, he has given to the Church here, but 'tis observable, his devotion did not carry him to do it till he heard I was certainly to superseed him part of that Farm, which is meadow ground and a scarce thing here, he sold to Capt<sup>e</sup> Evans commander of the Richmond Frigatt, a character of whom I have sent home by Mr Weaver in several depositions of his misbehaviour here; part of the King's garden too he has granted and sold to one Heathcote a Merch<sup>t</sup>, so that I am to be robbed of my conveniencies that is of a place where to keep a horse or a cow for the use of my Family; I shall think Fletcher has the best luck with his insolence and corruption that ever any Gov<sup>r</sup> had. I have given all the discountenance to Piracy that I am capable of doing, and that is one article which raises their clamour against me in this town; they say I have ruined the Town by hindering the Privateers (for so they call pirates) from bringing in a £100,000 since my coming;

Letters from the Council of Trade read.

Acts about Piracy.

The people out of humour, so will not yet call an Assembly.

he desires some new orders to put a censure upon Coll: Fletcher's Administration, which will make the people compliant & submissive.

He desires a power to vacate Coll: Fletcher's grants.

His reasons extent of the grants.

A list of Grants sent by Mr Weaver.

The King's farm, the King's garden granted away.

His discouraging Piracy makes the people clamour.

They say he has ruined the town

Mr Weaver whom I made King's Council here in two or three causes before myself and the Council, for inveighing ingeniously enough, & smartly against the unlawful trade of the Merchants and the mutinous disposition they have put the people into, they bear him such a grudge that his life is threatened, and therefore I must desire you will in my name request their Lordships of the Council of Trade to afford him their protection in case there shall be any attempt made against his person or reputation. I know him too well to fear any just defamation they can charge upon his reputation—

Mr Weaver's life in danger for speaking against illegal trade.

He desires Mr Weaver may be protected.

New York.

You are forthwith to transport your selfe to the City of Albany and to view and survey y<sup>e</sup> s<sup>d</sup> City as likewise all other fortifications of the County of Albany, and more particularly the fort of Skenectade, and you are to make report to me of the state and condition of the s<sup>d</sup> fortifications, as likewise what new fortifications are necessary to be made in the s<sup>d</sup> County for security for the frontiers of this Province in case of War and Invasion, a full account of which you are to transmit to me for his M<sup>ty</sup> service.

the Province of New York.

Copies of Coll Romar's Letters to me from Albany.

[TRANSLATED FROM THE FRENCH.]

My Lord,

I consider it my duty to inform Your Excellency that I arrived here on the 23d instant, and as soon as I had landed in the city of Albany, I found an opportunity to proceed to Schenectady, in order to inspeet that important frontier. This I did by successfully running over 40 miles; for I took a general observation of said place, and can assure you, my Lord, that the situation of Schenectady is admirable and good, and deserves attention on account of the importance of the frontier. It is a pity, and even a shame, to behold a frontier neglected as we now perceive this is; and had the public interest been heretofore preferred to individual and private profit, which has been scattered among a handful of people with diabolical profusion, the enemy had never committed pernicious forays on the honest inhabitants generally.

As regards Albany, I find that frontier as important as the other, and even more so, inasmuch as it covers the entire of Connecticut, New England, on one side, and New York and the Jerseys on the other, independent of promoting good correspondence, in general, by means of the navigation. Its situation is very irregular and difficult, though with a trilling expense I could put it in a state of defence against every enemy. The drawing of the necessary plans will take me, I believe, four weeks after I shall have completed the necessary arrangements. I shall begin to-morrow, please God, and shall not fail to use diligence, and to report thereon to Your Excellency. I am, with all respect,

my Lord,

Your Excellency's most humble
and most obedient servant,

Albany, 27th May, '98.

W. ROMAR.

My Lord,

On the 27th ult. I had the honor to assure Your Excellency of my most obedient respect, in informing you that I had been to Schenectady, and had inspected both the said place and town. I have since been to observe another frontier, named the Half Moon, concerning which I have been spoken to a great deal. I find it of very little consideration; but there is a place seven leagues higher up the river, called Cherahtoge, which must be an important frontier. If it pleases Your Excellency that I go thither, I shall await your orders, and shall make a report, verbally and in writing, on both the one and the other. Meanwhile, I have been occupied in the survey of this town—its situation and avenues—and had prepared my work so far as to be about to make a map of it, when I had the misfortune to upset a bottle of ink on my papers. This will oblige me to go again over several parts of my work, and will, consequently, delay me several days.

As I have—to add to my other misfortunes and inconveniences—been some days indisposed, I hope Your Excellency will have the goodness to excuse me, in case I may not be able to leave as soon as I had proposed. I am told Your Excellency is to come here in the beginning of next month. That being the case, I have considered it my duty to propose to you the necessity of a good and faithful interpreter—which will be difficult to find here—and I would dare say, not a faithful one, according as I see affairs managed, with a extraordinary division and jealousy; And though people may flatter Your Excellency with the contrary, and that a woman may answer you as an interpreter, it will be, my Lord, only for the purpose of deceiving you, and keeping you in ignorance of important affairs; for, I find everything in a state of confusion, through the management of some of your predecessors, and of those who prefer their own, to the public, interest. Wherefore, my Lord, I take the liberty to propose to you a good and faithful interpreter, name Arnout Cornelissen Vile, living in The Bay, on Long Island. Doctor Staats will cause him to come to New York to you, so that your Excellency may be master both of the man and his time. I would advise, also, your Excellency to send your calash ahead of you, with four of the smallest sets of harness. Horses are to be had here. The roads to Schenectade and Nestegione are good and safe. I shall visit the latter place before your arrival, provided I shall have the honor of knowing about what time your Excellency will leave, in order to prepare everything, as far as it is in my power, for your arrival. I find it very difficult to make an estimate of some new work in brick or rough stone (pierre de carrièr) because the people here are poor and ignorant, without any experience, so that I shall be necessitated to adopt other measures in order to explore every thing myself. This will give me trouble; it will, besides, require time. Nevertheless I shall not fail to inform myself as much as possible of every matter and of every place. Of this, Your Excellency may be assured, and that I am with profound respect,

My Lord, Your Excellency's

Most humble and most obedient servant,

Albany, 13th June, 1698.

Memorial of Messrs. Bleeker and Schermerhorn.

[New-York—C. D.—C.78.]

The humble Memoriall of Jan Jansz Bleeker and Ryer Schermerhoorn Rep<sup>esentatives</sup> for the City and County of Albany in the behalfe of themselves and the rest of the freeholders of the said City and County,

Humbly sheweth

That they are informed of a Certaine grant that was made by Coll: Fletcher late Governo<sup>r</sup> of this Provence, unto Coll. P. Schuyler, Major Dirck Wessells Doctor Godfrey Dellius, Capt. Evert Banker and William Pinhorne Esq<sup>r</sup> of the Maquase Land which grant they humbly conceive to be injurious not only to his Maj<sup>ties</sup> interest, but to all the subjects inhabiteing the said City and County, by Reason that it will Constraine and force the Indians of the Maquase Nation to desert this Provence and fly to the French, by which meanes His Maj<sup>tie</sup> will loose that Considerable branch of the Revenue which ariseth to him by that trade, and in case of another warr the chiefest strength of the Provence, It being manifest that in the late Warr, if it had not been that the Indians had manfully defended this Provence the French would have made many Inroads to the Disadvantage of the Provence, soe that there can nothing be soe Destructive to the safety of this Provence, as to Discourage those Indians who have soe successfully secured and defended in the late Warr for the whole supplies that were Raized in the rest of the Provence for the security of the Frontiers were not sufficient to p<sup>re</sup>serve the out settlements in the said County, the owners being forced to Desert them, and to subject them to the Ruine of the Enemy, Then in what imminent danger must the Provence be in upon another warr, if those that fought our Battles for us become our Enemies, and that we could not with the supply of three hundred men and the charge of six thousand pounds a year secure the out settlements that were within three, four, or five miles of Albany, how much difficulter must it be to secure the settlements that are designed to be made in the Maquase Country by virtue of the said grant which is fifty or sixty miles from Albany, All which is most humbly laid before yo<sup>r</sup> Lordshipp's consideration, most humbly praying that your Lordshipp would interceed with His Maj<sup>tie</sup> for the vacateing the said grant that the Indians may not be discouraged nor the rest of the Inhabitants who have been at greate charge to make settlements for the maintaining the Indian trade be thereby forced to forsake the same to their utter ruine

Report of the Earl of Bellmont on Mr. Livingston's Case.

[New-York Entries, B. 52.]

To the Right Honourable the Lords Commissioners of the Council of Trade.

My Lords.

His Majesty in his instructions having referred the consideration of the case of Robert Livingston of New York to myself and Council to inquire and examine into the justice of his demands for severall sums of money pretended to be advanced by him for the service of his Majesty in the said Province with interest for the same; for which the said Livingstone obtained severall orders from the Lords of the Treasury and from His Majesty and Council, and likewise to inquire into the causes and reasons why there was a delay given and suspension of obedience to the said orders by the late Governor and Council of New Yorke, as likewise to enquire into the causes and reasons why the said Livingstone was not permitted to exercise the severall employments in the said Province granted to him by a Commission from his Majesty.

In obedience therefore to His Majesty's commands and on the petition of the said Livingstone I made an order summoning Colonel Fletcher late Governor of this Province, or some in his behalf to appear before me at New Yorke on the 16th of May last, with the complaint exhibited in England against the said Livingstone with witnesses and evidences to justify the same; but on the said day nor since has any appeared in the behalf of the said Colonel Fletcher, his Attorneys declaring they had no orders to appeare against the said Livingstone. And on the 16th instant I ordered a hearing of the whole matter before myself and Council, where the Council did declare they did not beleive they could properly be judges of what they themselves had objected against the said Livingstone, nor had they any thing further to offer or urge against him more then formerly, that they knew nothing to the prejudice of his reputation, and added that he was the fittest man in the Province for the employs he executes and particularly as Victualler of the Forces. That they wholly referred the consideration and examination of the case to myself, desiring me to represent to His Majesty as it should appear to me.

Whereupon having heard the said Livingstone and seen his proofs and vouchers, together with the orders which he obtained in England on a strict scrutiny of his demands there; it appears to me that the several sums of money, both principall and interest, for which he obtained y<sup>e</sup> said orders in England, are justly due to him and ought to be discharged here according to the said orders, the execution of which was suspended in the late Government, no just reasons appearing to me for the same.

And as to the Commission from His Majesty dated the 27th of January 169<sup>5</sup>. with salaries to be paid the said Livingstone for his discharge of the offices, and trust thereby committed to him: I do find the said Livingstone a person fitt and capable to execute the same, and that nothing hath been offered against him to render him undeserving of his Majesty's grace and favour therein: which is nevertheless humbly submitted to your Lordships wisdom by

My Lords

Your Lordships most humble and faithfull servant

BELMONT.

New Yorke June the 28th 1698

Earl of Bellmont to the Lords of Trade.

[New-York Entries, A. 414.]

To the Right Hon<sup>ble</sup> the Lords Commissioners for Trade.

My Lords.

Receipt and Publication of His Maj<sup>ty's</sup> Proclamation about the Port of New York and the Jerseys.

Coll: Bass's Counter Proclamation asserting the Right of Perth Amboy

He comes after to the Earl, and on sight of the King's order submits, as well satisfied.

A ship seized by Mr Randolph in New Jersey is tryed in the Court of Admiralty of New York

A precept issued forth from the Court for bringing before them two supposed of Every's crew, seized in the Jerseys.

Bass and his Council refuse till the Commission for the Court published and recorded in the Jerseys

The Earl insisting, Bass submits two prisoners supposed to be Every's crew. I herewith send their examinations taken before Coll: Bass. I can find no evidence here against them, so that they would be cleared on a tryall here, and I have no instructions to send them for England so

In my last of the 25th of May I gave your Lordships an account of my receipt of His Maj<sup>ty's</sup> orders in relation to the Port of New Yorke and the Jerseys and send your Lord<sup>sh</sup>s the Proclam<sup>tn</sup> I published thereon; but I finde since my proclamation Coll: Bass published a Counter Proclam<sup>tn</sup> in the Jersey's which I now send you; he likewise hath wrot several letters to me on that subject, much disputing my orders and ascerting the right of the Port of Perth Amboy; but he hath since been with me and seen the Kings orders, and I thought he was so well satisfied that there would be no dispute but that the Jerseys should submitt to the Court of Admiralty of New Yorke; and soon after a ship was seized there by Mr Randolph and tryedin the Court of Admiralty here, but sometime since two Pirates of Every's crew being seized in the Jerseys a precept issued out of the Court of Admiralty here to demand them and to bring them prisoners thither. On this Coll: Bass called his Council and they were unanimous not to deliver, until the Commission for the Court of Admiralty was published and recorded in the Jerseys as appears by Coll: Bass his letter now sent of the 17. June last. On the receipt of this I call His Maj<sup>ty's</sup> Council, and by their advice sent a command to Coll: Bass (which I now likewise sent you) with which Coll: Bass being startled, he ventured without the consent of his Council to send me the two prisoners supposed to be Every's crew. I herewith send their examinations taken before Coll: Bass. I can find no evidence here against them, so that they would be cleared on a tryall here, and I have no instructions to send them for England so that I must admitt them to bail. One of them is not now above nineteen years old, his name is John Alston, was about 12 or 13 years old and was a boy in the ship when Every run away with her, and as he said forced him away too for a cabin boy, that he had no share with the rest, but a small part which they voluntarily gave them, that he acted no ill thing with his owne hand, and could not avoid being in the ship, being forced away; his account appeared to me probable, and inclines me to represent this circumstance to your Lord<sup>sh</sup> that if you think fitt he may be represented as an object of His Maj<sup>ty</sup>s mercy, he is not named in the Proclamation. I hear of two more of Every's men, one in Conecticut, and one in Rhode Island; I have wrote to these Govern<sup>ts</sup> to seize them and send them to me. But I desire your Lordships speedy directions what I shall do with them, for the evidence to condemn them is in England, and I want your directions to send the prisoners thither, for otherwise as they are taken up here, only on suspicion, I am told I can not by law deny their being admitted to baile.

Capt<sup>n</sup> Balderidge's proposal about the Island of St Mary's near Madagascar.

There is a proposal made to me, by Capt<sup>n</sup> Adam Balderidge for the settlement of the Island of S<sup>t</sup> Mary's which I promised him to represent to your Lord<sup>sh</sup>, and have given orders to the Agent of New Yorke to lay it before your Lord<sup>sh</sup> if the matter be of that real advantage to the trade of Engl<sup>d</sup> which he pretends, and it appears so; on your Lord<sup>sh</sup> examination of it I am sure your Lord<sup>sh</sup> will give it all encouragement and furtherance. M<sup>r</sup> Balderidge is now here he hath lived many years in S<sup>t</sup> Mary's and Madagascar and appears to be a sober man and reputed wealthy by his long trading in these parts.

Grievance of the City of New Yorke by an Act of Assembly in Coll: Fletcher's time, for which Nicolls had 400 pounds.

The City of New Yorke hath likewise addressed me in relation to an Act of Assembly passed by Coll: Fletcher which distroys their rights. I have offered the consideration of it to the Councill here, who desire me to represent it to your Lord<sup>sh</sup> which I have ordered the Agent to do. I have indeed made some discoveries, that the said Act was not so fairly obtained, there being a contract with M<sup>r</sup> Nicolls one of the Councill for four hundred pounds for the passing of it, but this matter I have taken notice of, in my large letter to your Lord<sup>sh</sup> by this conveyance, and shall only add, that if on examination, the passing of this Act appears to be manifestly to the injury of the Province, and that likewise a reward was given for it, it will have an ill aspect on Coll. Fletcher's not faithful discharging his trust of the Kings prerogative, which gave him power to deny the passing it, and may be worthy the consideration of a Parliament of England to frustrate what hath passed here by such clandestine practices to so great a publick prejudice.

Transactions with the French Governors of Canada and Montreall.

This day I received letters from Canada and Montreall in answer to the letters I sent to the Count Frontenac and Mon<sup>sr</sup> Caliere the Governors, by Coll: Schuyler, and by M<sup>r</sup> Dellius sent by me thither, copys of which I now send, as likewise the Minutes of their Journey, and therein your Lord<sup>sh</sup> will perceive the ill consequences of Coll: Fletcher's neglect of signifying the Peace to them, which he would not vouchsafe to do by writing to those Gov<sup>ts</sup>. You will likewise find their pretentions to the Five nations of Indians which we must support, otherwise this Province will be in great danger, for want of their friendship and assistance if another war should break forth.

Their aim to seduce the Five nations of Indians by sending Jesuits to instruct them.

It is likewise the designe of the Jesuits to send Missonarys amongst them to instruct them in the Christian Faith, who are very desirious of instruction (but it will be our interest to teach them sounder doctrines then the Jesuits moralls)

Proposal to the Board of an encouragement by the Corporation for conversion of Infidels to Protestant Divines to go among them.

which will certainly make them revolt from us, and therefore I offer it to your Lord<sup>ps</sup> consideration that three hundred pounds p<sup>r</sup> annum of the money paid on the Charter of Corporation for conversion of Infidels (whereof Sr William Ashurst is Govern<sup>r</sup>) may be applied this way which will support and encourage Protestant Divines to instruct these Indians, and thereby oblige them to the interest of the Crown of England as well as save their souls; which will without question be effected on signification of your Lord<sup>ps</sup> pleasure therein to the Members of that Corporation. I must expect your Lord<sup>ps</sup> directions in relation to my management in opposing any desires directions for his conduct in case the French annoy those Indians.

He is going to treat with the Indians.

French force that may annoy the Indians of the Five nations. I shall this next week meet their Sachims at Albany, and try all proper methods of argument and presents to continue them faithful and prevent their being debauched by the French kindness or menaces and shall give your Lord<sup>ps</sup> an account of my proceedings therein.

Defects in the present Fortifications and need of some new to be proposed to the Assembly.

I sent the Ingeneer Gen<sup>l</sup>, Coll: Romar with instructions to Albany to visit the frontiers, Forts, and Garrisons, and to make report to me in what condition he found them, who hath returned me his report, both which I now transmit to you Lord<sup>ps</sup>, wherein you will find that our fortifications are very weak, much out of repair, and have been most shamefully neglected, and the frontier County destroyed and deserted this war; and that several other fortifications are absolutely necessary to be made to defend against another war; but I am going thither and shall view them myself, and then be able to propose to the Assembly of this province the charge of making them, and shall give your Lord<sup>ps</sup> a further account thereof.

Rhode Island pretends to a Court of Admiralty and to try a Pirate.

I am informed by M<sup>r</sup> Randolph, surveyor General of the Customes, that Rhode Island pretends to a Jurisdiction of a Court of Admiralty, and that they have seized a Pirate there with his mony and designe to try him and perhaps acquitt him. I know not yet what privilege they have by their Charter, but I am well informed what constant encouragement they give to Pirates to come in there, and bring in their spoils, and likewise what connivance is made to the breach of all the acts of Trade, and from thence it may be concluded that there will be but very faint prosecutions in a Court of

Their foul practices relating to Trade represented to the Lords of the Treasury.

Admiralty of their owne erecting, and but small regard given to the Acts of Trade, which is of so great consideration that I have likewise represented it to the Lords of the Treasury. And I hope your and their representation of the matter to His Maj<sup>ty</sup> and Council will produce some resolutions and orders to remedy so great an Evil.

Coll: Fletcher's extravagant grants of lands and of several particulars enjoyed by the Governrs upon notice of his being to quit the Government.

The Kings Attorney Gen<sup>l</sup> here hath given in a memoriall to me signifying the manner of grants of land in this province from the beginning and continuance of its being under an English Govern<sup>t</sup> and your Lord<sup>ps</sup> may be inform'd thereby and have further satisfaction from our Agent, how Coll: Fletcher the late Gov<sup>r</sup> hath had no regard to rules, but upon notice of His Maj<sup>ty</sup> pleasure, that I should be Gov<sup>r</sup>, he granted away every foot of Land that was to be disposed of in the Govern<sup>t</sup> in such extravagant quantities, that a grant to one man contains seventy miles in length and eight miles broad; other grants likewise of fifty miles and thirty miles; and by so doing hath betrayed the trust His Maj<sup>ty</sup> reposed in him, never consulted the King's Att: Gen<sup>l</sup> therein, but hath made it almost impossible to settle the Country with Inhabitants, there being no land but what must be purchased from his few Grantees, (who never can settle it themselves) and put it out of the power of His Maj<sup>ty</sup>, or any succeeding Gov<sup>r</sup> to reward the services of subjects in peace or war, with gifts of land to engage them to settle thereon; he likewise went further; and whereas

His Maj<sup>ty</sup> Fort at New Yorke being the house of the Gov<sup>ty</sup>, had a large garden for pleasure, fruit and herbage, and might be called the King's domain, Coll: Fletcher hath granted away by patents great part of the said garden, the pleasantest part being next to the sea, and expressed its name in the Patent (part of our Garden) and the remaining part being a Garden planted with herbs and Fruit trees, he permitted the Fences and Trees to be wholly destroyed by Cattle, after his knowledge of my being appointed a Gov<sup>ty</sup>, which 14 years time will hardly repair. A small Farm, called the King's Farm, which usually supplied the Governours with bread, corne, some few months before my arrivall, he made a lease of to the Church, and a small Island called nutten Island, for the grasing of a few coachhorses and Cows for the Governours family he would likewise have leased out to one formerly his footman but the Council were

One grant dissented to by the Councill.

ashamed to consent to it, so that is only left undisposed of for the pleasure or conveniency of the King's Gov<sup>ty</sup>. This he hath done is a great dishonour to His Maj<sup>ty</sup>, as well as uneasiness to succeeding Gov<sup>ty</sup>, as the greater grants is a betraying of his trust, and invincible obstacle to the settlement and strength of this Colony;—wherefore I hope your

ships to represent this to His Maj<sup>ty</sup>

Lord<sup>ps</sup> on the application of our Agent, will be pleased to receive a full information hereof and so represent it to His Maj<sup>ty</sup> that a way may be found that these great and mischievous grants may be damn'd and made void, since his Maj<sup>ty</sup> hath been so betrayed, and deceived in them by the late Gov<sup>ty</sup>, and that I shall, by your Lord<sup>ps</sup> have His Maj<sup>ty</sup>'s commands therein.

Mr Weaver King's Council at Law
very assistant to the Earl to discovery of the late ill practices, therefore magnified, the Earl's good opinion of him, now appointed Agent.

I have fresh informations of the Merchants of this place designs by applications at home to have Coll: Fletcher again Gov<sup>ty</sup>, and I find their rage against me so increased, that having had the Assistance of M<sup>r</sup> Weaver (now appointed Agent) as King's Council at Law in these prosecutions, they endeavour to load him with many false calumnies, and give out they will blacken him at home, to take away his credit with your Lordships, as they would do mine and every mans, that serves the King faithfully in these matters, but as I will be answerable to your Lord<sup>ps</sup> for M<sup>r</sup> Weaver's honesty & integrity, so I hope he will have your Lord<sup>ps</sup> favour, countenance and protection, and have full credit in his representations of affairs relating to the province, or myself, and I must assure your Lord<sup>ps</sup>, that an honest Gov<sup>ty</sup> (especially of some quality) can not have a subsistance from the salary and perquisites of this Govern<sup>ty</sup>; yet his Maj<sup>ty</sup>'s honor and the interest of the Trade of England have been so violated and injured here, that notwithstanding all the labour & trouble shall meet with, I shall go on Cheerfully to retreuche both.

My Lords — I am with respect — Your Lord<sup>ps</sup> most humble and faithful servant

POSTSCRIPT:

The Boards orders about Pirats received.

Yesterday I received your Lord<sup>ps</sup> letters of the 21st March last, by Capt<sup>n</sup> Jeffers, with the orders in relation to Pyrats; and your Lord<sup>ps</sup> will perceive by my letters of the 8th and 15th and 25th of May last, send in the Richmond, and by these Packetts, how industrious I have been in obedience to His Maj<sup>ty</sup>'s orders given me before my departure from London, which I shall continue, now I have your Lord<sup>ps</sup> commands; and I must remarke what I before omitted, that one Daniel Honan private Secretary to Coll: Fletcher being sworne and examined by me, whether he knew of any moneys given to or received by Coll: Fletcher; for his granting Protections to Pirates or to Privateers, who positively swore he knew of none;

Honan's (a private Secretary of Fletcher's) perjury in a matter relating to Bribery by Pirats, awakening his evidence in any matter of Fletchers.

and since that I have plaine and positive proof upon oath, that he was present when one Wick gave a present of fifty pounds to Coll: Fletcher for granting a protection to one Rayner a Pirate (supposed one of Every's Crew) and the said fifty pound was paid by a Bill drawn by the said Wick on Coll: Abraham de Peyster, and payable to Honan, for the use of Coll: Fletcher, and was paid accordingly; Wherefore, if Coll: Fletcher should make use of such a fellow to attest any matter in his favour, I hope your Lord<sup>sh</sup> will give him no credit, since he so plainly forswore himself which I do attest to your Lord<sup>sh</sup> of my own knowledge.

Foul practice of the Sheriff of N. York in Election of Members of the Assembly for which by advice of the Council he is suspended.

This day I summoned the Sheriff of New York before myself and Councill, on an information of his disobedience to His Maj<sup>ty</sup>s writt, and it manifestly appeared by the oaths of five credible men and his own confession, that notwithstanding he was commanded to returne representatives for the County of Orange, and he had made a returne pursuant, yet he had not permitted one voice of a freeholder of that County to vote; for which his apparent corruption and other neglects of his duty, as well as keeping constant Cabals at his house, to contrive disturbance to the Govern<sup>t</sup> with the advice and consent of the Councill I suspended him from being Sheriff; for indeed I durst not trust so ill a Man in such a Post among so mutinous a people during my absence at Albany.

Coll: Romar Ingeener Genl recalled, by order of the Board of Ordnance but retained by the Earle till further order on account of the defects and need of fortifications and the danger of the French attacking the Five Indian Nations.

By the last conveyance by which I received your Lord<sup>sh</sup>s orders, I received a letter from the Board of ordnance bearing date the 24th of Feb<sup>ry</sup> last recalling Coll: Romar Ingeener Genl hence, but considering that all our Forts and fortifications at Albany and Frontiers are almost ruined, and in no case of defence, and there being some more wanting and no other person that understands them here; and likewise considering the threats of the French Gov<sup>ty</sup>s in their letters to me (now transmitted to your Lord<sup>sh</sup>) to fall upon the Five nations of Indians, which we are obliged for our safety to defend, on these considerations (which could not be known to your Lord<sup>sh</sup> or the Board of Ordnance when the orders were sent me) I have thought fitt for His Maj<sup>ty</sup>s service to retain Coll: Romar, until I receive further orders, and desire your Lord<sup>sh</sup> will interpose with His Maj<sup>ty</sup> for his continuance here until the fortifications are perfected.

New York July 6th 1698.

Messrs. Schuyler and Dellius to Earl Bellomont.

[New-York Entries, A. 477.]

May it please your Excellency

On the fourth of this instant arrived here four Messengers sent by the Senecks and Cayounges to acquaint us that the Messengers are come back from Canada that were sent by the Onondagers and Oneyaders the last fall to make a peace, one of which Messengers is detained behind as an hostage.

They are come to no conclusion of peace, because none of the other three nations were there, upon which they have agreed to send new Messengers from all the Five nations (the Mohacks excepted) with which nation the Governor of Canada will have nothing to doe, he saying they depend on your Excellency and take their measures according to your directions.

To confirm the truth of this relation, the Indian Messengers have laid down a Beaver and skins with seven hands of Wampom, which is now sent to your Excellency.

That wee have had several conferences with the said Messengers, to diswade them from having any private negotiation with the French, and have used all sorts of Arguments which we hope may be effectual.

May it please your Excellency, we have thought convenient therefore to stop their proceedings and have sent for some of the Sachims of each nation to be here in forty days to consult with your Excellency.

Therefore we do humbly request your Excellencies further orders and instructions in this affair.

We have nothing else to add but to assure your Excellency that our utmost endeavours shall be used for His Maj<sup>ty</sup>'s honour and interest, and conclude ourselves

Your Excellency's most humble and most obedient servants

Governor Fletcher's neglect to write to the Governor of Canada about the Peace.

[New-York Entries, A. 484.]

This told me by Coll: Peter Schuyler and M<sup>r</sup> Derick Wessells at New Yorke the 21st of April 1698.

[TRANSLATED FROM THE FRENCH.]

[New-York C. D. — C 56.]

New-York, 22d April, 1698.

Sir,

The King having done me the honor to appoint me Governor of several of His Majesty's Provinces in America, and among the rest, of that of New-York, I have considered it fitting, whilst paying my respects to you, to inform you also of the peace concluded between the King, conjointly with his allies, and His Most Christian Majesty, the Articles of which I send you, both in Latin and French. Peace was published in London, in the month of October last, shortly before my departure from England: but as my voyage has been very long and wearisome, having been driven by contrary winds to the Island of Barbadoes, I have not been able to get here until the 2d instant. I transmit this letter by Colonel Schuyler, member of His Majesty's Council in this Province, and Mr. Dellius, both gentlemen of character and merit, in order to evince to you the esteem I entertain for a person of your rank. These gentlemen will convey to you all the French prisoners at present in the hands of the English of this Province. As regards those who are in captivity among the Indians, I shall send orders that they be liberated forthwith, with a good escort, if that be necessary, in order to guarantee them against all insults, and to conduct them in safety to Montreal. I doubt not, Sir, but you will, on your part, also issue orders for the release of all the King's subjects, both Christians and Indians, who have been made prisoners by you during the war, so that friendly correspondence and an unrestricted trade, the ordinary fruits of peace, be renewed on the one side and the other, agreeably to the hearty union and good understanding which it has created between the Kings, our Masters. I beg you to be persuaded that I am, with much esteem and respect,

Sir,

Earl of Bellmont to M. de Callières.

[TRANSLATED FROM THE FRENCH.]

New-York, 22d April, 1698.

Sir

I have been greatly surprised to find that Colonel Fletcher, late Governor of this Province, has failed to inform you in writing of the general peace that has been concluded, and which has been published at London the 19th October last. This assuredly is a very censurable neglect on his part, which will, no doubt, be resented at Court. I have issued orders for the immediate release of all the French prisoners, as well those in the hands of the English, as those taken by the Indian subjects of the King. I have also sent orders for the liberation of the prisoners taken in the other Provinces of my Government during the last war. I have charged Colonel Schuyler and Mr. Dellius with a letter addressed to Count de Frontenac, communicating the peace, and demanding of him the release of the prisoners and the reestablishment of trade. I hope you will cooperate therein as far as your Government is concerned, and that you will forward these gentlemen and their suite to Quebec. I shall not fail to prove to you, on all occasions, that I am, and shall be, truly

Your most humble servant,

Earl of Bellomont's Instructions to Messrs. Schuyler and Dellius.

[New-York, C. D. — C. 57.]

N. Yorke April 22<sup>d</sup> 1698.

Having with advice of His Maj<sup>ties</sup> Council appointed you, to go to Canada to communicate the Articles of Peace concluded by his Majesty and y<sup>e</sup> French King unto Count Frontinacque the Governour there, which I now deliver you in French and Latin to the end that he may have timely notice of the same to prevent the Consequences that would otherwise attend the delay thereof.

You Coll Schyler are therefore ordered with all speed to hasten to Albany, and take with you from hence such French prisoners as are willing to return to Canada and on your arrivall at Albany, you and M<sup>r</sup> Dellies are to take under your care all such prisoners as are there or that Gov<sup>r</sup> can procure from the Indians and provide them with necessary Cloathing and other things needfull to enable them to returne home and what number you than so take under your charge transmitt me a list of their names. You shall also on your arrivall at Albany provide your selfs with such things as shall be convenient for your Journey to Canada and make all possible hast to proceed on your s<sup>d</sup> Journy for the prevention of any mischief that may ensue by reason of the Governour of Cannados not haveing timely notice of the peace.

On your arrivall at Mont Troyall you shall deliver unto Maj<sup>r</sup> Callior my letter and desire him to assist you in your quick dispatch to Quebeck, give him my service and assure him of my willingness to keep a fair Correspondance with him.

On your arrivall at Quebeck deliver my Letter to Count Frontinacqu, and tell him, that I have made it my first care since my Entrance upon the Government, to signify my respect to the frindship Contracted by our great Mar<sup>s</sup> in the Articles of peace Now transmitted to him by you and have therefore with all speed sent to him such prisoners of warr as are come to my knowledge in this Govern<sup>t</sup> with the best accomodation the place could afford, and have given directions that the same shall be done in the other that I shall always be ready to maintain y<sup>e</sup> friendship of our great Masters with a friendly Correspondance.

You shall also take care to demand that all y<sup>e</sup> subjects and Indians of my Mestor the King of England that have been taken prisoners during the war and now under his Command in Canada or among the Indians that they may have Liberty to returne unto their respective places to which they belong without any lett or Molestation, and be civilly and well treat'd according to the rules and laws of Nations.

You shall also desire him that the subjects of both our mār<sup>t</sup> may have the free Intercourse of trade and Commerce according as formerly accustomed.

You shall also by your best discretion inform yourself if any of His Maj<sup>ties</sup> subjects are detained or kept prisoners contrary to the s<sup>d</sup> Articles of Peace, and if any such to examin the cause of such detention and acquaint me therewith.

You are likewise to desire him to give directions that his Indians doe not doe any act of hostility against any of our Indians but that they shall observe the Articles of the said Warr, [Peace?] having given direction that our Indians shal strictly observe the same.

You are to demean yourself with great respect and regard unto Count Frontinacque by all means to avoid giving him any distaste.

You are also by all oppertunitys to acquaint me of the progress in your Journy and also of what shall be transacted by you in your negotiation with Connt Frontinacque, that I may transmitt some unto his Majesty.

Brethren

We are now come here, by a Messenger you sent for us, we likewise hear you sent a Messenger to stop us from coming, but we missed at the Mohaques Castles, and now we are come here to see you.

We are come here to excuse ourselves of a scandall that has been layd upon the four Nations, as they had from some of our Messengers sent from our Castles unto Coll: Schuyler, who informed that we had an underhand dealing with the Gov<sup>r</sup> of Canada, and that we should make a separate peace with him and that the Gov<sup>r</sup> of Canada would continue the War with this Govern<sup>t</sup> and the Mohaques, and this messagge was brought into our Country by one Vadasishtee an Oneyde with a belt of Wampum.

The Speaker makes answer, in the behalf of the four Nations, that it is not true, and that they never were intended to make any separate peace with the Gov<sup>r</sup> of Canada, but are fully resolved to keep the Covenant Chaine Inviolable, because we are still one body, one head, and one blood, we know well enough that the Gov<sup>r</sup> of Canada has used all his indevours to separate us one from another, which shall never be in his power; you will be better informed of the truth of this when your Messengers returne from Canada.

Brethren—We desire you will not entertaine any ill opinion of us, to think that we should make any separate peace with the Gov<sup>r</sup> of Canada; do give 5 Beavers to remove all suspicious thoughts from your hearts.

Answer to the four nations of Indians made by the Magistrates of Albany the 16th day of May 1698.

Brethren

We are sorry that the Messengers we sent to you to stop your Journey from coming to Albany, did not meet with you before you came here. Wee are glad to see you.

We are well satisfied with your discourse of your purging yourself of the scandall charged upon you that you never had thought, nor never intended to make any separate peace with the Gov<sup>r</sup> of Canada contrary to the covenant chaine.

We now require you that you neither directly nor indirectly send or Receive any Messenger from Canada, untill such time as you come to Albany and consult with the Gov<sup>r</sup> General, what shall be beneficial for your General good.

We doubt not but the Gov<sup>r</sup> General will give you timely notice to meet him here. Do give to each Nation an Indian cask of Rum, with a Roll of Tobacco amongst them, 40 pounds Pork Twelve loaves bread and four scheple peas.

Count de Frontenac to the Earl of Bellmont.

[TRANSLATED FROM THE FRENCH.]

[New-York, C. D.—C. 58.]

Quebec, 8th June 1698.

Sir

Colonel Schuyler and Mr. Dellius presented to me, three days ago, the letter you did me the honor to write me, from which I perceive your disposition to entertain a good correspondence with us in consequence of the peace which has been concluded between the King, my Master, and the King of England.

Although I have not yet received its confirmation by France, I have always observed so much humanity towards your prisoners, that I shall, without difficulty, surrender into the hands of those gentlemen, during their brief sojourn here, those English and Dutch men whom I shall be able to collect together in the several parts of my government, and who will be disposed to depart, as I have always done in the hottest period of the war, notwithstanding the bad treatment Captain de Villieu and several others have experienced at Boston, contrary to the law of nations, and even ratified capitulations. I am persuaded, Sir, that you will not approve this proceeding, and that you will no longer tolerate the detention there, in chains, of Capt. Baptist, a privateer, who is treated with great rigor.

I have recently learned that a party of our prisoners, which had been at Boston, has been sent back to Port Royal, and I am much obliged to you for those whom Messrs. Schuyler and Dellius have brought me from you, though they be few in number. But I cannot understand how you could have instructed those gentlemen to require the release of the Iroquois whom we have with us, in promising to have restored to me all the Frenchmen whom they hold; for, they having come last fall to negotiate peace with me, and having left a hostage with me for the observance of their promise, it remains for them to perform it, and to bring me back my people, if they wish to conclude the peace; and it would be needless that you should give yourself the trouble to interfere in the matter, inasmuch as these are children disobedient towards their father, who have for a long period been uninterruptedly subject to the King's dominion, even before the English took New York from the Dutch.

The missions we have had for more than forty years amongst them; the garrisons we maintained in their villages; their children whom they have given, and whom I have brought up near, me, and many other evidences afford most certain proofs that they have ever been subject to the King's protection. I have such precise orders hereupon, that I cannot transgress them until I have received new instructions, and until the Kings, our masters, shall either by themselves, or by Commissioners whom they will send to the places, come to an agreement respecting the difficulties which they may meet there. These, however, Sir, shall not alter the good understanding I profess to entertain with you. I have detained the Indians who are here with us, in order that they should not make any new attacks on the English settlements. As soon as I had the first intelligence of the peace, by Mr. Abraham, I gave the same notice to the Abenakis and other Indians towards Acadia; but as they are at a great distance from me, and as I am told they were extremely irritated because divers of their Chiefs, who are prisoners at Boston, have not been sent back to them with the French to Port Royal, I fear, if you do not cause them to be released at the earliest moment, that their despair will drive them to undertake some act of hostility, which might cause us regret, both the one and the other.

This prevents me, also, in their regard, obliging them to restore, absolutely, the English prisoners they have among them, having been repeatedly deceived by similar proposals of peace, and having, at divers times, surrendered persons without having been able to obtain any in return.

It was impossible to receive your letter by persons more agreeable to me than Messrs. Schuyler and Dellijs, who have appeared to me gentlemen of merit. The desire they have to join you, before your departure from New-York, forbids my detaining them any longer here.

The King of England could not send into those Provinces a person capable of affording me more joy, by the reputation I understand you possess, and which will engage me to exercise all my care, in order to maintain a good correspondence with you, being disposed to assure you, as often as it shall be in my power, that I am, with great esteem and respect,

Sir,

Your most humble and obedient Servant,

FRONTENAC.

Governor General of the Provinces of New-England and New-York, at York.

Montreal, 17th June, 1698.

Sir,

Messrs. Schuyler and Dellijs have presented me the letter you did me the honor to address me, with, annexed thereunto, the Articles of Peace, concluded on the 20th September last.

They surrendered to me, at the same time, nineteen French prisoners, with one Indian subject of the King, and I immediately caused these two gentlemen to be conveyed, with their suite, to Count de Frontenac, who has written to me by them on their return, to have all the English prisoners mustered, as well those who were among the French as among the Indians of my Government, in order to their being surrendered to them and joined to those whom he had had liberated at Quebec and Three Rivers, and to provide them with all the vehicles and provisions necessary for their voyage. This, as you can be assured by Mr. Schuyler and Mr. Dellijs, who have appeared to me very zealous in the execution of your orders, I have had most carefully done, in order to contribute, on my part, to the reëstablishment of a good correspondence between this Colony and those under your command, and to make known to you that I shall feel great pleasure, on all occasions under my control, to prove to you that I am, indeed,

Sir,

Your most humble and most obedient Servant,

Chev. De CALLIERE.

To His Excellency, Richard, Earl of Bellomont, Governor General of New-England and of the Province of New-York, at New-York.

Depositions of Henry & Joseph two of the Maquase nation who are of full age and have been Converts to the Christian Faith for about Eight years past, taken before His Excellency Richard Earl of Bellomont and James Graham Esq<sup>r</sup> His Maj<sup>ty</sup>'s Attorney generall for the province of New York, who being duely sworne on the holy Evangelists of God have answered to the following Queries as is hereunder Expressed. New York y<sup>e</sup> 31th May 1698.

Query. Whether they be owners of the Maquase Land where their Castles are seated.

Answer. Yes, they are part owners or proprietors of the above land.

Q. How many are owners of the said Land besides themselves.

Ans. Six more besides them, two have the Principall Propriety in those Lands and that the rest of the Maquase are Concern'd under them.

Q. Whether they have sold the Land to M<sup>r</sup> William Pinhorn Còll: Peter Schuyler. Dom. Godevridus Dellius: Maj<sup>r</sup> Dirik Wessells and Evart Banker.

Ans. Wee never sold nor gave away y<sup>e</sup> said Land to any person whatever.

Q. How many families belong to the Maquase Nation

Ans. There are thirty nine houses belonging to the Maquase Nation some of which houses contain one family, some two, some four.

Q. Since they say they did not sell their Land what did they mean when they put their marks and seales to a bill of sale dated the 8th day of July 1697.

Ans. That they never intended to alienate the Property of the Soile and that these pretended Purchasers Cöll Peter Schuyler, Doe<sup>r</sup> Godfry Dellius their Minister. Maj<sup>r</sup> Dirk Wessells and Cap<sup>t</sup> Evert Bancker used artifice to circumvent them and their Companions into a bargain of Sale with them, by Pretending as it was a time of War so it would be their best and securest way to defend them against the Enemy; that they should appoint or name them (meaning the Purchasers) for their Guardians or Trustees; and that they did not treat and agree with them altogether but seperately or severally and at different times. Says further that they Questioned the matter before sign'd it, and alleadged that it would be proper that all the persons concern'd should be present to consult together, but they were answer'd there was no harm in signing the Paper it was for their own security, they would keep their land for them, that it should not be in the power of any person to make an Infringement upon their Property and as long as any of the Maquase nation lived, the land should be theirs and their Posteritys for ever. Since we have been so deceiv'd, as to sign a Paper contrary to our Intention, wee therefore humbly Pray that false paper which wee and our Brethren the Proprietors of the said Land, have sett our marks and Seals to, which wee are Inform'd gives away our Right to our native Land, Contrary to our Intent, may be vacated and destroyed that the memory of so great a Corruption may be rooted out from among us Christians lest our unconverted brethren may be discouraged by so ill a practise and Example from entring into the Christian faith; and wee further pray for the preventing the like ill Practise for the future, that since wee are subjects of the great King of England and have long ago Surrendered our selves and Lands to the protection of our said great King that your Lordship would be pleas'd to lett us have a patent for our said Land to hold of our said Great King: with a Limitation that none of the English may enter upon our said Lands whilst any of us or our Posterity are in being; Except that our great King shall see cause to Erect a Castle or Fort there for the Security of the Subjects on the fronteers.

The said Henry and Joseph doe further Complain to his Excell<sup>ty</sup> that about three years agoe when they were out a fighting against the French Six Idle drunken People of their nation took upon them to sell a vast Tract of Land belonging to his Excell<sup>ty</sup>s Complainants called Ikohere, (Skohere) of so large an Extent that a Young man has enough to doe to run over it in a day's time, and that for the value of thirty Beaver-skins in Rum and other goods; which Land Arent Schuyler bought for Cöll Nicolas Bayard of New-York: whereupon they made their complaint to y<sup>e</sup> Magistrates of Albany who gave them no Releife but on the contrary the said Cöll Bayard obtained a patent of Cöll Fletcher y<sup>e</sup> last Governour for the said unlawfull purchase of their Land which caused the said Complainants upon Cöll Fletchers arrivall at Albany to apply unto him for Justice and Complaind in the presence of Cöll. Peter Schuyler and Maj<sup>r</sup> Dirik Wessells and the Interpretess: that there was a Patent granted to Cöll Bayard of their Land which they never sold; nor had those who pretended to sell, any right to doe the same. did therefore pray the said Cöll. Fletcher to destroy the said Patent and make it voide who promised in the presence of the aforesaid Persons to do the same but hitherto it is not done to the great disquiet and dissatisfaction of the Complainants; w<sup>ch</sup> causes them to renew their prayers to your Lordship for Justice in that matter.

The said two Christian Indians do pray his Excellency that he would use his endeavors to propogate the Christian Religion amongst them, w<sup>ch</sup> hath been much neglected and faintly perform'd of late years, therefore do pray that a minister may be appointed to Reside with them at their Castles for the cherishing and Comforting of those few Converts that are already in the Christian faith and for the converting the rest of their Brethren who have good Inclinations to Embrace the said faith if they had Ministers to instruct them therein

Report of Messrs. Schuyler and Delliis' Negotiations in Canada.

[TRANSLATED FROM THE FRENCH.]

[New-York C. D.—C. 59.]

Report of our negotiations in Canada, by order of His Excellency the Earl of Bellomont, Captain General and Governor in Chief of the Province of New-York.

8th of May. Pursuant to your Excellency's orders, we left Albany.

15th. At Pointe de Chevelure,<sup>1</sup> in the lake, we met a canoe, with French Indians, loaded with beavers, on their way to trade at Albany.

16th. We discovered, on the borders of said lake, two French Indians arrayed as warriors. The face of one was painted; we inquired of them whither they were going. They answered, they were sent by Monsieur Callière, the Governor of Montreal, to get the abovementioned canoe to return; but we discovered, by means of an Indian woman, a prisoner whom we were conveying back, that they were on their way to Albany to take some prisoners in order to obtain news. This obliged us to take them along with us, in order to prevent the inconveniences that might happen from their going towards Albany.

19th. We arrived at Montreal with twenty prisoners, whom we placed in the hands of the Governor, whom we complimented in your Excellency's name, and to whom we presented your letter, at which he felt highly honored, and evinced much gratitude.

20th. Several French Indians, both men and women, came to see us. We received them very civilly, and made them some small presents. They told us that there were in prison six of our Iroquois—which is the general name the French give our Indians of the Five Nations. We were to see them, and found them wounded. This occurred in an engagement with the Algonkins, a tribe of Canada Indians, in which twenty-four of ours were killed, and six wounded; viz: the prisoners aforesaid. The other side had ten killed and two wounded. We requested Monsieur Callière to liberate them, and let them out of prison. He answered that he could not do so without an order from Count de Frontenac, to whom he wrote on the subject. We spoke to him about those two Indians arrayed as warriors, but he was unwilling to admit that they had been sent out to make prisoners.

In the course of the interview, we fell on the subject of the Five Nations. He informed us that Count de Frontenac expected their deputies, every moment, to sue for peace from him, and that they were to bring back all the French prisoners who remain in their country. To this we answered, that it was useless and improper for our Indians to make peace with the Canadians, as, being the King of England's subjects, they were naturally included in the treaty. He told us that our Indians had been actually at war with them before war broke out between the two Crowns. To this we replied, that if our memory did not deceive us, we had been told that Marquis de Denonville, then Governor of Quebec, had requested Colonel Dongan, at the time Governor of New-York, to get our Indians to pillage the Canadians who were carrying beavers to Albany; and although Monsieur Dongan did not give them those orders, nevertheless, the Indians had some indication thereof, which obliged them to make war on Canada, in consequence of the resentment they entertained against the Canadians for having most fraudulently surprized a number of their people at Fort Catarokksi.

He insisted strongly on the Records, saying that the Five Nations had subjected themselves to them, and called Count de Frontenac their Father.

We replied to him, with submission, that Paper admits anything—that the word Father was a compliment; that the Jesuits had taught it to them. As regards titles, that the English had better than they, and that we could not see why Count de Frontenac should desire our Indians to visit him for the purpose of concluding a peace, rather than the Earl of Bellomont those of Canada, to negotiate with him. This interview concluded by saying, that it would be well this difference were settled by the two Crowns, and that with this view it had formerly been referred, together with excellent Memoirs, to France, in the time that King James arrived there; and that he doubted not but it would have been arranged, had it not been for the Revolution in England. We said to him, we hoped Count de Frontenac would not raise any question thereupon; but would consent that your Excellency should regulate our Indians in all things befitting the public peace and tranquillity.

21st. We took our departure from Mont Real, and arrived on the 25th at Quebec, where we waited on, and paid our respects to, Count de Frontenac and presented him your Excellency's letter. He received us most politely, and evinced considerable satisfaction and lively sensibility at the honor your Excellency conferred on him.

26th. The Superior of the Jesuits and the secular clergy visited us, and in the course of conversation said, they hoped to come soon to see us at Albany and wished to send their missionaries back among our Indians. We answered hereunto, that they may spare themselves that trouble—that our Indians are under the direction of our minister at Albany (Dellius), who takes care of them, and awaits orders for their instruction from my Lord Bishop of London, to whose diocese they belong. This greatly astonished them, and obliged them to say that they were paid for that mission, receiving twenty-four thousand livres annually from the King of France. To which we replied, that if our King did not surpass, he at least equalled, the King of France in piety and generosity; but as regards the Fathers, they, as we had but too often experienced throughout this war, were prompted rather by the desire to seduce our Indians and to enfeeble us, by attracting them hither with a view to strengthen themselves, than by charity and a design for their salvation.

27th. According to your Excellency's instructions, we demanded of Count de Frontenac his Majesty's subjects, both Christians and Indians, who were detained in his government, and the establishment of a reciprocal trade, as the first fruits of the peace, &c. To which he answered, that as regards the Christians, he would issue orders to that effect; but as for the Indians, he could not resolve to liberate them until the deputies of the Five Nations had come to make their peace, pursuant to the promise they had given him by other deputies; for the performance of which they had left a hostage with him; as regards the trade, it would not be his fault if it were not established as it had been before the war.

We replied, to the refusal of surrendering our Indians, that those pretended deputies who had been in Canada were only four or five private individuals, without orders, as had been represented to us by the deputies of the Five Nations who had come, at the time, to Albany to us, to whom the superintendence of the Indians had been committed; who by a belt of Wampum, protested against all this pretended deputation, and publicly stated that it was a ruse of Odatsighta, of whom Father Milet, the Jesuit, is the adopted brother. This Odatsighta is a Canada Indian, who formerly had been one of ours; but Father Milet, having been four or five years a prisoner among them, was adopted into his family as his brother, and debauched him.

The Governor rejoined: the Five Nations had always been under the French government; that it had missionaries and garrisons among them for forty years and upwards; they had affixed the arms of the King of France; the Indians had called him their Father; the English were not long in possession of the country; no mention was made of them [the Five Nations] in the articles of peace; that the Indians had, at one time, given him twelve children to be instructed.

To which we observed, that the English had always peaceably enjoyed the right over the Five Nations; that the missionaries had been tolerated by the English merely through indulgence; and as for garrisons, we believed they were nothing more than the servants of the missionaries, to protect the latter from the insults of the Indians. In regard to the attaching of arms, that could have been done a hundred times without any right, though the English had had them repeatedly removed. In respect to possession, if it had not been long in the hands of the English, it had previously been in those of the Dutch who ceded [it] to the English, with all their rights and privileges, and it cannot be disputed but the Dutch had the Five Nations under their dependence. As for the want of any mention being made of them in the articles of peace, we maintain that it was unnecessary, as they were subjects of the King of England; otherwise all the subjects of each Prince would have to be mentioned, which would go ad infinitum. As respects the name of Father, attributed to Count de Frontenac, it is a compliment they have learned from the Jesuits. As for the gift of the twelve children, they made the like to the English, and previously to the Dutch.

Whereunto, Count de Frontenac added, that the Earl of Bellomont and he would never agree on the matter, but that he considered it proper that this question should be arranged between the Crowns; with a view to which he would advise the King his master by the first opportunity.

We then insisted on the release of the hostage and of the six wounded prisoners, already mentioned, in order that they may render your Excellency an account of the engagement between them and the Algonkins.

To which he said, he could do nothing in the matter; that he had precise orders to the contrary from the King his master; and that if they did not come to him to make peace, he knew the way to their country, and would go and force them to do so.

We said, we knew nothing of his King's orders, but the restoration of those Indians would greatly contribute to the public tranquility, and that if he did not feel disposed to satisfy your Excellency's equitable demands, you could not answer for the inconveniences which might result. But that, on the contrary, your Excellency would promise to oblige the Indians to observe exactly the articles of the peace between the two Crowns.

After this interview, Count de Frontenac told us he was informed by a letter from Boston, that the King of England and the Parliament had declared the Prince of Wales presumptive heir to the Crown, and had granted a pension to King James. We had considerable difficulty in convincing him of the contrary. At length, he admitted that he was convinced.

28th. Some Indians, to whom Count de Frontenac had sent to demand some English prisoners they had amongst them, having refused to give these up on the ground that the Bostonians still detained some of their people, obliged Count de Frontenac to send them to us, whilst we were at the Intendant's, but we refused to speak to them, saying, we were sent to speak to the Governor, and not to Indians; that we were surprised that those Indians, being subjects of the King of France, should have so little respect for the Governor; and that if the gentlemen of Boston had done them any injury, it was not for them, but for the Governors, reciprocally, to judge of it. At that moment a Jesuit entered, who came from Acadia with ten or twelve Indians; he informed us that three weeks ago a party had set out on a war expedition against New England. Whereupon we expressed dissatisfaction, pretending to be assured that those Indians had news of the peace immediately after the attack near Boston, on the 13th of February last, and said, in case Count de Frontenac did not keep his Indians under better control, both by obliging them to surrender the prisoners and preventing them sending out parties against his Britannic Majesty's subjects, the Earl of Bellomont would readily find means to bring them to reason, and it would be for Count de Frontenac to answer for the inconveniences which might result therefrom.

29th. We made the same observations to Count de Frontenac, who excused the matter saying, he had sent orders to the contrary to Acadia last winter, but that the messenger had perhaps failed, on the way, and that it might, possibly, be English Indians who had committed that act, the English Indians along the coast not being, as yet, perfectly distinguishable from those of the French; and gravely, nay warmly complained of the Boston gentlemen, saying, they did not act in good faith towards the prisoners, both French and Indian, and ill treated them. This, we declared, we could not believe, and said, were it so, that it remained with your Excellency to remedy it.

30th. Count de Frontenac caused all the English prisoners, of both sexes, in the convents and among the town's people, to appear before us, all of whom (except two or three) unanimously refused to return with us, so that we confined ourselves to demanding the children of fourteen years and under. These were granted us, but with much difficulty. Some still remained, who hid themselves; but he promised to send them by the first opportunity.

31st. We took leave of Count de Frontenac, who handed to us his letter for your Excellency, and another for Mr. Stoughton.

June 2d. We came to Three Rivers, a small town about midway between Quebec and Montreal. We paid our respects to the Governor of the place, who restored some prisoners to us. We left the same day.

4th. We arrived at Montreal, where the Governor placed the prisoners in our hands, and had prepared canoes and provisions necessary for our voyage.

5th. We took our leave of him. He gave us his letter for your Excellency, and we took our departure the same day. But before we set out, we had encouraged some French Indians to repair to Chambly, on a certain day, in order to accompany us and settle among us, promising to have them instructed in the Christian religion. They did not fail to keep the assignation, to the number of forty, including men and women, with five to six hundred beavers.

11th. The Commandant of Chambly observing the arrival of those Indians, sent an express to the Governor of Montreal, who immediately dispatched two Indians to stop them; but notwithstanding his diligence, we set out on the 12th, bringing them along with us, and we arrived at Albany on the 22d with twenty-five English prisoners.

We shall observe here that the number of people capable of bearing arms are, as we conjecture, between three and four thousand, exclusive of twenty-eight or thirty companies of paid soldiers, amounting to about a thousand men. The forts are but mediocre. There are five or six garrisoned forts along the river, between Quebec and Montreal, in each of which there is only one piece of cannon, for the purpose of giving an alarm on the approach of an enemy. As regards Quebec, the capital city, its fortifications are not extraordinary; the difficulty of ascending the river, and gaining their harbor, constituting their greatest security. Were it not for the Convents, the Seminary, the Bishop's house, and other religious edifices which embellish it, it would scarcely merit the name of a town. The mounted guns do not exceed forty in number. There are two bishops; the Jesuits, secular priests, recollects, and their lay brothers, exceed two hundred in number. The people, apparently, are not very wealthy; paper money circulating instead of gold and silver.

In all submission we presume to add to what precedes, the respectful advice, that if the Court of England do not take to heart the instruction and conversion of the Indians, the Five Nations will not fail to be lost through the active zeal of the Jesuits, who will, as heretofore, be very active in sending missionaries among them, and attracting them to Canada, as they have done with regard to those at present there; for it is the sole cause of their abandoning their country and retiring to Canada. All which is most humbly submitted to your Excellency by your most humble and most obedient servants,

PR. SCHUYLER,
DELLIUS.

Deposition of William Teller as to the Right of the English over the Five Nations.

[New-York Entries, A. 457.]

The deposition of M<sup>r</sup> W<sup>m</sup> Teller of the City of New-York Merchaut, aged about 78 years, being sworne upon the holy Evangelists, saith :

That this deponent arrived in this province of New Yorke in the year of our Lord Chrst 1639.

That the said province was then called the New Netherlands, and that W<sup>m</sup> Keift was then Governour, appointed by the States Generall, and West India Comp<sup>y</sup> of Holland. That the said deponent some short time after his arrival here, was sent up by the said Gov<sup>r</sup> Keift to the Fort of Orange Nassaw the place where now the City of Albany is settled.

That Bastian Croll was then Commander in Chief of said Fort of Orange, under whose command this deponent served some short time as Corporall, and then was advanced to be Watch-Master of the said Fort.

That this deponent hath continued his residence at Albany since said year 1639 till the year of our Lord Christ 1692 only with some small intermissions of time, upon severall voyages to New York, Dellaware, and one short voyage to Holland.

That this deponent has been present at most all the Generall meetings and Treaties that have been made during that time, between the Governours and Commanders in chief, or their Commissioners in the behalf of this Province, with the Iroquaes being the five upper Indian Nations, called the Maquaas, Oneydes, Onondages, Cayounges and Sennecks, and that almost every year since that year of 1639 the covenant chaine, (so called by them) of a good correspondence, unity and Fraternity, has been renewed with making of large presents to each others.

That never no breach nor any rupture of war has been during all that time (nor at any time before as this Deponent has ever heard of) between the said Iroquaes and the Govern<sup>t</sup> of this Province.

That at this Deponents first coming here he heard nothing of any settlement that was made by the French in Canada, but that about the year 1645. or 1646. he was informed by several of the Iroquaes that the French were settled in Canada, and that the said French had engaged themselves in the Quarell or warr which the said Iroquaes then had with those Indians that were seated near the French in Canada, and that to this deponents knowledge there has been almost a continuall war, with some intermissions of peace between said Iroquaes and the said French and their Indians, and that many French prisoners from time to time have been brought by said Iroquaes to said Fort Orange at Albany, and relieved by the Dutch and English paying considerable sums of money for their redemption.

That about the year 1666. the French of Canada came with a considerable party into the Country of Maquaes and sett up there in Brass plates, the Armes of France, but were drove back by a party of said Maquaes, and would undoubtedly have most of them perished and been destroyed, unless they had been relieved by the Dutch, that were then settled at Schenectady.

BELLOMONT.

Colonel Bayard's Representation as to the English Right over the Five Nations.

[New-York Entries, A. 490.]

To His Excellency Richard Earl of Bellomont ettc.

May it please Your Lordship.

Since the Gov<sup>r</sup> of Canada by his letter to your Lord<sup>sh</sup> pretents a prior Right to the Iroquaes, by us called the Five Canton Indian Nations of Maquaes, Oneydes, Onondages, Cayounges and Sennecks; I have therefore thought it my duty to give your Lord<sup>sh</sup> some information what Right I know the Dutch formerly had to this province before its first surrender to the Crown of England in the year 1664; which information I received upon several occasions, whilst I was one of the Clerks in the Secretary's office of the said Dutch Govern<sup>t</sup>. In the year 1609. the West India Comp<sup>y</sup> of Holland had their first ship arrived in this River called Hudson's River, and had some encouragement for trade with the Natives.

In the year 1611. another ship arrived in said Hudson's River and traded with the Indian Natives, which trade as it increased, severall ships were yearly sent from Holland to settle a Trade, which so continued till about the year 1621.—

In the year 1621. the West India Company obtained a grant or Patent from the States General for the settling and Planting a Colony here, and was called the New Netherlands, made one of the first settlements near the mouth of Hudsons River upon an Island called Nutten Island, and another upon the upper part of said River on Beeren Island; and in some short time after extended their possessions and limits by settling of garrisons and building of fortifications, Westwards on both sides of Delaware River and Eastward as far as to Connecticutt River, then called the Fresh River, where they had a strong hold named the House the Hope; and the said West India Company had afterwards their said grant or Patent confirmed unto them, by the said States General, the originalls whereof I suppose are still remaining with the Heer Cornelius Van Ruyven now residing at Amsterdam, the late Secretary in the time of that Govern<sup>t</sup>.

And ever since that first settlement the Iroquaes or five Canton Indian Nations, have always kept a good peace and correspondence with the Govern<sup>t</sup> of this Province; first with the Dutch and afterwards with the English, and tho' several wars have been between the Christians and Indians, yet never no breach or Rupture has been with any of those Five Nations—But on the contrary the said Iroquaes have for the space of sixty years past & upwards almost every year sent down their chief Sachims and Captains, being accompanied with great numbers of their Retinues at the said Fort of Orange and Albany, always renewing the ancient peace and covenant chaine (so called by them) made with the Christians at their first settlement of this province, making at all those Treaties presents to each other.

I myself have been present in many of those Treaties, for the space of near forty years past; where the said Indians or Five Canton Indian Nations, have often declared their submission to the Govern<sup>t</sup> of this province and desired to be protected by the same, against the French of Canada, comparing the said Govern<sup>t</sup> to a great large tree under whose branches they desire to shelter, with several other the like expressions, as by the minutes of those treaties more at large doth and may appear—Which is most humbly submitted by Your Lordship's 6. July 1698.

BELLOMONT.

Earl of Bellmont to the Lords of the Treasury.

[ New-York Entries, A. 441. ]

To the Right Hon<sup>ble</sup> the Lords Commissioners of His Majesty's Treasury.

My Lords.

In my letters of May the 25th by the Richmond a duplicate of which I now send you, I gave your Lord<sup>ps</sup> an account of what great prejudice his Maj<sup>ty's</sup> revenue of this Province had received by the negligence or corruptions of the officers of the customes, and the visible decrease thereof; and having now plainer proofs of M<sup>r</sup> Brooks his miscarriages added to my own observation of his backwardness and negligence in discharge of his office, I thought fit for His Maj<sup>ty's</sup> service to suspend him from his offices in the Customes, as likewise from the Council for these reasons. The ship Elizabeth of Berwick was seized in this Port for importing £15,000 worth of Scotch goods produced false certificates, was libelled against in the Admiralty here, and yet by M<sup>r</sup> Brooks his own proposall in Council, the ship was discharged, on the oath of the Master and Supercargo to the truth of the Certificates and never brought to any tryall, which Certificates M<sup>r</sup> Randolph assured me to his knowledge were false, and made out to be so to the Commissioners of the Customes in England, so the discharge was wholly illegall. This same ship since committed a breach of the Acts of Trade at Virginia, and was there seized by M<sup>r</sup> Randolph, and deserted by her men; and since my arrivall at this Govern<sup>mt</sup> M<sup>r</sup> Randolph was arrested on the account of the said seizure as I informed the Commissioners of the Customes in my letters of the 27th of May last (a copy of which I then sent your Lord<sup>ps</sup> and now send a duplicate of the same).

The ship Elizabeth was seized for importing Scotch goods, the Master produced false Certificates. The ship libelled in the Admiralty Court and by Mr Brooks's proposal in Council discharged without tryall upon Masters oath to the Certificates, which were proved before the Commrs of the Customs in England to be false. The same ship was seized in Virginia by Mr Randolph for breach of the Acts of Trade for which Mr Randolph was arrested.

I had a just suspicion from M<sup>r</sup> Brooks his corrupt carriage in the first seizure of the said ship Elizabeth which he discharged, that he was at the bottom this arrest of Mr. Randolph; whereupon I sent for one Capt<sup>n</sup> Symons, who brought the action against M<sup>r</sup> Randolph, and was an Intimate of M<sup>r</sup> Brooks, and asked him whether Mr. Brooks put him upon it, he would not confess so far, but owned that indeed since the arrest, M<sup>r</sup> Brooks told him he was very glad of it, which abetting and encouragement of a vexatious suit was most improper for a King's Collector of the Customes to give against the King's Surveyor General of the Customs, and shewed how good affection he had to His Majesty's service.

Since my arrival here the ship Fortune was seized by M<sup>r</sup> Brooks being an unfree bottom and imported great quantities of East India goods brought from Madagascar, which were all landed secretly except one boat load which Mr Brooks seized, but his backwardness and neglect were the occasion of his not seizing the whole lading to the value (as I am informed of twenty thousand pounds. A full account of which will prove how unfit he is to serve the King in this great trust, which I have drawn up and attested as a matter that came immediately within my own knowledge, and which I communicated to M<sup>r</sup> Randolph, who on perusal was of opinion that M<sup>r</sup> Brooks must have been an accomplice, and connived at the landing of the said goods, and thereon, and his knowledge of M<sup>r</sup> Brooks' proceedings in relation to the ship Elizabeth, and the visible decrease of the Customes here, hath given me his opinion in writing under his hand, that M<sup>r</sup> Brooks ought to be suspended from his Offices, which I have accordingly done, and hope your Lord<sup>ps</sup> will approve of it, and

The ship Fortune with East India goods from Madagascar (to the value of £20,000) was seized by Mr Brooks, but he was backwards (delaying a whole week) so that she landed privately all her goods but one boat load which was seized. He sends an account of Mr Brooks' proceedings.

never restore him to a trust he hath so much betrayed—These further circumstances may convince your Lord<sup>sh</sup> of M<sup>r</sup> Brooks' deserts viz: that he hath gained so great a love amongst the Merchants by his tender deportment in his office, that I hear he is getting attests from them of his civill carriage, Justice and integrity which will be good proofs against him to your Lord<sup>sh</sup>, if he be not better advised then to produce them. I have a copy of a Certificate of the same nature which the Merch<sup>ts</sup> here have given Coll: Fletcher, the late Gov<sup>r</sup> who had a right understanding and friendship with M<sup>r</sup> Brooks, both of which kept constant Caballs and Company, and had great intimacy with the Merchants, owners of the rich lading of the ship Fortune, and suspected to be concerned themselves in her, but of this, I can not get positive proof as yet, only this circumstance is strong against Coll: Fletcher and M<sup>r</sup> Brooks, that the ship Fortune was a Dutch bottom, and yet had a commission for a privateer from Coll: Fletcher, under colour of which she was laden publicly with goods proper to be sold to Pirates, and with twenty one men, sayled directly from New York to Madagascar, taking her clearings out of the Custom house, and arrived at Madagascar, at the same time that Capt<sup>n</sup> Hore (a Pirate who likewise [had] a Commission from Coll: Fletcher) his ship was returned from the Red Sea to Madagascar; and Capt<sup>n</sup> Hore's ship being old and leaky and not so proper to returne to New Yorke, this ship Fortune (sent as supposed for that very end) received great quantities of East India goods out of her, which she imported to New Yorke and unladed before I could prevail (with much importunity) on M<sup>r</sup> Brooks to seize her, which he would not do but delayed for a whole week as appears by the acct transmitted to your Lord<sup>sh</sup> about that matter.

Tho' the Earl of Belmont informed M<sup>r</sup> Brook, there was 14 of Hore's men in the fortune, yet when he seized the ship he lett them and the other seamen go away;

so that there were but two to be found when the ship was tryed

Another circumstance against M<sup>r</sup> Brook is that altho' he had information from me that several of Hore's men being Pirates, had come passengers in the ship Fortune (viz: fourteen) and altho' there were, ten men on board when he seized the empty ship, yet he would not secure any of them, or any of the Sailors, so that when the ship came to be tryed in the Admiralty all the sailors were hid and put out of the way except one Sailor that happened to be pressed on board his Maj<sup>ty</sup>'s ship the Foway, and one other which hath been severely threatened for the same, so that M<sup>r</sup> Brook and the Merchants here seemed to be in a conspiracy to prevent the condemnation of a ship, which they were so zealous in, not so much for the value of the ship, which is not great, but to save the reputation of their great Patron of unlawfull trade, Coll: Fletcher, who gave her a Commission and permitted her to load publicly here, but however on full proof she was condemned, and I herewith send a copy of her Condemnation.

He sends a copy of her condemnation.

M<sup>r</sup> Brooks pretended he had no boat to seize the ship with, and that the Commissioners of the Customs would not allow one.

The Earl of Belmont finds one.

Coll: Fletcher made an establishment of £200 p<sup>r</sup> annum out of the Revenue for a pleasure Boat.

I must likewise observe to your Lord<sup>sh</sup> that M<sup>r</sup> Brooks as an excuse against going to seize the said ship, told me he had never a boat, and that the Commissioners of the Customes of England would not allow the charge of keeping one; whether this be true or not I can not tell; but this I know that without his application to me for it I commanded the Man of war's pinnaces to attend him this seizure, and he might likewise have hired other boats on such occasions, and the charge would have been allowed him (were he inclined heartily to the service) and besides Coll: Fletcher made an Establishment out of the Kings Revenue here for a Boat Coxen and eight Oars, at thirty pounds p<sup>r</sup> annum, for the pleasurable service of the Governour, but do not find it was demanded or will approve of.

The Earl of Bellomont has now provided a boat for the officers of the Customs.

East India goods concealed at the Sheriff of New York's house, where Mr Brooks constantly dined.

It is likewise observable that the house of the Sheriff of New York wherein Mr Brooks constantly dined and spent most part of the day and evening, and had great friendship with, being searched by my order, on intelligence that uncustomed goods were there, I but narrowly missed of finding them, for that the Officers found a considerable quantity of wrappers of East India goods, which were left behind, the goods parcelled out and removed or sold and in all probability by the connivance of Mr Brooks.

Coll: Fletcher acknowledged Mr Brooks place more profitable then that of Governor, which must have been by indirect methods, for he made no seizures.

Mr Brooks appointed Collector of the Customs of Connecticut with a power to substitute officers but he neglected to take out such authority.

Mr Brooks's unnecessary voyages

I find that Mr Brooks was of too roving a temper to closely enough attend his Employ for altho' he was the sole Collector of the Customs in this province, yet he took occasion to divert himself with three voyages, one for England with Mr Nicolls, as Agents for the Province, another to Pennsylvania, a compliment to Coll: Fletcher, and a third to Boston a compliment to St Francis Wheeler, deserting his trust and Employ and giving opportunity to the Merchants to make their practice on the King's Customs, but his absence must be of great detriment to the Revenue were he a Man faithful in the discharge of his Employes.

On Mr Brooks removal two Commissioners appointed in his place.

Searcher of

Upon Information of some uncustomed goods the Earl of Bellomont sent Mr Monsey (one of the Commissioners who had formerly been under Mr Brooks) and another to seize them, which they did, but could not carry them away the Merchants locked the officers up in a room where they were in danger of being stifled.

The Earl of Bellomont sent the Lieut Govr with Soldiers to release them, which they did.

offered to be made use of by Mr Brooks for the King's service, but I have now made that unnecessary charge useful, and have appropriated the Boat for the sole use of the Officers of the Customs, which I do not question your Lordships

I believe it likewise proper to inform your Lord<sup>sh</sup>s that Coll: Fletcher having the greatest intimacy with Mr Brooks, acquainted me the first day of my arrival here that Mr Brooks his Employ was of much more profit then the Govern<sup>t</sup>, which must be by indirect methods, for it was never made so by the seizures or forfeitures made by Mr Brooks.

Mr Randolph likewise informed me, that it was ordered by the Commissioners of the Customs, that Mr Brooks should likewise be Collector of the Customs for Connecticut Colony, with power to substitute Officers to prevent the unlawful Trade dayly practiced there, but that Mr Brooks had neglected to take out such authority.

On my removal of Mr Brooks from his Offices with Mr Randolph's advice and consent I constituted Coll: Cortlandt (one of His Maj<sup>ty</sup>'s Council and formerly employed on the Customs and a man of good repute) and Mr Monsey (who was Searcher of the Customs here) to be Commissioners to execute Mr Brooks' offices during his suspension, and having intelligence where some uncustomed goods were, I sent Mr Monsey and Mr Evats a Searcher, to seize them, who went, found, and seized them at Mr Van Sweeten's house, but before they could convey them again to the Custome house, called together a number of the Merchants and by their advice locked up all the windows and doors, and made the said officers prisoners in a Close Garret, where they made the seizure and put them in danger of being stifled. News of this was brought to me about three hours after being nine of the clock at night with notice that the Officers were in danger of being murdered. I was therefore forced immediately to send my Lieut<sup>t</sup> Gov<sup>r</sup> with three files of Soldiers, and my own servants, from the Fort, who went and forthwith broke open the doors of Van Sweeten's house (which were denyed to be opened to them) and rescued the King's Officers, and assisted in carrying the Goods seized to the Custom house. The Merchants of the Town were in such an uproar at this seizure (not being used to such things) that they exclaimed against me, as if all English Laws and Rights were violated, and had the insolence to present to me, a most reproachful scandalous Petition, which they were heard to before myself and Council, and the Petition had too moderate a censure, most of the Council being Merchants and actually concerned in these ways of Trading; however, could not but joine in giving me leave to check the Petitioners which was all the punishment hath as yet been put on so daring an action, as to imprison the King's Officers, and then complain of the violence of their being released.

The Earl of Bellomont sent for Mr Monsey the next day to make an- other seizure, but he refused to serve any longer and would give no reason.

But what relates to M<sup>r</sup> Brooks is, that the next morning after the said seizure Mr. Monsey being sent for by me, and being told that he must goe immediately and make another seizure, he positively told me, he would act no longer in the Employ, but desired me to appoint another, nor would he give me any reason for his refusal to serve longer, upon which I did take him at his word, being resolved that none shall be employed that are unwilling to serve, but I was surprised to find that such a Man as M<sup>r</sup> Monsey who had served for six years as Searcher of the Customs for fifty pounds p<sup>r</sup> annum salary, and had but five days before accepted of being one of the Commissioners of the Customes, which advanced him to above two hundred pounds p<sup>r</sup> annum, should relinquish such advantage for being put on doing his Duty closely; but he chose rather to give up his Commission then to disoblige the Merch<sup>ts</sup>. But he acknowledged to me that he had been that Morning discoursing to M<sup>r</sup> Brooks, and I suppose this was done according to his advice, for this Monsey was brought over hither as his servant, and being under him in the Custom house, is without doubt privy to his neglects and perhaps corruptious, and found his benefit by it, being as is said rich enough to maintain himself at home whither he is now bound, and as is reported to justify his Master Brooks against all complaints and reasons can be offered for my suspension of him. On my discharging M<sup>r</sup> Monsey, I have appointed M<sup>r</sup> Ducey Hungerford, a brisk young Gentleman son to S<sup>r</sup> George Hungerford, to be joined as Commissioner with Coll: Courtlandt untill your Lord<sup>sh</sup>s pleasure is made known to me in this matter. I can assure your Lord<sup>sh</sup>s that the matter of fact I have herein acquainted you with is truth, according to the best discoveries I can make, and altho' people are so corrupted here that my vigorous proceedings to support the acts of trade is making open war with them, yet I shall go resolutely on in my duty if I may have (as I am assured I shall) support from your Lord<sup>sh</sup>s, and that the complaints of the Merchants (which they much threaten) may meet with discouragement. That I may not have as great vexation in answering frivolous and false clamours as they give me trouble in preventing their base and unlawful trade.

All papers that this paper have reference to, will be laid before your Lord<sup>sh</sup>s when your Lord<sup>sh</sup>s leisure will permitt by M<sup>r</sup> Thomas Weaver, who is constituted agent for the Province, and is the bearer of these packetts, and hath full instructions in relation to the affairs of this Govern<sup>t</sup> and more particularly to lay before your Lord<sup>sh</sup>s all matters relating to His Maj<sup>ty</sup>s Revenues. And I desire your Lord<sup>sh</sup>s favour and countenance to him in the same, and that he may be credited, he being a person for whose integrity I myself will be answerable. He will constantly attend your Lord<sup>sh</sup>s, and give your Lord<sup>sh</sup>s that satisfaction as to those my reasons for displacing M<sup>r</sup> Brooks and M<sup>r</sup> Monsey as may make them appear to your Lord<sup>sh</sup>s, unworthy to be ever again intrusted in any branch of his Maj<sup>ty</sup>s Revenue, and more particularly the

Customes, which I do not question but very much to advance in the Province of New York when I am assisted by a sett of diligent, understanding and faithfull Officers

BELLOMONT

Earl of Bellomont to the Lords of the Admiralty.

[New-York Entries, A. 436.]

To the Right Hon<sup>ble</sup> the Lords of the Admiralty.

My Lords.

An ill character of Capt<sup>n</sup> Evans

Pirates seized in Rhode Island.

They will erect a Court of Admiralty of their own.

They encourage Pirates.

He desires a Commission to be Vice Admirall

He has seized two Pirates, but was forced to admit them to bail for want of orders to send them home.

I herewith send your Lord<sup>ps</sup> a copy of my packet of the 18th of May sent in the Richmond Frigate by Capt<sup>n</sup> Evans, whose behaviour whilst in these parts, I am informed was not so suitable to his trust, loveing to lay at anchor and to be very busy on shore in manageing elections of representatives for the humor of Coll: Fletcher, and following trade, and submitting the King's concerns to his own conveniency. M<sup>r</sup> Randolph Surveyor Gen<sup>l</sup> of His Maj<sup>ty</sup>'s customes here, informs me, that the Govern<sup>t</sup> of Rhode Island have seized some Pirates with their wealth, and do claime by their Charter, to erect a Court of Admiralty of their owne, and designe to try them, and without doubt will acquitt them. The encouragement given by that Govern<sup>t</sup> to Pirates, and connivance at the breach of the Acts of Trade, will make them very favourable in prosecutions in a Court of Admiralty of their own erecting, nor do I know how to prevent it, for although I suppose His Maj<sup>ty</sup> did intend, I should be Vice Admiral of these seas, yet no Commission for being so hath passed your seal, only a particular Commission empowering me to Commissionate some certain persons named to me by your Lord<sup>ps</sup> to be Officers of a Court of Admiralty at Boston and New Yorke. I hope your Lord<sup>ps</sup> will represent this matter to His Maj<sup>ty</sup> that I may have a full comission to be Vice Admiral here, as other Governours here have had, who were of much less quality than myself. M<sup>r</sup> Weaver, the Agent for this Province, will attend your Lord<sup>ps</sup> to receive your Lord<sup>ps</sup> orders in this matter, which will be for His Maj<sup>ty</sup>'s service to have the Commission and full authorities speedily dispatched, for there is no part of His Maj<sup>ty</sup>'s dominions where the Generality of the people are so united and bent to oppose all Govern<sup>t</sup> that shall disturbe their piracy or breach of the Acts of Trade, which hath formed a conspiracy amongst the Merchants here, and they give out they are sending home some to endeavour to have me recalled and Coll: Fletcher sent againe, who gave them a full latitude.

I have seized two supposed Pirates of Every's crew, but having no directions to send them for England, and not having evidence to convict them here, I have been forced to admit one of them to Bail, and the other is still confined, not having yet procured Bail, which I could not deny them being only upon suspicion. About a fortnight since I sent to Boston, and desired the Lieut<sup>t</sup> Gov<sup>r</sup> that if the Arundel was not gone, she should stay till my packetts arrived, which I suppose your Lord<sup>ps</sup> will approve of,

for the safety of my letters and His Maj<sup>ty</sup>s service. The Deptford being refitted here, had likewise sailing orders for Boston, but contrary winds hath detained her now some weeks.—I am with respect My Lords. your Lordships most humble and faithful serv<sup>t</sup>

New Yorke July the 6th 1698.

I had omitted to acquaint your Lord<sup>sh</sup>s that a precept issued out of the Court of Admiralty of New Yorke, to take two supposed Pirates out of the custody of the Gov<sup>r</sup> of Jerseys, but he by advice of the Council (as he said) did not obey it on pretence that my commission of Vice Admirall (which as yet I have not) was not published and recorded in the Jerseys, nor the other Commissions of that

Report of the Lords of Trade to the Lords Justices on certain Clauses of the Earl of Bellomont's Commission.

[New-York Entries, A. 878.]

To their Excell<sup>cies</sup> the Lords Justices :

May it please your Excellencies.

The Right Hon<sup>ble</sup> M<sup>r</sup> Sec<sup>ry</sup> Vernon having signified to us that the Earl of Bellomont, Commander in Chief of His Maj<sup>ty</sup>s province of New York, having given an account that a clause in the Commission granted to Capt<sup>n</sup> John Nanfan, Lieut. Gov<sup>r</sup> of the said Province (which makes him subject to His Lordships authority only during His Lord<sup>sh</sup>s residence in that Province) may be prejudicial to His Maj<sup>ties</sup> service there, and having propounded that the said Lieut<sup>t</sup> Gov<sup>rs</sup> Commission be made conformable to that which was formerly given to Coll: Nicholson, when he was appointed Lieut<sup>t</sup> Gov<sup>r</sup> of New England under S<sup>r</sup> Edmund Andros, His Maj<sup>ty</sup> was thereupon pleased to require us to make such alterations in the said Lieut<sup>t</sup> Govern<sup>r</sup> Commission as we think proper. We humbly represent to your Excellencies, that the Earl of Bellomont being by His Maj<sup>ty</sup>s Commissions constituted and appointed Capt<sup>n</sup> General and Gov<sup>r</sup> in chief not only of the foresaid province of New York, but also of the Massachusetts Bay and of New Hampshire, with several powers and authorities to be exercised likewise in divers other adjacent Provinces and Colonies, we are humbly of opinion, that it is not for His Maj<sup>ty</sup>s service, that upon every removal of the said Earl out of the province of New York, into those other Provinces and Colonies, where His Maj<sup>ty</sup>s foresaid Commissions may from time to time require his presence) the foresaid Lieut<sup>t</sup> Gov<sup>r</sup> of New York, should during such his Lord<sup>sh</sup>s absence become wholly exempt from, and independent upon his Lord<sup>sh</sup>s authority. And for the prevention thereof we herewith humbly lay before your Excell<sup>cies</sup> the draught of a Commission for the said Lieut<sup>t</sup> Gov<sup>r</sup> Nanfan, conformable to that which was formerly granted to Coll: Nicholson, and which (in revoking the said Nanfan's present Commission) we humbly conceive will be very proper.

And the Right Hon<sup>ble</sup> Mr Sect<sup>y</sup> Vernon having further signified to us that the said Earl having desired His Maj<sup>ty</sup>s pardon of Piracy, for Edward Taylor and Samuel Burgess who have made the annexed confessions and affidavits, for which his Lord<sup>sh</sup> recommends them to His Maj<sup>ty</sup>s mercy, His Maj<sup>ty</sup> was pleased to require our opinion thereupon. We are most humbly of opinion that the pardon for Piracy desired for the said Taylor and Burgess, may be for His Maj<sup>ty</sup>s service, and tend towards the discovery, conviction and bringing in of other persons concerned in such pernicious practices; and that therefore the desire of the said Earl of Bellomont in that particular be complied with, and he be directed to make use of the powers which he has already by his Commission in pardoning or not pardoning them according as he shall find them to deserve.

All which etc.

Additional Instruction to the Earl of Bellomont.

[New-York Entries, A., 389.]

Aug. 2, 1698.

By the Lords Justices.

Whereas by the Commission and Instructions His Maj<sup>ty</sup> has been pleased to give you for the Govern<sup>t</sup> of his province of New-York and the territories depending thereon in America, you are impowred to suspend any of the Members of His Maj<sup>ty</sup>s Council there, from sitting, voting and assisting in the said Council as likewise to suspend several other officers from their respective offices, upon just cause, and to substitute others in their stead until His Maj<sup>ty</sup>s pleasure be signified thereupon; but whereas no particular mention being made of the office or place of His Maj<sup>ty</sup>s Lieut<sup>t</sup> Gov<sup>r</sup> of the said province in any of the Clauses of His Maj<sup>ty</sup>s said Commission or Instructions, by which the power of suspending any of the foresaid officers is conferred upon you, some doubt may be raised, whether the power of suspending Lieut<sup>t</sup> Gov<sup>r</sup> in the said province be within the meaning and intention of the said Clauses, His Maj<sup>ty</sup> therefore in further explanation of his Royall will and pleasure does hereby expressly give and grant unto you full power and authority to suspend the present L<sup>t</sup> Govern<sup>r</sup> of the Province of New York and any other His Maj<sup>ty</sup>s Lieut<sup>t</sup> Governors of the said province for the time being if you find just occasion for so doing. And upon any such occasion to put in some other person to officiate in that place untill you shall have represented to His Maj<sup>ty</sup> your reasons for so doing, together with the charges and proofs that are brought against any such Lieut<sup>t</sup> Gov<sup>r</sup> and his answers thereupon signified unto you; In order unto which you are to transmitt the foresaid reasons, charges proofs and answers unto His Maj<sup>ty</sup>, by one of His principal secretaries of State, and the Commissioners for Trade and Plantations by the first opportunity.

[Mus: Brit: Additional, 9747.]

Sir

Your suddaine departure from this Kingdom left mee destitute of that happiness I proposed to myselfe, of laying before you every minute circumstance of my administration in that trust His Majestie was graciously pleased to repose in mee for the Governing his Province of New Yorke which I had the honour to doe, and I hope with loyalty and integritie during a warr with the French and Indians in that parte of his Majesties Empire.

I find myself prosecuted by the Earl of Bellomont; my successor, with that implacable inveteracy, and observe the greate credit his Ldpp has with persons in the chiefe stations and trust here, that I am confounded at the designe and meaning of it, especially looking backe at the five and thirtie yeares that I have borne commission under the crowne of England, without the least reproach or impeachment of my reputation, and after nine yeares service in the warr of Ireland and America to become a castaway in the Reare of my dayes is noe small mortification to mee. His Majesties favor to mee is more valuable than life, and I am ready to submit to the most infamous death, if the things alleaged against mee bee true.

S<sup>r</sup> you have alwayes been pleased to afford mee your countenance and I thinke approbation in discharge of that trust from which I am now recalled. I do begg a continuance of your good opinion till I am found guilty of what is urged against mee, and that you'll please to use your endeavors to prevent any ill impressions in the meane time that these noe lesse scandalous than false criminations may make on his Majestie and those noblemen about him. If to bee accused bee sufficient, who can be innocent.

S<sup>r</sup> Robert Southwell is gone into the Country, and obliged me to send you his service, and desires you will put my Lord of Athlone in minde of his promise of mentioning mee to the King, according to the opinion his Lordshipp had of mee, and the character I bore in the warr of Ireland, under his Lopps command, and I must begg you'll present my humble duty to him. The Lord Bellomont has writ over to stopp what money is due to mee as Capt<sup>e</sup>, and taken all other measures to embarrass mee, both in my fortune and good name, the last of which is dearest to mee.

S<sup>r</sup> it is your honour and virtew brings this trouble upon you, from a man who is bound to bee to the last gasp of life,

Sir,

Your most humble, faithful,

and most obedient servant

Earl of Bellomont to the Board of Trade.

[New-York Entries, B., 54.]

To the Right Honourable the Lords Commissioners of the Council of Trade.

My Lords

My journey to Albany in July last was very unfortunate to me in respect of my health, for having appointed the Five Nations of Indians to meet there at a day certain, I resolved to keep touch with them as near as I could, tho' to the hazard of my life, and I embarked at Albany in the midst of a fit of the gout, by which means, and a cold taken upon Hudson's River, I had like to have dyed when I came to Albany. However, in the

And has had a conference with the Indians weak condition I was I made a shift to manage a conference with the Indians.

They were sullen and cold in their carriage at first.

I must confess I was strangely surpris'd and discouraged at the behaviour of at last they own'd they had been tamper'd with by Mr Dellius, those people the first two or three days conference; for I found them so sullen and cold in their carriage that I thought we had quite lost their affections; but some of the Sachims coming to some of the honest Magistrates of that town, discovered to them they had been tamper'd with by Mr Dellius, the Dutch

Minister, to whom with three others viz<sup>t</sup> Colonel Peter Schuyler Major Dyrk

Wessells Mayor of that Town, and one Banker, Colonel Fletcher had committed the whole management of all the Indian affairs; so that Dellius, to serve the interest and designe of Colonel Fletcher in creating me all the difficulty and disturbance in that part of my administration, had possessed the Indians (as these Sachins confessed) that their power, viz<sup>t</sup> that of Dellius and the other three before mentioned persons, was equal to mine, and did insinuate, as if it did more peculiarly belong to them, to take cognizance of the Indians and their affairs, and to treat with and succour them at all times, then it did to me. Besides, Dellius did inculcate that by no means they must impeach Colonel Fletcher of any neglect of them or our frontiers during the late warr.

These practices of Dellius were the true reasons I afterwards discovered of the cold behaviour and doggedness of the Indians to me, but they being a people who have naturally a great quickness of understanding, informed themselves of severall of the most substantiall and honest people of that town that I was the King's Governour and that Dellius had deluded and abused them; they found out their error, and became more free in declaring their grievances and complaints to me; for an Account of all which I refer your Lordships to the printed Conferences I now send you (N<sup>o</sup> 1.) I shall observe this to your Lordships that tho' the beginning of my treaty with our Indians was very melancholy to me and all those that were present and wished well to the King's government, there having been all the marks that can be imagined of discontent and disaffection in the countenances and carriages of those people; yet to my unspeakable satisfaction I managed them with that patience and gentleness and made them so good a present, that I quite retrieved their affections to the King's government and by the acknowledgement of all the Magistrates and traders at Albany they were never known to part with any Governor in so good humour as they did with me. It does happen to be a little more expensive to the country this journey of mine, then usual, it amounting to about twelve hundred pounds of this country money; but then it must be considered that all those commodities which are usefull and acceptable to the Indians happened to be dearer at the time of my goeing up to Albany 50 per cent then they were ever known to be during the whole course of the last warr. I do affirme this for a truth to your Lordships, having taken pains to inform myself exactly in the prices of all the particulars disposed of to the Indians by myself and the late Governour. Dellius Dellius endeavoured to make Indians reserved, that they might not complain of the grant of the Mohacks land.

See Dellius's villany in that affair (No. 2.)

the Dutch Minister was the more industrious to amuse the Indians and make them reserved to me, that they might not complain of the notorious fraud and circumvention put upon the Mohack Indians by himself chiefly, and the other three before mentioned persons, in obtaining a grant from Colonel Fletcher of their whole country. The villany of this Dellius will appear to your Lordships upon the perusal of that part of the conference which is in manuscript (N<sup>o</sup> 2.) and which relates wholly to that fraudulent bargain transacted between Dellius and six or eight of the Mohack Indians, wherein tho' he makes the Indians believe the land was only to be conveyed by them to himself and the other three persons in trust for the use of them and their posterity, and to hinder the said land being disposed of to other hands, that would probably dispossesse them thereof; yet he with the other three persons together with Mr Pinhorne (whom I lately removed from the Council and his Judges place) obtained an absolute grant of all the said Mohacks land from Colonel Fletcher. It is observable that the parties who were the chief complainants to me and evidence against Dellius are Mohack Indians, proselyted by himself to the Christian Faith, Henry and Joseph, he has taught to pray and preach in their language by the means of a woman Interpretres. I know not how sincere converts they are, but they seemed to have no veneration for their Doctor and Apostle Dellius, whose juggle with them about that land must needs have made him appear to them an impostor. The Interpretres, a Mohack woman and his own convert was also a witness against him, as your Lordship will see in the manuscript I have already mentioned, notwithstanding he has managed her and the other Indians by her, for some years past. But examining her upon oath before all the Magistrates of Albany and severall other persons, the woman was frank in declaring her knowledge of the fraud put upon the Mohack Indians by Dellius. This account had been printed with the other conferences, but that I was willing in tendernesse of Dellius his ministerial function to conceale the fraudulent part he acted from all the world, except your Lordship, to whom I reckon myself obliged in duty to the King to communicate all things without reserve, that have regard to His Majesty's interest in these Provinces that are under my government. I have been longer upon this head of the conferences with our Indians and Dellius's sinister practices, because I take it to be of the last consequence to the service of these Provinces that your Lordships should be rightly and fully informed of the circumstances of our Indians and certainly Dellius and the other three managers are not a little accountable for the dangerous and knavish artifices they used to withdraw the respect of the Five Nations from me; which had like to have been fatal to his Majesty's interest, and might have shaken the allegiance and subjection of the said Indians to His Majesty, at a time when the French are so very industrious to debauch them from us.

He did not demolish the Fort at Cadaraqui when deserted by the French which is now regarrisoned.

Two Englishmen murdered at Hatfield in New-England, by Indians.

The account of it is in No. 1. p. 14.

The Five Nations have interceeded with me for the pardon of a soldier of Albany who is condemned for the murder of an Indian Sachin.

He has reprieved him till the King's pleasure be known.

Your Lordships will see by the perusal of the printed conferences, how much the Indians doe stomach Colonel Fletcher's neglect of them during the late war, particularly in his omitting to demolish the Fort of Cadaraqui, which the French had deserted for a long time, but have since regarrisoned. It is so seated to the disadvantage of our Indians and their hunting that it is a cruell thorne in their sides, as they themselves call it.

A memoriall signed by Col. Pynchon and Mr. Partridge and sent me to Albany by Mr Hawley and Mr Parsons about the murder of two Englishmen by some Indians at the town of Hatfield in New-England is sent herewith (N<sup>o</sup> 3.) together with my examination of the Skackkook Indians about the said murder, which is set downe in page 14th of the printed conferences, will inform your Lordships of the whole of that matter. I have also resented that barbarous action in my letter to the Governour of Canada, bearing date the 13th of August last (N<sup>o</sup> 4.) having probable grounds to beleive the Canada Indians committed the murder.

Your Lordships will find page 10th of the printed Propositions that the Five Nations have interceeded with me for the pardon of William Simpson a soldier of Albany who murdered an Indian Sachin and wounded two others, and who was tryed for the same soon after my arrivall in this Country by a commission of Oyer and Terminer and lyes under a sentence of death. My answer to that part of their proposition will be found page the 14th of the said print. I have at their request reprieved that man till your Lordships be pleased to signifye his Majesty's pleasure whether he shall be pardoned or no. The fellow is said to be a great villain in his nature, and the fact was so very desperate & bloody that I confesse were it left to me he should suffer death according to the sentence passed upon him. The other murderer mentioned also page the 10th of the printed propositions was tryed by Commission of Oyer and Terminer while I was at Albany, but being a man who had a great number of relations in that town, the Grand Jury brought in, Ignoramus, upon the indictment, so that he was acquitted.

Col. Fletcher's grant to Ranslaer prejudicial to Albany for it lyes so that he intercepts the Beaver trade which used to be brought to Albany by the Indians. Vide the last Paragraph of this lre.

Three things are observable in the address to me from the Magistrates of Albany page the 16th of the printed propositions; the first, which I have marked with a line, implies a wrong sustained by the inhabitants of Albany by means of a grant made by Colonel Fletcher to one Ranslaer of a great tract of land upon Hudson's River, above Albany, whose scituation give the said Ranslaer the advantage of intercepting the Beave[r] trade with the Iudians from the town of

Albany and as they come down the river in their canoos sometimes by fair means and often by a sort of force makes them take rum and other comodities for their peltry. This complaint some of the inhabitants made me by word of mouth, tho' tis expressed by hint only in the said addresse, one reason whereof I take to be, that the said Ranslaer is himself one of the subscribers of the said Adresse and the rest of the Magistrates touched that part but gently for that reason, and because his eldest brother and himself have the greatest tracts of land about that town and related by marriage to all the best Dutch families. His eldest brother's land, as I was told there, reaches twenty-four miles square, and Albany stands in the centre of

He has committed the management of Indian affairs to all the Magistrates of Albany, and taken it out of the private hands Col. Fletcher had put it into.

it. The next thing observable in the said Adresse is their giving me thanks for restoring the management of the Indians and their affairs, to all the Magistrates of that town, which I thought was the fair and honest way for the advantage both of the Indians & Inhabitants of Albany; for I could by no means approve of the private management Colonel Fletcher had confined the Indians affairs and trade to, viz, under the direction of M<sup>r</sup> Dellius the Minister, Colonel Peter Schuyler, Major Wessells and M<sup>r</sup> Banker, wherein those four persons found their Account; but that town and the whole Province suffered prejudice in the trade with the Indians.

The grant of the Mohock's land was no the sole price of the flattering Adresse Col. Fletcher obtained from Albany

I discovered while I was at Albany that Colonel Fletcher's grant of all the Mohock's country was not the sole price of the flattering Adresse he obtained from the inhabitants of Albany, extolling his great conduct and vigilance in defending the frontiers against the French, a copy whereof I formerly sent your

Lordships and then told you that Adresse was solicited and carried on by Dellius and the other grantees; but Colonel Fletcher also thought himself so highly obliged by that false and which he believed would skreen him for having totally neglected the Frontiers.

flattering addresse which he beleived would skreen and palliate one of the corruptest parts of all his administration, viz<sup>t</sup> his total neglect of the Frontiers, which the Indians do pretty well manifest in the printed propositions I now send, but which can evidently be made to appear. My schem of management of the

The scheme for the management of the Indians &c. is in No 1. p. 18.

Indians and their trade will be found in my instructions to Colonel Peter Schuyler and all the Magistrates of Albany, page the 15th of the printed Propositions, which Instructions I was forced to draw up with my own hand, tho' in that weak condition of health, having no Secretary nor any body belonging to me there could write good English.

As to the third thing observable in the said Adresse from Albany, which is building of a Fort in that town, I shall not now trouble your Lordships with the mention of that, intending to write my thoughts thereof (as also of the Fort desired to be built at Schenectady, which your Lordships will find expressed in the addresse from the inhabitants of that place and immediately follows the other Adresse from Albany page 17.) by Colonel Romar the Engineer who to my great amazement is ordered home by the Board of Ordnance and will goe from Boston in the Deptford man of Warr about three weeks hence. I shall also by the Deptford man of Warr inform your Lordships of severall matters which the present ill circumstances of my health will not allow me to put into a method fit for your Lordships view. Upon my returne from Albany I mett with a croud of businesse before I was well recovered of the fit I had there, and that gave me a relapse into the gout, which I labour under at this time, and am forced to dictate to the Clerk that writes this letter.

I conclude this letter with that which comes at the end of the printed conferences page the 20th, which is an Allarm sent hither by the Five Nations of Indians, of a Designe of the Governor of Canada to make a sudden inroad upon them, unless they would immediately goe and begg a peace of him. Upon this allarm, I used all the precaution I could to keep our Indians in heart and to succour them in case of an attack by sending up my Lieutenant Governour to Albany with all the souldiers I could spare from hence, a copy of my instructions to him goes herewith (N<sup>o</sup> 5.) I also at the same time dispatched the Mayor of Albany Major Wessells to a generall meeting of the Five Nations at the Onnondages Castles, my instructions to the said Major Wessells are also here inclosed (N<sup>o</sup> 6.) This allarm occasioned my writing a second letter to the Governor of Canada, a copy whereof I also send your Lordships (N<sup>o</sup> 4,) together with my instructions to Capt. John Schuyler who went express with my said letters to the said French Governor (N<sup>o</sup> 7.)

I am, with respect

My Lords

Your Lordships most humble

& obedient servant

New Yorke Septemb<sup>r</sup> 14. 1698

P. S. Just now the Mayor of Albany Major Wessells is returned from his negociation with our Five Nations of Indians, and has delivered me the memorial which I now send your Lordships (N<sup>o</sup> 8) which contains all that can be now said to your Lordships touching that matter. I forgot particularly to mention in the body of this letter the discourse that passed between M<sup>r</sup> Dellius the Minister of Albany and myself the day I left that place, which I have added to the manuscript (N<sup>o</sup> 2) and which may serve for an evidence to your Lordships of that man's strange prevarication and doublenesse. I do assure your Lordships I have advanced nothing against him in that narrative but what I can with a good conscience swears to the truth of. I can prove by witnesses of undoubted credit severall immoralities of life in that man, his disaffection to the person of the King and other things which I will not now trouble your Lordships with. You may perhaps wonder that I trusted him with my first letters to the Governour of Canada and Mount Real, to notifie the peace to them, and that I give a character in those letters (copies whereof I formerly sent your Lordships) so different from that which I now give of him. But I had not then seen him, and Col. Schuyler the other messenger of those letters was then here and advised me by all means to let him take M<sup>r</sup> Dellius along with him from Albany because he could speak the French tongue well, which I therefore consented to.

The Engineer is ordered home notwithstanding the Forts &c to be built.

Of all which and several other things he will give an account by the Deptford, who is to sail shortly.

An allarm from the Five Nations of a designe of the Governor of Canada to make an inroad upon them &c

Mr. Dellius's immoral life and disaffection to the King.

The Inhabitants of Albany have now bought Ranslaer's grant of lands upon Hudson's River, so that trouble is over.

I have also had advice from Albany that the Magistrates and Inhabitants of that town have bought Ranslaer's grant of lands on Hudson's River which was so vexatious to them; so that there is an end of that grievance.

[New-York Entries, B., 67.]

Sir:

I have just arrived from the frontiers, where, among other things, I have had a conference with our Five Nations of Indians, whom you call Iroquois, who have most urgently entreated me to continue them under the protection of the King, my master, having at the same time protested inviolable fidelity and subjection to his Majesty, and complained of the outrages perpetrated on them by your French and Indians of Canada, in violation of the treaty of peace, in which they consider themselves included in virtue of the fealty they owe the King as his subjects. They have likewise represented to me that your folks have killed and carried off ninety-four of their people since the publication of the peace, which greatly surprises me, the rarer as the Iroquois, or Five Nations of Indians, have been always regarded as subjects of the crown of England, as can be demonstrated to the entire world by solid and authentic proofs, but which, as appears by your letter of the 5th June last, would be perfectly useless for me to prove, inasmuch as you tell me positively, in that letter, that you have such precise orders on the subject of the Five Nations of Indians, that you cannot exceed them until you have received others; and Messrs. Schuyler and Dellius, who have placed your letter in my hands, have assured me, at the same time, that you expressed yourself, regarding our Indians, plainly, and in like terms to those contained in your letter. You are well aware that the proceedings and hostilities of your people towards our Indians, before the last war, were the principal cause of the King's declaring war against France, as is set forth in the declaration. I am, therefore, astonished why you wish to undertake to continue the war with our Indians, since it is a manifest infraction of the treaty. The King, my master, has, God be thanked, too much penetration in matters of business, and too great a soul to renounce his right. And for me, I have his interests too much at heart to suffer your people to commit the smallest insult on our Indians, especially to treat them as enemies. I have, therefore, given them orders to be on their guard, and in case they be attacked, to give no quarter either to Frenchmen or Indians, having promised them assistance each time they require it. Moreover, to place them in a condition to defend themselves and to repel those who will attack them, I have furnished them with a quantity of arms and munitions of war. You see, sir, I make no difficulty in informing you of all my proceedings with our Indians. Therein I am certain of being sustained by the King, my master, agreeably to right reason and the law of nations, which permits opposing force to force. To show you how little our Five Nations of Indians regard your Jesuits and other missionaries, they have entreated me repeatedly to expel these gentlemen from among them, representing to me, at the same time, that they were overwhelmed and tormented by them against their will, and that they would wish to have some of our Protestant ministers among them, instead of your missionaries, in order to instruct them in the Christian religion, which I promised them. And you will do well to forbid your missionaries interfering any more with them, unless they desire to undergo the punishment provided by the laws of England, which, assuredly, I will cause to be executed every time they fall into our hands, the Indians having promised me to bring them as prisoners before me. If you do not cause acts of hostility on your side to cease, you will be held responsible for the consequences which may follow; and I shall leave the world to judge who will be most in the wrong, you or I; you for having recommenced the war; I, for defending our Indians against your hostilities, and bringing your people to reason, having been driven to it by your infraction of the treaty.

Our Indians were very willing to place in my hands all the prisoners they have taken from you during the war, exceeding, in number, as they told me, one hundred, on condition that I should assure them of the liberation of their people whom you retain. I was unwilling, however, to take that upon myself until I had previously known your resolution again in that regard. I have sent back, notwithstanding, with my passport to conduct them to Canada, four French prisoners, whom our Indians brought with them to Orange, as the town of Albany was first called in the time of the Dutch. If you consent to an exchange of prisoners on both sides, you will do well to give me notice thereof, in order that I may have collected together those of yours in the hands of our Indians.

I learn from New-England that your Indians have killed two of our English in the vicinity of a village called Hatfield, and taken off their scalps, and that it occurred about the 15th of last month, whilst those poor people were busy making their harvest, being wholly unarmed, thinking themselves secure by reason of the peace. Such barbarities cannot be heard of without exciting a thrill of horror. It is added that your Indians are encouraged hereunto by the reward you pay them, viz: fifty crowns for each scalp.

I hope you will not take it amiss that I say, such seems to me in entire opposition to Christianity, or that I have expressed myself with somewhat of warmth and resentment on this subject. Too much zeal cannot be evinced, on some points, in the service of one's master, especially when the interest of the crown and the repose of its subjects are in question.

I am, as far as I may be, Sir, yours, &c.,

Earl of BELMONT.

[New-York Entries, B. 71.]

Sir

Two of our Indians, of the Nation called Onondages, came yesterday to advise me, that you had sent two renegades of their Nation to them to tell them and the other tribes, except the Mohawks, that in case they did not come to Canada within forty days to solicit peace from you, they may expect your marching into their country at the head of an army to constrain them thereunto by force. I, on my side, do this very day send my Lieutenant governor, with the King's troops, to join the Indians and to oppose any hostilities you will attempt; and if needs be, I will arm every man in the Provinces under my government, to repel you and to make reprisals for the damage which you will commit on our Indians. This, in a few words, is the part I will take, and the resolution I have adopted, whereof I have thought it proper, by this presents, to give you notice.

I am, Sir,

Yours, &amp;c.,

Earl of BELMONT.

Whereas Information was brought me Yesterday by Decannisora, one of the Sachems of the Onondages Indians and another Indian of that nation, That the Count de Frontenac Governo<sup>r</sup>. of Canada had sent a Message by two revolted Indians of that same Nation to threaten the four Nations of Indians, called the Onondages, Cayowges, Oneydes, and the Senekes, That in case they did not within the space of 45 dayes, come and submit to him the said Govern<sup>r</sup>. and conclude a peace with him he would invade their Country and treat them in such a hostile manner as should compel them to it.

You are therefore for His Majesties service to Repaire to Albany with your Company of Foot and there remain until you are inform'd by the Indians or any other credible Authors. That the French or their Indians are on their march towards our Five Nations or have actually invaded them, in either of which cases you are to take with you all the forces in His Majesties pay at Albany, and Schenectady Together with your owne Company, and as many of the Traine Bands and Militia of that Towne and Country as also of y<sup>e</sup> County of Ulster, as possibly can be got together, and march them to that part of the Country where you shall be advised by y<sup>e</sup> Indians or where you shall judge it will be most proper to joyne the five Nations of Indians; and after so joyneing them, you are to march directly against the enemy, and fight them, if you can do it on reasonable and equall terms.

You are to give me speedy notice of all the Intelligence you receive from time to time that I may take such measures as shall be most suteable for His Majesties Service, and that of this Province.

You are to caress and cherish the five Nations of Indians by all y<sup>e</sup> wayes you can contrive, and not suffer the Souldiers upon any account whatsoever to be rude and abusive to them, or the Inhabitants of this Province, and all Officers and Magistrates within this Province are hereby required and commanded to assist and obey you in all things relating to the Expedition you now go upon; It greatly Importing the honour and Interest of His Majestie and the welfare of this Province that the five Nations of Indians be protected and defended from the French and their Indians.

Given under my hand and seal at arms at Fort William Henry this 22<sup>d</sup> day of August 1698

[New-York, C. D.—D. 19.]

Instructions for Major Dyrck Wessells to be observed by him in his Negotiation with the five Cantons of Indians, viz<sup>t</sup> the Moquas, Onondagoes, Oneydes, Cayagoes and Senekaes Convened at the Onondagoes Castle to consult concerning a message received from the Governour of Canada, relating to a seperate Treaty with four of the said Cantons or Nations, contrary to the conclusion and articles of peace.

Imprimis You are with all speed to return to Albany and take with you Decannisore and the other Indians and upon your arrivall at Albany you are to take with you Jan Baptist Van Epe, the Interp<sup>t</sup>ter, and such persons as you shall think fitt for to bear you Company, and to go thence with all possible Hast along with the said Indians unto the Convention of the five Nations, which is to be held at the Onondagoes Castle.

Upon your arrivall at the said Castle you are to acquaint the Brethren of the said Nations convened there, That I take very kindly their Message by Decannisore, and observe their resolutions to adhere strictly to the Covenant Chain by being so just to their promise they made me at their late negotiation with me at Albany. That pursuant to their request I had sent you express to be p<sup>s</sup>ent at their Consultation where you are to represent to them with the best arguments you can frame, the dangerous consequence that would attend their haveing any seperate Treaty with the French. And that according to their promise they are not for the future to receive any message from the French, but what they shall communicate to me, as they have now done;

You are to make them sensible, that as they are and have allways been, the subjects of the King of England they are therefore under the care & protection of the Great King of England my Master even to the degree of his own English subjects.

And as in Vindication of the Brethren & in Revenge of the Injuries that they had suffered by the French, My Great Master had begun the late great Warr with the French King, which with the success of his arms, had brought the French to an honorable Peace, so that they may Conclude that my Great Master, with the utmost of his power, will defend the Brethren against any attacques that the French shall make upon them in Violation of the Peace.

You are also to acquaint them, that I have sent an Express to Canada, and will peremptorily demand of the Governour all their Prisoners which I hope he will surrender according to the Articles of Peace. But if he should refuse I will then complaine to my Great Master of the violence done thereby to the Articles of Peace who will thereupon resent the same to the French King and constraime him to give just satisfaction therein. It being the King of England and the French King that have concluded the Peace, the subjects of both nations must be thereby concluded, So the Brethren are as safe as we are by that stipulation of the Peace. And if the French should invade their Country with any force, if the Brethren be stronger, then they are to repell them with their Power; But if the French force be greater then the Brethren's, then if the Brethren will return to me at Albany I will give them succour, and indeavour to invade the French with a considerable power to revenge the wrongs done the Brethren.

You are by all fair means to keep them firme and steady to the Covenant Chaine, and take effectuall care they do not in y<sup>e</sup> least violate it by adhering to the French who are a Nation full of intrigue and insinuation. And therefore they are to avoid all Communication with them. But, if the Brethren have any thing to require of the French, they are to let me know of it, and I will take care to perswade the French to yeild to any thing that shall be judged reasonable. Given und<sup>r</sup> my hand and seal at Arms at Fort William Henry the 22th day of August 1695.

Instructions to Captain John Schuyler.

You are to use your utmost Dilligence in Carrying, and delivering my letter to y<sup>e</sup> Govern<sup>r</sup> of Canada, which Letter I send you by Jean Rosie. And when you are arrived at Quebeck or elsewhere where y<sup>e</sup> Governour is, You are to press for his answer to my Letter, and use the greatest Dispatch you can in coming back againe to me

You are to inquire into the Designes of y<sup>e</sup> said Governour, whether he be making any Preparations to invade our Five Nations of Indians, and feel y<sup>e</sup> Pultz of y<sup>e</sup> Indians that have formerly belonged to the five Nations, Whether upon Incouragm<sup>t</sup> from me they would not returne to their Antient Dwellings among the said five Nations, and put themselves under the obedience of his Majestie the King of England.

You are to observe very nicely as much as the shortness of the time will allow, in what Posture the French are; what their strength may be, in number of native French & Indians and informe your self as perticularly as you can how many Indian families the French have debauch'd from us.

And in case you find on your arrivall in Canada, that the French are prepareing to invade our five Nations of Indians or are in motion towards them, you are imediately to send me an account thereof by some diligent Messenger.

And if M<sup>r</sup> David Schuijler be not yet gone towards Canada, you are to call on him for my letter to y<sup>e</sup> Govern<sup>r</sup> of Canada and deliver it to the said Governour at the same tyme you do this, which I have now sent by Jean Rosie.

When you receive my letter by Jean Rosie, you are to provide yourself with a Birch Canoe, and to take to your and his assistance such persons as you shall think needfull for y<sup>e</sup> speedy conveyance to, and returne from Canada. Given under my hand and seal at Armes, at Fort William Henry, this 22th day of August 1698.

Mayor Wessells' Negotiation with the Five Nations.

[New-York, C. D., D. 21.]

An account of the Negotiation wth the Sachems of the Five Nations, the Moquaes, Oneydes, Onondages, Cayouges and Senekes pursuant to the instructions of his Excellency the Earl of Bellomont Capitaine Generall and Governour in Cheif of the Province of New York &c To mee Derrick Wessels Dated the 22<sup>d</sup> August 1698.

The 27th August I went from Albany and lay that night att Sconecteday

The 28th ditto I went forward and lay that night, at the second Moquaes Castle, from whence the Sachems went up wth mee to the third Moquaes Castle where they held a consultation, and deputed two of themselves to goe along with mee to be present at the Generall Meeting att Onondaga.

The 29th ditto wee departed from the last Moquaes Castle and lay that night in the Woods.

The 30th ditto Wee went forward and lay That Night alsoe in the Woods.

The 31th ditto att Night wee arrived at Oneyde, where the Oneyde Sachems held a Consultation & deputed two of themselves to goe forward wth mee to Onondaga.

The 1st September I went from Oneyde and came that night to Onondaga, but the Moquaes and Oneyde deputed Sachems stayed att Oneyde, and came not unto mee until the 3<sup>d</sup> of September, it being rainy weather, when I came to Onondaga I found the Senekes & Cajougas there.

The 4th ditto all the Sachems of the Five Nations were in Councill together at the Onondaga's Castle, They came all to my quarters and desired to know what I had to say to them from Corlaer (the Governour) I then declared to them what y<sup>r</sup> Excellency commauded mee in your Instructions.

That if they should give Audience to the Message sent them from Canada it would be great damage and disreputation to their Five Nations, since they were strictly charged by Corlaer to have no Correspondence with nor to receive any message from the French of Canada And that if the French should invade them in their Castles, If they were stronger they should repell them, but if the French were stronger they should retire to Albany where they should be protected by Corlaer.

Att this they seemed displeased, and said if wee must warr again what benefitt have wee gott by the peace made by the Great King.

I answered I did not beleive it would come to a warr, but the law of Nature did require us to repell those that should come to injure us, and that I thought one great reason of this fear was because they had refused to deliver up the French Prisoners as Corlaer had ordered them (which Corlaer the Governour took amisse).

They answered that there had gone twice Messengers from Albany to Canada, but none of their prisoners were come home, and they did not yett know what was become of them, therefore they thought it needfull to goe themselves to Canada, to see what the matter was.

I answered that Joannis Schuyler was now sent by Corlaer expresse to Canada to demand their prisoners, and I did not doubt but they would hear of them, I said farther that if the Govern<sup>r</sup> of Canada did not send their Prisoners, he would be looked upon as a breaker of the Articles of Peace by the Great King.

To which they answered this is no satisfaction, and they told mee withall this was but discourse, but however they would goe together and consult what answer to give to Corlaer.—they consulted from the fourth in the Morning to the fifth in the Evening when they made mee this answer following.

Brother Corlaer

Wee have now been consulting with our Five Nations about the Message sent to us by the Govern<sup>r</sup> of Canada, to send four of our Nations to come to him and bring his prisoners, and to fetch ours, & to make peace wth him: Wee have wth one accord resolved to observe your Orders that none of us nor any prisoners shal goe from hence to Canada by the way of Kalarouque,<sup>1</sup> but that in Eighteen days time wee will come to Albany, and bring wth us all the prisoners that are inclyn'd to goe, and then wth our whole house our seaven fires wee will goe altogether to Canada & speak there face to face, for wee keep firm that peace made by the Great King. That we may partake alsoe of that rest & quiet in our Countrey.

And Brother Corlaer wee will not accept any Message more from Canada, nor suffer any Jesuits to come among us to live, for wee say again wee will hold fast the Peace made by the Great King and keep firme that Covenant chain lately renewed at Albany, and therefore Wee will send back the Messenger for Canada without any thing.

But Brother Corlaer if in the mean time the Enemy should come and fall upon us, you must bear that shame if any hurt should befall us, because you hinder us from going to Canada now.

To which they threw down three Beaver Skins.

They afterward asked mee, what I thought, whether this would please Corlaer or not, since they had promised all what he desired. I told them I beleived not, because I could not perswade them wholly to desist from going to Canada, but that I would acquaint Corlaer with what they had resolved, that he might order accordingly, But I told them They must not expect any one should go to Canada before Joannis Schuyler returned, After this I staid until the 7th of Septemb<sup>r</sup> and saw them make the Answer to one of the Messengers from Canada that they would returne by him no Prisoners, but would goe with them in eight days to Albany, (Althoug I found that one of the Messengers from Canada was returned five days before I came & had taken wth him one French woman) I found alsoe among the Indians some Prisoners brought thither lately by a Company of 24 Indians of the five Nations, that had been out almost a year, and in the lake they mett wth a Canow, wherein were 4 French, 3 Indians & a Squaw, one of the French would not resigne himself, him they shott downe, the other three they brought Prisoners into their Countrey; I found one at Onondaga, one at Oneyde, The other was in the Senekes Countrey, These prisoners they will alsoe bring wth them to Albany. I made inquiry of some of these prisoners whither they were going. They told mee with letters from the Govern<sup>r</sup> of Canada, to call all the French home y<sup>t</sup> were among the far Nations, I enquired for their letters. The Indians told me they had threw them overboard.

So I sett out for Albany the 7th and arrived there on the 11th September, all which is humbly offerd

By
My Lord,

Most humble

To the Honourable William Blathwayt Esq<sup>r</sup>

May it please your Honour.

I presume with all dutifullness to renew my humble acknowledgements for your many favours and hope your honour will excuse the boldness I now take in acquainting you with the present circumstances of our Province whose languishing state craves the continuance of your honours countenance and favour.

Those seeds of strife and dissention that my Lord Bellomont found sown amongst us upon his arrival, to render his government uneasy are grown since to such maturity that they almost threaten its dissolution; and all those principles of loyalty and good affection to the Crown which were adherent to the inhabitants of this Province, are now extinguished; and the humour now running amongst the most eminent of our

And the pride that attend some who have enriched themselves with such practices hath generated such stubbornness and rage that they have take upon them to misconstrue my Lord's actions, and by their false glosses upon them endeavour to forme their malicious constructions into Articles of complaint against my Lords Administration and value themselves mightily upon the interest they pretend to have at Court.

Your Honour will have at your Office a particular account of the measures my Lord hath been constrained to use for the peace of the government, and doubt not but will be found so just and reasonable as to have his Majesty's approbation.

My Lord hath sent Capt John Schuyler express to prohibit the French motion into the Onondage country, which they have threatened to invade, and the report Hopes yt the Earles express will meet and prevent his further motion.

I was in expectation that upon my Lords returne from Albany to have found that those gentlemen (who have suffered themselves to be misguided from their duty to his Majesty) would have repented and made some return unto their former professions of loyalty, but am disappointed and informed that in lieu of returning unto their duty, they have to the contrary

A necessity of superseding many in Commissions, and placing others in their room.

My Lord hath also found such defection and coldness to his Majesty's interest in many of those he found in commission that I am apprehensive he will be necessitated to supersede them and place others in their room that will be more hearty and affectionate to His Majesty's service. And the necessity is the greater in regard the contagion of disaffection and disloyalty to his Majesty's government is so great, that

Your Honour will be more sensible of the late corruptions by the improvement of the Revenue since my Lord's arrivall, which will be found to amount to as much in six months as it did lately in one year, yet the trade now, not visibly so much as formerly. My Lord hath acted every thing with so much caution and justice that nothing hath moved him to a censure but some downright act of disloyalty perpetrated to the disturbance of his Majesty's Government.

His caution and Justice.

I have not been wanting to imploy the best thoughts I could conceive to make the government easy, nor shall I neglect any opportunity that offers to advance His Majesty's interest in the future settlement of the revenue; which I hope by my Lord's prudence will be still effected, notwithstanding of the resolution of angry people to the contrary. I humbly beg the continuance of your Honours favours to him who is with much sincerity

Earl of Bellomont to the Board of Trade.

[New-York Entries, B. 73.]

To the Right Honourable the Lords Commissioners of the Council of Trade.

My Lords

In my letter to your Lordships of the 14th of this month I confined myself wholly to an account of our Indian affairs. This goes to acquaint your Lordships of severall other matters which

I also esteem necessary you should be informed of. I send Muster Rolls of four Companies under my command, three originals of each company that they may be lodged in the proper Offices. I was present at all the musters and took all the care I could they should be exact, yet I know not whether I am not in the wrong in allowing myself a privilege which my predecessor Colonel Fletcher exercis'd (viz<sup>t</sup>) the mustering all my servants, but with this difference that I mustered no negroes as he did, not putt in three fictitious names

He has taken the liberty to muster 7 of his servants, but has not mustered his Negroes as Col. Fletcher did, nor put in fictitious names however if those he has mustered be too many, he will stand corrected of men (which is the number of servants allowed every Captain by the King) and that over and above all his servants. I muster seven servants, and if they be thought too many I am willing to stand corrected. I shall continue to send exact muster rolls over every six months and would do it oftener but that one half of the year the frost and snow hinders a communication between this and the garrisons of Albany and Schenectady. I desire your Lordships will please

He desires that he and the other Captains may be paid for full Companies.

to interceed with the King that the rest of the Captains and myself may be paid for full Companies, otherwise it will be an impossible thing for us to recruit from England, for here the service is under that vast discredit by former mismanagement that no man will inlist; and since it is not our faults the Companies are not full I hope his Majesty will more easily consent to our most humble request. The muster Rolls are (N<sup>o</sup> 1)

His reasons

He desires the deduction of 30<sup>e</sup> p<sup>r</sup> cent may be taken of & send the petition of the Officers and Chapin of the Soldiers at Albany to him upon that subject.

While I was at Albany the inclosed petition (N<sup>o</sup> 2) was delivered me by the Chaplain and other Officers of the four Companies to get of the grievous burthen of 430 p<sup>r</sup> cent. which hath been all this while a great discouragement to the service in this scarce country, where all things both for the belly and back are very near treble the rates they are in England.

Whilst he was at Albany Mr. Brooks embarked for England. All the factious merchants resorted to him.

Mr Brooks went from hence for England while I was at Albany, and for ten days or a fortnight before his going, all the factious merchants of this town resorted to him at Captain Willsons house the late Sheriff, where Brooks has boarded for severall years past, and there caballed till one or two of the clock in the morning, and upon his going away they all made their compliments to him at his lodging and attended him in a body to the place where he took boat, and a great many of them to the ship he embarked in. I appeale to your Lordships whether by parity of reason M<sup>r</sup> Brooks had not been as odious to the merchants, had he done his duty for seven years together that he was Collector here, as I was the first week of my coming hither for seizing the ship Fortune and a small remnant of East India goods. An account of these East India Goods and other seizures made since my coming here goes along with this (N<sup>o</sup> 3)

And then waited on him to the ship.

Had he don his duty he had been as odious to them as the Earl of Bellomont is.

He transmits an account of East India Goods, ship Fortune, & other seizures since his arrival.

He will shortly make it appear that there was a Combination between Col. Fletcher and Brooks to cheat the King & the Province of what they could.

I shall shortly make it further appear to Your Lordships, by his Accounts, besides the proofs I have already sent, that he was false to his trust and that there was a plaine Combination between Col. Fletcher and him to deceive the King

He is confident he shall be able to bring a charge of many thousand pounds to Colonel Fletcher's account.

He complains of the recalling the men of Warr & shows the ill consequence of it.

The merchants are done upon this occasion.

Brooke is sent home with a project in behalf of the Merchants with assurance of a great sum of money if he Col. Fletcher & Mr. Gilbert Heathcote (who are appointed their Agents) can make it take effect. They have spread it all over the Province that they shall get the Earl of Bellmont turned out.

He cannot make above £5000 pr Ann. honestly of his government.

But if he would countenance Piracy, Illegal trade and other things that he mentions:

it might be as valuable as that of Ireland.

The order for recalling the Men of Warr was directed to the Captains (but no notice of it given to him.) and that has so superseded his power over them, that upon notice of pirates in Delaware Bay (who had taken nine ships) and this Province of as much of the publick money as they could, and I am most confident I shall be able to bring a charge of a great many thousand pounds to Colonel Fletcher's account.

My Lords I cannot forbear complaining of the step that has been taken at Court in recalling the two men of Warr under my command; 'tis of the last mischievous consequences to these Provinces, since it weakens the authority of the Kings Government here, favours their unlawfull trade and encourages Piracy beyond all the things that could have been thought of. This the factious part of the Merchants of

New Yorke are sensible enough of, and have expressed their joy, saying they hope never to see another man of warr again to disturbe their trade, as they call it. Nay some of them have been so impudent as to wish they were in the like circumstances with their neighbour Provinces, the Jerseys on the one hand, and Connecticut on the other, no Governour from England nor any fort here to awe them in their trade; and some of the merchants are yet more insolent, and have said they will undertake things shall be brought to that passe, as I have now said, for there is a project sent home by Brooke with an assurance of a great sume of money from hence, if Coll. Fletcher, Gilbert Heathcote the merchant, and Brooks (who are appointed their Agents) can compass these things; and they are as cock sure of carrying the point and getting me turn'd out of this government as ever I was of eating a dinner in my own house where I was under no control. And they do not stick to say it openly in this towne and have spread it all the country over. I shall cheerfully submit to his Majesty's pleasure whenever he thinks fit to recall me, and if these factious merchants do carry their point in getting me recalled, their joy will not be greater then my comfort; for I shall goe away with the testimony of a good conscience, for having to the utmost of my power and skill served his Majestie's true interests by being wholly uncorrupt, by pursuing the repeated orders sent me from Court to examin nicely into the late Governour's commissioning of pirat ships and sharing of their spoils, and by inspecting their trade, as I was obliged to doe, both by oath and the instructions of the government. I doe not all this while contende for keeping this government in the circumstances and with the appointment I now have, for I will make it appeare to your Lordships hereafter, when I am in better health, that no man of quality, and honesty at the same time, can live on the proffitts of this government.

I doe not see as yet how I can make above eight hundred pounds p<sup>r</sup> annum, salary and perquisites. 'Tis true if I could make this the mart of piracy, confederate with the merchants and wink at their unlawfull trade; if I would pocket all the off-reckonings, make three hundred pounds p<sup>r</sup> ann. of the article of victualling the poore soldiers, muster half Companies, pack an Assembly that would give me what money I pleased and let me misapply it as I pleased, and pockett a great part of the publick moneys; I could make this government very valuable, I beleive more then that of Ireland, which is reckoned the best government in His Majesties gift.

The orders of the Lords of the Admiralty for recalling the two men of Warr are directed to the Captaines, so that I am not thought worthy to be acquainted with the same, and which happens to be worse at this time, my power over them is soe intirely superseded that upon a pirate ship comming the other day into Delaware River and taking nine or ten ships & committing severall robberies on the people of Pensylvania, Captain Culliford (whom I spoke to first myself, they refuse to go to attack them.

and who was afterwards convened before the Council) refused absolutely to saile his ship and fall on the pirates, saying he had positive orders to make the best of his way for England, and durst not stir a step out of his way for fear of losing his commission. Colonel Markham's letters concerning that Pirate ship, and desiring me to send the Fowey Man of War to the releife of the people under his government, together with the letter to him from the town of Lewis in Pensilvania as also the minute of Council concerning Captain Culliford's refusal, with the copy of my letter to Colonel Markham are bound up together (N<sup>o</sup> 4)

He sends papers relating thereto.

The French therefore very factious.

I must acquaint your Lordships that the French here are very factious and their number considerable: how safe it is for this Province, which I take to be the key to all the rest upon the continent and the chief frontier towards Canada, to incourage them, I submit to your Lordship's judgment. At the last election they ran in with the Jacobite party, and have been since so insolent as to boast they had turn'd the scale and could balance the interests as they pleased. There came

At the last election of Assembly men they ran in with the Jacobite party & found that they had turned the scale.

Thirty-three came to him at one time to be denized.

He has deferred it till he hear from this Board.

Some of them who passed for Protestants during the war have been discovered to be Papists; that is suspicious.

thirty-three French to me at one time to be denized; they desired to be comprehended in one letter of denization without paying fees. I could have consented to that part but I thought it became me in prudence to delay the giving them such a letter, till I should first know your Lordships' pleasure therein. Some French that passed for Protestants in this Province during the war have since been discovered to be papists, and one would suspect their businesse was to give intelligence to Canada. Amongst other instances I refer your Lordships to one mentioned in my Lieutenant Governour's letter from Albany, an extract whereof I send (N<sup>o</sup> 5) I remember Mr Dellius the Minister of Albany told me that the Count de Frontenac owned to him that he had a great part of his letters and intelligence from

He grants letters of Denization to any French Merchant that is a good Protestant.

Those who have been delayed have writ to England for letters of Denization.

France by the way of Boston, all the time of this late warr. Where I met with a merchant amongst the French and known to be a good Protestant, to such I grant letters of Denization. I heare the French have wrote to England for a letter of Denization for all these people that I have delayed till I know your Lordships' pleasure, and for ought I know a great many more, and they say they will have them denized in spite of me.

He has yet made no change in the Commissions of the Peace for officers in civil employments or in the Militia (except in displacing Willson the Sheriff of N. York) tho' he thinks it necessary alterations should be made.

He hopes to get the revenue continued for five years longer.

He sees no reason why those of Lesliers party should be excluded from their share in the Government.

They make two-thirds of the people of the Province.

I have yet made noe one step in the change of officers in the Militia or of persons in the Commission of the peace or officers in civil employments (except the displacing of Willson the Sheriff of this towne) but I find it absolutely necessary for the King's service that I should make an alteration in the three classes above mention'd, the persons that are at present in Office being generally men of an ill character and disaffected to his Majesty's Government. If I am not to late in this reforme I now write of, I fancy I shall be able with a little management, which shall be fair and upon the square to compasse the continuing the revenue for five years longer, which was the time it was granted for under Colonel Fletcher's government. When that is once done I shall make it my businesse to bring the parties to a ballance. I can see no reason that the English and Dutch that are called Lesliers party should be any longer excluded from a share in the government, they are reputed to be two thirds of the people of this Province, and why they should be crushed and oppressed soe long as they are

They are most sober and best affected to his Majesty.

The Jacobite party have a clubb commonly every Saturday.

Their Ring-leaders are Col. Bayard Col. Minivelle (both of the Council) Mr. Nicolls & Mr. Willson the late Sheriff. There is so great an inveteracy in the people that he that leaves not leave the Province till he has answers to his former letters.

He endeavours to promote the business of Naval Stores in New England.

And has accounts from thence that it is like to succeed.

He hopes to make a peace with the Eastern Indians, and gives an account of the method he takes.

He gives an account of all his proceedings relating to a Port at Perth-Amboy and of Col. Basse's behaviour in that matter, & sends papers relating thereto.

obedient to the laws and government of England, I see no reason in the world: and that they are a more sober and virtuous people and better affected to His Majesty's government than the other party. I averr it for a truth which I am able to justify.

The Jacobite party in this towne have a clubb commonly every Saturday (which was Colonel Fletcher's clubb day) Last Saturday was seven night there mett twenty seven of them, their ringleaders are Colonel Bayard, Colonel Minivelle both of the Council, Mr Nicolls late of the Council, and Willson late Sheriff of this towne; there is so great a rancor and inveteracy in these people that I think it by noe means proper for me to leave this province till I have your Lordships orders upon the representations I made to your Lordships by the Richmond Frigatt, and since, by Mr Weaver; for I do verily believe if I should goe from hence the people would fall together by the ears, besides should I goe away it would give the faction great advantage, and would tend very much to the revenues ceasing, and the measures I have proposed to myself for the obtaining the continuance of this present revenue would be thereby frustrated. This the Faction know very well, and therefore are very free in their wishes that I were gone to my other governments.

Notwithstanding my stay here I am serviceable to the King in two material things; one is, the promoting of the business of Naval Stores, which I animate by frequent writing to my other two governments, and of which good designe I have received very hopefull accounts from the Purveyors that it is like to succeed, according to his Majesty's Royall care and your Lordships and my good wishes.

The other thing which I have in view is the making a peace with the Eastern Indians who have been soe uneasy to my other two governments all this last war, and that by the means of one Schuyler a Dutchman, who being very popular with our Skackkook or River Indians, and which River Indians, having been formerly driven out of those Eastern parts by the people of New-England, the Eastern Indians still retain a kindness for them, and own them to be a part of themselves and of their own blood. This Schuyler is speedily to take a journey to those Eastern parts, and takes with him some of the Cheife of our River Indians by whose means he seems confident to prevaile with those people to make a perpetuall peace with the King's subjects, and he has yet a further designe to endeavour to invite them to come and live amongst our River Indians within this Province. I keep this matter private from my other governments, till I know the event of Schuylers negotiation. If he succeeds it will certainly be a service of the last consequence to those more Easterly Provinces.

Your Lordships formerly sent me orders to maintain the priviledges of this port against Perth Amboy in East Jersey; upon which I issued a Proclamation signifying his Majesty's order in Council thereupon; and Colonel Basse, Governour of the Jerseys setting forth a counter proclamation, I sent for him and shewed him the Orders your Lordships had sent me, and that in the presence of the Attorney General; yet this man has since had the impudence and folly to deny that he ever saw my orders and pretends he will by force maintain the port of Perth-Amboy. While I was at Albany he appeared before my Lieutenant Governour and the Council and controverted the right that place had to be a port, and produced severall coppies of papers (but not one original) to prove that the Lords of the Treasury & Commissioners of the Customes allowed it a Port. My Lieutenant Governour's letter to me at Albany, and the minutes of Council will inform your Lordships of this matter, they are (N<sup>o</sup> 6) and with them are bound up copies of all Colonel Basse's papers, which he produced before my Lieutenant Governor and Council, as evidences of Perth-Amboy being allowed a Port. I must not forget to acquaint your Lordships that when I shewed Colonel Basse the orders you sent me, he urging the validity of those papers, I now come from mentioning, and that the Act of Parliament of the 25th Car. the 2<sup>d</sup> gave the sole power of constituting Ports to the Lords of the Treasury and under them to the Commissioners of the Customes; I told him if he could produce an authentick originall order from the Lords of the Treasury or the Commissioners of the Customes, erecting Perth-Amboy into a Port, I would pay that deference to their orders as not to disturb any ships going in there, provided security were given that all goods landed there should afterwards pay the duty claimed by the port of New-York, in case upon my writing to the Ministers in England the matters should again be determined in favour of the port of New York; and I remember I argued with Colonel Basse the impossibility of the King's making such an order in Council without the concurrence of some of the Lords of the Treasury, who as members of the Privy Council would have sett his Majesty right if the matter had been wholly under the direction of their Lordships of the Treasury by that clause in the Act of Parliament. Besides I told him it could not be imagined that such eminent lawyers as my Lord Chancellour and Lord Chief Justice of England would sitt at Council and not inform his Majesty that such an order was against law, were it really soe. To shew what little respect Colonel Basse paid to the orders of the government I send your Lordships an affidavit made by M<sup>r</sup> Hungerford who together with Colonel Cortlandt is appointed to execute the office of Collector and Receiver Generall in M<sup>r</sup> Brookes his stead, which is bound up with the abovesaid papers (N<sup>o</sup> 6.)

An account of Sheriff Willson's concealing East India goods in his house (where Mr Brooks lodged) & afterwards selling them.

I formerly acquainted your Lordships by M<sup>r</sup> Weaver that I could have no dependance on Sheriff Willson to raise the posse and rescue the King's Officers that were made prisoners in Van Sweeten's house, which indeed was my first thought when the messenger brought me the alarming account of their being shut up and in danger of their lives; but then reflecting that I had had an information of the said Willson's concealing East India goods to the value of two thousand pounds in his house, I thought there was no way so certain and speedy as sending the soldiers then on the guard under the command of my Lieutenant Governour to make that rescue.

He should have had an information upon oath of Mr Brook's being privy to it, but that the person sent to be murdered, and durst not doe it

To convince your Lordships that Willson had concealed East India goods and afterwards sold them, I send a certificate signed by M<sup>r</sup> Randolph (N<sup>o</sup> 7) I had certainly had a proof upon oath of M<sup>r</sup> Brooks being privy to Willson's receiving these East India goods in his house, and that all or the greatest part of them were carried into his house before Brooks's face, but that the party was terrified, and did verily believe he should be murdered should he declare his knowledge of that matter, so as it should be publickly known, for they are a most wicked and lawlesse people here and very revengfull. I was not here a fortnight when they threatened to murder M<sup>r</sup> Graham the Attorney Generall and M<sup>r</sup> Weaver upon an imagination that I consulted them in the businesse of their unlawfull trade, and the male administrations of Colonel Fletcher.

Mr Graham & Mr Weaver threatened to be murdered

By the next conveyance he will send over Adams on God, Fletchers & Mr Brooks's accounts.

By the next opportunity I will send some observations on Colonel Fletchers and Mr Brooks his accounts together with several other matters which I am now preparing. I conclude with much respect, My Lords

Your Lordships most humble

and obedient servant

Reasons of the Attorney-General of New-York against Amboy being a Free Port.

[New-York Entries, B. 97.]

To His Excellency the Right Honourable the Earl of Bellomont.

May it please your Lordship.

In the year 1664 King Charles grants to the Duke of York all the lands betwixt Connecticut and Delaware River. In the same year the Duke of York grants all the land betwixt Hudson's River and Delaware River to S<sup>r</sup> George Carteret and John Lord Barclay.

Sir George Carteret appoints in the year 1665 Carteret, his governour to settle East New Jersey part of the said Grant.

In the year 1672, the Dutch take this Province and the East and West Jerseys. In the year 1674 S<sup>r</sup> Edmond Andros by articles of peace receives this province from the Dutch with orders to deliver it unto his Royall Highness the Duke of Yorke who had a new grant for the same from King Charles the Second.

The Duke of York gives a new grant to Sir George Carteret for East New Jersey in the said year 1674, another to John Lord Barclay.

Sir Edmund Andros confirms all things done by the Dutch; New Yorke made a free port; Sir Edm<sup>d</sup> Andros confirms the duties laid by the Dutch upon trade, takes of in the year 1675 the Burgers pack or Excise at New Yorke, but exacts the other duties. In 1676 Colonel Carteret pretends to clear a sloop at Carolina, was obstructed by S<sup>r</sup> Edmund Andros.

In the year 1678 put a duty of twenty shillings p<sup>r</sup> hogshead upon rumm.

In the year 1679. Governour Carteret declares that all vessells that will come and trade to East New Jersey shall be free.

One M<sup>r</sup> Hooper orders a Ketch from Barbadoes to goe thither upon that proclamation; the Ketch was brought up to New Yorke and made to enter here & pay the dutys before she could carry her rumm to New Jersey. In the same year S<sup>r</sup> Edmund Andros seizes upon the Governour and Government, calls an Assenbly there, comes to no conclusion. In the year 1681 the executors of S<sup>r</sup> George Carteret sell East Jersey the purchasers send over Thomas Rudyard, Samuell Groom to be Governours, they erect a town at Amboy, pretend to great priviledges, make some settlements there, but brings noe shipping further then Staten Island, where they were permitted to convey their household goods.

In the time of Colonel Dongan a ship goes to Amboy without reporting at New Yorke, was afterwards brought hither and permitted to load from this port. Complaint was made home thereupon, and the King ordered they might have a port at Amboy upon condition that his collector at New Yorke should appoint _____ and take security that all ships that should come and load or unload at Amboy should pay the duties arising to His Majesty in New York; upon which terms they accepted a Collector, and was accordingly sworn to execute that office. And in this state continued untill the time of the happy Revolution. Since which time there hath been noe pretentions unto a freedome of a port untill now.

Reasons humbly offered why Amboy ought not to be a free Port.

Imprimis the Province of New York hath a revenue established upon the trade to and from the Province by which his Majesty is enabled to defray the charge of his government, which cannot be duely paid if Amboy be admitted a free port, because the scituation of Amboy is nearest to Sandy Hook where ships enter from the sea and if they can goe twelve miles to a Port and be free from all duties, they will never come twenty four miles to pay considerable duties, so that the revenue will certainly fall.

If it should be permitted to be a free Port albeit they have officers appointed by the Custom house, yet they are not able to avoid the abuses that will be committed against the Act of Trade, because the inhabitants of that Province will always prefer their private gaine to the generall good of the Nation of England, and there being no force of government to suppress such unlawfull dealing, it will become (by being a free Port) a nursery to all the unlawfull trade of America; because at New-York who hath a strong garrison and ships of Warr to attend, yet it is with great difficulty that the said unlawfull trade is suppressed, and if not by your Lordships strict diligence, would fall into great disorder and confusion.

It is also against the policy of England; for Hudson's River is the same with the River of Thames; for altho' there is not soe great a breadth between the East and West side of Hudson River as there is between the mouth of the River of Thames, yet there is no other Port appointed in the said River but the City of London, and from the same reason the greatest distance between Amboy and Yorke not exceeding thirty miles, all the inhabitants of New Jersey cannot exceed by a moderate computation twelve thousand<sup>1</sup> families, and the inhabitants of the Province of New Yorke is at least five thousand families, who lay upon themselves a considerable burthen for the supporting the King's government, and therefore more reasonable that New York should be the port, as London is to the River of Thames, then that Amboy should be a port, and not only destroy so great a revenue to the King, but also force the inhabitants of this Province, who depend upon trade to repare where they may live more easy and by that means weaken the strength of so usefull a Province to his Majesty. And by maintaining the port of New Yorke there can be no greater violence done to the subject then there is in the river of Thames, but being found more for the King and Nation's service that London should be the port then any other place in the River of Thames (tho there be many convenient places for ports on both sides the river) yet it would be in prejudice of the improvements of London; and soe debarred. And by the same motive the lesser ought to yeild to the greater, being in like manner the more for the King's service and interest that 200 yeild to 5000, and four or five saile of vessells come to Yorke, and pay duties, then that the navigation of 100 sail that come to New York should goe to Amboy & loose not only the trade of the Province but the revenue that depends thereon. Many more arguments can be offered but this in the mean time for your Lordships present information is humbly submitted by

May it please your Lordship

and most faithfull servant,

New York
Mr. Weaver.

M<sup>r</sup> Weaver Agent for New Yorke having been acquainted that their Lordships desired to speake with him, did (upon the several questions that were asked him) make answer to the following effect, viz<sup>t</sup> That there said to be about fifty of the Pirates belonging to Coates's ship, to whom Colonel Fletcher gave protections, some whereof remained still there; That it is judged some hundreds of Pirates have had Protection from Colonel Fletcher in that manner, but the number thereof is not exactly known; That the Sherrifs complained of about the Elections for the last Assembly are generally men of no great figure, Taylors and other mean conditions, and the same men have continued in several of those offices for several years; That the same Sheriff is for the City and County of New Yorke, and for the County of Orange, That the writ for Elections was accordingly directed to him for both those Counties and that he returned four as chosen by the Inhabitants of the County of Orange as well as of New York, but as if chosen for the county and city of New Yorke; and allowed not any one to vote for the County of Orange: That he has seen the Register of Grants of Lands, some of which are very great; In so much, that it is thought there is not one foot of land left undisposed of in the Province; That he does not remember any condition in those Grants obliging the Grantees to the settlement thereof: That the Rents reserved thereupon are very small; In that to Captain Evans, which is for a Tract of thirty or forty miles in length, about twenty shillings; That those Reservations for Quit-Rents (where there are any) are made upon the whole grants supposed to consist of so many miles, not by certain measur'd acres; And that tho' there was a Surveyor General appointed by Colonel Fletcher, People will not be at the charge of surveying such vast Tracts; And so they are ordinarily granted without any survey.

New-Yorke

After which their Lordships made a further progress in considering the Earl of Bellomont's Papers relating to that Province.

Report of the Board of Trade on the Affairs of the Province of New-York.

[ New-York Entries, B. 1. ]

To Their Excellencies the Lords Justices

May it please your Excellencies.

The great importance of the Province of New York to the security of his Majesty's Plantations upon the continent of America and the disorders now rooted in that Province with the difficulties the Earl of Bellomont lyes under to redress them, oblige us to lay before your Excellencies some things relating to the State thereof, together with the proofs of the same as they either have been communicated to us by his Lordship or are otherwise come to our knowledge.

Representation relating to the general state of the province of New-York Council.

The first thing that he begins with (& which he continues in all his letters) is a complaint not only of the backwardness of the members of his Majesty's Council there, and their declining to give him any manner of light or assistance in the business of the Province, but even of their direct opposition to him and of the frequent cabals made by all that were in favour with the late Governor, to obstruct his endeavours in the discharge of his duty, and to render him uneasy under it. This he imputes to the protection those persons have had (the Members of His Majesty's Council as well as others) from the late Governor, in many illegal practices, and the sence of their own guilt therein; which makes them industrious to conceal and disguise all the former mismanagement of publick affairs, and to prevent any reformation for the future. Of this he gives many instances, some whereof we humbly crave leave to reduce under a few of the chiefest heads.

Piracy.

And because Piracy is a thing of so hainous a nature, and of so pernicious consequence that his Majesty is pleased at this very time to be at an extraordinary charge in an expedition to the East Indies for the extirpating of pirates there (a great part of whom have notoriously had their rise and support from the said Province of New-York) and his Lordship writes that upon his inspection into matters of that kind and into illegal trade (which two he observes have there been frequently combined into a mutual support of one another under the management and for the interest of the most considerable persons in the country concerned in them both) complaints have been made that in the short time has been there, he has ruined New-York the capital City of that Province by hindering the privateers (a soft name given to Pirates) from bringing in thither the value of a hundred thousand pounds: We shall in the first place endeavour to give your Excellencies some account of what lyes before us upon that subject.

The fitting out of pirates from thence, the Commissions they have had from Colonel Fletcher, their returne thither their reception, the protection given them, and the gratifications they have given for such like favours will be more or less evident in one or other of the following instances.

The depositions of Edward Taylor and Samuel Burges two mariners belonging the ship Jacob commanded first by William Mason and afterwards by Edw<sup>d</sup> Coats, taken by the Earl of Bellomont the 3<sup>d</sup> and 7th of May last (whereof Copies are hereunto annexed) express, that the said William Mason had a commission for the said ship as a privateer from Jacob Leisler whilst he was in authority at New York which was about the year 1690. that the said shipp mann'd at first with about 85 men, sailed to the East Indies, where they committed several piracies and shared the value of 1500 pieces of eight, a man; that about the month of April 1693 being then under the command of Edward Coates, they arrived back at Nassau Island; that from thence the said Taylor being deputed by the rest of the Company (then about 55 men) for that purpose, went up to New Yorke and addressed himself to Mr William Nicoll (then one of his Majesty's Council there) who introduced him to Colonel Fletcher; that he opened to the Colonel his business, declaring the piracies they had committed in the East Indies, and in the name of the ships crew, promised to him and the said William Nicoll 700.£ sterl. upon condition the said ship might be permitted to come to New York, and the men belonging to her have protections: which was accordingly agreed to, and the ship was afterwards brought up to New Yorke; but that it hapning in the mean while that the greatest part of the said crew had left the said ship and were dispersed so that the said agreement could not be performed, several of them (being owners) did in consideration of the protections granted by Colonel Fletcher make a present of the said ship unto him; and in gratification of Mr Nicholl's trouble in that transaction, made a contribution amongst themselves to the sum of £200 sterl. which the said Taylor presented to the said Nicoll.

Upon the producing of this evidence the said Nicoll acknowledged before the Earl of Bellomont in Council, that he had received 500 Dollars from the said Taylor for obtaining protections, arguing only that he did not know any persons that were pirates and that he deserved the money for his pains in serving them. However, hereupon the Earl of Bellomont suspended him from his place in Council.

Upon the same subject his Lordship further writes that Colonel Fletcher sold the said ship to Colonel Heathcote, a merchant there, for 800 £ besides what private presents reports saith were made to his lady and daughter, and besides also the price of particular protections, which his Lordship says he finds were commonly rated at one hundred dollars p<sup>r</sup> man. And to this he further adds that for the better colouring of this transaction he finds that Colonel Fletcher overawed or amused the Council into a consent that the said Coats, with his crew should be admitted & protected under pretence of allowing them the benefit of a certain clause in an Act of the country concerning pirates, tho' they had no manner of title to the benefit of that clause, and the rest of the Act be directly against them. In confirmation of which remark we hereunto annex copies of the said Act and of the Order in Council made thereupon: and thereunto we also beg leave to add his Lordship's further observation, that tho' Mr James Graham a man of known ability and integrity in his Majesty's service be Atturney Generall in that Province and ought to have been advised with in matters of so great importance, yet he was never consulted in any thing of this nature.

His Lordship having recovered some original protections of that kind and sent us the copies of one for Richard Potter, who belonged to the forementioned ship Jacob, whereof we have hereunto annexed the copy, and likewise one for Barnet Rynderson and another for Thomas Lewis who had sayled with Capt. Tew (another notorious pirate whom we shall have occasion to mention in the sequel of this narrative) wee thereupon humbly observe that tho' the stile of the said protections (being all of one tenour) express only the protection of the law, yet it has been so understood or looked upon by the inhabitants of that Province, that not any one person so protected (tho' it is thought there have been great numbers of them) has ever been prosecuted for such like crimes, but all of them that would remain there have been suffered to live without molestation, and several of them do yet remaine there: and further that the said protections do make mention of security given that the said persons so protected shall be amenable to the law, yet his Lordship doth not find any such bonds or securities deposited anywhere in behalf of his Majesty, nor that ever any prosecutions were made for such like forfeitures.

In relation to this sort of protections we further annex hereunto the depositions of D<sup>r</sup> Samuel Staats and Alderman Thomas Lewis, both of New York, made before the Earl of Bellomont the 6th of May last, who each of them respectively swear that they treated with Colonel Nicholas Bayard (a Member also of His Majesty's Council there) for Colonel Fletcher's protections for the forementioned Rynderson and Lewis, and that tho' the said Bayard at first demanded one hundred pieces of eight for each of them (the rate the Earl of Bellomont says he finds them to have been ordinarily set at) yet he procured the said protections, and upon the payment of 75 peices of Eight each for Col. Fletcher, and 12 peices of Arabian Gold each, for himself, he delivered the same unto them.

Upon the same subject of Protections we further hereunto annex the deposition of John Wick (taken by the Earl of Bellomont the 2<sup>d</sup> of June last) setting forth that in the year 1996. upon the seizure of a chest, by Josiah Hobart Esq<sup>r</sup> High Sheriff of a County, which chest belonged to one Josiah Rayner, who had been out a privateering (that is pirating) with Capt. Tew, and contained in it a considerable treasure, he the said Wick at the desire of the said Rayner applied himself to Colonel Fletcher for the discharge of the said chest and a protection for the said Rayner's person, assuring him that Rayner would present him for it: unto which Col. Fletcher replied that since the said Rayner went out with his permission (viz in Tew's ship) he did well to come to him for protection; adding with all that he would not take any reward for the said protection; but if the said Rayner thought fit to make him a present, he would not refuse it. Whereupon Colonel Fletcher signing an order to the Sheriff Hobart for the discharge of the said Chest and a protection for the said Rayner (a copy whereof is hereunto annex'd) the said Wick did make a present to him of £50. (New York money) by a bill upon Colonel Abraham Depeyster, which Colonel Fletcher accepted in consideration of the said discharge and protection, and which bill was afterwards payed to Daniel Honan his Secretary, as by Col. Depeyster's deposition, also hereunto annexed, doth appear.

And to this we judge it proper also to add a copy of the deposition of John Hutchins Esq<sup>r</sup> and Hannah his wife, taken before the Earl of Bellomont the 24th of June last, expressing that Coats the Pirate afore mentioned told them that it had cost him for his own share 1300.£ to procure his protection of Colonel Fletcher; tho' it be not very cleare to us, by the said deposition, whether this were for the forementioned piracies or some other afterwards.

The persons that the Earl of Bellomont names as having been particularly commissioned by Col. Fletcher, are Tew, Glover, Hoar, and Moston, whose commissions being there on record, he has sent us an extract thereof; and he thereupon observes that at the same time of granting the said Commissions to Tew, Glover and Hoar, they had none of them any ship or vessell within that government; and we further observe from an information given us here by another hand that in the year 1694. the said Tew being in Rhode Island did offer unto John Easton then Governor of that Colony £500. for a commission, which was refused, tho' it is certain others there have been very guilty of that fault. And Col. Fletcher's Commission to Tew, being dated in November the same year, makes it highly probable that it was not granted for nothing. But his Lordship adds that the tenour of these commissions be onely against the Kings enemies; yet it was known to all the inhabitants of New York that they were bound to the Indies and to the Red Sea, and that they themselves publicly declared it so, being thereby the better inabled to raise men (which they were permitted to do) and fit themselves for their intended Piracies. He adds also more particularly concerning 'Tew that tho' he were infamous and had before been a most notorious Pirate and were complained of by the East India Company, yet upon his returne from a piratical voyage to the Indies with great riches, he was received with great intimacy and kindness by Colonel Fletcher who exchanged presents with him, entertained him frequently at his table and carryed him abroad publickly in his coach. And concerning both Tew and Hoar he sends us the copy of a memorial presented to him the 4th of May last by M<sup>r</sup> Graham aforementioned His Majesty's Atturay Generall in that Province whereof we have also hereunto annexed a copy; and in further confirmation of what relates to Tew, we humbly crave leave to annex also an extract of the examination of William Philips and Edward Savill (two pirates) presented to the Lords Justices of Ireland the 15th of Aug<sup>t</sup> 1696. which amongst other things expresses the sum said to have been paid to Col. Fletcher by Tew for his Commission, together with an extract of our own minutes of the 15th of September last which confirms what we have before reported from the Earl of Bellomont's letters relating to the common fame of private presents.

The several particular Acts of Piracy committed by Tew, Hoar and Glover in the East Indies are so notorious, that we conceive it not necessary to trouble your Excellencies with any account thereof.

Thomas Moston aforementioned, Cōmander of the ship Fortune, had his commission also from Col. Fletcher, but by the burden of his said ship (100 tunns) number of gunns (tenn) and number of men (21) it appears evidently that he was not designed for any service of war, but rather as the Earl of Bellomont observes and as the issue manifests, it may be concluded that the said commission was given him onely for a colour, by means whereof he might returne to New Yorke with less observation; because otherwise that vessell being an unfree bottom was not qualified to trade in the Plantations, and without such a Commission would have been more exposed to search.

What the business was he went upon we shall have occasion to explain under the head of illegal trade but before we quit this subject of commissions, we beg leave to add what the Earl of Bellomont writes concerning the bonds given to Colonel Fletcher when the said Commissions were granted by him, that given by Tew was for 3000£. in which Edward Coats (another notorious pirate aforementioned) and Daniel Honan, Col. Fletcher's private Secretary were bound with him. That given by Hoare was also for 3000£. in which John Feny (a popish taylor of New York, a beggar) and the aforesaid Daniel Honan were bound with him. His Lordship does not mention that he had found the bonds given for the other two; but concerning these he adds, that they having by Col. Fletcher been committed to the said Honan's Custody, he the said Honan some time before his Lordship's arrivall there, blotted out his own name in the body of the Bonds as also his signing at the bottom, and torn of his seal which had been thereunto affixed, leaving the other names and seals intire. From which his Lordship strongly argues the consciousness both of Colonel Fletcher and his Secretary to the designe of these pirates, and in proof of what relates to Honan's signing and defacing the said Bonds, he has sent us four depositions, whereof copies are hereunto annexed.

Illegal Trade. We shall now proceed to lay before your Excellencies some particulars relating to Illegal Trade. The trade of that Port (as his Lordship writes) hath of late been very much increased, and the city greatly enlarged and enriched, yet it is evident by the annexed copies of accounts for the year 1687 and for the successive years from 1692 to 1697. that His Majesty's revenue arising from the Customes hath decreased very considerably from what it was ten years since; and from thence we can not but with his Lordship conclude, the great corruption of the whole body of that people, both officers and traders and humbly conceive the following instances will be some evidence of it.

The designe of Thomas Mostons afore mentioned voyage was for Madagascar; in order whereunto (as the Earl of Bellomont writes) he laded publickly at New York with goods usefull to the pirates, taking his clearings out of the Custom house there; and at Madagascar took in East India Goods out of a Pirate ship commanded by Capt. Hoare afore mentioned and arriving back at New York about the very same time that his Lordship arrived there, it was with very great difficulty and after many trifling delays, amongst which one was want of a boat (tho' his Lordship thereupon observes that Colonel Fletcher had made an establishment of £30. p<sup>r</sup> ann. out of his Majesty's revenue for a Boat for pleasure) that his Lordship constrained M<sup>r</sup> Chidley Brook Collector and Receiver General of his Majesty's revenue in that Province, to make seizure of some small part thereof in the last boat that was coming a shore after the far greatest part had been privately conveyed away. But tho' his Lordship had informed M<sup>r</sup> Brook that fourteen of Hoar's men were come passengers in the said ship, yet he did not seize any of them that they might have been punished for their piracies; nor did he take care that any of the other seamen should be forth coming to give evidence upon the tryall; it being so contrived (as it seem'd) on purpose between him and the merchants, whereof no less then 22 were concerned in the said lading. Much threatning was also used by the merchants to deter all persons from giving evidence; however some evidence being found, and the ship also appearing to be an unfree bottom, the few goods that had been seized and the ship, were condemned in a Court of Admiralty. All this is very clear from the papers which his Lordship has sent us relating to that proceeding. But besides this we have also had a direct information at our own Board the 9th of August last, of the said Moston's trading with pirates at S<sup>t</sup>a Maria or Madagascar, as also concerning another vessell; of both which we have hereunto annexed an extract, and shall have occasion hereafter to refer unto it.

Upon this and other gross neglects and miscarriages of M<sup>r</sup> Brook, his Lordship suspended him from his forementioned places, as likewise from being of his Majesty's Council, and constituted Colonel Cortland one of the Council and one M<sup>r</sup> Monsey Commissioners to execute the said places during his suspension; and it happening immediately after that his Lordship had intelligence of East India Goods not legally imported at one M<sup>r</sup> Van Sweeten's house (which Van Sweeten we observe from another paper was one of the Contractors for the freight of the aforesaid ship Fortune) he sent the said Monsey with other persons to sieze the same, who found and seized them accordingly. But thereupon a tumult was made by the merchants (amongst whom M<sup>r</sup> Philip French late Speaker of the General Assembly was eminently active) and the said Officers were locked up and imprisoned three hours in the said Van Sweeten's house, untill in the end His Lordship found it necessary to send his Lieutenant Governor with three files of men to break open the doors and set them at liberty. In proof of which open opposition to authority and how hard it is for those accustomed to illegal trade to bear the restraints of law, which his Lordship indeavours to have observed, we have hereunto annexed the depositions of the said Monsey and of D<sup>r</sup> James Brodie and Robert Cranwell who were with him in that conjuncture.

The next morning upon another intelligence received, his Lordship sent again for the Custom house Officers and acquainted them where they might make another seizure. But M<sup>r</sup> Monsey refused to act any longer and laid down his employment; by which means the opportunity of seizing a thousand pounds worth of goods, was lost. Whereupon his Lordship observes that the said Monsey having formerly been servant to M<sup>r</sup> Brook (with whom as he confessed he had been then discoursing) and probably as deeply concerned in an illegal correspondence with merchants, as his master, did not now find himself fitly qualified to act so contrary a part.

His Lordship further writes that since his arrivall there five sayle of ships have been seen hovering on the coast, who may reasonably be suspected to have been either pirates, or such as had traded with pirates; but having by landing some men on the Jerseys understood the change of affairs in the government of New Yorke, they steered away and have not since been heard of there. This matter of fact has been also confirmed to us by letters from M<sup>r</sup> Bass Governor of the Jerseys, and from M<sup>r</sup> Randolph Surveyor Generall of His Majesty's Customes on the continent of America; and thereupon his Lordship adds that it has been observed there how great an advantage those formerly concerned in the management of these illegal practices have lost.

He writes also that in the begining of June last there being four merchants ships laden and bound for Madagascar, he called a Council and represented to them that he had just reason to suspect the said ships were intended for a trade with pirates and proposed that for prevention thereof good security should be required before their departure; but the whole Council (some of which were concerned in those ships) unanimously opposed his proposition as being not prescribed by law nor ever before practised; so that he was forced to permit the said ships to proceed on their voyage.

There are more things relating to trade; as the want of a Navall Officer, or at least the execution of that place by the same person that was Collector (viz<sup>t</sup> M<sup>r</sup> Brook aforementioned) the pernicious consequences whereof we have formerly represented to your Excellencies upon the subject of Virginia; also the want of a register for ships and other matters. All which might further shew how methods were contrived for an irregular management of those affairs. But what has been said already does (as we humbly conceive) sufficiently demonstrate the difficulties his Lordship has to struggle with in reforming the disorders in that government with relation to piracy and trade.

We only beg leave to add one thing further (not received from the Earl of Bellomont but by information here) it is an account of a ship or sloop called the Frederick belonging to M<sup>r</sup> Frederick Philips one of His Majesty's Council of New York, which upon expectation of a vessell there from Madagascar was (since his Lordship's entrance upon that Government) sent out by the said Frederick Philips under the conduct of Adolphus Philips his son, upon pretence of a voyage to Virginia, but really to cruize at sea in order to meet the said vessell from Madagascar. Upon meeting of that vessell great parcels of East India goods were by direction of the said Adolphus Philips taken out of her, and put aboard the said sloop Frederick, with which, by his order, she sayled to Delaware Bay and lay there privately. He in y<sup>e</sup> mean while returned in the Madagascar ship (having then only Negroes on board) to New York, and after some days came again to the Frederick sloop in Delaware Bay. There the said sloop delivered some small part of East India cargo and from thence, by his direction, sayled with the rest (North about Scotland) to Hamburg, where some seizure having been made by Sir Paul Ricaut (His Majesty's Resident there) and the men sent hither, they have each of them severally made depositions relating to that matter, before S<sup>r</sup> Charles Hedges Judge of the Admiralty. But those depositions being long, yet agreeing all of them in substance, we have hereunto annexed an abstract thereof, unto which we refer: only in proof that the forementioned ship from Madagascar had traded with Pirates, (which is not acknowledged in the depositions) we observe that Cornelius Jacobs (the Master's name) appears not only by the name but by all other circumstances to be the same Captain Jacobs who is named in our forementioned minutes of the 9th of August last to have traded with pirates.

Grants of Land.

The next head under which we shall humbly represent to your Excellencies the rise of those difficulties which the Earl of Bellomont meets with in the administration of that government is the Grants of Lands made by the late Governor; and in order thereunto, we beg leave, in the first place, to set down a list of such grants whereof his Lordship has sent us either Copies or Abstracts; with this observation, that the lands therein mentioned are not laid out by exact measure of acres, but computed in the lump by miles.

A Grant to Colonel Nicholas Bayard a member of the Council (whom we have mentioned before as an instrument in negotiating for Colonel Fletcher's protections to pirates) for a tract of land in the County of Albany claimed by the Mohacqs and containing about 24 or 30 miles in length: its breadth we know not.<sup>1</sup>

A Grant to Godfrey Dellius, Minister at Albany for a tract of land on the East side of Hudson's river containing about 70 miles in length and 12 miles in breadth.<sup>2</sup>

A Grant to Colonel Henry Beckman for a tract of land in Dutches County, containing about sixteen miles square; and likewise for another tract of land upon Hudson's River about 8 miles in breadth and 20 miles in length

A Grant to Colonel William Smith a member of the Council for sundry tracts of lands and meadows in the Island of Nassau, comprizing all the vacant lands between the bounds of former patents therein specified and computed to contain about 50 miles; what length or breadth we know not.

A Grant to Capt. John Evans Commander of His Majesty's ship the Richmond for sundry tracts of land lying on the West side of Hudson's River and containing about 40 miles in length and 20 miles in breadth.<sup>3</sup>

A Grant to William Pinhorn Esq<sup>r</sup>, Colonell Peter Schuyler Dr Godfrey Dellius, Major Derrick Wessells and Capt. Evert Banker, for a tract of land lying on the Mohacqs River, containing about 50 miles in length and two miles in breadth on each side of the said River.<sup>4</sup>

A Grant to Colonel Caleb Heathcote a member of the Council for a lot or toft of ground, containing in breadth about 27 foot and in length about 50 foot, which had been formerly part <sup>1</sup> This grant included the valley on both sides of the Schoharie creek, from the mouth of the latter at Fort Hunter, in Montgomery county, to the high hills near the mouth of the Little Schoharie creek, in the town of Middleburgh, in Schoharie county. A description of these hills will be found in Sims' History of the latter county, p. 33; and of the patent, in Van Schaack's Ed. of the Laws of New-York, p. 32.

<sup>2</sup> It extended from Batten kill, in Washington county, N. Y., being the north bounds of the Saratoga patent, to Vergennes, in the State of Vermont. The north line of this patent will be found laid down in a "Map of French and English Grants on Lake Champlain," in Documentary History of New-York, I.

<sup>3</sup> This tract commenced on Hudson's river at the S. line of the town of New Paltz, in Ulster county, went thence westerly to the Shawangunk mountains, thence southerly along these mountains to the S. W. angle of the town of Calhoun, Orange county, thence easterly to the easternmost angle of the last named town, whence it proceeded S. E. to the Hudson river at Stony Point, and thence up the river to the place of beginning. It included the S. tier of towns in Ulster, two thirds of Orange, and part of the town of Haverstraw, in Rockland county, N. Y. A map of this extravagant grant is No. 97 in the office of the Secretary of State, Albany.

<sup>4</sup> This patent is supposed to have embraced that portion of the Mohawk Valley extending from Amsterdam, in Montgomery county, to Little Falls, or perhaps to West Canada creek, in Herkimer. — Ed.

of the King's Garden. Also another part of his Majesty's said garden extending from the Stockadoes or fence thereof in the rear, as far into Hudson's river at low water mark.

And upon this head we would humbly observe unto your Excellencys, that the reason of granting lands in any of his Majesty's plantations being principally in order to the cultivating of the same, and that thereby the respective plantations might be the better peopled strengthened and improved, and his Majesty's revenue accordingly advanced, the quantities of land formerly granted were in such moderate proportions and under such charge of Quit Rent and obligation of improvement as might answer that end. Accordingly in the Province of New York the grants were for the most part under 1000. and seldom exceeding 2000 acres, with reservation of a Quit Rent of one bushell of wheat upon each 100 acres; and there was then also a law that all lands not improved or settled in three years should returne to the grantor. Like unto which we find one very express, both for surveying and planting whilst that Province was in the hands of the Duke of York before his accession to the Crown.

Quit Rents. Concerning Quit Rents, we find that Sr Edmond Andros in the year 1688 when the Province of New York was in the Crown, and the government thereof united to that of New England, was directed by his instructions not to dispose of any lands under a less reservation than 2 shill<sup>s</sup> 6. pence p<sup>r</sup> 100 acres; but we do not find that any such limited instructions was given after his Majesty's accession to the Crown either to Colonel Slaughter or to Colonel Fletcher, but that they have been left at liberty to grant lands under such moderate Quit Rents, as (with the advice of his Majesty's Councill there) they should think fit. Nor do we find that any thing like the said instruction to Sr Edmond Andros has been of late observed; but that on the contrary all the rent reserved to his Majesty for that great and greatly mischievous grant of the Mohacq's land is only one Beaver's skin p<sup>r</sup> Annum for the first seven years, and five Beaver's skins p<sup>r</sup> annum for ever after; and that the Quit rents on Colonel Bayard's forementioned grant is only 10<sup>s</sup> or one Otter's skin p<sup>r</sup> Ann<sup>o</sup>: and we have been informed that the Quit Rent on Capt. Evanse's fore mentioned grant is not above the value of 20<sup>s</sup> and all other Quit Rents in like manner very small. And neither do we find that there is any condition inserted in any of the said grants to oblige the grantees to make settlements thereon; but for the more particular account both of the former and late methods of granting land in that Province we humbly refer to the annexed copy of a memoriall presented to the Earl of Bellomont the 30th of June last by M<sup>r</sup> Graham the Atturney General aforementioned, who was directed, as he says, by Colonel Fletcher's warrants to draw grants, but never consulted with upon any of them.

Grants of Land. The sums which the Earl of Bellomont writes he had been told were given to Colonel Fletcher for grants of this kind (100 dollars by one, 50 by another, and the like) are very inconsiderable in proportion to the value he had also been told the grantees put upon their respective purchases. As for instance, that the forenamed Henry Beckman values his at £5000. The grantees of the Mohacq's land esteem theirs worth £25000. and that Colonel Smith's grant in Nassau Island is worth more than any of them all. But however that be, other motives suggested by his Lordship, and by M<sup>r</sup> Graham in the forementioned memorial, as what may have induced Colonel Fletcher to grant of late such vast tracts of land as some of those before set down, are not onely that he might thereby the more oblige his friends and ingage a considerable party of men in his interest, but withall that he might render that government so much more uneasy to his Lordship, of whose appointment to succeed therein, he had advice.

In confirmation of this last suggestion his Lordship instances the forementioned grant of the pleasantest part of the King's Garden to Col. Heathcote, as likewise the leasing out to the Church a farm called the King's Farm, which usually supplied the Governour with bread corne; and the selling another part thereof which is meadow ground, (a scarce thing there) to Capt. Evans; adding that Colonel Fletcher would have also leased out a little island called Nutten Island (convenient for grasing a few Coach horses and cows for the Governor's family) to one formerly his footman, but that the Council were ashamed to consent to it; and yet further that he had permitted the fences and trees of the remaining part of the King's Garden (after he had knowledge of his Lordships being appointed Governor) to be destroyed by Cattle, that fourteen years will hardly reparaire them.

These all are inconveniences to his Lordship, and which he looks upon as rubs designedly put in his way; but the more important consequences of such vast grants of land as those aforementioned (which his Lordship also remarks) are, that every foot of land that was to be disposed of and is fit for settling in that government, being in this manner granted away, it is impossible (while things remain so) that the country can ever be settled or peopled. The Grantees who are now proprietors thereof are too few to do it; there is no room left for servants to seat themselves after the expiration of their respective terms of service, with any prospect of advantage, by their own industry. Nobody will become farmers of lands not cleared and undertake that charge and trouble, unless the propriety be in themselves; nor is it likely that any should buy lands of those grantees, because the profit they will seek to make by their bargains can not leave sufficient incouragement for such second hand purchasers to plant and settle them. And it is not now in the power of his Majesty himself or of any future governor to reward with gifts of land the services of those that may deserve it, either in war or peace; so that all these severall ways of advancing in the settlement of the country being blocked up (unless some remedy be found) it must of necessity follow that, instead of increasing, the inhabitants strength and riches of that Province must daily decrease and decay.

But beside these and such like mischeifs attending in general those exorbitant grants, there is some thing of more particular consideration in the grant of the aforementioned lands to Mr Pinhorn and others in the Mohacqs country; the title thereunto by purchase is not only contested, as may appear by the annexed copy of the depositions of two Christian Indians Henry and Joseph, but the consequences thereof would be ruinous to the whole Province of New Yorke. For the Mahacqs have always been the best guard and security to those frontiers; and if they should be dispossessed of their country, it would be very difficult for the English and other his Majesty's subjects to defend the rest against any attempts of the French in case of another war. This is so evident and is so sensibly felt by the City and County of Albany that they petitioned Col. Fletcher against the passing of that grant and have since represented the mischeif of it to the Earl of Bellomont: First by the Magistracy of the said city, complaining at the same time of the neglect of their frontiers, the infringement of their rights and privileges, the discouragement of the Indians, and divisions fomented among themselves under the late Governor; and afterwards more particularly, by their Representatives, in the General Assembly, as may appear by the two annexed memorials; and in consequence of these and such like considerations, two of the Patentees for those lands (viz' Colonel Schuyler and Major Wessells, both of Albany) have resigned their respective interests therein to his Majesty; but the other three insisting yet upon their right, and the Earl of Bellomont having thereupon examined into the whole matter and reported his opinion that the pretended purchase of those lands from the Mohacks was fraudulent and the grant surreptitious and that the remaining Patentees ought not to make any settlement upon the said lands until his Majesty's pleasure be signified therein, We have hereunto annexed a copy of his Lordship's said Report.

The last consideration we shall offer unto your Excellencys, upon occasion of these grants, is about the number of the inhabitants both of the City and County of Albany and of the Five Nations and River Indians bordering upon it. The annexed account which we have received from the Earl of Bellomont shews the great diminution of both, since beginning of the late war, which in the inhabitants of Albany has been chiefly by their departure from thence. And if now the Mohacks the nearest to us of the Five Nations and the most active against the French, should by the forementioned grant or grants (for we have reason to believe there are more then one, and that particularly that to Coll. Bayard falls pretty much under the same consideration) be dispossesed of their Country, or by any discouragements put upon them, inclined to leave it; we should not onely lose at once the whole number of that people, and with them the other four Nations, but the Christian inhabitants of our outermost frontiers (being deprived of the shelter they had from them) would also infallibly desert, and leave the whole Province of New Yorke exposed to the incroachments of the French of Canada.

Forces.

This leads us in the next place to represent to your Excellencys the State of the Forces now under pay there and of the fortifications of the frontiers. Concerning the Forces his Lordship writes that he finds them in a miserable condition, not half the number that they should be by the Establishment and almost starved: and in another letter more particularly he says, that by the hardships formerly put upon them the desertions have been so great that in his own Company (which ought to consist of a hundred men) there are but about 35 private sentinels; instancing further as one hardship, that tho' their pay by the Establishment be thirty p<sup>r</sup> Cent. worse then sterlin, yet Colonel Fletcher deducted out of each private soldiers subsistence  $\frac{1}{2}$  penny p<sup>r</sup> day, which for 400 men amounts to 16<sup>s</sup>. 8<sup>d</sup>., and for a continuance of severall years makes a very considerable sum; besides the indirect advantages which he also made by sending home full muster rolls when the men were not really half the number; and beside what he wronged them in the additional allowance of 4<sup>d</sup> p<sup>r</sup> day made by the Country, and beside also great advantages he and the Officers made by stopping their subsistence when any of them were licensed to labour. This being the state in which His Lordship found them, he writes that he has taken off these hardships and clothed them, yet fears he shall not be able to recruit and fill the Companys without men from hence.

Fortifications.

Concerning the state of the Fortifications on the Frontiers, he writes, that having sent Col. Romar the Ingineer Generall to visit the same and received a Report from him that they have been all of them very much neglected and are now exceedingly out of repair, as likewise that some are ill situated and useless, and that others are wanted in more proper places; his Lordship thinks it absolutely necessary for the security of the Province that the said Col. Romar be directed to remain there yet some while longer for the finishing of that service.

Assembly.

These being some of the difficultyes which (upon his arrival in that Province) His Lordship found himself engaged to cope with, the means whereby he chiefly expected to overcome them was, by calling a Generall Assembly. In order thereunto (together with writs) he put forth a proclamation against undue elections and returns of Assemblymen, but complains that instead of complying therewithall, the Sheriffs (who were for the most part men of mean rank and had been continued in those places from year to year by the late Governor) had carried themselves most unfairly. In so much that one of them made return for a County (viz<sup>t</sup> Orange county) in which he suffered not any one freeholder to vote. Upon the meeting of the Assembly his Lordship laid before them in his speech the state of the Province (being several of the heads which we have now more largely represented to Your Excellencies) and particularly recommended to them the finding out some expedient to reconcile the parties amongst them; which he oft complains of, as the root of many disorders. But instead thereof the whole Assembly, consisting of but nineteen persons, eleven whereof sat by controverted Elections; those eleven being the greater number, established themselves and brought all things into the greatest confusion, without doing any manner of service to the Publick. For upon their so exceeding foul carriage in the business of elections, six others whose elections were uncontroverted protested against them, and petitioned his Lordship for redress: Upon which he was forced to dissolve the Assembly, tho' the state of His Majesty's revenue there (it being near upon expiring) did (as every thing else) very much require their sitting.

There are many other particular things which we shall beg leave to lay before your Excellencies in separate Representations: but these being such as chiefly concerne the generall state of that Province. we will at present only add one, which (tho' particular) falls under the same consideration with others aforementioned. It is, that the Earl of Bellomont has given us an account how upon proof of most undutifull and scandalous words against His Majesty's Pinhorn. person and Government, spoken by William Pinhorn Esq<sup>r</sup> one of His Majesty's Council and a Judge in that Province (and whom we observe to be the first person named in the forementioned pernicious grant of the Mahacsq Land) his Lordship had suspended him as well from his place of Judge as from sitting in His Majesty's Councill, untill his Majesty's pleasure therein be further declared.

E. of Bellomont to be countenanced in his proceedings. Upon this view of the whole matter we humbly represent to your Excellencies our Opinion that the corruption in the main body of the people of New York (by the long incouragement they have had in many illegal practices) is grown so great, and the opposition raised against the Earl of Bellomont (for his endeavouring to redress the same and to lay open the guilt of those that have been chiefly concerned therein) so strong, that unless his Lordship be very particularly countenanced and speedily supported by your Excellencies authority, in the discharge of his duty, and that all or at least the Cheife of those who have been most guilty of the forementioned miscarriages be discouraged censured or punished, as may be found necessary; it will be found impossible for his Lordship to effect any thing of moment in that Province, which can be truly for his Majesty's service or for the good of the Province itself.

We therefore most humbly propose that his Lordship may be commended for his great zeal and diligence in reforming what he has found amiss and particularly in having suspended the forenamed William Nicoll, Chidley Brook and William Pinhorn from their respective places whether in Council or otherwise, and that the said persons by your Excellencies authority be removed from the same. And further that in like manner Nicholas Bayard (whose guilt in treating and receiving bribes for the protection of persons who were supposed to be pirates has above been explained) as also Frederick Philips (whose great concerns in illegal trade are not only the subject of common fame but are fully and particularly proved by the depositions relating to the Frederick sloop aforementioned) may be also by your Excellencies' Authority removed from their respective places in Council and fom all other places of publick trust in that Government whatsoever.

And in order to the filling up the vacancies that will be in his Majesty's Council there by the removal of the five forementioned persons, we humbly crave leave to observe unto your Excellencies (from two lists of names which the Earl of Bellomont has sent us in order to the filling up of vacancies) how difficult it is to find persons there who are themselves disinterested and free from the guilt of such practices as ought to be reformed. For in the first of the said lists his Lordship has, upon such information as he first got, inserted the name of Philip French,<sup>1</sup> whom he has since represented to have been at the head of the tumult raised upon the the forementioned seizure of goods at Mr Van Sweeten's house and the great supporter of unfair elections in the Assembly, whereof he was Speaker and his own election controverted; for which reason he left him out in the second list; and we do not think fit to propose that he should be of his Majesty's Council; and in both the said lists his Lordship (not then knowing what has since been discovered concerning the voyage of the Frederick sloop to Hamburg) has inserted the name of Adolphus Philips, son of the foresaid Frederick Philips, whom we also conceive unfit to be of his Majesty's said Council, for the same reason that we have proposed for his Father's removal. Upon the rejecting therefore of these two, we humbly offer unto your Excellencies all those that remain in his Lordship's last list, viz<sup>t</sup> Colonel Abraham Depeyster James Graham Esq<sup>r</sup> D<sup>r</sup> Samuel Staats physician Robert Livingston Esq<sup>r</sup> and Doct<sup>r</sup> John Corbille Physician, as the persons whom we at present judge most fit to be constituted of His Majesty's Council of New Yorke instead of the five proposed to be removed, and most humbly propose that they may be constituted and appointed accordingly.

Pirates to be prosecuted.

Another thing that we conceive highly necessary for his Majesty's service in the discouragement of Pirates and in order to their suppression, is, that his Lordship be directed to cause all those that are sheltered in that Province under the colour of Colonel Fletcher's forementioned protections, as also all others that can be discovered either there or in any other of his Majesty's territories under his Lordship's government to be prosecuted and punished with utmost severity according to law; and that his Lordship be also directed to take the like care in relation to illegal traders.

Exorbitant Grants of land, to be annulled. In the last place concerning the fore mentioned exorbitant grants of land, which we humbly conceive (without some effectual remedy) will be very destructive to that province, which, as we have before observed, is the safeguard and cheif fence of all his Majesty's northern plantations; we most humbly offer that all methods whatsoever allowed by law, be put in practice for the breaking and annulling of them, and that for the future no grants of lands be made there under a less Quit Rent to his Majesty than 2<sup>s</sup> 6<sup>d</sup> p<sup>r</sup> 100 acres, as was directed by S<sup>r</sup> Edmund Andros's forementioned instructions, nor without an obligation oupon the grantees to plant and settle the same within the space of three years at furthest, under the penalty of forfeiture.

All which nevertheless is most humbly submitted.

<sup>1</sup> PHILIP FRENCH, a merchant of New-York, was originally from Kelshall, Suffolk county, England. He married Annetje, daughter of Frederick Philips, and, in common with that family, was an opponent of the Leisler party. He was Speaker of the Assembly in 1698, but the violence of his political enemies soon after rendered it prudent for him to absent himself until the arrival of Lord Cornbury. He was appointed Mayor of New-York in 1702, in which year and in 1706 he again represented that city in the Assembly. He died in 1707, leaving three daughters, but no son. — Ed.

Earl of Bellmont to the Lords of Trade.

[New-York Entries, B. 121.]

To the Right Honourable the Lords Commissioners of the Council of Trade.

My Lords.

The Fowy Frigatt which sailed hence the 23<sup>d</sup> of last month carried your Lordships my letters of the 14th and 21st of the said month.

The 6th of this month Captain Schuyler returned from Canada and brought me a letter from that Governour a copy whereof I now send your Lordships (N<sup>o</sup> 1) together with Captain Schuyler's journal of his voyage (N<sup>o</sup> 2) and the minute of Council taken at his coming here (N<sup>o</sup> 3) by which your Lordships will perceive the French have given over their designe of invading our Indians for the present.

I send your Lordships a copy of the information of Colonel Cortlandt one of the Commissioners of his Majesty's revenue here, brought last week at the Supream Court against the goods of Mr. Van Sweeten merchant, formerly seized by my order, and M<sup>r</sup> Van Sweeten's confession of judgment thereupon; which is a further evidence of the ship Fortune being an unfree bottom and bringing East India goods, which information &c is (N<sup>o</sup> 4). The Bill of appraizement of the said Van Sweeten's goods is (N<sup>o</sup> 5.)

I send also the deposition of M<sup>r</sup> Ludlow, merchant in this town, of a great quantity of East India goods brought to him to conceal, to the value of two thousand five hundred pounds, as he computes them. The said deposition is (N<sup>o</sup> 6) and your Lordships will see by it that M<sup>r</sup> Willson the late Sheriff of this Town was concerned in the said concealment, which agrees with the information brought me of Willson's having East India goods in his house to about that value, before I sent to seize Van Sweeten's goods, which was the reason I could not depend on the said Sheriff Willson's raising the posse to rescue the King's Officers made prisoners in Van Sweeten's house, and was therefore forced to send my Lieutenant Governour and some soldiers to make that rescue. 'Tis observable how little regard Willson had to his oath as High Sheriff, who tho' a sworn officer to his Majesty was notwithstanding very active to defraud his Majesty. Brooks the late Collector boarded with Willson, and I am morally certain he was privy to Willson's concealment of those goods in his house.

There goes with this a certificate under the hand of the Surveyor Generall of this Province of severall most extravagant grants of land by Colonel Fletcher (N<sup>o</sup> 7) and Lieutenant Hunt, a gentleman who goes from Boston in the Deptford man of Warr, is to deliver your Lordships a new Map of this Province (it being too bulky to make up in this packet) made by the said Surveyor Generall, the exactest, I beleive, that has yet been made, wherein he has described the severall large tracts of land granted, with the grantees names; so that your Lordships will see that this whole Province is given away to about thirty persons in effect, to the great prejudice of the Crown, because at that rate this province, which by its scituation is the most considerable of all the Provinces on the Continent (and ought to be under the best regulation) can never be well peopled, for men will not care to become base tenants to proprietors of land in this Province, when they can buy the fee-simple of lands in the Jerseys for five pounds per hundred acres, and I beleive as cheaply in Pensylvania. I do not find that Colonel Fletcher had any power by his Commission to sell the lands in this Province, and yet 'tis certain he took money for all the grants he made, except that of the Mohacks land, which I cannot yet find out. If he had reserved in those grants he made, a reasonable Quit Rent to the Crown, he would have been less to blame than he is; but I find the rents reserved in all his grants are trifles. Having formerly represented to your Lordships the great mischief of these extravagant grants, I ought to ask your pardon for troubling you again on the same subject: but it being a thing in my apprehension of so very great consequence to the Crown of England, I cannot forbear reminding your Lordships of it, in hopes your wisdom will find out a way of voiding these extravagant grants and limiting all Governours to a certain number of acres in their grants, obliging them to reserve a Quit Rent of half a Crown on every hundred Acres, to the Crown, and restraining them from selling the lands to the person they grant them to. I should think a thousand acres were a sufficient quantity of land to grant to any man, for the clearing of land from wood costs £4. 10<sup>s</sup> p<sup>r</sup> acre all this country over, so that it would require a good purse to man[age] and overcome a thousand acres, this country being all under great woods, and yet M<sup>r</sup> Dellius the Minister at Albany, besides his share of the Mohacks land, has in another grant which your Lordships will see by the Mapp at least seven hundred thousand acres of land.

I am informed the Gentlemen I suspended from the Council are very confident of being restored: and among the rest M<sup>r</sup> Pinhorn; When the depositions of M<sup>r</sup> Earle and his mother were taken before me and the Attorney General, and they confronted by M<sup>r</sup> Pinhorn there were two material circumstances omitted in the said deposition; one was, that they charged Pinhorn at the same time that he spoke those scandalous words against the King, with saying that the King of France would save his troops that year and act defensively, and tire out the Confederate army, and when he had so done he would come with a mighty force upon the King and his confederates and would devour them. This was so like the cant that was among the Jacobites in England at that time that I confesse I was induced to beleive the charge against him was true, he looking at the same time very guilty, and what further confirmed me in the belieif of his guilt was their accusing him of harbouring and entertaining one Smith a Jesuit in his house, three or four months, about that time: to which he replied that the said Jesuit had not been in his house above three weeks or a month.

To let your Lordships see that M<sup>r</sup> Nicolls since my suspension of him from the Council for being a broker between Colonel Fletcher and some pirates, continues to correspond with those profligate people, I send John Williamson's deposition, which also makes mention of scurrilous words spoken against me by the man and woman of the house, who being absolute strangers to me, must in all probability have received their notion of me from M<sup>r</sup> Nicolls, and that he has been a most restles incendiary against me, has told them (as I heare he has told others) that by my discountenancing piracy I should impoverish and ruine this country. I send your Lordships another deposition of John Williamson's of the same date concerning pirates money, but that which is most remarkable therein is Colonel Willet one of the Council's great care and pains to couceale the said money from me. Jones, formerly a pirate, endeavours in his deposition, to cleare Colonel Willet, but besides that his is a negative Oath he is under a very ill character in the country, and I cannot for my part give credit to his evidence. Williamson was under no temptation that I can find out, of forging that accusation of Colonel Willet, and Benjamin Thurston's deposition does in great measure confirm the evidence of Williamson. Both the deposition of Williamson, and those of the two Thurstons, Benjamin and Daniel, and also of Jones, Whitehead, Walters, and Harrison are bound up together (N<sup>o</sup> 8)

The 25th of last month I suspended Colonel Bayard, Colonel Minvielle, Colonel Willet, Colonel Townley and M<sup>r</sup> Lawrence from the Council; finding it absolutely necessary for his Majesty's service so to do; for tho' they were such sycophants as to comply with Colonel Fletcher in all the parts of his corrupt Administration, they were always resty and perverse in every thing that I proposed for the King's service in Council; and when they were out of Council they were always caballing and contriving to make the government uneasy to me. My instructions oblige me to give every Councillour that I suspend, reasons for my so doing, and then to transmitt those reasons and their answers to your Lordships. My reasons against Colonel Bayard I herewith send, but he has not yet given in his answer. The reasons I drew up with my own hand, and my proofs are noted in the Margin and refer to all the particular proofs, and are all bound up together, reasons and proofs (N<sup>o</sup> 9.) I am apt to beleave the reasons are weighty enough to convince your Lordships of Colonel Bayard's guilt, and that I am in the right in removing him and the rest from the Council: I say the rest, because all the articles contained in the reasons against Bayard are chargeable for the most part on the rest, and also upon Brooks, Nicolls, and Pinborne formerly suspended. Only Colonel Townley is exempted from my charge against the rest, for he formerly<sup>1</sup> refused to be of the Council, and never has come near the Council in Colonel Fletcher's time or mine; besides his constant residence is in East Jersey. I wonder how he comes to be complimented so far, as to be named in the list of Councillours in Colonel Fletcher's instructions and mine. Besides the reasons I have given against Colonel Bayard (and which as I have observed to your Lordships will affect all the rest) these gentlemen's dissent from me when I proposed the merchants of this town's giving bonds this summer, when they sent four ships to Madagascar that they would not trade with pirates, when they came there, has made me sick of such Councillors; for what dependence can I have on men who refused to joyne with me in a thing so reasonable in itself and adequate to His Majesty's instructions. I have kept to my instructions which obliges me not to exceed the number of seaven Councillours, when by death or suspension the number before happened to be under seaven; the four persons I have made of the Council to make up the number seaven are Colonel Abraham Depeyster, M<sup>r</sup> Robert Livingston, D<sup>r</sup> Samuel Staats and M<sup>r</sup> Robert Walters; they are men of good estates and reputation, and very well affected to His Majesty's government. The Government has no small obligation to M<sup>r</sup> Livingston, for were it not for him, the four Companys here had deserted long since, there having been due for their subsistance in Colonell Fletcher's time near £2500, which so far discouraged the then victuallers and others, that I find nobody willing to subsist the companies but M<sup>r</sup> Livingston, who purely to serve the government and prevent the disgrace of the soldiers desertion did undertake it, and now there is almost £4000 due for victualling, and I never received any, and S<sup>t</sup> William Ashurst whom I appointed Agent for the companies writes me word he had received no pay or subsistance for the Companies the 16th of last July, which is the date of his letter. Therefore I must desire your Lordships will please to interpose your care and interest with the Paymaster Generall, that all these Companies be duely paid and subsisted with the rest of his Majesty's army in England; otherwise I shall suffer in my reputation, and M<sup>r</sup> Livingston be under a discouragement from any longer answering that service. These four Companies are upon the same establishment with his Majesty's army in England, therefore I wonder how they come to be so neglected

I have writ to M<sup>r</sup> Weaver the Agent for this Province to apply to your Lordships that these four gentlemen whom I have named to be of his Majesty's Council, may have the King's letter to confirm my choice of them, which I desire your Lordships will please to comply with; and

Mr Weaver will pay the fees thereof. Mr Phillips resigned his Councillours place upon the score of his great age, being seaventy-two years old, and Mr Lawrence is superannuated too, being eighty two years of age. I also displaced the same day Mr David Jamison from being Clerk of the Council and Deputy Secretary: he is a Scotchman by birth and was condemned to be hanged in Scotland for blasphemy and burning the bible, but in mitigation of the sentence he was transported to this Province & sold a servant. He is a professed Atheist and has two wives at this time, if his true one be not dead at Lithgo in Scotland within these twelve months. This man was first in Colonel Fletchers confidence and favour above all others, and he used to commend him to every body for the honestest man he ever knew in his whole life, one or other. He has enriched himself by extortion in his office and other works of darkness, but chiefly 'tis said by the grants of lands sold by Colonel Fletcher, he having had a share for brokage. I had sooner dismissed him but that Mr Clement who was to come over, my Secretary disappointed me dirtily and staid behind me in England, so that I came unprovided of a Secretary, and found so generall a corruption in the people here that I knew not who to trust.

I have so many instances of peoples disaffections to the government that I resolve very speedily to appoint Commissioners to goe all the Province over, and tender the Oaths to his Majesty, the Test and Association to all people, by which means I propose to secure the fidelity of such people as are wavering in their Allegiance to his Majesty, and I shall have this further fruit by it, that I shall know and discriminate those who are professed Jacobites; of which 'tis said the number is not small in this Province.

Some people in this town are iraged against me, because Mr Weaver went under the notion of my friend, and that I made him upon two or three occasions Council for the King. Willson the late Sheriff brought an action against him at the last Supream Court for saying that the said Willson was forsworn for making the returne of members to serve for this town in this last Assembly, and the Jury who were pack't and made up mostly of the hot violent people of this town, found for Willson against Mr Weaver, bringing in 500 £. damages. The reason was, that one Clark who is Coroner and in the vacancy of the Sheriff impannelled the Jury, is one of that faction, but the Attorney Generall and other Council have given in such pregnant reasons in arrest of judgment that it is beleived there is an end of the suit. I could have put in another Coroner, but I thought it was fairest not to do soe, and I had a curiosity to see how the malice of that party would operate on that occasion. That faction are mightily prejudiced against Mr Weaver partly that being a lawyer and named by me twice or thrice to be of the King's Council, he inveighed ingeniously and smartly against some of the merchants in this town, before me and the Council (severall of the merchants being present) for their unlawfull trade and factious behaviour towards the Government. Another reason of their prejudice to Mr Weaver is (as I conceive) that at my first coming to this government severall of the merchants indeavored to bribe Mr Weaver, and me by him; but he rejected their offers with indignation and honour.

About three weeks since the relations of Mr Leisler and Mr Milburne desired leave to take up the bodies that had been buried near the gallows and give them Christian burial in the Dutch Church here. I thought their request so reasonable that I consented to it, partly out of a principall of compassion, but chiefly out of a respect to the Act of Parliament for reversing the attainder of those two men; which Act does also legitimate Captain Leisler's assuming the government of this Province and putts a censure upon the illegality of his execution; as your Lordships will see by the Act for Reversing the attainder of these men, which goes herewith and is (N<sup>o</sup> 10) I may add to these a third motive, that prevailed with me, which is, that Coll. Fletcher refused to obey that Act of Parliament by restoring the heirs of those two men to their father's estate; which treatment of his, gave his party the boldness to vilifie it, by calling it a libell, a forgery, an Act surreptitiously obtained in the Parliament of England; and I have been told that the rage and malice of some of that party have transported them to the burning it. I that am a hearty lover of English laws and that value no Englishman that is not so, thought it proper to assert the Act of Parliament which had been treated with infamy. My design is chiefly to give the people here a just idea of English laws, that they bear the stamp of the highest authority of the King and Nation of England, and ought to be respected as sacred. There was great opposition made to the burying of those two men by the contrary party, but I was resolved, for the reasons I have already mentioned, to give that satisfaction to the relations of those unfortunate men. I had no reason to apprehend any disorder from a meeting of Leisler's friends or such as think the proceeding against him was arbitrary and cruell; for I formerly told your Lordships that I have found those people more obedient to Government then the contrary party. There was a great concourse of people at the funerall (1200 'tis said) and would 'tis thought have been as many more, but that it blew a rank storm for two or three days together, that hindered people from coming down or crossing the rivers. I continue to be with respect, my Lords,

Your Lordships most humble and most faithfull servant

BELMONT.

New Yorke

October the 21st 1698

P. S. My Lieutenant Governour Captain Nanfan is newly arrived here from Albany where he has had a conference with severall Sachims of the Five Nations of Indians, to diswade their going to Canada to exchange prisoners with the French. Your Lordships will receive with this his Narrative which will informe you of the substance of the said Conference (N<sup>o</sup> 11.)

Now that I come to collect the proofs that are to make good my reasons for suspending Colonel Bayard from the Councill, I find severall of them have been formerly sent to Your Lordships, by different conveyances, and being loath to incumber you with the same papers over again, I distinguish the proofs formerly sent from new ones now sent, in a list (N<sup>o</sup> 9) and that in so easy a method (by pointing to the ships names by which my letters were conveyed and the dates of those letters) that they will be easily resorted to.

I cannot make good my promise to your Lordships of sending a state of the revenue and accounts of the Province, by this ship; there is not above two or three days work to finish it, but the merchant concerned in this ship happens to be one of those angry men that was concern'd in the ship Fortune, and is not willing to oblige me with her attendance three or four days longer, and I am loath to compell her stay, and shall therefore write to your Lordships by the Deptford man of War, which goes from Boston ten days hence, and will probably be as soon in England as this ship, and then I will send the state of the Revenue and of the Accounts.

New Yorke

Count de Frontenac to the Earl of Bellomont.

[TRANSLATED FROM THE FRENCH.]

[New-York Papers, E. F. G., E 2.]

Quebec, 21st September, 1693.

Sir,

I should not have so long deferred sending some persons of merit and distinction to receive some intelligence of you, and to return the civilities you were pleased to exhibit in my regard through Messrs. Schuyler and Delliuss, had the vessels I expected from France arrived here sooner. The delay of the latter is the sole reason that still induces me to postpone the departure of my envoys until next spring, fearing as I do lest the advanced state of the season would prevent their return before the close of navigation.

I learn from the despatches I have received from court, as you must have learned on your part, that the Kings, our masters, had resolved to name, respectively, some commissioners to regulate the limits whereby their dominions in these countries are to be determined in case of difficulty.<sup>1</sup> Therefore, Sir, it appears to me that, before speaking to me in the style you have done in your last letters of the 13th and 22d August, which I have just received by these gentlemen whom you have sent me, you ought to have waited the decision of those commissioners, and not think of thwarting an affair already commenced, and which may be regarded as domestic, inasmuch as it is between a Father and his Children, whom the former endeavors in every way to bring back to their duty, beginning by mildness, and being resolved to use more severe measures should the first fail of effect.

It is a matter which you must consider entirely distinct from the treaties of peace and friendship mutually concluded by the Kings, our masters, in which you cannot interfere without avowing that, far from employing every means to cultivate that good understanding their Majesties desire may exist between our two nations, you would, apparently, search for pretexts to prejudice the treaties of peace which have been concluded, wherein I doubt if you have his Britannic Majesty's authority. For, as regards myself, in wishing to oblige the Iroquois to perform the promise they have given me before it was known that peace had been made between the two Crowns, and for which they left hostages, I only follow the plan I had laid down; whilst you, by assuming pretensions altogether novel and utterly unfounded, turn aside from what you indicate that you have adopted to preserve the good correspondence and union which have been so strongly enjoined on us. For you really want me to tell you, that I am sufficiently well informed of the sentiments of the Iroquois to know that none of the Five Nations pretended, or desired, to be under the dominion of England, and that you have not a single proof to convict them of it, whilst those in our possession, and which will be submitted to the commissioners to be named to examine this question, will be so clear, so ancient and so incontestable that I doubt if they can be answered; therefore, Sir, am I determined to pursue, unflinchingly, my course, and I request you not to attempt to thwart it by what would turn out in your case to be useless efforts; and all the protection and aid you have declared to me you have already afforded, and will continue to give the Iroquois in opposition to the terms of the treaty, will not cause me great alarm, nor oblige me to alter my plans, inasmuch as they would, on the contrary, rather engage me to prosecute them still more.

Whatever untoward results they may have, you will be responsible for, in the face both of Heaven and of the King, your master; as you will be the sole cause of all the bloodshed that will follow.

You want me to tell you that you have been misinformed, when you were told that the French and Indians, settled among us, had committed, this year, some outrages on the Iroquois. It is very true that the Outaouacs, and particularly the Algonkins, made a considerable attack on the Onondagas; because this nation, as well as the others, had declared they would not make any peace with them. They have brought to Montreal five prisoners, whom they captured in that expedition. I have taken these out of their hands, in order to save their lives, intending to restore them on the arrival of their deputies to conclude, according to their positive promise, a peace with me, and to arrange matters better between them and all the other Far nations under the King's dominion.

I have reason to believe that if the Iroquois have not brought me back all the prisoners in their possession, it is because you formally opposed it; when they shall return to their duty, and have performed their promise, I will restore them those who are here; that will not prevent me thanking you for the kindness you manifested to the four other Frenchmen whom you have sent back.

I have sufficiently explained myself regarding some Indians of Acadia, and was always apprehensive that, unless those of their tribe, who are detained in prison at Boston with such bad faith, were immediately restored to them, they might organize some expedition against your colony. I regret, nevertheless, the attack which, as you inform me, they made on Hatfield, where they killed two men. This obliges me to send, now, a second order to these Indians to make them cease hostilities. But I have again to repeat the request, that you have their people sent back to them; to which you have not given me any answer.

You perceive that I express myself to you with the same frankness and freedom that you address me in your last letters, continuing, however, to protest to you, that no one can entertain a more sincere desire than I do to keep up good correspondence and friendship between both our nations, and that I shall always be, as much as possible,

Sir,

Your most humble and

most obedient servant,

FRONTENAC.

Captain Schuyler's Report of his Journey to Canada.

[New-York Papers, E. F. G.—E. 8.]

Narrative of Capt. John Schuyler's journey to Canada being sent express, by his Excell. the Earl of Bellomont. Anno D. 1698.

The 27th of Aug<sup>t</sup> we went from Albany and came to Stony Arabia<sup>1</sup> 8 miles up y<sup>e</sup> river, where we lodg'd that night and gott our birch canoe ready.

The 28th we came to Sarachtoge forty miles from Albany.

The 29th we gott 4 miles upon y<sup>e</sup> carrying place where one Hillebrand y<sup>t</sup> married a French woman overtook us & would go with us to Canada, but he haveing no passe sent him back with two Indians to y<sup>e</sup> Lieut. Govern<sup>r</sup>

The 30th we came eight miles into y<sup>e</sup> Wood Creek.

The 31st we came to y<sup>e</sup> little Falls

The 6th & 7th of Sept<sup>r</sup> was so bad weather none could stirr abroad

The 8th about noone the wether cleered up & having a good wind we embarked, & the 9th of Sept<sup>r</sup> we arrived at Quebeck; where I forthwith waited upon y<sup>e</sup> Count of Frontenac y<sup>e</sup> Govern<sup>r</sup> & delivered him his Excell. y<sup>e</sup> Earl of Bellomonts letters, who having read them seemed very much displeas'd, saying the letter rec'd from his Lordp. by Col. Schuyler & Dom. Dellius was very acceptable, but now my Lord threatnes me, but I am not afraid, my Lord Bellomont claims the 5 Nations of Indians, which is none of his due.

The 5 Nations call me, Father, and my Lord Bellomont Brother, & shall not y<sup>e</sup> Father chastise his children as he shall see convenient, but if they will come to me I will do y<sup>e</sup> part of a Father to them: and thus we parted at that time, without any further discourse, to my lodging.

The 10th of Sept<sup>r</sup> I went to see y<sup>e</sup> Count of Frontenac who in discourse asked me about y<sup>e</sup> strength of my Lord Bellomont's governments. I told him that I believed he knew that very well, that by comon report my Lord could raise one hundred thousand men, rather more than lesse; y<sup>e</sup> Count said he had alwayes understood the same. In the meane time while we were thus discoursing, I saw severall officers & soldiers that were disbanded & upon y<sup>e</sup> newes of y<sup>e</sup> peace come for their pasports in order for their going for France (there being seven ships come from France this sumer that were bound home againe). The Count of Frontenac asked me why my Lord Bellomont was so hasty to hinder y<sup>e</sup> 5 Nations to come and treat with him, since there were persons appointed by both crownes to settle y<sup>e</sup> lymitts of both their Colonys. I answered him that I admired what made y<sup>e</sup> Count so hasty to force y<sup>e</sup> King of England's subjects to come to them since he himself owns there are persons ordained to settle y<sup>e</sup> bounds.

The Count of Frontenac replied, how can y<sup>e</sup> 5 Nations be y<sup>e</sup> King of England's subjects, a Father is neerer than a Brother, & when we were at Schenatady anno 1666 to fight y<sup>e</sup> Indians, Corlaer did not assist them; if they had been his subjects they would have protected them, but on y<sup>e</sup> contrary he supplied us with meat and drinck, cured our wounded & sent them home to us. I answered him that argument would not hold water, for that there was no need of assisting y<sup>e</sup> Indians then, for they were strong enough of them selves, & that Corlaer being moved with compassion to see soe many Christians liked to be knocked on y<sup>e</sup> head by y<sup>e</sup> heathen, diverted y<sup>e</sup> Indians rather to prevent y<sup>e</sup> effusion of so much Christian Blood, & by that means y<sup>e</sup> French escaped; neither do I think there is any roome left to controvert y<sup>e</sup> King of England's right to y<sup>e</sup> 5 Nations. Such you know they have declared themselves long ago & you may very well remember that in Col: Dungan's time our Kings arms was put up in all their Castles to manifest y<sup>e</sup> same. The Count answered nothing upon it, but said, if they do not come I will pursue my old methods with them; meaning to come with an army upon them to compel them. I asked the Count if he would be pleased to dispatch me for my time was short. Whereupon he told me he would do it as soon as possible he could, & so I retired to my lodging. About 2 a Clock in y<sup>e</sup> afternoone y<sup>e</sup> Count of Frontenac sent for John Rosie my interpreter; I did conjecture what y<sup>e</sup> matter might be, having caused some of my people to drop that y<sup>e</sup> Lieut. Govern<sup>r</sup> was come to Albany with 300 men, & that 600 were ready to follow upon occasion, & this being told to an English prisoner who was great at y<sup>e</sup> Count Frontenac's house, did suppose it might have come to y<sup>e</sup> Count's ears, I told John Rosie to go; who coming to y<sup>e</sup> Count he began to speake of my Lord Bellomont's coaches and horses &c but at last asked him if y<sup>e</sup> Lieu<sup>t</sup> Governor was come to Albany with forces. John Rosie seemed to be surpris'd at y<sup>e</sup> question and asked y<sup>e</sup> Count how he came to have that intelligence, since he did not interpret any such thing: y<sup>e</sup> Count replied, I have heard it of an English prisoner that heard it in your chamber. Where upon John Rosie confirmed the wholl story.

The 12th of Sept<sup>r</sup> being Sabbath day, I dined with y<sup>e</sup> Count, where a great many officers were present, being y<sup>e</sup> day appointed for y<sup>e</sup> proclamacion of y<sup>e</sup> peace. The Count at table begun y<sup>e</sup> King William's health, which was drank by all y<sup>e</sup> officers; whereupon I begun y<sup>e</sup> French King's health, & y<sup>e</sup> Count begun y<sup>e</sup> Earl of Bellomont's health, & then y<sup>e</sup> Peace was proclaimed with all y<sup>e</sup> acclamacions of joy imaginable, y<sup>e</sup> Castle and y<sup>e</sup> shipp in y<sup>e</sup> Road discharging all their cannon. Y<sup>e</sup> night ended with illuminacions & other demonstracions of joy. I took leave of y<sup>e</sup> Count and begged that I might be dispatched y<sup>e</sup> next day, who said I should and so parted.

The 13th of Sept<sup>r</sup> I went for y<sup>e</sup> letter which was delivered me by y<sup>e</sup> Count & an officer and 3 men appointed to conduct me upon my way as farr as Chamby; but it being foul wether did not proceed till next day.

The 14th of September we departed from Quebeck & came to Troy River on y<sup>e</sup> 16th where we heard y<sup>e</sup> news of y<sup>e</sup> Sachims of y<sup>e</sup> 5 Nations being come to Mount Royal, which surpris'd us much, and one Capt. D'Artel that lives at Troy River told us of y<sup>e</sup> Govern<sup>r</sup> of Canada's design, y<sup>t</sup> if y<sup>e</sup> Sachims of y<sup>e</sup> 5 nations would not comply with his proposals when they came to treat with him, he would send them prisoners to France. I resolv'd thereupon to go to Mount Royal to hear what propositions they would make, thinking that might have some influence upon them, altho' it was 36 leagues out of my way, being designed to go by y<sup>e</sup> way of Sorel.

The 15th of Sept<sup>r</sup> we arrived at Mont Royal & found to our great joy that y<sup>e</sup> report of y<sup>e</sup> Sachims being come there, was utterly false, neither was y<sup>e</sup> messenger<sup>s</sup> from Onnondage arrived. Staid there 3 days y<sup>e</sup> weather being bad.

The 22th I resolved to go to Prary by land & sent y<sup>e</sup> canoe about with 3 hands and 3 Frenchmen to meet me at Chambly.

The 23th I met y<sup>e</sup> Canoe at Chambly; upon my way between Prary & Chambly, a French Mohoq Sachim followed me, & told me in y<sup>e</sup> behalfe of all y<sup>e</sup> Sachims then conveyed, that I should tell the 5 Nations that if the Govern<sup>r</sup> of Canada should make an attacque upon y<sup>e</sup> 5 Nations (which they scarcely beleived) that none of their Indians would join with him in that expedition, and if ever he should attempt it, they would advertise y<sup>e</sup> 5 Nations of it.

The 24th of Sept<sup>r</sup> I departed from Chambly, y<sup>e</sup> said French Sachim followed me 4 miles on this side Chambly to repeat what he had told me, after y<sup>e</sup> French officer had left me; for he could not well have y<sup>e</sup> freedom before y<sup>e</sup> said officer, being sent on purpose, as I suppose, to hinder me from any conference with y<sup>e</sup> Indians, for y<sup>e</sup> Indians were forbid to come to me to my lodgings att Mont Royall. Never the less I found ways by walking abroad to speak to them, who stood in every corner at my beck, & y<sup>e</sup> Moquase as well as North Indians did faithfully promise they would returne to their former habitacõs in this Governm<sup>t</sup> if my Lord Bellomont would take care that they might be furnished with good teachers or ministers to instruct them in y<sup>e</sup> Christian faith, as they of Canada do, that haveing been y<sup>e</sup> only cause which did induce them to leave this Government.

I was informed that y<sup>e</sup> French of Canada had sent one hundred men with live cattle to Cadarehqui; I met y<sup>e</sup> officer y<sup>t</sup> comanded y<sup>e</sup> said party, comeing back at Troy River.

The merchants of Canada have obtained an order of y<sup>e</sup> Count Frontenac to call home all y<sup>e</sup> Bushloopers or Ottaway traders, & that 80 of y<sup>e</sup> said people had complied & were come & comeing home; but y<sup>t</sup> 60 did positively deny to obey, but would trade their goods and did with armes in their hands resist y<sup>e</sup> Count of Frontenacs messengers. This order is obtained in favour of y<sup>e</sup> merchants that y<sup>e</sup> Ottaway Indians should come down to Mount Royall themselves and trade, and not that y<sup>e</sup> Bushloopers should go to Ottaway to fetch y<sup>e</sup> Bevers.

As to y<sup>e</sup> French of Canada, after a strict inquiry I find y<sup>e</sup> garrison weakly mann'd, many officers and soldiers being dismissed; there are not above 12 men in Chambly fort, the utmost frontier. I beleive they may be between 3 & 4000 French inhabitants & soldiers in all Canada & about 1000 Indians whom they can command.

Brother Corlaer,

Sometime since y<sup>e</sup> Govern<sup>r</sup> of Canada sent two Indians to acquaint us that he expected we four Nations should each send a Sachem with what French prisoners we have to Cannada, there to receive our prisoners in exchange, and to conclude with him a seperate peace. We answered, we depended wholly on y<sup>e</sup> peace already concluded between y<sup>e</sup> Kings of England & France, and to y<sup>e</sup> Covenant Chaine lately renewed at Albany by his Exc<sup>ell</sup>. y<sup>e</sup> Earl of Bellomont. We ordered De Cannosora to York forthwith to acquaint his Excellency with this message. De Connosora returned with Major Wessels and brought answer from his Exc<sup>ell</sup>. that we should hold no correspondence with y<sup>e</sup> Govern<sup>r</sup> of Cannida. We then dispatcht back y<sup>e</sup> French Indians with answer that we would not come by way of Cadaraque, but Albany, and we are come accordingly, & have appointed our messengers &c from Oneyde, Odatsichta; from Onnondage Sonnachtowane; from Cayouge, Nadawhochtet; and from y<sup>e</sup> Sennekes Sonas Jouwa; y<sup>e</sup> Mohaques are yet unresolved, but we have brought with us six French prisoners.

We desire that his Exc<sup>ell</sup> will appoint a fitt person to go with us to Cannida to be a witness of our discourse as yet we have not resolved what proposals to make at Cannada but designe to do that here, now we are together.

We have also ordered the messenger that went back for Cannada to acquaint y<sup>e</sup> Govern<sup>r</sup> there that he must stay at Mont Reall till our coming, that we would not go to Quebeck.

Brethren.

I very well approve of bringing what French prisoners you have with you, to this place & your so firmly keeping y<sup>e</sup> Covenant Chaine as hitherto, to have no correspondence with y<sup>e</sup> Govern<sup>r</sup> of Cannada, from whence Capt. Schuyler is arrived, whome I immediately dispatcht for York to receive his Exc<sup>ell</sup>. instructions, w<sup>ch</sup> when he returnes (as I do believe he will in 3 dayes) I will impart to you what shalbe material; y<sup>e</sup> interim be no wayes terrified with y<sup>e</sup> boasting threat of y<sup>e</sup> French Govern<sup>r</sup> but depend upon y<sup>e</sup> strength of our Great King who is able and will equally protect you with y<sup>e</sup> rest of his subjects.

Att a Meeting of y<sup>e</sup> Sachems y<sup>e</sup> 15. of October att Albany.

PRESENT—John Nanfan Esq. His Mátys Lieut Govern<sup>r</sup>
 Coll. Peter Schuyler of his Mátys hónble Privy Council.
 Henrick Hanson Esq<sup>r</sup> Mayor
 Capt. James Weems.
 Capt. John Janse Bleeker, Recorder.
 Major Derrick Wessells.
 Capt. John Schuyler.

The Lieut Govern<sup>r</sup> acquainted them that Capt. Schuyler arrived here yesterday in y<sup>e</sup> afternoone; he thought considering their long journey to their owne Castles and y<sup>e</sup> ill weather they had to travell in, not further to detain them, but had ordered Capt. Schuyler to appeare, that him selfe might inform them of his expedition in Cannada, that no room might be left to give them y<sup>e</sup> least jealousie of any underhand dealing on their acco<sup>t</sup> between this governm<sup>t</sup> & y<sup>e</sup> Govern<sup>r</sup> of Cannada.

Capt. Schuyler gave them a particular acco<sup>t</sup> of his voyage & of what he both saw & heard there, confirming it with a hand of Wampum.

Present, as before, except Capt. Jo. Schuyler.

Sadaganachie speak in y<sup>e</sup> behalfe of all.

Brother Corlaer.

We have come to acquaint you of y<sup>e</sup> resolution wee have taken since our last meeting. Wee are well satisfied with your advice & y<sup>e</sup> acco<sup>t</sup> Capt. Schuyler gave us of y<sup>e</sup> intent and proceedings of y<sup>e</sup> Govern<sup>t</sup> of Cannada. We receive your bunch of Wampum and do now deliver you our 5 prisoners provided they may be contained in this garrison, and not sent to York, but be redelivered to us when we shall think fit to demand them. We now designe to returne to our Castles with all possible expedition, firmly holding fast y<sup>e</sup> Covenant Chaine renewed lately between us, and throw our selves wholly upon you, being one heart, one head & one body; desiring you'l neither sleep nor neglect us, but if any messengers or news relating to us comes from Cannada you will immediately acquaint us with it. Gave 2 Beavers.

As we acquainted his Exc<sup>ell</sup>. when here, so we now acquaint you that since y<sup>e</sup> conclusion of y<sup>e</sup> peace between y<sup>e</sup> two Great Kings, we have lost several of our best men; we desire to know if in our absence any of our young men are gone out to revenge y<sup>e</sup> losse of their friends, whether we shall recall them.

We receive your bunch of wampum condoleing y<sup>e</sup> losse of our 2 Sachems & shall proceed to another choice.

The Lieu<sup>t</sup> Govern<sup>r</sup> answered this action & resolution of theirs would much redound to their reputac<sup>o</sup>n, that he would not faile to acquaint his Exc<sup>ell</sup>. with y<sup>e</sup> particulars, withall ordering them at their returne to their Castles, should any of their young men be abroad, immediately to recall them, and to suffer none to goe out in a hostile manner; assuring them y<sup>t</sup> what ever hostilities were committed by y<sup>e</sup> Govern<sup>t</sup> of Canada on them, since y<sup>e</sup> conclusion of y<sup>e</sup> generall peace, he would be forthwith obliged to give satisfaction for.

Earl of Bellmont to the Lords of Trade.

[New-York Entries, B. 138.]

To the Right Honourable the Lords Commissioners of the Council of Trade.

My Lords.

My last letter of the 21st instant contained a miscellaneous account of severall matters relating to this Province. In this letter I shall confine myself to a relation of the state of our frontiers and fortifications.

Colonel Fletcher when he was here valued himself very much to me for defending the Frontiers 'Twas happy for him and this Province that the frontiers were never attacked and one would think the Governour of Canada had not, till lately, a right intelligence of the weak condition of the garrisons. If by providence the last winter had not been the severest that ever was known in the memory of man, the French had certainly destroyed both Albany and Schinnectady: I am well informed they were prepared at Mont Reall for it, having had in readynesse 1500 pair of raquets or Snow shoes, 140 small boats and 250 Canoes, but the snow being deeper than the height of a man, they durst not venture to put their designe in execution. Albany and Schinnectady are equally defenceless, being only fortified with a single row of stockades, no ditch or wall, so that an enemy that would be hardy enough may come and with their musketts single out what men they pleased in either place; for I observed the stockades had in many places wide spaces between them, and they are even with the surface of the ground. If the French had attacked Albany last winter with half the number of men they had provided at Mont Reall they could not (rationally speaking) have failed of taking it. I do not believe they would have thought it worth while to have kept it; the plunder they would have had; but that neither had not been their point, but rather the Five Nations of Indians, who 'tis more than probable would have revolted entirely to them upon such a losse and disgrace suffer'd on our side: but God be thanked for the escape this Province has had. Your Lordships will have seen two addresses printed with the conferences I sent by the Fowey Frigat, from the inhabitants of Albany and Schinnectady to me, when I was at those places, earnestly desireing they might have good defencible forts built for their future security in time of warr. The Engineer Colonell Romar has view'd those places very particularly and has taken great pains to make as just an estimate as may be of the charge of two stone forts with Barraks for the soldiers; which charge he reckons will amount to nine thousand pounds for both. He is to go over in the Deptford man of Warr from Boston, and will wait on your Lordships with the plans of the two Forts, as he has projected them, had he not been recalled by order from the Board of Ordnance. Where this nine thousand pound will be had, I cannot imagine, for the Assemby, when ever it meets, will never be brought to continue the present revenue, and raise so great a summ of money for building those Forts beside. This town and county are rich, and so are the Inhabitants of Long Island alias Nassaw Island, because of their lying convenient for trade, but all the inland parts of this Province are poor. In my next letter which is to treat of the Revenue and Accounts of this Province, I shall propose a fund for building the Forts at Albany and Schennectady, which are so necessary for the defence of this and the neighbouring Provinces, that I hope your Lordships will obtain the King's order that they may be begun this next spring, and I desire Colonel Romer, who is reckon'd a very good engineer, may be sent over hither again, for I have a great opinion of his honesty and I will use my best endeavour that neither he nor any body else shall make a hand of building those Forts. 'Tis wonderfull to me why Colonel Romer is recalled when he has been here but six months and has scarce had time enough to view the Frontiers and has yet made no report home, in what condition he has found them. If such forts were built and well garrisoned, the French could never make any impression on this Province and it would be the certainest way of securing the Five Nations of Indians to the obedience of his Majesty; for they are as sensible of our weakness as we are ourselves, and good Forts to be retreats for us and them, would very much animate and ingage them in our interest. There have been formerly two or three little Forts more advanced towards Canada then Albany and Schenectady, but in my opinion they are superfluous; if those two places were fortified it would be enough; they are both of them very well seated for frontier places, Albany for covering all the Province from attacks on Canada side, and Schenectady for doing that in part, and also for covering the Mohacks and the rest of the Indians, it being very comodiously seated on the Mohack's river, and much more pleasantly then Albany. I am with respect, My Lords

and faithfull servant
BELLOMONT.

New Yorke the 24th Oct<sup>r</sup> 1698.

In saying above that other Forts besides Albany and Schenectady are superfluous, I mean now in time of peace; for when there is a warr, the Half Moon and Canastagione are esteemed by all hands very necessary to be fortified by sod-works and Stockades, which will quickly and easily be done when there is occasion for it.

Order in Council on the Report of the Lords of Trade of the 19th of October.

[New-York Entries, B. 43.]

At the Council Chamber Whitehall the 25th of October 1698.

PRESENT — Their Excellencies the Lords Justices in Council.

Upon reading this day at the Board a Representation from the Council of Trade, relating to the state of His Majesty's Province of New Yorke<sup>1</sup> and proposing:—

That a letter should be writt to the Earl of Bellomont the Governor of the said Province, commending his zeale and diligence in endeavouring to redresse the great disorders there, and particularly in having suspended William Nichols, Chidley Brook and William Pinhorne from their respective places, as well in the Council as from other places of publick trust within that province; and proposing likewise that the said persons may be removed from their said places, as also that Nicholas Bayard and Frederick Philips be likewise removed from their places in the Council, and from all other places of publick trust within that government for the misdemeanors they stand charged with; and in their rooms Colonel Abraham Depeyster, James Graham Esq<sup>r</sup> D<sup>r</sup> Samuel Staats, Robert Levingston Esq. and D<sup>r</sup> John Corbile may be constituted and appointed of his Majesty's Council for the said Province:

That in order to the discouragement and suppressing of Pirates, all such as are sheltered in that Province or can be discovered there, or in any other his Majesty's territories under the Earl of Bellomont's government, as also all illegall traders; be prosecuted with the utmost severity according to law:

That all exorbitant grants of Land may be broke and annulled by such methods as are allowed by law, and that for the future no grants of land be made there under a less Quit-Rent to his Majesty than two shillings and six pence for every hundred acres, nor without an obligation upon the grantees to plant and settle the same within the space of three years at the furthest, under the penalty of forfeiture:—

Their Excellency's the Lords Justices in Council taking these proposalls into consideration are pleased to approve of the same, and to order, That the Council of Trade do forthwith consider of and prepare the necessary drafts of letters instructions and orders to be sent to the Earl of Bellomont accordingly.

And as to that part of the said Representation which relates to the state of the Forces their Excellencies are pleased to order, That it be referred back to the Council of Trade for their consideration thereof, and to report their opinion what they conceive will be necessary to be done therein for His Majesty's service.

<sup>1</sup> See ante, p. 385.—Ed.

The Lords of Trade to the Earl of Bellmont.

[New-York Entries, B. 86.]

My Lord.

His l<sup>ts</sup> read. We have received your Lordships several letters of the 8th 18th and twenty-fifth of May, and of the 22<sup>d</sup> June, and 1st July last, together with all the papers mentioned to be there inclosed, and severall others that have been delivered to us by M<sup>r</sup> Weaver, and have also seen what your Lordship has writ to our Secretary.

We were very glad to receive the news of your Lordships safe arrival at New Yorke after so tedious a voyage; but have been much troubled to understand the many difficulties you have there met with, in promoting such things as tend to His Majesty's service and the true interest of that Province. Your Lordship's zeal therein is highly commendable; and we His diligence commended. therefore shall not fail in contributing our endeavours to promote (as it may lye in our power) whatever may be usefull to those ends.

All the advices your Lordship has given us about the favour and protection allowed to Pirates and the connivance at illegall trade, are very usefull, nor will the things that you have offered on other subjects be lost. We intreat your Lordship therefore to continue your punctual advice upon all things. For we do observe them; and tho' we can not at once answer on each distinct head, we shall go on in doing what the trust his Majesty has reposed in us requires, and from time to time give you notice thereof.

Pardon for 2 Pirates. Your desire of a pardon for Samuel Burges and Edward Taylor has been complied with by directions which have been sent you by order of the Lords Justices, to do it yourself (if you think fit) by virtue of the power conferr'd upon you by your Commission; and for that reason we have not thought fit to move their Excellencies in what your Lordship desires by your letter of the 1st of July about a pardon for John Elston.

Directions about persons suspected of Piracy. In answer to your desire of directions what to do with those persons suspected of piracy that may be found inhabiting within the Province of New Yorke under the favour of Colonel Fletcher's protections, we can only say that we observe by the tenor thereof that the protection promised is only the protection of the law, and therefore (for what ever reason those<sup>1</sup> may have been formerly connived at) we conceive no manner of true reason why they should not be prosecuted for what they can be proved guilty of, having done contrary to law. And as for all other persons that may be justly suspected to have been guilty of piracy, but whereof you have not proof full enough to convict them, we can only offer the same rule, that whatever the law will allow to be done for the making them uneasy and troubleing of them, may be put in practice that so their wicked courses may by all means possible be discouraged and suppressed.

Trade to Madagascar. As for the directions which your Lordship desires concerning the trade to Madagascar, we herewith send you a late Act of Parliament for the settling of a New East India Company, by which we conceive all doubts of that kind will for the future be removed.

Proposal for a settlement at Madagascar.

We have not seen the proposal which your Lordship mentions to have been made by M<sup>r</sup> Baldrige for a settlement upon that Island (M<sup>r</sup> Weaver not having yet brought it us) and therefore we can say nothing to it. But we must acquaint your Lordship that by many informations relating to the resort of pirates to that place, and their trade with Plantation ships, particularly those of New York, who supply'd them with provisions and took off their plundered East India commodities, we have understood that the said Baldrige has been the Chief Manager and transactor in carrying on that mischeivous trade; so that if your Lordship can find any direct proof that may reach him, we cannot but think he ought to be prosecuted and punished so far as the law will permitt. We have also been informed that in the Summer 1697 a remnant of pirates or their complices who were upon the Island of S<sup>ta</sup> Maria near Madagascar were cut off by the natives; and desire your Lordship to enquire and informe us of the truth thereof, either from Baldrige, Moston, or any others in that Province, who are but too well acquainted with the circumstances of that place.

Baldrige to be prosecuted.

It being highly important that all that are concerned either in piratical voyages, or in any manner of illegal trade, be by all meanes possible troubled and prosecuted for the same; and it hapning oft that when the main proof cannot be got some proof of other matters may be made use of for the discouragement of such like persons and practises; we have thought fit upon that account to send you the inclosed deposition of John Blacon relating to a Briganteen of New England called the Swift and the commander thereof Captain Knot's having traded with the Freuch at Mascareen, that you may cause him to be prosecuted for that fault as the law directs; because perhaps his guilt in trading with pirates can not so easily be made out.

Captn Knot of New England traded with ye French at Mascareen in time of war.

We send you also here inclosed the deposition of Humphrey Perkins of New Yorke, which we caused to be taken for the same reason. It relates to a voyage from New York to Curasso some years ago in a ketch whereof one Smart was master and Colonel Depyster owner; that you may make what use you can of it, either in troubleing those concerned for what is past, or preventing the like (as much as possible) for the future.

Perkins's deposn about Trade to Curasso.

But upon occasion of this Perkins it is fit that we acquaint your Lordship a little particularly with his story. He was master of a vessell called the Frederick sloop, belonging to M<sup>r</sup> Frederick Philips, and (since your Lordship's being there) was sent out under the conduct of Adolphus Philips to cruise for a vessell expected from Madagascar, which vessell they accordingly met, and having taken great quantitys of East India Goods out of her and put them on board this sloop, Adolphus returned in the Madagascar ship with nothing but Negroes to New York. In the mean while this sloop went and lay privately in Delaware Bay till Adolphus came againe from New Yorke to them, and then sent her away (under the conduct of one Jay a Frenchman) North about Scotland to Hamburg. But at Hamburg S<sup>r</sup> Paul Ricaut his Majesties Resident getting notice of such a vessell with such a cargo, seized what he found and sent the man<sup>d</sup> hither, who have all of them made depositions about the circumstances of the whole voyage.

Account of Perkins.

And we have this further to add concerning the said Perkins that we observe by M<sup>r</sup> Grahams memorial to your Lordship concerning Coates the pirate, that his name is set down as one of that crew, tho' when we charged him therewithall, he denied it. But his denyal do's not make the thing less credible to us, nor do's it look well that M<sup>r</sup>

He is suspected of piracy.

Frederick Philips should employ a man of such a character. Therefore we leave it to your Lordship to make use of this information also, upon any occasion as you find reasonable.

Additional Instructions sent him. What your Lordship desired about your Lieutenant Governor's commission has (upon our representation) been done, and a new commission accordingly sent, together also with an additional Instruction whereby you are expressly impowered to suspend him upon just occasion. And we have in like manner prepared and laid before the Lords Justices an additional instruction relating to your salary and perquisites during the time of your absence from New Yorke, which preserves both intirely to your Lordship whilst you are within any of his Majesties Colonies where your different commissions may require your presence; and which has also been agreed to by their Excellencys, and will be sent you by Mr Weaver either now or very shortly.

Pirates favoured in Rhode Isld. We are very sensible of what your Lordship writes about the partiality and favour to pirates in Rhode Island. Therefore in order to the getting some solid ground whereupon to proceed to the redressing thereof, we have writ the enclosed letter to that government which we intreat your Lordship to send forwards. And at the same time we send you here withall a copy of it for your information and that you may use what means you think convenient to induce them to a compliance with what we require.

Letter to Connecticut inclosed. We send also herewith a letter to the government of Connecticutt tho' of less consequence<sup>1</sup> of it, under your Lordship's cover.

But what we have of most importance to acquaint your Lordship withall, we can do at present but very briefly. It is, that upon an exact perusal of all your letters and papers we have drawn up and laid before the Lords Justices a large representation of the State of the Province of New Yorke,<sup>2</sup> with relation to Pirates, Illegal Trade, Grants of Land, Soldiers, Disorders in the Assembly, and some other things; with our opinion of what may be most necessary at present in order to the redress thereof. But we defer giving your Lordship the exact particulars of these things, untill we have received their Excellencys commands thereupon.

We are &c

To M<sup>r</sup> Popple.

Sir

Having writ so particularly to the Lords of the Councill of Trade, and you to read those letters of mine, the trouble you'll have in this will be the shorter. I send with this my proclamation for a Fast and Humiliation, thinking it a proper means to remove the heats and differences among the parties here. Last Wednesday was the day, and as a proof of the wickedness of the people who endeavour to give me disturbance in my government, few of them came to Church, and not one of the ringleaders, neither Bayard, Nicolls, Wilson, nor severall others that are not worth my naming to you.

This day another instance happen'd of the brutishnesse of some of the people here. The Master of the ship that carries this packett, was with me last Teusday and promised to call on me on Thursday for the King's packetts, but it seems intended to disappoint me and leave my letters behind and begon his voyage. I refer you for an account of this man's behaviour to the inclosed certificate and warrant, only this I must tell you, I sent yesterday the Commissioner of the Customes M<sup>r</sup> Hungerford to pray him to come to me and receive the King's packetts, and he swore he would not for all the Governours in Christendome, and he would not be Post Boy to carry letters for any body; which refusall of his made me send a warrant to bring him by force. The angry merchants of this town had without doubt encouraged this man to be thus insolent, or he durst not have refused to carry the letters, after promising me faithfully he would call for and carry them. This is another specimen of the rage and malice of these people, who I am satisfied nothing but fear keeps from rebelling against the Government; unlawfull trade and Arabian gold brought in by Pirat ships from the Red Sea, are the things they thirst after. I should be glad the Lords of the Councill of Trade were acquainted with the two foregoing particulars, which are a demonstration of the wickednesse of our English Merchants here. I also think it proper to acquaint their Lordships by you, having not had room left to add it in my letter of the 21st instant, that M<sup>r</sup> Brooks the late Collector carried over a Bill prepared [by] the last Assembly to reconcile parties here. Tho' it has a specious name, there is for all that a snake in the grass, which is this:—M<sup>r</sup> Nicholls, whom I suspended from the Coucull and who is of all others the most active inveterate enemy I have here, drew that Bill, and calculated it for his own advantage, for he has made the indemnity in the Bill to extend no further than to Colonel Fletcher's arrivall here at New York, and all the extravagant processes at Law, Decrees and Judgments were obtained during his government, and among the rest Nicholls obtained a judgment for five hundred pound against a very honest Dutchman here, upon pretence of false imprisonment in Leisler's government: the truth of the case is, Nicolls opposed the Revolution, and this Dutchman by order of the then Governour Leisler seized him, and for his contumacy he was put in prison, and 'tis well known Nicholls was not worth half £500. when that judgment was given. But this is not all; the factious merchants and people in this town to the number of twenty eight raised* a hundred pound by subscription and sent it home by Brooks, to bribe some officer about the Court and obtain the King's peremptory order to me to passe that reconciling Bill the next Assembly. I undertake to prove this as true matter of fact, and I will thus far discover how I come to know it. One of the late Councill whom I suspended being check'd by another member of the Council for the part he supposed he had in framing a complaint against me into England, he denied it with all the asseverations that could be, and told him he was never concern'd any otherwise against me than in being one of the 28 persons as aforesaid, and so told the gentleman that is still of the Councill this story as I have related it.

I desire you will acquaint their Lordships of this designe of Brooks, and that such a bill will not answer the end here, and that it would be a meer fallacy that would confirm and finish * Mem'd'm. This sum, in other letters, is said to be 1000.£.

the ruine of severall families and releive none; and for that reason I hope their Lordships will oppose such an order being sent to me. I am with much esteem, Sir,

Your most humble Servant

BELLOMONT.

Octob<sup>r</sup> the 27th 1698.

Earl of Bellomont to the Lords of Trade.

[New York Entries, B. 174.]

To the Right Honourable the Lords Commissioners of the Council of Trade.

My Lords.

I promised your Lordships in my letter of the 24th of last month p<sup>r</sup> Captain Jeffers, a state of the revenue and accounts of this Province during Colonel Fletcher's government, but because to treat of those two heads and make such observations thereupon as are proper, would swell a letter to too great a bigness, I shall devide them into severall heads.

I begin with the yearly accounts of the Revenue beginning at Michaelmas 1692. which was the time he entred on the government, and which is (N<sup>o</sup> 1.) and your Lordships may observe that the greatest produce of any of those years was £3934 <sup>s</sup> 6<sup>d</sup>  $\frac{1}{2}$ ; and to prove to your Lordships that Colonel Fletcher and M<sup>r</sup> Brook's were corrupt and did not doe their duty, I dare undertake to make the revenue arise to double the last mentioned summe, under the management of the present Commissioners or any honest gentleman, the Lords of the Treasury will put into that employment. I also send the account of the Revenue each Michaelmas Quarter in every year of Colonel Fletcher's government, because I will calculate every way for your Lordships' information and that goes (N<sup>o</sup> 2) And likewise to compare with them I send the account of the Revenue the last Michaelmas Quarter under the collection of the present Commissioners (N<sup>o</sup> 3) I do suppose M<sup>r</sup> Brooks will object that there was a Warr all the time that he was concern'd here and therefore not so briske a trade then as since, and consequently this last Michaelmas Quarter must produce a greater import and export in the Port of New Yorke then that quarter could reasonably produce in any one year of his collection. But that objection I will answer and confute by two undeniable arguments; one is, that I have been at the pains of examining the book of entries of ships for three years backwards in Brook's time which I thought enough for an experiment for 'twas very troublesome, and I have made a list shewing the dates when the ships come in, or went out, of their burthen, number of men, vessell's names, master's names, from whence or whether bound, and their cargoes or loading; which being a booke of some length and bulke, I only send the number of entries of ships inwards and outwards the three last Michaelmas quarters in Brook's time, and also the entries inwards and outwards this last Michaelmas Quarter under the present Commissioners (N<sup>o</sup> 4) by which your Lordships will perceive the entries inwards this last Quarter have been considerably lesse than in any of the three foregoing Michaelmas Quarters, and the Entries outward lesse in the same proportion, excepting the Michaelmas quarter of the year 1695. which happens to be the same in number; and yet this last quarter has produced two-fifths more than the medium produce of that quarter in all the six years of Colonel Fletcher's government; as your Lord<sup>sh</sup> will see at the foot of the foregoing account (N<sup>o</sup> 2.)

Another argument is this; the price of comodities for eight or nine months past compared with the price they bore all the warr time. When I went to Albany in July last, I was forced to pay 50 £ per cent dearer for all the commodities I bought for presents to the Five Nations of Indians, then had been paid all the time of the late warr, as severall merchants assured me and the scarcity is now so great of all sorts of clothes especially of woollen, that there is a generall complaint among the people that they shall not be able to cloth their negros against winter, and are affraid they shall loose them by the cold weather.

I come next to speake particularly of the Excise of this Province, and to compare the produce of that part of the revenue in the years 1687 and 1697. which your Lordships will see (N<sup>o</sup> 5.) and herein I will manifestly shew the corruption of Brook the late Collector. In the first place the whole produce of the Excise was one hundred and twelve pounds more eleaven years ago than it has been this last year, notwithstanding 'tis computed there are four times the number of people now that were then, and ten publick houses now for one that was then. I have my information from persons very knowing in the Revenue, Coll. Cortlandt and M<sup>r</sup> Graham the Attorney Generall who were Collectors here in the year 1687. The Excise of this Province 'tis believed would yield at least £2000 p<sup>r</sup> ann: if honestly managed.

It plainly appears Brook's has not discharged his duty, for he has gon and farmed the Excise of the County of West Chester to Colonel Heathcote for seaven pounds this year, which yielded twenty pounds eleaven years ago, as is to be seen in the opposite list of the year 1687. 'Tis said there was a great friendship and intimacy between Heathcote and him, but I cannot beleive his friendship, for t'other outweighed the love of his own interest; therefore I conclude he went snips in so cheap a Bargain. He has also lett the Excise of the whole Island of Nassaw for seaventy two pounds this year to Samuell Burt and company, and by the word company is meant Ebenezer Willson the late factious Sheriff of this towne. Brooks boarded with Willson, and there was a great friendship between them. I am told Burt and Willson clear £500 p<sup>r</sup> Ann. by their Bargain. A third instance of Brook's neglect or corruption is this:— that he deputed one Demeyer a man of an ill character to collect the excise in the County of Ulster five years ago, and Demeyer has never since accounted for it, so that there is the whole arrear of five years upon him at this time. But to enable your Lordships to make a pretty just estimate of the Excise, I send a list of the number of inhabitants in all the Province (N<sup>o</sup> 6.) which also is a part of my instructions from His Majesty and there is a worthy member of your Lordships' Board M<sup>r</sup> Blathwayt who I doubt not has a returne by him from hence, of the number of inhabitants in or about the year 1687, whereof I find no care was taken then or at any time to record the same here, which ought to have been done in the Secretary's Office; and if M<sup>r</sup> Blathwayt have such a returne by him, then comparing the number at that time with the list I now send, the difference will quickly be found, and a judgment will easily be made of the increase of people these last eleaven years. The Justices of the Peace have not been exact in following my orders, for in some places they have left out the number of children and of slaves. I send the list of the inhabitants in the County of Albany of last year, as the Mayor of Albany delivered it to me, and there your Lordships will see a considerable decrease of people since the warr occasioned by it being a frontier County, and the inhabitants some killed by the enemy and the rest discouraged by the want of care of them this last warr: the said list is (N<sup>o</sup> 7)

Another evidence of Colonel Fletchers and M<sup>r</sup> Brook's neglect is, that they never took any care to collect the Quit Rents and make a rental of them, so that 'tis beleived there's 13 or 1400.£ arrears of Quit Rent due; but to come at a certainty or make a book of them would be very difficult, there being several years uncollected, but how many I cannot yet find. Colonel Cortlandt and the Attorney General guesse them to between two and 300.£ a year, and 'tis certain they ought to be £3000 a year, at the rate of half a crown for every hundred acres. And I hope your Lordships (as I formerly intimated) will take such measures as that the Crown may not be so couzened by Colonel Fletcher or any former Governours, if any of those former Governours shall be found to betray their trust, as he has done. A further instance of the corruption of Colonel Fletcher and Brooks is this: There came hether about Midsummer 1693 a great Dutch flyboat called the King David of 350 tonns from Amsterdam by the way of Curaçao and Suranam and upon pretence of leave to victual her crew and take in wood and water, she staid here at this towne from the time aforesaid till the middle of November following. She brought in good store of Holland and other linnen cloth, which was not in bailes, but loose in the hold of the ship, as the merchant has own'd to me, that was concerned with that ship. I can prove if there be occasion that severall parcell's of the linnen were sold in this towne; the master of the ship was connived at by the Governor and Collector in buying up such a great quantity of provisions that the whole towne and country were very clamorous, and as I am told petitioned Colonel Fletcher to dismisse that ship, provisions grew so scarce and dear, so that the poore began to be pinched; butter rose to be at 1<sup>s</sup> 6<sup>d</sup> p<sup>r</sup> pound and beef porke and flower proportionably dear; at length when the ship had bought up all the provisions the Governour durst let her buy, away she goes to Suranam, and a brigantine belonging to this towne goes with her, and within Sandyhook unlades into her a 1000 £ worth of butter flower beefe and porke. This is owned to me by the merchant whose brigantine it was, and if it be required it will be proved upon oath. This was no secret, all this towne knew on't, and 'twas the generall report that the brigantine was to be seized, but it never was soe, the acts of Trade being no otherwise put in execution then in the voice of the people. Colonel Fletcher and severall of his Councill (whereof Coll. Bayard Coll. Minevielle and M<sup>r</sup> Brooks were three) were feasted on board that Dutch ship. I sent your Lordships two minutes of Councell concerning that ship as part of the evidence against Colonel Bayard, in the reasons I sent your Lordships for my suspension of him, and that by Captain Jeffers; my said reasons being referred to in my letter of the 21st of October. However I think it proper to send the said minutes again and they goe (N<sup>o</sup> 8) 'Tis said there was a constant trade between this place and Curassao and Scotland during all the last government, but I do not trouble myself to inquire into it, because I have given your Lordships instances enough of the male administration of the late Governour and of the misbehaviour of Brooks the Collector. I am, with much respect, My Lords

and obedient servant

Earl of Bellomont to the Lords of Trade.

[New-York Entries, B. 154.]

To the Right Honourable the Lords Commissioners for Trade and Plantations.

My Lords

Having given your Lordships a view of the present state of the Revenue of this Province in my letter of the 7th of this Instant, I proceed to that of the Accounts.

The General Account is (N<sup>o</sup> 1) and there goes with it an abstract which is a short compendium of t<sup>o</sup>ther, and is (N<sup>o</sup> 2) If there should happen to be any errors in these, the accounts formerly sent home and the minutes and orders of Council will rectifie them.

Because Colonel Fletcher pretended to have applied the 30¢ p<sup>r</sup> Cent, which was stopped out of the pay of the four Companies here, to the building and repaires of the Fortifications, I send your Lordships the King's Establishment directing how the 30¢ p<sup>r</sup> Cent. should be applyed (N<sup>o</sup> 3) and the account of the severall payments of the said 30¢ p<sup>r</sup> Cent, as it was delivered in by his servant Daniel Honan (N<sup>o</sup> 4) with the Account currant thereof (N<sup>o</sup> 5) my observations thereupon (N<sup>o</sup> 6) and my order to Colonel Cortlandt and Colonel Bayard at my first arrivall to take a survey of the buildings and fortifications in and about this his Majesty's fort, with their report upon my said order both in the same paper, and (N<sup>o</sup> 7) by which Report of theirs your Lordships will see that the Governour's house and the fortifications were much out of repair at the time Colonel Fletcher was superseded.

There goes also an account of victualling Colonel Fletcher's company of fuzileers which is an extract taken out of Colonel Cortlandt victualling rolls of the number of men by him victualled in Colonel Fletcher's company and is (N<sup>o</sup> 8) by which account Colonel Fletcher will be found to have pocketted £1496 6<sup>s</sup> 1<sup>d</sup>. by defective men. These victualling rolls we reckon as true and exact as records, the officer taking care the victualler shall not cheat him, and 'tis not to be supposed the victualler will cheat himself.

I must observe to your Lordship that Daniel Honan was appointed Accountant Generall of this Province by Colonel Fletcher, which was a new and superfluous officer and 'twas then, I am told, the common opinion of the people that the creation of that office carried no fair meaning with it. 'Tis true Colonel Fletcher had the consent of the Council for it, soe he had for 130. £. to reimburse him the charges of his voyage from England (notwithstanding his Majesty's Allowance of six hundred pounds on that account in England) and for issuing severall considerable summs of mōney to the same Daniell Honan beforehand, that is, before there were any uses or payments assigned. To that imployment of Accountant there was a salary annexed of 50.£ p<sup>r</sup> Ann<sup>m</sup> and in Colonel Fletcher's account of the 30 p<sup>r</sup> Cent there is another charge of 50.£ p<sup>r</sup> Annum salary to the same Honan; but I suppose this last salary was paid him in his quality of Secretary at Warr, for he was in that capacity too, and so stiled by Coll. Fletcher, countersigning as such the commissions and orders that related to the four Companies and the militia of this Province;—which I take to be (besides the vanity of it in imitating Majesty) as superfluous an office as that of Accountant Generall. Some of Colonel Fletcher's friends in the Councell pressed me to make an Accountant Generall, but knowing it to be a useless office, and besides believing their persuasion to be a snare to draw me into the doing a thing that would justifie Colonel Fletcher's creating such an officer, I absolutely refused.

But to returne to Daniell Honan, I formerly acquainted your Lordships how profligate a man he is having forsworn himselfe point blank in my own hearing There has been the strangest management in the buildings within this Fort that ever was known, the addition to the Governour's house which is very little, the chappell, and the barracks for the soldiers cost before Colonel Fletchers being superseded £3701 17<sup>s</sup> 5<sup>d</sup>, as appears by a particular account made up by Colonel Cortlandt of all materialls and money paid to workmen, which I send by this conveyance to M<sup>r</sup> Weaver the Agent not thinking it needfull to trouble your Lordships with an account of that length, having directed him to wait on your Lordships with it. I must not omitt to tell your Lordships that I am beholden to Colonel Cortlandt for this particular account of the buildings who has taken it out of those accounts, otherwise this had been a mystery of iniquity that I could never have come to the knowledge of, for Colonel Fletcher and his man Honan left no books of accounts so as to make other people judges, whether the publick money were justly laid out or no. I find in the generall account of the buildings which I now send home to the Agent, a prodigious quantity of lime and bricks, enough (as one would think) to build a little town, and I am told there is a great deale of fraud used in the multiplying those materialls, and some I have detected myself; for instance, I find the bricks are charged all along at 30<sup>s</sup> per thousand, and they were and are still bought at 25<sup>s</sup> p<sup>r</sup> thousand, which is the current price. Another thing is, I dare undertake to build in London the same quantity of building for lesse then six hundred pounds at most, soe far as Colonel Fletcher left it built. 'Tis true by what inquiry I made, building is dearer here one third part then 'tis there. Upon a strict audit of these accounts and a survey of the buildings, I doubt not but Colonel Fletcher will be found to be indebted to the King a great many thousand pounds: I am apt to beleive his debt will more than build the two forts at Albany and Schenectady, but I will not pretend to say what the debt is, till your Lordships order an exact audit of the accounts

There is besides what I have already mentioned as chargeable on Colonel Fletcher another article, which is the money taken by him for the Kings lands (that he passed away in grant) which he had no sort of power to sell by his Majesty's commission or instructions. I cannot make a just computation of the money he made by the sale of lands more than this:—that I have found out what he made of two or three grants, & by the rule of proportion he can not have received lesse than four thousand pounds, and some people believe a great deal more; the number of grants made by him I formerly sent your Lordships, both those that derived originally from him, and also those that are grants of confirmation

There goes also with this a certificate (N<sup>o</sup> 9) under the hands of Colonel Cortlandt and Mr Livingston of a perquisite of ten shillings challenged by Colonel Fletcher for every soldier and paid him by them, when they were joyntly concerned in victualling his company, the said perquisite amounting in the whole to £219 3 11½ which is a further charge upon Colonel Fletcher, and which he can no way justifie; for Colonel Slaughter's having invented and enjoyed that unjust perquisite was no sanction thereof, and an honest man would have scorned and abominated such a president. It was no wonder the poor soldiers deserted when the victualler was tied up to so narrow an allowance, that he was not able to allow them provisions that were fitt for any thing but doggs to eat, Collonel Cortlandt says he was forced to refuse to pay that perquisite to him afterwards, provisions grew so dear. I have not yet inquired of the victuallers at Albany whether they paid him that perquisite or no; but I will doe it and will send your Lordships word what account they give me.

Colonel Fletcher is also accountable to the King for an escheat of five hundred pounds which the Attorney Generall tells me he received on office found of one Crocheron a Frenchman's being Felo-de-se, who was an inhabitant of Richmond County.

The Ballance of £4053 4 0½ which is at the foot of the short account (N<sup>o</sup> 2) as aforesaid is charged upon Colonel Fletcher and Brooks the late Collector, taking all the accounts we could find, or that they left for fair and just accounts; but there are other charges to be brought against Colonel Fletcher part whereof are at the foot of the long account mentioned in the beginning of this letter and (N<sup>o</sup> 1) which are home charges upon him, till such time as he fairly discharges himself of the same.

I have taken a great deale of pains in these enquiries about the revenue and accounts because 'tis one of his Majesty's instructions to me; but otherwise I take noe delight in exposing Colonel Fletcher, tho' he made it his businesse to make this government uneasy to me, to cover as I suppose his own male administration. If your Lordships think fitt to send me orders to make a stricter scrutiny into the accounts and to have the buildings rated by Master workmen, upon oath, I shall to that and all other your orders pay a ready observance, as being with much respect.

My Lords

Your Lordships most humble
and most faithfull servant
BELLOMONT.

New Yorke Nov<sup>r</sup> the 5th 1698.

P. S. There goe four papers which have reference to some articles that are at the foot of both accounts and should have been mentioned in the beginning of this letter, each of them is (N<sup>o</sup> 1) and they are bound up with the Generall Account which is also (N<sup>o</sup> 1) I send to Mr Weaver the Agent a copy of all the orders of Councell for payments of money during Colonel Fletchers whole government, which I have desired him to wait on your Lordships with, and therein will be found severall misapplications of money.

Instructions from the Lords Justices to the Earl of Bellomont.

[New-York Entries, B. 48.]

By the Lords Justices.

WHEREAS the Commissioners appointed by His Majesty for promoting the Trade of this Kingdome and for inspecting and improving his Plantations in America and else where, have laid before us a Representation of the State of the Province of New Yorke, upon such memorialls and proofs as you have transmitted to them: We haveing taken the same into our serious consideration, have thought fit hereby to let you know that we are extremely sensible of your great zeale and diligence in inquiring into and reforming the many disorders and irregular practices that you have found in the said Province, and commend you for it.

Commended for his diligence.

And whereas amongst other things We observe that you have suspended W<sup>m</sup> Nicoll, Chidley Brooke and William Pinhorne from their respective places as well in his Majesty's Council of the said Province as otherwise, and are satisfied with the reasons offered unto us for your doing so; We not only approve thereof but hereby further direct and appoint that the said William Nicoll, Chidly Brooke and William Pinhorn be wholly removed from all their said respective places, except only such as any of them hold immediately in their own right by Patent under the Great Seal of England; in which also we approve of and confirme the suspension you have made, until his Majesty's further pleasure therein be known.

And being also informed of the ill conduct of Coll Nicholas Bayard one of his Majesty's Council there, in procuring protection from Colonel Fletcher for persons strongly suspected to be guilty of piracy, as likewise of the undue practices of Frederick Phillips another of His Majesty's said Council, in the carrying on and managing a great illegal trade, contrary to the duty of their places and the trust reposed in them; We do hereby direct and appoint that the said Nicholas Bayard and Frederick Phillips be in like manner removed from their respective places in his Majesty's Council, and (under the forementioned exception) from all other places of publick trust within the said Province.

Bayard & Phillips
removed.

And for the filling up of the vacancies which will be in his Majesty's said Council by the removal of the five forementioned persons from their places in the same; We do hereby direct and appoint that Colonel Abraham Depeyster, James Graham Esq<sup>r</sup> D<sup>r</sup> Samuel Staats Physitian, Robert Levingston Esq<sup>r</sup> and D<sup>r</sup> John Corbile Physitian be constituted admitted and sworne of His Majesty's Council of the said Province, in their stead.

Others appointed in their stead.

And whereas it is highly necessary for His Majesty's service that all persons guilty of piracy be severely punished and that all manner of illegal trade be as much as possible discouraged & prevented; and we observe by the forementioned Representation of the state of that Province that there have been and are, several persons residing in the same under the shelter of protections granted by Colonel Fletcher, which neither can nor ought to be of any avail for such things as the said persons may be found guilty of having committed, contrary to law; We do therefore hereby direct and require you to use all possible diligence in finding out all such persons and prosecuting them with the utmost severity according to law; and likewise to use the same care and diligence in preventing

punished; and illegal trade

the practices of illegal Traders and punishing all persons that you find guilty thereof, as the law directs.

Grants of Land. And whereas we have also been informed by the forementioned [representation of the] State of that Province, that many exorbitant grants of vast tracts of land have been made of late years (and particularly some in the Mohaques Country) without any reservation of competent Quit Rents to his Majesty, or any obligation upon the respective grantees to cultivate and improve the same, as reason requires; by means whereof the frontiers of that Province are in danger of being weakened by the desertion of the Mahaques & other neighbouring Indians and the improvement and peopling of the whole Province must of necessity be in great measure obstructed, together with many other inconveniences evidently attending the same: We do hereby direct and require you to put in practise all methods whatsoever allowed by law, for the breaking and annulling of the said exorbitant irregular and unconditioned grants; and in case of any difficulty therein, that you represent unto His Majesty by one of His Principal Secretaries of State, and to His Majesty's forementioned Commissioners for Trade & Plantations, what ever you judge may be further conducive to the effecting of so necessary a work. And further for the prevention of all such like inconveniences hereafter, We also hereby direct and order that for the future you pass no grants of land within His Majesty's said Province of New York unto any person whatsoever under a less reservation of Quit Rent than 2<sup>s</sup> 6<sup>d</sup> for every hundred acres; nor without an obligation upon the Grantees to plant settle and effectually cultivate the same, within the space of three years at the furthest, under the penalty of forfeiture.

Earl of Bellomont to the Lords of Trade.

[New-York Entries, B. 103.]

To the Right Honourable the Lords Commissioners for Trade and Plantations.

My Lords.

I resolved to observe the rule I prescribed to myself in keeping strictly to the Revenue and Accounts in my letters of the 7th and 8th inst; and now I am to acquaint your Lordships with such information as has come to my knowledg of Colonel Fletchers neglect of the Frontiers, Mr Graham the Attorney Generall who is the most knowing in all affairs here has delivered in a memoriall concerning that matter which goes (N<sup>o</sup> 1) and the five papers bound up together and (N<sup>o</sup> 2) will satisfye your Lordships how little care Colonel Fletcher tooke of Albany and Schenectady, the only frontier places, since he abandoned the Half Moon and Quannestigoane. There goes also a certificate of two of the Lieutenants (N<sup>o</sup> 3) which will shew how little Colonel Fletcher valued his engagement to the Assembly of making up the garrison at Albany three hundred effective men, for which they had given him money in the year 1696. at the desire of the people of Albany who feared to be invaded that Winter by the French, earnestly solicited his presence with them, expecting the number of men he had promised the Assembly for securing the frontiers, but instead of one hundred and fifty which were wanting in the three Companies, he carried up with him but eighteen men, and those were of his own Company, from New Yorke; there came to him twenty five men from Connecticutt Colony as their quota.

But what is a convincing argument that Colonel Fletcher had no designe of keeping full companies, was his rejecting the Bill for preventing desertion of the soldiers; the Originall I have by me, a copy whereof I send your Lordships, which is (N<sup>o</sup> 4) and that he really rejected it there goes a further proof in the Journall of the House of Representatives &c pag. 19th which is marked with a line down the margin, where the Speaker reports to the House that his Excellency Colonel Fletcher had rejected that bill, the said Journall is (N<sup>o</sup> 5) I beleive your Lordships will be of my opinion upon reading the Bill that it had effectually answered the end of preventing the desertion of the soldiers, but it seems by the amendments which are annexed to the Bill and by what M<sup>r</sup> Attorney tells me, who drew it, that Colonel Fletcher soe clogged the Bill as if he resolved it should not pass, for he insisted upon subjecting the Militia to martiall law. I confesse his conduct with relation to the Frontiers is astonishing, and it seems to me he meditated nothing but the enriching himself; and the Kings honour and interest and the security of this province were the least point of his care. I will not know trouble your Lordships with severall circumstances of proof that I could produce of Colonel Fletchers neglect of the frontiers, only these two things I must observe. In the first place the printed accounts of his great exploits against the French which he published and sent into England I cannot possibly get one of them for love nor money, and I am told he made it his businesse to get up all the printed copies, which is an argument with me of his conscioussnesse that he had imposed a romance instead of a true narrative, and I undertake to prove the French never attacked our frontier towns during his government. They did indeed invade some of our Indians that lay next to Cadaracque, which is very remote, but he failed the Indians in point of succour, which they threw in his dish in their conferences with me, which I sent your Lordships by the Fowey frigate.

The second thing is (which I shall remark to your Lordships) some of the subscribers of the flattering addresse from the people at Albany (a copy whereof I formerly sent your Lordships) wherein they applaud his great care and inimitable conduct in preserving the frontiers from the enemy, owned to me in plain termes when I was at Albany, that they were heartily ashamed of setting their hands to so lying an Address which they said they were prevailed with to doe, partly by the importunity of M<sup>r</sup> Dellius the Dutch Minister and the dread the said Minister had instilled into them how Colonel Fletcher would revenge it upon them if they refused to pay him that complement.

I send your Lordships a letter from M<sup>r</sup> Addington<sup>2</sup> Secretary at Boston of the 24th of last month written by order of the Lieutenant Governour and Council (N<sup>o</sup> 6) together with a copy of Monsieur de Villebon Governor of Acadie's letter to the Lieutenant Governor sent me at the same time, and of their translating (N<sup>o</sup> 7) I shall nott enlarge on that subject because M<sup>r</sup> Addington writes me word there is a representation thereof sent home to your Lordships: only this, that I cannot but think it strange that the French men of warr disturb our fishery on those coasts at the same time when our Men of Warr are called home from guarding us, and I cannot but be troubled at the insults of the French in our own seas. But I hope your Lordships wisdom will apply a speedy remedy to so great a mischeif.

There goes also with this a copy of a charter granted by Colonel Fletcher to the Dutch

<sup>2</sup> ISAAC ADDINGTON was one of the signers to the Boston Address of 1689, requiring Sir E. Andros to abdicate, and became Clerk of the Council of Safety, which succeeded to the administration of the government. He was appointed, shortly after, Secretary of the Massachusetts Colony; which post he filled for more than 20 years. He died March 19, 1715, aged 70 years. — HUTCHINSON.

Church here, which I think very extraordinary, for it is setting up a petty jurisdiction to fly in the face of the government, as I have found in my own experience; for being told that Colonel Fletcher had a bribe for passing this charter, I sent to the Church-Masters (so called by the Dutch) which I suppose are equivalent to our Church Wardens, for a sight of their Church Book, wherein I was told I should find an entry made of the said bribe. The Church-Masters told me they could not consent to my seeing the book till they had spoke to the minister Mr Selynus; then I sent them to Mr Selynus to desire he would let me have a sight of it; to which he returned answer he could not do it, till he had called a Consistory. This behaviour of theirs I confesse provoked me, and I did resolve to have a sight of the booke, tho' I should send a Constable with my warrant to bring it by force; but I thought it best to try fair means, and I sent to speak with Mr Selynus, and by speaking him fair, I did prevail to see the Church Book, out of which I have copied the entry of the said present; the Charter goes (N<sup>o</sup> 8) and the extract out of the Church Book is (N<sup>o</sup> 9) This is much such an institution as Colonel Fletcher made yonder at West Chester; that city consists of about twenty houses, the have greater priviledges than any town in America, as the choosing of their own Mayor, and the power of life and death, and the like; and the major part of the inhabitants are felons upon record. A copy of this Charter Mr Weaver the Agent took home with him to shew your Lordships.

There were three seizures of East India goods made in severall houses last week by Mr Hungerford one of the Commissioners of the Customes here; copies whereof are sent herewith (N<sup>o</sup> 10.)

I send a list of packets (N<sup>o</sup> 11.) which went last to your Lordships and the rest of the ministers, by one Capt: Thomas Jeffers, Master of the New York merchant; those to your Lordships were dated the 21st and 24th of last month. I have some jealousy of the master, being a very stubborn insolent man, who tho' he had promised to call for my packetts, refused afterwards to receive them and would have gon without them, had I not sent my warrant for him and forced him to take the packetts with him; so much had the merchants here, and Colonel Bayard that's gone in that ship to England, leavened the said Master.

Now that I speak of Colonel Bayard, I must acquaint your Lordships that his answer to my reasons for suspending him were sent me the ninth of this month, which was ten or twelve days after his departure for England, and so long also after my sending my said reasons to your Lordships; so that he had transgressed the King's commands after the precaution I had given him with my own mouth, that it was his Majesty's commands I should transmitt home my reasons for suspending a member of the Council at any time, and the answer of such member thereunto at the same time. His answer to my severall reasons are weake and frivolous, but Your Lordships are the proper judges of their validity, therefore as to that part I submit them. I have not now time to descant on them so particularly as I intend to doe by the next opportunity, only I must take notice of the reflexion he makes on the integrity of D<sup>r</sup> Staats and Alderman Lewis in the third article, about piracy. I can assure your Lordships they have as good a character as any two men in New Yorke, excepting none, and are very substantiall men as to estates, and therefore the lesse likely to be under any temptation of forswearing themselves. Bayard indeed is said to have obtained an estate by fraud and indirect wayes, and, were it worth while, I could prove what I say.

I have answered one reflexion of Bayards upon two honest men of this town, in the third article of his answer; and now to clear one reflexion he makes on myself, that I came prepossessed into this government and resolved to displace him and others from the Council.

I doe solemnly protest this imputation is absolutely false, for I doe not remember that ever I saw or heard of the name of Bayard and the rest of the Councill but in his Majesty's instructions. I might perhaps have heard in London a generall account of Colonel Fletcher making it a constant practice to correspond with pirates & break the Acts of Trade, and that he had a corrupt Councill that joynd with him in all his male administration, and so far was I from suspending even Colonel Bayard, whom I knew was my most inveterate and industrious enemy, that Colonel Cortlandt, who is oue of his nearest relations by marriage and M<sup>r</sup> Attorney Generall will bear me witnesse that I employed them both to goe and discourse Colonel Bayard and bring him to temper, and by them I sent him word that I knew he had been a most violent enemy and persecutor of M<sup>r</sup> Leisler and his friends, and therefore might probably have some fear upon him if he saw any of Leisler's friends put into employment in the government, but that if he would joyne with me in such measures as I found I should be obliged to take for his Majesty's service, I would undertake that there should not one hair of his head be touched, and I would reconcile those people to him; but notwithstanding all the arguments those two gentlemen could use, he refused, with all the obstinacy in the world, to comply with my message to him. This was but three or four days before my suspension of him and the rest, and now I appeale to your Lordships which, Colonel Bayard or I, have acted most by a principle of charity or moderation, tho' in the eighth article of his answer he would make himself a Saint, and pretends to such a forgiving temper, that he had sacrificed all his losses by M<sup>r</sup> Leisler and his soldiers at the time of the Revolution, to the publick.

I shall by the next opportunity send your Lordships a certificate of this under the hands of Colonel Cortlandt and the Attorney Generall, but the Attorney Generall is now out of town.

But to let your Lordships see how perverse a man this Bayard is, and void of principle, he and M<sup>r</sup> Nicolls whom I formerly suspended from the Councill have made it their business before and since I dissolved the Assembly, to prejudice the whole country where ever they had an influence, against continuing the revenue to his Majesty, and yet (to prove what I said before) that they were men of no principle, these very two men, Bayard and Nicolls, managed a conference with the Assembly in Colonel Fletcher's time for the settling of the present revenue, and stickled very much to gett the Assembly to settle it for his Majesty's life, but the Assembly would settle it for no longer than five years. The said answer of Bayard's is (N<sup>o</sup> 12.)

I formerly acquainted your Lordships in my letter of the 14th September, that William Simpson a soldier had killed an Indian Sachem and wounded one or two more at Albany and was tried and lay under sentence of death, and then I was of opinion he ought to suffer accordingly notwithstanding the intercession of the Indians for his pardon when I mett them at Albany, and I desired your Lordships would direct me what course to take with him; but now I must make an humble request that the man may be pardoned, least I should be brought into a pramunire myself—The matter is this. The King's commission restrains me from erecting Courts of Judicature in criminal cases without consent of his Majesty's Council; now I can be deposed that to the best of my knowledge and remembrance I did acquaint the Council with the notice sent me of the murder of that Indian, and Colonel Cortlandt and the Attorney Generall both say they are confident I did so, and a commission of Oyer and Terminer was sent up to Albany to try that soldier that murdered the Indian: but it seems M<sup>r</sup> Jamison the late Clerke of the Council, who lay upon the watch to betray me has omitted to minute my taking the concurrence of the Council in the said Commission, and I am told 'tis intended to be made the ground of a hainous complaint against me. But however false the thing be in itself Jamison is capable of swearing any thing. I have had several cautions given me of that man both in England and since my coming hither, but I was so secure in my own innocence that I had no fears about me of him or any body else, and Mr Clement disappointing me, I had nobody about me that was fit to put into that place, and here all people were strangers to me, so that I suffered Jamison to continue, as best understanding the business, and not because Colonel Fletcher commended him to me for the honestest man in the world, tho' he knew he was condemned to be hanged in Scotland for burning the Bible and for Blasphemy, and in mitigation of the sentence obtained the favour of being transported to this country, where he was sold a servant, and Colonel Fletcher knew too. very well that Jamisson had then actually two wives when he commended him soe to me, one at Lithgo in Scotland and t'other in this town;—I am with respect, My Lords

and obedient servant

P. S. I send your Lordships the copy of an addresse brought to me this last week. I have not had time to tell the number of names, but upon the view they seem to be about fifteen hundred; the persons that brought it to me and all the subscribers are of that sort people that Colonel Fletcher discountenanced, and I appeale to Your Lordships whether there could be any justice or prudence in disoblging such a number of people; they are all inhabitants in this and three of the most contiguous Counties; The designe was to make it generall all over the Province and to present it to me on the King's birth day, but the subscriptions in the remote Counties could not be had within that time, otherwise they told me there would have been as many more hands.

Lieutenant Hunt the Gentleman that carries this packet is also charged with a generall mapp of this province for your Lordships.

Matys. Province of New Yorke &c.

May it please yo<sup>r</sup> Excell:

In obedience to yo<sup>r</sup> Excel<sup>ty</sup> commands I have made yo<sup>r</sup> Excell. the most diligent inquiry into the state of the frontiers of this province dureing the time of Col. Fletcher's administrac<sup>o</sup>n and do find when Col. Fletcher arrived in this governm<sup>t</sup> in Aug<sup>t</sup> 1692. the Assembly then sitting did raise 220 men for y<sup>e</sup> Secureing of y<sup>e</sup> frontieers at Albany untill the first of May 1693 and also raised 80 men in y<sup>e</sup> County of Ulster to continue therein y<sup>e</sup> time of greatest danger which was conceived to be from the 15th of December next to y<sup>e</sup> first of March then next following.

In the month of Sept<sup>r</sup> Coll. Fletcher went to visit the frontieers and on his return said 100 men were sufficient for y<sup>e</sup> said garrison against all y<sup>e</sup> strength of France, yet the country was of opinion that y<sup>e</sup> 300 men raised for that service were barely sufficient, because before Col. Fletchers arrival they thought it of great import to have out garrisons at y<sup>e</sup> Halfe Moone and Quenestigone for y<sup>e</sup> securing of y<sup>e</sup> out settlements to y<sup>e</sup> better furnishing y<sup>e</sup> garrison with provisions.

In y<sup>e</sup> month of January in y<sup>e</sup> said year the French invaded the Maquez land; upon the notice thereof Col. Fletcher went Albany with some detachments of men and arrived there in Feb<sup>r</sup> and marcht to Schenectady, when he had intelligence y<sup>e</sup> French had retreated after a skirmish they had with y<sup>e</sup> forces sent by Col. Ingoldesby; at w<sup>ch</sup> time y<sup>e</sup> garrisons of y<sup>e</sup> Halfe Moone were withdrawne & never resettled. Col. Fletcher returned & notwithstanding y<sup>e</sup> said invasion left no orders with y<sup>e</sup> Comander at Albany, nor took no care to secure y<sup>e</sup> inhabitants in y<sup>e</sup> out settlements by y<sup>e</sup> returneing of y<sup>e</sup> said garrisons, but suffered them to be exposed to y<sup>e</sup> fury of y<sup>e</sup> enemy, who for want of y<sup>e</sup> said garrisons were carried captive to y<sup>e</sup> French, many of them killed and scalped, & that y<sup>e</sup> out settlements laid waste and desolate & y<sup>e</sup> garrison at Albany reduced to great extremity for want of fresh provisions with w<sup>ch</sup> they were plentifully supplied when those out garrisons were kept.

The Assembly did raise 300 men for y<sup>e</sup> frontieers to continue there from y<sup>e</sup> first of May 1693 to y<sup>e</sup> first day of May 1694. yet there was no resettling y<sup>e</sup> Halfe Moone nor Quenestigeane, nor care taken nor orders left with y<sup>e</sup> comander for y<sup>e</sup> sending of scouts to range the woods for watching y<sup>e</sup> motion of y<sup>e</sup> enemy nor was there any care taken by Col. Fletcher to performe his solemn promise to y<sup>e</sup> Indians of giving them assistance to demolish Cadaraque & prevent its resettlem<sup>t</sup>; by which neglect y<sup>e</sup> Indians were disgusted, y<sup>e</sup> frontieers deserted, many of y<sup>e</sup> people haveing been killed & carried captive for want of due care. The Assembly men did raise 170 men for y<sup>e</sup> securing y<sup>e</sup> frontieers from the first of May 1694 to y<sup>e</sup> first of May 1695. at which time his Matyes forces arrived. The Assembly did also raise bounty money for their encouragem<sup>t</sup> & upon complaint that some of y<sup>e</sup> soldiers had deserted, did passe an Act for y<sup>e</sup> punishing deserters & such as should entertaine them, which was rejected by Col. Fletcher. Y<sup>e</sup> assembly for encouraging of y<sup>e</sup> said forces raised four pence p<sup>r</sup> diem as an augmentation of their pay; nevertheless y<sup>e</sup> Companies were never full, nor were there any scouts sent out to range y<sup>e</sup> woods, by which neglect our people were daily cut off and carried captive. And notwithstanding y<sup>e</sup> yearely damages did befall y<sup>e</sup> inhabitantes in y<sup>e</sup> said frontieers, yett y<sup>e</sup> said Coll. Fletcher was so negligent that he never sent out any scout, nor left orders for y<sup>e</sup> doing thereof, that at last y<sup>e</sup> Assembly, w<sup>ch</sup> did not professe to be soldiers did raise mony & appointed Com<sup>rs</sup> to send out scouts to watch y<sup>e</sup> motion of y<sup>e</sup> enemy, by w<sup>ch</sup> meanes the enemy, w<sup>ch</sup> was designed to cut off Kinderhook were discovered & all cut off, and this was in y<sup>e</sup> yeare 1696. In y<sup>e</sup> yeare 1697. the Assembly tooke the like care by w<sup>ch</sup> there was no mischeife done by y<sup>e</sup> enemy as formerly altho' y<sup>e</sup> garrison was weaker than ever, but Coll. Fletcher not haveing raised one man altho' large sums raised by the Assembly for that purpose, [were] perverted by him.

And altho' Col. Fletcher doth very much value himself upon y<sup>e</sup> securing of y<sup>e</sup> frontieers & that he had not lost one foot of ground to y<sup>e</sup> enemy; yet it is manifest that on his arrival those out garrisons secured the out settlements, that they plowed their grounds & gathered their harvest, had not their people scalped & y<sup>e</sup> garrison & people of Albany had plenty of fresh provisions.

When those garrisons were deserted all those calamities followed, & tho' there was not one foot of ground carryed away, yet there were many families destroyed & their plantacôns laid desolate, to y<sup>e</sup> damage of at least £.4000. p<sup>r</sup> an<sup>n</sup>; w<sup>ch</sup> is most humbly submitted by, May it please yo<sup>r</sup> Exc<sup>l</sup>.

& most humble serv<sup>t</sup>

DANIEL HUNT

When Col. Benj. Fletcher came up to defend Albany & y<sup>e</sup> frontieers in Novemb<sup>r</sup> 1696. he brought up no more then eighteen soldiers besides domesticks; which is very well knowne, by DANIEL HUNT.

In July 1696 and in y<sup>e</sup> beginning of April 96, I was cômmander on y<sup>e</sup> frontieers at Schonactedy when y<sup>e</sup> French Indians destroyed Onondage & Oneide, when all y<sup>e</sup> news that arrived to mee concerning the enemy, I did from time to time, by expresse, signifie to Col. Ingoldsby then Comander in cheife of y<sup>e</sup> frontieers, who as his letter makes appeare did truly acquaint his Excél. Coll: Fletcher, who did after y<sup>e</sup> enemy was gone come up to Albany without any forces; when I came up to y<sup>e</sup> garrison at Schonectady and when y<sup>e</sup> enemy was marching towards us, I had but part of a barrel of powder and but little shott, but I writt to Col. Ingoldsby who sent me one barrel of powder with 6 cannon balls.

Earl of Bellomont to Mr. Poppie.

[New-York Entries, B. 208.]

To M<sup>r</sup> Poppie

Sir

I admire I do not receive orders from your Board; 'tis a great discomfort to me to moyle in buisness here and send such information to the Councill of Trade and receive no return in all this time, and for want of orders I have not been able to go to Boston, and I desire you will acquaint their Lordships (which I forgot in my letter to them) that I shall not know how to remove thither in Spring, for want of a man of Warr. There's noe going by land, and to go it by sea upon so dangerous a coast for North West winds, that often carries people quite off to sea, that they are a good while before they can recover their port, is what I am not willing to hazard but in a stout ship.

Give me leave to advise your sending packetts when 'tis either towards winter or in the latter end of winter, by the way of Virginia or Barbados or both, which was the course taken in S<sup>r</sup> Edmund Andros's time here, and, excepting in the dead of winter, there comes sloops hither from Barbados every month in the year, and two or three months earlier in the beginning of the year than any shiips come from England to Boston or this place. I conclude, Sir

Your most humble Servant

BELLOMONT.

New Yorke

Novemb. the 14th 1698

I send you the copy of a letter which was brought me yesterday. I desire you will shew it to the Lords of the Councill of Trade; 'twill shew what a madness the people are in in this Province, because I look sharp into their trade and after pirates and pirate's shiips to keep them from coming into this Province. The originall letter is Jones's own hand writing. Smith is the pirat whose mony was seized this last summer at Boston to the value of two thousand three hundred pounds.

Heads of Complaint against Colonel Fletcher.

[New-York Entries, B. 102.]

Heads of Complaints relating to Coll: Fletcher's conduct in the Government of New Yorke: delivered to him at the Board the 25th November, [1695] and are as follows.

That in the year 1693 a certain ship called the Jacob commanded then by His countenancing of Piracy Edw<sup>d</sup> Coates returning from a piratical voyage in the East Indies to Nassaw Island, some persons deputed from on board the said ship, did treat and agree with Colonel Fletcher to pay him the sum of seven hundred pounds upon condition that the said ship might be permitted to come up to New Yorke, and the men belonging to her have Protections

That for the better colouring of this transaction, Coll. Fletcher prevailed with the Council to consent thereunto under pretence of allowing the men the benefit of a certain clause in an act of the country concerning Pirates to which those men had no manner of title, and the rest of which act is directly against them.

That in consequence hereof the said ship did accordingly come up to New Yorke and the men were protected, but it happening that instead of paying the money, severall of the men dispersed, the rest of them (in lieu of that payment) presented unto Coll Fletcher the said ship, which he afterwards sold for Eight hundred pounds.

That beside the Protections granted to the men of that ship, Colonel Fletcher granted the like Protections to many other notorious pirates belonging to other ships, for which they paid unto to him or his Agents, generally about a hundred dollars per man.

That tho' the tenour of those Protections import onely a promise of the protection of the law, and makes mention of security given, that the persons so protected shall be amenable to the law, yet no such securities are found amongst any of the publick papers of that Province, nor do's it appeare that any of the persons so protected were ever prosecuted for their piracies.

That in the year 1696. one Rayner who had been out on a piratical voyage with Captain Tew, and whose chest upon his returne to New York was seized, with a considerable treasure in it, by the Sheriff of a County, making application to Colonel Fletcher for the discharge of his chest and protection for his person, Colonel Fletcher did grant the same, and in consideration thereof received fifty pounds of New York money.

That Edward Coates aforementioned hath said that it cost him above thirteen hundred pounds for his own share, to procure Colonel Fletcher's Protection.

That Colonel Fletcher granted commissions to Thomas Tew, Richard Glover and John Hoare as Privateers against the King's enemies, tho' Tew had offered a considerable sum for a like Commission in another government, but not obtained it, and tho' they had none of them any ship or vessell within the Government of New Yorke, at the time of the granting the said Commissions. And they themselves publickly declared that they intended to sayle for the Indies and the Red Sea, and by that means raised men and fitted themselves for their intended piracies.

That Colonel Fletcher's intimacy with and kindness to the said Tew, who had before been a most notorious pirate, was very scandalous, and that he received great presents for such like Commissions.

That Colonel Fletcher granted also a like commission to Thomas Moston, Commander of the ship Fortune an unfree bottom, tho' it was then evident that the said Ship was not designed for any service of warr, but for illegal trade, and the sequel demonstrated it accordingly.

That the bonds taken by Colonel Fletcher upon his granting some of the said commissions were from the pirates themselves, joynd with one insolvent person and Colonel Fletcher's own Secretary, and that the said Secretary having them in his custody had blotted out his owne name in the body of the said bonds and torn off his sign and seale at the bottom.

Connivance at illegal Trade. That the Connivance at Illegal Trade in that government during Colonel Fletcher's Administration had been so great that tho' the trade of the City of New Yorke have of late years been very much increased and the city be thereby enriched and enlarged, yet his Majesty's revenue arising from the customes hath decreased very considerably from what it was ten years since.

Exorbitant Grants That Colonel Fletcher did during his Administration grant away vast tracts of land, not laid out by exact measure of acres but computed in the lump by miles, without laying any obligation upon the grantees to improve the same or taking care to prosecute any persons, by any law of the Province for the non improvement thereof: and this also under very small and inconsiderable Quit-Rents.

That some of the said grants being of a great part of the Mohack's country (without their consent duly obtained) did tend to the disobliging of them and the exposing the frontiers of New Yorke to the attempts of the French; that others and particularly those of some part of the King's garden and a farm called the King's Farme, did take away much of the necessary conveniences of future Governours; that all of them tended to obstruct the peopleing and cultivating of the Country; and (there being now no land left fit for settlement) they have taken away from his Majesty the possibility of rewarding for the future with giftes of land, the services of those that may deserve it, either in warr or peace.

The Forces neglected. That the Forces there were left by Colonel Fletcher in a miserable condition, not half the number that they should be by the Establishment and almost starved, which is imputed in great measure to their hard usage, and, amongst other things, to the deduction made by Colonel Fletcher of one halfpenny per day out of each private soldiers subsistence, as also to the stopping of their subsistence when they were allowed to worke. Besides which and what more the soldiers were wronged of in the additional allowance of 4<sup>d</sup> p<sup>r</sup> day made by the country, it is observed that Colonel Fletcher made other indirect advantages by sending home full muster rolls when the men were not really half the number.

Fortifications not kept up. That the Fortifications on the Frontiers of that Province were very much neglected, and are now exceedingly out of repaire, and that the Fort of Cadaraquy was not demolished as was desired by our Indians of the Five Nations and as it might have been when deserted by the French.

A letter of Denization illegally granted. That Colonel Fletcher granted letters of Denization to Arnaut Nodine a Frenchman without any authority for so doing, and in such large and extensive terms as are directly contrary to the intention of the laws of England which relate to the Plantation Trade.

Notice of the Peace not given to the Govr. of Canada. That Colonel Fletcher neglected to write to the French Governour of Canada, when he sent him notice of the Peace; which was resented by him as a slight.

The Lords of Trade to Secretary Vernon.

[New-York Entries, B. 100.]

To the Right Honourable M<sup>r</sup> Secretary Vernon.

Sir.

Having lately received letters from the Earle of Bellomont dated the 14th and 16th of September last, in which amongst other things he acquaints us with some apprehensions he was under least the Count de Frontenac Governour of Canada should make some hostile invasion upon our Indians commonly called the Five Nations; We have thought it necessary to acquaint you with the circumstances of that matter, that you may please to lay the same before His Majesty.

Upon the Earl of Bellomonts arrivall at New Yorke one of his first cares was to send two gentlemen with letters to the Governour of Canada acquainting him with the peace, and inclosing to him the Articles thereof in French and Latin. At the same time his Lordship also returned the French prisoners that he had found in the hands of the English, promising to do the same with those that should be found amongst our Indians, and demanding in like manner the release and returne of all his Majesty's subjects both Indians and Christians, that were in the hands of the French.

In answer whereunto his Lordship received an account from the gentlemen he sent to Canada, that the Count de Frontenac had caused all the English prisoners there both male and female to be brought before them, but that all of them (except two or three) refused to return. Upon which they being reduced to insist upon the delivery of Children under fourteen years of age, that was granted to them, tho' with great reluctance. But as for the Indian prisoners of the Five Nations, the Count de Frontenac refused to deliver them, pretending to have been already upon a treaty with some of those Indians themselves, who had left a hostage with him and promised that other deputies should be sent to him from the Five Nations to conclude their peace and exchange their prisoners, which he accordingly expected, and would not therefore treat with the Earle of Bellomont or any persons deputed by him upon that subject. Unto which after those Gentlemen had answered that the Indians with whom he pretended to have treated were not sent, but positively disowned by all their brethren. He then insisted much upon the French right to the Sovereignty over the Five Nations, and notwithstanding all arguments used to the contrary, persisted in refusing to deliver their prisoners otherwise then to their own deputies, for which he said his orders were so precise that he could not reced from them, untill he had received others; and that the two Kings had either agreed the difficulties that are in those matters at home or sent Commissioners to determine them upon the place. And the Count de Frontenac having himself writ to the Earl of Bellomont to the same purpose, we send you here inclosed a copy of his letter.

Some while after this (viz' in the month of July last) his Lordship went up to Albany to meet the Five Nations of Indians and renew their dependance or Covenantt Chainé (as they are used to expresse themselves.) He found them, as he writes, very sullen and cold being under much discontent by reason of their sufferings during the warr, for want of necessary succours and the loss of ninty four of their men by the French Indians since they had notice of the peace. But after much kindness shewn them, and an extraordinary present, they made full expressions of their satisfaction and promised to remain firm in their former dependance.

In the month of August following his Lordship being returned to New Yorke, received an expresse from the Onnondage Indians (one of the Five nations) signifying that the Count de Frontenac had refused to deliver up some prisoners of their Nation, to their own messengers; because there came not deputies to him at the same time from the others: sending word further to them and the Sinnekes Cayouges and Oneydes (whom he seems to look upon as less tied to the English interest than the Mohacqs) that if they did not each of them send one of their principall men, or Sachems to treat and conclude a pece with him at Canada in five and forty or fifty days, he would come in an hostile manner and compell them.

Upon which the Earl of Bellomont sent forthwith the Mayor of Albany, to a meeting of the Five Nations at Onnondage, to assure them of succour in case they were invaded by the French and thereby to keep them stedy to the English interest and hinder them from sending any publick deputation to Canada. Which direction they promised accordingly (but not without some difficulty) to observe.

Upon this occasion his Lordship sent also his Lieutenant Governour with a company of foot to Albany, that he might be near at hand in case of need, with instructions that upon intelligence the French were actually in march towards the Five Nations or had invaded them, he should take with him all his Majesty's forces in pay there, together with all the Train Bands and Militia of the country and oppose them. And at the same time he also sent an Express to the Count de Frontenac with a letter expostulating this matter with him, and setting forth the consequences of such proceedings, which would oblige him to oppose force with force: whereof a copy is hereunto annexed; that his Majesty may fully see how that matter, which very much deserves his royall consideration, stood at that time. It being withall our most humble opinion that it is absolutely necessary for the security of the Province of New Yorke and the rest of his Majesty's dominions in that part of America, that the Five Nations of Indians be preserved and maintained in their subjection to the Crown of England as formerly, by being comprehended in the generall peace and otherwise protected, as to His Majesty shall seem meet. Your most humble Servants

Mr. Weaver, Agent of the Province of New-York, to Mr. Poppie.

[New-York Entries, B. 113.]

To Mr Poppie.

Sir

Letter from Mr Weaver Agent for New York about the forces there, and about the English Prisoners that refused to return from Canada.

I crave leave to introduce my answer to your letter of the 5th instant (relating to the pay of the forces of New Yorke) with an account of the state of those troops.

By the Establishment the pay of each private sentinell is eight pence New York money, (which is thirty p<sup>r</sup> cent worse than English money) out of which 2<sup>d</sup> Sterling is deducted for cloaths, which reduces the pay to 5<sup>¼</sup><sup>d</sup> or  $\frac{1}{4}$  New Yorke money, which is about 3 $\frac{1}{2}$ <sup>d</sup> English money, which makes the subsistance of the soldiers so slender they are scarce able to live on it; wherefore the Assembly of that Province allowed 4<sup>d</sup> p<sup>r</sup> diem to each sentinell at the country's charge, for the years 1696 and 1697. and these years the forces had no cloathing.

Colonel Fletcher then Governour of that Province reduced the said subsistance of 5 $\frac{1}{2}$ <sup>d</sup> or  $\frac{1}{4}$  (by agreement with the victualers) to 5<sup>d</sup> p<sup>r</sup> diem New York money which was a farther hardship on the private sentinells, nor hath he (as I can learn) accounted for the overplus, which amounts to a considerable summ in five years time of his government.

Colonel Fletcher likewise detained and delayed the payment of great part of the 4<sup>d</sup> p<sup>r</sup> diem allowed by the country to the soldiers who (being as it is said without cloaths) did thereon desert the service; whereby all such money as was due before their desertion was (as is presumed) converted to his private use, and by such desertion (so occasioned) the Earl of Bellomont at his arrivall found the troops very defective, as appears by the Muster Rolls, and many who had not deserted made their complaints that the said country bounty was detained from them.

No pay or subsistance for those troops hath been paid out of the Treasury for these 22 months past, but the private sentinells have been subsisted by victualers there, on the credit of the Governour, whereby a great debt is become due to them. The Officers had no subsistance untill the Earl of Bellomont on his own credit raised some money, and gave his own bills for the same on Sr William Ashurst, who applies to the Treasury on the Earl's account for the pay of those forces.

On the 12th of October last I drew an humble memoriall to be laid before the Right Honourable the Lords of the Treasury relating to the said bills pay, and subsistance of the forces of New York (a copy of which is inclosed) which I delivered to Sr William Ashurst, and since on his application £500 hath been paid to him by order of the Right Honourable the Lords of the Treasury. But the £500. fell short of the bills £150.

I have waited on severall of the Lords of the Treasury, who have promised that a speedy care shall be taken to support those forces and the Earl of Bellomont's credit, in raising money for them.

I dayly expect that the Earl of Bellomont will draw more bills, if his credit there be not lessened by the delay and short payment of the last bills.

I cannot learn what fund is appropriated for the pay of those forces, but do hope that on the representation of these matters by the Right Honourable the Lords of the Council of Trade, speedy care will be taken for their pay, that the hardship of the 30 p<sup>r</sup> cent deduction will be taken of, and that recruits will be sent to supply their present deficiencies.

In answer to your letter of the 7th instant concerning M<sup>r</sup> Schuylers report relating to English prisoners at Cauada; I happened to be at New York at his returne, and as I apprehend, there were ten or twelve prisoners, most young people, who were perverted by priests to the Popish religion, and on that account (as they pretended) would not be persuaded to returne to their own country.

Be pleased to communicate what part of this you think proper, to their Lordships, when their leisure will permit. I am, Sir

Your most humble Servant

T. WEAVER.

Earl of Bellomont to the Lords of Trade.

[New-York Entries, B. 253.]

To the Right Honourable the Lords Commissioners for Trade and Plantations.

My Lords.

'Tis a misfortune to me and a great prejudice to the King's affairs here that your Lordships send me no orders in all this time. 'Tis near six months since I had a letter from your Board, and I can not but think the pains I take here to serve the King and the interest of England deserves some returne. The worst of it is the Jacobite party here take great notice of it, and give out all the country over that I am therefore in disgrace with the King, for that the Ministers neglect me. There came a ship hither three weeks since from London and brought letters from Colonel Fletcher to several of his friends here, giving them an account of his kissing the King's hand and being received by his Majesty with all the marks of esteem imaginable, and severall other things in relation to the prosperity of his affairs. This news caused great exultation among the party, and it was industriously spread all the country over, and it was not forgot to be inserted with the rest, that I had not received one letter from the Ministers of England, which was made an inference and sure mark of my disgrace

I had this last week a letter from M<sup>r</sup> Secretary Vernon by the way of Mary Land, which was very effectually penn'd to answer all the ends of my administration and to incourage my proceedings to discourage piracy and unlawfull trade; the beloved twins of the Merchants of this place.

Lieutenant Hunt sailed the 27th of last month from Pescataway (having come two or three days short of the Deptford man of War at Boston) with my packet to your Lordships, wherein are the states of the Revenue, Accounts and Fortifications of this Province; by all which Colonel Fletcher will appear very corrupt, and Brooks the late Collector will appear deeply involved in the two first.

M<sup>r</sup> Basse the Governour of the Jerseys in contempt of the orders your Lordship formerly sent me, loaded the Ship Hester at Perth Amboy in East Jersey, and was sending her on a voyage; on notice whereof I sent Mr Hungerford one of the present Collectors, and one of my Lieutenants with forty soldiers and seized and brought the ship away. I have since offered to restore the ship provided Basse would have her cleared at this Port, but he refusing so to do we are going to have her tried. The whole proceeding about the said ship is contained in the papers herewith sent (N<sup>o</sup> 1) viz<sup>t</sup> two minutes of Council and two letters, one whereof writ by M<sup>r</sup> Cosens, Clerk of the Council to Basse, by order of myself and Council, and Basse's answer to that letter. M<sup>r</sup> Basse sent me word he had positive orders from the Proprietors not to yield upon no account to any orders I had received, and he threatens to try in Westminster Hall whether Perth Amboy be a port or no, and to sue me for damages for bringing away the ship Hester. She is a leaky ship of about 120 tun and her loading is 25000 barrel staves.

Now that I speak of the Jerseys it will be proper to acquaint your Lordships that I have not yet complied with his Majesty's instruction which orders my regulating the Militia of the Jerseys, because there is no civill government there, for Basse having not the King's approbation, as the Act of Parliament of the seventh & eighth of the King obliges all governours of Plantations to have, the people do not own Basse's authority, and for fear they should call it more publickly in question, he dares not call an Assembly. Besides 'tis said he has been formerly in very mean circumstances in that country, and his carriage now is very foolish, which makes him contemptible to the people.

I send a memorial of Colonel Romar the Engineer which by mistake was not sent formerly: it concerns the fortifications on the Frontiers and goes (N<sup>o</sup> 2.) I am much troubled for Colonel Romar's being recalled; he is an honest man and an able artist, as the Gentlemen of the Board of Ordnance told me.

There goes with this an Address from the Lieutenant Governor, Council and Assembly of Massachusetts Bay to me, desiring my repair thither, but till I receive your Lordships orders, I do not think it prudent to remove hence. The Address is (N<sup>o</sup> 3.)

There goes also another Address (N<sup>o</sup> 4.) from the Council and Assembly of New Hampshire, which will shew your Lordships what mischiefs Colonel Allen is doing in that Province. He is, it seems, turning people out of their properties without processe at law, and so distracts the people there, that I fear the provision of Navall Stores for the King will suffer an interruption, which otherwise M<sup>r</sup> Partridge, who is now here with me, gives all possible assurance of its succeeding to all our desires, so far as relates to timber of all sorts, masts, pitch and tar. As for hemp he has no hopes of that there; and I formerly wrot my thoughts of hemp and flax as fitter productions for the soil of Ireland and to be manufactured there where labour is cheaper threefourths than 'tis here, or in New Hampshire. I do not take the account I now write of Colonel Allen upon trust from M<sup>r</sup> Partridge, tho' Partridge have a fair character, for I have the same account from two or three indifferent hands besides.

I do not trouble your Lordships with a reply to Colonel Bayard's answer to my reasons for suspending him from the Council, because I am perswaded when your Lordships come to peruse his answer, you will think it deserves not a reply. I rather think that being a man of so ill a character and going to England, Broker for the factious merchants here, to purchase my being commanded home (for such is the common report here, and that he is commissioned to lay out a great many thousand pounds for that end and purpose) he will deserve your Lordships censure, besides being a man in criminal circumstances, there being two positive affidavits against him of his countenancing and abetting pyrates, and partaking of their spoiles, he is lyable to be arraign'd and tryed for his life. I am with respect, My Lords

Your Lordships most humble

New Yorke

and obedient Servant

December y<sup>e</sup> 14th 1698

BELMONT.

P. S. I send your Lordships my reasons for suspending Colonel Willet from Council; they are (N<sup>o</sup> 5.)

I send my reasons to Colonel Mynvieil for displacing him, but he having not yet returned me his answer, I forbear troubling your Lordships with them at present.

My proclamation for administring the Oaths, Test, and Association, to all his Majesty's male subjects in this Province of sixteen years of age and upwards I send (N<sup>o</sup> 6.) with a copy of my Circular letter to certain well affected persons in the respective towns and Counties, who are to administer the same; the said letter (N<sup>o</sup> 7.) The same proofs I formerly sent your Lordships of my reasons for displacing Colonel Bayard from the Council of this Province will serve to make good three of the reasons I now send against Colonel Willet, and for the fourth reason the depositions of John Williamson and Benjamin Thurston sent your Lordships with my former letter of the 21st of October last by Captain Jeffers will be substantiall proofs.

[TRANSLATED FROM THE FRENCH, EXCEPT THE MARGINAL NOTES.]

[New-York Papers, E. F. G., P. 7]

My Lord.

In obedience to Your Excellency's orders, I proceeded, on the 18th of May of the present year, 1698, to the frontiers of the New-York government, and, in the first instance, towards Albany, Schanegtade, Kanestigionne and the Half Moon; and, after having observed these places,

Situation of Albany
144 miles from N.
York to ye North:
Schanegtade 20 miles West from Albany.

I found the city of Albany, situate on the Hudson river 144 miles north of York; an important frontier, as well as Schanegtade, 20 miles west of Albany, on the Great Mohawk river; but these frontiers are neglected, built of wood and palisades of poor defence. Saving better judgment, my opinion would be to build stone forts there, constructed and proportioned according to the respective situations, and the importance of the one and the other of these two places. For should be of Stone and proportioned to their importance

Which is very great in relation to ye English plantations, in case they should come into the Enemy's hands.

New York principally as being the Magazin of all the Islands.

Kanestigionne 12 miles North west of Albany

Half Moon 12 miles to ye North.

These two ye bounds of ye frontiers towards New France.

I consider if these two places should one day fall into the hands of the enemy, the provinces of York, Jarsé, Pensylvania and Connecticut, would be obliged, in a short time, to submit; and that Maryland, Virginia and New England would, consequently, greatly suffer. Also, as York is the depôt of all the Islands for flour, grain and other provisions, these would experience a very serious injury. In regard to the other places, Kanestigionne and Halve Moone—the first, 12 miles north-west of Albany, on the Great Mohawk river, and the other, 12 miles north on the Great Hudson river—they are to be regarded as the barriers of

Of great consequence in time of war for correspondence with ye 2 Capital Frontiers.

Proper to have a good guard kept at them or a Redoubt of stone to hold 30 or 40 men in case of necessity.

And in time of war to have a palisade well flangu'd for a retreat of ye neighboring inhabitants.

Cheragtoge 28 miles to ye North of ye Halfe Moore.

Regarding Cheragtoge, a post on the Hudson river, 28 miles north of Halve Moon, I could not get there, though I had set out for that purpose, in consequence of the freshet in the rivers and other impediments, which it was impossible for me to surmount. I shall observe, however, with submission to Your Excellency, that I learned, by minute inquiries I instituted, that the farms, which were only seven in number, as well as the fort which was built there in Leisler's time, have been entirely ruined by the last war; since which time they have never been thought of, and the settlers have never thought of returning thither; and, also, because the French claim this country as dependent on them, notwithstanding we have had possession of it a great many years. I think it would not be useless to have a small fort built there of palisades, with a small stone tower in the centre, to maintain possession, and encourage the settlers to build and take up their residence there again. In time, the land can be cleared and the timber cut down, in order to open the country, render it accessible, and to establish an easy communication, so as to support said fort and the settlers, in case of need. Otherwise, a garrison in that place would be, as it were, abandoned.

As for the other reflections to be made on the frontiers, of which I have just spoken, Your Excellency can see them in the plans I now, with submission and respect, lay before you.

W. ROMER.

Earl of Bellmont to the Lords of Trade.

[New-York Entries, B. 260.]

To the Right Honourable the Lords Commissioners for Trade and Plantations.

My Lords.

I have given your Lordships the trouble of many letters since my being in this government, but I have yet a business of greater consequence to apply to your Lordships about than any thing I have hitherto writ to you of; which is, the administration of justice. That which is the very soul of government, goes upon crutches in this Province, and deserves your Lordships immediate care and redresse above all things whatsoever.

Colonel Smith one of the Council is Chief Justice of the Province, but is no sort of lawyer, having been bred a soldier. He is a man of sense and a more gentleman like man than any I have seen in this Province, but that does not make him a lawyer. Then he lives four score mile off, and comes but twice a year to this town at the times of the Supream Court's Sitting, just to earn his sallary, which is a hundred pounds p<sup>r</sup> Ann̄ sterling; and so is of very little use or service to the government. Whereas a man in that station ought to be a lawyer and a man of great integrity and resident in this town to be always ready to assist the government. As to the men that call themselves lawyers here and practise at the Bar, they are almost all under such a scandalous character, that it would grieve a man to see our noble English laws so miserably mangled and prophaned. I do not find that a man of 'em ever arrived at being an Attorney in England. So far from being Barristers, one of them was a Dancing Master, another a Glover by trade, a third which is M<sup>r</sup> Jamison was condemned to be hanged in Scotland for burning the Bible and for blasphemy, a fourth which is M<sup>r</sup> Nicolls, your Lordships have had his character formerly from me, and there are two or three more as bad as the rest; besides their ignorance in the law, they are all, except one or two, violent enemies to the Government, and they do a world of mischeif in the country by infecting the people with ill principles toward the government.

Now that there is a prospect of doubling the revenue I am humbly of opinion we ought to have good Judges sent from England and King's Council to mind the interest of the Crown. The Lawyers here do so prey on the people that it is a melancholy thing to heare how unequally justice is and has been distributed in this Province; in so much as I am told a suit at Common law is more expensive and dilatory here than in England. We can not hold a Court of Exchequer here, not a man in the Province knowing in the least what belongs to it, and an Exchequer would be of great use in this Province. If justice were duely and impartially administered here it would be a great inducement to people to transplant hither and settle in the Province. I believe my Lord Chancellor of England would be apt to joine with Your Lordships in laying a scheme for the furnishing us with Judges and other lawyers and for contriving a maintenance for them. I know his Lordship has a very publick spirit, and I humbly conceive the recommending of persons to all employments in the law is what is due to the station he is in. But that I submit to your Lordship's wisdom, and am with respect,

My Lords

Your Lordships most humble

and obedient Servant

BELLOMONT.

Colonel Fletcher's Answers to the Complaints against him.

[New-York Entries, B. 148.]

To the Right Honourable the Lords Commissioners of the Council for Trade and Plantations.

May it please your Lordships.

When his Grace the Duke of Shrewsbury Secretary of State sent me his Majesty's Orders of Revocation from New York, His Grace was pleased to signify, as by His Majesty's command, that this was not done on Account of His Majesty being dissatisfied with me, for that his Majesty would take care of me and employ me otherwise for the future.

My designation to New Yorke was utterly unknown to me and without my seeking. I got there on the 30th of August 1692. The Councill did the next day appoint one of their number M<sup>r</sup> Nicholl and the Attorney General M<sup>r</sup> Graham to lay the state of the Province before me, which fell under these heads:—

That the Government was £3000 in debt, no credit left, and the people most unwilling to pay the taxes.

That the Fort of New Yorke was in a very bad condition and the barracks tumbling down.

That the fortifications of the Frontiers were all out of reparaire, the soldiers not sufficient to defend them, the Indians in a very wavering condition, and that the extream Frontier called Schenactady had been cut off by the enemy, the town burnt, and many people destroyed.

In a week I hastn'd up to Albany, which was one hundred and fifty miles, and to Schenactady 20 miles further.

I presently begun and afterwards continued both there and every where else, to put things into such a state of defence as that his Majesty lost no part of his dominion, nor of his honour I hope, during the warr.

As to the Civill affairs your Lordships own books are doubtlesse full of those confusions which arose in that Province by the life and death of Captain Jacob Leisler and of Milborn his secretary. I found many of their associates in prison and under sentence of death. Those I set at liberty; and turning all my thoughts to heal and cemen't the animosities which had run them into generall poverty, I did by God's help appease all marks of distinction, and did so equally preferre into places and commands such as were fit, that perhaps the different nations of that Province were never more united, or had more trade and plenty among them then when I left the place. It is impossible that those publick attestations I have from the principall of the English Dutch and French Nations who there reside should have been so freely given me as they were, at my departure, had I been that ill Governour which some have laboured to make me. And surely if malice itself could have accused me in any hanyous thing, as in the want of reverence to God's laws, or in defect of courage and zeale for my King, or that I had robb'd the publick or oppressed the meanest subject, I beleive my enemys would have little minded what they have now raked up.

I am very sorry I am not to know my accusors, or in what manner I am attack't; for I might thereby have saved Your Lordships time, and not needed to pray, as I now doe, that my right may be preserved in having counter witnesses examined, as well on that side as on this (if need be) for the manifestation of truth and supplying what may be short and defective in what I now represent.

As to the 1st 2nd 3rd and 5th heads of Complaint against me, I say, that about the month of April 1693, M<sup>r</sup> Nicholl whom I found a Member of the Council and who also followed the practice of the law came to acquaint me that a ship called the Jacob commanded by one Edward Coats was come to Southhold in the east part of Nassaw Island; that the Ship formerly called the Union of Rochell had been taken from the French, and in the beginning of 1690 condemned in a Court of Admiralty erected by Capt. Jácob Leisler and afterwards sold by Milboru to Mason, Coats and others, who had been the Captors; that these getting from the said Leisler a commission against the French, gathered a crew, some from New Yorke and others from the neighbouring Colonies; that they having been roving till this time, had now touched at the place aforesaid, where hearing of Leisler's fate, they fell into mutiny and ransacking the ship, and that most of them were dispersed to their habitations in the neighbouring Collonies: that those of them who were of the Province of New York had sent two of their number to him to mediate for permission to returne home, which if refused they would then sett off, and seek out some other port.

My answer was that I would do nothing in a matter so new unto me, but that it ought to be laid before the Councill, where accordingly it was brought. The sence of the Councill was, that altho' the long absence of this ship and these men gave suspition of their having been in the Red Sea, and had got wealth, yet was it also possible that she being a ship of force may have taken it from others that were pirates; that New Yorke being the place from whence they had set forth, and where those who now addressed had their habitations, they would more easily be found and made answerable to law, when any information or complaint should come against them.

That the Province being then exhausted as well of men as of mony, nothing could be worse then to drive these men to other parts.

Wherefore they did advise and that unanimously that these men should be received into the protection of the government upon giving security to stand answerable and not depart the Province for a year and a day; and to this resolution I did conforme. But I do positively deny that I ever influenced any one Member of the Council to such their resolution; nay on the contrary when some of them urged the law that is mentioned, I did convince them that there could be no authority or countenance from that law. Yet they were unanimous upon the motives aforesaid; and did not only so advise but even request my concurrence, so far was I from perswading them to what they voted.

I do in like manner deny that any of the said ship's company or any other, did ever treat directly or indirectly with me or any for me, to give a gratuity for the protection above said or for the bringing up the ships to New Yorke, and I can here produce to your Lordships a gentleman of credit to testifie that he meeting there one of the crew, who was reported to have sworn in this case against me, the man replied that he was frighted to it, and did not know what he had done: perhaps time may produce to your Lordships (who only seek for truth) some other instances of like sort. But thus much I do acknowledge and did never disown, that some time after the fulfilling of what was so advised & requested by the Council in the point of Protection and Security as aforesaid, the owners of the ship did publicly and openly offer her to me as a present; and she lying under no forfeiture condemnation or arrest, I did accept the same, and shall nakedly acquaint your Lordships how I disposed thereof.

As to the objection that the Securities given doe not now remain among the publick papers of that Province, I say they did there remaine during a year and a day, but that time being expired and no prosecution made, the Sureties, as by law they might called for their bonds, and had them up.

But as to the said ship, I had these motives to accept thereof. Those who victualled the forces had a great arrear due to them, and were unwilling to trust any further; and a merchant of the place bidding 800.£ (of that money) for the ship, he had it accordingly. I touch't no part of the money, but directed it to discharge and supply the victuallers; as was honestly done.

Hereupon I writ to the Agent of Province in England that when he could recover the value of this money, which might be about £600. Sterl. he should remitt it for me into Ireland where my small patrimony of an adventure lay in ashes by the calamity of the late rebellion. And here my Lords let me presume to say, that I had my share in the Irish Warr, and do appeale to all the Commanders in that Army as to my behaviour in it; and whether in that or near thirty year's service before, ever any complaints was brought against me, not only from officer or soldier but the inhabitants of any corporation where I often commanded. I can with the greatest truth affirme that I was so far from making gaine by the misfortune of our friends that I never did it from the ruine of our enemies, and it was I presume the report of this behaviour that sent me to New Yorke, for I had never thought of the place till the moment it was proposed to me and my answer required. And now my Lords what Governour is there not only in my ruined circumstances, but even in the greatest plenty that having a present publicly made him an'l which fell so by accident and without any fraud, prospect or contrivance for it, and does refuse the same? But if this were rashly or unadvisedly done by me, and that I, of all men, stand single in the guilt of accepting a present, I must submit it to His Majesty's grace and judgment, being every day ready to sacrifice even my life at his commands.

As to the complaints from the 4th to the 12th they relate to the actions of those called pirates, the commissions and protections given them for rewards, the ill security taken, and no prosecution made; and the persons named for such pirates are Edward Coats one Reyner, Captain Thomas Tew, Richard Glover John Hoar and Thomas Moston. I do not here put them together to evade answering in any point, but to prevent repetitions, and so to save your Lordship's time.

I do here solemnly declare that I never was in my life time, directly or indirectly concerned in unlawfull, or even lawfull trade.

That I never had, or any for me, other gift from the said Edward Coats then what his part in the said ship Jacob, so presented as aforesaid, might be worth; & if the hearsay of his giving 1300.£ for his share, to others, be truth, I hope it will be discovered.

That as in the general I never gave protections or commissions but where the Council approved thereof, so I never gave any upon promise or expectation of reward; yet am very apt to beleive that when Commissions or Protections were granted in the manner aforesaid, that the parties concerned might pay fees to my servant or such as drew their dispatches, but whether they gave an hundred dollars or other gratuity as they thought fitt, it never fell within my cognisance or to my profit as I have before affirmed.

That for not prosecuting of persons now called pirates, I had noe complaints brought before me upon which to ground a suite or prosecute, according to law. And if any of them are now discovered to be such, the law and a good magistrate can punish them, altho' the time for which they gave sureties be elapsed and their bonds given up.

As for the weake or insufficient suretys that were taken, this I conceive depended wholly on those whose business it was for the King's service to inquire into the sufficiency and ability of the persons to be bound; and if a servant of mine did at any time joyne with others in any such surety, it was to me utterly unknown. I have retained the man complained of, still in my service, that he may be forth coming, and appeare to answer for himself in that foule rasure of his name and seal that is mentioned; for if he be found guilty no man has or ought to have more indignation thereat than myself.

As to the case of Rayner (first named) I never saw the man, or did know or yet beleive that he had served with Captain Tew, or had been upon any piraticall voyage; but this I well remember, that one who was of councill for him, brought me a complaint that the Sherrife of Suffolk County had seized on the effects of one Rayner without authority or any processe, and praying an order of restitution and the protection of the government till he were accused or complained of in due course of law. I did, as I thought justice required, grant the same, and if this were a treasure as is represented, I might have been suddenly rich and not now complained of for a present of fifty pounds in the money of New York.

As to the four commissions which I granted to Captain Tew, Richard Glover, John Hoar and Thomas Moston, they were men in reputation for their bravery and courage, and what I did therein was with advice and full approbation of the Councill.

Hoar by virtue of a Commission from the Governour of Jamaica had after an obstinate fight taken a French ship of considerable force, which he brought into Rhode Island, and for which ship I gave him commission against the French.

Glover was an inhabitant of New York and master of a ship built there, and then riding in the harbour; he had another of the like sort.

Captain Tew had formerly received a commission from the Governour of Bermuda and having gotten another ship then riding at White Stone in New York I granted him a third, to make warr upon the French.

I could ill have answered the refusing commissions to such men as undertook and stood engaged to make war against the King's enemies. I do affirme that I never knew or so much as heard that any of these intended for the Red Sea or the Indies, or that any of them had ever been there, except Tew, who made open vows and protestations never to returne thither againe.

As for Glover he went directly, as I heard, with a loading to Barbadoes, and there tooke a new Commission from the Governour, and was thence sent for Negroes to Madagascar, and that he was there taken by the Pirates.

And if Tew and Hoar did abuse the commissions they had and turned pirates afterwards, 'tis an event of which like instances doe some times happen, but it not being in my power to foresee, I was not able to prevent.

I say the same thing in the case of granting a commission to Moston. The case (as I recollect) was thus. There were severall English and Dutch merchants of New Yorke who had hired the ship Fortune, to fetch negroes from Madagascar, as was every year usuall with them.

They prayed a commission, and considering the quality of the men and the opinion of the Councill, I granted the same; but do affirme to your Lordships that I never knew or ever was informed that the said ship was an unfree bottom, for had I known thereof I had held my hand.

As for my intimacy and kindness with Captain Tew and the great presents from him which is objected, this is the truth and whole truth of that poore affaire.

This Tew appeared to me not only a man of courage and activity, but of the greatest sence and remembrance of what he had seen, of any seaman I had mett. He was also what they call a very pleasant man; soe that at some times when the labours of my day were over it was some divertisment as well as information to me, to heare him talke. I wish'd in my mind to make him a sober man, and in particular to reclaime him from a vile habit of swearing. I gave him a booke to that purpose; and to gaine the more upon him, I gave him a gunn of some value. In returne hereof he made me also a present which was a curiosity and in value not much; and this is the sum of all that kindness I am charged with; for as to the coming sometimes to my table, which I think was such as became my character, and hospitable to all, I hope that will not stick upon me, if your Lordships but inquire what others have done and still continue to doe in that kind.

To the 13th complaint, I confesse it looks like a probable consequence, that if His Majesty's customes grow lesse when the trade increased there should be connivance at Illegal Trade.

However it is as unlikely that I should ever connive who will be deposed that I never was concerned in trade; but that consequence results, as I am told from the alteration in trade; for whereas the cheif trade of that place was formerly to and from Europe and that city the principall mart of European goods for the neighbouring colonies, the merchants found such heavy losses of their shippes and goods during the warr that to be more secure they cheifly traded with their neighbours or to the West Indies, and in such exportations and returnes as produced little duties to His Majesty, and 'tis said the other Colonies are lately fallen into a direct European trade, and have those things from England which before they were wont to have at New Yorke. The truth of all this will best appear to Your Lordships by examining those who are conversant in trade. But this I affirme that I never shutt my eyes to any breach of the Acts of Trade and Navigation, but did all that in me lay to have them duely executed and fulfilled. And let me here add, that unless it were the ship Jacob, of which before, there never came to New Yorke any ship from the Red Sea or the East Indies in all my time.

As to the 14th and 15th heads of complaints about Lands granted by the lump, and without measure, without obligation of improvement, at very small Quit Rents, and the disobliging of the Mohacks: I can not be so particular as if I had copies of all papers and entries relating hereunto. In the mean time let me thus far acquaint your Lordships.

That it was one of the Instructions I had from his Majesty that when any oppertunity should offer for purchasing great tracts of land for him from the Indians for small sums, I was to use my discretion therein, as I should judge for the conveniency or advantage which might arise to his Majesty by the same.

Reasons for Col. Schuyler's grant. Colonel Peter Schuyler and Company being four Dutchmen inhabitants of Albany set forth by petition that they had been very vigilant and serviceable on that Frontier against the enemy during the whole warr, and they pray'd liberty to purchase some tracts of land from the Mohacks. Both myself and the Councill (where their petition was brought) knowing the merit of the men, we gave consent, as willing that His Majesty's dominion should be extended and plantations gradually made by his subjects as far foward towards the French settlements as was possible, which by time, and a peace, and enlarging the Frontier, might prevent the French from destroying Schenactedy, as they had done before, and so turne to his Majesty's account. The Petitioners did thereupon in July 1697. treat with the Mohacks for certain tracts of land bounded by mountains woods and lakes, as they thought fitt; and eight of their principal Sachems did for the consideration given them, signe and seal an instrument of conveyance in like solemn manner as any other Indians had done before. Yet they did reserve to themselves and their heirs such parcell's of those tracts as they or their heirs should have occasion to plant.

The Petitioners having brought this contract, a grant was accordingly ordered, for it appeared that the Mohacks our friends had hereby the same use of the lands which they ever had made before, and that hereby the French were excluded from such purchase. And I was in particular so satisfied herein, that I ordered the petitioners should not pay even the common fees of the Seal.

How those Mohacks are now stirred up to complaine I know not, nor will I surmise; but if the grant doe really offend them and may breed the ill consequences that are suggested, 'tis not very hard for the Governour to vacate the same. In the mean time if any defect appear in this or any other grant for not reserving sufficient quit rent or covenants for improvement, surely Mr Attorney who drew such things and best knew the formes and methods of the Province, is most accountable for the same.

As for the lands which had been before in possession your Lordships will certainly find in your books, how all the most valuable land of that Province had been granted away before I came to the place, and that some Governours had had large tracts thereof.

Grant of the King's garden. To what your Lordships mention in particular of some part of the King's Garden granted away I thus remember that in the beginning of the year 1696, Colonel Caleb Heathcote did petition that he might have liberty to erect a wood wharfe (as a thing of publick convenience) on a wast peice of ground lying Westward of the Stockadoes of the King's Garden, and so down to the low water marke, about 120 foot in front. There was a committee of the Council appointed to survey the ground and upon their report a lease was granted him for 41 years at four shillings rent and one shilling quit-rent; I never saw or did know that this spott was reputed any part of the King's garden, or that it could be of necessary use to any Governour. I am sure it lay in the wast I found as to me.

Grant of the King's farme.

For the land mentioned called the King's Farme I did indeed grant a lease of the same, and the case was thus. When Sr Edmond Androse was there Governour and managed for the Duke of Yorke, he granted a lease of that Farme for 20 years, and under the yearly rent of sixty bushells of wheat. The term expired in the year 1697. I was offered £200 for a lease, and I refused it. But in as much as a church was then building for the English part of the Colony and of which it was destitute before my time; I did, for encouragement of that worke grant a lease thereof to the Church Wardens; it was without fine, at the old reserved rent, and only for seven years. But if building churches be a crime, I shall take warning how I build any more. I will only add that as I never took one acre of land for myself or children, so had I never any reward for any that was granted.

The several complaints in the 16th head sound highly criminal against me as a soldier, till I acquaint and explaine to your Lordships the state of every branch thereof.

I doe utterly deny any hard usage from me to the soldiers and doe detest the charge of having either defrauded them in any part of their subsistance or of what was allowed by the country (which was but for one year) or ever stopping their subsistance when any of them were allowed to worke. On the contrary it was my constant care, by standing victuallers, to provide them with wholesome dyet and all due encouragement that I was able; yet could not all my care hinder the death of some and the desertion of many more.

As for the cause of this and the harsh charge of sending home full muster rolls when the men were not half the number, I begg leave to set forth, that while the country rayed soe much for the warr, as that the soldiers had 4<sup>d</sup> a day thereout, for their better subsistance in that dear place (which help was granted and enjoyed but for one year) the desertions were very few, but it was quite otherwise when this help failed, for then some numbers deserted, and I was very hard put to it to supply them for having no power to press the men of the Colony, which was but thinly peopled, I was constrained to hire men at their own rates, often at 4-£ and sometimes £5. per man, nor would any of them indent for above one year's service, and when deaths and desertions were thus recruited by my advancing of considerable sums, then and not before were the Muster Rolls sent home full, for had it otherwise been, the whole charge and maintenance of those recruits must have rested upon me. This was the method I held till my government was put into another hand and noe power left in me to recover what I should in like manner lay out. And I do agree that at my successors arrivall and after the peace, there were many men found defective, and 'tis not to be wondered at for the poor soldiers had wanted as well their cloaths as their off' reckonings for above two years. But who it was that stopt the comming of these things when sent for and in a way of providing, and who had the tallies of £1500 for these ends, your Lordships may at the Earle of Ranelaughs office be easily informed, as also elsewhere the reason why in the dearth of men complained of, 17 of my company most of them sent as recruits from England should be disbanded, without the cloathes they had served for or any money in lieu thereof, which I mention not but in compassion to men I know, and who bring their cries to me, when [I] am not able to help them.

For the 17th complaint of neglecting the fortifications of the Frontier, and the not demolishing the fort of Caderaquy when deserted by the French, I say to this last part.

That being at Albany I did not only call a Councill of warr but had conference with the Indian Sachems about the worke. They did confesse that the said Fort was 400 miles off, that it was built of lime and stone, and a regular fortification; that it was scituate on a point of land between a river and a lake; that the mountains and morasses in the way made marching very difficult even for light and single men (one of those morasses being 20 miles long) upon which the Councill considering the force and the materials that must be employed in such a distant worke, they were unanimous, and signed under their hands that it was not practicable.

I did hereupon furnish the Indians with armes and amunition to defend that Fort if a re-settlement should be attempted. I charged them to be upon their guard and promised them upon timely notice I would send succours to them. But the French came afterwards and surprised them; they never sent notice, and have still acknowledged that it was their owne fault and misfortune; however they come to be otherwise now instructed. Time was that they themselves were of another mind when they gave me the nick name of the Grand Swift Arrow, as acknowledging in their way my being suddenly with them upon every call.

As to the other part of our own frontier fortifications; they were always of wood, which is very subject to moulder and decay: I found them very bad. But the forts of Albany and Schenactedy were both new stockadoed by me, and I supply'd them with such addition of great gunns and necessaries during the whole warr, as that the enemy durst not approach; nor was I wanting in this part where the danger was less, whatever has been said or printed to the contrary against me. For at New Yorke I made up all the soddworke anew, the two bastions towards the sea I flagged with free stone, the curtaine between those two bastions I built up new from the ground, the well new made, and a very large cistern for receiving water, half the soldiers barracks pull'd down and rebuilt, new carriages for thirty six gunns, a paint house upon collums for securing the feild peices and their carriages from the weather, the chaple new built and all finished to pews. As to the Governour's house it was all new shingled by me, two rooms wainscoted, an addition thereto built from the ground with brick and shingled and secured from the weather, tho' not finished within; a new pump made without the Fort Gate and one thousand and fifty tonns of lime paid for and lodged in the new house, for the pointing and refitting the Fort.

To the 15th complaint for granting to one Nodine a Frenchman an illegal letter of Denization.—I say, that the desire of New Yorke and other plantations being for an increase of settlers among them, I did follow the example of my predecessor and did grant denizations to severall of the poore French. I do not remember Nodine in particular, but this I well remember, that whereas M<sup>r</sup> Attorney demanded £5. fee in such cases, I did forbid any fees at all to be taken from the poor French Protestants, and this I presume is now remembered on me. But surely if any thing has been done of this kind contrary to the formes or intentions of the law, as some body else is to blame, soe no such grants can injure the plantation Trade, for that they all are void. I here observe that 'tis only in this single article objected that I proceed without any authority; soe that if in all other things I went by the advice of the Council, 'tis as my instructions commanded me to doe.

For the 19th and last complaint that I neglected to write to the French Governour of Canada when I sent him notice of the Peace, which was resented by him as a slight: I say, that I had no notice of the Peace from Whitehall or any orders about it; yet hearing from my friend the Lieutenant Governor of New England that there was a peace, I sent notice of what I heard, to the Commander of Mountreall for prevention of any hostilities, that being the garrison next bordering to New Yorke. But I never sent to the Governour of Canada, nor could I have written to him in the French tongue, if I had so desired.

Thus far my Lords I am able to answer without knowing my accusers or their evidence, or in what manner I am attack't, and without having more allowed me then the bare heads of complaints. But I can not be ignorant that there are two Scotchmen gott into credit who are my mortall enemies, men that are able not only to trouble a Province, but to turne it upside down; and if these men can by successive complaints keep me under prosecution they have their ends. For I am thus hindred from any credit with your Lordships in what I might be able to say, upon near six year's experience, for his Majesty's service, both as to the peace of that Colony and the preservation of our Indian friends. God grant that the needfull informations may not come too late.

As to myself, when I consider the cloud I am under and the bitterness with which I am pursued, even to gall, and that all my actions are rausack't 'tis truly a wonder that in so many years administration I should not have fallen into more absurdities and errors that what my enemies accuse me of. 'Tis certain that a Governour must make some enemys, if he will either punish bad men, or even prevent them in their ill designs. But were I that wicked man they paint me for, where are the complaints of any single man that is credible, or of any body of men, either in New Yorke, Pensilvania or Connecticut, where I alsoe commanded, or from the Jerseys with whom I had neighbourhood and intercourse, or from New England, which tho' remoter, I still held correspondence with. 'Tis certain I ever did to the best of that understanding which God gave me, tho' not what a wiser and a greater man might have done.

I hope your Lordships are at this time convince'd that I never touch't any of the publick money, and that there was no reason to require at my parting those exorbitant bonds of ten thousand pounds, and for which 14 principall men were bound with me, and are still kept under that obligation without any cause.

It has been most invidiously reported of me that I had gotten, some say forty, but others, twenty thousand pounds at least, and made this the measure of my guilt.

My Lords, I doe herein expose myself to the utmost scrutiny that can be invented, if what I say be not the truth. I have not gott full three thousand pounds if I had all that is my due. It is as yet little above £2000. and when I shall receive the arrears due to me from the Exchequer and what I have advanced for subsistance of the Companies, it will all fall under £3000. Mr Gilbert Heathcote can better than any man give your Lordships information herein. But I submit to your Lordships if after goeing with my wife children & family to so remote a part, goeing twice from New Yorke to Pensylvania, once to Connecticut, every Summer to Albany, staying there a severe winter, and being in every place where the danger of the warr called me; whether the gaining £3000. for six years care in the best part of my life, be an invidious summe.

Wherefore my trust now is in your Lordships justice and candor, that I may not be stifled by my enemies, but that your Lordships will in your report of these things concurr with His Majesty's gracious opinion of me, when I was recalled. His Majesty then declared that it was not on any account of his being dissatisfied with me, but that he would take care of me and otherwise employ me for the future. *

Memorial of Mr. Weaver to the Lords of Trade.

[New-York Entries, B. 146.]

To the Right Honourable the Lords of the Councill for Trade and Foreign Plantations.

The humble Memoriall of Thomas Weaver Agent for the Province of New Yorke.

That the Earl of Bellomont hath given repeated instructions to represent to your Lordships the miserable state of the Forces of New Yorke

The Officers and Soldiers have neither had subsistance nor pay out of the Treasury for these twenty four months past.

The sentinells have been subsisted by victualers who have given credit to the Government there, whereby so large a debt is contracted that without some speedy care they are not willing to give further credit.

The officers have likewise had but private sentinells subsistance on the same credit; except five hundred pound which the Earl of Bellomont paid them and drew bills for England, which are since discharged by a payment out of the Exchequer.

Without immediate care be taken it is feared that the credit of the government with the Victuallers there will sink, the soldiers desert, and the officers give up their Commissions, the Indians fall off when they find we have no strength there to support them, the rich trade of furs we now have with them will be lost to the French, and for want of their assistance the whole province be in danger in case another war should break out.

The forces of New Yorke are on the same Establishment with the forces in England and (as is presumed) are to be paid out of the same funds.

The Earl of Bellomont requests your Lordships speedy representation of these matters to his Majesty and the Right Honourable the Lords Commissioners of the Treasury, in order to obtain the subsistence and pay of the forces under his Government; which is nevertbelesse humbly submitted to your Lordships great wisdom, by

My Lords

Your Lordships most humble Servant

Decembr the 29th 1698.

Lords of Trade to the Earl of Bellomont.

[New-York Entries, B. p. 213.]

To the Right Honourable the Earl of Bellomont His Majesty's Captain Generall & Commander in Cheif of his Majesty's Provinces of the Massachusetts's Bay, New York and New Hampshire in America and of the Territories thereupon depending &c Or to the Commander in Cheif of His Majesty's Province of New York for the time being.

My Lord.

We writ your Lordship the 25th of October last what there occur'd and have all along since that time been making what progress we have been able in the severall things you have writt about unto us. Two copies of our said letter were put into the hands of M<sup>r</sup> Weaver to be sent forwards by different conveyances and we can not doubt but one or both of them have reached your Lordships hands.

The letters we have received from your Lordship since those therein mentioned, are dated the 14th and 21st of September, the 21st and 24th of October, and the 7th 8th and 12th of November last, together with all the papers therein mentioned and refer'd to; and we have also seen what your Lordship has writ at the same time or by the same conveyances to our Secretary.

Upon the whole as we cannot but again observe your Lordship's very great application to his Majesty's service in reforming the many abuses which have been practised in the Province of New Yorke and taking such measures as may tend to the better improvement of that Province for the future (which deserves the highest commendation) so we are no less sensible of your Lordships exact and clear method in all your dispatches and therefore again desire the continuance of it. Only in this place we observe upon the late letters relating to the Revenue and M<sup>r</sup> Brooks's conduct in receiving and collecting the same, that we should have been glad to have known what information you gave the Lords of the Treasury about the same things at the same time, as you were pleased to informe us on the like occasion in your former dispatches; because such advices may some times save us a needless trouble.

You will undoubtedly have received a letter from their Excellencies the Lords Justices of the 25th of October last, grounded upon a representation which we laid before them relating to the state of that Province in which are such particular instructions as we hope will effectually remedy a great part of the irregularities that you have complained of, and enable you to settle the affairs of that Province in such a method that your repairing to your other governments (when you find it convenient) may breed no inconvenience in the affairs of New Yorke. But we do not in this take upon us to order or direct any thing for your Lordships going to New England or staying at New York (as your Lordship seems to expect from us by your letter of the 14th November to our Secretary) more than what seems necessary or convenient in your own prudence according to the circumstances of things that lye before you.

Besides the generall representation aforementioned upon which their Excellencies foresaid letter was grounded; we also laid before them another relating to the Forces and Fortifications of that Province, offering our opinion that Colonel Romar might stay longer for the repair of the Fortifications; with which their Excellencies were pleased to concur, tho' we understand since that those orders will come too late. And we likewise therein proposed that two hundred recruits might be sent for the forces; but upon that no determination has yet been taken. However we are not yet unmindfull either of the necessity of those recruits or of provision for the pay of the forces now there, and shall therefore in all proper occasions promote both those things to the utmost of our power.

What you have advised us about the Governour of Canada's insisting upon the French King's right of Sovereignty over our Five Nations of Indians has been laid before His Majesty, as also what M<sup>r</sup> Stoughton has informed us about the incroachments made by the French of Accadie upon the territories of New England and their pretence to the sole right of fishing upon the banks in the high Sea, which lye off that coast; all which matters will come properly under consideration when the French commissioners that are to be sent hither to treat about the bounds of territories in America, do arrive.

You will easily conceive that our forementioned Representation upon the state of that Province could not be made without a long deduction of many matters of fact (as we received them from your Lordship) relating to Colonel Fletcher. But as we did not think fit (without being required) to offer any opinion thereupon with relation to him in particular, We have been since ordered to hear him upon those matters and then report our opinion. We are therefore now employed in making what progress therein we are able, and shall not only hear Colonel Fletcher but M<sup>r</sup> Weaver also, in answer to what he has already offer'd or may further say; of which your Lordship shall in due time be informed as may be necessary.

Your Lordship's aforementioned letters which are dated in November, we have but just now received and have not yet been able to digest the matters contained therein, for any report. But in the mean while upon reading of that of the 5th we cannot but think it highly necessary that your Lordship proceed to cause an exact and thorow audit to be made of the accounts as you therein propose; that so any corruption which may have been in the management of any part of the publick treasure may be fully detected, and those that are found guilty thereof be made to refund, or otherwise suffer as justice shall require.

In your letter of the 12th of November you mention an omission of the Clarke to enter upon the Council Books your having advised with the Council in granting a commission of Oyer and Terminer for the tryall of a soldier for killing an Indian Sachim and thereupon desire that the said soldier may be pardoned; unto which we must answer that the Indians are known to be of so vindictive a temper that the pardoning of any who has done them so capital an injury, is a matter of very nice consideration, lest their resentment of such an offence should tend to alienate their affections. So that tho' some of them have interceded for this man's life yet your Lordship ought to be very well assured of their general inclination before he be absolutely pardoned; and therefore we chuse not to move any thing in that matter, but leave him (as he lies at present) under your Lordship's suspension of the execution of his sentence. And as to your Lordship's apprehensions from the above mentioned omission, we can only answer that we hope Colonel Courtland's and M<sup>r</sup> Graham's testimony (if they do remember your Lordships taking the consent of the Council in the matter) will be of good efficacy to prevent any inconvenience that might otherwise ensue thereon. However if your Lordship please to send us a copy of the foresaid Commission of Oyer and Terminer, that may perhaps enable us to judge better of the case.

Besides the papers which you have transmitted to us relating to Colonel Fletcher's conduct in the government of New Yorke, there has one thing come occasionally from Mary Land, which having been laid by the commissioners of the Customes before the Lords Commissioners of the Treasury and by them before the Lords Justices, was refer'd unto our consideration, vizt: certain letters of Denization bearing date the 5th of November 1697. granted by Colonel Fletcher to Arnould Nodine a Frenchman, in such extensive terms that upon the seizure and tryall of a vessell (whereof he was Master) in Mary Land, he was adjudged there to be qualified to trade as an Englishman. Which being of evill consequences to England and directly contrary to all the Acts of Trade made here; we accordingly offered to their Excellencies our opinion thereupon in a representation, whereof we send you here inclosed a copy; because we suppose the substance of it may not be unusefull to your self in the like occasions.

In a letter from M<sup>r</sup> Randolph dated in New Yorke the 25th of August last, he sent us a list of vessells cleared out in the Custom house in New Yorke from the 25th of March to the 17th of August last for Curasso and Madagascar; and as your Lordship has already been very watchfull upon the trade with Madagascar and we have* sent you a late<sup>r</sup> Act of Parliament for your further conduct therein; so we cannot but upon this notice of trade with Curasso advise your Lordship to be alike watchfull upon the returne of vessells from thence, that they be not allowed in any thing contrary to the Acts for Trade.

Upon this mention of Madagascar which has been the great rendezvous of Pirates it may be proper to acquaint your Lordship that preparations have some while been making here for sending a squadron of ships of Warr to suppress them there and at S<sup>ta</sup> Maria, or where ever else in those seas they can be met with, and that in order to the reducing of them either by offers of pardon or otherwise directions were given for a proclamation proper for that service, in which (upon news of Captain Kidd's having committed some notorious acts of Piracy) his name was ordered to be joyued with Every's as persons to be exempted from pardon, which we suppose hath been or will accordingly be don.

We see nothing in all your Lordship's conduct upon your meeting with the Indians at Albany, nor in your message since that to the Onondages but what seems very proper for retaining them in their subjection to the Crown of England; which is certainly most necessary and must be always endeavoured by all means possible. We should have been glad to have understood upon that occasion or by any other of your letters, what became of those Indians that were here, and returned to New Yorke under the care of M<sup>r</sup> Brook and M<sup>r</sup> Nicoll; for we doubt much of their sincerity and suspect their inclination, byassed in favour of the French, may incline them to do us more harme than good.

Your Lordship's proposal in your letter of the 1st July that some part of the stock of the Corporation for evangelizing the Indians should be employed towards the instructions of the Five Nations in the neighbourhood of New Yorke, seemed unto us very reasonable, and we thereupon moved it to S<sup>r</sup> Henry Ashurst, but were answered by him that their stock is (by the Charter of their incorporation) appropriated to New England and cannot be employed elsewhere. However we intend to inquire further into that matter, and if your Lordship can give us any further light, or that your presence in New England (when you come there) can any way facilitate the thing; we will certainly use our utmost endeavours here to promote it.

What you have advised us about the obstinacy of the Jerseys in the business of Perth Amboy is in our opinion a matter of great weight, and we should not have neglected one hour in putting some order to it, but that we observe by the papers which you have sent us how they found their claim, chiefly upon certain commissions or orders from the Commissioners of his Majesty's customes here, under the direction of the Lords of the Treasury in pursuance of the Act of the 25th of King Charles the Second; which hath obliged us to seek some information from them, unto which we have not yet received answer; but we shall make all the expedition therein that is possible for us, and in the mean while we can not but advise your Lordship strictly to pursue his Majesty's instructions which you have already about that matter.

We are very sensible of the inconvenience which your Lordship advises us to have happened upon the recalling of the Fowey frigate by particular directions to the Captain without any advice to your Lordship or deference therein to your authority; which as we suppose your Lordship hath represented to the Lords of the Admiralty, so we hope they will in future occasions take care to prevent the like. But however as for the want which is thereby occasioned of a man of Warr to attend his Majestys service in that Province, as there is the like want also in some others; we are now preparing a representation upon the whole, that such ships may be sent to each place as seems necessary, in which we will be mindfull also of your Lordship's desire that one of those to be sent may transport your Lordship to New England, tho' we cannot promise ourselves that such a ship will be so soon ready as that you ought thereupon to neglect any other opportunity of repairing thither, when you find that the state of his Majesty's affairs under your conduct do's require it.

Your Lordship's letter of the 24th of October is chiefly about the Forts and Fortifications necessary to be built upon the Frontiers, and you therein promise in your next to propose a fund for that charge. Accordingly in your letters of the 5th of November you write that you are apt to beleive that Colonel Fletcher's debt (if a strict audit of the publick Accounts and survey of the buildings were made) would be found to be more than sufficient to build the two Forts at Albany and Schenectady. This being therefore a matter that requires further inquiry (and for which reason we again recommend that inquiry unto your care) we are forced to suspend awhile our determinations thereupon, and consequently the propositions also which we should otherwise think very fit to be made about those fortifications, for want of the prospect of a ready fund out of which to supply that charge.

We have received the Mapp of the Province that your Lordship hath sent us, which seems to be very exact and will be of good use upon all occasions. But the printed collection of laws that you have sent us, is not so perfect as it ought to be: not only some of the Acts seeme to be misplaced, in respect of the order of time in which they were past, but there are also in some places leaves wanting, which breake the sence. We intreat your Lordship therefore to let another collection be made with more exact care and transmitted to us.

Upon what your Lordship desires in your letter of the 21st September last about the mustering of servants, we are not able to give any directions at all; only we send you here inclosed a copy of his Majesty's orders about that matter which we refer unto your consideration.

What remains in your Lordship's letters not now answered shall be the subject of our next. We are

Reply of Mr. Weaver to Colonel Fletcher's Answer.

[New-York Entries, B. 225.]

Proofs of the Heads of Complaint relating to Colonel Fletcher's conduct in the Government of New Yorke. With a Reply to the answer given by Colonel Fletcher to the said charge.

Humbly offered to the consideration of the Right Honourable the Lords Commissioners of the Council for Trade and Forreigne Plantations.

Articles 1. 2. 3. 4.

proved by {	Burgess's Deposition	Staat's & Lewis' Depositions
	Taylor's Deposition	Minutes of the Council Extraordinary.
	Minutes of Council about protecting Pirates	Protections of Lewis Potter and Rynderson
	Act of the Country ag <sup>t</sup> Pirates	Attorney Generalls memorials about Coats Tew and Hore.

The answers to these heads of complaint are bare allegations directly contrary to positive depositions and other proofs.

Colonel Fletcher excuses his protecting of the Pirates of the Ship Jacob, as being ignorant that they were pyrates, and that he did it in compliance with the importunity of the Council on important reasons of State. But the fact is proved otherwise by Taylor's deposition, who swears that he acquainted Colonel Fletcher that the ship had been in the Red Sea and had taken treasure from the subjects of the Great Mogull. And the minute of Council Saith expressly that he proposed the matter himself to the Council for their concurrence, that these privateers should have the benefit of the mercy of the Act of the Country, and the Council agreed only to that particular that they could not be denied the benefit of that Act; so that by the record it appears apparently false that Colonel Fletcher ever convinced the Council that these men had no benefit by this Act or ever attempted it, but expressly the contrary. Nor are any such reasons of State taken notice of in the said minute, as reasons for encouraging these privateers to come in, nor was there any occasion for such reasons then, whatever use Colonel Fletcher hath now of them for his defence) for that it was the joyn't opinion of Colonel Fletcher and Council that the Act of the Country gave them that benefit.

It is observable that Coll. Fletcher excuses and shelters himself under the unanimous opinion of the Council, when that Council were so influenced by him as seldome to deny any thing he proposed to them, and two of them (who were then present) viz<sup>t</sup> M<sup>r</sup> Nicolls and Colonel Bayard, are now discovered to have received rewards themselves for gaining Protections for Pirates from Colonel Fletcher. and even for transacting the same for this very crew, M<sup>r</sup> Nicolls received the sum of eight hundred dollars; as appears by the depositions, and M<sup>r</sup> Nicolls' confession before the Earl of Bellomont.

Colonel Fletcher positively denies that he made any agreement or had reward for protecting these pirates except their ship. Whereas the deposition of Taylor says expressly that an agreement was made with him for seven hundred pounds to be paid him for the Protections and that the ship was given him in lieu of the said payment. D<sup>r</sup> Staats and Alderman Lewis their depositions prove what reward Colonel Fletcher had for Rynderson and Lewis's protections, by Colonel Bayard's means, who had likewise himself a reward for the same. And it appears by the Attorney Generall's Memorial about Coats, that many other protections were given altho' not certainly known what they cost, but that the common price was known to be one hundred Dollars per man.

Colonel Fletcher owns that the ship was publicly given him as a present by the owners, and gives the reason of his acceptance of her, for that she lay under no forfeiture, condemnation or arrest. Whereby he confesses his neglect in not seizing her for the King when he was fully informed by Taylor that she had committed piracy, as appears by his deposition.

Colonel Fletcher saith he never touch'd the eight hundred pounds the ship was sold for, but that it was honestly paid to the victuallers of the Forces. Yet acknowledges that he ordered the Agent of the Forces in England to returne the value thereof into Ireland for his private use when he should receive it out of the Treasury in England.

Colonel Fletcher reflects on the method of taking depositions against him, as if threats were made use of. But the contrary is well known to your Lordships, that the evidence of Taylor and Burgess were obtained by promisses that there would be intercession made for his Majesty's mercy to them, if they should accuse themselves in discovering their practices with Colonel Fletcher; who otherwise were unwilling to disclose the same; and of this the Earl of Bellomont hath given an account in his letters to your Lordships of the 18th May 1695. And therefore it is presumed that Colonel Fletcher can produce no credible evidence of such threats, but makes use of the suggestion to discredit the proof.

Colonel Fletcher's misfortunes under the common calamity's of Ireland may raise pitty, but never excuse his taking rewards to protect pyrates and not seize their ship, which made it capable of being made a present to himself; and yet this is his last and strongest part of his defence to this part of his charge; only adding this severe question WHAT GOVERNOUR UNDER SUCH CIRCUMSTANCES WOULD NOT DO THE LIKE? To which it may with truth be replied that the Earl of Bellomont the present Governour of New Yorke hath suffered more and had greater misfortunes in Ireland as well as personall prosecutions even at the time that Colonel Fletcher was not disturbed in his patrimony, and from that power that prefer'd and advanced Colonel Fletcher. Yet the Earl hath not been prevailed on to act contrary to the interest of the trade of England, or to violate his Majesty's strict and repeated instructions to discourage pyrates, and hath therefore refused a present of five thousand pounds offered to him to grant protections to one company of pyrates, as M<sup>r</sup> Weaver can attest, who was likewise promised one thousand pounds for his negociating the same. This offer was made by one of Colonel Fletcher's friends and (as is beleived) one of the subscribers to the certificate of his honourable deportment in that Government.

So that (with submission) the charge of protecting the pyrates of the ship Jacob appears fully proved on Coll. Fletcher. What part he denies of it is fully proved by the depositions and minutes of Councill. The rest confessed, with labour'd and artificial colourings and palliations.

5.

The Fifth Article is likewise confessed that no security's for protected persons are to be found amongst the publick papers of that Province, and the reason given for it is because at the expiration of a year and a day the bonds were given up. To this it is replyed that no such bonds were ever deposited with the Secretary of the Province, who keeps the records of that government, as he declared on his examination before the Earl of Bellomont.

So that it still remains a charge on Colonell Fletcher to prove that such bonds were given by sufficient persons and where such bonds were lodged during their being in force.

Colonel Fletcher excuses the non prosecution of the bonds, because no complaints were brought before him whereon to ground a suit. To which it is replyed, that where bargains are made and money so publickly given to Governours for protections, there small encouragement is given to gain evidence to make discovery's, and is a sort of forbidding prosecution. And common reason tells us that there is just ground of suspicion, and good cause to search for evidence of their guilt, whose terrour of mind makes them apply with a price to a Kings Governour to obtain that protection of the King's laws which every subject is sufficiently intitled to by birth and the oath of allegiance. And in this case besides the particular information Colonel Fletcher had from Taylor, common fame and the generall publick knowledge of these pyrates make it difficult to be beleived that a Governour could be ignorant, who was not bought to be so; which is the true reason why the Earl of Bellomont hath receiv'd such full informations about these matters.

Proved by { Wick's deposition
Reyner's discharge
De Peyster's Oath

The Sheriffs Letter
Emotts deposition
East India Company's Memo<sup>n</sup>

Colonel Fletcher in his answer to the fourth Article declares he never had any reward for any commission or protection. And yet in answer to this he doth not deny that he gave a discharge for Reyners treasure seized by the Sherrif and a protection for his person, and accepted a present of fifty pounds, but excuses it by saying,—"If there were a treasure he might have been suddenly rich by it and not complained of now." Which (with submission) doth not appear so very intelligible a reason for taking the fifty pounds but rather to insinuate the improbability of what he doth not deny to have accepted.

It is very obvious that Rayner being utterly a stranger to Colonel Fletcher had no occasion to give Colonel Fletcher fifty pounds for a discharge of his chest and a protection for his person, if his treasure and person were not both in hazard on a due prosecution. Nor could Colonel Fletcher legally order restitution of a treasure seized by the Sherrif on suspicion of piracy, which by law the Sherrif had power to seize and which ought to have been discharged by due course of law; nor doth it appear that Colonel Fletcher made any inquiry into the matter, summon'd the Sherrif or examined any witness about it, but at the single instance of Rayners friend Wick (who was introduced to Colonel Fletcher by one Emmott, an intimate friend of Colonel Fletchers and now his attorney at New York) and a promise of fifty pounds reward a discharge for the chest was obtained without any security's taken to answer any process at Law. So that this pyrate escapes as others did in Coll. Fletcher's Government, not one of them being ever convicted or prosecuted on their returne thither from whence they set out, of which they were assured, and made their publick bragg; as appears by the Memoriall of the East India Company.

7.

Prooved by—Lieutenant Hutchins, and his wive's depositions.

Colonel Fletcher hopes the truth of this will be discovered. And it is presumed that it is so by Captain Coates his declaring in the presence of the Deponents that his protection cost him thirteen hundred pounds to Colonel Fletcher.

8.

Prooved by { Record of the pyrats Commissions
Attorney Generall's Memoriall about Tew & Hore
Common fame and the publick knowledge of the Inhabitants of New Yorke.

Colonel Fletcher gives the opinion of the Council as a reason for granting them Commissions; which is rather an aggravation then excuse; for Colonell Fletcher well knew that most of the Councill were trading merchants, and it hath since been discovered that severall of them were concerned in the cargo of the ship Fortune which arrived at New Yorke from Madagascar laden with East India goods taken out of Hore the Pyrates ship; which advantage they could never have had if Colonel Fletcher had not granted Hore this Commission. And both Tew and Hore publickly declared for the Red Sea, and that they would make New Yorke their Port at their returne; which as it engaged men to follow them, so it sufficiently engaged these Councillours to consent to their having commissions altho' they had no ships then in the government of New Yorke.

Colonel Fletcher saith likewise that he gave them commissions for their bravery and courage, which are truest qualifications for great mischeif in these men, who were known to be of no morralls, but of the most dissolute principles as well as lewd and infamous behaviour. And it is generally reported by the inhabitants of New Yorke, that to Colonel Fletchers own knowledge and in his own company they have violated the laws of God and man by drunkenness, blasphemy & swearing. Tew was known to Coll. Fletcher to have been a pyrate before (which is seldome without the stain of murder) and yet Colonel Fletcher intrusts him with another commission on the credit of his pious oaths never to practice it again. Hore was much given to drunkenness and swearing, yet (as is generally reported at New Yorke) commanded Colonel Fletchers cellar and servants and committed excesses of debauchery in the Government house and company. Yet these scums of the people for birth principles and practices are entertained by Colonel Fletcher with the warmest caresses, high drinking and commissions. And it is natural to believe that these favours were bestowed for better reasons then Tew's being a pleasant man and Colonel Fletcher's wishing to make him a sober man by a present of a book (which it may well be presumed he never made use of, and a gunn) which it is believed he made use of in piracy.

Colonel Fletcher likewise excuses his familiarity with these men as becoming his character, being hospitable, and indeavours to justify himself by insinuating that worse have been and still continue to be done by others. The reflection (if designed on the Earl of Bellomont) is most unjust; who though he exceeds in hospitality all that ever was before him in that government, yet never admits excesses of drunkenness nor the blasphemous profanity of pyrates in his house or at his table, never gives them commissions, takes rewards for their protections, values their conversation and then gilds over the matter with the name of hospitality and the specious design of converting them.

10.

Prooved by {	Record of Moston's Commission	Condemnation of the ship Fortune in
	Charter Party of Freighters	the Admiralty
	Bonds given for performing instructions.	Paintree's deposition.

Colonel Fletcher owns that he knew that the ship Fortune was designed for a trading voyage and yet grants a commission for her to Captain Moston under colour of which she loaded without entry at the Custom house, and had a pretence to avoid being seized for being an unfree bottom, whereby she loads with goods proper for the pyrates as drink gunpowder and lead &c goes to Madagascar, returns laden to New Yorke with East India goods taken out of Hore the pyrat's ship commission'd by Colonel Fletcher.

It is indeed most proper for Colonel Fletcher to deny that he knew that she was an unfree bottom but he then certainly was the only person in New Yorke that was ignorant of her being a Dutch privateer under the command of Captain Daniell a Dutchman with a Dutch Commission, who hired her out to these merchants.

Nor is it strange that the Council should consent with Colonel Fletcher to grant this unfree bottom a commission; for that on her returne (when she was seized by the Earl of Bellomont's order and condemned for it) his Lordship was well informed that two and twenty of the principall merchants of the town and severall of them of the Councill, together with the Secretary, and Clerk of the Council were concerned and interested in the cargo. Which seizure disgusted them to the last degree against the Earl of Bellomont and was a great argument or motive of their certificate in favour of Colonel Fletcher, whose government never gave them a disturbance of that sort.

11.

Prooved by { Bonds of the Pyrate Captains { Depositions of Smith, Sharpas, Wenham and Syms about Honan's rasure.

The matter of fact cannot be denied by Colonel Fletcher to be true, but he would avoid the blame by pretending it did not belong to him to take care that the securitys were sufficient, which without doubt it properly did, if he had a just regard for the King's service and a care to prevent those who had been pyrates before, from being pyrates again; he then would have taken care of himself or have intrusted some in authority to do it; but instead thereof he leaves the whole matter to his clerk Honan, who with the pyrates Tew and Hore and an old Irish taylor, a beggar, are joynd in two bonds of three thousand pounds each, the bonds are left in Honan's hands, and on the Earl of Bellomont's arrivall at New Yorke are delivered up with the name and seal of Honan rased out of both bonds, and so the securitys given to the King utterly defeated, who otherwise might now be prosecuted on these shippes committing pyracy.

12.

Prooved by { Accounts of the revenue
 { Mr Randolph's Memoriall.
 { Minutes of the Councill about the ship Elizabeth.

Commission of the ship Fortune
 Proofs about the Bolting Act
 Colonel Beckman's Oath.

Colonel Fletcher endeavours to evade the charge that the revenue decreased whilst trade increased at New Yorke, and lays the occasion on the alteration of trade. But this disguise is easily taken off, by considering that the Customes did decrease and at the same time the Province never better supplied with plenty of East India goods, and European goods from Curasao and Scotland, which by connivance or negligence were never seized, except in the ship Elizabeth about fifteen hundred pounds worth of Scotch goods were seized which were discharged by Colonel Fletcher and Councill without tryall after she had been libell'd in the Court of Admiralty.

By these forbidden and illegal trades so conniv'd at, the trade from England was lessen'd, the City of New Yorke grew rich, but the Customes they decreased.

This decrease will undeniably appear to be by connivance and not by decrease of trade by comparing the entries of ships inwards and outwards of the severall quarters by which it will be plaine that the customes of New Yorke for the last Michaelmas quarter are two fifts more than of the said quarters for three years before and yet the entryes of ships inwards and outwards are far less, which may well be imputed to the greater care of this present Governour then of the last.

The City of New Yorke could not possibly grow rich by the Tradē they had with the West Indies (as is suggested) for that is chiefly in flower; for that by Colonel Fletchers passing an Act called the Bolting Act (which gave liberty to the whole Province to bolt flower which before was restrained to the City of New Yorke, and thereby a care taken to prevent adulterating it) the price and value of New Yorke flower fell five shillings in the hundred below the price of Pensylvania and other flower, at Barbados and the Sugar Islands.

It likewise appears by the depositions that four hundred pounds was contracted for to be paid to Mr Nicolls (one of Colonel Fletcher's chief Councillors and intimates) by the Country of Sopus, to obtain the said Act, and one hundred pounds was actually paid him on that account on the very day that Colonel Fletcher and his Council passed the said Act; so that the City of New Yorke could not grow rich by this trade.

Beside Colonel Fletcher forgot what he affirms in the introduction to his defence, that the Colony never had more trade and plenty then when he left the place; and yet here he excuses the decrease of the customes by the decrease of the trade from Europe.

But these are strong inducements to beleive that Colonel Fletcher connived at forbidden trade, by his commission to an unfree bottom, viz<sup>t</sup> the ship Fortune afore mentioned, the numerous entrees of ships inwards and outwards at New Yorke, and yet a decrease of the customes; the illegal discharge of the Ship Elizabeth afore mentioned; connivance at the ship David a Dutch ship's being laden with provisions; the great quantitys of European goods the City was always furnished with and yet the Customs less; Colonel Fletcher never did constitute a Register as the Act of Parliament appoints; never constituted a Naval Officer to be a check on the Collector and illegal trade; and as a closing conviction, the whole body of merchants of New Yorke finding their account by the lessening of the revenue have joynd in the certificate (Colonel Fletcher mentions) to commend his just government under which they received so great advantage.

It is likewise matter of fact undeniable that there have been more seizures of goods made for breach of the Acts of Trade in the first six months of the Earl of Bellomonts government of New Yorke then in the near six years of Colonel Fletcher's: which hath raised the spleen of the merchants so against the Earl, that as they give him all the trouble and vexation in his government and raise all the calumnys of him here, so it is credibly informed that they have raised a summ of money by contribution, which they have sent for England there with to apply privately at Court to get the Earl removed from that Government, or, if that cannot be done, to procure the place of Collector of the Customes for some person that will winke at their illegal trade, whereby they gott their riches and in which they are now interrupted.

13.

Prooved by	{	Attorney Generall's Memorial about grants	Ranslaers grants of land	Patents of King's Farm and King's
		The plat of lands and lists of grants	Garden.
	{	Mohacks Henry, Joseph, & Interpretress's depositions	Charter of Dutch Church N <sup>o</sup> 7. referr'd in letter 21 th Oct. 1698.

The Plat of the Province and the list of the lands granted by Colonel Fletcher will demonstrate that it is apparently untrue that almost all the valuable lands of New Yorke were granted away before his entring on that government.

It is likewise incredible that Colonel Fletcher did not know that the grant to Colonel Heathcote was part of the Kings garden, for that the words of the grant are, PART OF OUR GARDEN.

The deceit used by Mr Dellius in the grant of the Mohacks lands is discovered in the depositions of Henry and Joseph, Indians, and the Interpretress all Christians, and in the printed conference of the Indians with the Earl of Bellomont.

The King's farm was leased out by Colonel Fletcher even when my Lord Bellomont was known to be on his voyage for New Yorke, as most of the other great grants were, after the Earl's designation to the government. Colonel Fletcher assumes the glory of building Churches which never was imputed to him as a crime, if it was true; but the Church of New Yorke was not built by him, but by a contribution of severall even of the French and Dutch Churches aswell as English, and an allowance of one hundred pounds p<sup>r</sup> ann<sup>m</sup> given to an English Minister by an act of the country, which is levied, the greater part of it, on Dutch and French inhabitants. Therefore there was no necessity to lease this farm to the Church Wardens, nor to call this lease a building of Churches, and make that the pretence of hindring a succeeding Governour from the beneficial use of the farme for the conveniency of his family.

Besides Colonel Fletcher accepted a considerable present of plate for granting a Charter to the Dutch Church of that City, as appears by their Church Books.

Colonel Fletcher saith he never had any reward for grants of lands, but common report at New Yorke saith otherwise and particularly that Captain Evans gave one hundred pounds for his grant and the Earl of Bellomont's letter to your Lordships of the 8th of Nov<sup>r</sup> 1698. speaks of two or three grants that he hath discovered to be bought after such a rate that Colonel Fletcher may be supposed to have gained four thousand pounds by grants of land, and reserved no considerable Quit-rents to the King, as appears by the grants: No regard was had to the great quantitys of land, for that M<sup>r</sup> Dellius who was one of the grantees of the Mobacks land, has, in lands granted to him, the quantity of seven hundred thousands of acres.

Colonel Fletcher lays the blame of all defects in the grants on the Attorney General; but he was excluded from attending the Council by Colonel Fletcher's order, and seldome any reference made to him on petitions for grants of land, (as was usuall in other Governour's time) but had positive orders to draw up grants of land after the manner the Governour commanded him; the whole proceedings of which he sets forth in his Memorial.

He positively denys the charge, but it is prooved by the Victualer's lists which do not agree with the numbers in the musteroles, which is a fraud of £1496. of the King's money, by defective men.

It likewise appears by the Victualer's Accounts that he allowed but five pence p<sup>r</sup> day for a soldiers subsistance and yet gives no account of the overplus.

Colonel Fletcher for some time obleiged the victuallers to pay him yearly ten shillings p<sup>r</sup> man for each soldiers subsistance, which made their subsistance so much the worse.

There is likewise a list of twenty odd men in his own Company who received not the Country's bounty as there are lists of other Companies to the same purpose and yet the bounty of the Country was paid to Colonel Fletcher in order to be paid to the soldiers, but the neglect in this point caused severall to desert, whereas this bounty would have procured them cloaths, which Colonel Fletcher owns the want of made many desert

Colonel Fletcher likewise refused to pass the Act of Assembly to punish Deserters, so that their not being terrified from it, gave him the advantage of the pay due to them, and the Country bounty due to them to the time of their desertion.

But to hide the weakness of the defence to this article of the charge, it is invidiously insinuated that the Earl of Bellomont deferr'd the sending of the soldiers cloaths when he had received tallies for fifteen hundred pounds for that end.

It is true his Lordship received tallies for fifteen hundred pound, which was paid him in Malt ticketts whereby he lost twenty five  $\text{£}$  per cent, which made the sum so deficient that his Lordship was forced on his own credit and bond to raise seven hundred pounds to be able to carry cloathing to the Soldiers (which he did and the best they ever had there) and his Lordship at this present time pays interest for the seven hundred pounds.

Colonel Fletcher likewise recriminates that seventeen of his company recruits from England were disbanded by the Earl without the Cloaths they served for, and that they cry to him. This is untrue, for but seven were disbanded, and those such as had petitioned to be discharged for their lameness or age, and unable to doe further service, as appears by the certificate of the Lieutenant of the Company. They did indeed demand cloathes which my Lord could not give them for the cloathes were not arrived then at New Yorke, and when the cloathes came some of those disbanded were gone, but others who stayed at New Yorke had about four pounds p<sup>r</sup> man allowed them as the value of their cloathes, which was justly paid them and so it is hoped no room left for Colonel Fletcher's compassionate complaint against the Earl of Bellomont.

Prooved by {	Colonel Romar's letters	N <sup>o</sup> 2. of the Manuscript referr'd
	Report of the Fort of New York by Coll. Cortlandt	to in D <sup>o</sup> about Cadaraque
	Printed Conferences with Indians referred to in letter 14 th Sept <sup>r</sup> 1698.	Attorney Generals Memorial about Frontiers.

The printed Conferences with the Indians and other papers refer'd to in the letter of the 14th of Septemb. and the 12th of November 1698. do undeniably demonstrate that the Fortifications were neglected to the last degree; that Colonel Fletcher broke his promise to the Indians to destroy Cadaraque and hinder it's resettlement of the French; that he never raised the forces for which he received money raised by the Assembly, but instead of three hundred men which were appointed he tooke with him but eighteen men of his own Company from New Yorke; march'd to Schenectady when he had intelligence the French were retreated and never saw the enemy; returned to New Yorke and never replac'd the garrisons in the Half Moon and in Quenestigione which were with drawn on the invasion of the French nor left any orders with the Commander of the Forces he left behind at the Frontiers (as Colonel Ingolsby can attest.)

And whereas at Colonel Fletcher's arrivall to the government the Out garrisons of the Half Moon and Quenestigione did secure all the Frontiers, so that the enemy made no insults but the Inhabitants remained on their estates and plowed their lands; yet after his arrivall viz<sup>t</sup> in the years 93. 94. and 95. in which the Assembly intrusted Colonel Fletcher to raise recruits to secure the Frontiers; then those out garrisons were withdrawn, and no orders given by Colonel Fletcher to the commanding Officer there to send out any scouts whereby the enemy surpris'd the out settlements, left them dessolate, and destroy'd, tooke Captive and kill'd and scalp'd many of the inhabitants. To remedy which neglect of Coll. Fletcher, the Assembly of the Province in the years 96 & 97. raised money, and (although they were no soldiers) took on themselves the security of the Frontiers and made Commissioners to send out scouts to discover the enemies; whereby the design to cut off Kinder-hook was prevented and the enemy cut off. Nor was any damage done afterwards to the Frontiers altho' the Garrisons were then weaker then ever they were before.

The Fort at New Yorke, some hundred of miles off the frontiers and the enemy, had indeed some reparations but yet was in a miserable condition at the Earl of Bellomonts arrivall, and this notwithstanding some thousands of pounds alleadged to be laid out on it by Collonel Fletcher, as appears by Coll. Cortlandt's report of it.

The Forts of Albany and Scenactady in much worse condition as appears by Collonel Romer's Report.

The Companys of Soldiers not half full notwithstanding the great sums raised by the Assembly to raise recruits and the great sums contributed by the neighbouring governments, yet scarce a man rais'd but the money converted to some other use by Collonel Fletcher.

Thus the Frontiers were destroyed, the Indians disgusted and dispersed and many of them lost; many plantations left desolate by the captivity killing and deserting of the inhabitants.

In deed the land is where it was for the French did never resettle it, so that his Majesties subjects may returne to it; and in this sense it is supposed Collonell Fletcher means that his Majesty lost no part of his dominion under his administration.

Last Article.

It is confessed that Collonel Fletcher did not write to the Governor of Montreal but sent notice only of the peace; because he had not orders from Whitehall, nor did he send to the Governor of Canada nor could he write to him in the French tongue.

If the omission be justified by these reasons yet the not writing to either of them either in English or French was the occasion of their resentment and had a very evill consequence, for that severall of our stoutest Indians were destroyed by the French Indians before the Earl of Bellomont's letter reached the French Governor's hands, who beleived they were not obliged to cease from acts of hostility or hearsay, and before the peace was signified to them from their own Prince or at least by letters from an English Governour, which they would have had regard to. Which Colonel Fletcher neglected to do for want of knowledge in the French tongue, altho' it is presumed his letters might have been sent in the same language of his message.

Conclusion.

The proofs of fact are Collonel Fletcher's accusers to your Lordships, and not two Scotchmen (as he suggests) altho' being Scotchmen would be no discredit to their evidence.

The Earl of Bellomont doth leave it on your Lordships justice whether he deserves the reflection on him insinuated by Collonel Fletcher of being too late in giving your Lordships the needfull informations for His Majesty's service, the peace of the Colony of New Yorke and the preservation of our Indian friends; or whether you will rather please to give credit to Colonel Fletcher's informations.

It is submitted to your Lordships wisdom whether Colonel Fletcher's answer to the charge against him doth intitle him to be discharged from the accounts of all publick moneys intrusted to him at New Yorke, where the Earl of Bellomont could not doe less then to require security from him, both on his Majesty's account and to quell the general cry and dissatisfaction of the people who were so loud and large in their charges against him in relation to his perverting of publick moneys.

And it is with great reason expected that an Assembly in New Yorke fairly chosen and justly returned, will examine the publick accounts and make a charge against Colonel Fletcher of many thousands of pounds, converted by him to other uses then they were raised for. As there will be likewise accounts of large sums belonging to his Majesty and the forces there, for which he hath not yet accounted; of which your Lordships are already informed of severall of the particulars.

Thus in obedience to your Lordship's commands and in behalf of the Earl of Bellomont and the Province of New York, for his Majesty's service, I have to the best of my understanding drawn up a reply to Colonel Fletcher's answer to the heads of the charge exhibited against him, according to what I could collect from the proofs; which is nevertheless humbly submitted to your Lordships great wisdoms, by

May it please your Lordships

New Yorke
Coll. Fletcher's
hearing.

This day being appointed for the hearing of Colonel Fletcher's business, M<sup>r</sup> Weaver attended on the one side with M<sup>r</sup> Attorney General as Council for the King; On the other side Colonel Fletcher with S<sup>r</sup> Thomas Powis as Council for him.

M<sup>r</sup> Attorney propounded that the method of proceeding in this matter might be by considering distinctly the several Heads of the Complaints against Colonel Fletcher's conduct in the Government of New Yorke, which had been delivered to him in the same manner as Colonel Fletcher had divided them in his answer thereunto; Which being agreed upon, The 1, 2, 3, and 5th Heads of that Paper were read: And after that, those Articles of his answer, which relate thereunto together with the preface unto the whole.

The M<sup>r</sup> Attorney in opening the matter, produced in confirmation of those Heads the following Papers, which were all of them read viz<sup>t</sup>

The Deposition of Samuel Burgess.

The Deposition of Edward Taylor.

A Minute of the Council of New Yorke of the 7th of April 1693.

An Act of the General Assembly of New Yorke for restraining and punishing Privateers and Pirates.

The Attorney General of New York's Report about Coates the Pirate.

And upon the reading of these Papers Their Lordships enquiring about the security that had been taken for the Protections therein mentioned, M<sup>r</sup> Weaver informed the Board that he was present when the Secretary of the Province declared to the Earle of Bellomont that no securities taken for the men belonging to the ship Jacob were ever committed to his hands.

To these things Sir Thomas Powis answered, First, by a complaint of hardship in that their Lordships had not thought fit to let Colonel Fletcher have Copies beforehand of the Papers now produced against him: To which M<sup>r</sup> Attorney replied that it would have been contrary to the method of proceeding in all such like cases. Then Sir Thomas argued That since the time when those things were don, there have some Acts of Indemnity been pass'd in England, which tho' they do not positively extend to these things don in America, yet the reason for not prosecuting things so long past might be the same. He added also that by the papers now produc'd he saw it would be necessary for them to desire time to send to America to get counter evidence, as he said Colonel Fletcher had already desir'd by his Petition to this Board: But producing a copy of that Petition M<sup>r</sup> Attorney observed that there was no such thing in it. Sir Thomas Powis argued further, from the Attorney General of New York's forementioned report, that he was himself criminal in not prosecuting Pirates; He pleaded, in Colonel Fletcher's vindication, the many addresses made unto him (whereof some since he was recalled) by the Inhabitants of that Province commending his Honourable and Worthy Conduct. And in answer to Taylor's Deposition, he said that Taylor had himself declar'd he was forced to make it; And then desired some persons now present might be heard.

Thereupon Colonel Bayard informed the Board that Taylor had told him he was impos'd upon in making that Deposition, and could not avoid it, but did not well know what he had said. Upon the forementioned Minutes of Council, Colonel Bayard also said that he was himself then a Member of the Council and present, and that the matter was freely debated by them. They were not over aw'd in it by Colonel Fletcher, but were unanimous in their opinion that the men belonging to the Ship Jacob should be admitted. Being asked about their Method of keeping the Minutes of the Council there, he said that they are very seldom read in Council, and doth not remember that he ever saw the Minute now produced till his being now in England. He went on complaining of the Earle of Bellomont's undue method in forcing witnesses to swear, and instanced in his requiring Colonel Beckman (on another occasion) to make oath to answer whatever should be asked him (tho' he were himself concerned in the business of that Enquiry) with threats to send him to Goal in case he refus'd. Being asked what information the Council had concerning the ship Jacob, and her having been upon a piratical voyage, and how they come to admitt her (as it is entred in the foresaid Minute of Council) as within the foresaid Act for restraining and punishing Privateers and Pirates; He answered that it was greatly suspected the said ship had been at the Red Sea; That they rely'd upon the information they had from M<sup>r</sup> Nicoll, who said he had it from Taylor, and made no Enquiry at all about the matter. As for the Act, he said he remembered indeed it was discoursed of;—But does not know why the Minute was entred in that manner.

After this Captain Evans being produced as a Witness that Taylor's deposition was forced; The deposition, lately made before a Master in Chancery by him the said Captain Evans upon that subject which had been sent hither some dayes ago by Colonel Fletcher was read.

Mr Chidley Prook was next offered to inform the Board about this matter, who said, That he had heard Mr Nicolls had acquainted Colonel Fletcher with the desire of Coates's men; And the thing was thereupon laid before the Council, in the Debate of which there was no manner of force upon them. He said he had heard also that security was taken for those men upon the granting them Protections. Being asked what it was that ship brought, and how it came she was not seized upon, and if there were no settled course or method there of examining into the truth of such suspicious matters; He answered that they were informed only that the men had got money; That there was a suspicion they had been at the Red Sea, but no evidence: And added, that the reason of admitting them was, lest upon refusal they should have gone away to some other country; And that the forementioned Act was not the reason of it. It was then asked whether any Order were made for inquiring about the ship and men, where they had been, and what doing, or taking any depositions relating thereunto; To which Colonel Bayard answered, No; There was no examination made, And he being then asked about the security said to be taken for these men in giving them their protections; He answer'd that it was the duty of the Secretary who gave the Protections to take those Securitys; Which Secretary, he said, was not the Publick Secretary of the Province, but Colonel Fletcher's Private Secretary, by name Mr Daniel Honan. And being further asked, the reason why these men sought for Protections, since any honest man might safely come into the Province and reside there without any such protection; He answered, that it was that they might be secure from being press'd aboard His Majesty's Men of War which were then there. But at the same time repeating the substance of those Protections which import only the Protection of the Law so long as the Persons to whom they are granted live ameanable thereunto, It was observed that they had no manner of relation to the pretence of securing Men from the Press.

After this, Sr Thomas Powis further produced three Affidavits, made lately here before a Master in Chancery, by Benjamin Aske, Jacob Mayle, and Mathew Ling, which were read; But withdrawn, as relating more to other matters than this.

Then Mr Attorney General (in further observation upon what had now been said to invalidate the forementioned Depositions produced by him) argued that it is impossible to have any information in such like things, but from the Persons concerned in them; And desired Mr Weaver might inform the Board what he knew concerning the Earle of Bellomont's carriage in taking those Depositions. Whereupon Mr Weaver said, that none but himself and the Attorney General of the Province were present when Taylor's Deposition was taken. And that all the inducement the Earle of Bellomont used to oblige him to declare his knowledge, was a promise that if he did it ingeniously his Lordship would intercede with the King for his pardon, And as for the instance Colonel Bayard had given of Colonel Beckman's being required to make Oath to answer such questions as should be asked him; He said that both the Attorney General of that Province and himself had given their Opinion to the Earle of Bellomont that Colonel Beckman was obliged (as any man might be, especially in matters of state or other high concernment) to give evidence in what did not concerne himself criminally (which was all required of him) And that Colouel Beckman had accordingly afterwards don it.

After this the 4, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, and 12 Articles, in the forementioned heads of Complaints against Colonel Fletcher, were read; together with his answer thereunto as before.

Then in Confirmation of the fourth Article M<sup>r</sup> Attorney produced the Depositions of D<sup>r</sup> Samuel Staats, and Alderman Leonard Lewis, which were read.

To the 6th Article he produced the Deposition of John Wick; The Deposition of Colonel Abraham De Peyster; Reyners's discharge; A letter from Sherif Hobbard to the Earle of Bellomont; And the Deposition of James Emott; which were all of them read; And together with those was produced a Memorial of the East India Company whereof that part which relates to Captain Tew's former Piracies, was also read; And being about to proceed, S<sup>r</sup> Thomas Powis desired he might first have leave to answer to what had now been produc'd.

Then Colonel Bayard being desired to inform the Board about the matter of D<sup>r</sup> Staats and Alderman Lewis's Depositions, in which he himself is named to have been the Transactor, between Colonel Fletcher and them; He said that upon the proposition made him by Alderman Lewis (his neighbour and friend) for obtaining the Protections therein mentioned, he writ to Colonel Fletcher, who was then in Pennsylvania; And receiv'd answer from him that he would make no bargain about that matter; Expressing himself, that Colonel Bayard knew it was not his principle to make any such Bargain; but that in sending him the Protections desired; Colonel Fletcher added that they might make what present they pleased. Being asked the reason why Protections were desired for these men, he said (as before) that it was to Secure them from being press'd; He said also that he does not remember D<sup>r</sup> Staats was with him, but only Alderman Lewis, And that the said Lewis told him the persons for whom Protections were desired had been abroad rambling, but did not say they had been with Captain Tew. The money mentioned in those Depositions he own'd to have receiv'd and said that he paid it, after Colonel Fletcher's return to M<sup>r</sup> Honan. Being asked what were those pieces of Arabian gold mentioned in the said Depositions, and if they were a known currant money in that Province; He said their value was about two Dollars a piece;—that they were not the currant money of the Province; but were now pretty common there, and had been so since the arrival of Captain Coates aforementioned not before.

In answer to these things M<sup>r</sup> Attorney produced a Copy of the Protection to Barnard Rinderson, mentioned in the said Depositions; Which being read was found to be agreeable to what Colonel Bayard had before repeated of the common form of those protections, but wholly foreign to the reason which he gave for the desiring of them. Then Colonel Bayard being asked what security was taken for these men, in delivering their Protections; He said that Colonel Fletcher indeed had ordered him to take Security; but the persons who applied for those Protections being his Neighbours and Friends, he did not take care to do it: Only when Colonel Fletcher came back, he told M<sup>r</sup> Honan that they were to give security, but does not know what was done thereupon. Being asked how long he had liv'd in that Province, he answer'd Forty five years; And that he had been long in Publick Employments, both under the Dutch and English Governmt<sup>s</sup>. Then asked whether the granting of such like Protections as these had been a thing practised formerly by other Governours, He answered that he does not know that any such Protections were formerly granted. But hereupon a By-stander, unask'd, saying, that Colonel Dungan had granted such like; Colonel Fletcher himself then said it had been a common practise.

Hereupon Sir Thomas Powis observing again that all this matter being about Transactions in America, and much of the evidence being new to them, he said it was necessary for them to desire time to send into America for counter evidence.

Then Mr Attorney proceeded to produce in confirmation of the 7th Article, the Deposition of John Hutchins and his wife which was read; And tho direct to that point, yet amounting to no more than a proof of what Coates had said, no further argument was made thereupon.

Upon the 5th Article Mr Attorney produced an Extract of the record of the Commissions granted by Colonel Fletcher to Tew, Glover, Hoar, and Moston, together with the Attorney General of New York's Memorial, to the Earle of Bellomont relating to Tew and Hoar, which were all read. And Mr Weaver being also call'd upon, declared that he being about the time of the date of Tew's Commission in the Leeward Islands, it was a thing notoriously known to every one that Tew had before then been a Pirate.

Then Sir Thomas Powis pleading that Colonel Fletcher might probably not know of Tew's former practise, when he granted that Commission; it was observed that Colonel Fletcher himself in his answer seems to admit it. Next, to shew that persons intrusted with such Commissions may become guilty of great crimes without the fault of those concerned with them, Sir Thomas Powis instanced in Captain Kidd, with whom the Earle of Bellomont himself together with others are concern'd. And then he produced an Extract of the Minutes of the Council of New York, of the 8th November 1694, by which it appears that the said Council did unanimously agree that Tew should have a commission. And in further opening of the occasion of granting Commissions to Hoare and Glover, he again produced the forementioned Depositions of Aske, Mayle, and Ling, which were also thereupon again read, and as before taken back.

To the 10th Article, which relates intirely to Moston's ship the Fortune, Mr Attorney produced the Charter party past with the Merchants who freighted her, whereof so much was read as tended to shew that she was an unfree bottom, but sent out upon account of Trade, to fetch Negroes and other goods from Madagascar. Next was read the Deposition of John Pantree relating to the voyage of the said ship; Then the Bond given by the said Moston upon his receiving his Commission, signed by himself and Thomas Wenham; And Mr Attorney further offered the condemnation of the said ship, upon her being seized, aft' her return to New Yorke; But that was admitted without reading. And hereupon Mr Attorney observed that this ship having been formerly a Dutch Privateer and thereby notoriously known to be an unfree bottom not qualified for Trade in the Plantations, it was evident that the said Commission was only given her for a Colour.

S<sup>r</sup> Thomas Powis answered thereunto that nothing is more common than for Merchantmen of any considerable force, who go upon voyages of Trade in time of War, to take along with them Commissions of War; Which was confirmed by Captain Evans, as things wherewith the Records of Doctors Commons are full. And concerning the said ships being an unfree bottom, Colonel Fletcher affirmed that he knew it not.

The hearing of all these things aforementioned having taken up much time, and the Council on both sides desiring that what remains might be deferr'd to some other day, Their Lordships agreed with them to adjourn the hearing of the remaining matter till Tuesday next at four of the clock in the afternoon.

New York
Coll. Fletcher's
2d hearing

Mr Attorney General with Mr Weaver, and Sir Thomas Powis with Colonel Fletcher, being again present, in order to the further hearing of Colonel Fletcher's business, the same method was followed as before, viz: By reading first each Article of the Heads of complaint against Colonel Fletcher, and then his answer thereunto.

In this manner Mr Attorney proceeded to the 11th Article, and then in confirmation thereof produced the Depositions of Thomas Wenham, Joseph Smith, William Sharpas, and Lancaster Sims, relating to the securities given for Tew and Hoar, upon the granting of their Commissions, which were read. And Sir Thomas Powis thereupon observing and arguing that those Depositions did not at all relate to Colonel Fletcher's conduct but wholly to his servant Daniel Honan, against whom neither they scarce amounted to be any manner of Evidence; Mr Attorney replied that they were pretty strong evidence against Honan, and therefore did concern Colonel Fletcher as the fault of his servant about a thing in which he himself was obliged to have taken care.

In confirmation of the 12th Article, Mr Attorney produced Accounts of the Revenue in the year 1687 and of the successive yeares from 1692 to 1697; As also Mr Randolph's Memorial of the 21th of May 1698; A minute of the Council of New York of the 27th of May, and another of the 7th June 1693, about the ship Elizabeth of Berwick, agreeing with one part of Mr Randolph's said Memorial: An Account of the Revenue in Michaelmas Quarter for the yeares from 1692 to 1697, An Account of the number of ships entered inwards and outwards: An abstract of the Revenue last Michaelmas Quarter: All which Papers were read. And from thence Mr Attorney argued that it being thereby evident that the Trade of that Province was greater, during Colonel Fletcher's Government than it has been since, But that His Majesty's Customes at the same time were less it follows that much of that Trade was unlawfull and greatly connived at.

To these things Sr Thomas Powis answered, that this charge being only by way of argument it is observable however that the City during Colonel Fletcher's Government was enriched and enlarged, which is a commendation of his administration. And that if there were any connivance at illegal Trade it is hard that should be charged upon him. To Mr Randolph's Memorial, he answered that the said Randolph has since writ that he was since trick't into it. And upon the whole he offered that Colonel Fletcher's Governm<sup>t</sup> being in time of War, there were not so many ships then entred directly from England (which are those that bring in the most Customes) but the Trade of that City being then chiefly with the neighbouring Colonies, the customes might very well amount to less.

Then calling upon Mr Brooks to acquaint their Lordships with the circumstances of things relating to the Trade and Customes of that City, He gave a large account thereof, shewing some reasons why the Revenue of the Customes could not be so great then as now; And afterwards delivered to the Board a writing containing those reasons which he had offered in discourse, to be considered of by their Lordships at leizure. And besides the said Paper M<sup>r</sup> Brook also shewed a letter from M<sup>r</sup> John Morris of New York, advising him that foure or five hundred pounds of Arrears in M<sup>r</sup> Brook's time are brought in to account by the Earle of Bellomont to give a false colour to those things, which letter was read: And he also offered the Copy of that letter mentioned by Sir Thomas Powis from M<sup>r</sup> Randolph, wherein he writes to M<sup>r</sup> Savage of the Custome house that he was trick't.

But to the inserting of Arrears, M<sup>r</sup> Weaver answered that the like was done by M<sup>r</sup> Brook himself, quarterly, in all his accounts; and to that expression of M<sup>r</sup> Randolph's he reply'd that M<sup>r</sup> Randolph had told him that M<sup>r</sup> Brook had threaten'd to break him with the Commissioners of the Customes here at home, for having made the foresaid Memorial, which he supposed might have obliged him to write M<sup>r</sup> Savage in that manner.

In opening the 13th and 14th Articles and in confirmation of the same, M<sup>r</sup> Attorney produced the Attorney General of New Yorke's Memorial about the method of granting lands in that Province, which was read.

And S<sup>r</sup> Thomas Powis thereupon again complained of the hardship they lay under, for want of having the papers now produced communicated to them beforehand. Then Colonel Bayard being asked about the practise of the Attorney General's attending or not attending the Council, he said that before Colonel Fletcher's time the constant practise was that the Attorney General did attend. And Colonel Fletcher himself thereupon declared that at his first entrance upon that Government he altered that method, because he did not thinke fit any one should be present in Council who was not under the Oath of a Councillor: And concerning surveys he said that the Surveyor General was lazy and negligent, and that when he came away there were about fifteen warrants for surveys unexecuted.

Then M<sup>r</sup> Attorney produced an Extract of the Grants of the several Tracts of land, out of the Records of the Province. Upon which Colonel Fletcher said that upon all such grants, warrants were directed to make survey:

Next were produced by M<sup>r</sup> Attorney the Depositions of Henry and Joseph, two Christian Indians, relating to the Grant of the Mohacques Land to M<sup>r</sup> Dellius and others, the begining of which was read: Also the Earle of Bellomont's Report upon that matter which was likewise read.

Then S<sup>r</sup> Thomas Powis answered, that he observed this charge about lands was double, One part about gaining lands to the Crown which is in pursuance of his Instructions; The other about granting Lauds from the Crown; And added that no Grants of this kinde were made but what went through the Attorney General of the Province's hands.

Thereupon Captain Evans being called on, said that the Attorney General drew his Patent, and had given him an account that the land therein contained was not before granted; Upon which he presented his Petition and obtained it. Being ask'd whether his Petition was referr'd to the Attorney General, Colonel Fletcher himself said that it was not. Captain Evans said further, that the Surveyor was three weekes abroad with him, in order to a survey; But that it could not have been perfected in six months; The Quit rent reserved by his Patent he said is forty shillings per annum; But acknowledged that there was no clause in it obliging him to improvement. Colonel Bayard likewise said, that the Attorney General drew his Patent: And added that when any difficulty arose about the granting of lands, the Attorney General was formerly consulted thereupon, but not otherwise.

Then was produced by S<sup>r</sup> Thomas Powis and read, a Minute of the Council of New Yorke July 21th 1697,<sup>1</sup> together with the Instrument of the sale of that Land by the Indians, in order to shew that the agreement with them was fair and that the thing was transacted by consent of the Council, But to that M<sup>r</sup> Weaver replied that the Indians had since complain'd they were trick'd into it, and in confirmation thereof produced the printed account of their late conference with the Earle of Bellomont; And Colonel Bayard answered thereupon that he knew not how the Indians were induced to express such dissatisfaction now; For they had often formerly express'd more satisfaction in Colonel Fletcher than in any other Governour. But this Grant was made, he said, but about eight months before Colonel Fletcher came away, and he had no conference with them after that time, whereby they might express to him any satisfaction or dissatisfaction about this matter.

To what related to that part of the King's Garden lett to Colonel Heathcote, and the King's farme leased to the Church, S<sup>r</sup> Thomas Powis offered the same answer that Colonel Fletcher has given in writing, Adding that some part of that ground was taken wrongfully by Colonel Slaughter and afterwards restored, and in evidence thereof he produced the Minutes of the Council of the 1st and 2<sup>d</sup> September 1692 confirming the same.

Upon the 15th Article M<sup>r</sup> Attorney produced the Deposition of Lieutenant John Bulkley whereof the later part was read, setting forth 'That upon Lieutenant Mathews's propounding to him to signe a Muster Roll, he observed that the number of Men set down therein was greater than they were in reality; And that the real number of effective men was only forty nine yet nevertheless that having never sign'd any Muster Roll before, he was perswaded to set his hand to it. M<sup>r</sup> Attorney also produced a Copy of the said Muster Roll, dated the 12th of January 1697<sup>½</sup> being for one hundred effective men which was read. Also a Copy of a Certificate given by Colonel Cortland and M<sup>r</sup> Levingston about their agreement with Colonel Slaughter to allow him ten shillings per ann. out of the victualling of each soldier setting forth that they did the same to Colonel Ingoldsby, and the like for some while to Colonel Fletcher, which was read.

To that Colonel Fletcher replied that they might perhaps continue the first year to allow it him, for the forces raised by the country, but that he never received a farthing of any such allowance for the King's forces. And concerning the Muster Roll S<sup>r</sup> Thomas Powis observed that it was certified by Colonel Cortland, who is now one of the Council; And concerning Bulkley, who gave this information, Colonel Bayard added that he is an infamous fellow, guilty of Thievery, and ought not to be credited.

Upon the 16th Article M<sup>r</sup> Attorney produced the report of Colonel Bayard and Colonel Cortland, upon their survey of the Fort at New York; unto which Colonel Bayard answered, that notwithstanding the said Report of that survey, which he had made joyntly with Colonel Cortland upon the Earle of Bellomont's order, yet every word of Colonel Fletcher's written answer to this head of Complaint is true.

To the other part of that Head which relates to the Demolishing of the Fort at Cadaraqui, M<sup>r</sup> Attorney produced the printed account of the late conference of the Indians with the Earle of Bellomont, whereof the tenth page relating to that subject was read. And in answer thereunto

S<sup>r</sup> Thomas Powis produced a Report made by M<sup>r</sup> Pinhorn and others shewing the impossibility of marching to Cadaraqui to demolish that Fort.

Concerning the 17th Article M<sup>r</sup> Attorney not being instructed to offer any thing thereupon, The Letters of Denization, of Arnold Nodin which had been transmitted to this Board by order of Council of the 20th October last, were read : And Colonel Fletcher thereupon replied that he did not remember any thing of that particular business, or man, but affirmed that he granted no Letters of Denization but in the usual forme.

As for the 18th Article, Colonel Fletcher refer'd himself to the Answer he has already given in writing.

Then to conclude S<sup>r</sup> Thomas Powis produced the Duke of Shrewsbury's Letter for recalling Colonel Fletcher, wherein he assures him that His Majesty was not dissatisfied with his conduct, but would employ him some other way, which was read: And he likewise offered several addresses of the Inhabitants of that Province, one of which signed by several Gentlemen, Merchants, Freeholders and Inhabitants of New York was likewise read.

Lords of Trade to the Earl of Bellomont.

[New-York Entries, B. 254.]

To the Right Honourable the Earl of Bellomont Captain General and Commander in Chief of His Majesty's Province of the Massachusetts's Bay, New Yorke and New Hampshire in America and of the Territories thereupon depending &c Or to the Commander in Chief of His Majesty's Province of New York for the time being.

My Lord.

It has happened upon occasion of hearing Collonel Fletcher's busyness which lyes now before us in order to a report and directions there upon, that severall merchants and others concerned in the Province of New Yorke have applyed to us with expressions of their uneasyness under the changes which your Lordship has made in that Government, pretending that the favour and preference which they say your Lordship has shewn to those of Leisler's party gives them great reason to apprehend lest that party prevailing in the elections of the next Assembly, should aim at reparations for damages suffered in the time of the disorders of that Province upon occasion of the late happy Revolution, to the great hazard of their effects and estates there; which is (as they say) at present so great a discouragement upon them in their trade, that instead of sending any thing further they are only sollicitous about withdrawing from thence what they have there already, and the same reason will oblige many of the inhabitants to forsake the Province. These being the surmizes which some people have made to us, we can do no less than acquaint your Lordship therewith; and untill we shall be able to give your Lordship a full account of what shall be determined by his Majesty upon your severall letters, we take this opportunity to offer to you our advice that no Act of Assembly be past by your Lordship's consent, whereby any retrospect be had to the quarrells or differences between any parties during the forementioned disorders or for the reparation of damages then suffered on either side, without his Majestys express pleasure first had therein.

We are, My Lord

Your Lordship's most humble servants

The Lords of Trade to Secretary Vernon.

[Plantations General Entries, XXXV., (B) 12.]

Sir

In answer to what you have signified to us of his Majesty's pleasure, by your letters of the third and ninth of January last, relating to the infringm<sup>ts</sup> made by the French upon the English Right of fishery in the seas adjoining to Nova Scotia, and to their incroachments upon any of his Majestys territories in North America together with the pretentions upon which they ground them, as also relating to the boundaries between the English and French territories in those parts by land, and the advantages which the French do or may pretend to draw from the American treaty, to the prejudice of his Majestys subjects; we desire you would please to lay before his Majesty the following account of what we are able to offer upon those matters.

The Northern Continent of America having (as is alledged by us) been first discovered by the subjects of the Crown of England, that part of it lying between the Latitude of 40 & 48 Degrees and extending from the East sea to the West sea, was grant by King James the first, by letters Patents dated the 3 of Nov<sup>r</sup> 1620, unto the then Duke of Lenox and divers others by the name of the Council of Plymth &c

In the year 1621 the Countrey of Nova Scotia was more particularly granted by the said King James the first to S<sup>r</sup> William Alexander, afterwards Earle of Sterling, who sometime after sold his right Mon<sup>r</sup> Claude De la Tour, a frenchman to be held by him and his successors under the Crown of Scotland.

About the year 1631 King Charles the first made some sort of Concession of the said Country unto the Crown of France (unto which we do not understand that the French had till then any title) reserving never the less the right of the Proprietors who had before enjoyed it.

In the year 1633 not withstanding the foresaid Concession, King Charles the first by letters Patents dated the 11 of May in the same year; granted to S<sup>r</sup> Lewis Kirk and others full priviledge of Trade and Cômece, even in the River of Canada (which is North of Nova Scotia) and places on either side adjacent, but also to plant Colonies and build Forts and Bullwarks where they should think fitt; by w<sup>ch</sup> it seems to us that the forementioned concession, whatever it were, was not understood to have been an absolute grant and alienation of the said Country from the Crown of England or Scotland; But never the less the said S<sup>r</sup> Lewis Kirk and Partners were molested by the French, in the enjoyment and exercise of the aforesaid priviledges.

On the other side many years before this, the Country about Penobscot lying to the Westward of Nova Scotia had been discovered by some of the inhabitants of New Plymouth who seated themselves there, But were also afterwards sometimes disturbed by the French Governor of Nova Scotia.

In the year 1654 Cromwell having a fleet at New England, caused the Country of Nova Scotia to be seized as being anciently a part of the English Dominion, to which the French had no just title. And the Proprietor of the said Country S<sup>r</sup> Charles de S<sup>t</sup> Estienne Son and heir to the forementioned Mons<sup>r</sup> dela Four, coming thereupon into Eng<sup>l</sup>d sold all his title and Right unto the said Country to S<sup>r</sup> Thomas Temple and M<sup>r</sup> William Crowne one or both of them,

The said Temple and Crowne or one of them or their assignees, did accordingly continue to possess and enjoy the same, with the Profits thence arising, until the year 1667, In which it was agreed between the late King Charles the second and the French by the Treaty at Breda, that the said Country should be surrendered to the French w<sup>ch</sup> was accordingly done in the year 1670, by S<sup>r</sup> Thomas Temple the[n] residing as Gov<sup>r</sup> upon the place But in the execution of that surrender, it has been suggested to us that the said Temple exceeded his Commission and delivered up Penobscot also At which the said King Charles the Second was highly displeas'd and did not confirm the same.

On the contrary it happening not long after, that a war broke out between France and Holland in which the Dutch took the Fort of Penobscot from the French, demolished it and quitted it; The said King Charles the Second thereupon ordered and Commissioned the Governor of New York to take the same under his jurisdiction which was accordingly done and the said Country extending from a place called Pentagoet Westward to the River S<sup>t</sup> Croise Eastward was annexed to the Government of New York by the D of Yorks Patent for the same, and in prosecution thereof (the French still keeping possession of some parts of it) S<sup>r</sup> Edmund Andros when Governor of New York invaded them by force and took the habitation of one Mons<sup>r</sup> S<sup>t</sup> Costine a Frenchman who thereupon instigated the Eastern Indians to make War against us, with which war the frontier Countries of New England on that side have been much infested.

Since his Majesty's accession to the Crown, the dependency of the foresaid Country of Penobscot upon the Government of New York, has been altered and in the year 1691, not only that but also Nova Scotia were by the Charter granted to the Colony of the Massachusetts Bay, annexed to the Government of that Colony.

It is to be observed that during S<sup>r</sup> Thomas Temples residence in and Government of those parts he having been at great charge in building Forts, and otherways for the protection of our Fishery did levy 5 pound upon every fishing vessell that cured and dried their fish upon the shoar And accordingly after the surrender of that Country by him the French at first contented themselves with the same; But in process of time some of their Governors claimed also the sole right of fishing upon the high seas and have accordingly caused several of our vessells fishing there, to be taken and made prize of.

What has come to our knowledge concerning the conduct of the French since the peace as well in relation to the fishery on those Coasts, as to the boundaries between them and us upon the eastern parts of New England by land and the orders which their Governours in those parts pretend to have from the Court of France for their acting accordingly we have already fully explained to you in our letter of the 29 of December last, and the papers which were there inclosed the copies of all which we again herewith send you. And for the fuller explanation of what we have now summarily expressed in the foregoing part of this letter We likewise now send you the copies of several other papers that have at different times been delivered or transmitted to us upon those subjects from whence we have drawn some part of the foregoing account, and unto which as occasion asks recourse may be had.

This being the sum of what we have to offer relating to New England and the Countrys lying to the Eastward thereof, we will conclude the same in observing, with relation to the fishery that it is of very great importance to England not only that our Right of fishing in those seas be asserted and maintained, but that an agreement be also made between us and the French for mutual liberty for ships to refresh, wood and water upon each others coasts, and in relation to the Boundaries we humbly conceive that it also mightily imports us that the ancient limits of that part of Nova Scotia being the river S<sup>re</sup> Croix, the same be made the fixed Boundary between the French and us in those parts, and that the right which they may pretend to derive from S<sup>r</sup> Thomas Temples forementioned surrender and which at most would extend no further than the rivers S<sup>r</sup> George (as we mentioned in foresaid letter) be not allowed of; much less that any concession be made for extending their boundaries Westward to the river Kenebeck as we have been informed they now pretend.

The next boundary to be considered between the French and us, is the North and West parts of all his Majesties Plantations from New England to Carolina concerning which, thó the English Patents generally have allowed no bounds by land, but extended the grant of those lands from Sea to Sea. Yet the French since their possession of Canada, having at several times gone up the river S<sup>r</sup> Lawrence and from thence into the Lakes South westward of the said river, lying all along upon the North and West of His Majesty's foresaid Plantations, thó it be no more than what has as frequently and as early been done by English men, yet they have thereupon from time to time extended their pretensions to the propriety of all the Countries bordering upon the said river and Lakes which if it should be allowed them, and that an entire freedome be not maintained for his Majestys subjects, to Trade at least with the Indians of those parts and for them and the said Indians to pass and repass without molestation it will turn to the very great prejudice of England, and most particularly of New York and other his Majestys provinces in America; whose frontiers are furthest extended towards the places so claimed by the French.

Concerning the said frontiers therefore of New York and his Majesty's Right to the Sovereignty of the five Nations of Indians bordering there upon we send you here inclosed a Memorial, which about the month of July 1691,<sup>1</sup> we prepared to be transmitted to his Majesty's Plenipotentiaries then at the Hague: Which being as particular and express as we were then able to make it, all we can add now are the inclosed copies of a Memorial and a deposition<sup>2</sup> sent us by the Earl of Bellomont concerning the constant subjection and dependance of the said 5 Nations upon the Government of New York ever since the first settlement of that Country by the Dutch, in or about the year 1609: By which all the French pretensions to any Right over them (which we do not understand to be either in themselves of any weight, or that they reach any further backwards than the year 1666) seem unto us to be fully answered and made void.

In answer to that part of your foresaid letter of the third of January which relates to the American treaty tho' we do not suppose the said Treaty to be now in force, yet in obedience to his Majestys Commands, we desire leave to offer thereupon the following observations.

The reasons for which we humbly conceive the said treaty not to be now in force are these.

1. Because the French thought themselves under no obligation by that treaty, but attacked us in America, upon the declaration of the war in Europe, which they would not have done if they had thought themselves obliged by the said Treaty; And if one of the parties depart from the contract the other is no longer obliged.

2. Because the Treaty of Reyswick does not renew or revive the said American Treaty, which ought to have been done in case it had been thought reasonable to continue the same.

The 3 and 10 articles of the said Treaty providing, that neither p<sup>ty</sup> should give assistance or supplies of men or victuals to the barbarous or wild Indians (as the Treaty terms them) And that the subjects of either Nation should not harbour the barbarous or wild inhabitants or the Slaves or goods which the said inhabitants had taken from the subjects of the other Nation, and never have been understood by the Crown of England to have been meant (as the French interpret it) of the five Nations belonging to England, who have been always and are still our best defence against the encroachm<sup>ts</sup> and invasions of the French in that part of America.

Upon the 4 Article which provides that both Kings should have and retain to themselves all the Dominions Rights and Prebeminencies in the American seas, Roads and other waters whatsoever in as full and ample manner as of Right belongs unto them, and in such manner as they now Possess the same, it is to be observed that the French very well knew what orders they themselves had then given to take possess<sup>n</sup> of Hudsons Bay by force, tho' in time of peace, and to invade as they actually did with a considerable force the Northern parts of New England and of New York with intention to surprize our frontier Forts, and destroy our Indians, which by the forementioned Articles they would have obliged us not to assist.

The 5 Article providing that the subjects inhabitants merchants commanders of ships masters, and marriners of the Kingdomes, Provinces and Dominions of each King respectively, should abstain and [be] forbidden to Trade and fith in all places possess or which should be possess by the one or the other party in America &c without mentioning whether the Possession be rightfull or no, that we conceive has given occasion or pretence to their disturbing our fishery in the Eastern seas of America which his Majesty's subjects have always practiced and to which we judge they have a full and undenyable Right.

Lastly it is worthy of consideration whether a treaty of neutrality (either this or any other) in America, be for his Majestys service, and the advantage of England, since it is well known that notwithstanding this treaty they did first surprize and attack us in America, and may do the like again on the like occasion; while we relying on the faith of such a treaty may be wholly unguarded and unprovided (as we then were) for such attempts. Representation of the Lords of Trade on the Charges against Colonel Fletcher.

[New-York Entries, B. 262.]

To the KINGS MOST EXCELLENT MAJESTY.

May it please Your Majesty.

Having laid before their Excellencies the Lords Justices in Council the 19th of October last a large Representation of the state of your Majesty's Province of New Yorke, in which we occasionally mentioned severall things relating to Colonel Fletcher's conduct in the Administration of that government; and having been thereupon ordered by their Excellencies to hear Colonel Fletcher upon the complaints which had been made against him and to report the state of the matter, with our opinion what is requisite to be further done therein; We digested into distinct heads the substance of what more particularly related to him in our forementioned Representation, adding thereunto some further particulars that had afterwards occur'd to us, and delivered the same unto him. And he having since then returned his answer thereunto in writing and desired to be heard by his Council, upon which we accordingly heard both M<sup>r</sup> Attorney General against him, and Council in his defence: We now most humbly crave leave to lay before your Majesty the forementioned heads together with our observations upon what hath been thereupon offered unto us

The Three first of those heads or articles are :—

The Case of the ship Jacob.

1. That in the year 1693 a certain ship called the Jacob commanded then by Edward Coats returning from a piratical voyage in the East Indies to Nassau Island, some persons deputed from on board the said ship, did treat and agree with Colonel Fletcher to pay him the sum of seven hundred pounds, upon condition that the said ship might be permitted to come up to New Yorke and the men belonging to her have Protections.

2. That for the better colouring of this transaction Colonel Fletcher prevailed with the Council to consent thereunto, under pretence of allowing the men the benefit of a certain clause in an Act of the Country concerning Pirates, to which those men had no manner of title, and the rest of which act is directly against them.

3. That in consequence hereof the said ship did accordingly come up to New Yorke and the men were protected; but it happening that instead of paying the money several of the men dispersed, the rest of them (in lieu of that payment) presented unto Colonel Fletcher the said ship; which he afterwards sold for eight hundred pounds.

The evidence that lyes before us relating to these three Articles, consists chiefly of the depositions of Samuel Burgess and Edward Taylor, two mariners belonging to the said ship, taken before the Earl of Bellomont in May last, and whereof copies were annexed unto our forementioned Representation; one of which depositions is direct and positive, as well with relation to the treaty with Colonel Fletcher before hand, as to the presenting the ship to him afterwards. But nevertheless that treaty before hand is by him denied.

Upon the Second of those Articles it appears by the minutes of the Council of New Yorke of the 7th April 1693, and by the Act of the general Assembly therein mentioned, that the men belonging unto the said ship were admitted by the unanimous consent of the Council there, upon pretence of allowing them the benefit of a clause in the said Act, unto which they had no manner of title, and by the body of which Act itself, they ought rather to have been prosecuted and punished. But it is denied by Colonel Fletcher as likewise by Colonel Bayard and Mr Chidley Brook (who were then of the Council, but have been since removed by their Excellencys order in Council here, and are now in England) that he did in the least influence the said Council in their deliberations upon that matter.

As to the Third Article, Colonel Fletcher do's acknowledge that he did receive the said ship as a present, and sold her for eight hundred pounds of New York money.

Upon all which we are humbly of opinion that his proceedings in that matter altho' with the consent of the Council, were contrary to his duty, and an encouragement to Piracy.

The 4th 5th and 6th Articles are:—

Protections to Pirates

4. That besides the Protections granted to the men of that ship, Colonel Fletcher granted the like protections to many other notorious Pirates belonging to other ships, for which they paid unto him or his Agents, generally about one hundred dollars p<sup>r</sup> man.

5. Thattho' the tenour of those Protections import only a promise of the protection of the Law and makes mention of security given, that the persons so protected shall be ameanable to the law; yet no such securities are found amongst any of the publick papers of that Province, nor does it appear that any of the persons so protected were ever prosecuted for their Piracies.

6. That in the year 1696 one Rayner, who had been out on a piratical voyage with one Captain Tew, and whose chest upon his return to New Yorke was seised with a considerable Treasure in it, by the sheriff of a County, making application to Colonel Fletcher for the discharge of his chest and protection for his person; Colonel Fletcher did grant the same, and in consideration thereof received Fifty pounds of New York money.

The foregoing 4th Article (viz' that several protections were granted) is not denied by Colonel Fletcher, tho' with this exception, that it was not to known pirates; and neither is it denied by him that certain fees or gratuities might be paid for the same to his servant who drew them, tho' without his knowledge of the sum, or his receiving any benefit thereby. But in further confirmation of that article we have before us the depositions of Samuel Staats and Thomas Lewis of New Yorke, taken also by the Earl of Bellomont in May last and whereof copies were likewise annexed to our forementioned Representation, by which it appears that during Colonel Fletcher's being in Pennsylvania, the said Staats and Lewis treated with Colonel Bayard beforenamed for Colonel Fletcher's protections for two of their relations, who had been abroad on piratical voyages, and paid unto him upon the delivery of those protections seventy five dollars for each of them, for Colonel Fletcher's use; and twelve pieces of Arabian gold each for himself. And Colonel Bayard has also himself owned to us that upon the fore named Lewis's application to him about this matter, he writ to Colonel Fletcher and received from him the protections desired, with further answer thereupon that it was against his principle to make any such bargain before hand, but that the persons concern'd might make what presents they pleased. Whereupon he the said Colonel Bayard, in delivering the said Protections, received the forementioned sums and afterwards paid them to Colonel Fletcher's servant M<sup>r</sup> Daniel Honan, upon his return from Pennsylvania.

The tenour of those protections as mentioned in the 5th Article, appears by the Copy of one of them sent us by the Earl of Bellomont, and tho' there be mention in them of some security given, yet no such security having ever been entered in the publick registers of the Province, and Colonel Bayard having owned to us that it was the duty of M<sup>r</sup> Honan, Colonel Fletcher's private Secretary, who drew the protections, to take it, as likewise that he himself did not take any security in delivering the protections afore mentioned, to the foresaid Staats and Lewis; there do's not appear unto us any ground to beleive that any such security at all was ever taken. But however it is acknowledged by Colonel Fletcher himself, as likewise by the foresaid Colonel Bayard and M<sup>r</sup> Chidley Brook, that no prosecutions were ever made of any such persons, under what suspicion so ever they lay.

The 6th Article is grounded upon the deposition of John Wick taken likewise before the Earl of Bellomont in June last, and annexed to our forementioned Representation in which he sets forth that upon his application to Colonel Fletcher in behalf of Rayner, Colonel Fletcher in granting the said Rayners protection with a discharge for his chest, declared that he would take no reward for it, but if Rayner thought fit to make him a present he would not refuse it. Whereupon the said Wick delivered to him the said Colonel Fletcher a bill for fifty pounds which was afterwards paid to his Secretary M<sup>r</sup> Honan.

Upon all which we are humbly of opinion that in granting such Protections in the manner aforesaid Colonel Fletcher gave great encouragement to Pirates and neglected his duty in not causing such persons to be prosecuted.

The 7th Article is:—

Coats his protection.

That Edward Coats aforementioned hath said that it cost him above thirteen hundred pounds for his own share to procure Colonel Fletchers Protection.

This is confirmed (viz' that Coats himself said so) by the depositions of John Hutchins and Hannah his wife, taken before the Earl of Bellomont in June last. But we have not any other proof thereof than Coats's words; nor is it very clear to us by the depositions, whether he spoke those words with relation to his forementioned piracies in the ship Jacob, or some other afterwards. But the thing itself being positively denied by Colonel Fletcher we can not offer to your Majesty any opinion upon this Article.

The 8th Article is:—

Grant of Commissions.

That Colonel Fletcher granted Commissions to Thomas Tew, Richard Glover, and John Hoare as privateers against the King's enemies, tho' Tew had offered a considerable sum for the like commission in another government but not obtained it, and tho' they had none of them any ship or vessell within the government of New Yorke at the time of granting the said commissions, and they themselves publickly declared that they intended to sail for the Indies, and the Red Sea, and by that means raised men and fitted themselves for their intended piracies.

In answer whereunto, the granting of those commissions is not by Colonel Fletcher denied; but it is pleaded by him that it was done with advice and full approbation of the Council, as usual to privateers. Neither is the notoriety of Tew's having formerly committed piracies in the Red Sea, contested. But Colonel Fletcher does deny his knowledg of any of their intentions to saile for the Red Sea or the Indies when he granted them their Commissions; and on the contrary affirms that Tew made open vows and Protestations never to go thither againe; tho' we hereupon add, that the Earl of Bellomont writes us that their intention of sailing thither is owned by the common speech of all men in the Province, to have been a thing then publickly known.

The 9th Article is:—

Colonel Fletcher's intimacy with Tew.

That Colonel Fletcher's intimacy with and kindness to the said Tew, who had before been a most notorious pirate, was very scandalous; and that he received great presents for such like Commissions.

This advice we have likewise from the Earl of Bellomont, upon the common fame spread in the Province of New Yorke; and tho' Colonel Fletcher do not deny his intimacy with Tew therein exprest, yet in extenuation thereof he has offered to us that it proceeded onely from the pleasantness of his conversation, and the information he thereby received about things observed by Tew in his voyages, together with his desire to reclaim the said Tew from an ill habit that he had got of swearing; in order to which he gave him a book and to gain the more upon him he gave him also a gun of some value; in return whereof he received a present from him, which was a curiosity, and in value not much.

The 10th Article is:—

Moston's Commission.

That Colonel Fletcher granted also a like commission to Thomas Moston Commander of the ship Fortune, an unfree bottom, tho' it was then evident that the said ship was not designed for any service of war, but for illegal trade, and the sequel demonstrated it accordingly.

In answer to this article Colonel Fletcher acknowledges that he granted the said Commission to Captain Moston upon the desire of several merchants who had hired the ship to fetch negroes from Madagascar; but denies his knowledge that the said ship was an unfree bottom: the evidence of which, as it lyes before us, consists of the information given us by the Earl of Bellomont that the said ship was known to all men to have been formerly a Dutch privateer; also in the copy of her Charter party of affreightment, by which she is hired to lade other goods as well as Negroes; likewise by the cargo she took in publickly at New Yorke, which the Earl of Bellomont writes was goods proper for the pirates; and in the last place by her seizure and confiscation for illegal trade upon her returne thither.

The 11th Article is:—

The taking insolvent
securitys.

That the bonds taken by Colonel Fletcher upon his granting some of the said Commissions were from the pirates themselves, joyned with one insolvent person, and Colonel Fletcher's own Secretary; and that the said Secretary having them in his custody had blotted out his own name in the body of the said bonds and torn off his signe and seal at the bottom.

The evidence of this Article (with relation to the bonds given for Hoar and Tew) consists in the depositions of Thomas Wenham, Joseph Smith, William Sharpass, and Lancaster Symms, transmitted by the Earl of Bellomont, whereof copies were likewise annexed unto our forementioned Representation: all of them agreeing that the said bonds when given were perfect without any razure or defacing; and two of them swearing particularly that to the best of their belief knowledge and remembrance M<sup>r</sup> Daniel Honan did signe and seal the said Bonds in the place where there is now a razure and defacing. But to this Colonel Fletcher has answered that the insufficiency of the security taken ought not to be imputed to him but to those whose business it was for the King's service to enquire thereinto. (Upon which nevertheless we cannot but observe that the person to whom he committed that trust according to Colonel Bayard's forementioned information, was his own servant, the said Honan.) And he further adds that if the said Honan have been guilty of the razure whereof he is accused, he has still retained him in his service that he may be forth coming.

Upon the consideration of which matters contained in the 8th 9th 10th and 11th Articles, we humbly offer to your Majesty that tho' it do not appear to us that Colonel Fletcher knew that the persons to whom he granted the forementioned Commissions intended to go upon piracy (the said Commissions being only such as are usually granted to privateers) yet we are humbly of opinion that greater caution ought to have been used by him, and sufficient security (which in these cases was wanting) should have been taken by the proper officers.

The 12th Article is:—

Connivance at Illegal Trade.

That the connivance at illegal trade in that government during Col. Fletcher's Administration had been so great, that tho the trade of the City of New York have of late years been very much increased and the City thereby enriched and enlarged, yet his Majesty's revenue arising from the Customs hath decreased very considerably from what it was ten years since.

The proofs upon this article consist of several copies and extracts of Accounts of your Majesty's revenue there, both during Colonel Fletchers time and since the Earl of Bellomonts being in that government. In answer to which several observations have been also offered to us, to shew the defect of the computations made upon those accounts and of the conclusions drawn from thence together with reasons why your Majesty's revenue could not rise so high in Colonel Fletcher's time (which was a time of war) as now in time of peace. But the Earl of Bellomont having since our drawing up and delivering those articles to Colonel Fletcher, transmitted some further papers to us upon the like subject, and promised yet others, it is not possible for us at present to lay before your Majesty a perfect state of that matter.

The 13th and 14th Articles are:—

Exorbitant
Grants.

The 13th that Colonel Fletcher did during his Administration grant away vast tracts of land, not laid out by exact measures of acres, but computed in the lump by miles without laying any obligation upon the grantees to improve the same or taking care to prosecute any persons, by any law of the Province for the non improvement thereof: and this also under very small and inconsiderable Quit Rents.

14th That some of the said grants being of a great part of the Mohaques country (without their consent duly obtained) did tend to the disobliging of them and the exposing the Frontiers of New Yorke to the attempts of the French; that others and particularly those of some part of the King's Garden and a farm called the King's Farm did take away much of the necessary convenience of future Governours; that all of them tended to obstruct the peopleing and cultivating of the Country; and (there being now no land left fit for settlement) they have taken away from His Majesty the possibility of rewarding for the future with gifts of land, the services of those that may deserve it in war or peace.

In answer to these articles Colonel Fletcher hath affirmed to us that he did not make any grants of Lands whatsoever without the advice and consent of the Council; that upon the making of all such grants he constantly directed warrants to the Surveyor for the survey thereof, but that the said Surveyor was negligent and seldom executed them; that the purchase of the Mohaques land was fairly made; that he thought it for your Majesty's interest the same should be so purchased and granted, in order to the extending of the Frontiers of that Province; and that if any fault were committed in the making or draughts of any grants, the Attorney General of the Province who drew them ought to be most accountable for the same. In reply to all which the chief things that have been offered unto us are, that the Attorney General of the Province was discharged by Colonel Fletcher from attending on the Council, as he used to do in the time of former Governours, and was not consulted about the making of any of those grants, but only directed by warrant to draw them; and that the omission to make surveys (supposing as Colonel Fletcher affirms that warrants were given for the same) might proceed from the extent of those grants, together with the difficulties of tracing over such uncultivated places, which made it scarce possible that the said warrants could ever be executed; Of which we have had one instance from Captain Evans late commander of your Majesty's ship the Richmond, who being produced by Colonel Fletcher to give us information concerning a grant made unto him (which we find to be reckoned about forty miles in length and twenty in breadth, tho' some others are much greater) did assure us that the survey thereof was begun but could not have been perfected in six months' time.

Whereupon we humbly offer to your Majesty that tho' it was left to Colonel Fletcher by his instructions to make as large purchases of land as he could from the Indians for a small value; yet his having made such such large grants of lands to single persons, without due caution for improvement, was not for your Majesty's service, nor did it tend to the settlement of those parts. For which reason their Excellencies the Lords Justices were pleased upon our forementioned Representation about the state of the Province of New Yorke to give directions to the Earl of Bellomont that he should put in practice all methods whatsoever allowed by law for the breaking and annulling those exorbitant irregular and unconditioned grants.

The 15th Article is:—

Miserable condition of the Forces.

That the forces there were left by Colonel Fletcher in a miserable condition, not halfe the number that they should be by the Establishment, and almost starved; which is imputed in great measure to their hard usage, and amongst other things to the deduction made by Colonel Fletcher of one halfpenny p<sup>r</sup> day out of each private soldier's subsistance; as also to the stopping of their subsistance when they were allowed to work. Besides which and what more the soldiers were wronged of in the additional allowance of four pence p<sup>r</sup> day made by the Country, it is observed that Colonel Fletcher made other indirect advantages by sending home full Muster Rolls when the men were not really halfe the number.

The substance of this article having been drawn from several *of the Earl of Bellomont's letters, what hath been more particularly offered to us in proof of some parts thereof is a deposition made by Colonel Cortlandt and M<sup>r</sup> Robert Livingston, Victuallers for the Forces, relating to a perquisite of ten Shillings p<sup>r</sup> Ann<sup>r</sup> for each private soldier, allowed by them first to Colonel Slaughter, then to Colonel Inglesby, former Governors of New York, and afterwards to Colonel Fletcher: according to which Colonel Fletcher does not deny but the said allowance was made to him in the beginning of his government, for the forces raised by the country, but does deny that he received it for those sent over by your Majesty. And in relation to false musters what has been offered to us is the copy of a Muster Roll of Colonel Fletcher's own Company, signed in January 1696, by both the Lieutenants, and expressing their number to be then one hundred effective private sentinells; with notes made thereon afterwards by Lieutenant John Bulkely (one of those who had signed it) distinguishing those that were then dead or had deserted, together with a deposition made by the said Bulkeley before the Earl of Bellomont, setting forth that the said Company were at that time no more than forty nine effective men in service. In answer to which Colonel Fletcher has represented to us that he was at Albany when the said Muster was made at New Yorke, that the said Muster Roll is certified by one of Your Majesty's Council there; and concerning the forementioned Bulkely, Colonel Bayard has affirmed to us that he hath been guilty of thievery, is infamous, and ought not to be credited.

Whereupon we are humbly of opinion that the forementioned Muster Roll ought to be re-examined by the Commissary General of the Musters here, in order to be certified over by him to the Pay Master General of the Forces, that payment may be made accordingly.

The 16th Article is:—

Neglect of the Fortifications.

That the Fortifications on the frontiers of that Province were very much neglected and are now exceedingly out of repair, and that the Fort of Cadaraquy was not demolished as was desired by our Indians of the Five Nations, and as it might have been when deserted by the French.

In answer to the former part of this Article, Colonel Fletcher has represented to us that the Fortifications on the Frontiers of that Province being of wood are subject to moulder and decay, and that it ought not therefore to seem strange that the Earl of Bellomont found them out of repair; and concerning the neglect of demolishing the Fort of Cadaraquy, we are satisfied by what Colonel Fletcher has also represented to us about the distance of the place (being four hundred miles from that Colony) and the difficulties of the way thither through woods morasses and other inconveniences in that uncultivated country, that it was scarce possible to have marched thither with the force and instruments or other materials necessary for such a work.

The 17th Article is:—

Illegal letter of Denization. That Colonel Fletcher granted letters of Denization to Arnold Nodine a Frenchman without any authority for so doing, and in such large and extensive terms as are directly contrary to the intention of the laws of England which relate to the Plantation Trade.

This Article not having been formed upon any information from the Earl of Bellomont, but occasioned by an order of their Excellencies the Lords Justices in Council in October last, upon which we then made a separate Report; We onely offer unto your Majesty what Colonel Fletcher has alledged to us in his own vindication, which is, that he granted no such letters of Denization but in the accustomed form, and that if there were any defect therein, the Attorney General who drew them is answerable for it.

The 18th Article is:—

Neglect of notifying the peace to the Govr of Canada. That Colonel Fletcher neglected to write to the French Governor of Canada when he sent him notice of the Peace, which was resented by him as a slight.

To which Colonel Fletcher answers that he did not give any advice at all of the Peace to the French Governor of Canada, because he had not authentick notice thereof himself; but that having occasionally received some advice thereof from New England, he did send notice of what he heard to the Commander of Mont Real (that being the garrison next bordering to New Yorke) for the prevention of any further hostilities between them and us.

This being the state of the whole matter as it has been heard by us, We are most humbly of opinion that your Majesty would be pleased thereupon to refer the same to your Majesty's Attorney General to consider and report to your Majesty what further proceedings may be had upon any of the foresaid articles, where with Colonel Fletcher has been charged, for your Majesty's directions therein.

All which nevertheless is most humbly submitted

Earl of Bellmont to the Lords of Trade.

[New-York Entries, B. 842.]

To the Right Honourable the Lords Commissioners for Trade and Plantations

My Lords.

By perusing the papers I send with this letter your Lordships will be informed particularly of our Indian Affairs, which papers I refer to, in order of time.

In that paper indorsed (a Message to the Five Nations of Indians the 26th December 1698) and (N<sup>o</sup> 1) your Lordships will find that the Commissioners who are all the Magistrates of Albany notified to the Five Nations of Indians, the death of the Count de Frontenac Governor of Canada, and by the messengers they send do expostulate with the Indians about their having sent to treat with the Governor of Canada about the release of some prisoners, contrary to their promise to me when I had the conference with them at Albany.

The next is the proposition of two Indian Sachems (N<sup>o</sup> 2) whereof Decanissoire is one, a brave fighting fellow that has done the French much mischief, and they have mightily endeavoured to debauch him from us, but in vain. His errand mightily alarms the Magistrates of Albany, which produces a consultation among them and their request to three of their body to go to the Indian Castles to dissuade our Indians from going or sending to treat with the Governor of Canada for the delivering some few of our Indians that are prisoners to the French, and that request of theirs goes (N<sup>o</sup> 3.) Colonel Schuyler's letter giving me an account of a message from our Indians by John Baptist who was sent to 'em from Albany goes (N<sup>o</sup> 4) and the result of that Message (N<sup>o</sup> 5) three minutes of Council and two minutes relating to a conference between the Council and the House of Representatives about the preparing instructions for our messengers to the Five Nations, which are all set down in the same paper are (N<sup>o</sup> 6.) then follows the said instructions to our messengers (N<sup>o</sup> 7) The foregoing papers contain every thing that has been transacted between the Indians and me since I last writ to your Lordships, and 'tis easy to perceive by these papers that the Indians are very much disturbed and terrified by the French, which proceeds I find from two reasons chiefly, their own decrease in number & strength being reduced from near 3500 men that they were at the beginning of the war, to about 1100 men now. Then the slender appearance we make on the Frontier in the poornesse of our forts, and the weakness of our garrisons, which makes us contemptible in their eyes; whereas the French at Canada allure 'em chiefly by the good figure they make, and severall good forts of stone, and especially Cadaraque Fort which Colonel Fletcher neglected two years together to demolish when the French had deserted it, as I formerly acquainted your Lordships: that fort lying so on the skirts of our Indians as to incommode them extremely in time of war; so that upon the whole matter 'tis apprehended by the most knowing people here, that we shall intirely loose the Five Nations of Indians, unless an effectual and speedy course be taken to retrieve their affection. Which course must be (with submission) the building good stone forts at Albany and Schenectade, which may be done in both places for eight or nine thousand pounds according to Colonel Romer's computation as I formerly observed to your Lordships, and by keeping good garrisons in those places. I am so strongly perswaded your Lordships will be convinced by that cogent argument necessity, and will send me orders for building those forts, that I intend very speedily to order the raising of stone for making the walls of each fort, and for burning lime; and tho' our Treasury is very poor and much indebted, I will pinch money any manner of way from other uses, rather than this so necessary work shall be delay'd. The providing for it will be some encouragement to our Indians, and likewise to our own people, who think that if we loose our Indians, they shall be undone and the Province will be lost; and indeed I am of their mind.

I have spent much thought how to find out and settle a trade with new Indians, which I believe may be done; for which end I have discours'd severall people here, and M<sup>r</sup> Livingston among others, and his memorial on that subject goes herewith (N<sup>o</sup> 8.) I should be glad we could bring that trade to New Yorke with the Indians he proposes, it would be for the advantage of this Province and somewhat for my credit too. But as it 'tis the interest of England I chiefly meditate I reckon I should abuse your Lordships if I did not freely own to you that Carolina lyes infinitely more commodious for a trade with those Nations of Indians which are called the Shateras<sup>1</sup> Twichtwicht<sup>2</sup> and Dowaganhas<sup>3</sup> Indians and a world of other nations, which some of our Indians at Albany told me were as numerous as the sand on the sea shoar. 'Tis if I mistake not in the country of the Dowaganhas that the French have built a fort under the conduct of Mons<sup>r</sup> de Tonti<sup>4</sup> where they keep a garrison of 30 men, but with that little fort & garrison by the help of their missionaries and the trade thither from Canada, they make a shift to manage a very profitable trade with those nations. 'Tis not agreeable to reason that we from this Province can so conveniently trade with those Indians as the people of Carolina may, we having 700 miles to goe and they not above a 100 or a 150; and to be sure they can afford English goods as cheap as we, and either of us much cheaper than the French. If it be not too great a presumption I should advise your Lordships directing the Governour of Carolina to apply himself industriously to open a trade with those Indians. Here is a gentleman now in this town who was a few years since among them with some other English there to trade, and he to look for mines. He tells me they were very fond of English commodities. The French of Canada most certainly play us foul play with relation to our Five Nations: what they cannot do by enticement, I mean debauching them away to go and live in Canada, they destroy clandestinely by their Indians in hunting; they directing, as I am told, their Indians when they meet them, to knock 'em on the head; by which means ours must soon be totally destroyed. Therefore it is that I propose to your Lordships the finding out, now in time of peace, a trade with those remote nations. Surely the French will not pretend to the propriety of that vast country, or if they should, would England truckle to 'em. I have been so free with Colonel Nicholson and Colonel Blakiston, Governors of Virginia and Maryland, as to put them in mind of opening a trade with the Indians that lye at the back of those countries; perhaps they may think me impertinent to pretend to advise them.

Some people at Albany are jealous that M<sup>r</sup> Dellius, the Dutch Minister there, betrayed us when he went with Colonel Schuyler to notify the peace to the Governor of Canada, and I confess I am not free from a jealousie myself, when I consider how extraordinary desirous he was to be sent to Canada: in the next place that the Governor sent afterwards to four of the Five Nations to offer them peace, but excluded the nation of Mohacks, which was a surprizing thing to all people here, and never known to be done by the French before. I do assure your Lordships that man is capable of any mischief whatsoever. I acquainted you after my return from Albany last summer of his circumventing the Mohacks, and what Impudent lyes he told me before the Magistrates of Albany. Since that my Lieutenant Governor being sent by me to Albany to watch the French who threatned to make an invasion on our Indians, he endeavour'd to make a breach between him and me, and invented an untruth to put my Lieutenant Governor out with some honest men at Albany, whom he had a pique to, as my Lieutenant Governor's certificate will shew, which goes (N<sup>o</sup> 9.) and which he found out M<sup>r</sup> Dellius had forg'd in prejudice to those men. He has for several years kept a correspondence with the Jesuites at Canada, which gave people a jealousy he was popishly affected. In Captain Leisler's time there was a letter intercepted from a French Jesuit at Canada to a Jesuite that was on a mission to our Five Nations. The Messenger that carry'd the letter had an instruction wherein some papers were mentioned, and Captain Leisler thinking it fit for the King's service to have a sight of those papers, and the letter and instructions leading him to beleive M<sup>r</sup> Dellius was privy to that matter and knew where the papers were, sent to him att Albany to come to him here at New Yorke. M<sup>r</sup> Dellius fled and was absent till Leisler was made a prisoner by Colonel Slaughter, and then he had the courage to appear and contribute all he could, with Bayard and Nichols, to bring Leisler and Milburn to their unfortunate end. This letter of the Jesuits I was very curious to see and made much inquiry after it, yet could not get a sight of it: Several people that had seen it recommending it to me as a very suspicious article against Dellius. At last I order'd it to be searched for in the Secretary's Office, and being there found it was brought to me. I send your Lordships a true copy of it (N<sup>o</sup> 10.)<sup>1</sup> His Dutch name is Dell, as in the letter, but it seems in the schools in Holland 'tis the custome to make the names Latin at least of those that are bred Divines; therefore he goes by the name of Dellius. He is a most proud wicked man, and so contentious that he has divided the people at Albany into factions and parties, who would otherwise have been all united. A man of his own party, that is, of the contrary party to Leisler, and a dweller at Albany, own'd to me that Dellius kept up divisions among the people there, and that it were happy if he were out of the Province; and I am told the Assembly intend, for the scandall of his life and his fraud to the Mohack Indians, to expell him the Province. He has, as I formerly wrote to your Lordships, a personall hatred to the King, and has spoke very reproachfully of his Majesty; till my going to Albany he never would pray for King William (and that made the quarrell between Captain Leisler and him) but because he would be safe, his manner was always in the pulpit to pray for the Crown of England. I must beg leave to trouble your Lordships patience with an instance of Dellius's wickedness, that besides what I have now in this letter and formerly observed to your Lordships about him, comes within my knowledge. The present Mayor of Albany and two or three other honest men of that town were much peck'd at by Dellius and persecuted, insomuch as he threatned to excommunicate them, whereupon they forsook his church. The Mayor coming here to York told me this, but I perswaded him at his returne to be reconciled to Dellius, and since there was no other Minister, to go and hear him preach. Accordingly at his returne to Albany he employ'd one to reconcile Dellius to him, but Dellius sent him word by the third person so employ'd to make peace between 'em, 'twas in vain to seek a reconciliation with him, and so refused absolutely. I can prove by the oaths of very credible persons severall immoralities of his life as Drunkenesse and the like, but having proved enough against him already I will forbear troubling your Lordships further about him, and should not have been so particular concerning him in this letter, but that I understand there are letters newly come to this town from Bayard in England wherein he makes the faction here believe that his complaints against me have been very favourably heard by your Lordships; that Colonel Fletcher upon a hearing before your Board in answer to the accusations I sent over against him was cleared, and that there would be an order sent to me to cancell the bond of £10000. which he and his securitys entred into; that there was a petition to your Lordships against me signed by a great number of merchants in London and that a Minister was sent by the Classis at Amsterdam to complain of me for my ill usage of M<sup>r</sup> Dellius. This news from Bayard has much heartned the factious people here, and they hope the interest of the Classis of Divines at Amsterdam will ruine my interest at Court. And M<sup>r</sup> Vesey the Minister here has told me he has been urged very much by the angry people here to complain home of my designe in vacating Colonel Fletcher's lease to the church here, of the Governor's demesne called the King's farm; and by other hands I am told they propose to raise a storm against me upon this very account and to imbroil me with the Bishop of London:—and they argue thus, Sir Edmund Andros for quarreling with Doct<sup>r</sup> Blair in Virginia brought the resentment of the Bishop of London and the Church (they say) on his head, which is the reason he has lost his government, and by the same rule they would get me recalled by making this a church quarrell. But give me leave to informe your Lordships rightly of this matter. Colonel Fletcher would never part with this farm during his owne government, untill November '97. that he heard for certain I had the Kings Commission for this government, and then he makes this lease to the Church and antedates it in August; so that his kindness to the Church was to be at his successors cost, not at his own. Besides M<sup>r</sup> Attorney Generall assures me that in Colonel Dongan's time, he, to make his court to King James desires this Farm might be appropriated to the maintenance of a Jesuit school; but King James (bigot tho' he was) refused, saying he would not have his Governors deprived of their conveniencies. As to M<sup>r</sup> Bayard's complaint against me when I know what it is I doubt not to answer it to your Lordships satisfaction in all points. And as to the petition of some merchants in London against me, I cannot conceive upon what they ground their complaint, or who the persons are, but I must believe there is something personall in their prejudice to me. I know there is a sort of men called Jacobites that hate me for severall reasons, and one is because I don't love them. I did imagine that the suppressing of piracy here and checking unlawfull trade, would render me odious to the merchants in London; but so long as I walk by the rule of the law, and have the testimony of a good conscience nothing can daunt me; and when the King is dissatisfied with my services here, I obey the least breath of a command from his Majesty, and in all circumstances will preserve a steady and inviolable duty for his Majesty's person and government. I am with great respect, My Lords

Your Lordships most humble & obedient Servant

Propositions made by Dekanissore a Sachim of Onnondage & Carondowanne

Jan Janser Bleeker Record<sup>r</sup>

Dekanissore, Speaker.

I am now come to speak that which wilbe very unpleasing to you.

A certain Indian of our Castle called Cohensiowanne did apply himself to us and said that since Corlaer had told it was peace, he was inclined to go & see his father at Canada, w<sup>ch</sup> proposal was debated among the Sachims, and some were of opinion that he should carry a belt of Wampum with him; but y<sup>e</sup> Sachims at last came to this conclusion, saying, why should we send any belts to y<sup>e</sup> French, since it is expressly forbid by our great brother Corlaer viz<sup>t</sup> His Excél. y<sup>e</sup> Earle of Bellomont Govern<sup>r</sup> of New Yorke &c to have any correspondence with them: and so no belts were sent but y<sup>e</sup> said Indian with his brother proceeded on their journey, & coming to Fort le Chene 3 leagues above Mont Royal, he see a squaw making Indian shoes, who said she had made that day thirty pair; he inquired what she made the shoes for, she replied we are employed about making shoes, I have made 60 paire, and in such a place there is 60 paire made, and so all along the Coast; y<sup>e</sup> said Indian came further to y<sup>e</sup> French praying Indian Fort; they asked him what his business was, he told them he was come to see his father (for his father lived at Canada) y<sup>e</sup> French Indians asked him, why the Sachims were not come to treat with the French; he replied that Corlaer had forbid it, and also that there had been a very deep snow which had hindered them. The said Indian went from the Indian Castle to Mont Royall to the house of M<sup>r</sup> Maricour called by the Indians Stow Stow, and no sooner was he come in, but a messenger from the Govern<sup>r</sup> came for him, upon w<sup>ch</sup> he said, how does the Govern<sup>r</sup> know I am here; the messenger told him he knew it as soon as you arrived at the Indian Castle, he asked Stow Stow how it was with their prisoners, who told him they were still in prison, Stow Stow asked the said Indian whether he had any Belts from the Five Nations, he told him no, then said Stow Stow belts of Wampum must be very dear with you that you bring none.

Stow Stow asked the Indian further what news Capt: Johannes Schuyler had brought to Albany when he returned from Canada, the Indian told him that Capt. Schuyler said he had heard that our prisoners would be sett at liberty in 4 dayes time; then said Stow Stow he is a wicked man, for he hath secured them faster than ever, yea he hath clinched them with silver nailes, nay I was concerned that Capt. Schuyler should take so much pains to detain said Indians; I asked said Schuyler who caused said Indians to be kept so in prison, Capt Schuyler answered because the 5 Nations were disobedient, Stow Stow asked why the Sachims of the 5 Nations did not come to Canada, Capt. Schuyler replied here is the 5 Nations, and pointed to a negroe he had with him, Stow Stow replied, why dispise you the 5 Nations so, they are none of your subjects, we have fought & taken severall of their Castles & subdued them, but we never saw any of y<sup>e</sup> King of Englands subjects that did assist or could rescue them.

Stow Stow asked Cohensiwanne the Indian, how the Govern<sup>r</sup> of New York called the 5 Nations. he answered, Brethren; Stow Stow said, wee call them Children, as we do all those under our subjection & treat them as such; you are called Brethren, but you are treated like servants, yea worse than soldiers who are punished for the least offence.

The said Indian asked Stow Stow why they did not release their 5 Indians; he replied that it was not in their power, it lay in the breast of the Govern<sup>r</sup> and said further, why do not your Sachims come here and release them, but you are no better than Slaves to y<sup>e</sup> Gov<sup>r</sup> of New York, you dare not come. Now I will give you good advice, w<sup>ch</sup> if you follow you shall have your prisoners; goe to your country and bring Sonaktowanne along with you: whereupon he replied shall I have nothing to carry along with you.<sup>1</sup> Stow Stow replied, goe to your Father at Canosodage, a Castle of the French praying Indians, and he will tell you what you shall doe. The Indian went there, where he found his father, and all the praying Indians mett together in the Castle, who gave him two Belts of Wampum to go to the 4 Nations, viz<sup>t</sup> the Oneydes Onondages Cayouges & Sinnekes, & to tell them this was the last time they were bid to come & treat with y<sup>e</sup> Gov<sup>r</sup> of Canada, & they would warne them no more for they were worse than beasts, & tell the Cayouges & Oneydes that they are ungratefull creatures, for the Onnondages have often releived of their people, & now when your people of Onnondage & Sinnekes are prisoners no body looks after them; therefore if you are minded to have your people tell the Sachims to come. And the said praying Indians charged the said Indian not to tell the Christians of this governm<sup>t</sup> nor the Maquase of what had passed between them.

The said Indian upon his returne to Fort le Chine the officer thereof told him to make haste home, & warne his people to have a care how they went out a hunting, for there were 300 of the Rondaxe that is Canada Indians at such a place and 300 at another place; for the Govern<sup>r</sup> of Canada hath not taken the hatchet out of their hands & so they will kill you.

The said Indian returned to Onnondage, told all what had passed, whereupon the Sachims of Onnondage said to the Sachims of the other Three Nations that it was now their business to consult what way to get their prisoners releived, for the Onnondages were those that suffered, and whether it was not requisite to send messengers to Canada, and whether the matter should be communicated to the Govern<sup>r</sup> of New York and the G<sup>ntl.</sup> of Albany, and the Maquasse.

Dekanissore said further

Now Bretheren we have told you all what is passed, and you hear how the French accuse you, which is occasioned by the sending messengers alone to Canada without some of the 5 Nations with you. Wee have concluded to send three messengers to the French, to treat with the Govern<sup>r</sup> of Canada, viz<sup>t</sup> one Oneyde, one Onnondage, one Cayouge (for y<sup>e</sup> Sinnekes will send none) and that about our prisoners, w<sup>ch</sup> wee now acquaint you with, and withall that the said messengers have three Belts of Wampum along with them & four French prisoners, by which 3 Belts they desire their 5 prisoners & that Comissioners may be appointed by the Govern<sup>r</sup> of Canada to meet Comissioner of y<sup>e</sup> Govern<sup>r</sup> of New York at Albany to treat of y<sup>e</sup> peace that y<sup>e</sup> hatchets may be buried, since they have suffered extreemly & had many people killed since the proclamation of peace.

The G<sup>ntl.</sup> being so extreemely surprised to hear Dekanissore tell this, stopt him in his discourse & asked him whether the said messengers were gone or not, since they could not believe that y<sup>e</sup> Indians had so much forgot themselves to truckle to y<sup>e</sup> French & disobey the Govern<sup>r</sup>s cōmands and break their faith & promise, and be so credulous to beleive these false storys of the French & therefore desired to know whether they could be overtaken.

Dekanissore said they were not gone when he left y<sup>e</sup> Castle but were to goe speedily, their provisions being making ready & that some weomen went along with them, part of their way to bring back venison, since the messengers designed to hunt by the way.

Whereupon it was resolved to send away Jan Baptist the Interpreter and an Indian forthwith post to tell the Sachims at Onnondage that Col. Schuyler and some other G<sup>ntl</sup>. were coming to treat wth them at Onnondage, and to stop the messengers if not gone, else to pursue them and bring them back.

It was further resolved to send for the Aldermen & Sherriff for their opinion in this matter of such weight.

Capt. Johannes Schuyler, John Vinnagen, Wessel ten Broek & John Cuyler, aldermen, & y<sup>e</sup> Sherriff being mett, concurr in y<sup>e</sup> opinion of the other G<sup>ntl</sup>. to send an express forthwith to stopp the messengers or bring them back if they be gone.

Whereupon John Baptist was dispatcht & ordered to make w<sup>t</sup> hast he could to Onnondage with an Indian that was ordered [with] him, and to tell the Sachims there, that they were charged not to suffer the said Messengers to goe to Canada, nor to send any French prisoners, and if it should happen that they were gone, to cause Indians forthwith to pursue them & bring them back, & that all the Sachims of the 5 Nations meet at Onnondage, where Col. Schuyler and some other G<sup>ntl</sup>. from Albany will meet & treat with them about that affaire.

Carondowanne the Indian of Oneyde seeing all the G<sup>ntl</sup>. so much displeas'd at their proceedings told Dekanissore, I always was of opinion & many more with me that this method of sending to Canada would be very displeasing to our Bretheren y<sup>e</sup> Christians, yet many of our people, that talk loud, were much for it.

The G<sup>ntl</sup>. being convened together for y<sup>e</sup> nominateing fitt persons to be sent to Onnondage to treat with the Indians and hinder y<sup>e</sup> 5 Nations further negotiation with the French; Col. Schuyler was pitched upon with one more, either May<sup>r</sup> or Major Wessells, but Col. Schuyler declared not to be inclined to goe without two, so both Hendrick Hanse May<sup>r</sup> & major Wessells were pitcht upon, who would prepare themselves accordingly.

It was also proposed if it were requisite that two should be sent to Onnondage to watch the motion of the Indians and send us an acco<sup>t</sup> of their proceedings; where upon John Baptist the Interpreter and Johannes Glin jun<sup>r</sup> were thought fitt men for that purpose & will reside there till his Exc<sup>ll</sup> y<sup>e</sup> Earle of Bellomonts pleasure be further knowne.

The G<sup>en</sup>tl. were convened upon the request of Capt. Johannes Schuyler who sent for the six Frenchmen lately come from Canada & two French Indians to be present while Dekanissore the Sachim should be examined about those false and scandalous aspersions that Mo<sup>r</sup> Maricour als Stow Stow should have reported of him to Cohonsiowanne the Indian lately come from Canada; and that part of the proposition relateing to Capt. Johannes Schuyler was read and interpreted to Dekanissore. Upon which Capt. Johannes Schuyler did declare in the presence of all the G<sup>en</sup>tl. to the said six French men, and the two Canada Indians that if Mo<sup>r</sup> Maricour had told such false lyes and storys to y<sup>e</sup> Indians, of him, viz<sup>t</sup> that the said Capt. Schuyler should have secured our five Indians there in prison, faster then they were before & clinched them with silver nails, and that the Five Nations were disobedient & compared them to his Negro, that if Mo<sup>r</sup> Maricour had said so he was neither a gentlemen nor an honest man; for they were scandalous and malicious falsehoods; for he never had any discourse with him tending that way. Whereupon the Frenchmen said they beleived it was a scandall raised upon Mo<sup>r</sup> Maricour & meer inventions of y<sup>e</sup> Indians, and the two French Indians said it was invented by some evill affected people of the 5 Nations who had no mind to be reconciled to y<sup>e</sup> French and so designed to raise animosities between the two governm<sup>ts</sup>: by which discourse & Capt: Schuylers confronting the said Indians, Dekanissore and y<sup>e</sup> other Sachim of Oneyde seemed to be satisfied that Capt: Schuyler had no hand in what was alleadged against him.

with all expedition to Onnondage and use all the arguments you can possible think of, to diswade y<sup>e</sup> said Indians from keeping any correspondence with y<sup>e</sup> French of Canada, & if any messengers be gone already as we are informed they are, that you cause them to be pursued after & brought back. Your great busines is to perswade them to break off holding any correspondence with y<sup>e</sup> French & sending to Canada; for w<sup>ch</sup> end you shall insinuate to them y<sup>e</sup> antient Covenant Chain, so often renewed here at Albany, particularly this last s<sup>u</sup>mer with his Exc<sup>l</sup>. y<sup>e</sup> Earl of Bellomont, when it was confirmed with greater earnestnesse then ever, & y<sup>e</sup> 5 I<sup>n</sup>ions then promised faithfully they would never treat with y<sup>e</sup> French, yea it should be looked upon as a breach of y<sup>e</sup> Covenant Chain if they did. Put them in mind that Albany has of old been y<sup>e</sup> place of treaty with y<sup>e</sup> 5 Nations, & that it was concluded last s<sup>u</sup>mer if there was any solemn negotiation with y<sup>e</sup> French about y<sup>e</sup> prisoners it was to be at Albany, when y<sup>e</sup> Sachims of y<sup>e</sup> 5 Nations should have advertisement of it & send Delegates hither to be present at y<sup>e</sup> negotiation; & y<sup>e</sup> 5 Nations cannot but remember how that they have already delivered up 5 prisoners when y<sup>e</sup> Lieut. Gov<sup>r</sup> was here, in order that there may be a general exchange.

That this govern<sup>t</sup> hath always been true and stedfast to them y<sup>t</sup> on y<sup>e</sup> contrary the French have always been perfidious to them, & they spoke of peace they had warr in their hearts, instance Cadarachqui

That you aske them if they can instance any one thing wherein they have found this govern<sup>t</sup> unfaithfull to them.

That y<sup>e</sup> French have always done the first mischeife even in time peace & ought to begg their pardon & forgiveness in their owne country if they desire it.

That they are the subjects of y<sup>e</sup> Great King of England who has made peace with the French King in Europe, and therefore there is no necessity of their making peace with y<sup>e</sup> French of Canada: it would be a bold presumption & preposterous, & contrary to y<sup>e</sup> Covenant Chain.

Tell that it is against the hon<sup>r</sup> of their ancestors to truckle to y<sup>e</sup> French, & their going to Canada for peace will be a mark that they are in y<sup>e</sup> wrong, & bring them and posterity into perpetuall infamy & slavery to the French for ever hereafter

That they must not suffer their private Indians to goe and have any communication with y<sup>e</sup> French at Canada, for they desire no better advantage then to infuse a thousand lyes & storyes into their heads on purpose to perplex them & raise jealousies to make them uneasy; witness the last Indian Cohonsiowanne's goeing, & those fulsome nasty lyeing storyes he brought back, that Stow Stow should have told him of Capt. Schuyler; & tell them how the French that were here, were confronted by Capt. Schuyler in y<sup>e</sup> presence of Dekanissore & two French praying Indians. As for the French threatnings that there should be so many Rondax Indians lyeing in waite for them in their hunting places, they know it to be false, there not being half the number in all Canada; & tell them to remember what the Earl of Bellomont told them, if any body disturbs them & kills their people, they are to resist force with force & defend themselves. As for their 5 prisoners that are still in custody that they are so much concerned for; tell them that they need not fear but the Earl of Bellomont our Gov<sup>r</sup> will take effectuall means to have them delivered up, that the French use this meanes to cause y<sup>e</sup> 4 Nations to stoop to them and to brag to their King that they have subdued the 5 Nations and forced them to come to their termes.

That it is against the Articles of peace for the French to detain any of the King of England's subjects prisoners, & therefore endeavor to break them off from y<sup>e</sup> treaty & correspondence with the French till y<sup>e</sup> Spring, that my Lord may be advertised of their intentions, and that by all meanes you obstruct any positive agreement; but gaine time as much as may be, & hinder their sending Com<sup>rs</sup> to Canada.

You are to take some of the Maquasse Sachims from y<sup>e</sup> Maquasse Country with you to Onnondaga, & also some of the Oneydes that they be witness to all what passes & endeavour to convince them of the evil consequence of this sending.

You are to leave Jan Baptist Van Eps, the Interpreter & Johannes Glin at Onnondage to watch the motion of the said Indians that they send no body to Canada, nor receive any messengers from thence to induce them to go thither.

If you understand by y<sup>e</sup> way from Jan Baptist y<sup>e</sup> Interpreter, who is sent thither, that y<sup>e</sup> messengers are gone to Canada & no retrieving of them, then you are to send to all y<sup>e</sup> 5 Nations that they send down their Sachims here to Albany to meet the Gov<sup>r</sup> or some commissioned by him, in sixty dayes time.

You have herewith y<sup>e</sup> printed propositions that passed betweene his Excell. y<sup>e</sup> Earl of Bellomont our Gov<sup>r</sup> & y<sup>e</sup> 5 Nations in July last, for to refresh your memory; but in regard it is impossible to furnish you with such arguments as may be necessary to expostulate with y<sup>e</sup> Indians, it is left to your discretion to use all your art and skill by faire meanes or otherwayes as you shall see occasion, to hinder and prevent their keeping any Correspondence with y<sup>e</sup> French of Canada, & if the Indians upbraide you because messengers have been sent twice from this govern<sup>t</sup> you may tell them that when Col. Schuyler & M<sup>r</sup> Dellius went, it was to acquaint them of the peace, & in pursuance to the articles of peace to exchange prisoners, & when Capt. John Schuyler went to Canada it was merely to satisfy y<sup>e</sup> 5 Nations that there was no such thing as an army coming against them, as Dekanissore & the rest of the Sachims did apprehend.

Wee [do] not put you in minde of keeping an exact journal of all your proceedings, since your experience & prudence will sufficiently direct you; & herewith shall conclude, wishing you a good journey.

Message from the Indians at Onnondaga.

[New-York Papers, E. F. G., G 6.]

The messengers sent by Onnondage and Oneyde to Canada this winter with Belts of Wampum to treat with the French arrived this day with five Belts of Wampum, who gave the following report about the negociation wth y<sup>e</sup> Govern<sup>r</sup> of Canada.

By the first Belt Mons<sup>r</sup> de Collier Govern<sup>r</sup> of Canada doth say, I thank my children that they are come here to Canada, since your Father is dead; meaning Count Frontdnoc.

The second Belt says, why were you affraid to come to Canada; y<sup>e</sup> Messengers answered because they heard continually that his kitle boyl'd still, & that his hatchet was very sharp: the Governour of Canada replyed, that he did not dissemble, for what they had heard was the truth.

The third Belt says, y<sup>t</sup> y<sup>e</sup> prisoners shall be redeem'd on both sides.

The fourth Belt, the Govern<sup>r</sup> of Canada asked the Messengers if they were of the Cheife Sachims of the Five Nations; whereupon Oraadgion y<sup>e</sup> Indian answered that they were the cheifest att present because the others were dead. Then said Mons<sup>r</sup> Marricour our fore fathers have allwayes had their mettings in Onnondage, (being the center of the 5 Nations) to consult wth on another, w<sup>ch</sup> we seek to continue; therefore break off wth Corlaer the Govern<sup>r</sup> of New York since he endeavo<sup>rs</sup> to send you all to Hell, for he will not admit of any priests in your country; therefore come to your Father and lett our place of speaking or treaty be here.

Wth y<sup>e</sup> fifth Belt he demanded a Mahikander Indian who is att Onnondage a prisoner, and two Rondax or Canada Indians y<sup>t</sup> are att Cayouge wth the French prisoners that are still at Albany; fetch y<sup>m</sup> from thence and come here in 60 dayes time to Canada that I may satisfie you for the loss you have sustained, and that I may be satisfied you are sent by the Five Nations and have spoke of peace; then I will send for Lamberville the Jesuit who is now in France, and send him and Father Bruyas to Onnondage & Oneyde and wth all acquaint the King of France my master how y<sup>t</sup> you have been here to speak of peace

Then the messengers came to the French praying Indians who spoke to y<sup>m</sup> wth five fathom of white Wampum, and said, goe not over the Lake to hunt bever for we know not y<sup>e</sup> intensions of y<sup>e</sup> Rondonx or French Indians.

Whereupon the Four Nations, viz<sup>t</sup> the Sinnekes, Cayonges, Onnondages & Oneydes spoke to Ju<sup>n</sup> Baptist wth seven hands of Wampum and told him to tell the Maquasse Sachims to appear at Onnondages in 25. days time att a generall meeting of all the Sachims of the Five Nations, and also gave the s<sup>d</sup> Ju<sup>n</sup> Baptist y<sup>e</sup> Interpreter a Belt of Wampum to give to his Excell<sup>t</sup>: y<sup>e</sup> Earle of Bellomont, w<sup>ch</sup> was to signifie that they desired that Coll. Peter Schuyler and Major Dirk Wessells should be present att their said Gen<sup>l</sup> meeting

The Council and Assembly of New-York to Messrs. Schuyler and Bleeker.

[New-York Papers, E. F. G. G S; N. Y. Assembly Journ. I., 99.]

Instructions agreed on by a Committee of the Council and House of Representatives to be sent by Capt John Schuyler & Capt. John Bleaker or such other gentlemen as his Excellency shall be pleased to appoint to goe to Onnondage; humbly offered to y<sup>e</sup> Earle of Bellomont's consideration

You are to goe to Onnondage with all expedition and acquaint y<sup>e</sup> Sachims of y<sup>e</sup> Five Nations in their generall meeting that their sending Messengers to treat with the French of Canada is very ill taken by his Excellency being of bad consequence; and use all the arguments possible to dissuade them firmly from y<sup>e</sup> like ill practices for the future.

Your cheife businesse will be to perswade them to break of holding any correspondence with y<sup>e</sup> French; for which purpose you must insinuate to them the antient Covenant chain so often renewed att Albany, particularly this last summer with his Excellency, when itt was confirmed with greater earnestness then ever, and y<sup>e</sup> Five Nations then promised faithfully they would never fail of their duty and obedience to this government, and never treat with y<sup>e</sup> French any more, and itt was concluded last summer if there was any solemn negociation with y<sup>e</sup> French about y<sup>e</sup> prisoners, that itt was to be att Albany, when y<sup>e</sup> Sachims of the Five Nations should have advertisement of itt, in order that they might impower some of their Sachims to come to Albany to be present att the Negotiation. And the Five Nations cannot but remember how that they have already delivered up five prisoners when the Lieu<sup>t</sup> Governour was there, in order y<sup>t</sup> there may be a general exchange.

That this governm<sup>t</sup> hath allwayes extended their care and protection over them, that on y<sup>e</sup> contrary y<sup>e</sup> French have allwayes been perfidious to them, and when they speake of peace they had war in their hearts, instance Cadarathqui

You must tell them they go to Canada to ask peace and forgiveness, whilst in y<sup>e</sup> mean time the French are afraid of them. Ask the Five Nations if they can instance any one thing wherein they have found this government unfaithfull to them.

That the French have allways done y<sup>e</sup> first mischief when in time of peace, and ought to beg their pardon and forgiveness in their own Country if they desire itt

Tell them that they are subjects of the Great King of England who has made peace with the French King in Europe, w<sup>ch</sup> includes all his Majesties subjects, and therefore they ought to depend upon that peace soe made and that his Majesty of Great Brittain & this Governm<sup>t</sup> will at all times justifie their being such, and protect them as such.

Tell that it is against the honour of their ancestors to truckle to the French, and their going to Canada for peace will be a marke that they are in y<sup>e</sup> wrong and bring them and posterity into perpetuall infamy and slavery to the French for ever hereafter.

That they must not suffer their private Indians to go and have any communication with y<sup>e</sup> French att Canada; for they desire no better advantage then to infuse lyes and stories into their heads on purpose to perplex them, & raise jealousies to make them uneasy.

As for y<sup>e</sup> French Praying Indians telling y<sup>e</sup> Five Nations not to hunt over y<sup>e</sup> Lake for fear of the Rondax Indians is a mere scare-crow to obstruct their trade, & by such meanes to keep them poor and despicable, which they are no ways to regard; but if any disturb them in their country or hunting, lett them resist force with force & defend themselves.

Tell them they need not fear but all effectual means will be taken to release the two Indians still detained by the French Governour, and itt will be resented by the King of England the keeping of his subjects prisoners, contrary to y<sup>e</sup> articles of peace; and make strict inquiry how they have used those prisoners lately sett free.

You are to leave Jan Baptist and Arnout<sup>1</sup> y<sup>e</sup> Interpreter att Onnondage, to watch y<sup>e</sup> motion of y<sup>e</sup> said Indians that they send no body to Canada, nor receive any messengers from them to induce them to goe thither.

You are to use all your endeavours to perswade the Sachims to come to Albany, as formerly was proposed, and if they will bring the prisoners with them, lett them do itt, and protest against their going with the prisoners directly from their country to Canada, & tell them if they do, itt shall be taken as a violation of the Covenant chain.

You have herewith the printed propositions y<sup>e</sup> passed between his Excellency and y<sup>e</sup> Five Nations att Albany in July last, for to refresh your memory, but in regard itt is impossible to furnish you with such arguments as may be necessary to expostulate with the Indians, itt is left to your discretion to use all your art and skill by fair means or otherwise as you shall see occasion, to hinder and prevent their keeping any correspondence with y<sup>e</sup> French of Canada. Aud if the Indians upbraid you, because messengers have been sent twice from this government you may tell them that when Coll. Schuyler and M<sup>r</sup> Dellius went itt was to acquaint them of y<sup>e</sup> peace and in pursuance of ye articles of peace to exchange prisoners; and when Capt. John Schuyler went to Canada itt was to satisfy y<sup>e</sup> Five Nations that there was no such thing as any army coming against them as Dekanissore and the rest of y<sup>e</sup> Sachims did apprehend. And if they alleadge that Abraham Schnyler and three more were at Canada this winter, you may tell them itt was to see what their messengers did there, who went contrary to their engagements and promise made to his Excellency last summer.

As to what y<sup>e</sup> French observed to them relateing to y<sup>e</sup> sending of Jesuits to them in order to make them Christians, that if they be desirous to be instructed in y<sup>e</sup> Christian religion, this government will take care to provide fitt persons for that end. Therefore you must by all means perswade them not to suffer any Jesuits to live among them, for this government cannot allow of any such thing.

[New-York Papers, E. F. G., G. 9.]

The humble memoriall of Robert Livingston of Albany.

Sheweth:—

That he hath observed that the trade of Albany which formerly was very considerable both in regard to the advancem<sup>t</sup> of his Majesties revenue as well as for returns to the ships that came here to trade, is palpably gone to decay, not only in the tyme of the late warr with the French but since the peace hath been concluded; insomuch that the Inhabitants are much impoverished and discouraged to continue their trade; by which means that considerable frontier will be deserted, haveing no other dependance but meerly their trade, being seated on a barren sandy soyle, not fit for any improvement. The occasion of all which difficulties and defects of trade I humbly conceive to proceed from y<sup>e</sup> French's instigation of the far Indians to be in a continuall war with our Five Nations of Indians and threatning them that if they should hunt on the other side of the Lake they would be destroyed by the French Indians. For remedy whereof and prevention of the like inconveniences for the future and for the advancement of his Majesties revenue, as well as y<sup>e</sup> encouragement of y<sup>e</sup> Indian trade I do humbly propose that there may be a general peace concluded between y<sup>e</sup> Dowaganhaes, Twichtwicks, Ottowawaes, and other far Indians constantly in war with our Indians of y<sup>e</sup> 5 Nations; which pease I humbly presume may be obtained by sending of 200 Christians inhabitants born in this country who understand y<sup>e</sup> woods, joynd with 3 or 400 Indians of y<sup>e</sup> 5 Nations who are to take such prisoners as they have of those far Nations, with them, & presents, and in their going to make a fort at a place called Wawijjachtenok,<sup>1</sup> where a party of Christians are to be left, being a place plenty of provisions many wild beasts using there; and so proceed to the respective far Nations who will undoubtedly receive them, notwithstanding the French are there among them, and have a p<sup>t</sup>ended sort of possession by a laying a Jesuite and some few men in a small fort; (for where ever a Frenchman hath once set his foot he claims a right and title to the country.) And a peace once so concluded in their own country, some of them are to be brought to y<sup>e</sup> country of the 5 Nations to confirm y<sup>e</sup> same and then some of both Nations to be brought to Albany to ratefie the peace and bury their hatchetts; when it would not be amiss in my opinion if a p<sup>r</sup>sent were made them to welcome them and to keep the path open; which when they see the plenty and cheapness of goods at Albany, will be encouraged to bring all their trade thither, and by that means augment our trade to ten tymes as much as it is now, of all which the French deprive us by their frivolous p<sup>t</sup>ences of subdueing those farr Nations and converting them to the Christian faith by their preists, when in reality it is nothing but to secure a trade which our slothfulness and negligence hath given them the occasion of.

Earl of Bellmont to the Lords of Trade.

[New-York Entries, B. 354.]

To the Right Honourable the Lords Commissioners for Trade and Plantations.

My Lords.

Knowing how much your Lordships set a value upon furnishing Naval Stores for the service of his Ma<sup>ty</sup> and the nation of England from these his Majestie's colonies, I have been thoughtfull about that matter of late, and the more so because I do not find that design is carried on with that vigour in New Hampshire that I could wish. I will suppose the purveyors that have the inspection into the provision of stores there, honest, because I know not the contrary, and yet admitting them to be so, I find plainly the charge will be so extravagant that I question whether it will not be a total discouragement and obstruction to the prosecution of that design. Were it not for the trouble and opposition given me by these unruly people here that has hindered my remove hence to my other governments, I had given your Lordships long since a faithfull account of that and other affairs relating to those governments. But now having overcome these difficulties in a great measure and that by patience and moderation, I hope to be at liberty in a very short time to transport my self to Boston and very quickly after to New Hampshire.

<sup>1</sup> Now Detroit, see post 650. The Wawiahtas were a Twichtwick, or Miami tribe, and are found located, in 1751, on the Wash, according to Chr. Gist's Journal, in Pownall's Descr. of N. America, App. VI, 12, where also they will be found on Mitchell's Map, in 1755, under the name of the Wawuaghtanees. See, also, Loskiel's Indian Missions, I, 3.—Ed.

I sent for Mons<sup>r</sup> Bernon a French merchant and an honest sincere man, whom I was acquainted with in England, he being extremely well recommended to me by my Lord Galloway and severall other French gentlemen and having lived some years at Boston and there in that country made a good quantity of pitch, tar, rozen, and turpentine, I have discoursed him fully about these things, and find the King can best be supplied from this Province with the severall forementioned species of stores, and that for the following reasons. There grows an infinite number of pines in Long Island alias Nassau Island, and on both sides of Hudsons river, and between Albany and Schenectady, and there will be a water carriage which will mightily conduce to their cheapness. Then I would have the soldiers employed to worke at making them at full English pay, which is 8<sup>d</sup> p<sup>r</sup> day and an addition of 4<sup>d</sup> p<sup>r</sup> day which will be 12<sup>d</sup> in the whole, to encourage them, and under which 'twill be impossible to keep 'em in tolerable cloaths and diet; and if they be not enabled to live more comfortably than at present, they will be always deserting as they do now. The worke is not laborious; all that they have to do is to tap the trees and then receive the liquor in vessells. Mons<sup>r</sup> Bernon says a man that works with dilligence will make five tun of stores in a year, one with another. I say one with another, because all summer he makes pitch rozen and turpentine, and in winter he can make tar only and none other of the forenamed species. 'Tis easy then to compute what the charge will be to the King, of those stores. The soldiers pay ordinary and extraordinary will be 7<sup>s</sup> p<sup>r</sup> week (which by the way I must observe would be to other labourers 18<sup>s</sup> per week could be had which is not possible here in this country) then at the rate of five tun the produce of each man's labour in the year, the charge of making will come to (within a small fraction) £3. 12<sup>s</sup>. 10<sup>d</sup>. Then I allow for casks to put it in at the rate of 2<sup>s</sup> 6<sup>d</sup> p<sup>r</sup> barrell (which is the price here) £1. per tun; for carrying to the water side and shipping it down to Yorke and all other contingent charges, management also included £1. 5<sup>s</sup>. Lastly the freight of it to England 40 shill<sup>l</sup> p<sup>r</sup> tunn: all which articles amount to £7. 17. 10 p<sup>r</sup> tun sterling money; I mean if you have the stores from hence. And from New Hampshire will cost just thrice as much which is £23. 13<sup>s</sup>. 6<sup>d</sup> day labour being there as 'tis here 3<sup>s</sup> per day, unless the King would keep soldiers there to work as I have proposed his doing here, which will not be proper for two reasons.—First that there are not provisions to be had there for 'em; Secondly that they would be out of the center and consequently not properly placed for security to the Provinces against the French and their Indians. If Mons<sup>r</sup> Bernon have informed me right that one man will make 5 tuns of those stores in a year (which I confesse is the thing I most doubt in all this scheme) then I am sure I can not err materially in the other articles: and if his and my computation be just then we shall be able to furnish the King with Navall Stores † part cheaper then he has 'em now from the Northern Crowns. I was at a losse to find out the price current of the fore named several species, but bethought myself of a certain printed paper that comes out weekly in London called the Merchants Weekly Remembrancer, shewing the prices of all sorts of Commodities and have had the luck to find here a very late one, wherein the price of Stockholm pitch is set down at £16. p<sup>r</sup> last (a last is a tun and half) Stockholm tar £12. 10. but whether the last or ton be meant is not said; black rozen unrefined £12. p<sup>r</sup> tun, refined £14. p<sup>r</sup> tun; yellow rozen unrefined £10. 10. ditto refined £14. 10. p<sup>r</sup> tann. Turpentine of New England unrefined £12. 10. ditto French unrefined £14. 10<sup>s</sup> p<sup>r</sup> tun. I do not only project to furnish the King with these stores in a sufficient quantity, but also at as cheap a rate as possibly can be; for I declare freely to your Lordships I will not get a shilling by this myself, nor shall the King be deceived of a shilling by any body else, so long as I am intrusted with the superintendance and management of this undertaking. All that I propose as a charge for the management (and which is included in the above £7. 10<sup>s</sup>. 10<sup>d</sup> p<sup>r</sup> tun) is £200 p<sup>r</sup> ann New Yorke mony to Mons<sup>r</sup> Bernon, and 2<sup>s</sup>. 6<sup>d</sup> p<sup>r</sup> day to each Lieutenant New Yorke mony, a Lieutenant to every hundred soldiers to keep 'em at their worke, which can never otherwise be done, for they will not be governed by other Overseers. Your Lordships will doubt perhaps the cheapness of frieght from hence to England, as I have proposed it, viz<sup>t</sup> at 40 shill<sup>l</sup> p<sup>r</sup> tun, because the present rate for merchants goods is from 4 to 6.£ p<sup>r</sup> tun, but I oblige myself to make it good as I have proposed, if some owners and masters of ships I have talked with here know their own minds, and have told me truth. I have known two or three ships wait five months in this port for a freight and at last goe for England half and sometimes three quarters laden, and they rarely wait lesse than three months for their lading, which is the reason of the dearness of freight of goods; whereas if I be commanded by your Lordships to proceed with this undertaking, I will always have a sufficient stock of these stores in readinesse here at Yorke, that every ship that comes to freight with them shall have her lading in three or four days time, and shall not be made to wait and quicknesse of returns will encourage the owners and masters of ships, and will bring down the price of the freight to what I have said. And the whole management shall be carried on without trifling or tricks. When it happens at any time that we have not a full loading of the fore mentioned stores for the ships that come, we can make it up with principall knee timber for the King's ships, which I understand is pretty scarce in England, and sells for 6 or 7.£ p<sup>r</sup> tunn. If your Lordships approve of this scheme and designe, be pleased to inform me from the Custom house in London what quantity of pitch tar turpentine rozen and spirit of turpentine is imported yearly into England, and from the Commissioners of the Navy what quantity of those several species is used in the King's yards every year. I am not certain whether Mons<sup>r</sup> Bernon call'd it spirit or oyle of turpentine, he guess'd the King's navy would consume a 1000 tun of all those sorts of stores every year, and that the nation of England would consume 6000 tun, but as he could not be certain of the quantity requisite, your Lordships will be best able to make a computation upon your inquiry of the Custome House and Navy Boards.

I understand there are as good pines for masts of ships on the land granted to M<sup>r</sup> Dellius by Colonel Fletcher as any are in New Hampshire, and a great number of them, and they may be floated on the river all the way for Yorke with little or no charge; so that for any thing I know the King may be much cheaper furnished with masts for his ships of war from thence than from Piscataqua in New Hampshire. I do not mean the land of Mr Dellius complained of by the Mohack Indians, but the other grant which is six times as big as that (it containing 86 miles in length and 20 miles broad.) as some say, and as others 16 miles, but taking it at least of the admeasrements or dimensions it contains exactly 900160 acres of land and is full as big as Devonshire, which is now reckoned the third County of England, if the map of that county which is in Camdens Britannia be exact. Neither is there any reservation of quit Rent to the Crown, except one Raccoon's skin p<sup>r</sup> annum, nor the liberty of cutting a tree or building a fort; yet 'tis certain there is the best and most commodious place for a fort that is in all this Province, viz<sup>t</sup> on the side of the Long Lake called Corlaer's Lake or Iroquois, because that land is the most advanced towards Canada. Mr. Dellius has lately had 90 masts for ships floated account of that and other affairs relating to those governments. But now having overcome these difficulties in a great measure and that by patience and moderation, I hope to be at liberty in a very short time to transport my self to Boston and very quickly after to New Hampshire.

And from New Hampshire will cost just thrice as much which is £23. 13<sup>s</sup>. 6<sup>d</sup> day labour being there as 'tis here 3<sup>s</sup> per day, unless the King would keep soldiers there to work as I have proposed his doing here, which will not be proper for two reasons.—First that there are not provisions to be had there for 'em; Secondly that they would be out of the center and consequently not properly placed for security to the Provinces against the French and their Indians. If Mons<sup>r</sup> Bernon have informed me right that one man will make 5 tuns of those stores in a year (which I confesse is the thing I most doubt in all this scheme) then I am sure I can not err materially in the other articles: and if his and my computation be just then we shall be able to furnish the King with Navall Stores  $\frac{1}{4}$  part cheaper then he has 'em now from the Northern Crowns. I was at a losse to find out the price current of the fore named several species, but bethought myself of a certain printed paper that comes out weekly in London called the Merchants Weekly Remembrancer, shewing the prices of all sorts of Commodities and have had the luck to find here a very late one, wherein the price of Stockholm pitch is set down at £16. p<sup>r</sup> last (a last is a tun and half) Stockholm tar £12. 10. but whether the last or ton be meant is not said; black rozen unrefined £12. p<sup>r</sup> tun, refined £14. p<sup>r</sup> tun; yellow rozen unrefined £10. 10. ditto refined £14. 10. p<sup>r</sup> tunn. Turpentine of New England unrefined £12. 10. ditto French unrefined £14. 10<sup>s</sup> p<sup>r</sup>

tun. I do not only project to furnish the King with these stores in a sufficient quantity, but also at as cheap a rate as possibly can be; for I declare freely to your Lordships I will not get a shilling by this myself, nor shall the King be deceived of a shilling by any body else, so long as I am intrusted with the superintendance and management of this undertaking. All that I propose as a charge for the management (and which is included in the above £7. 17<sup>s</sup>. 10<sup>d</sup> p<sup>r</sup> tun) is £200 p<sup>r</sup> ann<sup>o</sup> New Yorke mony to Mons<sup>r</sup> Bernon, and 2<sup>s</sup>. 6<sup>d</sup> p<sup>r</sup> day to each Lieutenant New Yorke mony, a Lieutenant to every hundred soldiers to keep 'em at their worke, which can never otherwise be done, for they will not be governed by other Overseers. Your Lordships will doubt perhaps the cheapness of freight from hence to England, as I have proposed it, viz<sup>t</sup> at 40 shill<sup>l</sup> p<sup>r</sup> tun, because the present rate for merchants goods is from 4 to 6.£ p<sup>r</sup> tun, but I oblige myself to make it good as I have proposed, if some owners and masters of ships I have talked with here know their own minds, and have told me truth. I have known two or three ships wait five months in this port for a freight and at last goe for England half and sometimes three quarters laden, and they rarely wait lesse than three months for their lading, which is the reason of the dearness of freight of goods; whereas if I be commanded by your Lordships to proceed with this undertaking, I will always have a sufficient stock of these stores in readinesse here at Yorke, that every ship that comes to freight with them shall have her lading in three or four days time, and shall not be made to wait and quicknesse of returns will encourage the owners and masters of ships, and will bring down the price of the freight to what I have said. And the whole management shall be carried on without trifling or tricks. When it happens at any time that we have not a full loading of the fore mentioned stores for the ships that come, we can make it up with principall knee timber for the King's ships, which I understand is pretty scarce in England, and sells for 6 or 7.£ p<sup>r</sup> tunn. If your Lordships approve of this scheme and desigue, be pleased to inform me from the Custom house in London what quantity of pitch tar turpentine rozen and spirit of turpentine is imported yearly into England, and from the Commissioners of the Navy what quantity of those several species is used in the King's yards every year. I am not certain whether Mons<sup>r</sup> Bernon call'd it spirit or oyle of turpentine, he guess'd the King's navy would consume a 1000 tun of all those sorts of stores every year, and that the nation of England would consume 6000 tun, but as he could not be certain of the quantity requisite, your Lordships will be best able to make a computation upon your inquiry of the Custome House and Navy Boards.

I understand there are as good pines for masts of ships on the land granted to Mr Dellius by Colonel Fletcher as any are in New Hampshire, and a great number of them, and they may be floated on the river all the way for Yorke with little or no charge; so that for any thing I know the King may be much cheaper furnished with masts for his ships of war from thence than from Pescataqua in New Hampshire. I do not mean the land of Mr Dellius complained of by the Mohack Indians, but the other grant which is six times as big as that (it containing 86 miles in length and 20 miles broad.) as some say, and as others 16 miles, but taking it at least of the admeasurements or dimensions it contains exactly 900160 acres of land and is full as big as Devonshire, which is now reckoned the third County of England, if the map of that county which is in Camdens Britannia be exact. Neither is there any reservation of quit Rent to the Crown, except one Raccoop's skin p<sup>r</sup> annum, nor the liberty of cutting a tree or building a fort; yet 'tis certain there is the best and most commodious place for a fort that is in all this Province, viz<sup>t</sup> on the side of the Long Lake called Corlaer's Lake or Iroquois, because that land is the most advanced towards Canada. Mr. Dellius has lately had 90 masts for ships floated work and, if I may believe Mons<sup>r</sup> Bernon, the women and children of ten years old and upwards will be able to make good earnings at it. But rather than require more soldiers from England (for I confesse I grudge our parting with people out of England) I should advise the sending for negros to Guinea, which I understand are bought there and brought hither all charges whatever being borne for 10.£ a piece New Yorke mony, and I can cloath and feed 'em very comfortably for 9<sup>d</sup> a piece p<sup>r</sup> day sterling money, which is 3<sup>d</sup> p<sup>r</sup> day lesse than I require for the soldiers. If it were practicable for the King to be the merchant and that whole management of this undertaking were upon his account, which I confess I am not able to judge whether it be (as I said) practicable or would be pleasing to the Nation; but were it so, there would be a profit of at least 50 p<sup>r</sup> Cent made of the goods sent over hither and to the other plantations for defraying the charge of making & providing the Stores. For I propose that English goods, especially woollen cloaths of several sorts shall maintain this undertaking. When I say 50.£ per Cent profit will be made of the goods sent over, I am sure I say the least; for at that rate we shall under sell the present market at Boston at least 20 p<sup>r</sup> Cent. and that of this town above 40 p<sup>r</sup> Cent, for I have taken pains to inform myself about these matters.

I can think of no further charge that will attend the provision of stores here at New Yorke, except the building a good store house, which I compute may be done for about 1000. this mony. There will also be required a Clerk of the Stores, for whom I propose a salary of 100 p<sup>r</sup> An<sup>n</sup> this mony, and the Clerk's Assistant whose salary I propose should be 50 per An<sup>n</sup> this mony. The first salary would be but 70 English and the other but 56. Then there would be about a dousin men constantly employed in laying in the Stores in the store house and delivering them out, which work I could have performed by soldiers with a small addition of pay.

Two things are essentially necessary to the carrying on this great and usefull designe of furnishing Naval Stores for the King and the Nation of England, viz<sup>t</sup> first the vacating all the extravagant grants of land which are eleven or twelve in number, and all, except two or three granted by Colonel Fletcher, and those eleven or twelve grants comprehend  $\frac{3}{4}$  parts of this Province, which was the most destructive course he could possibly have taken for the interest of the Crown and the peopling of the Province. Besides he has singled out worthless sort of people for his grantees and generally so disaffective to the person and government of his present Majesty, that I wish with all my heart I could except four of the twelve that are not so. What I have now said of these grantees is not a malicious suggestion, but a truth that I take upon me to prove. The second thing requisite for carrying on this desigu is, the giving the King a liberty by Act of Parliament in England or of Assembly here, of using pines or other sorts of trees for making all the fore mentioned stores on the Estates of all persons in this Province, without exception, and reserving to his Majesty alone the use of all such pine or other trees as are fit for masts of ships, and of all such oak and other timber whether streight or crooked, as will be proper to be used for the building his Majesty's ships of War.

I much question whether I shall be able to get an Act pass'd in this Assembly to break all the fore mentioned extravagant grants of lands. The parties concerned are jealous of my desigue and are now indeavouring to prepossesse the members of Assembly with a thousand apprehensions about it; but as the Grantees are men that are generally much hated by the coutry I hope I may prevail to get a bill pass'd for the breaking part of the grants this Session, and will try to break the rest the next; and that in pursuance of the orders of the Lords Justices of England in their letter of the 10th of last November; and I will nicely observe all the rules and conditions contained in that letter, with relation to the future disposition and grants of lands. By what I have offered for the King's having a liberty of making pitch tarr &c and cutting trees and timber on all peoples estates for the use of his Navy and of the nation of England, I do not mean that the present or future proprietors of lands should be restrained from cutting timber for their own use and even for sale; that would be a hardship that might passe for injustice, and would be a discouragement to the peopling of the Province, but I should advise that all trees above such a scantling as shall be hereafter agreed on, shall be reserved to the King under a severe penalty, whether they be trees fit for masts for a first second or third rate man of war, or such as will afford planks or knees for ships of those rates.

I submit this whole matter to your Lordships great wisdom, and heartily ask pardon for the trouble of so long a letter. I thought it best to lay before you my whole scheme all at once, as things occurred to my thoughts, that I might not trouble you another time on the same subject. I am with the same respect as ever, My Lords

Your Lordships most humble

P. S. 4th of May 99. I send your Lordships a letter I have newly received from M<sup>r</sup> Bridger one of the Purveyors of Naval Stores at Pescataqua, that you may observe this good designe on heavily there.

Earl of Bellmont to the Lords of Trade.

[New-York Entries, B. 576.]

To the Right Honourable the Lords Commissioners for Trade and Plantations.

My Lords.

On the 19th of January I issued writs for the calling an Assembly to meet the 2nd of March, but Hudson's River not being open or free from ice, so as the members could come down from Aibany and Ulster Counties, I adjourned the Assembly de die in diem till the 21st of March; when those members were come down the River. There was the greatest struggle at the Elections that ever was known in this Province, and in some places fighting & broken heads, M<sup>r</sup> Nichols late of the Council and Jamison Clerk of the Council under Colonell Fletcher were the greatest incendiaries, especially Nicholls, who rode night and day about the country with indefatigable pains and all the flattering insinuations, endeavouring to possesse people that now was the time to get rid of a revenue and set themselves on an equal foot of liberty with the neighbour colonies, for paying customes he insinuated was a certain badge of slavery, and he had taught the country people that it was their interest to choose such representatives as would oppose a revenue, and they had learn't from him a byword (now or never) which was very common among them. In this town also he encouraged a club of the dissatisfied merchants of the number of 25 or 30, where among others one constant health was, to him that durst be honest in the worst of times. There came a ship hither from England in December, and with her came a servant of Colonel Fletcher's, by whom he wrote to at least twenty of his friends here, and I am told he assur'd 'em all that his affairs were in a very prosperous condition at the Court of England, and that he made no manner of question to baffle all the accusations I have sent home against him. Upon the receipt of these letters which were dated in August and September, the angry people here were so exalted that their insolence grew intollerable, and because I had no letters by that ship nor had none in severall months before from your Lordships or the rest of the Ministers, they look'd on that as a sure presage of my disgrace at Court. I was told Colonel Fletcher animated his friends in those letters to that contumely he inspired into them at his going away, and in which they have continued ever since; and 'tis said he advis'd 'em by all means to traverse me in the elections of Assembly men, for that an Assembly that would refuse to continue the Revenüe would be a sure means to ruine my interest at Court and get me quickly call'd home. In the begining of winter I made new Sherriffs in the severall Counties, putting out Colonel Fletcher's stale Sherriffs of 5 or 6 years standing, & putting in men of the best figure in their Counties, and well affected to the King.

The Elections were very fairly carried by all the Sherriffs in the respective Counties, the Leisler party (as the contrary party call 'em) were 455 votes in this town against a 177. yet there was a cavill afterwards raised I am told, by Nicholls, for this reason, that the freemen or electors on both sides did by a tacit consent name one candidate only, expressing the rest by the word (Company) and this they, did it seems, to save time because there were four Candidates of a side, who it would have been tedious to name. As for example, the Leisler party voted for the Mayor of New Yorke and Company; the others (whom the Leislerites call the Jacobite party) voted for Mr Weuham and Company. This is all the objection I have heard the angry men have made to the fairness of the election for this town. Nichols and the rest of the faction as an artifice to draw all the English to vote for their friends, call'd themselves the English party, but what is observable and very ridiculous besides is, that three of the four Candidates they set up were as meer Dutch as any are in this town. Alderman Weuham was the only Englishman of 'em, the other three were Johannes Van Kipp, Rip Van Dam, and Jacobus Van Courtland; the names speak Dutch, and the men scarce speak English. I discourage all I can these distinctions of Dutch and English which is set on foot by the factious people of this town, and I tell 'em those are only to be acknowledg'd Englishmen that live in obedience to the laws of England. The rest of the elections were all petitioned against to the Assembly, but the suggestions in the petitions so very frivolous that the disaffected party in the House joyn'd with the others in throwing the petitions out. That party are but five in the House and the hottest men of this Province next to Bayard that's gon for England, and Nicholls, and to support my censure of them I presume to trouble your Lordships with a passage in the House of Representatives t'other day. Upon reading a bill where were the words (late happy Revolution) Captain Whitehead moved that the word (happy) might be left out, for he said he did not conceive the Revolution to be happy. Captain Whitehead is one of the members that serves for Queen's County on Nassau Island; he keeps a publick house at a town called Jamaica, and is a disciple of Nicholls's. 'Tis at his house that Nichols had always a rendezvous with his pirates in Colonel Fletcher's time, and twice the last summer as I afterwards heard, and which was sworn to by John Williamson whose deposition I sent your Lordships with my packet of the 21st of last October. Nicholls has so poyson'd the people of Queen's County, who are all English, that  $\frac{2}{3}$  parts of them are said to be down right Jacobites, and to avoid taking the Oaths to the King, which I lately injoynd all the males in the Province to do from 16 years old & upwards, a great many men in that country pretend themselves Quakers to avoid taking the Oaths; but soon after at the election of Assembly men those very men pull'd off the mask of Quakerism and were got very drunk and swore and fought bloodily; Their patrone M<sup>r</sup> Nicholls being a spectator all the while. In Suffolk County on Nassaw Island they are all English too, but of a quite different temper and principle from those I have been speaking of, the ballance is as I am told ten Williamites for one Jacobite. Our Assembly consists of one and twenty members, sixteen whereof are those the faction here call Leislerites, and those men voted unanimously for the Revenue, and will I am persuaded be always true to the King's honour and interest, to the utmost of their power. They voted the continuance of the Revenue the third day of the Session, and that for six years after the expiration of the present revenue and there is a year of that term unexpired. I am just now told that two of the Leisler party in the House of Representatives upon the commitment of the Revenue Bill voted counter to their friends and would have had the term of years to be three instead of six; and Nichols is supposed to have tamper'd with 'em, having been observ'd to be in their company.

I send your Lordships a paper which was very industriously dispersed in this town and all over the Province before the Elections of Assembly men, with design to influence the people in their choice and to obstruct the continuing a Revenue to the King. I have the first of them that was left in the Coffee house in this town, and 'tis writ by Colonel Bayard's son, as I can prove, and interlin'd and amended by Jamison late Clerk of the Council. 'Tis originally writ by Nichols and only copied by Bayard. 'Twas calculated to stir up sedition among the people, and there is an unmannerly reflection against the Privy Council of England about the Order of the King and Council to me grounded on your Lordship's representation to His Majesty on the subject of maintaining the privileges of this Port against Perth Amboy in East Jersey. The pamphleteer does not name the King in his reflection, because he durst not, but that he design'd it a reflection against the King by innuendo I think is plain, and that he has malice enough and disaffection to do that and worse against the King I shall now prove by certain evidences that have occurred to me. The Pamphlet goes (N<sup>o</sup> 1.) the depositions of M<sup>r</sup> Edsall an English gentleman that lives in Queen's County, and M<sup>r</sup> Gouverneur a member of this Assembly (N<sup>o</sup> 2) also M<sup>r</sup> Parmiter the Naval Officer's deposition against M<sup>r</sup> Nichols (N<sup>o</sup> 3) and M<sup>r</sup> Lawrence's deposition against him (N<sup>o</sup> 4) and a paper containing several articles against him which were intended to hinder his being sent Agent for this Province by Colonell Fletcher and the Assembly to England in the year 1695, but had not that effect; the said articles go (N<sup>o</sup> 5) I must observe that M<sup>r</sup> Parmiter told me a few days after M<sup>r</sup> Nichols had spoke to him what is contained in the above mentioned deposition, and it was the same in substance that he has since deposed. M<sup>r</sup> Nichols and M<sup>r</sup> Brooks were sent joynt Agents by Colonell Fletcher in the year 1695. and were taken by a French ship at sea, and carryed into France, where they were kept prisoners for some time at or near Brest, and some other person who was then a prisoner with them, upon their enlargement and arrivall in London, made oath either before the Privy Council or one of the Secretaries of State, that Nichols and Brooks utter'd very scurrilous and opprobrious language against his Majesty, and declared themselves much in favour of the late King James, and I think drank a health to the latter, and confusion to the former. I remember to have heard this at the time the person depos'd it, and it made a noise at Whitehall, but the particulars I do not remember exactly, it being so long ago.

8th of May 99. I send your Lordships the Adresse of the House of Representatives of this Province to his Majesty, to congratulate his safe return to England: it goes (N<sup>o</sup> 6.).

12th of May 99. In obedience to the commands of the Lords Justices of England contained in their Excellencies letter of the 10th of last November; I did with the advice and consent of the Council direct the Attorney General to prepare and bring in a bill for vacating the Extravagant grants of lands by Colonel Fletcher to M<sup>r</sup> Dellius the Minister at Albany, to Colonel Bayard, to Captain Evans, to Collonell Caleb Heathcot, and to the Church. The two last were the Governor's demesne, one by the name of the King's garden, and that to the Church the King's Farm, and tho' these two be the smallest grants, I always thought it a greater impudence in Fletcher to give away the conveniences from the King's Governors, than in granting away a large tract or two of land. The Council were equally divided, three against three, so that I was obliged to give a casting vote for the Bill. Those three that were against it have the largest grants in the Province next to Mr. Dellius's. We sent the bill down to the House of Representatives where it met with a chearful concurrence they adding a clause to deprive M<sup>r</sup> Dellius of his benefice at Albany; to which clause the Council and I agreed. The minute of Council directing M<sup>r</sup> Attorney to draw this Bill goes (N<sup>o</sup> 7) by which your Lordships will see I have got it made to tye up my own and all succeeding Governors hands from granting away or so much as leasing the demesne of the Governor for more than his own time in the Government.

I did not think fit to put the regulations ordered in the Lords Justices letter to me in the granting of lands into this Bill, for two reasons; first because this being to breake but a small part of the Extravagant Grants and intended only as an essay to find out how it will relish with the people, I thought it would be best to defer the making those regulations part of a bill, till I should try another Session, to vacate all the other extravagant grants which are about 8 or 9 in number. In the next place I was apprehensive those regulations (one whereof is that every hundred Acres of land shall pay a Quit rent of 2<sup>s</sup> 6<sup>d</sup> p<sup>r</sup> Ann: to the Crown) might alarm the members of the Assembly and prejudice them against such a charge on their lands. The getting this Bill pass'd has drawn upon me the implacable hatred of all parties concern'd and the rest of Fletcher's Palatines, those I mean that have unmeasureable grants, fancie I shall push at them the next time, so that they are equally angry with the others. And as for the King's Farm granted to the Church the whole faction I understand are resolv'd to bring on my head the anathemas of the Bishop of London and the Clergy, if they can by any means provoke 'em to resent it's being evacuated with the rest, notwithstanding I have given the English Minister much more than an equivalent for what the Act of Assembly has taken away; for by the King's farm he had but £7. p<sup>r</sup> Ann: rent, and I, with the consent of the Council have allowed him £26 p<sup>r</sup> Ann: to pay his house rent; in which we are warranted by the King's instructions to me.

In obedience to your Lordships commands sent with me from England, I have had the Bill against Privateers and Pirates pass'd, of which you sent the draught with me, but that for settling the Post Office the Council and I thought fit to respite till the next Session, at the earnest request of Coll. Hamilton Deputy Postmaster, who pretends the Bill as at present drawn will totally discourage the keeping up that office. The passing an Act to set the value of men's estates to serve as Jurors which your Lordships also ordered me, is complied with. A Bill for facillitating the conversion of Indians and Negros (which the Kings instructions require should be endeavoured to be pass'd) would not go downe with the Assembly; they having a notion that the Negros being converted to Christianity would emancipate them from their slavery, and loose them from their service, for they have no other servants in this country but Negroes. A Bill to enforce the building of publick workhouses (which is another instruction from his Majesty) to imploy the poor and also vagabonds I offered to the Assembly, but they smiled at it, because indeed there is no such thing as a beggar in this town or country: and I believe there is not a richer populace any where in the King's dominions than is in this Town.

16th of May 99. Yesterday in the evening the House of Representatives brought me a Remonstrance, which they desired I would humbly lay before the King; I could not refuse the receiving it and promising them to send it to your Lordships, that if you thought fit it might be presented to the King in their names; for I take it to be the right of the subjects to petition the King. But I should first have told your Lordships that I was forc'd to use an artifice to save Mr Graham, the late Speaker, from being expelled the House. I was informed by Dr Staats, one of the Council, yesterday morning that the Representatives had prepared a Remonstrance, and were resolved to compell Mr Graham their Speaker, who has the ill luck to be hated by all parties in the House to deliver it to me attended by the whole House, and in case of his refusal to throw him out. Afterwards Mr Graham came to me with concern, and told me the Remonstrance was produced and read in the House, but that he would be torn to pieces sooner than bring up and read such a paper at the head of the House, which he said arraign'd all the proceedings against Leisler and Millburn, and by so doing he said in terminis it would be cutting his own throat. Upon which having been ordered by the Lords Justices' letter of the 10th of Last November to swear Mr Graham among other persons therein named of his Majesty's Council, I sent for the House of Representatives and acquainted them with the King's commands, and swore Mr Graham of the Council, and directed them to go and choose another Speaker, which they did, and choose Mr Gouverneur, who I believe penn'd the Remonstrance; where your Lordships will meet with some expressions and words that are not very proper English: it goes (N<sup>o</sup> 8.).

The Council and I during this session revers'd a judgment given by Colonel Fletcher and the Council in his time against M<sup>r</sup> Wandale a widow in favour of one Alsop. I will shortly send your Lordships a copy of Mr Wandale the husband's will and state of her case, that you may be Judges how crying a piece of injustice it was in Colonel Fletcher to strip the Widow of her estate. Common fame says that Nichols had a good part of the estate for prevailing with Fletcher to give that unjust judgement, and that Fletcher had £60. for his share. This sort of proceeding is a mystery of iniquity and hard to find out and discover the truth of. Alsop is a silly sort of man and perhaps might betray his bargain with Nichols. But this is certain that when Colonel Fletcher pronounced the judgement, he was observed to fall into an agony and trembling, and grew very pale, so that every body present tooke notice of his strange disorder. This I have from good hands.

I have this morning prorog'd the Assembly to the 20th of next September, and this afternoon I am to embark for Boston in New England, on board a little galley which the Lieutenant Governor Mr Stoughton and the Council have sent to transport me thither. The short discourse I made to the Assembly at my parting with them, goes (N<sup>o</sup> 9.) I conclude with great sincerity and respect, My Lords

BELMONT.

Earl of Bellomont to the Lords of Trade.

[New-York Entries, B. 390.]

To the Right Honourable the Lords Commissioners for Trade and Plantations.

My Lords

Your Lordships I presume will have a full account from Boston of a parcell of pirates lately taken there with their ringleader Joseph Bradish born at Cambridge near Boston. The Commander Bradish ran away with the Ship called the Adventure of London an interloper to the East Indies, leaving the true Commander Captain Gulleck on some island in the East Indies, together with some officers and men that belonged to the ship. They came to the east end of Nassau Island and sunk the ship between that and Block Island. The ship of about 400 ton. I had no notice till a week after the ship was sunk, or if I had had notice I could have done nothing towards the seizing or securing the ship or men with out a man of Warr, which the Lords of the Admiralty seem to thinke these provinces unworthy of. I send your Lordships three or four depositions concerning the Pirate ship, the most materiall of those I have taken. The deposition of Symon Bonane a Jew goes (N<sup>o</sup> 1) that of Captain Mulford (N<sup>o</sup> 2) that of Cornelius Schelinger (N<sup>o</sup> 3) that of Lieutenant Colonel Peirson (N<sup>o</sup> 4.) This last the principall deposition, because with him Bradish had left £942 19 3 in mony; The particulars whereof goe (N<sup>o</sup> 5.) The bag of Jewells mentioned in Peirsons deposition were opened before myself and the Councill, where I had ordered a Jew in this town to be present, he understanding Jewells well. At first sight we thought there had been £10000 worth, but we soon found they were counterfeit, an inventory whereof goes (N<sup>o</sup> 6) My proclamation for the apprehending Bradish and crew goes (N<sup>o</sup> 7) I seized three men in this town, who I had notice were come from Block Island, and had concealed some of those pirates mony, and I secured them here till I gave the Governor of Rhode Island notice where the mony was concealed, which I heare he has since secured; Block Island being in his government. That mony I understand is near £1000. ten or eleven of the pirates are seized at New London by Colonel Winthrop, Governor of Connecticut and £1500 in mony, as he writes me word. At Boston they have taken 15 or 16 of the pirates, I hear, and 5 or 6000£. The Governor of Rhode Island is said to have discovered and seized another parcell of the mony besides what I gave him notice of, so that 'tis supposed there may be in the whole near £10000 secured for the owners in England, who I hear are Sir Joseph Hearne Mr Sheppard and Mr Heathcote. What I have received from Peirson is lodged with Colonel Courtland the Collector, and shall be forthcoming to the owners upon your Lordship's order, or such other authority as I can be secure in. Lieutenant Colonel Pierson came frankly and voluntarily to me and own'd Bradish had been at his house and left some baggs of mony with him & a bagg of jewells. He has a fair character in the country and is a man of substance and a member of the present Assembly. I frightened him by telling him he would stand in need of the King's mercy, for that by the statute of the 25th of Henry 8th he was equally guilty with Bradish; which is a truth. I hope your Lordships will obtain the King's leave for me to pardon him which is what I will not venture to do to him or any body else without your leave, notwithstanding you are pleased to write to me in your letter of the 25th of last October that I have a power by my commission to pardon pirates, and I assure your Lordships I do not intercede for him upon the score of a reward, for I neither have taken nor will ever take any reward of him. I must observe to your Lordships that five or six of the men that ran away with this ship under Pradish are, as I heare, some of Colonel Fletchers pirates that went out with Tew and other pirates commissioned by Fletcher. Two or three of 'em have wives in this town and were actually, as I have been informed, in town. I laid out for 'em, but they are too well befriended in this town to be given up to justice; and I am apt to believe they are still here.

I send the deposition of Daniel Scrogham (N<sup>o</sup> S.) about a pirate ship at Saltertudos that robb'd severall ships there, and the memorial of John Clotworthy master of a sloop that came hither from Jamaica (N<sup>o</sup> 9) Hyne the pirate he informs of is a bloody villain, has murdered severall men and will give no quarter they say to Spaniards that he takes. He belongs to this town his wife and family now here; he was master's mate of the ship Fortune which I seized at my first coming here which had been also commissioned by Colonel Fletcher. About three weeks since there came a ship within Sandy Hook, the mouth of this port and lay at anchor three days. The custom house officers say'd by her in a sloop and hay'd her, asking whither she was bound; she answered to the Port of New Yorke, but she n'ere came hither, so that she is supposed to have been a pirate; she was of about a 150 ton. We may be insulted here and the trade destroyed, if we cannot be allowed a ship of war. 'Tis reported here that severall ships belonging to this and the other Colonies to the number of four and twenty are taken by the Spaniards in the Bay Campechi, whither they went to take in Logwood. 'Tis also said the Spaniards are provok'd to it by the Scotch late settlemen on Golden Island near Darien.

I formerly gave your Lordships to understand the badness of the Forts of Albany and Schenectade. The gunner at Albany has sent me word the platforms are so rotten that he dares not fire a gun, and indeed those Forts are so scandalous that I cannot give your Lordships a low enough idea of them. They look more like pounds to impound cattle, than Forts. In my letter to your Lordships by Lieutenant Hunt I made bold to advise that the mony Colonel Fletcher should be found indebted to the King (which I was then and am still of opinion would upon a fair account prove to be 10 or 1200<sup>l</sup> Sterl) might be applied to the building of good stone Forts at Albany and Schenectade and repairing this Fort at New Yorke, which will cost at least  $\pounds 1000$  more. 'Tis wonderfull to me how Colonel Fletcher could pretend to apply the greatest part of the 30<sup>l</sup> p<sup>r</sup> Cent, to the repairs of this Fort and the Governour's house, when I found every thing out of repair when I superseded him. The palisadoes of this Fort are quite decayed and a third part of them destroyed and wanting; one of the bastions crack'd through, which will fall if not speedily rebuilt; the parapet gone to decay and must be renewed; the palisados 'tis computed will cost 600<sup>l</sup>. at least to be well done, and the bastion 200<sup>l</sup>. and the parapet 200<sup>l</sup>. The roof of the house too is out of repaire, so that it rains in, and the lowest floor is decayed and rotten, so that I believe the repair of the House will cost near 200<sup>l</sup>. more. I must not omitt to observe to your Lordships that the old part of the house is a comfortable convenient dwelling enough, and might have contented a Governour of much better quality than Coll. Fletcher; and the new building will cost first and last about  $\pounds 5000$ . New Yorke mony; so that 'tis plain here is so much mony cousecrated to his vanity. Where all this money will be got to build and repaire Forts, I cannot tell, unless Fletcher be made to refund to the King. The Assembly here I am almost certain will not be brought to raise it, for I cannot prevail with 'em by any means to consent to such an additionall duty as will pay the debts of the government, which amount to upwards of  $\pounds 5000$ .

I intend pursuant to the orders I have received from the Lords Justices of England, bearing date the 10th of November 95. to endeavour to breake the two excessive grants of land to M<sup>r</sup> Dellius, by Act of Assembly, and also M<sup>r</sup> Bayards of 40 miles long, which comprehends part of the Moback's land, and whereof they also complained to me at Albany; and also to breake Captain Evans's and the lease of the King's Farm to the Church and the King's Garden to Colonel Heathcote; all granted by Collonel Fletcher most impudently and corruptly. These I believe I shall prevaile to get a Bill to passe for the breaking of. And I will have a clause or clauses to stand in the Bill to disable me and all succeeding Governours from alienating or lessening the demesne of the King's Governour for the time being. When this is done and the before mentioned grants are vacated there will remain these following Extravagant Grants, viz<sup>t</sup> Colonel Smith's which M<sup>r</sup> Graham the Atturney Gen<sup>l</sup> assures me is 50 miles long and the whole breadth of Nassaw Island, most of it granted by Colonel Fletcher. Then there are besides M<sup>r</sup> Fred: Phillips's and his son Adolphus Phillips's. Two great tracts of land to Coll. Courtland one whereof is 20 miles square as I am told, and the other not much lesse: Colonel Beckman's grant; Colonel Peter Schuyler's; M<sup>r</sup> Livingstons and M<sup>r</sup> Ranslaer's: all which grants comprize I verily believe full  $\frac{3}{4}$ th parts of this Province, and are one with another (the two leases aforesaid excepted) 20 miles square by the nearest computation I can make; so that I appeale to Your Lordships what care has been taken by Coll. Fletcher of the interests of the Crown and this Province. Neither do I find there is 5*l* p<sup>r</sup> an<sup>n</sup>. Quit Rent reserved to the Crown upon all these vast grants, put altogether, which is an insufferable fraud in Coll: Fletcher. I observe in that clause of my commission which impowers my granting of lands and directs the reservation of a Quit Rent, the words are "for what yearly Quit Rent you shall think fit." Now the words You shall think fit, are very extensive words, and if I be a knave I will fob the Crown off with a Racoon skin p<sup>r</sup> An<sup>n</sup>: out of nine hundred thousand acres of land and will think fit to compound with the grantee for a good fine to myself. These last mentioned Grants I have neither time nor strength to breake at this time; but if your Lordships will send over a good Judge or two and a smart active Atturney General, I will God willing, be back hither from Boston the latter end of this summer and will then have a Session of Assembly and will breake all these Extravagant Grants, and will settle such a scheme by Act of Assembly, as shall tye up my own hands and those of all succeeding Governours; and all that whole matter shall be made under such limitations and reservations as the Lords Justices in their said letter have ordered me. I beseech your Lordships to consider that by obeying your orders in vacating these Grants (for I esteem them your orders as well as the Lords Justices, since they were grounded on your Lordships Representation) and all your other orders which tend to a reform of all abuses in this Province, I draw on myself the most virulent odium of all parties concerned which will multiply the clamours and complaints of theirs and the merchants Agents in London. Therefore I must beg your protection in the execution of your own orders that I may be justified and supported by your Lordships against the noise and importunity of ill men or their Agents. I acquainted your Lordships formerly that the factious merchants and others in this town had agreed in their Cabal that they would use a stratagem to get me recalled, which was this:— they would write home by all opportunities to their Agents in England to teize the Ministers with complaints, that importunity might serve instead of reason and argument. I was yesterday again informed the angry people here have sent a petition to their Agent in England against me for disturbing their trade, and several trivial articles not worth the naming to your Lordships; and that 'tis an agreed resolv'd thing among 'em to multiply complaints against me by all conveyances to England, till by pure importunity they get me recall'd: my author who read their petition and was present at their Cabal told me they said they would tyre out the King and the Ministers to gain their point against me.

I made no alteration in the Commission of the Peace or the Militia of the Province till the middle of this last winter, that I might try by all means to make those men whom Colonel Fletcher left in power and office, tractable to the government. But I found the more indulgent I was to those men, the more insolent they and their party grew, and they began to interpret my moderation to be fear. Yet did I not make a totall remove of them, but blended the parties, giving the ballance a little to the Leisler's side as in justice and prudence I thought I was obliged to doe for the King's service; the angry party declaring openly against continuing the revenue to the King, but the Leislerites warmly for it; who have been as good as their words.

The country were very uneasy under the authority of Fletcher's Officers, and I was mightily importun'd to change the officers. As an instance of the people's aversion to their late officers, on the 4th of last November I had the City regiment drawn out among other respects to the King's birth day; the regiment consisted that day but of 200 men besides officers, and on the 13th of last February the anniversary of the King's being proclaimed King, I had the regiment drawn out under the new Officers and they were then 500 men. I also have had 'em out on the 11th of Aprill the day of his Majesty's Coronation. The Officers I treat at my own charge, but the Soldiers at the King's. I do not find Colonel Fletcher left me a president for this, but I thinke it a usefull peice of ceremony because it helps to affect the people to the King, and puts 'em in mind of their duty to him; for before they had no idea of any thing greater on earth than Colonel Fletcher, and he seemed to be of that mind himself. I am with respect, My Lords

humble servant

Earl of Bellmont to the Lords of Trade.

[New-York Entries, B. 402.]

To the Right Honourable the Lords Commissioners for Trade and Plantations.

My Lords.

Wee are like to have noe Courts of Justice in the Province, notwithstanding the King's letters patents doe give me full power and authority (with the advice and consent of the Council) to constitute and direct Courts of Judicature; yet Colonel Smith who is chiefe Judge and M<sup>r</sup> Graham Attorney Generall have declared their opinions that the King cannot by law establish Courts of Justice of his own Authority. Therefore they (especially M<sup>r</sup> Graham) incouraged, as in Fletcher's time, the passing an Act of Assembly to erect Courts of Justice, but the House of Representatives so spoiled the bill that was intended for that purpose by making severall incoherences and some part of it repugnant to the laws of England, that I could not give assent to it. I am jealous there was a trick in it designed to do me hurt with the people; the author fancying that upon a failure of justice in the country, the odium of the people would naturally fall upon me. I told Colonel Smith and Mr Graham that I could not conceive the King's Attorney Generall in England who drew the Letters Patents, would let the King convey such power to a Governor as could not be justified in law. Besides I told them that patents were always read and considered at the Council Board where they stood the test of being observed by my Lord Chancellor and Lord Chief Justice of England, who would be sure to inform the King what law warranted him to do, and what not. You see by this what trouble I undergoe for want of a good Judge or two to sit in Councill, and a good Attorney Generall to advise me in behalf of the King; therefore I entreat your Lordships once more that I may have such honest able men sent over, so as to be here against the 20th of September, if it be possible, to be present at the Session of the Assembly (for till that day I intende to prorogue them) otherwise I must be forced to put of their meeting 'till next Spring and all business must be at a stand. There is not a day that I do not find the want of an honest able lawyer, and this one instance among others I must observe to your Lordships. Colonel Dupeyster understanding the ship Fortune after condemnation was set up to be sold by inch of Candle, advised with Mr Attorney Generall whether he might safely adventure to buy her, she being a forreigne bottom. The Attorney assured him he might. Upon which he went and out bid the other bidders, and gave £315. for her, and has since laid out about £200 in repairing her, and at last has discovered he can not load and send her on a voyage. Coll. Dupeyster upon this petitions me and the Council to be relieved, and the Council were of opinion that the King being the seller, and the King's Attorney advising Coll. Dupeyster that he would be safe in the purchase, the King's honour was concern'd that the purchaser should be indemnified and the King stand to the losse. Mr Attorney also declared this to me as his opinion, and I have for the present consented till I receive your Lordships orders in the matter. It seems to me that the Attorney ought of right to make good the damages for having given such rash advice, and that the King ought not to be the sufferer. The Attorney is an understanding man, but being bred to a trade and neither to learning nor the law, it can not be supposed he should be well qualified for the post he is in; and wee lose many seizures of ships and unlawfull goods by the lameness of the informations he draws up.

I find the want of good officers of Justice, such as Judges and King's Council, in the improvement of the Revenue, and to convince your Lordships of the truth of it, I must acquaint you that there are in Nassaw Island four harbours (besides a great many creeks) where the merchants run in great quantities of goods computed to be a third part as much as are fairly imported at New Yorke. The four harbours or towns are Southold, Sitaket, Oyster Bay and Musketo Cove; Oyster Bay lyes most convenient for a private trade with the merchants of this towne. To prevent which I constituted one John Townsend a Custome house officer; giving him my Commission with a salary of £30 p<sup>r</sup> An<sup>o</sup>: and a third part of all such seizures as he should make, as the law allows informers. He undertook it cheerfully; but within a month he and his securitys (for I tooke bonds in £500 for his faithfull discharge thereof) came and begged he might resigne his commission, telling me that tho' most of that towne were his near relations and severall of them of his name, yet he was threatned by them to be knocked on the head, and he had already suffered many abuses, insomuch as he was in fear of his life. The Councill sitting that day I had him call'd before us, and there he declared what he had done before, and desired to be discharged from that Office. We urged him to discover who the persons were that threatned him, but he desired to be excused for that it would be as hazzardous to discover them as to remain in the execution of that employment. The Minute of Council about that matter goes (N<sup>o</sup> 1.) and that has discouraged me from appointing such officers in the other towns. The people in that Island are generally a lawlesse and unruly people; and to mend the matter there are several pirates settled among 'em, who to be sure will eg 'em on to do mischief. There is no cure for this but an upright administration of Justice, and the recruiting and better paying the King's forces that are here, to the end they may be made use of (if need be) to support the Civill Authority. I am not satisfied with the present management of the Custome house here, the Collectors acting with a sort of indifference like men that expect every day to be superseded. A Collector here ought to be not only nicely honest, but also very active and intelligent, and without such a Collector and such officers of Justice as I have before desired and described 'twill be an impossible thing for me to improve the revenue to what it ought to be with good management. I can not doubt of your Lordships ready compliyance in sending over such persons as I have mentioned; the charge of whose salaries will be trebled in the increase and advancement they will cause and bring to the Revenue and no vallae can be sett upon the other advantages that will accrew to the King's service and that of the publick, by imploying such men in the administration of justice in this Province. I believe I have not lesse resolution and fortitude than other men in the discharge of my duty; but I confesse I am allmost tired out with the principles and behaviour of the men that are in imployments of trust here. I find they set against me in every thing either openly or privately, so that it is all up hill with me; and I shall never get credit soe long as I am yok'd with such people in the government. They were all or most of them professed Jacobites at the time of the Revolution; and tho' they pretend themselves of another principle now, I see noe signes of their conversion, but find them false to me in every thing, and they are sure to hold together, so that 'tis next to impossible to bring a man of that party (be his offence what it will) to justice and punishment.

M<sup>r</sup> Graham is of opinion the Excise of Nassaw Island if duely collected would amount to £12000 p<sup>r</sup> An<sup>o</sup>: which is twelve times as much as I doubt it will be lett for this year, wherein I have some reason to apprehend myself ill used; it being a resolved thing to keep down the Revenue as low as may be, for my discredit. The Excise of this Province would without doubt amount to £3000 a year if we could have it duely collected, but I do not find we shall make above £1200 this year. I offered one of the Lieutenants of the Companies £100 a year New York money and buy hini a couple of horses for him and a man to attend him, and I intended him to be riding Surveyor of Nassaw Island, not only to lett and collect the Excise of the whole Island, but also to inspect and watch the harbours and creeks that no goods or merchandizes should be run in, with a promise of a third of all such goods as he should seize; but he, tho' accounted a brisk man and ready to starve for want of his pay and subsistance told me in plain terms he thought it too hazzardous an undertaking for him, and refused to meddle. Let this remind your Lordships of the want of Justice in this Province

Your Lordships have sent me no orders about the towns of Rye and Bedford, which revolted from this Province (to avoid paying taxes) to the government of Connecticut; to which towns the said Government has noe colour of right.

I desire your Lordships will please to countenance the procuring his Majesty's letter for the swearing Ducey Hungerford Esq. a member of his Majesty's Council in this Province, and for confirming Robert Walters Esq<sup>r</sup> already put in and sworn by me. They are both very honest gentlemen and well affected to the government.

Captain Evans, Commander of the Richmond Frigate who attended the government in Colonel Fletcher's time, has wrote two letters, to my Lieutenant Governor and the Attorney Generall which for the extraordinariness of their stile and the barbarous abuses of me, I make bold to trouble your Lordships with copies of them. That to my Lieutenant Governor goes (N<sup>o</sup> 2) that to M<sup>r</sup> Attorney (N<sup>o</sup> 3.) you will find he declares I should be murdered if I could be come at, and in letter to M<sup>r</sup> Attorney he gives a hint as if the present government of England were in a low condition and destitute of friends. I would complaine to the Admiralty Board of the insolence of that fellow if I thought they would do me right. 'Tis wonderfull to see how insolent men of mean beginnings can be. This man's father was a shoemaker in Ireland, and turning grazier has got into a good estate. I am with respect, My Lords

Your Lordships most humble

Earl of Bellmont to the Lords of Trade.

[New-York Entries, B. 411.]

To the Right Honourable the Lords Commissioners for Trade and Plantations.

My Lords.

I intend in this letter to answer all the orders your Lordships have sent me in your severall letters of the 25th of last October, the 5th of January and 2<sup>d</sup> of February, and that as briefly as the severall matters will allow; because I consider the multiplicity of business that passes under your Lordships management and direction; and having not had an opportunity of writing to you all this last winter and spring, and being therefore in arrear to your Lordships with the accounts of my businesse, I am under the necessity of troubling you with severall letters by this conveyance.

To begin then with your Lordships letter of the 25th of last October, which came but lately to my hands, I am in noe capacity to obey your Order of prosecuting Baldrige and severall others suspected of piracy, for want of a good Judge or two, and an honest active Attorney Generall, as I formerly desired of your Lordships, without which I can not serve the King and the Publick as I would doe, and in plaine termes I must tell your Lordships that I can have nobody prosecuted here that hath ten peices of eight, which troubles me above all things; for I can bear with the insolence & stubbornesse of some people here and dispise it, because I know they are in the wrong and that I do my duty; but for me to labour day and night in business and be left to stand alone without the assistance of one man, it is what I am not possibly able to undergoe nor willing; because I shall never get credit by my labour and service. All that I have been able to doe is to get Baldriged's Narrative on Oath which goes (N<sup>o</sup> 1) and at the latter end of it you will find an account of the Pirates killed in the Island of S<sup>t</sup> Maries near Madagascar which thing your Lordships in your said letter have directed me to informe you particularly of. I send Colonel Dapeyster's memorial (N<sup>o</sup> 2) about the Ketch mentioned in your said letter to have belonged to him, whereof one Smart was master; the information given on oath by Humphrey Parkins, as to the Frederick Sloop which went with East India goods to Hamburg and belonged to M<sup>r</sup> Phillips, M<sup>r</sup> Secretary Veruon as well as your Lordships has observed it to me, in a letter I lately received from him, and directed me to see Phillips' bond. But upon inquiry I find Brooks who was then Collector, tooke noe bond of him, so that there is noe handle for prosecuting Phillips.

In answer to your Lordships letter of the 5th of January last, I send the Copyes of my letters of the 27th of October and the 14th of November 98. to the Lords of the Treasury, wherein I mentioned Brooks but transiently, referring their Lordships for a particular account of the Revenue of this Province and of the publick accounts, to my two letters to your Lordships on those subjects, copyes whereof I sent them. And now that I mention Brooks, I must acquaint your Lordships that I can not recover the five years excise out of his Receivors hands for the County of Ulster. I had a Capias sent for him, but he kept out of the way. There was a complaint made against him in the House of Representatives this session for defrauding the King of his Revenue, and the Speaker's warrant was sent for him, but he avoided that too: his name is Demyre, he is brother in law to Bayard, and has the same good name in the Country that Bayard has.

Colonel Romar the Enginier was gon to Boston to get a passage from thence to England; but upon your orders I have stopt him, and since I am suddenly to goe thither, I have wrote to him to view the fort on the Island which commands the harbour at Boston and from thence to goe to Piscataqua in New Hampshire and thence to Pemaquid and take the plans of all the three forts and make such observations as will be proper, of their situations, importance, and what the charge may be of building good substantiall forts, and this to the end I may be able to informe your Lordships fully of those matters hereafter.

I forgot to add to the paragraph before this last that by Brooks's neglect of his duty we have quite lost the arrear of Quit Rents in this Province, computed to be at least £1500 nor has he left a rental of them to guide us in the collection thereof. Colonel Courtlandt the present Collector sent to all the Sheriffs of the respective Counties to collect the said arrears and offered two shillings in the pound as a reward, but they all refused; fearing, as it is supposed, to undertake an office that might cost them their lives among a lawlesse unruly people. One Capt:in Clark of New Yorke came to me in winter and offered to collect those Quit Rents for two shillings in the pound, and knowing him to be an ill sort of man and one of the faction I fancied there was something of designe in his offer. However I seemed to receive it kindly and I promised him my commission for it. I then suspected and have since discovered the reall cause of his offering to undertake that employment. It was concerted at a club of those people that nothing would sower the people against me and make them averse to the choice of such men for Representatives as would continue the revenue, so much as my sending to make a demand of a long arrear of Quit Rents, which they dream't not of ever paying and of ransacking the deeds and titles to their estates to discover the said arrear which they knew would be a thing very irksome and displeasing. The faction knew that in Spring I must remove to Boston and that there was a necessity of my calling an Assembly to settle the government and revenue before my leaving this Province; therefore did they contrive to lay this snare for me. But I told Clarke the season of the year would not then allow of his riding about the country, and that in Spring he should have my commission. But to lett your Lordships see there was a trick in this, the man never came near me since, and how to retrieve the arrears of Quit Rents and settle them for the time to come, I am as yet at a losse, not knowing what course to take in that, any more then in all other things relating to the King's service, till I have the assistance from England allready proposed viz<sup>t</sup> of Judges and an Attorney Gener<sup>l</sup> whose integrety and skill in their profession I can safely rely on. My Lord Chancellor will, I presume, quickly recommend persons that are fitly qualified for those employments. The Assembly in their Remonstrance complaine of the want of able officers and ministers of Justice, and will I doubt not contribute to their maintenance. I beg there may such be sent over before the next Session of this Assembly, otherwise I shall be quite at a losse and must prorogue the Assembly till next Spring.

'Tis not possible for me to make a further scrutiny into the Revenue and Accounts in Colonell Fletcher's time, now; because I must of necessity goe towards Boston tomorrow to overtake the Anniversary day of that Assemblyes meeting, which is the last Wednesday in May; And where, your Lordships will beleive, my presence necessary at such a time: and there is not a man here whose care skill and integrety I can rely on for such a service when I am absent. I am sorry to say it, but 'tis an undoubted truth, the English here are soe profligate that I can not find a man fitt to be trusted, that's capable of businesse. The Clerk of the Council that I was forced to put into Jamisson's place is a very sottish fellow, and I fear almost as ill a man as his predecessor, but being bred a Clerk in Chancery in England, he writes indifferently well and is quick in businesse; but I doubt fled from England not for being honest. I was obliged to employ one Ludlow a merchant to be Clerk of the Assembly this Session, one that was lately convict of clipping and coining in this towne. I think proper to acquaint your Lordships of this circumstance, that you may see how impossible a thing it is to make a right choyce of men in this place, and what a sort of men I have to doe with. Those that are honest of the Dutch, being formerly kept out of employment and businesse are very ignorant, and can neither speak nor write proper English.

The copy of my commission of Oyer and Terminer for trying the soldier at Albany I cannot send at present as you order me, the original commission being at Albany and only the fiat remaining on record in the Secretaries Office. But for proof of the Council's consent to my said commission I send your Lordships M<sup>r</sup> Graham's certificate (N<sup>o</sup> 3.) and Colonel Courtlandt's (N<sup>o</sup> 4.) As an instance and proof of Jamisson's altering the minutes of Council which was a thing they made an article against me, the day I urged to the Council that the four ships should give in good security when they went hence last summer to Madagascar, that they should not trade with Pirates there (which thing I formerly acquainted your Lordships with) Colonel Smith being the only man that stood up and spoke against it tho' they all opposed it as well as he, Jamisson came and shewed me the minute of Council where he had writ down Colonel Smith's speech and arguments against my taking bond for those four ships. I afterwards told Colonel Smith of this accidentally and he went and gott Jamisson to leave out his name and speech intirely out of the minute, without acquainting me or the Council with it. But I understand it was a daily practice with Colonel Fletcher and his man Jamisson whom he often called the honestest man in the world, to mend and alter minutes of Council as they pleased.

The granting letters of Denization which your Lordships in your said letter of the 5th of last January strictly forbid, is an error I confesse I have been led into, partly through my own ignorance, but more especially by the Advice of M<sup>r</sup> Attorney and Jamisson when he was clerk of the Councill, who told me Fletcher had granted many letters of Denization. I believe I may have granted four or five in all, for which I only had twelve shillings a piece fees, and no more, which is the constant fee to the Governor for the seal of the Province; tho' I can prove that Colonel Fletcher took arbitrary fees in that case, and one of his denizens told me himself he paid Fletcher ten pound for his fee, and I am pretty sure he said Jamisson tooke five pounds for his. This is the only thing I ever imitated Fletcher in, for which I ask your Lordships pardon and assure you, you shall never hear of the like mistake again in me. I desire to be informed whether a Governor have not power by law to denizize a stranger in the Province he is Governor of, that so he may have the priviledges of an English man within that Province.

I am heartily glad of the designe of sending a squadron of men of War to the East Indies to suppress the pirates who are grown intollerable both for number and the depredations they commit in that part of the world, and I wish Captain Warren good successe, tho' if he be not very well beloved by his men and have not been careful in choosing good men, he will run a hazard of being destroyed and of his men's running away with the King's ships and turning pirates. The temptation is see great to the common seamen in that part of the world where the Moores have so many rich ships and the seamen have a humour more now then ever to turne pirates. I am in hopes the severall reports we have here of Captain Kidd's being forced by his men against his will to plunder two Moorish ships may prove true, and 'tis said that neare one hundred of his men revolted from him at Madagascar and were about to kill him, because he absolutely refused to turne pirate.

In answer to your Lordships inquiry after the two Indians brought over from England by Nicholls & Brooks I heare one of them staid among our Indians, but that the other returned to Canada, who is said to be a bloody fellow and our great enemy.

Your Lordships write that for a maintainance for Ministers for our Five Nations of Indians, you applied to S<sup>r</sup> Henry Ashurst that part of the Corporation money might be appropriated to that use; but you will give me leave to put you in mind that S<sup>r</sup> William Ashurst had been the properer person to have made that proposition to, because he is Governour of the Corporation. When I goe to Boston I will try to dispose those of the Corporation that are there to consent to it, and will afterward informe your Lordships whether I can prevaile or not.

To confirme your Lordships in the maintainance of the Port of New Yorke against the pretensions of the Proprietors of East Jersey, I send your Lordships the copy of the Duke of York's letter to Colonel Dongan when Governour of New Yorke, which accidentally has fallen into my hands. 'Tis copied by M<sup>r</sup> Spragg then Secretary of this Province, and I believe it is a true one. This letter shews that the Duke of Yorke was tender of the priviledges of New Yorke in that respect, and that he rejected the pretensions of the said Proprietors to have freedome of port at Perth Amboy, in East Jersey. The Duke's letter goes mark'd thus (+)<sup>1</sup>

I am glad your Lordships are made sensible of the want of men of War here and at Boston, at a time when the French are incroaching on our fishery & insulting us with ships of war, and not a man of War in all this coast to look them in the face and protect the King's subjects from their insolence: at a time too when piracy is so common. But since your Lordships cannot prevaile with the Admiralty Board, I hope you will apply to the fountain head, the King. I ask pardon for presuming to advise your Lordships on this occasion. I took that

Board's usage of me in their manner of recalling the Deptford and Fowy Men of War, so ill, that I have not since wrote to them; for what purpose should I desire ships, when they regard not your Lordships' solicitations, who have a right to interpose your authority in that matter.

Your Lordships seem to approve of my proposal of building the two Forts at Albany and Schenectady and of applying Colonel Fletcher's debt to that use and therefore you advise the making a strict audit of the Accounts and survey of the buildings. But as I have said before being now to goe to Boston, 'tis impossible for me to have any thing of that kind done. The accounts which I had by me (and which were the originals of those I sent your Lordships by Lieutenant Hunt) the House of Representatives borrowed of me to assist them in an examen they intended to make, but when they had them they had not skill enough to make use of them; and part of them were stolen and imbezzeled; so that it would be a new and tedious trouble to state those accounts over again. I hope your Lordships observed that besides a certain ballance of above four thousand pounds charged upon Fletcher and Brooks there were several considerable summs of money given by Assembly which we could find no account of, and therefore a good charge upon Fletcher, till he shall have discharged himself fairely of the same. Then there are the articles of his frauds to the soldiers, the unprecedented salaries to his man Honan, and the 30-£ pr Cent. of which there was noe satisfactory account. I reckoned that there was about nine thousand pounds a certain charge on him, besides the buildings and the money he made by the sale of lands. The truth is I was in hopes your Lordships would have sent over an honest expert accountant to have assisted me in a stricter audit and I should have thought five or six hundred pounds well bestowed on such a man for his paines in coming over and his good performance of such a service and it would be very usefull to deter other Governors from the like corrupt practices.

I am glad the map of the Province which I sent your Lordships pleases you. But as for a more correct book of the laws which you order me to send, 'tis not to be had. I sent for the printer and spoke to him about it, and he told me there was no remedy for it because he had nobody to correct the presse at the time he printed them.

As to my mustering my servants, I am very well pleased to be stinted and have marked with a crosse my six servants last mustered, that as many of them be check't as the proper officer shall please pursuant to the King's order. The Muster Roles of the four Companies I send herewith, four of each company, to be disposed of in the proper offices. Our men desert apace, and I do not wonder at it; I doubt the officers will do so too in a while, or be starved for want of their pay and subsistance. I think we have been barbarously used by the Pay Office. I am forced to lend £20 a piece to the Lieutenants and Chaplain out of my salary, or they must downright starve, and at the same time I am put to borrow mony for my own use and am above four hundred pounds in debt in this town, my salary being so mean and insufficient and the perquisites so very inconsiderable. That your Lordships may be judges of all the profits of this government, I resolve you shall know to a shilling what the perquisites are from time to time. I formerly sent you an account of the seizures of ships and unlawfull goods with the appraisements and sales of them, and for how much; and in thirteen months that I have been here I have got but eighty three pounds six shillings New Yorke mony from the Secretary for passes for Ships, Licences for Marriages and Probats of Wills and all other things wherein the Seale of the Province has been used. And when I went to Albany the present from the Indians consisting in Beaver skins and some few other skins I sold for eighty eight pounds nine shillings and ten pence New Yorke mony. I can safely declare upon oath that the particulars above specified and my salary of four hundred pounds p<sup>r</sup> Annum are all the profits I have had, received, or made, directly or indirectly, since my being in the Government, that I know or remember.

To answer your Lordships letter of the 2nd of this last February, which I received three days since, and which expresses the application made to your Lordships by the merchants and their fears upon the score of my countenancing Leislers party. I have this to say, that the merchants of this town are full as ingenious as they are honest. I have often told them before and since the Session of Assembly, that I would never be guilty of so unaccountable a folly as to consent to a bill for reparation of damages to the Leisler party unless I had the King's expresse commands for so doing. And after all the noise of seventeen thousand pounds that they gave out would be the summe in demand by that party, I do not find that it amounts to full five thousand pounds. They pretend I favour that party: I would gladly know wherein I favour them beyond the rules of justice. I suffered them indeed to take up the bodies of Captain Leisler & M<sup>r</sup> Milburn and give them Christian burial, and I do not repent my so doing since no manner of ill consequence ensued, and if it were in my power I would restore them to life again, for I am most confident and dare undertake to prove it that the execution of those men was as violent cruell and arbitrary a proceeding as ever was done upon the lives of men in any age under an English government and it will be proved undenyably that Fletcher hath declared the same dislike and abhorrence of that proceeding that I now doe, notwithstanding his doubleness in publishing a book to applaud the justice of it and skreen his sycophant Councillors Nicholls, Bayard, Brooks and the rest of the bloodhounds. And I will when I have a little leisure acquaint your Lordships with some particulars about the tryall and execution of those men that I believe you are now unacquainted with. I do not wonder that Bayard Nicholls and the rest of the murderers of those men should be disturbed at the taking up their bones; it put them amind ('tis likely) of their rising hereafter in judgement against them. But why the Merchants of New York or their correspondents in London should be allarmed at it I can not imagine; only that they would make every thing a pretence against me, that I may be removed, and another Governor like Colonel Fletcher might succeed me, that would restore 'em to a full enjoyment of unlawfull trade and piracy. I had long since forgot all things relating to the Revolution in this Province and the very name of Leisler, were there not Blood in the case, and we are told the blood of innocent men cries for vengeance to Heaven; and I should account myself an accessory to that cruell fact if I concealed from your Lordships the truth of what I discovered in relation thereunto. M<sup>r</sup> Bayard has sent over hither the copy of a petition of some few merchants of London complaining of me for favouring the Leisler party. I have not been able to get a sight of it; but some that have read it tell me it is very spitefull, and that it much applauds the justice of all the proceedings against Leisler and Milburne; which I can not but think an insolence of a high nature in those merchants when the Act of Parliament, that reverses the Attainder of those men, does plainly condemn and explode that whole proceeding against them. But I suppose those petitioning merchants have the same respect for every man of us that were actors in the late happy Revolution in England that they have for the memory of Leisler and Milbourne and would be glad we had the same fate with them. I acquainted your Lordships formerly that the merchants of New Yorke fell out with me the first week I was in this government upon my ordering the seizure of the ship Fortune and East India goods brought in her; therefore never let 'em perswade you that their quarrell to me was grounded on my giving countenance to the Leisler party. I was three weeks in this town before I ordered the Attorney General to make out a writt of Restitution to put M<sup>r</sup> Leislors and M<sup>r</sup> Milbourn's heires in possession of their fathers estates, and that was the first act of justice (which they are pleased to call favour) that I did for the Leisler party. I have formerly and in some of my letters by this conveyance given your Lordships my reasons for turning some of the factious angry party out of the Commission of the peace and the Militia, and putting some of Leisler's party in their places, which was a necessary and reasonable act of justice, the Leislerites being at least three to one in the Province, and most amenable to the laws and government; and besides the justice of letting them into a share of the government, I have got the Revenue settled by that means, which the other party laboured against with all their hearts and soules. And now I appeal to your Lordships great wisdom and justice whether in these particulars I have not done my duty. I have made all the court that a man could do that the soule of a gentleman, to those angry merchants. I have invited them to my table and treated them with all the kindness I was capable of and encouraged their coming often to dine with me, but they would never come near me of their owne accord. I can not imagine the meaning of it unlesse my drinking King William's health (which is a custome with me allways after dinner) frightned them. There are two Acts passed this session that have a retrospect one of them to the time of Slaughter's government, which is an Act of indempnity for severall honest men that were excluded by name out of an Act of indempnity passed in his time. This was thought so reasonable a thing that the angry party in the House of Representatives voted for it. The other is an Act for preventing vexatious suites of law upon the Account of the late happy Revolution and for reversing unjust judgements and executions, and among the rest a most unjust judgement obtained by M<sup>r</sup> Nicholls for one thousand pounds (as I take it.) The Act is copyed after an Act of Parliament in England soon after the Revolution that bears the same title; and Brooks carried home one hundred pounds to procure the King's positive order to me to passe a bill of indemnity that was prepared by Nicholls to passe the last Session and contrived by him to let that judgement stand good. I can prove the sending over the hundred pounds by Brooks, and it was a contribution of eight and twenty of the merchants and a few other angry people, which is the more worthy your Lordships knowledg that you may observe what an influence Nicholls has on these people when he can make them spend their mony to serve his ends and interest. In the Act for preventing Vexatious Suites there are the words (Disaffected persons) apply'd to those that opposed Leisler. The Bill passed without any struggle in the House of Representatives where it began; but at Councill it mett with some opposition, one of the Councill telling me if the Act passed here it should not passe in England, for that there should be spent twenty thousand ponnnds rather than it should be approved by the King. I told him he had found out the onely way to make me a friend to the Bill. The next day upon the Second Reading, I jeering him about the twenty thousand pounds, he had the confidence to tell me, that if twenty thousand pounds would not doe, there should be forty thousand pounds given to stop the King's approbation of it in England. This so abominable a ref[lection] on the government of England, but so common a one here, that I hope your Lordships will take effectuall care to put all imaginable discountenance on it. If I be rightly informed they are now raising money by contribution to send home to Bayard their Agent, who I hear makes them beleive mony will do anything at Court. I thought a man that went over under such a criminall accusation as he has done, went with a rope about his neck, and would never be admitted to appear as an Agent at Whitehall. I was so provoked at the persons using this reflection in Councill, that I was about to suspend him, not that I was surprized to hear it come from him, because it is well knowu he was very active against the Revolution, and if his inclination or indeavours could have prevailed, King William had never been declared or owned in this Province. I will but trouble your Lordships with one particular more about the Revolution, and 'tis to observe to you that their Majestys King William Queen Mary were never yet proclaimed King and Queen in this Province by the Civill Magistrate. Captain Leisler was the only man that proclaimed their Majestys; he was in possession of the Fort when the Proclamation came hither from the Secretary of State & he immediately ordered it to be read at the Fort with all solemnity and then carryed it to a person who was of his Majesty's Councill at my comeing and still is so, who was then Mayor of this City, and desired him to publish it; but he refused. This I can affirme for a truth, having heard the person charged with it before myself in Councill by two gentlemen of the Councill who were present when he refused Captain Leisler to proclame Their Majesties, and he could not deny it. Bayard too, I am told, indeavoured to hinder Their Majesties being proclaimed at Albany, in opposition to Captain Leisler's order to the Mayor of that town to do it.

Some friends write me word from England that Colonel Fletcher and his partisans report me to be the most arbirary Governour that ever was known. I think my principle was very well known to be quite the contrary of that, both in and out of Parliament in England, and now I challenge all the people of New Yorke to shew where I have punished or personally ill treated any man, notwithstanding I have been libelled and reflected on at their clubs and other publick meetings. But I thought their abuses fitter to be laughed at then otherwise resented. I would gladly have them tell wherein I have perverted justice since I have had the administration of this government. 'Tis indeed wonder I have not made many slips, considering I have noe manner of help in the management of business, nor a lawyer whose knowledge in the law I can depend on. Brooks writes to his friends here very confidently that I shall not be long lived in this government, and he uses this expression,—That if villany and falshood do not prevaile, they shall be rid of their Tyrant very soon. My honest endeavours to serve the King are ill rewarded and treated if I must be the marke for such upstarts as Brooks to let fly their insolence and scurrillity at me, a fellow that was bred up in my Uncles family as his dogs were, with licking the dishes and eating the scrapps from his table; and what advancement he has had in the world is owing to my father and my selfe.

Mr Weaver writes to me that at Colonel Fletcher's hearing before your Lordships, Brook's produced a letter from M<sup>r</sup> Randolph to the Secretary of the Customes, acquainting him that he had been trick't into the giving a certificate against Brooks at New Yorke. M<sup>r</sup> Randolph had done well if he had said by whom he was trick'd. He could not charge me with it, for he sent me the certificate of his owne accord. I remember all that passed between M<sup>r</sup> Randolph and me about Brooks perfectly well. Upon Brooks's trifling and tricking in the seizure of the ship Fortune and goods, I told M<sup>r</sup> Randolph of it, with severall remarkes I made of Brookes's knavish carriage in that matter and M<sup>r</sup> Randolph then made ansver that he wondered not at it, for he had been long enough acquainted with Brooks's tricks, and that he had newly discovered severall corrupt practices in the Custom house here, which he would communicate to me. When I was drawing up the complaint against Brooks, to your Lordships, I asked M<sup>r</sup> Randolph for the charge he told me he had against him, which I said I would add to that which I was preparing myself and I shewed him what I wrote to your Lordships about Brooks, and he afterwards sent me the Certificate. This is so great a truth that I dare appeal to M<sup>r</sup> Randolph's own veracity in it, and if he were so disingenuous as to deny it, yet I can prove it by the person he sent the certificate by, who is of undoubted credit. The justification of myself from the false aspersions of ill men has led me into a longer excursion from my business than I intended, and I ask your Lordships pardon for trespassing on your patience.

The House of Representatives it should seem are of opinion I have deserved well of the King and the publick, as appears by their addresse to me, which goes (N<sup>o</sup> 5) unless they meant it a complement, but whether it be so or no I can with great truth affirme I never solicited their addressing me as Colonel Fletcher used to doe.

I send the deposition of Edward Taylor about the Ship Fortune receiving pirates goods at Madagascar which will corroborate the evidence of John Payntree which I formerly sent your Lordships. It goes (N<sup>o</sup> 6.)

I also send M<sup>r</sup> Attorney's Memoriall about Robert Glover the pirate (N<sup>o</sup> 7) 'Tis generally taken for granted here that he had a commission from Colonel Fletcher. His ship lay severall days within sight of the Fort here, and I am told there was an intercourse between him and Fletcher; but his designe of goeing to the Red Sea being very publick, 'tis likely Fletcher was so cautious as to give him a commission privately and not let it be registered; for the Register of the Admiralty Office denies there is such a commission entered in the register book, and it is not material to Glover whether the Commission were registered or noe. I am, My Lords

Your Lordships most humble

and faithfull Servant

Churchwardens and Vestry of Trinity Church, New-York, to Archbishop Tenison.

[ Bib. Lambeth: No. 942. (149.) ]

My it please your Grace.

The English nation for above Thirty Yeares had been possessed of these Countreys without any place for public worship of Almighty God, in this City, except the Chapel in the Fort, built by the Dutch, and ('till lately that they built another,) alternatively used by both nations for the exercise of their religion, so that though the English grew numerous, the government in their hands and the national laws took place, yet for want of a Temple for the public Worship according to the English Church, this seemed rather like a conquered Foreign Province held by the terrour of a Garrison, than an English Colony, possessed and settled by people of our own Nation.

That which for soe many yeares had only been wished for, without any reasonable hopes or expectation of effecting, Coll. Fletcher by his great zeal, generous liberality, and indefatigable industry, in the latter part of his government brought so far to perfection that before his departure, he was divers times present, (to his own and the general satisfaction of the lovers of the English Church and Nation) at the public worship of God, in an English Church, of which (if we must not say he was the sole founder,) it is an offence to truth, and an injustice to him not to affirm that he was the principal promoter, a most liberal benefactor to it, and that without him, to this day it never had had a being. As it owed its beginning to that gentlemen, so we must acknowledge its growth and increase is not a little in debt to Mr Vesey, our present Minister, who, by his good parts and bearing, exemplary life, and inoffensive Conversation gives a reputation to his function, and has brought many into the bosom of the Church. So far as this, the subject we write of to your Grace is extream agreeable and pleasing, and it is our inexpressible grief that we are forced to offer any thing of a Contrary nature.

The fair character common fame gave our present Governor, filled us with hopes of enjoying a large share of prosperity under his conduct; and in particular that the English Church might have flourished under his administration, but experience has undeceived us, and we find ourselves under all the discouragements imaginable.

Whether this our unhappiness proceeds from the irreconcilable aversion this Nobleman has to our late Governor, Col<sup>l</sup> Fletcher, who gave birth to this Church, from his own inward principle, or other causes, we will not presume to determine, but this we are too well assured of, or at least our fears make us apprehensive, that nothing less than the destruction of this fair beginning is intended.

Not to trouble your Grace with many other instances, this following gives us abundantly ground for our belief. Coll. Fletcher towards the finishing of this Church gave a lease for Seaven yeares of a small Farm, (usually a perquisite to the Governor) rendring the usual rent which was 12<sup>lb</sup> per Annum, and the highest it ever before had been lett for. The former tenant's time expiring this spring (when the lease to the Church begins,) the Churchwardens at an auction lett the farme to him who publickly bid the most for it, which was Twenty five Pounds for the ensuing year; but the Tenant coming to enter upon it, has been kept out by the Earl's order; who continually exclaims at this Lease, as if the sacred Patrimony has been most horribly invaded, when indeed had it been leased to the meanest Clown at the same rent, it had passed in all probability unregarded. It is not credible that such a trifle as Thirteen pounds per Annum, which is all the advantage can be made of it, can so much concern His Excellency, but a further design must be at the bottom, of which we have to many indications, and were this manner of dealing from a profest Enemy of the Church it were naturall, and what rationally might have attended. But being the actions of a person (lately) a constant hearer and usual Communicant, its the more surprisèing.

We humbly lay this matter to your Gracious Consideration, earnestly beseeching your Grace, as we are part of that Church and Nation, over which God in a most eminent station has placed you, we may be safe under your protection, and that this hopeful foundation of an English Protestant Church in these parts of the world may receive no mischief from those whose duty oblige them to give it assistance and further its welfare.

To prescribe methods we can lay no claime to, but humbly submit all to your Grace's piety and wisdom, not doubting but the Almighty God will inspire you to take such measures as will bee for his own glory and his Church's good: to the disappointments of its Enemies. For the effecting of which, we heartily implore both your prayers and endeavours, being in all duty,

May it please your Grace,

Your Grace's most obedient dutiful and most humble Servants.

Earl of Bellmont to the Lords of Trade.

[New-York Entries, B. 310.]

To the Right Honourable the Lords Commissioners for Trade and Plantations.

My Lords.

I arrived here the 26th instant having left New Yorke on the 16th instant and prorogu'd the Assembly the morning I came from thence. I had writt severall letters at New Yorke to your Lordships upon severall subjects relating to the service of His Majesty and that Province, but having not had time to finish that letter which treats of the affairs of the Assembly, because of prorogueing them just at my coming away, I have since had a fit of the gout by taking cold at sea, so that I cannot well finish my packetts and make 'em up timely enough to send by this ship, but there going another ship next week to England, I shall then give your Lordships an ample account of all matters relating to that Province.

In the mean time let me acquaint your Lordships that the Assembly of New York have settled the Revenue for six years, after the year which is still unexpired of the former term. They have also passed some good acts besides, which I intend shall be transmitted to your Lordships very speedily. One of the acts for vacating the two extravagant grants from Colonel Fletcher to M<sup>r</sup> Dellius the minister at Albany, that to Colonel Bayard which took in also part of the Mohacks land and of which they complained to me, that to Captain Evans, that of the Governor's demesne to the Church called the King's Farm, and lastly that to M<sup>r</sup> Caleb Heathcote which was called the King's Garden: I say the Act that vacates those forementioned grants has rais'd against me the most implacable rage of the grantees and the other people who have grants full as extravagant and ruinous as these to the interest of the Province, are allarm'd, and become as much my enimies as those the Act dismounts of their grants; but having the order of the Lords Justices of England of the 10th of last November for using all lawful ways to break those extravagant grants, I value not the resentment of a few undeserving men; being sure 'tis not for the Interest of the Crown or the Province that  $\frac{3}{4}$  parts of the lands and soil should be in the hands of ten or eleven men, as I undertake to make it appear, should Fletcher's grants stand good. Therefore am I for abolishing the rest of the Palatinates (for such vast tracts deserve no less a name) the next session of Assembly, if I have strength enough; but indeed I can promise nothing without a good lawyer to be Chief Judge and to sit in Council and a good active lawyer to be Attorney Generall. I have stood single on my own legs in all these difficulties, and 'tis impossible for me always to bear all the burthen of businesse. The Bill for vacating the grants begun with us at the Council Board, and we sent it down to the Lower House, and there they added a clause for depriving Mr Dellius of his benefice at Albany, so that we were obliged to passe that clause as part of the Bill, or we must have lost the Bill, and I thought it better to loose a wicked Clergyman than a good Bill.

One of the letters I have prepared for your Lordships treats wholly of Navall stores wherein I demonstrate plainly that the province of New Yorke is the onely fit place for the King and Nation of England's being supplied with the severall species of pitch, tarr, and rozen, and I beleive for masts of ships too. Mr Dellius has lately had 90 masts cut on his largest grant, and that on the bank of a river that runs into Hudsons River, and they floated down to New York without any charge to him; the biggest was but 26 inches in diameter, but I am told there are much larger on that land and an infinite number of them and 'tis said too, the timber there is much firmer than that at Pescataqua and more solid. I doubt not but my scheme for the furnishing His Majesty with Navall stores will be acceptable to your Lordships, and I will undertake to furnish them within a trifle as the King has 'em now in time of peace from Sweden and Denmark; whereas I beleive at the rate the purveyors are like to have those stores made in New Hampshire, it will cost the King treble the price they now stand him in from the Northern Crowns.

In your Lordships letter of the 2<sup>d</sup> of February last you are pleased to caution me against passing an Act for reimbursing Leisler's party their demand of mony due to 'em since the Revolution. I am always pleased with your Lordships directions, for to be sure so long as I walk by rule, I shall be less lyable to error. But I could not possibly be guilty of so very foolish a step as that would have been, and the marchands of New York knew well enough that I would never consent to such an Act, neither was such a bill offered to me. I took a great deal of pains to satisfie 'em against such fears by declaring to 'em it was a step no man in his witts would venture to make & that I would not forfeit my discretion and the King's favour for any consideration whatsoever.

Mr Graham will bear me witsse that I charged him severall times to publish my resolution against it, and he assured me he did it severall times to the marchands of New Yorke; therefore 'tis to be presum'd those marchands that troubled your Lordships on that score, did it purely for the sake of clamour. I am with much respect, My Lords

and obedient servant

BELLOMONT.

Lords of Trade to the Earl of Bellomont.

[New-York Entries, B. 299.]

To the Right Honourable the Earl of Bellomont His Majesty's Capt. Generall and Commander in Chief of His Majesty's Provinces of the Massachuset's Bay, New York and New Hampshire in America and of the Territories thereupon depending &c. Or to the Commander in Chief of His Majesty's Province of New York for the time being.

My Lord.

Circular letter from ye Board to ye E. of Bellomont Govr. of N. Yorke relating to Patent Places Ships of War & pirates. His Majesty having been pleased by some late Orders in Council to regulate certain matters relating to his plantations in America, and to require us to signify his pleasure therein to the respective Governours of his said plantations, and do what may be thereupon further necessary :

Patent Places You are to take notice that His Majesty upon taking into consideration the inconveniences arising from the execution of Patent Places by Deputies, either unqualified or too much inclined by the high rents they pay unto Patentees to make indirect advantages of their respective places, has thought fit to order, That all the Patent Officers within his plantations be obliged by their patents or otherwise, to actual residence upon the place, and to execute their respective offices in their own persons, unless in case of sickness or other incapacity. And therefore in order to the better observation of His Majesty's pleasure in this particular, we think it necessary that you transmit unto us by the first opportunity a full and perfect account of all the Patent Offices within your Government, with the particular tenour and conditions of each respective grant, and how those conditions are complied with in the execution of the same : which we shall accordingly expect.

Ships of War You are also to take notice, that His Majesty has been pleased to direct concerning the ships of War which are or may be appointed to attend any of his plantations, that especial care be taken that they be good sailers, that they be annually relieved by others, that the Comanders thereof be strictly required to observe the laws of the Plantations relating to the departure or transportation of the inhabitants, and not to carry off any inhabitants from the said plantations, contrary to the laws provided in each Plantation respectively ; and that they do not leave their stations in any of the Plantations without the previous knowledge of the respective governors of the s<sup>d</sup> Plantations and a due regard to His Majesty's service in those parts. Concerning all which matters in your government, together with what ever else has been formerly signified to you relating to His Majesty's ships of war there, we think it likewise necessary that you give us from time to time an exact account.

We have this to add in particular relating to the Provinces under your government, that the ship ordered by his Majesty for his service at New Yorke is to be of the sixth rate, and that of New England to be of the fifth rate : either of which your Lordship may make use of for your transportation to or from either of those Provinces as there shall be occasion.

Pirates.— And whereas great complaints are frequently made of the mischiefs committed by pirates in remote parts and of the support and encouragement which they shall finde in His Majesty's Plantations in America, notwithstanding the repeated directions that have been given to the respective Governors thereof to take all possible care for the preventing of such ill practices ; We cannot but thereupon mind you to use and continue your utmost diligence in discovering suppressing and punishing all offences and offenders of that kind whatsoever, within your government. And to that intent we more particularly recommend to your care that strict enquiry be made after the ship and men described in the inclosed paper and that such of them as can be found be punished with the utmost severity of law, and the ship and cargo secured for those to whom they do belong. We are, My Lord,

Your Lordships most humble servants

Earl of Bellomont to the Lords of Trade.

[New-York Entries, B. 441.]

To the Right Honourable the Lords Commissioners for Trade and Plantations.

My Lords.

A fit of the gout that seized me on the sea between New Yorke and this place prevented my sending two severall letters which I had almost finished at New Yorke, but had [not] time to perfect them because of the Assembly's sitting, which gave me constant employment to the hour I came from thence. In one of those letters I expressed, as I now do in this, my humble acknowledgments to Your Lordships for the commendation you are pleased to bestow on my poor services at New Yorke, in your letters of the 25th of last October and 5th of January, which is a favour that pleases me abundantly more than any recompence that could be made me, and so great a value do I put on it, that I will never forfeit your Lordships good opinion and protection.

My other letter which I had not quite finished at New Yorke, nor till within these few days, bears date the 3<sup>d</sup> of May, treats of Bradish a pirate and several sums of money taken with him and his crew, and goes now by this conveyance.

By the last ship that went hence to London about a fortnight ago, I writ five severall letters to your Lordships on severall subjects, four whereof related wholly to the businesse of New Yorke and were longer than I could have wished them for your Lordships ease; but I hope you will excuse their length, and what may be found crude and superfluous in them, for I am forced to be my own Secretary, and have not time nor health to write fowl drafts of my letters & make emendations, and so contract the matter and pollish the stile of them, for such a labour would quite kill me.

There is one of those letters which bears date the 17th of Aprill last, which tho' it be long, will not I presume be unwelcome to your Lordships, because I demonstrate therein that the King and nation of England can be best supplied with Naval Stores from New Yorke, and as cheap or cheaper than they have them at present from Sweden & Denmark; and I find upon discourse with M<sup>r</sup> Bridger the Purveyor who is now here, that at the dear rates he pays for labour in New Hampshire, the Stores will cost very near  $\frac{3}{4}$  parts more, than they will be afforded, according to my scheme, in my said letter. I have not writ about it to the Lords of the Admiralty or Commissioners of the Navy, for I have had no encouragement to hold a correspondence with those Boards; but have applied wholly to your Lordships, from whose influence and direction alone, under his Majesty, I expect this noble and national designe must receive life and motion.

Severall papers relating to our Five Nations of Indians containing messages between me and them I have brought with me from New York, and severall others which my Lieutenant Governour has lately sent me; all which I designed for Your Lordships by this conveyance; but I find it impossible to get them fairly transcrib'd, they being very voluminous. I believe a quire of paper will scarce contain them. Your Lordships shall have them by the next ship that goes for England. In the mean time I can tell you the French Governour Mons<sup>r</sup> de Calliere having lately set at liberty those Indians of ours he had prisoners at Montreal, it has put our Five Nations into good humour; severall of the Sachims to the number of 40 or 50 were lately at Albany were much made of and went home very well pleased and declared they would not think of going over to the French. To please 'em and keep 'em steady to us, I sent 'em word I hoped to prevail with the King to order a Fort to be built in the Onondages country where a garison should be kept to cover 'em from the inroads of the French garison of Cadaraque Fort (which is a great terrour and disturbance to them) and they have laid hold on my promise and desired I will perform with them; but I would not have them know the small capacity I am in of doing it, for without mouny 'tis impossible to build Forts.

I understand there are about 30 pirates come lately into the East end of Nassau Island and have a great deal of money with them; but so cherished are they by the inhabitants that not a man of them is taken up. Severall of them I hear came with Shelly from Madagascar: Shelly is one of the Masters of Ships that I formerly informed your Lordships went last Summer from New York to Madagascar; he is a dweller at New Yorke, and M<sup>r</sup> Hackshaw one of the Merchants in London that petitioned your Lordships against me is one of his owners, and M<sup>r</sup> de Lancey a Frenchman at New Yorke is another. I hear too that Captain Kidd dropp'd some pirates in that Island. They write from New Yorke that Arabian Gold is in great plenty there, and indeed till there be a good Judge or two and an honest active Atturuy Generall to prosecute for the King, all my labour to suppress piracy will signify even just nothing. The people there are so impudent in abetting and sheltering pirates and their goods, that without such assistance as I have now proposed, I can never expect to check that vile practice of theirs. When Frederick Phillipps's ship and the other two come from Madagascar (which are expected every day) New York will abound with gold 'Tis the most beneficial trade that to Madagascar with the pirates, that was ever heard of, and I believe there's more got that way than by turning pirates and robbing. I am told this Shelly sold rum which cost but 2<sup>s</sup> per gallon at New York, for 50 shill<sup>s</sup> and £3 p<sup>r</sup> gallon at Madagascar, and a pipe of Madera Wine which cost him £19. he sold there for £300. Strong liquors and gun powder and ball are the commodities that go off there, to the best advantage, and those four ships last summer carried thither great quantities of those things.

In my letter to your Lordships of the 15th of last May, I gave your Lordships an Account, that I had sent as you directed the copies of my letters to the Lords of the Treasury, but being ill myself when that packet was made up, my servant forgot to put up those letters; but I now send them, that of the 27th of October 9S, goes (N<sup>o</sup> 1) that of the 14th of November 9S, goes (N<sup>o</sup> 2) They mention M<sup>r</sup> Brooks but slightly, because I ferr'd their Lordships to the letters I had writ to your Lordships about him; copies whereof I sent them at that time.

There goes with this conveyance a letter to your Lordships which my indisposition hindered from finishing at my first coming hither, as it did some others I have mentioned before: it bears date the 13th of May and give a particular account of the trade of New Yorke and it concerns me much that your Lordships should be exactly informed of that matter.

I send your Lordships six months minutes of Council, by this conveyance, and also the transcripts of the laws enacted this last Session of Assembly of New Yorke. The Act which breaks some of Fletcher's Extravagant Grants of Land, has much iraged the Grantees against me, but I little value that, being satisfied in my own conscience that 'tis honest and just to dissolve and make void grants that have been fraudulently obtained, and, what is more, having had the orders of the Lords Justices of England bearing date the 10th of last November for so doing. M<sup>r</sup> Dellius the Dutch Minister at Albany who had the two largest grants, is gon to England to complain and try to hinder the King's approving that Act, which breaks his and some few other grants. The angry people of New Yorke have made a purse of £500 for him and those of Albany £200. not that he had need of it, for by his penury he has got a good deal of money of his own. He has carried home, I mean to England, certificates of his piety and good life, under the hands of the angry people; and I am told there are counter certificates signing by the Leisler party with four times the number of hands to 'em. If a great liar incendiary and proud person, make up the character of piety then M<sup>r</sup> Dellius may passe for a Saint. I sent your Lordships formerly the conferences I had with the Mohack Indians at Albany and then observed what impudent lyes Dellius told me in the face of all the Magistrates of that town and many other persons. I since sent your Lordships my Lieutenant Governor's certificate along with my letter of the 13th April last to shew how wickedly Dellius went about to divide my Lieutenant Governor from me, and make him joyne with himself and party against me. Till I went to Albany he always pray'd in Church for the Crown of England, but not for King William. I remember the first Sunday after my going to Albany some of the honest Dutch went to hear him preach (of those I mean that accompanied me from New Yorke thither) and observing he pray'd not for the King, complain'd to me of it. I sent for him and reproved him and his excuse was that it was Sacrament day, and not customary on those days to pray for any body in the Dutch Churches. I could not beleive him then, nor do I yet, but it was a blundering lying excuse like the man that made it. He was one day indeavouring to suborn Henry, a Christian preaching Indian, to swear against two or three of the Magistrates of Albany that are not in his favour, and the Indian came to those Magistrates and told 'em what Dellius had been labouring to make him swears, and cried out with horrou and amazement, Good God what does M<sup>r</sup> Dellius mean by teaching to lye, and yet pretend to save our souls. This happen'd last summer, and those Magistrates sent me word of it. Dellius has now carried over with him a Certificate or some such instrument under the hands of four Justices of the Peace at Albany of a confession made by Henry and some other Christian Indians, but the other Magistrates hearing of it, about a dosen of them examin'd Henry and the rest and put the examination into writing, which goes (N<sup>o</sup> 3.) by which your Lordship will see that he tampered and used artifices with them to get them to lament his leaving the Province; and a good part of what he had set down in writing as a confession of theirs they positively deny to have said in this paper. My Lieutenant Governour hearing what contention and heats Dellius had caused among the people at Albany by his ill practices with those Indians, cited him and them to appear before himself and the Council at New Yorke there to be fairely and openly examined; but Dellius absconded and would not appear, getting into the Jerseys to be out of my Lieutenants Governours reach, and from thence he imbark'd for England. His hopes I understand are to stir up the Classis of Divines at Amsterdam and those that reside in London, to take his part. Then he thinks he has a sure friend of the Bishop of London by the means of Colonel Fletcher, and I heare M<sup>r</sup> Vesey<sup>1</sup> the English Minister at New Yorke has writ large encomiums of him to the Bishop. And my Lieutenant Governour writes to me that Vesey has left me out of his prayers, as Governour, and prays for Dellius by name, both in the Common Prayer and afterwards in the pulpit, desiring God to give him a prosperous voyage, to deliver him from the violence of his enemies and send him safe back again to his flock. This is such an insolence as I must desire your Lordships will please to joine with me to have this man deprived, for it cannot be thought I will ever go to Church while that fellow continues Minister there. What is personall to myself I can forgive, but for him to pray publickly for Dellius and his return to his flock, when he stands deprived by Act of Assembly is such an arraignment of the justice of the Province, that there's an end of government, if such an insolence be suffered to passe unpunished. To shew your Lordships how strangely disingenuous this man's carriage has been to me, he sent me word by M<sup>r</sup> Graham the Attorney, that the angry party at New Yorke led him such a life for preaching up and exhorting to peace, charity and reconciliation (tho' himself medled not with parties) that he should be forced to quit the town and Province; he afterwards came and told me the same thing, and that he look'd upon that wicked temper of theirs to be a sure argument of their guilt and of their being in the wrong. The same also he told my Lieutenant Governour, and likewise a story of Colonel Fletcher that for the vanity of it equals his stiling himself Imperator in the inscription under his coat of Arms within the Fort. Vesey confessed he had obligations to Colonel Fletcher yet he could not but own he was an ill man, and he gave the following reason for it; that after I had superseded Colonel Fletcher, he went and read prayers at his house, praying for him as a private person, and leaving out the titles of Governour and Excellency. After prayers Colonel Fletcher call'd him aside and asked how he came to leave off praying for him as he used to doe and whether he had forgot his respect for him. M<sup>r</sup> Vesey made answer that he being no longer Governour, he thought he could not truly nor justly give him the titles belonging to a Governour. Upon which Fletcher with great passion bade him be gone out of his house and never come near him more, for he would have no more to say to him or his prayers. This I had from the Lieutenant Governour at New Yorke, who is too much a man of honour to forge such a story. Vesey's father lives near this town, is a most violent Jacobite and perhaps the boldest and most avowed one that has been known any where. The indictment (for he was try'd convict and sentenced to stand in the Pillory for uttering desperate words against his Majesty) is worth your Lordships reading, a copy whereof goes (N<sup>o</sup> 4) tho' it be not a constant rule that the same principles descend from father to son, yet it must be granted that where a son is bred up to the age of a man under an ill father, 'tis extraordinary if the son do not imbibe ill principles from the ill man his father, so that extraduce one would incline to beleive Parson Vesey disaffected to the Government, and his behavior at Yorke since my coming away confirms me that he is so. I desire your Lordships will please to prevaile with My Lord of London to send over a good moderate Divine of the Church of England to supply the cure at New Yorke in the room of M<sup>r</sup> Vesey; for I take the honour of the government to be concern'd in the displacing of that man. And I must further presume to tell your Lordships that if he be not turn'd out and Dellius kept out, so as that Act of Assembly that deprives the latter be maintained and approved at home, there will be no businesse for me at New Yorke, nor indeed for any honest Governour for the people there being so headstrong and tumultuous as they are already, how much more will they be so, if their party receive countenance and favour from the government in England.

<sup>1</sup> Rev. Wm. Vesey graduated at Harvard College, Mass., and removed thence to Long Island, where he officiated as a Dissenting Minister. On the incorporation of Trinity Church, N. Y., in 1696, he was invited to conform. New-York Documentary History, 4to., III., 265. He accordingly proceeded to England, where he received holy orders, and officiated, for the first time, in his new church on 6th February, 1697. He revisited England about 1712, when he received the appointment of Commissary to the Bishop of London in New-York and the neighboring province. He discharged the duties of that office, and of Rector of Trinity Church, until his death, which took place on the 11th of July, 1746, as we learn from Beriau's History of Trinity Church, 62.—Ed.

If your Lordships mean I shall go on to break the rest of the Extravagant grants of land by Colonel Fletcher or other Governours, by Act of Assembly, I shall stand in need of a peremptory order from the King so to do, which will animate the House of Representatives that sometimes have not courage to go through with a businesse of that kind, unlesse they see they shall be supported by the Government of England. The Lords Justices letter of the 10th of last November is with me a sufficient authority to proceed in that matter, but I know that orders renew'd from Court are more forcible with the people I have to deal with both in the Council and Assembly of New Yorke. If I may not proceed with the breaking of the remaining Extravagant grants then I shall become an humble petitioner that the Act I now send home for breaking Dellius's two grants &c may not receive the King's approbation, but be rejected; for I should reckon it a great injustice to break some grants and spare others no lesse extravagant than they; and I would by no means be an instrument in such injustice. Colonel Peter Schuyler, M<sup>r</sup> Ranslaer, M<sup>r</sup> Livingston, Colonel Beckman, Frederick Phillipps and his son Adolphus Phillipps, Colonel Courtlandt and Colonel Smith, have vast tracts of land that are not lesse than twenty miles square, one with another, and I believe I say the least. Coll. Courtlandt has two of those great grants and Colonel Smith's runs fifty miles in length on Nassau Island, and there is an infinite number of goodly pines for pitch tar and rozen, as Mons<sup>r</sup> Bernon assures me who took a view of them; besides Colonell Smith has got the beach on the sea shore for forty miles together, after an odd manner as I have been told by some of the inhabitants, having arbitrarily and by strong hand (being favour'd and supported by Colonel Fletcher and being Chief Justice of the Province, a place of great awe as well as authority) got or rather forced the town of Southampton to take a poore £10 for the greatest part of the said beach, which is not a valuable consideration in law, for Colonel Smith himself own'd to me that that beach was very profitable to him for whale fishing, and that one year he cleared £500. by whales taken there. I confess I can not have a good opinion of Colonel Smith; he knows what pressuig orders I have from England to suppress piracy, and if he were honest and did his duty, there would not a Pirate dare to shew his head in the East end of Nassau Island, he is so seated towards that end of the Island that he could disturb and seize them as he pleas'd, and yet that end of the Island is at present their rendezvous and sanctuary. Colonel Smith is under a double obligation to suppress piracy being both Chief Justice of the Province and Judge of the Admiralty Court.

By one of the Acts of Assembly of New Yorke now sent there is a present of £1500 New York money made to me and £500 to my Lieutenant Governour. The House of Representatives would have presented me with £2000, but I refused so great a sum because I found upon inquiry none of the Governours before me had above £1500. and I thought it best to walk by precedent. The Act (as the King's instructions directs) gives the mony to his Majesty with an humble desire that his Majesty will be pleased to bestow it on me, and my Lieutenant Governour. I hope your Lordships will procure the King's leave and order that we may have the advantage of it, & that as soon as conveniently may be, for we stand in need of that benevolence of the countries.

The House of Representatives sent up a Bill to me and the Council for settling a Dissenting Ministry in that Province, but it being contrary to his Majesty's instructions, and besides having been credibly informed that some of those Ministers do hold strange erroneous opinions in matters of Faith and Doctrine, I would not give the Assent to that Bill, but rejected it.

I must intreat your Lordships to recommend Mr George Tollet to his Majesty to be Secretary of the Province of New Yorke in the room of Mr Clarkson the present Secretary, who is so very weak a man and incapable of businesse, that he never was thought fit to be of his Majesty's Council of that Province. I have forbore all this while to endeavour the displacing of him, in pure charity to him, but I am so tyred out with businesse and he perfectly uselesse to me, that I must again request your Lordships to let me have the assistance of a man of sense and businesse. Every body knows that a Secretary of a Province ought to set in Council and that he ought to be very honest as well as able, and being so qualified he is, as it were, the Governour's right hand. I beleive Mr Tollet is known to most of your Lordships; he was Secretary to the Commissioners of Accounts, and they valued him as a jewell. He is an excellent mathematician and no man in England a readier accountant. He is a very honest man, very judicious, and of great application in businesse. I am not certain he will come over, but if he will, I know no man more capable of serving the King. He would canvasse the accounts of the Province from time to time and now that there will be lands to be distributed, he would survey 'em nicely well. If Mr Tollet will accept of the Secretary's place, I hope your Lordships will please to give him all reasonable encouragement; I mean 2, or £300. to be procured for him from the Treasury to pay for his commission and bear his charges to New Yorke. All the while I was at New York I was perpetually in businesse from five in the morning till ten at night (except dining time) and that which gave me the greatest trouble was the answering letters from the English and French Governours, which I was every post or by ships obliged to do, and that with my own hand, for I had nobody to help me. There are three Lieutenancies now vacant in the four Companies at New Yorke. I do not, as others have done, prefer my Valet de Chambre and servants to those posts; but I am sending to England to get an able Master Gunner or two for the Forts at Yorke and Albany, and a good Surveyor put into those postes. I contrive as well as I can for the King's interest and service.

I am next Thursday to go to New Hampshire to take that government upon me, where I propose staying about three weeks, and will, if my health will allow it visit the very utmost bounds of the King's territory to the East and joyning upon Acadie, which the French have unfortunately got from the Crown, thanks to good King Charles the 1st. 'Tis called S<sup>t</sup> Georges River<sup>1</sup> and lyes about 25 leagues eastward of Pescataqua.<sup>2</sup> At my returne hither I shall make but a week's stay and shall then go to Rhode Island to execute a commission from his Majesty sent me by Mr Secretary Vernon to inquire into the severall misdemeanours alledged to have been committed by the government of that Island.

I forgot to tell your Lordships in the body of this letter, that since my leaving Yorke M<sup>r</sup> Clarkson the present Secretary struck M<sup>r</sup> Parmiter the Naval Officer a blow in the face, just by my Lieutenant Governours Chamber door, within his Majesty's house and Fort, which is no lesse an insolence than if he had struck him within Whitehall, for one is as much the King's house as the other. I am with respect

Earl of Bellomont to the Lords of the Treasury.

[New-York Entries, B. 459.]

N<sup>o</sup> 1.

My Lords.

Copy of the Earl of Bellomonts letter to the Lords of the Treasury dated the 27th October 1698.

I have directed M<sup>r</sup> Weaver the Agent for this Province to wait on your Lordships with some papers relating to this Province, which I take to be proper for your perusal. I must own to your Lordships the shifts I am forc'd to make by M<sup>r</sup> Clements disappointment of me just at my leaving London. He was to have come with me as my secretary, but changed his mind when it was too late for me to provide another; and now I am forced to be at the trouble of writing all the first draughts of my letters myself, and by that means am forced to make one general letter (where I give an account of all affairs under my Administration) serve for your Lordships and the rest of the Ministers. In my letter of the 21st Inst. which M<sup>r</sup> Weaver will lay before your Lordships there are some things that particularly come within your Province, among the rest the grants of lands, which your Lordships will find to be so extravagant in Coll. Fletcher's time, that to prevent the ruine of this Province, which by its situation as being contiguous to Canada I reckon the most considerable of any, I hope your Lordships will find out a way to vacate, and at the same time lay a restriction on all Governours never to grant above 1000 acres to any man whatsoever without particular leave from His Majesty, and to reserve a Quit Rent of half a crown on every hundred acres to the Crown, and to be forbid selling any lands upon pain of the losse of his employment. I have made a full Representation of these matters in the letter which I have mentioned that M<sup>r</sup> Weaver is to communicate to your Lordships.

The next week I am to send your Lordships a state of the Revenue and Accounts of this Province which will shew you the corrupt management of Coll. Fletcher and will be a further evidence of Brooks the late Collector's corruption in his employment. I am with great respect

My Lords

BELLOMONT

Earl of Bellmont to the Lords of the Treasury.

[New-York Entries, B. 461.]

My Lords.

I am obliged to use the same method this time that I did the last, to make one sett of letters serve for your Lordships and the rest of the Ministers, for having had a great deal to write and no help but that of the Clerk in the copying part I have been forced to take this course. I have sent a state of the Revenue and Accounts of this Province during Colouel Fletcher's Government, in as plain a method as I could form them in the little time I have been about them, and considering how very intricate the Accounts were that I had recourse to; and had it not been for the Audits which Colonel Cortlandt kept by him, I could never have come at any knowledg in the accounts. If your Lordships will be pleased to be at the trouble of reading my letters of the 7th and 8th Instant, which I now send, they explaine both the states. My letter of the 7th treats wholly of the Revenue and that of the 8th of the Accounts, and your Lordships upon reading them will see new instances of Colonel Fletcher's and M<sup>r</sup> Brooks's the late Collector's corruption. M<sup>r</sup> Hungerford, one of the present Commissioners of the Revenue, made a seizure last week of a brigantin, a bark, and of some parcell's of East India goods, in three severall houses in this town; lists of the East India goods I send under cover with this letter. Your Lordships will see we are not idle here, but are upon the watch to check the unlawfull trade of this place pursuant to his Majesty's and your Lordships instructions. When any seizure is made here the merchants are ready to rise in rebellion, and so little have they been used to that in Colonel Fletcher's government that they look on it as a violence done them when we seize unlawfull goods in their warehouses and shops. 'Tis almost incredible what a vast quantity of East India goods w<sup>o</sup>uld have been brought into this port, had there not been a change in the Government. Two men in this town had for their share £12000 each, which were brought from Madagascar and got there with the barter with pirates and some of those pirates had Colonel Fletcher's commission. Besides there came home to the mouth of this port 8 or 9 pirate ships since my coming to this government, which would have brought in a vast quantity of those goods, and by the confession of the merchants in the town they would have brought in a £100000 in gold and silver, and this inrages them to the last degree that they have miss'd of all this treasure and rich pennyworths of East India goods and now they drink Colonel Fletcher's health with the greatest devotion imaginable, upon the remembrance of his kind concessions to them and the dispensing power he gave himself and them against the laws of trade and piracy. I shall expect your Lordships orders in reference to the revenue and Accounts of this Province, which shall allways be entertained with all the compliyanse and respect that becomes,

My Lords

Your Lordships most humble

and obedient Servant

The underwritten is that which Hend<sup>r</sup> the Indian spoke to Dom: Dellius in our presence.

SAYING: Father Dóm: Dellius wee are greiv'd to see you go away, we have not done it, it is done by others who have led us as by a cord, we were always resolved to be true to our father as wee have shown in the warr. Father, forgive us the evill wee have committed against you.

Whereupon M<sup>r</sup> Dellius did immediately forgive them. Albany 5th June 1699.

Interpreted by :

Jan Baptist van Eps who was sworn, Hilletie the other interpreter was present and Capt<sup>n</sup> John Bleeker who understood the Indian language, and several of the inhabitants as alsoe of the Maquase Sachins and other Indians—

The said Hend<sup>r</sup> the Indian was asked

Q: Was you at M<sup>r</sup> Dellius's house the day before yesterday?

Ans: Yes.

Q: Was you sent for or did you go of your own accord?

A: I was sent for five times.

Q: Who fetch'd you?

A: Gideon's wife came the first time.

Q: Who came the second time?

A: My Mother in Law

Q: Who came for you the third time?

A: Gideon's Wife

Q: Who came the fourth time?

A: Some Indian women of our nation

Q: Who came for you the fifth or last time?

A: Gideon the Maquase Christian Indian.

Q: In whose name did they come?

A: The messengers that came said that Hille the Interpretesse told that we should come to M<sup>r</sup> Dellius's house whereupon Rebeceah a Christian Maquase woman said that Hille had not said so, but that she had said it.

Then the paper was produced which was signed by the Justices and the said Hend<sup>r</sup> was asked sentence after sentence if he had said so the day before yesterday. viz<sup>t</sup>

Q: Did you say to M<sup>r</sup> Dellius, father Dellius wee are greiv'd to see that you goe away?

A: Yes.

Q: did you say wee have not done it, it is done by others?

A: Yes.

Q: did you say wee have been led as with a cord?

A: No, I said no such thing.

Q: did you say, wee were always resolved to be true to our father as wee have shown in the warr?

A: Yes.

Q: did you say, father forgive us the evill wee have committed against you?

A: I never said so.

Q: Did Dom: Dellius forgive you?

A: I did not ask for forgiveness.

The said Hendrick said further—that Hille the interpretesse bid him tell the Dom<sup>e</sup> M<sup>r</sup> Dellius that he wished that he might returne to them speedily—

The said Hille the interpretesse said further, those persons that led you with a cord or line are the cause of M<sup>r</sup> Dellius's departure.

The Maquase Indians that were there were asked, if they had not heard Hend<sup>r</sup> the Indian say that he had been drawn as with a cord—The Indians answered no they never heard him say any such thing—

Simmonquresse the Maquase Sachim being ask'd the same question: answered no, he never heard Hend<sup>r</sup> say so but that Hille the Interpretesse had taken the word out of his mouth and said it.

Q: What was the meaning of your Hend<sup>r</sup> givinge Döm: Dellius your hand, was not you forgiven then by him?

A: When M<sup>r</sup> Dellius gave me his hand he forgave me but I said nothing.—

Hendrick the Indian being desired to relate what discourse he had at M<sup>r</sup> Dellius's house on the 8th inst: when the said Dellius was going away.

Said: That he came there with two other indians and sat in the kitchin drinking some beer, then M<sup>r</sup> Dellius came to them with Hille the interpretesse, who asked them if it did not greve them the Dominies going away he answered Yes, it did greve him—Then Hille the Interpretesse said whose fault is it that M<sup>r</sup> Dellius goes away. Joseph the Indian would have answered but Hille took the word out of his mouth saying, those base people that stir you up and draw you with a line are the cause of it—The said Hille said further to Henry the Indian tell the Dom<sup>e</sup> Mr. Dellius that it is their fault that he goes away that have incited you against him—She said further: Speak now, M<sup>r</sup> Dellius is goinge over sea, speak hard talk your best that he may returne again to us in the spring for you are praying Indians—Henry reply'd I am alone what can I do if wee were altogether then wee could speak but now we can say nothing—Then M<sup>r</sup> Dellius asked said Henry—doe you love me?—Hend<sup>r</sup> Answered yes, I ever lou'd you since wee have been praying Indians, and did never think, that we should have disturb'd your mind, we have observed and minded our praying well and have fought well for the Country in the late warr—Then M<sup>r</sup> Dellius stood up and shaked hands with Henry and said I have long expected you and forgave you the evill you have done me; Henry replied I expected you would have sent for me because you are the greater man, but you alwayes sent for others, not for me—M<sup>r</sup> Dellius told him it is more proper that the youngest should come to the eldest, I expected you to come without sending for—

Q: Who was with you Henry when this discourse happened?

A: Sinnenquiesse the Maquasse Sachim, Gideon and Joseph the indians and many Christians

Q: Out of whose mouth was this discourse, from the Dom<sup>e</sup> or the Interpretesse?

A: 'tis all out of the mouth of the interpretesse.

Gideon was asked if he was present at this discourse, who answer'd, he came at the latter end of it.—Joseph the Christian Indian being ask'd the same question, says, that he heard all this discourse between M<sup>r</sup> Dellius and Hend<sup>r</sup> the Indian as well as he now hears it repeated.—Rebecca the Macquase Christian woman, being examin'd if she was present at this discourse, answer'd that she was present at the last part of it when M<sup>r</sup> Dellius was just going away, when they had done with their discourse.

Examination of Gideon another Maquase Christian Indian.

What was done the morning M<sup>r</sup> Dellius went away when you and some of the brethern were sent for to M<sup>r</sup> Dellius's house?

Gideon answer'd that he was not sent for this morning but that Hille the interpretesse told him at Schenectade that M<sup>r</sup> Dellius was going away, and why he did not goe and take his leave of him—whereupon Gideon said with what shall I speak I have caught nothing I can lay down, no present when I speak according to our custome.—Whereupon Hille said come here is a bever skin, take that I give it you, and goe and speak with that to M<sup>r</sup> Dellius your minister before he goes away, goe and greet him with that Gideon arriveing here at Albany went with another Indian to M<sup>r</sup> Dellius's house with the beaver and left it there, and afterwards he went with five or six more, and said: father why do you depart? M<sup>r</sup> Dellius answer'd My brethern that live here bring many wicked newes into my house, that is the cause of my going away—Gideon asked M<sup>r</sup> Dellius if he went to New York M<sup>r</sup> Dellius answered that he went over the great sea—Then said Hille the Interpretesse—All people in the town nom and cry for M<sup>r</sup> Dellius and you must doe the same—Then Gideon took the beaver and said to M<sup>r</sup> Dellius. I am greived to my soul that you goe away: how shall it bee when you arrive over the great sea; and hear what you goe for thither, will you come againe when this evill is over that is now done to you—M<sup>r</sup> Dellius said he would not forget them—Hille the Interpretesse acknowledges that she gave the said Indian the Beaver to greet M<sup>r</sup> Dellius withall who was going away, and withall she desired that he should take Capt<sup>n</sup> John Bleeker, Everet Wendel Jun<sup>r</sup> Ab<sup>r</sup> Schuyler or any that understood the language to be interpreters between the Indians and M<sup>r</sup> Delius the Minister.—

ania & West New Jersey.

Having humbly laid before their Excellencies the Lords Justices a Representation dated the 19th of October last relating to the general state of the Province of New Yorke at the Earl of Bellomont's entrance upon that Government in which amongst other things we mentioned how the Earl of Bellomont upon suspicion that four ships fitted out from New Yorke for Madagascar in the month of June 1695 were designed for a trade with the pirates in those parts, had proposed to the Council there that for prevention thereof good security might be taken before their departure, but the Council did not think fitt to comply therewith, and so the said ships were permitted to proceed on their voyage; We humbly beg leave to lay before your Excellencies some informations of the like nature that we have lately received, and which appear in great measure to be the direct consequences of the fore mentioned voyage.

M<sup>r</sup> Bass who at present acts as Governor of East and West New Jersey, by a letter dated at Burlington in West New Jersey the 9th of June last, informs us that one Giles Shelly Master of a Ship called the Nassau, which had been fitted out from New Yorke for Madagascar, did arrive not long before at Cape May in the entrance of Delaware Bay on the Jersey side, where he had landed fourteen men who had been upon piratical voyages in the East Indies, and put some others on board a New York sloop, commanded by one Andrew Graverard, to be landed and dispersed in other places as they found opportunity. Upon notice of which he the said Bass pursued those men that had been landed as aforesaid, and seized six of them (with their effects) who confessed to him that they had been on the coast of India and taken several prizes there; and the said Bass having also intercepted a letter from the forementioned Shelly directed to M<sup>r</sup> Delancy a merchant in New Yorke (concerned principally as appears by the said letter in Shelly's cargo) he sends us a copy thereof; which we have hereunto annexed, and thereupon humbly crave leave to observe:—

That the foresaid Shelly is one of the four forementioned ships fitted out from New Yorke in June 1695. and that his cargo outwards according to an extract of the Book of Entries there transmitted to us by the Earl of Bellomont (whereof we have likewise hereunto annexed a copy) seems to be but of very small and inconsiderable value; but the returns mentioned in the said letter and especially the freight for twenty nine men (which seem to be the number brought by him to America, after the landing of forty six others in India) viz' 12000 pieces of Eight, and 3000 Lion dollars for their passage, are exceeding great, and must needs be computed in the whole to be of many thousand pounds. Which evidently proves the nature of that trade in which such exorbitant advantages are made.

That Captain Burgess named in the said letter is another of the four forementioned ships.

That M<sup>r</sup> Stephen Delancy to whom the said letter is directed, is one of the merchants concerned in the ship Fortune, Cap' Tho' Moston Commander, mentioned in our foresaid Representation, as seized by the Earl of Bellomont with great difficulty, for the like illegal trade after that the greatest part of her cargo had been privately convey'd away, and so appears to be a person used to those practices.

Colonel Quary, Judge of the Admiralty Court in Pennsylvania by his letters dated the first and sixth of June last, has also informed us:—

That the foresaid ship was arrived in Delaware Bay (on the West side of which lyes Pennsylvania as the Jerseys ly on the East of it) and had landed twenty pirates in Pennsylvania, where the people were so kind to them and so helpfull in conveying them from place to place, that he had been able to find out onely two; and that having given notice of those two to Colonel Markham Lieutenant Governor of that Province, who thereupon ordered the Constables to assist him, he had seized them, and lodged them in the Goal; but that having further proposed to Colonel Markham to press one of the vessells then lying before the town, and offered that if he would give him forty men to his assistance, he would undertake to seize upon the said ship with all the rest of the pirates that might be then on board her, he could not prevail with Colonel Markham to do it. Whereupon he further reflects upon the ill state of that Province, which consisting of above 7000 men capable to bear arms, there is no Militia settled in it, nor any other means established for the defence of his Majesty's subjects, let the occasion be never so great.

That Captain Kid was also arrived in that Bay in a sloop with about forty men having with him a vast treasure, and had sent his boat on shore to the Horekills, where he was supplied with what he wanted, and from whence his<sup>1</sup> people frequently went on board him.

And in the end he adds; that the two pirates whom he had seized there were permitted to confine themselves to a tavern, and that he had heard that Shelly having landed and secured all his goods & money had run his ship on shore near New York, after which the merchants concerned went to the Governor and informed against their said ship.

He likewise informs us that an Act has lately been past in Pennsylvania against privateers and pirates, in pursuance of a letter which by his Majesty's order wee writt to M<sup>r</sup> Penn as to other Proprietors and Governors of His Majesty's Plantations in America, dated the 24th of March 169<sup>5</sup>. That an Act might be past there to the like effect as one past in Jamaica; and having thereupon sent us some observations to shew us the insufficiency of the said act to the ends proposed, we have also hereunto annexed a copy thereof.

This being a summary of the informations we have lately received, We humbly crave leave thereupon to represent unto your Excellencys our opinion:—

That for the better discouragement of illegal trade and piracy in the Province of New Yorke (amongst the inhabitants of which Province those mischievous practices have taken so deep root) and for the support of the Earl of Bellomont in that work which he has so vigorously begun, your Excellencies would be pleased to give directions to his Lordship that he continue to use his utmost endeavours to seize all goods imported contrary to the acts of trade, as likewise all persons that may be justly suspected of piracy either as principalls or abettors, and to punish them with the utmost severity of law.

And whereas by Colonel Quary's forementioned advice there seems to be little ground of depending upon the safe custody of the pirates seized in Pennsylvania, nor any expectation that a condign punishment will be inflicted on them by the forementioned Act, and as wee are also informed by the [said] Colonel Quary that there is no act in force in West New Jersey by which those seized in that Province can be tryed and punished there; We humbly offer unto your Excellencies that all the pirates which have been seized or may be seized in Pennsylvania and West New Jersey be sent hither, together with the evidences upon which they have been seized and which may be of any use for their conviction here, that so they may be tried and punished according to law.

And whereas by Colonel Quarry's foresaid letters as by some others formerly, there appears to be great want of a settled militia in Pennsylvania (as is established in other His Majesty's Provinces in America) for the defence & security of the same and of his Majesty's subjects residing there: We humbly propose that (besides what we have already offered to your Excellencies by our Representations dated the 4th instant) directions may be also given to Mr Penn to take care in that matter upon his arrivall there, according to the powers conferr'd upon him by his patent.

All which nevertheless is most humbly submitted.

Lords of Trade to the Earl of Bellomont.

[New-York Entries, B. 822.]

To the Right Honourable the Earl of Bellomont Captain Generall and Governour in Chief of His Majesty's Provinces of the Massachusetts Bay, New York and New Hampshire in America, and of the Territories thereupon depending &c. Or to the Commander in Chief of His Majesty's Province of New Yorke, for the time being.

My Lord.

In our letter to your Lordship of the 5th of January last we acknowledged the receipt of your several letters that were then come to our hands, the last whereof was dated the 12th of the foregoing November. We have since then received two other letters from your Lordship, the one dated the 14th of December, the other the 29th of May last: and we have also writ two other letters to your Lordship, one dated the 2<sup>d</sup> of February, and the other the 26th of June last, the first of which you acknowledge the receipt of in your foresaid letter of the 29th of May: the last was a circular letter upon several heads as to the Governors of His Majesty's other Plantations. And having sent duplicates of those and all our former letters by different conveyances, we doubt not but all have come safe to your hands: but yet we are a little surprized that we have no account from you of the receipt of any of them but that of the 2<sup>d</sup> of February aforementioned; onely as you tell us in your foresaid letter of the 29th of May from Boston (where we are glad to understand your safe arrival) that you had begun to write us several letters from New York but not finished them, we expect an account of the receipt of all our letters by that packet, when ever it may arrive, and therefore shall not now repeat what we have said before.

However in looking back upon all the letters we have received from your Lordship since your first arrival at New Yorke, We observe several things in which, tho' we have done what seem'd necessary or proper for us, yet we have not acquainted you particularly with our proceedings about them. Wherefore that we may now do it fully we have thought that the shortest way and most to your Lordship's satisfaction will be by sending you the copies of what we represented to His Majesty or the Lords Justices upon those subjects; for you will thereby at once perceive what use we have made of all the informations you have given us. And we shall add such further answers as now seem necessary.

In the first place we therefore send you here inclosed the copy of our Representation of the 19th of October last relating to the general state of the Province of New York (marked A) and if their Excellencies the Lords Justices two orders in Council there upon dated the 25th of the same month (marked B.) Whereby you will perceive the rise and ground of those direction which you say you have received from their Excellencies dated the 10th of November last, and which we do not doubt to be those whereof we had prepared a draught a few days before, in pursuance of the first of their forementioned orders.

The next inclosed paper is a copy of our Representation of the 27th of October last in pursuance of the same order, relating to the Fortifications & Forces of New Yorke; together with a copy of their Excellencies further order thereupon, dated the 3<sup>d</sup> of November last (both marked C.) But you will thereby observe that there was no order made upon that part of our said Representation which related to the Forces. Nevertheless we desisted not from our endeavours to obtain what we thought necessary, and particularly upon a Memorial offered to us by M<sup>r</sup> Weaver, relating to the recruiting and pay of those Forces, we inclosed the same in a letter to M<sup>r</sup> Secretary Vernon the 24th of February last, to be laid before his Majesty, with our opinion that without 250 or 300 recruits, and due care for the pay of the Forces that Province would be exposed to such attempts as might prove very prejudicial. But to this we received no answer till the 2<sup>d</sup> May following that M<sup>r</sup> Secretary advised us that His Majesty having taken into consideration the condition of the four Companys at New Yorke (that they are reduced to about half their established number) and there being no provision made for recruiting them to their full complement of 100 men each, His Majesty had thought fit to establish them at 200 men, viz<sup>t</sup> the said Four Companys to consist of 50 men each. So that we have not been able to do more in that matter. And concerning the pay of the said Forces; we have not been wanting to give M<sup>r</sup> Weaver such assistance in his solicitations to the Lords of the Treasury upon that subject, as were proper for us; tho' we much doubt the success (of which he will give you a more perfect account) has been but small.

You will observe by the second of their Excellencies forementioned orders dated the 25th of October last, that we were required to hear Colonel Fletcher upon the complaints against him: which we accordingly did. And having thereupon laid before his Majesty the 9th of March last a Representation of our proceedings therein, together with our opinion upon each head, we send you here inclosed a Copy thereof (marked D.) together with the copies of two orders of Council made thereupon, dated the 16th of March last (marked E.) to which we refer ourselves, not having had any information of any further proceedings made therein.

The merchants of this city who we told you in our letter of the 2<sup>d</sup> of February last had complained of their uneasiness under the changes which your Lordship had made in the government of New Yorke, did not rest there; but continued the like complaints at several times; and upon the 10th of March they laid before us a memorial, whereof the copy is here inclosed (marked F) Upon which nevertheless we did not make any order at all, and now send it onely for your information.

Having been made sensible of the great irregularities in the government of Rhode Island not onely by some of your Lordship's letters but many other ways; We presented unto His Majesty a Representation upon that subject the 21st of December last (whereof the inclosed copy is marked G.) upon which his Majesty was pleased by order in Council of the 5th of January last (whereof the inclosed copy is marked H.) to direct us to prepare draughts of the things that we proposed to be done. And we thereupon accordingly laid before his Majesty the draughts of a commission and instructions to your Lordship to inquire into the misdemeanors of that government, which we doubt not have been sent, and that you long since have received them, and that enquiry into the misdemeanors of that government being in this manner committed to your Lordship's care, we send you here inclosed a letter that we writ them the 11th of this month desiring you will cause it to be transmitted unto them. And we send you also a copy of the said letter (marked I.) that your Lordship by observing the contents of it may the more effectually press them to their duty.

We told you in our letter of the 5th of January last, that what you had writ relating to the French claim to the Sovereignty over our Five Nations of Indians and what M<sup>r</sup> Stoughton had writ us about their incroachments upon the territories of New England, and their pretence to the sole right of fishing upon the Banks in the high sea upon that coast, had been laid before his Majesty. Unto which all that we can now add further is, that we have since made several memorials upon all those subjects for the use of the Commissioners appointed by his Majesty to treat about those matters with the French Commissioners who were here the last winter. Which was all we could do therein; and we hope care has been taken or will be taken accordingly. But however, till all those matters be finally determined, we desire your Lordship to have still your eye upon the practices of the French in those parts and to give us further information from time to time of whatsoever you judge proper to be observed thereupon.

We told you in our letter of the 5th of January last the reason of our suspending awhile any further report about the Proprietors of East New Jersey's pretended right to a port at Perth Amboy; and shall now explain to you a little more fully how that matter stands. The Proprietors of that Province thinking it seems they might have some advantage by complaining of your Lordship's seizure of the Ship Hester, petitioned his Majesty upon that subject, which petition of their being read in Council of the 9th of March last was by his Majesty referred unto our consideration; and we therefore send you here inclosed a copy of it with the Order of Council thereupon (marked K.) Whilst we had that matter under consideration, those Proprietors laid before us also other memorials in which they offered some conditions, in order to compromise the dispute; but such as we did no ways think it for his Majesty's service to accept of. And therefore upon the 15th of April last we laid before his Majesty another Representation upon that subject (whereof the inclosed copy is marked L.) By that you will perceive the use we made of their proposal of a tryal about the Port of Perth Amboy, by bringing their right of government in to the same question; a matter in which they are very tender, as being sensible of the weakness of their title. And we therefore thought it best to joyn both together. Hereupon after long delays and after having in vain indeavoured in the name of the Proprietors of West New Jersey (who are for the most part the same persons) to draw us into a snare by desiring our opinions for the approbation of M<sup>r</sup> Hamilton to be Governor of West New Jersey, that so our allowance of the one, might have been an argument for the other because their title to both is one and the same; they have in the end laid before us certain proposalls for the surrender of East New Jersey upon certain conditions. But we have not yet thorowly considered the same. However there appearing to us several obvious exceptions against what they propose, and great difficulties in settling the matter to their satisfaction and without prejudice to his Majesty's right and to the interest of the Province of New Yorke; we are apt to think that business may hang yet some time longer in suspence. And therefore we send you here inclosed the copy of their said Proposals (marked M.) and desire your observations thereupon, how far any of them will be advantageous or disadvantageous to the Province of New Yorke. But in the mean while we can offer to your Lordship no other rule for your conduct towards those Provinces both of East and West New Jersey than what his Majesty has already given you.

In your letter of the first of July 1698. beginning with the disputes you had with M<sup>r</sup> Bass about the Jerseys, you mention two pirates sent for from thence, which for want of proof against them you had admitted to bail; and two others that you had sent for from Connecticut and Rode Island; upon which you desire directions what to doe with them, and more particularly whether to send them or others in the like case to England or no, especially when you have not evidence there sufficient to convict them. This we have in part answered already by our letter of the 25th of October last, and we now further add that we can conceive nothing more proper to be done in order to their conviction, than by threats and promises to some that are apparently guilty, to induce them to give evidence against their accomplices. But as for sending or not sending them home (upon which we can not of ourselves make any determination) we expect shortly some order of the Lords Justices in Council upon a Representation that we laid before them the 10th of this month on occasion of some pirates set on shoar in Pennsylvania and West New Jersey, by a New York ship called the Nassau, commanded by one Shelly; which business we hope will in the end produce some regulation for the conduct of all his Majesty's Governors in the Plantations in the like cases. And in the meanwhile we send your Lordship a copy of our said representation and of said Shelly's letter mentioned in it (marked N.) for your information in that matter.

In your letter of the 7th of July 1698 to our Secretary, you desire to know whether the Act against Privateers and Pirates now in force at New Yorke be esteemed sufficient, or that you should endeavour to get another more conformable to the Jamaica Act; We should have been glad that you had informed us at the same time how the foresaid Act, now in force there, has been observed and with what effect, according as we desired you by the Queries inclosed in our letter of the 26th August 1697. But however, having now perused both the said Acts, we do not find the difference to be very great, and doe not understand but that this now in force there, may be very usefull. However if you finde any defects in it and can procure another to strengthen it, we think you will do well.

Your letter of the 25th of June 1698. about M<sup>r</sup> Livingston's case has been brought to us and we have read it some while ago; but as we have not lately been solicited by any person about that matter we are apt to suppose it may have been finished there; so that there remains nothing needfull or expected from us about it, and therefore we let it rest.

The reduction of the forces at New Yorke afore mentioned takes away the reason which your Lordship offers us in your letters of the 21st of September last (from the consideration of the charge you might be at in sending for recruits from hence) for representing that yourself and the other Captains may be paid for full Companies; because it is supposed that by the reduction of each Company to half the former number there will be men enow there without sending for any such recruits from hence. And as for the deduction of the 30th Cent. which you mention also in the same letter, we can add nothing to what we writ you the 12th of November 1697 upon that subject; but that having several times since deliberated upon it, as a hardship that we wish might be remedied, we have not found any possibility of obtaining our desire therein. And concerning your complaint about the recalling of the two men of War from New Yorke, mentioned in the same letter, you will already have seen the effect of a Representation we laid before his Majesty upon that subject, by one article in our forementioned letter of the 26th of June last, and therefore we need say no more about it.

We observe what you write also in the same letter about the factious disposition of the French and the sollicitation made by thirty three of them at one time to endenized; in which we can not but think your cautions rightly grounded. But not having any authority to offer you any rule upon that subject, because we do not understand that any resolution has been taken therein as we expected upon the Representation which we laid before their Excellencies relating to Arnold Nodin, and whereof we sent you a copy in our letter of the fift of January last; we must leave your conduct in that and other like occasions to your own prudence.

Your letter of the 7th of November last being wholly about the Revenue of New Yorke, which we conceive to be a matter properly belonging to the Lords of the Treasury, we sent a copy of it to them for their consideration, but have not been made acquainted with any thing that they have don therein.

In your letter of the 12th of November last you tell us of an extravagant charter granted by Colonell Fletcher to the town of West Chester. We have thereupon considered both his commission and instructions, in which we do not finde any power given him to grant any charter of that kinde. But if the said charter do by interpretation of, or consequence from any expression in it, contain a power of life and death (as your Lordship writes) tho' we do not finde it in positive and direct words, we cannot but think that power to be absolutely contrary to the article in his instructions (which is the same in yours) forbiding him to erect any Court or Office of Judicature not before erected or established without his Majesty's especial order. And therefore we desire your Lordship to consider the same and further to informe us what inconveniences have risen or are like to arrise from the said Charter, that further measures, if needfull, may be taken for the destroying of it.

As for the disorders in New Hampshire which you mention in your letter of the 14th of December last, we are very sensible that they have been great, and that there have been faults on both sides, long before Mr Allen's arrival there; which may perhaps have given occasion to those that he has committed since. Wherefore before we can either represent any thing further to his Majesty or the Lords Justices therein, or give you any further advice about them, we must expect your report upon what we writ you the 26th of August 1697. in pursuance of their Excellencies Order in Council of the 29th July foregoing. Which Report now that you are got into the neighbourhood of that Country we hope you will be able to make in some short time.

As for what you make the subject of a particular letter dated the 15th of December last and again mention in yours of the 29th of May last, relating to the want of an able Judge, and some other learned lawyers in the Province of New Yorke; We have taken the method that you proposed in the first of those letters; but do not know what it will produce. In the mean while however, as the evident obstacle against sending over such persons from hence dos lye in the want of sufficient discouragements for them; we offer to you our thoughts, that the surest way to obtain what you desire will be by proposing what encouragements may be depended upon there for such persons.

We are very glad to understand the success you have had in pursuance of the Lords Justices order of the 10th November last in vacating some of the extravagant grants of land made by Colonel Fletcher, and hope you will have the like success in your indeavours to vacate the rest of them, according to the intentions you express in your foresaid letter of the 29th of May last

What you hint at also in the same letter about Naval Stores from New Yorke is very acceptable news to us, and we long for the arrival of that letter which you say treats wholly upon that subject

In your letter of the 14th December last you send us a copy of your circular letter to the Justices of the Peace about administering the Oaths &c Upon this we would only observe to you that the first words thereof being His Majesty's Council and myself have thought it proper &c; we think you would do better upon any future occasion to use the stile that, You with the advice of his Majesty's Council &c have &c

We send you here inclosed a copy of a Representation which we laid before their Excellencies the Lords Justices the 13th of July last relating to stores of war for the Province of New Yorke, with a copy of their Excellencies order thereupon (marked O.) but what has been done upon that order we have not been informed, so must refer you to what advice M<sup>r</sup> Weaver may be able to give you about it.

We shall be glad to hear, now that you are in New England, whether you can there procure, or propound unto us any proper methods whereby we may procure, some part of the stock of the Corporation for Evangelizing Indians to be employed towards the instruction of the Five Nations in the neighbourhood of New Yorke, according to what we writ you the 5th of January last, upon your own proposal of the 1st July foregoing. And however, in the mean while, we desire you to inform yourself and let us know how that stock is employed.

We desire you to send us a list of the present Council of New Yorke, as it is now constituted, together with a list of names of persons to fill up vacancies, and their characters, according to your instructions, if you have not already don it in those letters relating to the affairs of New Yorke which you say you were preparing for us. We are, My Lord

Earl of Bellomont to the Lords of Trade.

[New-York Entries, C. 1.]

To the Right Honourable the Lords Commissioners of Trade and Plantations.

My Lords.

I find my removall from New Yorke is not to exempt me from giving your Lordships accounts of the Affaires of that Province, My Lieutenant Governour there choosing to rely on me for that performance, rather than undertake it himself, which is pleasing enough to me, for by that means I shall have the better inspection into his management, and your Lordships will not be the worse informed of things.

I formerly writ your Lordships word that during the last Session of Assembly at New York, I with the Council had reversed a Judgment given by Colonel Fletcher and the Council against Widdow Wandall in favour of one Alsop. We did it upon a full hearing of Council on both sides, it appearing to us that widdow Wandall was wrongfully ejected out of the possession of the estate left her by her husband Thomas Wandall, which estate was considerable. That your Lordships may be fully apprized of this matter against the merits of the cause comes to be heard before the King and Council in England (for I hear Alsop intends to bring it thither by an appeal) I beg leave to trouble you with some papers which will inform you of the state of the case exactly. I send a copy of Thomas Wandalls Will which goes (N<sup>o</sup> 1) whereby he devises the greatest part of his estate to his wife. The Testimony of Theophilus Phillips who drew the said will, and gave the said Testimony on his Death bedd, which is certified by two credible witnesses, and goes (N<sup>o</sup> 2) The Deposition of Jonathan Hazard (N<sup>o</sup> 3) of Benjamin Severus (N<sup>o</sup> 4) of John Lawrence (N<sup>o</sup> 5) of Thomas Codrington (N<sup>o</sup> 6.) of John Lowerson (N<sup>o</sup> 7) of John Lowerson to another point (N<sup>o</sup> 8) of Susana Elliot (N<sup>o</sup> 9) all or most of these Deponents are persons of Estates and figure in that Country, which was one inducement to the Council and to me to give credit to their Evidences. While I stay'd at Yorke, neither Alsop nor his council sued for an Appeal to England: but it seems they have lately done it to my Lieutenant Governour and the Council as I heare: and I know not by what infatuation the Lieutenant Governour and Council have refused it to them, which indeed was a very wrong step; but I hope your Lordships will excuse my Lieutenant Governour who was as I understand misled in that matter by his Majesty's Council. One would think that M<sup>r</sup> Graham (who now sits at the Board as a Member of His Majesty's Council, and is besides His Majesty's only sworn Council at Law in that Province) should have known and advised better. And he I hear was present in Council when the appeal was refused to Alsop and advised the refusing it, upon this foolish notion, that the Judgement given by Colonel Fletcher being reversed by me and the Council during the Session of Assembly, we were then a Court of Judicature and our Jurisdiction superior to that of the Governour and Council at other times. The refusall of an Appeal to his Majesty & Council in any case where the value appealed for is £300 or upwards as the Kings Letters Patents direct seems to me the thing in the world most derogatory to the prerogative of the Crown in these Plantations, and may prove of ill consequence should it be practised. But so long as I am entrusted with these Provinces by the Grace of God there shall be as little done to hurt the Dependance they have and ought to have on the Crown, as 'tis possible. I have writ to rebuke my Lieutenant Governour for that slip, and to give Alsop immediate notice he shall have Liberty to bring his Appeal. One circumstance more I shall presume to trouble your Lordships with about M<sup>r</sup> Wandall, to let you see how unruly and lawless people are in that Province, and what necessity there is that the publick Justice be settled on a better foot. Widdow Wandall was restored to the possession of her husband's estate by a writ of possession (as I think M<sup>r</sup> Graham call'd it) soon after the Council and I reversed the Judgment given by Colonel Fletcher; but about a month ago, Alsop brings above thirty men in the night upon her ground and cut and carried away eight acres of corn.

Piracy does and will prevail in the Province of New Yorke in spite of all my endeavours unless three things be done out of hand, viz<sup>t</sup>. good Judges and an honest and able Attorney

General from England, a man of War commanded by an honest stout Captain, and pay and recruits for the four companies. Captain Giles Shelly who came lately from Madagascar with 50 or 60 Pirates has so flushed them at New Yorke with Arabian Gold and East India goods, that they set the government at defiance. My Lieutenant Governor is under great discouragement, he would punish Shelly if he could, but he has not a man to advise with; those that are honest are not capable and those that are capable and whose duty it is are false and corrupt. When any seizures are made, and that they are brought to tryall, the King is sure to be cast, the informations being always lame, as M<sup>r</sup> Aungerford<sup>1</sup> the Collector, and M<sup>r</sup> Parmiter the Naval Officer have often complained to me: so that every thing is wrong for want of honesty (chiefly) in the Officers of Justice. And your Lordships orders to me to trouble and prosecute Pirates and suppress unlawfull Trade can never be complied with, if you will not afford me the means. Had there been a man of War at Yorke, Shelly and his Pirates in all Probability had been taken and £50000 in money belonging to them: And for want of a Man of War I could not attempt any thing against a great ship that hovered off this coast 5 or 6 days together about the time I secured Captain Kidd, supposed to be one Maze a pirate, who is said to have brought £300,000 from the Red Sea, and who 'tis believed here would have come into this place could he have hoped to make his terms; but hearing how it fared with Kidd, he bore away, and 'tis said he is gone to Providence. I have had a letter from Colonel Markham Governour of Pennsylvania wherein he writes that he has two of Kidd's men in Goal and desires to know what he shall doe with them. I have writ to him to keep 'em in Goal till he receives orders from the King how to dispose of them. I hear he has seized a good deale of mony with them but says not a word of that. M<sup>r</sup> Basse the Governour of the Jerseys has also got some pirates with a good store of money at Burlington in West Jersey. I hear they were of Kidd's men too, the same thing I heare has happen'd to the Governour of Maryland. I mean his seizing Pirates and their money. All these were brought from Madagascar by Shelly, and were a good many of them Kidd's men that forsook him, and went on board the Mocha Frigate. If it be intended those men and their money shall be secured in the same manner Kidd and his men that came hither were and their effects. Then it will be proper that orders be sent accordingly. Otherwise the forenamed Governours will keep the money and the Pirates escape. That your Lordships may understand more of Shelly I send the deposition of Edward Buckmaster (N<sup>o</sup> 10) he is now a prisoner at Yorke, went out with Kidd revolted from him to the Mocha Frigat, and came with Shelly from Madagascar; also the Deposition of Otto Van Toyle an old Pirate (N<sup>o</sup> 11) which is neither signed by him nor the clerk of the Council tho' writ by the Clerk. Then there goes my Lieutenant Governor's letter of the 5th of June about Shelly (N<sup>o</sup> 12) M<sup>r</sup> Basse Governor of the Jerseys letter to my Lieutenant Governor about Shelly (N<sup>o</sup> 13) and the Minute of Councill at New Yorke the said 5th of June (No 14) Upon the first news of Shelly's arrival at York and bringing so many Pirates with him I advised with one M<sup>r</sup> Newton a Lawyer (and reputed the best that's in the Country) how I might lawfully proceed against Shelly and his ships crew, and he was positive that by the Statute of the 25th of Hen: 5th, Shelly and his men might be committed to prison without Bail or mainprise; and so I ordered my Lieutenant Governour to commit 'em. Upon the receipt of my orders he called a Councill, M<sup>r</sup> Graham one of them being present; he writes me word that in the morning M<sup>r</sup> Graham was positive that by law Shelly and his men ought to be committed without bail or mainprise, but the Councill meeting again in the afternoon M<sup>r</sup> Graham had quite changed his opinion and influenc'd the Council to be against committing Shelly &c; as your Lordships will see by the minute of the 5th of July which goes (N<sup>o</sup> 15) so that Shelly is upon bail only, and his ships Crew untouched. My Lieutenant Governour makes a scurvy reflection in his letter of what he supposes might have been a prevailing argument with M<sup>r</sup> Graham, to have been M<sup>r</sup> Graham in the afternoon, against M<sup>r</sup> Graham in the morning. These Accounts I think proper to send your Lordships that you may be made sensible of the disorder and confusion that Government is in for want of an upright administration of the Laws, whereby your orders how strict soever against Piracy and unlawfull Trade can never be comply'd with. And the neglect of sending a Man of War all this while to New Yorke, a place so notorious for piracy and unlawfull Trade, and the ill usage of the four Companies in neither paying or recruiting them, being added to the want of honest Officers and Ministers of Justice make Government and Governours contemptible in the Eyes of the people: And my Lieutenant Governor and I are almost quite heartlesse.

We have had News here by three severall Posts from Philadelphia and New York of a fight between the Essex prize a frigate of 16 guns and 70 men, and a Pirate ship of 26 guns and about 150 men supposed to be Hynde of New Yorke, the pirate I formerly mentioned to your Lordships. The pirate was too strong for His Majesty's frigate the fight lasted four hours, and the frigate having lost 40 men was forced to bear away.

We have had two or three ships belonging to this place robb'd off Newfoundland by a pirate ship of good force, and that within these 5 or 6 weeks; they told these ships they robb'd, that they designed for the Red Sea.

If I had a 4th rate ship here at Boston and a 5th rate at New Yorke, I would undertake to secure all the Coast from Pescataqua to the Southernmost point of Carolina from Pirates, especially if the Captains were honest fighting fellows, for I would keep them constantly cruizing all the Season of the year that ships can live on this Coast. I propose a 4th rate for one, because I know a ship of that figure would terrify the Pirates exceedingly and many of the Pirate Ships are a match for a 5th rate frigate.

I desire to be directed by your Lordships whether I may not lawfully require bonds of all the ships that go from hence and New Yorke on trading voyages, that they shall not goe to Madagascar nor elsewhere, where pirates frequent. I know 'tis a thing sometimes practised to take the Governours passe for one port or place and sail to another. And that trick was served me last summer at New Yorke by Baldrige and Taylor who fitted out a Briganteen, and took my passe for Antegoa, but I was told their designe was for Madagascar or Guinea; when the briganteen was at Sea, whether with or without the privy of the forementioned Owners I cannot tell, she turn'd pirate and went to Newfoundland and robb'd ships.

Now that I have had occasion to mention Baldrige, I will acquaint your Lordships with a particularity told me of him by Kidd, when I first examined him in Council, because you had directed in your Letter of the 25th of last October or 5th of last January, that I should inquire after some pirates kill'd in S<sup>t</sup> Maries near Madagascar. I question'd Kidd about it, and he told me Baldrige was the occasion of that Insurrection of the Natives and the death of the pirates, for that having inveigled a great number of the natives of S<sup>t</sup> Maries, men, women and children on board a ship or ships he carryed and sold them for slaves to a French Island called Mascarine or Mascaroon, which treachery of Baldriges the Natives on the Island revenged on those pirates by cutting their throats.

I did intend to winter at New Yorke for I have little to doe here at Boston; and I have done all the service I was able in New Hampshire, but I am so discouraged from going thither to be affronted and have the King's authority trampled upon, that after my returne from Rhode Island, whither I am going ten days hence, to execute the King's Commission sent me by M<sup>r</sup> Secretary Vernon, I intend to return and stay here till I receive your Lordships Orders and see whether I shall be enabled to serve the King as I would in these Provinces: And whether the Design of Naval Stores proposed by me from New Yorke will meet with your Lordships Approbation and Incouragement.

Because I find myself unable for the above reasons to do any good at New Yorke I have writ to my Lieutenant Governor to prorogue the Assembly (which was to have met on the 20th of this next month) to the 10th of next Aprill.

The Naval Officer at New York writes to me that the Revenue Acts drawn and pass'd this last Session are so very lame and insufficient that the Merchants take advantage, and import goods that are contrebanded and by that means and the corruption of the Officers the Revenue dwindles very much.

I formerly intimated to your Lordships in my letter of the 17th of last Aprill, that if you approved of my scheme for furnishing Naval Stores to the King and Kingdom, I would afterwards propose a method for incouraging the Soldiers to continue in the King's service, and not desert as they now doe every day, and also for incouraging them to worke which they are very unapt to do. By which intimation I meant that the lands granted to M<sup>r</sup> Dellius and some of the other lands granted by Colonel Fletcher (which were vacated by act of Assembly the last Session) should be distributed among the Officers and soldiers in the following manner and proportion, Each private Centinell after seven years service in the King's pay, to have forty acres of land to him and his heires as a reward of his service, and liberty to quit the service if he shall choose so to do, reserving to the Crown a Quit rent at the rate of half a crown for every 100 acres, as the Lords Justices of England directed me in their letter of the 10th of last November. To every Corporal and Drummer 50 acres under the same conditions as before. To every Serjant 60 acres, To every Lieutenant 200 acres. And every Captain 400 acres. These lands to be unalienable by the soldiers to all persons except the King, for should they have the liberty to sell, They are generally so very idle and drunken, that they would part with their land for a gallon of rum, by this means the country will by degrees be peopled, and the frontier towards Canada strenghtned. And had this method been practised twenty years ago, there had been this day a 1000 families on the land granted to Dellius, which would have been a force sufficient to make a stand against all the French of Canada and their Indians, had they a fort at the extreame end of the land which was granted to Dellius, to cover them from sudden inroads of an enemy.

If your Lordships intend the rest of the extravagant grants of lands shall be broke (which I will be bold to say by all the rules of reason and justice ought to be done) I believe it must be done by Act of Parliament in England, for I am a little jealous I shall not have strength enough in the Assembly of New Yorke to breake them. The members of Assembly there are landed men, and when their own interest comes to be touch'd, 'tis more than probable they will flinch. I would have all such as have lands already (as well as those that are to have lands disposed to them hereafter) to pay a quit rent of half a crown English out of every 100 acres of land, unlesse they be under covenants already to pay the Crown a greater quit rent, as I understand some few are obliged to pay 4 shillings per 100 Acres, or a bushel of wheat, and that by one of the first Governors. Then I would have a clause in the Act that no man whatsoever in the whole Province should be allowed to hold above 1000 acres, which will mightily reduce our Palatines, Smith, Livingston, the Phillips's father and son and six or seven more. And I undertake to make it appear highly reasonable this limitation of acres ought to be, or the country is ruined; Which I prove thus every acre of land costs in that Province £4. 10. to clear it from the woods, at which rate a 1000 acres will cost £4500 in money, and that sum is more than most of those Grantees are either able or willing to expend; so that 'tis plain those vast grants have proceeded as well from a sordid covetousness of the Grantees, as from the treachery and corruption of some certain Governors. Two of the things proposed in this paragraph viz<sup>t</sup>. The laying a Quit Rent on all lands already granted and the reduction of the great grants to a 1000 acres will be a stumbling block in our Assembly at New Yorke; Therefore it is that I would gladly have an Act to passe in the Parliament of England to direct and prescribe these rules and methods. And in my humble opinion there is an equity for the Crown, that such rules should be established, for in the late Duke of York's time he gave a positive instruction that half a crown should be charged on every 100 acres of land, at the least; And I think I have heard there was a law amongst those that were called the Dukes laws directing it should be so. For another reason too it were best these regulations were settled by Act of Parliament in England, because the parties concern'd would more willingly submit to the authority of it than to that of an Act of Assembly of New Yorke.

The Parliament of England 'tis to be presum'd will quickly give into this design when they are rightly possessed that almost all the lands of that Province are granted away to about a dousen worthless persons, who can never hope to plant or people the country; And when too they find this designe will be conducive to the furnishing England with Naval Stores, And indeed without it, 'twould be in vain to go about to provide stores there, for as the lands in that Province are granted, the King has not the power to cut a tree for any use whatsoever. And if the Parliament of England will encourage the provision of Naval stores (which I cannot but think the most valuable and usefull thing in the world for the advantage of England) then there will be a necessity of giving the King the sole right of all the woods in the Province, reserving to the Inhabitants the liberty only of house-boot, fire-boot,<sup>1</sup> hedge-boot and plough-boot. Now that I am on this subject I must acquaint your Lordships of a barbarous custome in these Plantations, which if the provision of Naval Stores be encouraged at New Yorke must be forbid under a severe penalty. In the dry times of the year the people burn the woods to clear the land, and often where a man has a designe to clear but ten acres, the fire shall consume twenty times as much, for the Pine and Fir (which will be chiefly usefull for Naval Stores) burn like touch wood, and if the body of the tree escape from being burnt down, yet the barke never escapes, and so the Tree dyes. This I have observed in many places where the woods were burnt, and for this there should be a remedy in an Act of Parliament.

I have but one thing more to propose as necessary in case the extravagant Grants be broke and the present proprietors of them confin'd to 1000 acres, that they viz<sup>t</sup> the Proprietors shall not be allowed to choose where those 1000 acres shall be set out to them, for that would spoile and defeat the whole design. As for example Fred. Phillips and his son and most of those grantees have their lands lying on Hndson's River, the River it is that makes the land valuable, and should they have the liberty of choosing where their 1000 acres shall be set out, they will take the lands that lye to the River and that which lies backward from the River will be worth no man's acceptance and will be wast as long as the world stands, and the crown and province will be much prejudiced thereby. Therefore I should humbly propose for the convenient and equal setting out those lands and all other lands in that Province that His Majesty would please either to appoint Commissioners from England for that Service, or that the Governor, Lieutenant Governor, Collector, Secretary and Surveyor General for the time being (the Surveyor General always to be one) or any three of them to be entrusted to do it. I have observed that some part of the land up Hudsons River is mountainous and of little or no value, therefore in my opinion it were proper to take the same course in the distribution of those lands, that was taken at the time the lands of Ireland were disposed of to the Adventurers and Soldiers (as may be seen by the Irish Act of Settlement) All the lands in that Kingdome were divided into two qualifications or denominations, viz<sup>t</sup> profitable and unprofitable, The profitable charged with a quit-rent to the Crown, The unprofitable uncharged and free from quit-rent. These are all the things I can think of at present fit to be made Rules in an Act of Parliament for the distribution of the lands in the Province of New York which I submit to your Lordships' great wisdom.

I forgot in my former letters to acquaint your Lordships that the King had but one piece of ground in the City of New Yorke, whereon there was a Battery of Cannon and a strong Blockhouse which defended both the Town and River on the East Side, and that ground Colonel Fletcher granted away to the late kuavish Sherriffe of New Yorke Ebenezer Wilson, and that in the very heat of the War. And Wilson sold it for £550 to persons that have since built on it, and 'tis said Fletcher had the greatest part of the mony. The £550 I should think ought to be brought as a charge against Fletcher in his account to the King, and in Justice Wilson ought not to escape altogether neither, because he presumed to accept of a grant so circumstanced, which he could not but know was a Treachery to part with. As that Battery and Blockhouse have been described to me, they were a better security to that Town than the Fort is; for the Cannon lay level with the water and pointed horizontally, whereas all the guns in the Fort lye about forty foot above high water marke, and so are capable of little execution.

I have employed two men (one whereof is an able shipwright) to go and survey all the woods on Dellius's late grant, and elsewhere in the likely parts of that Province, and at their return I hope I shall be able to tell your Lordships that the King may be furnish'd with choice of Masts for his ships of War and at cheap rates.

I send your Lordships the Minute of Council of the 20th July which relates to the seizing some few bales of East India goods conveyed into Nassaw Island and Connecticut Government, from on board Kidd's sloop. Also the Lieutenant Governor and Council's convening four Justices of the Peace from Albany (friends of M<sup>r</sup> Dellius) who had privately at M<sup>r</sup> Dellius's house suborn'd two or three of the Maquaes Indians that are Christians to make a lying declaration in favour of M<sup>r</sup> Dellius, an account of which declaration I gave your Lordships in my former letter of the 22th of last month. Then there is in the said minute the thanks of the Mohack or Maquaes Indians for our vacating M<sup>r</sup> Dellius's grant of their land, which I particularly recommend to your Lordship's perusal; the said minute of Council goes (N<sup>o</sup> 16).

The Collector of New York's list or booke of Entries of ships inward and outward at the Port of New Yorke goes (N<sup>o</sup> 17)

M<sup>r</sup> Parmiter the Naval Officer's affidavit of M<sup>r</sup> Clarkson the Secretary's striking him in the King's house within the Fort (N<sup>o</sup> 18) a thing complain'd of in my said letter to your Lordship's of the 22th of last month.

I send a copy of my Instructions to my Lieutenant Governor of New Yorke, which I drew up myself and left with him the day I set out for this place which instructions go (N<sup>o</sup> 19.)

M<sup>r</sup> Livingston acquaints me that some French men from Canada, and some of our owne people bring great quantities of French Silks and other goods to Albany from Canada, which they convey to New Yorke. I can no more help or prevent that trade than I could hinder their sending severall horses and mares from Albany last winter to Canada, till justice be well settled in the Province people will be lawlesse and ungovernable.

I send all the papers containing the severall transactions that have been with our five Nations of Indians since those I last sent your Lordships. They are bundled up together, but not numbred, because there are so many of them; The last of them dated the 12th of last month contains an insinuation by a Canada Indian to our Indians of a correspondence between the Governour of Canada and me, and designe to ruin our Indians. The folly and villany of which I believe will meet with little credit with your Lordships. 'Tis so foolish an Artifice that I cannot think the Governour of Canada capable of being the Author of it. I rather suspect the Popish Missionaries.

Within this month there are two great ships come from Caledonia to New Yorke of 70 Guns each. That settlement is quite destroy'd, 700 of their people died before these came away of a contagious sickness. These two ships lost above 300 people in their voyage by that sickness; severall other ships came out with them which they fear are lost in a Hurricane they met with at Sea, which mightly shatter'd these in their Masts and Rigging; The want of fresh provisions they assigne to be the cause of that sickness at Caledonia. The natives they say were very kind to them and promised to shew 'em some rich mines of Gold. They believe the French will goe and possess themselves of their Fort which they say will easily be made impregnable; We have advice from Nevis that the Scotch Recruits passed by that Island for Caledonia. I have ordered my Lientenant Governour of New York to let these ships have no more provisions than will carry them to Scotland.

I am with respect

My Lords

Your Lordships most humble

and obedient Servant

Since my writing this letter I have received the Minute of Council from New Yorke, which mentions the Lientenant Governour and Council's refusing an Appeal to England, at the suit or request of M<sup>r</sup> Anthill Council for Alsop against Widdow Wandall. It bears date the 25th of last May and is (N<sup>o</sup> 20.)

By what I have discovered since my going to New Hampshire, I am almost perswaded a 1000 Soldiers (the number proposed in my letter of the 17th of last Aprill to be kept in pay in the Province of New Yorke) will make pitch and tar enough to serve the King's Navy and all England if 7 or 8000 Ton of those species yearly will suffice.

I sent Monsieur de Calliere the present Governour of Canada, The French King's letter directed to the Count de Frontenac (the late Governour that died) and inclosed to me by M<sup>r</sup> Secretary Vernon. 'Tis near a Month since I received Monsieur de Calliere's letter in Answer to the letter I then writ to him, which answer of his goes (N<sup>o</sup> 21) wherein he acknowledges the receipt of the King his Master's said letter &c.

Earl of Bellomont's Instructions to Lieutenant-Governor Nanfan.

[New York Papers. Bundle, H. 1. K., H 30.]

Whereas by His Maj<sup>ty</sup>s Commission to you bearing date the 9th day of Aug<sup>t</sup> 1698. you are commanded among other things to observe and follow such orders and directions as you shall receive from His Maj<sup>ty</sup>, from me or any other chief Gov<sup>r</sup> of the said province, of New Yorke, and the territories depending thereon for the time being, you are therefore to observe and follow the underwritten instructions as duly and exactly as may be—

1.) You are to doe and cause to be done justice impartially and indifferently to all people and to preserve the King's peace in all the province encouraging unanimity and reconciliation virtue and loyalty among the people.—

2.) You are on all occasions to incourage the 5 nations of Indians to preserve them steady in their affection and fidelity<sup>1</sup> to the King—

3<sup>a</sup>). You are by no means to put any man into employment or office whether civill or military, till you shall first have obtained my consent and concurrence to your so doing—

4<sup>a</sup>). You are not to pass any grant or lease of the King's lands or houses within this his province without acquainting me thereof, and first having my consent thereunto.—

5<sup>a</sup>). You are not to pardon any Pyrate or other criminall without acquainting me therewith and first having my consent and approbation of your soe doing, nor are you to make use of the great seal of this province on any account, or for any use whatsoever, except for sealing writts in chancery causes and suits.

6<sup>a</sup>). You are to give all possible discouragement to unlawful trade and to countenance assist and support the Officers of the Custome house in doing their duty and seizing unlawful ships vessells and boats, and all unlawful goods and merchandizes and to order the Attorney Generall to prosecute at the law all Offenders and offences whatsoever against the laws of trade and the Kings instructions whereof I have already delivered you a copy—

7.) You are by no means to allow of or grant a freedom of port to any town or village within this province without my consent first had or obtained thereunto.

8<sup>a</sup>). You are not to order or appoint any paym<sup>nt</sup> of money out of the public revenue or other money belonging to His Majesty, without the consent of the Councill except it be on the acct of mine, your own and the other sallaries—

9<sup>a</sup>). You are by all opportunities to advise me of all occurrences in this province and Govern<sup>t</sup> for his Maj<sup>ty</sup>s service that I may give you my best advice what to do and how to behave yourself on any exigence of affairs wherein the interest of His Maj<sup>ty</sup> and this province is any way concerned.

10.) If any Pyrate ship or Pyrates come into this port or province, you are to use your best endeavour to seize and secure them and all such treasure as shall be found with or about them keeping them in safe custody, till you shall have acquainted me thereof and received my advice and directions therein.

11.)<sup>a</sup> You are not to break open any packet or letters coming from His Maj<sup>ty</sup>s Secretaries of State or any other of the Ministers of State having my name on the direction or addresse—

but the same you are to transmit by the next conveyance to Boston, for in time of peace it cannot well be supposed the Kings orders relating to this province should be so urgent and pressing as to need and require your immediate execution thereof, before you have consulted me therein.

12)° You are not yourselfe nor any body else whatsoever to lodge in the New Appartments in the King's house within the Fort.

13)° You are to advise with His Maj<sup>ty</sup>'s Councill upon all occassions, wherein there is the least difficulty, especially in all matters wherein I am commanded by His Maj<sup>ty</sup>'s instructions to take their consent and concurrence.

14)° You are to signe and seal passes for ships, letters of Administration, probates of wills and licences of marriages, the fees and profits whereof to be set apart for my use according to His Maj<sup>ty</sup>'s instructions, bearing date the 25th of October 1698. a copy whereof is ordered to be entered in the council book.

All which clauses and articles before mentioned you are hereby required to observe perform and do—Given under my hand and seal at arms, at fort William Henry the 15th day of May 1699.

A true cobby

[New York Papers Bundle, II. I. K; II 82.]

Journall kept by Johannes Glen and Nicholas Bleeker at Onnondage one of the five nations of Indians begun the 20th day of March 169<sup>9</sup> and continued till the 21st day of April 1699.

The 20th of March we arrived at Onnondage when all the Sachims came to us, and enquired our businesse, we told them we were sent by Gentlemen of Albany to heare what newes Ohonsiowanne the messenger had brought from Canada, the Sachims said it was very well done to come and hear it.

Ohonsiowanne and Odatsighte arrived at Onnondage from Canada, and brought with them five belts of Wampum, by the first belt the Governor of Canada said, he thanked his Children of the five nations for coming to see him upon the death of Count de Frontenar.

The second belt said, why are you affraid to come here, whereupon those sent from Onnondage answered, wee heare that your kettle of wrath boyles still, meaning acts of hostility or the Warr; the Governor of Canada said it was true, he would not dissemble for that matter.

By the third belt the French said it is good that the prisoners be released on both sides —

By the fourth belt the French Governor said I will that all the chief Sachims of the five nations shall come here to me. Then said Mon<sup>sr</sup> Marbeur,<sup>1</sup> our Ancestors kept always their generall meetings at Onnondage, and we are inclined to doe soe still.

By the fifth belt the french said, they demanded Mahukander<sup>2</sup> or River Indian that was a prisoner at Onnondage, and also two Rondax Indians that were prisoners at Cayouge. I tell you to bring the said prisoners with these messengers in the space of sixty dayes to Canada that I may satisfy my children the Rondax Indians in that Matter.

Then the French praying Indians came and said that the five nations should not hunt on the other side of the great lake, for we know not what the Rondax Indians are minded to doe — Did give five fathom of white wampum.

March 22nd Jan Baptist the interpreter went to Albany to acquaint the magistrates there of the promises and the Sachims of Onnondage desired that Coll: Schuyler and Major Wessells should come there which he promised to acquaint them withall, and to bring them an answer in twenty five days time.

March 25th Came Sannoghtowanne with another Indian from Canada to Onnondage with prisoners (viz), two Indian men, and two squaas, together with an Onnondage Indian that had gone from hence two years ago to Canada of his own accord; There are still two Onnondage Indians detained at Canada by the French. —

April 9. The said two French Indian Messengers went to the small lake to make a birch Canoe to return to Canada. —

April 13th. The said Canada Messengers came to Onnondage again.

April 14th Johannes Glen received a letter from his wife; the Sachims asked what was become of John Baptist, we told them, he was gone directly for New York to acquaint the Earle of Bellomont with the message, they asked how long is it since he went, we told them fiteene dayes, then the Onnondage Sachims resolved to send for the Cayouges and Sinneckes Sachims to be at Onnondage in eight or ten dayes time.

April 15th The Sachims of Onnondage were convened together, the chief Sachim was asked what the meaning was of their meeting he told them, there were Cayouges came to whom they would impart the news, which the Messengers had brought from Canada, then Johaunes Glen told Kaqueendera the Chief Sachim, You must do nothing till Jan Baptist returns. — This evening Odatrighthe the French Indian Messenger arrived here. —

April 16th. The Sachems mett together but Kaqueendera was absent, when the meeting was over the Cayouges were asked, what had passed in said meeting, he said wee could not agree, but would give no further account. —

April 17th The Sachims told me that the French Indian Messenger would return to Canada in seven dayes time, I answered and told them, that I did not believe they would doe any thing without Corlaer, they replied, the Messenger Odatsighte would stay no longer, we said to Kaqueendere the Sachim, are not you Master, he said, he did not meddle. Then Johaunes Glenn resolved immediately to goe to Albany and to take an Indian along with him to see where Jan Baptist stayed soe long, the Onnondage Sachims said, it was very well done, I told them I should be back in a few dayes, and you must keep up the Messengers, that they doe not go to Canada. Dekannissore and Kaqueendera the two chief Sachims said, they would speak to the Messengers to stay which they forthwith did, but Odatsighte the Messenger said he would not stay soe long.

Dekannissore said to Johannes Glen goe you neverthesse to Albany it will be ten dayes before they can goe; The Cayouge Sachims returned to their Castle; — Kaqueendera told him they could not agree with the french Mess<sup>ers</sup> and said further, their Christian brethren Or quieder must be here first; and then Johannes Glenn went to Albany where he found Jan Baptist and two other Gentlemen bound for Onnondage.

April 19.) The Sachims told me that the messengers were going to Canada, I told them that they ought to remember what Corlaer had said to them in the propositions last summer, which I repeated to them as well as I could; I told them also how that they had promised to stay seven dayes.—But why the Indian Sachims said, hath Corlaer meaning the Earle of Bellomont Governor of New York etc, not gott our prisoners exchanged, as was promised in the publick propositions, for we have desired it very earnestly of our Brother Corlaer but it is not effected.

April 20 and 21. Nothing remarkable happened.

Journal of Arnout Cornelisse Videl's Negotiations at Onondaga.

[New-York Papers. Bundle, H. I. K. II 33.]

Journal of Arnout the interpreters journey to Onnondages.

April 14th) I went from New York and came with the boat as farr as Kinderhook and there took a Canoa and arrived at Albany the 21st instant: The same day Johannes Glenn Junior came post from Onnondage, being sent with the Sachims expresse order to see where John Baptist tarried soe long, for that in nine dayes the time was expired that the Messengers were to goe to Canada.—

Ap<sup>r</sup>: 22nd A messenger is sent to Onnondage to acquaint them that we were coming to their meeting, and send seaven hands of Wampum as a token or letter. This evening Cap<sup>t</sup> John Schuyler, Capt<sup>o</sup> John Bleeker, John Baptist and myselfe, sett out towards the Indian Country and in the:

24th arrived to the furthest castle of the Mohogs where we found but two Mohogs at home, whom we desired to go along with us to the generall meeting at Onnondage, whether we were sent by their Brother Corlaer the Earle of Bellomont, to speak to the five nations, but the principal Sachim being sick, they could not goe, We told the Maquaase Sachims by way of discourse, about the vacating of the patent of the Maquaase land, and about making a stone forts at Albany, Schenectady and Canastagione, and that they should have protestant Instructors in their Country, at which they were extremely rejoiced, and thanked their Brother Corlaer for his great care and affection towards them, and since there were no Sachims to go up to Onnondage, they desired us to speak in their behalfe to the rest of the nations at the generall meeting that they did not approve of Indians being suffered to go to and fro to canada to speak with the French Governor, and that those that are lately come from thence, ought to be examined to speak the truth of matters there. The two old Maquaase Sachims told us they stuck fast to Corlaers orders and instructions, and gave their vote soe as his Lord<sup>sh</sup> was pleased to insert in his Instruction, sending seven hands of Wampum to the Generall meeting as a token thereof.—

April 27th We came to Oneyde, rainy weather, we understood here that as soon as the Onnondages had heard of our being upon the way they sent Messengers to the upper nations, Cayouges and Sinnekes to come to the general meeting.

April 28th Wee arrived at Onnondage, and the Messenger sent to the upper nations returned back this night, and said they would be here with all speed as soon as they heard that Corlaers messengers were arrived at Onnondage—

April 29th Two Sinnekes Sachims arrived at Onnondage.—

April 30th We sent for the Sachims of Cayouge the second time with seaven hands of Wampum, to come to the general meeting; Not far from Cayouge the Messenger met a Cayouge Indian who told him that all their Indians young and old, were in the woods to fetch young pigeons but nevertheless he undertook to fetch the Sachims out of the woods, and to tell them that Corlaers messengers were come to Onnondage and that they should make all haste to meet them.—

May 1st and 2nd We waited with patience for the Cayouge Sachims—There was at Onnondage at this time an Oneydo Indian called Odat-sighte a papist, who endeavoured by all means to be the Messenger for Canada, from the five nations, about the two Indians whom the French Governor still detaines prisoners, and perceiving his business balked by our coming, he went away all alone on the third of May to his own Castle Oneyde, the Indians of Onnondage seeing him march off soe much dissatisfied said one to another, how fain would he have gone Messenger to Canada, he is not a little troubled at it, and ashamed to. In the mean time we staid for the Sachims of Cayouge but they did not come.—

May 6th Sent two Messengers again to Cayouge since nine dayes were elapsed that the last Messenger went, the Messengers returned in the evening, and said, the Sachims met them half way, and that they would be here to morrow, but they came that night.

May 7th The four Nations were convened and the Maquase who were the fifth nation submitted to the Earle of Bellomonts Instructions, and as a token thereof sent seaven hands of Wampum, which were hung up in the proposition house and then we spoke to them pursuant to His Excell<sup>ty</sup>s instructions very orderly, and gave them nineteen gilders of strung Wampum and when we had done speaking Dekanissore said, there is nothing said when we shall bring the French prisoners to Albany in order for their being sent to Canada. Wee told them to come when they would [or when they were sent for] said further how is it with those five french prisoners we left at Albany. We answered that they should heare that when they come to Albany—But, said dekanissore wee have seen some of these five french prisoners at Canada. We told them we were assured that Corlaer knew nothing of that, but, said Capt<sup>n</sup> Schuyler, I know one of said prisoners is run away, and I believe to your own Contrey.

This discourse being ended one of the Sachims asked for the five belts which the Governor of Canada hath sent to Onnondage, whereupon one of the Young Indians threw them to the Sachim with an angry countenance, but not throwing them soe farr as to reach the Sachim that asked for them, another Indian most disdainfully kick'd them forward to the Indian that demanded them, and then begunn to tell the propositions that had been said by the said Belts by the Governor of Canada; But we went out of the proposition house, and said we will not hearken to such prohibited things, nor meddle with them, for it is told you positively just now, that you are to keep no correspondence with the French.—

About an hour afterwards Dekannissore the Sachim came to us, and said, Brethren, now we are going to consult with one another, and as soon as we have done, shall give you an answer; And they were together all the afternoon yet no answer come till the ninth of May.

Albany May 14.—1699.

May it pleas your Excellency

In due obedience to the Instruction of your Excell<sup>ty</sup> and the Gentlemen of the Assembly,<sup>1</sup> we have been to treat with the five nations at Onondago and according Your Excell: command left John Baptist van Eps there. We thought it fit to bring Aernout Viele back with us whom we sent with a Canoe and two men we hired to goe with him for 30<sup>s</sup> each man to be paid in New Yorke to bring your Excell<sup>ty</sup> this letter — Wee thought it needles to leave the intarpreter Viele with them because they accept your Excell<sup>ties</sup> propositions and would be here in Albany on the 23rd of this inst: to treat with your Excell<sup>ty</sup> one person, as your Excell<sup>ty</sup> may see by the enclosed proposition of the five nations and our journall to which we refer your Excell<sup>ties</sup>.

Your Excelley's most humble and obedient servants

Report of Messrs. Schuyler and Bleeker's Conference at Onondaga Castle.

[New-York Papers. Bundle H. I. K. H 34. (marked H 24).]

The 21st of April [1699] we received His Excell<sup>ty</sup>'s instruct<sup>ions</sup> by Aernout Cornelisse Viele, the same day in the evening the post came with John Glen with an Indian to Albany from Onnondague, and reports that he was sent by the Indians to look for John Baptist and to know where he had been so long, for the time prefixed for their going to Canada was expired within nine days — The 22nd We left Albany and so did the Messenger in the morning as we did in the evening — The 24th We came into the Maquis country in the uppermost Castle and there told them that we were ordered for Onnondague by the Gov<sup>r</sup> there, according to his orders to speak with the five nations, and because there were no Maquaes at home to appear in the Assembly at Onnondague, we told unto two old Sachims what related to the patent of the Maquaes land and that they should have Protestant Ministers amongst them, at which they were very glad and highly thanked the Governor for his great affection to their nation and there being no Maquas at home to be at the Assembly at Onnondague, they charged us with a Message to the Assembly of Sachems that they did disapprove of the going of any of the Caenostoery<sup>1</sup> for Canada to speak with the French Gov<sup>r</sup> requiring to know their positive designs therein, and so they sent seven hand of Wampum with us for to have their voice in the General assembly and also that they would stand by the propositions made to the Gov<sup>r</sup> — The 27. We came to Oneyde and heard that the Messenger was arrived the day before at Onnondague, and when they understood that we also designed to be at Onnondague, the next day the Sachems of Onnondague sent for the Sachems of the Cajuges and Sinnekes to come forthwith to the assembly and the Sachems of the Oneydes that were at home said they would follow us the next day — The 28th We traveled from Oneyde and come that evening to Onnondague, and their Messenger from the Cayuges came the same night and reported when the Gov<sup>r</sup>s Messengers, are arrived we shall also come — The 29th came two Sachems of the Sinnekes — The 30th they sent two Messengers to the Cajuges with seven hand of Wampum and on the way they met with a Cajuger and understood by him that their Sachems were not at home but he undertook to acquaint them with the Message, and that we were arrived, for the Sachems were gone into the woods to catch young pigeons. The 1. and 2. of May, we waited for the coming of the Cajugers — The 3<sup>d</sup> of May Odatsighte the Cajuger finding there was no hopes of times of his being sent a Messenger to Canada for which he longed mightily, he went home all alone and some young Indians said to one another, Odatsigte is ashamed and goes home alone, in the meanwhile we stayd for the Cajuges but they came not. — The 6th of May we sent two Messengers for Cajuge since it was nine dayes agoe the first were sent, and they met the Sachems about half way, and they came the same day to Onnondague — The 7th the four nations assembled and the Mahacks having submitted their voice to the propositions made to his Excell: when they delivered us 7 hand of Wampum, to be hung in the new house as we have done, and then we spoke to them according to our instructions in the best order possible, when we finished we laid down 19 gilders, then said Canossore, Brother Corlaer, there was no time prefixed when we should come to Albany, and we said come when you will or when you are sent for — he said further, Brother Corlaer, the 5 Frenchmen which we brought to Albany how is it with them — We answered, when you come to Albany you shall see and hear it — Cannosore said, we have seen them in Canada at least one of them, we answered we assured Corlaer knowes nothing of it, but we know that one of the five is run away, and it may be is in your Country — after this discourse one of the Sachems demanded the 5 breats of Wampum which were sent by the French Governor and one of the Sachems got them and threw them towards him, but not so far as that Sachem sat, and another Indian very scornfully kick'd them at him and they related the Messages sent with them by the French Gov<sup>r</sup> — We said that we would not hearken to such things as were forbidden, has it not been told you expressly but just now by the Govern<sup>r</sup>s order that you are forbidden to hold any correspondence with the French, and we went forthwith out of the house, about an hour after Canassore came to us and said Brother Corlaer, now our Assembly is going to consider together relating to the propositions of the Gov<sup>r</sup> and as soon as we have done we shall give you an answer, and they gave an answer on the 9th as appears by the same, this we certifie to be the truth. Witness our hands.

Answer of the Five Nations to the Earl of Bellomont's Message.

[New-York Papers. Bundle, II. I. K; II 87.]

The answer of the five nations of Indians to Capt<sup>n</sup> John Schuyler and Capt<sup>n</sup> John Bleeker, Messengers sent by His Excell<sup>ty</sup> the Earle of Bellomont in Onnondaye the ninth day of may 1699.

Interpreted by Arnout Cornelisse and Jan Baptist van Eps.

Dekanissore was speaker.

The message we have now received forbidding us to send to Canada for our prisoners is matter of great grief and sorrow to us, in regard that when our last Messengers were there, they were in a manner sett free, but now since we are commanded by Corlaer not to goe thither they will be detained there still. Neverthelesse we will obey Corlaers Commands, and not goe to Canada but we must begg leave to tell you that you are very slow in exchanging of the prisoners for we insisted last summer in the publick propositions to have a general exchange but there is nothing come of it, we feare you have no love for us. Else you would either procure the releasement of our prisoners from the French or suffer us to do it ourselves.

Brother Corlaer. Wee were designed last fall to goe to Canada for our prisoners but were stopped when we came to Albany where we found the Lieut: Gov<sup>r</sup> who told us he believed Monsieur Markeur a French Gent: would come from Canada for that purpose, and accordingly left five french prisoners in his hands to be exchanged for ours, but we find by experience we have been deluded hitherto and our people still kept prisoners we were very glad when we heard that Corlaer meaning the Earle of Belmont arrived at New York, we were in hopes then that we should have been able to shake off the French yoak, but to our sorrow we find, they keep our prisoners, and his kettle of wrath boiles still, we desire that Corlaer may oversett that kettle of warr, for we sustain great damage daily by the farr Indians, which is all done by the instigation of the french, nay the French threaten sorely that they will not putt up the sword, till we come to Canada and bring the French prisoners with us, and fetch our own from thence, and if we goe, then you say we break the covenant chain, this is a great hardship upon us, when did we transgresse or break the covenant chain or kill any of your people, as some of ours have been not long agoe—It is hard to alleadge that the covenant chain should be broak for such a matter as this is, should all that long chain of friendship and correspondence which we have had together for soe many yeares, ever since christians came first into these parts, be broke upon so small a businesse as going to Canada for our friends detained by the French contrary to the articles of peace.

Brother Corlaer. We understand you are about to build three forts in your Government, but why will you doe soe it is now peace over all, these forts should have been made in time of warr, We five nations are of opinion, there is no need of making forts in time of peace.

Brother Corlaer. We are thankful to you for your care of us in asking by Arnout the interpreter, whether we will have a fort at our Castle, wee doe lett you know that if it should happen to be warr with France again it will be highly necessary.—You likewise tell us if any Indians doe us harm in our hunting we are to repell force with force, which we will doe, but withall desire your assistance of Arms and Ammunition, for the Waganhaers<sup>1</sup> are daily upon our coasts—no longer than to day we have an account of several of the said Enemy being seen within two dayes journey of this castle, therefore pray that some ammunition may be delivered us, fearing that many of our people are already killed in their beaver hunting.

Brother Corlaer. You have been pleased to direct that no Jesuits be permitted to come among us, but that in lieu thereof wee shall have English Protestant instructors of the Christian Religion; when wee are soe farr, that all things are well and settled, then we will consider of that matter.

Brother Corlaer. You say that wee five nations are the King of England's subjects, well brother, be it so, but if the French should make a warr upon us and molest us as they have done, pray lett us have assistance in reallity and not be deluded with falsehoods as we have been formerly.

We were at Albany last Winter when it was concluded that Coll: Schuyler Major Wessells and Hendrick Honse, were to goe to Onnondage, and when they came to the Maquaase land, they spoke by a belt of Wampum, that the meeting should be at Albany in seaventy dayes, but now we will have certainly a sitting there at Albany—did give a belt of Wampum.

Brother Corlaer. I have told you by this belt that there will be a generall meeting of all the Sachims of the five nations at Albany and we desire our Brother Corlaers presence, we will obey your orders, and not goe to Canada, nor send thither.

Brother Corlaer. Lett the goods be cheap and the match coats large, but especially lett powder be sold reasonably and then we will see you love us, we will consult and advise with one another at Albany, for the prisoners be there: Therefore lett the meeting at Albany be as speedily as possible, for it doth vex us sorely that our people are detained prisoners at Canada.—(:Did give a bunch of Wampum of forty eight hand, white and black: ) we desire that Corlaer may be present in person, for we will be there in fourteen dayes time.

Instructions to Messrs. Hanse and Schermerhorn.

[New-York Papers. Bundle, II. I. K. II 88.]

Instructions to be observed by Hend<sup>rk</sup> Hanse Mayor, and Ryer Schermerhorn in their journey to the Maquaase nations of Indians, New Yorke 19th May 1699.

You shall with the first conveniency goe unto the Maquaase Indians at their Castles, and when you arrive there you are to call them together, and when they are assembled you are to acquaint them that you are sent expresse from his Excell<sup>ty</sup> and Counsell, to give them an account of the justice his Excell<sup>ty</sup> has done them in that matter of their land of which they complained.

You are to tell them that upon complaint made to his Excell<sup>ty</sup> in July last when he was at Albany, his Excell<sup>ty</sup> did observe that in the propositions that were then made by the five nations of Indians, the Maquase nation did complaine of a great violence and injury done them by Domine Delliuss in deluding them to sign a writing by which they had conveyed their land upon pretence of trust to keep the said land for the Indians, Whereas he tooke a patent for the same to his own use against the communication and treaty the said Delliuss had with the said Indians, who thereupon desired His Excell<sup>ty</sup> to burn and destroy the said writing, that they might peaceably without any molestation enjoy their said land. And at the same time did complain of another injury done them some years ago by Coll Bayard and Arent Schuyler, who in like manner had seduced the dispose of another tract of land called Skohire which is alleaged to be sold by such Indians who had no right to do the same.

His Excell<sup>ty</sup> having taken the said complaint into his consideration hath made a strict inquiry into that whole matter and did recommend the same to be exam<sup>d</sup> by the Assembly, who summoned the said Delliuss before them, who accordingly appeared, and was then charged with the breach of trust and faith he had given to the Indians, and upon a full hearing of his defence it was found by the assembly that he had betrayed that trust the Indians reposed in him and for that cause the patent granted him for the said land ought to be vacated and himself censured, whereupon his Excell<sup>ty</sup> did order a bill to be drawn for that purpose, which bill hath not only vacated the land of the Maquase but also another grant upon the north river as you go to Canada, and the grant of Coll: Bayard, soe that the said Indians are possessed of the said land, as if no such writing had been, and the said writing fully destroyed as the Indians desired, and for a punishment for his said offence his Excell<sup>ty</sup> has suspended him from his place as a person not worthy to be a Minister of the Gospell, who would betray his proselyts in such a manner—You are to acquaint them of the great love his Excell<sup>ty</sup> has to the brethren by the strickt justice he has executed upon M<sup>r</sup> Delliuss for their sakes, and therefore exhort them to be firm and steady to His Excell<sup>ty</sup> and this Government, and that they be watchful that they be not insnared by the further insinuations of the said Delliuss and the interpretsse, for he is soe intraged, that he will depart from truth to doe any thing; soe they must not by any meanes hearken to any thing he sayes upon that matter, but peaceably enjoy their own lands, and take care, not to be seduced, inticed, or deluded any more, but to keep the same for themselves and their children in the enjoyment whereof, His Excell<sup>ty</sup> and the Govern<sup>t</sup> will protect them therein, and they must not pretend either to sell or give any part of their said land without acquainting his Excell<sup>ty</sup> first.—

You are to send seaven hands of Wampum to each of the other nations acquainting them of the premisses, that the land is restored to their Brethren, the Mohogs and M<sup>r</sup> Delliuss suspended for deluding the Indians to signe that paper.

Proceedings of the Commissioners and the Five Nations.

At a meeting of the Gentlemen appointed to manage the Indian affairs in Albany the twelfth day of June 1699.

Instructions concerning the Indians upon their conference at Albany.

If the Indians doe insist to have leave to goe to Canada to make a separate treaty with the French for the release of their prisoners, it will be needfull to tell them, that as they are subjects of the Crown of England this Government will take care to doe all that is possible for the recovery of their prisoners, from the French. But if they will goe to Canada then acquaint them that I will send two Gent: along with them that shall treat with the French for the release of their prisoners and to prevent any misunderstanding, lett the Indians propose what they expect from the french, and what they would say to the french and lett it be concluded upon by all the brethren before they goe, and what is so concluded to be the effect of the treaty with the French and nothing else. Given under my hand and seale at armes at Fort William Henry in New York this eighth of June 1699. and in the 11th year of His Majestys reigne.

JOHN NANFAN

By order of Councill.

B. COSENS. Ck: Counlij:—

The Gentlemen being informed that the two Indians that have been kept prisoners at Canada since the peace have now their Liberty sent for Abraham Schuyler and Dyrk Vanderheyden lately come from thence who declared, they saw one of the said Indians at liberty and said his mate was out a hunting and as soon as he returned they would make it their businesse to get home, he would have come now but stayed for his comrade.—The Gentlemen are of opinion that in regard the two Indians, are no more under confinement but free, and have leave to go out a hunting, that it will not be expedient, that any of the Indians goe to Canada to treat with the French about said two Indians much lesse that two Gent<sup>n</sup> should goe along with them.—

Whereupon it was resolved to make the following proposition to the Sachims of the five nations.
