G2, GENERAL HEADQUARTERS, FAR EAST COMMAND, APO 500, 20 February 1952

TO: Assistant Chief of Staff, G2, Eighth Army, APO 301

The Assistant Chief of Staff, G2, has reviewed the attached list and concurs in the translation and distribution of the publications as proposed, except for the following:

a. TM 11-380 - Converter M-209-A, M-209, M-209B, (Cipher). Unless the items of equipment which this TM covers have been released to the ROK Army, or unless the release of this TM could be justified under the provisions of paragraph 8i (1) DA-DCMI, it is recommended this TM not be released.

b. TM 11-484 - Elementary Military Cryptography. It is felt that this TM is not releasable in view of the policy contained in paragraph 4c(2)(e) DA-DCMI. However, if cogent reasons exist to warrant the release of this TM, it is suggested that AC/S, G2, FEC, be advised in order that a request for an exception to current policy may be forwarded to the State-Defense Military Information Control Committee (SD-MIC) for decision.

c. Items in paragraph 4, Inclosure 1. These items appear to be catalog type information within the definition contained in paragraph 3n, DA-DCMI. If these items are considered to come within the exceptions contained in paragraph 7a(10), DA-DCMI, there is no objection to their release; otherwise, it is recommended that appropriate extracts from these items be released.

d. JANAP 140(A)-5. It is very difficult for this Headquarters to justify the need of the Korean Army for this joint publication. It is also believed that this publication may be considered as being catalog type information. It is recommended, therefore, that this publication not be released. If, however, the release of this JANAP is considered essential, it is suggested that the details be furnished this office for further referral to SD-MIC.

MEMO FOR RECORD:

KMAG, in Ltr dtd 13 Jan 52, to EUSAK, states that the Signal Advisor, KMAG, has rqstd permission for the translation of the attached list of DA publications into Korean language & distribution throughout Korean Army for training purposes. We are unable to authorize one manual, TM 11-484, Elementary Military Cryptography in view of par 4c(2)(e), DA-DCMI. Request comments.

1st Ind fr EUSAK, dtd 8 Feb 52, to G2, FEC, recommends authority be given except for TM 11-484.

This was closely coordinated w/Sig O (Capt McSween) who in informal memo to Maj Smith, Scty Div, saw no objection to publication except for (a) TM 11-484; (b) TM 11-380; (c) Items in par 4a of list (d) JANAP 140 (A)-5.

DA-DCMI authorizes MAGs to release training information classified RESTRICTED other than that which pertains to equipment furnished or to be furnished with certain exceptions which include cryptography & catalog type info. Thru Confidential may be furnished on equipment already furnished or to be furnished.

Signal states that ROK Army has not been furnished converter M 209. However, par 8i (1) DA-DCMI provides for release of any info which is determined to be essential to that nation's support of combined combat operations in Far East.

The items contained in par 4, Incl 1, are considered by Sig to be catalog type info which only may be released if the country concerned has been furnished each item of equipment referred to in the info, otherwise extracts only may be released or an exception has to be obtained from SD-MIC.

JANAP 140(A)-5, Classification of Electronic Equipment is considered catalog type info, is a joint publication which therefore required concurrence of other two services prior to release & most important - Sig O states ROK Army has no need for it.

This advises EUSAK that G2 concurs except as outlined above.
