

EAGLE ROCK ITEMS

NEWS FROM OUR NEIGHBORS IN THE VALLEY TO THE EAST

Mr. and Mrs. Thayer and daughter who have been the house guests of Miss Mary McLean of Laurence avenue for the past few weeks left last week to resume their work as missionaries among the Indians of Arizona.

Mr. W. A. Vine led the prayer meeting Wednesday evening at the M. E. church.

A. A. House is putting in concrete walks and steps for Mrs. A. Pitman of Ellenwood drive.

After winning first prize and the right to represent U. S. C. in the oratorical contest of the Southern California Intercollegiate oratorical association, Mr. Wesley Smith again won first prize at the contest held Thursday evening at Occidental college. His successful oration was "The Japanese Case" and earned for him the silver cup and a gold medal. Earl Dibble of Redlands university was awarded second prize, his oration being "Madero and Mexico." A number of Eagle Rock people attended the contest and were greatly pleased with the orations. Wesley Smith is a student of U. S. C., a citizen of Tropic (where his father is pastor of the M. E. church) and also pastor of the M. E. church of this city.

Lena Hill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Hill of Rock Glen avenue, who was badly burned in the Glendale sanitarium, is now slowly recovering.

A number of young people from the Presbyterian church planned to have a "moonlight spread" Saturday evening in the pavilion on the hill, but on account of the rain their plans were changed. The boys and girls gathered at the La Porte home on Palm avenue and enjoyed the evening playing games and singing after enjoying the "eats" in the dining room instead of out of doors.

The meeting of the J. O. C. class convention which was to have been held last week Tuesday was postponed until April 9.

A week ago Sunday Mrs. W. Koethen's picture appeared in the magazine section of the Times and note was given of her as being the writer of a new book, "Poultry for Profit," a volume containing over 200 pages. Mrs. Koethen is one of Eagle Rock's successful poultry raisers.

Miss Ada Leach of this city was married one day last week to a young man residing near Eagle Rock park on Peyton avenue.

John Lovejoy left last week to join his parents who are in Arizona. His father, Rev. I. Lovejoy, has been pastor of one of the churches there for some time.

A. A. House supplied as leader Sunday evening at the league in John Lovejoy's place. His subject was one of unusual interest, "Ezra's Builders Against Rum." Little Misses Hazel and Helen House and Evalyn Vince sang "Where Hast Thou Gleaned Today?" Miss Olive Moe sang "The Holy City" and Mrs. Sanders and Miss Mildred Wight sang a duet.

The 500 card club was delightfully entertained last week Thursday by Mrs. Scouten of Park avenue.

Wednesday evening is the opening of the new library and will be an evening of unusual interest to all. Each person is asked to bring at least one book to donate to the library and thus make a good showing in the number of books. The library board selected Mrs. Gardiner as librarian. A fine program is being prepared for the evening and every one is urged to be there.

A. A. House is putting in a concrete retaining wall on the Glendale and Eagle Rock High School grounds.

Rev. Hoyt, whose health has been very poor of late, has resigned as pastor of the Congregational church much to the regret of his friends, who hope that it is for the best.

There will be a fine art exhibit at the Twentieth Century club house, Kenilworth avenue and Colorado, Friday evening and Saturday afternoon. There will be exhibits by noted artists and living pictures of famous paintings.

Always be of that make up that it is possible for you to see much good in the community in which you live. When everything seems to be going to the dogs you would better move out.

AN IDEAL HOME

RANCH HOME OF MR. AND MRS. T. W. PRESTON BEAUTIFULLY LOCATED

There are many people living in Glendale and vicinity who have been engaged in business of professional pursuits in eastern states and who have come here to enjoy life in retirement or in out of door work.

Among these is Mr. T. W. Preston, who came here with his family from Boston, Mass., two years ago. The Prestons purchased a five-acre ranch, including a pretty bungalow home at 725 Adams street, Glendale, where they are enjoying life as it can be enjoyed only in the south where the climate permits of living out of doors the year around.

Mr. and Mrs. Preston chose a home with a pleasant outlook, the green hills to the east and the mighty peaks of Mts. Wilson and Lowe, snow covered much of the year, making an unsurpassed view from the front porch or the windows of the sun room and living room, while directly to the south the green hills afford a pleasant prospect, as well as the higher mountains to the south.

Soon after moving to their new home, about two years ago, Mr. and Mrs. Preston began to remodel their house. A large sun room, a breakfast room with French doors and large casement windows and bedrooms with many windows adding much to the comfort of the family. A large vine-covered arbor leading to the shade of a big pepper tree is the work of Mr. Preston's hands and is a truly delightful retreat on a summer day.

Mr. Preston is a graduate of Harvard (he won't tell what year) but the records show that it was the year before the illustrious "Teddy" received his degree at the same institution. He belonged to the D. K. E. fraternity and was a member of the famous rowing crew.

For being transplanted suddenly from the atmosphere of Harvard and the culture of Boston to the wild west the Prestons take very kindly to the change. Mr. Preston is a born carpenter and delights in "puttering" around in his shop and "tinkering" benches for the gardens and conveniences for the house. His special hobby, however, is his vegetable garden, than which no finer can be found in this valley. Enclosed in a neat wire fence, there are long rows of every kind of vegetable that can be grown in Southern California (see seed catalogue for list) from onions to spineless cactus, and the use of a microscope fails to disclose the sign of a weed.

On the Preston ranch are oranges and oranges and oranges, about one hundred and eighty trees hanging full of the golden fruit and filling the entire vicinity with the scent of the sweet blossoms. And there are peach trees, apricots, apples, pears, quinces, plums, guavas, avocados, grape fruit, lemons, berries and so forth.

Surrounding the house and covering the porches are many of the most beautiful varieties of roses with other plants and flowers both of common kinds and rare varieties. The gardens are nicely laid out and the air of neatness about the place speaks of hard work and a love of out-door employment and companionship with nature.

The Preston ranch may be said to be typical of the homes of well to do people in Glendale and vicinity. In such an atmosphere life may be enjoyed to the fullest extent.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR

Everything is coming into line for great times at the Congregational Endeavor society. The meetings since Brown and Curry left have been well attended and full of life. Fine leaders, both local and county workers, have been secured for several months ahead and there will never be a dry minute in a single meeting.

Just now special plans are being made for a jolly-up social Friday night, April 2. A fine program is being arranged, consisting of music and two funny skits. The Train to Mauro and Bess' Three Lovers will both be given in addition to some fine musical numbers. There will also be dandy games and good "eats." Everybody come out and have a good time.

A fine Easter service is planned for next Sunday evening. Mrs. Blake Franklin will be the leader and a large attendance is desired.

ROBBINETTE CLUB

The Robbinette club are planning a program concert for the evening of April 13 in the Glendale Union High school that promises to be something especially fine. Mark this date in your engagement book.

CONGRATULATES DR. SMITH

Editor News: Congratulations to Dr. H. C. Smith! His article in last night's News is splendid both from a medical and Christian view. Mark Twain remarked that Christian Science is like a guinea pig. "A guinea pig is not a pig and it is not from Guinea." So with Christian Science. It is neither science nor Christian.

Certainly it is unscientific in its antagonistic attitude towards certain branches of human knowledge, such as physics and chemistry, which have for their subject energy and matter and for their method observation and experience. According to the conception of C. S. "these sciences are nothing else than elaborate systems of thought void of all reality."

So also is mathematics the most evident among the human sciences. For according to the same conception, quantity, the subject of mathematics, must be as fictitious as matter whose general property it is universally believed to be.

The hostile bearing of C. S. towards the healing arts of medicine and surgery is well known. They are, in its opinion, mere charlatanism and quackery. Were mankind to credit the faith of the Christian Scientist every medical college would be closed, hospitals would be torn down, and the apothecary shops destroyed; the surgeon's scalpel would be shattered to pieces and the physician's prescription thrown into the fire.

Were mankind to credit the faith of the Christian Scientist it could not accept as the word of God the teaching of the Bible: "Honor the physician for the need thou hast of him; for the Most High has created him; all healing is from God. The Most High has created medicines out of the earth and a wise man will not abhor them."

JAMES S. O'NEILL, Pastor.

W. C. T. U.

EDWIN ALBERT TURNER

Edwin Albert Turner was born May 29, 1845, and journeyed in this vale of tears for 69 years, 9 months and 29 days, when his Father said, "It is enough, come up higher." He went home Sunday evening, March 28, 1915, at 9:45.

He was born in Newport, Quebec, Canada, and lived there until 1868. At Actonville, Canada, he was united in marriage to Miss Mary Varney. There was born to this union one daughter, Mrs. Frank Farrand of Glendale, who survives to comfort the bereaved wife and mother.

In 1890, the family came to the United States, settling in Vermont and lived there for ten years when they came to California and found a permanent home at Glendale.

The deceased was of a family of eight children, five of whom survive him, a brother in Santa Cruz, a brother in Pennsylvania, a sister in Colorado and a sister and half brother in Maine.

In 1886 Mr. Turner was converted and joined the Methodist church in Canada, but later joined the Salvation Army. He died triumphant in his faith in Christ.

Funeral services were held at the Jewel City undertaking parlors Tuesday afternoon at half past two and were conducted by Rev. Bede A. Johnson, pastor of the First Methodist church. Interment was in Grand View cemetery.

Many who will receive the hand of fellowship next Sunday will have a splendid opportunity to get acquainted with the pastor and other officers of the local Baptist church and it is urged that all loyal Baptists be on hand to make warm the welcome to new and prospective members.

A brief study of the last division of the first chapter of first Corinthians will be given by the pastor and all will be given opportunity to testify. Brown and Curry song book will be used. A happy time and splendid reports are anticipated.

TROPICO NEWS NOTES

ORDINANCE PROHIBITING POOL HALLS TO COME UP NEXT WEEK

The trustees of the city of Tropic met at the city hall on Tuesday evening, all being present with the exception of Trustee Conrad. Two ordinances were passed, one ordinance was for the excavating of the west 140 feet of Cypress street and the other ordinance passed was for the regulating of hospitals, sanitariums and maternity and lying in asylums. A contract was let to the Monarch Screen Co. of Los Angeles for the screening of the city hall. At last week's meeting City Attorney Goodwin was instructed to draw up an ordinance prohibiting all pool halls in Tropic. He reported, however, at last night's meeting that the ordinance was not prepared, and asked that the time be extended one week. The ordinance will probably come up for first reading at the next meeting of the trustees. The meeting adjourned at 8 o'clock.

Miss Mellicent Virden, the noted pianist, and Ferdinand Rigali, the talented violinist, and other members of the unfortunate party were busy yesterday receiving congratulations upon their miraculous escape from an automobile accident that occurred Monday evening. Miss Virden was returning from an engagement in Hollywood and in her car, which was driven by Lyle Johnson, were Miss May Rigali and her brother, Mr. Ferdinand Rigali. At the intersection of Vermont avenue and Hollywood boulevard a large touring car that was exceeding the speed limit collided with Miss Virden's car, turning her car completely over.

Passing autoists rushed to the assistance of Miss Virden and party and, righting the car, expected to find the four occupants beyond all human assistance, but were greatly pleased to extricate the unfortunate victims none the worse for the accident, except being dazed and very nervous. The driver of the machine that caused the accident hastened towards Los Angeles, not pausing to even offer the kind attentions of a civilized human being. The number of his car was obtained however. Miss Virden and party were conveyed to their home in Tropic, her car being completely wrecked.

Miss Margaret Boucher entertained with a Dutch dinner at her home on South Louise street Tuesday evening, at which she was assisted by her mother, Mrs. M. Boucher. Miss Boucher's guests included Miss Catherine Phillips, Miss Marjorie Imler and Miss Esther Schremp. Following the dinner, which was daintily replete in all of its appointments, Mrs. Boucher chaperoned the young hostess and her guests to the Palace Grand, where the remainder of the evening was delightfully enjoyed.

Miss Daphne Burlingham entertains with a party at her home, Rose Villa, this evening to celebrate her sixteenth anniversary. Miss Burlingham's guests will include society folks of Tropic and Glendale.

Miss Rachel McClure, daughter of Mrs. M. McClure, principal of the Tropic schools, who has but recently recovered from a severe illness, is recuperating in San Diego where she is the guest of her brother and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Granville McClure.

Mrs. W. H. Berteaux of Hollywood, a former resident of Tropic, spent Tuesday visiting old time friends.

Mrs. Frank I. Marsh entertained as her guest the past few days Mrs. A. De Ross of Rutland, Vermont.

Mrs. Francis Booth entertained today with a luncheon at her home on Gardena avenue, complimentary to her sister, Miss Eva Himoe, and Mrs. Alf Frost of Los Angeles.

Mrs. May Whitney Emerson, writer and lecturer, will give her lecture on Easter customs of the Holy Land at the Tropic Presbyterian church Friday, April 2, at 3 o'clock. Good music.

MELROSE TRIAL JUNE 7

HONORABLE PEOPLE

NEWS HAS FOUND GOOD HONEST PEOPLE OF ALL RELIGIOUS BELIEFS

The editor of the Evening News has found since coming to Glendale that this community, as well as others in which he has lived, is made up for the most part of good substantial citizens of varied religious denominations and beliefs. Every one has a right to his own opinions in these matters, our forefathers having come to these shores nearly three hundred years ago for the purpose of religious freedom.

We cannot and do not hold the same opinions as every other person on any subject, religious, political or otherwise, because an all-wise Creator made us in different molds. What an awful monotony if every one were just like every other one.

Realizing our own right to our own opinion, how good it would be if we could only accord the other fellow the same privilege.

The question of denomination is a small one after all. For example, take the recent Brown and Curry meetings in Glendale when ten churches laid aside their differences and united for a common object.

The fundamental thing is to have an honest conviction and follow it to the best of one's ability. Is the heart right should be the question. The man who is right with his fellowmen is apt to be right with God. In our every day life when we come in contact with a man who deals honorably with his fellowmen we are inclined to think he is on the right road no matter what particular form his religious belief takes.

We say frankly we do not care what your creed or denomination. If you are following your honest convictions and are dealing honestly and honorably with those you meet. If when you go out of the world you will have left it just a little better for your having lived in it you have done nobly.

LARGE CROWDS COMING

The traffic managers of all the railroads running to the coast insistently declare that huge crowds are coming to California from the east and north this summer. It is the business of these men to ascertain the amount of prospective travel and they have facilities for ascertaining the number of passengers, approximately, who are making preparations for travel, through their agents who are located in the centers of population throughout the country.

These statements of the railway managers do not stand alone, for general conditions also point to a large influx of eastern people during the coming summer. Low railway fares induced by the two big expositions, together with the unprecedented amount of publicity which California is now getting through the big eastern magazines and newspapers, is sure to bring many thousands of people to California in addition to the usual number of summer visitors.

PRISCILLA CLUB

The Priscilla club was royally entertained at the home of Mrs. W. H. Vandeburg, 1470 Salem street, on Tuesday afternoon. Many beautiful red roses were used in decorating the rooms and the table was especially attractive, everything being carried out in the color scheme of rose and white. Luncheon was at one, covers being laid for Mrs. H. W. Yarrick, Mrs. Raymond P. Foss, Mrs. Albert Peters, Mrs. Henry Stecher, Miss Coral E. Griffith, Mrs. C. E. Johnston and the hostess.

The afternoon was spent in the usual needlework and chat, and at five Mrs. Stecher surprised the company by serving them with ice cream and cake. This was Mrs. Stecher's day to entertain, but she was unable to do so on account of going north today to join her husband, who will be there for the next six months, looking after some mining property. The next meeting of the club will be at the home of Mrs. H. W. Yarrick.

MAKE AUTO TOUR

Mr. Halfstead with his son-in-law and daughter of 129 S. Kenwood St. left this morning at 6 o'clock on a four weeks' auto tour of the state of California. They are making the trip in one of the cars of the Stoffel Auto Service with Hadley G. Brown as chauffeur. The party expects to make Bakersfield this evening. They will visit all the principal cities and points of interest in the state, including the exposition.

This is one of the many ways in which Stoffel's up-to-date auto service is becoming indispensable in Glendale.

BUSINESS OF BEING A WIFE

A woman has just told us of what she did the night her young husband found himself bankrupt.

Her husband returned, not to a disheveled and sobbing woman, to a neglected house and a drama of disaster, but to a home where everything spoke of resolution, of continuity, of expectation.

TAKING IN THE SENATE

In the current issue of Farm and Fireside, the national farm paper published at Springfield, Ohio, Judson C. Welliver, Washington correspondent of that publication, writes an interesting article describing filibustering in the United States senate.

"Some men, like Stone, can talk slowly enough to save their voices and strength. Others, like LaFollette, find it utterly impossible to do this; they must talk at full speed and vigor, and wear themselves out.

"Few more difficult things confront the filibustering orator than to find a supply of things to say. Not many folks can talk ten hours continuously without running dry.

THE FORCE OF CROMWELL

In his little monograph on "Cromwell's Place in History," Dr. Gardner describes the complete success of the Cromwellian method as follows: "In some sort Cromwell is best understood by fixing his relations to the two great tendencies of the Revolution.

struct reform. Cromwell exercised it in right of conformity with the permanent requirements of the nation."

J. C. SHERER, City Clerk and Ex-Officio Clerk of the Board of Trustees of the City of Glendale, California. 192-12.

There are only two times in life when all men are equal—the day they are born and the day they are buried.

JUST A MATTER OF COURSE

An architect of standing in his profession recently addressed the pupils of a high school in this city. He informed them, among other things far more useful, that women were not adapted to architecture. It might necessitate the climbing of a ladder. He advised the girls who had their minds set on architecture to think of something else. It is to be hoped that they got out of the address much valuable information. One must take the chaff with the wheat sometimes. Later the chaff may be discarded. The lesson drawn from the prospective ladder represented the chaff.

Architecture is a matter of the brains rather than the legs. Even if both physical equations must be relied upon for success, there is not the slightest discouragement in the fact. A girl who cannot climb a ladder, were this operation demanded of her, would be as woefully lacking in brain power as in muscular ability. Or to put the matter in frank terms, the distinguished architect was talking nonsense. Not that this is in the least an unusual thing for a successful man to do as he scans the processes by which he has achieved. There is a tendency to exalt himself, a human and inevitable trait, perhaps wholly unconscious. Probably the worst sinners in this respect are the doctors. Even the most liberal masculine doctor admits grudgingly that a woman has any right to study medicine or any hope in practicing it. A few years ago newspaper men were just as bad. They have learned better, and it is time for other professional males to fall into line. The truth is that a woman has just as much right to succeed in the ordinary profession as a man, and that, barring certain vanishing handicaps, she has just as much chance. In most of the lines opening to her she is inexperienced, for, only a short while back, they were closed to her. She realized the injustice, pried open the closed gates and is advancing. She can climb a ladder and build the ladder herself if there isn't one handy.—Pasadena News.

WAR PRICES

The evils of war are not entirely confined to the field of battle. The cost of living has advanced in all countries on account of the war and in no country more than in England. Prices of food and coal have risen to such an extent that it means great hardship for the people, and they are clamoring for relief. The citizen blames the baker for the price of bread, the baker accuses the miller, the miller the farmer and importer, and the importer the ship owner, and there is a general cry for the reduction of freight rates, but when the government withdrew 1500 vessels from the carrying trade and devoted them to military purposes there was an immediate rise in freight rates, so it is apparent that the law of supply and demand operates in war the same as in peace.

A man isn't a humorist merely because his wife says he acts foolish.

President Wilson is now no doubt thoroughly convinced that the United States senate is a great deliberative body—indeed, that it rather overdoes its deliberating.

428 GLENDALE AVE.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry B. Gurler, formerly of DeKalb, Ill., now of Macon, Miss., were Glendale visitors yesterday.

A jolly crowd of young folks met Tuesday evening at the home of Dan and Fanny Hagin, 226 S. Central avenue to enjoy an evening of games and music. Among other things the readings of Miss Bertha Jackson and the whistling of Mr. Henry Stevens of Hollywood were greatly enjoyed. Mr. Stevens is a whistler of great ability and is noted for his clear birdlike notes. He and Dan Hagin were childhood friends in Japan. Mrs. Hagin served dainty refreshments and a pleasant evening closed with best wishes from all to the young host and hostess.

On Saturday evening the T. W. club met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Evans of 113 Orange street and enjoyed a very pleasant evening. The house was decorated with lupine and pink Cherokee roses in the living room and with lupine and peach blossoms in the dining room. Five Hundred was played during the evening, the prize, a tiny Easter wagon made of violets, drawn by a pair of little yellow chicks and filled with candy Easter eggs, was won by Mrs. Walter Stamps. At midnight luncheon was served, the places at table being marked by Easter cards and little yellow candy chickens. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Albert Pierce, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Stamps, Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur McFadden, who substituted for Mr. and Mrs. Henry Goodwin, and the host and hostess.

FIRST TORRENS LAND TITLE REGISTERED

The first hearing for the registration of title to property under the Torrens land law was an event last week in Los Angeles. The honor fell to Mrs. Delia May Campbell, who is president of the Torrens Land Law league of California, and she was the first person to file application for a title under the new law in the state.

Mrs. Campbell's decree is for property located at the northwest corner of Twelfth street and Grand avenue and has a value of $400,000. When the decree was granted there was a triumphal procession to the offices of County Recorder Logan. Mrs. Campbell was accompanied by Crail & Crail, her attorneys, and Francis G. Burke, examiner of titles under the law appointed by Judge Wood.

The decree ordered the county recorder to register the title, and when this ceremony was performed the title stood good against adverse claims of any person, the state assuring its validity.

As one of the ardent supporters of the law, Mrs. Campbell worked assiduously in its interest. She expressed herself as more than gratified with the simplicity of the proceedings. The certificate she holds is the only document that must be inspected to determine the status of the property, and she stated that "the law will become more and more valuable as its provisions become better known and more and more land is placed under the operation of it. It will not be long until purchasers of real estate and those who lend money on real estate will take no other evidence of title than a Torrens certificate."

"Take the matter of costs. The initial cost is less than the ordinary title insurance policy; after that the cost is only $1 for any transfer. All costs and vexatious delays of the escrow are saved under the Torrens system."

"The law is rapid in operation. A transfer can be made or a mortgage can be made on land in an hour, which would take days or even weeks under the present method."

THE MISSION PLAY

EXPOSITION NOTES

SAN DIEGO, March 31.—The first big event on the April program at the San Diego exposition will be the formal dedication of the Nevada state building April 2 by Governor Emmett D. Boyle of Nevada. Governor Boyle and his party, included in which are legislators and state officials, will arrive here April 1. The Nevada building is one of the most attractive state buildings at the exposition and the exhibits it houses show the wonderful agricultural possibilities of the state.

Extensive displays of California ripe olives and their products will be made at the San Diego exposition March 31, which is California Olive Day. There will be a general free distribution of California ripe olives at many of the buildings and at booths on the plazas and avenues throughout the grounds. Pretty young girls will tempt visitors to sample the olives and doubtless the reputation of the California olive will be greatly enhanced. The restaurants at the exposition will feature olives on their menus for the day and many other features will tend to impress the truism that the California olive has no superior.

An egg-hunting contest, such as is held each Easter on the grounds of the White House will be held in the pepper grove at the San Diego exposition Saturday, April 3. The contest is open to all children under twelve years of age. Besides a number of general prizes for the greatest number found by girls and boys of various ages there will be special prizes for the finding of silver and gold-colored eggs. The exposition has ordered 1000 eggs and given orders for their boiling and coloring. The wonderful resources of Southern California were commented upon at length by Franklin K. Lane, secretary of the interior, during his week-end visit to the San Diego exposition. Secretary Lane's visit to the back country gave him opportunity to become more familiar with several irrigation and conservation projects which were before congress at its last session.

These were explained to Secretary Lane on the ground by Congressman William Kettner of San Diego, who chaperoned the secretary on his trip through Southern California in an automobile. The fertile Imperial valley particularly impressed Secretary Lane and doubtless his assistance will be forthcoming at Washington in important work in irrigation which Southern California hopes the government will commence.

Secretary Lane paid tribute to the farmers and ranchers on his trip, commending them for their enterprise and ability. He lauded Southern California for its progress and his trip over the Southland will lend a weighty influence to important projects in which the south end of the state is concerned.

Of the San Diego exposition he spoke in glowing terms and also of the hospitality accorded him and his party. He remarked that San Diego has demonstrated itself to be a city of much enterprise for the building of such a great exposition in face of so many obstacles.

Rounds of applause greeted Secretary Lane Saturday at the exposition when he was introduced at a G. A. R. campfire. The old veterans gave him a rousing reception and the secretary exhibited a great interest in the gathering. Although he made no definite promises Secretary Lane intimated that the movement to have the government establish an educational institute in the exposition buildings at the close of the exposition would have his support.

DESTRUCTION OF WILD LIFE

There are 5,000,000 hunters in the United States. This rather astonishing statement was made last week to the national conference on American game breeding and preserving held at New York. It is no wonder that game is extinct in so large a part of this country. It has been said that strict game laws are not democratic. Every farmer's boy cherishes the privilege of getting out with his gun. A hunter's license law, with a small fee, looks aristocratic to the farmer, creating a privileged class, but the result of free game shooting appears at the present time. Most men, to get a good bag, have to travel many miles and run up an expense bill of railroad fares and hotel charges.

That is not a democratic condition of things. This country was originally rich with all kinds of wild game. Every variety had its value. Most of them added each an element of beauty, color, and life to the woods. The majority were useful as food for the human race. Then comes man, blazing away regardless of times and seasons. Today many of our finest varieties are extinct or practically so.

When game was abundant hunters were satisfied to get out after the real vermin of the woods, the varieties that are destructive. But if foxes and raccoons are exterminated in a given section today, the more ignorant hunters at least will get out after song birds that protect the farmers' crops from insects.

The delegates who gathered to the conference above referred to should do something more than pass resolutions. They should appoint themselves a national committee to work in every state for strict game laws, strict enforcement of them, and for the propagation of many of the fine species of wild life that have been wiped out.

COWBOY'S PRAYER

(From a Canadian Paper.)
O Lord, I've never lived where churches grew;
I love Creation better as it stood
That day you finished it so long ago
And looked upon your work and called it good.

I know that others find you in the light
That's sifted down through tinted window panes,
And yet I seem to feel you here to-night

In this dim starlight on the plains.
I thank you Lord that I am placed so well.
That you have made my freedom so complete.

That I'm no slave of whistle, clock, or bell,
Or weak-eyed prisoner of wall and street.
Just let me live my life as I've begun,
And give me work that's open to the sky,

Make me a partner of the wind and sun
And I won't ask a life that's soft and high.

Let me be easy on the man that's down
And make me square and generous with all;
I'm careless sometimes, Lord, when I'm in town,
But never let them say I'm mean or small.

Make me as big and open as the plains,
As honest as the horse between my knees.
Clean as the wind that blows behind the rains,
Free as the hawk that circles down the breeze.

Forgive me, Lord, when sometimes I forget;
You understand the reasons that are hid,
You know about the things that gall and fret,
You know me better than my mother did.

Just right me sometimes when I turn aside,
And guide me on the long, dim trail ahead
That stretches upward toward the Great Divide.

SANITATION NECESSARY

"In the many small streets in the poorer parts of towns and cities," writes a prominent doctor, "where nuisances occur, a considerable time often elapses before they are reported to the proper authorities. The nuisances continue unabated during this time and may result in infection of some kind. That is not wilful negligence. It is simply because it seems to be nobody's business to report those nuisances, which continue until the tenant complains to the real estate agent or it reaches a local department in some other roundabout way."

"Why could not a department of public safety use inspectors and police officers and have them report every occasion if they found that garbage was scattered over the street or was not properly covered, that a main was broken, a drainpipe stopped or that any such nuisance had occurred?"

"When excavations are made throughout a city a great deal of the dirt blows about and fills the air with dust. The children of the neighborhood, too, play in the dirt and scatter it about. Why should not the excavated material be covered with a tarpaulin so that the dust would be minimized? Another preventable cause of the dust and dirt comes from the hay wagons which trail their loads through the streets, dropping dust and chaff along the way. Finally, there are the drop bottom carts of the contractors, which carry dirt and refuse from one place to another. Often one sees a trail of earth sifting from the improperly closed trap bottom of these wagons to be scattered and blown about the streets."

"All these and many more things go to make up the dust which especially in the summer makes a haze which the eye can discern. Smoke often causes part of this haze, particularly in damp weather, when it descends in clouds, but dust is largely responsible for it.

"The effect of these dust particles laden with all sorts of disease bearers depends simply on the resistance of the individual who breathes them in with the polluted air. They are responsible for many cases of conjunctivitis and, I think, are an important cause of catarrhal and other head, throat and pulmonary troubles."

WORK OF A SOLDIER PEACEMAKER

Brig. Gen. Hugh L. Scott of the United States army has done by suggestion what threats of use of force had failed to bring to pass. He has induced the leaders of the Plute Indian revolt to surrender persons sought by the courts and he is leaving for Washington with "everything once more peaceful" in southern Utah. In other words the man in the federal service with the highest reputation as a peacemaker and a composer of difficulties of all sorts has simply added another item to his long list of services to his countrymen. A small Indian war has been averted; justice has been done; and an aboriginal race has seen the better and nobler side of a Christian civilization presented to it in a man whose tactics are those of sympathy, fair play, and action based on most intimate knowledge of tribal and racial lore.

Governmental action rises in moral worth in precise ratio to its choice of agents of the type of this veteran peacemaker. There must be knowledge, good will imagination enough to get both points of view; that of the governing and the governed, and also the ideal of amity as goal. General Scott can mediate because he can sympathize, and he can sympathize because he understands, and he understands because he has contacts with men that are not academic or professional or official, but simply human. It is quite impossible to say how much he has saved the United States in terms of money by the reputation he has built up among Indians of all tribes as a genuine friend whose word is a better bond than a government treaty, and who can serve both the nation and its wards only by action in which are mingled love and wisdom. The amount very likely would total millions. But the moral gain has been greater. The white race has proved that it can produce a statesman whose policy toward dependent peoples is fraternal.

General Scott has had more to do than the country knows with shaping the policy of the United States toward Mexico and certain of the Mexican leaders, in which negotiations he has used his gifts of observation, interpretation and conciliation. When the facts of this recent chapter of his career are generally known his services will be seen as more important than they are now. Were the United States ever called upon to assume any direct responsibility for Mexican political and social evolution General Scott undoubtedly would be enlisted in some capacity, for he seems to be the diplomat-soldier of the army.

INFLUENCE OF FLOWERS

One of the most distinctive characteristics of the old-fashioned American home was the love for flowers. Modern gardening with many people runs to the cultivation of shrubbery. It is a lazy man's way of beautifying his home, and if skillfully handled is effective. Perennial shrubs break the hard lines of the lot, and make the home seem a nest of beauty. At the same time few shrubs ever have that vividness of color that is to be found in such old favorites as larkspur, hollyhock or phlox.

These are busy times. The mother may have found leisure to plant, weed and fight pests. But the daughter is more apt to be riding in an automobile, or attending the card parties.

Thus it often happens that the older women are left to do the gardening with their own hands, while the daughters are living their busy life. Gardening is an amusement peculiarly suited to elderly people. It has nothing of the spirit of competition that leads younger people to perfect themselves in bridge or tennis. It is a contemplative, restful diversion, appealing to the spirit of philosophical thought of older persons.

Men spend money for the artificial creations of the florist, but not many of them raise flower gardens nowadays with their own hands. Their minds are too much absorbed with the problem of getting a living, and they would probably rather raise corn or beans. Their sense of beauty of color is rather rudimentary.

People who spend their own time for a pretty flower garden, or hire it made, not merely gain a great deal of pleasure for themselves, but they place a whole neighborhood in their debt, and add to the charm of the whole town.—Santa Ana Register.

LEARN HABIT OF NEATNESS

Newspapers are asked to advocate cleanliness on the streets and alleys. All good and well, but it is indeed difficult to teach an old dog new tricks. People who have formed the habit of leaving rubbish lying in the streets and alleys will do the very same thing over and over again and again. If children can be taught the importance of keeping things neat and tidy, they will grow to womanhood and manhood with good habits, and the question of keeping streets and alleys cleaned up will have been solved.

When a motorist runs over a pedestrian and speeds away he may elude the police. That is only part of what he is trying to get away from, however. His real purpose is to leave conscience behind and this, it is believed, he will find to be futile.

C. E.'s BANQUET

Members and friends of the Christian Endeavor society of the Presbyterian church enjoyed a dinner served by the Lookout committee Tuesday evening. While seated at the table Miss Pearl Adams, quiet hour superintendent, held a devotional service which was followed by a business meeting and the annual election, which resulted in the following officers being elected for the coming year: President, E. D. Stafford; first vice president, C. C. Widney; second vice president, Jennie Horsch; recording secretary, Vivian Engle; corresponding secretary, Mina Robertshaw; treasurer, Nelson Sprinkle; assistant treasurer, Ralph Carmichael.

An entertainment followed consisting of selections by a kitchen orchestra and a comb trio and a pathetic tale of the lion and the gazelle, after which all adjourned to the old church where games and frolic were enjoyed.

The house was profusely decorated with fleur de lis and greenery, games, music and dancing were enjoyed by the young people until a late hour and delicious refreshments were served by Mrs. Pitcher and Mrs. Blackburn. Among the guests present were the Misses Leota Williamson, Ruby Williamson, Mable Eckles, Marian Addison, Thelma McMasters, Aileen McMasters, Olive Hoffmire, Mable Robbins, Frances Peckham, Merle Frentz and Messrs. BEGIN AGAIN

Every day is a fresh beginning,
Every morn is the world made new;
You who are weary of sorrow and sinning,

Here is a beautiful hope for you;
A hope for me and a hope for you.

All the past things are past and over,
The tasks are done and the tears are shed,
Yesterday's errors let yesterday cover;

Yesterday's wounds which smarted and bled,
Are healed with the healing which night has shed.

Yesterday now is a part of forever;
Bound up in a sheaf which God holds tight,
With glad days and sad days and bad days which never

Shall visit us more with their bloom and their blight.

Every day is a fresh beginning;
Listen, my soul, to the glad refrain,
And in spite of old sorrow and older sinning

And puzzles forecasted and possible pain,
Take heart with the day and begin again.

—Susan Coolidge.

VALUABLE HINTS ON DISPOSING OF REFUSE

When streets and sidewalks are cleaned by hand sweeping there should be provided receptacles of appropriate design and suitable capacity for the reception of the street sweepings awaiting removal.

A useful form of such receptacle would be one which could be removed without being emptied, another being left in its place for the next day's sweepings. The same method is equally applicable for small garbage and household refuse.

There are other receptacles for street refuse that may be sunk in pits. They are made of steel with a dumping bottom, and the removal cart is provided with means of lifting them out of the pit to the top of the cart, which is covered with a top having special openings so that the contents of the cans may be dumped into the cart without being scattered by the wind.

After being so dumped the cans are lowered again into place in their pits.

In order to avoid handling such cans pits are located in the sidewalk near the curb, and the street refuse is swept directly into them, small hinged flaps bridging the gutter. The pit is, of course, provided with a cover.

The removal of all town street sweepings and garbage refuse should be done in wagons invariably having covers in order to protect the passing public and the workmen from escaping particles. It is better, however, to have it removed in the original cans, leaving empty cans in place, as this is an absolute protection to all concerned and gets the wagons off the streets sooner.

"OH! FOR A LINCOLN NOW"

This caption is taken from the Saturday Evening Sunset, published at Vancouver, B. C. Lincoln presents to mind the ideal in statesmanship. It is pleasing to know that this conception of his character extends to others than his native land. A call for Lincoln "now" would be appropriate in any crisis. Nevertheless, the thought upon which the caption is based in this instance is not to be defended. It has no basis in logic. The expression goes with a cartoon representing Lincoln as standing in shadowy outline above the members of the present American cabinet, and pointing to stricken Belgium. On the table are petitions from the different interests that are protesting as to conditions there. Then, as though reproachfully, President Wilson is quoted as saying that the government has no legal right to interfere. And such, in cold fact, is the truth. There could not have been in Lincoln's time a warmer spirit of sympathy for afflicted Belgium than exists today and has been manifested in every possible proffer of material aid. This country has fed the Belgians. It could do no more. It has expressed its horror of the brutalities of which Belgium has been the victim, until there is no doubt as to the sentiments of the people. At this point it becomes helpless. It is not looked to by Europe for guidance. Its interference would be worse than futile, for it would become the basis of ill will. It is by non-interference that the United States later may become an instrumentality of adjustment. To interfere, with any appreciable result, would be to plunge into war. Surely our Canadian neighbor does not think such would have been the course of Lincoln. Nor could it be the course of any other patriotic president.—Pasadena News.
