POLITICS START IN CLUBBING

Tuesday Afternoon Members Ballot for Officers Next Year

THE ELECTION BOARD Mrs. Dan Campbell and Mrs. W. E. Evans Candidates for President

Politics are beginning to gently simmer in the Tuesday Afternoon club, and wherever two or three members are gathered together, the topic, "Who are to be the officers of the club next year?" is almost certain to come up for discussion. Several of the present incumbents will automatically retire under the restrictions of the by-laws, which limit the terms of any candidate to two.

Ballots which will constitute a primary election have been mailed to members and an election board has been named, composed of Mrs. Mabel Rudy, Mrs. O. E. Von Owen, Mrs. M. E. Plasterer, Mrs. Walter Jones and Mrs. Harry C. Wilcox. It will be the duty of these ladies to canvass the vote and report to the club.

Prominently mentioned as a candidate for president is Mrs. Daniel Campbell, who has several times been asked to fill the office and always refused because of home duties, but this year she has consented to run if desired by the club. She is one of its oldest and most popular members, is thoroughly acquainted with its affairs and its history, and will probably receive a large vote.

Another candidate for the office is Mrs. W. E. Evans, who was vice president and chairman of programs last year. She also is one of the old members and is a sister of Mrs. Mattison B. Jones, who filled the presidency for two terms from 1913 to 1915.

For first vice president are two leading candidates, Mrs. Warren Roberts, who is likewise one of the old and popular members and who at first refused to consider the office because it carries an obligation the chairmanship of the ways and means committee. But after her many friends had assured her they would all turn in and help whenever called upon, she consented to allow her name to be used.

Not so old a member but a hard working one, who for the past year has been curator of the Shakespeare section is Mrs. A. H. Emery, who has also been mentioned for the first vice presidency. Energy and ambition are her middle names and should the vote place her in office she can be depended upon to keep things moving in the ways and means line.

Mrs. Cora Dunn, appointed a few weeks ago to fill the vacancy in the recording secretaryship made vacant by the resignation of Mrs. Oliver Clark, is the logical candidate for that office, which she is filling with credit to herself and the club.

Mrs. M. E. Plasterer is one who has been mentioned for the treasurer and also for the second vice presidency, and the same is true of Mrs. Frank Ayars.

For the corresponding secretaryship the names of Mrs. Benjamin Holbrook and Mrs. C. W. Houston have been mentioned.

Two vacancies in the board of directors are to be filled and among the more prominent candidates are Mrs. R. W. Meeker, Mrs. Colin Cable, Mrs. Lillian Dow and Mrs. L. W. Sinclair.

GLENDALE PRESS IS SOUGHT FOR NEWS OF CITY

The Glendale Daily Press is in receipt of a letter this morning from Harry W. Beatty at Allentown, N. J., in which he sends subscription price for the Press. Mr. Beatty states that he wishes to become a bit acquainted with this town, so he has evidently reached the other coast.

It's What You Do for You Says Foley in Listening Post

"It's fine to help build up the business," he says, "but it is finer to build up yourself." And then he goes on to remark that it makes no difference if the boss doesn't notice your faithful work, e'en though he profits by it, for in the end YOU will profit. "For Bosses come and Bosses go, but YOU go on forever."

Henry James, in commenting on the day's news, scores judges in divorce courts who are inconsistent in their findings, granting divorces in some cases where the charges are very flimsy and refusing others where there seems to be ample justification. President Wilson's drastic typewriter comes in for some humorous comment and there is a paragraph on profiteering.

There's an editorial on the progress of the negotiations at Geneva, treating particularly of the offensive secret treaty between Germany and Russia. Dr. Frank Crane writes of a "Grand Old Heroine" who dared to wed seven times, and bore 16 children.

Della Stewart talks of the love of display inherent in both sexes, and John Phigrim demonstrates in a little story that the young man who is a "live wire" and a "good mixer" needs something less to win success.

$150,000 PERMITS ARE TAKEN OUT

Include $70,000 for Intermediate School and Harvard Corner

Building permits to the extent of $150,000 were taken out by the Rommel Construction company, 144 South Brand boulevard, today, this being the largest amount of permits taken out by any one company in a single day in Glendale for months, and one of the largest ever recorded here.

The largest of these is for $70,000, for Glendale's new intermediate school to be erected on Glendale avenue between Park avenue and Acacia avenue. This building will contain 10 rooms and will be equipped throughout with steam heat, etc. The building will be constructed entirely of brick with terra cotta trim. The architect of the building is Alfred Priests, one of Glendale's leading architects.

A $50,000 building permit was taken out by this concern for the building to be erected at the corner of Harvard and Brand boulevard by the Monarch Auto Supply company. This building will be 75x107 feet in size. It will be of two stories and will contain four store rooms, two to be erected on Brand boulevard and two on Harvard street. The entire building will be of brick and the second floor will be taken up by offices, which will be modern in the extreme. This building will be started immediately and will be finished within 10 days. The Monarch company will occupy the corner room, which will be finished in marble and tile.

The third permit taken out today is for $30,000 for the erection of a store and office building to be placed at the corner of Doran and Brand boulevard, by the Rommel Construction company. In this building there will be seven store rooms, three to face on Brand and four on Doran. This building will be 50x135 feet. On the second floor there will be nine apartments, each to contain three rooms. The front and side of this building facing on the streets will be finished in glazed brick. All of the apartments in this building have been leased. Store rooms in this building will be leased by the Glendale Tile and Mantel Company, the Glendale Hardware Company, Endicott & Larson, etc. This building is being started today and will be finished within 30 days.

This company has started construction at this time the following jobs: The city hall at Eagle Rock which is costing $25,000. The Eagle Rock theatre, which is costing $30,000. The Bassel block, at the corner of Lexington and Brand, to cost $25,000. This contains five store rooms and three on Lexington and three on Brand. There are apartments on the second floor. This building is nearing completion.

The Kelly block at 333 North Brand boulevard which is costing $25,000. The lower floor of this block is taken up entirely by a department store, while there are apartments above. A beautiful Spanish-type residence in Flittridge for Mr. Walters. This will have eight rooms and will cost $30,000.

ARBUCKLE TABOO IN SEATTLE

SEATTLE, April 25.—"Fatty" Arbuckle has been banned in Seattle. An Arbuckle picture entitled "Fattys Wild Night" was today ordered withdrawn. The Seattle board of censors declared that none of the Arbuckle funnies will be permitted to be shown here until the ban put on the pictures by Will H. Hays has been removed.

FLOODS IN KANSAS

WICHITA, Kan., April 25.—Cloudbursts and heavy rains thru central-western Kansas today brought many streams to flood stage. Jesse Wagone, a farmer living near Kinsley, was drowned when he tried to warn farmers of rising waters.

Won't Pay Debts of Lady Craven, Husband Says

He will not pay the debts of Lady Craven, asserts the Earl of Craven, in an advertisement published in London newspapers. The Earl, whose mother was a daughter of Bradley Martin, of New York, recently was named co-respondent in a divorce suit, it being charged that he eloped to France with Countess Cathcart.

MINISTERS ASKED TO SPEAK ON AMERICA

War Veterans Ask Americanization Be Subject of Address

The Glendale post No. 127 is putting out a call to all the ministers of the gospel no matter of what faith to incorporate as part of their services on Sunday, April 30, a few words at least concerning Americanism in order to help offset the May day demonstrations planned by the I. W. W. and other organizations of a similar nature. Anything that can be done along these lines will be greatly appreciated by the post and will certainly react beneficially to the community as a whole. That the request comes at so late a date is unfortunate, but we earnestly hope that our numerous sky pilots will respond heartily even as the minute men of old.

MISSIONARY FROM CHINA TO SPEAK

Dr. H. W. Boyd Will Be at Presbyterian Church Services

Dr. H. W. Boyd of Canton, China, will be at the service which will be held at the Presbyterian church this evening and will give an address. Dr. Boyd has been a medical missionary in the Canton Union hospital since 1899. He is a very clear, convincing speaker and brings a thrilling story of his work in China. While in this country he is residing at Sierra Madre with his family.

Rev. Edmonds, the pastor, will have charge of the service this evening. Services will be held each evening this week except Saturday. These services will be followed by the communion service on Sunday morning.

FORT WORTH IS UNDER WATER

FORT WORTH, Tex., April 25.—Floods which followed a terrific downpour of rain here today drove hundreds from their homes and caused heavy damage. Twenty-five persons were unaccounted for, according to police figures at 9 a. m., and a thorough search was being conducted in the flooded districts of Sycamore Heights.

Fire broke out in the Cameron Lumber yard, but fire department apparatus was unable to respond due to water rushing through the streets several feet deep. There was no danger of the blaze spreading, however, fire department officials said, and it was allowed to die out.

Many homes crumbled before the mad rush of water. Houses were swept from foundations. Boats, working during the early hours of the morning, rescued many in their night clothes. Lights blinked signals for assistance throughout the low districts as water mounted to the upper stories. Boats were unable to reach one house however, the home of an aged cripple, where lights signalled for assistance, before the building was completely swallowed by the torrent.

CARPENTERS' LOCAL 563, VOLUNTEERS AID TO BUILD BUDDIE HOMES

The labor problem of the five little homes for the Soldiers Five was solved last night at a meeting of Carpenters' Local 563. The local voted unanimously to contribute aid to erect the little homes in La Crescenta for the five Buddies.

It passed resolutions that ring with patriotism and adopted the Buddies as their own. E. E. McQuivy, 451 West Ivy, and Harry Conner of La Crescenta were appointed a committee to secure data. The Women's Union Label League volunteered to serve luncheon on the work.

After the local assembled last night for its regular meeting, the general consensus of opinion showed that the principle of fair organization is to make the world safe for democracy. That the local justly owed to the boys who ruined their health during the World War by protecting that democracy.

It was therefore resolved that the local offer its services to help build the homes for the five Buddies who have wisely chosen Southern California for their future homes.

The local lacked data. The chairman appointed the committee to secure information and report. The Ladies' Union Label League then volunteered to serve luncheon while the lodge members worked on the little homes.

The first block of ten merchants to line up for the Buddy Day special edition of the Glendale Daily Press is announced today. They are: Grossman-Miller Furniture Company, Brand and California.

Army and Navy Store, Brand and Harvard streets. Kenny Music Shop, 203 North Brand. Builders' Hardware and Supply Company, 633 East Broadway.

McGee Dry Goods Store, 614 East Broadway. J. E. Barney, real estate, 143 South Brand. William P. Murphy, Furniture and Household Goods, 1261 South Brand.

A. Gelmor, Men's and Ladies' Tailor, 188 South Brand. W. A. Heald, Jeweler and Optician, 125 West Broadway. Neale & Gregg Hardware Company, 107 North Brand boulevard.

Tolman's Unique Shop, 125 West Broadway. Many more will be announced tomorrow, and daily, as rapidly as their copy is received.

Just now there are some who hesitate deciding what goods they will offer, or what day sales will be put on. For this is not an event where any goods will do—it is an opportunity for merchants of your sentiment to meet and form lasting friendships along the lines of patriotism.

They want to afford you good bargains, in a store where you know the proprietor entertains the same idea of aid to the Buddies as you do, else you would not make it a point to buy on the days they appoint for their sales.

Strike Leader Pleads With Textile Workers

The strike of 16,000 textile workers has caused the closing of textile mills at Lawrence, Mass. Every precaution is being taken against possible riots. Ben Legere, organizer of the "One Big Union," is one of the strike leaders. He faces arrest, declares officials, at the first sign of trouble.

HIGH TO OBSERVE BIRTHDAY OF GEN. GRANT

100th Anniversary to Be Marked by Program in Commemoration

The one hundredth anniversary of the birthday of General Ulysses S. Grant will be observed at Glendale high Wednesday at the third period, which means about 10 a. m., with what is termed a "split assembly," i. e., the program will be repeated.

It will be in charge of teachers of the history department under Miss Maude Soper and will include the singing of patriotic songs by the students and several songs of the Civil War by Miss Pansy Sheldon. There will be two short talks, one on Grant as the commanding general in the Civil War, the other on Grant, the President.

"The American Creed" will be read and McKinley's "Appreciation of Grant." The platform will be appropriately decorated by two of the teachers, to whom the duty has been assigned.

The program will open with the salute to the flag.

ART EXHIBITION PROGRAM TONIGHT

Sculptors to Attend Exhibition; Good Music Is Arranged

When the Glendale art exhibit opens tonight there will be four sculptors of international note present representing the Sculptors' Guild of Southern California. They are Mrs. Ella Buchanan, Hal C. Swartz, Carlo Romanelli and Lora W. Steer. Ben Short announced the following program by the students and faculty of the California academy of music for the opening night:

RAILROAD RATES REDUCTION DUE

Interstate Commission Gives Notice of Action Within Ten Days

WASHINGTON, April 25.—An extensive reduction in railroad rates will be announced by the interstate commerce commission within the next ten days, it was learned from official sources here today.

The decision will result from the hearings the commission recently held on the question of reducing rates. It is understood that the commission now is reaching agreements daily on various rate reductions which will comprise the decision.

CREDIT MEN HEAR ABOUT RUBBISH

One of the Best Meetings of the Association Is Held

One of the best meetings of the Glendale Credit association since that body's organization was held yesterday at noon in the auditorium of the Chamber of Commerce. City Manager W. H. Reeves addressed the members on the matter of rubbish disposal in the business district. He told the business men that at present the garbage company under contract with the city was losing money each month under their present contract and were trying to cancel it. He said that the city, while it does not want to see the disposal company lose money here, the officials feel that every effort should be made to encourage the fulfilling of the contract, which saves the city approximately $700 per year.

The contract does not call for the disposal of wooden and paper boxes nor any rubbish that is not in cans. The business houses have made several complaints that rubbish has not been collected. Mr. Reeves said that the rubbish men were willing to make one extra trip each day for the purpose of clearing up all of this rubbish, but as it would mean added expense to the merchants it was up to them to decide whether or not they wanted this relief. It will cost each merchant extra fees. This extra fee was estimated as approximately $4.50 on the quarter.

A suggestion was made that the merchants wanting this additional service make an individual contract with the rubbish company through the city. A committee was voted to confer with the rubbish men and with City Manager Reeves for the city and form some agreement.

The proposition submitted to the Glendale Credit association of a double page in the official paper of the Rotary club convention to be held in Los Angeles starting June 5, was referred to the Chamber of Commerce. A committee composed of Dave Crofton and Owen Emory was appointed to take the matter up with that organization.

BODY OF SOLDIER BOY COMES HOME

Edward R. Van Den Berg of 364th Infantry Died in France

Another of Glendale's sons has returned from France to his last rest at home. The body of Edward R. Van Den Berg, son of J. G. Van Den Berg, 615 North Orange street, will arrive in Glendale this week from France. The body will be sent direct to the funeral parlors of Pulliam & Kiefer. The service will be under the direction of the American Legion and will be at the Little Church of the Flowers.

Edward Van Den Berg was a private in company E of the 364th infantry; he had only been in France five weeks when he was killed at Toul by a French train while guarding German prisoners. Van Den Berg and several of his companions were returning to their camp from Toul and were crossing a railroad track. They stepped back to avoid an approaching train and stepped into the path of the Paris-Nancy express. Van Den Berg was killed instantly. The only details the family have of the death of their son and brother is the meagre tale told by one of his companions.

The death of Van Den Berg occurred September 22, 1918, and after having lain in the ground of France since that he is coming home for his final rest to stay until the bugler of the Great Army sounds "taps" and says "Come to the last bivouac."

Just put that little wire screen up on that dog of yours. Without it he will change his street address. The fight is on to build the homes for wounded soldier boys. Just bring your money to the Glendale Press.

TWIN LIGHT POSTS FOR VALLEY ROAD

Owners Reject Single Standard Lamps and Council Consents

ORNAMENT SOUGHT

Committee Protest Is Backed by Committee From District

The ornamental lighting system will have two-light standards in place of the one-light post which was suggested, if the present plans of the city council are carried out, on the San Fernando road. This change was decided on as a result of a discussion between the city council and a committee representing the property owners along San Fernando boulevard between Los Feliz road and Pacific avenue, this delegation being headed by L. H. Wilson, William Griffin, Mrs. Moberly, owner of the resi home on San Fernando road, and others.

"We want to enter our protest against the one-light standard on San Fernando boulevard," said Mr. Wilson. "We made application for this lighting system a long time ago and we thought possibly your honorable body had forgotten all about us. We, down there, are determined to have a two-light standard along our highway. If we cannot get that we do not want anything. We are willing to pay every penny for the installation of these lights and we understand that the two-light feature will cost practically twice as much as the one-light standard. But this does not matter to us—we are willing to stand this additional expense."

"The point is we want to pay every penny for the installation of these lights and we understand that the one-light standard is not. It is simply a post, and that is all you can say for it. The standard we have selected is used along Sixth street in Los Angeles and anyone can see that it is one of the prettiest and most efficient standards in use in Southern California at this time."

"I will state, gentlemen, that before deciding on this standard we traveled over the most of Southern California, even going so far east as Riverside, so that our decision is not a snap judgment affair. We claim the one-light standard is too low. We represent a frontage of 2086 feet, which is far in excess of 50 per cent of the frontage."

"We believe that some day the San Fernando road district will be a business section. Possibly we are mistaken. Whether or not it is the ornamental lights along this road would be a wonderful advertisement for Glendale. We believe that during the hours of the evening there are more people who pass along this road than passes along any other street of the city during any part of the day. We see no reason why we should not get these standards if we are willing to pay for them."

Mr. Griffin of the committee stated: "If you will grant us this improvement we will endeavor to organize the district north of Pacific avenue on San Fernando boulevard for ornamental lights."

Councilman Kimlin suggested that there be two types of standards provided for use in the city—the two-light standard for business sections and the one-light feature in the residential territory.

Mr. Wilson stated that if these lights are granted a number of building structures will be started at once on San Fernando road in the region of Park avenue. These will include a two-story building at the corner of Park avenue and San Fernando road. This will have

NOTICE

Our program on the front of the paper shows the Bible Institute to be scheduled for transmission between the hours of 7:30 and 8 p. m. Wednesday evening. Information direct from the Bible Institute is to the effect that they will transmit services in the form of a prayer meeting. Just as to how it will be transmitted, we do not know, but as nothing of the kind has been received to date it should be of great interest to everyone. The Bible Institute does not use very high power and are rather difficult to tune in properly but we assure you our best efforts will be put forth that they may be tuned in so as to be audible to our audience in front of the Daily Press building.

Yesterday, April 24, there was a local disturbance in the ether in the form of an intermittent hum and scratching which was so loud that it interfered seriously with the reception of the radio waves. This disturbance terminated about 4 o'clock in the afternoon but when it was going on before that time it was almost impossible to read even the strongest stations. There were several reports turned in to the radio editor via telephone, from local stations as to the nature of the station and we wish that all who are bothered with it today or tomorrow, would kindly call our radio department and report it, so that if possible we may trace the disturbance to its source. The telephone number of the Radio Department is Glendale 99.

Theory of Condensers

Stopping Condenser: A stopping condenser is a condenser which is shunted across the terminals of the phones. The functions of this condenser are to make a complete circuit for the oscillations without having to pass through the windings in the receivers, which have a very high inductance as explained in the theory of phones, several days ago. The condenser is also used for the purpose of discharging through the phones the energy thus received from the oscillations, and thus the audibility of the signals are increased. As a rule the stopping condenser is a fixed type, that is of a fixed capacity although there are some stopping condensers which have two or three adjustments or variations. These condensers are used in connection with high resistance phones.

Short Wave: A condenser used in series with the aerial for the purposes of receiving wave lengths of shorter value than average wave lengths of your own set. (Variable type preferred).

Shunted Condenser: A shunted condenser is of comparatively small value and is shunted across the secondary terminals of a receiving oscillation transformer for the purpose of aid in the elimination of interference. (Variable type).

Variable: The capacity of a high-frequency circuit is a very important factor. For the purpose of adjusting this circuit a variable condenser is used. Other things being equal, the area of the opposed surfaces of a variable condenser is a direct measure of the capacity of any condenser, so that the variation in capacity is accomplished by making one set of stationary plates and one set of movable plates. These plates are usually made of aluminum and the movable plates are so arranged that they may be moved in or out of the electrostatic field. The principal on which these condensers are built, is practically the same as the principal of the fixed condensers inasmuch as every other plate is a movable plate and the dielectric is air. Each movable plate is between two of the stationary plates, the movable plates being fastened together on a brass rod. The average clearance between the movable plate and the stationary plates is a little better than a sixteenth of an inch although some of them are made with clearances up to an eighth of an inch. The entire condenser being cased (when they are not cased it makes no difference in the capacity) there is a knob on top of the brass rods which holds the movable plates together and by turning this knob to the left or right the plates are moved back and forth between the stationary plates, thus increasing or decreasing the capacity of the circuit. If the condenser is cased as mentioned above and you wish to increase the capacity of same, fill it with oil (castor oil) as the specific inductive capacity of oil is greater than that of air. For instance, if the capacity of such a condenser is 0.001 and you submerge it in oil the capacity becomes 0.005 microfarads.

When the condensers are enclosed in a case the stationary group of plates is attached to rod which is in turn fastened to the cover of the case. The movable group is attached to a rod, which in turn protrudes through the top or cover of the case and the bottom of the rod pivots on a bearing in the bottom of the case. There is a semi-circular scale fastened on the cover and as the movable plates are changed or varied there is an arrow which is also fastened to the movable rod, points to the numbers on the scale which shows the relative increase or decrease of the opposed areas.

Radio KLB

The radio station of J. J. Dunn, Pasadena, did remarkably well Sunday, considering they were working under a handicap and using only 5 watts. In conversation with their radio department, they stated that they were going to use 15 watts starting next Sunday. The reason they have only been using 5 watts is due to the fact that they are going to move into their new quarters this week and they have only constructed the station they are now using as a temporary affair. But here's what I am getting at; if they were using only 5 watts Sunday last, what is it going to be like Sunday next, when they will be using 15 watts. Here's wishing you success Radio KLB.

Hints

If you are erecting an aerial and you have high power wires running close to your location, string your aerial at right angles to the power wires, or as near right angles as possible.

It is strictly against government regulations to interfere with an authorized broadcasting station. Now amateurs who have been and are using spark coils or other transmitting sets, use your receiving sets to a good advantage and listen-in before you start sending. By so doing you won't interfere unnecessarily. Several amateurs close by were constantly interfering with the sermon rendered Sunday morning between the hours of 10 a. m. and 10:45 a. m. which was broadcasted via the Times radio phone who are scheduled to broadcast at that time on Sunday. If you are not accurate in tuning your set then just keep your eye on the daily programs which are published each day on the front page of the Glendale Daily Press. Do not wait until someone turns in your call letters as wilfully interfering.

Of all the conversation which ensued between the hours above stated, there was not one that was so important as to cause interfering with the broadcasting station during the hours assigned to said station, especially during the broadcasting of a sermon.

There are plenty of vacant hours on Sunday which the amateur stations may use which is all the more reason why there should be no interference with a broadcasting station. Don't spoil the clean record of the amateurs, fellows. I am an amateur myself and have always been proud to be called an amateur, and I am sure you feel the same way about it. If you happen to be acquainted with the amateur who is interfering give him a QRT, call him on the phone, drop him a line via mail or tell him about it the next time you see him.

6 APY—your signals are QSA and as we haven't a radio call book here at present we do not know who you are but please read the above carefully. Thanks OM.

VERN ISOM IS LODGE ARTIST

One of the artists at the ladies' night dinner and program given by Blue Lodge Saturday night was Vern Isom, who came to Southern California from Portland, Ore., where he was a member of the Symphony orchestra. He studied under Frank G. Eichenlaub, who has a great reputation in the north. At the present time Mr. Isom is living in Burbank but has pupils in Glendale and expects to make his home here as soon as he can arrange his affairs to do so.

The numbers he played Saturday night were "Liebesfreund," by Kreisler, "Humoresque" by Koeppling and an encore "Rondino" by Kreisler. The violin he used was made by George Anderson of this city and its sweet tone called forth much favorable comment.

JAP MUSICAL TO AID CHURCH

A Japanese musical in aid of the music fund of the First Congregational church will be given the evening of May 3 in the chamber of commerce auditorium. Solos and choruses will be sung from the Mikado, the Geisha and other Japanese music, with a Japanese stage setting.

Among those assisting will be Mrs. Helen Graham Cole, Mrs. Gladys Gibbs Sherman, Mrs. A. M. Draper, Mrs. Charles Parker and Messrs. Charles Comfort, A. M. Draper, Blake Franklin and H. W. Yarrick, the four gentlemen constituting a quartette. Further particulars in regard to assisting artists will be announced later.

COMMUNITY SING BY METHODISTS

The community sing at the First Methodist Episcopal church tonight at 7:45 will be a state affair. The audience will be divided into state groups, the eastern, mid-western, southern and western, and our northern neighbors from Canada, every one joining in "I Love You, California," after the group songs. Those having state songs they wish sung, please leave them at the office of the First M. E. church tomorrow for Mrs. H. Y. Brown, the accompanist. Come and help your state group "put it over." Mrs. W. Q. Widows will direct.

MATTISON JONES TO GREET McADOO

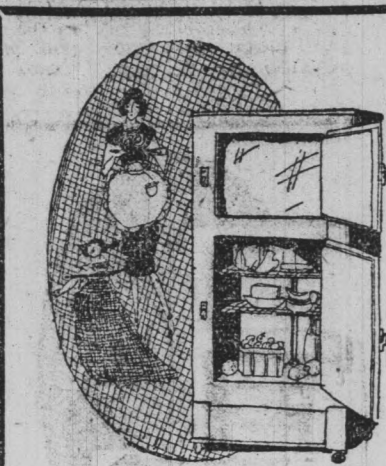

Mattison B. Jones of this city will make the address of greeting at the banquet to be tendered by William G. McAdoo at Paulais in Los Angeles tonight.

He and Mr. McAdoo, who will make the response, will be the only speakers. Covers will be laid for 300. Mrs. Jones will accompany her husband.

GREAT DEMAND FOR TICKETS

So great has been the demand for tickets to the Shakespeare festival to be held Thursday at the Philharmonic auditorium, to which the dramatic department of Glendale high is contributing, that the house will be completely sold out. Los Angeles high asked for 1200 tickets and received but 1000. To Glendale has been allotted but 150.

HOW FAR WILL YOU DAN CAMPBELL REX KELLEY TAKES PARENT TEACHERS TRUST IS THE REPORTS ON HI-Y TEAM TO OF BURBANK TO PROBLEM' KNIGHTS CORONA AMUSE DADS

Rev. Cole Preaches on Subject at Central Christian Church

The subject of Rev. C. A. Cole's sermon at Central Christian church Sunday morning was "How Far Will Your Trust Carry You?" The little child stands as an example of perfect trust and faith and that is why the Saviour said "we must become as little children if we would gain entrance to the kingdom of heaven." The impulsive emotional disciple, Peter, whose faith was constantly wavering, was trained by persecution into the apostle of perfect trust. Cephas, when he essayed as a wavering disciple to walk on the water to meet him to sink. But as the apostle, strong and trusting, he braved iniquitous rulers. Trust in God seems to be the best thing with many people, even some church members. You can't give first attention to two things or as the Saviour put it, you cannot serve God and Mammon. Is Christ no longer walking on the seas of your experience, ready to bid you come to him in faith? This is a time of great crisis in the world's history and it requires perfect trust by Christ's followers to meet them.

The skeptics who will honestly search the scriptures with an open mind will become convinced that all Jesus' claims are true. When Robert G. Ingersoll, the great infidel, urged Gen. Lew Wallace, author of "Ben Hur," to write a book to expose the false claims made by Christians for the Christ, he agreed to do so and began to study the life and teachings of the Master to gather materials for the proposed novel. The result of his exhaustive researches was to convince him of the genuineness of Jesus' Messiahship and "Ben Hur" was written.

Rev. Cole asked, "Fellow Christians, how far will your trust in the Christ carry you? To a life of toil in his service and even to martyrdom if necessary?" At the evening service, Rev. Pennington, 85 years of age and for 60 years a Christian preacher, occupied the pulpit and preached on "The World and the Soul," strongly denouncing the modern tendency to extravagance in dress, adornment and worldly pleasures to the neglect of the soul.

Enroute to New Orleans Conclave Wives Wife Visiting Juarez

Mrs. Daniel Campbell reports the receipt of a communication from her husband, written from El Paso while en route to the Knights Templar conclave at New Orleans. He reported a royal time and that the knights would take in all the sights of Juarez, just over the line in Mexico. Mr. Campbell and Commander George U. Moyse are representing the Glendale commandery as delegates and will not be home until next Monday.

Mr. Campbell is serving on the grand jury but was given a furlough to attend the conclave.

69 CHILDREN ARE AT LOCAL HOME

Mrs. R. W. Meeker Reports on Work of Institution

Mrs. R. W. Meeker, local chairman for the Monté Vista home for undernourished children, reports that 69 children are now being cared for there and so great are the demands upon the institution that more kitchen equipment is needed.

As a surplus from the tag day sale put on not long ago Mrs. Meeker has $18 in cash, but this will not nearly cover the things needed and enumerated in the list sent her as follows: One large-sized dishpan, one 16-quart kettle, three paring knives, three small-sized hand brushes, one stove raker for taking out ashes, four dozen custard baking cups, two galvanized iron buckets, 12 and 14 quart capacity. Tea towels are also greatly needed.

If any one has any of the articles named which he or she is willing to donate to this good cause, that person is asked to communicate with Mrs. Meeker, telephone Glendale 1108.

TRIUMPHAL ENTRY OF JESUS TOLD

A special number was added to the program of the men's bible class at the City hall Sunday morning by Miss Hazel Linkogel, violinist, with Mrs. Pearl G. Curran as accompanist.

The subject of the day was "The Triumphal Entry of Jesus" which was presented by Keith L. Brooks as follows:

More than a third of the gospel narrative is occupied with the account of the last week of Christ's life, the events culminating in his death. The greatest emphasis of the whole New Testament is on his death, not his life. In this 21st chapter of Matthew he is represented as coming to Jerusalem deliberately to encounter his death as the designed aim and end of his ministry. "He came to give his life as ransom for many." Three times he had publicly announced that he was going to Jerusalem to give his life for the salvation of the world and to be raised again the third day.

I believe this so-called triumphal entry is much misunderstood. The theory that he was then publicly offering himself as the king in readiness to overthrow world governments and set up his earthly throne, had he been received, does not seem to fit in with the facts. Considering his oft-repeated announcements that he had come as the lamb of God to take away the sin of the world, the manner in which he presents himself in this parade would be entirely out of keeping with the possibility that he had then come to reign on earth.

The fourth verse tells us that this was done in fulfillment of the prophecy (Zech. 9:9) where it was said that the king should sit on his people "having salvation." Christ's one moment of pomp tells the same story of humiliation as the rest of his life. What would the Roman soldiers think of such a parade—a pauper prince on a borrowed mule, with a hundred or two of weaponless, penniless men?

This parade was a revelation of the nature of the kingdom he was then establishing. Had he entered in regal pomp and splendor he would have contradicted all he had said as to the nature of his present spiritual rule, which is a kingdom of lowliness and grace. When he comes as the mighty king in his second coming, he is represented as riding upon a white horse (Rev. 19:11-15), the symbol of victory and pride, whereas the ass upon which he rode in his entry to Jerusalem was a symbol of humility and peace.

While the expectations of the unthinking multitude were raised to the highest pitch that he would then rule upon earth, Jesus himself did not join in their joy. Luke 19:41,42 tells us that as Jesus neared the city he wept and bewailed the moral condition of the people. He recognized the transient character of the demonstration. He knew that this was the road to the cross, not the throne. His tears were like the big drops that fall on the hot walks before the thunder-cloud bursts. It meant that judgment was soon to fall upon Israel because of their rejection of him.

Visits George Junior Republic and Conducts Services There

In company with Secretary Rex Kelley, boys composing the deputation team of the Glendale Hi Y motored to Corona Sunday to visit the George Junior Republic and conduct a service there.

They were introduced and welcomed by E. G. Anderson, superintendent of the Republic. Mr. Kelley responded on behalf of the team and explained to some extent the work of the Hi Y.

The team then sang with Ralph Van Hoorbeke at the piano and talks were made by Maynard Toll, Dick Fisher, Dale Wood and George Jordan.

The Hi Y trio composed of Elden Bengt, cornettist; Herbert Bruck, violinist, and Ralph Van Hoorbeke, pianist, played several selections in a manner which met the approval of the Republic boys as shown by their applause. Others in the party besides those mentioned were Philip Henderson, Dan Taylor, Philip Bradley and Don Cameron.

Following the services the visitors were shown through the institution and its system of self-government explained. They were also introduced to the mayor, the councilmen, prosecuting attorney and judges. They inspected the cottages in which the boys of the Republic live and where each has a room, and looked through the printing plant in which the printing for the institution is done by the boys and some commercial work besides.

Another interesting place visited was the dairy which includes several prize cows of which the boys are exceedingly proud.

The guests were told that a not political campaign has been on the past week for the primary election which is taking place today.

After dinner at the Republic the team motored to Pomona to attend exercises for the dedication of a new Y. M. C. A. building which were conducted by "Fighting Bob Shuler" of Los Angeles. These were brief and the team returned to Glendale about 4 p. m.

Saturday afternoon the Hi Y group of which G. Edwin Murphy is leader, was the guest of the Long Beach Hi Y which entertained them with an in-door ball game in the new gym followed by a swim and a banquet. The party, which numbered 13, was accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Murphy.

The same afternoon a group of 15 boys accompanied by W. G. Boyd and Thomas Meddick, enjoyed a swim at Bimini Baths.

May the boys of the Hi Y are to entertain a delegation from the Long Beach Hi Y.

Burbank Association to Give Program in Evening for Them

BURBANK, March 25.—The Parent-Teachers' Association did special honor to the fathers of the school children when it planned a program for them and gave it in the evening instead of the afternoon in order that they might attend, and that this honor was appreciated was clearly shown by the surprisingly good attendance at the meeting.

Charles W. Kinser, Southern California executive of the Father and Son League was the principal speaker and took the place of Arthur C. Brown, a member of the county board of education. He talked on "Home Problems" as they have arisen today and referred to their complexity. He said the home had come to be only a place to sleep and eat and add that many fathers thought that with the supplying of the money, their duty was done and here, he said, they lost much of the joy of life; that to mingle with the children and be a boy with his boys was the source of the greatest satisfaction to a father, and paid in the end in the betterment of the boy which naturally resulted.

He urged that parents watch the reading matter which their children perused and see that it is not that which is barred from the mails and so sent over the country by express. He said that as a result of keeping count on children in Pasadena, among other things it was found that some of the high school boys made a practice of going to the picture shows nine times a week.

Mrs. Swain, who is vice-principal of the primary department led the discussions on the value of the association. She spoke appreciatively of the work which the association had done in providing clothing for children who came to school in need of such.

Mrs. Knox recounted briefly the work and purpose of the various committees of the association. Rev. Parker of the Christian church was another one who spoke on the value of the efforts of the parents working through the organization. He said the parents should aid the teachers when they implant a beautiful idea in the minds of the children, and on the other hand he said he did not believe that teachers should teach that man was descended from a monkey after the children had been taught to believe in God.

Mr. Thomas gave a nice talk in which he emphasized the desire of the teachers to co-operate with the parents and the welcome which to friends of the children would receive from the teachers should they come to the school.

The opening numbers of the program were a delight to the large audience. The orchestra made up of pupils from the high and the grammar schools' and led by Professor H. S. White did some very fine work. Professor White has accomplished a great deal with the pupils in a musical way. The high school glee club also gave a well rendered selection, and the two piano duets by Professor White and Moore so delighted the audience they were forced to give an encore. The exercise by the Boy Scouts was finely given and well received. Mrs. Ett Harding, president, presided.

Betty Compson, an erstwhile bathing beauty, and latterly a dramatic player of exceptional and established merit, scores her fourth successive hit as a star in "The Green Temptation," a Paramount picture screened for the first time in this city at the T. D. & L. theatre. Miss Compson, whose host of admirers manifested considerable pleasure at her interpretation, gave a remarkable rendition of three separate and widely diversified roles. Her performance ranks her among the foremost dramatic performers of the screen. Excellent support is given her by Mahlon Hamilton, Theodore Kosloff and a number of other popular players embraced in the supporting cast.

An added attraction is "Kalypto" or Calypso, as it is sometimes spelled, which will be remembered by any one who has read mythological history as being the Greek goddess of enchantment. She was one of the many beautiful daughters of the Greek god Zeus, and was a thorough "vamp," casting a strange spell over the young gods in Olympus by her marvelous dancing. The act is a happy combination of art and wit, teeming with funny situations and amusing good clean dialog, which has established it as one of the triumphs of modern vaudeville.

KEEP URIC ACID OUT OF JOINTS

Tells Rheumatism Suffers to Eat Less Meat and Take Salts.

Rheumatism is easier to avoid than to cure, states a well-known authority. We are advised to dress warmly; keep the feet dry; avoid exposure; eat less meat, but drink plenty of good water. Rheumatism is a direct result of eating too much meat and other rich foods, that produce uric acid which is absorbed into the blood. It is the function of the kidneys to filter this acid from the blood and cast it out in the urine; the pores of the skin are also a means of freeing the blood of this impurity. In damp and chilly cold weather the skin pores are closed thus forcing the kidneys to do double work, they become weak and sluggish and fail to eliminate the uric acid which keeps accumulating and circulating through the system, eventually settling in the joints and muscles causing stiffness, soreness and pain called rheumatism.

At the first twinge of rheumatism get from any pharmacy about four ounces of Jad Salts; put two table-spoonful in a glass of water and drink before breakfast each morning for a week. This is said to eliminate uric acid by stimulating the kidneys to normal action, thus ridding the blood of these impurities. Jad Salts is inexpensive, harmless and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and is used with excellent results by thousands of folks who are subject to rheumatism.

HAND-MADE REED FURNITURE HERE

There is a new industry in Glendale, Phil D. Nolan, who for several years has maintained a furniture factory in Santa Barbara, is now located in Glendale, where he is trying to help the residents by giving them a service through which they may purchase hand-made reed furniture and oddities and also have pieces of furniture of this kind repaired. This establishment is located at the corner of the Sam Seelig market on Brand boulevard, the entrance being on Wilson avenue, just off which avenue the plant is located. In establishing such a service here Mr. Nolan said that it is his intention, if conditions warrant, to bring his family and locate in Glendale permanently.

let out his vineyard to servants and then in the time of fruit sent messengers to collect the rent. These messengers were maltreated and killed. He sent his own son, thinking that he would be revered by them, but he also was cast out of the vineyard and slain.

This parable speaks of the maltreatment which the prophets of Israel had received at the hands of the religious rulers. The advent of Jesus was God's ultimatum to Israel. His final appeal to all men. The resources of His love were exhausted when He gave His son upon the cross.

After closing the parable, Jesus turned to his hearers and asked what, in their judgment, should be done to servants of the character of the man in the parable. They answered that such men should be miserably destroyed and the vineyard let out to others who would render the owner the fruits in their season. Thus out of the mouths of these religious rulers the verdict proceeded. It proved to be a remarkable prophecy of the destruction of Jerusalem and the passing over of the vineyard to a new set of husbandmen.

The kingdom has been taken from other nations besides the Jews for dishonoring Christ. It is not held by us on any other terms. What will happen when sufficient religious leaders repudiate Christ's deity and atoning work? God's blessing will be withdrawn. His testimony will be placed elsewhere.

AN OLD RECIPE TO DARKEN HAIR

Sage Tea and Sulphur Turns Gray, Faded Hair Dark and Glossy.

Almost every one knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is messy and troublesome. Nowadays we simply ask at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." You will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients, at very little cost. Everybody uses this preparation now, because no one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, thick and glossy, and you look years younger.—Adv.

Truths in Epigram

A thought is often original, though you have uttered it a hundred times. Holmes (1809-1894). To be engaged in opposing wrong affords, under the conditions of our mental constitution, but a slender guarantee for being right.—Gladstone 1809-1898.

PROGRESS AT GENOA

At this writing the Genoa conference, far from having dissolved in a great explosion, continues to do business. Proceedings are marked by general amiability. They are carried on in a spirit of hopefulness. Lloyd George is quoted as saying that the peace of Europe has been assured. His word will be accepted in the absence of anything more authoritative.

course the treaty between Germany and Russia was a surprise. No power represented at Genoa pretends that the surprise involved also the emotion of pleasure. There has been no showing that the compact is to change the plan or lessen the effect of the conference. There comes a rumor from Paris that the treaty is not merely commercial, but in part military. There is a chance that this may not be true. Of all European peoples the French just now are the most perturbed, and due to their alarm, prone to discern bogies. The report may be a mere expression of such fear.

There has been much loose talk as to the way in which a combined Slav and Teuton force is to sweep Europe. As a matter of fact both powers are helpless without the co-operation of the rest of the powers. Germany has not been forgiven its debts. It has no financial reserve for financing Russia, a country that, economically considered, now lies a ghastly and tragic wreck. In resuscitation of prostrate Russia, the world must help, or the effort fail. Doubtless the mass of Russians have no desire for conquest. That desire belongs to the bolsheviks. Before it is possible to foreshadow a Russia once more erect and strong, the bolshevik regime must be regarded as overthrown and done.

Germany and Russia both seem to prize their mutual agreement. Each apparently has forgotten that in the past a treaty meant nothing to either of them.

WALL STREET GOSSIP

Brisbane says that the gossip of Wall street is that there will be another in the senate in place of Senator Johnson. "A safe and sane man of our kind will be very welcome," etc., etc.

California cares nothing whatever concerning the gossip of Wall street in this regard. It does not believe that Wall street is gossiping or that the street cares anything about the subject. Setting up a man to be the bugaboo of Wall street is an old game. The street takes no part in the game; probably is unaware of it.

The Hearst man expresses regret that Johnson could not go to California to "defend himself against his usual collection of enemies out there." In this is betrayed a naive ignorance of the situation. The senator could afford to overlook his "usual enemies." They counted but little in the aggregate of opposition. The opposition was made up almost exclusively of former supporters and old friends.

Here is more from the same source: "Those who have traveled in California, and talked to Californians, cannot very well imagine men and women of that state turning against Hiram Johnson, known and admired all over the country for his deep sincerity and first class fighting power. * * * Hiram Johnson will roll up his usual California majority. * * * To cut down California's giant trees would be no greater crime than cutting down Hiram Johnson."

All this is quoted not with the view to discussing it, but for the information of Californians who may not experience the educational influence of the papers originally publishing it. Comment is withheld for the present save as to a few points:

When people are accused of turning against Johnson, may not they ask who turned first? They were begging their senior senator to take one course. He adhered to the opposite course, deaf to all appeals. The petitioners represented the citizenry of California. Leading the several lists were the names of men who had fought for Johnson in every one of his campaigns. Many have declared openly that never again will they support him. The people had honored Hiram Johnson. They expected consideration from him, and they failed to receive it. He elected in the emergency to ally himself with Hearst, a man deemed by a majority of Californians to be a pernicious influence, insincere in all but his anti-American policies. This alliance was risky. If harm come of it to the senator, he will have to look to his chosen mentor for comfort. The cutting down of giant trees could not win approval. However, a monarch of the forest has been known to decay and fall.

The campaign is ahead and there is abundant time to consider it. At this stage of the preliminaries one fact is assured. This is that Californians are not to be urged by the patter and piffle of Brisbane to do the bidding of Hearst.

THE UTILITY OF BRAINS

According to Dr. Lightner Witmer, who professes psychology at the University of Pennsylvania, intelligence is helpful, but not at all necessary. He continued: "Education is the device of civilization to keep us from encountering new problems. The method employed is showing the pupil how to solve problems instead of letting him solve them for himself. This makes the exercise of intelligence unnecessary."

No discussion is likely to arise from this. Nothing is suggested for discussion. The subject that is brought to mind has nothing to do with the absurd pronouncement of Witmer. On the contrary one reads the paragraph and feels no impulse but to ask why a professor, presumably a person of common sense, at least, elects to act and talk like a half-wit. Certain scientific instructors seem to think that the more absurd the pose they take, the greater their poetry. They become studiously ridiculous. What does a professor gain by the attempt to make education appear a useless process? There is no question but that intelligence is essential not only in attaining education, but for success in any field. The trouble with this professor of psychology seems to be that he does not know what intelligence means, evidently regarding it as the mental quality inherent in genius alone.

JUNKING GREAT SHIPS

Ships, once the pride of Americans, are being reduced to junk. Each the best of its class at the time of launching, it has served its term, and the material in it must be devoted now to the arts of peace and industry. The sentiment of regret is stirred by the spectacle. Nevertheless, the altered status of the navy is regarded as in accord with economic wisdom. Also it is in consonance with the world desire for peace.

The huge craft now dissolving at the touch of the acetylene torches of hundreds of workmen are obsolescence. They no longer could meet the exigencies of sea battle. Hence their vanishing does not weaken naval power. A little later the ships doomed by the four-power pact will be boarded by the wrecking crews. These are ships of the first class. Statesmen have reached the conclusion that in no other way could the peace of the world be promoted as by destruction of new battleships. Such destruction is the visible pledge of unity and good faith among nations.

The United States will be left with a navy as strong as any in the world. It is suffering no indignity. It is carrying out its own suggestions. It is not endangering its safety. It retains enough ships and enough men to carry out its part of the compact with the other powers. It will be an aid in carrying out the universal mandate against war. It remained for the American congress to attempt to make the navy relatively weak. This attempt was foiled by the protest of the people against a policy they deemed unpatriotic and pernicious.

Perhaps there will be no more battleships constructed. In the ten-year naval building vacation, it is likely that the airship will become so potent, that no vessel could be launched able to resist or repel attack from an enemy flying overhead.

To the rest of the world, France is likely to appear just now as unduly timorous. French statesmanship seems to be getting out of touch with the spirit of the allies. Hardly is it to be assumed that an arrangement acceptable to England could be so disastrous to France as to necessitate hurried preparations for war. The allies are not likely to throw away any of the advantages they now possess, nor are Russia and Germany in any condition, even if in the temper, to dictate terms to anybody. The idea that the smaller powers of Europe are about to be swallowed does not find lodgment in the common mind.

A GRAND OLD HEROINE

By DR. FRANK CRANE

At Kingston-on-Thames in England on February 25, 1921, the widow Collet, or, to be more exact, Mrs. Sarah Collet, was married to Mr. Lewis Robert Goodwin.

That in itself is not an occurrence of outstanding interest to the general public. People are marrying and giving in marriage every day.

But what renders this item somewhat unique is that for Mrs. Goodwin this is her seventh marriage, and she is eighty-five years old.

She has a daughter sixty-five. She has borne altogether sixteen children, six of whom are living, four of them sons and two daughters.

She has nine grandchildren and fifteen great-grandchildren. She was first married at the age of eighteen and most of her life she has spent in Kingston-on-Thames.

The young blade, who is leading this blushing creature to the altar for her seventh inning is sixty-six years old.

We note these points and are herewith endeavoring to give them publicity because we have a feeling that this will be an instance which will stir the general mind profoundly toward optimism.

There is too much literature in the world which disparages marriage, to say nothing of that literature which is pessimistic toward life itself. There are too many people who agree with the philosopher whose advice to those who were contemplating marriage as well as to those who were contemplating divorce was "Don't."

To fear marriage is to fear life. It is to doubt the practicality, if not the power, of love.

That army of cowardly old bachelors and timid old maids that refuse to take up arms in the great war of matrimony are the most contemptible of pacifists.

There are too many who believe with the old woman who declared that "Old maids is happiest—when they give up struggling."

There are too many who hold with the grandmother back in the Kentucky mountains. She had been married fifty years. She sat on her back stoop smoking a pipe. A young lady visitor was talking with her. She asked the young lady, "Are ye married?"

"No," was the answer. "Well," remarked the old lady, "after a few minutes' deliberation. 'You're just as good off.'"

Over against all of these infidels toward matrimony we wish to set forth the shining example of Mrs. Sarah Goodwin, formerly Collet.

As we see her in our mind's eye advancing toward the front line trenches of matrimony for the seventh time and gayly risking her prospects once more to the keeping of one of the male persuasion, we, as men and brethren, thank her for the compliment she pays her sex and are grateful to her for the sure influence which this, her "triumph of hope over experience," will have upon all hesitating and timid swains.

THE LISTENING POST

After all it isn't what you do for the Boss. It's what you do for YOU. It is fine to be of service to the Boss. It is fine to help build up the business. But it is finer to build up yourself.

And, of course, when you serve in such a way that you benefit the Boss, you are building yourself.

The Boss may be grateful. He may not be. Not all Bosses are alike.

The Boss may know you are helping to build up the business. Or he may not. If he is a wise Boss he will know his helpers and benefactors. If he is not a wise Boss he may not know.

But after all, good work is building YOU up. And when you build YOU up, you have an asset of high value.

The Boss may have profited. But you profit most. For the Boss may lose you. You may leave him. But you never need to quit yourself. Or leave yourself.

The asset you have builded by good work is always yours. The asset of industry. Honesty. Initiative. Good nature and cheerfulness and usefulness.

They are always yours.

The mechanic does a good piece of work. It profits three people. The Boss in whose employ he is. The man for whom it is done; and who pays for it. And, most of all, the mechanic himself.

For every good piece of work he does makes him a better workman. And the better workman he is, the better wage he will command. The more in demand his services are.

So it is well to remember that good work may profit the employer. But it profits the employe. It profits the doer most. Because it builds character. Usefulness. Quality.

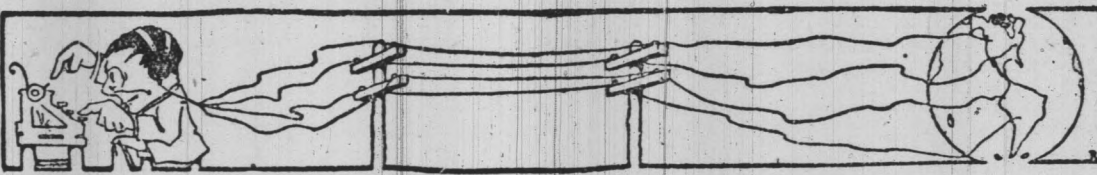

And these are the wage earning elements of service.

Never mind if the Boss does not notice. Never mind if he does profit. In the end, you are the one who will profit most.

For Bosses come and Bosses go. But you go on forever.

Don't be too much concerned about the Boss. But be a lot concerned about yourself.

SONGS OF THE POETS

Four-Leaf Clover—Ella Higginson (1862—)

I know a place where the sun is like gold, And the cherry blossoms burst with snow, And down underneath is the loveliest nook, Where the four-leaf clovers grow.

One leaf is for hope, and one is for faith, And one is for love, you know.

And God put another in for luck— If you search, you will find where they grow.

But you must have hope, and you must have faith, You must love and be strong—and so, If you work, if you wait, you will find the place Where the four-leaf clovers grow.

EASTERN POINT OF VIEW

WOMEN IN CONGRESS

[Washington Star]

The widow of Representative Parrish of Texas, who lost his life the other day in an accident, has declined a suggestion that she stand for the succession. Instantly another woman in the district has offered herself, and is arranging to take the stump.

Elsewhere in the south women are showing an ambition for office—legislative office preferred. In Mississippi a woman is a candidate to succeed Mr. Williams in the senate.

The south was not a leader, but appeared to be a reluctant follower, in the movement for the enfranchisement of women. Years ago, when the women of the north were agitating the subject with both tongue and pen, delivering addresses and issuing pamphlets and drawing hot fire from the opposition, the women of the south were either cold to the proposition, or unfriendly. Their northern sisters complained of their attitude.

But since the election was enlarged to include women, the southern women have been very alert to the opportunities. They have "taken to politics," quite naturally—have been prominent in organization work, and a number of them—though without marked success—have tried for office of one kind or another.

Miss Rakin was a western woman. Miss Robertson is a southwestern woman. So far the north has not scored in the congressional field, and she is showing no disposition to do so this year. But there is time, and before the primaries are held women may be announcing for house or senate in that section.

RUSSIA: BLOCK AND KEY

[New York Commercial]

Russia is really the key to Europe's recovery. If trade relations could be reopened with her by all the countries of Europe, including Germany, it would

JUST BETWEEN OURSELVES

By DELLA STEWART

How inherent is the love of display with us all! Spring, more than any other season, seems to quicken it. We women have been planning our fresh wardrobe for weeks. We have spent all that we could, some of us more than we should, to garb ourselves in freshness of detail. We've been the slaves of modistes and millinery experts and meditated more over the length of a skirt, some of us, at least, than we have over the welfare of the whole world. The first loomed so much larger to us, somehow.

Masculinity, for whom we have largely been doing it, has made many a sly gibe at us, the while the sterner sex has been indirectly encouraging our propensity. For if there's one thing more than another that appeals to men-kind in general, it's inciting women on one side and commenting with amused superiority on the other. But they needn't. We women can see through them!

There's no one who loves display more than a man. Of course men will indignantly deny the accusation, but that goes to prove nothing. Actions are so much more really indicative of the real direction of the mind. All men are born free and equal—so they insist. But let one of their number be elected Grand Skookum of the I. M. G. O. or some other intricate set of initials and don regalia made up of tag ends, from the costumes of wild Indians, ancient priesthood or modern Turk and be set up in a canopied chair in a wonderfully and fearfully adorned lodge room and see if he doesn't quickly change his belief about strict equality!

There's no sex in the love of display!

start the great economic machine moving again in all its parts. The loss of Germany as a trade factor has been a serious matter, but it is being corrected because, however slow the process, Germany is working toward the goal of re-establishment of her commercial relations with all the world. Russia's loss from the world's trade has been felt throughout the world. She is like a house burned down. The land is there, but before it can be made useful a new structure must be reared. The soviet government is merely poking among the embers. It may be that Lloyd George can at least begin to clear them away. He does not promise too much; he merely hopes to make a beginning, and in that ambition he should have the encouragement and support of all the civilized world.

ANOTHER HUGHES SUCCESS

[Chicago Evening Post]

Secretary Hughes scores again. From Paris and from London he has received assurance that the equity of the American claim in the matter of maintenance costs for the Rhine army will not be disputed. The French and British governments recognize that the claim is just and must be met.

This disposes happily of what might have been an occasion for misunderstanding and friction. Room existed for half-splitting over technicalities, but the first impulse to engage in an argument yielded to better judgment, and the cogently persuasive notes of the secretary of state evoked wise and conciliatory replies.

The record thus set right, the United States can afford to be magnanimous with withholding any pressure for collection until France and Belgium are in better position. There is no desire on the part of America to add to the burdens of countries engaged in a hard struggle to regain sound footing.

The possibility of further co-operation between the United States and her former allies in such work as must be done to make the world a place of peace and security for all who dwell on it depends upon keeping relations unclouded by misconceptions as to mutual obligations. It either side seems to be forgetful, it is the duty of the other to prompt the fading memory. Secretary Hughes is wisely faithful in this duty, and performs it tactfully.

COMMENT ON DAY'S NEWS

By HENRY JAMES

Probably the divorce problem is handled by the courts in accordance with the law. This being the case they often put emphasis to the pronouncement of Beadle Bumble, that the law is an ass.

Strict application of the law results in the working of injustice, and often has the effect of denying a petition for divorce despite the fact that the petition is fully warranted, and the granting of it would be in accord with sound public policy.

For example, a wife brings suit on the ground of desertion. She has to make oath that the husband left against her will, that he has been absent for a year, and that she would welcome him back to the former status.

The facts are likely to be that he left only after there had been mutual conclusion that to continue living together would be impossible; after there had been repeated quarrels, and affection had utterly vanished. The chances are that they were glad to be rid of each other, that they would resume fighting at the first opportunity, and that the plaintiff, far from being ready to take the husband back, hopes never to see him again.

If she tells the truth she can't get the divorce. Hence it is natural to assume that she does not always tell the truth, a deviation from morals that she justifies as being a matter of expediency.

It is strange, since there is human intelligence, that some inking of it does not appear in the statutes covering divorce.

Ex-President Wilson hammers a very drastic typewriter. When he hits the keys, it may be imagined that the bearings of the machine smoke. His opinion is expressed with emphasis and without apology.

When a man is smitten by a message hurled from the Wilson typewriter, he gathers himself up out of the dust and exclaims "never touched me!" He tries to make it appear that the experience was rather pleasing.

Nevertheless, the belief that there are a number of others on the Wilson list causes no delight on the part of politicians who believe their own names to be among those present.

A paragraph concerning the former chief of police of Los Angeles had been written for this column. It did not commend his course. Before the paragraph had been printed word arrived that the chief had been deposed.

There must be some ground for faith in the power of the press.

A correspondent complains that when he sold a book at a second hand store the utmost he could get for it was fifty cents. A little later he found that he needed the book after all, and went to the store again. The identical volume was on sale at $2.50. The correspondent calls this profiteering. Perhaps he is right.

It is the rule of the merchandiser to buy as cheaply as possible and sell for all he can get. This is particularly true in relation to second hand books. The fact that such a book is offered for sale sets up in the mind of the dealer the theory that the sale is necessary. It is not being made as an ordinary commercial transaction but to meet an emergency. The dealer jumps to the conclusion that anything he offers, even though it be insultingly trivial, will be accepted, and generally he is right.

Detroit has purchased the local car lines. The transaction amounted to nearly twenty million dollars. The purchase must be regarded as an experiment, although there have been precedents.

Where one city has succeeded in making the lines pay, another city has scored costly failure. So the outcome depends upon the perspicacity of the management.

Brisbane regards Russia as a penitent sinner. This view is at least partly correct. Admittedly it is a sinner.

Precocity is various in its manifestations. At San Jose a little girl of fourteen, after a tilt with her lover of seventeen, shot him. She is very sorry now and he is dead or near it.

The episode is not hard to explain. Older women have set the example of slaying the recalcitrant male. No wonder a child regarded it as the proper course.

WATCHING THE PARADE

By JOHN PILGRIM

Two years ago I made the acquaintance of a young man. He was about the liveliest I ever knew. He had the town's business at his finger tips. He made more money than he could spend, although he devoted himself heartily to spending as soon as the lid came down on his big desk. He had a wife and a kid and a car and a home with trees around it; which he never saw clearly except when he spurted out of the front door to catch the 9:14. This year I saw him again.

"How's business?" I asked.

"Rotten," sezze.

But it was hot. Whatever it may have been in other people's lines business was good in his. But he wasn't getting any of it. His wife has gone home to mother. The kid is at school; the home is sold, and the car has been traded in for a red roadster that is only short two wheels and therefore is just a drawback.

"I was too good a mixer," he said to me. Somehow, these youngsters talk to me that way. Maybe because I'm not very good as a preacher. "I spent so much time and money being a good fellow that people lost confidence in me. I did not make a single mistake in business, but the solid men thought I spent my life at the cabarets."

He doesn't look seedy, but he does not look just right, either. There is a strained line or two about his eyes, and his mouth is a bit pinched. But he has sense enough and courage enough to know that just because he was on the loose fog a year or so is no bar to his coming back.

"I went to a lot of these staid old timers who had been sort of forgetting to telephone me when they had business to do," said he, "and I made full confessions. I didn't whine or squeal. I told 'em I was getting my medicine and I deserved it all. I didn't even ask them for business. I only asked them to remember that my business had always been well looked to."

"Then keep your eyes on me," I said. "If I make good give me what part of your business I'm entitled to. If I take even one little skid forget me."

It's a little early to foretell results, he said. But he is making enough money to pay all expenses and the interest on his debts and every now and then he bites off a little of that principal.

"Besides that," said he, "in a few weeks the Old Lady will come home."

DO YOU-KNOW THAT?

The wastage of natural gas in the United States is about half of the total production. It is estimated that $35,000,000 worth of natural gas could be saved annually by proper adjustment of cooking appliances alone.

With an increase in population of Manchuria of almost 100 per cent since 1910, the number of plague deaths in 1920-21 was only 8500 as compared with 50,000 recorded in the 1910-11 epidemics.

Some grape growers make two applications of nitrogen to their vineyards, the first at plowing time, and the second near the blossoming period.

HONOR RECENT KANSAS BRIDE

Quite a number of Glendale ladies attended the miscellaneous shower given Friday afternoon by Mrs. J. F. Friesen of Highland Park in honor of a recent bride, Mrs. Charles Kaiser from Kansas. A color scheme of pink and white was carried out in roses and table decorations were in the same colors. The afternoon was devoted to making a pattern for a quilt to be presented to the bride. Every one presented their favorite recipe and each lady wrote a bit of advice to the new bride. At the close of a pleasant social afternoon, individual trays carrying ice cream, cake and candies, were served. Those who attended from Glendale were Mrs. P. M. Goertz, Mrs. Joseph Funk, Mrs. H. H. Wiebe, and the Misses Cornelia, Freda and Linda Goertz.

THE HUPPS ARE ENTERTAINING TODAY

Mr. and Mrs. P. B. Hupp of 335 North Isabel street are entertaining today at a 1 o'clock luncheon given in honor of Mrs. F. Cole who is to leave for her home in Illinois. A color scheme of yellow is being used, the table being centered with golden poppies and greenery. At each place, which is marked with a traveling place card, are tiny yellow and green nut baskets and yellow candles complete, a beautifully appointed table. A motor trip will be enjoyed this afternoon over to Hollywood and vicinity. Covers were laid for Mrs. F. Cole, honoree, Mr. and Mrs. D. Mortl, Mrs. R. J. Ren of Long Beach, Mrs. Mary Hupp and the host and hostess, Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Hupp.

PICNIC PARTY AT GRIFFITH PARK

A very pleasant picnic was enjoyed Friday evening at Griffith Park by a party of Glendale people. They drove over to the park and cooked their dinner there, later driving over to Brookside Park where they spent the remainder of the evening. Those in the party included Mr. and Mrs. Dan Welch and family, Mr. and Mrs. Mort Woodbury and family, Mr. and Mrs. Harshman and family, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Harshman and family and Mr. and Mrs. J. Hoover and family.

MARY JANE GILLETTE HOLD MEETING TONIGHT

The Mary Jane Gillette Tent No. 18, Daughters of Veterans, will hold their regular meeting Tuesday night at the American Legion hall, 610 1/2 East Broadway. At the close of the business session about 9:30, a social time will be enjoyed in which some old-fashioned square dances will be participated in. There will be special square dance music also.

UNION LABEL LEAGUE MEETING

As a means of promoting acquaintance among members and a knowledge of the plans and purposes of their organization, ladies of the Union Label League, this city, will give a bunko party at the home of Mrs. Halls, 126 Franklin Court, Thursday afternoon at 1:30. Prizes will be given and refreshments will be served. This league is an auxiliary of the Glendale Carpenters' local.

GIVE DINNER AT PALAISE ROYALE

Mrs. A. F. Tresslar of Eagle Rock entertained at a dinner party Sunday evening, given at the Palais Royale. MARY GILLETTE TENT HOLDS MEETING

The Mary Jane Gillette tent will hold its last meeting before the state convention this evening in the American Legion hall at 8:15 with Mrs. Susie Peck presiding. The convention takes place May 8 at Riverside.

WHY GO TO LOS ANGELES

to buy high class millinery, sport goods, neck wear, corsets, brasieres, sweaters, skirts and hosiery when you can save from 15 to 25 per cent on the same article in Glendale at the Ladies' Toggery Shop, 133 S. Brand Blvd.—Adv.

RED PEPPER HEAT STOPS BACKACHE

The heat of red peppers takes the "ouch" from a sore, lame back. It cannot hurt you, and it certainly ends the torture at once. When you are suffering so you can hardly get around, just try Red Pepper Rub, and you will have the quickest relief known. Nothing has such concentrated, penetrating heat as red peppers. Just as soon as you apply Red Pepper Rub you will feel the tingling heat. In three minutes it warms the sore spot through and through. Pain and soreness are gone. Ask any druggist for a jar of Rowles' Red Pepper Rub. Be sure to get the genuine, with the name Rowles on each package.—Adv.

MISS YOUNG BRIDE TO BE HONORED

Miss Della Young, daughter of Mrs. W. Young of 528 West Doran, was honored at a pretty party and shower given Monday evening by Miss Margaret McPherson at her home, 607 North Central. Miss Young is to become the bride of Meredith Syple, of Mile High Ranch, Beaumont, a former resident of Glendale. The wedding is to take place in the near future but the exact date has been kept a profound secret. The McPherson home was gay with Shirley poppies and other appropriate floral decorations and the evening was devoted to Banko. At the close of the game a supper was served, the final course brought in on the tea wagon proving to be a miscellaneous shower of pretty gifts which will be used by the young matron in the furnishing of her home. The guest list included Mrs. Willomette Young, mother of the honoree, Mrs. Clarence Kaihaugh, sister of Miss Young, Miss Goldie Young, Misses Vesta Morrow, Leza Stables, Cymbal Taylor, Katherine Taylor, Helen Cobb, Alta Harrison, Hazel Ford, Faith Marian Rich, Alice Lookbaugh, Marian Gregg, Murray Longley, Margaret and Vera McPherson and Miss Gracewell.

GLENEIRIE CHAPTER HONOR MISS KINCH

The officers of the Gleneirie chapter, O. E. S., entertained Monday evening with a kitchen shower in honor of Miss Franc Kinch, who will become the bride of Jack Rondou on Thursday, April 27th. The affair was given at the home of the bride-to-be, 328 North Brand boulevard and decorations throughout the spacious rooms were carried out in yellow and white, Japanese marigolds and orange blossoms being used. At the close of a pleasant evening which was devoted to games, toasts to the bride and groom, and several musical numbers by Miss Kinch, an ice course consisting of yellow and white individual cakes and orange ice were served. Miss Kinch was presented with many useful kitchen utensils. Guests included Mrs. Dan Campbell, Mrs. Sallie C. Braden, Mrs. Mary Plume, Miss Mildred Lyon, Mrs. Mae Warrick, Mrs. Frank Booth, Mrs. Elle Richardson, Mrs. Lydia M. Kulp, Mrs. Alice M. Carver, Mrs. Jennie Phillips, Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Kinch, Miss Franc Kinch and Jack Rondou.

MRS. MCGREGOR HAS CLASS AS GUESTS

Miss Jennie McGregor, a teacher in the local high school, delightfully entertained one of her classes in higher algebra Saturday evening at her home, 212 West Lomita avenue. Many amusing games were played and stories told. Refreshments of ice cream and cake were served. Those who enjoyed the party were, Miss Dorothy Gilson, Miss Theima Wise, Miss Vesta Morrow, Miss Veda Knapp, Miss Genevieve Mulligan, Miss Jane Fritch, Miss Florida Craig, Messrs. Stillman Chase, Lloyd Knapp, Lawrence Knapp, Eugene Baron, Dick Fisher, Albert Hewitt, Willard Roberts, John Simpson and the hostess, Miss Jessie McGregor.

THE WIEBES ENTERTAIN IN HONOR OF KANSAS FOLKS

Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Wiebe of 438 Burchett street will entertain at dinner Wednesday evening in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kaiser from Kansas. Other guests will be Dr. and Mrs. J. F. Friesen from Highland Park; Mr. and Mrs. P. M. Goertz, Miss Cornelia Goertz and Herschel Everett of Glendale. Drink Fru-Ber-ree at soda fountains. Fruity, winey tang.—Adv.

EPWORTH LEAGUE HOLDS MEETING

A very unique meeting was held at the Casa Verdugo Epworth League Sunday evening, in the form of a conventionette. Delegates came from the streets instead of cities, and answered to roll call by Bible quotations. Much enthusiasm was aroused over the coming convention that is to be held at Monterey Park May 12, 13 and 14, by Mr. J. B. Clarke, a member of the district cabinet. Several delegates are going to attend the full time and many hope to go for part of the time. The members are very encouraged over the growth of their league. Seven new active members were taken in last Sunday.

MRS. BROWN WRITES OF EXPERIENCES

Howard Brown of 406 North Maryland, is in receipt of an interesting letter from his mother, Mrs. Mary Brown, now in London with his brother, Lyman-Brown, describing a visit to St. James Palace to see the wedding gifts of Princess Mary, a display she found well worth seeing.

MRS. HOLBROOK ENTERTAINS SECTION

The home of Mrs. Benjamin Holbrook, 426 West Harvard, was the scene of a pretty social affair when members of the Parliamentary Law section who took part in the play which the section gave before the Tuesday Afternoon club, were entertained at a luncheon, Miss Eva Daniels, author of the play, being the guest of honor. Each guest responded to call with a limerick about some other member, and Mrs. Harry Greenwalt, curator of the section, gave a group of original limericks, one for each member of the section. The club colors, green and gold, featured the table decorations in which California poppies were used with charming effect. Following the luncheon a very pleasant social afternoon was enjoyed. Covers were laid for Mrs. C. E. Hutchinson, president of the club, Mrs. Harry Greenwalt, curator, Miss Eva Daniels, Mrs. Hoopes of Seattle, Mrs. W. L. Andrews, Mrs. C. A. Brandstater, Mrs. E. L. Cline, Mrs. Colin Gable, Mrs. C. A. Perry, Mrs. C. Redmond, Mrs. E. B. Moore, Mrs. Regan and Mrs. W. H. Verity.

Kaiser from Kansas. Other guests will be Dr. and Mrs. J. F. Friesen from Highland Park; Mr. and Mrs. P. M. Goertz, Miss Cornelia Goertz and Herschel Everett of Glendale.

SPEED THE WINGS OF JUSTICE IS THE LOWE DOWN

Worshippers at Shrine of Gettarnov Find Skidding Room Only

Monday is always pretty tough around the office, what with the girl reporters telling the society editoress of the swell times they had on Sunday playing tennis and dancing and the male of the species recovering from their day off "neverthing. Yesterday morning the city editor took a look at me and said, "Scop, hustle out on your beat and drag in a lire human interest story."—Just like that. I hustled up to Police Judge F. H. Lowe's court, leaving the office at 8:30 and arriving in the court room about 10 a. m. Just in time to hear Judge Lowe start his class in subtraction—subtracting fives, tens and twenties from the bankroll. I got in just in time to hear a lanky looking bird answer, "Here," when Judge Lowe called his name. Said lanky bird drapes himself over the railing in front of the bar of justice—and listens to the charge. He thought Verdugo road was a race track and he was Barney Oldfield. The judge said, "Do you wish to enter a plea at this time?" Embryo Barney Oldfield answers back real quick, "No sir." "Are you guilty or not guilty," says the judge. "Guilty," is the reply and lanky bird is divided between fear and the desire to grin. "Fifteen dollars. Call the next case," says the judge. Lanky Bird separates fifteen bucks from his bankroll, puts the other dollar in his pocket and walks out. He decided it was no laughing matter. Next customer had a like charge against him. He thought he was driving a race against time on Central avenue. He lost to a motorcycle cop and— "He walks up to the rail and while Judge Lowe reads the charge to him this baby is feeling around with his foot for the third rail. He had a nice new alibi all framed. It was original, too. He answers real prompt, "Guilty your honor. I have lived in Glendale for several years and this is the first time that I have been arrested. My speedometer—" "Fifteen dollars," says Judge Lowe. "Call the next case." The next defendant thinks to pull a good one and get away with it. When he hears the charge of driving over thirty miles an hour on one of the main streets of Glendale he answers real lively: "Guilty your honor, I live in another town and—" "Welcome to our city. Fifteen dollars. Next case," says the judge and the stranger within our gates pays his assessment and leaves, a life member of the Speed Demons' association. So they go on down the line, offenses ranging from parking too near a fire hydrant to using the streets for a speedway. Every one has a swell alibi but something seemed to go wrong and the alibis all backfired or failed to resist. When the session finally ended and the last motorist had left the court room there were a pile of bills and checks piled up in front of the court clerk that looked like the second Liberty loan. Judge Lowe left the bench, went down stairs to take another look at his brand new "Lizzie" parked at the side of the city hall. Drink Fru-Ber-ree at soda fountains. Fruity, winey tang.—Adv.

'DRUNKARD' WILL BE FEATURE OF ART SHOW

Harry Davis's Statue of Figure of By-gone Days Is Installed

With the opening of the art exhibition of the Sculptors' Guild of Los Angeles, in the chamber of commerce tonight, particular attention will be directed to two works of first importance, the study of the "Drunkard," by Harry Davis, and the "Riders of the Sunlit Trail," both of particular interest, in that they depict by-gone days, the former in the manufacturing towns of the east and the other the wild, daring days of old California. Statues that seem to pulse with life and paintings imbued with the spirit of the west, breathing the heart of the outdoors, will form the art exhibit when it opens tonight at 8 o'clock in the auditorium of the chamber of commerce, to continue for four days or until April 28. Some of the world's famous sculptors and artists are to be represented at this exhibit by their work and many of them will attend in person. Hal Swartz, secretary of the Sculptors' Guild of Southern California, who is giving of his time and labor to assist in making Glendale's first ascension to the realms of art a success, is working today assisting in the assembling and arranging of the various works. He said this morning that one of the features of the exhibit would be a sculptor at work using a live model. LADIES OF SOUTHWEST TO HOLD MEETING The ladies of the Southwest Section of the auxiliary of the First Congregational church met at the home of Mrs. Hartley Shaw Monday afternoon to sew for the Santa Claus Shop. At the close of an afternoon refreshments were served by the hostess. Drink Fru-Ber-ree at soda fountains. Fruity, winey tang.—Adv.

TWIN LIGHTS FOR SAN FERNANDO

apartments on the second floor and will be constructed by Mr. Wilson, William Griffin, plumber, will also put up a modern business structure on his property. Mrs. Moberly stated last night that she will build another unit to her ornamental rest home to cost about $60,000. In addition to these Roy Johnson lights to begin improvements on their buildings. The matter of granting these lights was laid over until Thursday night. All of the members of the council expressed themselves as being in favor of the two-light standard for the San Fernando road, but it was thought advisable to lay the thing over until Thursday night when members of the committee can be present along with Mr. Detrich, superintendent of plant and construction of the city. A protest containing 75 per cent of the frontage of Kenwood between Colorado and Broadway, was presented protesting against the improvement of this street with waterpipes and resurfacing. The contention of the protestors, several of whom were present, is that they want the new water pipe laid at the rear of the lots, as it is at present, while the decision of the council is that hereafter all waterpipe laid in Glendale shall be placed along the street, for various very good reasons. These protestors want the street resurfaced and also the water pipe laid, the only point of difference being that the property owners want the pipe at the back of the lot and the council states it shall be laid along the street if laid at all. Members of the Brethren church of Los Angeles were granted a permit to erect and maintain a gospel tent at the northeast corner of Glendale avenue and Colorado street, no meeting to be conducted after 9 o'clock in the evening. On motion of Councilman Stevenson this permit was granted. The proposed improvement work, which included the laying of water pipes and resurfacing the roadway on Jackson street between Broadway and Colorado street, was protested out by a petition which carried more than 50 per cent of the front along the street. On motion of Councilman Stevenson the First Congregational church was granted permission to erect its building on Central avenue closed than 25 feet from the front property line. The signatures of the residents in that section were secured as in favor of this move. An easement was received from Judge Erwin M. Ross which granted permission to the city to erect on his property in Glendale a pipe line and a sewage disposal plant for a period of several years. This was filed. A resolution of intention for the improvement of a portion of Brand boulevard was presented and passed.

Another Attractive Bungalow

In building a bungalow you get good value for your money because a small building fund gives the maximum of comfort and artistic appearance.

The bungalow, too, appeals most strongly to the woman of the family because the convenience of the interior arrangement saves her hundreds of foot-steps a day.

Due to recent modification of prices of building materials, all previous building estimates are subject to revision downward.

If you like this house plan consult your builder and ask him to figure on it for you. We think you will be surprised at its moderate cost.

HOOT GIBSON AT THE GLENDALE

Hoot Gibson has another name of course—Ed Gibson. But no one has called him Ed for years. "Hoot" has stuck and "Hoot" he'll always be.

This bright new star of Universal western dramas was born in Tekamah, Neb. As a boy he was so fond of the saddle that his father once had to deprive him of his pony to get him to work around the ranch. It was a hard life for Hoot when he had to give up his mount for a week and tread the rough ground on his own feet without a single chance to do those daredevil riding stunts for which, even as a boy, he had gained a reputation.

Later, he joined Bud Atkinson's circus and went to Australia. Then, in 1911, he went into motion pictures with Selig, Kalem and then Universal. After years of experience the best of his work can be seen in "The Fire Eater," the Universal special attraction at the Glendale theatre tonight. It is as a forest ranger with smiling proclivities and intrepid spirit that he will be seen in this.

Twenty thousand dollars worth of property was sold in Verdugo Woodlands, Sunday, when the opening of the unit of this wonderful tract was thrown on the market. In all 18 lots were sold, one of these being a piece which was purchased for $10,000.

During the week previous to the opening of this tract the tractor and scraper were busy laying out the roads and putting the tract in shape for selling. The prices that are being asked for these lots include all of the street improvements and the curbing. There will be no sidewalks in this tract, the laws extending down to the curbing, as is the case with a number of the more valuable subdivisions being installed suburban to Los Angeles.

More than six hundred people visited this tract on Sunday, and throughout all of Monday the people continued to come, which naturally resulted in sales being made, for to see this property is to secure a homestead there if such a thing is possible.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hall and daughter Audrey, Mr. and Mrs. Billings and son Joseph, Miss Menetta Booth and Mrs. Edith Gregg motored to Santa Barbara Sunday, where they enjoyed a picnic. They left Glendale about 5 o'clock in the morning and had breakfast at Ventura. On the return trip they took dinner at night at Ventura also.

TUJUNGA WATER RATE HEARING PROGRESSING

Harry Lynch on Stand for Water Company Yesterday

TUJUNGA, April 25.—With Examiner W. R. Williams of the state railroad commission presiding, the hearing on the petition of the Haines Canyon Water company for a readjustment of rates began yesterday in Legion hall.

Harry Lynch, president of the company, was called as a witness by W. E. Evans, attorney for the company, and occupied the stand during the entire day. The company's position was gone into in some detail, and Mr. Lynch was cross-examined by railroad commission engineers and by W. H. Hawley and John S. Knox, representing the consumers.

One of the principal points brought out during the day was the rate proposed by the company, a minimum charge of $1.50 for the first 400 feet and additional charge as water is used. It is believed that attorneys representing the consumers will present a plan calling for $1.25 minimum charge for 500 feet. The present rates consist of a meter charge of 50 cents per month, and if no water is used no additional charge is made.

During the proceedings yesterday a copy of the Verdugo Hills Record was introduced into the testimony by Mr. Knox, in an effort to show a discrepancy between statements made by Mr. Lynch in an interview published in that paper and statements made in the petition filed with the railroad commission. This Mr. Lynch admitted and explained that figures had been revised between the date of filing the petition and the date of the interview.

Yesterday's hearing was adjourned until 10:30 this morning. Additional witnesses were called today.

Work is progressing on the tea room and refreshment stand to be operated by G. M. Insley and Marvin Selleck in connection with the dance floor in Gollindrina park at the foot of Sunset boulevard on the highway. A five-year lease has been secured, and the lessees intend to improve the grounds with modern conveniences for picnickers. Dances and picture shows are to be given, probably twice a week.

Invitations for the T. N. T. club dance, to be given on Friday, April 28, are to be placed in the hands of the members of the club at a meeting to be held in the basement of the church tonight. A limited number of invitations is available, and these are to be given by club members to their friends.

La Crescenta

LA CRESCENTA, April 25.—A field meeting for citrus growers of Hansen Heights, La Canada and La Crescenta valley was held at the C. W. Cook ranch at Hansen Heights today. R. W. Hodgson, farm advisor, conducted the demonstration on the prevention and treatment of trunk and root diseases of citrus trees. A demonstration of arching trees injured by gophers was also given.

The cooked food sale held Saturday by the ladies of the Community church at the A. Craft grocery store on Honolulu avenue was a decided financial success. The proceeds will be added to the building fund of the new church.

Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Foster of East Honolulu avenue are leaving this week for a month's stay in Boston.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry J. Kramer whose marriage took place on the evening of Good Friday, are now touring the eastern states. Mrs. Kramer before her marriage was Miss Harriet J. Henckle of Duluth, Minn. Mr. Kramer, who has been residing at his home on North Rosemont avenue, is the originator of the Kramer dancing academy in Los Angeles.

Mrs. Harvey S. Bissell and her son, James McLachlen Bissell, are now at their home, "Hi-Up" ranch. Mr. and Mrs. Bissell named their young son after Mrs. Bissell's father, ex-Congressman James McLachlen of Pasadena.

Mrs. Lane Roth of Willets, Cal. is the house guest of her sister, Mrs. Henry Keller of Montrose. Mrs. Roth will be here a month.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Jones and daughters left Saturday for their new home, Seattle, Wash. Miss Elizabeth Jones was a great favorite among the younger set and was the honor guest at many affairs during the past week.

Miss Maude Phillips and Mrs. Minavia Snyder of Los Angeles were guests of Mrs. Harriet Bastable of Los Angeles avenue over Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Murphy, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Felharber, Mr. and Mrs. George Felharber and Otto Felharber attended the birthday anniversary party of Miss Hattie Hindburn of Glendale last Saturday evening.

Foley's Friendly Fancies

JAMES W. FOLEY

THE FRETFUL WORLD

I don't make a practice of telling my woes. I like to take life as it comes and it goes. If there's joy, I believe we should pass it about. There's never too much, long ago I found out. If there's trouble or fret, as quite often there is, I'm sure that my neighbor or friend will have his. So I try to fight out all my troubles alone. For I know all my friends have enough of their own.

If there's worry and care, and the skies are grown gray. I find I can whistle or sing 'em away. If the world has the blues and the sun doesn't shine, That's the time I should not add these troubles of mine.

There's nothing grows faster than some little fret If you pet it and coax it. I try to forget That I have it at all and I fight it alone, For the friends that I love all have frets of their own.

So I put all my worries and cares on the shelf. They're mine and I keep my frets all to myself. I don't want to burden my neighbor with care That is mine, when already he has quite his share. That fellow who smiles over there, it may be. He has ten times the trouble that may befall me, But he smiles and he makes his good fight all alone. For he knows I have troubles enough of my own.

FLAPPERS' SKIRTS SHORTER SAYS MRS. PENDROY

Buyer for New Store Back From New York Brings Latest Word

Flappers and all others take notice. Skirts are to be shorter than ever. So says Mrs. L. G. Pendroy, quoting New York authorities who have accepted the latest dictum from Paris.

Mrs. Pendroy has just returned from New York, where she went to buy for Glendale's big new store, particularly for her department—ready-to-wear clothing and millinery for women and children.

Continuing her fashion tips, Mrs. Pendroy says the popular colors for Spring wear have developed into a rainbow. The season opened with "periwinkle," a bluish cream or cross between cornflower and heliotrope, but this was soon followed by jade green and tan. Then came corn color, a rich yellow almost a California poppy shade.

Of course white, as always, is to the fore in gowns and millinery, particularly in sport costumes, but enlivened with touches of color. Orchids, light tan and blues in variety are the evening shades.

Wraps are the big feature in the wardrobes of women this spring, Mrs. Pendroy says, particularly capes and semi-capes coats in a number of shades beginning with black and ranging through Copeland blue, teal, pink, a popular shade of tan, and gray, and most of these garments are trimmed with light weight fur, which adds to the richness of their appearance and furnishes a soft setting for the face.

Hats, of course, follow the prevailing shades and are found in small and large shapes, the small hat being popular for travel and for wear with tailored costumes, but the large hat will be much worn for afternoon and evening, trimmed with many flowers and with feathers.

When questioned about the stock that is to fill the second floor of the large building where she will be in charge, Mrs. Pendroy said she had been successful in securing the exclusive right for Glendale of a line of "Betty Wales" dresses that are decidedly smart and to be found in all the new spring shades and materials as well as in wash dresses for hot weather.

This line should be of interest to women who want individual things, as no garments will be duplicated, and the buyer will not run the risk of seeing her gown on somebody else.

Mrs. Pendroy has also secured the well known "Kenyon" wear in suits, coats, riding habits, etc. In fact, all along the line she has obtained merchandise at prices that are low enough to enable the store to offer a wide variety which will take away all incentive to patronize Los Angeles shops. One of the side lines to which she has given special attention is graduation dresses, and this will be good news to the mothers already beginning to worry about commencement. In making her selections she has kept in mind the limit of cost fixed by the board of trustees.

Not only will there be ready-to-wear hats, but an alteration room and a millinery work room where hats will be made to order.

The children's department is to be very up-to-date and provide everything needed for the infant, child and growing girl. No fore cast of its attractions can be made, only a visit to the store after the stock has been placed will reveal the many features which will be of interest to the mother desirous of having her children well dressed. In the infants' department will be a private layette room for mothers.

Another important department on this floor will be reserved for corsets with experienced corsetiers who know how to fit the important accessory of the toilet in attendance. In connection there will be a beautiful line of muslin and silk underwear.

A long felt need in Glendale will be supplied in a rest-room equipped with a telephone, with writing desks, with comfortable chairs and settees even to rockers for the kiddies, and with lavatories in connection.

The store is to open within the next two weeks, as soon as it can be made ready and the goods unpacked, and for the present it will occupy three floors.

On the first floor will be the yardage in silk, wool and wash materials, the muslins, the linen department in which "old fashioned" linen will be featured. There will be an up-to-date bedding department, drug sundries, notions, stationery, dress trimmings, departments for lace, embroideries, handkerchiefs, ribbons, jewelry, parasols and umbrellas, gloves, knit underwear, hosiery, patterns with wide counters where the books can be examined at leisure.

The third floor will be devoted to rugs, carpets, draperies, and an art department where instruction will be given in the manufacture of lamp shades and other craft work, and where embroidery, knitting and crocheting will be taught by experienced instructors.

In short, the Pendroy Dry Goods Store will make a brave start towards an up-to-the-minute commercial establishment which will be worthy of Glendale and a credit to the founders, if all the plans as outlined are carried out. Its expansion and development will of course depend to a considerable extent on the response which citizens make to the enterprise shown by these experienced merchants who are backing their faith in Glendale with their dollars.

From the Glendale Daily Press for April 26, 1921.

Mrs. Priscilla Houdyshel, member of the Local Women's Relief corps and department chairman, accepted an invitation Monday to be a luncheon guest at the home of Mrs. Emma Sheer of Ocean Park who entertained the department officials of the W. R. C. A. council meeting was held before the luncheon at which the department convention at Stockton, scheduled for May 9 was discussed.

The Glendale Daily Vacation Bible school of the First Methodist church was organized last night at the church. Representatives were present at the meeting from the various churches of the city that are interested in the plan.

A science club has been organized at the Glendale high school. It numbers among its members students and alumni of the school. The purpose of the organization is the enabling of the young people to enlarge the regular course of the sciences in which they are specializing.

Dale Woods, president of the Glendale Hi-Y is in receipt of an invitation from the Alhambra Hi-Y to attend a supper in that city on the evening of May 5.

Representatives of National Board Check Risks in Glendale

The city of Glendale as far as the fire risks are concerned was inspected yesterday by C. G. Lauber and W. H. Stam, representatives of the National Board of Fire Underwriters, on their official tour of inspection.

City Manager W. H. Reeves accompanied them on their tour. He was told that very satisfactory conditions prevail in this city. The only recommendation that was made by the representatives of the board was that pressure be reduced in the water mains of the south part of the city.

The inspectors recommended that the pressure be reduced to between 60 and 70 pounds and to give the protection needed under the reduced pressure more mains should be installed in the section.

The inspectors visited the fire department and after going over the fire wagon recently rebuilt by members of the department, they complimented Fire Chief A. H. Lankford and his men on their work. The inspectors said that the wagon as it stands today could not be duplicated by the city under $12,000. While the party was at the fire house an alarm was sent in and the department responded so efficiently that very little damage was done. The department was also complimented for the efficient way in which they responded to alarms.

Mr. Reeves took up the matter of getting a new insurance rate for the city and was told that to do this a survey would have to be made of the entire city. This would require that four men be sent here from the National Board of Fire Underwriters and that they would have to stay here for one month. Mr. Lauber said that under the regulations of the board that a survey could not be made for cities that had less than 20,000 population. Mr. Reeves pointed out that the present population was in excess of 30,000 and was informed that the board bases its surveys on the last census. It was indicated that the board might make an exception in the case of Glendale and that it is probable that this survey will be made within a few months.

Judge and Mrs. Lucien Shaw of Hermosa Beach, father and mother of Hartley Shaw of 212 West Park avenue, have leased a house at 215 West Park avenue for six months, while they are building a home on the northwest corner of Central and Acacia avenues. They will move here next week.
