A "Singer" is always the Pride of its owner

The Singer Sewing Machine is recognized all over the world as the model of sewing machine perfection, and all other makes are judged by the Singer standard. That is why every woman is proud to own a Singer.
It needs no apology nor explanation. Singer Sewing Machines cover the field; either Oscillating Shuttle, Rotary Hook, Vibrating Shuttle or Automatic Chain Stitch. When a woman can point to the name SINGER on her machine her friends realize she has the best machine of its type that money can buy—and every woman knows this.
Singer Sewing Machines are sold only at Singer Shops or by Singer Salesmen—never through dealers or under other names. Look for the big red "S" at 1020 West Broadway, Glendale. Sunset phone 656W.

PERSONALS

Mr. Roland Adams of Sierra Madre was a Glendale visitor Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Pendell of Burbank spent Sunday with Mrs. Helen Woodruff Boyd of 1463 Ivy St.

Dr. and Mrs. Simeon Young of Los Angeles were week end guests of Dr. and Mrs. E. F. Archer of 621 West Seventh street.

Mr. George Blake of 1564 West Fifth street is seriously ill at his home with bronchial pneumonia. His many friends join in hoping for his speedy recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Minter, Miss Ruth Minter and Mr. Claude Edwards of Los Angeles were guests Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Cook of 1434 West Fifth St.

Miss Bartlett and Mrs. J. M. Border of 231 S. Louise street were among the Glendale people who attended the Iowa picnic in Eastlake Park in Los Angeles on Saturday.

Miss Verdie Rentfrow of Redlands, who has been visiting her college friend, Miss Hazel Wood, 500 East Third street, returned home Saturday evening. These young ladies are schoolmates at Redlands university.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Baker of 109 N. Maryland avenue were among the guests at the reception and ball given by Dr. and Mrs. DeLos Gillespie of Los Angeles for their daughter, Miss Cecilia Gillespie, on Friday evening.

Dr. Geo. F. Burton who has been spending the past six months at the beach has returned to his home at 1214 West Ninth street. Dr. Burton has a large practice in Los Angeles and has many friends in Glendale who will be glad to know of his return.

Mr. and Mrs. Petterman and their daughter, Alma, Mr. and Mrs. Horner and Mr. and Mrs. Louis Pfaffenberger all of Los Angeles were noon dinner guests of Miss Hodapp and Mrs. Wiethoff on Sunday attending all the meetings of the day at the tabernacle.

Some time within the next two weeks Mrs. David L. Gregg of 206 south Central avenue will leave for Salt Lake City, where he expects to reside in the future and where he has business interests, having accepted the management of a large mercantile business in that city.

Atty. Frederick Baker of 109 N. Maryland avenue will speak at the Chamber of Commerce banquet in Lordsburg on Tuesday evening on "The Proposed Flood Control Legislation." This evening Mr. Baker will speak before a citizens meeting in San Fernando on "Municipal Ownership of Water." Mr. Baker is a man of deep thinking and his views are eagerly sought on matters of legislation and of public welfare.

The X. V. I. club met Saturday afternoon with Miss Faith Sence of Burbank, who had decorated her home with great bouquets of violets and fern, the dining room being especially attractive. A dainty two course luncheon was served at half past five. The afternoon was very happily spent by the ladies in music, embroidery and chatter. Among those who attended this meeting of the jolly little club were the Misses Fredonia and Ruby Borthick, Misses Lillian and Birdie Shropshire, Mrs. Wilbur McFadden, Mrs. Daniels, Miss May Cornwell, Mrs. Joe McFadden, Mrs. Warren Roberts and of course, the hostess.

Mrs. L. A. Davis of 1725 West Third St., Los Angeles, entertained with a dinner party, Sunday, in honor of the joint birthdays of her mother, Mrs. H. L. LeGrand of 1442 W. Third St., Glendale, and Mrs. Holbrook of Hollywood. Great quantities of violets, intermingled with fern were used in decoration, the table being especially attractive with a low cut bowl of the dainty blossoms as a centerpiece. A five course dinner with birthday cakes was served to Mr. and Mrs. H. L. LeGrand, Mr. and Mrs. Holbrook and Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Davis. The afternoon was very pleasantly passed playing cards and visiting.

TO PLANT LEMONS

LINDSAY, Feb. 26.—Robt. Adams, a prominent Lindsay rancher, is now planting 200 acres of his ranch to lemons. The land has already been leveled and pipes are now being laid for irrigation purposes. Three thousand feet of steel pipe have been laid and connected to ten-inch concrete mains.

MRS. SMART MOVES

Mrs. Ruby J. Smart, president of the W. C. T. U., has moved from Verdugo Road to her new home at 336 Orange. Her telephone has not yet been installed but the postoffice is still doing business.

BEGIN WHAT?

The Scotch minister rose and cleared his throat, but remained silent, while the congregation awaited the sermon in puzzled expectancy. At last he spoke:

"There's a laddie awa' there in the gallery a-kissin' a lassie," he said. "When he's done ah'll begin."—The Ladies' Home Journal.

tainment. Another pleasant feature of the splendid program was the vocal solo, "The Bugler" rendered by Mr. Charles Allen with Mrs. Don Erskine as accompanist. The illustrations presented by Mr. Strathern and Mr. Hibbert were especially meritorious and reflect much credit upon these gentlemen. Mr. Strathern as well as Mr. Hibbert has visited the many places depicted in the illustrations and the cleverness with which these pictures have been produced was keenly appreciated by the audience, Saturday evening. Mr. Strathern's lecture was of especial interest.

Nelson C. Burch, city clerk, contemplates leaving shortly on a few weeks' visit to his brother, Oscar C. Burch who resides in Jefferson City, Mo. Mr. Burch has received intelligence of the serious illness of his brother, Oscar and it is hoped by the many friends of Tropic's popular and efficient city official that he will find his brother very much improved upon his arrival in Jefferson City. Oscar Burch has been connected with the First National Bank of Jefferson City for the past forty years and for the past fifteen years has held the position of president of the bank.

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Crawford and daughter, Miss Marian Crawford motored from Corona yesterday and were the over Sunday guests of their cousin, Mrs. David H. Imler of Palm Villa. Miss Marian Crawford is the great grand niece of J. Bailey Hickman, her mother, Mrs. Crawford being the grand niece of Mr. Hickman.

TO ATTEND CLUB CONVENTION

There will be an especially large delegation of Glendale women in attendance at the federation convention at Hotel Virginia in Long Beach on Wednesday, as Mrs. Mattison B. Jones, president of the Tuesday Afternoon club, is to address the convention of Wednesday afternoon.

All members who wish to attend the parliamentary contest on Wednesday should take the car leaving Glendale at five minutes before 9 o'clock in order to be in time for the contest. Badges, which may be secured at Mrs. Eudemiller's for ten cents, will insure the admission of members to the convention hall.

A large delegation of music section members will go to Long Beach Wednesday prepared to remain for the concert in the evening, which will be in charge of Carrie Stone Freeman, district chairman of music. The concert will be given in the ballroom of Hotel Virginia and will be very fine.

HARTLEY-PATCH

On Sunday evening at 7 o'clock the marriage of Miss Veda Virginia Patch, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Patch of Belmont street to Mr. Cleo Walter Hartley, also of Glendale, was solemnized at the home of the bride's chum, Mrs. Hoyt Brown of 155 Harvard Drive, Eagle Rock by Rev. W. E. Edmonds of the Glendale Presbyterian church.

The home was beautifully decorated for the occasion by variegated sweet peas and violets. To the strains of the Lohengrin wedding march the young couple, attended by Mr. and Mrs. Hoyt Brown, took their places beneath a large wedding bell of sweet peas. The bride wore a blue broadcloth traveling suit with hat to match and carried a shower bouquet of lillies of the valley. The beautiful ring ceremony was used.

After the ceremony, a wedding supper was served to about thirty guests who were the immediate members of both families. The happy couple will spend their honeymoon in San Diego where they will visit the fair and other points of interest and upon their return will occupy a cozy bungalow home at 323 Belmont St., where they will be at home to their many friends.

WITH THE EDUCATED

One day Mr. Smith went to buy a bushel of buckwheat for sowing. The man who sold the wheat was away, but the wife undertook to make the sale. She found a peck measure and they went to the granary.

She filled the measure twice, then poured the contents into the bag and began to tie it up.

"But, Mrs. Lawton," said the man, "it takes four pecks to make a bushel."

"Oh, does it?" replied the woman, untying the bag. "Well, you see, I never had any experience in measuring grain before I was married. I always taught school."—Harper's Magazine.

IN WARNING

Leading English sport writers, after watching a ball game that resulted 5 to 4, with a couple of home runs attached, state that baseball is quite dull through the lack of runs scored in each encounter. If they ever visit this country, we advise them to lay off Walter Johnson, or they will more than likely choke to death with ennui the first week out.

WHY NOT COME OUT OF IT?

Too many people make themselves additionally miserable and also cast shadows of gloom that could scarcely be cut with a knife, about those with whom they associate, merely because they persist in crying about conditions in the country, in their home city and county or in the whole wide world. What if it is a fact that times are comparatively hard in many portions of the United States? What if dread war does spread its sinister pinions over several of the so-called leading civilized nations of earth? What if the Democrats are in power in this land? What if there are a thousand and one ills that may beset one? Does he improve conditions one whit by going about talking about all of these unpleasant things all of his waking hours?

Admitting that there is more or less truth in some of the more commonly expressed phases of undesirable conditions existing in this broad land—even spreading to foreign countries—or emanating largely from that source—does anybody suppose that the world, or even the little part of it that he inhabits, is going to stand still or go backward? Has not the earth and this country, even this immediate corner of it, undergone situations and conditions far worse than any that now menace, and have they not pulled out and gone ahead, even achieving greater and better things than they had ever done before?

If, instead of constantly murmuring about their lot, all of those who are bemoaning their fate and that of the country and the whole world will get a divorce from their pessimistic habits, lay hold of the opportunities about them—even though some of these may not be all that could be wished for—and do the very best they can to struggle along, financially and otherwise, till better conditions and times prevail, what a world of betterment would be the result—and how much additional peace of mind all would enjoy.

Although fanciful orators and fertile brained dreamers, squinters into the distant future and alleged seers are saying that "civilization is on trial," that "the world is undergoing a period from which it will either emerge thoroughly cleansed politically and socially, or that it will go down entirely," the student of history may go up to the library and pour over a few volumes but a short while to acquaint himself with the fact that the present crisis in the world, also the present conditions in America, are not at all unusual, compared with other days.

Considered from a standpoint of California and her possibilities and probabilities, there was never a period that held out more of hope and of glittering promise to the stout-hearted, the courageous, who are willing to put their shoulders to the wheel. There are good times ahead—and generous use of optimism and industry will hasten their arrival, here and elsewhere—Santa Monica Outlook.

on the human side of conversion. Mel Trotter, the famous mission worker now in Los Angeles, said to the council appointed to ordain him that he knew he was born again because he was there when it happened. That's about as much as any of us can know about the great mystery of being born of the spirit.

It was clearly seen that repentance is not fear or feeling or sorrow or even conviction, though all of these elements may enter into repentance. To resolve to do right, to turn about face, is getting close to the true meaning of repentance. The illustration of Brother Johnson and the famous evangelist on the wrong train—no, Johnson was on his right train rushing to Frisco, but Brown was supposed to be headed for Cahaan, which "according to his way of thinking," is spelled Arkansas—this splendid illustration focused in a masterly way the sermon of the evening. When Brother Brown found that he was on the wrong train, he quit Johnson and with bag and baggage jumped off at the nearest station and there took the train going in the right direction.

One rather original character in regular attendance on the services of the tabernacle remarked at the conclusion of the Saturday evening service: "Brother Brown is a clear thinker and makes all of his hearers to understand what he is driving at." The large number who respond to his appeal for converts proves the truth of such a judgment. A more forceful gospel preacher is nowhere to be found and such is the unanimous verdict of all, both pastors and laymen. And what is even more remarkable, the noted evangelist combines the gift of evangelism with the deep, critical teaching of the word of God.

Brown and Curry are a perfect combination, each supplementing the other, men who have pulled in the harness together for years, and the results of whose work throughout the land only the numbering at the gate of heaven will tell; but still here and today go anywhere in these cities of the beautiful San Fernando valley and from the lips of saints and sinners turned to God, boys and girls resolved to make the most out of their precious lives, young men arrested on the downward path to destruction, is heard the testimony of the wonders of grace wrought through these mighty men of God.

Said one of the leading and best known business men of Glendale, when asked on one of the streets of Los Angeles what he thought about the revival under Brown and Curry, "All I've got to say is that I know I have been made a better man." These words uttered with trembling lips and moistened with tears from an honest heart, best express what is happening in this community in these days.

The report of the Sunday services and special notices will appear in the Tuesday edition of the Glendale Evening News. Services every day at 2:30 and 7:30, excepting Mondays. There will be a Tropic rally at the Tropic Methodist church this evening. Brown and Curry will have charge.

HOW TO START A LIBRARY ECONOMICALLY

For those who are beginning a library and have little money to spend, buy say, one book each of ten great authors. It does not matter who the authors are, so long as they stand high and their books are well known and standard ones.

Take, as an example, the following ten, chosen at random from a catalogue of standard writers: Emerson, Eliot, Bronte, Ruskin, Carlyle, Dickens, Thackeray, Lowell, Keats and Shakespeare, and as a selection of ten of the books of these ten writers let us take in the same order Emerson's "Essays," Eliot's "Mill on the Floss," Bronte's "Jane Eyre," Ruskin's "Sesame and Lilies," Carlyle's "Heroes and Hero Worship," Dickens, "David Copperfield," Thackeray's "Pendennis," Lowell's essays, "Among My Books," a complete volume of Shakespeare or any one of the Shakespeare plays, preferably "King Lear" or "Romeo and Juliet," and Keats' "Poems."

Here you have ten books by ten master minds, books widely varied in subject, style and treatment. Let those ten suffice for a time. Read them.

UTAH'S HUGE GRANITE BLOCK

What is claimed to be the largest piece of flawless granite ever quarried was found in Cottonwood canyon, fourteen miles from Salt Lake City. It is 98 feet long, 40 feet wide and 54 feet high. From it will be hewn fifty-two monoliths 31 feet 6 inches long and 3 feet 11 inches in diameter, to be used in a new state capitol building that is being erected in the Utah metropolis. The block is not only sufficient for the monoliths, but is also large enough to supply all the wall blocks needed for the building. The new capital will lead the world in monolithic columns—its closest rival having sixteen columns 30 feet long.

INCONSISTENT

"Then you don't think I practice what I preach, eh?" queried the minister, in talking with one of the deacons at a meeting. "No, sir, I don't," replied the deacon. "You've been preachin' on the subject of resignation for two years, an' ye haven't resigned yet."—Tit-Bits.

WHERE ELECTRIFICATION IS ADVANTAGEOUS

The general disposition of practical railroad men, we believe, is well understood to be unfavorable to electrification. Such men have rarely missed an opportunity to discount and to pronounce as fanciful the claims made by laymen regarding the advantages that would accompany a departure from the old to the new system of motive power. Much of the opposition, doubtless, arises from the fact that such a departure would mean a revolution in transportation methods and the consequent abandonment not only of costly steam equipment, but of years of experience in connection with steam propulsion. One of the great trunk lines of the United States, the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul, as is generally known, has installed an electrical equipment for a large section of its transcontinental line. The conditions to be met in that section are probably as trying as any that would have to be dealt with in any other part of the country. After the employment of electrification over a period long enough to justify conclusions, an operating official of the line named has drawn upon his knowledge for a summing up of the case in behalf of the electric system.

It speaks so much for quiet, cleanliness and comfort of travel in the future that we are certain the general verdict will give widespread satisfaction. It is found that electrification means a reduction of operating expense; the cutting of delay incident to stops required at terminals for change of locomotives and of stops necessary between terminals for coal, water and occasional cleaning of fires; it lessens delays during the time of heavy freight movement resulting from inability at round-houses to get work done on steam engines; it cuts the delay and labor incident to the handling and transportation of a large volume of coal; it promotes greater uniformity in tonnage handled; it does away with coal tenders, thus reducing hauling weight and increasing locomotive traction power, and it dispenses with boilers and the trouble connected with their care.

Many other and equally weighty reasons are given in support of the proposition that electrification is desirable from an economic standpoint. The electric engine may be run continuously over several divisions, which is not the case with the steam locomotives, as the latter must be changed at the end of 100 or 150 miles. The electric engine runs uniformly, too, on all grades, and should be as efficient on top of the steep mountain incline as at the bottom. In addition to all this the employment of electricity in locomotion makes possible the electric lighting and heating of stations, the operation of station machinery, and so on.

It is admitted frankly that electrification still presents some difficulties, and that some of the advantages mentioned are still based on theory, but practical experience seems to bear out the conclusion that the system in time can be made to fit every reasonable requirement. Nothing is said, of course, about cleaner travel, the elimination of noise and smoke and the comfort that is to come through more generous ventilation when the flying cinder need no longer be taken into account.—Christian Science Monitor.

EUGENE FIELD AND CHILDREN

"It was children whom Field loved best," says Miss Hildegard Hawthorne in St. Nicholas, "and he would take all sorts of trouble to make a child happy. His room was crowded with toys, queer dolls, funny little mechanical toys that ran about or boxed or nodded strange heads or performed tricks. His study door was never shut to a child, and he had many child friends his family knew nothing of. His brother tells how a few hours after his death a little crippled boy came to the door and asked if he might go up and see Mr. Field. He was taken into the room where the gentle, much-loved figure lay and left there. In a little while he came limping downstairs, the tears streaming down his cheeks, and went silently away, known to nobody there."

THE HELPING HAND

"How far that little candle throws his beams! So shines a good deed in a naughty world."

Drs. William J. and Charles H. Mayo of Rochester, world famous surgeons, purpose to establish a $1,000,000 foundation for medical research and to place the foundation under certain restrictions in the hands of the University of Minnesota board of regents.

The fund will be furnished by the Mayo brothers from their private means. The yearly income is expected to amount to about $100,000.

It is intended that the interest from the fund be used in research work at Rochester, open to graduate university medical students.

The Mayo foundation will correlate with the graduate school in medicine and the school and the foundation each will have full access to all the facilities of the other.
