BIBLIOGRAPHY OF RHODE ISLAND.

A C A T A L O G U E

BOOKS AND OTHER PUBLICATIONS

RELATING TO THE

STATE OF RHODE ISLAND,

WITH NOTES,

HISTORICAL, BIOGRAPHICAL AND CRITICAL.

BY JOHN RUSSELL BARTLETT.

PROVIDENCE:
ALFRED ANTHONY, PRINTER TO THE STATE.
1864.

ONE HUNDRED AND FIFTY COPIES PRINTED.

P R E F A C E .

THE plan of this Bibliography, is to give the title of every printed book and pamphlet that relates, in any way, to the State of Rhode Island. Among these are classes of books that may not directly relate to its history, yet relate to men who have been prominent in its annals, who have rendered distinguished service in public life, or who, by their virtuous and good deeds, deserve to be remembered. Thus Funeral Sermons, as they generally relate to men who have left an impress upon society, are mentioned. Discourses at the Ordination of Ministers, and those at the Consecration of Churches. Addresses before Literary, Scientific, Religious, Agricultural, Mechanical and Temperance Societies, Fourth of July Orations, Political Addresses; all these relate, more or less, to persons or things in the State, or to its Institutions, and hence deserve to be mentioned in a list of books appertaining to the State. Then our venerable institution of learning, Brown University, now in the hundredth year of its existence, deserves as full mention as we can give it. Every book and pamphlet, therefore, relating to the Institution is mentioned. This list includes every Oration, Address, and Poem before it, or any of its Societies; together with Catalogues of Students and of Books from its foundation, thus forming a key to its literary history. The subjects of Education and Public Schools, have also had attention. The publications of our various religious sects are also noted. Those of the Baptists, the largest and oldest sect in the State, are very full and complete. To Mr. R. A. Guild, the accomplished Librarian of Brown University, I am indebted for the completeness of the bibliography of Brown University and of the Baptists. On the long-disputed Boundary Questions, thirty-two works are named, with an analysis, or list of the important papers which the large volumes contain. But, perhaps the most important class of books mentioned is that which relates to the Constitution of 1842, adopted by Rhode Island. This includes one hundred and four separate titles, and refers to 385 documents and State papers, the titles of which are given.

The titles of Books in this catalogue are given under the authors' names, alphabetically arranged, except in cases where they come under a particular head. The titles arranged in classes are as follows:

Almanacs.	Friends, Publications of the Society of.
Anti-Masonry.	Ives and Hazard Case.
Avery Case.	Law Cases, or Celebrated Trials.
Baptists.	Schools.
Boundary Line.	Temperance.
Brown University.	State Papers.
Constitution of 1842.	State Debt of Rhode Island.
Fourth of July Orations.

Books relating to either of the above-named subjects, will be found under those heads, alphabetically arranged. The titles of many will, likewise, be found repeated under the authors' names in their alphabetical places.

A few books relating to New England in general, are mentioned. This list might have been greatly extended. In a bibliography of Massachusetts, this class of books, might, with more propriety, be included.

The earliest book, whose title is given in the bibliography is, Hakluyt's "Divers Voyages," printed in London, in 1582, which contains the voyage of Verrazzano to the coast of America, in 1524, when he entered Narragansett Bay, which he describes.

It is proper to state that every book and pamphlet mentioned in this Catalogue is in the State, either in public or private libraries, and hence accessible. Those printed before the year 1800, including those of great rarity, by Roger Williams, Gorton, Coddington, Winslow, Mather, and others of the 17th and 18th centuries, are in the library of our townsman, John Carter Brown, Esq. All the books relating to the "Baptists," and to "Brown University," with many others named in this catalogue, are in the Library of that Institution. Of the more modern books, or those printed during the present century and a portion of the last, the greater number are in the library of our townsman, the Hon. Albert G. Greene. In political pamphlets, the collection of the Hon. Elisha R. Potter, of Kingston, R. I., is very large, perhaps not surpassed by any in the State. The Hon. William R. Staples, of Providence, and Dr. David King, of Newport, have also very considerable collections of pamphlets relating to the State. To all these gentlemen, I take this occasion to return my sincere thanks for the facilities afforded me in the examination of their libraries; for, with the exception of a few titles furnished me, I have examined and collated every book mentioned in this Catalogue.

BIBLIOGRAPHY.

ACTS AND RESOLVES of the General Assembly of the Governor and Company of the English Colony of Rhode Island, and Providence Plantations, in New England, in America. 67 vols. folio. Providence and Newport, 1747 to 1815.

The earliest printed volume of the Acts and Resolves, or, as they are more frequently called, the "Schedules" of the General Assembly, bears the date of 1747, though the earliest publication in the State Library is 1758, from which period, the State series is complete to the present time. Mr. John Carter Brown, whose unrivalled collection of books is well known, is so fortunate as to possess a sett which goes back to the year 1747. There are also tolerably perfect setts in the Library of the Rhode Island Historical Society, in that of the Hon. Albert G. Greene, of Providence, and in the possession of the City of Providence. How complete the setts are in the other towns in the State, I am not aware.

In the Schedule for July, 1776, the title of "Colony" is changed to that of the "STATE of Rhode Island and Providence Plantations." The folio series terminates with the February session, 1817, since which time the publication has been continued in the octavo form. The separate title of "Acts and Resolves of the General Assembly," etc., was first prefixed to the publication of the January session, 1850, and has been since so continued. Each session is separately printed, with an Index. A complete Index to all the printed Acts, Resolves, Reports, etc., was compiled by John R. Bartlett, Secretary of State, which extends to the close of the year 1850, and printed by order of the General Assembly, (see Bartlett.) This Index was continued by the same to the end of the year 1862, and printed in the year 1863.

The Acts and Resolves of the General Assembly, previous to 1747, as well as the Records and Proceedings of the four earliest settled towns of the Colony, beginning in the year 1636, will be found at length in the "Colonial Records," which see under its title for particulars.

Those given, it is presumed, will suffice to excite the compassion of every man, who has a heart to feel for the complicated wretchedness of so many thousands of his fellow men in a neighboring sister State," etc. p. 40.

AFFAIRES DE L'ANGLETERRE ET L'AMERIQUE.

17 vols. 8vo. A Anvers. 1776.

This remarkable collection is so little known, (from its great scarcity,) that no satisfactory account of it exists. It has been supposed that it was a translation or imitation of the "American Remembrancer;" but a slight examination will show that the contents are quite different. In the preface it is styled "a chronological collection of acts and discussions to serve as a political history of England and the Colonies." It was issued in "Cahiers" or parts, and appears to have been printed in one year; and though it bears the name of "Anvers," was probably printed in Paris. Among the editors (according to Barbier) were Franklin, Cour de Gebelin-Robinet, etc. It relates to the Revolutionary war, and contains much about the operations in Rhode Island. Copies of this scarce work are in the Library of Hartford College, of Mr. J. Carter Brown, in Providence, and of Dr. King, in Newport.

— Commission, Instructions and other papers relating to Sir Edmund Andros. Rhode Island Colonial Records, Vol. 3, p. 210 and 248, and New York Docs. Vol. 3, p. 543.

Sir Edmund Andros figures largely in the History of Rhode Island. In 1686 he was commissioned, among other colonies, as Governor of the Narragansett country. Arriving in Rhode Island, agreeably to orders, he dissolved the government, broke the seal of the charter, and reduced the colony to a single county. In 1688 he received a second commission from James the 2d, which extended his government over the province of New York, Connecticut, Rhode Island, and other British colonies. From this period the government of Rhode Island was completely subverted by Andros. The revolution in England soon after, put an end to his power. He was seized by the people of Boston, and thrown into prison. In 1689 the colony re-organized under its former charter. The records and papers connected with the administration of Andros will be found in the 3d vol. of R. I. Colonial Records.

ANTIQUITATES AMERICANÆ sive scriptores septentrionales rerum ante-columbianarum in America Edidit societas regia antiquariorum septentrionalium.

Royal 4to. pp. xl and 479. Hafniæ. 1837.

This work is edited by Prof. C. C. Rafn, and was published under the auspices of the Royal Society of Northern Antiquaries at Copenhagen, in Denmark. It contains a reprint of the ancient Icelandic Sagas, which relate to the discovery of America by the Scandinavians in the tenth century. The text embraces, first, the Sagas in the Icelandic; second, a version in Danish; and third, a translation in Latin, accompanied by notes and commentaries. These are followed by the correspondence in English with the Rhode Island Historical Society relative to the famous sculptured rock on the banks of Taunton river near Dighton, the characters upon which have been attributed to the Northmen, and to other evidences of an early intercourse between that people and Rhode Island; the Vineland of the ancient sagas being located in this State. Preceding the Sagas is an abstract in English of the historical evidence contained in the work. The volume also contains 17 plates of facsimilies of the Sagas, of ancient monuments, maps, etc. A few copies are printed in a superior style upon large paper, in Imperial quarto.

The Historical Essay alluded to, has been separately printed in English, French, German, Danish, Swedish, Spanish, Italian and Dutch.

BACKUS, ISAAC. A History of New England, with particular reference to the denomination of Christians called Baptists. Containing the principles and settlements of the country; the rise and increase of the Baptist churches therein, the intrusion of arbitrary power under the cloak of religion; the Christian testimonies of the Baptists and others against the same, with their sufferings under it, from the beginning to the present time. Collected from the most authentic records and writings, both ancient and modern. By Isaac Backus, Pastor of the first Baptist church in Middleborough. 3 vols. 8vo.

Boston. Manning & Loring. 1796.

An abridgment of this work was published in 1804, when the author was eighty years of age. The Rev. Dr. Allen says that the original "contains many facts, for which the public are indebted to the patient industry of the writer, and it must be a very valuable work to the Baptists, as it presents a minute account of almost every church of that denomination in New England." The work is now exceedingly rare, and commands a high price. Bancroft the historian, bears honorable testimony to the author's fidelity, considering his history, as to its facts, "more to be depended on, than any of the early histories of New England."

The author, who was a distinguished Baptist minister, was born at Norwich, Conn., in 1724, and commenced preaching in 1746. He was ordained as a Congregationalist in 1748; but in 1751, was baptized by immersion. To his exertions the Baptist denomination in America, is much indebted for its prosperity. He died Nov. 28, 1806, aged 82 years. He was the author of many works besides that under notice.

———— The Sentiments and Plan of the Warren Association.
4to. pp. 4. Germantown. Printed by Christopher Sower. 1769.

NOTE.—This venerable body held its first meeting at Warren, R. I., in the year 1767. It originated with the Rev. Dr. Manning, at that time Pastor of the Baptist Church in Warren, and also President of Rhode Island College, now Brown University. But four churches were then incorporated, by the name of the Warren (Baptist) Association, viz. Warren, Haverhill, Bellingham, and Middleborough. The next year four more churches joined them, viz. Boston, Sutton, Leicester, and Ware. In 1769 the foregoing "Sentiments and Plan," drawn up and presented by the Rev. Dr. Manning, were formally adopted as the platform, so to speak, of the Association.

This body was organized in the year 1707, and is the oldest Baptist Association in the United States. To it Brown University owes its origin, and to its fostering care the Warren Association is greatly indebted. The Minutes for this year contain many allusions to Rhode Island, and pleasing accounts of Rhode Island College.

At this meeting the Providence Church was received into the Association. The delegates upon the occasion were James Manning, Ephraim Wheaton, Samuel Whitman, John Jerckes, and Aaron Mason. The views entertained by many members of this church in regard to the doctrine of "Laying on of Hands," and also in regard to Singing in public worship, prevented, perhaps, its being received into the fellowship of the Association at an earlier day.

From this date the proceedings of the annual meetings were regularly printed from year to year. Sometimes at Boston, but mostly at Providence, especially after the year 1800.

The Minutes for the first four meetings were never printed. They exist in manuscript, and may be found among the papers of the Rev. Isaac Backus, who was the first Clerk of the Association. The printed Minutes for the year 1771 are in the possession of the Rev. Dr. Benedict, of Pawtucket. The Minutes from 1772 to 1825 inclusive, with the "Sentiments and Plan," and the Minutes of the Philadelphia Association for 1769, bound together in a single octavo volume, are in the possession of Mr. John Carter Brown. They were collected by his father, the Hon. Nicholas Brown, and constitute the only complete set in existence. The Minutes from 1825 to the present time are in the Library of Brown University, together with a set of the earlier printed minutes, and the manuscript minutes of Backus.

In regard to the character and influence of this Body we quote from Arnold's History of Rhode Island, as follows: "The Warren Association originated with the Warren Church, and had for its object to secure for the denomination in the neighboring Colonies those civil and religious rights hitherto enjoyed solely by the established church." * * * * * "In a few years the Association extended over New England, and held its meetings at various places. It became an active body in the cause of civil and religious liberty, presenting many able addresses upon this subject to the government of Massachusetts, and to the Continental Congress through the whole period of the Revolution. Although the Association has no longer that intimate connection with the University which at first existed, and the growth of Baptist Churches in New England has given rise to many other similar associations, the parent body still continues to exert a wide-spread and beneficent influence over the objects of its charge."

The act of incorporation was passed by the General Assembly, at their October session, 1826. The Minutes for 1829, 1830, 1832, and from 1835 inclusive to the present time, are in the Library of Brown University. The first Anniversary of the Convention was held in 1826. The Minutes for 1840 contain an account of the organization of the Rhode Island Baptist Sabbath School Association, Sept. 11, 1839. This Association in 1854 was reorganized and called the "Rhode Island Baptist Sunday School Convention." In 1841 the "Proceedings of the Baptist Education Society of the Warren Association, Auxiliary to the Northern Baptist Education Society," were first published in the Minutes of the Baptist Convention. This practice has been continued to the present time, under the name, since 1847, of the "Rhode Island Baptist Education Society."

In 1839 the "Rhode Island Baptist Sabbath School Association" was organized, under the auspices of the Baptist State Convention. The large number of Schools connected with the Baptist denomination throughout the State, and the increasing interest felt in the cause, led eventually to a distinct and separate organization. At a meeting of the State Convention in April, 1854, the old Association was merged into the present Sunday School Convention. Prof. S. S. Green, of Brown University, was elected President, A. M. Gammell, of Warren, Vice President, and Reuben A. Guild, of Brown University, Secretary. These gentlemen were successively re-elected to their respective offices from year to year, until 1860 and 1862, when they declined serving in order that the system of rotation in office might be introduced.

Mr. Burges was born at Rochester, Mass., Feb. 26, 1770, and graduated at Brown University in 1796, receiving the highest honors of his class. In 1799, he was admitted to practice at the bar in Rhode Island, and soon rose to the head of his profession as a scholar and well-read lawyer. In 1811, he was appointed Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Rhode Island. In 1815, he was appointed Professor of Oratory and Belles Lettres in Brown University. In 1825 he was elected a representative to Congress, and served two subsequent terms in that body. His speeches which have become prominent portions of our literature, show the ability with which he performed his duty, and the success that attended him as a debator in the national councils. He died October 13, 1853, in the 84th year of his age.

Dr. Channing was born in Newport, R. I., April 7, 1780. His father, William Channing, was an eminent lawyer of that town, and his mother was the daughter of William Ellery, one of the signers of the Declaration of Independence. He graduated at Harvard University in 1798, where he attained the highest honors. In 1803 he became pastor of the Federal Street Society in Boston. In 1812 he was appointed Dexter lecturer on biblical criticism in Harvard College, but was compelled to resign the place the following year, on account of ill health. His feeble constitution induced him to visit Europe, and subsequently the West Indies, yet he continued to officiate in the pulpit until 1849, when he resigned. He died at Bennington, Vermont, when on a journey, October 2, 1842, aged 62 years. Dr. Channing's published works include a large number of religious discourses; essays on Milton, Bonaparte and Fenelon, and a number of tracts on Slavery, and the condition of the laboring classes. Several editions of his works have been published in Boston, Glasgow and London.

The celebrated George Whitefield, in speaking of Mr. Clap, upon whom he called, in Newport, in 1740, says, he was the most remarkable man he ever beheld. ——— The same. (Mass. Hist. Coll. 7th series, vol. 1.)

In this book the author introduces the substance of a curious tract said by Prof. Elton, in his notes to Callender's Discourse, p. 110, to have been issued the preceding year, called "A Brief Discourse touching New England, as to the matter in hand, and to that part of it, sci. RHODE ISLAND, where my residence is, together with the occasion of my going out, with others from the Mathatusets Bay, and the many providential occurrences that directed us thereto, and pitched us thereon." This is followed by "A faithful and true relation of the persecution of Obadiah Holmes, John Crandall and John Clark, merely for conscience sake towards God, by the principal members of the church or commonwealth of the Mathatusets in New England, which rules over that part of the world; wherein is shown their discourteous entertainment of strangers, and how that spirit by which they acted, would order the whole world if either brought under them, or should come in unto them. Drawn forth by the aforesaid John Clark."

Dr. John Clark was the founder, in 1641, of the first Baptist church in Newport, and became its pastor. This was the second Baptist church in America. He was sent to England in 1641 with Roger Williams, as an agent of the colony, in which capacity he acted for twelve years. In 1663 he procured the charter by which Rhode Island was governed for nearly a century, and returned to his pastoral charge in Newport. He was elected three years successively, Deputy Governor, and, although he constantly exerted himself to promote the civil prosperity of the colony, he continued to labor as the pastor of the church referred to, until his death, which took place on the 20th of April 1676, in the sixty-seventh year of his age. Dr. Clark was ever distinguished for his piety and beneficence. He was one of Rhode Island's ablest legislators, and had the honor of contributing much towards establishing the first government in the world that gave to all, equal civil and religious liberty.

— Letters from, see Besse, History of the Quakers.

Coddington was a native of Lincolnshire, England, and came to Massachusetts in 1620, as one of the magistrates. He removed to Rhode Island in 1637. The following year we find his name first among those who agreed to incorporate themselves into a "bodie politic," on Rhode Island. He was chosen judge or chief ruler of the colony at Newport, which elected him Governor, until that colony was incorporated with that of Providence Plantations in 1647. Under this patent he was again elected Governor in 1674 and 1675. Gov. Coddington early embraced the sentiments of the Society of Friends, which he continued to hold till his death. He appears to have enjoyed a high reputation, and was ever active in promoting the welfare of the colony which he had assisted in founding. He was a warm advocate of liberty of conscience, as was shown by his acts, and which may be seen in his writings.

NOTE TO THE CONSTITUTIONS.—The Convention which framed the People's Constitution, met in Providence, on the first Monday in October, 1841, and finally completed its labors on the 18th day of November following. The Constitution was submitted to the people of the State, for their adoption or rejection, on the 27th day of December, to be voted for on that and the five succeeding days. The vote, as returned, was 13,944 in favor of the Constitution, and 56 against it. The act calling the Convention which framed the Landholders' Constitution, was passed by the General Assembly, at its January session, in 1841. The Convention met on the first Monday of November following,—framed a Constitution, and submitted it to the people of the State, for their adoption or rejection, on the 21st, 22d, and 23d days of March, 1842. The vote, as returned, was 8,013 in favor of the Constitution, and 8,689 against it. Showing a majority of 676 votes against it. It was called the "Landholders' Constitution" from the fact that none but the owner of real estate and the oldest son of such landholder, were allowed to vote in the election of delegates to the Convention that framed it. At the June session of the General Assembly, 1842, an act was passed, calling another Convention to frame a Constitution. The Convention met at Newport, on the second Monday in September, 1842, and framed a Constitution, which was submitted to the people of the State, for their adoption or rejection, on the 21st, 22d, and 23d days of November following. The vote, as returned, was 7,024 in favor of the Constitution, and 51 against it. Showing a majority of 6,973 votes in its favor. This Constitution is the present supreme law of the State. The "People's Constitution" party took no part in the question.

COTTON JOHN. The Bloody Tenent, washed and made white in the Bloud of the Lambe; being discussed and discharged of Bloud Guiltinesse by just defence. Wherein the great questions of the present time are handled, viz:—How farre Liberty of Conscience ought to be given to those that truly feare God? And how farre restrained to turbulent and pestilent persons, that not only raze the Foundation of Godliness, but disturb the Civill Peace where they live? Also, how farre the Magistrate may proceed in the Duties of the first Table? And that all Magistrates ought to study the Word and Will of God, that they may frame their Government according to it. Discussed as they are alledged from divers Scriptures, out of the Old and New Testament. Wherein also the practice of Princes is debated, together with the Judgement of ancient and late writers of most precious esteeme. Whereunto is added a Reply to Mr. Williams' answer to Mr. Cotton's Letter. By JOHN COTTON, Batchelor in Divinity, and Teacher in the Church of Christ, at Boston, in New England.

DOWNER, SILAS. A discourse delivered in Providence, in the colony of Rhode Island, on the 25th day of July, 1768, at the dedication of the tree of Liberty, from the summer-house in the tree. By a Son of Liberty.

8vo. pp. 16. Providence. Printed and sold by John Waterman at his printing office at the paper mill. 1768.

The following account of this event is taken from the Providence Gazette, July 30, 1768 :

“ On Monday last, (25th,) at five in the afternoon, being the time appointed for dedicating the great Elm Tree, at Captain Joseph Olney’s, in this town, to be the tree of Liberty, there was a very great concourse of very respectable people of this and the neighboring towns, many coming from a considerable distance out of the Province of Massachusetts Bay, to assist on the occasion. An animated discourse was delivered from the summer-house in the tree, by a Son of Liberty, wherein was briefly pointed out the Terrors of Colonization of the first Planters of these colonies; a Declaration of our Rights, and a particular enumeration of our Grievances, together with a designation of the means of Redress. After which followed the Directions thus: the people in the summer-house, laying their hands on the tree, the gentleman who gave the discourse pronounced these words aloud: “ We do, in the name and behalf of the true sons of Liberty, in America, Great Britain, Ireland, Corsica, or wherever they “ may be dispersed throughout the world, dedicate and solemnize thereto, “ this tree, to be a Tree of Liberty. May all our councils and deliberations “ under its venerable Branches, be guided by wisdom, and directed for “ the support and maintenance of that liberty which our renowned Fore- “ fathers sought out, and found under trees, and in the wilderness. May it “ long flourish, and may the sons of Liberty often repair hither, to confirm “ and strengthen each other. When they look towards their sacred Elm, “ may they be penetrated with a sense of their duty to themselves and “ their posterity; and may they, like the House of David, grow stronger “ and stronger, while their enemies, like the House of Saul, shall grow “ weaker and weaker, Amen.”—The whole conducted with great order and quiet.

The following account contains additional particulars of this event :

“ In July, 1768, the Sons of Liberty were called upon to attend the dedication of the Tree of Liberty. Almost every town then had either its liberty tree or its liberty pole. The liberty tree of Providence was a little north of the north side of Olney street, in front of a public house kept there by Captain Joseph Olney. Samuel Thurber, in a note kindly communicated to me when in his 81st year, says: ‘ He, Captain Olney, ‘ had a large, old fashioned, two story, elm shedded house, in the form of an L, with a large yard in front. In this yard stood the largest elm tree that I ever saw. A flight of steps was erected, leading, perhaps twenty feet up to where three or four limbs set out. There a convenient seat was fixed for, say, ten or twelve people to sit in and enjoy themselves in the shade. The dedication of this tree took place on the 25th day of July. A large concourse of people assembled. An animated discourse was delivered from the seat or summer-house on the tree, by Silas Downer." Staples Annals of Providence, p. 221.

Mr. Edmundson was a distinguished preacher of the Society of Friends, and made no less than three voyages to America previous to the year 1700. He was born in 1627, and served in Cromwell's army. Subsequently he joined the Quakers, and became a most zealous apostle among them. In 1671, "he had movings of the spirit" to come to America, and soon after that, sailed in company with George Fox. He visited the West Indies, Virginia, Maryland, New Jersey, New York, and New England, and gives an interesting account of his travels in these climes as a missionary. He was in Rhode Island with George Fox. When at Newport, he says: "One Roger Williams, an old priest, and an enemy to truth, had put forth fourteen propositions, as he called them, which he would maintain against the Quakers that came from Old England, and challenged a dispute of seven of them at Newport, and the other seven at Providence." This is the famous controversy mentioned by Williams, to engage in which, he rowed a canoe, when 73 years of age, from Providence to Newport.

The preface to this tract is addressed "To the New England Professors, that hanged the servants of the Lord for Religion. And all others that are found in their steps, Persecuting, Imprisoning, Hating and Killing their Brethren about Religion, as Cain did Abel his brother." Mary Dyer, a Quaker of Rhode Island, who was hanged in Boston, is doubtless one of the persons alluded to. At the end of the volume, the author gives the "Order from the Court at Boston" against the Quakers.

"One of the most extraordinary and instructive narratives in the World; which no reader of competent judgment can peruse without revering the virtue of the writer.—Sir James Mackintosh.

George Fox was the founder of the Society of Friends or Quakers. He was born in Leicestershire, England, in the year 1624, and died in 1690. In the course of his public ministrations he visited America twice, where he spent two years. He was much with the people of his sect in Rhode Island, and held a public discussion with Roger Williams, at Newport; for particulars of which, see Edmundson. Notwithstanding the severe language of Fox in the titles of his books quoted, William Penn, in speaking of him says, he was "civil beyond all forms of breeding, in his behaviour very temperate, eating little, and sleeping less. He had an extraordinary gift in opening the Scripture; but, above all, excelled in prayer. The reverence and solemnity of his address and behaviour, and the promptness and ferventness of his words, often struck strangers with admiration."

Wherein is declared an Act of a Great People and Country of the Indians in those parts, both Princes and People (unanimously) in their voluntary submission and subjection unto the protection and Government of Old England, (from the fame they hear thereof) together with the true manner and forme of it, as it appears under their own hands and seals; being stirred up and provoked thereto, by the combate and courses above-said. Samuel Gorton came to this country from England, and landed in Boston in the year 1636, soon after which he removed to Plymouth. On the 20th June, 1639, he was admitted an inhabitant at Aquedneck, or Rhode Island. In the Introduction to his edition of Simplicite's Defence, Judge Staples. thus speaks of him: "He was the founder of a religious sect. In an age and among people where conformity to an established religion was enforced by the civil power, Gorton dared to think for himself, and to avow his thoughts. And such were the powers of his mind, or the truth of his position, that he soon gathered a company who adopted and avowed his peculiar principles, notwithstanding the reproaches and penalties to which such avowals subjected them. Though his followers cannot be called illiterate, still such were the circumstances with which they were surrounded, that they left but scanty written memorials, either of their leader or themselves. Gorton probably wrote more than them all; but his writings are chiefly of a polemic or religious character, and contain but few allusions to himself.

His work entitled "Simplicite's Defence," etc., although chiefly theological, contains, as he says in the Dedication, "a more particular and full relation of what hath passed betwixt some other Colonies and New England and ourselves." This was first printed in London in 1646, and again in 1647. Though the long titles to these are quite different, the body of the work is the same. This narrative was answered by Winslow, in a work entitled "Hypocresie Unmasked," London, 1646, and again under the title of "The Danger of Tolerating Levellers;" both works being the same, with different titles only. Besides the works of Gorton, the titles of which are given, he prepared for the press a Commentary on the Lord's Prayer, the manuscript of which, in his own hand writing, is now in the possession of the Rhode Island Historical Society.

Gorton always had the confidence of his fellow-townsmen; and during his long life filled various offices of the town of Warwick, where he lived, or of the Colony. He died in 1677. Besides his Biography by Mr. Mackie there is a candid and brief memoir of him, by Judge Staples, prefixed to his edition of Simplicite's Defence; but the reader who would fully understand his character and principles, must study the histories of Winthrop, Morton and Johnston, who were contemporary with him. The notes and illustrative documents appended by Judge Staples to Simplicite's Defence, are copious and very valuable.

Bishop Griswold was born in Simsbury, Connecticut, April 22, 1766. He was admitted to Holy Orders in 1795. After officiating for nine years in his native State, he removed to Bristol, R. I., in 1804 and became Rector of St. Michael's Church. In 1811 he was consecrated the first Bishop of the Eastern Diocese of New England. In 1829 he removed to Salem, Mass., and became Rector of St. Peter's Church, there. A few years later he relinquished parochial duties and took up his residence in Boston, where he died February 15, 1843, at the age of 77 years. His biographer, Dr. Stone, says: "Perhaps not once in an age, if ever, are we presented with an instance of earlier and indomitable love of learning than that which was exhibited in the first years of Bishop Griswold." His published sermons, together with his official addresses, charges and correspondence, denote a vigorous and highly cultivated mind.

Benjamin Hazard was born in Middletown, Rhode Island, September 18, 1770; graduated at Brown University in 1792, and was admitted to the bar in 1796. He commenced practice in Newport, and ere long became one of the most distinguished men in his profession in the State. In 1809, he was elected a member of the General Assembly, which place he continued to fill for thirty-one successive years, a portion of which period he was Speaker of the House. In the sphere where he had so long moved, he felt himself perfectly at home, and his influence was most potent. As a debater, he held a high rank. On all committees of the Assembly he was most diligent, and his reports able. That upon Banking, mentioned above, is yet referred to, as the most able essay on the subject ever produced in the State. Mr. Hazard died in Newport, March 10, 1841, aged 69 years.

“ In a few years after the English had established themselves at Plymouth, in New England, their settlements became so extensive, and were so distant from each other, as to render their situation very insecure. Surrounded by enemies, distracted by internal divisions, and too far from their mother country, to receive seasonable assistance from her, they were led to consult their common safety ; and for that purpose, the few principal colonies, (Massachusetts, Plymouth, Connecticut, and New Haven), confederated in 1643. They gave to Commissioners, annually chosen, the management of such affairs as concerned the Union generally, while each retained its sovereignty in other respects. The Commissioners held both stated and occasional meetings, and kept regular journals of their proceedings, which have acquired the name of the Records of the United Colonies of New England. Preface to Hazard's State Papers, Vol. 2. These records have lately been reprinted in the "Plymouth Records," by the State of Massachusetts. They contain much relating to Rhode Island.

This discourse contains a history of the founding of the Protestant Episcopal Church in Rhode Island, which was coeval with that of the Society itself. Bishop Henshaw was born in Middletown, Connecticut, June 13, 1792, and graduated at Middlebury College, Vermont, in 1808. He pursued his theological studies with Bishop Griswold. He was ordained at the age of twenty-one, and in 1816, was ordained minister of St. Ann's Church, Brooklyn, N. Y. The following year, he accepted the Rectorship of St. Peter's Church, Baltimore. Dr. Henshaw's labors closed in Maryland in 1843, when he was consecrated Bishop of Rhode Island. While on a visit to Maryland, he died suddenly of apoplexy, July 19, 1852, at the age of sixty years. His influence was felt wherever he was disposed to exert it, and he is said to have controlled, in a remarkable manner, the congregations to which he was accustomed to minister.

Hopkins' work was twice reprinted in London, and was immediately followed by a pamphlet, the title of which follows this. To the latter came a reply from James Otis, entitled: "A Vindication of the British Colonies," one of the most remarkable works of the day. See Otis, and the works which follow. He was Governor of the State, at various times from 1755 to 1768; one of the signers of the Declaration of Independence, and Member of the American Congress from 1774 to 1779. Dr. Hopkins was the founder of the Hopkinsian School of Divinity. He was born in Waterbury, Connecticut, in 1721, graduated at Yale College in 1741; studied theology under the celebrated Jonathan Edwards; was ordained minister of Great Barrington, Conn., from which place he was dismissed by an ecclesiastical council in 1769. In 1770, he was settled in the ministry at Newport, R. I.

The war of the revolution interrupted his labors, when he preached elsewhere. In 1780, he returned to Newport, but found his congregation so dispersed and impoverished, that he had no prospect of a maintenance. Nevertheless, he continued to preach in Newport, deriving his subsistence from his friends. He died in 1802, at the age of 82. In addition to the books mentioned above, which appertain to Rhode Island, Dr. Hopkins was the author of many theological works. He also wrote "A Dialogue, showing it to be the duty and interest of the American States to emancipate all their African Slaves," which was published in 1776. A collected edition of his works, including his System of Doctrines, with a memoir of his Life and Character, was published by the Doctrinal Tract and Book Society, in Philadelphia, in 1853, in 3 vols. 8vo.

"The celebrity of the author, who, with Edwards and Bellamy, completes the American triumvirate of eminent writers in the same strain of divinity, would have rendered this work much more popular and useful, had he kept clear of a bold and grating sentiment,—that 'God has foreordained all the moral evil which does take place,' and which he endeavors to defend with more ingenuity than success,"—*Dr. E. For twenty-eight years he was a member of the General Court of Massachusetts, and at one time Speaker.

JOURNAL of the proceedings of the Congress held at Albany, in 1754:

An original manuscript Journal of the Commissioners of this Congress is among the Public Archives of the State of Rhode Island, in the office of the Secretary of State. The object of the convention was to treat with the Six Nations of Indians, and concert a scheme of general union for the British American Colonies. The Colonies represented were: New Hampshire, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut, New York, Pennsylvania and Maryland. The delegates from Rhode Island were, Stephen Hopkins and Martin Howard, Jun'r. The whole number in attendance was twenty-five, among which were Dr. Franklin, Roger Wolcott, Jr., Gov. Colden, Sir William Johnson, and other distinguished men. Of this assembly, Hutchinson, in his "History of Massachusetts," Vol. III. p. 20, says, that it "was the most deserving of respect of any which had ever been convened in America, whether we consider the Colonies which were represented, the rank and character of the delegates, or the purposes for which it was convened."

Mr. Sparks, in his edition of Franklin's writings, in speaking of this convention and the plan of union which grew out of it, says:

"The prospect of a French war, and the hostile attitude already assumed by the tribes of Indians on the frontiers, induced the British Government to seek for the means of providing for a timely and efficient resistance in the Colonies. With a view to this end, an order was sent over by the Lords of Trade, directing that Commissioners should be appointed in the several provinces to meet at Albany. The immediate object was to conciliate the Six Nations, by giving them presents, and renewing a treaty, by which they should be prevented from going over to the French, or being drawn away by the Indians under their influence."

A more extended life of Dr. Manning, with his correspondence, by Reuben A. Guild, Librarian of Brown University, has been announced for publication. See Guild.

Dr. Manning was a native of New Jersey, and a graduate of Princeton College, in the class of 1762. In the summer of 1763, he came to Rhode Island, and used his influence in behalf of a college, which was incorporated by the General Assembly early in the following year. Soon after, he commenced a Latin School at Warren, where he also founded a Baptist Church, and in the year 1767, the Warren Association. In the year 1765, he was appointed President of Rhode Island College, now Brown University, which office he filled with distinguished success and usefulness until his death in 1791. Upon the removal of the College from Warren to Providence, he became the Pastor of the First Baptist Church, which office he also held until a few months before his death. Dr. Manning was very active in the cause of public education, and was for many years Chairman of the School Committee of Providence. In 1786, he was unanimously appointed by the General Assembly to represent the State in the Old Federal Congress. His sudden death at the early age of 52, was universally lamented.

Dr. Maxcy was born in Attleborough, Massachusetts, September 2, 1768, and graduated at Brown University, 1787, with the highest honors of his class. Immediately after, he was appointed tutor in the same institution. Four years later, he was chosen pastor of the First Baptist Church, in Providence. Upon the death of Dr. Manning, in 1792, when but twenty-four years of age, he was appointed President of Brown University. "The splendor of his genius, and his brilliant talents as an orator and divine," says his biographer, Dr. Blake, "had become widely known; and under his administration the college acquired a reputation for belles lettres and eloquence, inferior to no seminary of learning in the United States." In 1802, he was induced to accept the Presidency of Union College, Schenectady, N. Y., and two years later, the Presidency of Columbia College, in South Carolina. As a scholar, Dr. Maxcy is said to have stood higher than any other President of a college in the United States, in his time. He died at Columbia, S. C., June 4, 1820, aged 52 years; thirty-eight of which he was connected with some college. His writings have been collected and published, together with a memoir of his life, by the Rev. Romeo Elton.

Wherein the cruel whippings and scourgings, bonds and imprisonments, beatings and chainings, starvings and huntings, fines and confiscation of estates, burning in the hand and cutting off ears, orders of sale for bondmen and bond women, banishment upon pain of death, and the putting to death of those people, are shortly touched: with a relation of the manner, and some of the other most material proceedings, and a judgement thereupon. In answer to a certain Paper, intituled, A Declaration of the General Court of the Massachusetts, holden at Boston, the 18th October, 1658, apologizing for the same. By George Bishope.

NEW ENGLAND JUDGED. The second part. NEW ENGLAND'S ENSIGNE; it being the account of Cruelty, the Professor's Pride, and the articles of their faith; signified in characters written in blood, wickedly begun, barbarously continued, and inhumanly finished, (so far as they have gone,) by the present power of a darkness possess in the priests and rulers in New England, with the Dutch also, inhabiting the same land; in a bloody and cruel birth, which the husband to the Whore of Babylon hath brought forth, by ravishing and torturing the seed of the Virgin of Israel.

Happy are they who are blest out of the hands of Hypocrites, by whom my Saviour suffered, as it is said in David. Behold, and see, our hands, our sides, and our ears, if we be not the people of Christ Jesus suffers in.

This being an account of the sufferings sustained by us in New England, (with the Dutch,) the most part of it in these two last years, 1657, 1658. With a letter to John Indicot, and John Norton, Governor, and the Chief Priest of Boston, and another to the town of Boston. Also, the several late conditions of a friend upon Road-Island, before, in, and after distraction; With some queries unto all sorts of people, who want that which we have, &c. Book titled, The Popish Inquisition newly erected in New England, &c.

NILES, REV. SAMUEL. A Summary Historical Narrative of the wars in New England with the French and Indians, in the several parts of the country.

Mass. Hist. Collections, 3d series, Vol. vi.

The author of this work was a clergyman, of Braintree, Mass. He was born at Block Island, in the State of Rhode Island, May 1, 1674, and graduated at Harvard College in 1699. He was settled at Braintree, May 23, 1711, and died May 1, 1762, aged 88 years. The original Ms. of this work was found in a box of papers, bequeathed to the Massachusetts Historical Society by the Rev. Dr. Freeman. He was, besides, the author of several Theological works. President John Adams, in a letter to the Hon. Wm. Tndor, dated Quincy, Sept. 23, 1818, thus speaks of this manuscript and its author:

“Almost sixty years ago, I was an humble acquaintance of this venerable man, then, as I believed, more than four score years of age. He asked me many questions, and informed me, in his own house, that he was endeavoring to recollect and commit to writing a History of Indian Wars in his own time and before it, as far as he could collect information. This History he completed and prepared for the press, but no printer would undertake it, or venture to propose subscription for its publication.

* * * I then revered, and still revere, the honest, virtuous, and pious man; and his memorial of facts might be of great value to this country.”—Note of Publishing Com. Mass. Hist. Soc., preface to the work.

- Dr. Parsons was a surgeon on board of Commodore Perry's ship at the battle of Lake Erie, which event properly belongs to Rhode Island History, as its Commodore, with many of its officers and men went from Rhode Island, and built and equipped the fleet. A second reason why Dr. Parsons took this subject for his discourse, he says was, "because he could speak of it from personal knowledge," and thereby he adds, "because a very inaccurate and perverted account of it has been written and imposed upon the public by the late J. Fenimore Cooper, Esquire." The pamphlet, therefore, as it will be inferred, presents a particular account of the battle, and a defence of its gallant Commodore.

Dr. Patten's father was the Rev. William Patten, who was first settled as successor of Rev. John Cotton, first minister of Halifax, Mass.; afterwards as minister of the South Congregational Society, Hartford, Conn. His mother was Ruth, daughter of Rev. Eleazer Wheelock, D. D., founder and first President of Dartmouth College, N. H.

He was settled as successor of President Stiles, over the Second Congregational Society in Newport, May 21, 1786, where he preached forty-eight years. He died in Hartford, Conn., March 9, 1839, aged 76 years. His remains, with those of the Rev. Samuel Hopkins, D. D., pastor of the first Congregational Society in Newport, cotemporaries, warmly attached, and agreeing in doctrines, rest side by side in the Church enclosure in Newport, of these two societies, now merged into "The United Congregational Society." ——— Report to the United States Senate, on the claims of Elisha R. Potter and Asher Robbins to the Rhode Island Senatorship, 1833. (See Poindexter's Report.)

Mr. Potter was born in Rhode Island, November 5th, 1761, and was literally a self-made man. He practiced law with great success until forty years of age, when the fascinations of political life withdrew him from the courts. He was elected to the General Assembly in 1793, of which body he was a distinguished and active member at various times for upwards of forty years, during which period, he was five times elected Speaker of the House. In 1796 and 1797, and again in 1809, he was in the Congress of the United States. Few political men in Rhode Island ever acquired or maintained a more commanding influence. This was mainly the result of his manly powers, of his rare natural endowments, and of his extensive acquaintance with the motives, principles and passions which belong to human nature, and determine the conduct of men. His speeches always produced a powerful effect. Mr. Potter died at his residence in Kingston, Sept. 26, 1835, aged 70 years. The books that follow are by his son, the Hon. Elisha R. Potter.

QUAKERS. The Christian Faith of the People of God, called in Scorn, Quakers in Rhode Island, (who are in Unity with all the faithful Brethren of the same profession in all parts of the world,) Vindicated from the calumnies of Christian Lodowick, that formerly was of that Profession, but is lately fallen therefrom. As also, from the base Forgeries, and wicked Slanders of Cotton Mather, called a Minister at Boston, who hath greatly commended the said Christian Lodowick, and approved his false charges against us, and hath added thereunto many gross, impudent and vile calumnies against us and our brethren, in his late address, so called, in New England, the which in due time may receive a more full answer, to discover his Ignorance, Prejudice and Perversion against our friends in general and G. K. in particular, whom he hath most unworthily abused, etc., etc.

Philadelphia. Printed and sold by William Bradford. 1692.

This tract is signed by Edward Thurston, Henry Bull, Anne Bull, Thomas Cornwall, Thomas Roadman, George Keith, Ebenezer Slocum, Joseph Nicholson, Daniel Gould, Jacob Mott, Walter Clark, Rob. Hutchins and John Easton. Most of these are Rhode Island People.

Following the above text is a collection of "Testimonies collected out of the writings of our ancient Friends, giving some account of their Faith and Belief." Faithfully collected and recommended for perusal, by William Bradford.

For notices of the Quakers, see Friends' Yearly Meeting; Besse's History of the Quakers; Lowell's History of the Quaker's; Burnyeatt; Fox; New England Judged, by Bishop; New England's Eniegne; Edmundston.

There was published in London a tract bearing the following title, "An examination of the Grounds or Causes, which are said to induce the Court of Boston, in New England, to make that order or law of Banishment upon pain of death against the Quakers; as also, of the grounds and considerations by them produced to manifest the warrantableness and justness both of their making and executing the same, which they now stand deeply engaged to defend, having already thereupon put two of them to death," etc. By Isaac Penington, the Younger. 4to. pp. 99. London. L. Lloyd 1660.

A number of books and tracts appeared at this time for, and against the Quakers. The controversy was carried on with the greatest violence; indeed, one can hardly believe that a religious sect of such exceeding amiability and gentleness as the Friends of our day, would have entered the arena of dispute with so much bitterness and invective as characterized the productions of their ancestors in the 17th century. Yet, they were fully justified for the severity of their remarks in self-defence, when we consider the cruelties and barbarous treatment which they were forced to undergo by the bigoted Puritans of Massachusetts. We have not space to give the titles of the books referred to, the quaintness of which is most curious to the Bibliographer. One of these against the Quakers is called "The Snake in the Grass; or, Satan transferred into an Angel of Light, discovering the deep and unsuspected subtilty which is couched under the pretended simplicity of many of the principal leaders of those people called Quakers." 8vo. pp. 44 and 370. London. 1698. To this, followed a reply, called "a Switch for the Snake, wherein is shown that author's injustice and falsehood, both in quotation and story, are discovered and obviated, and the truth doctrinally delivered by us stated and maintained, in opposition to his misrepresentation and perversion." By Joseph Wyeth. 8vo. London. 1699.

In the Library of the Friends' Boarding School, Providence, is a copy of the "Snake in the Grass," with the following note in the handwriting of the late venerable Moses Brown: "1831, 4th mo., 11th. Bought this book of Wm. R. Staples, as a wicked curiosity, having read several answers, had a mind to read the corruption of those times—Said to have been by John Lesley, a Scotch Churchman."

RAMUSIO, (G. B.) Navigazioni et Viaggi raccolto da Ramusio, et con molti vaghi discorso, da lui in molti luoghi dichiarato, et illustrato.
3 vols. folio. Venetia. 1554-59-56.

The third volume of this valuable collection relates almost entirely to America, containing translations into the Italian, of most of the works which had been previously published in Spanish, French and Latin on the subject, and some from manuscript works which had never been published.

“Collection precieuse, elle est estimee par les savants, et regardee encore aujourd'hui par les Geographes, comme un des recueils les plus importants.”—Camus.

The reference to Rhode Island in this collection is in the narrative of the voyage of Verrazano to the coast of North America, in the year 1524, when he entered Newport Harbor, and traversed Narragansett Bay. His ship remained about two weeks in the bay. He is therefore the earliest European who visited our waters, and his account of the Indian tribes at that day is very interesting. Randolph made himself particularly obnoxious to Rhode Island as well as to Massachusetts, from powers assumed under subsequent instructions. He let no opportunity escape of demonstrating his resolution to have his instructions executed to the very letter. “The authorities of Massachusetts were far from wishing him success in carrying his purpose into all the effect which he desired and sought. They looked on the instructions as trenching too much on their Charter privileges.” Note. Mass. Hist. Coll. Ibid. Randolph, some years after, sent a petition to James the Second, accompanied by serious charges against Rhode Island, (see Colonial Records, vol. 3, p. 175,) asking for writs of quo-warranto against Connecticut and Rhode Island, which were granted accordingly. See also, address from the Governor and Company of Rhode Island, in relation to the quo-warranto. Ibid. p. 193.

ROUSMANIERE, H., of Warwick. Letters from the Pawtuxet. A series of Letters on the History of the Valley of the Pawtuxet river. Published in the Providence Journal during the years 1859 and 60.

These letters cover the history of an important district, in which facts are brought to light which illustrate the progress of the mechanic arts. As early as the year 1732, Joseph Bucklin established a machine shop five miles north of the village of Washington, now in the town of Coventry. In 1740, the six sons of Jabez Greene, of Warwick, established a forge and anchor shop in the same town. They were also the owners of the ancient anchor mill at Potowomut. Nathanael, one of the brothers, was the father of Gen. Nath. Greene. The latter was managing the concern in Coventry, when he was summoned to the war. The progress of manufactures on the Pawtuxet River are narrated in detail, and with great accuracy in these letters. They also contain notices of the prominent men, with histories of their families.

Jonathan Russell, son of Thomas Russell, was born in Providence, in 1771, and graduated at Brown University in 1791, with the highest honors of his class. He was a versatile, forcible and elegant writer, and well versed in political science. He filled several high and responsible diplomatic stations, and performed their duties with marked ability. For several years he was Minister Plenipotentiary of the United States at Stockholm, and one of the Commissioners who negotiated the Treaty of Peace with Great Britain, at Ghent, in 1814. On his return, he settled at Mendon, Mass., and was soon after elected a Representative to Congress. With the exception of the Fourth of July Oration, above mentioned, which passed through more than twenty editions, and his diplomatic correspondence while in Paris, London and Stockholm, Mr. Russell has left few records of his varied intellectual gifts. He died at Milton, Massachusetts, in 1832, aged 61 years. George R. Russell, of Roxbury, Mass, distinguished also for his talents, is the son of Jonathan Russell.

Dr. Smith was born in Scotland about the year 1752; was educated at one of its universities, and came to America as an ordained minister in 1785. He was, at various times, settled in Maryland, Rhode Island, Connecticut, New York, and other places, never remaining long in one place. He had the reputation of being an excellent scholar. For a while he taught school in some of these places. The latter part of his life was spent in the city of New York, in writing for the press. "His colloquial powers," says Dr. Blake, in his Biog. Dictionary, "were extraordinary, rendering him an agreeable companion; and he frequently preached extemporaneously—being always interesting, and sometimes eloquent." He died in New York, April 26, 1821.

After being admitted to the bar, he visited Europe, and attended a Law School at Poitiers, in France. On his return he commenced the practice of law in Providence, but finding the field too limited, he removed to New York. Here he published "a Digest of the Law of Maritime Captures or Prizes," and "An Essay on the means of maintaining the Commercial and Naval Interests of the U. S." In 1816, he became Reporter of the decisions of the Supreme Court of the U. S., which office he held eleven years, and published 12 vols. of Reports. His other writings are, a "History of the Law of Nations, in Europe and America;" "History of the Northmen;" "History of Scandinavia;" "Life of William Pinckney;" and an "Essay on the Progress and Prospects of Germany." But the most important of Mr. Wheaton's writings is his "Elements of International Law," which has passed through seven editions, the last two, since his death, were edited and enlarged by Wm. Relates chiefly to the proceedings of the Friends in Rhode Island.

Jemima Wilkinson was born in Cumberland, R. I., about the year 1753, and was educated as a Quaker. She became a religious fanatic, and claimed to be invested with divine attributes. She professed to work miracles, and induced many to become her followers. In 1787-89, she and her followers removed to, and founded a colony in what is now Yates County, in the State of New York. She exacted from her followers the most complete submission and the most menial services, and exerted a powerful influence over them. She insisted on the Shaker doctrine of celibacy, and the exercises of their religious meetings resembled those of that sect. After her death, which took place on the 1st of July, 1819, at Jerusalem, Yates County, N. Y., her followers were scattered and broken up.

Rhode Island Hist. Soc. Coll. Vol. 1.

This is the earliest printed book of Roger Williams. In the Preface he says, "I drew the materials in a rude lumpe at sea, as a private helpe to my owne memory, that I might not by my present absence lightly lose what I had so dearly bought in some few yeares hardship and charges among the barbarians; yet being reminded by some, what pitie it were to bury those materialls in my grave at land or sea."

The nation who spoke this language has long since disappeared, and the only monuments that remain, besides this "Key" of Roger Williams, are the translation of the Bible, by John Elliot, and the Indian Grammar, by the same indefatigable missionary and student.

—— Mr. Cotton's Letter lately printed, examined and answered. By Roger Williams, of Providence, in New England.

Small 4to. pp. 47. Dedicatory 2 pages.

London. Imprinted in the yeere 1644.

In his dedicatory address the author thus gives his reasons for publishing this "Letter :—" This Letter I acknowledge to have received from Mr. Cotton (whom for his personall excellencies I truly honour and love.) Yet at such a time of my distressed wanderings amongst the Barbarians, that being destitute of food, of cloths, of time, I reserved it (though hardly, amidst so many barbarous distractions) and afterward prepared an answer to be returned."

"In the interim, some friends being much grieved, that one publicly acknowledged to be godly and dearly beloved, should yet be so exposed to the merey of an howling wilderness in frost and snow, &c., Mr. Cotton to take off the edg of Censure from himself, profest both in speech and writing, that he was no procurer of my sorrows."

"Some letters then passed between us, in which I proved and exprest, that if I had perished in that sorrowfull Winter's flight; only the blood of Jesus Christ could have washed him from the guilt of mine."

"His finall answer, was, had yon perished, your blood had beene on your owne head; it was your sinne to procure it, and your sorrow to suffer it."

"Here I confesse I stopt, and ever since suppress mine answer; waiting if it might please the father of mereies, more to mollifie and soften, and render more humane and mercifull, the care and heart of that (otherwise) excellent and worthy man."

"It cannot now, be justly offensive, that finding this letter publike (by whose procurement I know not) I also present to the same publicke view, my formerly intended answer."

The following is the title of the letter to which it is a reply :

"A Letter of Mr. John Cottons, Teacher of the Church in Boston, in New England, to Mr. Williams, a Preacher there; wherein is shewed, that those ought to be received into the Church who are godly, though they doe not see, nor expressly bewaile all the pollutions in Church-fellowship, Ministry, Worship, Government. Small 4to. pp. 13. Printed at London for Benjamin Allen. 1643."

This work was re-published in London in 1848, by the "Hanserd Knollys Society," in connection with William's Bloody Tenent. In it the author vindicates the act of the Magistrates in banishing Roger Williams from Massachusetts, though he denied that he had any agency in it.

— The Bloody Tenent of Persecution, for cause of Conscience, discussed in a Conference betweene Truth and Peace, who, in all tender Affection, present to the High Court of Parliament, (as the Result of their Discourse,) these, (amongst other Passages) of the highest Consideration.

Small 4to. pp. 24 of preliminary matter and 247.

Printed in the year 1644.

Upon a close comparison of the two copies of this work in the Library of Brown University, printed in the same year, it is evident from differences in the type and orthography of their title pages, as well as from the headings of the chapters, that there were two editions of it. One contains a list of errata at the end, which is corrected in the other.

This work owes its origin to a very interesting circumstance. In the first volume of the publications of the Manserd Knolly's Society, may be found a piece entitled, "An Humble Supplication to the King's Majesty, as it was presented, 1620." "This," says Mr. Underhill, was a Baptist production." It was a well arranged, clear and concise argument against persecution, and for liberty of conscience. It was written by one imprisoned in Newgate for conscience' sake. So rigid was his confinement that paper, pens, and ink were denied him. He had recourse, therefore, to sheets of paper sent by a friend in London, as stoppers to the bottle containing his daily allowance of milk. He wrote his thoughts in milk, on the paper thus provided, and retured them to his friend in the same way. It is well known that writing of this kind becomes legible by holding it to the fire.

From this treatise were taken those arguments against persecution, which, being replied to by Mr. Cotton, gave rise to the work of Mr. Williams, and which he has so significantly called, in reference to Cotton's views as opposed to the mild doctrines of toleration, "The Bloody Tenent of Persecution Discussed." It was written while he was occupied in obtaining the Charter for Rhode Island. In many parts it bears evident tokens of haste, and occasional obscurities show that he had no time to amend his work. Indeed, he tells us that these discussions were prepared in London, "for publike view, in change of roomes and corners, yea, sometimes in variety of strange houses, sometimes in the fields, in the midst of travel; where he hath been forced to gather and scatter his loose thoughts and papers." It is nevertheless considered to be the best written of all his works. The doctrines of religious freedom are fully set forth, the style is throughout animated, and the page is adorned with frequent images of great beauty. Guild's Account of the writings of Roger Williams.

In 1647, John Cotton published a reply to Williams' "Bloody Tenent," entitled "The Bloody Tenent washed and made white in the Blood of the Lambe"; for the full title of which, see Cotton. To this Mr. Williams made a rejoinder, bearing the following title :

——— The Bloody Tenent yet more Bloody, by Mr. Cotton's Endeavour to wash it white in the Blood of the Lambe ; of whose precious Blood spilt in the Blood of his Servants, and of the Blood of Millions spilt in former and later Wars for Conscience Sake, that most Bloody Tenent of Persecution for Cause of Conscience, upon a Second Tryal, is found now more apparently and more notoriously guilty. In this Rejoinder to Mr. Cotton are principally,

1. The Nature of Persecution,
2. The Power of the Civill Sword in Spirituals,—examined.
3. The Parliaments Permission of Dissenting Consciences justified. Also (as a Testimony to Mr. Clark's Narrative) is added a Letter to Mr. Endicot, Governor of the Massachusetts in N. E. By R. Williams, of Providence, in New England.

Small 4to. pp. Dedication to the High Court of Parliament, 18 pages. Ded. to the General Courts, especially that of Massachusetts, in N. England, 7 pages. To the merciful and compassionate reader, 12 pages. Table of contents, 16 pages. Text, 320. London. Printed by Giles Calvert, and are to be sold at the Black-Spread-Eagle, at the West-End of Pauls. 1652.

This work discusses the same great questions as the preceding, and maintains the same views, with additional arguments. "Both," says Prof. Gammell, "are pervaded with a mildness quite unusual in the controversial writings of that day, and are enriched with an amount of learning that does credit to the varied scholarship of their author.

——— The Hireling Ministry None of Christ's, or a Discourse touching the Propagating the Gospel of Christ Jesus. Humbly presented to such pious and honourable Hands, whom the present Debate thereof concerns. By Roger Williams, of Providence, in New England.

Small 4to. pp. viii. and 36.

London. Printed in the Second Moneth. 1652.

This pamphlet is extremely valuable, because it contains a clearer exposition of Mr. Williams' views respecting the ministry, than any other of his works. It begins with an "Epistle Dedicatory, to all such honorable and pious hands, whom the present debate touching the propagating of Christ's Gospel concerns; and to all such gentle Bereans, who, with ingenious civility, desire to search, what's presented concerning Jesus Christ be so or not." In this the author says of himself, "I have not been altogether a stranger to the learning of the Egyptians, and have trod the hopefulest paths to worldly preferment, which for Christ's sake I have forsaken. I know what it is to study, to preach, to be an elder, to be applauded; and yet also what it is to tug at the oar, to dig with the spade and plow, and to labor, and to travel day and night amongst English, amongst barbarians! Why should I not be humbly bold to give my witness faithfully, to give my counsel effectually, and to persuade with some truly pious and conscientious spirits, rather to turn to law, to physick, to soldiery, to educating of children, to digging, (and yet not cease from prophesying) rather than to live under the slavery, yea under the censure (from Christ Jesus and his saints and others also) of a mercenary and hiring ministry."

The purpose of the work appears to be, to oppose a legal establishment of religion and the compulsory support of the clergy. The principal points maintained are: 1. Neither the "begetting ministry" of the Apostles to the nations, nor the "feeding and nourishing ministry" of pastors and teachers, according to the first institutions of the Lord Jesus is now extant. 2. There ought to be a perfect liberty to all men to maintain such worship and ministry as they please. 3. Ministers ought to be supported by voluntary donations, and not by legal provisions.

— Experiments of Spiritual Life and Health and their Preservatives, in which the weakest Child of God may get Assurance of his Spirituall Life and Blessednesse, and the strongest may finde proportionable Discoveries of his Christian Growth and the Means of it. By Roger Williams, of Providence, in New England.

Small 4to. pp. 50.

London. Printed in the Second month. 1652.

The Epistle dedicatory to the Hon. the Lady Vane the younger, fills 4 pages, and that to the Christian reader, 4 pages. The work is in the form of a letter from Williams to his wife upon her recovery from a dangerous illness, beginning with "My dearest love and companion in this vale of tears."

An exact reprint of this exceedingly rare work was made in Providence, in 1862, with an Introduction by the Rev. Francis Wayland, D. D., at the expense of Samuel Randall, Esq., a descendant of Roger Williams.

— George Fox digg'd out of his Burrowes, or an Offer of Disputation on fourteen Proposals, made this last Summer, 1672, (so call'd) unto G. Fox, then present on R. Island, in New England, by R. W. As also how

(G. Fox slyly departing) the Disputation went on, being managed three dayes at Newport on R. Island, and one day at Providence, between John Stubs, John Burnet, and William Edmundson, on the one Part, and R. W. on the other. In which many Quotations of G. Fox and Ed. Burrowe's Book in Folio are alleadged. With an Appendix, of some Scores of G. F., his simple lame answers to his Opposites in that Book quoted and replied to. By R. W., of Providence, in N. E.

Mr. Williams, in writing this book, used a style of contemptuous bitterness which seems not to have been natural to him. Mr. Fox and Mr. Burnyeat replied in the same strain, though with more coarseness. Their Book is a quarto of four hundred and eighty-nine pages, entitled, "A New England Firebrand Quenched," &c. It would be well, says Prof. Knowles, for the reputation of all parties, if both of these works could be forgotten. In referring to this controversy, we must avoid confounding the fanatical extravagances of some of the adherents of George Fox, at that period, in New England, which were generally regarded as injurious to the morals and order of society, with the principles of the large and influential denomination of Friends, so called, at the present day. Guild's Writings of R. Williams.

Roger Williams was born in Wales in 1599, and was educated at Oxford. He arrived in America in 1631, and was settled at Salem, Massachusetts. In 1635, on being banished from that colony, he came to Rhode Island, where he arrived the following spring, and founded the Colony of Providence Plantations. In 1643, he was sent to England, and in the following year returned with a patent for the territory and permission to form a government. In 1651, he was again sent to England, as an agent of the colony. Returning three years after, he was chosen President of the government. He died in April, 1683, aged 84 years. Mr. Williams was the great originator of the doctrine of Liberty of Conscience in religious matters, and was a bright example of the toleration which he demanded from others. His mind was strong and well cultivated. His several works, all of which are very rare, and the titles of which are above given, are in the Library of Brown University, and also in that of Mr. John Carter Brown, of Providence.

See the anonymous work, entitled "Wholesome Severity Reconciled with Christian Liberty," which is mentioned on page 274.

Together with a particular Answer to the manifold slanders, and abominable falsehoods which are contained in a Book written by the said Gorton, and entituled, Simplicities defence against Seven-headed Policy, &c.

Discovering to the view of all whose eyes are open, his manifold Blasphemies ; As also the dangerous agreement which he and his Accomplices made with ambitious and treacherous Indians, who at the same time were deeply engaged in a desperate Conspiracy to cut off all the rest of the English in the other Plantations.

Whereunto is added a briefe Narration (occasioned by certain aspersions) of the true grounds or cause of the first Planting of New England ; the President of their Churches in the Way and Worship of God ; their Communion with the Reformed Churches ; and their practice towards those that dissent from them in matters of Religion and Church-Government. The volume begins with an apology for his book in a dedication to the " Rt. Hon. Robert Earl of Warwick, Governor-in-Chief and Lord High Admiral of all those island and other plantations of the English in America," as follows :

" Were not your wisdom and experience in the great and weighty affaires of State so well known, and were yee not so much accustomed to the unjust complaints of clamorous persons, I might be discouraged to appeare in the righteous cause of the United Colonies of New England, and more especially in the behalf of the Governour and Company of the Massachusetts, to render a reason for their just and righteous proceedings against Samuel Gorton and his companions, who however, (where they are unknown) they goe here under the garb of peaceable people ; yet if your Honours, and the rest of the Honourable committee shall be pleased (when more weighty employments shall give way) to peruse our last defence against the clamorous complaints, and scandalous Treatise, called, Simplicities defence against Seven-headed Policy, &c., I make no question but yee will receive full satisfaction in what we have done, and be ready to justify our proceedings against them as godly and righteous."

Following the dedication which extends to six pages, is the " True Relation of the Proceedings of the Governor and Company of the Massachusetts against Gorton, examined and allowed by their General Court holden at Boston in November, 1646.

—— The Danger of tolerating Levellers in a Civill State ; or an Historicall Narration of the dangerous, pernicious practices and opinions, wherewith Samuel Gorton and his levelling accomplices so much disturbed and molested the severall Plantations in New England ; (Parallel to the positions and Proceedings of the present Levellers in Old England,) Wherein their severall errors dangerous and very destructive to the peace both of Church and State, their carriage and reviling language against Magistracy and all Civill Power, and their blasphemous speeces against the holy things of God ; together with the course that was there taken for suppressing them, are fully set forth ; with a satisfactory answer to their complaints made to the Parliament. Wherein our Government there is shewed to bee legall and not arbitrary, being as neere the Law of England as our condition will permit. Together with a briefe Reply to what is written in answer to certaine Passages in a late Booke called Hypocracie Unmasked.
