Myanmar – Conflict

- 20 members of the Kachin Independence Army (KIA) have been killed and 16 injured on 19 November in an isolated attack by the Myanmar Army on a training centre of the KIA close to Laiza in Kachin State.
- Some 100 000 people have been displaced in Kachin since 2011. Negotiations are ongoing between Myanmar's ethnic groups and the government to achieve a nationwide ceasefire.
- It is feared that the latest attack may reduce further already difficult access to displaced populations in non-government controlled areas in Kachin.
