I. Administration

1. Minutes

The Chairman reported that the minutes of previous meetings will be circulated as soon as they are ready.

2. Date of next meeting

27 June 1957

3. Appointment of Mr. Henry H. Saylor as a member of the Old Georgetown Board of Architectural Consultants

The Secretary reported that Mr. Henry H. Saylor had accepted the appointment as a member of the Old Georgetown Board of Architectural Consultants replacing Mr. Louis A. Simon whose term of office has expired.

4. Confirmation of appointments to Shipstead-Luce Panel

The Secretary reported that Mr. Waldron Faulkner, Mr. Louis A. Simon, and Mr. Earl Gauger had accepted appointment to the Shipstead-Luce Panel of architects and their appointments were confirmed by the members of the Commission.

5. Need for period of advance study of building plans by members

The members expressed great concern over the fact that there was so little opportunity to consider a proposed design for a building or monument except in the presence of the architects making the design and the members of the commission or organization sponsoring the project. It was believed that if the design could be submitted in advance so that the members might study and discuss it freely among themselves, they would then be in a position to give more competent criticism. The basic problem was discussed at length but no conclusion being reached, the matter was held over for future consideration.

II. Submissions

1. Commissioners of the District of Columbia

a. Department of Licenses and Inspection

1. Six building applications, under the Shipstead-Luce Act, were held for study by the Panel of Architects. Exhibit A.

2. The actions of the Georgetown Board of Architectural Consultants on the applications listed on Appendix 2 were confirmed. Exhibit B.

Mr. Walter Macomber and Mr. Henry Saylor, members of the Georgetown Board of Architectural Consultants, appeared before the Commission to discuss the design of a proposed Boys Dormitory at Georgetown University. Mr. Macomber presented drawings and explained that the association providing the money to build the dormitory had specified that the design of the building must be kept simple. The question of material was discussed fully and all the members agreed that the most suitable material would be red brick so that the new building would harmonize with adjacent existing buildings.

b. Highway Department

1. Policy Statement re Design of the Inner Loop by Brig. Gen. Thomas A. Lane, Engineer Commissioner for the District of Columbia

The members requested the Secretary to make the following statement of the Engineer Commissioner a part of the record of the Commission:

August 21, 1956

Memorandum to the Director, Department of Highways
Subject: Design of the Inner Loop

"Planning of the inner loop introduced new and serious problems of highway design for your Department. This project, in addition to the planned beneficial effect on highway traffic, will have a major impact upon the entire development of downtown Washington. It is important that the design be right.

"In bringing these highway structures into the heart of Washington we have a responsibility to achieve maximum harmony with surrounding property and land uses and to make wise provision for the long-range requirements of the City. The highway program must recognize its obligation to avoid damage to other community programs which will be affected by the highway construction.

"The alignment and grade of the design must take into consideration the effect which the required structures will have on surrounding property. Where the highway is elevated and economic community utilization of the space below it is practicable, the design should facilitate such use. The design should should be clean in avoiding the creation of dead space which will create future problems of police and sanitation. Structural spans over streets and other ways must be ample to permit future growth, so that you will not be creating the kind of obstacle which you have encountered in some of our railroad underpasses which were built years ago. Features of design which will permit a better public use of available space or avoid the creation of potential community eyesores are in the public interest and should be included in basic highway design.

"It is not practicable to anticipate at this time all of the design problems which you will encounter. It is important that these problems as they arise be approached with a full recognition of the community interest.

/s/ T.A. Lane
Brigadier General, U. S. Army
Engineer Commissioner"

2. Anacostia Freeway Bridge at Portland Street

Mr. Tormey presented and explained the drawings for the Anacostia Freeway Bridge at Portland Street. After a discussion of the design and materials, the members voted to approve the design in general.

3. Anacostia Overpass at Pennsylvania Avenue

The architect, Mr. Tormey, presented a resubmission of the design for the bridge over Pennsylvania Avenue, S. E. explaining that the width of the sidewalk under the bridge had been increased from six to ten feet in accordance with the suggestions made at an earlier meeting of the Commission. He also stated that although this increase in the width of the sidewalk would add to the cost of the bridge, it was planned to follow this procedure in all future bridges to be built along the Anacostia Freeway. The members approved the design as resubmitted.

4. Railroad Bridge and viaduct at 2nd and S. Capital Streets

The architect, Mr. John Harbeson presented and explained maps and drawings of the railroad bridge and viaduct at 2nd and South Capital Streets. After a long discussion of the details, the members expressed the view that the architects and engineers had done an excellent job. It was unanimously voted to approve the project. Exhibit C.

2. New Chancery Building for British Embassy.

Sir Edward Muir, the Chief of the Ministry of Works, outlined the problems which the British Embassy is facing in providing office space for at least 600 workers and parking space for 214 cars. He then called on Mr. Bedford, the architect, to explain the design and the model of the new proposed office building which is to be built north of the Embassy on Massachusetts Avenue. There was a full discussion of the various phases of the problem but no conclusions were reached. After discussing the matter privately, the members asked Mr. Perry and Mr. Peets to convey certain recommendations for changes to the facade to the architect, Mr. Bedford. Exhibit D.

3. National Park Service

a. The Netherlands Carillon

The Chairman of the sponsoring committee, Mr. Van Hengel, presented photographs and a scale model of the tower for the carillon which is being given to the people of the United States from the people of the Netherlands. He explained that the architect had reduced the height of the tower to 120 feet, and had endeavored to meet other suggestions made by the Commission at an earlier meeting. All the members were favorably impressed with the revised design which they were glad to approve. They also asked the Ambassador, Mr. van Roijen, to express their appreciation to the architect for his cooperation and understanding. Exhibit E.

4. American Battle Monuments Commission

a. West Coast Memorial

The architectural advisor, Mr. John Harbeson, placed before the Commission two models of the West Coast Memorial. He explained the details of the design of the memorial and the plans for landscaping the area immediately surrounding it. The memorial is to be in light granite with the sculpture either in bronze or a darker granite so that it will not be lost in the background of the memorial. A sculptor has not yet been selected. After a discussion of materials, etc., the Commission advised Mr. Harbeson that they were pleased with the progress made but stated they would like to see the model again when the sculpture is in place. Exhibit F.

b. Memorial to General Pershing

The Chairman asked Mr. Harbeson what progress was being made on the memorial to General Pershing and Mr. Harbeson said that the architects had been selected and had agreed to serve. No sculptor has yet been selected.

5. Regents of the Smithsonian Institution

a. Freer Gallery of Art: Purchases for Collection

In accordance with the usual custom, the Commission visited the Freer Gallery of Art, where the Director, Mr. Wenley, submitted a number of works of art proposed for purchase. The Commission was pleased to inspect the objects and approved them for purchase. Exhibit G.

6. Public Buildings Service, General Services Admn.

a. Federal Office Building #6

The architect, Mr. Stenhouse, presented the model of Federal Office Building #6 and explained the revisions which had been made in order to bring the building into scale with the site available. He also explained the relationship of this building to the surrounding buildings. After considerable discussion, the members voted to express appreciation of the efforts made by the architects to bring the building into scale and to urge them to use every effort to make the setting as attractive as possible under budgetary limitations. Exhibit H.

b. Federal Office Building #10

The architect, Mr. Carroll, presented and explained in detail the drawings and model for Federal Office Building #10. After a general discussion of all phases of the problem including site, size of building, number of people to be housed, parking facilities, etc., the members expressed satisfaction with the progress being made and stated they felt the Public Buildings Service and the architects were working in the right direction. Mr. Hunter stated that he would like to present more details of this building at the next meeting of the Commission in June. (See Exhibit H).

III. Informal Submissions - None.

IV. Congress - Legislation

a/ S.930/85th Congress - Federal Advisory Commn. on Arts

b. S.1716/85th Congress- Fed. Adv. Council on the Arts

The Secretary explained that S. 930 and S. 1716 were identical in purpose except in the number of members; S.930 calling for 24 members and S. 1716 calling for 21 members. The Chairman read a draft of a letter to Senator Lister Hill, Chairman of the Senate Labor and Public Welfare Committee, stating that the Commission of Fine Arts preferred S. 1716 by Senator Alexander Smith to S.930 by Senator Humphrey. After a full discussion of the purposes and provisions of the two bills, the members approved the letter to Senator Hill. Exhibit I.

V. Status Reports and Discussion Topics

a. Constitution Avenue Bridge/Tunnel

The Chairman reported that the prospects for a tunnel under the Potomac River at Constitution Avenue instead of a bridge seemed quite favorable, although it would probably be a six rather than a four lane tunnel.

b. National Cultural Center Auditorium

The Chairman reported that the legislation for the National Cultural Center had been reported to the Joint Committee for the House and Senate for conference, which means that usually approval is fairly certain.

c. American Institute of Architects

The Chairman called attention to the Centennial Convention of the American Institute of Architects which had been held in Washington during the week of May 13 to 17, and asked if any members had attended. Mr. Orr attended most of the meetings but as he was not present at this meeting, no report was made.

The Secretary then announced that the American Institute of Architects had elected the Chairman to honorary membership in the Institute.

Meeting adjourned at 4:05 p.m.

Respectfully submitted,

Linton R. Wilson
Secretary

COMMISSION OF FINE ARTS
7000 INTERIOR DEPARTMENT BUILDING
WASHINGTON 25, D.C.

11 July 1957

Dear General Lane:

At a meeting of the Commission of Fine Arts on 23 May 1957, Mr. John Harbeson, architect, presented the drawings and perspective sketch for that part of the Inner Belt Freeway located at Second Street, Southwest and South Capitol Street.

The members of the Commission felt that Mr. Harbeson had handled his part of the complex problem, involving both a railroad bridge and a viaduct, in a very successful manner, and approved the architectural features of the plans as presented. They have asked me again, however, to state how greatly they deplore seeing plans of this magnitude progress to this point of realization without an attempt being made to solve the basic problem created by the presence of the railroad above ground in this part of the city.

For the Commission of Fine Arts:

Sincerely yours,

At a meeting of the Commission of the District of Columbia on July 10, 1917, Mr. John Harrison, architect, presented the drawings and perspective sketch for that part of the Lower Belt Freeway located at 2000 Street, Southwest and 20th Capitol Street.

The members of the Commission felt that Mr. Harrison had handled his part of the complex problem involving both a railroad bridge and a viaduct, in a very successful manner, and approved the architectural features of the plans as presented. My dear Sir Edward:

The Commission of Fine Arts was very glad to meet with you and Mr. Eric Bedford yesterday and appreciated your courtesy in bringing to us the model and drawings of the proposed new Chancery to be erected on the site adjoining the British Embassy residence.

As I said yesterday, the Commission of Fine Arts has no jurisdiction over the design of embassy buildings, but we were pleased that you have asked us for our advice and hope that the suggestions made by Mr. Perry and Mr. Peets in talking with Mr. Bedford yesterday afternoon, especially with reference to the Southeast Corner of the building, may prove useful in the restudy of the design which we understand, Mr. Bedford wishes to make. If there is anything further we can do while you are in Washington, or after your return to England, please do not hesitate to call on us. The Commission will meet again on June 27th, which will probably be the last meeting until September.

I understand that General Lane is calling a meeting of the Zoning Commission on Tuesday morning when a decision will be reached as to questions involving zoning.

Dear Mr. Ambassador:

The members of the Commission were very happy to have you and Mr. Van Hengel meet with them on 23 May, and to consider the revised design of the carillon tower, the gift of the people of the Netherlands to the people of the United States.

The members were all delighted with the new design as shown in the scale model and photographs, and were impressed by the imagination shown by the architect in developing the suggestions which were made at our previous meeting on 24 January 1957. We are accordingly glad to give our approval to the design of the structure. We also hope that you will express to the architect and the others associated with the project, our recognition of their hearty cooperation. 5 June 1957

Dear General North:

The members of the Commission of Fine Arts were glad to see and study the scale models, based on the revised plans, for the West Coast Memorial, as resubmitted by Mr. John Harbeson at a meeting of the Commission on 23 May 1957.

The general idea for the masonry portion of the memorial was approved, but the models made it clear that the success of this design depends equally on the form and relationship of the sculptured motifs. It is hoped therefore that a sculptor will soon be selected so that the development of the sculptor's ideas may be included as an integral part of the monument. Mr. Harbeson stated that he believed this could be done without delay, and the model revised to reflect such development.

The next meeting of the Commission will be held on Thursday, June 27th, but there will be no meetings during July and August. The first meeting in the autumn will be held about the middle of September. If you wish to have the model presented again at the June or September meetings and will so indicate, I shall be happy to reserve a time for you.

Colonel Walker has advised me that he will furnish photographs of the models of the West Coast Memorial for our records, when the pictures have been made.

June 1957

Dear General North:

The members of the Commission of Fine Arts were glad to see and study the scale models, based on the revised plans for the West Coast Memorial, as resubmitted by Mr. John Harrison at a meeting of the Commission on 23 May 1957.

The general ideas for the masonry portion of the memorial are approved, but the models made it clear that the success of this design depends equally on the form and relationship of the sculptured motifs. It is hoped therefore that a sculptor will soon be selected so that the development of the sculpture may be included as an integral part of the monument. Mr. Harrison stated that he believed this could be done without delay, and the model revised to reflect such development.

The next meeting of the Commission will be held on Thursday, June 27th, but there will be no meetings during July and August. The first meeting in the autumn will be held about the middle of September. If you wish to have the model presented again at the June or September meetings and will so indicate, I shall be happy to reserve a time for you.

Colonel Walker has advised me that he will furnish photographs of the models of the West Coast Memorial for our records, when the pictures have been made.

My dear Mr. Commissioner: (Federal Office Buildings #6 and #10)

The Commission of Fine Arts was very glad to meet yesterday with Mr. Hunter and your group of architects to discuss the plans for the Federal Office Buildings 6 and 10. It seemed to the Commission that the work had been well organized by your office and we were glad to commend the plans which have been made for developing this area. The use of a model in studying the design was most helpful, and we hope that you can soon provide one that will be large enough to show the relationship of all the proposed work in this part of the Southwest area.

We feel that the design of the building to be erected on the axis of the Archives Building is of paramount importance, as it will be seen across the Mall and will dominate the group of buildings on the south side of the Mall. We realize that a final design cannot be made for this building until it is known what agency will occupy it. We believe that, in view of its position, this building should be monumental in character and not convey the impression of merely another office building. We approved in principle the designs which were submitted to us for these two buildings, but hope you will continue to consult with us further as the designs are developed at larger scale. We hope also that, when a decision has been reached as to the agency that will occupy the building, you will confer with us as to the suitability of design and will give us an opportunity to discuss this matter with the architects and Mr. Hunter in the early stages of the design.

We feel that the landscaping of this area is of great importance and urge that some part of the funds be reserved for this purpose and for decoration of the buildings with suitable sculpture and painting.

For the Commission of Fine Arts:

Sincerely yours,

Honorable F. Moran McConihe

Dear Mr. Chairman:

As requested in your letter of May 14, 1957, I am glad to give you the views of the Commission of Fine Arts with reference to S. 930, a bill "To provide for the establishment of a Federal Advisory Commission on the Arts, and for other purposes;" and also with reference to S. 1716, a bill "To provide for the establishment of a Federal Advisory Council on the Arts, and for other purposes."

At a meeting held on May 23, 1957, the members of the Commission of Fine Arts discussed the respective provisions of the two bills. It was noted that the primary purpose of the proposed legislation was to establish advisory bodies within the Department of Health, Education and Welfare to study and recommend methods to encourage creative activity in the performance and practice of the arts, and to arouse wider appreciation of the Arts.

The members of the Commission of Fine Arts have asked me to state that they believe that enactment of legislation of this type and establishment of the advisory council as proposed in this legislation can be of assistance to the work of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, especially as regards the activities of the Office of Education.

Of the two bills, the members preferred S. 1716 because it provides for the establishment by the Advisory Council of smaller working committees to study specific phases of the problem. It is our experience that consideration by large groups tends to slow down action and reduce the chances of reaching an effective solution.

The Bureau of the Budget has advised us that it has no objection to the submission of this report to your Committee.
