THE General Register of the United States Navy and Marine Corps, for One Hundred Years, (1782-1882,) contains in Alphabetical Order, the names of all Officers of the Navy, Commissioned, Warranted, and Appointed, including Volunteer Officers who have entered the service since the establishment of the Navy Department in 1798, showing the dates of their original entry, of their progressive rank, and in what manner they left the service if not now in it, thus showing the entire official record of every one who has been or is an Officer of the Navy of the United States, whether of the Regular or Volunteer service; compiled from the original manuscript Records of the Navy Department by permission of the Honorable Secretary of the Navy, and to which is added a sketch of the Navy from 1775 to 1798, with Lists of Officers in service between those dates.

The General Navy Register owes its origin to the labors of Messrs. James C. Dulin and Jesse E. Dow, of the Navy Department, who have carefully transcribed the records herein contained, and who have been assisted in their work, so far as the Engineer and Medical Corps of the Navy are concerned, by Passed Assistant Engineer Harrie Webster, United States Navy, Assistant to the Engineer-in-Chief of the Navy, and Mr. Daniel Carrigan, Chief Clerk of the Bureau of Medicine and Surgery. The work of editing and arranging the work for publication has been my own.

Captain R. S. Cullum, United States Marine Corps, has furnished the Register of said Corps to date, and by permission of Rear-Admiral Preble, United States Navy, the List of Vessels of the United States Navy, from 1798 to 1874, which is brought down to January 1st, 1881, by Mr. H. A. Goldsborough, Chief Clerk of the Bureau of Construction and Repair, is also appended. In addition, the work also contains a List of all Midshipmen of the Naval Academy since its establishment, arranged alphabetically by classes, with date of appointment of each Midshipman, and a similar List of all Cadet Engineers, together with other important information relating to the Navy.

That the work meets the hearty approbation of the Navy Department is shown by the letters of commendation of the Honorable Secretary of the Navy, and of the Officers of the Navy Department, printed within.

The book forms a companion work to the "General Army Register of the United States for One Hundred Years," compiled by myself, an advertisement of which will be found in this volume.

From the period of the Revolutionary War, to the time of Farragut and Porter, the Navy of the United States has done its whole duty, bravely and well. The record of the United States Navy and Marine Corps, and of the Volunteer Navy during the War of the Rebellion, is a record that the United States may and does cherish, with honest love and pride, and is shown by this book, for the History of the Navy is the official record of its officers, and they are here, both Regular and Volunteer, complete.

It is a matter of gratification to me, and to those who have been associated with me, in the compiling of this work, that this Register is published at this time, when the condition and future of the Navy of the United States is receiving that large share of public attention, that not only the future welfare of our Navy, but also of our country, demands. That this is so, is notably instanced in the annual message of the President of the United States to Congress, of December, 1881, in which he urgently seconds the recommendations of the present Honorable Secretary of the Navy, for the increase of the number of vessels and enlisted men.

That these recommendations will receive the earnest attention and result in the favorable action of Congress there is no reason to doubt, and the time which the Navy has so long hoped and looked for seems to be at hand, when the Navy of the United States shall be so increased as to number of vessels and men, as to give us that rank which our interests as a nation demand, among the great naval powers of the world.

The personnel of the Navy already compares most favorably with that of any Navy in the world. All that is necessary, is to make that personnel available by giving to the Navy that increase of men and ships recommended by President Arthur and Honorable Secretary of the Navy Hunt, in the message above referred to.

The preparation of this book has been a labor of years, and it has been very carefully compiled.

Thanks are due and are tendered to the Honorable Secretary of the Navy and to the Chiefs of all the Bureaus of the Navy Department, and to their predecessors in office, during the preparation of this book, for their most valuable aid and their encouragement of the undertaking:

Especial thanks are also due John W. Hogg, Esq., Chief Clerk of the Navy Department, and to William P. Moran, Esq., and W. S. McNary, Esq., of the Navy Department, for many courtesies and much assistance, and for early encouragement and advice to Rear-Admiral C. R. P. Rodgers, United States Navy, and to the Officers of the Navy and Marine Corps in general, for the interest they have taken in the book.

It is now submitted, with the hope that it may prove useful to the Navy and the country, to whom the records herein given, with those of their brothers of the Army, (already published) belong.

THOMAS H. S. HAMERSLY.

THE NAVY FROM 1775 TO 1798.

For the facts connected with the events of our Revolutionary war we are indebted to the United States Naval Chronicle by Charles W. Goldsborough. We give simply the essential facts of the chronologist.

During the Revolutionary war the superintending direction of the Navy was committed, in the first instance, to a Committee of three members of Congress, viz: Messrs. Deane, Langdon and Gadsden, who were, in October, 1775, required to fit out two swift sailing vessels, the one of 10, the other of 14 guns, and a proportionate number of swivels and men, to cruise "eastward," for the purpose of intercepting such transports as might be laden with munitions of war, and other supplies for the British, then in possession of the town of Boston, and for such other purposes as Congress might direct. Having resolved to fit out two more vessels (30 October) viz., one of 20, the other of 36 guns, four members—Messrs. Hopkins, Hewes, R. H. Lee and J. Adams—were added to the Committee; and when Congress, by resolution of 13 December, 1775, determined to build thirteen additional vessels of war, they increased the number of the Naval Committee, so as to make it consist of one member from each colony, to be appointed by ballot; and on the 14 December the following gentlemen were accordingly thus appointed, viz: Messrs. Bartlett, Hancock, Hopkins, Deane, Lewis, Crane, R. Morris, Read, Chase, R. H. Lee, Hewes, Gadsden and Houston.

To this Committee Naval subjects were generally referred, with an instruction to examine and report thereon, for the final decision of the House. Congress reserved to themselves the right to appoint all commission officers, as low as and including Third Lieutenants, and gave to the Committee the power of appointing all officers of subordinate rank. The Committee were authorized to give such instructions for the employment of the ships as might appear to them "most conducive to the defence of the United Colonies, and to the distress of the enemy's naval forces and vessels bringing supplies to their fleets and armies."

In performing the duties assigned to them, the Committee experienced great inconvenience for want of professional practical information, and upon the subject being brought before Congress they resolved (6 November, 1776,) "that three persons, well skilled in maritime affairs, should be immediately appointed to execute the business of the Navy, under the direction of the Marine Committee, and allowed to each a salary of $1,500 per annum; and on 13 November, John Nixon, John Wharton and F. Hopkinson, Esqrs., were appointed. They were styled in the resolutions of Congress "The Continental Navy Board, or Board of Assistants of the 'Marine Committee,'" and sometimes "Board of the Middle District." There was also an "Eastern Board," consisting of three persons, who executed the instructions of the Committee in their district.

This system of administering the civil department of the Navy continued, it is believed, till October, 1779, when Congress, by resolution, (28) decided that a Board of Admiralty should be established, "to consist of three Commissioners not members of Congress, and two members of Congress, any three to form a Board, for the despatch of business." Early in 1781 (11 January) we find that James Reed, Esqr., was, by resolution of Congress, invested with full power to conduct the business of the Navy Board in the "Middle Department," and soon after this, (27 February) Major General Alexander M'Dougall was elected Secretary of Marine. In the same year, (29 August) it was resolved that an "Agent of Marine" should be appointed "with authority to direct, fit out, equip and employ, the ships and vessels of war belonging to the United States, according to such instructions as he shall from time to time receive from Congress;" and "that as soon as the said Agent shall enter into the execution of his office the functions and appointments of the Board of Admiralty, the several Navy Boards and all civil officers appointed under them" should cease.

In September (6) a resolution was passed, by which the duties prescribed to the "Agent of Marine," until he should be appointed, devolved on the Superintendent of Finance, Robert Morris, who, indeed, appears to have had the chief agency in the Civil Administration of the Navy during the greater part of the Revolutionary war. In the earliest periods we find that the orders of the commanders generally, bear his signature, and continued to be most frequently signed by him, until a Board of Admiralty was established, when the correspondence was directed under the superintending direction of the Board by Mr. John Brown, their Secretary. After the Board of Admiralty was abolished, we again find the chief duties of the Department devolving upon Mr. Morris. It would seem that the nation could not conveniently have conducted either its naval or its fiscal operations, without the agency of this distinguished patriot.

The lists of officers, appointed during the Revolutionary war, are obviously imperfect; they are, however, as complete as the information in our possession will enable us to make them. The frequent changes in the administration of the Civil Department of the Navy, the occasional resolutions of Congress conferring sometimes upon one of the Boards the power of appointing; at others given to individual members, in conjunction with commanders, authority to appoint subalterns, the destruction of papers by fires and other causes, have involved this branch of the subject in great uncertainty, and it is impossible, at this day, to present a perfect list of the officers. Were the information attainable, it would be particularly gratifying to show, not only the names of those who served in the Continental Navy, but of those also who served on board the ships fitted out at the expense of the respective colonies and on board privateers.

From the Journals of Congress and other sources, we find the following Commission Officers were appointed by them during the war.

With respect to the relative rank of the Officers, Congress by resolution of 17 April, 1776, decided that the nominations or appointments of Captain or Commander should not “establish rank.” It was to be settled by Congress before the Commissions should be granted, and we find that by a resolution of 10 October, 1776, Congress established the rank and command of Captains, as follows :

On referring to the list of Captains and Commanders, and comparing it with the list established by resolution of 10 October, 1776, it will be seen, that Congress, in arranging the rank did not include the names of Ezra Hopkins, William Manly, Isaac Cozneau, Samuel Tompkins or Christopher Miller.

It is presumed that the Commanders appointed after 10 October, 1776, ranked according to the dates of their respective appointments.

Having established the relative rank of Commanders in the Navy—with each other, Congress, on 15 November following, resolved, that the rank of Naval Officers to the rank of Officers in the land service, should be

Admiral.....	as a General.
Vice-Admiral.....	as a Lieutenant-General.
Rear-Admiral.....	as a Major-General.
Commodore.....	as a Brigadier-General.
Captain of a ship of 40 guns and upwards.....	as a Colonel.
“ “ 20 to 40 guns.....	as a Lieutenant-Colonel.
“ “ 10 to 20 gurs.....	as a Major.
Lieutenant “ “ “ “.....	as a Captain.

And at the same date the following was fixed as the pay of the Officers of the Navy:—

	Ships of 20 guns and upwards.	Ships of 10 to 20 guns.
Captains per month.....	$60.....	$48
Lieutenants “.....	30.....	24
Master “.....	30.....	24
Surgeon “.....	25.....	21-2-3
Midshipman “.....	12.....	12
Gunner “.....	15.....	13
Chaplain “.....	20.....	None.
Seaman “.....	8.....	8

And that vessels under 10 guns, should be commanded by Lieutenants, and that the pay in such vessels should be Lieutenants, $30; Mate, $15; Boatswain, Gunner, &c., $12; and the following allowances were, on 25 July, 1777, established, viz: Commanders of vessels of 10 guns and upwards, $5.33 per week for subsistence; under 10 guns, $4.00. Cabin expenses—Commanders of 10 guns and upwards, $2.66 per week whilst at sea.

Lieutenants, Surgeons, Captains of Marines and Chaplains $4 per week subsistence in domestic ports when the ships should not be in a condition to receive them.

The pay of Commander-in-Chief was fixed (22 December, 1775,) at $125 per month and the pay of Surgeons was increased (16 July, 1777,) so as to be equal to that of Lieutenant.

On 30 September, 1776, Congress "Resolved, That it be recommended to the Legislatures of the United States to appoint gentlemen in their respective States skillful in physic and surgery, to examine those who offer to serve as Surgeons or Surgeons' Mates, in the Army or Navy; and that no Surgeon shall hereafter receive a commission or warrant to act as such in the Army or Navy, who shall not produce a certificate from some one of the examiners, so to be appointed, to prove that he is qualified to execute his office."

On 29 October it was "Resolved, That no private ship or vessel of war, merchant ship or other vessels belonging to the subjects of these States, be permitted to wear pendants, when in company with Continental ships or vessels of war without leave from the commanding vessel thereof."

During the war Congress authorized the purchasing, or building and equipping, as cruisers, the following description of vessels:

1775.	Oct. 13,	2 vessels of 10 and 14 guns.
"	" 30,	2 " " 20 " 36 "
"	Dec. 13,	13 " 5 of 32 guns, 5 of 28 guns, and 3 of 24 guns.
1776.	Oct. 3,	3, viz., 1 frigate and 2 cutters.
"	Nov. 9,	10, 3 of 74 guns, 5 of 36 guns, 1 of 18 guns, and 1 packet.
1777.	Jan. 23,	2, viz., 1 of 36 guns and 1 of 18 guns.

Eight prize vessels were, during the years 1776 and 1777, directed to be purchased and fitted out, and in the course of the war a number of cutters, dispatch boats, galleys, and fire-ships were, from time to time, authorized. The cutters and dispatch boats were generally under the direction of a Secret Committee, one of whose duties was to procure munitions of war, and who, for that purpose, were authorized to export certain articles of provisions to the West Indies. The galleys and fire-ships were for the defence of our waters, within land-locked navigation and the lakes.

The thirteen ships authorized on 13 December, 1775, were directed to be built—one in New Hampshire, two in Massachusetts Bay, one in Connecticut, two in Rhode Island, two in New York, four in Pennsylvania, and one in Maryland, and, by resolution of 6 June, 1776, they were named as follows: The Congress, Randolph, Hancock, Washington, Trumbull, Raleigh, Effingham, Montgomery, Warren, Boston, Virginia, Providence and Delaware.

Among those authorized, subsequent to 13 December, 1775, and not hereinbefore mentioned by name, we find the Columbus, 28; the Queen of France, 28; the Ranger, 18; the Alliance, 32, built at Salisbury, Mass.; the Hornet, brig, General Gates, frigates Confederacy, Deane (afterwards changed to Hague), and Ariel, sloop Saratoga, Duc De Lauzun, and the America, 74.

General letters of reprisal were authorized on 23 March, 1776, and thenceforth the public and private cruisers of the United Colonies were at liberty to capture all vessels, armed or unarmed, belonging to the Crown, or to the inhabitants of Great Britain.

Late in the month of December, 1775, a small squadron, consisting of the Alfred, Commodore Ezekiel Hopkins, of 28 guns, the Columbus, Captain A. Whipple, of 14 guns, the Andrew Doria, Captain Nicholas Biddle, of 14 guns, the Sebastian Cabot, Captain John D. Hopkins, of 16 guns, and the Providence, —— Hazard, of 12 guns, with the Falcon, Scorpion and Cruiser, which were to join them at Cape Fear, were ordered to New Providence, for the purpose of seizing and transporting to the colonies a large quantity of ammunition, which, it was understood, was deposited in the Royal Magazine on that island. After landing there was some unaccountable delay, and the Governor heard of Commodore Hopkins' approach, in time to remove the powder, before he reached the town. Thus the expedition failed as to the principal object. The Governor and Lieutenant-Governor, with about 40 cannon, a quantity of shot and shell and a few brass mortars were captured. A bomb-brig of 8 guns and a schooner of 6 guns were taken by the squadron on its return.

Commodore Hopkins' conduct was inquired into by Congress, and it was found that he had not paid due regard to the tenor of his instructions, which "directed him to annoy the enemy's ships upon the coast of the Southern States." The reasons he assigned for not going from Providence to the Carolinas were not satisfactory, and on 16 August, 1776, Congress passed a vote of censure upon him. Three days afterward he was ordered to Newport, to take "command of the fleet formerly under his care." It is found, however, that Congress, in arranging the rank of the officers on 10 October following, omitted his name.

Although in the earlier periods of the revolutionary war great embarrassments were experienced for want of an efficient marine force, still much was done by the vessels of war we then possessed, and by privateers, whose energy, enterprise and success were astonishingly great, considering the overwhelming force by which they were opposed. The number of captures in the course of the war has been stated at 803, of which there were either retaken, burnt, ransomed, sunk, restored or lost 153, leaving a gain to the nation of 650. If we estimate these as averaging 250 tons, and compute their value at $30 per ton, and their cargoes at $10,000 each, the amount of captures would be $11,375,000. Some English authors have estimated the value of the prizes taken in the year 1776 by the American cruisers at one million sterling.

That our vessels captured property worth millions of dollars is unquestionably true, but it appears impossible to form any precise estimate as to their value.

It is not in our power, nor is it the purpose of this paper, to afford particular information as to the movements of our national ships during the revolutionary war, and we are obliged to omit giving a description of any of those brilliant achievements that occurred during that eventful period.

Of the ships of the line authorized during the revolutionary war only one, the America, was built, and she was presented (3 September, 1782,) to his Most Christian Majesty, the King of France, in testimony of the sense entertained by Congress of his generous exertions in behalf of the United States, and to replace in his service the Magnifique, which, by accident, was lost in the harbor of Boston. Of the other ships built and purchased during the Revolutionary war, the whole were either captured or destroyed by the enemy or sold by the United States. We find (21 April, 1783,) that the ship Duc de Lauzun was loaned to the Minister of France for the transportation of troops from the United States; and that, after performing this service, she was to be sold. The Alliance was ordered (5 September, 1783,) to be surveyed, with a view to her being repaired; but on 3 June, 1785, she was ordered to be sold; and when she was sold the United States did not, it is believed, own a single vessel of war.

The "Agent of Marine," to whom was referred a resolution of the House of Delegates of the State of Virginia, of 26 June, 1783, reported (5 August, 1783:)

"That, although it is an object highly desirable, to establish a respectable marine; yet, the situation of the public treasury, renders it not advisable to purchase ships for the present, nor until the several States shall grant such funds for the constructions of ships, docks and naval arsenals, and for the support of the naval service, as shall enable the United States to establish their marine upon a permanent and respectable footing." In this report Congress concurred.

Upon the application of the Delegates of Virginia, Congress, by resolution, (3 October, 1783,) authorized that State to keep, at its own expense, two armed vessels "for the defence of the trade of that State," confining the force of each to fourteen six pounders and seventy-five men.

The United States had but recently achieved their independence and assumed a rank among the nations of the earth—they were still greatly embarrassed with the expenses of a long, bloody, yet glorious war; when the Dey of Algiers, tempted by a spirit of cupidity, seized some of their merchant vessels, and conducted their crews to slavery. This perfidious conduct produced the strongest indignation; but it was not in the power of the nation to avenge the insult, as promptly as the feelings it excited, or as sound national policy dictated. Negotiations were of necessity, resorted to, but such were the difficulties which the policy of the Dey imposed, and such was our feeble condition, with respect to arms, that years elapsed before any favorable result was produced.

In this state of things we find the origin of the Act of Congress of 27 March, 1794, authorizing six frigates to be provided—which, however, were to be suspended in the event of peace with Algiers.

The resolution of the House of Representatives (of 2 January, 1794,) "that a naval force adequate to the protection of the commerce of the United States against the Algerine corsairs ought to be provided," was passed by a majority of two votes only, and the bill founded upon this resolution (27 March, 1794) was passed by a majority of eleven, but it is understood that it could not have been passed if the provision suspending all proceedings in the event of peace with Algiers, had been omitted. Under these circumstances the President, General Washington, determined to build the vessels contemplated in the first section of the Act, viz: Four 44 guns and two 36 gun frigates, and that they should be built in the following ports, viz:

At Boston.....	One.....	44
At New York.....	One.....	44
At Philadelphia.....	One.....	44
At Portsmouth, Va.....	One.....	44
At Baltimore.....	One.....	36
At Portsmouth, N. H.....	One.....	36

No time was lost in making every preparatory arrangement for the building of these vessels. Mr. Joshua Humphreys, of Philadelphia, a distinguished ship builder of very extensive practical knowledge in his profession; Mr. John Hackett, of Salisbury, Mass., who had constructed and built the Alliance frigate, and others were consulted "upon the best properties to be adopted as a general plan for the vessels now to be built," and upon the most advisable means of procuring the frames and the materials of which the vessels ought to be built. The models submitted by Mr. Humphreys were, after much consultation and consideration, adopted; and that gentleman was on 28 June, 1794, appointed the constructor and master builder of the 44 gun ship, to be built at Philadelphia, with a salary of $2,000 per annum, commencing on 1 May.

The President, with the advice and consent of the Senate, appointed the following gentlemen Captains of the Navy:

- | | | |
|----------------------|-------------------|--------------------|
| 1. JOHN BARRY, | 3. SILAS TALBOT, | 5. RICHARD DALE, |
| 2. SAMUEL NICHOLSON, | 4. JOSHUA BARNEY, | 6. THOMAS TRUXTUN. |

Ranking in the order in which their names are stated, and their appointments were communicated to them 5 June, 1794.

Captain Barney declined accepting, not from any disinclination to serve his country, but in consequence of the arrangement as to rank. This produced a vacancy, which was filled on 18 July, 1794, by the appointment of James Sever, to take rank after Captain Truxtun.

The following shows the distribution of the officers thus appointed, and the constructors and agents, for building the several ships.

Captain and Superintendent.	Naval Constructors.	Navy Agents.	For Ships to be Built at

On 21 December, 1795, President Washington communicated to the Senate a letter from the Emperor of Morocco, recognizing the treaty of peace and friendship between the United States.

Peace with Algiers having been concluded, no farther progress could be made in building the frigates; for, as we have before seen, the law directed that in such event all proceedings should be suspended.

The President called the attention of Congress to this subject, and stated that serious losses would result from a sudden suspension of the work and the discharge of the valuable corps of artificers and men employed in completing it.

In January, 1796, the Chairman of the Committee of the House of Representatives, to whom the subject of frigates had been referred, called upon the Secretary of War, (then charged with the superintendence of the Navy) for information as to the progress made in building them, the expenses incurred, &c.

The information was communicated to Congress, and on 20 April following "An Act supplementary to an Act, entitled an Act to provide a Naval Armament" passed, authorizing the President to continue the construction and equipment of the frigates of 44 guns and one frigate of 36 guns, appropriating for this purpose the unexpended balance of the $688,888.82 (which had been appropriated for the six frigates by Act of 9 June, 1794,) and the sum of $80,000, which by the Act of 9 June, was appropriated for a provisional equipment of galleys, but no part of which had been expended on that object.

This Act continued the construction and equipment of three of the six frigates and discontinued the remaining three, notwithstanding such progress had been made that the whole six might have been built, launched and completely equipped within the year.

President Washington, in his speech to both Houses of Congress, 7 December, 1796, after referring to the many delays and disappointments arising out of the European war and the final arrangements made to the Dey and regency of Algiers, observes among other things, the following :

"To an active external commerce the protection of a naval force is indispensable." "To secure respect, to a neutral flag requires a naval force, organized, and ready to vindicate it from insult and aggression;" and asks, "Will it not, then, be advisable to begin without delay to provide and lay up the materials for the building and equipping of ships of war, and to proceed in the work by degrees, in proportion, as our resources shall render it practicable, without inconvenience; so that a future war of Europe, may not find our commerce in the same unprotected state in which it was found by the present."

The depredations committed upon our commerce by the cruisers of European powers, particularly those of Great Britain and France, and the suffering which ensued therefrom to our seafaring citizens, were the causes of our maritime war with the latter nation, and the consequent extension of our naval establishment.

On 9 April, 1798, the Secretary of War, who was charged with the duty of superintending the concerns of the Navy, as well as those of the Army, addressed to the Chairman of the Committee of the House of Representatives, for the protection of commerce and the defence of the country, a letter recommending building or purchasing vessels, with estimates for building, rigging and equipping, three ships of war, to carry 22, 20 and 16 guns, together with the cost of manning and victualing the same for twelve months. Said letter and estimates were submitted to Congress early in April, 1798, and on the 27th of that month an Act passed, entitled "An Act to provide an additional armament for the protection of the trade of the United States and for other purposes," authorizing the President to cause to be built, purchased or hired, a number of vessels, not exceeding twelve, to carry not more than 22 guns each, to be armed, fitted out and manned, under his direction; and appropriating $950,000 to carry these provisions into effect.

On 30 April, 1798, the office of Secretary of the Navy was established by law.

On 3 May, 1798, Hon. George Cabot, of Massachusetts, was nominated and confirmed as Secretary of the Navy, but declined the appointment.

On 4 May, 1798, another Act was passed authorizing the building or purchasing of a number of small vessels, to be equipped as galleys or otherwise, and stationed in such ports of the United States as the President might direct. Eighty thousand dollars was appropriated for this object.

On 21 May, 1798, Benjamin Stoddert, Esq., of Georgetown, in the District of Columbia, was appointed to the office of Secretary of the Navy, and in June, 1798, entered upon the duties of his office as Secretary of the Navy.

From this date we commence the compilation of the General Register of the Navy.

THE UNITED STATES NAVAL ACADEMY.

THE United States Naval Academy was founded in 1845, by Hon. George Bancroft, Secretary of the Navy, in the administration of President James K. Polk. It was formally opened October 10, of that year, under the name of the Naval School, with Commander Franklin Buchanan as Superintendent. It was placed at Annapolis, Md., on the land occupied by Fort Severn, which was given up by the War Department for the purpose. The course was fixed at five years, of which the first and last only were spent at School, the intervening three being passed at sea. This arrangement was not strictly adhered to, the exigencies of the service making it necessary, in many cases, to shorten the period of study. In January, 1846, four months after the opening of the School, the students consisted of 36 Midshipmen, of the date of 1840, who were preparing for the examination for promotion; 13 of the date of 1841, who were to remain until drafted for service at sea; and 7 Acting Midshipmen, appointed since September of the previous year. The Midshipmen of the date of 1840 were the first to be graduated, finishing their limited course in July, 1846, and they were followed in order by the subsequent dates until the re-organization of the School, in 1851.

In September, 1849, a Board was appointed to revise the plan and regulations of the Naval School. The Board was composed of the following officers:

Commodore WILLIAM B. SHUBRICK,
Commander FRANKLIN BUCHANAN,
Commander SAMUEL F. DUPONT,
Commander GEORGE P. UPSHUR,
Surgeon W. S. W. RUSCHENBERGER,
Professor WILLIAM CHAUVENET,
Captain HENRY BREWERTON, U. S. A.

The plan reported by the Board was approved, and went into operation July 1, 1850.

The new organization provided for a course of seven years, the first two and last two at the School and the three intermediate years at sea. The School was placed under the supervision of the Bureau of Ordnance and Hydrography, and its name was changed to the United States Naval Academy. The corps of professors was enlarged, the course was extended, and the system of separate departments, with executive heads, was fully adopted. It was provided that a Board of Visitors should make an annual inspection of the Academy, and report upon its condition to the Secretary of the Navy. A suitable vessel was attached to the Academy as a practice-ship, and the annual practice-cruises were begun.

After the system had been in operation a year new changes were proposed, and the recommendations of the Academic Board on the subject were referred to the Board of Examiners of the year 1851, composed of the following officers:

Commodore DAVID CONNER,
Captain SAMUEL L. BREESE,
Commander C. K. STRIBLING,
Commander A. BIGELOW,
Commander FRANKLIN BUCHANAN,
Lieutenant THOMAS T. CRAVEN.

The change recommended by the Board of Examiners, and adopted by the Department, consisted mainly in leaving out the requirement of three years of sea-service in the middle of the course, thus making the four years of study consecutive. The practice-cruise supplied the place of the omitted sea-service, and gave better opportunities of training. The change went into operation in November, 1851, together with other improvements recommended by the Board. The system has continued, with slight modifications, to the present time. The first class to receive the benefit of it was that which entered in 1851. Six members of this class completed the course in three years, and were graduated in June, 1854: the rest of the class followed in 1855.

In May, 1861, on the outbreak of the war, the Academy was removed to Newport, R. I. The three upper classes were detached and ordered to sea, and the remaining Acting Midshipmen were quartered in the Atlantic House and on board the frigates Constitution and Santee. In September, 1865, the Academy was moved back to Annapolis, where it has since remained.

When the Bureau of Navigation was established, July 5, 1862, the Academy was placed under its supervision; March 1, 1867, it was placed under the direct care and supervision of the Navy Department, the administrative routine and financial management being still conducted through the Bureau. On the 11th of March, 1869, all official connection with the Bureau came to an end.

The term of the academic course was changed by law, March 3, 1873, from four to six years. The change took effect with the class which entered in the following summer.

In 1866, a class of Acting Third Assistant Engineers was ordered to the Academy for instruction. The course embraced the subjects of steam-engineering, iron-manufacture, chemistry, and mechanics, and practical exercises with the steam-engine and in the machine-shop. This class was graduated in June, 1868, together with two Cadet-Engineers who had entered the Academy in 1867. After an interval of four years, in October, 1871, a new class of Cadet-Engineers was admitted. This class followed a two years' course, somewhat more extended than that of the class of 1868, and was graduated in 1873. In 1872 and 1873, new classes were admitted, the first of which left the Academy in 1874 and the second in 1875. By an act of Congress approved February 24, 1874, the course of instruction for Cadet-Engineers was made four years instead of two; and the new provision was first applied to the class entering the Academy in the year 1874. This class was graduated in June, 1878.

STRATEGOS:

A SERIES OF

AMERICAN GAMES OF WAR,

BASED UPON MILITARY PRINCIPLES AND DESIGNED FOR THE ASSISTANCE BOTH OF BEGINNERS AND ADVANCED STUDENTS IN PROSECUTING THE WHOLE STUDY OF TACTICS, GRAND TACTICS, STRATEGY, MILITARY HISTORY, AND THE VARIOUS OPERATIONS OF WAR; ILLUSTRATED WITH NUMEROUS DIAGRAMS; TO WHICH IS APPENDED A COLLECTION OF STUDIES UPON MILITARY STATISTICS AS APPLIED TO WAR ON FIELD OR MAP.

BY

CHARLES A. L. TOTTEN,

FIRST LIEUTENANT, FOURTH UNITED STATES ARTILLERY.

The undersigned have now ready "The American Game of War" styled "Strategos," and are prepared to ship the same to such as desire to avail themselves of an invaluable assistance in military study.

The outfit of men, boards, diagrams, rules, tables and a very numerous miscellany of utensils, etc., connected with the playing of the several independent games or studies comprehended under the general title of Strategos, is very extensive and complete, and is gotten up in the most substantial and attractive manner, and its various uses will appeal to the wants of all classes of military men.

TO THE GENERAL MILITARY PUBLIC the game comes as a universal assistant, an outfit presenting all the diversified susceptibilities of the tableau and the panorama. It will lend aid in all kinds of military "object" study, and prove as useful to the private student as to those who, at large posts or in large organizations, can afford to study its capacities collectively.

TO PROFESSORS OF MILITARY SCIENCE AND TACTICS at various national colleges and the numerous military schools throughout our country, the publishers desire particularly to recommend this outfit.

Its system of games was the result of study, undertaken while the inventor was yet actively engaged upon the duty of military instruction, at the Massachusetts Agricultural College, in Amherst, Mass., 1875-78. It was there tested in many of its applications and methods, and its merits fully established.

SELECTIONS FROM REPORT OF THE REGULAR ARMY BOARD.—Speaking of the Tactical Game: "It is the opinion of the Board that this contrivance furnishes a valuable adjunct to the volumes of tactics in the instruction of officers and non-commissioned officers, both as a means of imparting information and of testing proficiency." Referring to the Topographical Blocks: "These are to be used in conjunction with others (tactical side up), to illustrate the various principles of Strategy, affording to the various text-books and authorities upon these subjects the same ready illustration that, with their tactical face up, they do to the manuals of tactics."

Of the "Battle Game" the Board states: "While this game presents no problems that may not be more fully considered and more perfectly solved, by the use of the finer appliances and more elaborate rules of the 'Advanced Game,' its simple methods give it a convenience which may secure it a considerable use. It furnishes, at the least, a diversion of a highly military character, well calculated to stimulate discussion of professional questions."

Of the "Advanced Game" this Board reports, that "its rules and method of procedure are in general like those of the European Games;" but referring to the only English translation of these, it goes on to state that the most noteworthy points of difference are:

"1st. A much greater fullness and explicitness in the rules for the guidance of the referee.

"2nd. A more minute analysis of the conditions of actual conflict; a more accurate determination of the ratios representing chances of success, etc.; a more elaborate system of tables.

"3rd. The presentation in the tables not only of material for decision in the game, but also of valuable professional information, in form convenient for references in study.

"It is believed that each of these differences renders the game better in itself as a means of instruction, or more fitted for use in the conditions of service of the United States Army."

THE SUN FOR 1881.

EVERYBODY reads THE SUN. In the editions of this newspaper throughout the year to come everybody will find:

I. All the world's news, so presented that the reader will get the greatest amount of information with the least unprofitable expenditure of time and eyesight. THE SUN long ago discovered the golden mean between redundant fullness and unsatisfactory brevity.

II. Much of that sort of news which depends less upon its recognized importance than upon its interest to mankind. From morning to morning THE SUN prints a continued story of the lives of real men and women, and of their deeds, plans, loves, hates, and troubles. This story is more varied and more interesting than any romance that was ever devised.

III. Good writing in every column, and freshness, originality, accuracy, and decorum in the treatment of every subject.

IV. Honest comment. THE SUN's habit is to speak out fearlessly about men and things.

V. Equal candor in dealing with each political party, and equal readiness to commend what is praiseworthy or to rebuke what is blamable in Democrat or Republican.

VI. Absolute independence of partisan organizations, but unwavering loyalty to true democratic principles. THE SUN believes that the Government which the Constitution gives us is a good one to keep. Its notion of duty is to resist to its utmost power the efforts of men in the Republican party to set up another form of government in place of that which exists. The year 1881 and the years immediately following will probably decide this supremely important contest. THE SUN believes that the victory will be with the people as against the Rings for monopoly, the Rings for plunder, and the Rings for imperial power.

Our terms are as follows:

For the Daily SUN, a four-page sheet of twenty-eight columns, the price by mail, postpaid, is 55 cents a month, or $6.50 a year; or, including the Sunday paper, an eight-page sheet of fifty-six columns, the price is 65 cents a month, or $7.70 a year, postage paid.

The Sunday edition of THE SUN is also furnished separately at $1.20 a year, postage paid.

The price of THE WEEKLY SUN, eight pages, fifty-six columns, is $1 a year, postage paid, For clubs of ten sending $10 we will send an extra copy free. Address,

NEW YORK LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY,

OLD, PROSPEROUS, SAFE, LARGE,
STRONG, PURELY MUTUAL.

THIRTY-FIVE YEARS' BUSINESS EXPERIENCE.

ASSETS,$39,000,000
SURPLUS, 7,600,000

45,000 POLICIES IN FORCE.

$127,000,000 INSURANCE IN FORCE.

T E N F A C T S .

1.—A Large and Strong Company.

The NEW YORK LIFE has AGE and the STABILITY which age and success brings. It has been in operation over thirty-five years, and at the beginning of 1880 had over 45,000 policies in force, covering over $127,000,000 in insurance. For the security of these policies the Company held nearly $39,000,000, being $124.66 for every $100 of liabilities by the State Standard.

2.—A Purely Mutual Company.

The NEW YORK LIFE is one of the few purely mutual life companies in this country, a company owned and managed by the policy holders themselves, in their own interests, with no stockholders to share the profits or interfere in the management to the prejudice of the insured. It affords insurance at current cost with absolute security.

3.—A Liberal and Progressive Company.

The NEW YORK LIFE in 1860 originated and introduced the non-forfeiture system of policies, since adopted, in part or in some form, by every life Company. It anticipated the New York State Law on the subject, in time by over nineteen years, and in liberality to the insured by giving more than the law requires.

4.—A Rapidly Growing Company.

The last ten years include the six years of depression that followed the panic of 1873; yet during these ten years the increase in the Company's assets has been nearly three-fold, and the increase in surplus and interest receipts over three-fold. During this time the annual disbursements to policy holders have risen from $2,538,303 to $4,818,490, and have aggregated the inconceivable sum of forty million dollars ($40,301,252.) Its interest receipts alone have been upward of fifteen millions and have more than paid its death losses.

5.—A Solid and Vigorous Company.

The NEW YORK LIFE has held its business, in spite of the "hard times," better than any other prominent company. The falling off among these, from the highest point reached since the panic of 1873, has been nearly twenty per cent. on an average, both of income and insurance in force; while in the NEW YORK LIFE the falling off has been only about two per cent. of income, and less than one-half of one per cent. of insurance in force.

6.—A Wide-Awake Company.

The NEW YORK LIFE has issued over 140,000 policies, insuring over $420,000,000. It has received over $85,000,000 in premiums and nearly $20,000,000 in interest and rents. It has paid over $20,000,000 in death claims, and returned over $31,000,000 to living policy holders. The amount of its present assets, plus its payments to policy holders and their families, exceeds the sum received from them by nearly six million dollars.

7.—A Well Managed Company.

Its management was never more vigorous, skillful and prudent than at present. Its report for the year ending January 1st, 1880, shows almost unparalleled prosperity—a large increase in assets; a large increase in surplus; a large increase in premium receipts; a large increase in interest receipts; a large increase in policies and insurance, issued and in force; and a decrease in death losses, resulting from a careful selection of lives and consequent low mortality rate.

8.—A Company with A No. 1 Securities.

The securities of the NEW YORK LIFE are of the very highest order, the interest on which is collected when due. The entire amount of its uncollected interest, including the amount accrued or earned but not yet due, upon its investments, January 1st, 1880, was but $317,989.11. This was only about eight-tenths of one per cent. of the Company's entire assets, being the lowest ratio of any prominent company and in notable contrast with some. At the date above given its bonds and stocks were worth nearly a million dollars more than cost.

9.—A Prudent Company.

In estimating its liabilities, the Company employs the severest standard used in this country. Security being the sine qua non in life insurance, the NEW YORK LIFE calculates its reserve fund on the supposition that it will be able to realize in future but four per cent. interest, and thus keeps this fund over four million dollars larger than is required by the law by which its solvency is tested. Hence, no unusual losses, no sudden depression in the prices of securities, no panic, no hard times, nor all of these combined can so reduce its surplus as seriously to embarrass the Company.

10.—A Good Company to Insure in.

The policies of the NEW YORK LIFE are notable for their freedom from vexatious restrictions; the customs of the Company with respect to payment of premiums, etc., are plainly stated, and efforts are made to encourage and to enable every honest policy holder to keep up his policy; in the settlement of claims by death the greatest liberality consistent with justice is ever shown, as the grateful acknowledgments of hundreds of beneficiaries abundantly testify. By its liberal construction of the policy contract in cases that might have been resisted on technical grounds it has gained the reputation of being

"A Non-Contesting Company."

MESSRS. CHARLES SCRIBNER'S SONS

Have much pleasure in announcing that they will begin in October the publication of a work which they believe will prove the most important of recent contributions to American History. Under the general title of the

they will issue a series of volumes, contributed at their solicitation by a number of leading actors in and students of the great conflict of 1861-'65, with a view to bringing together, for the first time, a full and authoritative military history of the suppression of the Rebellion.

The volumes will be duodecimos of about 250 pages each, illustrated by maps and plans prepared under the direction of the authors. They will appear, as far as possible, in the chronological order of the campaigns of which they treat; and by their preliminary and concluding chapters will be so far connected that the completed work will practically cover the entire field of the war. The price of each volume will be $1.00.

The following volumes are now ready, or far advanced in preparation, and will appear at short intervals:

- I.—The Outbreak of Rebellion. By John G. Nicolay, Esq., Private Secretary to President Lincoln.
- II.—From Fort Henry to Corinth. By the Hon. M. F. Force, late Brigadier-General and Bvt. Maj. Gen'l U. S. V., etc., Treasurer of the Society of the Army of the Tennessee.
- III.—The Peninsula. By Alexander S. Webb, Bvt. Maj. Gen. U. S. A.; Assistant Chief of Artillery, Army of the Potomac, 1861-'62; afterward Chief of Staff, Army of the Potomac, etc.
- IV.—The Army under Pope. By John C. Ropes, Esq., of the Military Society of Massachusetts, etc.
- V.—The Antietam and Fredericksburg. By Francis Winthrop Palfrey, late Colonel 20th Mass. Infantry, Bvt. Brig. Gen'l U. S. V., etc.
- VI.—Chancellorsville and Gettysburg. By Abner Doubleday, Bvt. Major Gen'l U. S. A. and Major Gen'l U. S. V.
- VII.—The Army of the Cumberland. By Henry M. Cist, Brevet Brigadier Gen'l U. S. V.; A. A. G. on the staff of Major Gen'l Rosecrans, and the staff of Major Gen'l Thomas; Corresponding Secretary of the Society of the Army of the Cumberland.
- IX.—The Campaign of Atlanta. By the Hon. Jacob D. Cox, Ex-Governor of Ohio; late Secretary of the Interior of the United States; Major General U. S. V., etc.
- X.—The March to the Sea. Franklin and Nashville. By the Hon. Jacob D. Cox.
- XI.—The Campaigns of Grant in Virginia. By Andrew A. Humphreys, Brigadier General and Bvt. Major-General U. S. A.; late Chief of Engineers, etc.

Vol. VIII.—The Mississippi, and one other volume, completing the series, are in course of preparation, and their contents and authors will be announced in a short time.
