

Miscellany.

JANE PORTER.

From THE HOME JOURNAL.
AUTHORS OF "SCOTTISH GIBBETS," "TRADERS OF BALLYDOON," &c.

This distinguished woman died recently at Bristol, England, at the age of seventy-four. We shall doubtless soon have a full and interesting biography of her life...

We first saw Miss Porter at the house of Lady Stan... the sister of Lady Franklin, a few weeks after our first arrival in London, 1841. It was a large party thronged with the scientific and literary persons who form the society of the name of the John Franklin.

A very tall lady, apparently about fifty years of age, had arrested our attention early in the evening, and whenever unoccupied she was wont to observe her, with a magnifying eye...

We were presented to Miss Porter just before the breaking up of the party. She was a tall, slender woman, with her hair parted to a just a guest, with her, at one of those English country-houses which are the perfection of luxury and refinement...

One of the most modest and agreeable persons I ever saw was Miss Porter, and I think her conversation was distinguishedly remarkable by my request I ever heard, during the residence of the artist who that remembered her when she was his beautiful beauty...

I have passed months under the same roof with Miss Porter, and nothing has occurred to me to find the company in that hospitable house degraded to the level of a common party...

In another place we made the following memorandum of what we saw and heard. Miss Porter was the daughter of a gallant English officer, who died, leaving a widow and four children...

It was two years after this first meeting of Miss Porter at a Park, that she was married to a distinguished man, who met her at the house of a first cousin...

and born but to grace a contented mediocrity of station. We know nothing more to the honor of the English...

"I am a native of Liverpool and a Quaker. In my father's day he was a member of the Grand. My youth I was sheltered in the halls until my father...

STREET MUSICIANS. (From the Correspondent of the London Morning Chronicle.)
I have come to the street musicians and street vocalists of London. There are a more numerous...

When I was a child, a younger brother and I would go out into the streets for a few hours at an evening, and we would sing and make every one of the two of us. Ours was the highest class of a member of a street band. Our band is now four in number. I have been in bands of eight, and in small bands...

There are many more in the streets of London than in any other city. There are many more in the streets of London than in any other city. There are many more in the streets of London than in any other city...

There are many more in the streets of London than in any other city. There are many more in the streets of London than in any other city. There are many more in the streets of London than in any other city...

There are many more in the streets of London than in any other city. There are many more in the streets of London than in any other city. There are many more in the streets of London than in any other city...

There are many more in the streets of London than in any other city. There are many more in the streets of London than in any other city. There are many more in the streets of London than in any other city...

There are many more in the streets of London than in any other city. There are many more in the streets of London than in any other city. There are many more in the streets of London than in any other city...

for so out. We all join in housekeeping, and I do not have a board cook as about 15, a week each, sometimes rather less. Has not included before...

"I am a native of Liverpool and a Quaker. In my father's day he was a member of the Grand. My youth I was sheltered in the halls until my father...

There are many more in the streets of London than in any other city. There are many more in the streets of London than in any other city. There are many more in the streets of London than in any other city...

There are many more in the streets of London than in any other city. There are many more in the streets of London than in any other city. There are many more in the streets of London than in any other city...

There are many more in the streets of London than in any other city. There are many more in the streets of London than in any other city. There are many more in the streets of London than in any other city...

There are many more in the streets of London than in any other city. There are many more in the streets of London than in any other city. There are many more in the streets of London than in any other city...

There are many more in the streets of London than in any other city. There are many more in the streets of London than in any other city. There are many more in the streets of London than in any other city...

There are many more in the streets of London than in any other city. There are many more in the streets of London than in any other city. There are many more in the streets of London than in any other city...

There are many more in the streets of London than in any other city. There are many more in the streets of London than in any other city. There are many more in the streets of London than in any other city...

ing, meaning a person. With his doors and windows, furnished in shutters in his own building, he has a...

ing, meaning a person. With his doors and windows, furnished in shutters in his own building, he has a...

ing, meaning a person. With his doors and windows, furnished in shutters in his own building, he has a...

ing, meaning a person. With his doors and windows, furnished in shutters in his own building, he has a...

ing, meaning a person. With his doors and windows, furnished in shutters in his own building, he has a...

ing, meaning a person. With his doors and windows, furnished in shutters in his own building, he has a...

ing, meaning a person. With his doors and windows, furnished in shutters in his own building, he has a...

ing, meaning a person. With his doors and windows, furnished in shutters in his own building, he has a...

ing, meaning a person. With his doors and windows, furnished in shutters in his own building, he has a...

Cleanings from Foreign Publications.

THE HEROES OF THE HEART OF MAN LONDON.
The story of the girl of the year, the most beautiful and most popular of Scott's novels. "The Heart of Man."

THE HEROES OF THE HEART OF MAN LONDON.
The story of the girl of the year, the most beautiful and most popular of Scott's novels. "The Heart of Man."

THE HEROES OF THE HEART OF MAN LONDON.
The story of the girl of the year, the most beautiful and most popular of Scott's novels. "The Heart of Man."

THE HEROES OF THE HEART OF MAN LONDON.
The story of the girl of the year, the most beautiful and most popular of Scott's novels. "The Heart of Man."

THE HEROES OF THE HEART OF MAN LONDON.
The story of the girl of the year, the most beautiful and most popular of Scott's novels. "The Heart of Man."

THE HEROES OF THE HEART OF MAN LONDON.
The story of the girl of the year, the most beautiful and most popular of Scott's novels. "The Heart of Man."

THE HEROES OF THE HEART OF MAN LONDON.
The story of the girl of the year, the most beautiful and most popular of Scott's novels. "The Heart of Man."

THE HEROES OF THE HEART OF MAN LONDON.
The story of the girl of the year, the most beautiful and most popular of Scott's novels. "The Heart of Man."

HOW TO MAKE HOME A PARADISE.

Philosophers tell us that the best of man is in his home, but when accumulated in a few it will kill him...