POETRY.

The Beautiful.

Thou canst not clasp the beautiful
And call it all thine own.
The beautiful is given for all,
And not for one alone;
It is God's love made visible
In earth and sea and sky;
A blessing, wide as time and space,
For every human eye.

The foam that crests the ocean wave
And sparkles to the light—
The star that gems the brow of morn
And glorifies the night—
The brook, the flower, the leaf,
Whatever gladdens the sight,
Is God's own loving gift to all—
The beautiful and bright.

And blessed 'tis, and beautiful,
That this one gift at least,
Defies the cruel tyrants power,
And ban of wicked priest;
For, spite to chains, the slave can see
God's love is with him here,
In beauty's light, in beauty's joy,
And beauty's blessed cheer.

And God be praised forevermore!
For this, His blessed boon;
The beautiful—which all may share,
And none can share too soon;
The beautiful—which purifies
And leads us up to Him
Who is its source, its life and light,
From flower to seraphim.

Mr. Grumble's Cure.

A LESSON FOR HUSBANDS.

"The old story—the coffee cold, the fire nearly out, and the room full of stifling smoke."

Mr. Grumble drew his chair up to the breakfast table as he spoke, with the face of a martyr.

"The coffee is only just made, dear," said Mrs. Grumble, a pretty, timid looking woman, with soft blue eyes and brown braids; and I really don't think the room is very cold. As for the smoke, I am sorry, the man promised to have the room seen to yesterday.

"Of course he did—nobody ever keeps promises to us," groaned Mr. Grumble. "If it had been Smith, now, the chimney would have been seen to long ago. Do give me a piece of stoke that is at least warmed through; we're not cannibals that I know of, to eat our meat raw. But that's always the way—we never had a cook yet that understood how to broil a stoke."

"But, my dear—" said Mrs. Grumble.

"Don't tell me," interrupted Mr. Grumble. "I know just how things ought to be done. The paper hasn't come yet, I suppose? No, of course not. I really wish somebody would enlighten me as to why my paper is always half an hour later than anybody else's. If that baby don't leave off crying I shall certainly go crazy."

"It's teeth trouble," said Mrs. Grumble, leaving the breakfast table to walk up and down the room with her fretful little charge.

"Oh, nonsense!" said Mr. Grumble, sharply charging at a slice of toast with his fork; "you coddle it too much that's all."

Mrs. Grumble thought of the general commotion into which the house had been thrown about a month previously, when Mr. Grumble had the toothache, but she only nestled the baby's head against her shoulder, and said nothing—woman's way of disposing of a great many little martyrdoms.

"Now, then, where's my hat?" demanded Mr. Grumble, rising and looking around. "Very singular that that hat is never in its place."

"It is just where you hung it yourself, papa in the hall," said Harry from behind his spelling book.

"Children should not talk so much," said Mr. Grumble tartly. "My dear that rent in the lining of my top coat is not mended yet, why did you not see to it?"

"I intended to do so," said his wife apologetically, "but you know we had company last night, and the baby slept so badly that I rose later than usual this morning; but—"

"Always some excuse," interrupted her liege lord. "I really don't understand the reason that nothing is ever done in time in this house."

He gave the front door rather an emphatic slam as he went out, and little Mrs. Grumble, instead of rebelling against his iron rule, just sat down to cry. Oh, those comfortiog woman's tears—how many grievances float into oblivion upon their blessed tide—ow many heart wounds are healed by their balmy drops! Woman may lose all her privileges, one by one, but as long as she can cry, there is some consolation left to her.

Mr. Grumble wasn't by any means a bad husband. He really loved his wife, and believed himself to be a patten of conjugal amirbility; only he had, some how or other, fallen into the unconscious habit of fault finding, and like many another individual, whenever he couldn't think of anything else to do he grumbled.

"Crying again, Bessie!" exclaimed her brother, coming in an hour or two later. "Now that's too bad! I suppose Henry has been treating you to another domestic growl? I've a great mind to tell him how uncomfortable you are made by his little eccentricities. Shall I, Bessie?"

"No no—I couldn't have you breathe a syllable to him for the world?" eagerly exclaimed Mrs. Grumble, hurriedly drying up her tears. "Henry don't mean to annoy me. He has the kindest heart in the world, and I know that he loves me."

"I dear say he does," says young Mr. Carlton, "but why is he fretting and faulting hour after hour, and day after day? Upon my word Bessie, I think its an oversight in our laws that there is not one to punish married men who scold."

"Don't talk so, Tom," said Mrs Grumble, earnestly. "Henry isn't at all to blame, only baby is very troublesome, and I had an indifferent night's rest, and—"

"Oh, ah—I understand," said Tom significantly smiling. My dear little forgiving Bessie, you ought to be made a martyr of." He sat a moment in deep thought, then suddenly starting up exclaimed, I must be gone or I shall be too late at the station to meet Uncle Tompkins. Did I mention to you, by the way that Uncle Tompkins was coming to visit you?"

"Uncle Tompkins! I didn't know we had a "Uncle Tompkins Tom."

"Didn't you? Well please to prepare your best bedroom for company—the old gentleman is rather particular—grumbles a good deal, in fact; but then you are use to that sort of things."

"But, dear Tom, I don't quite understand you."

"Don't detain me now, Bessie. I will come myself with the old gentleman, and introduce him. Good bye."

The next moment the door closed behind Tom, Bessie put her baby in the cradle, and clasped her hands to her aching head. What was Tom thinking of? How could she exist with another growler domiciled for nobody knew how long at her hearthstone? But perhaps they might neutralize one another, like two powerful poisons. There was a spice of confort in this reflection, at least; and Bessie Grumble wiped her eyes, and almost smiled.

What was Mr. Grumble's surprise, on coming home that evening, fully primed for a domestic tirade on the stbject of a button which had drifted down from his shirt front during the day, to find his especial easy chair, and corner of the fire occupied by an asthmatic old man, whose head and face were enveloped a silk handkerchief, and whose feet were in a tub of water. He stopped short in amazement and horror.

"This is Uncle Tompkins, Henry," said Mrs. Grumble, who was busily warming a basin of gruel over the fire; and the old gentleman extended one finger with out turning his head, saying in a cracked voice, "I wish, nephew, you would shut that door. Nobody ever thinks of shutting doors in this house! What's that noise up stairs? I beg, niece, that your baby won't cry the whole time that I am here. Is tea ready? If so I will have a cup here by the fire."

"What does this mean my dear?" ejaculated Mr. Grumble, in a hurried way per, and his wife, whose arm he had caught, on her way to the kitchen after more hot water for Uncle Tompkins, replied in the same tone, "Oh, you must not mind my uncle, dear; he don't mean anything, only he is very old and whimsical."

"But a man has no business to make everybody else uncomfortable in this sort of way," muttered Grumble.

The tea was brought in at this moment—a little smoky, it must be confessed, and the toast considerably charred; but just as Mr. Grubl. was opening his mouth to comment upon these facts, Uncle Tompkins forestalled him by exclaiming, "What stuff this tea is! Oh, I would suppose it was made of cabbage leaves. Can't you give me a better cup, niece? The toast, too, is as black as a cinder. Isn't there a slice of stale bread in the house? I'm dyspeptic, and have to be very careful as to what I eat."

Mr. Grumble silently devoured his meal, secretly wondering how long Uncle Tompkins meant to stay. No sooner was the table cleared than the irascible old gentleman began again: "Grumble," says he, "I do wish you'd stop that creaking of you chair, my nerves are so weak; and if you could keep your children up stairs their racket wouldn't disturb me quite so much. I really don't know how I am going to stand that baby's noise."

"I don't think it is a very noisy baby," said Mr. Grumble, meekly "Its teeth are very painful at present."

Mrs. Grumble, who was stirring the fire, in accordance with her uncle's petulant request said nothing, but smiled quietly to hear her husband extenuate the baby's sins.

"Well," remarked Uncle Tompkins, all babies are noisy. And by the way, Grumble, I wish you would oil the squeaking hinges on that door—and I don't like the smell of that geranium in the window. Hallo! you have no top button on your shirt front? I hope my niece isn't a careless wife?"

"Not at all," said Mr. Grumble, nervously, "but the care of her child and housekeeping duties absorb a great portion of her time. The instant she finds leisure she will look to my clothes."

"Don't see how a woman can spend her whole time keeping house and looking after a pack of children," observed Uncle Tompkins, incredulously.

About ten o'clock, the old gentleman was ushered into the spare room, accompanied by a procession of medicine vials, tubs of hot water, woolen dressing gowns and heated blankets for his feet, and his absence occasioned very general relief.

"What an insufferable old egotist that is!" exclaimed Mr. Grumble, throwing himself, with a sigh of satisfaction into his favorite seat once more. "My dear Bessie, how could you endure his eternal fault finding?"

"I am accustomed to that, Henry; it is a lesson that most women are obliged to learn," replied Mrs. Grumble, with a slight sigh.

Her husband pricked up his ears a little uneasily. "Accustomed to it?"—What did she mean? It was not possible that he was like that old Uncle Tompkins. And yet he wished that Bessie had not spoken in that way; it made him feel excessively uncomfortable.

Day after day passed away, and Uncle Tompkins growing more and more intolercable the whole time, while Mr. Grumble improved the occasion by making a sort of mental looking glass of that worthy old gentleman.

"Upon—my—word," said he to himself, "I must have been a perfect nuisance all these years. Why didn't somebody tell me of it?"

At length Uncle Tompkins went away flannel gowns, medicines, bottles and all, and on the evening of the same day, Tom Carlton arrived, from a temporary absence; nobody knew where.

"So Uncle, has been visiting you?" he said gaily, to Mr. Grumble.

"Yes," answered the latter, with a slight grimace.

"What sort of a looking man is he?" Grumble was silent for a moment.

"Do you know," he exclaimed, bursting into a perplexed laugh, "I could not describe a single feature of his face. He was always enveloped like an Egyptian mummy, in a silk handkerchief, something like that one you have in your hand. However, I'm heartily glad he's gone; with my permission he shall never set a foot in this house again!"

"No?" said Tom, archly.

"The most intolerent fault finder I ever met with," said Mr. Grumble; "absolutely the most disagreeable man that ever combered the earth! I don't see how it is possible to take exceptions to everything as he did!"

"That's not an uncommon failing, I believe," observed Tom, demurely smiling.

"Very likely," said his brother-in-law, emphatically; "but his visit has been productive of at least one good effect—it has completely cured me of any tendency I have had in that way. I, for one, mean to leave off grumbling."

"I am happy to hear it, nephew Grumble," exclaimed a cracked voice.

The victimized man started up in dismay, scarcely believing the testimony of his senses, as Tom twisted the silk handkerchief skillfully around his head, and bent himself nearly double with an asthmatic sound between a grunt and a groan.

"Why, you don't mean to say that you are Uncle Tompkins?" exclaimed Mr. Grumble.

"Pardon me, Henry," said Tom, smiling, "but I saw that you had unconsciously become an habitual grumbler, and I judged that the best antidote was a faithful representation of your own failings. Was I right?"

His brother-in-law was half inclined to be angry, but he thought better about it.

"Shake hands, Tom," said he. "You are an irreverent young scound, but I forgive you. At all events, the cure is complete."

And so Bessie found it.

An unmannerly wag, being asked by the landlady of his boarding house why, being so tall a man, he ate so little, replied, "Madam, a little goes a great way with me!"

IMPORTANT CHANGE IN IRON-CLAD

ARMOR.—The first practical lesson taught by the fight off Charleston is to be applied to the Ironclad Roanoke. Although her turrets are already covered with solid plates of iron about 11 inches thick, she is to have a new armor over them, and yesterday preparations were made at the Brooklyn Navy-yard to commence the work of putting it on. The new idea is this: Three-inch iron plates are to cover some wooden or softer substance, which is to go between the huge plate on the turrets and the outside surface. It is said that cotton, or rope-yarns, or something of a similar character will be used for the filling in, thus rendering it almost impossible for projectiles to penetrate through the turrets themselves.— Balls frequently bent, and, in some instances, split the armor of the ironclads under fire, and it is now deemed best to protect even the most formidable mail by an outward guard such as that described. In the case of the Roanoke there is a probability that the external protection will be susceptible of being put on and off at pleasure. Officers, yesterday, took the dimensions of the plates required and no time will be lost in preparing them. Of course the vessel will not be able to take her place off the Narrows so soon as was expected. It is not known to what extent the new theory will be adopted in the other vessels now on the stocks.—W. Y. Times.

THE EDITOR'S STRATEGY.—Editors, like other shrewd men, must live with their eyes and ears open. A good story is told of one who started a paper in a Western town. The town was infested by gamblers, whose presence was a source of annoyance to the citizens, who told the editor if he did not come out against them, they would not patronize his paper. He replied that he would give them a "smasher" next day. Sure enough, the following morning, the redoubtable editor, with scissors in hand, was seated in his sanctum, when he walked a large man, with a club in his hand, who demanded to know if the editor was in.

"No sir," was the reply, "he has stepped out. Take a seat, and read the papers; he will return in a moment."

Down sat the indignant man of cards, crossed his legs with his club between them, and commenced reading a paper. In the meantime, the editor quietly vamoosed down stairs, and at the landing below he met another excited man, with a club in his hand, who asked him if the editor was in.

"Yes, sir," was the prompt response; "you will find him seated up stairs, reading a newspaper."

The latter, on entering the room, with a famous oath, commenced a violent assault upon the former, which was resisted with equal ferocity. The fight was continued till they had both rolled to the foot of the stairs, and had pounded each other to their heart's content.

ARE BED BUGS INVINCIBLE?—A few evenings since, in our "private club," there was a learned dissertation—Subject "Bed Bugs," and their remarkable tenacity of life." One asserted of his own knowledge, that they could be boiled and then come to life. Some had soaked them for hours in turpentine without any fatal consequences. Old Hanks, who had been listening as an outsider, here gave in his experience in coroboration of the facts. Says he: "Some years ago, I took a bed bur to an iron foundry, and dropped it into the ladle where the melting iron was, had it run into a skillet. Well, my old woman used that skillet pretty constant for the last six years, and here the other day it got broke all to smash, and what do you think gentlemen? that ere insect just walked out of his hole where he'd been layin' like a frog in a rock, and made tracks for his old roost, up stairs! But," added he, by way of parenthesis, "he looked mighty pale."

A LADY sitting in the same box at the opera with a French physician, was much troubled with ennui, and happened to gape. "Excuse me madam," said the doctor, "I am glad you did not swallow me." "Give yourself no uneasiness," replied the lady, "I am a Jewess, and never eat pork."

THE most tender-hearted man we ever heard of was a shoemaker, who always shut his eyes and whistled when he run his awl into a sole.

THE SACRAMENTO PIONEERS intend to celebrate the Fourth of July by an excursion.

Notwithstanding the many revolutions which for the past year have convulsed the various political systems of government throughout the world, the ever revolving wheels of time have made another annual turn presenting summer again to our view, with her verdant Woodlands and Golden Fields. And though the aggregate yield of cereals will be much less in the County this year than last, yet in the immediate vicinity of the rivers and creeks and on the first table lands extending back from the tule (with an occasional exception) nearly an average crop.

Nature last year was prodigal of her efforts to the husbandman, yielding large returns for a small expenditure of labor; per consequence the farmers this year, reasoning upon the hypothesis that what has been may be, reclined hopefully upon his easy chair while his fields were suffering to remain unploughed, trusting to Volunteer which has generally proved a failure, still we know of some who have ploughed their ground and seeded well the same, who have failed to raise a crop. But suppose these had sown upon summer fallow would not most of them raised tolerable crops? We think so.

There is another pecuniary resource of our farmer almost wholly wanting in this section this season, we allude to the Hay crop; should the Valleys generally all throughout the State yield as little grass for hay as the Sacramento, this article next winter will command fabulous prices, especially in the event of another flood.

If Politics were an element of prosperity we certainly would be a happy people, for we have Unionists around us by scores, who are ready to sacrifice anything but money to save the country. The Secessionists would save the country by enforcing the fugitive slave law and protecting slave property in the territories at all hazards. The Abolitionists by doing just the reverse and abolishing slavery at all hazards, constitution or no constitution. The Stand-Betweens would save the Union by respecting the decisions of the Supreme Court and allowing the people of the Territories to govern themselves, when they know perfectly well that the Abolitionists and Secessionists would tolerate nothing of the sort. Oh! Consistency thou art a jewel! when wilt thy diamond face desert the rays of doubtful light and shine upon us again in thine own original purity?

A GOVERNOR'S CHANCE.—The great interest of the coming primaries among politicians seems to hinge upon the nominations for Governor of the state, and to this city, judging from late experience its importance is essentially great. In one way or another the making of 1,000 appointments is said to lie with the Governor, and it can be made by him a source of great abuse to the people.

Outside of these appointments, however, the official position of the Governor gives him many opportunities to use the influence of his authority for private ends thus oppressing the people. Intended by the Constitution to stand as a barrier for the preservation of the rights and liberties of the citizens against the licentious encroachments of corrupt Legislatures, the Governors of this state have so far too often betrayed the high trust committed to their charge.

Often has it been notoriously the case, and most especially of late, that the Governor, instead of promptly voting swindling bills, or approving just ones, has suspended action in regard to them until no objection could first be made, by which some private bill or interest which he favored was promised support for his veto or approval as desired. Of course these things were not done so openly as to be susceptible of plain proof, but near friends who were known to enjoy the Governor's confidence would hint or insinuate that only under such or such circumstances would the veto or approval be made, and the delays made until the conditions were complied with, were to thinking men "confirmation strong as proof of holy writ." Our city, especially, has suffered in this way, and the times are now propitious for the change.—San Francisco Star.

"TRANSACTIONS" OF THE CALIFORNIA PIONEERS.—An octavo pamphlet of 100 pages, being the first part of the second volume of Transactions of the Society of California Pioneers, has just appeared; and a similar publication is expected to be issued every few months. The back records, from the 1st January last, will form the first volume, which will be issued in parts, so soon as the materials can be collected and digested into a proper, readable form. Part I., of Vol II., now before us contains the Constitution of the Society; the roll of members—now numbering 553; minutes of the Society's monthly and special meetings from 5th January last to 5th May following, inclusive; and the ceremonies and speeches on occasion of the recent inauguration of Pioneer Hall. The monthly income of the Society, from rents, dues, etc., amounted in February last to about $1,500; at which date the Society's debt was about $12,000. Since that date the number of members has much increased.—Bulletin.

BY OVERLAND TELEGRAPH.

The following dispatches are from the Sacramento Union
FORTRESS MONROE, June 2—The Charleston Courier of May 26th contains the following: On Wednesday last the steamer Eagle left Nasasa for a Confederate port. During the night she was fired into and captured by a Yankee cruiser. The second shot killed 3 of her crew.

A fire at Washington, North Carolina, May 27th, destroyed a large warehouse filled with spirits of turpentine and fifteen hundred bales of cotton, the latter mostly belonging to the Government.—The loss is believed to be very heavy.

The Richmond Dispatch of May 30th says: Telegrams have announced that Banks crossed his army at Bayou Sara.—This is about ten miles above Port Hudson. His object is to get behind that post and carry it by land attack. This movement is designed to finish the work started by Grant, and clear the Mississippi. The next news will probably be of an assault upon Port Hudson.

The Richmond Whig of Saturday, May 30th, editorially complains of the inefficiency of the rebel Government, and argues that the great mistake in the conduct of the war was making it strictly defensive. It suggests that a dose of the enemy's own medicine would cause him to desist from further invasion.

CHICAGO, June 2—The National Canal Convention met in this city to-day. Hannibal Hamlin, Vice President, was elected permanent Chairman, with one Vice President from each State represented. Nothing of importance transpired during to-day's session. The Convention will probably adjourn to-morrow or next day.

General Burnside has issued an order suppressing the Chicago Times of this city. This causes considerable comment and it is believed that the President will revoke the order.

MURFREESBORO, June 2—There is no evidence of a conclusive nature that Claiborne's division of Bragg's army has been sent to Vicksburg. Two whole infantry divisions of Breckinridge and McCown, and the cavalry corps of Forrest, formerly Van Dorn's, are known to have gone. Doubtless, the entire divisions of Wither Claiborn and Cheatham, the infantry brigades of Anderson and Jackson, and the cavalry divisions of Wheeler and Wharton, are in our front.

WASHINGTON, June 2—Official dispatches from Vicksburg to May 29th indicate no change in affairs there, but the prospects of General Grant are still encouraging.

June 3—General Rosecrans has issued a general order placing the rebel officers now in his possession and hereafter captured, in close confinement, and forbidding the parole and exchange of any.

A Brashear City (La) dispatch of May 22d states that the steamer Louisiana Belle was fired on between Brashear and Washington by the guerrillas. The Captain of the steamer was killed and 10 men wounded. The fire was returned.—Several of the enemy were killed and the others driven off.

A Galveston letter of May 22d reports the destruction, by the gunboat Owasco of the notorious blockade runner Florida.

CINCINNATI, June 2—Colonel Corwin defeated the rebels under General Rodney, at Florence (Ala.), on May 27th, capturing eight officers, 100 men 400 mules and 300 negroes. He also destroyed a number of foundries and mills, and everything else useful to the enemy in that vicinity.

NEW YORK, June 3—The steamer George Cromwell arrived from New Orleans this morning.

Seventy five prisoners arrived at New Orleans on May 26th from Baton Rouge. Among them was ex-Governor Robert Wickliffe, who was captured near Port Hudson.

The Era of May 27th has the following: Banks moved down Red River with his army, crossed to Bayou Sara, and moved thence to Port Hudson, where he united his forces with General Auger's division. The gunboats under Farragut were to go up on May 24th. The mortar fleet opened fire on Port Hudson on the night of the 24th, silencing several of the enemy's guns. Port Hudson is therefore closely besieged and hemmed in. The fall of this stronghold will be speedy, even should General Banks not order an assault on the works. The garrison of Port Hudson is estimated at about 10,000 strong, scantily supplied with provisions.

STATE CAPITOL.—The Commissioners on Tuesday last, awarded contracts for furnishing materials for the construction of the State Capitol, as follows: Granite—E. O. Dana, 3,081 square feet, base course and panels, $1 15; 1 122 square feet window sills and water tables, $1 05; 390 square feet sills and platform, $1 50; 2,650 square feet of ashlar, $1 12—total $8,800. Cement—John Tansman, 170 barrels now on the Capitol ground, $4; George Pender 650 barrels more or less, $4. Sand—James Carlile 400 cubic yards at $1 35, balance $1. Iron Work—Calvin Nutting, $1,550. The next lowest bid in regard to iron work was $1,595; and for granite, $11,600.—The bids in regard to other materials were referred to the architect for examination as to price and quality to be acted on by the Board at 10 A. M., Friday next.—Republican.

GRAND LARCENY.—Thomas Fallon, a resident of Yolo county, was arrested at Sacramento on Saturday evening last, by special officer Lester, on a charge of grand larceny—stealing a yoke of oxen. The arrest was made on a warrant issued by Judge Holl, on the complaint of A. E. Dale. The defendant says that said Dale leased a ranch in Yolo county, for two years, from a person who is now 'over the mountain,' and after occupying it for one year, leased it to him (Fallon), for the balance of the term. Upon the ranch was some stock belonging to the owner of the ranch, and among the stock some steers. Dale suggested to Fallon that the owner would consider it a favor if he would break the stock, and told him that he might use it at will. Fallon did so, and leaving his family on the ranch, came to this city with a team of two yoke of oxen (of which one yoke belonged to the owner of the ranch), with a view of getting a load for Washoe. Hence the arrest on the charge of grand larceny.—Judge Holl fixed the bail at $1,500. If Fallon's statement is true he has been most foully dealt with.—Republican.

GUARDIANSHIP.—In the matter of the guardianship of the children of the late Humphrey Griffith, the Probate Court of Yolo County on Friday awarded as follows: Augustus Hunter Dean (step-daughter,) and Mary Griffith to B. G. Lathrop, of San Mateo; and Humphrey Griffith to James Griffith (his cousin) of Humboldt.

The sum of $12,977 has been subscribed by French residents in this State in aid of the suffering cotton operatives of France.

—Every disease might unquestionably be prevented if nature were assisted to rally with that most wonderful of all invigorators,
DR. HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS.

When the flame of life wanes and quivers from exhaustion, administer this famous restorative. It will once more become steady and strong. In the debility which follows violent fever; in diarrhoea, dysentery, dyspeptic complaints and cholera; in the weakness consequent upon natural decay, or resulting from free living or over exertion, and also in those painful and too much neglected ailments to which ladies are exclusively subject, the Bitters never fail to give permanent relief.—Sold by all Druggists and dealers everywhere.

DR. GUYSSOTT'S EXTRACT OF YELLOW DOCK AND SARSAPARILLA, put up in the largest sized bottles, contains more of the pure Hondas Sarsaparilla than any other preparation extant, which is chemically combined with the Extract of Yellow Dock and the Extract of Wild Cherry thus making the remedy more thoroughly efficient than any other sarsaparilla before the public.

At the same time it is perfectly free from all mineral poisons, which cannot be said of any other of the Sarsaparilla compounds. The invalid should beware of poisons! Mercury, Iron, Quinine, Potash, Iodine, Sulphur, Arsenic, and many other mineral and metallic poisons enter into and form the active basis of most of the Sarsaparillas and Panaceas of the day. Guyssott's Compound Extract of Yellow Dock and Sarsaparilla does not contain a particle of these substances; as any one can ascertain by applying the necessary tests. Let all poisonous Sarsaparilla preparations alone and use Guyssott's Improved Extract of Yellow Dock and Sarsaparilla, which is thoroughly efficacious, perfectly harmless, and purely vegetable. All kind of diseases yield to its gentle influence.

Democratic Meeting.

The Democratic party held a meeting at Roth's—Prairie Precinct—on Saturday last, 30th of May, they organized by calling Q. C. Tebbis to the chair, and appointing C. Davis, Secretary. Dr. Downing of Woodland made an excellent speech, after which Dr. Morse of Knights Landing made a few remarks.

The following resolutions were unanimously adopted.

RESOLVED, 1st. By the Democracy of Prairie Precinct that Governments are instituted by men for the protection of "Life liberty and property," and we view with alarm the violation of these sacred objects of government, by the Abolition party in power.

RESOLVED, 2nd. Until recently it was the pride and boast of every American freeman—in this land of Washington—that the humblest citizen in our midst had a right to criticize and discuss the acts of public officers, and the evil tendencies of their measures; but to call popular attention to the plunderings of Federal officers, and to the unconstitutional acts of the Administration, is now "Disloyalty," and the citizen so offending, may be sentenced by some Military upstart to that new Republican Institution in America—the BASTILE.

RESOLVED, 3rd. That we believe the government as established by our Fathers, was intended for the white man, in which the negro could have no interest as a citizen; and all attempts by the Abolition party in power to equalize the two Races under our constitution are infringements of that good and noble instrument.

RESOLVED, 4th. That in evidence that it is the settled policy of the Administration party to equalize the white man and negro, we refer to the law enacted by the late Republican Legislature, allowing negroes to testify in courts of Justice against white men—to the opinion of Hon. Edward Bates, Attorney General of the United States, published November 20th, 1862 in which he says "that the free man of color, if born in the United States, is a citizen of the United States"—and to the letter of Joseph S. Wilson, acting commissioner of the General Land office at Washington, to A. J. Snyder Register of the United States Land Office at Marysville, in which he says the Government acts upon the opinion of Mr. Bates, and that negroes are entitled to the same right and privileges in the United States Land Office that white men are.

RESOLVED, 5th. That as patriotic citizens we love our country, her institutions and traditions, and whilst it is a pleasure to acknowledge our obligations to the constitution of our country as interpreted by our Fathers, we also demand our rights from the Federal authorities; amongst which are freedom of opinion, free speech and free press.

RESOLVED, 6th. That we deplore the unhappy condition of our country, and pray for the return of Justice and Peace, such as blessed our people in the good old days of Democracy, when we were no North, no South, no East, no West, but was a happy and a united people.

RESOLVED, 7th. In common with Democrats everywhere, we have regretted past divisions in our party, and hail with delight the hope of deliverance from old dissensions by the Battle County call for a State Convention, on the 8th of July.

RESOLVED, 8th. That we organize a club, known as the "Prairie Democratic Club," and invite our neighbors, who can subscribe to these resolutions to act with us.

The Democrats of Cottonwood Precinct met at the Cottonwood School House on Saturday May 23rd and organized a club, with a view of securing unity of action in the coming election in an American effort to restore the Constitution and the laws of our country to their original luster.

John S. Tutt was chosen, temporary chairman and M. A. Woods Sect.

A Committee, consisting of A. H. Willard, J. M. Covington, and M. A. Woods was appointed to report resolutions and permanent officers.

The committee recommended that the temporary be retained as the permanent officers. Adopted.

The following resolutions were read and unanimously adopted:

RESOLVED, That we cordially invite all who are in favor of maintaining the constitution of the United States, and the constitution of this State, and the laws made in pursuance thereof, and who are in favor of restoring the Union by constitutional means, with the right of each and every state unimpaired, to unite with us in the coming election in an effort to accomplish these most high and holy purposes.

RESOLVED, That we are in favor of sending delegates from this County to the Convention which is to meet at Sacramento on the 8th of July next.

Twenty nine true lovers of their whole country; some of whom have not heretofore been classed as Democrats, though they never were Abolitionists, came forward and signed the first resolution apparently with a determination to have the substance of that resolution become more the policy of the country.

The meeting was then addressed by W. W. Pendegast, Doctor Prather, and A. H. Willard, each of whom were listened to with an attention which indicated that they were uttering truths that might well make the patriot sigh for the future of his country.

The proceedings were ordered to be forwarded to the KNIGHT'S LANDING NEWS, Marysville Express and Sacramento Republican.

The meeting then adjourned, to meet again on Saturday June 6th at three o'clock P. M.

M. A. Woods Secretary. The Secretary would add, on his own responsibility, that if the Democrats of every precinct in Yolo will do as well as those of Cottonwood in getting intelligent, sensible men from the opposition, our little Cow County will do its share at the coming election towards replacing the care of the Union on the track of "equal and exact justice to all sections of our country and to all classes of our countrymen"—the only track that can carry it successfully and triumphantly to the summit of its once bright and glorious destiny.

At a regular meeting, June 1st of the Knight's Landing Democratic Club, the following resolution was adopted.

RESOLVED, That we heartily endorse the Butte County Call for a Democratic State Convention on the 8th July, and that we elect Delegates to a county convention, that this county may be represented in said State Convention.

FRED. MORSE, Sect. pro tem.

MORE STEAMSHIPS FOR THE PACIFIC.

The traveling public will learn with pleasure that the comforts of travelers as well as facilities and accommodations for passengers and freight between the East and this port are to be greatly increased. The Pacific Mail Steamship Company, as we see by our Eastern exchanges, have contracted for four large and two small steamers for this coast. Two of the former are already launched and nearly ready for sea, while the others are well under way. Their names are: Washoe, Golden City, Sacramento and Vancouver. Each measures as follows—length of spar deck, three hundred and sixty four feet; of water-line, three hundred and forty feet; breadth of beam forty five feet, on spar deck sixty six feet; depth of hole thirty one and a half feet; capacity, three thousand three hundred tons; the engine cylinders are one hundred and five inches and a stroke of twelve feet; there will be double beds in each stateroom, and sleeping accommodations furnished for six hundred first and second cabin, and one thousand steerage passengers. Their carrying capacity is fifteen hundred tons measurement, besides coals and stores. These vessels will afford greater accommodations to the public, but if the Pacific Mail Company would go further and obtain control of the line on the Atlantic side, stock it with boats like the above and manage it as the line is managed on this side, it would find its account in vastly increased profits, besides a lasting benefit to the State. We understand, in connection with this matter, that the price of freight between this city and New York, by way of Panama, is to be greatly reduced, so as to encourage more heavy shipments over that route. Already arrangements have been made for freight silver and copper ores, by way of the Isthmus and the Southampton steamers to Swansea, Wales. If the steamers on the Atlantic side were managed as those are on this side, the Panama line would be five times more profitable to its owners.—S. F. Call.

WASHOE SUFFERS.—Part of the cargo on board the California bound ship Commonwealth, recently destroyed by fire by the pirate Alabama, consisted of all the gas fixtures and machinery intended for lighting Virginia City, N. T. The property was insured.
