Given under my hand and the seal of the General Land Office at Richmond, Virginia, this 1st day of January, 1881.

Commissioner of the General Land Office

CODE OF VIRGINIA.

CHAPTER XXXIV.

MILITARY SCHOOL AND LEXINGTON ARSENAL,

1. THE Military School established in the county of Rockbridge, near the town of Lexington, shall be continued under the name of "The Virginia Military Institute," and for the support of the said school, the sum of seven thousand seven hundred and ten dollars shall be annually paid out of the public treasury, and in addition thereto, fifteen hundred dollars shall be paid out of the surplus revenue of the Literary Fund, as directed by the sixth section of the seventy-ninth chapter.

2. There shall be a Board of Visitors for the Institution composed of the Adjutant General and eight other persons, two of whom shall be, annually, appointed by the Governor of each Grand Division of the State.

3. The Board shall meet at the Institution. A meeting shall be held, annually, at such time as may have been designated for their annual meeting in their last resolution on the subject. A meeting may also be called at any time by the Adjutant General, or by the Superintendent of the Institution, when either may deem it advisable. And the Board may adjourn from time to time.

4. Any vacancy in the Board of Visitors shall be communicated by the Adjutant General to the Governor, who shall forthwith supply the same.

5. Such reasonable expenses as the Visitors may incur in the discharge of their duties, shall be allowed by the Governor, and paid by warrant on the treasury.

6. The Board may make by-laws and regulations, not inconsistent with the laws of the State, for their own government and the management of the affairs of the Institution, and may, for the purpose of transacting such business as in its opinion can be properly transacted, by a less number than the majority, authorize not less than four members to constitute a quorum.

7. The Arsenal and all its grounds and buildings shall be considered as belonging to the Institution, and the Board shall cause the same and all the arms and other property therein, or belonging thereto, to be guarded and preserved.

8. They may expend, annually, a sum not exceeding five hundred dollars in erecting, altering, or repairing buildings, so as to have such as may be suitable and proper for the Military School.

9. The Board shall, annually, appoint a Treasurer, who shall give bond, with sufficient sureties, in the penalty of fifteen thousand dollars, payable to the Commonwealth, conditioned for the performance of the duties of his office; which bond, being approved by the Board, and entered at large upon its journal, shall be transmitted to the first Auditor and remain filed in his office.

10. The Treasurer shall, annually, on or before the first day of December, in each year, make a detailed report of his accounts to the Board of the Literary Fund, to be by them reported to the General Assembly. The Board of Visitors shall cause a careful examination of the accounts, and a full settlement thereof to be made at least once a year.

11. The Board of Visitors shall appoint Professors to give instruction in Military Science, and in such other branches of knowledge as they may deem proper; shall fix the salaries of the Professors, and may remove them for good cause; but no order for the removal of a Professor shall be made without the concurrence therein of a majority of the whole number of Visitors; and the Board shall forthwith communicate to the Governor a full statement of the reasons on which the removal was made.

12. They shall prescribe the terms upon which Cadets may be admitted, their number, the course of their instruction, the nature of their service, and the duration thereof, which shall not be less than two nor more than five years. All so admitted shall make full compensation, except such as are provided for in the following section.

13. They shall admit as State Cadets, free of charge for board and tuition, upon evidence of fair moral character, not less than thirty-two young men, who shall not be less than sixteen, nor more than twenty-five years of age. In their admission strict regard shall be had to the proportionate population of each of the four Grand Divisions of the State, taking in the first place one from each senatorial district offering a suitable person. In event of any division not furnishing its proportion, the Board of Visitors, after giving due notice of such deficiency, may fill the vacancy from any other division.

14. The Board may enter into an arrangement with the Trustees of the Washington College, by which the Cadets at the Military School, and the Students at the College, may respectively be admitted to the advantages of instruction provided at either place.

15. Any commissioned officer of the militia of this State, may become a student at the Institute for a period of time not exceeding ten months, and receive instruction in any or all of the departments of military science taught therein, without being required to pay any fee or charge for tuition.

16. The Cadets shall be a military corps under the command of the Superintendent, and constitute the Guard of the Institution.

17. The Superintendent shall, from time to time, inspect the arms at the arsenal; cause the same to be kept safe and clean; give receipts for such arms as may be brought there to be deposited, and obey such orders for the delivery of arms therefrom as he may receive from the Governor, as directed by the twenty-seventh chapter.

18. The Superintendent shall, annually, by the first day of October, make a return to the Adjutant General, showing the names, and the number of the officers and Cadets at the Institute, distinguishing those between the ages of eighteen and forty-five, and showing also the public arms, ordnance, equipments, and accoutrements at the Arsenal, and under the charge of the same corps.

19. The Governor of the State, and the Board of Visitors, and Faculty of the Institute, may confer the degree of graduate upon any Cadet found qualified to receive it, after examination upon all the branches of the arts and sciences and literature taught at the Institute.

20. Every Cadet who, since the eighth day of March, eighteen hundred and forty-two, has been, or hereafter shall be, received on State account, and shall have remained in the Institution during the period of two years or more, shall act in the capacity of teacher in some school within the State, for two years after leaving the Institution, unless excused by the Board of Visitors; but this section shall not be construed so as to deprive such Cadet of any of the compensation which he may be able to obtain for teaching.

21. The Board of Visitors shall, annually, inspect the public arms and other property at the Arsenal, and make a report of their condition and of the condition of the school to the Governor, to be by him laid before the General Assembly.

22. Commissions shall be issued to the Superintendent, Professor, and Assistant Professor of Tactics at the Institute, corresponding with those of Colonel, Major, and Captain of the United States Corps of Engineers. Such commission shall confer no rank in the Militia, nor entitle any person holding the same, to any pay or emolument by reason thereof.

23. There shall be enlisted in the public guard a Sergeant to serve as an Ordnance or Quartermaster Sergeant at the Institute; he shall be borne on the roll of the guard, paid as other soldiers of the guard are paid, and when in service at the Institute, be under the control of the officers thereof.

24. The Superintendent of the Institute may enlist musicians for service at the post, to be paid out of the annual appropriation heretofore provided.

The Superintendent of a sub-division of quarters, in case of any noise and scuffling, or other improper conduct in any room, hall or gallery under his charge, shall repair instantly to the spot and suppress the irregularity, order the parties to their rooms, and forthwith report the circumstances to the Superintendent of his division, or to the officer in charge.

217. He shall keep a roster of the occupants of each room of his subdivision, and shall, every Sunday morning, personally direct those whose turn it is to enter upon their duties as Orderlies for the ensuing week, except in cases otherwise directed by the Superintendent of division.

218. He shall communicate to the occupants of rooms under his charge, such orders as may be given by the Superintendent of division, relative to the police, and shall cause them to be strictly observed.

219. He shall visit every room in his sub-division immediately after taps at night, and shall ascertain, by minute inspection, whether the duties of the Orderly have been properly performed, and whether the occupants of the room are all present and in bed. He shall cause the Orderlies and others, in every case of neglect observed at this visit, to comply strictly with the regulations, and shall report the result of his inspection to the officer in charge.

220. He will see by personal inspection that the gas-burner is closed in each room.

221. He shall also visit and thoroughly inspect all rooms under his charge thirty minutes after reveille, immediately after which he shall make a report in writing to the Superintendent of his division, subjoining thereto the word "certified" with his signature.

"COMMANDANT OF CADETS."

222. The Commandant of Cadets shall make a minute inspection of the rooms, furniture, &c., of the Cadets, at least once a week, and will make a special report thereon to the Superintendent.

223. He will also make occasional inspections of quarters after taps.

224. He shall prescribe the order in which the furniture, bedding, books, clothing, equipments, &c., shall be arranged throughout the barracks.

225. He shall make a report to the Superintendent every morning between 8 and 9 o'clock, A. M., of the condition of the barracks and of the discipline of the Cadets, noting specially such matters as may require his consideration and action.

226. He shall be responsible for the safe keeping and good order of all arms, accoutrements and other public property in use by the Cadets.

OFFICER IN CHARGE.

227. Each of the Assistant Instructors of Tactics shall be detailed in turn as officer in charge for the day; his tour to commence at Guard mounting.

228. He shall superintend the performance of all the duties of the day which do not require the presence of the Commandant, and see that they are performed according to regulations and orders.

229. He shall promptly correct all irregularities which may occur in the barracks, or in their vicinity, and shall be in the barracks yard at taps to receive the reports of Inspectors.

230. He shall be present at class parades and roll calls, during his tour; and shall not absent himself from the barracks or their vicinity, except at meal times, without the approbation of the Commandant of Cadets.

“OFFICER OF THE DAY.”

231. The Officer of the day shall be detailed generally from the roster of Cadets acting as officers, but every Cadet of the First Class shall be detailed to perform this duty once.

232. He shall, after receiving his guard, report for orders to the Commandant of Cadets, and shall receive and obey such orders as may be given him during his tour by the officer in charge.

233. He shall give the guard the orders of the day, regulate the reliefs, and have such of the guard dismissed as are not required for duty.

234. He shall cause the sentinels to be posted at proper times, shall visit them ten minutes after they are posted, and see that they are properly instructed in their duties.

235. He shall cause all academic signals to be sounded at the proper times.

236. He shall superintend the formation of the classes and sections, require the marchers to report the absentees, and to preserve good order on parade, and while marching to and from the Institute, and shall not leave the parade ground until all the sections have reached their recitation rooms.

237. He shall then immediately seek all who have been reported to him as absent, (except those properly excused), and order them to repair forthwith to their respective recitation rooms, or wherever their duty may require their presence: whenever they are found absent he will report the fact. He shall report to the officer in charge all whom he does not find, and all such as fail to obey his orders.

238. He shall take prompt and effectual measures for suppressing all irregularities and disturbances that may occur in or near the barracks.

239. He shall station himself in or near the guard-room, between reveille and taps, constantly, except when absent on duty or at meals.

240. He shall be held responsible for all public property deposited in the guard-room.

241. He shall report to the officer in charge for orders, immediately after taps. He shall then immediately, (unless otherwise ordered,) visit the rooms of all Cadets who are reported absent, and he shall repeat his visits at intervals of fifteen minutes to the room of each absentee till his return.

242. On the back of his guard report, he shall note all violations of the regulations which may have come to his knowledge during his tour, stating the name of each delinquent, with a clear and precise description of his offence, and the circumstances of time and place, when they are not necessarily understood; he shall also state, particularly, the orders given him by any authorized officer, and the time at which each absentee at taps returned to his room; and he will subjoin to his report the word "certified" with his signature.

SENTINELS.

243. There being perhaps no better test of soldiership, and the discipline of a command than the manner in which the duties of sentinels are performed, Cadets should understand the honor and responsibility of a soldier on post.

244. All persons of whatever rank are required to observe the greatest respect towards sentinels, and no officer or other person shall make use of any expression, language or gesture to a Cadet on post.

245. Every sentinel shall obey the orders of the Superintendent, Commandant of Cadets, Superintendent of Division, Officer in charge, Officer of the day, and the Officers and non-commissioned officers of the guard.

246. At evening parade each First Sergeant shall warn the Cadets of his company, who are detailed to mount guard the ensuing day, always taking those for this duty first who have been the longest off. The guard thus detailed, shall be on duty all night, at least one sentinel being on post at a time.

247. Every Cadet of the guard shall appear at guard mounting in perfect order.

248. Cadets detailed for guard shall wear their side arms when not on post, and shall not, during their tour, leave the Institute. —

249. As soon as a sentinel is posted in the barracks, he shall visit every room under his charge, see that all the occupants are present, and order (if it be in study hours) every Cadet whom he may find visiting to go to his room. If he fail to obey the order, he shall forthwith call the Sergeant of the guard and report his disobedience.

250. Every sentinel on post, when the call "to quarters" is sounded, shall visit the rooms under his charge ten minutes after such call, and report those Cadets who shall not have obeyed the call.

251. No sentinel shall permit a violation of the regulations to take place within the limits of his post, without taking proper measures to prevent it; nor shall he fail in any case to call for the Corporal of the Guard, and report to him immediately every such violation which comes within his observation or knowledge while on post, and the name of every Cadet who, during his tour, shall have been absent from his room, in study hours, longer than ten minutes.

252. Any Cadet who shall neglect his guard duty, by deserting or sleeping on his post, or in any manner impair the security of the public property, by the neglect of the duties devolving upon the guard, by laws, shall be dismissed or otherwise less severely punished.

253. Any non-commissioned officer of the guard who shall fail to post his relief at the prescribed hour, or hours, after taps, shall be subject to the penalty attached to the neglect of duty of a sentinel under paragraph 252.

254. The Sergeant of the guard shall parade and inspect every relief at the proper time.

255. In all cases not provided for in the foregoing paragraphs, the service of the guard shall be performed as prescribed in the general regulations of the Army of the United States.

ARRESTS.

256 The Superintendent and the Commandant of Cadets alone have the power to arrest a Cadet, except in cases of mutiny, direct disobedience of orders, or gross disrespect to a superior officer, in which cases offenders may be arrested; but all such arrests shall be promptly reported, through the Commandant of Cadets to the Superintendent for his approbation.

257. Every Cadet arrested shall confine himself forthwith to his quarters until released, (unless otherwise specially ordered,) except when required to be absent therefrom for the performance of some of his academic or military duties, (to all of which, except those on guard, he shall strictly attend,) and except on a necessary occasion, and for the purpose of going to the mess hall for his meals.

258. Every Cadet charged with a breach of arrest, shall be tried, and if found guilty, shall be dismissed.

259. When a Cadet is confined to the limits of Barracks, Camp, or the Institute, any breach of such confinement will subject him to the penalty prescribed by paragraph 258 for breach of arrest.

260. When a Cadet is under arrest or confinement to his room, barracks, camp, or the Institute grounds, he will not apply for any permission to go beyond such limits, unless impelled thereto by strong emergency, and when thus impelled, he will make personal application to the Superintendent in writing, setting forth in such application that he is under arrest, and the reasons for which he desires the permission which he asks.

261. No general permit granted to Cadets to go beyond the limits of the Institute, will be valid to any Cadet under arrest or confinement—except for attendance at Church in the morning and afternoon services on the Sabbath, and any Cadet who shall go beyond the limits for other purposes, when under arrest or confinement upon such general permit, will subject himself to the penalty of the 258th paragraph.

SICK.

262. The sick Cadets who remain in quarters, shall not leave their rooms, except for the purpose of performing some duty, or of taking exercise at such times as the Surgeon may have prescribed, with the approbation of the Superintendent; but no such Cadet shall, for any purpose whatever, be absent from his room during any drill, parade, or roll call, from which he may have been excused on account of indisposition.

263. Every Cadet excused on account of sickness, from all duties, shall be sent to the hospital.

264. The sick in hospital, shall obey all orders of the Surgeon, and all such police regulations as he may prescribe, with the approbation of the Superintendent.

265. No patient shall leave the hospital without permission from the Surgeon.

266. No patient shall go beyond the hospital yard without a written permission, signed by the Surgeon, and approved by the Superintendent.

267. No Cadet shall go to the hospital, unless previously examined and sent there by the Surgeon.

268. No Cadet shall visit any patient in the hospital, without a written permission, signed by the Surgeon and approved by the Superintendent.

269. When a Cadet is too unwell to attend to duty, he will report himself in person to the Superintendent, at his first office hours, and if he requires medical advice, he will forthwith report to the Superintendent.

"COMMONS."

270. The Commandant of Cadets is Inspector of the Commons, and will report to the Superintendent all irregularities in the Hall, and every infraction of the mess regulations.

271. The Inspector of the Commons shall appoint from the officers of the corps, a Superintendent of the mess-hall, and as many assistant Superintendents as he may deem necessary.

272. The Cadets shall be divided into as many squads as there are tables in the mess-hall, and the Inspector shall appoint a first and second carver to each squad. Every carver shall cause the regulations to be observed by those at the table where he presides, and shall report all violations of the same to the Superintendent of the mess-hall, who shall transmit such reports to the Inspector.

273. At the signal for breakfast, dinner and supper, the squads shall be formed in front of the barracks by the first carvers, acting as squad marchers, under the direction of the Superintendent of the mess-hall, who shall march the whole to the Hall.

274. The second carver shall act as squad-marcher in the absence of the first; in other cases, he shall march in ranks at the head of his squad.

275. Every Cadet shall march to meals, except the officer of the day, and the senior corporal of the guard, not immediately on duty; the latter shall precede the corps to the mess-hall, shall report any Cadet who may enter the hall before the corps, and shall remain until the relief arrives.

276. Each Cadet shall have the particular place at the table to which his place in the ranks corresponds; such place shall not be changed without the permission of the Superintendent of the mess-hall.

277. All unnecessary talking at table is prohibited—the carvers alone shall call on the waiters.

278. Wasting or taking from the mess-hall provisions or mess-furniture of any kind, is strictly forbidden.

279. The Superintendent of the mess-hall shall see that every Cadet leaves the hall at the command "Rise."

280. The officer or non-commissioned officer, commanding the guard of Cadets, shall march such of his guard as have been detained on duty to the mess-hall immediately after the corps has returned. He shall preside at the table of the guard, and see that the mess regulations are observed, all violations of which he shall report to the Inspector of Commons.

281. No Cadet shall go to the Commons, or approach the building occupied by the Steward, except on duty, at any other time or in any other manner than is above prescribed.

282. If any Cadet shall consider any article of the fare provided at his table to be tainted, or otherwise unsuitable for use, he may report the fact to the Superintendent of the hall, who shall communicate the report, (with a sample of the provisions complained of,) to the Commandant of Cadets.

“EXCUSES.”

283. Any Cadet reported for a delinquency, and having a satisfactory excuse, shall express his excuse in writing, in the form prescribed, and hand it to the Commandant of Cadets (to be submitted to the Superintendent,) within his first orderly hour, after the publication of the report on parade. No excuse shall be made by any Cadet in any other manner, nor at any other time than is here prescribed, unless he is unavoidably prevented from complying with the above direction, in which case the cause of delay shall be annexed to the excuse, for the consideration of the Commandant of Cadets; but no such excuse shall be handed in at a later period than one week after the unavoidable cause of delay shall have been removed.

284. Any Cadet who shall present a false excuse shall be dismissed; and any Cadet who shall present a disrespectful excuse shall be punished according to the degree of the offence, and the report for which such excuse shall have been presented shall not be removed.

285. No Cadet shall address an Officer or Cadet who has reported him for a delinquency, on the subject of such report unless specially permitted by the Superintendent or Commandant of Cadets; and every Officer or Cadet having made such report against a Cadet, shall hold no conversation with him relating to it, unless referred to with the proper permission.

286. When a Cadet is reported absent from quarters, or from any duty, he shall be required to render an excuse or explanation for the same, and when it is not stated that he was at the time in the Barracks, or within the Cadets' limits, he will be considered as having been beyond the said limits, and liable to be punished accordingly.

287. All absences from quarters at night, which are unauthorized, and without excuse, will be considered as involving special penalty.

288. Appeals to the Superintendent for a reconsideration of reports for delinquencies, will not be entertained except during the week on which said reports are recorded, except in cases when it is impracticable to apply for a reconsideration within that time. Such appeals must be made in writing.

289. Cadets having over 175 demerit for the year, will be considered on probation for the next year, and the limits of their demerit for that year will be fixed at 175. Any Cadet on probation exceeding 175 demerit within the year, will be "ipso facto" dismissed.

290. Any Cadet Officer having 50 demerit for any one quarter, will be forthwith reduced to the ranks.

direction of the officer of the day, in an orderly and soldier-like manner.

302. He shall cause the Cadets of his Section to take seats in the lecture-room in the order of their names on the roll.

RESPONSIBILITY OF CADETS ON LEAVES OF ABSENCE, &C.

317. Cadets, on leaves of absence, are not exempted from a conformity to all those regulations which prescribe propriety of conduct on the part of a Cadet, but will in all cases be liable to punishment according to the nature of the offence.

OF THE

EXPERIMENTS

EXTRACTS FROM THE GENERAL REGULATIONS FOR THE ARMY.

ARTICLE XXXVI.

DAILY DETAILS AND DUTIES.

384. The daily duties must be announced in orders, and the officers to perform it are to be detailed according to the rules of the roster.

385. The number and rank of the officers for daily duty, are to be regulated by the strength and circumstances of the camp or garrison.

386. Independently of the officers detailed for guard duty, the officers for daily duty will be as follows :

387. In large camps there will be a general officer of the day for each division ; a field officer of the day for each brigade ; a Captain of the day for each regiment ; and such general and regimental staff officers of the day as may be necessary to attend to the various details, and to receive and execute orders, according to their respective stations. In every regiment and garrison, besides the officer of the day, there will be detailed daily, if the strength of the garrison will permit, a subaltern, four non-commissioned officers, a drummer and such fatigue parties as circumstances may require for the police of regiment or garrison. In small commands, subalterns may be detailed for duty as officers of the day, and they will also discharge the duties of officers of police. The officers thus detailed are to remain in camp or garrison during their tours of duty.

388. The General of the day is to superintend the regularity and discipline of the camp in every particular; he is to visit the guards of the camps and the outposts: he is to call out and inspect the inlying pickets as often and at such times as he thinks proper; he is to receive all reports in camp, and make immediate communication of any extraordinary circumstance to the General-in-Chief.

389. The Field Officer of the day has the immediate superintendance of the camp of the brigade; he is to be present at the mounting and dismounting of all the brigade guard, particularly of the inlying pickets which are always considered under his command; he is to call them out to inspect them, to order such patrols from them as he may judge necessary to insure the regularity and order of the camp: and in the event of the inlying pickets being ordered to march he is to march with them.

390. The Captain or Subaltern of the day, of each regiment, superintends the cleanliness and regularity of the camp or quarters of the regiment; he attends the parading of all regimental guards, and orders the roll to be called frequently, and at unexpected periods, and reports every thing extraordinary to the commanding officer; he is to visit the hospital at various hours, and make a report of its state to the commanding officer of the regiment or garrison.

391. The Adjutant of the day, of the brigade, is to assist the general staff officer of the day in the various details of it, and, in his absence, to perform his duty as such and attend for orders at head quarters.

392. The officer of police, under the direction of the officer of the day, is to make a general inspection into the cleanliness of the camp or garrison.

ARTICLE XXXVII.

“HONORS TO BE PAID BY THE TROOPS.”

395. The President is to be saluted with the highest honors—all standards and colours dropping, officers saluting arms, beating and trumpets sounding.

396. The same compliments will be paid to the Vice-President.

397. A Major General commanding-in-chief, is to be received by cavalry, with swords drawn, trumpets sounding the march, and all the officers saluting, standards dropping: by infantry, with drums beating the march, colors dropping, officers saluting, and arms presented.

398. A Major General is to be received, by cavalry, with swords drawn, trumpets sounding twice the trumpet flourish, and officers saluting; by infantry with three ruffles, colors dropping, officers saluting, and arms presented.

399. A Brigadier General is to be received, by cavalry, with swords drawn, trumpets sounding once the trumpet flourish, and officers saluting; by infantry, with two ruffles, colors dropping, officers saluting, and arms presented.

400. An Adjutant General, or Inspector General, if under the rank of a general officer, is to be received at a review, or inspection of the troops under arms—by cavalry, with swords drawn, officers saluting; by infantry, officers saluting, and arms presented. The same honors to be paid to any field officer, authorized to review and inspect the troops. When the inspecting officer is junior in rank to the officer on the parade, and in the command of the troops to be inspected, no compliments will be paid: he will be received only with swords drawn and arms shouldered.

401. All guards are to turn out and present arms to general officers as often as they pass them, except the personal guards of general officers, which turn out only to the Generals whose guards they are, and to officers of superior rank.

402. To Colonels, the guards of their own regiments turn out and present arms once a day; after which, they turn out with shouldered arms.

403. To Lieutenant Colonels and Majors, their own guards turn out with shouldered arms once a day; at other times with ordered arms.

404. When the command of a regiment devolves on a Lieutenant Colonel, or Major, the regimental guards will pay him the same compliment as is ordered for the Colonel.

405. Officers in command of forts or garrison, have a right to the complimentary honors from the troops under their command, which are due to the rank, one degree higher than the rank they actually hold in the line of the army.

406. To the Secretary of State, Treasury, War, and Navy Departments, and other members of the Cabinet, to the Chief Justice, the President pro. tempore of the Senate, and Speaker of the House of Representatives of the United States: and to Governors within their respective States and Territories, the same honors will be paid as are specified for a Major General commanding-in-chief.

407. Officers belonging to any foreign service, who may call at any camp or garrison, by invitation from the commander of the camp or garrison, may be complimented with the honors due to their rank or quality.

408. American and Foreign Envoys or Ministers will be received with the compliments due to a Major General.

409. The colors of a regiment passing a guard, are to be saluted with the utmost respect—the trumpet sounding, and the drums beating a march.

410. Where two regiments meet on their march, the regiment inferior in rank is to halt, and form in parade order, and salute the other regiment, which proceeds on its march, with swords drawn and bayonets fixed, trumpets sounding or drums beating, standards or colors flying until it has cleared the front of the regiment which has halted.

411. Where guards present their arms, the officers, on all occasions, salute with their swords.

412. Where General officers, or persons entitled to salute, pass in the rear of a guard, the officer is only to make his men stand shouldered, and not to face his guard about, or beat his drum.

413. Where General officers, or persons entitled to a salute, pass guards, while in the act of relieving, both guards are to salute, receiving the word of command from the senior officer of the whole.

414. All guards are to be under arms when armed parties approach their posts: and to parties commanded by commissioned officers, they are to present their arms, drums beating a march, and officers saluting.

415. No compliments by guards or sentinels will be paid between retreat and reveille, except as prescribed for grand rounds.

416. All guards and sentinels are to pay the same compliments to the officers of the navy, marines and militia in the service of the United States, as are directed to be paid to the officers of the army, according to their relative ranks.

417. It is equally the duty of non-commissioned officers and soldiers, at all times and in all situations to pay the proper compliments to officers of the navy and marines, and to officers of other regiments, when in uniform, as to officers of their own particular regiments and corps.

418. Courtesy among military men is indispensable to discipline. The good or the brave officer or soldier is always respectful towards superiors. His respect will not be confined to martial obedience, but will be extended to other occasions. Thus it is always the duty of the inferior to accost or to offer first, the customary salutation, and of the superior to return such complimentary notice.

419. Sergeants with swords drawn, will salute by bringing them to a recover,—with muskets, by bringing the left-hand across the body, so as to strike the musket near the right shoulder. Corporals out of the ranks will carry their muskets at a shoulder as Sergeants, and salute in like manner.

420. When a soldier without arms, or with side arms only, meets an officer, he will continue to move on, but he is to raise his hand to his cap, looking at the same time in a respectful and soldier like manner at the officer, who will make a suitable acknowledgement to the compliment thus offered.

421. A non-commissioned officer or soldier being seated and without particular occupation, will rise on the approach of an officer, and make the customary salutation. If standing, it would be proper to turn towards the officer for the same purpose. If the parties remain in the same place or on the same ground, such compliments would not in general be repeated.

“ SALUTES.”

422. The national salute is determined by the number of States composing the Union, at the rate of one gun for each State.

423. The President of the United States alone is to receive a salute of twenty-one guns.

424. The Vice President is to receive a salute of seventeen guns.

425. The Heads of the great Executive Departments of the National Government; the Major General commanding the army; the Governors of States and Territories within their respective jurisdictions fifteen guns.

426. A Major General, thirteen guns.

427. A Brigadier General, eleven guns.

428. Foreign Ships of War will be saluted in return for a similar compliment, gun for gun, on notice being officially received of such intention. If there be several posts in sight of, or within six miles of each other, the principal only shall reciprocate compliments with ships passing.

429. Officers of the navy will be saluted according to relative rank.

430. Foreign officers invited to visit a fort or post, may be saluted according to their relative rank.

431. Envoys and Ministers of the United States and foreign powers are to be saluted with thirteen guns.

432. All officers of the army having rank above that of Colonel, whether of the line or staff, by brevet or otherwise, will be complimented, on official visits, by salutes according to their highest rank; provided they be senior to the officer in command where the visit is made.

433. A General officer will be saluted but once in a year at each post, and only when notice of his intention to visit the post has been given.

434. Salutes to individuals are to be fired on their arrival only.

435. A national salute will be fired at meridian, on the anniversary of the Independence of the United States, at each military post and camp.

ESCORTS OF HONOR.

436. Escorts of honor may be composed of cavalry or infantry, or both, according to circumstances. They are guards of honor, for the purpose of receiving and escorting personages of high rank, civil or military. The troops for this purpose will be selected for their soldierly appearance and superior discipline.

437. The manner of receiving and escorting the personage is as follows:

438. The escort will be drawn up in line, the centre opposite to the place where the personage presents himself with an interval between the wings to receive the personage and his retinue. On his appearance he will be received with the honors due to his rank. When he has taken his place in the line, the whole will be wheeled into platoons or companies, as the case may be, and take up the march. The same ceremony will be observed, and the same honors paid on his leaving the escort.

439. When the position of the escort is at a considerable distance from the point where the personage is expected to be received, as for instance where a court-yard or wharf intervenes, a double line of sentinels will be posted from that point to the escort, facing inwards, and the sentinels will successively salute as the personage passes.

440. An officer will be appointed to attend the personage escorted, to bear such communications as he may have to make to the commander of the escort.

FUNERAL HONORS.

441. On the receipt of official intelligence of the death of the President of the United States, at any post or camp the commanding officer shall, on the following day, cause a gun to be fired at every half hour, beginning at sunrise and ending at sunset. When posts are contiguous, the firing will take place at the post only commanded by the superior officer.

442. On the day of the interment of a Major General commanding in chief, a gun will be fired at every half hour, until the procession moves, beginning at sunrise.

443. The funeral escort of a Major General commanding-in-chief shall consist of a regiment of infantry, a squadron of cavalry, and six pieces of artillery.

444. That of a Major General, a regiment of infantry, a squadron of cavalry, and four pieces of artillery.

445. That of a Brigadier General, a regiment of infantry, one company of cavalry, and two pieces of artillery.

446. That of a Colonel, a regiment.

447. That of a Lieutenant Colonel, six companies.

448. That of a Major, four companies.

449. That of a Captain, one company.

450. That of a Subaltern, half a company.

451. The funeral escort shall always be commanded by an officer of the same rank with the deceased, or if none such be present, by one of the next inferior grade.

452. The funeral escort of a non-commissioned staff officer, shall consist of sixteen rank and file, commanded by a Sergeant.

453. That of a Sergeant, of fourteen rank and file, commanded by a Sergeant.

454. That of a Corporal, of twelve rank and file, commanded by a Corporal; and

455. That of a private, of eight rank and file, commanded by a Corporal.

456. The escort will be formed in two ranks, opposite to the quarters or tent of deceased, with shouldered arms and bayonets fixed, the artillery and cavalry on the right of the infantry.

457. On the appearance of the corpse the officer commanding the escort will command, when the honors due to the deceased will be paid by the drums and trumpets. The music will then play an appropriate air, and the coffin will then be taken to the right, where it will be halted. The commander will next order,

Present—ARMS!

1. Shoulder—ARMS! 2. By company, (or platoon,) left wheel.
3. MARCH! 4. Column forward. 5. Guide right. 6. MARCH.

458. The column will be marched, in common time, to appropriate music; and on reaching the grave, will take a direction so as that the guides shall be next to the grave. When the centre of the column is opposite the grave, the commander will order,

1. Column. 2. HALT! 3. Right into line, wheel. 4. MARCH!

The coffin is then brought along the front to the opposite side of the grave, and the commander than orders,

Present—ARMS!

And when the coffin reaches the grave, he adds,

1. Shoulder—ARMS! 2. Order—ARMS! 3. Parade—REST!

459. After the funeral service is performed and the coffin is lowered into the grave, the commander will order,

1. Attention, company! 2. Shoulder—ARMS! 3. Load at will.
4. LOAD!

When three rounds of small arms will be fired by the escort, taking care to elevate the pieces.

460. This being done, the commander will order,

1. By company, (or platoon,) right wheel. 2. MARCH! 3. Column forward. 4. Guide left. 5. Quick MARCH!

The music will not begin to play until the escort is clear of the enclosure.

461. The pall-bearers, six in number, will be selected from the grade of the deceased, or from the grade or grades next above or below it.

462. At the funeral of an officer, as many in commission, of the army, division, brigade, or regiment, according to the rank of the deceased, as can conveniently be spared from other duties, will join in procession in uniform and with side arms. The funeral of a non-commissioned officer or private will be attended in like manner, by the non-commissioned officers or privates of the regiment or company, according to the rank of the deceased, with side arms only.

463. Persons joining in the procession, follow the coffin in the inverse order of their rank.

464. The usual badge of military mourning is a piece of black crape around the left arm, and also upon the sword hilt; and will be worn when in full or in undress.

465. As family mourning, crape will be worn by officers, (when in uniform) only around the left arm.

466. The drums of a funeral escort will be covered with black crape or thin black serge.

467. Funeral honors will be paid to deceased officers, without military rank, according to their assimilated grades.

ARTICLE XXXVIII.

INSPECTIONS OF THE TROOPS.

468. The inspection of troops as a division, regiment, or other body composing a garrison or command, not less than a company, will generally be preceded by a review.

469. There will be certain periodical inspections, to wit:—

1. The commanders of regiments and posts will make an inspection of their commands on the last day of every month.

2. Captains will inspect their companies every Sunday morning; and Lieutenants will inspect their squads every Wednesday morning.

3. Medical officers having charge of hospitals, will also make a thorough inspection of them every Sunday morning.

4. Inspection when troops are mustered for payment.

470. Besides these inspections, frequent visits will be made by the commanding officer, company, and medical officers, during the month, to the men's quarters, the hospital, guard house, &c.

FORM OF INSPECTION.

471. The present example embraces a battalion of infantry. The inspecting officer, and the field officers and staff officers, will be on foot.

472. The battalion being in the order of battle, the Colonel will cause it to break into open column of companies, right in front. He will next order the ranks to be opened, when the color-rank and color-guard, under the direction of the Adjutant, will take post ten paces in front, and the band ten paces in rear of the column.

473. The Colonel seeing the ranks aligned will command,

1. Officers and Sergeants.
2. To the front of your companies.
3. MARCH!

The officers will form themselves in one rank, eight paces, and the non-commissioned officers in one rank, six paces, in advance, along the whole fronts of their respective companies, from right to left, in the order of seniority; the pioneers and music of each company in one rank two paces behind the non-commissioned officers.

474. The Colonel will next command,

1. Field and staff.
2. To the front—MARCH!

The commissioned officers thus designated will form themselves in one rank, six paces in front of the colors, from right to left, in the order of seniority; and the non-commissioned staff, in a similar manner, two paces in rear of the preceding rank. The Colonel seeing the movement executed, will take post on the right of the Lieutenant-Colonel, and wait the approach of the inspecting officer. But such of the field officers as may be superior in rank to the inspector will not take post in front of the battalion.

475. The inspection will commence in front. After inspecting the dress and general appearance of the field, and commissioned staff under arms, the Inspector, accompanied by these officers, will pass down the open column, looking at every rank in front and rear.

476. The Colonel will now command, when the Inspector will proceed to make a minute inspection of the several ranks or divisions, in succession, commencing in front.

1. Order arms. 2. REST!

477. As the Inspector approaches the non-commissioned staff, color-rank, the color-guard and the band, the Adjutant will give the necessary orders for the inspection of arms, boxes and knapsacks. The colors will be planted firm in the ground, to enable the color bearers to display the contents of their knapsacks. The non-commissioned staff may be dismissed as soon as inspected; but the color-rank and color-guard will remain until the colors are to be escorted to the place from which they were taken.

478. As the Inspector successively approaches the companies, the Captains will command,

1. Attention. 2. Company. 3. Inspection of arms.

The inspecting officer will then go through the whole company and minutely inspect the arms, accoutrements, and dress of each soldier. After this is done, the Captain will command, when the ammunition and the boxes will be examined.

Open—BOXES!

479. The Captain will then command,

- | | |
|--------------------------|------------------------------------|
| 1. Shoulder ARMS! | 6. To the rear, open order. |
| 2. Close order. | 7. MARCH! |
| 3. MARCH! | 8. Front rank, about face. |
| 4. Order—ARMS! | 9. Unslung knapsacks. |
| 5. Stack—ARMS! | 10. Open knapsacks. |

480. The Sergeants will face inward and close upon the centre at the 2d and 3d commands, and will stack their arms at the 5th command; at the 6th and 7th commands, they will face outward, and resume their positions. When the ranks are closed, preparatory to take arms, the Sergeants will also close upon the centre, and at the word, take their arms, and resume their places.

481. The knapsacks will be placed at the feet of the men, the flaps from them, with the great coats on the flaps, and the knapsacks leaning on the great coats. In this position the Inspector will examine their contents, or so many of them as he may think necessary, commencing with the non-commissioned officers, the men standing at attention.

482. When the Inspector has passed through the company, the captain will command, when each soldier will repack, and buckle up his knapsack, leaving it on the ground, the number upwards, turned from him, and then stand at rest.

483. The Captain will then command,

1. Attention. 2. Company. 3 Sling—Knapsacks.

At the word sling, each soldier will take his knapsack, holding it by the inner straps, and stand erect; at the last word, he will replace it on his back. The Captain will continue,

- | | |
|-----------------------------------|--------------------------------------|
| 4. Front rank, about face! | 8. Shoulder—ARMS! |
| 5. Close order. | 9. Officers and Sergeants, to |
| 6. MARCH! | your posts. |
| 7. Take—ARMS! | 10. MARCH! | and will cause the company to file off to their tents or quarters except the company that is to re-escort the colors, which will await the further orders of the Colonel.

484. In an extensive column, some of the rearmost companies may, after the inspection of dress, and general appearance be permitted to stack arms, until just before the Inspector approaches them, when they will be directed to take arms and resume their position.

485. The inspection of the troops being ended, the field and staff will next accompany the Inspector to the hospital, magazine, arsenal, quarters, sutler's shop, guard house, and such other places as he may think proper to inspect. The captains and subalterns will precede him in his visits to their companies and sections respectively.

486. The hospital being at all times an object of particular interest, it will be critically and minutely inspected.

487. The men will be formed in the company quarters in front of their respective bunks, and on the entrance of the Inspector the word Attention! will be given by the senior non-commissioned officer present, when the whole will salute with the hand, without uncovering.

488. The Inspector will examine the general arrangement of the interior of the quarters, the bunks, bedding, cooking and table utensils, and such other objects as may present themselves; and afterwards the exterior.

489. The Adjutant will exhibit to the Inspector the regimental books and papers, including those relating to the transactions of the Council of Administrations. The company books, and papers will also be exhibited, the whole together, generally at the Adjutant's office, and in the presence of the officers not otherwise particularly engaged.

490. The inspection of cavalry and artillery will conform to the principles laid down in the foregoing paragraphs, regard being had to the system of instruction for those arms of service respectively.

ARTICLE XL.

FORMS OF PARADE.

500. On all parades of ceremony, such as Reviews, Guard-mounting, at Troop or Retreat parades, instead of the word "Rest," which allows the men to move or change the position of their bodies, the command will be, "PARADE—REST!" At the last word of this command, the soldier will carry the right foot six inches in rear of the left heel, the left knee slightly bent, the body upright upon the right leg; the musket resting against the hollow of the right shoulder, the hands crossed in front, the backs of them outward, and the left hand uppermost. At the word "ATTENTION!" the soldier will resume the correct position at ordered arms. In the positions here indicated, the soldier will remain silent and motionless; and it is particularly enjoined upon all officers to cause the commands above given, on the part of the soldier, to be executed with great briskness and spirit.

501. Officers on all duties under arms, are to have their swords drawn, without waiting for any words of command for that purpose.

"I. DRESS PARADE."

502. There shall be daily at least one dress parade, which may be at troop or retreat, as the commanding officer may direct, or at both beats should he think proper so to order.

The parade at troop will be termed the morning parade, and that at retreat, the evening parade. In either case it will be conducted as follows:

503. A signal will be beat, or sounded, half an hour before troop or retreat, for the music to assemble on the regimental parade. At the same time each company will turn out under arms, on its own parade, for roll-call and inspection by its own officers.

504. Ten minutes after that signal the Adjutant's call will be given, when the companies will be marched, (the band playing) to the regimental parade, where they will be formed in their relative positions in the order of battle, arms ordered and at a rest, the officers at their post on foot with swords drawn, the Adjutant on the right of the line. The music will be formed in two ranks on the right of the Adjutant, and from the Adjutant's call to troop or retreat, the band will play. The senior officer present will take command of the parade, and will take post at a suitable distance in front, opposite the centre, facing the line.

505. Ten minutes after the Adjutant's call, the Adjutant will order the music to beat off, when it will commence on the right, beat in front of the line to the left and back to its place on the right.

506. When the music has ceased, the Adjutant will step two paces to the front, face the line, and command,

I. Attention! 2. Battalion. 3. Shoulder—ARMS! 4. Prepare to open ranks. 5. To the rear, open order!
6. MARCH! 7. Right—DRESS!

At the sixth command, the ranks will be opened according to the system laid down in the Infantry Tactics, the commissioned officers marching to the front, the company officers four paces, field officers six paces, opposite to their positions in the order of battle, where they will halt and dress. The Adjutant seeing the ranks alligned will command, and march along the front to the centre, face to the right, and pass the line of company officers eight or ten paces, where he will come to the right-about and give the word,

Present—ARMS!

when arms will be presented, officers saluting.

507. Seeing this executed, he will face about to the commanding officer, salute, and report, "Sir, the parade is formed." The Adjutant will then, on intimation to that effect, take his station three paces on the left of the commanding officer, one pace retired, passing round his rear.

508. The commanding officer having acknowledged the salute of the line, by touching his hat, will, after the Adjutant has taken his post, draw his sword, and command, and add such exercises as he may think proper, concluding with,

1. Battalion. 2. Shoulder—ARMS!

Order—ARMS!

509. The Adjutant will now pass round the right of the commanding officer, advance upon the line, halt midway between him and the line of company officers and command,

1. First Sergeants, to the front and centre. 2. MARCH!

At the first word they will shoulder arms as Sergeants, march two paces to the front and face inwards. At the second word, they will march to the centre and halt. The Adjutant will then order,

1. Front—FACE! 2. Report.

At the last word, each in succession, beginning on the right, will salute, by bringing the left hand smartly across the breast to the right shoulder, and report the result of the roll-call, previously made on the company parade.

510. The Adjutant again commands,

1. First Sergeants, outward—FACE! 2. To your posts—MARCH!

when they will resume their places and order arms. The Adjutant will now face to the commanding officer, salute, and give the result of the First Sergeant's reports. The commanding officer will next direct the orders to be read, when the Adjutant will face about and announce,

Attention to Orders.

He will then read the orders.

511. The orders having been read, the Adjutant will face to the commanding officer, salute, and report; when, on an intimation from the commander, he will face again to the line and announce,

The Parade is dismissed.

All officers will now return their swords, face inwards, and close on the Adjutant, he having taken position in their line, the field officers on the flanks. The Adjutant gives the word,

1. Front—FACE! 2. Forward—MARCH!

when they will march forward, dressing on the centre, the music playing, and when within six paces of the commander, the Adjutant will give the word, Halt!

The officers will then salute the commanding officer by raising the hand to the cap, and there remain until he shall have communicated to them such instructions as he may have to give, or intimates that the ceremony is finished. As the officers disperse, the First Sergeants will close the ranks of their respective companies, and march them to the company parades, where they will be dismissed, the band continuing to play until the companies clear the regimental parade.

512. All company officers and men will be present at dress parades, unless especially excused, or on some duty incompatible with such attendance.

513. The dress parade being essential to ensure the complete equipment and neatness of the troops, as well as to exhibit them under arms, at least once a day, commanding officers will be held responsible that they are not dispensed with, except on extraordinary and urgent occasions.

II. REVIEW.

514. Preparatory to a review, the Adjutant will cause a camp-color to be placed 80 or 100 paces, or more, according to the length of the line, in front of, and opposite to where, the centre of the battalion will rest, where the reviewing officer is supposed to take his station; and although he may choose to quit that position, still the color is to be considered as the point to which all the movements and formations are relative.

515. The Adjutant will also cause points to be marked, at suitable distances, for the wheelings of the division; so that their right flanks, in marching past, shall only be about four paces from the camp-color, where it is supposed the reviewing officer places himself to receive the salute.

516. The battalion being formed in the order of battle, at shouldered arms, the Colonel will command,

1. Battalion prepare for review!
2. To the rear, open order!
3. MARCH!

At the word MARCH! the field and staff officers dismount; the company officers and the color rank advance four paces in front of the front rank, and place themselves opposite to their respective places, in the order of battle. The staff officers place themselves, according to rank, three paces on the right of the rank of company officers, and one pace from each other; the music advances through the centre and forms in two ranks, (the band in front,) between the colors and the line; the color-guard replace the color-rank; the Sergeant-Major and the Quarter-master-Sergeant take post one pace from each other, and three paces on the right of the front rank of the battalion.

517. When the ranks are aligned, the Colonel will command, and place himself eight paces, and the Lieutenant Colonel and Major will place themselves two paces in front of the rank of company officers, and opposite to their respective places in the order of battle, all facing to the front.

518. When the reviewing officer presents himself before the centre, and is fifty or sixty paces distant, the Colonel will face about, and command, and resume his front. The men present arms, and the officers salute, so as to drop their swords with the last motion of the firelock. The non-commissioned staff salute by bringing the sword to a poise, the hilt resting on the breast, the blade in front of the face, inclining a little outward.

The music will play, and all the drums beat, according to the rank of the reviewing officer. The colors only salute such persons as, from their rank, and by regulation, (see Art. XXXVII,) are entitled to that honor. If the reviewing officer be junior in rank to the commandant of parade, no compliment will be paid to him, but he will be received with arms carried.

519. The reviewing officer having halted, and acknowledged the salute of the line, by touching or raising his cap or hat, the Colonel will face about and command, when the men shoulder their pieces; the officers and non-commissioned staff recover their swords, with the last motion, and the Colonel faces to the front.

520. The reviewing officer will then go towards the right, the whole remaining perfectly steady, without paying any further compliment, while he passes along the front of the battalion, and proceeds round the left flank, and along the rear of the file-closers to the right. While the reviewing officer is going round the battalion, the band will play, and will cease when he has returned to the right flank of the troops.

521. When the reviewing officer turns off to place himself by the camp-color in front, the Colonel will face to the line and command,

1. Close Order. 2. MARCH!

At the first command, the field and company officers will face to the right about, and at the second command, all persons, except the Colonel, will resume their places in the order of battle; the field and staff officers mount.

522. The reviewing officer having taken his position near the camp color, the Colonel will command,

1. By company, right wheel.
2. Quick—MARCH!
3. Pass in review.
4. Column, forward.
5. Guide right.
6. MARCH!

The battalion, in column of company, right in front, will then, in common time, and at shouldered arms, be put in motion; the Colonel four paces in front of the Captain of the leading Company; the Lieutenant Colonel on a line with the leading company; the Major on a line with the rear company; the Adjutant on a line with the second company; the Sergeant Major on a line with the company next preceding the rear,—each six paces from the flank (left) opposite to the reviewing officer; the staff officers in one rank, according to the order of precedence, from the right, four paces in rear of the column; the music preceded by the principal musician, six paces before the Colonel; the pioneers preceded by a Corporal, four paces before the principal musician; and the Quartermaster Sergeant two paces from the side opposite to the guides, and in line with the pioneers.

523. All other officers and non-commissioned officers will march past in the places prescribed for them in the march of an open column. The guides and soldiers will keep their heads steady to the front in passing in review.

524. The color-bearer will remain in ranks while passing and saluting.

525. The music will begin to play just after the leading company has completed the second wheel, taking particular care that they play in the same time, or cadence, as that in which the column is marching, and wheel to the left out of the column, and take a position opposite to, and facing the reviewing officer; and will continue to play until the rear of the column shall have passed him, when it will cease and follow in the rear of the battalion, unless the battalion is to pass in quick time also, in which case it will keep its position. (See paragraph 531.)

526. The officers will salute the reviewing officer when they arrive within six paces of him, and recover their swords when six paces past him. All officers in saluting will cast their eyes towards the reviewing officer.

527. The Colonel, when he has saluted, at the head of the battalion, will place himself near the reviewing officer, and will remain there until the rear has passed, when he will rejoin the battalion.

528. The colors will salute the reviewing officer when within six paces of him, and be raised when they have passed by him an equal distance. The drums will beat a march or ruffle, according to the rank of the reviewing officer, at the same time that the colors salute.

529. When the rear of the column has passed the reviewing officer, the Colonel will command, and the column will be directed, by turning to the left, to the ground which it previously occupied, when the Colonel will command,

1. Battalion. 2. Guide left!

1. Column. 2. Halt. 3. Left, into line, wheel. 4. MARCH!

530. When the line is formed in order of battle, the Colonel will cause the ranks to be opened, the officers taking post in front, and the Review will terminate by the whole saluting, as at the beginning.

531. If, however, instructions have been previously given to march the troops past in quick time also, the Colonel will, instead of halting the column and wheeling it into, line as above directed, give the command,

1. Quick time. 2. MARCH!

At which command, the column will change the time of marching and pass by the reviewing officer, either at shouldered, or at support arms; and no salute will be offered by either officers or men. The music will have kept its position opposite the reviewing officer, and will commence playing at the same time as is directed, when the battalion passes in common time; and as the column approaches, will place itself in front of, and march off with the column, and continue to play, until the battalion is halted on its original ground of formation. The Review will terminate in the same manner as prescribed above.

532. The Colonel will afterwards cause the troops to perform such exercises and manœuvres as the reviewing officer may direct.

533. When two or more battalions are to be reviewed, they will be formed in parade order, with the proper intervals, and will also perform the same movements that are laid down for a single battalion, observing the additional directions that are given for such movements when applied to the line. The Brigadier, and his staff, on foot, will place themselves opposite the centre of the brigade: the Brigadier two paces in front of the rank of Colonels; his Aids two paces on his right, and one retired; and the other brigade staff officers those having the rank of field officers, in the rank, of Lieutenant-Colonels and Majors; and those below that rank in the rank of company officers.

534. In passing in review, a Major General will be four paces in front of the Colonel of the leading battalion of his division; and the Brigadiers will be on the right of the Colonels of the leading battalions of their brigades; staff officers on the left of their Generals.

535. Upon occasions when the line exceeds two battalions, the reviewing officer may, at his option, to save time, cause them to march past in quick time. In such cases the mounted officers only will salute.

536. A number of companies less than a battalion will be reviewed as a battalion, and a single company as if it were with the battalion. In the latter case, the company may pass in column of platoons.

537. If several brigades are to be reviewed together, or in one line, this further difference will be observed; the reviewing personage, joined by the General of the division, on the right of his division, will proceed down the line, parallel to its front, and when near the Brigadiers respectively, will be saluted by their brigades in succession. The music of each, after the prescribed salute, will play while the reviewing personage is in front, or in rear of it, and only then.

538. The battalions will take, in marching, intervals between them of forty paces.

539. In marching in review, with several battalions, in common time, the music of each succeeding battalion will commence to play when the music of the preceding one has ceased, in order to follow its battalion. When marching in quick time, the music will begin to play when the rear company of the preceding battalion has passed the reviewing officer.

540. The reviewing officer or personage will acknowledge the salute, by raising, or taking off his cap, or hat, when the commander of the troops salutes him; and also when the colors pass. The remainder of the time occupied by the passage of the troops he will be covered.

541. The review of Cavalry and Artillery will be conducted on similar principles, and according to the systems of instructions for those arms of service.

III. "GUARD MOUNTING."

542. Camp and garrison guards will be relieved every twenty-four hours. The guards at outposts will ordinarily be relieved in the same manner, but this must depend on their distances from camp, or other circumstances, which may sometimes require their continuing on duty several days. In such cases they must be previously notified to provide themselves accordingly.

543. Thirty minutes before guard mounting, a call will be sounded for the men warned for duty, to turn out on their company parades for inspection by the First Sergeants, superintended by a commissioned officer of each company. Ten minutes after, a second call will be sounded for the duty men to repair to the regimental or garrison, parade conducted by the First Sergeants. Each detachment as it arrives will, under the direction of the Adjutant, take post on the left of the one that preceded it, in open order, arms shouldered, and bayonets fixed; the supernumeraries five paces in the rear of the men of their respective companies. If the guards are intended for the grand parade, they will take post in the order prescribed above, under the direction of the general staff officers, or his assistant, the Adjutant of the day.

544. The following regulations respecting mounting guards, are drawn up, with reference to the grand parade; with a few obvious variations, they will equally apply to regimental or garrison parade.

545. The ranks being opened and aligned, the officers of guards will at the word "front" take post twelve paces in front of the centre, in one line, according to rank, and with swords drawn: the Sergeants in one rank, four paces in the rear of the officers; and the Corporals in one rank, four paces in the rear of the Sergeants; the whole facing to the front.

546. The Adjutant of the day will dress the lines, count the files, verify the details by reference to the written orders, and tell off the guards, whilst the general staff officer appoints the officers and non-commissioned officers to the several guards, and designates the post which they are to occupy.

547. The staff officer will then command,

1. Officers and non-commissioned officers.
2. About—face.
3. Inspect your guards—MARCH!

The commander of each guard then commands,

1. Order arms
2. Inspection of arms.

The two highest in rank of each guard will divide the ranks between them, accompanied by the other officers, and inspect accordingly, during the inspection the band will play.

548. The inspection ended, the officers, and non-commissioned officers will take post in their respective guards, as though each guard were a company of a battalion, in open order, under review; at which time, also, the officers of the day will take post in front of the centre of the guards, the old officer of the day on the right of the new officer of the day, one pace retired.

549. The staff officer will now command,

1. Parade—Rest! 2. Troop—Beat off!

when the music, beginning on the right, will beat down the line in front of the officers of the guards to the left, and back to its place on the right, where it will cease to play.

550. the staff officer continues,

1. Attention! 2. Shoulder—ARMS! 3. Close order—MARCH!

At the word “close order” the officers will face about; at “march,” resume their posts in line. The officers having taken their posts in line, the staff officer will command,

Present—ARMS!

At which he will face to the new officer of the day, salute and report, “Sir, the guards are formed.” The new officer of the day, after acknowledging the salute, will give the necessary instructions to the staff officer, who will cause the same to be executed, the staff officer giving the word of command. But if the staff officer should be senior to the officer of the day, he would report without saluting with the sword, and immediately retire. In this case the Adjutant of the day would be instructed to give the orders, in the following paragraph, or the officer of the day would give them himself.

551. The guard having shouldered arms, and performed such exercises as may be required by the officer of the day, the staff officer will again command, when the whole will march past the officer of the day according to the order of review, conducted by the staff officer, marching on the left of the first division; the Adjutant of the day on the left of the last division.

1. By guard (or platoon) right wheel. 2. MARCH! 3. Pass in review. 4. Column forward. 5. Guide right. 6. MARCH!

552. When the column has passed the officer of the day, the guards will break off under their respective commanders, and take the route to the several posts assigned them, the staff officers breaking off at the same time; the music for the parade, which has wheeled out of column, and taken post opposite the officer of the day, will cease, and the old officer of the day salute, and give the old or standing orders to the new officer of the day. The supernumeraries, at the same time, will be marched by the First Sergeants to their respective company parades, and dismissed.

553. Guards which are assigned to new posts, will be conducted to, and established in them by the officer of the day, and the staff officer detached from head quarters for the purpose.

554. In bad weather, the ceremony of turning off guards on the usual parades may be dispensed with by the officer of the day, and the inspection be made under shelter. Also, in case of guards which may have to mount in the night, or at the close of the day, after fatiguing marches, the ceremony of turning off may be dispensed with; but never that of inspection.

555. The officer of the day will always be present at guard mounting. No other officer, except a general officer, will interfere with, or give any order on the parade to the staff officer on duty there. The commander of the troops or garrison, though under the rank of General, is of course an exception to this rule.

556. The regiment that furnishes the Adjutant of the day, will also furnish the music for the grand parade.

557. The guards are to move in the greatest order to their respective posts, marching by platoons when the road will permit.

558. The officer of the old guard having his guard paraded, on the approach of the new guard, commands,

Present—ARMS!

559. The new guard will march, in quick time, past the old guard, at shouldered arms, officers saluting, and take post three or four paces on its right, where, being aligned with it, its commander will order,

Present—ARMS!

The two officers will then approach each other, and the relieving officer take his orders from the relieved. Both officers will then return to their respective guards and command,

1. Shoulder—ARMS! 2. Order—ARMS!

560. The officer of the new guard will now direct his Sergeant to make a list of the guard, dividing them into three reliefs, and placing the most steady and experienced at the body of the guard, and at the remote and responsible posts; and will himself proceed to take possession of the guard-house or guard-tent and the articles and prisoners in charge of the guard.

561. During the time of relieving the sentinels, and of calling in the small posts, the commanders of the two guards, will, when near the enemy, visit the avenues leading to the post, the old commander giving to the new all the information he may possess relative to the enemy.

562. The detachments and sentinels from the old guard having come in, it will be marched at shouldered arms along the front of the new guard, in quick time, the new guard standing at presented arms; officers saluting, and the music of both guards beating, except at the outposts, where it is prohibited.

563. On arriving at the camp, or post, the commander will send the detachments composing it under the charge of an officer or non-commissioned officer, to their respective regiments, unless the officer of the day should be present to inspect the old guard, when he will cause the same to be done under their proper officers. Before the men are dismissed, their pieces will be drawn, or discharged at a target, on rejoining their companies, the chiefs of squads will examine the arms, &c., of their men, and cause the whole to be put away in good order.

564. When the old guard has marched off fifty paces, the officer of the new guard will order his men to stack their arms, or place them in the arm-racks.

565. The commander of the guard will then make himself acquainted with all the instructions for his post, visit the sentinels, and question them, the officers and non-commissioned officers, relative to the instructions they may have received from other persons of the old guard.

IV. RELIEVING SENTINELS.

566. Sentinels will be relieved every two hours, unless the state of the weather, or other causes, should make it proper or necessary, that it be done at shorter or longer intervals.

567. The first relief having been designated, and ordered two paces to the front, the Corporal of the new Guard will take charge of it, and go to relieve the sentinels, accompanied by the Corporal of the old guard, who will take command of the old sentinels, when the whole are relieved.

568. If the sentinels are numerous, the Sergeants are to be employed, as well as the Corporals, in relieving them.

569. The relief, with arms at a support, in two ranks, will march by a flank, conducted by the Corporal on the side of the leading front rank man: and the men will be numbered alternately in the front and rear rank, the man on the right of the front rank being No. 1. Should an officer approach, the Corporal will command, carry arms, and resume the support arms when the officer is passed.

570. The sentinels at the guard house, or guard tent, will be the first relieved and left behind, the one most distant will be the next relieved, and the others in succession, as the relief returns to the guard.

571. When a sentinel sees the relief approaching, he will halt and face to it with his arms at a shoulder. At six paces the Corporal will command,

1. Relief. 2. HALT!

when the relief will halt and carry arms. The Corporal will then add, "No. 1," or "No. 2," or "No. 3," according to the number of the post, Arms—PORT!

The two sentinels will, with arms at port, then approach each other, when the old sentinel under the direction of the corporal, and in his hearing, will whisper the instructions to the new sentinel. This done, the two sentinels shoulder arms, and the old sentinel will pass, in quick time, to his place, in rear of the relief. The corporal will then command,

1. Relief. 2. Support—Arms! 3. Forward. 4. March!

and the relief proceeds in the same manner, until the whole are relieved.

572. A relief is always to be marched in the greatest order and the Corporals will be answerable that the sentinels, when relieving, perform their motions with spirit and exactness.

V. RECEPTION OF THE OFFICER OF THE DAY BY THE GUARD.

573. When the sentry before the Guard perceives the officer of the day approach, he will call, "Turn out the guard, officer of the day;" when the guard will be paraded, and salute him with presented arms.

574. When the officer of the day approaches the sentry, before the guard, at night, the latter will challenge, "Who comes there;" and the first will answer, "Officer of the day." The sentinel will reply, "Halt; turn out the guard; officer of the day!" The guard will be paraded, and the commander of it will direct the Sergeant to advance, who will say, "Advance officer of the day, with the countersign." The officer of the day will give the countersign, when the Sergeant, turning to the officer of the guard, says, "The countersign is right." The officer of the guard will then say, "Advance, officer of the day." He may also demand the parole if he thinks necessary. The guard will stand at shouldered arms.

575. The officer of the day will examine the guard; see that they are vigilant; that none are absent; and that their arms and accoutrements are in order; that the officers and non-commissioned officers are acquainted with their duty; and that the sentinels are properly posted, and have received proper orders.

VI. GRAND ROUNDS.

576. The officer of the day, wishing to make his rounds, will direct an escort of a non-commissioned officer and two men to accompany him.

577. When the rounds are challenged by a sentinel, the Sergeant will answer, "Grand-rounds!" and the sentinel will reply, "Halt, grand-rounds." Advance, Sergeant, with the countersign!" Upon which, the Sergeant advances and gives the countersign. The sentinel will then cry, "Advance, rounds!" and stand at a shoulder until they have passed.

578. When the sentinel before the guard challenges, and is answered "Grand-rounds," he will reply, "Halt, grand-rounds!" Turn out the guard; grand-rounds!" Upon which the guard will turn out, and be drawn up in good order, at shouldered arms, the officers taking their posts. The officer commanding the guard will then order a Sergeant and two men to advance towards the rounds, and challenge. When within ten paces, the Sergeant will halt, and challenge briskly. The Sergeant of the grand-rounds will answer, "Grand-rounds!" The Sergeant of the guard replies, "Stand, Grand-rounds!" "Advance Sergeant with the countersign!" The Sergeant of the rounds advances alone, and having given the countersign returns to his round. The Sergeant of the guard calls to his officer, "The Countersign is right!" on which the officer of the guard calls, "Advance, rounds." The officer of the rounds then advances alone; the guard standing at shouldered arms. The officer of the rounds passes along the front of the guard immediately to the officer, who keeps his post on the right, and gives him the parole. He then examines the guard, orders back his escort, and, demanding a new one, proceeds in the same manner to other guards.

579. All material instructions given to a sentinel on post by persons entitled to make grand-rounds, ought to be promptly notified to the commander of the guard.

580. All General officers, as well as the commander of the post or garrison, may visit the guards, and go the grand-rounds, and be received in the same manner as prescribed for the officer of the day.

ARTICLE XLI.

OFFICER OF THE DAY.

622. As soon as the new guard has been marched off, the officer of the day will repair to the quarters of the commanding officer, and report himself, and receive such further instructions as may be necessary.

623. The officer of the day must see that the officer of the guard is furnished with the parole and countersign before retreat.

624. The officer of the day will visit the guards frequently during the day, at such times as he may deem necessary; and will also make his rounds, when he visits the guard at night, which must be done after 12 o'clock.

625. Upon being relieved, the officer of the day will make such remarks, in the report of the officer of the guard, as circumstances require, and present the same at head quarters.

OFFICER OF THE GUARD.

626. It is the duty of officers on all guards to inspect all reliefs of sentinels, both when they go on, and come off their posts; to call the rolls frequently, and by every means in their power, to keep the men under their command in the most perfect state of vigilance and preparation. They will be responsible for the security of the prisoners, and property committed to their charge; it will be their duty to suppress all riots and disorders, and in case of fire to give the alarm, and be instrumental in extinguishing it. They are also watchfully to superintend the conduct of the non-commissioned officers, taking care that they are correct in the performance of their duty: that they maintain a proper authority, and prevent every species of irregularity among the men. They must particularly ascertain that the Corporals themselves are well informed with respect to the orders they are to deliver to the several sentinels, whom they must frequently visit, to be assured that they know their duty, and have received the proper instructions.

627. Officers commanding guards, when going to visit their sentinels, are to mention their intention, and the probable time of their absence, to the next officer in command.

628. The officers are to remain constantly at their guards, except while visiting their sentinels; nor are they to enter any house or place of public amusement.

629. Neither officers nor soldiers are, on any account, to take off their clothing or accoutrements while they are on guard, but are always to be in their uniform, fully equipped for the service.

630. The officer who mounts the camp guard, must give orders to the sentinels not to suffer any person to pass in or out of camp, except by one of the guards; nor then, till the officer of the guard has examined him.

631. The officer of the guard must see that the countersign is duly communicated to the sentinels a little before twilight.

632. In case one of the guard desert, the officer of the guard must immediately change the countersign, and send notice thereof to the officer of the day, who is to communicate the same to the other guards, and to head-quarters.

634. The officer of the guard will send to the officer of the day at guard mounting, by a non-commissioned officer, a report of his tour of service, according to the following form; a copy of which will be left with the officer who relieves him:

DUTIES OF SENTINELS.

636. Sentinels will not allow themselves to be relieved, except by an officer or non-commissioned officer of their guard or party; nor will they receive orders from any other than such persons, or the commanding officer, or the officer of the day; which orders will be immediately notified to the commander of the guard, by the officer giving them.

637. Orders or instructions to sentinels, will be given in the most distinct manner, and they will be held strictly accountable that all rules or regulations depending upon their vigilance and attention be punctually observed, or that breaches of them be immediately reported.

638. Sentinels must take the greatest care not to be surprised. They must keep themselves on the alert, observing every thing that takes place within sight and hearing, and will habitually walk their posts briskly to and fro. They will carry their arms at support, or on either shoulder, but will never quit them, or bring them to an order. In wet weather, if there be no sentry box, they will secure arms.

639. For a sentinel to quit his post without leave, is one of the most serious military offences. It is also forbidden to sentinels to hold conversation with any person, when not necessary for the proper discharge of their duty.

640. During the day sentinels on the outposts must stop every party of men whether armed or not, until they have been examined by the officer of the guard.

641. A sentinel placed over the colors or arms, must suffer no person to touch them, except by order of some officer, or a non-commissioned officer of the guard. If placed over a magazine or arsenal, or over supplies of any kind, he will call for the "Corporal of the Guard," if any person under the rank of officer wishes to enter or touch them. Placed over prisoners, he must suffer no person except an officer, or a non-commissioned officer of his guard, to converse with them; nor must he permit the prisoners to leave their place of confinement.

642. In case of disorder, a sentinel must call out, "the guard,” and if a fire take place, he must cry “fire!” adding the number of his post. If in either case the danger be great he must discharge his firelock before calling out.

643. It is the duty of sentinels to repeat all calls made from posts more distant from the main body of the guard than their own, and no sentinel will be posted so distant as not to be heard by the guard, either directly or through other sentinels.

644. Sentinels will present arms to general and field officers, to the officer of the day, and to the commanding officer of the post. To all other officers they will carry arms.

645. When a sentinel in his sentry box sees an officer approaching, he will stand at attention, and as the officer passes, will salute him, by bringing the left hand briskly to the musket, as high as the right shoulder.

646. The sentinel at the guard house, or guard-tent, when he sees any body of troops, or an officer entitled to compliment approach must call,—“turn out the guard!”

647. Though the regulations dispense with guards turning out as a matter of compliment after sunset, yet sentinels will, when officers in uniform approach their posts, pay them proper attention, by facing to their proper front, and standing steady shouldered arms. This will be observed until the evening is so far advanced, that the sentinels begin challenging.

648. Immediately after receiving the countersign, and until veille, sentinels must challenge all who approach them. They must not suffer any person to advance nearer than the point of their bayonet, until they have received the countersign, placing themselves in the position of “arms port” for that purpose.

649. A sentinel in challenging will call out,—“who comes there?” If answered—“friend with the countersign,” and he be instructed to pass persons with the countersign, he will reply, “advance friend with the countersign!” If answered “friends!” he will reply—“halt friends, advance one with the countersign!” If answered—“relief,” “patrol” or “grand rounds!” he will reply—halt! advance sergeant (or corporal) with the countersign!” and satisfy himself the party is what it represents itself to be. If he have no authority to pass persons with the coun-tersign, if the wrong countersign be given, or if persons have not the countersign, he will cause them to stand and call—" Corporal of the guard!"

650. All persons of whatever rank in the service are required to observe the greatest respect towards sentinels ; and no officer or other person shall make use of any opprobrious terms towards a soldier on his post, or attempt to maltreat him, in any manner, under pain of being punished for a breach of discipline.

ARTICLE LV.

ORDERS.

902. Orders are either general or special. General orders, issued from the Head Quarters of the army, are styled General orders ; from other head quarters, they are simply styled Orders. They are the orders of the day, and are published as circumstances may render it necessary. They announce the orderly hours at head quarters ; the times and places of the distributions of supplies ; the time and order of march ; the hours of the different beats and signals, of guard mounting, and the assembling of detachments ; the regulations of police ; the strength and composition of guards, and the periods of their relief ; the number and grades of Orderlies, the acts of Congress, and the regulations of the War Department, which have reference to the troops, and with which they ought to be made acquainted ; the appointing of General Courts Martial, Courts of Inquiry, Boards of officers, and their sentences and opinions ; the commendations or animadversions which the conduct of the troops may elicit, as well as exhortations suitable to particular occasions ; and in general every occurrence proper to be communicated to the troops, or others interested.

903. Special orders are such orders as do not relate to the service in general. They have reference to particular objects and individuals only. They need not, therefore, be published to the whole army, or to the whole command of the officer who issues them. Besides the particular individual to whom such orders may be sent direct, they are to be communicated as a matter of course to Colonels, or other commanders whom they interest.

* * * * *

907. The parole, and countersign, or watchword, are issued from the head quarters of the highest in command. They are in the nature of orders, but are neither general nor special.

908. The head of the order will indicate the source from which it emanates, as well as the place, and date, and the foot of the order will cite the name of the commander who gives the order.

EXTRACT FROM O'BRIEN ON COURTS MARTIAL.

ON BREACHES OF ARREST.

“The breach of arrest described in the article, has always been held as a very heinous crime and been severely punished. It is looked upon as a violation of honor, pledged either expressly, or tacitly, by the accused party. It is considered that his arrest is one on honor and that he is freed from the pain of imprisonment, only because his word is understood to be given that he will conform to the restraint imposed. The offence is deemed similar to that of a prisoner of war who violates his parole. The breach of arrest may consist either in transgressing the limits prescribed or in violating the particular conditions implied or expressly stipulated in the arrest.”

The first part of the book is devoted to a general history of the United States from its discovery by Columbus in 1492 to the present time. It covers the early years of settlement, the struggle for independence, the formation of the Constitution, and the various wars and conflicts that have shaped the nation's history. The author provides a detailed account of the political, social, and economic developments that have taken place over the centuries.

The second part of the book is a collection of essays and documents that provide a more in-depth look at specific aspects of American history. These include the role of the individual states, the influence of the Supreme Court, and the impact of the Civil War. The author also discusses the role of the press and the media in shaping public opinion and the course of events. The book is a comprehensive and authoritative work that is essential reading for anyone interested in the history of the United States.
