BODY OF COUNTESS IS FOUND IN TRAIN

Dramatic History of Russian Woman Revived by Her Tragic End

St. Petersburg, Aug. 15.—The Countess Tarnovska, who in 1910 was convicted in Venice of complicity in the murder of Count Kamarowsky, and sentenced to eight years' imprisonment, was found dead on a St. Petersburg-Kiev express train to-day. She had been hanged. The police are investigating to determine whether it is a case of suicide or murder. The countess was pardoned last year.

The Countess Marie Tarnovska, a beautiful Russian woman, was charged and found guilty of having persuaded a jealous youth, Nikolas Kaumoff, to go to Venice from Vienna and kill Count Kamarowsky in order that she might obtain $100,000 life insurance, the policy for which Kamarowsky had taken out in her name.

It was charged that the countess had a mania for making men love her and then turning them against one another. It was testified that she had repeatedly embraced Count Kamarowsky in the presence of young Naumoff, and had shown Naumoff forged love letters in order to arouse his jealousy.

The court also found Naumoff guilty, but mentally unbalanced, and sentenced him to three years' imprisonment.

AUTOMOBILE DRIVER KILLED BY LIGHTNING

Women and Baby Uninjured While Two Men Suddenly Struck in Moving Car.

Cripple Creek, Col., Aug. 15.—With its driver killed by a bolt of lightning, an automobile bearing two women, a baby and another dead man plunged unguided down a steep embankment on a road north of Cripple Creek yesterday, and hurtled over the side of a hill. Neither of the women nor the baby was seriously injured.

H. W. Lyle, of this city, and Oscar Avery, Wichita Falls, Texas, the men in the party, were instantly killed, while they and their wives and the baby were returning from a picnic party near here.

Shocked by the horror of the tragedy neither of the women was able to leave her seat in the rear of the machine, even after they observed that the automobile was plunging wildly and were carried down the embankment in the speeding car.

FORTY-TWO THOUSAND OFFERED FOR CLAIM

Returning Stampeders Tell of Favorable Finds at Shushanna Diggings.

Cordova, Alaska, Aug. 15.—Returning stampeders on Saturday night's train are practically unanimous in favorable expressions of the future possibilities of the new diggings, presenting a glowing contrast to the crowd which returned yesterday. Numerous letters dated August 10, written from various creeks, have been received saying that the gold continues to be taken from several claims.

Gus Stejovach, formerly a miner of Fairbanks and Iditarod, returned to take two horses and supplies to a partner, who located 200 Bonanza, which shows 15 to 20 cents to the pan. He was present at James cabin when a Dawsonite offered Carl Witham $42,000 for claim No. 1 above Discovery. It was refused because Witham took out 16 ounces in 16 hours, shoveling himself.

GUNBOAT SIGNALS FOR HELP DURING TYPHOON

Hongkong, Aug. 15.—A typhoon which raged here yesterday attained a velocity of 105 miles an hour, and when it was at its height caused the gunboat Wilmington attached to the third division of the United States Asiatic fleet to fire distress signals. A tug towed the warship to shelter.

When the typhoon had moderated the British destroyer Otter steamed out of the harbor in search of the pleasure yacht Tru, which had on board the officers of the British receiving ship Tamar. The officers were safely landed by the destroyer.

A number of small boats in the harbor foundered.

SOCIALIST ATTEMPTS TO ASSASSINATE OFFICIAL

Vienna, Aug. 15.—An attempt to assassinate Baron Skerles, the new royal commissioner of Croatia, was made at Agram to-day by Stefan Drejejo, who claims Socialist affiliations. The commissioner escaped with a flesh wound in the arm.

Drejejo said he returned to Agram from America in October last with the intention of attempting the life of Baron Cuvaj D'Ivanska, the retiring royal commissioner.

SAND RISES DOLLAR BECAUSE OF CONTROL

Vancouver Builders Look Elsewhere Than Spanish Bank for Their Material

Vancouver, Aug. 15.—As a direct result of their control of the Spanish sandbank by W. J. Pascoe and his associates of the Silica Sand & Gravel Company, the price of building sand to contractors of Vancouver will be increased $1 a load.

The firms which have been drawing their supply of building sand from the Spanish banks, Champion & White, T. G. McBride & Company, and the Ritchie Supply Company, have suspended operations on the Spanish bank and will dredge no more sand until the legal difficulties are out of the way.

"While we believe we have a perfect legal right to continue to take sand from the Spanish banks, we have decided that it would be foolish to spend our money in litigation, and we shall, therefore, await the decision of the action brought by the attorney-general of the province to cancel the lease to the Silica Company," said one of the builders' supply men. "It is no use throwing money away and subjecting ourselves to possible legal penalties, so we have agreed that the best thing to do is to suspend work altogether in this line of our business."

"The result is bound to be an increase of $1 in the price of building sand at once, owing to the limitation of the supply. So far as we know, Mr. Pascoe has not yet secured any plant, and the consequence is that the contractors of Vancouver will have to look elsewhere for their sand. We have done our best to protect the public interests, but we cannot afford to enter upon what may be endless litigation, and the public will suffer accordingly."

His death is believed to have been directly due to worry over the condition of his mother, 71 years old, and residing in St. Thomas, Canada, whom Parish was informed in a telegram received by him on Saturday night, had fallen and received injuries that might prove serious.

Parish was born in St. Thomas, Ont., in 1859.

OH, THAT WATER PROBLEM!

Tranquility is an intangible thing and very hard to attain. It eludes collections of individuals just as adroitly as it dodges individuals. Now take the water question. Mostly everybody thought that the matter had been disposed of for quite a number of years when the Sooke lake scheme was adopted.

ETHICS OF THE CASE.

It is a somewhat dangerous matter to discuss the ethics of anything in these latter days when mankind seems to get on pretty well without them. But it seems absolutely necessary to answer in kind a correspondent who attempts to justify the actions of the strikers at Nanaimo, Ladysmith and South Wellington, by comparing their provocation with that of the sand-rotters in San Francisco.

Not under any circumstances. The world has travelled a long way since the time when human life was looked upon as something to be lightly regarded, when lives were taken recklessly for differences in religious or political opinion.

Our friend suggests that the riots might do good if they but help to banish into the limbo of politicians forgotten those who administer, or rather mal-administer, the affairs of this province. But why use a sledge hammer to kill a mouse? Those who are watching at all closely the trend of affairs in British Columbia to-day are well aware that the McBride government is hastening to its inevitable doom as swiftly as the old earth revolves on her axis.

Yet we riot that something far deeper underlies the actions of the miners in the strike-ridden zone. We are aware that in many cases the men believe they have been subjected to unbearable wrong. Also they have been in want. They have, many of them, seen their children go hungry, and perhaps barefoot.

But we must reiterate again, as we have done many times already, that the shedding of blood over a difference of opinion is unpardonable. A state of anarchy never yet and never will do a country, province or community any good; and because of this all fair-minded men must sympathize with the somewhat drastic action of ordering the militia to quell the disturbance once for all.

China is a big country, and big things move very slowly. Therefore it is not surprising when Dr. Sun Yat Sen tells the world that he will fight out the present struggle between Northern and Southern China, between constitutionalism and dictatorship, for ten years if need be.

Chief of Police Handley of Oak Bay denies that he used the language ascribed to him by a correspondent whose letter appeared in Saturday's Times. People who know the chief will unreservedly accept his disclaimer.

What Mexico really needs, says the Boston Transcript, is a dictator who can dictate. What British Columbia needs is a premier who can stay at home when he is wanted.

It was a dangerous experiment for our contemporary to tell the public the proper way to run a newspaper. It will now have to live up to the Utopian methods it has outlined.

There is a brief description of a morning lesson as witnessed almost within sight of London. The mother has tempted all her brood, which looks almost as small and brown as bunnies, into a bush, where they are sufficiently highly "iced" for the venture.

There has been considerable agitation for many years, especially among the younger generation of university students, for a larger measure of home rule for India. Great Britain is in this respect faced with the same problem with which she is met in Egypt.

Austin Chamberlain has been telling everybody that the present British government is tottering to its fall. To quote the prophet of dire disaster, its "hands are running out." Not before, we venture to think, some of those splendid reforms which will ever be associated with the Asquith government have been carried to completion.

Germany has now fought shy of an exhibit in the Panama Exposition at San Francisco. Queer how a nation which will spend a thousand millions for war purposes refuses to let go one cent in the cause of peace.

One of our correspondents is, we fear, too sanguine. He says the trouble in the coal fields will result in a supply of fuel for the winter. We hope our friend is right, but indications are that he is wrong.

Governor Sulzer, accused of appropriating election funds to his private use, says the woman did it. The old story, ever new. But in this case the woman admits it.

It is a brief description of a morning lesson as witnessed almost within sight of London. The mother has tempted all her brood, which looks almost as small and brown as bunnies, into a bush, where they are sufficiently highly "iced" for the venture.

He could not give any satisfactory explanation of himself and when asked where his room was took the constable to a house on Fisguard street where a game of pi-gow was in progress. When asked again where his room was he said he had none. The witness said he had known the prisoner for some months and did not know him to do any work. He slept in vacant lots in the daytime and at night prowled around. When arrested he had in his pockets five cents, a razor, a knife, a pair of scissors and a nail with the end bent in such a way that it could be used to pick locks. The accused was sent to jail for three months, after declining to speak.

FOXY RICHARD KAUFMAN LETS BEES DOWN WITH BUT ONE LONELY HIT

Outfielder Crum, Tiger Twirler's Greatest Enemy Got That; Kantlehner Won First Game; Second Game Played in Record Time

Tacoma, Aug. 18.—Tacoma and Victoria split even in a double-header yesterday, the visitors winning the first 7 to 4, and the Tigers the last 1 to 0. Kaufman, pitching for Tacoma, was the feature of the day. After McGinnity had been knocked out of the box in the first game Kaufman took up the burden and was sailing along nicely until he fanned Crum, of Victoria. Crum disliked to be struck out, and in the ensuing argument both were removed from the game.

PREPARE FOR 1916 GAMES.

London, Aug. 18.—An appeal for $500,000 with which to provide adequately for the British team that is to be sent to the Olympic games in Berlin in 1916 has just been issued. It is signed by Earl Grey, Lord Haris, aide-camp to King George; Lord Roberts, Lord Rothschild, Lord Strathcona and the Duke of Westminster.

governs the provincial premier's stand. Chinamen do the washing for the department of militia in Victoria. There are the three large laundries in this city employing all white people and they are strongly opposed to the employment of Asiatic labor on railway construction, mine work, etc., including laundries.

It was with the most patriotic ideas that these laundries approached the chief forces of the Conservative organization here and notified them that it was best thing for the country that government work should be given to Chinese. They pointed out that the washing from Rod Hill and Work Point barracks amounted to about a thousand dollars a year and that it was very bad form to let this money go to others than white men, Chinamen not having votes.

The association took up the matter at the barracks but was informed that so far as the officer here were concerned it was a mere matter of the economical administration of the district. They had no instructions from Col. the Hon. Sam Hughes, minister of militia, that they were not to send their laundry to Chinese, and the white laundries wanted more money.

The problem left on the hands of the party leaders is a knotty one. The white laundrymen must be appeased in the party's local interests. The Dominion government is by no means concerned about the yellow peril. Sir Richard McBride shouts mightily about the evils of employing Asiatics but is afraid to sacrifice his chances of preferment at the hands of the Borden government by quarrelling with Ottawa about such a paltry matter. Besides, Col. Hughes is not a man to whom suggestions can be made respecting the running of his department. For the present year, of course, nothing can be done. The work is let by contract for the year. Between now and January, however, the directors of the Conservative party have a considerable period of time to find such a remedy for the situation as will not cause a clash between Ottawa and Victoria, but which will appease the white laundrymen.

The hair grows considerably faster during summer than during winter.

THE POINT OF VIEW. There is a good story told of the early nineteenth-century "Assemblies" at Edinburgh. When the expensive Correll with his orchestra was engaged to play at them the funds at the disposal of the committee would not permit it to give supper as well as the fine dance music. The attitude of some towards this policy was voiced by one of the French emigres in the Edinburgh of those days: "A piece of turkie," said he, "for a hungree belle is moach superior to Correll." Some joys may be bought too dear.—Mr. J. Stephen in the New Witness.

Schlitz in Brown Bottles does not have that disagreeable taste so often found in beer in light bottles. We reprint below an extract from an opinion rendered by another famous scientist:

"Bottles of strong glass should be selected. They should never be of colorless glass, inasmuch as through the influence of light the beer will not only take on a disagreeable odor and taste, but will also become turbid." (Lintner.)

Extract from Die Molk and Bierbrauerei, Published by E. Leyer, Director of the Brewing Academy in Augsburg, Tenth Edition, Stuttgart, 1900, page 600.

This is one of the authorities quoted by Dr. Robert Wahl, President of the Wahl-Henius Institute of Fermentology, to corroborate his own opinion.

EASTERN CANADIAN LETTER

BY B. B. COOKE

Toronto, Aug. 15.—Eastern Canada has not yet made up its mind about the present tendency in women's fashions. Toronto is frankly scandalized. Montreal has not yet decided what to think. Ottawa, with an anxious eye on both of them, timidly attempts to follow fashion, while in the Far East—Halifax and St. John and Moncton bite their lips in disapproval. The commercial traveller and the salesman are, however, two very able educationists and are bringing every pressure to bear, all their cunning in salesmanship to persuade the eastern woman to wear designs which are common in the less conservative west. The slashed skirt and the gay petticoat were sold to the shops west of the great lakes long before the first orders were placed by the eastern ready-made clothiers—this according to the wholesalers here. Dressmakers in the East have been advising their clients that women have no places in these cities where they may display finery. There are no public meeting places for the fashionable, no Rotten Row or Covent Garden foyers. Dinner parties and semi-private dances are the only opportunities afforded the fair sex for showing and seeing elaborate toilettes. Of the two, the husbands of Toronto come in for the worst blame, as being narrow-minded and domineering in matters which do not concern them. The husbands have as yet made no defence.

Rumors Disproved.
Disturbing rumors have the past few months been creeping out of the big grey stone castle where the C. P. R. lives in Montreal. These rumors have been, on their face, inconsistent and unlikely, but a certain glib use of the names of the chiefs of the road have helped to sustain them. It has been said that "the C. P. R. is very blue. Sir Thomas Shaughnessy is pessimistic about the future. Appropriations are being cut 'own right and left. C. P. R. is uneasy," etc. These rumors have not appeared in the newspapers, but have been circulated from man to man all through St. James street and in the lounge rooms of the Windsor and the Ritz-Carlton. Recently the source of these rumors was found to be an under-official whose resignation was already in the hands of the road and who had been taking a petty revenge before his term of office expired. Fortunately Canada's large business interests are not exposed to the alarms and whims of a speculating public, such as one sees in Wall Street. The rise and fall of Canadian securities is not so largely determined by hopes and fears of speculators. The inner knowledge of affairs possessed by the big Canadian banks and the possible ill-effects of the rumors, otherwise some harm might have been done. C. P. R. officials have not taken the rumors seriously, but have intimated quietly and confidently that the management is not pessimistic, has not lost faith in Canada and does not foresee hard times for Canada. They admit that in a few departments expenditures have been kept down, but this is merely a piece of good business practice in the face of the world-wide money stringency. In questions of capital expenditure, such as the double-tracking of the road and the building of the tunnel at Rogers' Pass, the policy of the big corporation is unchanged. Such work is being prepared for and carried out with the same confidence that has inspired the management in the past. "Canada going to have hard times!" exclaimed Sir Thomas Shaughnessy recently. "C. P. R. afraid of the future! What nonsense!"

The Oxford Accent.
A curious discussion is taking place in Eastern Canadian educational circles. It is less a discussion than a veiled hostility between two factions among the professors and the lecturers in the University of Toronto, and the extent, in McGill and Queen's also. On the one hand there is the Oxford element, and on the other hand the Canadian element. The influence of Oxford in the University of Toronto has increased enormously in the past three or four years. History, for instance, instead of being taught in the old lecture-room style, is now being taught under the "group system" and this is the case in other departments. It is alleged by the lecturers and professors who have had only Canadian or Canadian-American education, that the Oxford men are squeezing out the Canadian, imprinting Oxford ideals to the exclusion of the more democratic Canadian and American ideals; are ignoring American history and its obvious lessons for Canada, and are directing the attention of the young Canadian to obscure periods in Greek and Roman history, instead of to that kind of history which has a direct bearing on Canada's present day problems. The claim is put forward that the Oxford men, having often lived in independent means of their own, and having a very frugal standard of living, are able to live on the small salaries offered by the eastern universities, while the Canadian, who has not independent means and who lives perhaps a little better than the Oxonian, is forced to take employment in the United States. Feeling is very bitter on the part of the Canadian men. They say they want to stay in Canada, but cannot meet the competition of the Oxford men.

On the other hand the Oxford scholars say very little, but by a certain aloofness of bearing and reticence give the impression that they know what they know and do not intend to pay any attention to the matter. A few of these men have been writing articles for English publications, criticizing Canada's students and the general attitude on educational matters in a manner which leads the Canadian critics to say an effort is being made to force Oxford methods and ideals upon Canadian institutions of learning. Some of the Canadians are men who have taken post-graduate courses in Harvard, Yale, Princeton and other well known American Universities. They say the tendency is to exclude anything American and that a Canadian who aims to take post-graduate work had better try for Oxford—if he can afford it—or be driven out of his country into American institutions of learning. The matter has as yet not been officially discussed by the presidents of the universities, but it is likely to come up at any time.

Quebec's Progressiveness.
The old province of Quebec which has been regarded by Ontario as being old-fashioned and almost retrograde in its recent history, is surprising investigators by the signs of sturdy growth and real development which it has been showing recently. The roads throughout the province are being systematically improved. Old stone and wooden bridges are being replaced by steel and concrete structures. Modern building materials are being used for the inhabitants' new home, and modern farming implements are being introduced right and left. Quebec has been gaining a heavy lead on Ontario in dairy products and is doing more to hold the place Canada achieved in the British market than Ontario, which is daily losing orders to New Zealand butter and cheese shippers. Ontario's home consumption has much to do with the falling off in her exports of dairy products, but Quebec, in spite of a growing home market, keeps up her export trade as well. The increase in the number of immigrants going to Quebec for the year ending June 30, was over 60 per cent over the previous year, that is to say, 31,000 entered Quebec in the twelve months ending June 30, 1913, as against about 19,000 in 1911-1912. Of the number received in the last year 650 were English-speaking farm and domestic servants. The greater proportion of the others were foreigners who settled in the vicinity of Lake St. John and along the line of the G. T. P. in Quebec.

The Geologists.
Eastern Canada has been deeply interested in the fact that the fifth International Congress of Geologists chose Canada as a meeting place. It is regarded as being not only a compliment but a stroke of good business for the country. There are over five hundred delegates. They represent thirty-seven nations and speak a great variety of languages. Practically every business man in either a writer or a teacher attends upon returning home. Canada will in this way receive a great deal of the best kind of advertising. Not all of the geologists will cross Canada. Some will go no farther west than Toronto, but some of the most prominent are going through to the plains, where they will study the sedimentary deposits which make such fine wheat-growing land today, and thence to British Columbia to study the great geological formations there. Some of the party will go from Vancouver and Victoria, on to Alaska and the Yukon. Everywhere they have gone special efforts have been made to show them the greatest courtesies.

Society Brand Clothes

Briefly, the facts of this sale are these:
We moved recently into a fine new store near our old stand a few doors from the junction of Yates and Douglas Streets.

We had been doing an excellent business, our aim being to attract the more fastidious of the men and young men of Victoria.

To this end we eliminated all of the cheaper grades of stock usually carried in men's clothing and furnishing stores. Our stock was carefully selected, cost $30,000 and was high-class right through.

Then came a day when we realized that, no matter what our hopes and ambitions were, we would have to throw up our hands. That knowledge hurt but the facts required facing.

After debating ways and means we decided that our best plan would be to tell the public frankly our situation, cut prices on everything in the store, and sell out from stem to gudgeon as soon as possible.

We have met with encouraging success thus far and, if the public continues to assist us this way, we shall not lose quite as much as we had figured. For which we are deeply thankful.

MEN: Our Great Quit-Business Sale is in Full Swing

The good-sized crowds that kept the store lively Friday and Saturday indicate that our friends and the public generally are willing to give us a helping hand, particularly when, in so doing, they are helping themselves handsomely.

Almost every man, young and old alike, has a real need or two in clothing or furnishings. Perhaps you, reader, could do with another good suit, an overcoat, a raincoat for the imminent rainy season, some half-hose, a hat, a shirt or so, some collars, neckwear, a suit or two of underclothes. Perhaps, though, you have deferred the purchase until the need is more pressing. Well, here is an opportunity that is well worth taking advantage of, an opportunity to get the things you need at a very great deal less than you would gladly pay for them otherwise. And, in benefiting yourself, you benefit us, who need your patronage keenly. There is a deep satisfaction in the knowledge that one has driven a good bargain. The patrons of this sale will drive good bargains, every one.

Sales differ widely. Some merchants hold a sale to unload on their patrons old goods that could not be moved by other means. It is not uncommon for a merchant to bring in considerable poor quality goods especially for a sale, with the idea of getting rid of it in the rush.

We do not want to be guilty of harping too much on one key, but we do want to emphasize the fact that this sale of ours is a real clean-sweep, no-reserve, go-the-limit sale of our regular stock just as it stands, with no additions and no subtractions, and with prices on every line cut as low as we hope we will have to cut them.

If you have needs in our line, won't you help yourselves and help us by coming to this sale of ours? You will never have a chance to come to another. This is our exit.

Some Steam in These Values:

This is only another sample grist of price-cuts picked at random from the various lines. There are still good assortments of shades, patterns, styles and sizes. Come early and get full benefit.

FIRST THING

The first important step toward placing the ministers of nonconformist sects on a legal equality with the clergy of the established Church of England was taken seventy-seven years ago, when the Dissenters' Marriage Act was passed. By this law dissenters required the right of solemnizing marriages at their own chapels. Marriages without religious ceremony, by registrar's certificate, were also legalized by this act. It was not until 1830, however, that an act was passed by which the ministers of dissenters gained the right to officiate at funerals in churches. In Scotland the acts prohibiting marriages by Roman Catholic priests, or other clergymen not belonging to the Church of Scotland, were repealed in 1834. The beginning of dissent in England was in the reign of Edward VI, soon after the establishment of the Anglican church. The two parties were designated conformists and nonconformists, and the latter were also called Puritans. The legal toleration of dissenters dates from the revolution of 1688, but they long labored under disabilities of various kinds.

REFUGEES HERE FROM MINES NEEDING HELP

One Hundred Are Being Cared for by Provincial Police; Did Not Trust Troops to Protect

It is believed by the provincial police that all the refugees who are coming from the strike area are now here. Thirty came in on the evening train on Saturday and six more on the noon and evening trains yesterday.

The provincial police here, where Chief Constable Cox is in charge, provided for the immediate needs of the people by securing them accommodation in hotels, where they will have board and lodging at the expense of the province until it is safe for them to return home.

Those of the refugees who were seen this morning said that while the presence of the soldiers in Ladysmith and at the mines was keeping the strikers here and at Toiyoka, and resumes the orders given them by the men to get out. They made no appeal to the soldiers for protection but got out, believing that as the strikers threatened them even with the soldiers there it was just likely that some harm would happen to them or their families if they did not obey the orders.

There is nothing obtrusive about the presence of the soldiers, and the authority which Colonel Hall is exercising is being used with all discretion. This is reflected in the almost friendly way in which they are being treated by the crowds in the streets.

The engineers have constructed drains and made the camp thoroughly sanitary. A main has been laid in with city water, and the drains will be connected with the city sewers.

Several of the men who took part in the disturbances have quietly got out of town since the rumor got about that the warrants were ready to be executed, not desiring to take any chances on being among the men to be arrested.

taken in the new little country, which has evolved from the ancient Japan, for educating the daughters as well as the sons in a manner befitting the general progress of that Oriental country. "It is a wonderful little country," says Miss Juniper; "a land of glorious color and artistic touches. Certainly I have had an excellent time, but it is due to good luck rather than to good management. But the English and Scotch people in Yokohama and Kobe have been exceedingly good to me. I have motored and seen the country, and have had meals in the European homes. The life the European lives here seems very luxurious in some ways compared to ours. Last week I went to Tokio. Friends sent up one of their staff, a Japanese University man who spoke English, and through their kindness I spent some hours at the Japan Woman's University at Tokio, the only one in Japan. Summer sessions were on. The students live in houses on the grounds. One Japanese teacher who spoke English took me over a house where twenty-five boarders, two servants only are kept. The students all do a share of the work. Besides the sciences, languages and literature, they also do a certain amount of gardening and household science work. I saw the finish of a cookery class, at its completion the students, all adults, standing round whilst the teacher talked, and taking notes. One day they do European cookery, and the next native cookery. Unfortunately the teacher did not speak English.

"Then they invited me to taste, and how they laughed at my manipulation of the chop-sticks! I laughed with them. They gave me little cakes which I am bringing back with me to Victoria. All the dishes were so dainty, served in individual portions, and, as with everything else here, the dainty artistic touch of color was much in evidence. Raw fish did not appeal to my taste, but tiny pieces of stuffed cucumber were tasty, novel, and pretty. They use vegetable colors freely in their cookery. The appetizer to work at long sink sinks with water and gas running down the centre. But we could teach them much in the way of equipment and cleanliness of utensils. The pots and pans are all of copper. They certainly have the art of putting up dainty lunches at the Japanese hotels in most wonderful little boxes, with bamboo knife and fork," says the writer in another place, while her last reference to Japan speaks of the delightful sea-bathing at one of the suburbs at Kobe.

Miss Juniper is taking the trans-Siberian route to England, and intends visiting the Royal School of Household Science and Art at Potsdam on route also.

BLAMES GOVERNMENT FOR THE STRIKE

Parker Williams, M. P. P., Says Department of Mines Has Failed in Duty

OUTBREAK FORCED BY FREQUENT PROVOCATION

Miners Would Rather Have Militia as Police Than Special Constables

Resolutions condemning the sending of the militia to the strike zone, and commending the crew of the steamer Princess Patricia for going on strike and refusing to assist in transporting the troops to Nanaimo were passed at the mass meeting held by the labor men of the city at the Empress theatre last evening. Every seat in the theatre was occupied and many who wished to gain admission had to be turned from the doors.

Government's Responsibility.
Parker Williams, M. P. P., who was the chief speaker, strongly condemned the department of mines under Sir Richard McBride and the attorney-general's department for breaches of the law, which, he said, must make them responsible for the present trouble. The premier and attorney-general had refused to discharge the functions of government, which were clearly to protect the coal miners in the performance of their occupation. In order to protect the workers, gas committees had been appointed by the men, and in consequence of the recommendations of two men, Mottishaw and another, in a mine at Ladysmith, about a year ago, at the termination of their work on the particular section upon which they were engaged, they had been discharged. One of them had turned up at Cumberland and had secured work from a sub-contractor, but upon the colliery company hearing of it, he had to be discharged. The Cumberland men had failed to secure his reinstatement and they then had gone on strike—that was months ago. The government had not only refused an inquiry and investigation but had broken the coal mine regulations by allowing the examining board to be packed, the speaker declared. As they all knew men must have certificates, and the department of mines had deliberately allowed the law to be evaded by the removal of the old competent board, the appointment of two superintendents of mines and a man elected by the Chinese miners. The result was that incompetent workmen were engaged at Cumberland. This was the situation so far as it applied to the mines controlled by the Canadian Collieries, Limited, the speaker said.

Sympathetic Strike.
In May the Nanaimo collieries had come out in a sympathetic strike, recognizing that if the safety of the mines was to continue the gas committee's membership must be protected. Mr. Williams commented next on the class of men "pumped" into Cumberland as special constables, stating that they were men whose record the government did not know and did not care about, the only anxiety being to carry a little brief favor with the mine owners. The officials had refused to say if the specials were not many of them from jail within recent months. The bulk of them were utterly unfitted and were backed up by sub-variant magistrates, he declared.

Next the speaker came to the conditions which had led up to the rioting at Ladysmith, from whence it had spread to the other parts of the zone. A week ago Saturday four of the strike-breakers, birds of passage, following in the wake of the strike, had brutally assaulted a striker and a friend, and yet the police had only arrested one man. A remand was secured at the police court on the following Monday, the public mind being greatly incensed by the refusal to seize the other offenders. On the same day an old man who had spoken to some Vancouver arrivals, about the strike, had requested them not to go to work, had been arrested by order of the mine superintendent on a charge of intimidation. It was not surprising that the crowd broke loose, he said. While they committed acts which he did not justify, he claimed that they were driven to desperation by the provocation they had received.

The "Foreigners' Pica."
The two governments had refused to compel the mine owners to explain their case, and to meet the situation by arbitration, he declared. Much had been made during the strike of the allegation that the men were organized from the American side, but as a matter of fact the movement for a general strike in the mines was entirely a local one. On the other hand nothing had been said about the American capital behind the operating companies, or of the nationality of their chief opponent in the management of the mines, Mr. Coulson, of the Canadian Collieries, Ltd. While the capital was always international, this was particularly the case with the Vancouver Island coal-fields.

If the miners had to make their choice between the militia and Mr. Bowser's police, they would certainly choose the former.

Other Speakers.
T. Docherty spoke for the miners of Ladysmith, and told a rather different story from that which has already appeared. He sought to show that the provocation for the disturbance was clearly defined. The wisest heads among them had got control of the situation and were policing the town when the mob had broken out again, and attempted to clear the non-unionists out of town. The strikers had been subjected to every taunt and insult in the last few weeks, so it was not surprising that trouble had come.

The chairman, Christian Sivertz, president of the British Columbia Federation of Labor, in his opening address said that the winning of this strike by the strike-breakers, aided by the militia, would result in the same position, which had obtained in the Fraser river. There the militia had been called to Steveston a few years ago to suppress the white fishermen, and now the business had passed to the Japanese.
A. Watchman, vice-president of the federation; F. J. Perrott, president of the Trades and Labor Council, and George Turner, also spoke. A collection was made for the defence of J. J. Taylor, of Ladysmith, a vice-president of the federation, who is in jail.
