DOUKHOBORS BURN SCHOOL TO MAKE GOOD THEIR THREAT

Building at Brilliant, B. C., Reduced to Ashes

Nelson, B.C., June 4.—When S. Vreschagin, of Brilliant, who is in charge of Doukhorobor schools, wrote to Hon. J. D. MacLean, Minister of Education, "I cannot guarantee that the schools will not be burned," he was a prophet.

The letter was published Saturday morning by The Daily News, and Saturday night the Doukhorobor school at Brilliant was reduced to ashes.

Another school at Outlook, less than a mile from Grand Forks, was burnt on about March 29 by a Doukhorobor, Sam Cherenkov, who is to be tried at the Vernon assizes, and it was burned down May 23.

"The Government is prepared to rebuild the school and charge the entire cost to the colony," said Hon. J. D. MacLean, Minister of Education, to The Times to-day.

Torrential rains in areas of prairie provinces

Rain has been general in almost all sections of the southern half of the province.

GROWING DEMAND FOR ISLAND TIMBER

Necessity of Rail Connection With Ogden Point Docks Emphasized

When Sir Henry Thornton, president of the Canadian National Railways, was here some time ago he recommended that the docks at Ogden Point be connected by rail with the lines of this island, and stated that once this was accomplished the amount of timber which would be handled through this port would make such an enterprise entirely profitable.

SOVIET MAKES OFFER TO BRITISH ON LEGATIONS

Stockholm, June 4.—A Moscow dispatch to the Tidningen says Georges Tchitcherin, the Soviet Foreign Minister, has telegraphed Leonid Krassin, who is representing the Russian Government in London, that Russia, in order to bring about a solution of the Russo-British dispute, is ready to reduce the personnel of its legations in Afghanistan, Persia and Khiva, Russian Turkestan, and consult the British Government in the selection of their successors.

ROBBER GANG MET FUSILLADE AT BANK

Montana Yeggs Were Given Surprise in Manyberries, Alberta

Police on Their Trail, But No Captives Made

Manyberries, Alta., June 4.—Met with a fusillade of shots fired by the bank staff, two local policemen and two men from police headquarters, bandits from Montana were foiled in an attempt to rob the local branch of the Canadian Bank of Commerce Saturday night. It is believed the driver of the bandit car was wounded, but the yeggs escaped in a powerful automobile and disappeared from view of the police posse that followed.

Inspector Gavin, of the Alberta Provincial Police, with a heavily armed posse, went on the trail of the desperadoes, but no captures have been made.

This giant underwater craft, soon to be launched at Chatham, will displace 2,780 tons and 3,600 tons when submerged. This displacement is greater by more than 1,000 tons than that of any United States or German submarine afloat.

The X-1 will mount a twelve-inch gun. She will be able to bombard an object at long range and then slip quickly beneath the waves.

MORE RAIN IS NEEDED FOR ONTARIO

That Which Fell Not Enough to Quench Forest Fires

New Fires in Some Parts of Quebec Province

Port Arthur, Ont., June 4 (Canadian Press)—Very little change in the fire situation in this district is reported. In fact, new fires of a more or less serious nature have been reported, one of large dimensions being reported from Eagle River on the Ignace subdivision of the Canadian Pacific Railway, and another at McDougall Mills, near Sioux Lookout, on the Grand Trunk Pacific. A third has been located at a point northwest of Dog Lake, about forty miles from this city.

Forest experts say the situation is still of a menacing nature, and what rain fell on Saturday and Sunday was not sufficient to quench the fires.

A heavy thunder storm and rain passed over Armstrong, on the Grand Trunk, yesterday afternoon. In the Port Arthur district rain fell for about fifteen minutes during a mild thunderstorm, but the rain had no effect, and the city is still under a rain smog.

White River, Ont., on the Canadian Pacific east, is now out of danger. Rain fell steadily all yesterday.

According to Canadian Pacific reports, rain was general from Nipigon to White River.

Along C. N. R. Reports from Hornepayne indicate there is a tendency today for the fires to burn themselves out. News of the burning of settlers' homes on the Canadian National has not been confirmed. Small fires are burning around Long Lac, where the construction of the Canadian National cut off is under way.

The general opinion of the forest experts is that the situation will be extremely dangerous for the next few days unless rain comes. There is every hope that the dry spell will not continue, more than another sixty-six inches of rain.

The first heavy rain last year was on June 6.

Quebec, June 4.—Numerous forest fires are spreading today from various points of the Province, many of them having originated in Ontario, New Brunswick, or the United States, and spreading across the border notwithstanding the joint efforts of the Forest Fire Protective Association.

In Lake St. John, Chicoutimi and Charlevoix counties the fires are spreading rapidly from the townships of Bezin, Riviere Au Gouffre and Wanamans.

Flood Conditions Easing, But New Rains Are Menace

Railway and Highway Losses Declared Heavy

Lethbridge, June 4.—Flood conditions in Southern Alberta are considerably improved this morning, though the menace still remains, due to the fact that it is raining heavily again in the Crow's Nest Pass region. One-third of an inch fell at Lethbridge during the night, the rain being general all over Southern Alberta.

FIVE THOUSAND MOOSE COMING

Eighty Western Lodges Sending Delegates and Bands to Convention Here

Lieut.-Governor and Mayor to Open Proceedings Thursday Morning

Eighty lodges and chapters of Moose, represented by over 5,000 delegates, will take part in the annual sessions of the Northwest Moose Association to be held here for three days this week, commencing on Thursday.

Moose lodges and chapters of the ladies of Mooseheart Legion from four states, Washington, Oregon, Montana and Idaho, will join the British Columbian brethren in important proceedings, and the closing of the convention will take place in the Chamber of Commerce Auditorium, with two sessions daily on Thursday and Friday, and the closing of proceedings on Saturday morning.

The ladies have had the Knights of Pythias Building on North Park Street placed at their disposal, and will commence business at 10 o'clock on Thursday morning.

Already the advance guard of this great host is arriving, early automobiles parties touring the island and Victoria district, while awaiting the arrival of the main body of delegates.

This gathering will be the eighth Northwest Convention of the Moose, and the largest yet organized. The delegates will be formally welcomed by Lieut. Governor Walter G. Nichol on Thursday morning at the Chamber of Commerce Auditorium, his greeting being supported by Mayor Hayward, President Walter G. Nichol and the city to the delegates.

Two of the officials of the Northwest Moose Association, B. J. Weeks, of Tacoma, a stockbroker, and his father, H. J. Weeks, of Vancouver, Secretary, will arrive to-morrow to complete arrangements with the members of the local Moose body for the convention sessions. Large numbers are expected to arrive via the Vancouver and Port Angeles boats, the Princess Charlotte has been chartered to convey over 1,000 delegates from Seattle on Thursday morning, while many motorists are expected to come to the city.

GERMANS OFFER TO ALLIES THIS WEEK

Proposal of Fixed Number of Yearly Payments Expected

Guarantees Secured By Legislation Included in Plan

Berlin, June 4.—No date has yet been fixed for the official dispatch of Germany's mandatory reparations note to the Entente Powers. At Government headquarters it is announced the Cabinet has not reached its final deliberations on this subject.

It is generally assumed the note will be ready about the middle of this week and that its cardinal feature will consist of a definite offer of a fixed number of annuities, for which tangible guarantees secured by stringent legislation will be presented.

Informal conferences between the Government and the industrialists, agrarians, banking and commercial interests, labor federations and Reichstag leaders have been taking place for the last weeks. Up to the present they have largely resolved themselves into a protracted change of views on the guarantees to be offered. Paralleling the semi-official parleys are negotiations between the industrial leaders and labor officials who are mutually striving to neutralize some of the more marked differences which have arisen from the publication of the industrialists' memorandum to Chancellor Cuno and Labor's reply to this.

Fall of Mark. The financial writers are led far afield in their contemplation of the catastrophic slump of the mark and its possible effect on any reparations programme. The nation's floating debt, budgetary chaos, unending currency inflation and the devastating effect of the Ruhr occupation are freely cited as some of the more obvious storm signals.

The experts seem to concur in declaring that a moratorium is inevitable, as Germany must be given time to adjust her affairs, as she must be enabled to reorganize a logical foundation for her pyramid of reparations annuities.

BOY WITH MATCHES CAUSES DEATHS

Fire Loss in Canaan, N. H., Is Put at $500,000

Forty-Mile Wind Carried the Flames Across Village

Canaan, N.H., June 4.—The fire which wiped out 200 buildings in this village Saturday, causing two deaths and a property loss of $500,000, was started by a four-year-old boy playing with matches in a barn, according to the theory accepted by the authorities to-day.

The boy said he accidentally set fire to a pile of hay. The barn was in flames shortly after the boy and his companions had run out, and a forty-mile wind swept the fire the entire length of the village.

Wide open spaces strewn with charred and blackened debris, skittered by a few houses and buildings which escaped the fire, to-day remained of what was Saturday morning a thriving and prosperous community.

More than 200 persons made homeless by the conflagration were quartered temporarily in houses still standing and in neighboring towns, while relief organizations rushed supplies of food and clothing to those in want.

Those who lost their lives were S. B. Gilman, a stockbroker, and his father, H. J. Gilman, aged eighty. William Foxhall, principal of the High School, was dangerously burned in attempting to save the latter.

No Stores Left. Of the business section of the town, nothing remains. The Boston and Maine Railroad line from Montreal to Boston cuts the devastated section in two with the greater part of the burned section to the west. Workmen rebuilt the track late Saturday and traffic was resumed after a five-hour stop. In place of a station, a temporary platform has been erected.

SENATE EXPECTED TO APPROVE BILL

Measure Restricting B. C. Liquor Importations to Come Up June 12

Ottawa Dispatch Mentions Possibility of Amendment

Vancouver, June 4.—A special dispatch to The Vancouver World from Ottawa says: "The British Columbia Liquor Bill will come up promptly after the Senate resumes on June 12."

Attorney-General Manson's explanation has gone far to clear the air and the prevailing belief is that the bill will pass. With one or two exceptions all the Liberals are for it and a number of Conservatives, including Sir George Foster, although the British Columbia Conservative Senators are maintaining a bitter opposition.

It is possible the bill will be amended somewhat as some Senators do not like the exception of brewers and distillers.

ANTI-JAPANESE BOYCOTT IN CHINA

Result of Japan's Refusal to Abrogate 1915 Treaty

Mobs Wreck Japanese Residences in Chang Sha, Honan

Shanghai, June 4.—Mobs of students and other advocates of the Japanese boycott which is sweeping several districts of China have wrecked Japanese residences and places of business at Chang Sha, Province of Honan. The Japanese consular staff was forced to take refuge aboard the Japanese gunboat Fushimi.

The present anti-Japanese wave in China is the outgrowth of a movement to boycott all things Japanese in retaliation for Japan's recent refusal to abrogate the Treaty of 1915 with China, which includes the famous Twenty-One Demands.

NOTABLE VISITORS LAND FROM EMPRESS

Marquis of Sligo and Marchioness here; Will Stay at Government House

George Ulick Brown, F.S.A., F.Z.S., F.R.G.S., sixth Marquis of Sligo, and the Marchioness of Sligo were passengers on board the C.P.S.S. Empress of Asia, arriving to-day from the Orient.

The distinguished visitors were met at the boat by H. J. S. Muskett and taken to Government House as the guests of Lieutenant-Governor Walter C. Nichol and Mrs. Nichol.

To the Times this morning the Marquis of Sligo intimated that he was anticipating with pleasure his first trip through Canada from coast to coast. Pleasure bent, the party have toured the British West Indies and the Orient for the past several months, and are now winding up the conclusion of a world tour. Events were so disquieting in Ireland, laughingly admitted His Lordship to-day, that he had expected to receive a wire stating that his home there had been burned down. No such wire, however, was received.

The party will break their trip by a short stay in this city before going East over Canadian lines.

SPECTACULAR RAID MADE BY POLICE ON LIQUOR RUNNERS

Four Boats Held and Two Men Under Arrest When Posse Raids Discovery Island Group; Police Alleged Cargo Was Being Transhipped When Officers Hove In Sight; Party Surrounded and Taken Without Shot Fired.

One of the largest liquor hauls ever made in B. C. waters was taken on Saturday when a combined posse of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, Provincial Police and Customs' officers surrounded four boats in a sheltered bay near Smugglers' Cove and captured over five and a half truck loads of liquor without firing a shot.

The raid, made at request of the Attorney-General, had been twice postponed; the first time about two weeks ago, when rumor got busy in advance of the time of the projected attack. The raid was timed for 6 o'clock on Saturday evening, but the boats carrying the Crown forces were to leave at four o'clock. Fearing that again the secret might leak out, the leaders of the posse ordered the boats away from their moorings an hour in advance of the time scheduled, and the raid was all over before bootleg row had heard of its inception.

The raiding party descended on a small island half way between Little Chatham Island and Strong Tide Island off Oak Bay, in the Discovery Island group, in two gasoline launches. One launch, the Arc, owned by ex-constable Frank Jones of this city, left from Victoria, and the other, the Winamac, owned by Customs Officer J. A. Bittancourt, left from the other end, converging for the simultaneous raid.

Two members of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police were landed at the rear of the island in question and were prepared for action should the mandate of the customs officers and police not be accepted without argument. Shortly after an American speed boat forged its long grey prow into the bay the Crown forces closed in on the mouth of the bay, blocking the only exit. One boat remained at the mouth of the bay on guard while the other boat carried her party to the little wharf at the head of the inlet where the centre of the action took place.

Easy Prey. Not a shot was fired, not a weapon "pulled," and no one was hurt. The customs officers seized two American craft lying at the wharf, the speed boat "M 718," alleged to be owned by John Schmitt, of Chemainus, and the gasoline launch "K 402," said to be owned by Frank Moody, of Seattle. There was one man on board the speed boat and three on the other launch.

Two Canadian boats were "in port" on the Emma K, more commonly known as the Huk, an alleged supply ship; and the Cicerone, of which Alfred Fuehr is the alleged owner or lessee. Fuehr resides at the island and had a sheltered Canadian fishing vessel were tied up to the Huk, say the police, while at the wharf were the two American craft and the Cicerone.

The history of the raid is given by the operators taking part in the capture to-day follow. After landing Corporal Harvey and Trooper Kruger of the R.C.M.P. on the island, with rifles, the boats crept by a roundabout way to the entrance of the bay. The landing party alleged they saw liquor being hoisted from the Canadian craft. Several Canadian fishing vessels were tied up to the Huk, say the police, while at the wharf were the two American craft and the Cicerone.

Customs Officer Bittancourt, in the Winamac, stopped his craft at the entrance to the bay; while the Ark sped on to the wharf. The Cicerone was loaded to the gunwales with liquor. (Concluded on page 5.)

SEAPLANES TO AID AMUNDSEN'S FLIGHT

Norwegian Expedition Goes to Spitzbergen to Establish Depots

Amundsen to Attempt Polar Flight This Month

Christiana, June 4.—A Norwegian naval vessel with a special expedition aboard has sailed for Spitzbergen to establish a base at Dunes Island, from which aeroplanes will reconnoitre for Roald Amundsen, who is to attempt an aeroplane flight across the North Pole this month.

Five supply depots will be placed along the ice barrier in big airtight copper boxes, to make them proof against attacks by bears. Each box will contain enough provisions for three weeks and a note telling the places where the other depots are located.

Two naval aeroplanes will always be in the air together so as to be able to assist each other. Each will have provisions for a week. A smaller aeroplane will be used for scouting purposes.

The expedition consists of twelve men, including a wireless operator, a physician and some of the most competent naval aviators.

TOTAL SUN ECLIPSE IS TO BE BIG EVENT FOR ASTRONOMERS

Thousands Will Study Phenomenon in Southern California

Los Angeles, Cal., June 4.—When the shadow of the moon ends its diagonal dash across the Pacific September 10 next and strikes inland near Santa Catalina Island near here, pilgrims from all parts of the world will be on hand to watch the first total eclipse of the sun visible in the United States since 1918.

Regarded as the most important astronomical event of the year, the September eclipse will attract thousands of scientific men to Southern California, and preparations have been made to facilitate the work of observers and to accommodate the various scientific organizations which will hold gatherings in this city in connection with the phenomenon.

Periods of Total Eclipse.
While the total phase of the eclipse will be visible from Santa Catalina Island, several expeditions from American and European observatories will await the obscuration at Escondido, Lower California, where the period of totality will last 3 minutes and 35 seconds, as against 2 minutes and 48 seconds at Santa Catalina.

Some of the scientists will photograph stars in the vicinity of the sun in an effort further to substantiate the Einstein theory, according to which light rays, being matter and therefore subject to the pull of gravitation, are deflected from their course by the proximity of a heavenly body.

Other observers will devote their attention to the corona, the golden emanation which extends outward from the sun past the border of the moon in every direction for hundreds of thousands of miles. With the spectroscope they will watch for any chemical elements hitherto undetected in the solar atmosphere.

Another Subject For Study.
Still others will study the red prominences, supposed to be fiery matter projected from the sun's deep interior with enormous velocity and extending through the corona, and which change their form so rapidly that they are never precisely alike at two consecutive observing stations during the same eclipse.

The exact moment when the apparent edge of the moon touches that of the sun will be noted by still another group of astronomers for the purpose of procuring more precise data concerning the orbit of the moon's motion in its swing around the earth.
Probably the largest band of observers, however, will come from that section of the general public which, though not deeply versed or interested in astronomy, periodically displays a feverish desire to occupy ringside seats at the bout between sun and moon.

Thrill of a Lifetime.
Observers of this class will get the thrill of a lifetime according to astronomers, who say that the approach of the lunar shadow, if watched from the high hills of Santa Catalina Island, will be a truly spectacular sight.

Looking northward about 12.50 o'clock on the afternoon of the eclipse, watchers on these hills will see the great dark shadow of the moon, more than a hundred miles in diameter, rushing toward them with incredible rapidity and overwhelming them with an abruptness that is terrifying.

While the total eclipse will not be visible in Los Angeles, nineteenth-twentieths of the sun's disk will be hidden, leaving only a narrow, bright crescent and plunging the city into temporary gloom.

FIVE PERSONS IN AUTO WERE KILLED
Train Struck motor car on Crossing Near Buffalo
Five Were All Members of Same Family

Buffalo, N. Y., June 4.—Five persons were killed and one slightly hurt Saturday afternoon when an Erie train hit an automobile at a grade crossing near Gowanda. The victims were all members of the family of John Smith.

Richard Newcomb, the only occupant of the automobile, to escape alive, said the engine of the machine stalled as it crossed the track. He had time to open the door and jump before the crash, but Smith struck to the wheel and desperately tried to get the machine moving.

"Smith could have escaped," Newcomb said. "He gave his life in an effort to save his family."

RECONSTRUCTION WORK IN FRANCE

Paris, June 4.—(Canadian Press Cable via Reuters).—Remarkable progress is being made in the reconstruction of the devastated areas, as shown by the official figures. Of 741,993 buildings wholly or partly destroyed during the war in the ten devastated departments, 278,834 had been rebuilt, or more than seventy per cent. of the total destroyed.
Of 1,923,479 hectares (about 4,800,000 acres) of devastated fields, 1,598,209 hectares (about 4,240,000 acres) were again under cultivation by January last.
The recovery of industry has also been striking. Of 22,900 factories destroyed, 18,091 have been rebuilt and 4,809 new factories make a total of 19,442. Reconstruction work has been limited to strictly necessary and well-built factories with high chimneys and these may now be seen in the midst of temporary wooden huts which are still accommodating workers.

The roadways in many parts of the late war zone are still mere tracks rendered uneven by shell holes which have been imperfectly filled in with bricks from the ruins. Of the 38,789 miles of roadway that needed remarking, just over half have been made good.
Trains are now running normally throughout the devastated regions. Of the estimated 102,000,000 francs required for reconstruction, France has already advanced 49,000,000,000 and Germany has paid 4,000,000,000.

A clock is the only worker that keeps on working after it has struck.

NEW FEDERATION OF WOMEN'S CLUBS

To Include Women's Liberal Organizations Throughout Canada

Ottawa, June 4.—The National Federation of Women's Liberal Clubs was officially organized at a gathering here Saturday. The federation will include wives and daughters of Liberal Senators and members of Parliament and others interested from coast to coast. Individual clubs will be organized and will be governed by a provincial body, and in turn these will be united under the Dominion organization. A national gathering has been agreed to be held in Ottawa in 1925.

Premier Spoke.
Premier King was the principal speaker and gave a complete and detailed history of Liberalism, paying many high tributes to Sir Wilfrid Laurier. He said every prophecy uttered by Sir Wilfrid had been fulfilled, and he said the Liberal party was the party of the future and explained what it stood for. The Conservatives believed in starting at the top and working down, he said. The Liberal mind, however, believed in starting at the bottom and working up to the high places in human society. The National Federation of Women's Liberal Clubs, in their organization, had started in the Liberal way, first locally and expanding from this to Dominion status. Mr. King declared Canada was constituted on this principle of recognition of local and provincial autonomy.

Reciprocity.
Referring to Sir Wilfrid Laurier's efforts for reciprocity, he said: "We see changes that have taken place in the United States tariff that never would have taken place if reciprocity had been in force. We see the farmer of the West suffering to-day for markets as they would not be suffering had reciprocity been accepted."
Mr. King went back over the period from 1887 to 1911. He said that in those days Canada had free land to attract immigrants and to build railways, but this was now gone.

"Canada will never be as happy, never as prosperous again as it was in that time and that period never will be forgotten—the golden era of this country," he said.
"What is needed in the national life of Canada is more in the way of interpretation and less in the way of criticism," he concluded.

BEER AND WINE ON C. N. R. TRAINS

Montreal, June 3.—Beer and wine may be obtained now on Canadian National trains between Montreal and Quebec. A license has been issued by the Quebec Liquor Commission permitting such sale. This is a departure from the policy of the National Railways, the administration of which has previously taken out a license for such purposes. With the change of headquarters from Toronto to Montreal, there has been an entire change of view.
Under the license, the drinks may only be supplied with meals.
Now that the National Railways have changed their policy in respect to the sale of beer and wine, The Montreal Gazette foreshadows that it may not be long before the new policy is extended to the Government Merchant Marine.

EX-PREMIER BRIAND DEFENDS COURSE

French Statesman Tells Constituents About Washington Conference

Paris, June 4.—Former Premier Briand, who is conducting a preliminary election visit to his constituency, defended his action at the Washington and Genoa conferences in a speech delivered yesterday in the town of St. Nazaire.

The royalists accused him—said M. Briand, of having ruined France's fleet at the Washington Conference and of sacrificed France's interests at Genoa.
Recalling the general condition under which the Washington Conference was held, "under the noble and generous initiative of President Harding," M. Briand congratulated himself on France's decision to be present at Washington. He considered that France had lost nothing by being included in the Pacific alliance.

Passing to the land disarmament question, the former Premier described his defence of France's right to remain armed. He recalled that he had told the conference that if words guaranteeing France's security were spoken at the conference, he would speak in other terms. As no answer had come, he had claimed for France the right to preserve entire liberty of action.

Navies.
Dealing with the naval accord, M. Briand pointed out that France had decided to cease construction of the Normandie type of battleship in consequence of lessons of the war some time before he went to Washington, and he remarked that those who were blaming him for not having obtained a greater tonnage in warships for France had hitherto made no effort to lay down battleships.

Without the Washington Conference, he added, France's capital ship proportion, compared with that of the great naval powers, would have been one to six, while after the Washington Conference the proportion was one to three.

BANKS IN ATHENS REPORTED RUINED

Dispatch to London Express Says Drachma Suddenly Increased in Value

London, June 4.—The sudden rise in the value of the drachma on Saturday created a financial panic in Athens, according to a dispatch to The Daily Express from the Greek capital. Many important banks, which had nearly all of their funds converted into foreign currency, were ruined. The only bank which did not suffer was the National Bank, which had not converted its funds.
The dispatch adds that the Greek government came to the rescue by issuing 300,000,000 drachmas in bank notes, which partially improved the situation, and the National Bank loaned distressed institutions 350,000,000 drachmas.

According to the dispatch, ten of the richest bankers in Athens have been rendered penniless.
There is no confirmation obtainable here of the report contained in the dispatch to The Daily Express. Other dispatches from Athens make no mention of a financial crisis.

THE POOR FELLOW.

Two Irish women were discussing a railroad accident. One asked the other if any were killed in the terrible crash. She replied, "Sure, 'twinty-sivin' O'Connell was killed, 'twinty-sivin' whereupon Mrs. Dooley, with a long sigh, came back with, "O, the pore feller."—Omaha Office.

HIS MAJESTY'S BIRTHDAY.

On the fifty-eighth anniversary of his birth and in the thirteenth year of his reign His Majesty King George may reflect upon the security of the British Throne and look upon it as an institution that is as solid in foundation as the Parliament with which it is so closely associated.

The last decade has seen many and spectacular changes in the monarchical system of the Old World. Autocratic rulers who cling to the fictitious authority of the Divine right of Kings have either gone into banishment or retain their thrones by permission of new figures who have caught the democratic gait.

George the Fifth reigns over the most progressive democracy the world has ever seen and his subjects would no more dream of removing the House of Windsor than they would approve the importation of the Soviet Government to conduct their business.

The British Sovereign goes amongst his people and understands them. His royal consort wends her way at frequent intervals into the hospitals and among the slums of the East End. They attend numerous functions every month and generally live about as busy a life as anybody in the Empire. In all these more or less obligatory undertakings there is an utter absence of pomp and circumstance. No elaborate precautionary arrangements are required. The assassin's bullet or the anarchistic bomb never enter into the calculations of the Royal pair. Why should they? The primary duty of the police on every public appearance of the King and Queen is not the detection of possible murderers, but the task of keeping an admiring and cheering populace from overwhelming the occupants of the royal coach with obvious good nature.

With this pleasant outlook King George enters upon his fifty-ninth year. Throughout the Empire to-day he would learn something of the goodwill that Britishers manifest towards his Throne and person. That pleasant reflection will mark other birthdays to come.

SOUND ARGUMENT.

From various points adjacent to the two railways on this Island a logging concern brought 500,000 feet of ties to the Outer Wharf the other day. Transportation from the railway termini required expensive trucking and additional handling. But the timber was finally loaded on a Japanese steamer and went its way. The concern in question spent something like $21,000 in the City of Victoria and makes the statement that a vessel can be loaded with lumber at the Outer Wharves at something like $5,000 less than it can be done in Vancouver. These cold facts are highly important to this community and should have some significance to the President and Directors of the Canadian National Railways.

In the first place they demonstrate the need of a link between the street railway tracks in the southwestern end of the city and the spur that is already in existence at the Outer Wharves. If this were undertaken it could be taken for granted that the British Columbia Electric Railway Company would hitch its tracks to the railways at the northern end. This would conform to the idea which the Chamber of Commerce has already placed before the officials of the C. N. R. The case in point emphasizes the desirability of pushing the theme for all it is worth.

In the second place the directors of the Government system should be quick to seize upon business that can be carried on at the Outer Wharves at such a considerably less cost than that involved in similar undertakings at Vancouver. A saving of $5,000 on the loading of one ship is a consideration that advocates itself and should be quickly reflected in an enormous increase in turnover at this port. Here lies the justification for putting the wharves in a position to pay their way.

THE LAST STRAW.

When the Doukhobor is roused to anger or even merely annoyed he has his own peculiar means of informing his own and neighboring communities of his state of mind. It usually takes the form of an individual or massed display in birthday raiment and does not involve anything beyond this disregard for the canons of propriety. Nor was it to be supposed that the veiled threat to burn down the schoolhouses of the Brilliant and Nelson areas would materialize into anything very serious. Dr. MacLean was informed by one of the Doukhobor leaders that the latter could not guarantee that the buildings would not be burned if the Government insisted upon the payment of fines imposed upon members of the colony for breaches of the School Act. It has now transpired that the threat was intended in all seriousness. The Doukhobor school at Brilliant was reduced to ashes on Saturday night.

The situation which has now been created will demand early and careful consideration by the Government. It represents the culmination of organized defiance of the school laws of the Province and should bring swift and adequate penalty in its train. There is not the slightest reason why British Columbia should be told by the Doukhobor what its laws should be or whether they should be obeyed or challenged. The average individual who chooses to ignore them because they may not coincide with his own particular point of view very soon discovers that he can either follow the course of the majority or take the consequences. Where is the argument in favor of dealing less leniently with the Doukhobor because he takes refuge behind the tenets of his sect?

There should be some means of teaching the Doukhobor a convincing lesson in Canadian citizenship. It should be possible to make it quite plain that he can either abide by its requirements or get out of the country. He may be an excellent farmer and quite a useful cog in the machinery of agricultural expansion in those localities wherein he makes his home. But the people of the Province who foot the bill for the building of establishments essential to the welfare of all and sundry have the right to become impatient at such acts as that which is reported from Nelson to-day. The Government will be assured of all the support that is necessary in a policy that will put an end to foolish and costly Doukhobor heroics.

THE CHIEF CONCERN.

Whether the British Empire likes trading with Russia or not one is constrained to agree with Mr. Lloyd George when he points out that the prime concern of the Allied nations should be the Russian people, the people who suffer for the wrongs of those who seem able to impose their will, the people who will ultimately resent that suffering.

This is undoubtedly the attitude that is embodied in the British Government's policy toward the Soviet authorities—a determination to pursue a line of action that will entail no loss of dignity and yet preserve the goodwill of 150,000,000 people who are at present more or less inarticulate, but whose very incapacity to unloosen the grip of those who more or less terrorize them will quicken the sense of gratitude that is after all ingrained in human nature.

Great Britain is not dependent upon Russian business; but it is a fact that there must still be a field for British goods in such a vast country as that whose progress is being halted by an experiment in government that already has been admitted a failure. How much benefit will accrue as a consequence of the course now being taken remains to be seen. But the main point to remember is that the economic structure of Europe must suffer as long as there is that gap which is represented by the commercial inertia of Russia.

ROTARY'S OFFICERS.

Victoria's Rotary Club seems to possess the faculty of selecting officers who understand what service means to its own particular organization and what it means in the broadest sense. Each year the local branch of this international organization has been especially fortunate in its guiding lights. This year's executive is no exception. In Mr. James Adam the Club itself and the service organizations of the city have a public-spirited citizen who understands and practices the community idea. We take it that the Rotary motto is all-embracing. That being the case its officers are called upon to exercise all the gifts which come natural to them and those that are taken on through contact with broad-minded citizenship. Thus in Mr. Adam and his colleagues Rotary has substantial and progressive material.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Mr. Robert Smillie may run as the Labor candidate in the Morpeth division. He will thus have another opportunity to learn how the British electorate takes his views on the nationalization of practically everything.

Captain Raold Amundsen may be hopping off for his trip across the North Pole by aeroplane as these lines are written. His is a dangerous adventure; but if he succeeds the name of Amundsen, already famous, will go down to posterity with lustre of great brilliancy.

It has now been said officially that we require a definite policy of forest protection in this country. Conditions in one part of the Dominion only go to show the danger to which one of our greatest natural assets is exposed as soon as the damper weather has passed.

Some idea of Canada's vastness is illustrated by the headlines of last Saturday's newspapers. In one case there is too much rain and floods are jeopardizing the lives of the people. In the other case the absence of rain is giving forest fires new terror.

OUR CONTEMPORARIES

MAY COME THIS WAY.

Toronto Globe:—The bone-dry ruling of the United States Supreme Court may result in many ocean passenger liners touching at Canadian ports to unload liquor before entering United States waters or to take on supplies for the outbound voyage. Canadians would prefer to see their ports built up on a different kind of business.

WORKS BOTH WAYS.

Regina Leader:—The police authorities of British Columbia are patrolling the border with machine guns mounted on motor cycles to prevent the exportation of liquor to the United States for the Dempsey-Gibbons fight. Similar enterprise on the part of the police authorities in the border states might do something to prevent their handouts from invading Canadian territory and robbing banks.

NO PLACE LIKE HOME.

Prince Rupert News:—Canada has been losing a lot of people lately because she does not take steps to keep them. One of the most important factors in stabilizing population is the encouragement and assisting of home building. In the United States money is available more generally for home establishment than it is in Canada. Banks in the United States advance money on real estate. In Canada it is the practice not to do so. That is one reason why the United States is having so much building to-day and why it is attracting people. People, naturally, feel more inclined to stay with the place where they have a home, paid for or not.

KA-ZU COCKTAILS MAY BE HELD UP BY LIQUOR LAWS

New Holly Cocktain Drink for Industry Here Claimed to Be Powerful

British Columbia's liquor act may be a stumbling block to the plans of Alderman John Harvey and his industries committee to bring in a quantity of Ka-zu and establish a distillery here for the manufacture and bottling of this powerful liquor from holly leaves which grow in such profusion around Victoria, it was learned to-day.

The Attorney-General's Department had the Ka-zu question before it to-day when it was announced that Alderman Harvey's liquor importation would be liable to seizure if it is of the nature described to it in the official documents which the alderman has got from the Ka-zu distillery at Brooklyn, N. Y., even if it technically contains no alcohol, as claimed by its promoters here.

It was explained that this potent liquor is covered by a special clause of the liquor act designed to catch all such concoctions whose effect is due not to alcohol, but other drugs or strange oils such as fuselol or amyli derivatives. The Liquor Act prohibits the sale and dealing in all such intoxicating liquors even if they contain less than 1 per cent alcohol. It also requires that this liquor be sealed, and that heavy Provincial as well as Dominion duties are paid on it. A special permit is required to consume it in public.

It is announced that the Liquor Department that the liquor vendors will this season handle loganberry wine made in the Spanish district, and it was intimated that the liquor authorities might be willing to handle Ka-zu if it is turned out as a wholesome liquor as a result of Alderman Harvey's activities. It was pointed out, however, that establishment of a distillery here, either for whisky or Ka-zu would involve a big outlay. No official test has been made here of Ka-zu, which its promoters describe as "the strong drink of South America, distilled from the Caa Gunzu plant, which for 300 years has provided the social beverage of the rich and the stimulating drink of the working classes." It is a very powerful product, and is being sold in large quantities in prohibition districts where no alcohol is allowed, taking the place of whisky, gin and other alcoholic liquors. It is derived from a pure yeast fermentation.

Alderman Harvey sent 100 pounds of Victoria holly to Brooklyn a couple of weeks ago to have laboratory tests made as to the suitability of the Victoria product for Ka-zu distillation. Results of these tests are now being awaited at the City Hall. The Mayor and alderman have already received word that a shipment of the liquor is coming, and just how this can be brought in here legally is what is puzzling the authorities.

Ka-zu, especially the extra dry brewed, has a much greater "kick" in it than whisky or gin. So great is this "kick" of Ka-zu that only half the amount what would be used of whisky is necessary for cocktails, juleps, high balls and punches. It is also taken straight with soda as a whisky and soda, and is found to be very stimulating. Its manufacture is profitable, and a great money-making industry is anticipated here. Because of its tremendous potency, its bulk is small and shipping costs are low. It is put out in small micky sizes.

The old natives keep alive on it, the German in it, and it displaces beer in their daily life; the Italian settlers in the city or on the farm rapidly acquire the habit; the Spanish immigrant drops his high priced wine and is well satisfied with the non-alcoholic yerba, and even the North European peasant beginning a strange life in this newest of new worlds finds in it the wonderful week," says the official description which Alderman Harvey has received from Stephen M. Hoye, president of the distillery in Brooklyn. "It seems to dispel hunger and it invigorates the body."

NEWS IN BRIEF

Through an error in Saturday's issue the group photograph of the graduates of the Jubilee Hospital was attributed to Howard Chapman instead of to Foxall's Studio.

Saturday's street collection in aid of the Victorian Order of Nurses netted the gratifying sum of $966, with which result the V. O. N. Board is much pleased. They wish to extend their sincere thanks to the many taggers who worked willingly, and to the public for its generous response to the appeal.

Alderman Eugene S. Woodward will address the Kiwanis Club at the regular luncheon to be held to-morrow at the Dominion Hotel, commencing at 12.15 p. m. Industrial Relations will be the subject chosen by the speaker for his address to the club. A sextette arranged by Kiwanian W. Maynard will add to the usual musical programme.

At the kind invitation of Mrs. Dunsmuir, the Florence Nightingale Chapter, I. O. D. E. again arranged for its annual alfresco entertainment in the lovely grounds of Hatley Park on Wednesday, June 13. As this is the only occasion on which the public has an opportunity of viewing the lovely gardens, just now at the height of their Summer beauty, it is expected that there will be a large attendance.

At an executive meeting of the Royal Society of St. George a resolution was passed to the effect that that society was in favor of the decision come to by ex-service and other public organizations of this city regarding the Pensions Board and its treatment of returned men. It was also announced at this meeting that the garden fete which was planned for July 4 in the Precincts, has been postponed until July 11. The proceeds of this entertainment will go towards the establishment of the Cottage Hospital.

M. W. Downes, Entomologist, Dominion Government, will address the Victoria and District Gardeners' Association to-morrow night (Tuesday) at the City Hall at 8 o'clock, on "Insect Pests of Fruit and Flowers." This is an opportunity to gather first hand knowledge, whereby all who are in any way interested in horticulture, will be able to counteract the numerous pests which are so prevalent. It is hoped all members will be present, as the proposed visit to the Experimental Farm will be decided upon.

Divine service was held yesterday morning at the camp of the Sixteenth Canadian Battalion, at Malcauley Point. The battalion was paraded at 10 o'clock by Lieut.-Col. H. M. Uehardt, D.S.O., M.C., and the Chaplain, the Rev. Dr. Campbell, conducted the service. In the evening a regimental band concert was given under the direction of Bandmaster Miller. Another Divine Service will be held here Sunday, to which the public is invited. It is anticipated that band concerts will be held Wednesday evening and Saturday afternoon. Training will begin in earnest to-night.

"The first newspaper printed in Victoria, the Daily Gazette," will furnish the subject of an address to be given by J. Forsyth, Provincial Librarian, before the meeting of the Victoria and Islands branch of the Canadian Authors' Association, in affiliation with the B.C. Historical Society, on Tuesday evening, at 8 o'clock, in the Free Public Library, Andrews' Cathedral, where Mass will be celebrated at 10.30. Mrs. Wolf was born to Esoumat, a French Canadian, and survived by her husband and two children, Irene Clara and Lester, also known as Lester, a French Canadian, of Millstream; Mrs. Edward Anderson of Courtenay; Mrs. George Harper, in Vancouver; Mrs. George A. Taylor, of Victoria; Mrs. E. A. Taylor, of No. 1 Victoria; Mrs. E. S. Mitchell, W. H. Hadley, J. T. Eastick and Allan E. Ford, worshippful members of United Service Lodge, No. 2, A. F. & A. M. The active bearers were: Messrs. D. Caley, W. Caley, W. B. B. Saunders, J. Pearce and F. Eismor.

Service was held Saturday afternoon at the Thomson Funeral Home, 1625 Quadra Street, at 3.30 o'clock, for the late James W. Macdonald, who passed away on Friday morning. The Rev. W. J. Wilson, D. D., of the First Presbyterian Church, officiated, and the hymn sung was "Rock of Ages." The following acted as pallbearers: Messrs. W. J. Sutherland, Frank Calvert, F. D. McNaughton and Angus Polson. The remains were laid to rest in Ross Bay Cemetery.

MRS. MCPHILLIPS TO BE BURIED WEDNESDAY

Was Member of Distinguished Pioneer Family; Wife of Appeal Court Judge

Funeral services for the late Mrs. Emily Sophia McPhillips, wife of Mr. Justice A. E. McPhillips of the Court of Appeal of British Columbia, will take place to-morrow morning at 9 o'clock at St. Andrew's Cathedral. Mrs. McPhillips passed away at 1.45 on Saturday afternoon at the family residence, Cloonmore House, Rockland Avenue, after a long illness, the news of her death being received with sincere regret by a wide circle of friends. Mrs. McPhillips was born in Victoria on February 28, 1877, and came of a distinguished family. She was the eldest daughter of the late Hon. A. E. B. Davie, former Premier of British Columbia, and niece of the late Chief Justice Theodore Davie, former Premier and Attorney-General of this Province. In September, 1896, she was married to Mr. Albert Edward McPhillips, then one of the leading barristers in this city, now a judge of the Court of Appeal of British Columbia.

Before her health began to fail, Mrs. McPhillips took an active part in the social and philanthropic work of the city. ### SPÉCTACULAR RAID MADE BY POLICE ON LIQUOR RUNNERS sacks, allege the police, while a party stood on the jetty talking in groups. A guard was put on the Clecrono and the police proceeded to search the Fuehr shack on a warrant signed by Magistrate Jay. The island also was searched. From the time the police came into the sight of the men on the boats until the time the whole affair was over no violence was threatened or used.

Posse Well Armed.

The Crown forces, however, had been prepared for battle, for every member was armed, and on shore the muzzles of two lean rifles covered the inhabitants of the sheltered cove.

Customs officers seized the American craft, while the police took charge of the Clecrono, the Canadian boat. Four Americans were taken in the raid and held by the immigration authorities overnight, but later were released. The disposition of the seized American craft has not yet been decided.

At the time of making the raid the police had not a warrant for the arrest of Alfred Fuehr, but he was arrested while trying to board the Vancouver boat yesterday afternoon, and the police. Fuehr was booked at the station on a charge of being in possession unlawfully of liquor and refusal to give bail. The arrest of Fuehr, claim the police, came as the result of finding that the cargo on one boat had been broached, they allege.

The Clecrono was towed to Oak Bay by the Ark, and there, from midnight until the early hours of yesterday morning, the wet cargo was being taken ashore. In the neighborhood of five and a half truck-loads of beer and liquor were taken in the raid. Later the Clecrono was taken around to the Causeway boathouse, and the balance of her cargo shifted. The status of the Emma K, alleged supply ship, was concerning the police to-day, and final action has not yet been taken in that connection.

In Possession of Weapon.

Burt Cochrane, who was arrested on board the Emma K, was taken by the police and booked on a charge of being in possession of a weapon unlawfully. He was released on $500 bail.

Both men are Canadians, and will be tried in the Provincial Police Court to-morrow, at 11 o'clock.

Frank Higgins, K. C., appeared for the defendants on evening and obtained bail.

The exact quantity of the liquor seized has not yet been determined, but truck load after truck load was taken to the Jeeves warehouse and later transferred to the Government Liquor Warehouse, the work being completed to-day. All the beer and liquor, say the police, was done up in sacks. The beer was in two dozen to the sack, and the whisky twelve bottles to each sack. It is estimated that 90 barrels of beer and 91 cases of whisky were found on the Clecrono and 255 sacks of beer on the Emma K. There was no liquor on the American craft, admit the police, but one rifle and revolver were found on the Clecrono too, allege the police a rifle and revolver found.

Complete Surprise.

The raid was spectacular in its thoroughness and complete in its result. The element of surprise. Those taking part in the Crown forces in action include Customs Officers Bittencourt, Barton, and the Chief Inspector, Corporals Harvey and Small with Troopers Knight, Kruger and Foster acted for the R. C. M. P.; Constables Owens, for the Provincial Police; Constables Willie and McPhail of the Provincial police joined the Crown forces on Sunday and were in at the finish. The work was arranged by the Chief of Police, and the raid was the combined effort of the three departments named and all shared equally in the honors, said representatives of all three groups to-day.

What action will result against the American boats as a result of the raid, and what charges can be pressed against the Canadian owners is the question agitating boisterous row on both sides of the international boundary line to-day. The answer will be the last part of the question will be heard in the Provincial Police Court to-morrow when Fuehr will face a charge based on the alleged broaching of the cargo shipment of beer and whisky on the Clecrono, a charge of being in unlawful possession of a weapon.

Taken on the M718 and the K402 A. S. Clausen, Olaf Johnson, T. Garard, and a Canadian whose name is not known were released by the immigration authorities yesterday. The boats are held subject to a fine or forfeiture. The fine appraised by the Customs officers against the K402 is understood to be $400 while that against the M718 is in the neighborhood of $800, it is said. The skipper of the speed boat, Schnarr by name, was in the city while the raid was taking place, but left a man on his boat at the island, say the police.

MOTOR PLUNGES DOWN SEA WALL

Magistrate Jay, Learning to Drive, Narrowly Escapes Serious Injury

When his automobile leaped through a railing and plunged down the Ross Bay seawall embankment just before noon yesterday, Magistrate George Jay and his daughter narrowly escaped serious injury.

They were quite unhurt when their car was stopped against a second railing, badly damaged.

Police, who received Mr. Jay's report of the accident, explained to-day that the Magistrate was learning to drive his car, which Miss Jay has usually driven. At the east end of the seawall the car got out of control, swung off the road, tipped the curb, broke through a railing and started down the rocky embankment. Fortunately it did not slide sideways, but dashed down front wheels first until it drew up, stopped by a firm cement wall. If it had started to slide down sideways undoubtedly it would have rolled over and over.

The car was later dragged up the road and driven home under its own power, although it was damaged seriously. The exact extent of the damage had not been estimated to-day.

Mr. Jay said to-day that he had suffered no injury from the accident which, however, was naturally a serious shock to him.

Chief of Police John Fry, who received Mr. Jay's written report of the accident, predicted to-day that the Magistrate, undaunted by his experience, would be out learning to drive again as soon as his car was repaired.

NINETY—NOT OUT

Hon. J. H. Turner to Entertain Vancouver Board of Trade Party

Under the caption "Ninety—Not Out," the Richmond and Twickenham Times (England) contains the following interesting announcement:

"The Hon. J. H. Turner, formerly Premier of the Province of British Columbia, and after a long residence in England, is now in the city of Vancouver, where he is spending a few days. He is a native of Dorset, Surrey, and has done a great deal of work for British Columbia, where he has lived for many years. He loves Richmond, especially his interest. It was mainly through his efforts that the giant flagstaff in the Gardens was brought over from British Columbia, and he took a prominent part in the arrangements in connection therewith.

"It is a tribute to the climate of Richmond that he still enjoys good health. Every day when the weather is fine he goes for a long walk, and knows all the beauty spots in the neighborhood. He is fond of a cigarette and enjoys a little drop of brandy, but believes in moderation all round.

"It is interesting to note that about thirty members of the Vancouver Board of Trade, who are visiting England, are coming to Richmond shortly. They will be entertained to tea at Bingham House, and during their stay will visit of Peterham Church."

ARE ALL SORTS OF BEAUTIFUL LAMPS

are all sorts of beautiful lamps to be had today in the shops. Choose simple bases of pottery, brass or copper, and select shades of mellow Japanese vellum or silk-covered frames that you can make yourself. The vellum seems rather better for two lamps that are to be alike in effect. Two large, colored silk shades are a little overpowering.

Don't be content with these two reading lamps, either. On a small stand or table at another side of the room, place a lamp which may be entirely different from the other two, provided it harmonizes with the room. Or it may be a floor lamp standing near a large comfortable chair where a third member of the family party may read without disturbing the other two occupants of the divan. If the room is very long and spacious, as many living-rooms are nowadays, still a fourth lamp will not be too much. These cases of friends light give such a room a welcoming look that nothing else affords.

PITMAN'S SON WEDS EARL'S DAUGHTER

Lady Pleasance Elizabeth Rous Principal in Interesting Romance

London, June 4.—The romance of an earl's daughter and a pitman's son culminated in wedding bells recently, when Lady Pleasance Elizabeth Rous, daughter of the Earl of Stradbroke, Governor of Victoria, Australia, married Owen McKenna, a wireless operator.

The wedding took place at the oil and iron-mining village of Shotts, Lanarkshire, and the reception was held in the handsome three-story dwelling of the bridegroom's parents.

The marriage was solemnized in St. Patrick's Chapel on Saturday morning by Father McAllister, the bride having been received into the Catholic Church a fortnight ago.

McKenna is twenty-four, the same age as his bride, and has been at sea since he was a boy. He is a native of late he has served on a P. and O. boat in the Far East, and it was while on this boat he met Lady Pleasance, although at the time Mrs. Rous was unaware of her identity.

At this time she was on a voyage from Victoria, of which her father is Governor, to visit relatives in Burma. McKenna came much in contact with the passengers, and fast friendship sprang up between the young couple.

"Very Clever Dressmaker." Before the ship had reached Burma the young officer had proposed and been accepted, but still was unaware that his fiancée was of noble birth.

It is stated that Lady Pleasance's friends in Burma offered opposition to the marriage, with the result that she married Mr. Endon, followed shortly after by her lover.

She came to Shotts, and while passing the statutory period of six months stayed at a house next door to that of McKenna's parents.

The bridesmaid at the wedding was Helen, a pretty sixteen-year-old sister of the bridegroom, and Mr. Thomas Warner, of Shotts, acted as best man. Owen McKenna is the oldest son of Patrick McKenna, a wealthy merchant who described his daughter-in-law as a "nice-looking, artistic, romantic girl and a very clever dressmaker."

The bride wore a gown of pink crepe de Chine, which was composed of pink crepe de Chine.

None of her family attended the wedding, but on Friday, which was her twenty-first birthday, she received a birthday gift from her mother.

ANACORTES FERRY SERVICE WILL BE AUGMENTED JULY 1

Robert Bridges, Rechristened Mount Vernon Will Ply With City of Angeles

The ferry Robert Bridges, which is to be placed in the Anacortes-Sidney service, operated by the Victoria-Anacortes Ferry Company, will be rechristened the Mount Vernon, it was announced today.

Equipped with new engines and rebuilt, the Mount Vernon will be placed on the Anacortes-Sidney run on July 1, announced today. The vessel is being operated by the Victoria-Anacortes Ferry Company, which has been running since May 10. Increasing business in tourist traffic explains the addition of the Mount Vernon to the route.

Built originally by the Port Commission, the Robert Bridges was one of the vessels turned over to the King County commissioners when the port board retired from the ferry business. The Bridges was one of the staunchest wooden vessels ever built on the Sound, but her engine installation was defective, according to experts, and she refused to run. All kinds of experiments were tried with the engine, but they proved unsuccessful.

Semidiesel Engine.
Some time ago the King County board sold her to Roy W. Crosby, one of the owners of the Victoria-Anacortes Ferry Company. Recently she was taken over by the ferry corporation and sent to the Salmon Bay yard of the Ballard Marine Railway Company.

DEFENDER LOADS LUMBER DESTINED UNITED KINGDOM

130,000 Feet of Salvaged Lumber Being Loaded On Here
Has 620 Tons of Cargo for Victoria-From England

The Harrison-Deere freighter Defender, Capt. E. Maycock, docked at Pier 2 last night at 6.30 o'clock. She left Swansea, England, on April 26, with large consignments of iron and steel goods for Victoria. Altogether she has 620 tons of cargo for this port.

Unloading commenced early this morning, and also did the loading of 130,000 feet of lumber, consigned to Liverpool.

The lumber is a portion of the large scowload of lumber that was wrecked off the Oak Bay golf links during the last week of December. The scowload was the Canadian Puget Sound Lumber Company, who were sending the lumber to Genoa Bay to be loaded on one of the lumber ships there. While en route to the lumber port the scow ran foul of the reefs just off Oak Bay, and was later salvaged by the Pacific Salvage Company's vessel, the Salvor.

The lumber has been stored in the Rithets warehouses for the last 12 months. As Victoria's cargo consignment from the Old Country was being unloading, being loaded into another hold.

A Seattle firm bought the lumber after it had been salvaged, and is shipping it to England by the Harrison-Deere. The vessel will proceed to Vancouver immediately she completes discharge and loading here. The captain reported an excellent voyage from England, the only rough weather that he encountered being on his way up the Pacific Coast.

PASSENGER TRAVEL DECREASING ON THE ATLANTIC SEABOARD

Over One Million Dollar Deficit Shown in Report
Unsatisfactory Results Shown First Four Months of 1923

New York, June 4.—The marked decrease in the movement of third-class passengers both east and westbound, due to the United States immigration laws and the unsettled conditions in Europe, is blamed by the International Mercantile Marine company in its annual report to stockholders, made public today, for the relatively poor financial showing last year. With 1922 income estimated, the consolidated report shows a deficit of $1,263,783 in 1922, after interest on the International Mercantile Bonds had been deducted, as against a net profit of $5,797,347 in 1921.

Net earnings, including insurance fund surplus for 1922 after deducting operating and general expenses, taxes and interest on debenture bonds of subsidiary companies, were given as $6,971,130 in 1922 and $14,959,053 in 1921. The sum of $5,984,660 was charged off depreciation last year, as against $6,117,989 the year before.

In addition to the unfavorable passenger situation, the report says, "the freight business has been exceedingly bad, there having been a reduction in the volume of general traffic moving all over the world, but particularly between the United States and the United Kingdom and continent of Europe, and also more active competition, including that of government-owned steamers, with a consequent reduction in freight rates to the point where in many cases the actual cost of loading and discharging cargo was hardly covered."

"It has unfortunately been impossible to materially reduce the cost of operating steamers, due largely to the cost of fuel and the high cost of labor both at sea and ashore."

"We regret exceedingly to inform you that the business of the first four months of 1923 shows even less satisfactory results than for the corresponding period of 1922, due to the continuation of the same conditions as outlined above and a supply of tonnage far in excess of the present requirements of either the passenger or freight business moving."

The collision occurred early yesterday morning and the Graphic was so badly damaged that she had to be grounded off Carrickfergus, on Belfast Lough, nine miles northeast of Belfast. Her passengers and crew took to the small boats, from which they boarded a steamer and a tug for Belfast. In the present position the Graphic is blocking the channel.

The Balsam, with her forepeak filled with water, is anchored in the Lough. Her engine was sent out to sea, but this was deemed inadvisable owing to the damage she had sustained.

Towed To Belfast.
Belfast, June 4.—The United States steamer Balsam, damaged in a collision with the British steamer Graphic off Belfast Lough early yesterday morning, was towed into Belfast last night.

Several passengers and members of the crew of the Canadian Pacific liner Marvale, which sank recently on the coast of Newfoundland, were traveling to Ireland on the Graphic.

MINERAL INDUSTRY IN CHINA REQUIRES DEVELOPMENT

F. W. G. North, Kailan Mining Administration, Tells of Conditions in China

"There is a great industrial future for China," stated F. W. G. North, of the Kailan Mining Administration at Tein Tsun, who sailed by the Empress of Australia for the Orient.

Mr. North's country is in the coal industry and supplies all the chief ports of China and other large cities as far South as Manila with coal. The company's output is 4,000,000 tons a year, but the mines have been extended to such an extent that 6,000,000 tons can be produced when ever it is required.

China is demanding coal in excess of the supply, and as a result the Kailan Coal Mine, which is the only one of any considerable size in China, is working overtime to meet the demand.

Difficulties are encountered in the production of coal in most sections in China owing to the large deposits of shell. Up to this year the shell had been relegated to the dumps, but now experiments are being tried out with the deposits.

Large deposits of iron and copper ore are to be found in many sections of China, Mr. North said, but owing to the unsettled condition of the country development of mineral resources is retarded. Since the revolution it has been a frequent event to have sections of railway, destroyed holding up shipments for a number of days.

There is untold wealth in the vast areas of interior China. The only mining done being by natives who dig for coal, sufficient for domestic purposes, from pits. These are really surface mines.

GRANT'S MASCOT IS ORIGINAL SAD SEA DOG

"Nancy" mascot of the Admiral-Orion liner President Grant, and personal pet of Capt. M. M. Jensen, is a violent fancy in the original "sad-sea-dog." Nancy has no use for land-lubber dogs, and claims the distinction of having traveled over more blue water than any other canine in existence.

Nancy has made nine round trips on the Grant, covering more than 100,000 sea miles. Time in port means nothing to her, as she takes no shore leave but spends all the time aboard her floating home.

Like all true "sea dogs," Nancy is an eye for the ladies — the good-looking ones, particularly. On the last trip from the Orient, on which the Grant broke all trans-Pacific speed records, Nancy took a violent fancy to Mrs. Eleanor Charles, former English motion picture actress.

The two were inseparable on the entire trip, and Captain Jensen had jealous fears for his canine friend.

The lure of the sea overcame the attraction of the fair sex for Nancy, however, and when the Grant puts to sea next Thursday Nancy will be on the bridge beside Captain Jensen.

FITTING FINALE TO MUSICAL FESTIVAL

Victoria Singers Again Shine in Vocal Work Saturday

Vancouver, June 4.—Mrs. Jesse Longfield and Miss Isabel Taylor, of Victoria, again acquitted themselves splendidly on Saturday at the final session of the B. C. Musical Festival. In solos, the following were heard to great advantage:

Miss Brownie Pebbles, New Westminster (soprano gold medal), "Elsa's Dream" (Wagner), Audrey Clark, Vancouver (bass gold medal), "The Mighty Deep" (Jude). Mrs. Jesse Longfield, Victoria (contralto gold medal), "Sea Gipsy" (Head), Miss V. A. McCartney, Vancouver (mezzo-soprano gold medal), "For All Eternity" (Masheroni). The reputation of Miss Pebbles and Mrs. Longfield as singers was clearly justified; the applause that greeted the mere mention of Mr. Clark's name was explained by the richness and purity of his voice; while the vocal attainments of Miss McCartney were enough in evidence to explain her having won the silver challenge cup, an additional trophy for the highest marks in solo vocalism.

The instrumental soloists were: Mrs. Lawrence Wright, Vancouver (pianoforte gold medal), "Polonaise in a Flat" (Chopin), Miss Edna Crittenden, Vancouver (viola gold medal), "Andantino" (Martini-Kreiser) and "Spanish Dance" (Granados - Kreiser), Eugene Maher, Vancouver (cello gold medal), "Reverie" (Dunkler) and "Tarantelle" (Squire). Great technical finish and interpretative warmth were exhibited by these three clever victors.

Two vocal duets and two vocal quartets helped to enrich the programme. These were: Mrs. G. Watt and Miss I. Taylor, Victoria (soprano-contralto silver medals), "May Bells and Flowers" (Mendelssohn), Mrs. Mary Arnold and R. D. Marshall (soprano-tenor silver medals), "A Night in Venice" (Licantoni), The Melrose Male Quartette, Vancouver (T. B. B. silver medals), "In Absence" (Dudley Buck), The Routledge-Smith Quartette, Vancouver (S. A. T. B. silver medals), "A Regular Royal Queen" (Sullivan).

'FURY' MASTERPIECE OF MODERN SCREEN

Richard Barthelmess and Dorothy Gish Showing at Royal This Week

A classic of the screen. That, briefly, sums up Richard Barthelmess' magnificent production, "Fury," the moving masterpiece on the screen this week at the Royal Theatre.

"Tolable David" has been deservedly called a classic of the Virginia hills, but even that drama has been eclipsed by the young star's latest effort.

"Fury" is a gem of the bounding main by Edmund Goulding and none of its tang is lost on the screen. Barthelmess is seen as "Boy" Leyton, second mate of the "Lady Spray," a picturesque four-masted schooner captained by his father, who is known among the men as "Doc" Leyton. The boy is submissive to the bullying by his father, who thinks the lad has too much "woman" in him. He cringes before him, yet loves him.

The worm turns, however, when his father learns of "Boy's" plans to elope with Minnie, a little Limehouse slaver, and assails the girl's character. "Boy," forgetting final regard, jumps to the attack and his father, happy in the belief that his son has no yellow streak, welcomes the assault. The emotion brings on a heart attack and the father tells the story of his wife and "Boy's" mother, who has deserted them both for another man.

"Boy" grants his father's dying request and swears before he marries to avenge his mother who has been cruelly wronged by the other man.

And this vow takes the now thoroughly changed "Boy" to Glasgow, where he finds his forlorn little mother, then back to sea, where a terrific denouement is staged. Of course, the story ends happily and of course the plans for the little wedding which were so cruelly interrupted are carried out. But, of course, not in the usual way.

Barthelmess is splendidly supported by Dorothy Gish, who makes a bewitching Minnie. Tyrone Power as Captain Leyton, Pat Hartigan, Barry Macollum and Jessie Arnold. The photographic effects are a revelation, the sea "shots" are surpassing anything of the kind ever attempted before. Henry King directed. Which is just another reason why "Fury" is a classic.

"I hear you had a free-for-all fight at your house last night."
 "Free-for-all, nothing! It cost me twenty-five dollars in court this morning."

DOMINION OFFERS "RUSTLE OF SILK"

Betty Compson Stars in Paramount Attraction, With Strong Cast

Betty Compson, popular Paramount star, recently had the unique experience of playing for both an audience and the camera at one and the same time.

In the filming of "The Rustle of Silk," in which Miss Compson and Conway Tearle are featured, and which will be the feature at the Dominion Theatre all this week, there was an important sequence of scenes which it was necessary to photograph at night.

Just about the time Director Herbert Brenon reached this point in the story the Associated General Contractors of America met in convention in Los Angeles. Through the efforts of the architects of the city arrangements were made for all of the delegates and their families to go through Paramount's West Coast studio.

But this party numbered nearly five hundred, and they could only be taken through the huge plant after working hours. However, in order that they might get a comprehensive view of how pictures are made, Betty Compson and Director Brenon volunteered to work on the evening of their visit.

Consequently the star spent an entire evening acting before an audience which would have filled a small theatre, while the cameras recorded her work for a much larger audience. And at the end of each "act" or scene the audience on the set acted just as an enthusiastic crowd of theatre-goers act—they applauded vigorously.

And between the scenes the star and director were photographed with J. W. Cooper, the new president of the organization; Edward J. Harding, membership manager; Arthur S. Bent, the retiring president, and General R. C. Marshall, general manager.

ALF'S BUTTON IS COLUMBIA FEATURE

"Screamingly Funny," Prince of Wales Thought When He Saw Comedy

We have seen many sides of the young Prince of Wales character, but it is particularly interesting to hear that he is a "movie" fan. It is, however, the price of power that a Prince cannot don his hat at 6 o'clock and sally forth for supper and a movie entertainment, but must needs get what pleasure he can while rushing across the ocean in a battleship at something like forty miles an hour. This was how the Prince of Wales saw "Alf's Button," Cecil M. Hepworth's screen version of W. A. Darlington's screamingly funny novel, and the Prince enjoyed it too.

Captain Will Barker, official cinematographer on the Prince's tour to Australia, says that the guffaws, laughs, and yells were loud and prolonged when the picture was shown. The next afternoon, the Prince stopped him on the quarter deck and asked him to convey his congratulations to the producer; he further asked when and where he could see it again in London.

A picture that is worth seeing twice in our day is certainly a good one and everyone will agree that "Alf's Button" is the finest screen comedy ever seen. It is a story of Aladdin's lamp being melted down for army buttons. In due course a tunic with one of these buttons is issued to Alf Higgins and then the fun or the trouble, call it what you may, really starts. The eccentricities of that button vary from the box of a

CAPITOL SHOWING "FOG BOUND" NOW

Dorothy Dalton Takes Leading Role in Play of Scenic Beauty

Adventure and love romance are the themes of Dorothy Dalton's latest Paramount success, "Fogbound," the story of a girl who lived alone on a tiny island until the peace is broken by the arrival of unwelcome strangers. The adventure and romance that follow provide Miss Dalton with a role richer in emotional possibilities than anything she has hitherto undertaken. While the picture is one of the most dramatic and exciting melodramas ever screened, from a scenic point of view the production is a gem of photographic art, many of these charming scenes being laid in Florida. An excellent supporting

'AMAZING ANN' NEW PLAYHOUSE VEHICLE

Compton Players Have Strong Stock Bill Commencing Wednesday Next

The coming attraction at the Playhouse this week will be from the pen of one of the cleverest of the younger generation of England playwrights, Lechmere Warall. In "Amazing Ann," he has succeeded in producing one of the most sympathetic and amusing comedies ever written, and the alternate touches of light and shade, comedy and pathos, are exquisitely presented, and certain of appealing strongly to discriminating audiences.

Ann is a newspaper reporter who falls in love with an author and goes to unconventional lengths to introduce herself to him and his family. Once she has made herself known, she proceeds to disillusion the author with regard to the girl he has engaged himself to, and finally after endearing herself to the family she wins the author himself. Miss Peggy Lundas will play Ann and Francis Compton Edward Hargrave as the author. Miss Agnes Burton will be Edward's mother and Herbert Leslie, his father, while Miss Doris Stuart and George Iurham will be cast as Evangeline and Billy. After the clever performance of "The Marriage of Kitty" last week, "Amazing

DAVID POWELL

MISS DALTON has the role of a girl who lives alone on a tiny island. Her peace is broken by the arrival of a desperate criminal and his pursuers. How the heroine brings the murderer to justice and saves the man she loves makes one of the most dramatic and exciting melodramas ever screened. The star never had a role richer in emotional possibilities.

Pantages Has Big Show
Commencing Tuesday Night

An exceptionally interesting and attractive programme is promised to patrons of the Pantages Theatre this week, commencing Tuesday, and running for three days. Heading the list of acts is the comical musical sketch, "Telephone Tangle," which is warranted to keep the audience in a state of hilarity from beginning to end. There are six persons connected with this act, and the general telephone "tangle" creates a most amusing and ludicrous situation.

This is not the only big act, although it is the main attraction, for there are many others, and all of them are accompanied by a guarantee for their humor or some other outstanding feature. Gaudier's Animated Toy Shop is something that is rarely seen. The performing animals, which are a part of this act, are perhaps the best trained that have ever visited this city and will surely be well loved by the children.

Singing, dancing and music in an act presented by Connelly and Francis, entitled "Two Nice Folks," prove that the name does not belie the fact. These two people have the finest of entertainments contained in their few minutes' reign over the footlights, and their acting is charming and most commendable.

There is laughing on the programme. The McBannas are clever men at this act. They introduce humor as well. And then there are a great many surprises. On the screen the Century comedy, "Oh, Nurse!" will prove another attraction, and Gladys Walton, in "Gossip," is a film well worth seeing.

some instructive and amusing comments on the songs presented. The plan and tickets are at Fletcher Brothers music store, and the programme will be selected from the following:

Moussorgsky—"Hopak," Rimsky-Korsakov—"Chant Hebraique," Chanson de Zuleika, Glanzonnow—"Chanson," Hayel—"La Flute Enchantee," Sibelius—"Black Roses," "Was it a Dream," "The Trust" and "But My Bird Is Long in Coming."

Bantock Group—"I loved Thee Once Athlis," from "Songs of Sappho," "A Woman's Last Word," "Home Thoughts," "A Widow's Bird Song Mourning," and "The Goblins," Hebridean and Scots Group—"Heroic Ossianic Chant," "An Eriskey Love Lilt," "Fairy Love Song," "The Seal-Woman's Croon," and "Kishmu's Galley," "Can Ye see old Highland Airs—"Can Ye see Cushions," and "Leezie Lindsay."

While Sir Arthur Conan Doyle has become famous throughout the world as the author of the Sherlock Holmes detective stories, it is not generally known that he has had the advantage of a thorough scientific training. He is an LL.D. of Edinburgh University, and for years was a practicing physician. That he is a close observer and an acute reasoner is strikingly shown in his remarkable works of fiction, in which he has revealed a wide range of scientific knowledge and a practical acquaintance with all grades of life.

Sir Arthur was admirably fitted to undertake the work of physical investigation, which he began over thirty years ago when he joined the Society for Psychical Research. Since then he has made a constant study of the subject. He has visited world famous mediums, taken spirit photographs with his own camera, and plates, gazed into crystal balls, lived in haunted houses, and also investigated spirit communications received by automatic writing, the Ouija board and planchette. His conclusions have been embodied in two works, "The New Revelation" and "The Vital Message." In proof of his spiritual theories he declares that he has seen and talked with his "dead" mother, his son, who was killed in the war, and eleven friends who have passed over. He has obtained photographs of the astral body or etheric double and the mysterious substance called ectoplasm, emitted by some mediums, which occasionally takes human forms.

The famous inquirer will speak on all these subjects during his visit. Incidentally he expects to conclusively disprove certain statements that have been made regarding Eva, the famous French ectoplasmic subject. He will throw on the screen photographs showing various stages of ectoplasm which he has seen and handled.

"I have evidence," he says, "to back all my statements, and am prepared to answer all criticisms that have been made, regardless of their source."

Sir Arthur is coming to Victoria to give his famous subject lecture, "Recent Psychic Evidence," which will be illustrated by startling spirit pictures on Thursday, June 14. The plan opens at Fletcher Bros., on Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock, and the lecture will be given in the Capitol Theatre.

"You don't know? Henry, you are trying to deceive me. How is it that you don't know whether your tooth aches or not?"

"The dentist kept it, Miss Spink."

A fond mother took her school-boy son into a tea-shop.

"Would you like a scone or do you prefer a roll, dear?" she asked.

Without a moment's hesitation the youngster chose a roll, but when the food arrived he seemed to cast a longing eye on the scone.

Mother: "This is your roll, darling."

Son: "Do you prefer the scone, mother, or would you—"

Mother: "You said you wanted the roll, dear—don't you want it?"

Son (choosing scone): "Well, mother, I didn't know scones were like this. I thought they were like those you make."

FOR THE CHILDREN

The Sandman Story

For To-night

GRANNY WATER RAT DOCTORS BILLY FROG

Mrs. Water Rat was very old. Not that she felt old. No, indeed! She was as eager to work as ever. But her children and grandchildren were all grown up and she had no one to fuss over, and Granny Water Rat was lonesome.

That was how it happened that she sat on the river bank one night thinking of the past and looking up at the moon when a sound that she must have heard many a time before caught her ear.

"It was Billy-Bull-frog singing, but never had Granny Water Rat had so much time to listen before this, and now that she did have time she was certain that Billy Frog was catching cold in the damp night air."

Granny looked around and saw by the light of the moon that Billy was sitting not far from her.

"Frog," she called, "come here this minute! Your throat must be in a terrible state."

Granny Water Rat was used to being called, and she had no objection to Billy Frog not to do right over beside her.

"My throat is all right," he said. "All right," repeated Granny.

"Why, I never heard such a voice! Sounds like the croup. You come right in my house and let me fix you up."

In spite of all that Billy Frog could say about that being the same voice he always had, Granny Water Rat made him follow her into her snug home on the bank.

"Sit right down there on that dry spot and don't you move," commanded Granny. "I am going to give you some squills and red flannel around your throat. Red flannel is the best thing in the world for anybody's throat, frogs or rats—all my children and grandchildren were doctored with red flannel and squills."

Billy Frog sat still and blinked meekly while Granny fussed about getting things ready. He had not the least idea what squills or red flannel was, but he knew it was useless to try to escape finding out, for Granny had him in her power.

"Here, open your mouth and swallow this," said Granny, suddenly appearing beside Billy with a big spoon in one hand and in the other a bottle with a card tied around the neck on which was printed in big black letters, "Squills."

Billy Frog opened his mouth wide.

"My goodness," exclaimed Granny, catching the spoon more firmly, "you don't have to swallow the spoon, you know, only the medicine."

"There," she said, as Billy swal-

LOWED THE SQUILLS.

"now you will feel better."

"But I didn't feel sick before," pleaded Billy.

"High, don't tell me," said Granny. "I know croup symptoms when I hear them and before morning you would have had a fine case of croup if I had not taken you in hand."

"Hold up your head a little so I can winch this red flannel around your throat."

Billy began to be interested, for the red flannel was a splendid color, he thought, and would look well with his light-colored vest and green coat.

"There, now, you got right home and go to bed," said Granny, forgetting that Billy lived at the bottom of the pond.

But Billy Frog did not go home. He wanted to show off his red collar, so he hopped out of sight of Granny Water Rat's door and found a good place to display himself.

He did not have to wait long. Pretty soon all his cousins were starting at him from the banks and from stumps sticking up in the river.

Billy Bull-frog was the envy of all who saw him and wanted to keep his frog, and he came to own such a beautiful red collar, but Granny Water Rat the next night captured another croupy-voiced frog and doctored him, and soon all the frogs in the neighborhood were wearing red flannel collars.

And that is the reason some folks say that frogs can easily be caught by dangling from a hook a bit of red flannel on the top of the water, for ever since the time Granny Water Rat doctored the frog in her est in the world. To his soldiers he said: "You are famished and nearly naked. I lead you into the most fertile plain in the world. There you will find the ancient Greeks and Romans, honor, glory, riches."

We are all such mixed stuff as this; in all of us the intimations of a new world and a finer day struggle to well and control the ancient greed and lusts of our inherited past; but these passages, written by a young man of twenty-seven, seem to show the gift of a great cause once stirred within an unusually early age. These are the bribes of an adventurer who has brought whatever impulse of devotion to a great cause once stirred within him well under the control of his self-love.

Success Expands Vanity.

His successes in Italy were brilliant and complete: they enormously stimulated his self-confidence and ability of his fellow-creatures. He had wanted to go into Italy because there lay the most attractive task—he had risked his position in the army by refusing to take up the irksome duties of a command against the rebels in La Vendee—and there are clear signs of a vast expansion of his vanity with his victories.

He had been a reader of Plutarch's Lives and of Roman history, and his extremely active but totally uncreative imagination was now busy with dreams of a revival of the eastern conquests of the Roman empire. He got the republic of Venice out of his way by cutting it up between the French and Austria, securing the Ionian Islands and the Venetian fleet for France.

This peace, the peace of Campo Formio, was for both sides a thoroughly scoundrelly and ultimately a disastrous bargain. The new republic of France assisted in the murder of an ancient republic—Napoleon carried his point against a considerable outcry in France—and Austria got Venice, in which land in 1913 she was destined to bleed to death.

There were also secret clauses by which both France and Austria were later to acquire south German territory. And it was not only the Roman push eastward that was now exciting Napoleon's brain. This was a land of Caesar and Caesar was the best example for the successful general of a no very stable republic.

A GREAT FIGURE A GREAT EPOCH A GREAT STORY

"CAPTAIN BLOOD"

Writer of "Saramouche" by RAFAEL SABATINI

INSTALMENT NO. 30

"We must follow," he declared.

"Setting a course for Hispaniola, since they judged that thither must Rivarol go to refit before attempting to cross to France, the Arabella and the Elizabeth ploughed briskly northward with a moderately favorable wind for two days and nights without ever catching a glimpse of their quarry. The wind, to which they were sailing very close, was westerly, and bore to their ears a booming sound."

"Guns!" said Pitt, who stood with Blood upon the quarter-deck. Blood nodded, listening.

"Ten miles away, perhaps fifteen somewhere off Port Royal, I should judge," Pitt added. Then he looked at his captain. "Does it concern us?" he asked.

"Guns off Port Royal," that should argue a distant British fleet, work. And against whom should he be in action but against friends of ours? I think it may concern us. Bid them put the helm over."

They held to their course, with all hands on deck anxiously scanning the sea ahead. And presently an object loomed into view, which soon defined itself for a great ship on fire.

As the Arabella and the Elizabeth following closely raced nearer on their northwesterly tack, the outlines of the blazing vessel grew clearer. Presently her masts stood up sharp and black above the smoke and flames, and through his telescope Blood made out plainly the pennon of St. George fluttering from her mainmast.

"An English ship!" he cried.

He scanned the seas for the enemy in the battle of which this grim evidence was added to that of the smoke they had heard, and at last, as they drew closer to the doomed vessel, they made out the shadowy outlines of three tall ships, some three or four miles away.

Standing in toward Port Royal, the first and natural assumption was that these ships must belong to the Jamaica fleet. But Pitt, who through the telescope was examining the retreating squadron, observed things apparent only to the eye of the trained mariner, and made the incredible announcement that the largest of these three vessels was Rivarol's announcement.

One of the boats bumped alongside the Arabella, and up the entrance ladder came first a slight spruce little gentleman in a coat of mulberry satin lined with gold, whose wizened, yellow, rather peevish face was framed in a heavy black periwig.

As the little man stepped from the ladder into the waist, whither Captain Blood had gone to receive him, his sharp, ferret dark eyes swept the uncouth ranks of the assembled crew of the Arabella.

"And where the devil may I be now?" he demanded irritably. "Are you English, or what the devil are you?"

"Myself, I have the honor to be Irish, sir. My name is Blood—Captain Peter Blood, and this is my ship the Arabella, all very much at your service."

"Blood?" shrieked the little man. "Blood? A pirate!" He swung to the Colossus who followed him—"A damned pirate, van der Kuylen. Rend my vitals, but we're come from Seyla to Chardis."

"So?" said the other gutturally and again, "So?" Then the humor of it took him, and he yielded to it.

"Damme! What's to laugh at in your porpoise?" spluttered mulberry-coat. "A fine tale this'll make at home! Admiral van der Kuylen first loses his fleet in the night, then he has his flagship fired under him by a French squadron, and ends all by being captured by a pirate."

"There's a misapprehension, if I

"I weighed only a hundred and fourteen pounds, my face was sallow and my skin and I was thin as a rail. But since taking Tanlac I weigh one hundred and forty-eight, have the rosy cheeks of a school girl, and enjoy good health for the first time in fifteen years." This remarkable statement was made recently by Mrs. Bella Young, 98 Cathcart Street, Hamilton, Ontario.

"The last year of my sickness I was near a nervous breakdown, and my appetite was so poor even the odor of food sometimes nauseated me. Headaches, pains in my stomach and back nearly set me wild and I would walk the floor for hours. I got so weak I could hardly stoop over to lace my shoes, and my housework was a burden.

HARVARD RAIN MAN DISSECTS CLOUDS

Prof. McAdie Says Precipitation Is Really Caused By Forced Draft

Rain From Clear Sky Is the Fall From Clouds Dissolved in Flight

Cambridge, Mass., June 4.—Now we have the truth about rain making! Prof. Alexander McAdie, climatology expert, and director of the Blue Hill Observatory at Harvard, offers an article in this effect in the current issue of the Harvard Alumni Bulletin. Clouds can be taken into the laboratory and studied these days. It is the forced draft that brings the rain, the professor says, and that it would take considerable time to tell of natural rain makers. A great cause is the mountains.

Prof. McAdie has his ideas of what caused the Flood and says it were a pity Noah did not take rain gauges with him so posterity could compare his flood with later floods.

"Experiments now in progress by Hancock and Warren under the auspices of the Air Service," the article says, "indicate the possibility of clarifying cloudy atmospheres by spraying with electrified sand from above. It seems feasible.

"Fog, whether in the streets of London, or on the banks of Newfoundland, or over flying fields, is essentially a wall built of ironed, isolated, vapor varnished bricks. Quite a remarkable wall, too, for while it often rests on the ground it can spring into the air and float away. And this without the slightest noise or damage. It never stands still and is always falling and rising and yet at the same time rebuilding. A thimbleful of fog stuff contains about a thousand bricks; and all these squeezed tightly together will make only a small drop of rain.

Sometimes it seems as if rain were falling from a clear sky. Experiments by the writer prove that there are invisible vapor masses drifting overhead which can be detected by an electrometer. The electric eye sees much that is hidden from the human eye. Generally rain from a clear sky is rain from a cloud that has dissolved in passing. It is not, however, under clear skies that artificial rain-makers will prosecute their work. Their hope is when the clouds hang heavy, and their methods are based on the belief that moisture can be wrung out of a cloud even as one twists a damp towel.

"Nature wrings the clouds and makes rain by pushing moisture laden air upwards, or else sideways into another current decidedly colder. It is the forced draft which counts. The simplest case of upward push is the shower of Summer. The surface air and vapor is lifted a thousand meters and the expansion, cooling, coalescing, and capturing and comparatively large dust particles produce a cumulus cloud, the cloud that makes one think of a colossal helping of celestial ice cream. The cream tint soon gives way to dirty gray and this in turn darkens into the brown black base of a cumulo-nimbus ready to spill lightning to another cloud or dart it earthward.

"It would take a separate paper to tell of natural rain-makers. The great robbers of the clouds are of course the mountains. If a range is so placed that an air stream (such as the monsoon), that it forces the air column upward until a sufficient lowering of temperature occurs, then rain falls. A book could be written on the subject or to put it in less attractive manner, a professor of meteorology might lecture six times a week for a full term on this one subject and, while his hearers might be exhausted, the subject would not be. He probably, too, would pass lightly over the first flood, that one when the Premier Forecaster of All Time called the right turn, and embarked on the memorable trip which ended when his craft grounded on the slopes of Mt. Ararat. Few university men realize that Noah was considerably up in the air at the end of the trip. Yes, if he was near the top of Ararat he was a mile farther up than one who stands on the top of Pike's Peak. Some flood.

"MAGELLAN OF THE AIR"

Four Birdmen in Race to Win That Title

Striving to become the Magellans of the air, four British birdmen will hop off within a few weeks here in a quadrangular race to complete the first flight around the world.

It was in 1522—491 years ago—that a handful of the sailors who had started out with Ferdinand Magellan, Portuguese navigator, landed at Seville and completed the first circumnavigation of the globe after more than three years of cruising.

To-day these four British expeditionists will try with ships of the air to duplicate the achievement of the Mariner's cruise.

One: The expedition of Sir Keith Smith.

Two: That headed by Alan J. Cobham.

Three: A project in which R. H. McIntosh, Captain Tyms and Captain A. McCloughry will be associated.

Four: An expedition headed by Captain Norman MacMillan.

All four contestants plan to start late this month or early next month.

Ground Carefully Laid.

Because of the careful preliminary organization work being done by each of the four leaders, aviation experts here believe at least one expedition will reach its goal, if all of them do not.

Sir Keith Smith, it will be remembered, last year planned a flight around the world with his brother, Sir Ross Smith. But when Sir Ross lost his life in an accident, the project was abandoned.

Since that time Sir Keith has made a tour around the world in which he inspected the route he intends to follow. He will use a Vickers-Viking plane with a Napier "Lion" engine.

Cobham is a famous de Havilland pilot who makes trips in the regular air passenger service between Paris and London. He'll use a de Havilland with a 240-horsepower Siddeley-Puma engine.

With him he will take Mackenzie Grieve as navigator. Grieve was with Hawker in his famous trans-Atlantic flight.

Cobham expects to make the flight in 60 days. He will fly from England across Central Europe to Constantinople via Vienna; thence via Aleppo to Bagdad; on to Calcutta, Shanghai, the Aleutian Islands and Vancouver. He'll fly across Canada to St. Johns, N. F., and thence across the Atlantic to his starting point.

McIntosh, Tyms and McCloughry will follow almost the same route. They will use a Fairey twin-float seaplane with a Rolls-Royce "Candor" engine.

MacMillan With Blake.

MacMillan, fourth leader in the race, went 10,000 miles last year with Major Blake in the latter's attempt to fly around the world.

MacMillan will be accompanied by G. Mallis who also was in the Blake expedition. They are backed by a London club which is building a machine the dimensions and character of which are being kept secret.

The route MacMillan proposes is: From England via Italy; Greece, Egypt and Palestine to Bagdad; thence across India and Persia to Burma, China and Japan.

Then MacMillan will cross the Canadian mainland to Halifax and will cross the Atlantic in a manner not heretofore attempted: Via Greenland, Iceland, the Faroe Islands, Orkney, Shetland, Scotland—then to London.

In preparation for the trip "advance agents" will place caches of food and gasoline on the uninhabited islands of the Aleutian and Kurile groups.

Summer footwear for kiddies—mother's problem solved

MOTHER knows how shoes of boys and girls are scuffed and worn, soiled and torn—that active, tireless little feet seldom rest from early morn till evening shadows fall. Mother knows how children's shoes wear out.

Mothers who put Fleet Foot shoes on the kiddies in summer time will find them light, durable, economical. Fleet Foot shoes, with their flexible rubber soles and canvas uppers, give comfort and foot freedom, and for the wear they give, they cost very little.

They are not Fleet Foot unless the name Fleet Foot is on the shoe.

Fleet Foot was originated and is made only by the Dominion Rubber System. The name Fleet Foot is on every pair. It is your guarantee of quality and value.

This is FLEET FOOT week

Dealers are making special displays of Fleet Foot shoes.

WOULD BLACKLIST BAD MISTRESSES

Novel Suggestion Made at English Enquiry Into Domestic Servant Cases

London June 4.—(Canadian Press Cable).—The domestic service problem in this country continues to be investigated by the committee appointed by the Ministry of Labor, although there is little in the evidence brought out that was not already obvious to those actively interested in the matter. Indeed, one of the complaints levelled at this inquiry is that the commission is merely collecting evidence upon facts which are perfectly recognized; namely, that domestic service is unpopular by reason of its being considered a servile occupation.

However, something of a surprise was created to-day by Mrs. R. Davis of Aberdare, Wales, telling the commission that there were more girls seeking service work in that district than there were places ready for them.

Another witness before the commission spoke of domestic servants' registry offices having "blacklisted" mistresses to whom they would not send a maid because they knew she would not stay. It was suggested that it would help to solve the difficulty if the maid had pluck enough to tell their mistresses that they were on the blacklist.

WOMEN IN ITALY ARE TO HAVE VOTE

Bill to Be Introduced Soon in Chamber of Deputies

Rome, June 4.—Premier Mussolini has approved the draft of the new electoral reform bill, which will be discussed by the Cabinet to-morrow, and introduced in the Chamber immediately afterward.

The bill provides for the extension of the vote to women in municipal elections and will apply proportional representation. Voting will be on a national basis, the whole country being regarded as a single constituency for the purpose of establishing the majority and minority; but each region will constitute a separate unit as regards the list of candidates and the allocation of seats to the successful candidates.

The bill abolishes nearly all the provisions restricting ineligibility.
