OVATION FOR PREMIERS AT LEAGUE ASSEMBLY MEETING

TWO QUEBEC BY-ELECTIONS ARE CLEAR ENDORSEMENT OF FISCAL POLICY, SAYS KING

Return of Two Liberals to Commons Means Government's Efforts to Develop Canada's Natural Resources Have People's Support, Says Prime Minister; Liberal Victories in Yale, B.C., and Northumberland, N.B., Expected.

Ottawa, Sept. 3.—Premier King, in a statement on the results of the Federal by-elections in the St. Antoine division of Montreal, where W. J. Hushion, Liberal, was elected yesterday, and Rimouski, Que., where Maj.-Gen. Sir Eugene Fiset, Liberal, was elected, said:
"The results in the Montreal and Rimouski by-elections are the clearest possible endorsement of the Government's fiscal policy, which at the recent session of Parliament received, on the budget, the largest recorded majority since Confederation. Our policy of developing Canada's natural resources as the basis of her rural and industrial development and the means of solving the problems with which our country has been confronted since the Great War has received the wholehearted support of the electors of Montreal and Rimouski, the one an industrial and the other a rural constituency.
"We may look for like triumphs in the forthcoming by-elections in Northumberland, New Brunswick and Yale, British Columbia, since

ASSIZES TO OPEN ON SEPTEMBER 22

The Fall Assizes will be held in Victoria starting September 22, it was announced at the Parliament Buildings to-day, after the Government had fixed the date. The dates of Assizes in other parts of the Province are as follows: Vancouver, October 7; New Westminster, November 25; Nanaimo, October 14; Nelson, October 7; Cranbrook, October 14; Fernie, October 21; Kamloops, October 28; Vernon, November 4; Revelstoke, November 11; Prince Rupert, November 19; Prince George, November 26.

JAPAN DOCTORS SAY MENINGITIS GERM IS ISOLATED

Tokio, Sept. 3.—The Foreign Office to-day received a cablegram from the League of Nations requesting full reports on the Japanese meningitis epidemic, which has claimed approximately 2,500 victims since its inception.
The malady is abating, however, according to reports received here to-day, although three prefectures, Kagawa, Tokushima and Okayama alone reported deaths totaling 1,500. Okayama physicians asserted to-day they had isolated the meningitis germ.

UNEMPLOYMENT MEETING CHAIRMAN; HON. J. M. MURDOCK

The Federal Minister of Labor is presiding at the conference on unemployment now in progress in Ottawa.

OVER $5,000,000 WAGERED SO FAR

Over $5,000,000 has been wagered on British Columbia race tracks so far this year, according to figures given out at the Parliament Buildings to-day. This total includes $588,358 wagered at Lansdowne Park, Vancouver, last week. With two weeks more racing yet to be staged, the total wagers for the year, as forecast in The Times, will amount to nearly $7,000,000.

MACDONALD AND HERRIOT GREETED TO-DAY BY LEAGUE REPRESENTATIVES IN GENEVA

Presence of Two Premiers Makes League Sessions Notable; Both British and French Leaders Cheered by Crowds in Streets; no Addresses by Them To-day; Guests of City Council of Geneva at Luncheon.

Geneva, Sept. 3.—Premier Ramsay MacDonald of Great Britain and Premier Herriot of France attended to-day's session of the League of Nations Assembly and received a great ovation as they entered the auditorium.

The heads of all the delegations advanced and shook their hands, after which the two Premiers took their places with the other representatives of their respective nations. Both men were acclaimed by the huge crowds as they left their hotels and again as they arrived at the Assembly hall. M. Motta, as President of the Assembly, welcomed Mr. MacDonald and M. Herriot in a graceful speech. He thanked them for coming, speaking in the name of all the delegates, and said the interest thus manifested by them was indeed a happy sign for the future activity and importance of the League. These sentiments were greeted with applause.

CROWD AT STATION
An enthusiastic greeting awaited Premier MacDonald upon his arrival. A considerable crowd of early risers, including many school children, was at the station when his train pulled in and there were shouts of "Vive MacDonald," "Hip, Hip, Hurrah," and "Long Live Peace."

The Labor Premier smilingly doffed his hat in acknowledgment as he proceeded to a waiting motor car accompanied by the official welcome party of Swiss authorities.

Mr. MacDonald looked fit and spry as he jumped from the train and is evidently well rested in consequence of his holiday in Scotland after the Labor conference.

A great audience which filled every part of the hall gathered to greet the Premiers and accorded them an enthusiastic welcome, but did not have the pleasure of hearing either speak, for the two statesmen sat quietly with their respective delegations and listened to the debate on the work of the League Council during the past year.

Subsequently, both Premiers withdrew for a private talk before motoring to one of Geneva's beautiful parks, where they were guests at a luncheon tendered by the administrative council of the city.

OVERLAND MAIL REOPENS AFTER TEN YEARS LAPSE

Transsiberian Line Now Taking Mails From Orient to Moscow

Nine European Countries to Benefit Immediately by Restoration

The overland mail through Siberia to Europe, interrupted for ten years by war, and the upheaval in Russia, has been resumed, the first westbound dispatch from Japan leaving on August 23.

This news, brought by the liner Empress of Australia, when she berthed last evening, is perhaps the most significant of any that has reached here about Siberia for some years, because it indicates a guarantee of continuous railway service in that vast country, a condition unknown for a decade.

Before the war, by using express trains and fast steamships, a letter posted in Tokyo would reach London in fourteen days. When the service was cut off, the mails ceased overland, and were conveyed to Europe by sea as in the days before the war, when the transcontinental railway was opened.

The plan which has just been brought to a successful issue contemplates a departure from Japan by way of Vladivostok, whence mail will be taken by the Usuri railway lines to the Siberia railway, and thence to Moscow. Nine European countries, nearly all in western Europe, are benefited.

EMPIRE NAVAL SQUADRON ENDS ITS VISIT TO CANADA

Quebec, Sept. 3.—Its departure witnessed by a large crowd, the British Special Naval Service Squadron left here yesterday afternoon, ending its visit to Canada.

Loud cheers came from the people on the heights of Quebec and along the waterfront who were visibly impressed by the spectacle which the squadron presented as it moved downstream. In a straight line, with the smoke from their funnels growing thinner with their increasing speed, they were, in the distance, and finally disappeared around Point Levis.

Man Near Death Because His Horse Scratched Its Back
Oxnard, Cal., Sept. 3.—Because the horse of Ygnacio Rios insisted on scratching its back on the corner of Andrew Enriquez's house, Enriquez is at the point of death to-day. He became so irritated over the animal's free and easy use of his house for scratching purposes that he resorted to the use of a rifle. Rios, according to deputy sheriffs, responded with a bullet that pierced Enriquez's chest, then submitted to arrest.

ROYALTY LAW THREATENS TO WRECK B.C.'S LUMBER INDUSTRY, CABINET TOLD

British Columbia lumbermen jammed the Legislative Chamber this morning and declared that their business would be ruined if the present schedule of timber royalties went into effect at the first of next year, they were met with a demand from Premier Oliver for concrete facts and figures and a promise of "fair play" in the fixing of the new royalties.

"We will endeavor to place these royalties on a basis of equity," the Premier declared after he and the cabinet had listened to the arguments of the lumbermen. "We will give you fair play at the same time protecting the interests of the people of the Province."

The Premier reminded the lumbermen bluntly that they and not the Government had proposed the present Timber Royalty Act, under which timber royalties would automatically increase about three hundred per cent at the end of this year. Mr. Oliver said he keenly regretted that the lumbermen had not produced actual figures showing how much it costs them to produce lumber and how much they can sell it for.

"This question comes to me," he said, "in the light of timber considering the speculative value which they may have paid for timber as part of their cost of production." "Mr. Oliver's statement has no interest in this speculative value, which prevailed during those years of intensive speculation before the war. Certainly the lumbermen must have more data than has been presented to-day before it would agree to alter the present legislation."

"Mr. Oliver's statement," the Minister of Lands, who presided, said the Government appreciated the problems of the lumbermen. The present schedule, he agreed, should not be put into operation. The lumber industry, he added, was all important to the Province.

Eric Hamber, President of the Timber Industries Council, headed the delegation of about eighty lumbermen who waited upon the Government.

"We have come to fight for our existence," Mr. Hamber declared. "The present Royalties Act is impossible to work under. It is uneconomic and unsound. If the royalties provided for in it went into effect next year the key would be turned in the door of the Province."

In referring to the legislation of last session, he said the thanks of the union were due to A. D. Patterson, chairman, and H. G. Perry, secretary of the Municipal Committee of the Province.

He urged them to take care in their recommendations, and to encourage only such changes as would redound to the credit of the Union, in order that it might retain the name of being outside the government, the most important body in the Province.

Reeve A. Lockley of Esquimalt, President of the Union of B.C. Municipalities, in his presidential address to the convention at Penitentiary this morning, declared that the union should revert to the practice of a parliamentary agent, stating that after experience of last session, he found that it was necessary to have "a man who has made a study of municipal law."

He argued that much of the success of the union was due to its influence on legislation. He urged them to take care in their recommendations, and to encourage only such changes as would redound to the credit of the Union, in order that it might retain the name of being outside the government, the most important body in the Province.

Suggestions Made to Overcome Unemployment During the Winter Months

Ottawa, Sept. 3.—(Canadian Press)—Hopeful of preventing unemployment in Canada during the coming winter through the regularization of industrial employment, Hon. James Murdock, Minister of Labor, this morning convened a gathering of representatives of provincial and municipal governments, capital and labor to discuss the problems of unemployment.

"The Government of Canada," said the Minister, "has made inquiry to ascertain what Federal public works may be undertaken during the coming winter, being, however, entirely dependent on appropriations voted by Parliament, and the Minister of Public Works will have a statement to make in this respect."

"The calling of the conference," said Mr. Mulock, "has attracted widespread attention throughout Canada and the purposes have in many instances been misunderstood, while the definite purpose in view has brought out commendation from many quarters. Request has already been made of those invited that they should inform themselves of the prospective employment possibilities in their respective provinces and in the post-war years had weighed less heavily on Canada than on the older countries. The Minister did not think present conditions were as bad in Canada as in the two Winters he had referred to. Harvest conditions also promised good returns to those dependent on agriculture."

"The only satisfactory remedy for unemployment is work," added the Minister. "Work is preferable to idleness." (Concluded on page 2)

PILOTLESS PLANES ARE BEING TESTED IN OLD COUNTRY

Farnborough, Eng., Sept. 3.—Great progress has been made in the control of pilotless aeroplanes by wireless test experiments carried out at the Royal Aircraft Establishment here, says The Evening News. Another problem under consideration is the launching of winged bombs from aircraft in flight and their control over a limited distance to the desired object.

It is expected the procedure at the industry will be based on the reports of the medical officers who made the second autopsy, which will be outlined by Dr. G. F. Curtis, chief examining officer. The order of witnesses will then be determined. In addition to Dr. Curtis, the following medical men, it is stated, will also testify: Dr. W. Kennedy, Dr. B. D. Gilles, Dr. G. E. Gillies, Dr. A. W. Hunter and Dr. W. S. Baird, the last-named taking the place of the late Dr. H. Mullin.

It is stated the methods used at the first inquiry will be subjected to much scrutiny, and witnesses who have already been heard will be asked to amplify their statements as a result of the new information which is stated to be in the hands of the police.

Prince of Wales Enjoys Freedom On Visit To U.S.

Syosset, N.Y., Sept. 3.—The Prince of Wales is successfully avoiding publicity. It was demonstrated to-day that the large number of reporters who have endeavored to trail him everywhere and the general public which has crowded about him at every opportunity have been successfully outwitted and the Prince is realizing his desire for freedom.

It had been announced that the Prince would be at the Meadowbrook Club at 5 o'clock this morning to take part in a drag hunt, and so closely was the secret of his whereabouts guarded that it was taken to the grave. The Prince planned to go to the P. Ambrose Clark place this afternoon to look after his eight polo ponies, three of which were slightly injured.

GEORGIA AND AZERBAIJAN, TWO CAUCASUS REPUBLICS, IN REVOLT NOW AGAINST SOVIET OF MOSCOW

Geneva, Sept. 3.—All of Georgia and Azerbaijan is declared to have been in active revolt against the Moscow Soviet regime for the last five days and a half the territory of Georgia already has been conquered by the insurgents, according to the representatives of Georgia here, who announced the receipt of this news to-day. The sanguinary struggle is continuing and fighting is occurring in the streets of Batum, their advices state.

REPORTS UNCONFIRMED
London, Sept. 3.—The Georgian representatives in London have received a dispatch from Constantinople saying Georgia and Azerbaijan were revolting against the Soviet occupation forces and that sanguinary conflicts had occurred, many being killed or wounded and railway and telegraph communications being interrupted.

British official circles were unable to-day to confirm these reports.

SPILLERS INCREASE THEIR INVESTMENT

British Interests Acquire Control of the Vancouver Milling Company

Also Will Control Alberta Pacific Company; Investment of $6,500,000

Vancouver, Sept. 3.—Acquisition by Spillers Overseas Industries, Ltd. of a controlling interest in the Vancouver Milling and Grain Company here was announced by J. E. Hall, general manager of the latter company, to-day following a meeting of shareholders which accepted the terms offered by Spillers to take over a majority interest in the long-established Vancouver firm. Spillers thus adds a new link to its already large chain of holdings in Western Canada.

The present Vancouver Milling and Grain Company is to be wound up and a new company of the same name will be incorporated with a capital of $1,500,000.

Calgary, Sept. 3.—Spillers Overseas Limited, the huge British milling company, has completed negotiations with the Alberta Pacific Grain Company, according to information (Concluded on page 2)

Voluntary Wheat Pool Schemes in Australia Debated
Melbourne, Sept. 3.—(Canadian Press cable via Reuters)—Premier Bruce of the Commonwealth has informed four of the Australian wheat growing states that the Commonwealth Government is willing to cooperate in voluntary wheat pools over a period of three years, providing there is one selling organization for overseas and one chartering agency for control of shipping and freight arrangements.

U.S. WORLD AIRMEN NOW IN NOVA SCOTIA

Arrived There After Flight From Hawkes Harbor on Newfoundland Coast

Greeted by Crowds and Representatives of Government of Canada

Pictou, N.S., Sept. 3.—The United States world airmen landed here from Hawkes Bay, Nfld., this afternoon. The town was gaily decorated and huge crowds greeted the fliers. Hearty cheers mingled with shrieking whistles and ringing bells as the aviators circled down to the harbor.

Prominent officials of the Canadian Government of Canada and the Nova Scotia Government welcomed Lieut. Smith and his command.

Lieut. Leigh Wade and his mechanic, Lieut. H. H. Ogden, whose plane was lost during the flight from the Orkneys to Iceland, were here to rejoin Lieuts. Smith and Nelson and to complete with them the flight to the United States and across the American continent.

TIME OF FLIGHT
The exact time of the arrival of the fliers was 4:35 o'clock, Eastern standard time, thus making the time for the hop from Newfoundland six hours and twenty-six minutes.

Vancouver Florist Ended Life After Writing to Wife

Vancouver, Sept. 3.—"Good-bye, I cannot stand it any longer—so sick," read the farewell message of Charles Weiler, proprietor of the Art Floral Shop, whose dead body was found in his store, carbolic acid having been taken, it was believed.

The note, which was addressed "To My Dear Wife," was found near the body by the police, who were called to the store.

JAPAN DEMANDS MORE EFFICIENCY

Toshikazu Kakinoki, Japanese Efficiency Expert, Here on Australia

Will Study Industrial and Commercial Conditions on This Continent

Japan's foremost efficiency expert, Toshikazu Kakinoki, of Tokio, and Osaka, reached here last night on the Canadian Pacific S.S. Empress of Australia, en route to the United States and Europe on a Government mission.

Mr. Kakinoki is director of the recently organized Efficiency League of Japan. During his five months' trip he will study industrial and commercial efficiency on which he will report to the central Government of Japan and the Osaka Prefecture.

"Japan has just awakened to the value of efficiency in all branches of national life," said Mr. Kakinoki, "and we are anxious to give serious study to every method of avoiding waste that has been found in other countries of the world."

TWO QUEBEC BY-ELECTIONS ARE CLEAR ENDORSEMENT OF FISCAL POLICY, SAYS KING

(Continued from page 1) OLD ISSUES RAISED News of the double victory of Government candidates was received with enthusiasm by members and supporters of the administration here. Though the record of past elections in the Rimouski riding pointed to a Government triumph, the fact that the party standing was the Government was very noticeable. The Government injected an element of uncertainty into what would otherwise have been regarded by the Liberals as a sure victory for the Government. FIVE VACANCIES Five vacancies have occurred in the representation of the House of Commons since December, 1923, when the party standing was Government, 115; others, 119. These figures do not include the casting vote of the Speaker. Two of the vacancies, at St. John's and West Hastings, Ont., are in ridings which were held by Conservatives, the three others, Rimouski, St. Antoine and Northumberland, N.B., being Liberal. The Liberals, as a result of yesterday's voting, retain two of the seats, while writs have been issued for a by-election in Northumberland in October. So far the Government has not issued writs for West Hastings and Yate.

ROYALTY LAW THREATENS TO WRECK B. C.'S LUMBER INDUSTRY, CABINET TOLD

(Continued from page 1) The British Ambassador, at dinner on Saturday, Clarence Mackay will entertain the royal visitors at a dinner at Harbor Hill, his Roslyn home. There will be a reception afterward. cash relief both from the workers' standpoint and that of the community. I have every confidence that by applying ourselves to the practical problems we may be accomplished in insuring against severe hardship next winter. OPINIONS DIVER OTTAWA, Sept. 3.—Statements made at today's opening meeting of the conference on unemployment indicate likelihood of a sharp division over the question of responsibility. The Federal Government has in the past taken the ground that responsibility for unemployment relief lies primarily with the municipalities concerned. To-day, one after another, representatives of municipalities laid down their views on the correct responsibility for the Federal Government, especially as to bringing in immigrants. Numerous suggestions were made, but the conference failed to reach any agreement to the state of concrete measures. IN ERROR, SAYS PREMIER Ottawa, Sept. 3. (Canadian Press)—That a statement issued by members of a Labor delegation which waited on the Government yesterday was in error was asserted by eight men and contained several obvious errors was the only comment made by Premier King on the criticism of E. Inglis of London, Ont. The Premier, who was in the city to-day and could only be reached indirectly, it is understood, however, that he denies having said, as quoted by Mr. Inglis, that the Toronto Globe was "a Government organ." He merely remarked that the Globe was not "a Government organ," when J. A. Flett of Hamilton quoted it as such.

LOCKLEY THINKS A PARLIAMENTARY AGENT NECESSARY

(Continued from page 1) The Legislature, for their assistance to the union executive. He proceeded: EDUCATIONAL SURVEY "The very important question of education is now being considered by the Premier and the Government. A national survey at present being undertaken by Dr. J. H. Putnam, senior inspector of schools, Ottawa, and Dr. C. M. Weir, professor of education, University of British Columbia, and when you take into consideration that the burdens thrown on the municipalities of education in 1914 were $2,650,282.77 and in 1924 had increased to $4,453,323.26, you will readily see how important it is that this convention take action, in fact, before the commissioners their views on meeting the Government, and placing all possible data before them either in the form of a report to the Government, or the commissioners send in their report. "It is for the convention to decide what steps should be taken in this very important matter. The Union has a long drawn out fight on this problem and in my mind this is the most logical time to make a strong effort to get some action in this direction. HOSPITALS QUESTION "The very vexed question of the responsibilities of municipalities to hospitals is the most important matter that will be brought before you and I am given to understand that relief to both bodies will be sought by legislation. I have made an effort to get a meeting of the Hospital Boards to meet you at this Convention. I feel that if we meet together and talk over both our difficulties as business men, business like way, that many misunderstandings that have existed in the past can be obliterated and better arrangements agreed upon in the future. I sincerely hope that the time is not far distant when the executives of the three bodies viz. the Union, Hospital Boards and the municipalities, will meet together before the House in Session so that they can agree on what new legislation they require and thereby contracting the Committee of the House with united front and with a much better chance of securing the desired legislation."

GERMAN LINES HIT HARD BY U. S. IMMIGRATION ACT

Need Loans to Carry Out Their Construction Programme Berlin, Sept. 3.—During the past two weeks various wild rumors have appeared in the press regarding renewed financial assistance to be extended to the various shipping companies by the Government, through the Reichstag. In these reports the North German Lloyd and the Hamburg-American lines are the ones prominently mentioned, with the possibility that other smaller organizations may be aided also. It soon became known, however, that the German Government had no such intention and that the rumors were only concrete foundations. These reports were due, however, to the recent financial negotiations which were entered into between the two companies mentioned, and that both organizations need loans if they are to continue with their scheduled programme of construction, and the North German Lloyd found itself obliged to take up a private loan of £1,000,000 for a ten-year period and at the high rate of eight per cent. A falling off in the passenger traffic to America, due mostly to the recent immigration restrictions, and a weak freight market have been the two principal factors which worked against the North German Lloyd and other transatlantic steamship lines. Particularly did the decline in immigration business within the last nine months affect the various steamship lines. The identity of the nations or individuals advancing the loan to the North German Lloyd is unknown, but it is generally believed here that the money was provided by a group of Americans, who transmitted the money to the Germans through the medium of an English firm. The Hamburg-America Line has been negotiating for a loan with an Anglo-American group of financiers, but recently declined the loan on the grounds that the rate of interest demanded, nine per cent for ten years, was too high. The refusal of the steamship organization to take the loan, however, resulted in optimistic deductions on the part of many financiers and others here, who believe that the near future will show that the banks in Germany will back the steamship line and that the necessary funds will be forthcoming at much more reasonable terms.

FOR COMPLETION OF HUDSON BAY LINE

Hon. W. R. Motherwell Voices Support in Address Delivered at The Pas The Pas, Man., Sept. 3.—The four great natural resources of the North country—minerals, timber, fish and fur—are enough in themselves to warrant immediate completion of the Hudson Bay Railway. Hon. W. R. Motherwell, Federal Minister of Agriculture, told a large open-air gathering at a picnic here. He had just returned from a trip to the end of steel at Mile 32, Keble Rapids. "After my return from a trip of inspection over the Hudson Bay Railway as far as the end of steel at Mile 32, Keble Rapids, you will naturally expect me to tell you what my impression is of this vast and very rich country," said Mr. Motherwell. "Let me first say, without fear of contradiction, that the resources of your tremendously valuable local industries—minerals, timber, fish and fur—are, to my mind, sufficient in themselves to warrant the expenditure of the remaining necessary capital investment of approximately $5,000,000 to complete the Hudson Bay Railway and put the port of Nelson into immediate operation. I intend to go back and tell my colleagues in Ottawa just what I have told you here to-day. And you can rest assured I will not oppose the earliest completion and operation of this Western route."

WISCONSIN NOMINATIONS

WISCONSIN NOMINATIONS Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 3.—Governor J. J. Blaine, candidate for re-nomination on the Republican ticket, with the endorsement of Senator La Follette, was nominated on the face of unofficial returns from 1,597 precincts out of 2,678 in the state in Monday's primary election. "This has been my first visit into the country tributary to Hudson Bay. My ears have not been closed to all that is going on, and I tell you I will try and put the information so gathered to good use. I am not only surprised but inspired by the vigor and resourcefulness of the people in this country, and that alone, I feel certain, is a guarantee of the success of this great natural undertaking on the part of all Canada. "It is impossible for anyone to go through this extensive country in a private car and see from its windows the great potential wealth contained therein. Nevertheless, one can see the unlimited possibilities. "In regard to the roadbed itself and the criticism of the Eastern press stating that it was a waste of money, I would like to say that such statements are not only incorrect and false, but are the wildest of theories. PRODUCTIVE SOIL "This so-called muskeg is not a quagmire, as they would have us believe, but is simply a top soil which, drained, soon becomes fertile soil and productive. Of course, the 323 miles of roadbed is not equal to daily operated lines, owing to its having been in disuse more or less since the contractors left it some six years ago. Any other railroad on the continent, under similar conditions, would have suffered the same. "I travelled over the line behind a mixed train of some twenty cars, going at a safe speed of twenty miles an hour, and I am convinced the Hudson Bay Railway can be built and kept in first-class condition at reasonable expense."

DAYLIGHT ROBBERY IN ILLINOIS; LOOT WAS OVER $7,000

FIGHTING IN CHINA

(Continued from page 1) Along the Liao River, with Changtehfu, a city 110 miles northeast of Peking, as its immediate objective, while the western column is moving towards Chinchow. MORE THAN TWENTY FOREIGN WAR CRAFT WERE ASSEMBLED in the harbor at Shanghai awaiting any action on the part of the five military governments which would place Shanghai in the line of fire and the lives of foreigners in jeopardy. In land the Shanghai Municipal Corps and the Shanghai defence unit, which includes British and United States military units, were prepared to take up the defensive fighting operations on the boundaries of the foreign quarter. CHINESE FLEET Besides the land forces of 100,000 men, the Chinese fleet, enlisted in the service of General Lu Yung-Hsiang, was reported anchored in the Hangchow estuary, opposite the Kiangsu straits, which is one of the objectives of the forces of Chi Shieh-Yuang. The Puen war craft were reported in the "Husan Archipelago" off the coast, southeast of Shanghai to-day, ready to intercept any aid which Chang Tse-Lin, war lord of Manchuria, and supporter of General Lu, might dispatch to Hangchow by sea. EMBASSY PROBLEM IS STILL UNSETTLED

Russian Ambassador in Peking Hopes Property Will Be Restored Peking, Sept. 3.—Russia can not endorse all the considerations stipulated by the Peking Diplomatic Corps incident to the turning-over of the Czarist Russian Legation here to the Soviet Ambassador, L. M. Karakhan, the Ambassador from Russia to China, said to-day in a note addressed to Sir Ronald MacLeay, dean of the diplomatic corps. The communication is in answer to the general conditions laid down by the diplomatic corps in a note to Ambassador Karakhan and does not touch upon the United States reservations to the general conditions, a subject which he is treating independently. JULY 24 CONVERSATION Ambassador Karakhan did, however, refer to a conversation which he had with Minister Schurman at the United States Legation on July 24, to show that he could not endorse the diplomatic corps' note, inasmuch as "co-ordination of viewpoints preliminary to handing over the Embassy would be a contradiction of the position which I have had opportunity to expound exhaustively to Minister Schurman." The American reservations, sent to M. Karakhan later and rejected by him twice through H. Yoshizawa, as acting dean of the Peking Diplomatic Corps, agreed to the turning over of the Russian Legation to the Soviet Ambassador, with the proviso that such action did not constitute implied recognition of the Soviet Government by the United States. HOPES FOR ACTION Ambassador Karakhan expresses the belief to Sir Ronald MacLeay in his latest note that the differences do not prevent a move on the part of the diplomatic corps looking towards a method of turning over the legation to Russia.

HON. W. R. MOTHERWELL VOICES SUPPORT IN ADDRESS DELIVERED AT THE PAS

The Pas, Man., Sept. 3.—The four great natural resources of the North country—minerals, timber, fish and fur—are enough in themselves to warrant immediate completion of the Hudson Bay Railway. Hon. W. R. Motherwell, Federal Minister of Agriculture, told a large open-air gathering at a picnic here. He had just returned from a trip to the end of steel at Mile 32, Keble Rapids. "After my return from a trip of inspection over the Hudson Bay Railway as far as the end of steel at Mile 32, Keble Rapids, you will naturally expect me to tell you what my impression is of this vast and very rich country," said Mr. Motherwell. "Let me first say, without fear of contradiction, that the resources of your tremendously valuable local industries—minerals, timber, fish and fur—are, to my mind, sufficient in themselves to warrant the expenditure of the remaining necessary capital investment of approximately $5,000,000 to complete the Hudson Bay Railway and put the port of Nelson into immediate operation. I intend to go back and tell my colleagues in Ottawa just what I have told you here to-day. And you can rest assured I will not oppose the earliest completion and operation of this Western route."

YESTERDAY'S BY-ELECTIONS

BY returning the two Government candidates at yesterday's by-elections the electorate in the constituencies of Rimouski and in the St. Antoine division of Montreal gave a generous endorsement of the policies of the Mackenzie King Administration in general and a definite approval of the Quebec leadership of the Liberal Party of the Hon. Ernest Lapointe.

Of particular significance is the victory of the Government candidate in Montreal. Here the fiscal policy of the Liberal Party was the chief issue. The Hon. Walter Mitchell had resigned his seat because he found it impossible for him to reconcile his own views on the tariff question with the policy of the Government.

His protest against this part of the administration's programme, therefore, was the direct cause of yesterday's contest. Moreover, it is noteworthy that St. Antoine had been a Conservative stronghold from the time of its establishment in 1892 until the introduction of conscription in the general election of 1917 helped to turn it over to the Liberals for the first time.

That record itself might well have been used as the basis of a prophecy that yesterday's election, especially in the light of Mr. Mitchell's reason for resigning, would have resulted in St. Antoine placing itself once more in the Conservative column. But such was not the case and the country may read into the victory of the Government candidate an intimation that public feeling in a division of Canada's industrial metropolis is wholly in accord with its policies.

In Rimouski, while the tariff naturally took its place, the issue was of a more personal nature. The ancient question of conscription and Major-General Fiset's association with it when he was Deputy Minister of Militia created a diversion which St. Antoine escaped. But it can be taken for granted that the majority of the electorate in this constituency were not in the mood to be swayed by matters of no immediate concern to the welfare of the country as a whole.

THE HIGH COMMISSIONER

IT is suggested that Hon. P. C. Larkin, High Commissioner for Canada in London, will pay a visit to British Columbia before he returns to England.

We can assure him that a personal inspection at this time would furnish him with a good deal of important information which should be invaluable to him in the discharge of his duties on the other side of the Atlantic. While this Province, of course, has an exceedingly able and energetic Agent-General, supported by an excellent staff, many people who have neither the time nor the inclination to visit the respective provincial agencies endeavor to get a close view of the whole Dominion from the High Commissioner's office in Kinnaird House.

Therefore if Mr. Larkin should furnish himself with an up-to-date picture of this Province we can readily understand the useful purpose to which he could put it. Then again, the High Commissioner is much in the public eye in Britain and, by virtue of his office, is called upon to talk about Canada at many important gatherings. What more interesting subject could he choose on his return than the story of his visit to this part of the Dominion?

REAL REPRESENTATION

BY attending the assembly of the League of Nations and the representatives of Great Britain and France respectively, Premiers MacDonald and Herriot will be setting a fashion which ought to be followed by other countries with good results for themselves and for the League as a whole. This is the first occasion on which the Prime Minister of a leading country has visited the gathering and it may be regarded as the inauguration of a new and important development.

Up till the present time, distasteful as the admission may seem, several of the member states have been represented on the council of the League by delegates whose authority to act for their respective countries, while obviously official and weighty enough, has been strangely out of harmony with the intense enthusiasm which they have displayed in the League's activities and hopes. What has looked like a more or less general policy of leaving a way open to back down upon those occasions where political considerations have been threatened with conflict has merely emphasized the academic status of the League to date.

With the presence of two Prime Ministers, however, the flame of belief in the League which Lord Robert Cecil has kept alive in behalf of Great Britain, and the enthusiasm which France's representatives have shown, should reach to other countries. And it is all the more necessary that the assembly should act with courage at this session. Germany will no doubt formally apply for membership and the question of terms will have to be settled.

"WAR" IN CHINA

NEWS dispatches from China paint a warlike picture. Hints that Peking and other important cities are in danger of becoming enveloped in the operations of two military governors are already being dropped. Warships of foreign powers are figuratively standing to attention in case an emergency should develop.

China treats the world to a diversion of this kind from time to time. The present trouble differs very little from the previous conflicts which have flared up and died with very little harm done. Until China possesses a central government with reasonable authority over her millions military governors will continue to lead their underfed and unpaid troops into action which is always intended to cover up a looting campaign. Nothing short of this sort of thing will satisfy the legions upon whom these autocrats fasten themselves and retain their territorial power.

The wealthy foreign settlements offer fine prizes for the looters; but it is seldom that sectional war ardor is sufficiently keen to lead the bandits into too close a range of the guns which foreign military detachments always keep ready for action. Administration in these sections is a thing apart from Chinese jurisdiction and protection is a comparatively simple matter.

Seldom is there much bloodshed in these Chinese wars. A sort of fellow feeling exists between the warring factions. For the most part the soldiers are former bandits and since pillage is the common form of pay, an important consideration, they are slow to see the point in killing one another.

Germany wants the charge that she started the war withdrawn now that the Dawes plan has been accepted by her Government. It would be better if she dropped her request; the charge might be expunged from the chapters of history; but fundamental facts would remain stamped on the average mind.

According to the editor of The Swedish News of Winnipeg there are about a quarter of a million prospective emigrants waiting to come to Canada from Northern Europe. If they are ready for hard work and willing to become good Canadians there is plenty of room and a welcome for them.

Ever since 1916 the City of Vancouver has been discussing the advisability of providing the harbor there with a fire boat. Several costly "arguments" have been advanced during the interval which has elapsed since the agitation first began.

The Saturday Review (London, England), says that Canada was premature in taking offense at the remarks which Captain Parker of H.M.S. Repulse made in connection with Canada's naval policy. Neither The Review nor Captain Parker can settle the question; it is one for the Canadian people to deal with.

FIRE CHIEF'S GOOD WORK

From The Ontario Fire Fighter. I shall never cease to wonder at the amazing stupidity of the man who "doesn't know whether we have a good fire chief or not because he has no big fires to fight." Any fire chief who "has no big fires" is the fire chief who sees that they do not start. That's the feature of fire prevention that blinds the stupid citizen. He cannot see the absence of it. That requires imagination! Fire prevention is not spectacular. With the present building construction of about every town and city in the United States and Canada a fire chief who goes through the year without a big fire should be serenaded at New Year's and given a new car.

CITIZENSHIP WORTH PAYING FOR

From The Canadian Finance, Winnipeg. To make valuable things too cheap not only encourages indifference, but slackness. This is one of the dangers attending the trend toward paternalism in government. It places a discount upon individual and community effort and fosters the inclination toward dependency. Appreciation of, therefore, and exercise in Canadian rights, privileges, opportunities, to say nothing of the obligations, should be inculcated into the mind of every person.

ONE QUESTION SETTLED

From The St. Catharines Standard. If there is open sale of beer in Toronto, there is no open road for its transport through this city, judging by local police records this week. And that's that.

HEATHER

All my life long I had longed to see heather. In the land of my kinsmen far over the sea— Now here is heather like a wide purple ocean Rolling its tides towards me. Distant waves of it, deeper than amethyst When the gold day was begun— When the sunbeams of it, dusky and lovely, Here on the wing in the sun: Or in a gray mist, sombre and wonderful, Like a great twilight outspread. Far over earth that would meet with the heavens Purple and wild overhead. Now I am shaken by great storms of beauty Wetting my eyelids with joy of the eyes; Now in my soul like a wind-stricken sea-bird Troubling the deep with her cries! Margaret Whitehead, in "The Great Dream."

Dr. Frank Crane on "The Vampire"

NEW crimes have been recorded in recent times equal to those of a German, Frederick Haarmann, Jewish doctor and police stool pigeon of Hanover. He broke down finally, after a third degree of the local police, and confessed to a long career of blood-lust and degeneracy.

He confessed, however, to murdering "only fourteen" victims, whereas he is suspected of twenty-two persons. He is a gott-like figure and refuses to confess the motive which led him to the crimes. It seems that he led his victims to his den, homeless looking young boys, offering them a meal free at his house and afterwards upon the ramp fastened his teeth into them and sucked their blood.

Haarmann and his confederates lured these boys into his house under the promise of food and lodging and, while they were asleep, they were murdered and their bodies were either buried in the cellar or thrown into the river. His raved wilder making his confession, crying: "Behold me if you will, but for God's sake don't take me out into the street. I cannot stand their glances and the way the people glare."

The Hanover police received hundreds of pitiful letters from heart-broken mothers begging more detailed descriptions of the gruesome skulls and bones found in Haarmann's meat shop and thrown up by the river, hoping that these would reveal whether their missing sons were among Haarmann's victims. Scores of mothers arrived from all points of the country to view the clothes found in the hope of identifying those as the garments their sons wore when they were last seen. Some of these women have already identified some of the clothes as belonging to their missing sons. Sobbing and fainting, they have confronted Haarmann in his cell, who, however, without being definite mumbles wildly: "Yes, yes, I suppose I killed him," or "Yes, I knew this boy, but I was sorry for him, so I did not kill him."

It is difficult to see how a man could be guilty of such unnatural and cruel a crime. The only explanation was that he was insane. For it is difficult to imagine his victim in his right mind would do such things. As far as that is concerned, however, it is a question whether every criminal is not insane, to a degree. Sanity implies conformity to an established order and those who give themselves up to unnatural appetites are in a fair way toward insanity.

If, however, this is a form of insanity it should be looked into and society should suppress the victim for its own sake. Just what is the cause of such unnaturalness it is difficult to say. It is doubtless a lack of imagination; the insane person cannot picture to himself the suffering his victims endure, having adopted an insane idea, all his energies are bent upon the gratification of his unnatural lust. Society exists and continues only because of the certainty with which human nature reacts to given conditions. It is but right and proper that those who do not so react should first be cured and secondly isolated.

That human beings should indulge in such unnatural crimes is unbelievable were it not that the facts brought out in investigation furnish proof more invincible than could the imagination.

Naval Activity on The Great Lakes

AFTER having unsuccessfully attacked Fort Mackinac, which was held by a tiny British garrison, and then having failed to take a British blockhouse at the mouth of the Nottawasaga River, a United States squadron under Commander St. Clair and Lieut.-Col. Grogan, sailed home to Detroit on the ships, the schooner Tigress and the schooner Scorpion, were left to blockade the Nottawasaga, the only route for supplies to Fort Mackinac. They hoped to starve out the little fort they had been unable to take by assault. They cruised about in Georgian Bay, and on the 31st of August, Lieutenant Worsley's R.N. schooner Tigress, and the schooner Scorpion, were brought to Fort Mackinac from their blockhouse at the mouth of the Nottawasaga, that the two schooners were lying in the vicinity of St. Joseph, and nearly fifteen miles apart.

On the evening of September 1, a little expedition of four small boats set out to locate the enemy ships. One boat was manned by nineteen seamen under command of Lieutenant Worsley himself. The other three contained ninety-two persons, sixty officers and men of the Newfoundland Regiment commanded by Lieutenant Bulger, two artillerymen to operate a little three pound and a six-pound gun, five divisions of the Indian Department, and three Indian chiefs. Some Indians in canoes followed at a distance, but took no part in the subsequent fighting.

By the evening of September 2 this jolly little party of 112 souls, the major part of the garrison of Fort Mackinac, had rowed itself to the scene of action in St. Mary's Strait. They spent September 3, hunting for the enemy, until at 5 p.m. they sighted the Tigress six miles away. At 9 o'clock, as they approached the vessel, they were hailed, and, having no answer to give, were fired upon with muskets and a 24-pound gun. They dashed in and, in five minutes, boarded and captured her, at the cost of one seaman killed, one officer and seven men wounded. The United States schooner carried a crew of twenty-eight, of whom three were killed, and her commander and four of his men wounded.

This was not the end of this brilliant little adventure of Lieutenant Worsley's, for he sent the prisoners ashore, manned the vessel with his own men and waited under the Stars and Stripes. By the morning of September 6, the Tigress, consort, the Scorpion, had come to anchor about two miles away. In the grey dawn the Tigress ran across to her, and the redcoats boarded and captured her without resistance from her surprised and demoralized crew.

Small as the numbers in such engagements may appear, the significance of the action was great. This exploit saved the garrison at Mackinac, a little handful, holding the great West with its Indian tribes, for Britain. Situation might have been their lot, but from this time till the end of the war they were relieved from further attack or annoyance by the enemy. However, by the treaty of peace, Fort Mackinac was restored to the United States.

LAMENT

I threw the windows of my heart So wide that all might see The foolish little thoughts that came And sang themselves to me. And how was I to know that one Who had no words would see that throng And lift his careless melody To join their tinkling song? And how was I to guess that those Unconscious thoughts would see that throng Would all troop after him, and leave This sorry COLUMBIAN.

MICROBE THEORIES

To the Editor.—Mention has been made in the press of a recent visit to this Province who is best known for his discovery of the cause of the cure of Mediterranean fever. We beg for space to give some information regarding the alleged "discovery". For many years the men in the garrison at Malta were victims of fever (which, by the way, is by no means confined to Malta), they also from 1897 being 34.07 per cent. In 1907 there was a big fall in the percentage of cases, namely to 1.9. This drop has been erroneously laid to the credit of the discovery of the cause of the disease by the soldiers. The due to disgusting research on monkeys. The goat milk industry is one of the most important on the island, but, germ, micrococci melleococcus, was found in the milk and was supposed to be the cause of the outbreaks. A knightship was bestowed upon the discoverer of the germ, and thereupon the matter slumbered for years.

Now, in 1924, a Commission had been appointed from the Admiralty, Navy and Civil Government of Malta to make investigations into the cause of the fever. After lengthy enquiry it was concluded that milk was not after all the cause of the outbreaks. An advisory board, with Colonel Bruce as chairman, had also been appointed by the Royal Society. It adopted the opinions of its chairman as to the cause of the fever and an order was made forbidding the use of goat's milk by the soldiers. The civilian population drank more milk than ever, but during 1897-1905 the naval and military attack rate was forty-five times greater than the civilian. If the decline in fever had coincided with the diuse of the milk it might have been supposed that the milk was the cause of the trouble, but in the earlier part of 1906 the cases dropped from 443 to 121, and the order did not come into force until July 1, 1906. Obviously, the milk had no connection with the disease.

At this juncture a well-known medical man, Dr. Walter B. Hadwen of England, journeyed at his own expense to Malta to make investigations. He had no trouble in discovering the cause of the fever. The barracks had been in a notoriously unhealthy condition and when the bulk of the garrison was moved to the new quarters the fever abated, the decline taking place before the goat's milk was prohibited. There was a decline in the navy cases; as the filthy, unsanitary harbor conditions in Malta had been ruined by the pronouncement made against it. Dr. Hadwen proved conclusively that fever was not the result of drinking goat's milk, but of terribly unsanitary conditions. Encumbrances were heaped upon him by leading politicians, medical men and interested persons, the entire story of his findings, historical, medical and statistical, having appeared in the Contemporary Review, August-November, 1909. The history of Malta fever, which occurs in places where goat's milk is never used, is simply an example of the ridiculous credence given to the unproved and fast-trotting theory that germs cause disease, which occurs in places pointed out in Dr. Hadwen's articles were eventually remedied and the fever has abated.

While writing on this subject, we should like to mention that a convention of medical men was recently held in Ottawa. The three reasons, according to the Montreal Gazette, for the presence of the British delegates are not inspiring. They are: (1) The need of affiliation between the Canadian and British Medical ERA OF PROSPERITY IN BRITISH COLONY Hongkong Tramways Traffic Doubles, Owing to Growth of Colony The remarkable progress made in the street transportation of Hongkong was described by W. E. Roberts to The Times last evening on his arrival on the "Empress of Australia". Mr. Roberts held the position of secretary and business manager of the Hongkong Tramways for some years and has just returned from the position to accept a transportation post in the Old Country. During the time that he has held the position he has seen the passenger travel grow from 12,000,000 to 25,000,000 passengers per annum, which in view of the population of the colony is a remarkable one. This condition he sets down to two causes: First, the increase in population due to the movement of Chinese from the southern provinces to Hongkong, owing to the desire to secure protection for their trade under the British flag; and secondly to a campaign of education for the use of the cars by the native population. Hongkong, stated Mr. Roberts, who proceeded directly East, is now one of the most promising cities of Southern China, and is benefitting from the closer relation between the Mainland and the islands of the East Indies and the Philippines. He expressed his regret that his plans prevented him spending some time in Canada, for although he has crossed the country several times, he has not been able to stay off in British Columbia yet.

A FEW QUESTIONS FOR TRAVELERS

To the Editor.—The gentleman allows the lady to take the vacant seat. Quite right. But what is the lady's part when she is young and strong and the gentleman old and feeble-looking? Have our young ladies thought this out, and play the considerate and humane role rather than the merely conventional? Among passengers are what we may call fresh air fiends. Should not these make it a rule to sit in the rear end of the car, so as not to expose the passengers behind them to a (to them) chilly, and sometimes dangerous draft from the open window? Why should the smoker need to be reasoned with so often? Has he really, as many non-smokers believe, become quite inconsiderate, if not selfish, in his habit? Not long since the local street cars had conspicuous warnings that, unless the smoker kept within the limit of his back-seat privilege, even that would be withdrawn. Better put the warnings up again. The writer does not see that there is really much concession to the non-smoker even when the back-seat rule is well observed, and believes that even the greatest slave to the weed cannot, if he would, dispense altogether with his "comfort" on public cars, as well as in cafes and other public buildings. Why, then, does the gentleman enough to do it—his habit?

EXPENSIVE LAWS

"One of the biggest curses of Canada to-day is our tendency to law-making. For four or five months in every year, the Federal House does practically little else but add more laws to our already over-burdened statute books," continued the speaker, who then proceeded to show the tremendous cost involved in the interpretation and enforcement of the laws, quoting the salaries of the judiciary.

ROYAL COMMISSIONS

The prevalence of expensive Royal Commissions was also deplored, the speaker pointing out that during the last session of the Federal House no fewer than thirteen Royal Commissions were engaged in one cause or another, all at tremendous cost.

GLORIA PLAYS ROLE OF QUEEN IN FILM, "HER LOVE STORY"

"Uneasy lies the head that wears a crown." When Shakespeare wrote that classic line he little dreamed that a few hundred years later Mary Roberts Rinehart would echo that sentiment in a story called "Her Majesty, the Queen." It is also doubtful if Bill realized that Allan Dwan would produce a screen play based upon this story, and starring none other than Gloria Swanson.

But that is exactly what has happened! And in the picture, "Her Love Story," at the Dominion Theatre all this week local film fans will have an opportunity to see Gloria Swanson as a Queen! It is somewhat surprising to learn that in her long and varied screen career this is the first time that she has essayed this type of role. We have seen her as a society woman, a French girl, and in "Manhanded" she appeared as a New York shop-girl. And yet, if there is any luminosity on the silver sheet who looks every inch a queen, surely it is Gloria Swanson!

 "Her Love Story," adapted to the screen by Frank Purdy, is a poignantly dramatic tale of love and mother love in the atmosphere of royalty, and proves that Kings and Queens are just like common mortals. Incidentally the photoplay shows that kingdoms and crowns are fast becoming relics of a bygone age.

If you have ever had a hankering to see what real dukes and earls and duchesses look like, don't fail to see this picture. Allan Dwan, the director, is a stickler for realism, and he insisted that the casting department provide him with genuine blue-blooded aristocrats, who could act for the various supporting parts.

Beside these, of course, there are such well known players as Ian Keith, George Fawcett, Mario Majeroni, and Donald Hall.

"Her Love Story" should satisfy everybody to the queen's taste!

GREAT CAST FOR NEGRIS LATEST NOW AT CAPITOL

Dimitri Buchowetzki, the Russian director, has made his second American film for Paramount, "Lily of the Dust," starring Pola Negri.

The cast chosen to support Pola Negri in "Lily of the Dust" is evidence that Buchowetzki practices what he preaches. Ben Lyon, Noah Beery and Raymond Griffith are the three leading players. William Kelly and Jeanette Daudet are also included in the cast.

"Lily of the Dust," acclaimed by all who have seen it as the greatest picture Pola Negri has ever appeared in, comes to the Capitol Theatre this week.

OLD BILL PASSES THROUGH VARIOUS HISTORIC PERIODS

"Old Bill Through the Ages" now showing at the Columbia Theatre starts with William the Conqueror, and passes through the King John period, the spacious days of Queen Elizabeth, the Roundhead and Cavalier time, and the days of the "Merry Monarch." In the course of the picture Old Bill appears, among other characters, as William the Conqueror, a Baron in the reign of King John, a courtier at the palace of Queen

Elizabeth, a sour-faced Puritan, and a jolly Cavalier.
 Such famous personages as King John, Queen Elizabeth, Shakespeare, Drake, Charles II, etc., also figure in the film.
 All these characters, though played burlesque fashion, are made up with an extraordinary truth to the originals—thanks to the skill and untiring labors of the producer, Thomas Bentley.

What is perhaps one of the most awe-inspiring scenes ever recorded by the motion picture camera is seen in "Blind Husbands," the Universal photodrama of the Tyrolean Alps, which is now at the Pantages American.
 The photodrama stars Eric von Stroheim, who also wrote and directed the story.
 Von Stroheim depicts the role of Lieutenant von Steuben of the Austrian army. He goes to a fashionable Alpine resort to prey on all womankind.
 Through the suave mock courtesy and strictest attention to her smallest wants he breaks down the barrier of an American widow's resistance and leads her into a mild flirtation.
 Falling to ruin the beautiful American girl, although he nearly accomplishes his vile purpose, von Steuben directs his attention to the humble girls of the Alpine village.
 His downfall comes when he launches his puny strength against the might of the eternal mountains.
 Supporting Stroheim is the beautiful Francazia Billington and a cast of widely known Universal players.

LLOYD WHITLOCK WOULD RATHER BE VILLAIN AND EAT

"I would rather be a well-fed villain than a hungry hero any time." That is Lloyd Whitlock's answer to the question of whether an actor accustomed to portraying hero roles can afford to turn villain occasionally.
 "I have played both kind of roles and I expect to continue to do so," Mr. Whitlock asserts.
 He plays the role of a villain in James Whitcomb Riley's "An Old Sweetheart of Mine," now at the Playhouse Theatre. The famous poem was adapted for the screen by Louis Duryea Lighton and produced for Metro by Harry Garson. The photoplay was done by L. William O'Connell and the lighting effects were planned by Harry Collins. Joseph Wright was art director.

BUILDINGS GOING UP IN SOOKE DISTRICT

As a result of a building bee on Labor Day to rush to completion temporary quarters for forty workmen of the Star Construction Company a frame structure 22x22 was started and the walls nearly completed ready for the roof to be put on. Another bee will be held Saturday, when it is expected to complete the work. The building will contain a dining-room and kitchen and a large auditorium on the top floor. Ten houses have been started to accommodate the workmen employed in the fish meal and fish oil plant at Sooke Spit, which was recently taken over from the Province Government by the company, and if the venture proves the success that it promises to be, permanent homes will replace the tents. Contracts have already been made for the erection of three small homes and clearing has commenced for the foundation work.
 In addition to the gang of men employed in the fish plant, another gang has been started on pulp wood, and good quantities have been taken out and stacked ready for shipment. Success has attended the fishing operations, and shipments of pure dog fish oil and meal will be made within a few weeks. There is one dog-fish line over a mile long with 1,500 hooks, and a recent catch produced a fish to every two or three hooks in a few minutes. The company has purchased seventy-five acres and rented twenty-five acres at Sooke. They have also shipped in sixteen head of cattle and six horses.

GARDENERS TO PICNIC AT SIDNEY EXPERIMENTAL FARM

The Victoria District Gardeners held their regular monthly meeting at the City Hall last evening. W. J. Edwards presiding. Final arrangements were made for the annual picnic which takes place on September 6 at the Experimental Farm. Special rates and service are being given by the B.C. Electric, the train leaving the interurban Station at 2 o'clock, returning at 7 o'clock. The superintendent of the farm, Professor E. M. Straight, has kindly consented for members of the staff to demonstrate in their various departments including poultry, bees, fruits and field crops. Anyone interested is cordially invited to participate in the picnic. Tickets should be obtained from the secretary, F. E. Boulter, telephone 943L. Arrangements are also being made for the entertainment of the children, in the way of sports and ice cream. All members are urged to secure their tickets at the earliest convenience so that satisfactory arrangements can be made with the B.C. Electric.
 It was also decided to hold the annual social evening on Monday, September 22, when the prizes won in the recent home garden competition, including the Marchant Cup, will be presented to the successful competitors. The winners in the monthly competition last evening were H. W. Cooper, twenty-two points; George Strawford, sixteen points, and William Christie, fourteen points. The competition was close and the prizes will be distributed at the social. Further particulars regarding this evening will be furnished at a later date.

Ty Arbor, of Edmonton, To Play With Cougars

Spectacular Wing Player of Eskimos Will Appear in Victoria Uniform This Season; Archie Briden Figures in Deal Completed With Edmonton; "Spunk" Sparrow Purchased by Calgary; the Offside Rule.

Ty Arbor, one of the fastest skaters and most dangerous shots in the Western Canada Hockey League, is to wear a Victoria uniform this winter.

Lester Patrick, manager of the Cougars, announced this morning that he had completed a deal whereby Arbor will change his domicile from the Alberta capital to the seat of government in British Columbia.

Arbor has been a member of the Edmonton Eskimos for several seasons and has built up a great reputation for himself. His brother Jack, who is considerably behind Ty as a hockey player, was with the Seattle Mets last year.

The local fans will recall, perhaps with unpleasant memories, the black-haired, dark-skinned Ty who last season was instrumental in paving the way for one of the Cougars' lickings in the Victoria arena. The teams were scotching along on even terms in the third period when this flying Frenchman galloped in from nowhere, picked up loose puck in front of the net and beat Fowler for the goal that meant victory.

A GOOD GOAL GETTER

Arbor has always been right up among the leading goal-scoring in the W.C.H.L. He is a left-handed shot and is seen back-checker. He is game and a stickler.

Lester Patrick announced that Archie Briden, who came to Victoria towards the close of last season, had been used in the deal for Arbor. Briden, who joined Seattle three years ago, was sent to Victoria when Jim Riley decided to leave the Mets. Briden bolstered the Cougars and scored more goals for them than he had done for the Seattle previous part of the season. Briden, however, expressed a desire to play in Edmonton, being anxious to go there before coming to Victoria. Lester thinks that he has arranged a good deal and believes that Arbor will materially help to build up a better combination on the forward line.

Lester would not announce what other players he was making for the building up of his hockey team for the 1924-25 campaign.

Calgary, Sept. 3.—Spunk Sparrow has been signed by Lloyd Turner of the Tigers, and will be placed in the centre ice as relief man for Bernie Morris.

Hockey deals and prospective trades are all the talk of the city these days. Rumor has it that the Seattle team is reported going to one club and next day another has the news. It all goes to show the keenness of the fans' appetite for the great ice game. Fans throughout the circuit look for the greatest season in the league's history.

Special to The Times

Calgary, Sept. 3.—"What there is to be done in the way of hockey this year," summed up by one of the most sensible thinking hockey critics could take exception to more than I can understand," remarked E. L. Richards, president of the Western Canada League. "I think it is one of the finest innovations hockey has known in many years, and it will certainly help to make the game and simplify the matter of the refereeing to a marked degree.

"This is an act of advancement, and I think the Patriarchs are to be congratulated on some of the excellent improvements their new rules have effected. The new rules will permit any defending player to shoot the puck forward as far as the blue line at his end of the ice, and it can be accepted there. No matter beyond that first blue line at his end of the ice, and it can be accepted there. No pass beyond that first blue line, however, is allowed. In the centre area, the forward passing continues as usual. Attacking players have the same privilege, but it is not permissible to make passes, unless all attacking players are back of the puck-carrier when he crosses the blue line of the defending club. Once the puck is in play, everything goes on as usual, whether it be by the attacking or defending team."

HOW IT WORKS

"Under the former rules any player on the defending side who shot the puck ahead, even by a very small degree, meant a faceoff for forward passing. The new rule will permit any defending player to shoot the puck forward as far as the blue line at his end of the ice, and it can be accepted there. No matter beyond that first blue line at his end of the ice, and it can be accepted there. No pass beyond that first blue line, however, is allowed. In the centre area, the forward passing continues as usual. Attacking players have the same privilege, but it is not permissible to make passes, unless all attacking players are back of the puck-carrier when he crosses the blue line of the defending club. Once the puck is in play, everything goes on as usual, whether it be by the attacking or defending team."

TEN MEN IN UNIFORM

President Richardson then commented on the matter of players and the number that can be carried and dressed for each game by a club. He

Australia Meets France In Davis Cup Series Soon

Thrilling Matches Expected to Determine Which Nation Shall Challenge U.S.

Tilden Unable to Predict Winner; States Will Have Task to Keep Cup

By WILLIAM TILDEN

Three nations out of twenty-four remain in the Davis Cup competition. France emerged victorious from the big entry in the European zone, while Australia won America. So these two will meet the end of the first week in September at Boston, to determine who will challenge the defending champion, the United States.

On the other hand, after a most unimpressive early season in America, the Australian team found itself and swept impressively through the American singles and doubles. Patterson is playing well and when he does there is trouble ahead for any player. Brookes and O'Hara Wood, while not the equal of Patterson at his best in singles, are dangerous and may come through with a victory against France.

I cannot see that there is much to choose between the two interzone finalists, but I am convinced that no matter what happens in the United States faces a serious battle in the challenge round.

I have been West all Summer, and have not seen Johnston, Richards or Williams play on grass this year. Frankly, I was surprised and almost stunned by Johnston's loss at Rea; bright to Howard Kinsey. Can it be that Little Bill is really slipping? I could not think it until that match and even yet am very loath to believe it. However, let us face the truth. Suppose Johnston has really slipped. That means his two points in singles are not the certainties they have always been in the past. I believe he will win both, but we must take into consideration the possibility of the loss of one.

When it became apparent that some of the boys were trying to get the C.P.R. out of their righteous chance of a third smack at the championship of the dyed-in-the-wool ball fans here got their dander up and decided to go out and see that the C.P.R. had a good time on the diamond at the Athletic Park, Vancouver, to-morrow afternoon at 5 o'clock.

The Chamber of Commerce rallied to the aid of the ball team and the bosses, who employ the athletes, came forward and told their help to take an extra holiday out of this week. At first it was thought that it would be asking too much to get some of the boys away from their jobs but when the bosses learned that Victoria had such a good chance to win the title and that the team was going to the States, the C.P.R. breaks from those who run baseball on the mainland they just called the boys in and told them to go out and beat 'em good.

TEAM IS FIT AND READY

The C.P.R. team is as fit as a saxophone to make the Hammond Cedars realize that there is a club on Vancouver Island just as good as they are. The Cedars thought they had a bunch of kindergarten kids to attend to after Saturday's exhibition here, but when the C.P.R. got through with the part-time lumber kings on Monday they began to realize that they faced opposition about as keen as the Giants or Yankees.

Let me tell you though, boy," remarked Jimmy this morning in his happy way. "We're going over to see those Cedars play the game of their life. I suppose they'll chuck Olson, their right-hander, at us but we've got a right-hander that's just as good as his is and his name is Matty Malcom. It looks to me as though the team that makes the most errors is going to lose. Both pitchers are ace-high and its just a question of how the infield and outfield will stack up behind the hurlers. I look for a great game and I hope we win. I know that the boys will do their best."

THE LAYOUT

Art Minnis will do the catching for the C.P.R. and Malcom will have the twisters. Haley Jackson, hitting monarch of the Island, will be on first and the Cambell boys will each have a station in the infield. Faulkner being at second and Colin at third. Harry Copas, the sweet fielding shortstop, will complete the infield. In the gardens will be stationed Roy Copas, Dave Richards and Bill Moore. Bob Whyte, veteran of many campaigns, is going along with the boys as well as Chas. Birkenhau, Nachtrieb and Saunders. All will be available in case of accidents, emergencies or a cry for water.

The fans will watch with interest the outcome of this struggle. said that there is no limitation of the number of players a team may carry, but it is stipulated that more than ten men can be dressed for each game. Last season the Western Canada League had the same penalty, but the Coast League only allowed nine men in uniform and there was a dispute in the inter-league playoff as to how many men could be dressed, which resulted in a rather unfriendly tangle at the last moment.

Portland, Sept. 3.—Joe Simonich of Butte won handily from Alex Tremblay of Los Angeles last night in ten rounds.

Calgary Athletics Win Amateur Ball Title of Alberta

Calgary, Alta., Sept. 3.—Although the Calgary Athletics are amateur baseball champions of the Province, no date has yet been set for the series which will decide the championship of the West. The Athletics defeated Letbridge, 25-9 and 18-6 in the last two games of the championship series, winning the series by three games to one.

Dario Resta, Noted Auto Racing Driver, Killed in England

Brooklands, Eng., Sept. 3.—Dario Resta, famous auto racing driver, was killed to-day while attempting to establish a new world's record. The car, Resta's Grand Prix Sunbeam, plunged from the track on the straightaway paralleling the railway track during the second lap. The wreckage caught fire and the car was destroyed. Resta only recently arrived from the United States.

David Black Winner of Washington Title With Taylor Second

Everett, Sept. 3.—David Black of Vancouver, B.C., professional, yesterday won the Washington State open golf championship over the links of the Everett Golf and Country Club, when he completed the seventy-two hole medal play tournament in 80 strokes. Jack Westland, Everett, won the honor for the best amateur golfer with a 297 score, tying with John Jones, Seattle, and Phil Taylor, Victoria, professionals, for second place in the main event.

WON AS HE PLEASED

At this juncture it seemed likely that an approaching storm would interrupt the match, but Tilden, seemingly desirous of ending the contest, resorted to a double backhand with astonishing ease. Johnston took but six points while Tilden sent over a withering hail of breaking forehands and cannonball service aces.

A FOUL BLOW

Los Angeles, Sept. 3.—Bert Colima, claimant to the Pacific Coast middleweight championship, lost to Bob Sage on a foul in the first round of a scheduled four-round main event at Vernon Arena last night. They were mixing at close quarters about the middle of the round, when Colima suddenly slipped over a right which the referee said caught the Detroit attorney below the belt. Sage was carried to his corner, suffering acutely.

EVENING MEALS OFF

Evening meals will no longer be served at the Victoria Golf Club, according to an announcement made yesterday.

Brooklyn Is Giving Giants Awful Scare

Only Two Games Behind New York and One Back of Pittsburg and Going Very Strong; Detroit is Practically Out of American League Race

With Washington One and a Half Games in Front of Yankees; Great Races

New York, Sept. 3.—Brooklyn, the John Alden of the National League, has abandoned its suit to Miss Pennant for the Giants and is speaking for itself. Through the season Brooklyn obligingly lost game after game to the Giants.

But still the Giants were bashful, Brooklyn, heeding the urging of Dazzy Vance, finally began to speak for itself. The Robins have won 13 of the last 25 games played, have picked nine contests off the Giant lead in three weeks and to-day are only two contests behind the leaders and one back of Pittsburg in second.

"Big Bill" Is Too Good and Cunning For "Little Bill"

Johnson Helpless Before Slashing Attack of Tilden; Again Tennis Champ

Forest Hills, Sept. 3.—Wm. T. Tilden II is the American king of tennis. The Philadelphia racketeer had removed any doubts on this score when he swept to victory yesterday afternoon over his veteran Californian rival, William M. Johnston, and won the national singles championship for the fifth successive year before a gallery of 7,000. It took Tilden forty-eight minutes to batter Johnston's little opponent into submission by scores of 6-1, 3-7, 6-2, and establish not only his pre-eminent position among American stars, but recognition also as the world's champion.

To-day Tilden was the master, rising to super-tennis of the type which he can inflict, before a triumph stamping him beyond the last lingering doubt as the world's greatest—one of the most dominant figures any branch of sport has ever known.

Resta was instantly killed when his racer plunged through the iron fence bordering the track. The wreckage caught fire and the car was destroyed. Resta only recently arrived from the United States.

JOHNSTON HELPLESS

When he chose to unleash the full battery of his dazzling strokes Tilden had Johnson helpless. The withering shot that had blasted Patterson off the courts yesterday had done the same to Johnston. He had many brilliant duels at the net and from back court, but invariably these ended with a straightening of the side lines by the champion. Under this deadly fire Johnston wilted.

INDIANS WIN EASILY

St. Louis, Sept. 3.—Tris Speaker's Indians easily defeated St. Louis yesterday, taking the third game of the series 12 to 4.

DETROIT GOES DOWN

Chicago, Sept. 3.—Detroit's championship aspirations were severely lacerated by a double header yesterday when the locals captured both games of a double-header, 6 to 2 and 5 to 5.

NATIONAL LEAGUE

Boston, Sept. 3.—New York and Boston split even in a double header yesterday. Behind Cooney's effective southpaw pitching the Braves won the opener 7 to 3. Then McQuillan held Boston to 10 in the second and the Giants won 10 to 3.

TWO FOR BROOKLYN

Philadelphia, Sept. 3.—Brooklyn took both ends of their double-header with Philadelphia yesterday, winning the first 12 to 9 in ten innings and the second 4 to 3, thereby cutting the Giant lead to two games. Heavy rain halted the second game in the sixth.

INTERNATIONAL LEAGUE

Newark, at Jersey City, rain. Buffalo 2, Toronto 5. Detroit 2, Baltimore 2, Reading 6.

AMERICAN ASSOCIATION

Louisville 7, Columbus 3. Indianapolis 5, Toledo 5. Only two games scheduled.

CALGARY GOLFER WINS

Edmonton, Sept. 3.—Douglas Loughheed, the youthful star of the Calgary Golf and Country Club, captured the Alberta golf championship by defeating A. Carson McWilliams of Calgary four up and three to go in the final, which was played yesterday at the Mayfair course.

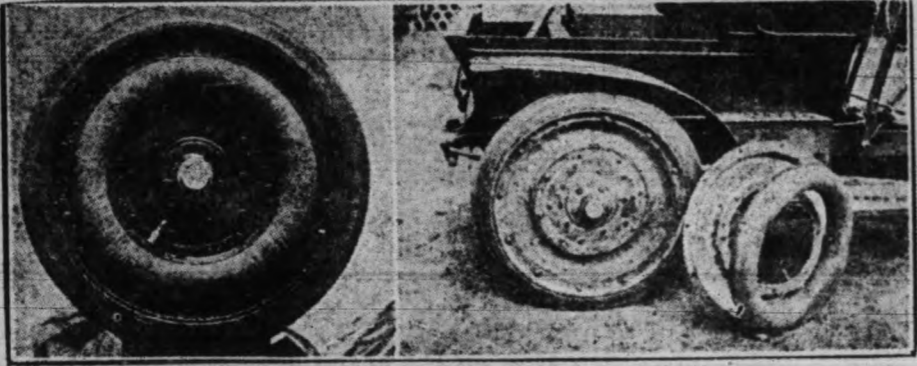

THE KIND OF GIRL FOR YOU—Mrs. Herbert Sheets of Quinton, N.J., who has been baking bread in this pan and stove since Washington's Birthday in 1863 when her husband gave them to her as a bridal present. Cooking three meals a day, seven days a week, she has prepared $7,000 meals.

SHATTERS ANOTHER RECORD—Charles W. Paddock, sensational California runner, at the finish of the 250-yard special event at Traversa Island, N.Y., in which he broke a world's record of thirty-six years' standing by stepping the distance in 15 2-8.

TWO DIFFERENT PARTLY ASSEMBLED VIEWS OF THE LATEST FRENCH WHEEL—The ring in which the inner tube is carried is of rubber fabric construction, like the present shoe; but it is in a place where punctures and road-blowouts are impossible. Also it is claimed to give better cushioning there than when it is outside the rim.

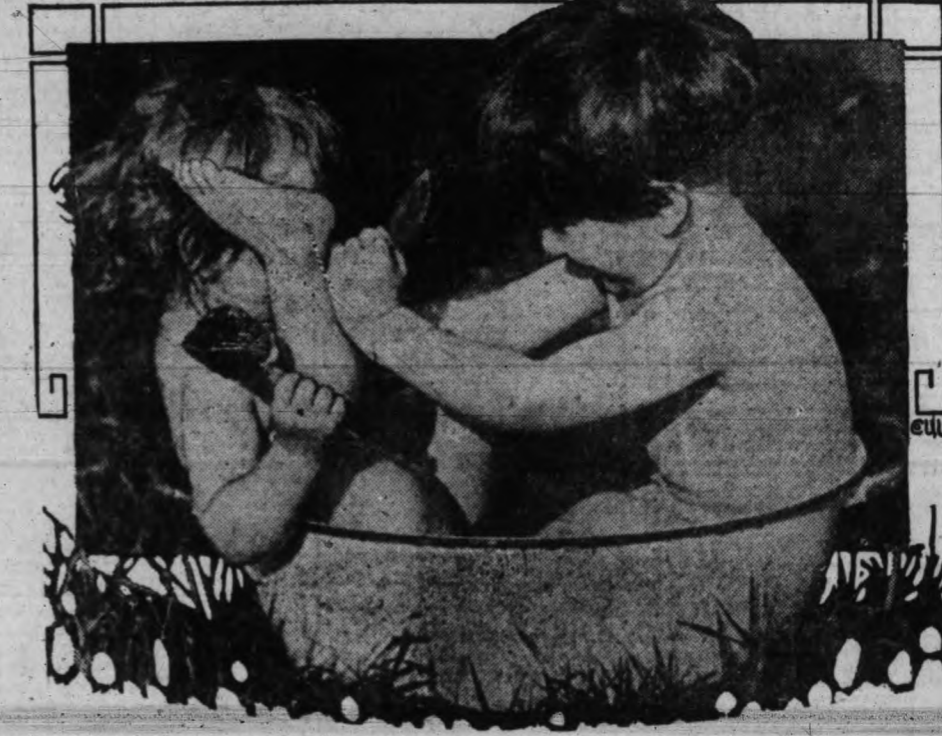

QUELLING "RED" UPRISINGS—Berlin police are carrying an abbreviated sort of machine gun now. They use them in breaking up communistic gatherings. Here an officer armed with one, is seen arresting an agitator.

MANAGE EUROPE'S FINANCES—Seymour Parker Gilbert, recently U.S. under-secretary of the treasury, who is now mentioned as permanent agent-general in charge of the operation of the Dawes scheme in Europe.

SAVES BROKEN NECK—When Louis Henderson, former Toronto resident and now of Dewitt, Iowa, fell while carrying a bunch of shingles up a ladder, doctors pronounced his neck broken. Fortunately the break did not pierce the cords of the neck, and physicians in the Clinton, Ia., hospital constructed the special steel and plaster paris cast shown above, in which he was encased many months, it finally being removed, entirely cured.

IT'S THEIR FIRST QUARREL!—These little lovers are having their first fight. But it hadn't ought to last long. Kids, like them, usually manage to patch up their differences in a hurry.

The Surprising Sex

By MILDRED BARBOUR—Author of "Love Stakes," Etc.

Her unsuspecting mother was well looked after for the evening. Mrs. Kearney had run in after supper, and the two were deep in a game of cribbage. The invalid had made no demer when Anna announced her intention of taking a walk in the cool of the evening after the intense heat of the day, but a little knowing smile had played about Mrs. Kearney's thin lips. For a moment Anna had feared she would make one of her seemingly innocent, barbed remarks, which would acquaint Mrs. Denniston with Blake's return to town.

Her heart quickened a beat when Blake came to her through the warm, scented dusk. She recognized his tall, broad-shouldered figure, his quick stride, the proud carriage of his head, the spot where she met him was quite secluded. The willows formed a screen. They could scarcely discern each other's features in the gloom.

Anna, ignoring his friendly outstretched hand, went straight into his arms.

It was sometime later, when they were sitting side by side on a rustic bench under the willow and Anna's hand had somehow thrust itself into his, that Blake's reaction against her tender greeting set in.

No man could honestly say that her soft, warm, fragrant, clinging body in his arms was not pleasant, nor fall to thrill to the red lips so generously offered him. But Blake had fastidious tastes. He didn't fancy a tryst in a public park, no matter how secluded it might be. Nor—being a normal man with a normal liking for adventure—could he find piquancy in kisses he didn't have to seek.

Anna was quick to sense his distaste. It made her rage inwardly, but she gave no outer sign, except to withdraw her hand and commence to talk about his career. She asked eager, interested questions, listened charmingly, was flattering and solicitous by turns, so that Blake soon forgot his discomfort and rejoiced to find himself again possessed of a sympathetic woman friend.

Anna was wise enough not to surfeit him, even with this sedation. She rose after a short interval, reminding him that it was time she was returning, else she would have to give an account of her absence. He asked politely after the health of the invalid, and Anna informed him that there was no appreciable change. But beneath the formality of their words there persisted in the consciousness of each the realization of how vitally their own lives were affected by the state of Mrs. Denniston's health.

Before they parted on the edge of the park Anna said the thing she had been wanting to say ever since they met.

"I saw your little ward this morning when I was passing your house. She's quite charming, isn't she? But she's much more mature than I thought. Do you think—she hesitated briefly—"Is it wise for you to keep such a grown-up girl in a bachelor menage?"

"What do you mean?" he asked quickly.

"Well—people do talk, you know, reluctantly."

"Ridiculous! She's young enough to be my daughter, and besides, Mrs. Ames' presence is formidable enough to satisfy Madam Grundy."

"I suppose so," admitted Anna in a tone which said plainly that she didn't think it. "But you must be very careful, John. Your career, your name. Men in private life can do things without criticism that others, in your position, could never get away with."

He frowned sharply.

"I wish you wouldn't say such things, Anna. I am not trying to get away with anything, as you call it. I am Julie's unofficial guardian, because my oldest and best friend wished it. I intend to adopt her legally, if she has no objections."

"Anna laid a conciliatory hand on his arm.

"Please—don't be cross with me," she pleaded softly. "I have only your well-being at heart. We are such old friends—and sometimes a woman sees more clearly than a man—"

They parted amicably, but Blake was still frowning when he let himself into his house with his hat chkey.

A light was burning in Julie's sitting-room upstairs, and at his step in the hall she appeared at the top of the stairs, clutching a negligee about her, her yellow eyes glittering with excitement.

"John—the strangest thing has happened. For the first time tonight I opened Dad's unfinished manuscript. I was going to read it again. And I found a letter, sealed and addressed to you. Here it is!"

THE LETTER

Blake took the letter. Julie had found in Latimer's unfinished manuscript into the library for perusal. He was going to read it again. And I found a letter, sealed and addressed to you. Here it is!"

before Latimer's death. It began simply: "Dear John:

"Some inner prescience tells me that this letter which I have long intended to write, had best be written to-day. To-morrow may be too late. God knows, I hope not! I had wanted to finish—but enough of that. I must get on to business.

"As you know, when I to my little Julie will be quite alone in a world which will not be likely to deal kindly with her, because someone before her made a sad mistake. The fault was mine—but no matter! You have promised me to care for her. Nothing can shake my confidence, or distress me, with doubts of that.

"But, John, I want to ask more for my little girl than your guardianship. Perhaps I am selfish and have no right. Certainly, if you can not see fit to do it without distress to yourself, forget that I asked it.

"Will you make Julie your wife?"

The letter dropped from Blake's hand in his astonishment. For a moment he stared straight before him while the astounding request seeped into his consciousness.

Then, with tightened lips, he read on:

"I would not ask this if you were a man who might marry normally. But you have never seemed to care for women. In all the years of our friendship, I have never known you to love or want a woman, with one possible exception, an exception which, in an old man's humble, and perhaps impertinent, opinion, is not quite worthy, or best, for you.

Blake's eyes were grim. So Latimer had known of Anna and disappeared silently. How marvelous the man had been—how intuitive, for all his solitary existence!

"So," the letter continued, "I dare ask you to look with favor upon my child! She is sweet and gentle, a good, obedient girl who has been given the best fruits of my brain and experience. You know her almost as well as I do—she is experienced beyond her years in some things that books and older contacts could give her—pitifully young and untrained in others. You can mold her as you will. She will be faithful and true. I know that. I was to blame for what her mother did. It doesn't concern Julie. Forget it, if you can, and keep the knowledge from her, as I have done.

"If my dear friend, I am asking something which is impossible, destroy this letter and forgive a presumptuous old man. If not, take her and dwell in the consciousness that you have brought peace and eternal rest to me.

"God bless you both.

"HORACE LATIMER"

Blake sat very still for a long time after he had finished reading the letter. His brows were drawn in the old familiar frown, his lips, grim, thoughtful.

The clock on the mantel ticked importantly. Outside, in the garden, the cricket chorus disturbed the silence of the summer night. Peter, prowling along the hedge, emitted a mournful howl.

After a while Blake started forward in his chair as one who reaches a decision. He crushed the letter in his hand.

"Impossible!" was the wordless exclamation on his lips.

BEDTIME STORY

Uncle Wiggily and Bunty's Broom

Copyright, 1924, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate. By Howard R. Garis

"Uncle Wiggily! Uncle Wiggily!" called Baby Bunty, the little orphan rabbit girl, as she saw the bunnym gentleman hopping away from his seashore driftwood bungalow one day. "Wait a minute, please!"

"What is it, Bunty?" asked Mr. Longears, turning so that she could see his pink nose twinkle, which was always a cheerful sight.

"Will you please bring me a box of salt water taffy when you come back Uncle Wiggily?" asked Baby Bunty.

"Oh, yes, I think so," answered the rabbit uncle. "You like popcorn, don't you Bunty?"

"Oh, yes, Uncle Wiggily," laughed the little orphan. "But I didn't say popcorn—I said taffy. You are so absent minded! But if you wish to bring popcorn as well as taffy, I don't mind!" and Bunty laughed a jolly laugh.

"I'll take my broom and sweep my room," said Bunty. It was wrong to forget, but, better late than never. She lifted up the broom, and, lo and behold, as they say in fairy stories! Behind the broom in a paper bag was a lovely red popcorn ball and a lot of jelly beans and salt water taffy.

"Oh, goodie! Goodie!" joyfully laughed Bunty. "I'm glad I thought of taking my broom to sweep my room! Uncle Wiggily must have put the candy and popcorn there on purpose. Isn't he the funny old rabbit?"

Down stairs Mr. Longears and Nurse Jane looked at one another and smiled. Everything was all right now. And if the roller skate doesn't toddle off by itself and try to turn into a fiver, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and Jackie's shoes.

"Well, I'll see about it," said Uncle Wiggily and he gave his pink nose another twinkle and hopped off down the beach.

Bunty went back in the driftwood bungalow where she was visiting Uncle Wiggily and his muskrat lady housekeeper, and when Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy heard Bunty tripping up the steps, the housekeeper said: "Bunty, please take your little broom and sweep your room. And make it neat and tidy before you go out to play and bathe in the ocean. Always leave your room tidy before you go away, Bunty."

"Yes'm," murmured the little orphan rabbit girl, but I am afraid she

Oh, did he bring me the popcorn and candy? she asked.

BRIDGES IN REPAIR; CHILDREN GO ROUND

Duncan, Sept. 3 (Special to The Times)—The opening of the Duncan Consolidated School on Tuesday brought confusion to many children along the bus routes. Several of the bridges which were to have been mended or reconstructed last week have not been finished, consequently the busses in one or two instances have to go considerably out of their way, and children to make connections have to walk considerably far-

Your child's toothache is your fault

Children's teeth should not decay. They should not ache, fall out early, or have to be pulled. When they do, it is because you have failed to teach the use of the right brush in the right way.

Teach your child the Pro-phy-lac-tic habit early in life. The Small Size Pro-phy-lac-tic, with all the famous Pro-phy-lac-tic features, is especially suitable for children. It prevents decay. It saves the expense of middle-of-the-night toothache. Keep your child's teeth clean with a Pro-phy-lac-tic, for A Clean Tooth Never Decays.

Sold every where in Canada and all over the world. Prices are: Pro-phy-lac-tic De Luxe, 75c; Pro-phy-lac-tic Adult, 65c; Small Size, 50c; Pro-phy-lac-tic Baby, 35c; Dental Plate brush, 65c. Each is made in three different textures of bristles, hard, medium, and soft. Send for "Tooth Truths," our interesting booklet on tooth trouble and how to prevent it.
