

BANDITS STILL AT LARGE; SEE PRESIDENTIAL FAIR OF NEGRO, CHARGED WITH BY JANITOR OF COURTHOUSE SINGLE TERM ASSAULT, IS IN HANDS OF JURY

MEN TALLYING DESCRIPTION TRY HOLD-UP

Chase John Persson's Auto on Road in Cascade Park.

Two Suspects Arrested But Not Identified as Men Wanted.

Henricksen Is Recovering From Beating; Loss Less Than First Reported.

John Persson, courthouse janitor, believes that two men who attempted to hold up his auto in Cascade park last evening, were the men wanted for yesterday's daylight diamond robbery at the Hennricksen jewelry store, 321 West First street.

Persson lives at Pike Lake and drives a Ford car and from his work at the courthouse about 8:30 o'clock while driving on the city, two men in Cascade park shot at him to stop his car. The automobile was climbing the hill curve at the park and was at a point between Fifth and Sixth streets.

When Persson saw that the men were strangers he speeded up and although they pursued the car for a short distance they were unable to overtake him.

Persson told the sheriff today that he had later read the descriptions of the two men in the Herald last night and that the janitors who had attempted to hold up his car tallied exactly to the descriptions.

Bandits Still at Large.

The two bandits are still at large. Two suspects, who were picked up at the Union depot last night, are not the men wanted nor has any of the other suspects which officers of the police department detained on the streets at various times in the description of the bandits.

Richard Burns, alias Robert Reid, who was one of the suspects picked up at the Union depot, gave a varied story to the different officers and is being held pending investigation. He is detained on a charge of vagrancy. E. J. Blomstrom, who is assisting for the jewelry company, looked the suspect.

FEDERAL TROOPS FOR STRIKE DUTY

Chillicothe, Ohio, Nov. 27.—Four hundred and fifty soldiers of the Third and Nineteenth infantry, trained here for strike duty in Maryland yesterday, W. Va., coal strike zone. They were in command of Col. Hall of the Nineteenth infantry.

Major Conner G. Hall, of Charleston, W. Va., Nov. 27.—Mal C. Thompson of the federal staff of the fifth army area, at Fort Benjamin Harrison, Ind., reached here this morning and immediately called on Mayor Erner Worwell. An announcement was made of the purpose of his visit, but it was unofficially stated that Maj. Thompson was here in connection with the movement of federal troops to Mingo county, ordered last night by Maj. Gen. Reed.

BUTTER WILL BE CHEAPER

Eggs Will Probably Continue Higher Until Next February.

Chicago, Nov. 27.—Butter is and probably continue considerably cheaper this year than last while eggs are higher and will probably continue higher, according to J. S. Brown, Chicago representative of the United States bureau of markets in charge of dairy products.

This contrasting situation Mr. Brown attributed to a surplus of butter, due chiefly to lack of export trade, and a heavy import trade in butter, and on the other hand to an actual shortage of eggs due to small production.

"The situation in butter and eggs at the present time is a little different from that in other food commodities, because of the fact that the public is now dependent for adequate supply on stocks put away in storage months ago when prices were at high points and are therefore on that basis.

"There is a very liberal supply of storage butter in the country. There is more on hand now than at any time at this time. It is being taken out of cold storage and used as it is not being put away as rapidly as last year. Export business in butter was good in 1919 but it is poor this year. In addition butter is being received from New Zealand, Denmark and Argentina. Receipts of Danish butter have already made a heavy showing.

"Fresh butter has had at prices to cents under last year and storage butter is now losing its holder's money. Its price continues to decline they face the possibility of a serious loss.

"With eggs the situation is different. There was a shortage early through the producing season. Storage eggs were put away at high prices and are going out fast. This may leave a shortage later on. Eggs are the one thing in the food line that is likely to stay high, until February, when eggs usually drop because of new receipts.

REPORTS ARE DISCREDITED

No Bavarian Organization to Restore Monarchy, Says Von Kahr.

Berlin, Nov. 27.—(By the Associated Press.)—Reports that organizations have been formed in Bavaria for the purpose of restoring the monarchy and establishing Bavarian domination over Germany were discredited by President von Kahr of Bavaria today.

He said that he had received information from the central government, and was requested by the Associated Press to issue a statement concerning affairs in that section of Germany. Assertion has been made that rumors relative to separatist and revolutionary movements of various sorts in Bavaria have been circulated by opponents of the present Bavarian coalition government, which is bourgeois and violent, opposed by Communists and Independent Socialists in Germany.

Much that is misleading has been said, President von Kahr said, about Bavaria and Bavarians in a false light, both in other parts of Germany and abroad.

Recent reports have stated the "orgesch" which was alleged to have been formed by Herr Escherich, director of the north German railway department, and which received the nickname from his surname and the first syllable of the word "orgesch" was a nucleus about which centered a movement to restore the Wittelsbach regime in Bavaria and carry out a program of far-reaching significance in Germany.

von Kahr said that the "orgesch" is an organization composed of citizens, and sometimes known as the "Bavarian Citizens' Guard."

"In the first place, let me say that 'orgesch' does not exist in Bavaria," he said. "Herr Escherich is head of the north German railway department, and his name is connected with no discussion to that organization. The 'orgesch' is not unlike the law and order which some American communities have organized to protect themselves against roving gangs, and it was brought into existence by Herr von Escherich, director of the north German railway department, and was not a part of the 'orgesch' for a long time at the point of death. BISHOP HEFFRON PRAISED BY POPE

Rome, Oct. 27.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)—The pope has received in private audience Mr. Patrick R. Heffron, bishop of Winona, Minn., who, after a detailed report of the work and developments in his diocese, especially on educational lines, presented eight students who have been brought here to be educated in the American Ecclesiastical college.

The pontiff warmly congratulated Mr. Heffron on the splendid results obtained in his small diocese. He was especially pleased to hear that 918 out of the school population of Winona go to Catholic schools.

The pope intrusted Mr. Heffron with a special apostolic blessing for the Catholic organizations in Winona.

An Associated Press dispatch Nov. 13 announced that the pope had appointed Bishop Heffron assistant to the pontifical throne. Bishop Heffron received the first word of the appointment from the newspapers upon his return to Winona that morning. He spent more than two months in Europe.

SIX ARE KILLED BY EXPLOSION IN ITALY

London, Nov. 27.—Six persons were killed and twenty injured in the explosion of a plant at Vergato, thirty-five miles from Milan, yesterday afternoon, says a dispatch to the London Times. Great damage in Vergato and other villages in the neighborhood was done, roofs being blown off and buildings badly wrecked.

The plant where the explosion occurred was used as a shell factory. The factory was being used as a manufacturing of citric acid.

HARDING TO STAR HOME ON SUNDAY

To Leave Canal Zone After Delightful Visit to Waterway.

Will Make Brief Stop at Kingston on Way Back.

Cristobal, C. Z., Nov. 27.—(By the Associated Press.)—President-elect Warren G. Harding prepared regrettably today to bid good-bye to the canal zone. His visit ends here tomorrow, when he sails on board the steamer Pastores for the United States.

Senator Harding returned here last night from the Pacific terminus of the canal, where he exchanged felicitations with the republicans of Panama. Today he visited the fortifications and the marine base at the eastern end of the waterway, played golf and took a swim in an outdoor salt water pool near his hotel. A plunge in the pool was his first act after his return here last night, and he was out early this morning for another dip.

Senator Harding will sail at noon tomorrow, and is due to reach Kingston, Jamaica, at 8 o'clock Tuesday en route to Norfolk.

Senator and Mrs. Harding and their party will arrive at Kingston, where they will take lunch, and later they will go on an 80-mile motor ride to the defenses of the Panama canal, the governor of that British possession. They will board their ship again at Port Antonio.

Studies Problems.

Ancon, Canal Zone, Nov. 27.—(By the Associated Press.)—Problems connected with the defenses of the Panama canal were studied by Senator Harding today during detailed inspection of the fortifications at the Pacific terminus of the waterway and in conference with army and navy officers in charge of the zone forces. He spent several hours making a round of the defenses of the canal, and was accompanied by Brig. Gen. Charles E. W. Kennedy and Rear Admiral Marbury Johnston, of whom he asked many questions on the capabilities and needs of the establishment.

The operation of the big guns was demonstrated in the afternoon, and many problems of strategic policy were discussed before him.

Accompanying Senator Harding were Senator Frederick Hale, member of the senate from Massachusetts, and Joseph S. Frelinghuysen, chairman of the coast defense committee, his guest on the trip.

AFFIRMS DAKOTA IS LIKE BELGIUM IN WHISKY WAR

Fargo, N. D., Nov. 27.—North Dakota must be the little Belgium in the whisky war, according to a speech by a newly appointed federal group in Fargo today, summarizing his observations on a trip just concluded through the whisky territory.

Most of the whisky running across the border is from the whisky "leggers," he said. "Very little of the liquor stays in North Dakota."

"I am asking every citizen and officer of the state to co-operate in the fight against the whisky traffic."

The chief of the state police in the North, who is in Fargo today, is from western Minnesota. Minnesota, Iowa, South Dakota and Nebraska are the main sources of the whisky traffic across the Minnesota-Canadian border is complete.

Mr. Molloy also declared that the whisky traffic in North Dakota had been overdone in the whisky war, and that the whisky traffic in the Northwest.

BIG INCREASE IN STATE TRUST FUNDS

St. Paul, Minn., Nov. 27.—Minnesota has $2,000,000 more in state trust funds, or $3,018,828.48 more than two years ago, according to a report compiled in the office of J. A. Prews, state auditor, for the year ending June 30.

The fund is made up of receipts from taxes, sale of timber, royalties on iron ore and profits from the sale of land, according to M. J. Desmond, chief clerk.

The total accumulations, according to the reports are as follows: Permanent school funds, $30,200,000; permanent university fund, $1,978,191.15; internal land improvement fund, $2,996,270.68; and swamp land fund, $1,157,153.59.

The sources of accumulation were from the sales of lands, rights-of-way, etc., which netted the trust fund $23,081,235.85; sales of timber, $1,755,073.26; royalty on iron ore, $8,775,179.81; and profit on sale of bond, $369,694.44.

The proceeds from the sale of timber, minerals and agriculture lands during the two fiscal years have added the following amounts to the permanent trust funds:

Permanent school fund	$2,055,456.50
Swamp land fund	$1,157,153.59
Internal improvement land fund	660.61
Total	$3,018,828.48

SURPLUS FREIGHT CARS INCREASING

Washington, Nov. 27.—(Continued from page 1.)—The surplus of freight cars during the week ended Nov. 15, 1920, was 1,385, or 7,822 more than in the preceding week, was announced today by the car service division of the American Railway association. Data compiled by the division. It was said, shows a surplus to be located chiefly in the South and Central West.

The increase in the total surplus was shown to be due to a reduction of the car shortage continuing to exist in the eastern part of the country, where the average daily shortages for the week was 35,356 cars, or 4322 less than for the week preceding.

QUESTION MAY AFFECT THE SELECTION OF CABINET BY HARDING

Possible President-Elect May Make Single Term Pledge.

By DAVID LAWRENCE.

(Copyright, 1920, by The Associated Press.)

Washington, Nov. 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—The age-old question of whether presidents of the United States should have a single term is up again. Just eight years ago it was raised in congress when Woodrow Wilson was president-elect and he wrote a letter to A. Mitchell Palmer, then chairman of the Democratic caucus in the house of representatives, saying four years was often too short a time to complete an administration program and that often it was too long a period to keep an inexperienced executive, and that the people themselves were the best judges.

However, the question has arisen in connection with the selection of Harding to be president-elect. There seem to be two definite lines of thought—one that Senator Harding ought to be elected for a second term, and the other is that he ought to select no men for his cabinet whose own ambitions would give rise to political intrigue or an inordinate desire for the highest office in the land, which would be candidates for the 1924 nomination.

Johnson May Raise Question.

Senator Johnson may raise the question when he reviews the list of possible cabinet members by preference primaries. He is determined to get legislation that will put an end to the method by which the cabinet members of both parties operated in 1920.

Incidentally Governor Lowden of Illinois pledged himself to be a single term president of the country as an addition to the list of candidates. He was nominated at Chicago, and the idea gained considerable support because of his record in office. It is now being held that Governor Cox was in complete sympathy with the method by which the cabinet members were nominated, and was disapproved in his speech of acceptance, but was elected by the people.

Some of the cabinet members who are being investigated are those who are being investigated by the committee on the subject of the cabinet members. It is now being held that Governor Cox was in complete sympathy with the method by which the cabinet members were nominated, and was disapproved in his speech of acceptance, but was elected by the people.

NECESSITY FOR AIRPORTS HIT BY HIGH RATES

To Be Discussed by Presidents of Life Insurance Companies.

New York, Nov. 27.—Presidents of life insurance companies in virtually every state of the Union and Canada will meet in this city on Dec. 9 and 10 to discuss the necessity for nationwide application of economy and thrift in the home, business, industry and in the government. It was announced today by the Association of Life Insurance Presidents.

The association announces that the conference will form part of the proceedings of the annual convention of the association, companies having in force more than 50 per cent of the $10,000,000,000 in policies issued on American lives have specified an intention to attend the convention. The convention will mark the seventy-fifth year of American insurance.

CLOTHING FOR NEEDY AUSTRIAN CHILDREN

New York, Nov. 27.—One hundred thousand pairs of shoes, 100,000 pairs of stockings to go with them and 340,000 suits of boys' and girls' underwear will be distributed to needy Austrian children this winter by the American Relief Administration European Children's fund, that organization announced.

Without this clothing, more than 100,000 children who come to the kitchens of the fund for a daily hot meal will not be able to appear as soon as winter begins in earnest. In Vienna alone, 150,000 children are fed at the American Relief Administration European Children's fund, that organization announced.

The high rates proposed will work to the detriment of the children of the fund, estimates that $23,000,000 will insure the child welfare work in Austria, Poland, the Baltic states and Czechoslovakia until next August, when the countries can depend upon their harvest.

SNOW AND RAIN WILL FEATURE NEXT WEEK'S WEATHER

Washington, Nov. 27.—Weather predictions for the week beginning Monday are: Partly cloudy; a region of Great Lakes—rain; and snow on Thursday and Friday; normal temperature.

Forecast for the week ending Monday: Partly cloudy; a region of Great Lakes—rain; and snow on Thursday and Friday; normal temperature.

ASSEMBLY NEXT WEEK

League Delegates Calculate on Adjourning Earlier Than Expected.

Rapid Progress Being Made on Adjusment of All Questions.

Geneva, Nov. 27.—(By the Associated Press.)—Optimists at the meeting of the assembly of the League of Nations are counting upon finishing the work of the session next week, or ten days earlier than was calculated by league officials. This hope is based on the fact that committees Nos. 1 and 2 have virtually finished their work, the international court is out of the way and the assembly has been adjourned by a practical adjournment. The plan relative to the admission of new members has also been decided.

Some apprehension is still felt in some quarters, however, that the discussions in all assemblies, which will be resumed on Tuesday, especially those on the question regarding the relations of the league council and assembly, will be prolonged.

Czechoslovak Delegates are now furnishing the only arguments against the admission of Austria to the league. Switzerland is strongly advocating admission with the proviso, one of which is that if reaction occurs in Austria, with a view to the restoration of monarchy, she will insist upon the right of the province of Vorarlberg to decide whether to remain a part of Austria or not. Vorarlberg recently requested that it be attached to Switzerland, but this suggestion was rejected by the latter country.

Approves Austria.

Committee No. 4, which has been investigating the accounts of the Austrian government, has approved the comparatively high salaries paid the personnel of the cabinet members. The high cost of living in Geneva justified them, in part, while the expenses of the cabinet members in their native country should also be taken into account.

Pauses United States.

EXHIBITS AT FAIRS HIT BY HIGH RATES

Chicago, Nov. 27.—Possibility of a serious cut in exhibits at state and district fairs will be discussed by the presidents of various fairs meeting here Dec. 3 at the annual convention of the International Association of Fairs and Expositions.

In the past the railroads have given exhibitors at fairs return transportation free for their livestock and other exhibits, but the railroads are now being asked to do away with the free return. The rate set was allowed before this year, but was increased to get the exhibitors as large as possible for the benefit of agriculture. It applies only to freight shipments.

"The high rates proposed will work to the detriment of the children of the fund, estimates that $23,000,000 will insure the child welfare work in Austria, Poland, the Baltic states and Czechoslovakia until next August, when the countries can depend upon their harvest."

BULLET NESTLES IN HEART; MAN LIVES

Omaha, Neb., Nov. 27.—James Freeman has a bullet in his heart and is still alive. He was shot by his wife when she threatened her. She met him at the door and fired point blank, the bullet striking him in the left breast. He walked to the police station, nearly three miles away, where medical attention was given him. He was removed to a hospital and an X-ray taken which showed the bullet nesting in the heart.

EX-KAISER TO GIVE CHILDREN MONEY

London, Nov. 27.—Last visits of his children at Doorn castle, during the past week, former Emperor William of Germany has taken a special interest in the children of the poor. He has given them their financial resources, says a Doorn dispatch to the Daily Mail.

It is said the former emperor intends to present each of his children £25,000 in Dutch money, "so they may continue to live in a manner befitting the Hohenzollerns."

FARMERS PLEDGE AID TO BANK THAT CLOSED

Doonbrook, N. D., Nov. 27.—Two hundred and fifty farmers, meeting here yesterday to discuss the closing of the Doonbrook State bank, due to depleted reserves, adopted resolutions expressing confidence in the sincerity and business integrity of officers of the bank and pledged $45,000 to make good the reopening of the institution.

FAMOUS YACHTSMAN AND BANKER DEAD AT AGE OF 86

COMMODORE BENEDICT.

E. C. Benedict, banker and yachtsman, is dead in his eighty-seventh year at his home, Indian Harbor, Greenwich Conn. Elias Cornelius Benedict, known only for many years as Commodore E. C. Benedict, and for long one of the leading yachtsmen of the world, was born in Somers, N. Y., on Jan. 24, 1834. He was a son of the late Rev. Henry Benedict, and received his education in the schools of Westport, Conn., and Buffalo, N. Y., where he spent part of his youth.

The jury that has been hearing the case of the state against Max Mason, charged with participating in the alleged rape of an 18-year old West Duluth girl last June, went out at 9:51 this morning to consider their verdict. At 3 o'clock they had not come in. The taking of testimony ended yesterday and the closing arguments were made in the afternoon. The court charged the jury this morning.

Closing arguments to the jury were made yesterday afternoon. County Attorney Warren E. Greene summing up for the prosecution, and E. L. Barnett of Chicago, for the defense, were arguing for an acquittal.

Mr. Greene declared in his address that the case was the most important that has ever come before the court. "It is because people think that the negroes won't be convicted. That's why they take the case so long. The people of Duluth and St. Louis county want to know through your verdict that when a white man and a black man are charged with a crime, the man is going to be found guilty."

Attorney Barnett argued that the state had wholly failed to prove its case against the defendant. He said that the state had failed to prove its case against the defendant. He said that the state had failed to prove its case against the defendant.

WILLIAM J. EICH, LONG EMPLOYED IN DULUTH, COMMITTS SUICIDE

Mankato, Minn., Nov. 27.—Pressing both barrels of a sawed off shotgun against his side, William J. Eich, printer, 47, committed suicide in the rear of the old malt house here early this morning. Eich apparently had long been meditating death. He left a letter dated Aug. 16, 1920, saying he wished to be buried in a pine box with rope handles and to be taken to the cemetery on a dory. He is an old-time printer and a member of the St. Paul Typographical union. His letter stated that his wife is now residing in St. Paul at 141 West George street.

FIND NO TRACE OF MISSING BARGE

Seattle, Wash., Nov. 2.—No trace of the barge W. J. Pirrie, reported ashore near the coast guard cutter Snohomish, according to a wireless message from the coast guard cutter Snohomish, which went to the aid of the stricken vessel, has been received. The Pirrie, a 100-ton barge, was reported on the coast of the Pirrie. The Pirrie, a 100-ton barge, was reported on the coast of the Pirrie.

THIRTEEN DIE ON GRIDIRON

Football Claims Over Dozen Victims for Year 1920.

Chicago, Nov. 27.—Football exacted a toll of thirteen victims during the 1920 season which closed with Thanksgiving day's games, according to reports to the Associated Press today.

The number of deaths was seven greater than in 1919 and three above the list of two years ago. There were twenty-two lives lost during the 1917 season, eighteen in 1916, and fifteen in 1915.

The majority of the youths killed this season were high school players, the game is conducted under expert supervision and sufficient physical training for so rough a sport and with only limited knowledge of the game. Only two of the dead were members of college organizations, two on college teams. One boy, 17 years old, was killed in a game of the "sand lot" variety. Six victims were members of high school eleven.

Defenders of the sport pointed to the fact that not a fatality occurred in the big universities of the country, where the game is conducted under expert physical direction and coaching. The development of the open style of play, instead of the smothering game of a dozen years ago, and the improved, heavily padded uniforms and head gear, is eliminating much of the danger, according to football experts. None of the dead were from Minnesota, North Dakota or Wisconsin.

PRESIDENTIAL SINGLE TERM AGAIN

Question May Affect the Selection of Cabinet by Harding.

Possible President-Elect May Make Single Term Pledge.

By DAVID LAWRENCE. (Copyright, 1920, by The South Herald.)

Washington, Nov. 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—The age-old question of whether presidents of the United States should have a second term is up again. Just eight years ago it was raised in congress when Woodrow Wilson was president-elect and he wrote a letter to A. Mitchell Palmer, then chairman of the Democratic caucus of the house of representatives, saying four years was often too short a time to complete an administration program and that often it was too long a period to keep an incompetent executive, and that the people themselves were the judges.

League Delegates Calculate on Adjourning Earlier Than Expected.

Rapid Progress Being Made on Adjustment of All Questions.

Geneva, Nov. 27.—(By the Associated Press.)—Optimists at the meeting of the assembly of the League of Nations are counting upon finishing the work of the session next week, or ten days earlier than was calculated by league officials. This hope is based on the fact that committee Nos. 1 and 2 have virtually finished their work, the international court is out of the way and the armaments question has been disposed of by a practical adjournment. The plan relative to the admission of new members has also been decided upon.

FAMOUS YACHTSMAN AND BANKER DEAD AT AGE OF 86

COMMODORE BENEDICT.

E. C. Benedict, banker and yachtsman, is dead in his eighty-seventh year at his home, Indian Harbor, Greenwich, Conn. Elias Cornelius Benedict, known only for many years as Commodore E. C. Benedict, and for long one of the leading yachtsmen of the world, was born in Somers, N. Y., on Jan. 21, 1834. He was a son of the late Hon. Henry Benedict and Mrs. Mary Betts Lockwood Benedict, and received his education in the schools of Westport, Conn., and Buffalo, N. Y., where he spent part of his youth.

PRINTER ENDS HIS EXISTENCE

William J. Eich, Long Employed in Duluth, Commits Suicide.

Mankato, Minn., Nov. 27.—Pressing both barrels of a sawed-off shotgun against his side, William J. Eich, printer, 47, committed suicide in the rear of the old manse here early this morning. Eich apparently had long been meditating death. He left a letter dated Aug. 16, 1920, saying he wished to be buried in a pine box with rope handles and to be taken to the cemetery on a drag. He is an old-time printer and a member of the St. Paul Typographical union. His letter stated that his wife is now residing in St. Paul at 141 West George street.

Nothing Might Have Happened on the circus grounds that night, for the man who shot the woman, stole, or the boy's watch taken, but the offense charged in this indictment against the defendant was not committed.

WORKS DEPARTMENT COMPLETES LARGEST IMPROVEMENT SCHEDULE IN HISTORY OF CITY

Program of Streets, Alleys and Sewer Work Finished Without Any Carry-Over for Next Year; Total Expenditure $674,341, Not Including $97,000 of Carry-Over From Last Year; List of Improvements Made.

With the laying of the last few bricks on the Railroad street paving job by City Engineer Maj. E. K. Coe Wednesday the 1920 paving program for the city was brought to a close, and marked the completion of the largest improvement schedule for one season in the history of the city, according to Public Works Commissioner A. Farrell. The total amount planned and carried out during this year has amounted to more than $600,000. No improvement jobs are to be carried over this year.

Street improvements for the season of 1920 amounted to $571,278.50; alley improvements, $6,256.17; sanitary sewers, $85,394.51; sanitary overflow sewers, $2,294.72; and sanitary outlet sewers, $25,207.86; a grand total of $689,431.76 for the season's program.

Five jobs were carried over from 1919 and amounted to $37,000 square yards of concrete pavement were laid, 11,000 square feet of concrete sidewalk, 14,750 of brick pavement and 1,400 square yards of sandstone pavement. The department also built 90,000 square feet of concrete walk during the season. The amount of work carried over work, $87,000, added to this season's improvements, makes a grand total of $771,431.76 for the season, the largest in the history of the department.

Following is a list of the street improvements finished this year, not including those carried over from last season:

BELOIT MAN DETAINED.

Held at Janesville, Wis., During Probe of Serious Charges.

Janesville, Wis., Nov. 27.—Alfred E. Buckridge, Beloit, was held here under $5,000 bail today on a technical charge of non-support while authorities are investigating a series of alleged assaults and attempts to murder his divorced wife and members of the W. H. Buckridge family, with whom she lives on a farm near Beloit.

Buckridge was under treatment for four months at the state hospital at Mendota shortly after his divorce two years ago. He says he was on a trip through the south west when the alleged crimes were committed. His arrest came when he entered a Beloit newspaper office and asked to have his name inserted in the society column.

"THE THINKER"

This picture is of the famous statue—showing a man engaged in deep thought. Perhaps he has stopped a moment to realize the seriousness of allowing his teeth to decay and go unrepaired; and to consider having them fixed before serious illness and great pain result.

YOU should stop a moment and think! Are your teeth in perfect condition? If so, you are very fortunate, as your teeth need constant watch because they have important work, to preserve your health. Poor mastication means poor health.

For years we have served the people of Duluth and the Range with high grade dentistry. We continually urge people to come in and have their teeth examined FREE OF CHARGE by us, so that they may know just how fit their teeth are. YOU should take advantage of this free offer.

We are proud of the great success we have had in making Bridgework and Plates. For people who have missing teeth or who have bad teeth we are able to give them teeth that for looks and use cannot be excelled. One's appearance is greatly improved with this natural and pleasing dentistry.

Because we use the best materials in all dentistry; because we have had the long years of experience in making our own Plates, Bridgework, Crowns, etc., and because we take great care in fitting and finishing, we have made thousands of friends, who are boosters for this old established dental office. When you desire this dentistry be sure that you find the right place—for we have only the one big office at Second Avenue West at Superior Street, Duluth.

HARD-SURFACE ROAD BONDS

County Board Authorizes Issue of $4,000,000; More by Jan. 1.

By Jan. 1, 1921, St. Louis county commissioners will have authorized the issuance of $7,500,000 worth of bonds to finance the paving of the first fifty-six miles of hard surfaced roads contemplated for St. Louis county under the Babcock system of state highways.

The county board yesterday afternoon at a special meeting authorized the issuance of $4,000,000 worth of bonds. The remaining $3,500,000 will probably be authorized at the last meeting of the commissioners in December.

Bonds for the purpose of the financing of the construction of state highways must be authorized prior to 1921, according to the provisions of chapter 266, laws of 1919, which specify that the power of a county in this respect shall lapse on Jan. 1, 1921. The law gives the county the right to issue bonds prior to the roads.

The $4,000,000 bond issue, which will be authorized by the county board this winter, was approved by 10 of the $4,000,000 authorized by the board yesterday, the commissioners expect to sell the first $500,000 next month. Yesterday the county auditor was directed to advertise for bids for the first block of $500,000 to be issued in denominations of $1,000 each, maturing in 1921, with interest at 6 percent.

The Babcock system of state highways calls for the maintenance of 250 miles of state highway in St. Louis county and eventually it is planned to hard surface all of it. St. Louis county has already undertaken the paving of the first fifty-six miles of state highway which is known as State Highway No. 1, and otherwise designated as the Miller Trunk road from Duluth to Eveleth.

The only contract which has been let so far is for the subgrading of the Miller Trunk road. This is in the hands of S. J. Groves and is reported to be about half completed. County engineers expect that the contract will be completed by spring. The contract for paving will be let this winter in all probability, but how soon the paving can be laid will depend upon the material market and labor conditions existing next year.

"In the city of Duluth, a contract for the paving of five miles of street has generally been regarded as a big year's work," declared Charles E. Adams, special counsel for the county board yesterday, "so one may easily imagine what a stupendous job the paving of fifty-six miles of concrete would be. The difficulties experienced in getting material and of getting labor will be big factors in determining how soon the job can be finished under the Miller Trunk road finally opened to traffic."

MAY BAR ALL ALIENS FROM U. S. TEMPORARILY

Washington, Nov. 27.—If congress at the coming session is unable to enact legislation to restrict immigration, it probably will be urged by the house immigration committee to bar all aliens from the United States temporarily. Representative Johnson of Washington, chairman of the committee, said yesterday. Expiration on March 4 of the passport law, he added, makes it imperative that action be taken to prevent the entry of undesirable immigrants after that time. If the immigration bill is not enacted before March 4, it will be necessary, in the opinion of Mr. Johnson to suspend immigration until the matter can be disposed of by congress, probably at a special session which congressional leaders expect to follow the inauguration of President Harding.

When You Can Be Free from Pain as I Am, if You Do as I Did.

Harrington, Me.—"I suffered with backache, pains through my hips and a such bearing down feeling that I could not stand on my feet. I also had other distressing symptoms. At times I had to give up work. I tried number of remedies but Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did me more good than anything else. I am regular, do not suffer the pains I used to, keep house and do all my work. I recommend your medicine to all who suffer as I did and you may use my letter as you like. Mrs. MISSIE MITCHELL, Harrington, Me.

There are many women who suffer as Mrs. Mitchell did and who are being benefited by this great medicine every day. It has helped thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulceration, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing down feeling, indigestion, and nervous prostration.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound contains no narcotics or harmful drugs. It is made from extracts of roots and herbs and is a safe, medium for women. If you need special advice write Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential), Lynn, Mass.

HAS GOOD APPETITE AND GAINS WEIGHT

Tacoma Woman Is Restored to Health After an Attack of Influenza.

"It didn't seem possible that any one could lose strength as rapidly as I did during an attack of influenza," says Mrs. F. L. Richardson, who lives at No. 508 South 21st street, Tacoma, Wash.

When I lost flesh and was completely run down, I did not have any ambition and was tired all the time. I had no appetite and what little I ate disagreed with me and caused pain. No matter how tired I was I could not sleep well. I became very nervous and suffered from headaches. At one time I tried several medicines to build up my system but they didn't help me.

When I began to take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, I was recommended to try them. After taking one box of pills I felt a little better and kept on taking them until I had a good appetite. It was not long before I regained my strength and was able to do my usual work. I sleep well and no longer have headaches or nervous spells. I shall always use Dr. Williams' Pink Pills when I need a tonic and strongly recommend them to others."

Influenza leaves the blood thin and the result is not way from weakness, the weakness and general debility which occur except by building up the blood. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People courses through the system you are aware of its soothing, strengthening influence. Gradually the color comes back to the cheeks, food tastes good and is readily digested, and starved nerves become strong again.

Write today to Dr. J. C. Williams, Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., for the free booklet "Building Up the Blood." Your own druggist will sell Dr. Williams' Pink Pills or they will be sent by mail, postpaid, on receipt of price, 60 cents per box.

She Had But One Consolation

MAE MURRAY.

Miss Murray, with David Powell, will come to the Strand tomorrow in the Paramount picture, "The Right to Love," a play of strong heart appeal.

"Broken Blossoms"

DAVID WARK GRIFFITH. Perhaps the most tensely dramatic play of last year was Mr. Griffith's film classic, "Broken Blossoms," featuring Lillian Gish and Richard Barthelmess. This picture will come to the New Astor Sunday.

Close-Ups of Movie Stars

Henry Miller and Blanche Bates, with their original company, are now touring in "The Famous Mrs. Fair."

John Golden offers $100 for the best suggestion of how to celebrate the thousandth performance of Frank Bacon in "Lightning." It will be played on New Year's eve.

One of the two new theaters being built by the Selwyns in Chicago is to be known as the Jane Gowl theater.

It is reported that Al Jolson in "Sinbad" played to $10,000 in one week in Kansas City.

At the close of her run in "The Woman of Bronze," which may be a long time in coming, Margaret Anglin is to produce a play in which Joan of Arc will be treated in a novel manner.

Kosloff staged the dance numbers for the production to "Sinbad" when that picture was shown at the New York Strand.

A rumor on the flit is that David Belasco is to present "Lantern Slide" in a revised version of "Carmen."

Rol Cooper Moore's new comedy, "Honors Are Even," is now in rehearsal. William Courtenay and Lola Fisher head the cast.

The latest rumors about John Barrymore are that he will not set on the stage for another year and then probably in "Hamlet." It is also whispered that his latest matrimonial venture is not an unqualified hit.

Arthur Byron's Father Dies. Oliver Doud Byron, well-known tragedian of former days and father of Arthur Byron, seen here last year in "Tea for Three," died recently at his home in Long Branch, N. J.

Following the engagement of Sophie Tucker in the big-time vaudeville theater of Chicago and the ending of her cabaret engagement in that city, Miss Tucker has made a figure of $2,500 weekly salary to play the Orpheum circuit. The route is being held up pending an agreeable arrangement on the salary.

Juvenile Famous at 12 Years. Johnny Jones, the juvenile who plays the role of Edgar in the Booth Tarkenton stories, is only 12 years of age. He is now one of the most famous juveniles of the stage or screen.

Great Russian Dancer Coming

ANNA PAVLOWA.

Pavlova, with her great company of artists, will come to the New Armory Jan. 6 as an additional feature of the International Celebrities series being presented by Mrs. Stephen H. Jones.

Kellerman in Vaude Film. Annetta Kellerman is to return to vaudeville—but this time through an educational single-reel picture, "The Art of Living," in which she demonstrated her art before the standard motion picture camera and then by the slow motion process. The picture has been booked over the U. B. O. and Keith circuits in New York and New England and will be shown in vaudeville theaters all through the country.

Films Scenes of Ancestor. Robert C. Bruce, who produces Scenic Beautyful for Educational, is returning from the British Isles in a few days after having an experience that has not fallen to the lot of any other picture maker—that of creating a scene around the life of an ancestor. The picture in question was made in the home country of Robert Bruce, the hero of all Scotland.

Carillo Begins His Harvest. Leo Carillo, who appeared last season in "Lombardi, Ltd.," at $250 a week, has opened a vaudeville tour over the two-day circuit in the East for $2,000 a week. This stipend is about six times what he drew in the legitimate. Carillo will appear as a dialect monologist. Before becoming a stage star, Carillo was a newspaper cartoonist in the West.

Sophie Tucker to Tour. Following the engagement of Sophie Tucker in the big-time vaudeville theater of Chicago and the ending of her cabaret engagement in that city, Miss Tucker has made a figure of $2,500 weekly salary to play the Orpheum circuit. The route is being held up pending an agreeable arrangement on the salary.

Dyar Melodrama in Films. The mystery melodrama, "A Voice in the Dark," written by Ralph E. Dyar, is being made into a photoplay by the Goldwyns. The story is one of those mysterious plots in which the suspense is held to the very end, and Director Frank Lloyd is not permitting even a scene to be photographed for publicity. The play was presented here by the Orpheum Players last summer. Mr. Dyar, the playwright, is a Minnesota man, and is known by many former students of the University of Minnesota who were his classmates.

Musical Comedy at The Plaza

SCENE FROM "TAKE IT FROM ME."

This merry musical comedy has just had a successful engagement in the Twin Cities, following a long run in New York and Chicago. It will come to the Plaza Sunday night.

Vera Gordon on Stage. Vera Gordon, the beloved mother of "Humoresque," returned to vaudeville last week after an absence from the American speaking stage of three years. She registered a sensational hit appearing simultaneously in two theaters and receiving a burst of applause on her every appearance that literally stopped the show. Miss Gordon's vaudeville vehicle is "January," a sketch by Edgar Allan Woolf.

Woman as Film Hamlet. A cinema version of Shakespeare's "Hamlet" is being made at a Berlin studio and receiving a burst of applause on her every appearance that Dippel Loses Fortune.

Andreas Dippel, former director of the Chicago Grand Opera company, has lost his fortune. Unsuccessful business ventures have ruined many several hundred thousand dollars, and he is now selling life insurance in Chicago. His old grand opera friends are getting up a benefit for him.

Lady Diana for Films.

J. Stuart Blackton has engaged Lady Diana Manners, daughter of the duke of Rutland, wife of Dr. Cooper, and England's most famous beauty, for pictures. She will make several pictures early next year. Blackton will return from America after Christmas to give the matter his undivided attention.

Divorces Stage for Films.

Guy Bates Post, in the "Masquerader," who closed a week's engagement at the Shubert theater, Kansas City, broke his last season's record with the same play in the same house. With the prices ranging from $2 the week's business went over the $20,000 mark, which is capacity at the prices played.

AUTOMOBILE NEWS

BIG REVENUE FROM AUTOS

Half Million Freight Cars Needed Each Year to Move Them.

The railroads are well up in the long list of industries that profit from activity in the motor car trade. Both in its own production and through operations incidental to its growth the automobile industry has been a great boon to the long-haul transportation lines. To build automobiles and motor trucks requires heavy materials, steel, wood, metals, fuel, tires—thousands of tons annually. It is on such activities that the railroads derive their income. Although the amount of freight paid by the industry to the railroads cannot be stated with accuracy, the diversified and tremendous amount of shipping to and from plants engaged in the manufacture of engines, wheels, bodies, tires and other parts and materials, some indication of the rail lines may be had from figures given out by J. S. Marvin, general traffic manager, National Automobile Chamber of Commerce, in connection with shipments of finished automobiles and trucks from the factories.

Should Yield $100,000,000.

Based on the number of assembled shipments recorded in 1919 and allotting them to the several railroads in about the proportion of registration, the estimate indicates a total freight bill of $40,000,000. In addition to this it is believed that not less than $10,000,000 was paid on certain shipments of parts forwarded from the main automobile plants to branch plants for assembly, which would increase the total to $50,000,000. Applying the increased freight rates recently authorized by the interstate commerce commission, this sum it is estimated, will be raised $20,000,000 on an equal volume of shipments during the ensuing year, or a total of $70,000,000.

Many Over Highways.

This figure should exceed $100,000,000 with adequate car supply, because in 1919 120,000 motor vehicles were delivered to buyers over the highways under their own power, to points as far from the factories as 1,000 miles and over. This is equal to 40,000 cars a day. But in the first nine months of 1920 so many of the cars shipped to the motor car industry that 116,700 machines, equal to 116,700 cars, were delivered to buyers in this manner. Allowing 10 per cent of this quantity as nearly as local delivery and $100 per carload as an average freight charge on the remaining 117,000 cars, the amount of freight revenue lost to the carriers through inability to furnish freight cars during those nine months was nearly $12,000,000.

Finished Cars and Parts.

Shipments of finished automobiles and motor trucks from the main plants reach a volume of about 200,000 carloads per year, but according to the freight commodity figures, including, however, wheels and parts as well as shipments of motor cars from all sources, will be nearly 500,000 carloads. Since Jan. 1, the commission has required railroads to report this as one of the principal items of traffic record of separately. Figures for the first quarter are now available and indicate 125,624 carloads, this does not include rubber tires nor does it include unfinished materials. Motor cars move largely in trainload lots from the centers of large production, and loading and unloading of freight cars is accomplished with great rapidity, and adds to the attractiveness of this traffic from a railroad viewpoint.

BATTERY KEPT CHARGED WILL NOT FREEZE IN BELOW ZERO WEATHER

We have had many number of inquiries made of us recently as to just how cold the temperature must be to freeze up a storage battery. For that reason we are reprinting below a table showing hydrometer readings and the temperature at which the battery will freeze. This is valuable information. Save the circular.

Hydrometer Reading	Temperature Freezing
1.250	92 deg. below zero
1.250	61 deg. below zero
1.250	30 deg. below zero
1.175	18 deg. below zero
1.150	4 deg. above zero
1.125	12 deg. above zero

Gasoline and Oil Traffic.

There is also the transportation required to supply gasoline and oil to some 2,000,000 machines that are now registered in the various states. The growth of plants and companies directly connected with the industry and handling of the necessities of life, the building of modern highways and many kindred developments create freight traffic for railroads that is increasing directly in proportion to the industry or operations incidental to its development.

STAGING SPEEDWAY IS ONE BIG TASK

Although the running of the 500-mile automobile derby at the Indianapolis motor speedway each year occupies but a few hours of a single day, it requires months of preparation for the staging of this extravaganza of sporting events.

Already Plans are being laid for the 1921 race, which will be held over the tracks of the historic Indianapolis track, the most successful of all auto race courses.

The big dash for glory and gold will be held Monday, May 30. Scarcely had Gaston Chevrolet dashed across the finish line a winner in this year's classic before the first ticket buyer for the 1921 race placed his order in the mail. He is an Indiana man and his order will be the first one filled. Scarcely a day has passed that orders for tickets have not been received. Tickets will go on sale Jan. 31, but all orders are filed and will be filled in the order of their receipt.

NEW PIERCE-ARROW ENTIRELY DIFFERENT FROM FORMER CAR

No Pierce-Arrow announcement of recent years has created more interest than the news of the introduction of a complete line of improved Dual-Valve passenger car models.

In concentrating on the production of one chassis type, the Pierce-Arrow company has improved the Dual-Valve engine to a point where a more economical gasoline consumption yielding power, speed and flexibility is found. The left-hand drive has been adopted inasmuch as the majority of American motorists have become accustomed to it.

To meet every motoring need, four open models and six closed types of cars are offered.

TWO RACE DRIVERS KILLED IN CRASH ON WESTERN TRACK

GASTON CHEVROLET.

Gaston Chevrolet, who was killed Thanksgiving day in a crash with Eddie O'Donnell, was the world's fastest driver for the century mark. This was made on Sheepshead Bay speedway, July 4, 1919. The time made for the 100 miles was 54 minutes and 17.4 seconds, an average of 110.53 miles an hour, and three seconds lower than the best previous record.

EDDIE O'DONNELL.

On May 31, last, he won the 500-mile Indianapolis speedway race in the best time that anyone had ever made. His average speed was 83.15 miles per hour. His last race before the Thanksgiving day race at Los Angeles was at Uniontown, Pa., on Sept. 2, where he took fifth place.

WILL LOWER GAS PRICES

Action of Standard Oil Expected to Have Nationwide Effect.

WHY GASOLINE PRICES WILL BE LOWER

This year's domestic production will be about 450,000,000 bbl. of oil, and one imports from Mexico about 100,000,000 bbl., a total of 550,000,000 bbl.—American Petroleum Institute.

200,000,000 gal. of gasoline can be produced from this year's production of oil, which is being delivered to refiners.—United States Bureau of Mines.

Gasoline in August reached the highest production of the year with a daily average of 14,227,143 gal.—United States Bureau of Mines.

Standard Oil Company of New York has contracted for 15,000,000 bbl. of gasoline from Mexico in 1921, one of the largest oil contracts on record.

Motorists are expecting a nationwide reduction in gasoline prices to follow the action of the Standard Oil companies of New Jersey and Louisiana which announced a drop of 1 cent per gallon recently.

The statement of Walter C. Teagle, president of the New Jersey company, gave credence to prophecies made in motor circles during the week that the unprecedented production of fuel would ultimately bring lower prices.

Official government reports and figures of the oil authorities also indicate that production will break all records in 1920. The American Petroleum Institute predicts a domestic oil production of 450,000,000 barrels, plus a Mexican production of 125,000,000 barrels, this means a gain of 12 per cent in the United States fields.

The United States Bureau of Mines figures show that in August the highest production figures of the year for gasoline were reached with a total of 14,227,143 gallons.

In addition to the gain in production much of the fuel formerly wasted can be saved. The highest efficiency is pointed out how 300,000,000 gallons of gasoline can be saved out of the 500,000,000 gallons which evaporates from oil on the way through pipe lines to refineries.

Local and national associations of car owners are also encouraging users to keep their cars in good condition and on tires overhauled so as to get fullest mileage from the gallon. Much fuel loss can be saved in this way.

Greater Oil Output.

Refining companies have augmented the general production due to greater oil output by introducing better "cracking" processes for breaking up the petroleum. As a result, in some fields the gasoline output from the same amount of oil is now doubled.

Heavy investments are being made by the oil companies in the new refining machinery, but also in exploration, drilling and research. Faced by a possible shortage of gasoline early in the present year, the petroleum has achieved a degree of growth for the first time in years.

One of the largest oil contracts on record has been closed between the Standard Oil Company of New York and under which the former is to deliver to Standard Oil of New York 50,000,000 barrels of gasoline during 1921.

Added to the possibilities of the North American fields are those in South America, Egypt and the East Indies. Russia is also a great potential source of oil.

The flexibility of the oil industry in meeting rapidly increased demands leads the motorists to look forward to ample gasoline supplies at lowered prices.

Returns to Cadillac.

Frank Johnson, designer of the Lincoln car, has returned to the manufacturing department of the Cadillac Motor Car company, to resume an association which began with the planning and building of the first single-cylinder Cadillac, back in 1902.

MUST BE CAREFUL ON COUNTRY ROADS

So used does the usual automobile owner-driver become to gauging the speed of motor-driven vehicles, especially if he is a resident of any large city, that he frequently has difficulty in adjusting his ideas of speed when he gets out in the country where the horse-drawn wagons are met with more frequency.

"Unless the motorist watches himself, he is likely to find himself involved in serious difficulty as a result of this natural falling," according to a warning issued by Liberty Six dealers.

A man will become accustomed to steering on passing vehicles moving at least better than ten or twenty miles an hour. Along with come a wagon creeping at less than five miles an hour. If the motorist is fixing on passing another car, or worse yet, another wagon, at about the same point on a narrow road, he should slow down a bit and get his bearings pretty carefully, unless he has become an adept at this sort of thing.

From the rural homes of the residents of drawing up alongside one another for patching or visiting between gossip. If Mr. Motorist is pulling along at thirty-five or forty miles an hour, and the horse-drawn wagon is approaching, each other, he should be warned from the experience of others, if he has not been in a similar situation before himself.

Patching Made Easier.

Owners who have experienced difficulty in holding the tube in position for patching or vulcanizing may resort with success to one of the common implements of the household. Four patent spring clothespins clamped on the tube will greatly facilitate the recreation of the tube for repairs. Motor for October.

Are You Looking For a Doctor Who Understands Your Case?

Years of experience in the treatment of Chronic and Nervous Diseases has taught me to discriminate between good and bad in old and new methods. Too much science, too many facts and no sense are responsible for the numerous failures of today. Nature's way is the best. The following symptoms are danger signals and require attention: Nervous, irritable, depressed feeling; tired, drowsy, stupid feeling; full, choking throat sensation; with dizziness, faintness and fear of death; heartburn, a coated tongue; foul breath and constipation; skin yellow, harsh and dry, with itching; rheumatic pain in the right or left under shoulder blade; stomach full and tender; frequent and painful urination; burning sensation of the feet; backache, pain in the muscles of neck, head and chest; pressure on top of head; difficulty of mental concentration; skin eruptions, rheumatism, depression of spirit, irregular heart beat, fear and anxiety.

The Columbia Motors Company authorizes us to announce a new and lower price schedule effective at once for its line of cars, f. o. b. Detroit, as follows:

- Five-Passenger Touring Car...$1795
- Sport Model (Five Wire Wheels).....$1945
- Roadster (Five Distel Wheels).....$1945
- Five-Passenger Sedan.....$2895
- Four-Passenger Coupe.....$2895

Cost of production has no bearing whatever in the price reduction. The decrease is made solely in response to the demand of the public that it get automotive transportation for less money.

The Columbia Motors Company and its representatives gladly meet the wishes of the public.

“IN THE NAME OF GOD, AMEN.”

This year is the three hundredth anniversary of the coming of the Pilgrims to the Mayflower, and it is being observed in many ways not only in this country where our descendants of the Pilgrims live but in England, from whence they came, and in Holland, where they tarried for awhile on their way.

Tomorrow, as a part of this observance, and as a most significant part, is “Universal Mayflower Bible Sunday.”

It is fitting indeed that a Bible Sunday should be a part of the tercentenary celebrations of the pilgrimage of the Mayflower, for the Bible was the rock upon which the faith of these Pilgrims was solidly founded, and the spirit of God was upon them in their pilgrimage as truly as it ever was upon the movers in any great advance in human progress.

At the head of the second column on this page appears the compact signed by forty-one adult males in the cabin of the Mayflower on November 21, 1620. It is worth noting, and remembering, that it was dedicated thus: “In the name of God, amen.”

And above all, it is worth remembering that it was the worship of God, and the pursuit of freedom to worship God as their reason told them they should, that led them upon the perilous pilgrimage to the grim landing on the bleak autumn shores of New England—the beginning of the history of this great nation.

And, in the sanctity of the Bible Sunday that is to commemorate the devotion and the hardy fiber of these men and women of the Mayflower, let America and Americans mark this well:

That in Plymouth colony America had its beginning in the toil and devotion and sacrifice and strong fiber of men and women who founded their enterprise upon the Bible, and who did what they did “for the glory of God and advancement of the Christian faith.”

That America has done well or ill since that autumn three centuries ago, accordingly as it has clung to or departed from the faith of these fathers.

And that all nations, and all men, will fare well or ill accordingly as they cling to or depart from the God these Pilgrims worshiped and the Bible on which they founded their enterprise. Let the test be applied where and when it will, and the result will be the same. The one charter of human happiness is that which God Himself created in the Bible which the Pilgrims of the Mayflower made the constitution of their society; and when man or nation departs from the shelter of its spirit, it has ever been and always will be that change is from good to evil, from well-being to destruction.

DOES JAPAN ASK TOO MUCH?

California's adoption by popular vote of a law forbidding Japanese to buy or even to lease land in that state has created an issue between the two countries that, with jingoes of both colors at the elbows of the governments all the time, may easily become very dangerous.

Should America heed the jingoes and get ready for war—thereby MAKING war a fact—or should it decide to do the decent thing no matter if it does irritate the people of a state or two?

Of course California can't go to war without the rest of the states, and equally of course if California should get us into a war we would have to fight as best we could. But before thinking of war, why not as a matter of fairness think of the Japanese viewpoint as well as of the California viewpoint?

The Tokio correspondent of the New York Evening Post, after interviewing high officials in Japan, puts the Japanese view thus: Japan isn't vitally interested in whether or not a few thousand Japanese are permitted to own land in California. If California's law forbade any alien, of whatever country or race, to buy or lease land, Japan wouldn't say a word. What hurts is the discrimination, the act of singling out Japanese only for this special form of prejudicial legislation. Japanese immigration, says the correspondent, is not an issue at all. Japan has no desire to send emigrants to this country, and it is not sending them. It has met all our wishes in this respect fully, and has kept good faith with us. Japan's point is that, so far as those already here are concerned, they ought to be treated exactly like all others in a similar situation.

Is there anything wrong with that wish? Wouldn't we expect it of Japan if our own people were affected? If we would expect it for our people, should we not grant it to other peoples—even to the Japanese?

The Herald believes that we should; not to avert a war, but to be right and as a matter of decent fairness.

Editorially the New York Evening Post, commenting on its correspondent's report, says: Japanese who have entered California legally should receive exactly the same treatment as members of any other race who are there. They should be admitted to citizenship on the same terms, they should be allowed the same property rights; their children should have the same opportunities for schooling. The law should know no difference between a Japanese resident in this country and an Englishman or a Spaniard. Let us place such restrictions as we think wise upon immigration from Japan, but let us not be false to our professions by refusing to treat with impartiality Japanese whom we do admit or have admitted. Prejudice may take a different view. Jingoes WILL take a different view. The fairness and the decent consideration for others that are due from every decent citizen and every honorable nation can take no other view than this.

The Mayflower Compact

IN THE NAME OF GOD, AMEN.

We, whose names are underwritten, having undertaken for the glory of God, and advancement of the Christian faith, and honor of our king and country, a voyage to plant the first colony in the northern part of Virginia; do by these presents solemnly and mutually, in the presence of God and one of another, covenant and combine ourselves together into a civil body politic, for our better ordering and preservation and furtherance of the ends aforesaid; and, by virtue hereof, to enact, constitute and frame such just and equal laws, ordinances, acts, constitutions and offices, from time to time, as shall be thought most meet and convenient, for the general good of the colony, unto which we promise all due submission and obedience.

—Signed in the cabin of the Mayflower November 21, 1620.

Two facts about the type of crime that occurred in the heart of Duluth in broad daylight yesterday forenoon make it both dangerous and unusually difficult to deal with: First, its boldness; and, second, the readiness for violent if not murderous methods which the criminals display.

Men who rob banks and jewelry stores in daylight are naturally desperate and ready to assume all the chances involved in their enterprise, even the chance that their attacks may result in murder. Moreover, they are cool and shrewd and their plans are well worked out in advance. What those plans may be the police may only conjecture.

The two men who did yesterday's bold job might easily be members of an organization which plans robberies in various towns, traveling leisurely from one town to another, pausing long enough to pick their victims and plan the deed and the escape, and then strolling along to the next town and the next victims, who have not, naturally, any warning of what is coming. They might have an automobile in an alley near by to carry them quietly through the streets and far away; or they might have a spot to lie still in until the hue and cry is over and their departure can be modestly effected.

If the theory that these crimes are committed by migratory bands is correct, then about the only way to cope with them is through the associated work of the police of many cities. In the meantime it hardly need be said that banks and jewelry stores everywhere will be, for a time at least, so nervously on the alert that daylight robberies will be difficult.

A DRASTIC OPERATION NEEDED.

Those innocent and uninformed citizens who have taken the talk of “Democratic inefficiency” too seriously of course are expecting that when the Republicans take full charge of the government next March there will be a magical change over night.

We shall do the Republicans the service of warning such people that they are likely to be greatly disappointed; for though we sincerely hope there will be a great change in the business methods of government, it will not come simply because one party goes out and another goes in. For the course of government business methods is politics, and in this respect the difference between the two parties is the difference between Tweedledum and Tweedledee.

The only thing that will produce the needed change in the business methods of government is a revolutionary change in the machinery of government.

The machinery of government at Washington is cumbersome, intricate, slow to act and in many cases as likely to act wrongly as rightly. The fact is, though few people know it, that so baffling is this machinery that it makes astonishingly little difference whether the best man imaginable or the poorest man imaginable is at the head of a department as a member of the cabinet. The machine grinds creakingly on, just about the same, so strong in its momentum that the best man possible can't improve its workings much, and the worst man possible can't make it much worse than it is.

What that machinery needs is scrapping. What the country needs is a new set of machinery dated 1920 instead of a machine still dated 1789 though clogged with trimmings and attachments added from year to year.

A business enterprise couldn't run a mouth with such business machinery.

What is needed is to have business experts start anew and build anew. The government has certain necessary things to do. Let a simple organization do those things and no more be created. That's all there is to it. If it could do, the government's work probably could be performed much better with half the employees now in service.

It sounds and looks simple enough. We sincerely hope the Republicans, who now have full power, will do it. Yet if they attempt it, they will find Politics barring the way and disputing every step. And the dickens of it is that those whom we must look to for the job are largely politicians, too.

So, though the need of a drastic operation is definitely indicated, we are not too sanguine that it will be done. Politics is the root of governmental inefficiency, and it is a political government that is going into power.

It would take a Hoover, with the whole people back of him, to do what needs to be done; for every step of it would have to be taken over the dead bodies of slain politicians.

BETTER STAY OUT THAN SPOIL IT.

It seems likely that there will be no amendments to the Covenant of the League of Nations during the present session of the League.

The committee on general organization has voted not to submit any amendments at this time. Arthur J. Balfour, the chairman, wisely suggested in the committee meeting that it is too early to draw conclusions as to the working of the League or to form an idea how the Covenant may be improved. His idea is that it would be better to watch it work for awhile, and that then, if amendments are suggested by defects thus developed, it will be time enough for changes. The Scandinavian delegates, who presented four amendments, wanted them considered, but they were outvoted. The South American delegates agreed readily to this postponement, their idea being that it would be best to wait until Mr. Harding makes up his mind, after consultation, what changes he considers the necessary price of America's entrance into the League.

The League so far has worked well. It has produced no miracles, but man-made arrangements do not produce miracles. But it has disappointed those who expected it to be unworkable, and the fact that all the civilized world is in it outside the late enemy countries and Turkey, Russia, Mexico and the United States, gives promise that it will be fruitful and useful.

The League cannot reach its possibilities of usefulness unless the United States is in it. It needs the detached and disinterested viewpoint of this country, and we hope it will soon have the benefit of that support.

But whether America should enter the League depends upon the price Mr. Harding sees fit to ask. If he asks changes that would materially diminish the League's chance of efficacy and survival; if he asks in behalf of America special exemptions that would impair the validity of the Covenant and that would induce other nations to begin asking special exemptions of like or different nature for themselves; if he asks any radical changes that would weaken the League and lessen the usefulness of its machinery, then we sincerely hope that the League will refuse to grant him his price, and will go ahead with America left out.

For though we want America to be in the League, and realize that without this country its prospects are greatly impaired, we would rather see America blackballed than have America admitted at a price that would make the League of no valid effect as a protection against war and the causes of war.

A League that embraces all there is of European civilization outside of late enemy countries that soon will and should come in, and Russia, which will come in when it finds itself again, together with the full support of South American civilization, has a fair chance of success even without the United States. A League so weakened by America's example of asking special exemptions that it could not be expected to work much good nor to last long would have infinitely less chance of success.

What Mr. Harding's price is to be we do not know. He has said that he would consult with the “best minds” of the country and decide soon. The list of those whom he has asked to consult with him so far includes few but men who are either against any League at all or for changes plainly destructive; and this is not at all encouraging. Neither is his repeated assertion that “the League is dead”—when it palpably is far from dead—nor his indifference, from the beginning, to the fundamental purpose of the League.

It all depends on what his price is to be. If it is too great to leave much hope that the League will be able to do what humanity wants it to do if the price is paid, then the rest of the world had better go ahead, without us, trusting that later on we may come with a different spirit. But because the hope of ordered peace is much weakened with a League lacking this country, it is to be hoped that the price Mr. Harding asks for American participation will not be fatally great.

“The Balance of Power”

By Savoyard.

Washington, Nov. 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—It is perfectly natural for a man like Marshal Foch, the French hero, who was in command of the Allied armies when Germany was necessitated to surrender—it is natural that such a man should prefer a treaty of peace founded on the “principle” of the centuries and called “the balance of power.” A man of the sword, this great French soldier would depend on the sword for the safety as well as for the glory of France. He feels with the heart of Michelton and sees with the eye of Napoleon. He reads the lex talionis and he would fashion a treaty of peace concluding the World War on plans invented by ancient Rome and later practiced by Otto von Bismarck.

There is some question as to when the “principle” of the balance of power was first declared, but the epoch beginning with the birth of Charles V, emperor of Germany and King of Spain, and closing with his abdication of the imperial and royal purple, 1556, may be cited as the period when this “principle” was permanently established. It was a mighty age, that first half of the sixteenth century, when the mightiest monarch the world had then seen. He was a valiant and a capable soldier, and, according to his high and noble spirit, he was a statesman. The knightly and chivalrous Francis I was king of France, a hero valiant who, at Ravenna, defeated the pope's army, and at Pavia, the Holy Roman Emperor, Charles V. He might have been a great ruler had he given less heed to the passions of his selfish and impulsive heart. Solyman the Magnificent was sultan of Turkey, a foeman worthy the steel of any and all who were his enemy. He was the conqueror of Gordova, of the Constable Bourbon, of Gaston de Foix, of Martin Luther. William the Silent had just reached man's estate, Francis I. had a wife in arms. Francis of Guise and Alexander Farnese were youths at school. The mother of Henry of Navarre was the bride of a petty king. Cervantes was a private soldier and Napoleon had not shed his baby clothes.

There was perpetual war and oceans of human blood were shed to establish a “balance of power” that would stay fixed. Spain, France and England were the three great dominions the sun never set, was nearly 100 years young, and so dread was her name and so formidable her power, that the long and bloody struggle had vanished even Cardinal Richelieu, and later, Oliver Cromwell, shrank from contest with her. Spain died of that disease, the balance of power. Henry of Navarre and his great minister, Sully, were preparing to extend the domain of France as far as the sea, when the balance of power was established. The victories of Condé and Turenne, of Marlborough and Frederick, were but the long and bloody struggle to establish a balance of power that would stay established. The victories of Condé and Turenne, of Marlborough and Frederick, were but the long and bloody struggle to establish a balance of power that would stay established. The victories of Condé and Turenne, of Marlborough and Frederick, were but the long and bloody struggle to establish a balance of power that would stay established.

The plan of Foch might succeed if it was followed by a century of peace. There is a real danger between the temperament of your German and your Frenchman. It is impossible for your German to absorb an alien. The Frenchman has a genius for that. He is a conqueror. The Poles in Prussia never became German. On the other hand, millions of Alsacians in France have become French. Alsace is a part of France. Alsace is now annexed to Louis XIV, and Alsace is now a part of France as is Piedmont. The safety of France and of the world depends on peace, and peace can only be secured by the League of Nations resolved to maintain it and powerful to enforce it.

To the Land

Cleveland Plain Dealer: There is at least one hope in this situation, but it is in the immigration tendency. While the number of new arrivals in the country is regarded by some as alarming in view of the unsettled labor situation, the fact that considerable proportions of them are not settling in the Eastern industrial centers is encouraging.

The latest available statistics show that at least 50 per cent of the new arrivals go West. Only 12 per cent now seek out the industrial centers outside of New York. About 33 per cent go for considerable periods at least to the metropolitan district of New York and its suburbs.

The fact that last figure is high it should be remembered that many of the arrivals from Italy and Greece do not expect to enter the mills or the factories, but to become small businessmen of various kinds on their own account. They do not accordingly put as large a burden on the labor market as is commonly supposed.

Rippling Rhymes

There's No Rule

Old Gaffer Jinks should be a wreck; for eighty years he's been on deck; and when a man has lived that long his cylinders are hitting wrong in thirteen cases out of ten, but he's a wonder to all men, for he is chippier, blither and spier, and all start when he goes by. And if you ask him for the trick concerning how he's kept his youth, he'll say, “I never smoked or chewed, and no one ever saw me stewed.” And this should teach us how to hold the health of youth, which is life's gold: Beware the flagon and the pipe if you would reach an age that's ripe! But now old Gaffer Todd appears, and he has lived for ninety years, and he's so brisk and full of pep it thrills us when we see his step. “I ask this Todd, how have you dodged,” I ask this Todd, “I've always chewed and smoked,” says he, “I like a drink, and sometimes three. And this year, so helps me Mike, that we should do just as we like, if we would live to wintry years with supple joints and active gears. Some men, methinks, are predestined to leave a hundred years behind, and they will see the journey through—makes no difference what they do.”

The Horrors of Science

Egyptian Mail: We had looked upon a long ocean voyage as one of the few means left of escaping for a while from what is apt to become at times an exceedingly dreary life; and we confess that it is with mixed feelings that we read of our fellow journalists who were regaled in midocean with the strains of the national anthem sung for their delectation 2,000 miles away. These things must be, no doubt, yet, without wishing to adopt an ultra conservative pose, we hope we may be allowed to register our sentiment of sadness occasioned by the thought that the day is at hand when there will be no spot in the world from the Antarctic ocean to the highest peak of the Himalayas where one will really be safe from the infliction of “Little Gray Home in the West” or the latest details of Miss Mary Pickford's taste in hats.

Health Talks

By William Brady, M. D.

Why Be Vaccinated?

If inoculation with the virus of cowpox (vaccination) is a real preventive of smallpox, why are not the health authorities more stringent about vaccinating every seven years, as I understand after that period the subject is again susceptible? (Query of A. S. F.)

The seven year notion is about as sensible as the conception of “seven year itch,” or the tradition that a broken bone, “knit” on the seventh or ninth or some other mystic day, or the tradition that a young mother should remain in bed until or not remain in bed after the birth of her child, or the popular fallacy that fever “turns” or a crisis comes on the ninth or twenty-first day.

Inoculation with the virus of cowpox is an unscientific, always risky procedure, because we do not know what the virus is or what it contains. Unquestionably accidental infection in connection with it has wrought about some tragic deaths. Unquestionably it subjects the child to a certain risk. Notwithstanding all this, I like to keep myself, my children and all who are dear to me very well vaccinated, because I believe in this very unscientific procedure.

If the next door neighbors do not believe in it, I cannot blame them. If they do not wish to submit to vaccination, I am bound to respect that. If they act within their rights, it would be departing far from the principle of fairness and justice for me to insist or to insist on vaccinating my neighbor's children against his wishes. I'd fight to the last tooth and nail before submitting to such an absurdity if I did not wish my child vaccinated.

But my unbelieving neighbor has still another advance since he refuses to be vaccinated. He has had his children vaccinated, some health departments insist that he and his children shall be strictly quarantined or isolated in time of smallpox epidemic or fear of such epidemic. They assume this position on the ground that the unbeliever might be a source of smallpox to his own community when coming down with the disease.

I formerly agreed with that view. It seemed to me that the unbeliever should not be permitted to endanger the well being of other persons. But I no longer see it in that light. If cowpox inoculation (vaccination) is the preventive we believe it to be, let us offer it without fee to everybody who desires to be protected. Then let us discard the isolation or quarantine of smallpox cases. That is no more important than the isolation of scarlet fever or whooping cough. Let us save the unbeliever extra blanches to go and come as he chooses. All of us who believe and are vaccinated have nothing to fear from him, all of those who do not believe and are not protected are surely entitled to take the risk involved.

It is inconsistent to oppose the anti-vaccinationists, to give him all the rope he wants, and to insist that he be vaccinated. Why should we who are protected worry?

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

Beauty Sleeps: I am a girl 14 years old and uncertain as to the number of hours I should have each night. Please inform me about that. (Alma.)

Answer: You should have the finest temperament and we have set 9 o'clock as her bed time. She thinks that is too early. We find when she gets best sleep she is cheerful and irritable. I have interrupted her letter, as you wish your decision. Sincerely yours, Alma's mother.

Ginger Ale: Please tell me whether it is all right to allow children to drink ginger ale, koolok and such beverages freely, as a daily habit. (W. E. M.)

Answer: It is all wrong. Grape juice, orange juice, lemonade or any other fruit juice is a far more healthful beverage than any of the carbonated drinks. The beverages containing various condiments and drugs (ginger ale) are absolutely bad for anyone to use habitually, and particularly for young children. Let cream, the various condiments, and all other things that are indulged in, be kept in moderation. We must not forget that ginger ale and such drinks are not healthful, and should have more sugar and sweets than their parents require, as a rule. (Copyright National Newspaper Service.)

Just a Moment

Daily Strength and Cheer. Compiled by John E. Quintus, the Sunshine Man, Dayton, Ohio.

Gracious God and Father, enable us so to live our home life and our daily life, that we may be able to enter into our family circle may be made better because Christ is manifested. Teach us to be more loyal to the church and more faithful in the performance of our duties in order that we may bring the church into our home and the life of Christ in our home. We do not believe in the church, but we do believe in the church. Teach us to be more loving, tender-hearted, and helpful. Enable us to make the hospitalities of our home not only a blessing to others, but a message of the gospel of salvation to all who share it. We commit ourselves and our home and all with us to the church and to the life of Christ in our home. Guard and protect us through this day, and give us strength to perform its duties and to do Thy will in all things. We ask it in the Name, and for the sake, of Jesus Christ. Amen.—Mark A. Matthews, D. D.

The Future of Labor

Editorial in the Washington Post.

With reports of unemployment increasing in many industrial sections, and evidence on every hand that the country is passing through a period of economic readjustment, the leaders of organized labor assembled in Washington face a future as full of uncertainties for the workmen of America as it is full of uncertainties for business. They are in the same boat, and neither can gain any advantage by rocking it. Both will weather the storm safely together if they will but realize that their interests are identical and that neither can profit permanently at the expense of the other.

Radicalism is deplorable, whether it be preached and practiced by labor or capital. Business knows that during the war period labor succeeded in raising the wage level to unheard of heights. That it is the intention of labor to keep wages up as high as possible has been invariably admitted, but there is lacking evidence of the existence of a plot or a conspiracy to reduce wages and to put all industry on an “open shop” basis.

The issue of collective bargaining, through representatives chosen by the unions was the rock upon which President Wilson's first industrial conference split. It was an issue conceded by labor, and when the policy was forced by labor, and when the policy was conceded it was the labor group which emphasized its position in labor law over the importance to organized labor of the concession of this point, but it must be remembered that collective bargaining exists between employers and their own employees, as a pretty generally recognized institution and that there is no conspiracy in this country against trade unions and never will be. Public opinion supports the union idea.

It will be recalled that at the first industrial conference called by the president there were three groups—labor, capital and the public—and neither labor nor capital should for one moment forget that in all their disputes the public is the third party, and interested with them. The public long suffering from high taxes and higher prices, from excessive living costs and inadequate housing facilities, has a right to expect relief from the burdens patiently borne by all classes of people of fiscal incomes. In the readjustment which has been going on in this country for about five months a certain amount of unemployment was an inevitable consequence. The people of the United States could not go on forever supporting a labor edifice the cornerstone of which was the production of nonessential luxuries. When the people came to their senses and with the assistance of the banks—and ceased throwing their money away on the silk-shirt things of luxury founded on nonessential extravagance were hurt, and with them their work men and women.

The reaction also slowed up the buying of necessities, but folks must have clothes and houses and the essentials, and the unmistakable tendency is toward normal conditions. If labor furnishes the unions and the banks and capital the motive power in industry, the public in the last analysis, holds the whip hand over both; it furnishes the cash and without demand there can be no production, and hence no profits for either labor or capital. The basis of the whole economic structure is what President Roosevelt called a “square deal,” and this includes a square deal for the public.

Any extreme measures taken by labor or capital will hurt the public, and the public will fight back by refusing to buy. It is in that mood today.

There are some ugly signs of storm clouds on the horizon. Certain labor leaders are talking belligerently, and in some quarters are coming rumors of retaliatory measures by large employers. Both courses are dangerous. The country needs industrial peace, not economic-social war, and it looks to the leaders of thought in the ranks of labor and labor to work together for the common welfare, not to put apart.

Every Inch of Space in This Home Is Used to Advantage

The plans, specifications, complete working drawings and details for this home, are ready to use and offered to home builders by the Architects Small House Service Bureau, Inc., of Minnesota, 716 4th Ave. South, Minneapolis, for minimum cost. The cost includes personal counsel and professional advice concerning all problems in connection with the erection and equipment of this home.

The idea in this plan was to provide a home of four rooms and bath on the lines of a bungalow. Every inch of space has been used to advantage and yet the outside appearance has not been neglected.

The quaint hooded entrance, the hospitable inviting seat placed at the side of the front door, the massing and grouping of windows in the living room—these features make this home unusually attractive externally and give you a sunny, pleasant interior.

You enter the home through a small vestibule, large enough for a convenient coat closet. The windows in the living room are grouped in one corner. This arrangement allows the room cool and pleasant in summer and it also provides plenty of sunshine in winter.

The dining room is on the front of the house. By using a colonnade the dining and living rooms can be opened up into practically one large room. This will add attractiveness to the appearance of the home.

The bath and bedroom open off a private hall and are, therefore, separated and removed from the living room and storage. This arrangement is quiet and private and can be kept at a lower temperature than the rest of the house. A linen closet in the hall is convenient to both bedroom and bath.

There is plenty of space on the second floor for a comfortable, large bed room and storage. Stairs leading to the second floor adjoin the kitchen and also open from the private hall. This assures private access to the bath for people occupying the upstairs bedroom.

In a small home pantry room occupies valuable space. In this kitchen there are plenty of cupboards and a cheerful because of the three windows which give cross ventilation and light from both sides of the house.

Even though this home may be classed as a small one, it offers an unusually large amount of space for living and working purposes. Considering the second floor and its possibilities for sleeping purposes, you have a home which might easily be converted into six rooms if necessary. This home is calculated in spirit with simple, dignified and good proportions. As it stands, it is a frame house with heavy exterior bungalow.

The window openings serve three purposes—light, ventilation and attractiveness to exterior design. They break the broad expanse and decided pitch of the roof and are important factors in achieving the beautiful external appearance. The plan, even though it calls for frame structure with bungalow siding, can be interpreted in stucco or on hollow tile veneer with or without weather conditions will permit. It is understood the contract for the church will be carried through by George H. Lounsbury, the contractor for the other units of building in Morgan Park. The building is estimated to cost $125,000.

BIG SUM FOR THEATER JOB Clinton Company Gets Permit for $60,000; Churches to Cost Big Sum.

A permit for $60,000, issued to the Clinton investment company in connection with the improvements that have been under way in the Lyceum building since early in the year, was a feature in building operations during the last week. It is estimated that the reconstruction of the building will entail an ultimate expenditure of $200,000. The work is expected to be completed within the next two months.

The plan is to build a three-story building over the Northwest promise to attain large proportions next year, according to information received by Frederick W. Armstrong, secretary of the Duluth Building exchange. Several large schools and other public building projects in the iron range towns and at other points over Northern Minnesota are expected to be taken up early in the new year.

The erection of the United Protestant church at Morgan Park will be proceeded with as early as the spring as weather conditions will permit. It is understood the contract for the church will be carried through by George H. Lounsbury, the contractor for the other units of building in Morgan Park. The building is estimated to cost $125,000.

Duluth contractors propose to figure upon many outside jobs to come out after the beginning of the year. Included in the list is a Baptist church at Brainerd, Minn. It will be brick and is estimated to cost $125,000. George Boule, Brainerd, is the chairman of the building committee.

A large brick passenger and freight depot to be built for the Northern Pacific at Cloquet, Minn. It is understood that the concrete foundations will be put in at once and that the brick and steel superstructure will be proceeded with next spring.

Plans are expected to be received at the Duluth Builders' exchange shortly.

MINING COMPANY REPLIES TO COMPLAINT St. Paul, Minn., Nov. 27.—Attorney G. Field and other representatives of the Oliver Iron Mining company appeared before the state tax commission yesterday to answer a complaint filed against the company by Attorney George Spear of Duluth charging that the mining company had evaded paying taxes amounting to thousands of dollars and that the properties had been under-assessed.

The complaint specified the Monroe, Wellington and other properties in and about Chisholm.

Old River Pilot Buried. Wabasha, Minn., Nov. 27.—Funeral services were held here Friday for Captain Buison, pioneer Mississippi river pilot, who died in St. Paul Wednesday, aged 82. He was born here, his father, Joseph, having emigrated from a Canadian-French settlement to Prairie du Chien, Wis., then to Wabasha, being an agent for the American Fur company at Mendota in the early '40s. In 1854, the junior Buison pulled an oar on a floating raft for an old pilot at Wabasha. When the steamboats came he became pilot on the "Tide," working for many years on river. Mr. Buison is survived by his wife, Lillian, and one sister, Mrs. J. A. McLaughlin, wife of an Indian agent at Fort Totten, N. D.

MAN WHO RECKLESSLY WOUNDED EDGAHL UNKNOWN

Ashland, Wis., Nov. 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—The identity of the hunter who shot and wounded Edgahl, the Cornucopia hunter who was brought into Ashland Thanksgiving day, is a matter of interest to hunters and game wardens. Like the auto driver who knocked a man down and runs away, hunters who shoot others are apt to shirk the responsibility resulting from their carelessness by disappearing as was done in the case of the Edgahl shooting.

Edgahl was carrying a rifle when a bullet struck his hand, carried away three of his fingers, broke the back of his gun and glanced off, pieces of the broken lock entering his hip and making a wound as large as a bullet.

ST. PAUL PLUMBERS' STRIKE CALLED OFF

St. Paul, Minn., Nov. 27.—The St. Paul plumbers' strike has been called off by officials of the Journeymen Plumbers' local union, according to a statement made by M. J. O'Neill of the arbitration committee.

The strikers return to work at a wage of $8 a day and with no recognition of the closed shop by the master plumbers. The strike started last night, the demands of the strikers being a $10 a day wage and the recognition of the closed shop principle by the employers. Previous to that time the wage scale was $7 a day. The strikers were offered an $8 a day wage at that time which they refused.

NEIGHBORHOOD PICTURE THEATER OPENED IN WEST DULUTH THANKSGIVING DAY

DORIC THEATRE

GRAND OPENING Thanksgiving Day

DORIC THEATRE, FIFTY-SEVENTH AVENUE WEST AND GRAND, DULUTH'S NEWEST MOTION PICTURE HOUSE.

The Doric theatre, fifty-seventh avenue west and Grand, which has been under construction since early last spring, was opened Thanksgiving day with a special holiday program. This new neighborhood theater brings to West Duluth the latest in playhouse construction.

The Doric is the latest theater to be opened in the chain being built up by the Clinton-Meyers company. The house is made of brick, modern in all detail and has the most modern system of ventilations.

Ralph E. Parker, for many years manager of the Sunbeam theater, is in charge of the Doric. Motion pictures will be the chief attraction, but vaudeville features will be offered occasionally.

HOUSES IN GOOD DEMAND

Sales for Week Make Good Showing; Industrial Drive Coming Soon.

House properties built up largely in the line of transactions put through in real estate circles during the last week. The records show that a substantial number of sales were recorded, mainly in the moderate-priced types of houses, and operators were busy upon many prospects.

An interesting development in the week was the turning up of inquiry for improved and semi-improved farms by farmers from the Miller West dealer, to locate on cheaper lands up this way. An operator mentioned that he has an inquiry in hand for a block of 720 acres of land in the upper part of St. Louis county. The prospective buyer proposes to utilize it for sheep grazing and later to divide it up into small lots for a farm.

Another dealer concluded a preliminary agreement with an Illinois dealer for a parcel of 200 acres of improved land in Madison county. Taken on the whole, specialists in farming lands are looking forward to the most active season in years next spring in farming lands in this vicinity.

The setting is being staged for a broad industrial development campaign to be inaugurated early in the new year. Members of a Duluth Commercial club committee are working hard to bring about a number of new industrial projects for this city, and it is hoped that interesting arrangements in connection with them will be forthcoming in the near future.

Other business in the hands of real estate operators includes a large tract of ground near of a central business district and the sale of a block of industrial property in West Duluth.

The Kenneth S. Cant company reported the sale for F. A. Hartley to A. Davidson of a house and lot at 5513 London road at $4,500, and of a horse and lot on Lombard street for L. K. Melander to a local investor at $7,500. Earnest money was also received on the sale of an East end home at $15,000.

The Field-Frey company reported the receipt of earnest money on the sale of an apartment house property in the East end. The transaction is being made with a view to closing out an estate.
