PRINTED BY J. BAYON, DREATP & DECLERA NEW-ORLEANS: WEDNESDAY (Monsing) APRIL 21, 1836.

The Office of the BEK is now removed in the upper part of the house occupied by Mr. J Le Carpentier, Auctioneer, corner of Chartres and St. Louis streets.

Mr. A. BEAUVAIS, is a candidate for Governor, at the ensuing election in July next.

By yesterday's mail, we have received New York papers to the 1st April and Charleston to the 8th, they contain lars:—I welve other persons had been apprehended on the charge of being concerned in the plot. Among the prisoners is one of the name of Rojo. one of the principal leaders if not the chief of the conspiracy, an advocate, a man of talent, enterprise and elohad been instituted by the plotters, under the name of El Aguila Negra de Mejico, or the Black Eigle of Mexico. Republic of Hayti. On the landing of these troops the standard of independence was to be raised, and liberty proclaimed to the slaves, who were to be invited to assist in putting down the government of old Spain.

WASHINGTON, April 2. In the House of Representatives the resolution to fix every second Thursday to be set apart for such legislation as may be necessary for the District of Columbia, was taken up, and briefly discussed. An unsuccessful motion was then made by Mr. Petris to lay the resolution on the table, but the hour having expired by the time the Aves, and Noes on the question had been called, the discussion was suspended.— Orleans, but d.d not come to any deci sion.—National Journal.

An amusing scene occurred yester day in the House of Representatives. Mr. W. B. Shepard, of N. Curolinz, took occasion, in his speech on the Buffalo and New-Orleans road bill, to allude to the story of "bargain and que manifiesta que nada hay que temer por corruption" in the election of Mr. Adams, and very fraukly (though a pueblus es la mejor, advirtiendose una o- friend of the present Administration) avowed his belief-that there was no coronel Victoria emprendió una marcha a foundation for it, and that it never was believed by intelligent and honourable men. His colleague, Mr Carson, doubtless supposing that such a sentiment, from such a quarter, was calculated to injure the cause of the Combination now in power, undertook to assure Mr. S. that he believed the story true, and that it was in that faith he began his tra unos hombres cuya fama en este punto opposicion to Mr. Adams's Administration. By the way, we thought he began his opposition on the Billiard table, as that is believed to be the first occasion on which his voice was heard in Congress.] Mr. S. replied, that what he had stated was said in good faith, as at the time he supposed the story was not believed, but was only used as an electioneering topic, for effect. As, however, his colleague declared that he believed the story, Mr. S. must admit he was in an error.

So it seems Mr. Carson is a believer in the ridiculous story. We take leave, from this incident, to caution all good Jackson men and true, to beware how they suffer themselves to avow their honest sentiments on this subject, so long as Henry Clay is alive, and rising yet higher in the estimation of the community. When he is dead, the truth may be told.—Ib.

Mr. Van Buren's Organ at N. York, asks why Mr. Calhoun's Organ does not defend the measures of the Administration? The latter might retort the est, they would in both cases he the same, viz: that so feeble, corrupt, and profligate an Administration is altogeher indefensible.
