SUBMARINE ATTACK

GUNS PROTECTING DOVER HARBOR BUSY IN RESISTING SUBMARINES

AMSTERDAM (via London), Dec. 10, 10:35 p. m.—The allies have entered Roulers (Rousselaere) in West Flanders, about twelve miles northeast of Ypres, according to the Sluis correspondent of the Handelsblad.

LONDON, Dec. 10, 10 p. m.—Reuter's Boulogne correspondent, who has just returned to Boulogne from Armentieres, says that on Tuesday the Germans were driven out of Armentieres by the British and hurled back beyond artillery range. Armentieres is nine miles northwest of Lille.

LONDON (Morning Post Dispatch from Dover), Dec. 10.—For nearly half an hour this morning the guns protecting the eastern entrance of the Dover naval harbor were engaged in repelling a German submarine attack. A submarine was first sighted off the western entrance at 4:40 and one of the heavy guns was fired. The submarine disappeared before any further shots could be got in. It was just after 6:30 that the second attempt was made and several submarines were then engaged in an effort to enter the harbor by the eastern entrance. There were some warships lying in the harbor at the time, and these were undoubtedly the object of the submarine attack.

The morning was very dark and a rain and mist additionally favored the attempts of the submarines to slip past the defenders. The effects of the gunners' work were watched with keen interest by a number of persons who had hurried to the sea front at the first sound of the guns. Flashes of fire, which stabbed through the darkness as the guns were rapidly swung around into various positions following the movements of the submarines, had a weird effect. This was succeeded by the smashing boom of shells. Powerful searchlights were sweeping the surface of the sea from the piers and breakwaters in the meanwhile.

As soon as the firing started the vessels of the destroyer flotilla were busily on the move and soon they steamed to sea to take part in repelling the submarines. About a hundred rounds were fired from the guns of the eastern pier batteries during the operations. Gunners claim to have sunk one submarine and to have hit others. Men belonging to ships which were in the vicinity of the attack state that at least three were hit. They believe that as many as six submarines took part in the attack. No damage was done by them.

ELEVATOR INSPECTION

Some philosopher has observed that were it not for pain and accident there would be no progress. The purpose of these apparent evils is to make us conscious of imperfect present conditions. So when an elevator falls and injures a score of persons, we awake to the need of improved methods of inspection. The recent accident of this kind in the Tajo building at First street and Broadway has already brought to light the astonishing fact that the inspection of all the city elevators—some 1600 of them—is in the hands of but three men; that these three men are likewise the municipal boiler inspectors, with approximately 2000 boilers to look after, in addition to the elevators, and that they hold their office by virtue of their expert knowledge of boilers alone. What they know about elevators is merely incidental and by rule of thumb. One of them—the one who had recently inspected this particular elevator without discovering its precarious condition, suggests the designing of an ordinance whereby the inspection of elevators shall hereafter be in charge of men technically competent to fill the job. Of course they should have done this long ago, without waiting for the tragic prompting of disaster, but now that the inevitable accident has occurred, let us be thankful that it is serving its purpose.

KAISER WILHELM BETTER

It is officially reported in Berlin today that Emperor William's health is much improved. His temperature is normal and the catarrh is relaxing. The kaiser has been ill for several days with a severe attack of influenza, brought on by exposure at the front, and his physicians feared pneumonia would result, but his condition seems greatly improved today.

If a woman should faint in the subway, would a bottle of hair restorer?

MEXICO WARNED

PRESIDENT WILSON INFORMS NEIGHBOR THAT SHOOTING MUST STOP

President Wilson has served notice on the contending factions in Mexico that firing across the Mexican border at Naco, Arizona, must cease. Two bullets from Mexican trenches struck perilously near General Bliss, who was inspecting a U. S. army bomb proof at the time.

Messages were sent to both Carranza and Gutierrez and pointed out that several Americans had died of wounds received from bullets which were fired from Mexican territory and that appeals to Gens. Maytorena and Hill had been in vain. In no uncertain terms it was stated that steps would be taken by the United States government as might be necessary to protect American lives through the employment of force.

Four troop trains bearing twelve cannon and about 500 officers and men are on their way to Naco, the scene of the border fighting.

A peaceful outcome of the affair is expected and the Washington government expects to use the Naco incident as a precedent in dealing with other border disputes.

NORTH GLENDALE

Mrs. John Barrows of West Colorado boulevard entertained as guests at a prettily appointed dinner Thursday evening Mrs. J. Rankin and Mr. Charles Duclos of 1109 North Louise street.

WE PRACTICE RECIPROCITY

The Glendale Evening News takes a pleasure in granting favors to patrons of The News office. Citizens of the Glendale community who have the management of public entertainments have learned that it is an advantage to make a liberal use of the columns of the Evening News. These same citizens have that kind of practical common sense that causes them to know it is fair that the Evening News job printing plant should be favored with the printing of programs, hand bills, tickets, etc., as partial recompense for the advantage gained in having much free publicity through the columns of the paper. It is merely an instance of practicing sensible reciprocity.

People of good judgment know that it costs money to publish a daily paper, and it being an advantage to make use of its columns in making announcements, they are willing to assist in defraying such expense by patronizing the job department of the Evening News office. Citizens of this city look at such questions from a very sensible viewpoint.

TROPICO

The home economics section of the Thursday Afternoon club held a most interesting meeting at the home of Mrs. H. L. Goodwin, chairman, recently. Mrs. Goodwin led a most interesting as well as instructive discussion on home economics, which was thoroughly enjoyed by all. Among the many interesting topics presented by Mrs. Goodwin was the menu for a Christmas dinner. The members of this section each presented a good and tried recipe, which added much to the interest of the chairman and this section.

The many friends of Mrs. N. C. Burch, wife of City Clerk Burch, who suffered a serious operation recently, will be pleased to learn that

CAESAR WAS TERSE

WAS ONE OF THE BEST WAR CORRESPONDENTS OF ANY PERIOD

Few, if any young people in high schools, realize as they are struggling with their commentaries that they are having to do with the greatest of all war correspondents. If they will read the following tribute to this great statesman, warrior and writer, paid by the Philadelphia Inquirer, it may be that they will find a new zest and a new meaning in their lessons from day to day:

"One can but regret that Julius Caesar, prince of war correspondents, is not now on his old stamping ground writing accounts of the battles raging. Doubtless he would be obliged to brush up a bit on the terminology of modern warfare, but we feel sure he could make as succinct and brilliant accounts of current campaigns as he did almost two thousand years ago. Every school boy who has undertaken the study of Latin remembers the phrase, 'unum quorum Belgae incolunt.' Millions of lads have struggled through the accounts of the Gallic war without getting much perspective of it because of the difficulty in digging out the meanings of particular words and phrases. Yet no more graphic story was ever written and those who in youth hated Caesar and all his works, have come in later age to appreciate his remarkable commentaries.

"Caesar was not given to long and lurid descriptions. His style was terse, but effective. One reason ancient writers made their books so short, but with so great content, was that books were expensive and any kind of paper scarce. There was no room for elaborations. It may be pointed out that the western zone of this war covers ground over which Caesar fought and some of the towns are still standing in more or less battered condition which were Roman encampments. The name Verdun is a contraction of a fortified camp that was built by Caesar. One of the great battles of this war was fought on the spot where Caesar overcame the Nervii after the hardest struggle of his career. The Belgians fought in those days as now and were hard to defeat or to keep defeated.

"There was no censorship in the days of Julius Caesar, but as there were no newspapers it was unnecessary. Caesar also had the advantage of first hand information, and if he occasionally was lenient toward himself, he generally gave his enemies full credit for their valor. The present war seems dreadful to all of us, but where the western conflict rages has been a battleground for more than two millenniums, and many as are they who are now falling on the disputed territory, they are few compared with those whose blood has been shed on the same fields. When this war is over we may expect endless narratives, but it is too much to hope there will be one commentary so able, so authoritative and so realistic as Caesar's account of his own battles in the same region."

EDISON WILL REBUILD

WEST ORANGE, N. J., Dec. 10.—When the fire which swept the ten-acre manufacturing plant of the Thomas A. Edison companies here was extinguished today, a hurried inventory of the damage revealed that eleven of the eighteen buildings had been destroyed, others had been damaged and that the loss would approximate $7,000,000. Seven thousand men are employed at the plant, and half of these, it is estimated, will be out of work temporarily.

The entire force of employees was put to work today at removing the debris. Under the active supervision of Thomas A. Edison, they began tearing down the concrete walls, which had to be removed while the embers were cooling.

Immediate steps to rebuild have been taken.

At least one man perished in the flames. This became known today with the finding of a charred body in the ruins of the filmhouse, where the explosion occurred that started the blaze. Two other men, both workmen, were reported missing.

The flames were beaten back from the laboratory and workshop of Mr. Edison, where were stored innumerable records and materials gathered from every corner of the world, the result of more than thirty years of the inventor's efforts.

she is improving as well as could be expected owing to the seriousness of the operation. Mr. Burch and family are anticipating having her removed from the Tropico hospital to her home on Cerritos avenue shortly providing Mrs. Burch continues to improve.

WIN FROM POLY

GLENDALE HIGH BASKETBALL TEAM IS THE VICTOR IN PRACTICE GAME

Polytechnic high school Thursday evening was whipped by the Glendale high school basketball team in a little practice game, the Glendale boys winning their game 15-17.

Not such a bad game, either, barring numerous exceptions. In fact, both teams kept within two or three points of the other throughout the entire contest, but the Glendale lads won their game from superior basket shooting. Both teams were well matched as far as size and team work and defense went, but basket after basket was missed by Coach Haslett's men from the city.

Among some of the exceptions taken to the game, or at least felt by local rooters, was the roughness which permeated the first half to such a degree as to almost lay the players out. Another exception was the way the Polytechnic coach conducted himself. He has a very unpleasant mien. At least the foregoing would seem true if a comparison of coaches were made.

The Glendale boys need more practice, lots of it, especially defensive work and faster team work, to become a smooth working organization, but they are improving. Among the features of Thursday's game was the excellent defense put up by "Sonny" Latter. Hasty Bidwell also played a great game at center and seemed a marked man for the opposition's attack. Nichols did good work. Monty Coole worked hard, too, but seemed to accomplish less than was expected. Hagan and Kolts took turns at guard position and succeeded in breaking up a number of team plays on the part of Poly.

"Featherweight" Team to Play
The Glendale high school lightweight basketball team of last year has been reorganized and will start practice shortly. This team won the L. A. county basketball championship last year and was only defeated once, that defeat coming from the crack L. A. high school team. Owing to the fact that two of the players have graduated, the team will not play under the banner of the G. U. H. S.

The team has all of last year's players except Johnnie Stauffacher, who owing to injuries of last year will be unable to play this year. The team will probably line up as follows: J. Fishel and D. Balthis, forwards; S. Simon (captain), center; J. Lovejoy and M. McNutt, guards.

EARN A GOLD WATCH

The boys and girls of Glendale are showing an interest in the contest announced by The News Thursday, whereby the boy or girl selling the greatest number of copies of the Glendale Evening News anniversary number will receive free a handsome $20 gold watch. In addition to this prize, each one entering will receive 20% of the money which he receives for the copies he sells. This is a good chance to earn some Christmas money. It is not too late to enter.

THE BRUCE-BROWN RALLY

Through an error, but not of The News, it was announced that the meeting in charge of the "men" would be tonight, whereas it should have read Thursday night.

The men occupying the platform led the singing and the entire program was enthusiastic and very helpful. The address by the evangelist was in his usual optimistic vein and was an inspiration for a man to do his best in life.

Mr. Brown believes in men and opposes finding fault with all the mistakes they make. The meeting tonight will be in charge of the young people, but will be for all. Come and be assured of an intellectual and spiritual treat. You would think little of paying 50c or $1 for a lecture worth not half so much.

LAWRENCE VARNEY WON PRIZE

Lawrence Varney of 506 Orange Grove avenue proved the lucky person to win the prize of $25 offered by Mr. Jensen for a new name for the new Brand boulevard theater. The contest was open to anyone attending the theater last week and there were many names submitted. However, Mr. Jensen chose the name, Palace Grand, and on opening the envelope on which the name was written on the stage Thursday night, the name of Lawrence Varney was found therein. The lad soon appeared upon the stage to claim the $25 in gold so generously offered by Mr. Jensen and was made happy when the shining pieces were placed in his hand.

If lightning should open the door, would thunder bolt it?

TEACH'RS TRANSFERR'D

SCHOOL BOARD MAKES CHANGES AT MEETING THURSDAY EVENING

Considerable business was transacted at the meeting of the school board held Thursday evening at the Intermediate school. A number of changes have been made in order to furnish teachers for the two new schools, which will be known as the Doran street school and the Pacific avenue school. Following are the changes made and names of new teachers employed:

At the Intermediate school there were no changes except the addition of one teacher, Miss Gertrude Malloy, who will assist with the music and other work in the seventh and eighth grades.

Miss Lois Hatch will be transferred from the ungraded room at the Columbus avenue school to the principalship of the Doran street school.

Miss Edith Tyler, who has been teaching the fifth grade at the Columbus avenue school, will now take the ungraded room.

Miss Lily Smith will be transferred from the primary room at the Columbus avenue school to the primary room at the Pacific avenue school.

Miss Anna M. Hook is a new teacher appointed to the fifth grade at the Columbus avenue school.

Mrs. Fanny Stone has been transferred from the ungraded room at the Broadway school to the principalship of the Pacific avenue school.

Miss Mary J. Collins, primary teacher at the Broadway school, will have the primary room at the Doran street school.

Miss Ella D. Mosher will be transferred from the Broadway to the Pacific avenue school.

Mrs. M. A. Rucker from the Colorado boulevard school to the ungraded room of the Broadway school.

Miss Susan A. Cooper will take the primary room at the Broadway school and Miss Blanche M. Pierce will have the third and fourth grades at the Pacific avenue school.

There will be kindergartens opened at the beginning of the new term in the Colorado boulevard school and the Columbus avenue school and Miss Carrie O. Ormsby and Miss Ina M. Johnson have been selected as kindergarten teachers, their places to be assigned at the next meeting.

The board received word that the Intermediate school bonds for the addition to the school have been sold and they are rapidly closing up with the owners of property in the rear of the building for the purchase of the additional ground necessary and hope at the next meeting to have made entire settlement for the said ground. The bonds for the addition to the Central avenue school have also been sold and the board decided that at the next meeting they will make final revision of the plans on these two buildings and advertise for bids.

A committee from the Parent-Teacher Federation, composed of Mrs. Charles H. Toll, president of the Parent-Teacher Federation in Glendale; Mrs. Stephen C. Packer and Mrs. Anderson, appeared before the board and reported that they had been chosen by the Parent-Teacher Federation to represent that body at the board meeting and to present a resolution of the Federation suggesting that the school board call a bond election for the purpose of making up the deficit of last year, and having at least nine months' term of school this year. Under present conditions the finances of the district are such that it will be impossible to have more than eight months of school.

MUSICALE TONIGHT

The Evening News bureau will co-operate with other bureaus in California. Address all communications to 920 West Broadway, Sunset 132, Home 2401.

The surest way to get right is to frankly admit that you are wrong.

O. E. S. INSTALLATION

OFFICERS OF GLEN EYRIE CHAPTER INSTALLED AT BRILLIANT FUNCTION

The Order of the Eastern Star held a public installation of officers on Thursday evening at the Masonic temple. The occasion was one long to be remembered by all who were there and those who were unable to attend may well feel that they have missed a rare treat. The great hall was beautifully decorated with quantities of English ivy and huge baskets of pink carnations and asparagus ferns, and all the officers carried arm bouquets of the pink carnations and asparagus plumosa.

Besides the installation, there was a short program consisting of two very beautiful piano solos by Miss Helene Morgan. Miss Dorothy Armstrong, violinist, accompanied by her sister, Miss Phoebe Armstrong, played two violin solos, and Miss Phoebe Cora Hickman, district deputy grand matron, spoke a few words of greeting and gave a short address. The patron, Mr. A. M. Beamon, presented the retiring matron, Mrs. Tower, with "the jewel," and work of installation consumed the balance of the evening.

AT THE PALACE GRAND

Few dramas ever produced on the American stage have attained the conspicuous and sensational success of "Clothes," which in its film form will be the attraction at the Palace Grand theater, beginning tonight, and showing again at the Saturday matinee and Saturday night. This drama was formerly one of Grace George's greatest dramatic triumphs and portrays in a realistic manner the sham of society and the sincerity of the simple life which pride of clothes does not dominate. The part originally presented and made famous by Grace George is portrayed in the film by Charlotte Ives, one of the best ingenue leads of the American stage. She forces the audience to follow every development of her pitiful love for clothes with poignant sympathy.

Miss Ives is ably supported by a notable cast that includes House Peters and the wonderful child actress, Mimi Yvonne, who plays her part with precocious cleverness. Each character is acted with a keen realization of the meaning of the role, and each character fits into the play logically. The film production of this celebrated society drama is mounted to the minutest detail, with elaborate care and faithful adherence to the imposing dignity of the original stage presentation, with many unusually beautiful scenes. As the story goes, a pretty girl, fond of finery, sighs over her quiet life in a mid-western city and longs for the gaieties of fashionable New York society. At length fate gives her a chance to enjoy that for which her heart yearns and she is introduced into the gilded circle to which her ambition has so long aspired. For a time she is petted and happy, but little by little the petty strife, envy and jealousy of the superficial world in which she lives overshadow her joys and she begins to see that the glittering globe at her feet is a hollow one. Evil influences of which she is wholly unconscious, threaten her, but after passing through many crucial episodes that barely escape tragedy, the innocent and ignorant girl awakens to a realization of the snares and dangers that surround a soul wrapped in the pride of clothes. This is a powerful story, contrasting love and desire, sham and sincerity. It rings true in many respects to the life it depicts so vividly.

"Clothes" may well be termed a production with a soul. It is a drama with a purpose. Written by Avery Hopwood and Channing Pollock, and based upon Carlyle's immortal line, "Society is founded upon cloth," carries a message into every feminine heart throughout the world.

LONELY IN THE MIDST OF A THROG

A writer for the Gilliam (Mo.) Globe thus portrays the loneliness of one of the most powerful men on earth:

"Simply because a man happens to be president is no reason at all why he should cease to be like other human beings in the desire to exercise natural freedom. Mr. Taft has 'let the public in' on how he felt on this. But how about Woodrow Wilson? Here is a man who came to Washington sixteen months ago with a wife and three grown daughters. Now that wife, who was a chum and helpmate, has passed forever beyond the shadows. Two of the daughters have been married and of the happy family only its head and one daughter are together. The White House, to which they came in happiness and in the expectancy of a beautiful expansion of home life, has become a dreary and lonely abode—it is transformed into a house of mourning and silence. The president used to like a couple of evenings a week at the theater and he rollicked a good deal and had a good time. But it is different now. Lonely, Woodrow Wilson shrinks from the public gaze, and he even refused to enter into the campaign to make speeches as has heretofore been the custom. He seeks forgetfulness of his own unhappiness in his work, and eagerly welcomes the responsibilities of his office. Washingtonians know and understand, and as they pass the White House they rarely catch a glimpse of its master, for he is hidden in a favorite corner where the curious cannot go. Ah, 'tis a great thing to be president of the United States, but if Woodrow Wilson could have it for the wishing, he would doubtless prefer to be back in Princeton as he was a dozen years ago, happy with a loving family in a modest home. But even presidents are not masters of their own destiny and he must go on as the lonesome man of the White House."

CHINESE FEWER THAN JAPANESE

A report just issued by the government gives valuable information concerning the number of foreigners in the United States. Of special interest is the table of information showing on the foreign element of California.

The total of Japanese in California in 1910 is given as 41,356, and of Chinese as 36,248. The state's total population of all nationalities was in that year 2,377,549. Of the 41,356 Japanese, 18,812 lived in the cities and 22,744 in the country. Of the Chinese, 24,262 lived in the cities and 11,986 in the country. Far larger in number are the males of both nationalities than the females. Of the Japanese in this state in 1910 the census enumerates 35,116 as males and 6,240 as females. Of the Chinese 33,003 are males and 3245 females.

Most of the Japanese here are between the ages of 25 and 44 years. With the Chinese it is different; the largest percentage is between the ages of 45 and 64. Regarding the marital condition, it is shown that 9320 Japanese are married and 13,997 Chinese. It is clear from the number of Oriental women that are in the state that several thousand men have left their wives behind them in the homeland.

More than 3000 of the Japanese in this state are native born, and 8470 Chinese first saw the light in California. The fact that 1368 Chinese and 420 Japanese were reported as naturalized surprises the census bureau, since by law only white persons of African origin are eligible to citizenship unless born in the United States. The bureau says a few Chinese may have been naturalized prior to 1882, in which year their legal ineligibility was made more explicit, and a few more Chinese and also some Japanese may have been admitted to citizenship illegally prior to 1906, when the federal government undertook a closer supervision of the matter. Furthermore, those Chinese and Japanese who were naturalized citizens of Hawaii in 1898, when that territory became a part of the United States, were at that time declared to be American citizens and some of them have doubtless since removed to the mainland. The number reported as naturalized is, however, the bureau declares, undoubtedly exaggerated by erroneous returns, especially in the case of the Chinese.

UNCLE JOE'S GOLDEN SLIPPER

In remembrance of a promise made four years and more ago, the Illinois Society of the Golden State will send a solid gold slipper to "Uncle Joe" Cannon of Illinois. On May 6, 1910, "Uncle Joe" told a group of senators and representatives that if he was living in 1915, he would come to the Panama-Pacific international exposition in San Francisco and dance the Virginia Reel in the Illinois state building. The building is ready now and the Illinois society of California will insist that "Uncle Joe" make good his word.

of every true American is to be NEUTRAL and SAVE MONEY.

We have borrowed money from Europe. We can't do so any longer. We must not only repay money borrowed, but in the future supply our own needs. The one great necessity put upon us by the war, the biggest economic need in America today, is to save money. In the past we have not been savers.

This table shows the number of persons out of every thousand of the population who are savings depositors:

PERSONALS

The Jolly Twelve club will meet on Saturday evening at the home of Mrs. R. L. Hinckley, 137 South Jackson street.

Mrs. Albert Marple of West Palmer avenue, Tropic, spent Tuesday in Los Angeles with her mother, Mrs. A. A. Riggs.

Miss Dorothy Bonnell of 1550 Myrtle street has been spending a few days with friends on Isabel drive in Los Angeles.

Mrs. F. H. Vesper and Mrs. E. R. Naudain of Lomita avenue were the luncheon guests Thursday of Mrs. Leon Wilkinson at 1212 North Alvarado street, Los Angeles.

Mrs. W. C. Jacobs of South Brand boulevard has gone to San Diego for a month's visit with her daughter. Mrs. Jacobs took her little grandson, Benny McCurry, with her.

Mrs. E. D. Yard and Mrs. Coral Harrison Sloan are spending the day in Los Angeles today. They are making necessary preparations for Christmas cheer for the very poor.

The Ladies' Aid society of the First Methodist church had planned for an apron shower at the last meeting, but on account of the rain there were only a few people able to get out, and the apron shower will be continued for another month. The aprons are now at the home of Mrs. Ward, 203 West Third street, and anyone wishing them may call at her home. The aprons make nice Christmas gifts.

Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Peterson, Miss Filger and Mrs. Coral Harrison Sloan motored to Los Angeles a few days ago to witness the performance of "Hamlet" by Forbes Robertson.

Funeral services for Miss Kathleen Guidinger, who died Tuesday as the result of an automobile accident in Los Angeles, were held at Bresee Bros.' undertaking parlors this morning.

The citizens of Glendale are learning of the live interest their relatives and friends in the East take in the anniversary number of the Evening News, and this accounts for the large number they are mailing daily.

In reply to a question asked about paying postage on the anniversary numbers, the publisher of the Evening News explains that 25 cents pays for a copy, including the postage. This offer is good only for a limited time.

Saturday afternoon Mrs. E. D. Yard will be at Schilling's dry goods store for the purpose of promoting the sale of tickets for the Tuesday Afternoon club music section benefit concert to be given at the Masonic temple next Tuesday evening. At the same time Mrs. McNutt will be at Williams' dry goods store, and on Monday afternoon Mrs. Ward will be at the same place for the same purpose.

At the Parent-Teacher meeting at K. of P. hall in Tropic on Tuesday evening Mrs. Coral Harrison Sloan of Glendale delighted her audience with an original reading entitled "Samantha Allen, Upon Hearing Brahms van den Berg Play Mendelssohn's Wedding March." Mrs. Sloan was a close friend of Marietta Holly, author of the Samantha stories, and has a deep insight into the character of that wonderful woman of fiction, so that her story of the emotions and feelings of Samantha was up to the mark in every respect.

Dr. and Mrs. E. L. Eames gave a charming party at their home, 703 North Brand boulevard, on Thursday evening. The house was decorated in Christmas colors and there was a beautiful little Christmas tree, with a small toy for each guest. After the tree was duly admired by all, there were marshmallows toasted and corn popped in the fireplace, where a fire had been burning all evening, and light refreshments were served. Senor David of Los Angeles sang and Miss Mattie Belle Provolt of Glendale also sang a number of selections. Following are the names of those present: Miss Gertrude Gilligan, Senor David and Dr. Paley of Los Angeles; Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Worley, Mr. and Mrs. Bonnard, Mr. and Mrs. Harry T. Goodwin, the Misses Bessie, Clara and Mattie Belle Provolt, Miss Lillian Mills, Mr. Fred Provolt, Mr. Norman Badger, Mr. John Eames and Dr. and Mrs. Eames.

WHENCE CAME THE GOLDFISH

By D. A. Willey

Do you know that the source of the goldfish, which often wins our sympathy because of its confinement in narrow glass globes, is in the far-away Flowery Kingdom across the Pacific?

While some of the goldfish are grown from eggs of the female fish kept in hatcheries of the glittering coated inhabitants of the water, most of them come from Japan—the natural home of the toy fish.

Large quantities of goldfish are grown for the export trade by Japanese dealers in the Yokohama district. The majority of these fish are shipped to San Francisco and Seattle for the local and Eastern markets. Approximately 100,000 goldfish are shipped annually from Yokohama to the United States, reports Deputy Consul General G. J. Barrett of Yokohama.

A RUSSIAN PRAYER

It will doubtless be a surprise to many to know that the liturgy of the Russian church contains the following, prepared especially for times of war:

And for those also, O Lord, the humble beasts, who with us bear the burden and heat of the day, and offer their guileless lives for the well-being of their countries, we supplicate Thy great tenderness of heart, for Thou hast promised to save both man and beast, and great is Thy loving kindness, O Master, Savior of the World.
