It is with sincere regret that we see in the Washingt in papers, the announcement of the death of the late Hon. JAMES BLAIR, a member of the U.S. house of representa tives from South Carolina. The deceased was the only union representative from that state. A singular proof of the popularity he must have enjoyed at home. He was a man of acknowledged talents, and although perhaps, a little rough and uncouth in his manners, was possessed of a humane and tolerant disposition.

The usual honors, upon the announcement of his death in congress, were paid to his memory.

Miss KENBLE, who has been more idelized at the North than we can believe her merits warrant, is about to retire from the stage. Looking over our Boston papers, we find the event thus announced over the theatrical advertisements: "The Manager most respectfully announces to the public, that previous to Miss FANNY KEMBLE's retirement from the stage, the will appear in eight of her most popular characters, and that in consequence of her engagement being limited to a few hights, and the impossibility of renewing it, no play in which she appears will be repeated."

The Post says: "The Bachelor's Bail, on Friday evening (21st ult.) was a splendid affair-the company remarkably gay—the old fellows shook the cobwebs out of their sides to the tune of five thousand dollars Pretty lively for these 'distressing times.'

The intelligence from Spain is of a very vague and magre character. The Queen's ministers do not seem to be acting in the manner best adopted to the interests or secure tranguillity of the country. By the influence of court intuition that the country will be deprived not only of his services, but also those of several other talepted consistationalists, who make their return to Spain contingent on that of Mina.

From the accounts in the Paris papers it would seem that the popularity of Louis Philippe, never, we believe very firmly established, is now rapidly on the wane. The cause of this is stated to be, the Perfect of Police at Paris having ordered all the theatres to be closed at 11 o'clock, whether ordered all the theatres to be crossed as the the performance was finished or not.

The tumults at Marseilles have been suppressed, but those Lyons still dontinue, while in Paris a considerable degree agitation prevails.

The subject of conversation in every society in Paris, for the last few days, is the lamentable state of Lyons, where the workmen, without proceeding to acts of serious outrage, evince a determination to hold out until their terms are granted, and above all display'an organized system of con-binatio, extending to various other manufacturing towns which creates serious uneasiness, less at any attempts a disorder which these misguided men may resort to—for the authorities he debt interests according to the conenthorities have this time, take ample precautions against a recurrence of the dreadful scenes of which Lyons was the theatre in 1831—then looking to the effect the existence of such a combination may have on the manufacturing inte

LIVERPOOL, Feb. 18. The Shiel Comedy ended, as comedies invariably do, in a bearty shaking of ha ds, a superfluity of smiles, and in the reconciliation of all the parties concerned. It is singular smough that after the motion of Thursday isst, which was carried by the united forces of Lord Althrop and Mr. O'Connell, Mr. Shiel was next morning honorably acquitted. The Noble Lord and Mr. Hill both applogized to Mr. Shiel in the most ample terms, and the affair ended.

A new treaty between Russia and Turkey, very much in favor of the latter was concluded at St. Petersburg on the 27th of last moath. By this treaty, that of Adrianople is materially multified; the amount of the debt due by the Porte is very minch diminished; part of the principalities of Moldavia and Wallachia is given at once, to the Porte, and the remainder is to be given in on the eventual of the conand relations is given a virtual of the con-lations. He states that he was busy at the time, and did not know the whole of its contents. This is not so. I read the article to him myself in Mrs Fisner's hotel, and he highly approved of it; and intantly signod his name; and the reason why Sheffield aspersed us, is because we positively refused to give him a card of thanks for wrocking his vessel on a fine star light right with a moderate six knot breeze. The metant I landed on the Island of Fish Key, stated without diagnise that it was my firm impression the Encommum was 'intentionally' wrecked; and I am willing to enter a court of justice and be qualified to what I now assert. As soon as I reached this city, I consulted with some of my fellow passengers about publishing the matter, but they dissanded me from it, and thought it was better to get clear of Sheffield as speedily as possible. From the Richmond Enquirer. Agitation is the order of the day in the Senate. Every thing is watched—to be used for political effect. Rumors are caught at and propagated from that high tribunal, to poduce excitement among the people. Mr Clay hears a report about transfer drafts being sent on to relieve the Union Bank against the late panic of Baltimore—and, without waiting to ascertain the fact, proclaims the romofrom the house tops, and the rumor turns out to be faire.
