Ways to Use and Interact with the Reports

Learn how to read the numbers and graphs

- Review the reading guide to understand the numbers and graphs presented
- Understand the limitations to interpretation
  - Use of medians
  - Lack of statistical power
  - Correlation vs. causation

Use the report data to help direct learning

Use the data which are relevant to you to help find program leaders to reach out to and learn from

Use the data to help set reasonable targets

Data labels have been removed for events with less than 50 unique media used as the label obscures those bubbles. Where bubble labels overlap, the label for the bubble behind has been made gray.

Consider which metrics work well

- Which priority goals do you have for your own program implementation and which metrics are useful for sharing your program impact story?
- What aspects of your program goals are not measured by the metrics demonstrated and how might they be captured?
