ALL IS IN READINESS FOR FIRST SHOW—OTHER TROPICO NOTES OF INTEREST

The Poultry and Pet Stock association of Glendale and Tropico will hold the first annual exhibit Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of next week in the garage building on San Fernando road. This building was formerly occupied by the Tropico fire department and furnishes one of the most available places of exhibition in this city, yet the managers of next week's show have decided that owing to the numerous entries they will be obliged to secure another exhibition location. The officers of the association are Dr. G. Irving Royce, Glendale, president; Dr. A. M. Duncan, Tropico, vice-president; Walter M. Ross, Glendale, secretary; Irving H. Oliver, Tropico, treasurer. The exhibit is free and the public is invited.

The city council of Tropico has ordered the flag that floats over the city hall placed at half mast in memory of City Marshal Charles W. Smith.

Asa V. Fanset, whose funeral obsequies were held this afternoon from Pulliam's undertaking parlors, was a charter member of Unity lodge, No. 368, F. and A. M. of Glendale, which organization conducted the ceremony. Mr. Fanset was also a charter member of Glen Eyrle chapter, No. 237, of the Order of the Eastern Star of Glendale and was the first treasurer of the chapter.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Herbert Smith and wife left today for San Jacinto valley, where they will spend a ten days' vacation visiting Mr. Ben Colton and other friends.

WITT GUILTY OF MURDER

The jury, after hearing the evidence in the Glenn Witt case, returned a verdict of "guilty of murder in the first degree" and Witt will be given a death sentence by Judge Willis next Monday morning at 10 o'clock, which hour is the time set for pronouncing the death penalty upon Charles Oxnam, Witt's partner, who shot and killed William Montrose Alexander on the morning of December 22nd.

The jury took only three ballots, the first two standing eleven for hanging. Thus far the court and the attorneys for the state have done well in hastening the trial and conviction of Oxnam and Witt, and it is hoped that their sentences will be pronounced at the time now set and that justice will be meted out to these murderers without delay.

Witt plead on the stand that he was hungry and gave that as his reason for going out to rob and murder, but he and his friends seem to have money now to defend him.

District-Attorney Woolwine, assisted by Deputy District-Attorney McClelland, represented the people, while Witt was represented by Attorney Cate.

GIVE FLOWERS NOW

THOSE WHO SPEAK THE WORD OF APPRECIATION MAKE WORLD BETTER

A letter of appreciation received at this office within the past few days has been a source of great encouragement to us and in the hurry and worry of every-day affairs it brought a cheery message such as seldom finds its way into our sanctum, and one which we will long remember and cherish.

The writer is a lady who is doing much to make the world a better place and she voices an oft-spoken but seldom-practiced truth when she says: "The flowers bestowed during life are more precious than those sent after we are gone." We are quite sure that this little message in which appreciation for our interest in a good work and faith that our ultimate purpose as a newspaper is for Glendale's good, are shown has done us more good than all the flowers that might be heaped upon our grave. After such an expression of good will it is easy to take up our work with renewed effort and courage. This woman of culture and education might have thought it necessary to demonstrate her superiority by criticizing our handling of the matter in which she was interested. We are open to criticism and are often deserving of it, but it is so much easier to do better under the stimulation of a pleasant word than an angry or complaining one.

What a world this would be if we should all manifest that spirit of bestowing our bouquets upon the living in our every-day life. Yet, how few of us do so. After all it doesn't require much effort to speak the word of appreciation that will mean much to the one to whom it is spoken and like all good deeds redound to the giver's pleasure. How much good could be accomplished if one should say to the other, "I believe you are honest and your motives are good." What a tragedy it is that we find out the good points of those with whom we associate only after they are dead. Wisdom comes to us suddenly at the moment our friends and acquaintances pass from our sight. How insignificant their faults seem then, and how wonderful are their virtues. This post-mortem appreciation is of no more benefit to the dead than the flowers heaped on their caskets. How much happier a world this would be if we could look for the virtues in those about us and forget their faults, speak the word of appreciation and encouragement and forget to criticize and blame even when criticism is merited. We might all take for our motto that of the Elks' lodge: "The faults of our brothers we write upon the sands, their virtues upon the tablets of love and memory."

There are few of us who have formed this habit of saying the word that will bring hope and encouragement to the friend and associate, but those who have this habit are mighty comfortable people to have around. They stimulate us on to better things and greater effort that we may truly merit their kind words.

GLENDALE PEOPLE SEE STARS

Much has been written and said about the clear air of this section of the United States and many Glendale people had a demonstration of this condition this morning. Half the population of Glendale were star gazing, a star being clearly visible to all but the near-sighted this forenoon. The only explanation we have heard of this unusual occurrence is that the atmosphere is particularly clear today.

WOMAN LOOPS LOOP

Glendale people were treated to an unusual sight Thursday when Aviator DeLloyd Thompson was making his daily flight from the Griffith park field, although few who witnessed the aviator's feats knew that Mrs. Barney Oldfield was his passenger. This fearless woman established a record for herself by being the first of her sex to loop the loop in an aeroplane. Thompson's machine is built for one only.

PREPARE FOR REVIVAL

REMINISCENCES OF BROWN AND CURRY MEETINGS IN MISSOURI IN YEAR 1907

"Brown and Curry are coming?" Yes, to Glendale, and their coming vividly recalls to my mind many memories well worth remembering and meditating upon.

Every active Christian plans for and looks forward to the "good old-fashioned revival meetings"—tent meetings—when all assembled together in Christ's name for the one great cause. How well do I remember that summer of 1907 back in the dear old state of Missouri, when the good folk of our college town eagerly anticipated the coming of the greatly loved evangelist, Rev. John R. Brown accompanied by his efficient choir director, Mr. Curry. However, the anticipation was small in comparison with the real results of those wonderful meetings.

Many of the good folk who attended the meetings were those who were accustomed to hearing the gospel preached in various churches regularly and yet it seemed they were greatly lacking in zeal, for the salvation of souls in their midst—yes, even their own loved ones—and it was a real revival resulting from prayer, faith and works that must bestir them to the great call of "Throw out the Lifeline and Save Them Today." It was this call so appealingly made by our evangelist, Mr. Brown, that did awaken them to their responsibility, sending them out of their own church pews, out and into the by-ways of every-day life (where there is the continual battle with sin) to seek and entreat those who never entered the house of God to come and learn of the One who lived, died and rose again for each of their own sins.

Mr. Brown's sermons, so full of the simple yet wonderful teachings of the Christ, were of the nature to cause the Christian to fall down upon his knees and confess before his God his own unworthiness of that great divine love and mercy. Yet at the same time creating a desire in their hearts to throw off the old self, so full of sin, and to begin anew in Christian experience, forsaking all and following Him.

If there was ever a time when crowds were awakened to the call of "Tell it to Others," it was during these revival services. Men and women who had not listened to the preaching of the old yet ever new gospel for years and years accepted of the wonderful truths, felt the power of God's message and entered upon the Christian's walk of life. In my own young Christian experience these meetings were a wonderful inspiration, full of lasting and rich blessings. How often even yet do I recall those individual and personal friends who were converted and who have stood fast in the faith ever since. Many who had come to the age in life that were hard to reach, even with the true gospel. There are many here in our own little city of Glendale, yes, living within our own midst, groping day after day in darkness and sin, content to live ignorant of the great blessings that the Christian experience affords—just because we, yes, you and I, are failing to do our duty.

The same great good that was accomplished in that Missouri town can be realized here in our own city, where God's power is just as powerful, if we but only trust, pray and zealously work. We, too, must awake, be ready to not only give our full support to these meetings, but we must (and God is expecting it of us) bring those who are not in Christ, who have from year to year grown indifferent to his power. We must entreat them to come and receive those blessings which are rightfully theirs—if they but only accept and believe in Him whose life is the guiding star to all those who follow Him. This call is at every Christian's door. Do we hear it? And what shall our answer be?

ONE INTERESTED.

THOROUGHLY APPRECIATED

The recital by Prof. W. H. Head in the Casa Verdugo public school Friday evening was fine and it was thoroughly appreciated by all present. The selections were: "A Love Story—Red and White Roses," "That Little Boy of Mine," "The Terrible Meek."

Prof. Head fully sustained his reputation as a reader and impersonator. The proceeds were quite satisfactory. On the ballet for "the most popular baby," Martha E. Jones, baby daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Jones of 908 Dryden street, won the prize.

Five per cent of the proceeds will be deposited in the Glendale Savings bank to her credit. Putting money into savings banks should become the regular habit of all children.

TROPICO'S MAYOR DEAD

MR. JAMES RICH PASSED AWAY THIS MORNING AFTER LONG ILLNESS

As the hands of the clock pointed to 7:50 this morning and the bright and welcome rays of the morning sun flooded the sick room of the patient and gentle sufferer, the spirit of James Rich went home.

James Rich just stepped over the threshold and as he was leaving all of his earthly joys and sorrows, he addressed an affectionate good morning to his daughter, Mrs. L. C. Haynes, who had been one of the family to remain with the father during the night.

The passing of this good man was not unexpected, as he with his family and many friends have been waiting the summons of the death messenger.

Nine years ago Mr. and Mrs. Rich and their family came to Tropico and purchasing property on Cypress street there established their future home. Mr. Rich soon became interested in the many civic and social interests of this community, ever ready to assist in everything that was for the advancement and betterment of his fellow man or the community's good. Mr. Rich was a member of the Tropico school board and was very much interested in the erection of the two new school buildings.

At the spring election held in April, 1914, Mr. Rich was elected a member of the city council and later was chosen mayor of Tropico.

He was also owner of the Tropico Feed and Fuel company, conducting business on San Fernando road. Previous to coming to Tropico Mr. Rich had been principal for twenty-eight years of the schools of Knoxville, Tenn. In that city he studied and practiced law and devoted his Saturdays and leisure time to surveying, being a most competent and accurate civil engineer.

He was also a member of Choto lodge, No. 253, F. and A. M. of Knoxville, Tenn., and served his lodge faithfully for four years as worshipful master. He also affiliated with the Royal Arcanum of Los Angeles and was a member of Visor lodge, Knights of Pythias of Tropico, being one of the trustees of the lodge.

James Rich was born in Knoxville, Tenn., July 24, 1852, and was in his sixty-third year when he passed on. June 14, 1872, he and Miss Mary J. Wells, also a native of Knoxville, were united in marriage and to them were born eight children, all of whom were present at the bedside of the devoted husband and father when he went home. It was a comfort and a joy to Mr. Rich to be thus surrounded by his loving wife and devoted children. His eldest son, John M. Rich, arrived a month ago to remain with his parents for a visit of several weeks. The other son, Samuel H. Rich, is one of the Tropico fire department. The daughters are Mrs. Clyde Seal, Mrs. L. C. Haynes, Mrs. Mae Dixon and Miss Irene Rich of Tropico; Mrs. Horace Miller and Mrs. Charles Little of Los Angeles.

In the passing of Mr. Rich the family has lost a devoted husband and father, who was ever seeking the comforts and happiness of his loved ones. Tropico has lost a good and loyal and public-spirited citizen.

Many are the friends who will mourn the passing of this good man. Scovern-Letton-Frey, morticians, with Visor lodge Knights of Pythias are arranging for the funeral ceremonies, which will be held Monday afternoon from the family residence, 220 West Cypress, and will be under the auspices of Visor lodge.

REMODELING PACKING HOUSE

The Sparr Fruit company has a large force of men at work building an addition and remodeling their packing house at the corner of Second street and Glendale avenue. They have added a great deal more floor space, so they will be able to handle the lemon crop here, as well as the orange packing.

Among the new equipment being installed is a latest and up-to-date model lemon washer and sorting machine. When completed this will be among the largest and best equipped packing plant in this section, and when running at full capacity will employ thirty to thirty-five people. The management expects to be running full blast within the next few days and are rushing the work on the building so that they may be able to dispose of the fruit which now occupies every foot of floor space, and be ready to handle the crop as fast as it comes in.

Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Johnston have sold their pretty new bungalow and expect to move into the Armstrong house at 1468 Salem street on Monday of next week.

TALK ANNEXATION

NORTH GLENDALE CONSIDERING ANNEXATION TO GLENDALE PROPER

There was a meeting Friday evening of citizens interested in the Casa Verdugo annexation movement, held at the home of Mr. W. A. Brown, 913 San Rafael street. This meeting was called for the purpose of discussing the question of annexation of the district known as Casa Verdugo to the city of Glendale. Mayor O. A. Lane and City Manager T. W. Watson of Glendale were present.

Mr. Brown was chosen chairman and Mrs. Ruth Wright secretary. The sentiment seems to be almost unanimous for annexation and petitions are being circulated which show that the movement is meeting with the approval of almost the entire community. Another meeting has been called for next Friday night at the home of Mr. W. A. Brown, who has kindly offered his home for these gatherings.

"THE SQUAW MAN" TO BE PRESENTED SUNDAY AT THE PALACE GRAND

"The Squaw Man," with the stage's most popular star, Dustin Farnum, in the title role, will be shown at the Palace Grand theater tomorrow, Sunday, at four shows—2:00, 3:45, 7:00 and 8:45. "The Squaw Man" is recognized as the real big American drama, and the story is as follows:

James Wynnegate, a handsome, dashing young English army officer, is made the guardian of a trust fund raised by the members of his regiment for the relief of the widows of those who die in battle. The Earl of Kerhill, in love with and favored by the girl Wynnegate admires, is a member of Wynnegate's regiment. By means of a forged check, Kerhill embezzles the fund.

Much to do is made over the disappearance of the pension fund and to save the honor of the family, Wynnegate agrees with the Earl's mother to disappear and let it be understood that he is the embezzler. He leaves England in a trading schooner. The schooner, in mid-ocean, catches fire and burns to the water's edge. Among those saved is Wynnegate. The life boat containing Wynnegate is rescued by a steamer bound for America, and in the garb of an English tourist and under the name of Jim Carston, he is next seen on the Great White Way.

Carston is instrumental in saving a westerner from several "confidence" men and he and the westerner become warm friends. At the latter's suggestion, Carston accompanies him west, where the former English army officer buys a ranch and settles down to the mode of life of the then growing country. His general good fellowship, personality and upright dealings soon earn Carston a host of friends, but incurs for him the jealousy of a noted bad man, "Cash" Hawkins. Hawkins and Carston have many verbal arguments and Hawkins makes several attempts on Carston's life, which, however, are unsuccessful. Hawkins, at the third attempt on Carston, nearly succeeds, but is shot down from behind by a beautiful Indian girl—Nat-U-Rich.

Nat-U-Rich secretly loves Carston. The Indian girl later saves Carston from death in a mountain crevice and again from an attack by mountain wolves, and yet again rescues him during a terrific mountain snow-storm and avalanche. Out of gratitude, Carston marries Nat-U-Rich and a little boy blesses the union.

The story now reverts to England again and the Earl of Kerhill's mother is advised to seek a warmer climate. She locates in the vicinity of Carston's ranch and they meet after two years.

By reason of his marriage to Nat-U-Rich, Carston is now known as the "Squaw Man" and is a successful ranchero.

During a polo game in London the Earl of Kerhill is severely injured and when told that he has no chance to recover, confesses that he embezzled the fund and exonerates Wynnegate (Carston).

Carston's friends and relatives then endeavor to prevail upon him to return to England. The desire within him to again live his own real life in the set to which he rightfully belongs is strong, but realizing that his "squaw wife" would not endure in English society, he decides to remain on his ranch at Green river. He consents, however, to let his little boy return to be educated for his station in life, for since the death of the Earl of Kerhill, Carston's child has inherited the title and will be rich in the estate of his noble ancestor.

Nat-U-Rich, the mother, learns her son is to be taken from her. She loves with the undying vitality and potency of the Ute Indian. Ever sus-

HENRY VIII RECITAL

MRS. WHITE HOSTESS TO CLASS AND FRIENDS OF THE SHAKESPEARE CLUB

Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. John Robert White, Jr., Mrs. Coral Harrison Sloan presented readings from the play of Henry VIII before about sixty members and friends of the Shakespeare study class, of which she has been the leader for several months.

After a few well-chosen words of introduction and appreciation, the afternoon's entertainment was given over to Mrs. Sloan, who with her incomparable skill held the rapt attention of her audience until her closing word.

The historical sketch of the period of Henry VIII and the setting of the play brought into prominence the bearing of the scenes that followed and Mrs. Sloan's interpretation of the varied characters of the drama showed an intimate knowledge of the work of the master poet and a gift of impersonation possessed by very few readers.

In the words of the gracious and injured queen, as well as the crafty, ambitious cardinal, Mrs. Sloan's marvelous power of characterization was equally well portrayed.

The work of Mrs. Sloan's little pupil, Lillian Mason, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. R. Mason, who has been under Mrs. Sloan's instruction less than a year, was no less than marvelous. This little girl played Mozart's D Minor Phantasia flawlessly.

FOOTHILL CLUB MEETS

Mrs. G. K. Barnes, assisted by Mrs. Everett K. Barnes, entertained the Foothill club on Friday afternoon at her home, 1311 Brand boulevard. The house was beautifully decorated with violets in the living-room and roses and asparagus fern in the dining-room. Mrs. Nauthaught of Chicago was a guest of the club. Five Hundred was played by some of the ladies, Mrs. Alexander Mitchell winning the prize, a beautiful Bohemian vase filled with flowers, while the consolation went to Mrs. Frederick Wheeler.

There was also a puzzle table on which were a number of puzzles to be worked out, and Mrs. Joseph McMillan, Mrs. Julius Kranz and Mrs. Daniel Campbell worked very industriously trying to solve the puzzles. Dainty refreshments were served at small tables in the dining-room.

A letter of thanks from Mrs. E. D. Yard, chairman of the emergency committee, was read, in which the writer thanked the club for their donations during the holiday season. The Foothill club has taken membership in the Valley Relief association being formed to care for the needy of this locality. A pair of blankets was donated to the club Friday by Mrs. Frederick Wheeler.

The ladies who have entertained the Foothill club during the past year are as follows: Mrs. Julius Kranz, assisted in receiving by Mrs. Charles H. Toll, Mrs. Joseph McMillan, Mrs. G. K. Barnes and Mrs. Andrew Robertson; Mrs. N. C. Kelly, assisted by Mrs. Alexander Mitchell; Mrs. Charles H. Toll, assisted by Mrs. Wm. P. Thompson; Mrs. Joseph McMillan, assisted by Mrs. W. W. On February 19th Mrs. R. L. Phipster of 1432 Valley View road, assisted by Mrs. J. E. Bassett, will entertain the club.

CLUB MEMBERS ENTERTAINED

The Priscilla club met at the home of Miss Coral E. Griffith, 1471 Salem street on Thursday and enjoyed their usual good time. The house was very tastefully decorated with violets and ferns and the table was in purple and white, with violets at each plate. Luncheon was at one o'clock and the afternoon was spent in needlework, light refreshments of tea and cakes being again served at 4:30.

picious, she misconstrues the intent of Carston in sending the boy to England and suicides. The widow of the Earl of Kerhill is at the ranch with English friends and as the picture slowly fades away, the great glowing sun dips beneath the horizon—nature's left hand is in the sky. Dusk slowly settles over the cactus laden plains and the "Squaw Man" turns to her—his first love.

All Baptists who desire to unite with the First Baptist church of Glendale can do so at any of the regular services of the church. In a little over one year Pastor Troy has had the joy of extending the right hand of fellowship to one hundred and twenty-three, a remarkable increase on an original membership of one hundred and eighty-seven, reported in the Los Angeles Baptist association records of 1913. And still they keep coming, the five hundred mark looking nearer now than did the three hundred mark of one year ago. But Pastor Troy feels that more than mere numbers is the remarkable growth in knowledge of the Bible to which so many heartily testify. Attend and be convinced.

PROGRESSIVE DINNER

A progressive dinner party was given as a birthday surprise on Miss Aileen Preeman on Friday evening. The party, which consisted of boys and girls of the freshman year in high school, started at 5:30 o'clock and lasted until 9:30, after which the young people all attended the Palace Grand. At each home visited there was some sort of a surprise, as well as a portion of the dinner, and it was a very delightful evening for Miss Preeman and her young friends.

The first home visited was that of Mrs. H. E. MacMullin, 1560 Sycamore avenue; then they went to Mrs. C. L. Peckham's home on Central avenue; then to Mrs. Alex Lord's, 127 North Brand, and then to Mrs. David Gregg's, 206 South Central. The young people were chaperoned by Mr. Peckham and Mrs. Lord and those in the party were Aileen Preeman, Helen MacMullin, Margaret Gregg, Katherine Lord, Frances Peckham, Muriel Turner, Jamie Shea, William Morse, William Reese, Montgomery Coole, Lawrence Davis and Merle Eckles.

The glory of America lies in the opportunities it gives boys and girls to rise from humble estate to power and distinction and vast influence for good. This is a nation of self-made people and nowhere on earth are better jobs in self-making to be found than right here in the United States, says the Pasadena Star.

CHAMP CLARK SEES MOTOR CAR BUILT

What Champ Clark, Senator Warren of Wyoming, Congressman Hill and other lawmakers in Washington think of the Maxwell feature film.

Statesmen and business men see educational picture which shows every detail of manufacture of cars from blast furnace to final road test.

This wonderful film, "From Molten Steel to Automobile," which will be presented at the Majestic theater on Thursday, Jan. 28, and free tickets for which may be obtained from the local Maxwell dealers, Pirtle & Walker, 1011 West Broadway, has received the approval of men prominent in American public life, as is seen from the following article that appeared in the Washington Post on June 13, 1914:

"A large and distinguished audience of representative men in the business, official and social world of Washington saw in the assembly-room of the Washington Chamber of Commerce last night the first presentation of the $50,000 moving picture, 'From Molten Steel to Automobile,' which gives a thrilling and complete film history of every step in the building of a modern automobile.

"The picture was presented under the management of Charles F. Redden, general sales manager of the Maxwell motor company, inc.

"The spectators were taken from the steel mills to the vast forge shops and foundries, through acres of machine shops and body-building departments, into tire factories, and so on, stage by stage, until a view was given of the completed car being put through its gruelling road test before final shipment to the buyer. Not the least interesting of the views were the pictures of the chemical shops and their fuming acids, particularly the treating of the rubber for the tires.

"In fact, none of the secrets of the trade was withheld. The picture will be shown in every city in the United States and Europe, and in many places in Asia and South Africa. It marked an epoch in the automobile business—a business which represented last year an investment of $750,000,000 in this country. One of the most prominent figures among the spectators was Postmaster-General Burleson.

"It is hard to imagine a more intensely thrilling and educational entertainment. The scenes from the foundry and forge shops are dramas of spectacular action.

"I heartily endorse this typical enterprise, which will show the country the possibilities of American inventive genius and industrial achievement. I was more than entertained by the show. The magnitude of operation and the intense dramatic action shown throughout the huge plants hold one spellbound and instruct while they entertain," was the comment made by Champ Clark, the speaker of the House.

"The thing that struck me," said Senator Warren of Wyoming, enthusiastically, "is the way in which the picture possesses the happy combination of rare educational value and gripping interest of scene. Everybody who owns an automobile or wants to own one, should make it his or her special business to see these pictures."

"Among the comments made by members of the House of Representatives was this from Representative Hill of Illinois:

"When you see those pictures, you receive an entire education regarding the American spirit and the American ability for doing big things in a highly efficient manner."

"Various colleges and universities have applied for permission to exhibit."

MUSIC LOVERS HAVE TREAT

The Occidental College Glee club concert Friday evening at the Presbyterian church was a success financially as well as artistically. The program consisted of high-class male chorus numbers, among which was a musical setting to Sir Walter Scott's "Lochinvar." The stunts, "When Father Was a Boy" and "Mixed Duet" by Mr. McConnell, were so well received by the appreciative audience that the participants were called upon to give several encores.

The Baraca class takes this opportunity of thanking the public for the big turn-out Friday evening and they appreciate the interest thus shown in them and their work.

REV. JOHNSON'S CLOSE CALL

Rev. Bede A. Johnson, pastor of the First Methodist church of Glendale, narrowly escaped a serious accident Saturday forenoon. At about 10:30 o'clock he was in front of the Evening News office at 920 West Broadway and when in the act of riding away on his bicycle he turned his wheel so near in front of a passing touring car that the wheel of the car struck the front wheel of the bicycle, pushing it out of its course.

Had Rev. Johnson been two feet further on his way in front of the car the accident would indeed have been a serious one. The car was running at a speed of from ten to fifteen miles per hour, and the driver had absolute control of his machine, being able to stop within the length of his car after colliding with Mr. Johnson's wheel.

The devout Methodists should sincerely return thanks tomorrow forenoon when listening to Rev. Johnson expound the gospel that the life of their minister was spared in this instance.

WHERE THE APPLES GROW

Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Overton and family of Yucaipa arrived in Glendale Friday and will spend a few days visiting friends. The Overtons were residents of Glendale for several years, but decided to try apple growing in the Yucaipa valley a year ago. They are very much pleased with their present home, which is located nine miles east of Redlands. They have a 3000-foot elevation and Mrs. Overton's friends will be glad to hear that her health is much improved. There are 3500 acres of apples in that location and there are many cherries and pears raised also. Mr. Overton is the owner of an apple ranch and from the samples of various varieties of apples left at this office, he is having good success.

HIGH COST OF SALVATION

In the February Woman's Home Companion, the Rev. Charles Stelzle, superintendent of the bureau of social service of the Presbyterian board of home missions, writes an interesting article entitled "Making the Church Do Real Work." It is a practical talk on the business of the church and how it can best accomplish the work for which it was organized. Following is an extract from his article:

"It would shock the average church member to be told that the conversion of each new recruit for his church had cost just $370.25—if this were true. And most of the members of the church in question would become indignant if they were criticized on account of the high cost of salvation when it was compared with a church in which the cost per conversion had amounted to only $20.10.

"It isn't fair to consider the matter of conversion from the standpoint of dollars and cents," is the general attitude of the church worker. And he is right. If the principles for which the church stands are true, then it doesn't matter how much it costs in money value to win men and women to the standards of the church, whether it be through conversion, confirmation or whatever else may be the method of accession.

"But if it were possible to have each of the churches under consideration so organize their work as to make these amounts accomplish the same results for ten persons instead of one, would it not be right and proper to introduce the methods which would produce the best results for the money expended?"

"There are some perfectly sincere warm hearted people who shudder at the thought of 'efficiency' or 'system' in the work of the church, because they like to do religious work 'joyously and spontaneously.' They abhor the introduction of business principles into church life, because they believe that such work is too sacred to be defiled by the 'commercial spirit.'

"The rank and file in the church should not balk at 'system' in religious work, when the preachers themselves talk about 'the plan of salvation' and 'the laws of prayer,' and when even God himself employed science and system in every piece of work, down to the minutest detail, that he ever undertook."

The forest service is co-operating with fifty-four railroads, mining companies, pole companies and cities in making tests of wooden ties, timbers, poles, piling and paving blocks which have been given preservative treatments.

Recent sales by the government totaling 126,000,000 feet of saw-timber in the Olympic national forest in Western Washington marks the opening of this hitherto inaccessible storehouse of timber, estimated to contain a stand of thirty-three billion board feet.

THE GLENDALE-TROPICO EXHIBIT

C. D. LUEDKE

As it is a well known fact that the Tropico-Glendale-Burbank section is noted for its High Scoring Show Birds and well equipped Poultry Plants, how natural that this section should have its own Poultry Association.

The Exhibitors from our home section have taken their specimens of Poultry, Pigeons and Pet Stock to shows throughout the State, returning with Cups, Ribbons and Special Prizes.

In the rear of many of our pretty homes are exhibits that have never been in a show-room that will score with many of the best. The local public is anxious to see these specimens, and it is the general desire that every breeder will be represented at the coming show.

Ribbons and Special Prizes will be given for all novice classes, so each exhibitor has an even chance to win the blue.

Come in, Fellow Breeder of Poultry, Pigeons and Pet Stock, and surprise the visitors with our high-class show. It is often asked, "Why does poultry do so well and why do so many of the best prizes go to the Tropico-Glendale-Burbank section?" In answer we would state, "The best of care is given the stock."

The location of the valley, the absence of high winds, in fact, the unsurpassed climate, where the greater part of the year one can enjoy the freedom of out-door life, and last, but not least, our pure water flowing but a few miles from the mountains, combine to supply man, beast and bird with the proper elements to satisfy every longing, desired of Nature. Why shouldn't Birds and Stock thrive? Why shouldn't the Glendale-Tropico-Poultry and Pet Stock Association be a winner?

The merchants and citizens of Glendale and Tropico have very generously donated the following Special Prizes for classes designated:
