| Topic #2: ESEAP Got Talents | | | | |
|-----------------------------------|----|----------|------------|--|
| Aggregation | | | Percentage | Summary |
| Unrelated topic was mentioned in | 55 | comments | 70.51% | Since this is the first question on our discussion and almost everyone is new to the menti-tool, most of comments in this questions are unrelated to Q1. Half of the participants were testing the tools with random words and other half was actually answering question for Topic #2 and #3. |
| Support was mentioned in | 18 | comments | 23.08% | Out of 23 comments related to ESEAP Got Talents, the majority of participants were supporting the ideas of ESEAP Got Talents and no one against the ideas. Two participants came out with some concrete plans, which are NZ representatives to join upcoming Wiki meetup in Sydney and WMAu will come to help edit-athon in NZ. Seven comments are emphasizing in making a CCM (Community Capacity Map) so that people know where to go for specific project or best-practice learning. Additionally, the emerging communities are welcoming everyone to help in their capacity building and becoming a chapter in the future. |
| Related question was mentioned in | 5 | comments | 11.90% | About 10% of the comments contained questions related to ESEAP Got Talents Idea. This is worth mentioning as we can actually help them to find this question. Regarding the funding, participant can apply for WMF rapid grant to fund their travel. To host a Wikimedian, a user group/chapter does not need to have an office - as long as you can have an experience to share, skill to be learnt, and/or a collaborative work to be done together, it will be more than enough. |
| Data set total | 78 | | | |
