"UNITED WE STAND—DIVIDED WE FALL. NOW AND FOREVER, AND DESIGN ON MY PART TO INTERFERE WITH THE RIGHTS OF WHAT IS TERMED THE PROPERTY OF THE CITIZENS OF THE OTHER STATES."—Millard Fillmore.

Wednesday Morning, Aug. 16, 1848.

Gen. Cass's Land Speculations.

When we announced, on the authority of the Louisville Journal, that Gen Cass, while holding a high official position in the Government, was a leading party of disreputable speculation in the Public Lands, and had been charged by his Locofoco associate, HENRY HUBBARD, with swindling and embezzlement, the Locofoco press affected to consider the expose as a mere joke, because forsooth, the Journal's article inadvertently spoke of Gen Cass as Secretary of War under Gen Van Buren, instead of Secretary of War under Gen Jackson. Truly, remarks the Journal, this is a most wonderful matter. We publ shed a copy of the certificates of stock containing Cass's name and the names of his party associates and naming the 28th of April, 1836, as the day of the formation of the association. Not one of the Locofocs carelessly spoke of Mr. VAN BUREN as President at that time, as indeed a most momentous circumstance. The proof of the association was formed at that time and that Cass, the Secretary of War, was a member of it was left complete—then what matters it whether Jackson or Van Buren was President?

The Journal, moreover, stated in its exposition, that the whole management of the business was on account of Cass' superior advantages as Secretary of War for obtaining information, confided to him, that he appointed the agent to make the entries of land, selecting a known agent and agreeing to be responsible for any loss, that after several years the members of the association, receiving nothing for their services, and each depositing an investment of a few hundred dollars in the agent's own hands, Gen Cass, one of the agents of whom, appointed one of those members, the Hon. HENRY HUBBARD, to investigate the matter, and that the Hon. HENRY HUBBARD after holding a correspondence with Gen. Taylor, was secretly instigated and countenanced by Mr. Webster. We have authority for saying that this is a great mistake.

With reference to the nomination for the Presidency, we are not authorized to speak positively of Mr. Webster's past views. He may have thought that it was due to the North—that a choice should be made from among the eminent civilians in the ranks of the Whig party—but this we can say, as can many others, that before the nomination was made, when Gen Taylor was but one among several candidates brought forward by their respective friends, Mr. Webster spoke of him respectfully, and said uniformly that if the General received the nomination, he should give it his unqualified support.

His opinion of Gen. Taylor personally has been often expressed; he regards him as an upright, intelligent and honest man, a true Whig, and determined, if elected President, to put forth his best efforts for the good of the country.

A friend of ours, some weeks ago was in conversation with Mr. Webster on political affairs and the Presidential election; in that conversation Mr. Webster said, in regard to Gen. Taylor, all must admit that his open conduct had been irreproachable, and far above just complaint. He had put forth no pretensions; he had stooped to no intrigue; he had villified no competitor, and used no dishonorable means for the two nominations which he said that Gen. Taylor's present position was not of his own seeking; he had met what seemed to be the call of a large portion of the people, and that was all.

These are Mr Webster's views of General Taylor, and of his nomination. We venture to say that in no respect whatever, throughout the coming canvass, will his conduct be found in the slightest degree inconsistent therewith.

Kentucky Elections—Good News!

The Louisville Journal of the 8th, brings us cheering intelligence of the first day's vote in Louisville, and many of the adjoining counties. The vote of Louisville stood: Critten'den 1563, Powell 1174—majority 389. This will probably be swelled to six or eight hundred. Jefferson county—Col Zachs former residence—and usually Democratic—gives Crittenden 171 majority. The returns it in the State, which are almost complete in Kentucky. The Journal says: We have now full confidence of a noble victory in Kentucky. We do not believe that it can be short of seven thousand.

CASS AND TAYLOR STOCK.—The Detroit Daily Advertiser says:

On board the steamer Griffith, a few days since, from Detroit to Chicago, our townsman, Chas. F. Adams, proposed a vote for President, which resulted as follows:

Taylor,	41
Cass,	11
Van Buren,	5

Abortion.—A vote was taken among two wagon loads of emigrants from St. Joseph to Paw Paw, on Wednesday evening last, which resulted as follows:

Taylor,	20
Cass,	2

"Straws show which way," etc. Cass organs please copy.

NORTH CAROLINA.—The Belta of yesterday announces, on the strength of a telegraphic despatch from Columbus, (Ga.) that Reid, the Locofoco candidate, is elected Governor of North Carolina by a small majority, and that the Legislature is very close. As we presume this intelligence to be correct, we shall cease giving detailed returns, and await the confirmation of the statement. The vote in the few additional counties received by yesterday's mail, would hardly lead to the inference that the Democratic candidate had been chosen, unless the Western counties have fallen off disproportionately to the rest of the State.

THE PALO ALTO.—This is the title of a new campaign paper, published semi-weekly at Charleston, S. C., by an association of gentlemen, and intended to promote the election of Gen. Taylor. It is spirited and able. Our readers must remember that the Palo Alto is the organ of the democrats, and must be greatly surprised to learn that it supports Old Zach for President, and Gen. Butler for Vice President.

NAVAL.—The U. S. sloop of war St. Louis, Commander Cocke, bound to Brazil, was towed down Hampton Roads, on the 8th, by the U. S. steamer Scorpion.

AN EMIGRANT'S SUFFERINGS.—The little narrative we give below, the New York Express is assured is an "over true tale." A strange fatality seems to have followed the poor wanderers as soon as they set foot upon our shores:

"Some weeks since a party of Germans, some 120 in number, with considerable means, arrived at this port from Havre. Among them was a family of the name of Freiburg—husband, wife, and three children. One of the children was detained at the Marine Hospital, Staten Island, for a few months with a small pox, and the other members sick with the small pox, and the other members of the family proceeded on the way to their destination—Buffalo. When they reached Schenectady county, the wife and two children were taken sick with the small pox, and were placed in the poor house for recovery, and the husband proceeded onward. When he reached within about a mile of Fort Plain, as he was standing on the deck of the canal boat, while passing the lock, he struck his head against the bridge over him, and his brains were dashed out. On this information coming to the knowledge of the unfortunate wife, she immediately prepared to go to the scene of the latter disaster, and found that the party with whom they had been in company had proceeded onward, taking with them the luggage of this unfortunate family, in one of the trunks of which was upwards of $300. The poor woman, without a penny in her pocket, took to the road on foot for this city, to look after the child which was left here, and reached this city on Friday, and made application to the Commissioners of Emigration, who took charge of the poor woman, and immediately forwarded communications to their different agents on the route, to forward the sufferer as quickly as possible after the party and her property, in which praise worthy endeavor it is hoped they will be successful."

Congressional.

In the SENATE, on the 7th, Mr. Benton gave notice that he would, at the next session, introduce a bill to relieve the officers of the Court Martial upon Lieut. Col. Fremont from their oath of secrecy.

Mr. Benton, from the Joint Committee of the two Houses for revising the present system of reporting debates and proceedings of Congress, made a long report in writing, which he read from the Secretary's table. The report states that the present system adopted by the Senate has entirely failed in attaining the object contemplated—and recommends the employment of the "Union" and "Intelligencer" to publish on each and every morning after they occur, sketches of the proceedings and debates of the two Houses, to commence immediately, paying each $7 50 per column of brevier, payments weekly—and to employ, also, the "Congressional Globe" for the publication of full and revised reports of speeches and proceedings, in book form, for binding and preservation as a history of the national legislation of the country—the proprietors of the Globe to be paid, as now, by subscription on the part of Congress, for a certain number of copies. 2,000 copies of the report were ordered to be printed.

On motion of Mr. Douglass, the Oregon Territorial Bill was taken up, and the Senate, as in Committee of the Whole, proceeded to the consideration of the amendments proposed by Mr. D., from the Territorial Committee, and of which I sent you a copy in my Saturday's report.

The first of these amendments, was to insert in line eleventh on the eighth page, after the word "effect," the words "provided, that no act of the Territorial Legislature shall become a law until approved by the Governor."

Mr. Davis, of Mississippi, moved to amend the amendment by additional words, "or if not so approved, until specifically submitted to, and approved by the Congress of the United States."

The amendment of Mr. Davis was adopted, and then the amendment of the Territorial Committee, so amended, was agreed to.

Mr. Hale moved further to amend on the same page, by making it the duty of the Governor to transmit immediately, for action by Congress, all acts so not approved. Agreed to.

The next amendment of the Territorial Committee inserting after word "that," in the first line of the seventh page, the words "inasmuch as the said Territory is North of the parallel of thirty-six degrees and thirty minutes of North latitude, usually known as the Missouri Compromise."[1] Mr Underwood moved further to amend, so as to make it read "lies North of 42 degrees North latitude," and to strike out the words "Missouri Compromise."

Mr. Douglass hoped the motion would not prevail, as he desired to get just as well attain his object by voting against the amendment of the Territorial Committee, and he thought a straight course better than a circuitous route.

Mr Underwood was opposed to saying anything about the Missouri Compromise, because it might be quoted against them when they came to act in reference to California and New Mexico. His desire was to put the bill in such a shape that all might vote for it, and leave the question of slavery in regard to the others to be determined after they had come into and consolidated their constituents. As this Territory lies North of 42, he was willing to surrender it, but he was unwilling to make any allusion to the Missouri Compromise, which could be quoted against them hereafter to their disadvantage, to mean a willingness to give up all others.

After considerable discussion, the subject was passed over informally, and the Senate went into Executive session.

In the HOUSE, the consideration of the Army Bill was resumed, and the House refused, by a large majority, to re-consider the vote by which the Bill had been ordered to be engrossed.

After the adoption of several private resolutions, the House then resumed the consideration of the message of the President in reference to the treaty, the boundaries of California and New Mexico, and the establishment of civil government in conquered territory.

Mr Venable, of North Carolina, addressed the House for an hour, on the political topics of the day, and in reply to the remarks the other day of his colleague, Mr. Brownell.

Mr. Stephens, of Georgia, followed, in explanation and defence of his course in voting to lay the "Compromise" Bill of the Senate on the table. It was not such a settlement, he contended, as secured the rights of the South, as he and they understood them.

The remainder of the sitting was devoted to matters of no general importance.

VIEWS OF THE "BLOODY TIMES."—The Irish Brigade, &c.—The London Times of July 21st, thus discourses on the signs of the times:

If there is to be any government, any order, any property, any safety in these islands at all—Lord Clarendon has done no more than the occasion required. If a question arises, however, as to the actual dangers of the crisis, and if the public wish to know whether they ought to pride themselves in an extraordinary ferment an panic on the occasion, we must reply that we do not think there is much reason for alarm, and that with the force of Lord Clarendon's disposal, and in the energy, calmness and skill, may safely trusted to give a good account of Messrs O'Brien, Meagher and Co.

The movement is only formidable on the supposition that it is left to take its course.

But there are still some more menacing circumstances. We do not despise them. Here is one. An "Irish brigade" has been drilled, armed and equipped at New York, for the purpose of assisting the Irish against England. We should like to see this brigade. We could almost pardon the insult for the fun of the proceeding, and shall begin to expect a transatlantic tribute of coals to Newcastle. Ireland has already, if we are to believe Mr. S. O'Brien, hundreds of thousands of able-bodied men, in fighting condition, under good officers, and prepared to cope with her Majesty's forces. A ship load of American sympathisers will be a mere drop in such an ocean. But it is not American sympathy, it is English, that some people dread. There have been some ugly disturbances in the north. A Chartist has been rescued from the Bradford police. Some flags, eight or nine pikes, and a rude sword were found in his house. Several women have been very furious. The military have been called out, and have moved about rather briskly. A charge has been made and a market place cleared.

But after all the coloring which the terrified provincial imagination gives to a few harmless rows, one fact comes out very plainly, that whether at Bradford, at Ashton, or in Liverpool, this is not English but Irish sympathy. The persons apprehended last Monday, at Bradford, were generally Irish, as their names betray. The Irish, whether here or there, will have it all to themselves, and will have to maintain their rebellion against all the rest of the empire.

We are satisfied, then, that there are no circumstances of a very dangerous character. Nothing but promises seems likely. We could fancy that we already saw in the froth and fuming of the Dublin Confederates, reported to-day, that they are learning to be wary and vague. They honestly avow their reluctance to give Lord Clarendon what they lament as the pleasure of their apprehension. They only repeat the burden of poor old Dan. O'Connell's harangues, that this is positively the last peaceful effort they intend to make for their deliverance, and then—but there they stop short, and leave us to conclude, if we please, that they meant after all, to do nothing.

ATTEMPTED SLAVE INSURRECTION AT PORTO RICO.—The bark Cordelia arrived at New York on Saturday the 5th instant, from Ponce, Porto Rico, which place she left on the 24th of July. Mr. Prichard, who came passenger in the Cordelia, informs the Herald, that on the night of the 18th of July the inhabitants of Ponce were thrown into a considerable state of alarm, by the discovery of a plot existing among the negroes for a grand insurrection.

It was discovered by information obtained from one or two negroes of an estate, the proprietor of which, on ascertaining the truth of it, immediately gave notice to the proper authorities. Three of the ringleaders were arrested, two were condemned to be shot, and one to the chain gang for ten years. This, they said, was an extensive one, and included all the negroes on the south side of the island, from Guayama to Mayaguez. The rise was to be simultaneous. The time fixed upon was the last day of the month. They were to burn all the towns, kill all the whites, and make a second St. Domingo of the island.

Since the arrest of the ringleaders confidence was entirely restored. If the poor wretches but knew their numerical strength, they would, at once and forever, give up the idea of gaining their freedom by revolt, as out of half a million of inhabitants they number 47,000; besides, they have no cowardly Van Schoulton to tamper with. So long as Prim is captain-general of Porto Rico, no such disgraceful scenes as were lately enacted in St. Croix and Martinique will stain their escutcheon.

Business was dull; great amount of British shipping; and was the last rate paid for England; small vessels would bring more. Every thing had finished getting in their crops. The weather continued favorable for the coming one.

SPEED.—A gentleman living in Chicago, recently left New York, on Monday at six P. M., and arrived home on the following Friday, at four, P. M., making the trip in four days. The distance by the route travelled, is nearly twelve hundred miles; and when the Trail is laid hence to Albany, and the central railroad is completed, the trip will be shortened at least 36 hours!—Buffalo Ex.

LOUISIANA.—The Louisiana (Carroll) Republican speaks of very heavy rains having fallen in that neighborhood, and say that they have clouded the prospects of a full crop.

The Madison Journal says that many fields of Cotton are eaten up with the rot, while others look healthy and luxuriant. Should the worm make its appearance, says the Journal, the crops will be most woefully short.

City Intelligence.

☞ Recorder Genois is enjoying a short rest from his ordinary labors. Two cases only were noted for examination. In the first, John Trisler and Ann Dorsey had been placed from Saturday morning to yesterday afternoon.

☞ In the Second, two colored men, Mignon Poree and W. Crose, got into a quarrel in a coffee-house, and exchanged pistol shots on the spot. This case will be investigated in a few days.

COUNCIL OF MUNICIPALITY No. Two.—After the call this evening, only six Aldermen having answered to their names, the Council was adjourned to next Tuesday.

☞ Mr. W. Christy seems to have been selected by that class of swindlers who attempt to sell false soldiers' discharges, as a target upon which to practice their sharp-shooting. John Baum and Joseph Beaur were arrested by the Second Municipality police, at the request of David Bickel, for perjury and for an attempt of the kind of swindling. This is the fifth time that those petit-forgers have tried Mr. Christy.

LIVES OF THE QUEENS OF ENGLAND.—We are indebted to the publishers, Lea & Blanchard, through J. B. Steel, No. 14 Camp st., for Part XII. of Miss Strickland's Lives of the Queens of England. The volume before us, contains an admirable biography of Queen Anne.

LATER FROM RIO JANEIRO AND MONTEVIDEO.—Papers from Rio to the 27th June, have been received by the New York Herald. The news from Brazil is unimportant.

Baron Gros, the French minister at Montevideo, had arrived at Rio, on his way home. All negotiations with Oribe had been broken off, as that general had retracted all the former propositions he had made, in consequence of Gen. Rivera refusing to sanction them.

Baron Gros, on leaving Montevideo, ordered Admiral Le Precour to suspend the blockade of the port and coast of Buenos Ayres, and effectually blockade all the eastern coast, occupied by Rivera, under the command of General Oribe. Besides this, the French squadron determined to make the government of Montevideo a monthly allowance.

The government in the Banda Oriental had received the decree of the 20th May, which established a tax on articles of consumption; substituting for it another system of duties on houses, by which they would have to pay every month the fourth part of their annual license.

Several individuals were in custody, in Montevideo, suspected of being concerned in the assassination of Dr. Varela.

Mr. Gore, the associate of Baron Gros in his mission, was residing at Montevideo as British charge d'affaires. From Buenos Ayres no news of importance.

☞ The first experiment of crossing the Niagara suspension bridge, with horses and carriages, has been successfully made. Mr. Ellet was the driver of the carriage. The scene was very exciting.

AN EXTENSIVE ROBBERY.—A gentleman by the name of James McFarland, a stranger here, was robbed in Pittsburg, on the 1st inst., by a young man boarding in the same house, of $1,500, principally in gold. A reward of $300 is offered for his arrest.

Purify the Blood!

The great virtues of Sarsaparilla, as a restorer of purity to the blood, are well known in the world, and the great object is to procure the best preparation of this celebrated root. COMSTOCK'S SARSAPARILLA has met with wonderful success in the cure of Scrofula, and remarkable testimony to the fact, is the many certificates which have been published, showing how it has purified the blood, and it is warranted equal to any Extract ever made, at the low rate of 50 cents per bottle, and in as large bottles as any sold at $1.

A bottle of this Extract must be found very beneficial to enable the system to bear up against the debilitating heats of Summer, and rout at this unwonted season. Planters upon the River who wish this article can send in their address, and it shall be forwarded.

Several individuals were in custody, in Montevideo, suspected of being concerned in the assassination of Dr. Varela.

Mr. Underwood was opposed to saying anything about the Missouri Compromise, because it might be quoted against them when they came to act in reference to California and New Mexico. Purify the Blood!

The great virtues of Sarsaparilla, as a restorer of purity to the blood, are well known in the world, and the great object is to procure the best preparation of this celebrated root. COMSTOCK'S SARSAPARILLA has met with wonderful success in the cure of Scrofula, and remarkable testimony to the fact, is the many certificates which have been published, showing how it has purified the blood, and it is warranted equal to any Extract ever made, at the low rate of 50 cents per bottle, and in as large bottles as any sold at $1.

A bottle of this Extract must be found very beneficial to enable the system to bear up against the debilitating heats of Summer, and rout at this unwonted season. Planters upon the River who wish this article can send in their address, and it shall be forwarded.

☞ Sold by COMSTOCK & CO., 59 POYDRAS Street. 165

☞ Dr. Bulley's Magical Pain Extractor.—The original and only genuine, always has the written signature of the proprietor, "H Bulley," on the wrapper of each bottle.

Southern Depot, 151 Chartres street, New Orleans.

☞ The Packet ship QUEBEC, Capt. Richardson, from New York, is now discharging at St. Joseph's Steamboat Landing, and will please attend to the receipt of their goods on the Levee, as they will be stored at their expense and risk.
