"THE UNION must be preserved,"

SATURDAY MORNING, JUNE 6, 1836. Corron -About eight or ten days since we hazarded som remarks on the then state of our cotton market; which we are g'ad to see so palpably corroborated by our last advices from Europe-cotton having risen three-eighths of a penny per pound in Liverpool; and two and a half sous in Havre In both places the demand is more han commensurate with the supply; and the holders of cotton here should not de-

At Trieste in Austria, north of the Adriatic sea, our mer chants would obtain an excellent market for their rice, silkcotton; coffee, etc. So also at Tou'on; and other ports o the Mediterranean. Nap'es also courts our trade: but the transient merchants of New Orleans seem wonderfully apa. thetic to her true interest: if they make their six or seven hundred per cent during their winter among us, they are reckless of all else.

Most of our readers will of course make their own reflections on the intelligence which we present them today from France and England; but for ourselves, we acknowledge we glory in both as honorable to the American nation. A claim justly though long due has been definitively settled by admit) by the French; yet still as an answer to an imperative demand, that would not longer be cajoled. The temporizing policy had been carried to the point where forbear ance ceases to be a virtue even between friend and friend and policy conceded what justice required. The very amendment passed to the law of indemnity is in itself suffi. ciently explanatory of the real though latent motives which prompted the decision of the large majority in the chamber of deputies; and as France has now given estisfaction to the U. S., the former may require explanation, which may readily be afforded, according to parliamentary usage.

The news from England is also consolatory to American liberty, which is now the standard of all reforms in Europe and if our government does not conquer by force of arms it will by force of example. If the United States continue really united, this country will shortly have attained a greate pitch of greatness than any nation of any age.

Captain Pemberton of the Bolivar, on arriving vesterds morning at this port, characteristically informed our citizens of the passage of the law of 25 millions, by the firing of 25 guns: his ordinance accompanying that ordinance. The reception of the news was most gratefully hailed by our citizens; and hy no class of our community more than our naturalized citizens from France, and their descendants; who love to see harmony consummated or continued between two such nations;—their prejudices being enlisted in favor of their mather country; but their prediffections being for the land of their adoption: for if they are French by reminiscences or memory, they are Americans by choice and in payments made on 1,500,000frs.

Art. 3. A Gratuitous Committee, suppointed by virtue of Royal Ordinance, will be charged with the examination and Royal Ordinance and Isource, will be charged with the examination and Royal Ordinance. Vo 48. Close of The Zacateras War.

The army of operations under the orders of H. E. the general, president D. Antonio Lopez de Santa Anna had murched upon Zacateens to enforce obed ence to the supreme decrees of the federal government, against which the inhabitants of that city had revolted. I gave you an account in my last despatch of the glory which the army had gained by the complete triumph it obtained over the forces commanded by D. Francisco Garcis. The Mexican blood has been most profusely shed in the field of battle, and however deep may be the affliction of govern ment at such a calamity, all the responsibility must rect upon the instigators of this civil war: and we sincerely hope that such an awful example will suffice to recal to senge of their duy all the enemies of publis posce. We trust such a severe lesson will prove a profitable one, will ensure an everlasting peace so necessary to, and a much desired by the nation to heal her wounds, and finally attain her rank among the other nations of the world. The annexed copy of the supplement of Diario del Go-bierno gives a full account of the above mentioned triumphs, which I send you, that you may give it all the dential lette a themselves, but in the publication of them publicity it deserves.

On the 15th of April, the law of 25 millions was made th order of the day, after a discussion since the 9th. In connection with the latarticle of that law, General Valazé proposed an amendment, that the payment should be deferred till the American government gave satisfactory explanations of the president's message to the lastCongress; which was ador ted by a large majority. After some further discussion of a violant-kind relative to the honor of dignity of the grand na-tion is the remarks of the American minister in France with regard, to the suggestion of the president's message; the treatment in New York of the officers of the French frigate D'Assas : and the presence of the American frigate Con-I stitution, without having paid the customary salute to the land of France-all which were promptly answered by a denial in many instances; and in others by reference to the faith and credit and commerce of France; and the harmony and political friendship between her and America, -the 2d and 8d articles of the law were adopted nem. con.; and the vote was taken on the whole law as amended -which resulted in 263 for and 137 against it; being a majority of 152 in 426. man who, probably, made his preparations for departure immediately after the sitting of Saturday. All this is wretched. If the reparation required by our Cabinet is to stop here, the Chamber will have cause to tegret having assigned the care of French honour to the keeping of a Ministry so easy tosatisfy. We agree with the Debata that, after what has passed, that the Cabinet cannot continue its relations with Mr Livingston, but the country requires a more signal carisfaction than the equivocal lisgrace of an ambassador. After all, Mr Livingston has only done his task as a diplomatist, and his duty as an Ame ican, and we could, perhaps, find more than one mealy mouthed Ambassador, who stands well at Court, that night be convicted of more irreverential disdain of the French government than the frank language of Mr Livingston. The insult to France is not in the confi-

ADDRESS

Of the Roman Catholics to George Washington—President of the United States,

Sir,—We have lone been few to the Control of the United States,

Sin,-We have long been impatient to testify our joy and unbounded confidence on your being called, by an unanunous vote to the first station of a country, in which that unanimity could not have been obtained without the previous merit of unexampled services, of eminent wisdom, and unblemished virtue. Our congratulations have not reached you sooner, because our scattered situation prevented our communication, and the collecting of those sentiments which manufacture. and the collecting of those sentiments which warned every breast. But the delay has fu nished us with the opportunity, nesset. But the delay has to nished us with the opportunity, not merely of pressigning the happiness to be expected under your administration, but of bearing testimony, to that which we experience already. It is your peculiar talent in war and in peace, to afford security to those, who commit their protection in your hands. In war, you shield them from the results of armed hostility; in peace, you establish public. in peace, to after security to tho-e, who commit their pro-tection in your hands. In war, you shield them from the ravages of armed hostility; in pelce, you eatablish public tranquility, by the justice and moderation, not less than by the vigour of your government. By example as well as by vigilance, you extend the influence of laws on the manners of your fellow citizens. You ence urage respect for religion; and inculcate, by words and actions, that principle, on which the welfare of nations so much depends, that a superintendh public than by the Parish Court shall have jurisdiction of the case, than by there to be acted upon as is already provided for by law.

ALCER LABRANCHE, ing providence governs the events of the world, and watcher over the conduct of the men-unwearied attention to the moral and physical improvement of our country, have produced already the happiest effects. This decision produced a very lively sensation in the classiber, particularly in the centre among the tiers parti, a consequence of the kineridinent adopted, Mr. Livingston had been requested as a matter of etiquette to write to our government for the explanations requested; but it was distinctly understood in the best informed circles in Paris, that the orders would be issued for paying off the first instalment of our claims; at the same time that the law should have been published. Louis Philip was immediately informed of the adoption of the law—one journal stating that Fulchiron has tended to inform him of the event; and another attend hare headed to inform him of the event; and another attend har the law shonor to the mignature of its king. But this is probably Parisian barardsge?
