The Owens & Murray Advertiser, published in Victoria, Australia, contains the following: "Through the kindness of Miss E. McCandlish, a former resident of Beechworth, but for some years residing in the city of Victoria, British Columbia, we are in receipt of a number of pamphlets relating to that important portion of the Dominion of Canada. These publications are issued by the board of trade, agricultural department, and bureau of provincial information. They contain a large amount of information as to the natural products, mineral resources, timber, fisheries and other industries, clearly printed and profusely illustrated with beautiful photographs, all showing the steady progress being made in this little known portion of the British Empire, but which offers the attractions of a splendid climate and an almost unlimited field for immigration. The pamphlets can be seen at this office by anyone desirous of inspecting them."

THE PAARDEBERG GATE MEMORIAL

PROPOSAL OUTLINED BY MAYOR HAYWARD

The idea is to extend Embankment Wall as far as Menzies Street.

The cut which appears below represents the Paardeberg gate memorial which it is proposed to construct on the shore line of the harbor along Belleville street. The idea took definite shape some time ago, but unfortunately when plans were prepared and an estimate of the cost obtained, it was found that too great a sum would be required, so the movement was temporarily abandoned.

CANADIAN NORTHERN BILL IN COMMITTEE

FIRST OF NUMEROUS AMENDMENTS IS MOVED

Tired Members Are Unwilling to Go into Important Business—Discussion on Coalfields' Licenses.

When the House met at 10.45 this morning the consideration of the bill to amend the Coal Mines Act was resumed in committee, Mr. Rogers in the chair. Mr. Curtis moved the following amendment, which was passed apparently without the House being aware of the fact:

"Provided, also, that every lease hereafter issued or renewed shall contain provisions reserving to the Lieutenant-Governor-in-council, and to the legislature of the province, the right at any time, and from time to time, to fix a maximum price or prices to be charged to consumers in British Columbia by the lessee or his assigns for coal or petroleum at the pit mouth or oil well, or when placed upon cars at the railway track, or upon or in any ship or vessel at such point or points as the coal or petroleum mined or produced under the lease is usually delivered for carriage by rail or sea to consumers in British Columbia; and also to fix at the same time, as any maximum price is fixed, or at a subsequent time, a minimum rate or rates of wages to be paid by the lessee or his assigns to the various persons employed by him or them in mining, raising, getting and delivering such coal or petroleum."

Mr. Curtis drew attention to an objectionable feature of the original act, which allowed speculators to tie up coal lands for years without doing anything to develop them.

Mr. Martin said that there was no doubt that exploring licenses were abused. People took up coal lands in out-of-the-way parts of the province and held them up, until such developments took place as would allow the sale of the lands at a profit. He instanced the case of the Bulkley Valley coal lands, and suggested that some amendment might be made to the act so as to limit the operation of such licenses to one year.

Hon. Mr. Wells suggested that the committee should report progress and allow the government to consider the question.

Mr. McPhillips thought that such an alteration in the law should not be made without very careful consideration.

Mr. Hunter remarked that Messrs. Martin and Curtis had a wrong idea of the business of exploring for coal, which was an expensive and arduous undertaking.

Hon. Mr. Eberts said that prospecting for coal was a risky business, in

An opportunity is now afforded of carrying out the scheme, which is fully explained in the accompanying letter from Mayor Hayward:

The "Paardeberg Gate" Memorial. To the Editor—It will be remembered that when the patriotic emotions of the people of Victoria were stirred by the news of the heroism of our boys at Madder River, Orange Free State, in the month of February, 1900, and of how bravely so many of them gave up their lives there and elsewhere in South Africa during the progress of the war, it was felt that something should be done by the citizens in the way of providing a fitting tribute to their memory, and one which should, at the same time, perpetuate, in a lasting memorial, the splendid service they rendered to the Empire.

It was proposed to erect a handsome architectural stone facade on the shore line of the harbor along Belleville street, immediately to the east of the grounds of the parliament buildings, with steps leading down to the water, to be known as the "Paardeberg Gate." Plans were prepared of the memorial, and everyone pronounced it to be admirable in conception and design.

But it will also be remembered with regret that when an estimate was obtained of the cost of such a structure it was found that to undertake to raise so large a sum at that time would be placing too great a strain even upon Victoria's well known liberality.

The idea was therefore temporarily abandoned until such time as the cost could be brought within the limits of the ability of the citizens to easily provide the necessary amount.

Fortunately the city council, by the exercise of rigid economy in the construction of the main wall of the James Bay reclamation scheme, now finds itself in a position to continue the embankment wall as far as Menzies street. This the council are now doing in the manner shown in the sketch.

It will be noted that the steps in the centre of the wall suggested for the "Paardeberg Gate." These are now only designed for convenient use, and have no pretensions to ornamentation, but it would be quite easy, and with an outlay entirely within our means, to add to this plan the main memorial features of the original design of the "Paardeberg Gate." If the matter be taken up now, the original proposal can much more readily be carried out, or it can be modified to suit the amount promised, or collected, for the purpose, and the present condition of the work admits of assurances of adequate support to the undertaking as received of the foundations being enlarged and adopted for the gate without loss of time and at the minimum of cost. In fact, if this suggestion is carried into effect, it is quite possible to mark the approaching coronation festivities with the ceremony of laying the foundation stone.

It is earnestly hoped, therefore, that the resolution adopted by the citizens in a mass meeting held at the city hall in December, 1900, viz.: "That the proposed memorial should take the form of a substantial and ornamental stone structure to be erected on the water front on Belleville street to be known as the 'Paardeberg Gate' be adopted," will now be carried out, and that the committee appointed at that time to effect the object of the foregoing resolution will take the matter up warmly and energetically and not rest content until the memorial is an accomplished fact.

which large sums of money were sometimes expended without any return.

On the motion of Hon. Mr. Wells progress was then reported.

Assessment Act.

The bill to amend the Assessment Act, which provides that the output of placer and dredging mines to the value of $2,000 a year shall be exempt from the two per cent. tax, was then considered in committee, Mr. Hawthornthwaite in the chair.

Mr. Curtis moved a new section to the bill to amend section 10 of the act by providing that the two per cent. tax on the output of mines should not be levied for two years, beginning with July 1st, 1902.

Mr. Martin objected to any reduction of taxation. In view of the fact that the province was getting into debt at the rate of half a million a year taxation ought to be increased and not reduced.

The amendment was ruled out of order.

Mr. Martin moved the following new subsections to exempt from taxation: 1. Income derived from Sunday labor in the case of railway employees. 2. In the case of income tax, any person shall be entitled to deduct from his taxable income all disbursements for lodging and meals while away from home and while carrying any part of said income. In any such case in order to be entitled to the benefit of this subsection such person must file with the assessor, prior to the completion of the assessment in each year, a statutory declaration showing such disbursements.

This amendment was ruled out of order, on the initiative of the Minister of Finance.

Hon. Mr. Prentice moved that the committee rise and report the bill complete, which after some discussion was agreed to.

Victoria-Yellowhead Pass.

When the House went into committee on the Victoria-Yellowhead Pass Railway Bill, Mr. McBride asked that the consideration of the railway bills should be postponed to Monday.

Mr. McPhillips concurred. He had understood that the government had agreed to bring the railway bills to the committee stage until the whole of the railway bills proposed by the government should be brought down. He believed the government still had other railway bills to introduce. He also remarked that he was fatigued with the attention of all day and night sessions. There were other less important bills to be considered.

Mr. Gilmour fell upon Mr. McPhillips, who he declared, had no reason to complain of overwork in the legislature. If he said, there were fewer lawyers in the house the business of the country would have been got through long ago.

This brought Mr. Curtis indignantly to his feet. "Now, Mr. Chairman," he said, "I should like to know who is responsible for the delay of business in this House?" which question caused much amusement on both sides of the House.

Mr. Curtis explained that the delay had really been caused by the vacillating policy of the government.

Hon. Mr. Eberts said that the Premier had announced from his seat that the government would bring in no further legislation.

BACK FROM MALCOLM ISLAND.

Nanaimo, June 7.—Matt Kurikka has returned from Malcolm Island. He will remain here for a little time. The cancellation of the reserve of the timber on the island for pulp purposes is highly satisfactory to him, and will, in his opinion, mean a very considerable advantage to the Kaleyvan Kansa Co.

The company have at last named their town at which they will make their headquarters. It is to be known as Sointula (place of harmony). The necessity for a school is now being felt.

THE VACANT SENATORSHIP.

BOERS CHEERED FOR KING EDWARD

BE GOOD COLONISTS, SAYS GENERAL DEWET

A Large Number of the Burgers Are Now Laying Down Their Arms.

(Associated Press.)

Denver, Colo., June 7.—Twenty-seven Boer refugees in this city have formulated an appeal to the British ambassador at Washington relative to their return to South Africa. These twenty-seven speak for the 90 Boers who are in Colorado. They ask that arrangements be made for their return to South Africa, and promise to be law abiding citizens. The appeal has been forwarded to Washington.

Lay Down Arms.

London, June 6.—Lord Kitchener, in a dispatch from Pretoria dated to-day, announced that the British commissioners in the various districts report that 1,154 Boers laid down their arms yesterday. Afterwards the commissioners addressed the Boers, who gave three hearty cheers for King Edward. The best possible relations exist between the Boers and the British, and there has been no hitch in the proceedings anywhere.

Dewet's Advice.

Vredfort Road, Orange River Colony, June 4.—Christian Dewet, addressing the inmates of the concentration camp here, explained the circumstances leading to the termination of hostilities, and urged the Boers to do the most to show Great Britain what good colonists the Boers can make. The speech made a favorable impression.

General Dewet's wife will rejoin him here to-day.

Sang "God Save the King."

Capetown, June 7.—The surrender of over 1,500 Boers has already been reported covering various points.

Commandant Fouché brought his command into Craddock, Cape Colony. It consists of 36 free staters and 219 rebels. Fouché is ill.

Commandant Conroy's men on hearing that peace had been concluded threw their hats into the air, cheered for King Edward, and sang "God Save the King."

These incidents dissipate the fear expressed of continuing hostilities, and would refuse to accede to the peace terms.

General Christian Dewet is personally superintending the surrender of the Boers in the Vredfort, Orange River Colony, district.

General Schalkburger, formerly acting president of the Transvaal, who is the guest of the Governor of Natal, Col. Sir Henry Edward McCallum, at Pietermaritzburg, in an address to the Burgers in the concentration camps, asked them to make the best of the situation and to forgive and forget the past. He pointed out the uselessness and helplessness of continuing the struggle, urged the Boers to accept and act in accordance with the terms of surrender, which he intended to uphold. He desired them to work for the good of South Africa.

Paul Declines.

Amsterdam, June 7.—It is reported here that Mr. Kruger has declined the facilities offered by Great Britain for his return to South Africa, but has accepted Queen Wilhelmina's offer of a Dutch vessel to convey him to South Africa, when he decides to return there.

Britain's Finances.

London, June 6.—Prior to the second reading of the loan bill in the House of Lords, Lord Goschen, a former chancellor of the exchequer, announced that he desired to say a few words on the financial position of the country. Consols which were now paying only 2½ per cent. stood at 97. Before the conversion of 1888, these per cent. consols stood at 101. If they had converted them then, they would have been worth only 82, so that now the stock was really fifty points higher, and that after a costly war and the borrowing of £159,000,000 ($795,000,000). The country might well congratulate itself on a situation which showed such economic stamina.

The Premier, Lord Salisbury, said such words, coming from such a high authority, were very gratifying and would be widely read.

Reid Pleased With News.

Queenstown, June 7.—The Cunard line steamer Umbria, from New York, having on board Whiteley Reid, the special envoy of the United States to the coronation of King Edward, arrived here this morning. Mr. Reid, when informed of the situation of affairs in South Africa, expressed his pleasure at the fact that peace had been concluded prior to the coronation.

More Surrenders.

London, June 7.—Lord Kitchener, in a dispatch from Pretoria dated to-day, announces that the progress in the surrender of Boers is entirely satisfactory. Four hundred and forty Burgers have laid down their arms at Middleburg, Transvaal. They also brought in a non-com complete with ammunition, and indicated the hiding place of a howitzer and a Maxim gun.

Two hundred and eighty-nine Boers have surrendered their arms at Standerton, Transvaal, and Lord Kitchener confirms the report that 255 Boers, of whom 219 were rebels, surrendered at Craddock, Cape Colony. Many more surrenders are expected to-day. All the Boers who surrendered in Cape Colony expressed themselves as being rejoiced with the fact that peace had been arranged.

Military Training.

London, June 7.—The report of the committee on military education and training of the British army was issued to-day. The committee's report, which is based on the evidence of officers themselves, from the commander-in-chief downwards, fills forty-eight printed pages with caustic criticism of the existing system. The witnesses were unanimous in saying that the junior officers were lamentably deficient in military knowledge, and in general. The committee finds that the young officers will not work unless compelled to do so; that "keenness is out of fashion," and that officers do not possess military education, and plaintively protest that officers ought "at least to be able to express themselves clearly and concisely in their own language."

The report condemns the systems of Woolwich and Sandhurst, and says that attention is far from satisfactory, "the instructors having no inducement to teach the cadets, still less to work." With the view of diminishing the expenses of officers belonging to cavalry regiments, the report recommends that regimental coaches and keeping hounds be forbidden.

Perhaps the penultimate paragraph is the most important of all. "So long as mediocrity is permitted to pass muster," says the committee, "and signal ability meets with no substantial recognition, it is useless to hope for any valuable results from whatever amendments to the regulations. Nothing but inducements in the shape of certain rewards for good work, either in peace or war, can raise the standard of knowledge through the commissioned ranks. The committee therefore recommends an honest system of promotion by grade of merit, following upon examinations honestly conducted and honestly reported on."

The report plainly points out that officers can hardly be expected to work so long as the present system of advancement through social influence is in vogue, or so long as efficiency has nothing wherewith to do with the selection of officers for desirable appointments. The committee recommends, among other things, that more commissions be offered to the colonies and that officers be compelled to know either French or German.

DOMINION FINANCES.

The Returns For Eleven Months Ending May 31st—The Increase in Revenue.

(Special to the Times.)

Ottawa, June 6.—The revenue of the Dominion for the eleven months ending May 31st was $51,279,346, as against $46,571,284 for the same time last year, an increase of $4,708,062. The expenditure on ordinary account for eleven months was $38,005,112, leaving a surplus of $13,274,234.

The expenditure for eleven months last year was $35,626,246, so that it increased for the current year by nearly two millions and a half. The expenditure on capital account was $10,510,218 as compared with $8,731,742, an increase of over one million and a half. Although there is a surplus over all kinds of the expenditure there are outstanding accounts which will wipe this out. However, the showing at the end of the fiscal year will be fully better than was predicted by the finance minister last session.

The revenue for the month of May was about $800,000 more than May last year, and the expenditure about $70,000 greater. There was an increase in the capital expenditure for the month of about $800,000.

London, June 6.—The statements which have recently appeared in the British press and which forecasted the formation of an all-British shipping combination, seem to be open to grave doubts. ANOTHER OUTBURST.

Heavy Clouds From Mount Pelee Float Over Fort de France.

Fort de France, Martinique, June 6, 10.15 a.m.—A volcanic outburst from Mount Pelee to-day resulted in the formation of a heavy cloud similar to that of May 27th last, though it was not so dense. No stones fell, and when the cloud had spread over Fort de France, half an hour later, there was no panic there. It is noted at Fort de France that the volcanic outbursts coincide with the changes of the moon.

Further Eruption Feared.

Kingsdown, St. Vincent, June 4.—Vessels leaving the island of Martinique have experienced upheavals and agitations of the sea, pointing to submarine eruptions between Martinique and St. Lucia. In the island of St. Vincent the shining fleecy clouds which have been continually rising and spreading in the direction of Soufriere volcano since May 16th, and which have been mistaken for tropical clouds, have proved to be steam emitted from the crater, from which flashes of flames are issuing nightly. This, combined with renewed vibrations in Frequent Throbbing Headache.

There's many a cause for headache. Men are not often troubled by headaches. When they are it is generally due to biliousness or indigestion. But women have headaches which seem peculiar to their sex, frequent nervous throbbing headaches. Does it not seem as if such headaches peculiar to women must be at once related to womanly disease? Women who suffer with diseases peculiar to the sex do not realize the drain of vital strength and nerve force they undergo as a consequence of disease. It is this which causes the familiar headaches of sick women.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription cures such headaches by curing the cause—irregularity, weakening drains, inflammation, ulceration of female weakness. "Favorite Prescription" invigorates and tones up the entire system, encourages the appetite, quiets the nerves and gives refreshing sleep.

"I was troubled with congestion of the uterus and female weakness for five years," writes Mrs. Robt. Kerwin, of Albert, Hastings Co., Ont. "I was so weak and nervous I could hardly do any work. Had severe pain in back, also dizziness and pain in head. My heart would beat so hard and fast at times I would have to sit still till I got it right again. But after taking four bottles of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, one of his 'Golden Medical Discoveries,' I felt entirely well. I also used one box of 'Lotion Tablets' and one of 'Suppositories' as directed. All the symptoms of my trouble have disappeared and I am completely cured. Thank you for your kind advice and your medicine."

aspect to Canadian subsidies. So far as the light commissioner knows the offer of the Canadian government of subsidies, which still open, has not been negotiated for. Such negotiations might be made direct to Ottawa, but it would be curious if Lord Strathcona and Mount Royal, in his dual position of Canadian high commissioner and a large holder of shares of the Canadian Pacific railway, were ignorant of the occurrence.

Lord Rothschild, whose financial assistance in the proposed shipping combine would almost certainly be asked, has not heard a word of the combine, with the exception of what he has seen in the newspapers, and those reports he appears to discredit. Baring Bros., who are intimately connected with mercantile finance, entirely discredit the possibility and advisability of British opposition to the United States combine.

One of the leading figures in the English business world, whose name ranks high among the financiers and bankers, "I have not heard a word which makes me think this British project is other than a visionary one. If it materialized, it would not have the support of the best financial circles of England. It is an entirely unnecessary step and leading men do not like this agitation; they denigrate any suggestion of a revolt against so-called American aggression. There is no necessity for such a combine as long as Americans are willing to pay twenty shillings on the pound. It is much better that England should understand that the statements published in the newspapers are quite unauthoritative. The Morgans are quite undisturbed at the press reports of the projected combine, or at Mr. Tarte's speech. The information which is obviously likely to be correct, leads to the belief that absolutely nothing has been accomplished between the British ship-owners and the Morgans, or any satisfactory basis of operation being reached. The Morgans and other members of the original Atlantic shipping combine profess utter indifference as to whether or not new projects materialize, and declare frankly that such competition would not be formidable.

More than one of the lines now mentioned in the combine were offered the Morgans and refused by them. Sir Alfred Jones, chairman of Elder Dempster & Co., who is supposed to be one of the most prominent movers in the new combine, said to-day to a representative of the Associated Press that he could not make any statement at present.

the fire zone, have increased apprehension that there may be another eruption shortly. As the eruptions at Martinique seem to relieve the St. Vincent volcano materially, connection between the two volcanoes is inappreciable, as every eruption in Martinique is accompanied by corresponding atmospheric disturbances here.

Edmund C. Hovey, assistant curator of the American museum of natural history, Dr. Thomas Augustus Jagoe, assistant geologist of the United States geological survey, and Gen. C. Curtis are endeavoring to ascend the eastern side of Soufriere. They are to-day still awaiting an opportunity to make the ascent.

Comotion at Sea.

Queensdown, June 6.—On the arrival here to-day of the British ship Anarus, from Portland, Ore., January 7th, her commander, Capt. Henderson, reported that on May 8th at 10.30 p.m., in lat. 3 and long. 32, a terrible vibration was felt throughout the vessel, the shocks making it appear as if the ship was bumping on rocks. At the same time the sea was violently agitated, and the crew were in a state of semi-panic. The commotion lasted half a minute. It was only after relating his experiences that Capt. Henderson heard of the Martinique catastrophe.

BALEFUR ON THE WAR.

London, June 6.—A. J. Balfour, the government leader in the House of Commons, in a speech at a banquet to-night, referred to the South African war. He said the war was only thoroughly realized now that it had been removed, and that peace had not been brought by unnecessary concessions. Mr. Balfour said he believed the terms of peace possessed every element of certainty, permanence and stability, and that a new and happy era had formed in South Africa.

"To have acted upon the advice of Lord Rosebery and Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman," said the speaker, "and bought peace at the price of complete amnesty, would have been to put a premium on rebellion, while to have negotiated with Mr. Kruger and his advisers would have been a mistake."

Mr. Balfour said he could respect the fighting burghers, but not those who had deserted the republic of South Africa. The contention that peace might have been secured long ago was untenable, because General Botha then demanded independence. Mr. Balfour devoted the latter part of his speech to ridiculing the divided councils of the Liberal party.

G. B. Cortelyou, secretary to the President, pointed out that the law empowering the President to act in instances similar to the anthracite miners' strike was repealed in 1898, but added that the President would be glad to see the committee if it decided to visit him. After considering the fact that the law had been repealed, the committee decided not to visit the President.

THE NEW WOMAN.

Miss Alice Cohn, writes from 474 Eleventh Street, Brooklyn, N. Y., as follows:

"Having had poor health for a great many months and now having it restored makes me feel very grateful to Peruna. I suffered a great deal during my monthly periods; had severe pains, and was generally depressed, but can truthfully say that a few bottles of Peruna has removed all pain and made a new woman of me.—MISS ALICE COHN.

"The coming of what is known as the 'new woman' in our country is not greeted by everyone as if she were a great blessing. But there is another new woman whom every body is glad to see. Every day some invalid woman is exclaiming, 'I have been made a new woman by Dr. Hartman's home treatment.' It is only necessary to send name, address, symptoms, duration of sickness and treatment already received to Dr. Hartman, Columbus, and directions for one month's treatment will be promptly forwarded. The medicines can be obtained at the nearest drug store.

DISALLOWANCE. It is, we admit, a serious matter to differ from such great constitutional authorities as the Minister of Mines, the chief judge and practical head of the government, and the Legislature of British Columbia as a whole, on a constitutional point.

The Dominion government, Bonrroit says, has an absolute power of disallowance. He qualifies this, however, by pointing out that "this political power is one to be exercised with great discretion and judgment, as otherwise it might involve consequences fatal to the harmony and integrity of Confederation."

The Mainland has one advantage over us. It is not much troubled with dust. The rainfall was so heavy in Tacoma a few days ago that it was impossible for the baseball teams to play for two days.

ENCOURAGE LOCAL INDUSTRY. The Editor of "Victoria First" in the Colonist has struck the right nail on the head, driven it home and clinched it on the other side. Victoria wants no monopoly, either in selling goods, building houses, or repairing ships.

the Dominion government to act in accordance with the desires of our people. It may be the time is not propitious. There are questions of momentous importance awaiting the consideration of Imperial and colonial governments.

THE FALL EXHIBITION.

Our contemporary, the New Westminster Columbian, is extremely zealous in all matters calculated to be of benefit to the Royal City. That is all right, but it hardly seems necessary to misrepresent other places in order to advance the material welfare of New Westminster institutions.

The Times believes it can understand the feelings of Rev. W. H. Barracough's congregation in saying farewell to that gentleman. All who had relations of any kind with Mr. Barracough will share in the regret that his term of service here has expired.

WATERFRONT. All the talk about harbor encroachment is brain. The man who talks in that strain would build a solid stone wall across the harbor if he thought he could shut out competition, and that is all he is after in his appeal to the city council.

—Ald. Grahame has given notice that at the next meeting of the council he will move as follows: That as there is good reason to believe that the provincial government will allow to the city certain land fronting on Bastion street, between Bastion square and Langley street, on the south side of the court house, for the purpose of widening that portion of Bastion street on condition that the city bear the expense of alterations and construct a new concrete sidewalk, this council approves of the suggestion and appoints a committee to interview the government in connection with the matter, and report to the council.

The tug Surprise towed the steamer Comet in from Vancouver last evening to receive a new boiler. This had been made for her by the Albion Iron Works and sent up to Vancouver, to be there placed in position, but inasmuch as it was manufactured by non-union men the union boiler makers of Vancouver would have nothing to do with it. In consequence the steamer has been idle for some time, and had finally to be brought down to Victoria. The boiler will now, however, be installed without further delay.

The Decoration Day services in connection with the K. of P. lodges will be held on such an elaborate scale as was at first proposed. It was the intention to have excursions run from Nanaimo and other points of the Island, so as to allow brethren from those points to participate in the services. On account of Sunday excursions being against the laws of the Dominion, the program order, however, no arrangements for members of outside lodges to take part can be made, and the local societies will hold their Decoration Day services independently. It will take place on the 15th of the month, as formerly arranged. The Far West and Victoria lodge members will parade to Ross Bay, headed by a local band and a programme of appropriate selections will be rendered at the cemetery.

The insurance reports for the year 1901 show that the ratio of expenses to income of the Mutual Life of Canada was the lowest of any company in Canada, while the amount of dividends paid to policyholders exceeded by many thousands of dollars that of any other home company. These are features in which policyholders and insurers are vitally interested, and in view of the splendid record of the Mutual Life of Canada for the past thirty-two years, and its present unsurpassed financial strength, it is not surprising that the Mutual Life of Canada has such a strong hold upon the business men of Canada and that Canadians all over the Dominion take a just pride in its splendid showing. The liberal features in the policies of the Mutual Life of Canada are not excelled by any other company in the world. Particulars and rates can be obtained from R. E. Henry, Provincial Manager, 34 Broad street.

The grounds committee reported having made arrangements with Mr. Todd to take the Caledonia Park for the sports and games, which action was endorsed by the general committee. The sports committee reported progress, as did also the finance committee. The music committee handed in recommendations which were laid over until next meeting to be dealt with. TO YOUNG WOMEN

A Denver, Colorado, Young Woman recently Wrote a Letter to Mrs. Pinkham, which Aptly Pictures the Condition of a Great Many Young Women. Read What She Says:

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—This is the first opportunity I have found to write and thank you for the good your Vegetable Compound has done me. I feel better than I have for years. It seems a 'seven days' wonder' to my friends. Where I used to be pitted, everything is the opposite now, and there is not a day but some one wants to know what I have done to make myself look so well.

"Before taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I had constant headaches, was constipated, bloated, eyes weak and watery, bearing-down pains, pains in the small of my back and right side; took cold very easily, which always caused intense pain in the ovaries, and I did not want to go anywhere or see any one. I was called cross, but I could not help it, feeling as I did. I could not lift anything or do any hard work without suffering for days afterwards. Menstruation lasted for eight or ten days, the first three or four days being almost constant pain day and night."

"Nothing in this wide world has relieved so much female suffering as has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound; no medicine can produce such positive proof of cures and good results; therefore, no other medicine can be 'just as good.'"

Office women are frequently afflicted with sickness brought on by constant work in one position. Perhaps in going to the office, they get their feet wet and sit all day long with damp shoes and stockings.

Nothing in the world is so injurious. Wet feet, hard work, and confined positions have made invalids of a great many robust and ambitious young women.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I have just purchased a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound but am advised to write you before treating myself.

"I hardly know how to express myself. At times I feel well, and in less than ten minutes I am actually writhed with headache, that tired feeling, and so nervous that the sound of a door bell will make me start, and I cannot walk two blocks without feeling fatigued. Menstruation has never been regular, have a slight discharge of leucorrhoea. I would like your advice, and sincerely hope I may find relief in your medicine."—MISS CLARA PORTER, Richmond, Va. (Oct. 26, 1901.)

Statement No. 2. "DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—It gives me great pleasure to thank you for the benefit I received from your Vegetable Compound.

"When I wrote to you I could not go up-stairs or walk a hundred yards without being completely fagged out, but today I can easily walk two miles. I was also very nervous and suffered from a misery in my back but these troubles are all a thing of the past. I was at a loss to describe my feelings, but now thanks to your Vegetable Compound I am a well woman.

"I advise all suffering women to write to Mrs. Pinkham, and I shall never fail to recommend your remedies to my friends."—MISS CLARA PORTER, Richmond, Va. (March 26, 1901.)

Miss Thompson's Pains are Cured. "DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I want to tell you what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me. For several years I had suffered with loss of appetite, nausea, vomiting, constipation, palpitation of the heart, headache, pains in nearly all parts of the body. My physician said it was only indigestion; but his medicine did not help me any. I began the use of your Vegetable Compound. I have taken four bottles and now those troubles are cured. I cannot praise it enough."—MISS HELLIE S. THOMPSON, Box 14, Acushnet, Mass.

REWARD.—We have deposited with the National City Bank of Lynn, $5,000, which will be paid to any person who can find the above testimonial letters are not genuine, or who published before obtaining the writer's special leave in mimeo. Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass.

FERNIE RELIEF CONCERT,

Fund Will Benefit Considerably From Proceeds of Tickets Sold.

There was not a very large attendance at the concert given in the theatre last night in aid of the Fernie Relief Fund, but fortunately many tickets were sold to people who did not attend the performance.

The concert was under the patronage of His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor, who, with his party, occupied a box on the left of the stage.

The programme commenced with a selection from "Faust" by the Fifth Regiment band, and was followed by the Pilsner chorus from "Tannhauser." A. T. Goward sang a selection from Barnett's "Ancient Mariner." Mrs. Robin Dunsmuir rendered Pease's "Break, Break, Break," and an encore solo. Herbert Taylor contributed a selection from the "Ancient Mariner" and "My Native Land." Miss Laura Loewen sang "Love the Pedlar," and Miss Gertrude Loewen played the accompaniment. Other selections played by the band were "Stradella," "The Dying Poet," and the National Anthem.

The programme was much enjoyed by the audience. As the expenses of the concert were almost nil, everybody in connection therewith giving their services free, the fund will benefit to a considerable extent.

BRITISH EMPIRE LEAGUE.

The General Meeting Discussed Restoration of Peace Last Night.

T. G. Fletcher presided at the general meeting of the British Empire League, which was held at the city hall last evening. On the suggestion of Senator MacDonald the president had secretary were instructed to draft a resolution congratulating Hon. Joseph Chamberlain on the restoration of peace. After an address by Seymour O'Dell on the characteristics of the Boers, a discussion ensued regarding the best way of celebrating the return of peace, it being generally felt that Sunday night's service was insufficient. Ex-Mayor Redfern observed that a day of thanks-giving would likely be proclaimed in England, which could be observed here. Mr. Grant in a concise and interesting speech dealt with the trade possibilities between Canada and South Africa, introducing the following resolution, which was seconded by Mr. Loggin and carried:

Resolved, That this league expresses its satisfaction at the conclusion of the war and prospect of the early restoration of settled conditions in South Africa, and that the government of Canada will take advantage of the opportunity to effect close trade relations with that part of the Empire.

The resolution will be forwarded to Sir Wilfrid Laurier and the other leagues in Canada. The meeting then adjourned.

VICTORIA STRUCK AN UNMARKED ROCK

BADLY DAMAGED IN TRINCOMALI CHANNEL

Was On Her Way to Victoria When Accident Occurred Yesterday Afternoon—Notes.

While taking a midway passage through Trincomali channel on her way to Victoria with 3,000 tons of coal from the colliery at Lady Smith, the steamer Victoria struck an uncharted rock yesterday afternoon and sustained serious damage.

The vessel was en route here, to complete her crew before proceeding north to Dutch harbor with her big cargo of rock. It was about 2:30 o'clock when the accident occurred. The weather was fine, and the sea perfectly calm. The current followed was in mid-channel, where the chart indicates a uniformity of depth and a clear unobstructed path. No rock appeared within two or three miles of the spot, and all around deep soundings are shown. The second officer was at the wheel, and Captain Butler, one of the most skillful and careful local navigators, was pilot.

In speaking of the disaster Captain Butler said this morning that the steamer was going full speed. She seemed to strike on a pinnacle of a rock, which breaking off with the first blow of the ship gave away, and allowed the stern to pass over without touching. This is the only way in which he can account for the ship striking in the manner she did, for she draws considerably more aft than forward, being 23 feet by the stern.

It was a great surprise to Captain Casey as also to Captain Butler. It was found at once that the steamer was pretty badly injured, but fortunately she has a false bottom, and this saved her. The forward compartment flooded with water, and before proceeding on the voyage south the ship was beached to ascertain as nearly as possible just what amount of damage she had sustained. The lady passengers aboard, including Mrs. Casey and a few friends, were landed at Fulford harbor, where they were picked up by the steamer City of Nanaimo.

After an inspection of the ship's condition was made and it was found that she could make the voyage to Victoria in safety she was backed off and headed for Esquimalt full speed. She will now be discharged and placed in dock for repairs. It is not many months since the steamer was here for repairs. While on her way north from San Francisco last winter she lost her propeller and tail shaft, and her present misadventure makes her second narrow escape from disaster she has had in the last six months.

The Victoria is an iron ship of 1,507 tons, and was taken over by Swayne & Hoyt, of San Francisco. She has been plying in the coal trade for some time for R. Dunsmuir & Sons.

FREIGHT OFFICIALS DEPART.

A party composed of F. W. Peters, general freight agent of the C. P. R.; B. W. Greer, assistant freight agent; James Anderson, general agent for the department at Seattle; S. Sherman, travelling freight agent; W. A. Ward and R. Byrn, of this city; H. E. Welsh, of the C. P. R. office, Vancouver, left here this morning on the steamer Otto intending to make a tour of the canneries on Bellingham Bay. The steamer was held in port until after the arrival of the Sound officials on the Rosalie and then cleared for Port Townsend. When spoken to this morning different members were referred to as the object of the expedition. They will be gone two or three days, and it is understood will thoroughly exploit the freight business as it is conducted at the cities on Bellingham Bay.

A BIG PORTAGE.

The task of moving the big steamer North Star overland from the Kootenay river to the headwaters of the Columbia is well under way. The boat is the fine steamer which sailed for years on the Kootenay river between Jennings, Mont., and Port Steele, British Columbia. Since the Canadian Pacific railway built into the Crow's Nest Pass country and the Kootenay valley line was built up from Bonner's Ferry to connect with the Canadian Pacific at Creston, the site of the East Kootenay mines which formerly went out over the North Star, had been carried by railroads. Steamboat traffic generally on the Kootenay river north of Jennings has been demoralized. In consequence the owners of the North Star decided to transfer their boat from the Kootenay river to the Columbia river.

MARINE NOTES.

Steamer Queen City sails for the West Coast to-night. She will have a good freight and among her passengers will be Johnna Holland, Mr. Beckler, Mr. Riley, Mrs. Tripp, Mrs. S. W. White and Leonard Frank. Steamer Umattila is due from San Francisco to-night. The Queen will sail for the Golden Gate to-morrow evening. The schooners Umbria and Ailla I. Algar will follow the Otto and Libbie on Turpel's voyage. The new Hudson Bay steamer Mount Royal goes out this afternoon on her trial trip. She will leave the inner wharf at 2:30 o'clock, carrying a party of ladies and gentlemen. The steamer will leave for the Sitkine next week, where she will be operated for a month or six weeks before being brought south to the Skeena.

Sixty-two miles an hour is to be the average speed maintained by a new train which has begun to run on the service between Tassara and Ocala. The journey will only occupy three hours.

PASTOR TOOK LEAVE OF HIS CONGREGATION

Large Gathering in Centennial Church Bade Farewell to Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Barraclough.

Rev. W. H. Barraclough and Mrs. Barraclough last evening bade farewell to the congregation of Centennial Methodist church, with which they have been identified for the past four years. A large number of friends, not only connected with the Centennial, but also of other churches, assembled in the school room, and the proceedings took the form of a social gathering. The evening was opened with a hymn, followed by a prayer by Rev. Mr. Osterhout. Vocal selections were rendered by Mrs. Gregson, Mr. Wheeler and Mrs. Anderson, a cornet solo by Mr. Stitt and a reading by Mr. Parker.

An address was delivered by the chairman, N. Shakespeare, who alluded to the very friendly relations existing between the pastor and people for the past four years, and expressed regret at the separation. Remarks eulogistic of the retiring pastor were also made by Rev. Elliott S. Rowe. The following address was read by W. H. Bone:

Dear Mr. Barraclough:—Time with its ever changing seasons has ushered in all too quickly the day that will separate us in our relation as pastor and people. It is with regret and sadness we are compelled to say goodbye, for during your four years' pastorate you have been endeared to the members of your church and congregation through your sympathy with the sorrowing, your gentleness with the erring, your faithfulness in reproving sin, your love for souls and your earnestness in carrying out the work of the church.

The flourishing condition of the Young Men's Association is a source of interest and instruction to the young in Christian work. They have appreciated your efforts as an earnest worker, and we are proud to have you as a member of our church. We desire to express our appreciation of the services of Mrs. Barraclough, whose patience and love have developed many earnest Christian workers among them.

The rapid advancement you have made during your adolescence into the British Columbia conference is an evidence of the high esteem in which you are held by your brethren, and the fact that the courtesy official board of this church extended to you an invitation for the fifth year is simple proof of your usefulness in carrying out the Master's work.

We have appreciated also your efforts in stimulating us to give liberally to God's work, and it has been with the result that we to-day as a church are in better financial condition than ever before. Your labors here have been blessed of God in the salvation of many souls. Not only have the spiritual interests of the adults been upon your heart, but the lambs have been tenderly nurtured by you and gathered into the fold of the church, and we believe the spiritual condition of the church to-day is evidenced by the harmony and love that is manifested among its members.

FIRST GRAND TRUNK CAR AT THE MARKET

Initial Show to Be Transported on the Island in Managing Company's Own Train.

The first carload of Great Northern freight has arrived in the yard of the Victoria Terminal railway. It is a car loaded with fruit jars, and is consigned to J. H. Todd & Son. It is car No. 7,023 of the Grand Trunk system, was brought West from Montreal via Chicago, and reached the Coast without delay, the barge Georgian landing it at Sidney after taking seven carloads of machinery on to Crofton. The transfer from the barge to the railway tracks yesterday probably did not take ten minutes, and had there been a whole train to be landed the time consumed in the work would have been proportionately short.

The slip at Sidney, as also at Liverpool, where the company has expended $15,000 in erecting terminal facilities, has been found very satisfactory. At the latter point there has of late been a considerable congestion of freight, and the barge has a lot of business in waiting for her. The Great Northern Company has to handle 70 carloads of tin plate, and this, with the 35-car loads of machinery destined for Crofton, which represents only the first installment of that required at the new smelter site, has for the time being made a temporary block in the business of the line. Another carload of freight for Victoria will shortly arrive, and others will follow in quick succession.

BUSINESS BONDADE.

Men Who are Slaves to Their Own Success.

It would be a very notable fact if the well-known and highly respected firm of Stroug & Stout were to be seen dragging safe and ledgers behind them whenever they appeared on the street. The bigger their business and the greater their success, the bigger and heavier would be the load always trailing at their heels. Suppose also that when the eminently respectable firm of Stroug & Stout went to bed they carried their ledgers and the money in the safe with them and counted and figured just as long as the tired brain would bear it. People would think that Stroug & Stout had about reached the limit in business eccentricity. But, as a matter of fact, a great many business men carry their business with them wherever they go, and take it to bed with them when they retire for the night, with the very natural result that they break down in health and crawl about weak, run-down, debilitated dyspeptic wrecks.

Nature Says "No!"

When a man makes up his mind that he is going to defy Nature and yet succeed, Nature says "no" and she means just what she says. If you will hurry your business and neglect your health, if you will load your stomach without unloading your brain of its business burdens, you will do it at the price of health. When the business man realizes this fact he has generally paid the price of his folly and finds himself worn out in his prime. As a rule, the business man's broken health may be traced to looseness of the stomach and digestive and nutritive tract. Life depends on nutrition. All the strength of the body falls without food. And when food cannot be digested and converted into nutrition because of disease of the stomach and its allied organs, the strength of the whole body suffers less, and there gradually ensues a condition of general debility and feebleness.

Getting Strong Again.

When a man's health breaks down he needs for the means to build it up again. He discovers probably that it's easier to break down than to build up, and perhaps after a series of vain efforts gives up the attempt in despair. It is in such people, broken in health, debilitated and despairing, that Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is offered as a medicine which has cured thousands of weak, run-down men and women who had tried in vain to find a cure for their condition in other remedies. "Golden Medical Discovery" cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition and builds up the body with sound, solid flesh.

About four years ago I was attacked with a pain in right side, and for a long time was unable to attend to business," writes Mr. E. R. York, residing 924 South Main street, Joplin, Mo. "I tried one doctor after another until seven had experimented with me. Some called the trouble one thing and some another, no two agreeing as to what was the trouble, or in the mode of treatment. Last April I was induced to write you and see if you could do anything for me. I did so, and in due time received a reply, stating my case in full, with directions to use Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and 'Pleasant Pellets.' I at once procured both and let an other medicine alone. Have not taken any other kind since commencing yours. Before I had taken the second bottle I began to see a difference in my stomach and appetite. Food did not distress me, appetite was regular and I relished my food. The headaches I used to have were all a thing of the past. Have now taken eighteen bottles of the 'Golden Medical Discovery' and two vials of the 'Pellets,' and must say I feel like a new man. I feel ten years younger, and people tell me I look younger, and ask why it is, I simply tell them that Dr. Pierce's medicines have done it."

Seven Doctors Failed.

It is often a wonder to people that "Golden Medical Discovery" cures when doctors fail. As a matter of fact, people very often "doctor" for the wrong disease, being misled by symptoms of liver "troubles," heart "troubles," etc., when the real root of the disease is in the stomach. It is because "Golden Medical Discovery" goes to the root of disease that its cures are so many and so remarkable. It cures through the stomach diseases of other organs which have their origin in the diseased condition of the stomach and its allied organs of digestion and nutrition.

"In the spring of 1898 my health began to fail," writes Mrs. Sarah E. Geir, of Welshrun, Pa. "I paid no attention to it until in June when I seemed to grow worse. Had severe pains in back and lower part of stomach. Hands and feet were cold as ice and my limbs felt numb and paralyzed. I was nervous and tired all the time. In the morning would be just as tired as the previous evening. I doctored all summer and took medicine and did not get any better. I tried another doctor; took his treatment one week and I got worse and worse all the time. In March 1899, I wrote to you for advice and in a few days received your kind letter. I was glad to look your advice and did as you said I should. You said I should take 'Golden Medical Discovery' and your 'Favorite Prescription.' About the time the first bottle was finished I felt better and kept on getting better, and can now say that I feel like a new person. Feel well in every way, my pains are gone. I thank you for your kind advice and your good medicine. I will recommend Dr. Pierce's medicines to all who suffer as I did. I shall never forget your kindness."

Sick people, especially those suffering from chronic diseases, are invited to consult Dr. Pierce, by letter, free, and so obtain (without charge) the opinion of a specialist on their ailments. All correspondence strictly confidential. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

CITY CHURCHES AND THEIR PASTORS.

No. 1.—CENTENNIAL METHODIST.

REV. W. H. BARRACLOUGH, Retiring Pastor.

THE Methodist conference made a singularly happy choice when it selected Rev. W. H. Barraclough, B. A., of this city, for the Dawson station.

As a convincing commentary on his popularity and the efficacy of his services as pastor of the Centennial church is afforded by the fact that he was requested by a unanimous board of officials to remain a fifth year.

As a pulpit Rev. Mr. Barraclough is earnest, deliberate and devoid of even the faintest tinge of sensationalism. His manner of speaking commands attention, inspires confidence and forces consideration of the views he expounds.

He was born in the town of Ingersoll, Ontario, in 1835. He comes by his evangelical tendencies quite naturally, his mother being a sister of Rev. Thos. Crosby, the well-known missionary to the Indians.

His father, Rev. J. P. Westman, who succeeds Rev. W. H. Barraclough in the pulpit of Centennial Methodist church, is an untiring man in this field, but judging by his success at other stations, it is safe to predict that he will creditably fill the pastorate to which he has been transferred.

to predict that he will creditably fill the pastorate to which he has been transferred. Of him the Vernon News says: "Mr. Westman is a young and vigorous man, filled with enthusiasm and earnestness. He is a fluent and forcible speaker, and possesses an attractive personality, which wins for him many firm friends."

Rev. Mr. Westman was received as a probationer for the Methodist ministry eight years ago. The next five years were spent in preaching and in attendance at the Victoria University, Toronto, to the same institution from which Rev. Mr. Barraclough graduated. He was ordained three years ago, and transferred from the London conference to British Columbia, being stationed at Golden. After one year's service there he was transferred to Vernon, where he has been for the past two years. In each case his congregation has doubled during his pastorate.

He is a young man, just turned thirty, and possessed of a youthful energy and zeal which it is certain will be exercised unsparingly in the interests of his new charge.

He was extended a welcome reception by his new congregation last night.

Centennial Methodist Church. The Centennial Methodist church, a substantial brick structure, was erected in 1891, replacing the Gorge road edifice which had done service since 1885. Among its pastors have been four, who during their term of pastorate have been elected president of conference, the highest honor in the gift of the church in the province. Revs. Jas. H. White (son of one of the early pioneers), Joseph Hall, John F. Betts and Wm. H. Barraclough, B. A. The reports of the second church for last year were highly encouraging. Enrolled as communicants, 219; amount raised for all purposes, $4,819, of which $1,100 was for pastoral support and $230 for missions.

As the Emperor Menelik of Abyssinia has no sons, the successor to the throne is to be definitely settled at a meeting of the great nobles of the Empire, which will be held shortly under the presidency of the Negus himself.

spent ten successful years in that conference, when he volunteered for the Indian mission fields in British Columbia. He was appointed to the tribes of the Fraser, with headquarters at Chilliwack. In 1898 he was stationed at Centennial church, and has remained there ever since. He has filled all the lesser offices in the church; has been district secretary, and chairman of the district, and last year by a large majority he was elected president, the highest office in the gift of his brethren. It is understood he is the youngest man ever occupying that important position. He has a strong taste for journalism, and three years ago started the Western Recorder, the conference organ.

Last night his congregation bade him and Mrs. Barraclough farewell.

Rev. Mr. Westman.

Rev. J. P. Westman, who succeeds Rev. W. H. Barraclough in the pulpit of Centennial Methodist church, is an untiring man in this field, but judging by his success at other stations, it is safe to predict that he will creditably fill the pastorate to which he has been transferred.

BRAIN AND STOMACH

THE REASON WHY DYSPEPSIA CAUSES MENTAL DEPRESSION.

A Healthy Stomach Absolutely Necessary to a Happy, Mental Condition—Nothing Causes Such a "Blue" Feeling as Dyspepsia.

"Be good and you'll be happy." This is true in a limited sense, but in being "good" you are to have a "good" feeling. Don't overload it. Don't eat too fast. Don't eat things too hot or too cold. Give your Stomach a chance to rest when it is tired and worn out.

Use Doan's Dyspepsia Tablets the very first time you feel the slightest sign of Heartburn, Sour Stomach, Bloating, Indigestion, Pain in the Chest, or Palpitation of the Heart.

It is impossible to be happy if the Stomach is not doing its work properly. The Stomach is responsible for supplying the body with plenty of nourishment to maintain the normal vigor and strength.

When it fails the blood becomes impoverished and the nerves irritated and diseased. The nervous irritation is always the direct result of bad Stomach action, and as the brain is the centre of the nervous system, every complaint from the starved and weakened nerves is at once reported to the brain.

The accumulation of these complaints is expressed in the Headaches, Dizziness and mental depression which accompany Dyspepsia and Indigestion.

The Stomach is the cause of it all. Cure the Stomach and make it possible for it to do its duty, and the blood and the nerves and the brain, all of which depend solely on the Stomach for their vigor and strength, will very soon be restored to their natural healthy and happy condition.

Doan's Dyspepsia Tablets are a specific for Stomach Troubles and will cure any disease of the Stomach (except Cancer).

A petroleum well has been known in Zante, one of the Ionian Islands, for nearly 2,000 years. It is mentioned by Herodotus, who was born 484 years before the Christian era.

BLACK AND WHITE STRIPED DUCK EMBROIDERED IN RED CHERRIES.

SHORT SILK COATS AGAIN POPULAR.

Short silk coats have become so popular that they have ceased to be a novelty, so in this modish length one must look for new effects in something besides this fashionable fabric. One of the latest editions of the smart little coat is a bolero with short pagoda sleeves. The material from which it is made is that beautiful shade of suede cloth which appears in many of the exquisite gowns and mantles designed for spring wear.

This bolero reaches just a trifle below the waist in the back as well as the front, at which latter point there is observed the slightly downward curving line following that of fashionable waists.

To stimulate a panel effect embroidered bands of the cloth about two and a half inches wide, having their scalloped edges and center figures worked in gray and white silk, are arranged down each side of the front, around the bottom of the bolero and sleeves, while extra pieces extend the length of the outside part of the sleeve and from the shoulder to the bottom of each side front.

Short sleeves and broad collars are at present extremely smart when worn upon a coat of fancy bolero.

The collar finishing the neck of this coat is edged all around with a scalloped embroidery pattern, and a frill of creamy gauze falls from under the ornamented border of the collar, is caught at the throat in two soft rosettes, then is permitted to continue down the front of the coat as cascade.

The garment is worn slightly open at the throat and the tiny upstanding neckband displays a bit of embroidery, while the fronts are almost concealed beneath the soft lace choux.

For lining this smart coat a thin soft silk was chosen, so that while serving as a wrap it would not be altogether too warm for wear during the first few weeks of summer.

Everybody whose figure will permit of the wearing of those new and stylish coats is appearing in some one of the handsome novelties. Even linen suits come with an extra coat ornamented to match the rest of the costume, while frequently separate linen garments of this cut are seen.

The glaze silks are, however, still considered by far the smartest for dressy occasions, and these are shown in coats, coats, blouses and boleros.

For young women the shorter effects obtain, while those of maturer years and less slender figures choose a style somewhat longer, but of this same distinguished looking fabric.

Many of the coats are formed of solid tucking, relieved by Bruges or Chantilly lace, while others display handsome a jour ornamentations.

It is a fancy now to have the broad lace or embroidered collars turn away from the throat without any upstanding bands, and this proves a much more agreeable arrangement for warm days and evenings. There is a decidedly youthful appearance to these broad Charles II. or Louis XIII. collars, and on this account they are continuing to be as popular as ever, or even more so.

With the half loose back and the straight hanging fronts, these light weight silken garments are just the thing to draw on over lace and fancifully trimmed blouses, so much in vogue this season.

An Oriental effect seems to have caught on, and several handsome kimono coats, with pagoda sleeves, have made their appearance and put in a bid for the attention of those who fall in their loose, straight lines just to the waist, and you can imagine how very chic and charming they look.

Sleeves which reach to the elbow are the prettiest of all, whether they are wide or only slightly bell curved.

The effect of the broad black upper part, from under which drops the full chiffon or lace puff of the under blouse, is one of the smart wrinkles of fashion.

An Unusual Note in Fashion.

An unusual note was struck by a Francis model noticed the other day. There was the black glaze coat or blouse and a contrasting skirt of reseda cloth, while only a tiny bit of this soft, beautiful green appeared on the silk garment.

Plaits, of course, are fashionable effect for skirts, and this gown had a cluster of tiny ones arranged in a panel effect down the front and a wider series at the back, falling from a curiously shaped yoke made of cloth hexagons stitched very flat.

The bottom of the skirt was simply trimmed with several rows of stitching in green to form three-inch squares, but point to point, in a row just above the narrow hem. This square effect is one of the modish things for skirts, and nearly all the French models present some sort of an arrangement following cut these lines.

The glaze blouse was incrustated with converging stripes of creamy lace braid, which formed a sunburst effect, having the ends of the rays finishing in a scroll. The sleeves and collar repeated the

When clinging skirts are everywhere to be seen and plaits that are so modish appear stitched and pressed flat to the knees, it is something of a refreshing change to be introduced to as charming a model as the Keiffen gown here depicted. Ruffles there are and quantities of them, with their soft overlapping flimsiness extending from the décolletage to the very edge of the pretty skirt.

The material is silken gauze, in that mellow yellowish shade of old ivory, and the entire trim is encircled with slightly graduated frills which start at the waist with a downward curve in front; then, as they reach toward the bottom, the ruffles adjust themselves to the new lines and drop gently outward and down to form the slight train. A wider flounce of silver embroidered gauze is set directly upon the edge of the skirt and this increases in width at the back.

The same handsome antique embroidery is repeated on the corsage, to form a yoke effect, shoulder straps and the upper part of the short sleeves, without a visible break. A shallow point, flanked by two deeper ones, falls directly across the bust, while the sleeve portions present a still deeper design.

Two zones of ruffles, of the same width as the medium sized ones on the skirt, are permitted to fall in negligence effect across the front of the décolletage and to finish the pointed embroidery sleeves. A very broad crushed cincture of silvery blue liberty satin folds about the waist, but has its upper edge hidden beneath the depending corsage frills. At the back the ends are knotted in each effect with two proportionate streamers cut on the cross and fringed. With this frock is worn a handsome pearl collar, which is clasped in front with a large antique silver ornament, on which a dragon fly design is brought into bold relief by having its greenish tinged wings wrought in fine enamel and cut enamel incrustations.

The other evening frock is a princess effect, fashioned from deep rose brocade and elaborate ornamentations of crocheted lace.

A board pattern of this trimming edges the bottom of the train and extends up the side and back of the skirt in graceful irregular lines. These chiffon and tiny ruffles give a filmy effect to the bottom, while shoulder straps and choux of the same delicate fabric lend a softness to the otherwise rather severe corsage.

The handsome lace design reaches the full length of the frock in front, and it is broad enough to cover the bust, narrow perceptibly at the waist, then widens as it falls downward, branching out at intervals in graceful sprays and curves. Underneath the lace the silk is cut out and the accepted substitute—delicate mousseline—is used as an effective background for the coarse meshes and large petals.

New Panel in the "Apron Front."

Appropos of these long lace panels for the fronts of gowns, there is a novel idea which is being introduced in Paris, and this is called the apron front. It consists of an effect very much like the one just described, and the upper section fastens to the bodice in the same manner as the bib of an apron is held in place. The novelty is particularly becoming to figures upon which a princess even looks well. The black cloth street costume depends for its smartness chiefly upon the unusual arrangement of applique designs.

The skirt, which falls well on the floor, is cut in several close fitting seams, each border on the deep cuffs of the short sleeves.

Three rows of black braid, put close together, extend down each side of the front of the skirt, starting close together at the waist and separating widely at the bottom.

There is not much of a train to this costume, a slight dip being considered quite sufficient for walking purposes, for which it is intended.

Negligé Garments Always Serviceable.

A woman never seems to possess too many of those attractive little negligé garments in which she arranges herself when in the seclusion of her own boudoir. For summer they are fashioned of the sheerest washable fabrics, and are profusely trimmed with the daintiest of laces.

For her who is going to the mountains, where fresh morning breezes bring a chill to the air before it is warmed by the noon-day sun, a comfortable dressing jacket made of albatross is here proposed.

The color is pale blue, and down the front, around the pointed bottom of the jacket, edging the wide collar and deep flounces at the hand are three rows of fagoting about three-quarters of an inch apart.

At the hand these pointed affairs are caught back with a knot of blue liberty ribbon, and at the throat, where two long scarf ends of application lace fall to the edge of the becoming blue ribbon.

A blue taffeta petticoat is worn with

ALBATROSS DRESSING JACKET TRIMMED WITH FAGOTED FLOUNCES.

A broad Louis XIII. collar falls away from the throat and lends an especial prettiness to the plain yoke. The sleeves are wide pieces of accordion pleating gathered into the arm-holes and banded about six inches from the top with flat embroidery. From here the soft pleating is allowed to fall unconfined, and its wide edge is daintily finished.

the fire and put in its place a large fishing net or trellis, made of cane, which is in their eyes a symbol of the places where they will live after death.

"At sight of this symbol the dead man knows that his last hour among the living has passed and he goes back to the high mountains to dwell with his ancestors."

PERVERTED PETTICOATISM.

IVORY GAUZE, WITH OLD SILVER EMBROIDERIES, MODERN MODEL.

The women of the strong minds and the whiskered chins were about to hold a convention, and as one of the preliminaries thereto a committee was moving around among the business men collecting funds to assist in the ceremonies. The committee had been to a lot of places and had met with very fair success, notwithstanding there wasn't a good-looking woman in the entire beggling combination.

At one office, however, they were treated in a manner that made them feel as if they would almost rather never be seen at all than to be the kind of men this man was.

It happened in the office of an elderly gentleman who has no patience whatever with the man-hater, and he was sitting in his private room when the committee appeared in the outer room. One of the ladies briefly stated the object of their visit to the clerk at the desk.

"May I inquire," he said, very politely, "why you are going to hold a convention?"

Before the committee had an opportunity to reply the elderly gentleman's voice was heard, rising high over the partition separating the two rooms.

"I tell you why," came the voice in ringing clearness, "it's because they haven't got any babies to hold. Tell me so, with my compliments, and say that we give nothing to the cause of perverted petticoatism."

The committee, with an embarrassed look at the clerk, silently got out.

Farthing breakfasts, consisting of coffee, bread and butter and jam, are now being provided by the Salvation Army for poor children in Newcastle, England.

design, while the skirts of the Mouse were hexagonal pieces of silk laid in plaits and put close together to carry out the yoke idea. Lace gilet and gulle gathered into a dainty wristband, gave an air of softness to the entire garment, while a scrap of rosea velvet exquisitely embroidered in black and white appeared on the collar and in the turban cuffs of the short taffeta sleeves. You have no idea how stunning the combination was, and how wonderfully the touch of green upon the blouse brought out the beauty of the black and white.

In the black and white striped dark gau here depicted is observed the same style of short sleeves, ending in broad cuffs, with the under blouse forming dainty and cool-looking puffs.

The long coat of this summer costume is made with a round-up skirt section set upon the tight-fitting body. It is intended to fasten down the front, yet a much prettier appearance is secured by leaving the coat open to disclose the cool summer blouse worn underneath. Graduated straps of black braid are put on in military fashion, and tiny black silk crochet balls are suspended in clusters of three between the loops of braid.

An extremely deep rounding collar, headed by a small and plain rolling band, gives a dash of smartness to the entire dress. Black braid applied in flat rows outlines both collars, and the broader one displays a stunning, colorful design of scarlet cherries and green leaves which is very novel. The same cherry pattern is duplicated for a

SILK BROCADE INCRUSTED WITH HEAVY CROCHET LACE.

More elaborate robes are made with a thin silk of chiffon foundation, over which is hung a dainty garment of spotted net, lace or diaphanous silk mousseline.

One of the loveliest of the long tea gowns was fashioned from sheer white batiste in empire style.

Short-Waisted Yoke Effect.

The short waisted yoke effect was wrought of Irish gauze, with the neck cut low and square and edged with a tiny lace frilling. Across the bust the pattern was arranged in inch-wide strips, which were pointed at each end, and a wide, soft blue liberty-ribbon was laced through this design, tying at the bust in a soft choux with long streamers.

The sleeves had a cap of the Irish lace, and these, too, were run with ribbon, so that the effect was as if the soft blue continued without interruption around the empire yoke and sleeves. A choux with fluttering end was placed on the outside of each sleeve.

The sleeves were very full, loose pagoda ones, made of vertical bands of the batiste tucking, alternating with extra-deux of Irish lace, and the wide edge showed a finishing frill of the same lace. The entire body of this graceful, loose robe was formed of vertical bands of tucking and lace insertion, and through the open meshes one caught glimpses of dainty blue mousseline. The gown trailed becomingly, and all around the foot was a deep flounce frilled with Irish lace.

Very elaborate, indeed, is such a tea gown, but there are simpler ones which are really quite as effective and pretty. For instance, here is one of fine white lawn cut circular, so that while there is no fullness at the top the material sweeps out in becoming lines without the use of plaits. A bolero formed of flat squares, arranged point to point, furnishes a pretty trimming for the waist, while the robe part is arranged in vertical appliques of flat ornaments, with a row below the knees, which serves as a heading for an applied circular flounce of lawn, upon which are put more lace squares.

Medallions and fancy lace ornamentations still hold their own for this purpose, yet one must admit that accordion pleating produces quite as handsome a gown, especially if there is a bolero or yoke of fine meshed Cluny, Venetian or Maltese lace.

Here is a dainty effect in plaited pink mousseline, with the bottom of the empire robe banded with wavy lace, which alternates embroidery entre deux.

CURIGU AS IN BORNEO.

M. Adolphe Combanarre's work entitled "Au Pays des Coupsars de Teyas" contains much interesting information about the Dajaks of Borneo. "The Dajaks," he says, "are a primitive and gentle race. They indulge, however, in the pernicious custom of cutting off their enemies' heads and adorning the walls of their houses with them. These savages have not changed in any way through their intercourse with white men. They do not believe in any God, and their only aim is in their sagacious."

"They believe that after they die they and their ancestors meet on high mountains. On the third day after one of them is buried he is supposed to come back to life and to appear at his former home. His relatives must then convince him that he has no business in this world, and with this object they light a large fire, and some place a large cup filled with water and the pestle which they use in crushing rice in front of his funeral pile."

"When the dead man sees these things he understands that his relatives decline to furnish him with food, and so he goes away regretfully. Once more, however, he returns, since he is not yet thoroughly convinced that he is really dead. Meanwhile the men of his tribe have removed

AFTERNOON GOWN OF BLACK PAULETTED TULLE OVER WHITE.

IN THE GREEN ROOM

An event full of the largest measure of attractiveness in the appearance next week at the Victoria theatre of Richard Mansfield in his recent play, "Beaucaire." The new play is a comedy in five acts by Booth Tarkenton and Evelyn Greenleaf Buchanan. To three two American writers belongs the distinction of having supplied the distinguished actor with his most delightful comedy success since the days when Beau Brummel and Prince Karl first delighted his audience. Beaucaire has come to stay and takes his place in Mansfield's gallery of portraits, not to fret his season on the stage and then retire. The happy hit has more of the quality of permanency than anything Mansfield has done. This is because Beaucaire gives Mansfield something on which to fasten his art. It is a character in a fascinating story, not a puppet in a poem. The Prince, who was mistaken for a barber by the smart set of Bath when Beau Nash was Emperor, gives a wide play for humor, wit, repartee and sentiment. The jest is on Beaucaire's lip, and the perfume of Lady Mary's red, red rose fills his heart and intoxicates him with a love that fuses all resistance. He has delighted all eyes devoted anew his unique gifts for portraying the royalty of a prince, the consciousness of a well and the romance of a lover. "Beaucaire" is, as they say, a play of manners. The scene is the celebrated English watering place, Bath, during the social sway of Beau Nash. It is a fascinating period for a comedy of wit. The first act discloses the pump room whither the blades and belles come for the waters. The second act shows Beaucaire's lodging the night he caught Winter's cheating. The third is Lady Mary Carlisle's ball room on the occasion of the introduction of the Duke of Chatsworth to Bath's society. A portion of the garden of Mr. Bantinson's country house on the roadway near the statue of Diana is the locale of act four, and the last act of all is the superb assembly room on the occasion of Bath's leaving from the Marquis de Nevers, ambassador from the Tuileries, who is the visiting baronet, harbored as a gambler and Duke of Castle Nowhere. A might well be expected the period and locale have been Mansfield's inspiration for a delicacy and coloring of scene and costume in which he has surpassed himself. The five settings are Watteau pictures of "rare elegance." The fashions of Beaucaire's period were dictated by his cousin, Louis XV. of France. Mansfield stands alone among our producers of finer and more pictorial plays. "Beaucaire" is a congenial opportunity for him to display his taste and liberality in furnishing a series of gorgeous pictures of past and present society under Beau Nash's social sway.

Getty Brothers' trained animal exhibition will make its annual visit to this city on Friday. This is one amusement enterprise that will never lose its charm nor rear its doom in the sombre frowns of an indifferent public. The Getty Brothers' shows are a million of children with whom their popularity is deep rooted and who will prevent animal acts from becoming a lost art. The have dogs, ponies, monkeys, elephants and camels galore who do everything except actually talk. This is the oldest and largest of all the Getty shows, there being almost 254 perfectly trained animals, requiring five cars to transport them. The street parade, which takes place daily at 11 o'clock, is in keeping with the performance proper. The tent will be erected in the field on the corner of Douglas and Howard streets.

Viola Allen, who was on the cast this year, has presented a successful revival of "The Hunchback," by James Sheridan Knowles, whose most successful work was perhaps "Virginia." It is recalled "The Hunchback" owes its existence to the failure of another play by the same author. Mr. Knowles was so chagrined by the failure of his play, "The Beggar's Daughter of Bethnal Green," that he immediately set about to produce a new one. As he says in an early preface to "The Hunchback," he did not propose to be baffled without a good reason. William Macready was so angry with Knowles for attempting another play on the lines of the one which had just failed, that he visited Glasgow for the purpose of expostulating with him. Knowles had completed the first act, and reading it to his friend, received his hearty approval. The play of "The Hunchback" was completed in 1831, when James Sheridan Knowles brought it to London for the purpose of securing its production. He says in his preface to an early printed copy of "The Hunchback" that the play was first read to Mr. Lee of Drury Lane, and instantly accepted by him without hesitation. The author was granted even more advantageous terms than he had hoped for from the management of Covent Garden. "The play," says Mr. Knowles, "was, however, defective in the under-plot, which was perfectly distinct from the main one. This error he pointed out to me, as did subsequently Mr. Morton in an elaborate critique, which was as full of kindness as discrimination." Mr. Knowles took the advice of his friends and reconstructed the play, and, having done his best to obviate objections, presented "The Hunchback" to Drury Lane, from which establishment he subsequently withdrew it, as it was not paid the attention he thought it merited. The play was finally presented at Covent Garden theatre in 1832 with enormous success.

The death of Bret Harte recalls an episode that few persons in theatrical circles ever had any knowledge of. During the early days of the partnership between Robson & Crane the late Lawrence Barrett was spending the summer months at some popular seaside resort where the two comedians had cottages. They were on social terms, and used to meet at each other's houses in the evening to while away the time. Barrett was an ardent admirer of Bret Harte. It occurred to him that Harte was just the man to write a play for Robson & Crane. "Why don't you get Bret Harte to write you a comedy of western life?" said the tragedian. "Harte is full of undeveloped material, and why shouldn't he write you a piece that would make all eternally famous?" The suggestion was eagerly taken up by the comedians, and Barrett was commissioned to open negotiations with the novelist. Harte consented, and in due time submitted the scenario of "Two Men From Sandy Bar." The comedians approved the plot, and $1,000 was paid down to seal the bargain. Now the trouble commenced. Bret Harte was predominantly a short story writer. He devoted much care and study to the polish of his novelettes, and by the time they reached the publisher they had cost him as much work as others spend on a story of 40 or 50 chapters. Some said Harte was "stuffed" with classic features, but by whatever name it passed he certainly possessed a genius for procrastination.

The comedians were anxiously waiting for their play. The season was dragging on. Barrett undertook to stir up the author. He succeeded, after a long delay, in getting the first act. Then came another deadly intermission. Barrett suggested that another remittance of $1,000 might spur the poet to renewed effort. It did. In the course of time the second act made its appearance, succeeded by another long interval of silence, until Barrett again suggested a stimulating remittance of another $1,000. The effect was potent. The third act came, succeeded by another interval, which was not forthcoming until another remittance of the usual amount, after months of delay and anxious waiting, at last brought the concluding act.

Then the play was rehearsed and produced. Result—failure. According to the Chicago Tribune, Miss Viola Allen's press agent announces that some time ago she scored a record for receipts at 24 successive performances in different cities of $1,000 per performance. Richard Mansfield's director of publicity announces that his box office statements read "like a Portland steamer." The press agent of David Belasco announces that he is to head the three and a half dramatist Richpin in his den by producing "Du Barry" in Paris. An unattached press agent announces that the total receipts of Miss Viola Allen, Miss Julia Marlowe and Mrs. Leslie Carter for the season will "come close to $1,000,000." Among the men who are mentioned in the principal scenes in the play, "L'Orango de Bergerac," Judge Kohlsaat entered the "order" which perpetually enjoins Richard Mansfield and A. M. Palmer from producing this drama or anything similar to it. The court also declared Mr. Gross is entitled to an accounting of the profits realized by the defendants in giving the play. Mrs. Gross, however, waived her rights to this and accepted $1 as satisfaction.

Vindication was what he wanted and he received it in full. His own dramatic production, "The Merchant of Venice," now has the approval of the French playright, and his aspiration for the balcony scene and other incidents of the play which was produced by Actor Mansfield. English musicians are looking forward to the production in London of Dr. Edgar's "Coronation Ode," which is written for solo, quartette, chorus, orchestra, and a military band. This performance should make all Yorkshire people resident in Victoria feel the fire of patriotism when it is made known to them that one hundred and sixty choristers forming part of the Sheffield Triennial Festival—the best in England—will be taken to London to sing the chorus section. Madame Melba has been engaged to sing the soprano part. Covent Garden opera house will be on its feet during coronation week. By request of Queen Alexandra, Jean de Reszke will sing; and the other notable singers include Mesdames Melba, Susan Adams, Sobrino and Calvé, and Messrs. Saleza, Van Dyck, Pacion, Bispham, Richard, Ed de Reszke and Scott. Numbers of people who have applied for boxes have been refused.

It is also gratifying to learn that the music to the services in Westminster Abbey on the day of coronation is taken from English sources, although at the opera there is German, Italian and French compositions, ignoring English operatic composers altogether.

Mr. Henry Irving has always been supposed to play only in the leading cities of the United States, but a London newspaper in telling a story places the scene of action in a wild western town. "I was playing Othello," says the then plain Mr. Irving, in Washington Territory, and my audience was composed of the most part of miners. "When we came to the handkerchief scene, where Othello demands the handkerchief from his wife Desdemona many times, I noticed that the people present were becoming exceedingly nervous. "About the third time the demand for the handkerchief was repeated a big shout in the rear of the theatre shouted: 'Wipe your nose on your sleeve, ye man, and get the play go on.'"

Berleham Tree's London production of "The Merry Wives of Windsor" with Ellen Terry and Mrs. Kendal as "Mrs. Page" and "Mrs. Ford" is awaited with extraordinary interest. It will be the first time in twenty years that either actress has played under a new management. "Their personal relations are said to be excellent. Mr. Tree tried to secure A. A. Robson with Ellen Terry as an ideal couple for the "Merry Wives," but Miss Rahan resists all inducements to reappear on the stage.

The Minneapolis Journal of May 20th, is authority for the following: "The creature, the calisthenic band-master, whose contortions have heretofore divided honors with the Royal Italian band, has severed his connection with you a piece that would make all eternally famous?"

Men, Don't Lose Your Grip!
DON'T ALLOW ALL THE FRESH YOUNG VIGOR TO GO OUT OF YOUR LIFE.
If you are losing the vigor of manhood and can see evidence, from day to day, that your physical system is going to decay, you should, in common justice to your future happiness, take steps to check the loss.
Don't make the mistake of thinking that this can't be done; it can and has been done in thousands of cases.
Don't deceive yourself into believing that it is natural for any man to thus exhaust his power.
Nature is appealing to you every moment to save yourself. The slight pains that you feel; the momentary spells of weakness; the periodical loss of memory, dulness of brain, drowsiness—all point to the necessity of curing yourself now. I have a positive cure.
By means of my Electric Belt I can make you as vigorous and manly as you were before your strength was wasted. You can enjoy life as you did in your younger years. You can arise in the morning refreshed by sleep and not as tired as when you went to bed. That weakness in the back and those "come and go" pains in the back and hips will be banished. A comfortable and restful sleep will be restored to your stomach and it will digest anything you wish to eat, and those sluggish bowels will become regular.
Your manly strength will not slip away from you, but will give place to a feeling of perfect manhood; in short, you will become a man among men, glad you are alive and ready for any and all of the duties of life.
DR. McLAUGHLIN'S ELECTRIC BELT
Is the grandest remedy of the age for building up wracked humanity. It fills the exhausted nerves and organs with the fire of life. It has a perfect regulator to control the current and belts. They are arranged for women as well as men, and cure female weakness.

THE FAMILY OF HAND.

BY GRACIA KASSON. The family of hand was a jolly old crowd. A handful of fingers, all clever and proud. 'Twas Thumb, Index Finger and Middle one tall; Then fourth was Ring Finger, outdoing them all. The last, Little Finger, stood there, don't you know; Five fingers, all sisters, all standing in a row. They played the piano, for all could play a week; (A musical family was hand, I must tell.) Their nails, they were polished and trimmed down so neat; They went to the Manicure once every week. Miss Thumb-inhored slowly with scissors all day; Third Finger wore thimble to sew with, they say. And Index, while threading the needles so tight; Complained Little Finger did nothing at all. Small Finger she laughed and she cried; "But for me You all would grow sullen and cross as could be. 'I make all the fun while you sew and you work; And then I am told I do nothing but shirk, grand. 'When on the piano you play I am there; And play all the high notes and carry the air. 'While Ring Finger is showing her diamonds I sing; A playing a tune just as hard as I can. 'But down in your heart you are grumbling, I see; Complaining they shift all the work on 'poor me.' So stitch away, Index, and cut away, Thumb. And push, Middle Finger, the needle along; You know very well you would be quite a sight To lose even we Little Finger to-night. For most of the work which is useful and grand Is done by the whole famous family of hand.

DAVY CROCKETT AND THE PANTHER

When Davy Crockett was on his way to San Antonio to fight for the independent one of Texas—in the year 1830—one night found him on the banks of the Navasota river and his horse broken with fatigue. What happened at this point will tell Davy. "Near the margin of the river a large tree had been blown down, and I thought of making my lair in its top. While leaning about the branches I heard a low growl, as much as to say, 'Stranger, these apartments are already taken.' Looking to see what sort of a bedfellow I was likely to have, I discovered an enormous Mexican cougar some five paces away. Rays of light darted from his large eyes. "One glance satisfied me there was no time to be lost. I fired. The ball struck him on the forehead and glanced off, doing little except infuriate him. He sprang at me, I jumped aside and hit him with the barrel of my rifle. He made at me again, and I drew my hunting knife, for I knew we must come to close quarters. He seized my left arm and began to tear the flesh, when I thrust my knife into his side. He let go. "Smarting with his wounds, he came at me again, and I pressed so close that in stepping backward my foot caught in a vine. I fell, and he was on me like a night hawk on a Junebug. He seized my right thigh, and, since the hinder part of his body was toward my face, I grabbed his tail with my left hand. "With my right I struck the knife into his side, and summoned all my strength to hurl him down the bank of the river. He resisted. At last I worked him to the very edge and he let his balance. He fell, but he dragged me with him. "Fortunately, at the bottom of the bank I found myself uppermost. I aimed a desperate blow at his neck. He struggled a few moments, and then his loosened strength told me I was saved. "I returned to the trot and made myself as comfortable as a bed as a weary man could ask for. Next morning 50 Comanches joined me, and some of the warriors discovered the body of the cougar and began skinning it. The chief noticed how many stabs were about it, and when I told him of my struggle, said: 'Brave hunter, brave man,' and wished to adopt me into his tribe, which honor I declined."

HOW DE OLE MAN WAS FOOLED.

An old negro, whom I recognized as Uncle Tom Bolling's "Jem," came slowly up to the porch where my wife and I were sitting. "Lover, Marse Charles," he said, taking off his hat and resting his stick and basket on the lower step. "Sars, yo, Mistis! Ye does bofe look mighty good dis hot day." "Thank, Marse, I believe I will rest dese here bones. I done bring yo a present, Marse Charles. Five ob de best, fattest, softest chickens my hen come, I will scratch up, sah." "Yes, sah, I'st right part for a ole man. Er—Marse Charles, sah, you couldn't please, sah, let me $5 for yo s'city. Yes, to he'd de ole man along, could ye, sah?" "James," I said sternly, "you know I never receive presents nor lend money. Take the chickens around to the kitchen and tell the cook to buy them." "Lordy! how ole I is gittin'," muttered James. "To think I done look yo for 30' pa when I ax yo dat question. A mighty free-handed gentleman he was, sah. Yes, sah, dey wa'n't nothin' mean nor little bout yo' pa." "James," put in my wife, by way of giving the conversation a new turn, "you must have a very good wife to raise such fine chickens for you." James reflected. "Well, Mistis," he said slowly, "she ain't so good now as she used to be. Norm, dat ole man, he's a 'low many have you had, James?" questioned my wife, with some amusement. "Wellum, dis one make fo'—yas'm, dis is de fofe one, Mistis. 'Tother three was all likely gals, 'n young, too, Yas'm, dey was, all young 'cep'n dis one, an' she's ole." "Why did you get such an old one?" asked my wife. "Why'd I git her, Mistis? She got me. She fool me, dat's hoccum. Yas'm, she fofe dis nigger good. 'Twas dis way: She were a widow 'oman wid one daughter, a mighty sprightly, light-complected gal. She fofe her pa, too, but de diffence betwixt 'em was in de youngness. 'I didn't want no ole 'oman a-groasin' 'n a-poinning 'toun' me wid de rheumatics in her joints. 'Naw, ma'am. So I jes' set right up to de daughter, yas'm, 'n she seem ter like de ole man right from de word go. Atter while I notice dat she her light de lamp when I come in ter see her in de ebening's." "N'm! She says she like de fire light best, so I say I likes de fire light, too, 'n she fofe like to be miled jes' by de fire light, 'n like a ole fool I say, 'Dat suits me, honey, 'kase my sedit' an' nose-see good noway, spite ob dese heal' hon' spees Marse Tom gib me 'fore he died, 'n I ain' keer 'bout de bride seem 'n blinkin' in de light like a owl. No! So I say, 'Dat suits me, honey.' "Well, Mistis, to make de short story long, ez de sayin' is, when de paison 'low back de well for to 'kute de bride, one-oh-dee-bee-fo' de niggers on the plantation hit a pine knot 'n he'd it up in front ob her, an', Mistis—wid mos' all my eyesight gone, I seen 'twas dat gal's ma dat was de bride. "Sah! de perse' 'twas come a-poin' out me same ez if 'twas watermillin' time, an' I ain't a'cut sweeten' yet. Aye, Lord!" "Thanky, my Marster, des a little drap. It sho' do make de ole man thuy'ter to tell dat tale." CALLY RYLAND.

PADS OF A GRAND DUKE.

The Grand Duke of Hesse is almost ladylike in his tastes. He cultivates skilfully, and is never so happy as when busy with his needle over some piece of fancy work, spending more time over the arrangement of an attractive design and the selection of striking color than probably he would think necessary to devote to his affairs of state. As a child he was particularly musical, playing the piano really well and having a remarkably correct ear. He composed several instrumental pieces which are declared to be well above the average. Among his fads are carpentry and upholstery, and he has founded classes for the study of both trades, hoping to make Darmstadt a centre for the production of novelties in cabinet making.

INSANITY.

The earliest known historical reference to insanity occurs in Egypt papyri of the fifteenth century B. C. In one of these, according to Manetho, music is spoken of as employed in the treatment of insanity, and many formulae are given for the cure of diseases caused by an evil spirit dwelling within the body. Probably the next earliest record is that found in Hebrew history, referring to the same therapeutic agent, this time used to calm the troubled spirit of Saul, (1055 B. C.) In the first book of Samuel, we are told: "When the evil spirit was upon Saul, that David took a harp and played with his hand; so Saul was refreshed and was well, and the evil spirit departed from him." The legendary history of Greece furnishes numerous instances of madness, but as to the treatment, in these early times there is only silence. The belief in demoniacal possession was prevalent among all primitive peoples, furnishing a clue for such treatment as was anywhere attempted, and this belief, going way a few centuries later to a partial realization of the physical basis of insanity in the best medical minds, re-appears again in the darkness and degeneracy of the middle ages, but magnified and rendered terrible by the ignorance and dread superstitions of the time. In ancient Egypt, demons were exorcised and lunatics purified in temples dedicated to Saturn. The god Khons is said to have answered prayers for the cure of an Asiatic Princess. The priests of Egypt, who were also physicians of the day, were not unmindful of the benefit of hygienic measures, and combined with them the charm of music and the influence of the beautiful in nature and in art.—The Popular Science Monthly.

WHAT YOU MEAN BY KEEPING ME

What do you mean by keeping me standing outside here like an idiot? said he, as she emerged from the dry goods store after an hour's absence. "I can't help it, my dear, you stand," replied she with a woman's wit, as she halted a passing car. There are at present more miles of horse car lines in New York city than in all the rest of the country combined. The mileage in the metropolis is 110; in the rest of the United States, 107.

There Is Hope For Even Such As Have Glimpses of the Dark Valley.

PAINE'S CELERY COMPOUND

THE MEDICINE THAT SAVES LIFE AND RESTORES LOST HEALTH. A merciful Providence still keeps the spark of life in thousands of wasted and feeble bodies. The bitter, flickering spark will burn with increased power as the hot days of summer approach. There is still hope for even those who are now catching glimpses of the dark valley. The use of Paine's Celery Compound during the month of June will at once arrest the progress of wasting disease. It will strengthen the weak and inflamed nerves, rid the body of morbid waste material, make the blood pure and give healthy action to the stomach, liver and kidneys. Nervousness, sleeplessness, rheumatism, neuralgia, liver and kidney troubles quickly vanish when Dr. Paine's marvellous prescription is used. Mrs. A. Perry, Port Maitland, N. S., says: "For two years my system was all run down, and I suffered more than I can describe from nervous prostration and indigestion; at times I almost lost my reason from severe pain at base of the brain. My husband advised me to try Paine's Celery Compound, which I did, and the effects were wonderful. I soon began to sleep well, the pain left my head, my whole system was strengthened, and I am now enjoying very good health."

THE BANANA.

The banana was named musa after Antonius Musa, the freedman and physician of the great Augustus of the Romans, says Idmonus. The sapient name is given to it as the "wise man's" food, for, incredible as it may seem, it is perhaps the best food-product of the earth, being far more productive than either wheat or potatoes—the staple food of other nations. Long ago it was calculated that it is 133 times as productive as wheat and 34 times as productive as the potato; in other words, that the ground that would give 33 pounds of wheat or 10 pounds of potatoes would, as far as mere space is concerned, give 4,000 pounds of bananas, and with a fractional amount of the same trouble. It has been called the "Prince of the Tropics," because it is the same place, only to an even greater degree, in these hot countries that wheat, rice and barley take in West Asia and Europe, and that rice takes in India and China.—Longman's Magazine.

Over 7,000,000 Bales were caught on the Maine coast last year.

DOMINION OF CANADA

SYNOPSIS OF REGULATIONS

For Disposal of Minerals on Dominion Lands in Manitoba, the Northwest Territories, and the Yukon Territory.

COAL. Coal lands may be purchased at $10.00 per acre for soft coal, and $20.00 for anthracite. Not more than 320 acres can be acquired by one individual or company. Royalty at such rate as may from time to time be specified by Order in Council shall be collected on the gross output.

QUARTZ. Persons of eighteen years and over and joint-stock companies holding Free Miner's Certificates may obtain entry for a mining location.

A Free Miner's Certificate is granted for one or more years, not exceeding five, upon payment in advance of $10.00 per annum for an individual, and from $50.00 to $100.00 per annum for a company, according to capital.

A Free Miner having discovered a mineral in place may locate a claim 1,000, 1,500 feet by marking out the same with two legal posts, bearing location notices, one at each end on the line of the vein or lode.

The claim shall be recorded within fifteen days if located within ten miles of a Mining Recorder's Office, one additional day allowed for every additional ten miles or fraction. The fee for recording a claim is $5.00.

At least $100.00 must be expended on the claim each year or paid to the Mining Recorder in lieu thereof. When $500.00 has been expended or paid the locator may, upon complying with other requirements, purchase the land at $1.00 an acre.

Permission may be granted by the Minister of the Interior to locate claims containing iron and mica, in the Yukon Territory, of an area not exceeding five acres.

The patent for a mining location shall provide for the payment of royalty on the PLACER MINING, MANITOBA AND THE NORTH-WEST TERRITORIES.

Three mining claims generally are 100 feet wide, entry fee $5.00, renewable yearly. On the North-West Territory, river claims are either bar or beach, the former being a strip of land extending between a river and low water mark, the latter being a strip of land extending back to a hill or bank, but not exceeding 1,000 feet. Where a claim is used, claims 200 feet wide may be obtained.

DREDGING IN THE RIVERS OF MANITOBA AND THE NORTH-WEST TERRITORIES. A Free Miner may obtain only two leases of five miles each for a term of twenty years, renewable in ten years.
