VICTORIA, B. C., SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 11, 1922

ARTHUR LINEHAM'S RESIGNATION FILED

Informing Mayor Health Necessitates Retirement

Plan By-election and Racing Plebiscite

Alderman Arthur Lineham's resignation as a member of the City Council was laid before Mayor Marchant this morning and shortly afterwards the council commenced to make preliminary preparations for holding a by-election to fill Mr. Lineham's Council seat.

"I beg herewith to tender my resignation as member of the Victoria City Council," said Mr. Lineham's letter of resignation. "It is with feelings of intense regret that I take this step, but I have no option in the matter as I am acting on the advice of my physician.

"Wishing you every success in solving the difficult situation which confronts you.

"Yours sincerely,

"ARTHUR LINEHAM."

The by-election to replace Mr. Lineham probably may not be held for some weeks yet. The Council, however, feels that the vacant seat should be filled with as little delay as possible.

The plan most favored now is that a by-election and a plebiscite on the horse racing question should be held at the same time. The Council has been unable so far to reach any decision on racing itself and it is probable that a majority of aldermen would favor a plebiscite on the question.

Merchants Against Racing.

The movement against horse racing appears to be gaining strength outside the City Hall. The Executive of the Retail Merchants' Association decided last night to ask the City Council to ban race track gambling at the Willows and to urge the Oak Bay Council to refuse to recognize any association which proposed to conduct gambling in connection with racing in the municipality. The Association will refer to the City Council that it should insert in the B. C. Agricultural Association's lease of the Willows Park a clause prohibiting racing in connection with which gambling is conducted. The Association asserts that experience has shown that race meets here in the past have taken large sums of money out of the city, and that the retail trade has suffered as a result.

TWO CHICAGO YOUNGSTERS HEADED FOR HOLLYWOOD

Chicago, Feb. 11.—Solomon Fink read aloud to his family last night newspaper dispatches describing diamonds and automobiles owned by the motion picture folk at Hollywood. Two hours later a patrolman found Herman Fink, five, and Mollie Fink, four, a neighbor's child, wandering hand in hand through the Northwestern Railway station. Changing the old time tale, "We are going west to shoot Indians," the children told the patrolman, "We are going to Hollywood, where all the rich people are."

IRISH PRISONERS IN ENGLAND ARE BEING RELEASED

London, Feb. 11.—The Colonial Office announced to-day that pursuant to authority granted by the British Cabinet, steps were being taken to release the prisoners who were taken into custody for offences committed in England from Irish political motives prior to the Irish truce.

The cases of past offenders as well as all cases in which the offenders were members of the British forces will be subject to further and individual consideration, says the announcement.

EAST KOOTENAY BY-ELECTION SET

Writ Probably Will Be Issued To-day

Federal Minister of Public Works Candidate

Ottawa, Feb. 11.—The writ for the by-election in East Kootenay probably will be issued to-day. The date of the by-election is believed to be a meeting of the Cabinet late yesterday, but announcement of it was withheld pending approval by the Governor-General, who is not in the city. As the law requires that at least thirty days must elapse between the issuance of writs and the holding of an election, the East Kootenay date probably will be toward the end of the second or during the third week of March.

Whether or not Hon. J. H. King, Minister of Public Works, will be opposed in East Kootenay is not known here.

Robert Beattie, member-elect for the riding, accepted an appointment to the income tax branch of the Finance Department at Vancouver, thus creating the vacancy.

ESQUIMALT DRYDOCK LIKELY TO GO ON, OTTAWA REPORTS

Vancouver, Feb. 11.—The Hon. J. H. King, Minister of Public Works, and officials of the Department, are making a thorough investigation into the drydock question on the Pacific Coast, says a special dispatch from Ottawa to The Vancouver Daily World.

The matter will be placed before the Cabinet in a few days in the form of a report. It is believed that there is good prospect of both propositions at Vancouver and Victoria going ahead. The World correspondent says after what he learned at Dr. King's Department.

UTAH SENATOR'S MOVE IS A JOKE

Premier King Smiles at Territory Proposal

No Thought of Giving Away Any Area

Ottawa, Feb. 11.—The attitude of Premier King towards the proposal of the Province of Quebec to give a portion of Quebec to the United States in exchange for a portion of the Province of Ontario, is a joke of a century, is evidently the attitude of the Federal Government. When Ministers were shown the proposal of the United States Senator, Premier King merely smiled.

A Washington dispatch said Senator King of Utah, who yesterday introduced a resolution in the United States Senate looking to acquisition of the Province of Quebec, did not seriously expect that Uncle Sam would accede to the project as a result of his move. To Canadian Press correspondent in an interview last night he admitted that he was prompted by his opposition to the move to introduce the resolution. The move of the Utah Senator, as understood in Washington, is intended merely to put obstacles in the way of a more serious proposal. He is seriously thought that Canada could be induced to give up a rich slice of Quebec. The resolution is generally stated, has practically no chance of being adopted by the Senate. It is merely a spectacular way of advancing the argument that if the United States enters the project it will be paying half the cost of work which will be largely outside United States territory.

Men Kidnapped In Ireland Are Being Held Till Next Week

None Set Free Yet, Say Reports From Border; Ulster Premier Says British Government Promised Four More Battalions of Troops.

Belfast, Feb. 11.—Reports received here to-day from the Ulster border said none of the captives taken in this week's kidnappings would be freed before next week.

These reports said the Ulster special constables and the contingents of the "Irish Republican Army" were watching each other like hawks across the Fermanagh-Monaghan line. Policing to-day was so rigid that business was suspended.

The border special constables were halting every passing vehicle at Newtown Butler and Ross Lea, while a few miles away at Clones the "Republican Army" was doing the same thing.

MAN WAS TAKEN AFTER LONG CHASE

Arrested in Mexico; Prince Rupert Murder Charge

San Francisco, Feb. 11.—The old case that the Royal Canadian Mounted Police always get their man's true in the case of Sergeant M. M. Stevens, who arrived in San Francisco yesterday, charged with the murder of Prince Rupert, B.C., was taken north by another Canadian constable to-day.

The chase for the fugitive led across Canada, through the Atlantic coast states from Maine to Florida and hence to New Orleans and into Mexico, according to Sergeant Stevens, who plans to rest here several days before returning to his station in British Columbia.

Merchants Prepare for City's Largest Dollar Day

Winter Excursion to City Feature of Most Pretentious Bargain Day Ever Held; Next Saturday Is Date Set.

The greatest and best dollar day ever held in Victoria is the aim of the retail merchants of the city, who have completed all plans for the holding of special bargain sales on Saturday next, February 18.

The scheme embraces not only the city but the whole of Saanich Peninsula and the Island as far north as Chemainus. The co-operation of the Esquimalt and Nanaimo Railway Company and the British Columbia Electric Railway has been secured, and special rates for the week-end will be given.

The enterprise of the Victoria merchants will go a long way toward securing support from the people of the outlying districts. There will be many people visiting the city next Saturday who have not spent a day here for some time. The affair will not only prove a success in a business way, but it will go a long way toward giving Victoria a lot of good publicity.

Value Giving.

The merchants generally have laid themselves out to demonstrate value giving. There will also be very special displays for the occasion, not only showing bargains but also showing early Spring merchandise.

The retailers are going into this year's dollar day with the purpose of demonstrating to the public generally that their dollar will buy infinitely more than it would two months ago and, in comparison with peak prices, the difference will be particularly noticeable.

Next Saturday all roads will lead to Victoria. A winter excursion to the capital is something new and the merchants of the city are to be commended on their enterprise in arranging such an affair.

Dates From 1914.

The first Dollar Day held in Victoria was in July, 1914. Crowds thronged the stores in search of the many little articles needed. It was a case of a dollar spent being a dollar earned. It did not take the public long to fall in with the idea and each successive year the merchants felt justified in making special reductions for the annual event.

During the war period, when high prices prevailed, the general public felt it a little more difficult to avail themselves of the opportunities offered by the Dollar Day Sales, but now that prices are rapidly readjusting themselves, and the merchants are making even greater efforts to give the fullest value for every dollar spent, the Dollar Day will be looked upon with increasing favor by the buying public.

Cordial Invitation.

The extension of the scheme to include a winter excursion indicates the enterprise of the local merchants and the fact that the Dollar Day next Saturday, in future greater co-operation between the merchants, and the purchaser is what is desired, and the fact that the Dollar Day will be held in houses carry the latest stocks in all classes of goods. Victoria has frequently been complimented by the extension of the scheme to include the outlying districts of the local business houses, and the neat and attractive appearance of the business section.

SAN FRANCISCO MAN OUT OF WORK KILLED HIMSELF

San Francisco, Feb. 11.—James F. Bradley, fifty, walked into a cafe to-day, ordered a meal and then collapsed and died as the food was being placed on the table. A letter in his pocket said:

"I have committed suicide by poison because I was out of work and too proud to beg."

LITTLE PROGRESS IN TAYLOR CASE

Witnesses, Including Miss M. Normand, Questioned

New Clue Followed Up in Los Angeles

Los Angeles, Feb. 11.—Tired investigators took a rest during the early business hours to-day and there was little admitted progress in the investigation into the killing here last week of William Desmond Taylor, motion picture director. During the morning two deputy sheriffs left their offices hastily on a mission which other deputies said had resulted from an apparently new clue bearing on the theory of the officers that Taylor's death was the result of jealousy.

District Attorney Woolwine telephoned from his home that he was resting and would be down shortly before lunch time. He was in his office until midnight last night, engaged with various witnesses, including Miss Mabel Normand, actress.

Other investigators were marking time until Mr. Woolwine appeared.

An Arrest.

Los Angeles, Feb. 11.—Whether an arrest made by two police detectives here last night will prove to be the first arrest here in connection with the murder of William Desmond Taylor, twenty-five years old, who was born in Oakland and had been in Los Angeles for some time, was taken into custody shortly before midnight and booked at the city jail on charges of carrying a concealed weapon and suspicion of burglary.

Cap.

During examination of Mabel Normand by District Attorney Woolwine, four police detectives took to the conference a cap reported to have been worn by Taylor at the time of his arrest, indicating a possible connection with the Taylor case.

The arrest was not discussed by any investigators of the Taylor case.

Information.

Los Angeles, Feb. 11.—Three discrepancies reported to have been made in the investigation following the murder of William Desmond Taylor, motion picture director. One was to the effect that a woman, other than Mrs. Dorothy M. Leary, had been found who saw a man lurking behind bushes near Taylor's home at the time Taylor was escorting Mabel Normand, film star, to her car. Another was an admission by the police that they had learned Taylor had another safety deposit box in a Los Angeles bank, which is believed to contain his will.

A third, and one regarded by detectives working on the case as of great importance, relates to a new admirer of Miss Normand. This man, said to be the son of a very wealthy man, was reported to have won $200,000 from William Thaw of Pittsburgh, although both denied the story.

For the last two years he had been in Havana, trying to enter this country. His attorneys' letter said he left a substantial estate in Havana and London.

A Reward.

When he arrived on the steamship Majestic from England in 1905, the passengers presented him with a loving cup for refraining from card playing during the voyage.

He broke into the headlines at the time of the Titanic disaster, when he was reported in the press on both sides of the ocean that he had escaped in a lifeboat by disguising himself as a woman. Judge Huber, a member of the court, in an interview with an Associated Press correspondent, his first public declaration on the subject since his arrival here to-day. Judge Huber emphasized that the new court lacked all-round compulsory jurisdiction and could only act when the litigant states agreed to submit their disputes to it. To this end he said it was essential that public opinion bring pressure to bear on the parliaments of the several countries so that the latter would adopt this course of settlement.

Patience Needed.

Judge Didrick Nyholm, of Denmark, in connection with the opening of the new court, called attention to the fact that the United States Supreme Court, while established in 1870, only became operative three years later. "It may take the International Court even longer," he said, "but patience must not be lost."

GENOA DECISION POSTPONED BY U.S.

Acceptance of Invitation Being Discussed

Attitude of France Cause of Uncertainty

Washington, Feb. 11.—The attitude of France towards the proposed economic and financial conference at Genoa next month has resulted in further postponing the decision of this Government on the invitation to participate. It was learned to-day in official circles, The White House announced last Tuesday that the Government reply to the invitation was to have been made public to-day.

The request of Premier Poincare of France that the conference be postponed at least three months for more careful advance preparations, it was understood, was received here to-day and caused a flurry in diplomatic circles. Later the State Department denied that the proposal had been received.

Conferred.

Secretary Hughes conferred at length with President Harding after the regular Cabinet meeting, and it was understood the economic conference was discussed.

The belief prevailed that the action of the French Premier had forestalled any reply from this country to Italy's invitation.

It was said a conference with France absent would be virtually no conference, and in some circles the belief was expressed that no action would be taken on the invitation of Italy at this time.

Turkey.

Constantinople, Feb. 11.—The Sublime Porte has received a reply to the Turkish representations to the Allies concerning the failure to invite Turkey to the Genoa Economic Conference. The fact that Turkey is an Asiatic power, and also is a belligerent country at present is given as the reasons for her exclusion.

BRITISH CATTLE BARRED FROM SOUTH AFRICA

London, Feb. 11.—Importation of livestock from the United Kingdom was prohibited by the Department of Agriculture of the Union of South Africa, owing to the outbreak of foot and mouth disease here.

W. J. (Doc) Owens Operated on Atlantic Liners

New York, Feb. 11.—News reached New York to-day of the death in Havana on January 14 of W. J. (Doc) Owens, a notorious old-time gambler, considered one of the most expert card manipulators of his time. He fell down stairs in a hotel and died shortly afterwards.

Gambler here says his equal never lived. He operated mainly on trans-Atlantic liners until the steamship companies barred him from sailing in 1905. He was reported to have won $200,000 from William Thaw of Pittsburgh, although both denied the story.

For the last two years he had been in Havana, trying to enter this country. His attorneys' letter said he left a substantial estate in Havana and London.

A Reward.

When he arrived on the steamship Majestic from England in 1905, the passengers presented him with a loving cup for refraining from card playing during the voyage.

WOMEN OPPOSE PROHIBITION LAW

New York Women's Democratic Club Votes

New York, Feb. 11.—Only one woman out of more than thirty stood up to-day at a meeting of the Women's Democratic Club when the chairman called for a rising vote of those in favor of prohibition.

The vote followed an attack on the Volstead law by Miss Elizabeth Marbury, only woman member in this state of the Democratic National Committee. She declared it was her belief that the prohibition law never would be observed and that fully eighty per cent. of the people of New York violated the Volstead law continuously.

Beer and Wine.

"We women," she said, "would never advocate the return of the unrestricted corner saloon, but we have got to do something. We know that the Volstead law is not being observed and I throw down my gauntlet here and say it never will be observed. I clamor here and now for a provision that will give us light wines and beer."

Miss Marbury said she had been informed by welfare workers that drug addicts had increased since the Volstead law was made effective and that the workers were always hopeful about curing intemperance but less hopeful about curing drug addiction.

Mrs. George H. Childs, president of the club, then called for a vote, declaring she did not think anyone took the law seriously.

TREATIES BEFORE U.S. COMMITTEE

Senators Consider International Conference Pacts

Early Ratification Suggested by Harding

Washington, Feb. 11.—The treaties resulting from the Washington Conference were to-day before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, which had been called in special session by its chairman, Senator Lodge of Massachusetts, to consider them.

Together with the treaties, the Foreign Relations Committee had before it the report of the American delegation to the Washington Conference. This report, along with the treaties, was presented to the Senate late yesterday by President Harding, who asked ratification of the new pacts without delay in order that the professed desire of the United States to rid the world of war might not become a "hollow mockery."

Four-Power Pact.

No definite programs for consideration of the Four-Power and other treaties was agreed upon to-day by the committee. There was no demand for a hearing, however, and Senators said they probably would be dispensed with.

The Four-Power Treaty was taken up first to-day by mutual consent, it was said.

V.I.A. GIRLS DEFEAT HIGH SCHOOL JUNIORS

The V. I. A. ladies were the victors for the second time against the Victoria ladies' basketball league game played at the High School gym last night. In the first game last January the V. I. girls won by two points, but last night in a very closely contested game, their superior shooting was responsible for a substantial victory by eight points. The first half of the game was very slow, every one checked hard, and neither team seemed willing to take an offensive stand. The score stood two to one in favor of the V. I. at the end of the first half. At the resumption of play, however, the V. I. girls broke away and some fast play resulted. The High girls had real hard luck in their shooting, while the V. I. girls were successful in putting in four baskets, making the final score 10 to 2. Colin McFayden refereed. The teams lined up as follows: High School Juniors: forwards, Kathleen Wellburn, Blossom Barnett, centre, Jeanette McQueen; guards, Dorothy Bassett, Jessie Stott. V. I. A.—Forwards, Gladys Elliott, Una Shakespeare, Leo Dalziel; centre, Mrs. Davies; guards, Doris Humber and Mrs. Wallace.

Fort Worth, Tex., Feb. 11.—Jim Flynn, of Pueblo, the only man ever credited with knocking out Jack Dempsey, was to-day searching for leeches to relieve the swelling around both of his eyes, as the result of a terrific beating administered him last night by Carl Morris of Tulsa, Okla., the original white hope. The bout went ten rounds. Morris toyed with the veteran, trying only once for a knockout. He said after the fight that the beating he gave Flynn was in retaliation for a similar lacing he received more than ten years ago when he started in quest of the heavyweight title.

SAANICH VOTERS AGAIN AT POLLS Morning Polling Indicates Good Vote in Inner Wards

Saanich electors are to-day registering their votes for Reeve, with George F. Watson seeking re-election over Councilor Francis Simpson. In addition, there is a by-election for one school trustee, with a one-year term at stake, this being continued by retiring Trustee A. E. Hull, John Cheetham and William Stubbs. In Ward Seven, where much of the verbal fireworks have originated, there is also a contest for the Councilorship, Thomas Dooley having to fight for the seat, this time against James W. Fullbrook. Despite the dull morning, the turnout to the polls in the inner wards has been excellent. In Ward Seven more than fifty votes were cast in the first two hours, with a strong rush developing after midday.

The first hour after polls opened was marked by great activity at the Simpson headquarters in the Douglas Hotel, this subsiding after 10 o'clock, with but little happening until the afternoon rush commenced. At the Watson campaign rooms at 608 Cormorant Street there was a lesser opening rush, but voters were personally demanding transportation and making appointments with little rest for the workers from the first opening of the doors until after luncheon. Councillor Simpson closed his campaign for the Reeveship of Saanich with an address to the organized unemployed of the municipality, delivered at the conclusion of their meeting at St. Mark's Hall.

Reeve Watson last night, at Tillamook School, addressed the only meeting called in his interest during the second Reeveship contest. He was met by one of the largest audiences ever collected in the school, and shared platform honors with Thomas Dooley and J. W. Fullbrook, Council candidates for Ward Seven, and School Trustee candidates Hull, Stubbs and Cheetham. Good humor was generally in evidence, Mr. Dooley being cheered when he remarked that the election was obviously the work of an irreconcilable clique, as proven by the acclamation accorded most candidates. "The only poor ducks left out in the storm are the Reeve and myself," he noted.

Appetite Good, Gained 20 lbs. Could Not Feel Better

From a nervous wreck this man was restored to health, strength and happiness. He tells his own story in this letter. Mr. Ralph A. Roberts, Loverna, Sask., writes: "In 1917 I had lost all appetite, felt very nervous and shaky and in fact given up all hope of recovery. For some time I had suffered from constipation, which kept getting worse, until I was fast becoming a total wreck. Doctors and their drugs were sending me to my grave at the age of 39. "Then I read about people being restored by Dr. Chase's Medicines and after three months' use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food and Kidney-Liver Pills I found that my bowels were restored to normal movement each day and the constipation was no more. I had a good appetite, had gained 20 pounds and could not feel better. I shall always be grateful for these benefits."

Stone Age---

THE knowledge of Bread's great nourishing powers is not new, but old as man himself. Even back in the Stone Age, mankind depended principally on flour and Bread. Not tender, nutritious bread like Shelly's 4X Bread, but flat "loaves" made from wheat and barley coarsely ground on stones. Yet to make their poor stuff took the Stone Age women not merely hours but days! The tenderness, rich flavor and beautiful appearance of Shelly's 4X Bread, the pure high quality ingredients that make it true energy food—and, above all, the time it saves for Mothers—indicate the forward march of civilization. For health, for freedom from needless toil, for enjoyment, for economy eat Shelly's 4X Bread; eat it at every meal.

SCENE OF BURIAL

Shackleton Funeral to Be Held on Island

Montevideo, Feb. 11.—The British whaling supply steamer Woodville will leave Montevideo next Wednesday after taking on board the body of Sir Ernest Shackleton, the British explorer, for burial on South Georgia Island, the gateway to the Antarctic Ocean. This was announced today by Captain Hussey of the exploration steamer Quest, on board which Shackleton died off South Georgia Island January 5 and which brought the body to Montevideo. The Uruguayan Government had offered to convey the body on the Uruguayan training ship 18-De Julio but Captain Hussey pointed out that ice fields undoubtedly would be encountered north of South Georgia Island and requested the Government not to take the risk of navigating the training ship through the southern waters. The British Minister has informed Foreign Minister Buero that the burial of Sir Ernest on South Georgia Island will be in accordance with the wishes of Lady Shackleton, to whom her husband had frequently said that if he should die on one of his voyages he would prefer to be laid to rest in the Antarctic regions.

BIG MOOSE SHOT IN NEW BRUNSWICK

Antlers Had Spread of Sixty-four Inches

Fredericton, N. B., Feb. 11.—(Canadian Press)—While the complete official statistics for the big game hunting season of 1921 have not yet been completed and issued there seems to be general agreement among those conversant with New Brunswick hunting matters that the honor of killing the moose with antlers having the record spread of the season goes to Lewis Hawkins, of Philadelphia, Pa. The Philadelphia seems to have beaten all visiting sportsmen as well as the resident hunters when he killed a bull moose in October while hunting in the territory of Guide Charles Chemin, of Fredericton. This is located on the Nepisiguit headwaters, in the northern part of the Province, and the season's record moose had antlers spreading 64 inches. While this was the record head for 1921, it was eight inches smaller than the biggest head ever taken out of the New Brunswick woods, for the records show that L. Russell, a resident hunter of the North Shore district of the Province, killed a moose four years ago with antlers spreading an even six feet—72 inches. That the headwaters of the Nepisiguit is the territory the record heads come from is evident from the fact that this record-for-all time moose was killed within a few miles of where Mr. Hawkins got his 1921 record trophy. But that is not all. The record spread of antlers taken by a non-resident hunter in New Brunswick is 68½ inches, which was the measurement of a moose killed in 1907 by Dr. Monroe, of Providence, R. I., and he got his in the same place. So did Dr. Stickney, of Atlantic City, N. J., who killed a bull moose with antlers spreading 66 inches a few years ago, thus being a close second for the record of non-resident hunters in New Brunswick.

RAIN-MAKERS

C. M. Hatfield Will Not Operate in South Alberta

Medicine Hat, Alta., Feb. 11.—"Rain-maker" Charles M. Hatfield will not operate in the Dry Belt of Southern Alberta next Summer, N. J. is authoritatively stated by the secretary of the United Agricultural Association. The executive entered into no arrangements with Hatfield in regard to further operations, and the report circulated last Fall to the effect that the rain-maker was to be re-engaged is without foundation. It is either a matter of fact or drought conditions prevailed in the section of Alberta which he was supposed to reach to as great if not a greater extent than in the previous years.

Rome, Feb. 11.—Pope Pius today received Cardinal Daugherty, of Philadelphia, in private audience greeting him most cordially and expressing the regret felt by the entire College of Cardinals that his American members had been unable to reach Rome in time for the election of the new Pope. His Holiness told Cardinal Daugherty it was a great pleasure to become personally acquainted with him after having learned of and admired his work as the Cardinal, which had contributed so greatly to the welfare of the Church in the United States.

WANT TO FIND GOLD?
Brewer Tells Things Prospectors Should Know

Resident Mining Engineer under the Hon. William Sloan, Minister of Mines for British Columbia, who is concentrating on Trying to Stimulate Interest in the Opportunities for Wealth in the Development of the Mineral Deposits of This Province.

(By William M. Brewer)

Scientific investigation pursues in general the following course: A phenomenon or some extraordinary occurrence is observed and studied as carefully as possible. Thereupon an explanation is sought, involving a hypothesis or proposition assumed or taken for granted is set up, to be used as a premise in proving something else. From this, conclusions can be formed, some of which can be tested by experiment. The latter is the most important and expected results the hypothesis gains in probability. If it is later found to explain and stick together a whole series of phenomena it becomes a theory. The chemical process that goes on when copper is heated in air is well known. In other words prospecting and geology before he is competent to graduate in any University or School of Mines, that is, he should be absolutely possible for me in the course of four addresses to attempt to impart to you any more than the elements of these sciences. All I can possibly do is to interest you in the subjects to which I am alluding, and to give you your interest and induce you to further study.

Chemistry Base of All. In order, though, to prospect systematically, it is well that you should understand the relationship that these sciences have towards prospecting and mining. Chemistry is the root or base of mineralogy for the reason that all the minerals are made up of the chemical elements or combinations of these elements. The four sciences, chemistry, geology, lithology, study of rocks; and geology, study of the structure of the earth, are likened to a tree—chemistry to the root or butt of the tree, mineralogy, lithology and geology forming the branches.

Chemistry, the base or root, for the reason that it starts with the primary elements themselves indivisible. An elementary body consists of a simple substance that cannot be analyzed. These elements form the substances of which the earth is composed and among these substances are the minerals in which you are interested. Having this knowledge we are enabled to learn how to distinguish one mineral from another, and to know the value of what they are composed of and to be able to form an estimate as to whether they are worth the commercial value. The study of minerals is called mineralogy and this subject should be studied following the study of chemistry. It is considered the first branch from the butt of the tree.

Lithology Next. From mineralogy we climb to the next branch, the study of rocks, which is known as lithology. Rocks are nothing more than groupings together of distinct minerals, for example, granite is the name for the groupings of quartz, feldspar (orthoclase) and mica. Before we could say a sample of rock was granite we would have to be able to recognize the minerals of which it is made up—hence the necessity of a study of mineralogy.

Having learned chemistry, mineralogy and lithology we are able to climb to the topmost branch known as geology. In the laboratory the chemist can take these minerals and combine them in the same proportions, and by electric current split it up into hydrogen and oxygen.

Down to Atoms. The smallest unit into which an element can be divided is called an "atom," and the atom of each element is of a different weight; all this has been determined by centuries of experimentation. As an example, the atom of hydrogen being the lightest of known elements, is taken as our unit of atomic weight and is called "1," whereas an atom of oxygen is sixteen times as heavy and we say it has an atomic weight of sixteen.

Now strangely enough, in forming water for example, these two elements always unite in exactly the same proportions, namely two atoms of hydrogen with one atom of oxygen, and the result is a molecule of water, which is H₂O. This is called "the law of constant combination," and holds good for all minerals, etc.

Now I have told you the atomic weight of "H" is one, and atomic weight of "O" is sixteen, so if we were dealing with the proportionate weight of these two elements in water, we would have eight parts as much oxygen by weight as we do of hydrogen.

Iron and Sulphur. This simple example illustrates the principle I wish to point out, and you will find this same principle applies right through with all the minerals; as the commonest mineral, which is FeS₂, and you know that this means one atom of iron (Fe) and two atoms of sulphur. Now from the table of elements you will see that the atom of iron (Fe) weighs fifty-six, and an atom of sulphur weighs thirty-two. So by weight iron pyrites is composed of fifty-six units of iron and sixty-four (32 x 2) units of sulphur.

Some Pure Combinations. The following are examples of constant chemical combinations: A pure sample of galena is a combination of lead and sulphur in the proportion of 86.6 per cent. lead to 13.4 per cent. sulphur. A pure sample of chalcocite is a combination of copper, iron and sulphur in the proportion of 24.6 per cent. copper to 34.3 per cent. sulphur to 30.5 per cent. iron.

Government is prepared to add to its difficult task at this stage by taking the very course that would probably inflame the irconcilable more than anything else. None the less it is not to be supposed for one moment that the Non-Co-operationist Leader will be permitted to play battle-drum and shuttlecock with constituted authority for an indefinite period.

REVELSTOKE.

If the Leader of the Opposition imagines for one minute that the Liberals of Victoria have any sort of doubt about the result of the Revelstoke by-election he may just as well cure himself of the feeling before it lands him into further prophecies about the defeat of the newly-appointed Minister of Public Works.

AN ELASTIC PLAN.

Until the British Government consents to the publication of full details of its proposals in respect of state-aided emigration within the Empire the authorities in this country will have to be content with Mr. Winston Churchill's intimation that the proposed bill for the consideration of Parliament will be as elastic as possible in order to meet the views of the Dominion Governments.

LETTERS

Letters addressed to the Editor and intended for publication must be short and legibly written. The longer an article the shorter the chance of insertion. All addresses of the writer, but not for publication unless the owner wishes. The publication or rejection of articles is a matter entirely in the discretion of the Editor. No responsibility is assumed by the paper for mail submitted to the Editor.

"HISTORY REPEATS ITSELF."

To the Editor.—In regard to M. J. Fire Wilson's letter in yesterday's "Times" and his reference to Hamilton's Dictionary of Musical Terms, I am not a musical authority, but studied music in England at a time when this was a both narrow and short-sighted view, but one can appreciate the dislike felt against the use of German terms and instructions. Of course, in the case of music published in Germany only it was unavoidable, but a bit more of the same. Take Rink Organ School, for instance; until V. T. Best's edition appeared I never saw a copy except it had German terms and what does "Mit Starke Stimmen" convey to an Englishman? The equivalent Italian he would at once understand, however little he had learned. I do not think that at that time there was any prejudice against German, in itself, but rather the reverse, if only on account of the splendid achievements of that nation's composers and artists. In crossing the Atlantic I made the acquaintance of a famous violinist, and he told me that as a boy he was a Russian—he played in public in England under a German name, because his father considered that he would be much more likely to have a favorable reception.

FAIR PLAY.

To the Editor.—In your paper of recent date I noticed that the Aldermen of the City of Victoria suggested offering a prize for the best solution of the present difficulties in regard to taxation. There is a good deal to consider in this matter. The property owners, at present, are taxed at double the real value of the property in the City funds to its cost. Notwithstanding this fact, when they do go to pay the same amount of tax from $150 to $200 more, just because they find a few good taxpayers in a certain locality. Do you consider that the right way to equalize things? Something is at fault. I know a good many taxpayers who have worked hard and denied themselves all luxuries, in order to meet those debts.

THANKS FOR HELP.

To the Editor.—The members of the Victoria and District Unemployed Council have much pleasure in acknowledging receipt from the following persons of very useful clothing, etc., which was very much appreciated by the recipients: Mrs. Butler, Mrs. Green, W. E. Adams, B. E. Hyndman, G. E. B. C. Window Bakery their donation of fresh bread and cakes. This week is very welcome and looked forward to by those in need, and for which we beg to thank the donors. The conditions attending the working class is still unrelieved. Unemployment continues as acute as ever, thereby increasing the need for a generous response to this appeal from those able to contribute. Our store for distributing goods is located at 223 Johnson Street. We have occupied this store two months through the kindness of Mr. Duck and it is open from 10:30 a. m. to 5:30 p. m. free distribution. Phone number 1341.

UNEMPLOYMENT VIEWS

To the Editor.—Extreme radicalism, and the whole system are erroneous under present conditions. Both destroy without production. Prosperity is needed, and that by production. Canada has enormous natural wealth, the trouble is lack of research on profitable production. For example, there are enormous acreages of unproductive logged-off lands within reach of easy railroad facilities. The timber cannot be cleared these in a life-time and keep a family. The remedy is to have it done by Provincial co-operation, on a large scale.

SUNDAY CLOSING.

To the Editor.—May I once more trespass on your kindness to say a few words on Mr. Middleton's letter of January 26, re "Sunday Closing." It is quite evident from the tone of this gentleman's letter that he had not studied the aims of The Lord's Day Alliance or he would not write the way he does. The Lord's Day Alliance does not set itself up to be a religious society, nor does it aim at making people go to church. That is a matter between God and themselves, and The Alliance leaves to the people's conscience. What the Alliance does aim at, is to make the Lord's Day a holiday. If Mr. Middleton will look up the word "Holiday" in the dictionary he may possibly get the idea. He fondly cherishes the idea that the observance of the Lord's Day was made by man. I gap with surprise at his ignorance. I will ask this gentleman, at his first opportunity, to get his Bible and turn to Exodus, Chapter 20, and read, mark, learn and inwardly digest the fourth commandment, and furthermore I will say that this and the other nine commandments were made by God, not by man. Mr. Middleton glibly, talks about restriction of liberty. Bosh! No one wants to restrict his liberty, but on the other hand to give it him. As for pure liberty there is no such thing outside the bush, otherwise there would be no need for the police force. I bet my last dollar that if Mr. Middleton found a man breaking into his house and stealing his goods he would soon restrict that man's liberty. The very high sounding and patriotic tone with which Mr. Middleton concludes his letter.

ter speaks more for our own cause than for his. The forces which are against us are most certainly not Christian—far otherwise. It is, in my opinion, time that the screw was put down good and tight against the Sunday traffic which goes on in this City. It is absolutely disgraceful the number of paper, tobacco and candy stores, not to mention ice cream parlors, which are open and doing a roaring trade on Sunday. People talk of the heathen Chinaman. I think it would be more consistent to talk of the heathen Anglo-Saxon. It is my earnest hope and prayer that Mayor Marchant will stick to his guns and that The Lord's Day Act will be rigidly and properly enforced in this City.

DEPUTATION OF MINERS.

To the Editor.—Reading The Times of Friday, January 20, to my surprise I came across a report of a deputation of miners from Granby Mine, Cassidy, who waited upon the Hon. W. Sloan, Minister of Mines, protesting against a safety measure that was put into effect some months ago by the Department of Mines, at Victoria, prohibiting the use of dynamite in the lower workings of the Granby Mine where gas blow-outs occur every so often. According to the report in question that appeared in the "Times," this deputation of miners claimed that they were representing the miners and other workers toiling in the Cassidy Mine. This is untrue, I am digging coal in the mine in question and have been for over a year now. The first intimation I got of the deputation in question was the report that appeared in the "Times" after the mission had reached Victoria. I have also spoken with all men I have come in touch with working down in the mine, and they all were ignorant of the deputation in question with the exception of what they have learned through the press. I consider this new measure of protection has hit us miners pretty hard, in so far as we have to mine coal with the pick instead of dynamite.

"61" FLOOR VARNISH

The deputation in question call themselves the "Men's Grievance Committee," and also the "Safety First Committee," when they are at home in Cassidy. Had this deputation courage enough to approach the management of the Granby Mine, and start negotiations for a fair settlement in the tone to compensate us men who have suffered through this new protection order, they would be doing something then that would reflect credit on their names, rather than going down to Victoria without consulting the men concerned, demanding the Department of Mines revoke a measure of protection which they had just put in force to safeguard life and limb down in a coal mine where thousands of men have paid for dearly with their lives. I hereby appeal to the Department of Mines at Victoria to ignore the demands of this deputation altogether until such times as all workers toiling in the bowels of the earth below Cassidy can have their voice in the matter, then these "self-styled miners' leaders" will realize where they get off at.

With regard to the blow-outs of gas which occurs every now and then, I have seen with my own eyes the results of some of these blow-outs. I have seen three or four complete sets of timber blown out, the track blown to one side, and over a hundred tons of coal blown clear off the face and the force has even knocked men over 300 feet away. Yet our very so-called "Safety First Committee" goes down to Victoria informs the Mines Department that they can safely mine under the circumstances without danger to life or limb. I have heard men make statements like that before regarding a coal mine in another country. Unfortunately a few weeks afterwards I was a party to help to convey the same men's mutilated bodies, minus legs and arms, to their stricken homes. Over one hundred men and boys killed by a gas-explosion in a coal mine, while earning their daily bread.

TUBERCULOSIS.

To the Editor.—You are doing a good work in your effort to arouse public sentiment to the necessity of combating the plague of Tuberculosis in British Columbia. More attention should be paid to the causes and prevention of this disease. You are too indifferent regarding the proper ventilation of our public buildings, theatres, stores, factories and houses. Too much attention is paid to the heating of our buildings and not sufficient to the circulation of pure fresh air. The people should be educated to realize the importance to health of having fresh air at all times. When one considers the amount of air that should be provided a person in buildings so as to give good ventilation, but the admission of 30 cubic feet of air per minute per person is required by law for school buildings in Massachusetts, New York, and other States having ventilation laws. Some authorities insist that a higher standard should be required. Therefore, the attention of the Government should be drawn to its duty of enforcing the thorough ventilation of all public buildings, theatres, etc., and all places of indoor employment. If people live, sleep, work and play in overheated, dry, impure air in these days of steam-heated buildings then we are going to have Tuberculosis—and lots of it. I will sign myself what fresh-air advocates are generally called, namely: CRANK.

New York—Interviewed by The World to-day, Prince Bismarck declared: "The terrors of modern warfare, the uncertainty as to what the world will be, will do more, at present at least, to prevent war than any treaties could do. Once the people are educated enough to comprehend war and its double-edged sword, the aggressors often being the losers, then war will cease." Several propositions are before the Government and one probably will be adopted. Washington, D.C.—Sir Richard Cartwright and Hon. Y.W.C.A. PRESSES ON TO ITS GOAL OF A NEW BUILDING

Yesterday the board of directors of the Young Women's Christian Association met for their regular monthly meeting, the president, Mrs. Bishop in the chair. The board was very pleased to receive a further donation to the building fund in the form of cheque for $25 from the Ladies' Musical Club, accompanied by a note expressing their interest and best wishes for the building.

MODERN NUMBERS AT CLUB RECITAL

A number of well-known local artists will assist and the following attractive programme is a criterion of the excellence of the promised fare: Violin solo—"Enbataun".... Debussy

SKIRTS TO BE LONGER SAYS FASHION EXPERTS
Chicago, Feb. 11.—Skirts two inches longer than the prevailing mode are shown in the new styles, according to manufacturers attending the National Women's Apparel Association exhibit here. But while the style decrees that the skirts are to be a little longer, some of the exhibitors express doubt whether the women will wear them. The big difference in styles will be in the colors, exhibitors say, which will be brighter.

SEEK TO IMPROVE SOCIAL WORK HERE

Newly Appointed Committee on Social Service Work Commences Operations
As a result of the meeting held at the City Hall on Saturday, and called by the Social Service Committee to hear the Misses Gardiner and Cotter, trained workers from Seattle, speak on social welfare work, a committee of sixteen, comprising Rev. J. L. Batty, Dr. Thomas Miller, Rev. Mr. Stevenson, Mrs. Schofield, H. T. Ravenhill, Mrs. Shampenny, Miss Lawson, Miss Wark, Mrs. G. Goepel, Mrs. J. McEwan, Alderman Harvey, Miss Crease, Dr. Clay, F. W. Jones, Mrs. A. Hallam and Miss De Wolfe, was appointed to meet and discuss the matter of co-ordinating the social service work in Victoria, so as to put it on a constructive basis. This committee met at eight o'clock C. A. last evening at eight o'clock and the following officers were elected: President, Rev. J. L. Batty; second vice-president, Mr. F. W. Jones; secretary-treasurer, Miss C. De Wolfe; Publicity Committee, Mrs. H. P. Hodges and Rev. Mr. Archbold. The meeting for the most part took the form of an informal discussion in order to arrive at a plan of procedure that would attain the desired improvement in social service work in all its phases. Many of the present organizations have done and are doing splendid work, but it was thought, perhaps, if a central organization were formed, which would be a clearing station, making provision for representation from all social service organizations, having a definite time to meet and compare notes, a central register which would show the kind of assist-needed, whether money or otherwise, it would provide a means of co-ordinating and getting the best out of its endeavors. Another suggestion was to try and work up and preserve the present individual plan of working. There is no desire on the part of those interested in this larger scheme of work to interfere with the organizations already in existence; that would destroy individuality. Social service means getting a man to live better, the children off the streets and trying to remedy conditions for delinquents, and looking at the subject from this viewpoint it means more than giving food and money, which in some minds is the meaning of social service. The meeting finally passed a resolution in favor of bringing a trained worker here to review the situation, as a starting point, out of which the necessary plan for further development would result. It was also resolved to ask that two representatives be sent from the Chamber of Commerce, the Rotary Club, the Kiwanis Club, the Gyro Club and all organizations interested in social service to meet with the present committee on or about March 14, to consider the advisability of securing a trained worker and best means of raising the necessary funds for salary and expenses.

Gin Pills FOR THE KIDNEYS

The letter of Mrs. Hugh McLeod is typical of thousands of others reaching us from all parts of Canada. She says: "I am 51 years old, and the mother of eight children. Five years ago, I was troubled with backache and dull pains across the abdomen. I used a box of Gin Pills, and feel so much better that I will continue to use Gin Pills."

MAIN STREET THE STORY OF CAROL KENNICOTT By SINCLAIR LEWIS

She had lived in Washington for a year. She was tired of the office. It was tolerable, far more tolerable than housework, but it was not adventurous. She was having tea and cinnamon toast, alone at a small round table on the balcony of Rauscher's Confectionery.

She started dejectedly up Connecticut Avenue. She stopped, her heart stopped. Coming toward her were Harry and Juanita Haydock. She ran to them, she kissed Juanita, while Harry confided, "Hahn's expected to come to Washington—had to go to New York for some buying—didn't have your address along—just got in this morning—wondering how in the world we could get hold of you."

She was definitely sorry to hear that they were to leave at nine that evening, and she clung to them as long as she could. She took them to St. Mark's for dinner. Stopped, her elbows on the table, she heard with excitement that "Cy Bogart had the flu, but of course he was too god-darn mean to die of it."

She discovered that she now had no opinions whatever about Mr. Blauser and she said sympathetically, "Will you keep up the town-boasting campaign?" Harry jumbled, "Well, we've dropped it just temporarily, but—sure you get it? Say, did the doc write you about the lark B. J. Gougerling had hunting ducks down in Texas?"

When the news had been told and their enthusiasm had slackened she looked about and was proud to be able to point out a senator, to explain the cleverness of the canopied garden. She fancied that a man with dinner-coat and waxed mustache glanced superciliously at Harry's highly fitting bright-brown suit.

She knew that he would want oysters, that he would have heard of Harvey's apropos of Grant and Blaine, and she too, him through dinner his hearty voice, his holiday enjoyment of everything, turned into nervousness in his desire to know a number of interesting matters, such as whether they still were married.

He looked over to her thirty prints of Gopher Prairie and the country about. Without defense, she was thrown into it. She remembered that he had lured her with photographs in courtship days; she made a note of his sameness, his satisfaction with the tactics which had proved good before; but she forgot it in the familiar places. She was seeing the sun-speckled ferns among birches on the shore of the manumashie, wind-rippled miles of wheat, the porch of their own house where Hugh had played, Main Street where she knew every window and every face.

She handed them back, with praise for his photography, and he talked of lenses and time-exposures. Dinner was at hand and they were gossiping of her friends at the flat, but an intruder was with them, sitting back, persistent, inescapable. She could not endure it. She stammered: "I had you check your bag at the station because I wasn't quite sure where you'd stay. I'm dreadfully sorry we haven't room to put you up at the flat. We ought to have seen about a room for you before. Don't you think you better call up the Willard or the Washington now?"

He peered at her cloudily. Without words he asked, without speech she answered, whether she was also going to the Willard or the Washington. But she tried to look as though she did not know that they were degrading anything of the sort. She would have hated him had he been weak about it. But he was neither meek nor angry. However impatient he may have been with her blandness he said readily: "Yes, guess I better do that. Excuse me a second. Then how about grabbing a taxi (Goeh, he thinks what limit the way these taxi shufflers skin around a corner? Got more nerve driving than I have!) and going up to your flat for me. Like to meet your friends—must be fine women—and I might take a look and see how Hugh sleeps. Like to know how he breathes. Don't think he's got no noids, but I better make sure, eh?" He patted her shoulder.

At the flat they found her two housemates and she who had been to jail for suffrage. Kennicott fitted in surprisingly. He laughed at the girl's story of the humors of a hunter-attrite, he told the secretary what to do when her eyes were tired from typing; and the teacher asked him—not as the husband of a friend but as a physician—whether there was "anything in this inoculation for colds." (To Be Continued.)

The Obelisk Tamping Trophy will be in the field for competition on March 1. Don't forget to get your Patrol entered for it. The trophy, a small statuette of a Scout, is to be won by the Patrol which, after having entered for the competition, spends the greatest average number of nights in camp per Scout. The new rules for the contest will soon be available. If your P-L has not seen this, show it to him and stir him up. The Langford Scouts are making arrangements for a dance which is to be held in the Colwood Hall on Friday, February 17. This Lone Patrol is progressing very satisfactorily under the leadership of P-L Holmes of Millstream. The Patrol meets at present in Mr. A. Mackie's barn at Langford. Wednesday, February 15, is the regular monthly business meeting of the Victoria Scout Officers' Council. All officers are requested to do their best to be present and make a bumper attendance on that occasion. The life of the district depends to a very great extent upon the ideas which are put forward at these meetings and the discussions which arise over the various matters of interest. The meeting will be held in room 324 Pemberton Building at 8.00 p.m. The Patrol Leaders' Council is making arrangements to hold a banquet at the Fairlie headquarters at the corner of Rockland and Vancouver, on Monday, February 20, at 7.30 p.m. Patrol Leaders will do well to miss these meetings. The Council is proving to be a great source of ideas for all P-L's who wish

ESLING, HERE, CALLS FOR CONSTRUCTIVE CRITICISM IN POLITICS

W. K. Esling, Conservative member of the B. C. Legislature for Rossland, arrived in Victoria to-day to visit William Robert Braden, former Conservative member for Rossland, who is now ill in this city.

Mr. Esling has been on the Coast during the last few days in connection with developments since he issued his January manifesto against the Oliver Government, in which he claimed to point out exactly why taxes are high.

"The duty of the opposition is to criticize," said Mr. Esling to-day. "Not in a petty or carping manner, but for the purpose of bringing to public attention such policies and expenditures as may seem unwise, unnecessary, unbusinesslike or extravagant. Were it not so, a Government could carry on without interruption and without protest. Any criticism which influences public opinion to call a halt on ill-advised expenditures or ill-advised legislation, must be accepted as constructive criticism."

The next meeting will be held on March 10.

Remanded For Hearing—Chung Lee Lung, a Chinese resident of Sidney, was to-day charged in the Provincial Police Court with possession of opium, and on a second count, that of resisting arrest. Speaks Highly of This Home Made Cough Remedy

Says It Acts With Unusual Speed—Loosens the Mucus—Relieves the Irritation and Stops the Cough.

Costs Next to Nothing—for a Big Supply.

Whenever anyone in my family catches cold and begins to cough and sneeze, and hawk and breathe, it doesn't take me many minutes to fix up a remedy that will drive away such troubles in double quick time. It's no secret—anyone can make a half pint of the finest cough medicine in the world for a trifling sum. Get from any druggist one ounce of Parmin (double strength)—to this add a little granulated sugar and enough water to make one half pint—that's all there is to it. But now you've got a real medicine—mind you—the first spoonful you take acts directly on the membrane of the throat and nose, the tickling ceases almost instantly—the inflammation begins to disappear—up comes the stubborn mucus and often in 24 hours every trace of the cough that fringes you is gone. It's really remarkable how this home made remedy acts on the mucous membrane and that is one reason it is so helpful to thousands of Catarrh sufferers. (Adv.)

That $5.00 Offer

By "Quiz"

Says Smith to Raymur, "Do you see our new clock seems to be for ideas up a tree. And they will give to you or me, for a really good idea, prize. The noble sum of one big V."

Then Raymur hank to Smith replies, "I really wonder if 'those guys' think that we will 'put them wise' to where the 'trouble really lies.' For such a mean and paltry prize, As men like us can't but despise!"

Then Lorimer put in his "Spoke," "I think the d—d thing's but a joke. They know full well the city's broke, and that it will all go up in smoke. Unless they live up the folk And give the taxpayer another poke."

Female cashier then took a hand, And said in accents mild and bland, "What I don't quite understand Is where the dickens we will land. If on our rights we just stand, Will we all then just be 'canned'?"

City to Pay Mr. Palmer's Family Six Months' Salary

It was learned at the City Hall to-day. This plan was advanced by the Police Commission and the Council has agreed privately to approve it.

TRIES TO SHOW TEACHERS THEY DESERVE A CUT

Mayor Seeks to Prove Salary Reduction Absolutely Essential

Armed with exhaustive figures, compiled by City Comptroller J. L. Raymur, Mayor Marchant this morning prepared to prove to city school teachers this afternoon that they should accept salary reductions. The teachers, it is understood, are just as completely prepared to prove that they should not agree to any such thing.

These two opinions will come into sharp conflict when the Finance Committee of the School Board, the Mayor, Alderman John Harvey, Alderman E. S. Woodward and Mr. Raymur meet a delegation of teachers in the School Board offices this afternoon. The purpose of this conference is to discuss the advisability of cutting teachers' salaries ten per cent, but the main idea behind the meeting is to give the Mayor an opportunity to show the teachers that they must accept a salary reduction if the city government is to continue to function and to give the teachers an opportunity to show that the School Board was quite right in deciding not to make any salary reductions.

It is not merely the question of teachers' salaries that must be considered. "The point is that, if we cannot reduce teachers' salaries, we cannot make salary reductions elsewhere in the city service. At least, unless teachers' salaries are cut, I for one will never vote to reduce salaries in the City Hall. All the city employees should be treated alike, I believe."

CRUSADERS RE-UNION MARKED SUCCESS

Large Attendance at Annual Banquet; Pleasant Time

The eighth annual re-union banquet of the Crusaders Bible class, which was held in the Orange Hall last night, was the best in the annals of the class history since the signing of their charter in 1914. From a small class previously known as the Crusaders they have multiplied in number until they have a membership roll of a hundred and have just completed a drive in which they obtained some 25 new members on their list.

"As pastor of the Centennial Methodist Church, which is the home of the Crusaders, I am proud of you," stated the Rev. J. L. Batty in opening the banquet. During supper, the Rev. J. L. Batty, who has recently taken over the leadership of the class, was called upon to speak. In a few well chosen words and some splendid examples he pointed out that to teach boys one must not drive, but lead them by giving examples.

Mrs. Bourke, the "Mother" of the class, received the honor of the first toast, and in reply she said she was not only celebrating the birthday of the class, but was also taking part in her own birthday anniversary, which falls on the same day.

The toast to out-of-town members was interesting inasmuch that it detailed the course taken in keeping touch with the out-of-town members. Dean Quainton attended, and spoke briefly.

The roll call was then taken, and it was found that 89 persons were present, with numerous letters from out of town members and boys who were unable to attend, but wishing to be placed on the register. Brief histories of the class activities and sports were also dealt with, while a splendid programme of entertainment was put on by the entertainment committee.

Seattle Defence Too Tight; Aries Were Again Shut-Out

Mets Hand Victoria Second Straight Shut-out on Local Pond and Won Last Night By 2-0; Aries Put Up Splendid Fight and Game Abounded in Thrills But Seattle Was Too Good.

Victoria and Seattle hopped on the P. C. H. A. seesaw last night and after sixty minutes of strenuous hockey the Mets balanced the Aries in the air. They did it to the tune of 2 goals to nil.

It was the second straight shut-out of the Muldoon herd of zebras has handed out to Victoria on the local ice. It also represented the third victory for the Mets here this season. Of the five games played to date Seattle has picked off three, while one has been drawn and the other went as a win for the Aries. Two weeks ago last night the Mets snowed under the Patrick boys by 5-0. It begins to look as though Seattle's visits here synchronize with the snowstorms. Two weeks ago the Storm King loosened the snowflakes when he found that Victoria was in for a beating, and last night he opened his apron and dumped some more greetings.

Best Team Won.

The best team won. There's no use trying to get away from that point. The Aries tried with the desperation of a wolf that hasn't tasted a meal for four days, but they were denied even a smell of the breaks. The Mets had their whole team functioning well. On each side they seemed to anticipate each other's move and kept the puck under control. Defensively the Mets were supreme. There was always a man in the net who ever the Aries tried to bore in, shot or reach for a rebound. If Victoria did blaze a trail for a clear shot "Hay" Holmes kicked the puck out from the cage and put a "no admittance" sign out in front.

The Mets have got their noses on the trail of the world's series purse by the looks of things. One could almost imagine that they heard the ringing of the shovels in their ears last night the way they were about and back-checked. It's going to take a pretty sweet aggregation to hold them and Vancouver will have to be an air force on Monday if they hope to stop the Muldoon tribe from scampering all over them. Of course the Mets played far above their average form last night and it is possible that they may slip up. Holmes in goal was far more brilliant than he has been in a long time and his spectacular work robbed the Aries of many goals.

Seattle Now Leads.

Seattle now heads the parade for the second time this season. After Victoria's sensational spurt in the early days of the race, Seattle came through with a rush but injuries to Rickey caused the Mets to go into a slump and they soon reached the bottom of the heap. However, of late they have been playing fast hockey and have eventually overcome the big handicap. The Mets are one point out in front of Vancouver, while Victoria takes the third place. It was a cracking good game to watch. Seattle did not resort to the vigorous back-checking which made the last battle here between these teams look like a shinty exhibition. The play was more open. There was plenty of fast rushing, combination play, good defence work and goal-tending de luxe by both Fowler and Holmes.

Not One Penalty But—

There was not one penalty during the whole proceedings which is not saying that there should not have been. Several times Mickey Ion got his right hand up in the air in readiness to beckon some unfortunate towards the cooler but he had a chuckle to himself and let it go. It was just as well for none of the players got beyond control and it saved the play from slowing up and getting ragged. There was a heap of hard checking. Victoria had the best of the exchanges. Harry Meeking went over Riley's shoulders in the first period and saw the stars and comets shoot when his head hit the ice with a thud. The crack could be heard all over the rink and it looked as though he would be out for a time, but Harry dragged himself to his feet, looked about, saw Mickey coming in with the puck and gave him the jilt.

Head-on Collision.

Eddie Oatman and Morris crashed in a head-on collision in the third period and the wrecking crew had to be called out. Then "Hay" Holmes went on the casualty list twice. During the hard rushes by the Aries the Mets played sacks-on-the-puck in front of their goal. From one of these "Hay" was caught by a loose stick and had a wound opened up under his left eye. Riley and Foyston made a rush to save their goal on another occasion and collided with Holmes. Riley and Foyston were both tossed into the net and Jim's head just missed the bar by an inch. Holmes had the killing variety and left little finger dislocated.

Hard One to Lose.

It was a tough game for the Aries to lose. They were dead crazy to pick off the plum and in the last period with the Mets leading by two

STEINMETZ LOOKS LIKE SKATING ACE

Lake Placid, N.Y., Feb. 11.—William Steinmetz, skating under the colors of the Norwegian-American A. A. of Chicago, seems certain to be the amateur outdoor skating ace of America. Steinmetz at the close of yesterday's race programme had 110 points and Jewtra 55.

Victoria Goes Hard.

Victoria had a shade on the play in the second period and Holmes saved several very hard shots from Dunderdale and Frederickson and turned aside two in a row from Halderson. Clem Loughlin made many fast rushes and shot from the blue line and went in hard after the rebounds but he could not make the grade. Frederickson and Halderson broke through and looked to have filled the net. Victoria continued to force the pace and the players piled up like a small mountain in front of the Mets' goal.

The going was hot in the third period and Victoria got in close but the puck was bouncing and rolling and they could not finish their attack. Holmes just got his hand to a hot one from Frederickson's stick, and Oatman almost got through. Foyston missed an open net at the other end and the Aries came right back. Then Victoria got its only goal. From a big mix-up in front Halderson threw the puck into the net. Mickey didn't allow basket-ball rules.

Mets Called Home.

Finding that the Aries were out after blood the Mets decided to call home their whole team, and they stuck around in front of the posts and refused to give the local boys a real, clean, open shot. Frederickson played fine all night but could not get home his telling shots. The Mets were good to watch, the only disappointing feature being the fact that the Aries did not win. But for folks who like to see a good game whether the home team wins or loses were quite satisfied.

The operation was followed by five minutes of manipulation. After that Farrell said he felt like "stepping" again. Lorenz wrenches a bone in his little toe last July.

ANOTHER BASKETBALL LEAGUE IS ON SCENE

Jim McEwan introduced the Trail-Rangers Basketball League at the "Y" gymnasium. Six teams entered in the league a fast series is expected and some games of a classy nature should be the result. UNIVERSITY RUGBY TEAM DEFEATS HIGH

The University Military School yesterday defeated the Victoria High School in the Junior Rugby League by a score of nine to nil, after one of the prettiest junior games played this season. The High School was handicapped by the absence of their fastest three-quarter, Ian McCallum, and owing to an injured knee Dunc McLennan was forced to play full back. This change wrought a real difference to the strength of the team and the University boys had the game in their own hands.

No Victoria fan will admit that the Victoria fans are just as solid behind the Senators as the Mainlanders are backing up Towers. There is just one fly in this nice spot of ointment which they can go on and on about. It is the fact that the Victoria fans are just as solid behind the Senators as the Mainlanders are backing up Towers. Towers has it over the locals like a tent. They know that the Vancouver champions have a well balanced team with plenty of stars but they are also aware of the fact that the Senators embrace a very slick array of stick-handlers who can shoot and go like a forty-mile gale off Cape Flattery.

LEONARD TOO GOOD FOR ROCKY KANSAS

Lightweight Champion Was Cautious at Start and Challenger Made Showing

New York, Feb. 11.—Benny Leonard, world's lightweight champion, retained his title last night by receiving the judges' decision over Rocky Kansas at the end of their fifteen round bout at Madison Square Garden. Both men entered the ring at 10 p.m. Leonard's weight at 2 o'clock was 134 1/2 lbs. Kansas weighed in at 135 lbs. Madison Square Garden held a championship crowd of 15,000 persons.

Benny Took His Time.

The champion worked slowly, and his blows appeared to have little effect during the early rounds. In three rounds Kansas appeared to have a little better of exchanges. In the seventh round Leonard's blows were truer, and from then on he landed as he pleased and took few blows in return.

Kansas Missed a Lot.

Round 1—They sparred for a moment and Leonard tapped the challenger on the nose with a light left. Kansas missed two left hooks for the jaw. Leonard took a light left on the nose. Kansas missed a hard swing for the head, and then shot a left to the body, followed by three times and missed a right hook. The champion outboxed the challenger, but his punches were light.

Eileen Spends a Day in the Woods

"CHIRP, CHIRP." The noise seemed to float down from directly overhead. To Eileen, who sat on a fallen log by the side of a running brook, it seemed to convey a note of warning. The little girl had wandered into the woods picking wild flowers and had come, in the course of time, to the side of the brook, where she now rested.

"Chirp, chirp," came the noise again. Eileen glanced around with renewed interest. Soon she saw a little twig moving in a bough over her head, and there sat a robin. He was a merry little fellow, with the air of a ray cavalier. His head turned sharply from side to side as he craned his neck, looking with deep interest at the little wayfarer beneath his perch.

"Now I wonder what he is saying," thought Eileen to herself, for indeed she was alone, and had no one to speak to otherwise. As if to answer this query the robin flitted in a graceful series of dips and rises, on to another bough some distance away. Eileen watched. The robin climbed in short flights and little hops until it sat half way up a tall cedar tree. It was now seen in silhouette against the sun, which was sinking into a golden west.

Eileen saw him turn on the bow and face the setting sun, and then "Chirp-chirp-r-r-r" came floating again over the glade that separated the watcher from the thrilling sentinel. "Oh, he thinks the sun is going down, and it is time I was starting for home," thought Eileen. Pleased with the thought the little girl picked up her wraps, gathered a bouquet of wildflowers to her, and turned for home. She turned at the edge of the glade and kissed good-bye to the red-breasted sentinel, who answered this gracious salute with a long run up and down the scale in a fluted voice which very plainly said "farewell."

Now Eileen had wandered into the wood without taking very much thought as to the direction she was to take. She had stopped here and there to pick a flower, and in so doing had really gone further into the bush than she had at first intended doing. As she picked her steps over the broken twigs here and there disturbing a cricket who leaped aside with a sharp, scolding note of protest, Eileen began to wonder if she knew the shortest way out.

She had wandered thus about ten minutes, when the sun sank behind the upper boughs of the trees and was fast disappearing into the obscurity of the denser foliage beneath. Taking a trail that she thought was the one that led out of the wood, Eileen soon found that she did not appear to be getting free, but on the contrary it seemed very much like getting deeper into the bush. Presently she came to a turn in the trail, or to be more exact, a divide, with two indistinct paths leading away at diverging angles which should she take?

She had just made up her mind to take the right-hand of these avenues when a squirrel, perched on the end of a log not ten feet in front of her, set up such a shrilling and scolding that the little girl stopped in her tracks. Plainly that was not the path. Retracing her steps to the cross roads Eileen sat down on a rock to think it out. She noticed some bracken moving on the other path, and watched with interest.

It seemed as if all Nature was her friend to-day, for strutting out of the bracken came a blue grouse, magnificent in his gay plumage. He looked at Eileen for a second or so, and then calmly turned and strutted up the left-hand path. Eileen watched him walk up the trail until he turned into the bush again, and then the little girl once more took the trail. In a short while she had come to the edge of a clearing, where the trail had become so scattered that it could not be followed with the eyes in the gathering dusk. Several patches of open seemed to lie ahead, but which avenue to take Eileen was again at a loss to decide.

Hard by, on the sawed off stump of what had once been a gigantic spruce tree a little wren was twitching and fretting. He seemed very ill at ease. Eileen watched him, and it seemed to her fanciful imagination that his head was bobbing and bobbing, but ever in the same direction. His actions said as plainly as words could have done, "take the centre of the openings." Eileen, thanking her guide, took his advice at once.

In less than three minutes the little flower gatherer was back on the road, skirting the woods, and within a very short distance of home. Thinking over the marvellous way in which she had been guided out of the woods, Eileen told the story to her mother. "Why, dear," remarked her mother, "the birds and the squirrel knew that you were their friend, and they knew that you fed their brethren all Winter with crumbs on the window sill here. They were glad to have the opportunity of repaying that little act of kindness." And who will say that Eileen's mother was wrong?

The Child's Globe

When Letty had scarce passed her third glad year, And her young, artless words began to flow, One day we gave the child a colored sphere Of the wide earth, that she might mark and know.

By that and outline, all its sea and land, She patted all the world; old empire peep'd Between her baby fingers; her soft hand Was welcome at all frontiers. How she leap'd, And laugh'd, and prattled in her world-wide bliss!

But when we turned her sweet unlearned eye On our own isle, she raised a joyous cry, "Oh! yes, I see it, Letty's home is there," And while she hid all England with a kiss, Bright over Europe fell her golden hair.

—Charles Tennyson Turner, in the Daily Mirror.

IT NEVER COULD HAPPEN.

Willie had been late for school on occasions too numerous to mention. One night, Willie dreamed, in his dream he arrived at the school before even the teacher. On the arrival of the teacher, he was greeted with these words, he dreamed:

"Why, Willie, you're earlier of late. You used to be behind, before; but now you're first at last." Then he woke up.

(From The London Sphere.)
This little girl was out too late, and was caught in the woods after dusk. She was very much afraid of the bushmen, but as she had Tiny Tim with her, her fear was rendered more bearable. The bushmen were afraid of Tiny Tim, but were rapidly overcoming that dread, and we do not know what would have happened to the little girl, if her mother had not come along, and taken her home.

Marine Life Is Ever Interesting

THOUGH we may not come in contact with it readily, the ocean bed has a mass of "vegetation" that is no less wonderful than the land. In many cases marine plants far out rival the beauty of land plants, and are much more interesting to study. Most forms of sea life are interesting and the plant-like structures which for brevity we refer to as "vegetation." These are in reality nothing but collections of very minute insects of one form or another.

The bed of the ocean in tropical waters is very beautiful, with coral and all the gaily-colored forms of seaweed making a fairy paradise that we can see and admire, though not destroy. Once brought from the water most forms of marine life deteriorate, and lose their beauty. The physical organisms of the underwater "vegetation" are a study in themselves, and a most interesting subject.

Sponges, for instance, have never-ending channels of flowing water, and pump water through their entire fabric unceasingly, living and feeding on what they may extract from the sea water thus conveyed. The proof of this may be found under the microscope, which as you know magnifies objects many times so that what once appeared small becomes larger and more distinct, when thus viewed.

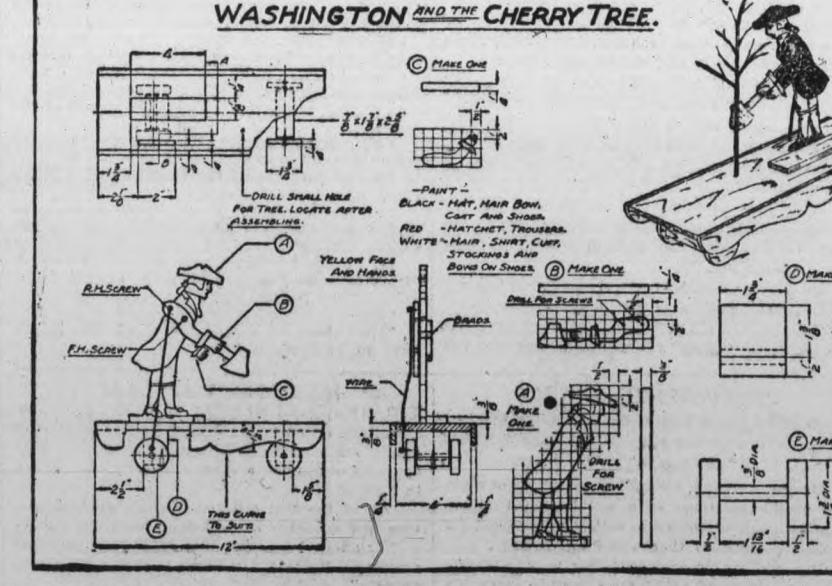

Some time, when your Daddy is not busy, get him to show you forms of seaweed under the microscope, and you will behold a new world of interesting study, and a vast field for inquiry.

Some day soon we will get drawings of some forms of this under-water life, and you may see for yourselves what wonders Nature performs far out of our sight and normal understanding.

TOOL-CRAFT

AND HERE'S HOW TO MAKE IT.

In the making of this miniature "float," upon which George Washington rides in action, we are again confronted with the problem of making patterns for figures. The method of doing this has been described a number of times before, but for the benefit of those who may not have read the directions I shall explain again.

Stuff paper or cardboard may be used to lay out the patterns on if you desire to make a number of figures all alike. If, however, you are certain only one toy is to be made, the pattern may be laid directly on the wood. In either case cover the surface of the material with one-half-inch squares, accurately made, as has been done in A, B and C, in the illustration. Then draw the lines of the figure through the squares. Make the lines pass through the same number of squares as the lines in the pattern in our drawing pass through. Then, if the pattern has been laid out on paper, cut it out and trace around it on the wood. But if it has been laid out on the wood itself, proceed to cut the figure out carefully with your coping saw.

The top of the float is a plain piece of wood with a slot cut in it as shown in the illustration. The sides of the float are shown curved. These may be cut to suit yourself, however.

The front bolster and wheels need no special description. Be sure to get the wheels, which are of wood, as round as possible, and bore the holes in the bolster for the screws through which the wheels are fastened on perfectly straight and at right angles to the wheels. It is well to put small washers between the wheels and the bolster and between the heads of the screws and the wheels.

The back bolster, D, and wheels are a little more difficult to make. The two back wheels and their axle are all of one piece of wood. For a really good job it is necessary to use

MAKE YOUR OWN FAIRY STORIES

PERHAPS of even greater interest than reading stories is the pastime of telling them to others, and beyond all the joy of these is the art of imagining stories one's self. Most likely all of our little readers have made up stories and imagined fairy tales, far beyond the charm of those we already know by heart from books. The difficulty lies in putting these charming ideas into readable form, so that others may have the benefit of the theme in all its fascination.

To encourage our readers to put to the test their originality along this line, this week the beginning of a story will be given for our little readers to complete for themselves. For the best completed story contributed every week, between this date and until further notice a prize of one dollar will be awarded. This only applies, of course, to stories constructed around the characters given to our readers in this page, from time to time.

So as to have some name for the contest, let us call it the Story-Making Contest. The contest will be conducted along the regular lines, and commencing with next Monday will be open to all girls and boys of the age of fifteen years and under. Let us all join in making this a real "live story-making event." The pick of these stories will be published week by week, and the best in each week will be eligible for consideration at the end of the contest for a further prize, about which more will be said later.

To make our idea plain, and beyond the possibility of misunderstanding let us now construct a story together, to serve merely as an example and not a model to be followed. Supposing we take for our characters this coming week an old man of eight-three, a young girl of ten years, and a black spaniel doggie. To this we may add such general characters as we require, without, and note this, adding any more "principals" to our plot.

There must be hundreds of ways in which we could make a story from this start. Let us take a simple example. We will make the story tell how the old man was rendered some signal service by the little girl, and how she was made happy by the kindness of the old man in return. The black spaniel seems to fit in so well with the old gentleman that we will give it that construction.

What must we do to form a story? First let us write down our characters as we know them. We have:

Major Graham, eight-three years of age.
Doris Watson, a young lady of ten years of age.
Peter, a curly, black spaniel.

Look at the "cast," if we may call it so, and see what ideas come to your mind. At that age "Major Graham" must be a veteran of say the Crimean War, at least. He is most likely a loveable old man, having for eight-three years withstood the buffeting of the world and listened to the promptings of experience in many parts of the globe. "Peter" quite evidently belongs to Major Graham, and is just a devoted old black doggie, with eyes that almost seem to be capable of "speaking," so wise are they. "Doris" is more of a problem, but let us assume that she is a pretty little fair-haired girl, living with neighbors next door. Now we are ready for our story. Let us make a sample story together to illustrate the purpose:

"The streets were deserted, the clanging bustle of city-echoes giving way to a silence that was restful, as the sun sank over the hill-top of Smoky Ridge. During the day some rain had fallen, but now it was freezing. The paved streets, cast in the frost king, were as a sheet of glass.

The silence of twilight was gently broken by a soft "pad-a-pad," and a small black dog could be seen trotting up the street from the corner. A few feet behind the dog came an old man, leaning heavily on a stout walking stick, and walking none too securely on the slippery pavement. It is the "Major," as he is known by nearly all in the city, for he is one of the pioneers who laid the foundations of that place, and has returned after years of wandering to pass the remainder of his life at his home on the hill.

"Peter," for such the dog is called, runs back and forth, with his bushy tail wagging perpetually. When a cat crosses the street, his ears twitch and tail stiffens out, but a short word of command brings him to his master's heels, though the ears and eyes are still intent on the cat. Presently Peter bounds ahead. The old man raises his eyes from the level of the slippery roadway, and beholds a little girl coming from the opposite direction.

"What a comparison of age and youth, he thinks, as he sees Doris skipping down the road and sliding on the ice with every indication of gaiety and joy in life? Peter runs up to the girl and receives an affectionate little pat on the head. His tail almost wags itself clear of his short black body in response. Satisfied with this caress Peter returns to his master. The pedestrians pass each other, but almost at that moment Doris hears a cry, and turns to find the Major lying awkwardly on the ground.

He moans with pain, and Doris runs to his aid. Peter stands alongside and whines, frantically shifting from one side to the other. He knows what is wrong but cannot say.

"With deft movements, Doris places the old man in a more comfortable position, with her jacket under his head, and runs back to her grandmother's house for aid. In a twinkling of an eye she is back with the news that a doctor is on the way, but the old man has fainted. Snow falls, and the night has come on with the swiftness of Winter-time.

"Presently the old man stirs and Doris succeeds in getting him to his home, next door to that of her parents. The doctor arrives and takes charge. Every day, for the next six weeks, Doris could be seen, basket on arm, bound for the little house next door. She reads to the old man, tales of the Indian Mutiny, battles in the Crimea, and listens to his remembrances of bygone wars and days. Peter, happy to be allowed to remain at the couch of his master, is nevertheless troubled by the detention. No more walks, no more romps in the garden, nothing but the quiet and troubled peace of that lonely household.

"A traveler returning to that section of the city, one year later, found the little house on the hill repainted. Bright curtains outlined the windows, while from the house came the song of a happy child's voice. It was Doris, now of the adopted daughter of Major Graham. Peter once more frisks and barks, for now he has two friends to love."

Such a story is only an example to aid in your understanding the idea of the contest, and is by no means to be taken as a sample of what should be done; indeed we will be much surprised if the stories of our little contributors do not rise to much more interesting levels.

Commence to-day, and remember that the contest is arranged by weeks, with a further award at the end of the whole period. Use the three principals of the cast in any way you choose.

Even Fish Use Strategy to Guard Their Homes

YOU have often read, no doubt, little reader, of the pains to which some birds will go to detract attention from the nest of eggs they are guarding. Quail, for instance, have been known to leave the nest at the approach of a man and appear to limp. They will hop slowly along the ground, limping perceptibly, but always keeping just out of the reach of the man who follows them. In this manner they will decoy the stranger away from the vicinity of their nest, and will, when far enough away, get up and fly, to the astonishment of the man who deemed them to be crippled.

Many birds do this, but did you know that some fish do likewise. Not that fish will simulate a "limp" or anything like that, but they will decoy other fish away from the eggs in their nest in many ingenious manners. Sticklebacks, little fish to be found in almost every ocean, hugging the pools left by the ebbing tide, are noted for this sagacity, or instinct, whichever you may wish to call it.

Sticklebacks collect materials for their nest and pile them at the site of the nest-to-be. The material is usually the thicker fronds of certain seaweeds. The pile is covered then with sand, which the sticklebacks coat with a gluey substance, which binds the whole into a hardened building, not unlike cement. Before this hardens they burrow a chamber in the centre and make a very diminutive entrance.

Now if a large fish sees fit to become curious as to what that mound may contain, the stickleback will dash forth and give battle. Or, if the opponent be too doughy for him, he will dart out of his nest and make chase after an imaginary prey. The stranger, curious as to the cause of these manoeuvres will follow, and so forget about that particular nest. In due time, when pursuit has led over the stickleback will return to his home, when all is again at peace.

DUE FOR A RAISE.

Little Girl (rushing into doctor's office): "Please, doctor, come at once to father. Mother's taken 'is temperature, and it's gone down."

Doctor: "That's all right, that's splendid."

Little Girl: "No, 'tain't all right 's swaledered it. It's gone right down."—Funch.

THE GARDEN BEAUTIFUL!

"William," there was a premonition of danger in Mrs. Wiggin's voice, and her husband wondered what indiscretion he had committed. "I asked you to set my geranium out in the flower bed and—"

"Well, didn't I, this very morning?"

"William," there were tears and anger in her tone now, "you have planted my new Spring hat!"—Life.

WHEN WATERLOO MEMBER WENT OUT OF A THEATRE

W. D. Euler's Action Was Misinterpreted by Another Spectator.

PROHIBITION is one of the favorite subjects for discussion and jokes on the stage. It is rarely indeed that you find a vaudeville bill without innumerable references to the dry laws.

W. D. Euler, M.P.

One of the New York theatres, wanting to gain publicity as offering something novel, boasts that there isn't a prohibition joke in the bill. Canadian theatres still have lots of them.

The other evening, while waiting over in Toronto for the Ottawa train, W. D. Euler, Liberal member for North Waterloo, visited one of the theatres. He sat near the front.

A comedian was in the midst of a harangue against prohibition when Mr. Euler, who had waited as long as he could, had to leave in order to catch his train.

As he moved along towards the aisle, the man in the end-seat mistook Mr. Euler's reason for leaving. He thought it was a gesture of protest against the comedian's remarks.

In quite audible tones this man asked Mr. Euler: "Are you Mr. Raney?"

Autos Carted Away By the Barrowful

Inspector McKinney, Who Prosecutes Motorists, Has Fun With Car.

INSPECTOR DAVE MCKINNEY, who prosecutes motorists in the Toronto afternoon police court, is himself the owner of an automobile. That car has been to him an inexhaustible subject for Irish witticisms. Here is one of the latest.

Shortly after the first snowfall he put it up for the winter in a friend's garage, groomed it carefully, took off all the tires and loose parts and carted these home in a wheelbarrow. One day, while sauntering past the garage, he saw a neighbor leaning over the fence.

"By the way," said Dave, stepping up to him in a casual manner, "if anyone comes to borrow your wheelbarrow, I wish you would inquire carefully before you lend it. It may be wanted for no good purpose."

Coming from a police officer, who has been a detective in his day, this warning sounded interesting and mysterious. The neighbor inquired what diabolical plot was afoot.

"Oh," said Dave, jerking his thumb in the direction of the garage. "I put my car up there for the winter. I have already taken one wheelbarrow load of it home, and I think there's only about another barrowful left."

GENERAL ELLIOTT WINS TRICK MATCH

Two Friends Try to Fool Him With a Gun.

GENERAL ELLIOTT, superintendent of the Ontario provincial police, is a crack shot with a revolver. That fact was discovered accidentally the other day by a couple of newspaper friends who had been invited by the general to "shoot in" at target practice with a squad of new police recruits.

In the armament was one old gun with deflected sight and crooked barrel. By way of a practical joke—incidentally, perhaps, with a view of improving their own score—the two friends casually picked up the crippled weapon and passed it over to the general, they themselves retaining the two best new guns. Quite unconscious of the plot, the general trustfully drew a bead at about twelve yards range—and missed. The "boys" laughed.

"This gun must have a crooked barrel," General Elliott remarked, looking it over for a moment. Then he fired three times in rapid succession—and hit the bull's eye every time. The journalists retired from the contest.

REV. P. W. PHILPOTT AND WHAT HE NEEDED

GREAT satisfaction has been expressed by Hamiltonians at Rev. P. W. Philpott's decision to remain in their city. Mr. Philpott is pastor of the Gospel Tabernacle, one of the most vigorous, popular and successful of Canadian churches.

He has received offers from several American cities, offers which would have given him much greater financial return than his work in Hamilton. But he has chosen to stay with his own people.

It isn't that Mr. Philpott disregards entirely the legitimate material needs of life.

A Toronto reader tells us of Philpott's earlier days when he was raising a large family of small children. He was speaking to a Toronto audience one evening, and said: "If I were asked what I need the most," and paused a moment.

The conclusion was perhaps unexpected to his listeners, for it was the emphatic word, "Boots."

Mr. Philpott is devoted to his congregation and to the church which he founded. When he was asked what he would consider a legitimate call for him to leave this church of his, in response to American or other demands, he is said by a Hamilton man to have replied: "A good pull in front and a kick behind. I have received the pull in front but my congregation has not given me the kick behind."

LITTLE STORIES ABOUT PEOPLE

Sidelights on Men and Women in the Public Eye

Sir George Perley A Little too Modest

No Possible Complaint of Shoving Himself Too Far Forward.

SIR GEORGE PERLEY has returned to Canada and has resigned his post of high commissioner in London. He has held that office since June, 1914, and has therefore represented Canada in London during the whole period of the war and subsequent reconstruction.

Sir George has received well-merited praise for his administration of the office in most dangerous and difficult times. One unfavorable criticism levelled against him is that he has been too modest. In a private citizen modesty is a virtue, and this applies also to most public men.

There is such a thing, however, as a man's personal modesty, his dislike of notoriety and the limelight, reacting unfavorably upon the cause or country he represents. Personally, Sir George Perley's modesty was praiseworthy, whether in London or Ottawa, but it was sometimes felt that, for the sake of outward appearances and of Canadian importance, he should have overcome his shyness and exerted his personality more openly.

At public gatherings, for example, when high commissioners representing various dominions had seats on the platform, Perley never showed himself forward. You would likely see him sitting inconspicuously towards the rear. Australians and New Zealanders were not so reticent. They saw that they were in the spotlight. Their aggressiveness was probably a better advertisement for their countries than Perley's timidity, charming as that characteristic undoubtedly was in private life.

Taken on the whole, however, Perley's career in London has been an admirable one, and he returns to Canada with a reputation, already high, distinctly heightened.

DO NOT MAKE YOUR STREET NAMES HARD

Ex-Chief Randall of Guelph Will Tell You Why.

F. W. RANDALL, chief of police of Guelph, Ont., for over 25 years, retired a few years ago. The "Chief," as he will be known in Guelph as long as he lives, can tell many a good yarn.

One he often relates is of an incident which happened before he reached the highest position on the force, and was still a sergeant at the police station. A new policeman had been taken on. One day this recruit came in greatly excited and reported that a horse had dropped dead on Northumberland street.

"Well," said the sergeant at the desk, "you know what to do. Make out a report and show it to the boss."

The new constable, who was known as Tom, got a pencil and paper and laboriously set to work. After a brave attempt, often wetting the pencil in his mouth and scratching his head, he came to the desk and said that he couldn't spell "Northumberland."

"Well," said the sergeant, "I'm busy and you know how mad the chief gets if any words are misspelt in a report."

Tom makes another futile attempt and then goes out, returning in about an hour, perspiring, but all smiles and gleefully rubbing his hands.

The sergeant asks him if his report is ready, as the chief will be in shortly.

"Sure it's ready," says Tom.

"Oh!" says the sergeant, to get him going, "and how did you spell 'Northumberland street'?"

"By heck!" says Tom, "you cannot put one over me like that. I dragged the dead horse over to Galt street."

This is Winnipeg's Queen

MISS HAZEL TOMPKINS, elected queen of this year's annual winter carnival at Winnipeg. Several Canadian cities, including Winnipeg, Ottawa and St. John's, New Brunswick, are holding successful winter carnivals that are attracting visitors from across the line as well as from other Canadian centres.

Did This Golf Game Cost a Premiership?

SECTIONS of the French press for months were critical of Premier Briand's personal friendship with Lloyd George. They said that the English prime minister's personality and "plausibility" were constantly getting the better of Briand's judgment. When at the recent Cannes conference, where results displeased the French people, it was learned that Lloyd George and Briand had played golf together in the midst of the deliberations, and that Briand, feeling the implacable resentment of his opponents, resigned the premiership, and was succeeded by Poincare. This photograph shows the historic game between Briand and Lloyd George.

Duncan Ross, New County Judge, Plays Tennis, Son of Sir George Ross, and Ex-Member at Ottawa

As a Boy, Duncan Ross Attended Sunday School Where His Father Was Superintendent—How He Entertained Meighen and His Own Opponent—What Hugh Clark Says About Judges' Appointments.

DUNCAN C. ROSS, who has been appointed a county court judge for Elgin, Ontario, is well known even beyond the bounds of his own province. He has several qualifications for national prominence. He is the son of the late Sir George Ross, ex-premier of Ontario and later a member of the Dominion Senate. And, in his own right, Duncan Ross established a parliamentary career for himself by representing West Middlesex as a Liberal in the federal House from 1909 to 1921.

Judge Ross is a lover of sports. He resembles Balfour and Auckland Geddes in having tennis as one of his favorite pastimes. Last summer he accepted a challenge from Ernest Trueman, brother of Magistrate Trueman, of Strathroy, a visitor from Japan. The first day Ross was badly defeated, but the second day he was back, ready for more. Contrary to the way most stories turn out, however, Duncan Ross was beaten again, worse than before.

But it didn't destroy his love of tennis, and flannels are still his favorite summer costume.

As a boy it is said that Judge Ross was fond of poetry, so much so that he used to read it to other children. It reveals an artistic strain in his nature.

As a boy Duncan Ross attended a Sunday school where his father was superintendent. As may be imagined, he had to behave himself there, pretty strictly.

In Strathroy they still remember an answer Duncan Ross gave as a lad in the Public school. The teacher asked the class to explain why the gender of "moon" was feminine and why the gender of "sun" was masculine. Nobody could answer but Duncan Ross.

"The moon is feminine," he said, "because it does no work and stays out late at night. The sun is masculine because it rises early in the morning and works hard all day."

Political friends and foes alike testify that Duncan Ross has a great capacity for friendship and companionship. This is illustrated by an incident of the 1917 election campaign. When George Elliott was nominated against Ross in West Middlesex by the Conservatives, Arthur Meighen went to Strathroy to speak on behalf of the nominee. When the convention was over Mr. Meighen and Mr. Elliott were surprised when they emerged from the hall to find the Liberal standard-bearer awaiting them with his motor car. He drove them about the town for a while and later to the hospital, where a tea had been arranged in honor of Mr. Meighen. Politics were forgotten even in the middle of a political campaign.

Judge Ross's closest personal attachment in the field of public life was to Archie McCoig, of Kent, and it is a coincidence that his elevation to the bench comes within a few weeks of the appointment of Mr. McCoig to the Senate.

Duncan Ross was defeated in last December's general election. His appointment now to a judgeship revives a good story about Colonel Hugh Clark, formerly federal member for North Bruce, who was also defeated in December.

Shortly after the Borden government came into power a discussion took place at London on the respective merits of Canadian and United States institutions. A Mr. Scatcherd of Buffalo was making comparisons to the advantage of the republic.

"But," he concluded, "Canada has a much better judicial system."

To the surprise of the party, Colonel Hugh Clark dissented.

"Yes," said Mr. Scatcherd, "there is no question about that. It is admitted even in the United States."

But Colonel Clark was still unpersuaded. "Most of your judges have to be elected?" he asked of the Buffalo man.

"Yes."

"Well, here in Canada most of our judges have to be defeated."

HE SCORED AT LAST.

DR. NICHOLAS MURRAY BUTLER, the president of Columbia University, who was recently on a visit to England, fired off some amusing stories at a dinner given in his honor in London.

One of the best concerned a college professor who had occasion to find fault with his class.

"You men," he said, "are really indolent this morning. Nothing I ask you seems to be simple enough."

"Now, Smith," he continued, turning to one of his least brilliant students, "try this one. What three words are most used by college men?"

"I don't know," answered Smith hopelessly.

"At last!" exclaimed the lecturer triumphantly. "Smith had scored full marks for a question."

The best Polly: "I am desperately in love with Jack. I don't believe I could live without him. Dolly: 'Why don't you marry him and find out'—Judge.

Hayseed as Name Does Not Annoy F. C. Biggs

Ontario's Minister of Public Works Speaks on a Hayrack.

HON. F. C. BIGGS, minister of public works in the Drury cabinet, has been much in the limelight ever since the farmers' victory in Ontario put him and his colleagues suddenly into power.

Mr. Biggs has been the subject of heated criticism and of warm praise for his activities in connection with good roads. On other matters, too, he seems to have the faculty of drawing to himself both praise and blame.

Whatever may be his merits as an administrator, there is no doubt of his popularity as a man and as a speaker with farm audiences. He is a farmer himself and can talk to them in an intimate way.

He was billed to speak one day at a farmers' picnic in South Huron. The picnic was held at the edge of a bush, and the speakers' platform was made by putting rough boards across a wagon rack.

The day was showery, which caused uncertainty as to whether or not the speakers would come.

Finally Mr. Biggs did appear. He mounted the improvised platform, and put the crowd into good humor at once by beginning, "I'm glad to be on this platform, because there is no place that suits a hayseed better than a hayrack."

HOW STEPHEN LEACOCK FRIGHTENED QUEEN'S

Taking Advantage of Local Color, Scores 'Hit in Kingston.

STEPHEN LEACOCK was about to begin an after-dinner speech at an Arts dinner in Great Hall, at Queen's University, Kingston.

Slowly the professor-humorist drew from his pocket a huge manuscript. "This," he announced in a slow, measured tone, "is the outline of my speech which I prepared while coming into town to-day from the Junction."

There was a medley of groans and laughs. It is a standing joke in Kingston about the length of time it takes for the train to come from the suburban junction to the city. Stephen Leacock had touched a sore point. There was also the prospect of an interminably long speech.

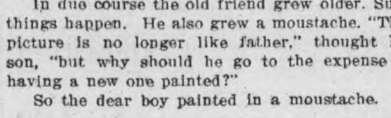

"But this," and Leacock's tone quickened and brightened, "is the speech I am going to give you instead." He threw away the bulky manuscript and from another pocket drew the tiniest slip of paper.

KEEPING THE LILY UP-TO-DATE LORD LEVERHULME is not the only man who worries artists. Mr. Charles May has had experience, too.

Mr. May painted the portrait of an old friend. It was a faithful friend, and also a faithful picture, which truly represented the dignified and clean-shaven face of the sitter.

In due course the old friend grew older. Such things happen. He also grew a moustache. "This picture is no longer like father," thought his son, "but why should he go to the expense of having a new one painted?"

So the dear boy painted in a moustache.

Montrealer Buys Paris Liquors

JEAN A. NOLIN, of Montreal, has been appointed by the Quebec government as its Paris representative to buy the best quality wines and liquors for supervised sale in Quebec. The province is making so much money in its liquor business that it hopes by this method to clear off its whole debt.

MAURICE HUTTON AND WONDERLAND ALICE

Principal of University College Sees Whimsicalities Even in Plato.

STEPHEN LEACOCK says he would rather be the writer of "Alice in Wonderland" than of a whole encyclopedia.

It would perhaps be going too far to suggest that Principal Hutton would rather have written this same "Alice in Wonderland" than Plato's "Apology," but the principal of University College and professor of Greek has evidently a warm place in his heart, too, for this fairy tale. He at least likes it well enough to prepare a public lecture on it for the alumni association and for Convocation Hall.

There are points of similarity between Principal Hutton and Lewis Carroll, the author of "Alice." Both are academic minds with a good dash of whimsical imagination thrown in. We haven't read Plato's "Apology" for some time, and we don't remember whether or not there are references in it to umbrellas. It is certainly true, however, that when Hutton lectures on this work of Plato, he makes extended references to umbrellas. Either they are in the "Apology," and Hutton shows his whimsicality by "playing them up," or they are not there at all, and represent merely a pleasant interpolation.

At all events, Principal Hutton lecturing on "Alice in Wonderland" presents a spectacle not grotesque but appropriate.

DOUGLAS DURKIN TELLS OF WHAT AMERICANS SAY

Examples of How Vague Some of Our Southern Cousins Are.

DOUGLAS DURKIN, the Canadian writer, tells a couple of stories illustrating how hazy some Americans are about Canada.

When Durkin was in the Western States one summer he met an old lady who enquired: "And where do you come from?"

"From Canada," replied Durkin. "I've passed through a good many states," said the old lady, nodding her head, "but I never remember being in that one."

On another occasion in the United States, a lady remarked to Mr. Durkin: "You come from Canada, I hear?"

"Yes." "Well, I want to congratulate you on living in a country where there aren't any elections to bother you."

She evidently thought Canada was "ruled" from outside.

ITALIAN WAS MIXED UP IN HIS GEOGRAPHY IDEAS

Festing Jones, English Traveler, Subjected to Some Queer Questions.

A WELL-KNOWN English traveler, Festing Jones, gives an instance of the way in which rumor adds color to facts.

He was dining at a restaurant in an Italian village, when another guest asked him where he was from.

"I came from London," Mr. Jones replied. "London," the other said meditatively. "Let me see; yes. That is a province of Russia, I believe."

"We consider it to be the capital of England," Jones replied. "England!" the Italian exclaimed, in some surprise. "Then you are what they call a Spaniard."

The Invention of "Tipping"

WHILE words which have been formed by the abbreviation of other words are not uncommon, those which are nothing more than the initials of the words of a phrase are unusual enough to place them in a class by themselves.

Of these, "fad"—reputed to be nothing more than the first letters of "for a day"—and "tip" are excellent examples.

To trace the history of the latter word we are obliged to go back to the days when chop-houses flourished in England. The practice of tipping waiters was unknown then, but boxes began to be placed in chop-houses and other restaurants with a sign on them which read, "To insure promptness."

Guests were expected to drop a donation into these boxes, and the proceeds were divided among the waiters at the end of the week. In time, the legend on the cards was shortened to "T.I.P."

Boxing Gloves of Lead

BOXING is one of the world's oldest sports. The noble art of self-defense was practised more than thirty centuries ago.

It was indeed a strong man's game. One hero, called Encecladus, used to slay oxen by giving them one blow between the eyes with his fist.

Boxing gloves were in use even in those early days; but there was a difference. The glove of to-day is a padded affair designed to soften the effect of a blow. In former times it was meant to increase the force of the punch! It consisted of a strip of leather, reinforced with lumps of brass and lead, which was wound round the pugilist's fist.

Men were willing to fight, not for a purse of thousands of pounds, but for a simple laurel wreath! The boxing matches of those days were no joke, for in most cases the vanquished boxer was killed by the knock-out blow.

Unique

"JACK, dear, we've $2,000 in the bank now." "Hoorary!" "And—er—we're the only ones in the neighborhood who haven't a car."

"Well, my dear, we've something that most of them haven't." "What's that?" "The price of one!"—Life.

WILL DEMAND MAINTENANCE OR STANDARD WAGE

Saanich Unemployed to Make Urgent Representations to Council

A demand for maintenance or work at standard wages will be made upon the Saanich Council, by the unemployed of Saanich, as a result of a meeting held last night at St. Mark's Hall, Boleskine Road, which was attended by over eighty men and women.

Chairman Jack Stevenson asked for snappy decisions as only an hour was available. "A political meeting will follow. Personally I think unemployment problems are of vastly more importance, but you will be invited to remain and listen to specious promises which may never be performed," he said.

F. Harman then moved "that we approach the Municipal Council with a demand for maintenance, or work at the standard rate of wages." Being supported by J. Stephens he continued, "with men divorced from employment and such a condition worldwide, with no sign that it will be obviated in the near future, I think permanent provision of some kind should be made. Machinery of production is now so complete that the markets can be flooded in short time.

No Work, Must Live.
 "We must have work to eat. The master class have funds, but they will have no work for us, yet we have got to live.

"The Governments have set aside funds for relief," he said, touching upon the existing tripartite Government arrangement. "We must go to a body to them, we must go now; we cannot delay, else some of us are going to be right up against it.

"We must have immediate action, else we are going to see moral degeneration.

"This does not mean what you generally think, as Bourgeois morality is wrapped around property rights.

"It will cost more if you get so desperate that you have to take relief for yourselves, therefore this is the time for us to make our demand upon the municipality.

Work, Not Doses.
 Chairman Stevenson, in putting the motion said, "Don't make any mistake, you are voting that we want work, not doses; if not given work, we want maintenance." The motion then passed unanimously.

Focus Union on Matter.
 W. Waters moved that the Saanich Council be requested to ask for a special session of the Union of British Columbia municipalities to give immediate attention to unemployment problems. He maintained this question to be the most urgent problem of the day, and all government agencies should concentrate upon its solution. This motion also passed unanimously.

J. Stonier moved that the Council be asked to abolish ward funds and the patching of roads, and substitute a road improvement policy incorporating a municipal wide systematic plan of thoroughly making a number of streets each year. This was adopted.

Committee Personnel.
 A committee composed of J. Stevenson, J. Stonier, W. J. Waters, J. Morrison and F. Harman and Mrs. Watson, Mrs. Stevenson and Mrs. Goodman, were named to lay these matters before the Council at the first opportunity.

The meeting also authorized this committee to urge upon the Council the need of a central relief station instead of the present plan of representations to Royal Oak. The next meeting will be held in the same hall next Saturday evening.

Chairman Stevenson, at the close of the meeting, spoke briefly upon the present economic situation, as being a logical result of the capitalist system, and grounds for a firm front when the Council is interviewed.

SINS OF MOTORIST LISTED BY CLUB

Offences Against Traffic Regulations Tabulated

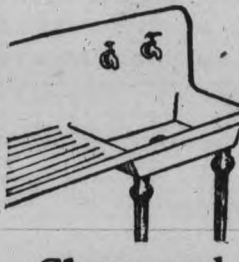

Secretary R. R. Webb of the Victoria Automobile Club has tabulated a list of eighteen deadly sins that motorists have been known to commit in violating traffic regulations. With the change in the rule of the road and the consequent likelihood of accidents it is imperative that motorists should exercise every precaution. Many of them have been breaking the rules of the road.

The 18 sins are:
 Drove on wrong side of street.
 Created hazard by excessive speed.
 Recklessly drove in front of moving street car or other vehicle.
 Recklessly passed street car while taking on or discharging passengers.
 Passed street car to left.
 Pulled in front of approaching street car or other vehicle.
 Drove through safety zone.
 Drove through near pedestrian or vehicle at crossing.
 Slow moving vehicle failed to keep as close to curb as possible.
 Passed in front of vehicle to right.
 Failed to signal change of direction when slowing down or stopping.
 Started from curb into traffic without notice.
 Did not sound horn or slow down when nearing crossing or curb with obstructed view.
 Cut corners.
 Driver continued on after accident.
 Front or rear lights out.
 Glazed windshield.
 Front or rear license not plainly visible or missing.

REMOVING GUIDES

Valve stem guides are best removed by driving them out from the top, with the use of a hard wood block. This is to avoid possible injury to the guide.
 If the oil grooves in the bushings become clogged the oil will be unable to reach the surfaces that need it. This is sometimes caused by the use of too much graphite.

TO BE HARD FIGHT SAYS MR. BOWSER

Conservatives to Run Andrew McIntyre in Revelstoke

Andrew McIntyre, brother of the Rev. R. J. McIntyre, former President of the B. C. Methodist Conference, will be the Conservative candidate for the Revelstoke constituency in the next election. Mr. Bowser, K.C., leader of the Conservative Party, announced on his return from the Mainland, where he met Party headquarters, that he had selected Mr. McIntyre for twenty years, he is a railway conductor and was recently elected by acclamation to the Revelstoke City Council.

"The Conservatives of Revelstoke are full of enthusiasm and can be depended upon to put up a strong fight against the new minister, but they realize it will be a hard struggle because Dr. Sutherland has been appointed against the Hon. W. H. Sturges, and naturally will have its effect," said Mr. Bowser.

Mr. Bowser will go to Revelstoke next week to take part in the fight. The Hon. J. D. MacLean, Provincial Secretary, will go to Revelstoke early in the week to take part in the campaign. The Hon. T. D. Pattullo, Minister of Lands, is there now.

KEEP LITTLE ONES WELL IN WINTER

Winter is a dangerous season for the little ones. The days are changeable—bright, the next one cold and stormy, that the mother is afraid to take the children out for the fresh air and exercise they need so much. In consequence they are often cooped up in overheated, badly ventilated rooms and are soon seized with colds and grippe. What is needed to keep the little ones well is Baby's Own Tablets. They will regulate the stomach and bowels and drive out colds, and by their use the baby will be able to get over the winter season in perfect safety. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont. (Advt.)

Appeal For Greater Financial Support

Some outstanding features will be included in the programme of the fifteenth Winter concert to be given by the G. W. V. A. band at the Capitol to-morrow evening at 8.45 o'clock. Miss Ellen Bridge, one of Victoria's talented young ladies, and Mr. Harold Beckwith, baritone, will make their first appearance at these concerts.

Mr. Beckwith has chosen a fine song for the occasion in Gretzy's "O Richard, O Mon Roi." He is a member of the historic Arion Club of the city.

Miss Hilda Knight, contralto, who will leave for England in a few days, will sing her farewell at this concert. Miss Knight has proved a favorite at these concerts, and will be missed from local musical circles.

The "special" numbers by the band are the overture "Poet and Peasant," and one in which Bandmaster Miller introduces many characteristics in tempo and phrasing. Schumann's gamous "Traumerl," the "Ghost of the March," "Poet and Peasant" (by request), "Voyage on a Troopship." The latter will be realistically depicted with lighting effects, fog horns, fire at sea and a storm.

CHIEF OF POLICE LAYS DOWN RULES

Caution For Guidance of Children and Adults

Carrying out the suggestion for a campaign for the protection of children, Chief of Police James Anderson, of Vancouver, has drawn up a set of rules for the guidance of the little folk and suggestions for parents.

In addition to warning adults against leaving explosives, combustibles, weapons and poisons where childish hands may seize them and prosecuting for criminal negligence wherever possible, he believes that a greater good can be done by appealing to the "kids" themselves," said the chief. "My experience has found that if you put a boy on his honor he, in most cases, will justify your trust.

The following rules are taught to children and adults will also assist, our list of dead and injured children will be substantially reduced.

The Chief's Rules.
 "Don't step from the sidewalk to the middle of the block."
 "Before attempting to cross intersections of streets be sure and look for approaching vehicles and street cars that may harm you. Wait until the crossing is clear."
 "Don't hang on the rear of autos or vehicles. You never can tell when it will stop suddenly and you will be thrown off."
 "Don't play in the streets. Play on the sidewalks, or better still, in a vacant lot, regular playground or even in a lane."
 Stay Off Streets.

"Roller skating, hockey and ball playing in the streets are very dangerous to children, and so is coasting. If you are coming and going. Don't do any of these things."
 "When riding a bicycle on the street always listen for the auto horn behind you and keep to the right, close to the curb."
 "Don't run behind street cars even if they are about to stop. Other cars may be coming in the opposite direction. Just wait till the way is clear."
 "Don't ride your bicycle on the sidewalks. It is dangerous and the cops will be sure to get you sometime—and the sidewalk was made for pedestrians anyway."
 Beware of pogs, air rifles and 22 calibre weapons. Many a child has lost the sight of an eye and even life, through the careless handling of these small arms.

"Never try to explode a cartridge, percussion or blasting caps which you find about mischief when they see you mean well. Look upon a policeman as your big friend and adviser and report to him any foreigners selling big bombs."
 "To adults I would say—do not leave anything that may rob children of their lives where they can pick them up, if you do not want to be guilty of murder—a murderer that is not always punishable by law—but murder nevertheless."
 "Educate your own and the children of others, where possible in the matters of safety and you will do good work."

THE TORTURE OF INDIGESTION

Thousands Made Miserable By This Trouble

"FRUIT-A-TIVES" Relieves It

What is indigestion and what causes it? As you know, solid food must be changed into a liquid by the stomach before it can be taken up as nourishment by the blood.

The stomach acts as a churn. It is covered by a strong, muscular coat and lined with a soft, delicate membrane which secretes the Gastric Juice which digests or dissolves solid food.

When food enters the stomach, the muscular coat squeezes and presses the food from end to end, or churns it, with the gastric juice to dissolve or digest it.

But—if the stomach muscles are weak—or if the dissolving fluid is poor or insufficient—then food cannot be digested properly and you have indigestion.

"FRUIT-A-TIVES" is the most wonderful medicine in the world for strengthening the stomach muscles and providing an abundance of pure, full-strength dissolving fluid to completely digest every meal.

"FRUIT-A-TIVES" does this because it keeps the kidneys active, the bowels regular and the blood pure, which insures pure Gastric Juice.

"FRUIT-A-TIVES" will correct your indigestion or dyspepsia and enable you to enjoy every meal. Try it.

MONTHLY MEETING OF ANTI-VIVISECTION SOCIETY HERE

Meeting of Anti-Vivisection Board: The monthly meeting of the board of directors of the local Anti-Vivisection Society was held during the week.
 The local society is actively in touch with all large organizations in England and America, and the work is continually increasing. The splendid co-operation of these older societies is a valuable asset, and the directors are kept informed of all proceedings to date.
 The Victoria society has supported the bill for exemption of dogs from vivisection, as presented by the New York Anti-Vivisection Society in the House of Assembly. This is the second time the local society has been called upon to give its support to such a bill. It is probable that a similar bill will be introduced in Canada through the Toronto Society.
 As the first anti-vivisection organization in Canada, the Victoria society is interested in every sign of progress elsewhere, and is glad to learn that a third society is in process of formation at Ottawa.
 In reply to the resolution sent forward from the last public meeting of the organization in Victoria, to Governor Baxter, of the State of Maine, in appreciation of his stand against vivisection, the following reply has been received: "You were very kind to write me as you did under date of January 20, and will you please ex-
