COMPETING FOR PRIZES

COMMITTEES OUTLINE PLANS FOR THE GUIDANCE OF MUNICIPALITIES

A comprehensive idea of just what the Los Angeles County Beautification committee hopes to do toward preparing this part of Southern California for the visit of thousands of tourists next year, is given in a report of a sub-committee of the county beautifiers, read recently before the assembled committeemen. The report outlines not only the projected improvement of the county for next year, but gives us a glimpse of permanent improvements to our cities and rural districts that will undoubtedly result as "by-products" of the great beautification scheme.

Already 3600 trellises are in the process of construction in the county, along the many boulevards and highways. On these trellises 75,000 roses will be planted by the highway commission at the rate of from 300 to 500 a day. The start is made, and work will be rushed from this time until the arrival of visiting hordes next spring. On the great project of turning the county into an immense flower garden, the committee says:

"What the municipalities of Los Angeles county will do toward beautifying with floral effects in preparation for the coming of the exposition visitors in 1915, is a matter entirely up to the cities, individually, and this committee can but provide an impetus, a contest, and a few preliminary suggestions.

"Briefly, we wish to say that the work has been well begun by the committee as relates to the co-operation of the public schools, the railroads and other great organizations. With the assistance of County Superintendent of Schools Mark Keppel, the committee has divided the schools of the county into ten classes, each class to compete within itself. Prizes of $400, $200 and $100 are offered. Each class and the classes are based on the school census of last year. Schools of the smallest attendance are in class one, and each class afterward is carefully graded by attendance, which is a fair and impartial method of classification, we believe.

"Besides the prizes for the beautification of the school grounds, the committee is offering prizes of $1000, $500 and $250 to school districts in territory where there is an unincorporated town or village, which will make the best showing in beautifying the boulevards and highways. The same prizes are also offered to school districts in territory which does not contain a town center, or which might be said to be purely rural.

"This resume will show you what other lines of endeavor are being carried out by the committee. What the cities will do lies largely with the attitude of the city councils of the cities. The committee has planned to offer prizes to the cities in each municipal classification. There will be three classes, one for the cities of a population of 5000 people or less; 15,000 people or less, and 40,000 people or less. Prizes of $1000, $500 and $250 will be offered for each class.

"A very important improvement in the estimation of this committee and one which would come under the head of permanent, would be that of the establishment, in connection with the domestic water system, of an irrigation system for parking spaces in all parts of the municipality. You will pardon us if we go into this suggestion a little.

"The greatest asset which California can claim is its climate, which has as an immediate by-product the wealth of flowers possible in mid-winter months especially, and, of course, all the year around. It is a trite thing to say that California is a land of flowers, but although we here realize this fact so well, it has not yet been sufficiently impressed upon the people who dwell on the other side of the Sierras.

"Small cities, for instance, having a good water supply, may arrange the water system so that there are hydrants at frequent intervals along all the parking spaces. These, perhaps, might be made uniform with the fire hydrants, so that they can be used for the purpose of protection from fire. But, the main point which we are now concerned with is that of the supplying of an adequate irrigating system for all parking purposes. With water, and plenty of it, you will at once improve the condition of your shade trees.

"It is a question whether many city officials have realized the fact that you can't improve streets with macadam and asphalt and lay down sidewalks in the same material, without creating a run-off of 95 per cent of the storm water in the rainy season.

AT THE CHURCHES

CHRISTIAN CHURCH

The sermon by Rev. L. Swindle on Sunday morning was on the great value and all-sufficiency of the Bible. Indeed, when we consider how God has laid down for us either by direct command or strong inference the laws and rules for every condition and relation of life, both to Him and to our fellows, it is a wonder how any of the great religious bodies have found it necessary to supplement these rules by creeds or "confessions" of their own.

We should all rejoice that these latter are being more and more curtailed and eliminated.

Considering the heat, and the fact that a large part of the membership had gone to Long Beach to be present at the closing of the great convention of this church, the attendance Sunday was good. The men's class had thirty-three present and the women thirty-one. The former was taught by Rev. N. J. Wright, who is always able to bring out some very valuable lessons. The interest in this class, as shown by the attendance, is remarkable and is an earnest of what will be accomplished when the fall campaign opens.

Mr. Francis is expected to be back next Sunday. His address at the convention is reported to have been very fine.

The prayer meeting on Wednesday evening will be led by Mrs. Hagin. Subject, "The Mountains and Their Messages." Go!

The regular monthly meeting of the official board will be held this evening.

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH

Sunday morning Rev. John H. Troy gave his fourteenth lecture in the course which has been followed with such interest by Bible students, the theme being "The Kingdom of Heaven in the Epistles."

After Christ's ascension there as well as just preceding his crucifixion the great question among the disciples and also all who had any interest whatever in this wonderful teacher was when his kingdom should be established. The four gospels are full of references to the kingdom of Heaven. But a little later the fact seems to have been established that Christ would come again to establish his kingdom and the emphasis is all on when he should come.

Some churches believe that zealous effort on the part of the church generally will bring in the kingdom, but the Bible distinctly states that God has appointed the time. The pastor spoke of the great world struggle which apparently has just commenced as the greatest crisis in this earth's history and said that the Bible tells us that we shall continue until the coming of the King.

Sunday night Pastor Troy gave another of his popular gospel sermons on "A Human Soul." The young men of the church are taking charge of these evening services, conducting the program and leading the singing as evidence of their desire to do effective work for the Master.

DENSE SMOKE FROM GRASS FIRE

Saturday afternoon the citizens of Glendale saw the sky over Eagle Rock valley filled with dense smoke that gradually drifted back over the hills to Pasadena. At the time the location of the fire was unknown, but late in the afternoon it was reported that the hills between Eagle Rock and Highland Park were afire.

The fire could be plainly seen by passengers on the Glendale carline from points near Klondike Park and the burned area covered several large hills and laid to waste a grove and several residential lots. One bungalow was destroyed and four others were damaged by the fire, which kept one hundred firefighters busy until after sundown.

Among the damage the fire caused was the ruination of one of the firefighter's white flannel pants worth eighty dollars, and the humility of having to fight a grass fire while his young lady friend waited long and late in his automobile for a trip to the beach. A lawsuit has been instituted against the state by the humbled tobacco salesman, who was the victim of the deputy fire warden.

Another queer incident of the fire was the burning up of a load of furniture in the center of a Pasadena residence street, which was ignited when a spark from the grass fire blew three miles and ignited the mattress in the load of household goods.

The fire was not discovered until it was too late to save the load. The horses were unhitched and numerous members of Pasadena's society viewed the burning wagon. Sparks fell all over the business part of Pasadena during the afternoon.

STORM DRAIN DISTRICT

SUPERVISORS AUTHORIZE FORMATION OF PROTECTION DISTRICT FOR GLENDALE

At a meeting of the board of supervisors of Los Angeles county this morning, City Attorney Evans of Glendale appeared with a communication to the board in regard to forming a district to protect this community from the flood waters of the Verdugo mountains.

The supervisors requested the county council, in conjunction with Attorney Evans, to prepare the necessary resolution of intention and present the same at the meeting of the board next Monday, when final action will be taken to form the storm drain district.

ROBERT ELEY DROWNED

Robert S. Eley, fourteen-year-old son of Fire Chief Eley of Los Angeles and grandson of Mr. and Mrs. George Eley of 1210 Lomita avenue, Glendale, was drowned Sunday while bathing at Bimini Springs. There was a great crowd of bathers in the plunge at the time, but just how the boy met his death is not certain. He must have collapsed from heart failure or have gone in the water while overheated or too soon after eating as there were no bruises on his body. In six minutes after the body was taken from the water physicians were endeavoring to revive the boy with a pulmonary, but all efforts were in vain. The boy sank unseen in the midst of two hundred bathers and drowned in four feet of water. He was a good swimmer. Robert was the youngest of a family of four boys and two girls.

SUNDAY DINNER

A basket of crimson carnations glowed from the center of a 5 o'clock dinner table presided over by Mrs. George Meido Harrison of 1557 Myrtle street Sunday evening when she entertained as guests in her home Miss Helen Davis of Chicago, Mrs. Mattie Barnard, Mr. Frazier and Mr. Vincent Morgan of Los Angeles.

Fancy red bonnet baskets were also used and covers set for eight, as Mr. Harrison and the two beautiful little Harrison children were also present.

LARGE RECEPTION

Everyone is looking forward to the big reception to be given tomorrow at La Ramada by Mrs. Zulema Fuller Wallace, dramatic reader. Two hundred and fifty invitations have been issued and many Los Angeles artists as well as members of Glendale's social circles will be present.

Y. P. B. MEETING

An adjourned meeting of the Young People's Branch of the W. C. T. U. will be held this evening at the home of Will Richards, 117 S. Adams. Mr. Richards is president of the society and requests that all members be present, as plans are to be made for the Y. P. B. convention to be held in Los Angeles the last of August.

FORGETTING OURSELVES

The great excitement caused by wars and rumors of wars is causing people of the United States to forget about themselves. That such is the case will work good results, for as a people we have no reason for complaint.

We are a favored people and have opportunities not afforded to people of other nations.

Times have been good in the United States and yet there have been those who have found fault. There are some people who will find fault, however good conditions may be.

The truly industrious man seldom finds time to complain. He is so absorbed in the business he is pursuing that he has no time to do else than look on the bright side of things.

Foreign subjects who are in this country find it a hardship to leave occupations of their liking and go back to engage in war. It is only under very extreme circumstances that citizens of the United States would be called upon to serve their country thus.

The California Congress of Mothers which for twelve years had headquarters in Los Angeles, will make its state headquarters in Oakland hereafter. A communication has been received by the board of education from the president of the organization asking that rooms in the city hall be given the body as a meeting place on certain days. The matter will be referred to the city council, with the recommendation that the wishes of the body be met.

HENRY G. PETTITT

YOUNG TROPICO LAWYER FINDS GRAVE BENEATH DEEP SEA WAVES

Sunday occurred a tragedy which devastated a happy home in Tropico when the merciless Pacific claimed the life of Attorney Henry G. Pettitt.

Mr. Pettitt, in company with his cousin, Douglas P. Radford, and Chas. Soule, both of Los Angeles, was out in Mr. Radford's sailing yacht, the Adventure. The accident occurred when they were about a mile south-west of the San Pedro breakwater. Mr. Radford was shifting the sail when the jib-boom struck Mr. Pettitt knocking him overboard into fifty fathoms of water. His companions did not see the accident and failed to miss him for several minutes. The sea was rough and the vessel was sailing rapidly and they soon left the place where the tragedy occurred.

When it was discovered that Mr. Pettitt was gone from his place, Mr. Radford endeavored to put back over the course they had followed, but no trace of Mr. Pettitt's body could be found. A search was instituted by near-by fishing vessels, which was continued until night, but all efforts were in vain and it is very probable that Mr. Pettitt's body will never be found.

Henry G. Pettitt was born in England twenty-nine years ago. He came here eight years ago and obtained a position as a carpenter, proving himself industrious, capable and ambitious. He began the study of law, in which he proved an adept and at the time of his death had an office in Tropico and was also connected with the law firm of Tanner & Odell. Until recently he was associated with N. C. Burch, now city clerk of Tropico, who gives him all praise as a fine young man, a close student, a clear and forcible reasoner and a man with promise of a noteworthy career before him.

A heart-broken young wife and four-year-old boy in the home at 126 North Central avenue, Tropico, mourn his death. Mr. and Mrs. Pettitt were planning a trip to his home in England in the near future.

The entire community is stirred by this accident, which removed this promising young man from earthly scenes.

REV. A. M. ELLIOT

Rev. Alfred M. Elliot, a local deacon of the M. E. church, passed away this morning at the family residence, 1453 Oak street. Funeral services will take place Wednesday morning at half past ten from the West Glendale M. E. church, of which he was a member.

Rev. Elliot came to Glendale three and a half years ago on account of ill health following twenty-three years' active service as a regular pastor in Iowa and as a supply in the Des Moines conference of the M. E. church.

He leaves a wife and two children, Mrs. J. L. Long of Burbank and Paul Elliot of Glendale, and a host of friends to mourn his loss.

AT LA RAMADA

Among those who entertained at this popular resort Sunday was Mrs. J. Tompkins of Long Beach, who had as her guests Mrs. J. H. Pittengow and Addie F. Harris of Boise, Idaho, and Mr. B. J. Marvin and Miss Naomi Tompkins of Long Beach.

Mr. and Mrs. Menzo Williams, recently returned from an extended world tour, entertained Miss Williams, Miss Nellie Williams and Miss Jones at dinner at La Ramada Sunday.

Attorney Frederick Baker and family of North Maryland avenue repaired to La Ramada Sunday, where they dined.

MERCHANTS AT LA RAMADA

Members of the Glendale Merchants' Association will hold a banquet and business meeting at the La Ramada restaurant, Casa Verdugo, Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock. This will be an unique affair, as it will be the first time that the merchants in a body have had an invitation to spend an evening at this noted restaurant. An excellent menu has been prepared.

SAN FRANCISCO'S POCKETBOOK

San Francisco's bank resources at the end of the last fiscal year totaled $529,341,887, an increase of $28,855,169 over the total for the previous year. According to these figures the city by the Golden Gate is richer than ever before. The outstanding loans of the city's banks aggregate $285,000.

MOTORCYCLE PICNIC

DEALERS ENTERTAIN RIDERS— 2500 PEOPLE AND 1500 MOTORCYCLES

Twenty-five hundred people, fifteen hundred motorcycles, six hundred and fifty with tandem attachments and one hundred cycles with the side car attachment, were at Verdugo park Sunday in attendance of the dealers' picnic, which was tendered to the motorcycle riding public in general.

Paul J. C. Derkum of Los Angeles was in charge of affairs. The major part of the riders were from Los Angeles and anybody owning an engine mounted on two or three wheels was eligible to ride out in the parade, which left Los Angeles at Ninth and Main streets at 9:20.

The long line of machines, which was probably one of the largest assembly of motorcycles at one time in the world's history, proceeded to the beautiful Verdugo park by the way of the San Fernando road, Central avenue, Colorado boulevard (Sixth street) and the historic Verdugo road, having paved boulevards all of the way for the two-wheeled riders.

At the arrival at the park many games and sports were participated in until lunch time, when watermelons, ice cream and coffee were dispensed with free of charge by the Los Angeles dealers. A carload of watermelons and twenty-five dollars' worth of ice cream were given away during the afternoon. Various motorcycle contests for both men and women were indulged in and dancing was a most attractive feature of the afternoon and evening.

The picnicers enjoyed their festive day to such an extent that the dealers will no doubt hold another like event next year. Verdugo park also came in for its share of the praise and the management is to be commended on the way this successful picnic was handled, even though Manager Salzer's ice cream and pop supply gave out long before the day was over. Verdugo park will no doubt prove an attractive place for many picnics this summer, due to the success of Sunday's affair.

John Galt, the janitor at the G. U. H. S., and manager of the Verdugo park baseball team, succeeded in making the Los Angeles boys and girls who picnicked at the Merchants' and Manufacturers' annual motorcycle picnic at Verdugo park Sunday look up and take notice of a Glendale cyclist. John took fifteen dollars in prizes, which was certainly a good day's pay for a good day's work.

Being manager of a baseball club, he understood the art of "hollering" and when it came to the "yelling contest," he was right there with the goods and the nine other contestants sounded like tin whistles compared to a foghorn when our local contestant got under steam. The other prizes won by Mr. Galt were: High jump, $5; sprints, $2.50; broad jump, $2.50.

ANNOUNCEMENT!

The Shakespeare section of the Tuesday Afternoon Club, which was postponed from last Wednesday, will meet this coming Wednesday, August 5th, at 2:30 o'clock at the residence of Mrs. W. E. Evans, 113 Orange street.

This meeting is being held for the purpose of organizing the Shakespeare section for the coming year's work and after Wednesday will not meet again until after the opening of the club year.

Miss Bertha Jackson, recently from Kentucky, will be the instructor, giving "The Taming of the Shrew" at Wednesday's meeting.

This section of the club promises to be one of the club features next year and all club members are eligible to join.

A GOOD RECORD

The police department reports but thirteen arrests Sunday for speeding and a number of these were automobiles. These arrests were not due to the motorcycle picnickers especially. Although there were twenty-five hundred visitors in town, not one arrest was made for disorderly conduct, which certainly is a splendid record for both town and visitors.

WE APPRECIATE IT, TOO

If you should undertake to write a letter to an absent friend every week telling him all the news, you would get a faint idea of the task in preparing a newspaper. Many of our townspeople recognize this and take pleasure in giving items of news. It helps us and is appreciated.—Venice Vanguard.

VISIT CENTRAL SQUARE

LOCAL PEOPLE ENJOY OUTING AT NEWLY OPENED BEACH TRACT

Quite a number of our townspeople took advantage of the free excursion to Central Square on Sunday. These trips are personally conducted by the Nickerson & Adams Real Estate Company of Los Angeles.

Adda M. Post, also of Los Angeles, had charge of the Glendale contingency and she left nothing undone to make her guests comfortable and to make one feel as if he or she should purchase beach property whether they wanted to buy or not. A very dainty lunch was served immediately after arriving on the grounds. We were then treated to a thirty minute lecture by Mr. Adams, one of the members of the firm, who pictured in glowing terms the future of all Southern California. Mr. Adams is a real estate man of some note and spoke very convincingly of the rapid strides that real estate values are sure to make in the very near future in Los Angeles county, giving five main reasons why real estate values will increase steadily.

First—The Panama canal, which brings Los Angeles 7000 water miles closer to New York and within 70 miles of the great ocean water road traveled by 85% of the vessels going from the United States and Europe across the Pacific to the Orient.

Second—The harbor, which is today handling one-half as much tonnage as Liverpool and one-third as much as New York, and which handles now more oil and more lumber than any other harbor in the world.

Third—The aqueduct, which handles enough water to create a million electrical horse power, besides furnishing water enough to irrigate one million acres of land and furnish water to a million population for domestic purposes.

Fourth—The two great international expositions in 1915, which are sure to bring millions of visitors to California and according to statistics of the past year, one out of every ten remain permanently, which according to the estimates of the railroads means an increase of 250,000 population to Los Angeles county alone.

Fifth—The good old Southern California climate, which has no equal.

Taking it all in all, it was a very pleasant trip and everyone seemed to be well pleased with the treatment accorded them by the company and especially do we commend Miss Post for the manner in which she conducted the excursion from Glendale.

WATCH GLENDALE GROW

"I believe Glendale is doing more building right now than any other city of its size in Southern California," said a Los Angeles man the other morning, who had passed through Glendale a number of times of late.

The building permits of the past month bear him out in that statement and the next three months, although considered poor months for building, will go further in proving that Glendale is the most substantially growing community in the great South-west.

The class of improvements this year have had "real class" to them and are not of the shed variety common to a number of fast growing towns. The more buildings of a substantial sort will only tend to cause more of the same sort to be erected. Let the good work go on—and watch Glendale grow!

DINNER AND CARDS

Delightful indeed was the informal dinner and card party presided over by Mrs. Ed M. Lynch in her home, 907 Damasco court, one evening last week.

Everything was in gold and white, quantities of old-fashioned marigolds having showered their bright crinkly heads over the dinner table and through the rooms given over to the affair.

Five Hundred followed and was likewise enjoyed by Mr. and Mrs. W. Elmer Evans, Mr. and Mrs. George Woodberry, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Watlies, Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Tower, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lynch and the host and hostess.

Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Gorrell and daughter Nellie and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kuntzner and son Burton spent the afternoon Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Lyman Maxwell at Little Landers. A punctured tire enroute added zest to the visit.

SLAV VS. TEUTON

In an interesting article on the significance of conflict between Austria and Serbia, Max Socha, president of the German-American Alliance, says the struggle is really a race war, Slav against Teuton, East against West. In his analysis of the situation, Mr. Socha says: "Should war break out—it will be a war between the Slav and Teuton—a conflict between eastern and western civilization. The American press shows a woeful lack of appreciation of the causes which led to the present disturbance and appears to be guided in their expressions solely by sympathy for what seems to them the cause of the 'under dog.'"

"The Balkan states are mere cats-paws in the hands of Russia. For more than a century it has been the aim of Russia to provide its commerce with a seaport and a harbor free from ice. This desire resulted in the Russian-Turkish war in 1877, also in the Japanese war, in the division of Persia by Russia and England, in the conquest of Finland and even now Sweden and Norway are threatened by the danger of war."

"Austria-Hungary has stood in Russia's way in acquiring a seaport on the Adriatic. For years Russian spies have overrun Austria and corrupted a number of Austrian military officials with Russian gold. Ever since 1909 part of the Austrian army has been in a state of mobilization in fear of Russian invasion. The fine hand of Russia inspired the Balkan wars of recent history, in the hope of involving Austria."

"Russia has now decided that the time has come when Austria should be crushed. Germany, closely allied to Austria-Hungary in language, race and tradition, cannot stand by and see its only ally annihilated by Russia. It is her duty to defend her civilization, her national integrity against the Slav hordes of the Russian empire."

"Neither the German emperor nor Emperor Franz Josef desire war. The German people are a peace-loving race. The present conflict is a fight for racial independence—a fight against the aggression of Russia, backed by 150,000,000 Slavs. History may repeat itself and once more western civilization may be overrun by the hordes of the East as in the Dark Ages when Roman civilization fell before the Huns under Attila."

"Revenge for the defeat of 1870-71 inspired the alliance of France with Russia. The unholy and unnatural alliance of England with Russia is the result of the rapid growth of Germany's industry and commerce. If Germany and Austria fall under the impact of the Russian colossus, then it will be only a question of time when France and England will be under the absolute dominion of the Slav people."

"American newspapers receive their European information from English and French sources. This news service is distorted and colored to inspire distrust and hatred against Germany. The Reuter Bureau of London has for years systematically dispensed news intended to damage Germany and to manufacture sentiment against the aggressive commercial policy of Austria-Hungary and the Fatherland. All news coming from London and Paris should be taken with a grain of salt as to its reliability and veracity."

VANGUARD EXPRESSES OUR THOUGHTS

For the sake of argument, suppose you can make a few cents by buying goods in the big city, you are injuring your community to the extent of many dollars by retarding progress and the increased valuation of all kinds of property, including your own. Stand together, and together all will prosper. Divide and prosperity will flee.—Venice Vanguard.

A statistician has figured that to raise a boy in the simplest way from babyhood to eighteen years of age costs $4000. If that is true, let the statistician figure out the problem of how a man who earns $1.50 a day rears four boys and three girls without begging, borrowing or stealing. And it has been done, is being done and will be done.

TROPICO

The dance given by the ladies of the Tropic Thursday Afternoon Club at the Masonic hall Saturday evening proved such a charming social as well as successful financial affair that another dance will be given some time during next month. Guests included prominent society folks of not only Tropic, but from Glendale and Los Angeles. Henning's popular orchestra furnished the music.

Harbor Industrial City

At Los Angeles Harbor

Glendale Excursion
Wednesday, Aug. 5
(10:30 A. M., Sharp)

This is something for you to consider very seriously. You must act quickly to assure your profits as over $90,000 worth of property has been sold within the past few weeks. Why? Because Harbor Industrial City is the logical CENTER of the Industrial Harbor of the future. It is already established—a growing community, getting bigger every day—a nucleus for factories that will produce WORLD PRODUCTS.

You can benefit in the profits. Soon a big factory will DEMAND your site and cost will not count. You have an opportunity to do at Los Angeles Harbor what only capitalists have done elsewhere. And you can do it for just $10 per month. At acreage prices today in the new addition to Harbor Industrial City you can buy 1/2-ACRE TRACTS $550 TO $900

This excursion will be over the Harbor Loop Trip, through Wilmington past the new Municipal Piers (built at a great cost by the city of Los Angeles), around the West Basin and into Harbor Industrial City.

Every interesting feature will be pointed out and fully explained by experts who KNOW the harbor.

Luncheon will be served at Harbor Industrial City.

You will be given an opportunity to see all of the harbor and study its wonderful development.

On the return trip you will be routed over a different line to see the big industries that have come to this section and to comprehend what they mean.

son. This deprives the shade trees of irrigation. Many of our shade trees do not go deep enough to supply themselves with sub-irrigation, and in the greater portion of this county there is no such thing as a sub-irrigation in our sandy soil.

"Irrigating the shade trees on a regular schedule is one important matter. Then comes the comparatively simple matter of planting out the parking spaces, street by street, with flowering shrubs and plants. A city can be made wondrously beautiful if its streets are lined with color schemes of flowers, all of them under a fine state of cultivation and irrigation. If this question of the caring for the parking spaces is left to the property holder and renter, you may be able to compel everyone to clean up the parking spaces, but you can't make them spend adequate time and thought upon them, and what is more, you will always have streets that will be as diversified in color schemes as was the famous coat of Joseph. A city might lay out each street in a different flower, such as poppies, petunias, geraniums, etc., or a good landscape gardener might furnish a color scheme that would be a wonderful enhancement to the present methods of leaving the beautifying to the property holder.

"We have spoken of the two things upon which the awarding will be made. There is another thirty-three and one-third per cent left, which will have relation to the vacant lot. This is probably the most important thing in connection with the contest with municipalities.

"Probably nearly all of the representatives assembled here today have been in Southern California for a number of years. They know, then, that the months of July, August, September and November are the arid months of the year, when the hills are a tawny brown, and when vegetation everywhere, excepting where it is under irrigation, is dried and dead. In the beautiful little cities of Southern California we see them, at this time of year, homes surrounded with velvet lawns of emerald and scarlet geraniums and a thousand kinds of flowers growing where the people have made their homes.

"But, the very next lot to the beautiful one may be a vacant lot, and on it a few fruit trees in the last throes of death from water starvation. The leaves of the trees are off and the branches are stark, unnatural witnesses of neglect.

"It is really not enough that you enforce the ordinance against the dumping of cans on vacant lots. In Southern California, where our greatest asset is the chance for beautifying, it is not enough that you compel the cleaning of the weeds from a vacant lot, but you should go farther and supply trees on vacant lots with irrigating water at the expense of the property owner, or else compel him to cut them down or take care of them himself. There is no more mournful sight in the orange districts, for instance, than to see some subdivision, which has been made out of orange groves, half dead and shriveled for want of water. In a land where the fruit tree is itself a beautiful thing, it is in the nature of a Death's Head at the Feast for the municipalities to allow the half dead trees to mar the beauty of the remainder of the city. Every member of this committee lives in towns where such conditions do exist, and we know that we could enhance the beauty of the municipality an hundred fold if we could only devise a plan that would take care of the half dead fruit trees on the vacant lots. If municipalities had a system, the question of the dried-up vacant lot would be eliminated. If you can find some way to irrigate the vacant lot by compulsion as you now compel all property owners to cut weeds, then the question of how to beautify the vacant lot would be solved."

A PLEA TO THE BOYS

Oh, boys, why do you wander,
Far away from home and God,
Away from right and duty
Along the sinners' road?

Come back, come back, my brother,
'Tis Christ invites you now;
Come leave your sin and folly
At Jesus' love to bow!

Oh, turn to Christ your savior,
And seek Him while you may;
His power will stop your sinning
And save you now, today.

His grace will make you happy,
His spirit will set you free.
'Tis Jesus now who's calling,
"Come quickly unto me."

Response

I'm coming, Lord and Master,
Forsaking all my sin;
I'll trust thee now to pardon
And make me pure and clean.

O Jesus, mighty Savior,
I look to thee alone,
I ask thy great salvation
To make me all thine own.

Come, Oh, thou holy spirit!
Come quickly from above;
Oh, make my heart thy temple
And fill my soul with love!

—Written by Rev. A. B. Smart at Glendale, Cal., Jan. 20th, 1914.

According to an English statesman, a general war in Europe can last twenty years. In this day and age of civilization it should not even last twenty seconds.

FIVE NATIONS IN WAR

The present position in the European war is that Russia, France and Serbia are arrayed on one side against Austria-Hungary and Germany on the other. How long the warfare will be confined to this plane it is impossible to foretell, nor can it be foretold whether Belgium and Holland will be able to maintain their neutrality against their powerful neighbor or whether Great Britain will find herself compelled to send an expeditionary force to attempt to preserve that neutrality.

Another factor which as yet has not been given much consideration is the attitude of Turkey, which, if she has sufficiently recovered from the effects of her late war with Italy, may be able to throw considerable weight into the scale. It is generally understood that Germany has an effective understanding with Turkey which may lead to interesting developments.

FAULT OF THE DICTIONARY

A business concern, after running its own trade organ for some time, decided that it must have a printing department under its own supervision, because it found that "the ordinary printing office is not properly equipped to get out large quantities of special matter on short notice in an up-to-date manner and at an "equinomial" cost. Soon after one partner turned to the other and inquired:

"Do you spell 'e-q-u-e' or 'e-q-u-i' in 'equinomial'?"

"I am not sure," said the other. "Look in the dictionary."

The second came to help him, but had no better success. Then they stared at each other in astonishment till one exclaimed:

"Well, what do you think of a man that would get up a big dictionary like that and not put in such a common word as 'equinomial'?"—Argonaut.

Aerial warfare, the type which has heretofore been described by writers of fiction, has become a reality in the fullest sense of the word. When Roland Garros, Frenchman, rammed his monoplane into a German Zeppelin dirigible and killed its crew of twenty-five men and meeting death himself in the deadly work of aerial warfare, he went down in history as a martyred hero of aerial defense.

WORK

The universe consists of workers, work and works, or laborers, labor and products. Christ was and is a worker, and says "My Father worketh and now I work." Work is the law. He says to all, "Son, go into my vineyard today, at once, and work." And "What is right I will give you." Work is worship. It should be done with that motive. "Who will not work neither let him eat." Let him that steals steal no more, but let him rather labor, working with his hands, doing with his hands the thing that is good that he may have to give to him that needeth. "An idler is a sinner." "An idle brain is the devil's workshop." Satan finds some mischief still for idle hands to do. The devil tempts everybody, but idleness tempts the devil. When men, royal or menial, adopt the motto, "I won't work," they should be shut in by a gordon of troops with shotguns and fixed bayonets and distinctly told, "You shall have good work with good treatment and fair wages and proper honor or you may starve." Which will you have?

Any work of hand or brain that is a benefit to others is honorable, and those who despise it should be driven to it till they like it. The law should be work or starve. Parents who teach their children that it is low, and they are not to work but may despise work and workers are cursing them for life.

Hoarding wealth to live in idleness is a crime against one's self, society and our successors. From this hoarding comes nearly all the ills to which humanity is heir.

Don't take blind curves too fast.

Don't take chances in passing street cars when passengers are boarding or leaving.

Don't forget that a car or a person may be just around the corner.

Don't take chances.

Don't forget "Safety First."

Weidner, the imperial German consul at Los Angeles, has ordered that all Germans subject to military duty shall return to the Fatherland at once, as Germany is in a state of war with the empire of Russia.

There is plenty of money in the banks of California to move the state's heavy crops and to meet the requirements of its business and industrial enterprises. If this does not spell a lively phase of prosperity, what does it spell?

If General Carranza had less obstinacy and more tact, the chances of immediate peace in Mexico would be brightened.

Everybody thinks he knows how to run a newspaper and the editor tells everybody how to run everything else. So it is just about an even break.
