First Aerial Tour of Island Begins Here

Impressed with the beauty of the Island, as seen from the broad air lanes, on his usual flight between Seattle and Victoria in connection with the United States Aerial Mail Service, Eddie Hubbard and his bride, accompanied by a party, six in all, embarked this afternoon in the Inner Harbor in the Hubbard flying boat for the first aerial holiday excursion yet taken on this Island.

With Eddie Hubbard piloting, and his bride at his side, the machine took the air from the waters of the harbor. Completing the party are Mr. and Mrs. George Weiler, Miss Inez Gonnason and Mr. Hanbury, all friends of the aerial postman, George Weiler and Hubbard flew as instructors to the U. S. aviation corps at Fort Worth, Texas, and in California for many months during the war, where Hubbard trained hundreds of American pilots for service overseas.

Snatching a much needed rest from the aerial postal service, which calls him out to face all weathers in the Seattle to Victoria flight, Hubbard watched his schedule under a clear space was noted and that period arrived to-day. No boats that affect Hubbard will call at this port or sail for the next five or six days, so their opportunity and took the air to-day, all prepared for an enjoyable aerial tour of the upper section of the Island.

HOUSING MONEY ALL ALLOTTED

Municipalities Keen For Share of $340,000

For the building of houses for returned soldiers under the Better Housing Scheme, the Provincial Government has just completed allotting a final appropriation of $340,000 to the municipalities of the Province.

This allotment brings the total so far distributed among the municipalities up to $1,701,500. Money is distributed by the municipalities in the form of loans to returned men who want to build houses. They pay back the principal by a sinking fund running over twenty years.

Contrary to reports recently circulated, through the Province, several millions of dollars made available to the Province as further Better Housing funds, the Government has been advised by the Dominion Government that $340,000 only is the total additional amount available for British Columbia, said one of the high officials of the Government in charge of the scheme.

Such a sum as $340,000 makes it possible only to assist those municipalities where the housing situation is represented as being acute and where repeated requests for such funds have been advanced by the municipal authorities.

TWO GERMANS ARE GIVEN FOUR YEARS

Dittmar and Boldt Will Not Work Hard Latest War Crime-Decision at Leipzig

Leipzig, July 16.—Lieut. Dittmar and Lieut. Boldt, charged with murder in the first degree for firing on lifeboats after the Canadian hospital ship Llandovery Castle had been torpedoed in the Summer of 1918, were each sentenced to-day to four years imprisonment.

The sentences do not carry hard labor with them, as demanded by the Public Prosecutor. The cases of Dittmar and Boldt differed from the others which had been heard by the Supreme Court here in connection with trials growing out of violations of the rules of civilized warfare, in that the two accused were brought to trial by the German Public Prosecutor. Great Britain only had demanded the trial of Patzig, who was commander of the submarine which torpedoed the Llandovery Castle, and who fled the country. The Public Prosecutor, however, after an examination of the evidence, ordered Dittmar and Boldt to be placed on trial.

Empire Conference Will Close With Advances Achieved

Close Observers in Britain Say Holding of Sessions Justified; Paved Way For Disarmament Conference and Discussion of Pacific Problems.

London, July 16.—(By Grattan O'Leary, Staff Correspondent of the Canadian Press)—With the congress of Prime Ministers of the Empire nearing its close, it is now possible to sum up what it has achieved. This, in brief, may be done under seven heads as follows:

1. It paved the way for and made possible the great disarmament conference of the world powers. 2. Its deliberations resulted in the decision that the Anglo-Japanese Alliance must be brought into harmony with the covenant of the League of Nations, which means that the military clauses of the treaty must be eliminated, and it prompted the idea of a conference on Pacific problems, which if it is successful will make the Anglo-Japanese Alliance unnecessary.

PREMIERS SHELVE NAVAL QUESTION

Conference May Pass Non-Committal Resolution

London, July 16.—(By Grattan O'Leary, Staff Correspondent of the Canadian Press)—As a result of the informal discussions of the past few days, the naval question will be shelved by the conference of Empire Prime Ministers. This course has been urged by Premier Meighen from the beginning, and its adoption has been rendered inevitable by the decision to have the disarmament conference at Washington. It is probable that some form of resolution will be passed but it will have no relation to policy or any contemplated action, and it will commit the respective Dominion governments.

It is not at all improbable that the question of the place and date for the discussion of other matters in connection with the proposed constitutional conference will be left in the hands of the Canadian Press. It is in a position to state that this is the view held by at least two Dominion Prime Ministers, both of whom have indicated their opposition to a resolution of 1917 urging the holding of a constitutional conference as soon as possible after the war. The argument they now use is that the international situation is in a state of flux, the question of devising machinery suitable to the changed status of the Empire, with its attendant danger of throwing the whole question into the vortex of domestic politics, can safely be delayed. In a word, their position is to leave well enough alone.

CONSTITUTIONAL QUESTION

As anticipated in these dispatches from the beginning, the naval question was not discussed. The matter came up in a general way in connection with the consideration of the Anglo-Japanese Alliance, and it is believed that an innocuous non-committal resolution will be passed in connection with it, but there has been no attempt to formulate a policy and no suggestion whatsoever from any quarter that the whole problem should be laid aside pending the day in the resolution of 1918, namely, Dominion control, should be departed from. The contention of Premier Meighen that the whole problem should be laid aside pending the day in the resolution of 1918, namely, Dominion control, should be departed from. London, July 16.—(Canadian Press)—Premier Meighen will sail for Canada next Thursday. If the Pacific Conference held there, which seems unlikely, he will return for it. On the other hand if it is held in Washington he will attend it there. To-day the Canadian Prime Minister went to Cardiff, Wales, to visit friends, and on Monday he will be in Edinburgh to receive the freedom of the city and an honorary citizenship.

CANADA'S SHARE IS $300,000,000

Will Get That Sum If Germany Pays Reparations Fully

Ottawa, July 16.—Canada's share of the reparations which Germany is to pay the British Empire has been fixed by the Prime Ministers' conference in London at $300,000,000.

Under the decision of the Allied Supreme Council, the total German reparations bill was placed at $1,800,000,000, or roughly speaking, $300,000,000. Of this sum, the British Empire was allotted 25 per cent, and under the decision reached at London conference yesterday, Canada is to receive 4.5 per cent of the British Empire total. This works out at about $135,000,000, or in other words, it represents about one-eighth of the Canadian national debt.

Speculation.
 A dispatch received from London last evening announcing the decision of the Prime Ministers' conference said: "Whether Germany will be able to pay the whole, or any substantial part of it, and if so, when, is a different matter."

"Sir Robert Horne, the British Chancellor of the Exchequer, who took part in the negotiations which resulted in Canada receiving a share as announced, is understood to be hopeful that the Germans are, or will be in a position to pay a considerable amount, but on the other hand a great many financial authorities here view the prospect of the collection of any substantial sum as being difficult, if not impossible."

"The division of the British Empire share has been made on the basis of casualties, pensions, expenditure and the loss of shipping by the various portions of the Empire."

DISEASE AMONG CANADIAN CATTLE KEPT AT MINIMUM

Ottawa, July 16.—The efforts of the Dominion Department of Agriculture to assure a clean bill of health for Canadian livestock, has been unusually successful, it is asserted by officials of the Department, and Canada is acknowledged all over the world, even by those people in Great Britain and Ireland who favor the retention of the embargo on the importation of live stock, to be the healthiest of all countries for livestock. This enviable reputation is the result of years of patient efforts and vigilance.

No animal, dead or alive, and no product made from the carcass of an animal may be shipped out of Canada without a certificate from the Department of Agriculture. These certificates are stamped at points of departure and arrival.

Canned foods, such as meats, fruits and vegetables, are all subject to the same rigid inspection. Imported animals and foods have to undergo the same test. Not only the articles themselves must be healthy, but also the factories, warehouses and stores from which they come, the cars, boats and other conveyances that carry them must be clean and must pass inspection.

The main argument for lifting the present British embargo against Canadian store cattle, it is stated by the Department, is based on the fact that for twenty-five years or more a disease animal has not been shipped from Canada to any other country. During that period no contagious disease of a serious nature has made its appearance among Canadian cattle. During the war period complaints were fewer than in normal times, it was stated by the British Ministry of Food.

California, has established the highest standards for canned foods, and other countries have also adopted the Canadian methods of inspection, certificates of health, of containers and of labeling.

PREMIER MEIGHEN SPOKE IN LONDON

Referred to Problems and Strength of Empire

London, July 15.—Speaking at a luncheon given in his honor at the Mansion House here this afternoon after the freedom of the City of London had been conferred upon him, Premier Meighen said in part:

"I have a word to say now as to how you should regard the Dominions. In our political institution we are indeed a replica of this country. The head of these institutions, as the sovereign common to us all, and revered by us all.

"In that fact—in what I may call that momentous similarity between our institutions and the institutions of the British Empire on earth and the secret of our mission on earth and the secret of our unity. But I doubt if there is any other respect in which the relations of the Dominion to the Motherland. Our geography is different, our neighborhood is different, our racial composition is different. The assets of the Dominion are different, they are also different. No two nations of this Empire have the same path to tread. Each has difficulties and enjoy advantages all its own."

Must Shape Course.

"These are powerful, immovable facts. And because they are facts we have to shape our plans to meet them. It is true that we have each other's security to consider, and the peril of one is the peril of all, but subject to that consideration, each Dominion must determine its policy in the light of conditions that surround it. What may be right for one may be entirely wrong for another. What may be right for one may be entirely wrong for another. What may be right for one may be entirely wrong for another. What may be right for one may be entirely wrong for another."

Some Men Seem to Have All the Luck.

Some men seem to have all the luck. If there are any good things going these men seem to get them. If they are business men they are successful; if they are workmen they get the foreman's job. They have the power of influencing people. The same is true of women. Some have the charm that makes men seek them out; others are neglected. But this is not luck. It is due to a personal gift—vitality. Men and women of this sort are never weak, puny invalids. They may not be big, but they are full of life and energy. The whole thing is a matter of good blood, good nerves and good health. If everyone would wish to be like this and the qualities that make for vitality and energy are purely a matter of health. By building up the blood and nerves, sleeplessness, want of energy, weakness of the back, headache, which really comes from weakness can be got rid of. ### PARTY LOOKED OVER ST. LAWRENCE ROUTE

Tidewater Association Members Visited Quebec

Quebec, July 16.—That it would take some little time before the suggested water facilities between the United States and Canada could materialize was the opinion of George M. Bosworth, chairman of the Canadian Pacific Ocean Services, in extending a welcome here yesterday afternoon to the members of the Great Lakes and St. Lawrence Tidewater Association, who reached here after a 4-day trip along Lake Ontario and the St. Lawrence.

The trip reached its climax at Quebec. The purpose of the association is to further the proposed deepening of the St. Lawrence River to afford access to ocean-going liners to the Great Lakes and at Quebec contact was really made with deepsea navigation, when the delegation, including several Governors of States, Senators, Congressmen and prominent business men of the United States, inspected the fine C. P. O. S. liner Empress of France, which arrived here Thursday.

Mr. Bosworth said the travelers had seen enough during their trip to impress them with the necessity for further water communication between the St. Lawrence and the United States. Should these suggested facilities materialize, it would certainly work a great change in the relations of the two countries, not only in the matter of transportation, but in these days of the high price of coal was of great importance as a supplementary source of fuel. He hoped the delegates would make their trip a longer one across the ocean, when they would find that the Canadian Pacific Ocean Services was the best to be interested.

Senator Randall of Louisiana, after remarking incidentally that he personally had a great interest in the development of Canada, because he was a direct descendant of the Acadians, who after being displaced of their lands in Nova Scotia in 1755 had settled in Louisiana, expressed the thanks of the entire delegation for the courtesy that had been extended to them by the Canadian Pacific Railway and the Canadian Government during their journey.

It is stated that this was the beginning of a much closer relationship between Canada and the United States. As a citizen of the United States, even as far of Louisiana, away down South in Dixie, he said that not one of the American members of the party had failed to be inspired by the magnitude of the entire undertaking it single handed and carried through. The first estimated cost had been $10,000,000, but in actual cost was between $30,000,000 and $45,000,000.

Looked Over Ship.

After luncheon on the steamship Empress of France, an inspection of the ship was made, conducted by Captain Cook and C. E. Benjamin, passenger traffic manager of the Canadian Pacific Ocean Services. The delegates were very much interested in the war record of the ship, as chronicled on a tablet in the lounge and which the captain during the war she was flagship of the patrol.

between the St. Lawrence and Iceland and had intercepted 15,000 ships, escorted convoys and had steamed nearly 267,000 knots. Moving pictures were taken on the boat deck of the entire party.

During the afternoon the visitors were guests of the Governor-General and of the Lieutenant-Governor, Sir Charles Fitzpatrick. The Dominion of Canada was represented by Rt. Hon. C. J. Doherty, Minister of Justice, who joined the party at Montreal.

The party, included in the party were Henry J. Allen, Governor of Kansas; James Hartness, Governor of Vermont; W. H. McMaster, Governor of South Dakota; J. A. O. Proulx, Governor of Minnesota; E. J. ### HOUSES IN RUSSIA FOR "HAND WORKERS"

Reval, Esthonia, July 14.—The Petrograd Soviet has decided to distribute to the workmen there all of the household furnishings left in homes abandoned by Russians who have fled from the city, and also to permit the workmen to live in the houses in the best state of repair. In Moscow recently some 20,000 "brain workers" were moved to less comfortable quarters to permit the "hand workers" to occupy their homes.

Is Always Full of Life and Energy; Failures Are Weak and Bloodless.

Some men seem to have all the luck. If there are any good things going these men seem to get them. If they are business men they are successful; if they are workmen they get the foreman's job. They have the power of influencing people. The same is true of women. Some have the charm that makes men seek them out; others are neglected. But this is not luck. It is due to a personal gift—vitality. Men and women of this sort are never weak, puny invalids. They may not be big, but they are full of life and energy. The whole thing is a matter of good blood, good nerves and good health. If everyone would wish to be like this and the qualities that make for vitality and energy are purely a matter of health. By building up the blood and nerves, sleeplessness, want of energy, weakness of the back, headache, which really comes from weakness can be got rid of. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have made many weary, tired men, vigorous, and many pale, dejected girls and women, rosy and attractive, by improving their blood and toning up their nerves. If you are weak, low-spirited or unhealthy, try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and note their beneficial effect.

You can get these pills through any medicine dealer or by mail at 25 cents a box or $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

PRINCESS

"45 Minutes From Broadway" the musical comedy with the "real life" spirit is playing to splendid crowds at the Princess this week, and all the company are doing splendid work.

Genevieve Berkeley, who is playing her farewell week, is charming and is making more new friends to add to the old ones who will miss her. Mr. Jaxon as Kidd Burns is doing the best piece of acting since his first week with the Mildred Page Players, and Mr. Coats is as usual singing his way to the hearts of all who have witnessed the play "Friend of Mine" being his biggest success.

Wm. Campbell as Blake the family lawyer is without doubt giving a dignified and especially well balanced performance of a difficult part. Miss Page as Mary is decidedly well cast and sings the two Mary songs with the assistance of the charming chorus, and the crowd encloses them heartily.

The next production will be "Step Lively" another play by George Cohen and one that is quite the equal of this week's famous George Cohen success. "45 Minutes From Broadway" will be presented to-night at 8 o'clock. Kiddies remember Captain Kidd's contest.

Thomas Meighan, who made the crook role a classic in "The Miraculous Man," again proves his ability in a similar characterization. The story tells of the inheritance by the crook of a fortune, his departure for Europe, his meeting on the boat with Dorothea, a girl with whose photo he has fallen in love, and the romance which develops. Billy takes Dorothea out to see the "other side" of Paris, and in a Bohemian cafe Dorothea becomes infatuated with Marechal, a French rogue. Billy becomes interested in Andrea, a little dancer, thereby arousing the jealousy of Chicco, an Apache admirer, who later kidnaps Andrea and conceals her in Marechal's old farmhouse. After a sensational gun fight in which Billy kills Chicco, Marechal and another man, he rescues Andrea.

The famous South Polar expedition of Sir Ernest Shackleton, which has been immortalized already through Shackleton's own book "South," will also be seen on the motion picture screen here at the Dominion Theatre this week. Polar pictures have been made before, but none have touched the intensity and vividness of these pictures.

VARIETY

Wheeler Oakman, as Captain Pemberton of the Black Horse Troop, a free lance cavalry organization in Turkey, is leading man for Priscilla Dean in her newest production, "The Virgin of Stamboul," which has created such a furore at the Variety Theatre. Mr. Oakman is one of the handsomest and most virile leading men on the screen, and the role of the dashing officer fits him like the proverbial glove. The extra attraction is Mr. Neil Black, Scotch comedian, singing Harry Lauder's favorite songs. Mr. Black has received a warm reception all week from the audience, who have more than shown their appreciation of his ability as a comedian.

ROYAL VICTORIA

For the last time to-day the Royal Victoria Theatre will present one of the best programmes that has been presented for so long at the old-time playhouse. Miss Eva Hart is again quite an added attraction to the programme and presents in fine style a number of new songs.

COLUMBIA

Mary Pickford, who has delighted so many millions as the glad girl in "Pollyanna," will be seen at the Columbia to-day for the last time. In her latest United Artists Corporation production, "Suds," in a role said to be entirely different from anything in which she has heretofore appeared.

The story was adapted from the stage play "Op o' Me Thumb" in which Maude Adams appeared with such great success in Charles Frohman's Empire Theatre in New York City.

The cast was especially selected by Miss Pickford as being especially adapted to the roles in which they appear. The street scenes are laid in the slums of London, and are exact reproductions of certain quarters of the big metropolis, which were photographed by the star's English representatives and reproduced at her studio in perfect detail.

The story to do with the affairs of Amanda Atlick, a pug-nosed homely little slavey in a French laundry in the slums of the English metropolis, is a most wonderful begone character imaginable, and as the other girls in the laundry have their sweethearts, and no man has ever deigned to notice the little slavey, she weaves a wonderful romance for her own benefit and the benefit of the girls in the laundry, about the owner of a shirt which had been left to be washed some months before the story opens.

DOMINION

The entire company of players appearing in "The Woman God Changed" was transported to the Bahama Islands by Director Vignola, where the island scenes were photographed with excellent effect. The company remained in these waters several weeks and many handsome "shots" were obtained. An unusual close formation, resembling a cross was photographed, and this illustrates one scene of remarkable dramatic strength. The shipwreck scene, that depicting the floating ashore of Anna Thomas and McCarthy, and those illustrating subsequent events on the island, contribute to make this picture one of the most remarkable filmed in many months.

FINAL DAY OF "ALF'S BUTTON"

This is the final day of the big British comedy "Alf's Button" at the Pantages. To say that it has created a furore would be to put it mildly. The story is of a British Mastercraft production before long watch for that trademark.

LAND OF CABOT'S LANDFALL IS DESCRIBED HERE

Newfoundland Compares With Vancouver Island in Natural Resources

Delegate Traveled Ten Days to Meeting

Having traveled for ten days in order to reach the convention here of the Quarter Million Dollar Club, J. A. Mackenzie, of St. John's, Newfoundland, brings to Victoria from the far off "Ancient Colony," now ranking as a Dominion, the greetings of that country which lies in insular isolation off the Canadian Atlantic seaboard to this Island, which occupies the same geographical relation to Canada as the Pacific seaboard.

Parallels and Contrasts
The parallels and contrasts between Newfoundland and Vancouver Island, in their relation to the continental expanse of British North America are of special interest, and are pointed out by Mackenzie with reference to The Times last evening based upon his association with the Imperial Life company since he became connected with it in 1913, and covers a period of great financial activity, war effort, and now financial contraction.

The Island, with an area two and half times that of Vancouver Island, has just about two and a half times the population of this Island, and while the railways of this Island are limited to a small section of it, the Newfoundland narrow gauge line runs over 400 miles from St. John's in the East coast to the North coast, and thence down by the West coast to the South coast where connection is made at Fort Aux Basques to North Sydney by steamer over a stretch of water about 110 miles across.

Coastal trade along the shores is maintained as on the West Coast by steamers putting into small settlements not accessible by rail.

Its Industries
Its industries are not unlike those of Vancouver Island, as fish, lumber, and mining the staple industries, although as everyone knows the cod fish industry in its extent overshadows every other occupation. "When the codfish industry is depressed as it is to-day," said Mr. Mackenzie, "the Dominion is up against it, and after good years the present depression has rather discouraged the citizens. For instance during the war the Norwegians went out of the Mediterranean fish trade, and now they are back in competition, while the Icelandic competition has now to be faced in the southern countries of Europe. About 400,000 kettles (a kettle takes a cwt of fish) were left in the country after the last harvest of the season. Thus you will readily see the extent of the depression of business at the present time.

The codfishery of Newfoundland is divided into three classes, that off the shore of Labrador, and of the banks in the Atlantic, and though practically the same fish is caught in all places it is put up differently for the different markets.

Another parallel with the Vancouver Island industries was drawn in the case of lumbering, the chief product being the paper production for the Northcliffe interests.

While the iron deposits of Vancouver Island yet await development, Mr. Mackenzie pointed out that one of the greatest iron ore deposits of the world is located in Newfoundland, and is the source of the ore supply for the great furnaces of Cape Breton Island, where the industry has reached its greatest development in Canada.

Business Relations
Mr. Mackenzie passed on to refer to the great influence of Canadian finance on the Island; four of the chartered banks operating in St. John's, and twelve insurance companies of Canadian origin, the Imperial having written over $5,000,000 worth of insurance alone since he has been associated with it.

particularly in the North Sea mine-sweepers, and said Newfoundland men were found in every expeditionary force overseas and gave a good account of themselves.

The Dominion, which is governed by two houses, the popular Assembly having a membership of thirty-six, has recently negotiated a $6,000,000 loan in New York, to meet present financial emergencies.

Mr. Mackenzie speaks hopefully of the re-cooperative value of the country, and says the greatest problem for Newfoundland statesmanship is the retention, particularly in hard times, of the young men, who drift away to Canada, and the United States, and do not in the majority of cases return.

Winter the fogs from the Atlantic, and greater cold test the endurance of its people. St. John's he describes as a prosperous city, with many fine buildings.

Mr. Mackenzie will leave for the East this evening, the convention here ending to-day.

SHRINKAGE IN VALUES.

In contemplating Canada's decline in trade it should be remembered that in only a few instances is there any falling off in volume. In most cases an examination of yield and quantity will expose a value shrinkage out of proportion to any drop in production. For example as far as imports are concerned the volume at its peak was not much greater than it was in 1913 and 1914, although the value was almost twice as much. In other words the adverse returns of the moment must be taken as part and parcel of a gradual decline in the value of commodities which is the natural and inevitable sequel of price adjustment generally. It is highly probable in fact that the next half year's trading account will disclose a further apparently discouraging feature in the national balance sheet. It cannot be escaped until normal conditions replace the period of fictitious values produced by the war. The figures for last month are somewhat startling when compared with those of the corresponding month last year; but after due allowance for value shrinkage has been made there is no cause for undue alarm. It simply means that Canadians as a whole must recognize the necessity of facing hard facts without hysteria. The difficulties ahead of the country are not insurmountable. There is unemployment in Canada; but it is a great deal worse in other countries where opportunity to remedy it is not one-tenth as great as it is in this Dominion.

CIVIC GOVERNMENT.

It is quite obvious that there is a pressing need for a complete overhauling of the system of civic government in Victoria. If a full and popular vote of the electorate could be taken on the subject it is more than likely that the present method would be thrown overboard with very little ceremony. But until a change has been effected it will have to be remembered that the quality of the government and the quality of the material in whose hands the governmental functions lie merely typify the quality of the interest which the electors display in the affairs that concern them. It is not fair or just to level criticism at this or that alderman because his conception of civic duty does not appear to harmonize with popular sentiment or popular judgment. More often than not the critic himself or herself has failed to exercise his or her franchise on the very occasion when the official complained of succeeded in obtaining sufficient votes to enter upon his office. As long as this lethargic state of affairs is permitted to exist civic government in the city of Victoria will be no better and no worse than public attitude merits. The qualified elector who fails to record his expression of opinion and selection by the use of the ballot is not entitled to any compassion when he grumbles at the type of government he is getting. As a matter of fact he is a great deal worse than the individual who has earned his right of complaint or commendation by exercising his privilege at the January elections. What is wanted in Victoria is a more lively interest in civic affairs by the responsible men and women of the community. Cultivate a little more of the spirit of community pride and a sufficient volume of intelligent opinion will automatically recruit itself in favor of such changes as may be deemed of benefit. Until that desirable condition is produced the City Council which succeeds in getting elected is really entitled to commensurate consideration.

WORSE STILL.

Although they were charged with and found guilty of murder in the first degree the two German officers who were responsible for the murderous attack upon the lifeboats of the Llandovery Castle are to escape with nothing more serious than four years in prison without hard labor. In other words these inhuman brutes will be temporarily inconvenienced and possibly denied some of the privileges to which the average Prussian officer is accustomed in order that some pretence shall be made to comply with Great Britain's demand for punishment in this particular case. The French Commission already has taken its departure from Leipzig. What further use is the Court to the British Government? The time has arrived to put an end to the mockery by enforcing the Treaty. In the meantime the most serious occupation engaging the great arch-criminal is the finding of excuses for non-payment of municipal taxes in Holland.

A USEFUL LAW.

Although there are many workers in this Province who have reason to be gratified that British Columbia has a Workmen's Compensation Act upon its statute books it is safe to assume that the average individual is not aware that the Board responsible for the administration of the law has paid out something like eight million dollars in respect of benefits since the measure went into operation four and a half years ago. Of this amount no less a sum than $368,098.59 went to defray hospital services alone while laboratory charges and special nursing accounted for $135,000. The remainder is made up of slightly over six millions paid out for pensions and time allowances with $1,209,332.75 for medical aid, surgical apparatus and artificial appliances. While these figures in themselves are eloquent of the benefits of such legislation it must also be remembered that the compensation law of this Province has lifted the accident claim of the employe against the employer from the legal battleground on to the shoulders of the Board whose machinery automatically settles the question without friction. And not the least important feature of the Act is the improvement of working conditions which it has enforced by the institution of proper safeguards to life and limb in the various industrial establishments with which it is concerned. Thus it follows that the risk of accident is reduced to the minimum and the size of the annual list of claims is smaller.

MR. MEIGHEN'S SPEECH.

Although the Prime Minister of this Dominion did not depart from the fundamental principles which continue to fashion Canada's status within the British Empire his address at the Mansion House in London yesterday was couched in language highly appropriate for the occasion. None of the very definite nature of his pronouncement and its obvious significance from the Imperial point of view became the least obscured by the cordiality of expression and the practical process of contrast employed. It is customary upon an occasion such as that in which Mr. Meighen participated to say nice things and to indulge in those time-honored pleasantries associated with the making of a freeman of the City of London. But in rising to the full appreciation of the honor conferred upon him the Canadian Premier managed to infuse something of the atmosphere of the new world into a picturesque portion of ancient usage. He said nothing that could offend. His points were clear and his sincerity obvious.

EXPERTS WANTED.

Upon numerous occasions we have pointed out that British Columbia has been obliged to import its experts for many important undertakings for the reason that it has not been able to produce them itself. The bald suggestion must not be taken to mean that this Province cannot turn out the highly-trained technical official at all. It merely means that sufficient attention has not been given to specialization in an age which demands the man who has reached the peak of his calling. While the Provincial Government may not be held responsible for the appointment of an American engineer of special attainments in connection with one branch of the Sumas reclamation scheme his selection by the firm of contractors which is carrying out the work merely emphasizes the fact that this is the day of the expert. It is regrettable that this important post has not gone to a British Columbian. The inference is obvious.

FOLLOWING AN EXAMPLE.

Although many public men possess a tendency to take some of the criticisms which are levelled at them too much to heart the Premier of Quebec appears to follow the example of the late Sir Wilfrid Laurier whose disinclination to be "drawn" became a by-word in the political history of this Dominion. In a typical statement transmitted to the newspapers the other day Premier Taschereau referred to a crop of spirited attacks by the Leader of the Opposition in the Quebec Legislature and informed his interviewer that if there should be anything that needed to be answered it would be answered in due course. Dwellers among the political garbage cans take a keen delight in their sport; but they strenuously object to the "thunders of silence."

NOTE AND COMMENT.

Lord Northcliffe starts to-day for this side of the Atlantic and will continue a tour which will take him on to Honolulu, the Fiji Islands, New Zealand, Australia, the Philippines, Japan, China, Korea, the Straits Settlements, Burma and India. Just to get a sort of advance settlement of Pacific problems so to speak!

It is to be hoped that the Dominion Government will not "go on the bust" because this country may some day in the dim and distant future get a little over four per cent. of the Empire's share of German reparation money.

We are glad to know that the health of Canadian livestock is first class, thank you, and that elaborate precautions at quite a little cost to the people are being taken to keep it so. All of which, as it should be. Some day the poor wretch faced with an early death from tuberculosis will be treated with the same solicitude.

LETTERS
FIFTH REGIMENT FUNDS.

To the Editor.—In the Daily Times of the 14th inst. an account is given of a meeting recently held at the Drill Hall to dispose of certain funds connected with the 5th Regiment which had accumulated prior to the re-organization of the regiment. A proposal was made at that meeting that the funds in question should be pooled with another fund which had been raised during the war by the Ladies' Auxiliary of the 5th Regiment and the whole used for the furthering of a maternity ward in the proposed new wing of the Jubilee Hospital.

As I have been a member of the 5th Regiment for a great many years and am interested in the disposal of the funds of the Ladies' Auxiliary, which amount to approximately $1,500, will you kindly allow me an opportunity to make a further suggestion in this connection.

It seems to me only right and proper that these funds, which were raised for the purpose of sending comforts to the 5th Regiment members who were serving way that should be beneficial to the regiment as a whole, or its individual members. I understand that a proposal was made some time ago by the present C. C. of the 5th Regiment that these funds be used to erect a memorial tablet in the Drill Hall. I would propose, is that they might be used for relief purposes with special consideration for the families of those members of the regiment who gave their lives in the war. There are rumors abroad, which may be entirely false, that the executive of the Ladies' Auxiliary intend to turn over these funds for some purpose without the sanction of a general meeting. This is, of course, an entirely unconstitutional and I think the best way to clear the situation, which is now causing considerable comment, would be for the executive to call a general meeting and that a committee be appointed to confer with members and ex-members of the 5th Regiment, and to the best way to dispose of these funds.

CENSURE SANGSTER FOR RESIGNATION AS HOUSING HEAD

More Trouble When Woodward Says His Attitude Wrong

There must have been something in the atmosphere of the dingy old City Hall yesterday afternoon to keep the City Council cranky and fidgety. The aldermen simply couldn't keep from disputing. Not content with the row provoked by Alderman Todd's charges against Alderman Andros, the Council plunged into another battle as soon as a few moments of peace had passed.

Subjected to Much Criticism. "I hardly see that it is necessary to bring the matter up," Alderman Sangster replied. "I had hoped that the whole issue had been closed. The new chairman has been appointed and I think it is in the best interests of the city and the soldiers that I should not continue to act further. I have been accused of a good many things in one way or the other lately. I have tried to carry out this housing business as far as I was able, and I think I have succeeded fairly well, but when you get people accusing you on the streets of making loans for political purposes it is going a little too far."

Bad Precedent. "Alderman Sangster is setting a very bad precedent," Alderman Woodward affirmed. "If in order to get rid of any committee chairman a citizen has just to say on the street that the chairman had acted for improper purposes, our committee system would not last long. As long as he enjoys the confidence of the other aldermen as he does in this case, that is sufficient. We should be above this sort of thing."

resigned," Alderman Sangster interjected. "I think Alderman Sangster has made up his mind not to act further," the Mayor stated. "Probably he was tired of the job and took this as a lever to get rid of it," Alderman Aitken suggested. "He doesn't like it," said the Mayor.

Some Points From the Report. The Memorial Avenue Committee has continued to push the plans for the establishment of a Memorial Avenue on Shelbourne Street in commemoration of the men from British Columbia who fell in the war. The lists on the Chamber of Commerce include more than two thousand names, exclusive of the Victoria list, which is not yet compiled. On request of some of its members the committee issued a questionnaire to the retail merchants asking expression of opinion on keeping open on Saturday nights till 1 o'clock. The result of the questionnaire showed such an even division of opinion that the committee decided to take no further action.

SHOWS VAST BULK OF USEFUL WORK DONE BY CHAMBER

Quarterly Report Laid Before Members Last Night; Fine Summer Attendance

"All active organizations or public men are criticized, a great man has said that those free from criticism are nonentities. The Chamber of Commerce has been freely criticized, but this report shows the tremendous amount of constructive work which has been done during the past three months," said President J. H. Beatty of the Chamber of Commerce. Last night, when introducing the quarterly statement of the activities shared in or organized by the Board of Directors.

Before the report was adopted Christian Sirvis stated that the Trades and Labor Council did not take kindly to the action of the Directors of the Chamber of Commerce regarding store closing. He maintained that when the Board of Directors refused to take a stand on the question of Saturday evening hours, because of divergent opinions from retail storekeepers, it was in error, and should have first consulted the citizens most interested, the retail clerks. The report was then adopted.

Some points in the lengthy report were: The Memorial Avenue Committee has continued to push the plans for the establishment of a Memorial Avenue on Shelbourne Street in commemoration of the men from British Columbia who fell in the war. The lists on the Chamber of Commerce include more than two thousand names, exclusive of the Victoria list, which is not yet compiled.

After investigation by a special committee the Board of Directors has given authority for the formation of a New Members' Forum. This body is to include the newly elected members in the Chamber and its chief function will be to promote acquaintance among the new members and to supply them with a medium for bringing their suggestions to the directors and the membership as a whole. Meetings of the New Members' Forum will be inaugurated after the holiday season, when the regular meetings of the Members' Forum will be continued.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO TO-DAY
Victoria Daily Times, July 16, 1896

The Executive of the Foreign Missionary Committee of the Presbyterian Synod of British Columbia called a meeting early this week of representatives of the various evangelical denominations in the city to consider the advisability of holding a union conference of all missionaries working among the Indians, Chinese and Japanese in the Province, with all others interested in foreign mission work. Arrangements for a conference on the subject, to be held in August, are now under way.

The City Council decided last night to enter into an agreement with Consolidated Railway Company for the exclusive use of the company to pay seventy-five per cent of the cost. The City Engineer was instructed to draw up regulations governing the operation of street cars on this and on the James Bay Bridge.

Commander Eva Booth, of the Salvation Army, will arrive here next Monday. The local officers of the Army have arranged to accord her a suitable reception.

RINSO—not a cake soap, not a chip soap, not a "washing powder", but fine granules that soak the dirt out of your clothes.

—the dirt is soaked out, not rubbed out by main force!

Children's rompers, grimy from the playground—kitchen aprons, curtains, towels—things you dread washing because they need so much rubbing—pile them into a tub of the rich bubbly RINSO suds. RINSO harms nothing that pure water may touch. Let them soak over night. Then—just rinse them, either in warm water or cold. Your clothes are gleaming white and CLEAN. RINSO has done all the work. For anything particularly dirty it will be necessary to rub, such as soiled cuff edges, etc. It has saved the weary hours at the washboard wearing out your clothes and yourself too. Do not wash the old way any longer. Get a package of RINSO, and do your washing the new and easy way.

At night—soak the clothes with RINSO. Morning—rinse them out. That's all.

If you have a washing machine—
Soak the clothes overnight in the usual Rinso way. The clothes will loosen every bit of dirt. In the morning operate the machine for a few minutes and the clothes are perfectly clean—even the most soiled spots.

EXIT BETTY

By

Grace Livingston Hill

(Mrs. Lutz)

Author of "The Search" "Marcia Schuyler," "The Enchanted Barn," etc.

The scissors snipped, snipped, and the lovely strands of bright hair fell on the paper Jane had spread for them. Betty sat crooned like a sweet young boy. Jane stood back and surveyed the effect through her lashes approvingly. She knew the exact angle at which the hair should splash out on the cheek to be stylish. She had often contemplated cutting her own, only that her mother had with closed eyes and submitted. Then her mentor burnt a cork and put a touch of the eyebrows that made a different Betty out of her. A soft smudge of dark under her eyes and a touch of talcum powder gave her a sickly complexion and when Betty stood up and looked in the glass she did not know herself. Jane finished the toilet by a smart though somewhat shabby black hat pulled well down over Betty's eyes, and a pair of gray cotton gloves, somewhat worn at the fingers. The high-laced boots she put upon the girl's feet were two sizes too large, and wobbled frightfully, but they did well enough, and there seemed nothing more to be desired.

"Now," said Jane as she pinned on her own hat, "you've got to have a name to go by. I guess you better be Lizzie Hope. It kinda belongs to yeh, and yet nobody'd recognize it. You don't need to tell Ma anything you don't want to, and you can tell her I'll write a letter to-night all about it. Now come on! We gotta go on the trolley a piece. I don't see havin' you leave from the General Station. Well go up to the Junction and get the train there."

With an odd feeling that she was bidding good-by to herself forever and was about to become somebody else, Betty gave one more glance at the slim boylike creature in the little mirror over the washstand and followed Jane out of the room, shuffling along in the big high-heeled boots, quite unlike the Betty that she was.

LOST 29 POUNDS. DYSENTERY WAS THE CAUSE.

Dysentery is one of the worst forms of bowel complaint, and hardly any other disease so quickly undermines the strength and brings about a condition of prostration and utter collapse that often terminates fatally.

To check the unnatural discharge without bringing on constipation you should use that grand old remedy with a reputation extending of 76 years.

DR. FOWLER'S EXTRACT OF WILD STRAWBERRY

Mr. G. H. McVagh, Mower, Sask. writes: "About eight years ago I had a severe attack of dysentery. I was sick for three weeks. I weighed 154 lbs. when I took sick and 125 when I got it stopped. I think I tried every medicine on the market, but did not find relief until I used Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry, and one bottle did it. I think there is nothing like it for dysentery or dysentery. I keep some on hand as a person does not know when he will need it."

TOLMIE READY FOR SEA NEXT WEEK

V. M. D. Plans to Haul Sailer Out on Slipway Next Tuesday

Work on the four-masted barquentine S. P. Tolmie, now being made ready for sea at the plant of the Victoria Machinery Depot, Ltd., will be completed by the end of next week, it was announced today at the Upper Harbor plant.

The vessel is now lying alongside the wharf having work done on her decks and rigging, and on Tuesday she will be hauled out on the marine railway for cleaning and painting.

It is understood that a favorable charter is offering for the Tolmie, and it is probable that she will go on load- ing berth before the end of the month.

Three naval water screws occupy the marine railway at the V. M. D. These will be floated on Monday and Tuesday, and will make their place on the cradle.

Ajax to Resume. Repairs to the dredge Ajax will be completed on Tuesday next at the V. M. D., and on Wednesday the big dredger will resume her attack on the silted material in the harbor here. The dredge tender Point Ellice has returned from Vancouver, where she has been getting overhauled.

CREW DEMANDS SHIP BE SOLD TO SATISFY CLAIMS FOR WAGES

San Francisco, July 16.—Suit was filed in United States district court here today by officers and members of the crew of the sailing vessel Moshulu, asking that the craft be sold to satisfy their claim for back pay amounting to $14,000. The complainants allege they have received no wages since May 11, 1920. The Moshulu is a vessel of 3,116 gross tons and her home port is Portland, Ore. She was built in 1904 and is owned by the United States Shipping Board.

Able Seaman to Chief Officer in 12 Years

Capt. R. J. Hickey Promoted to Berth of Chief Officer of Liner Empress of Russia; Remarkable Rise in Service; Became Third Officer of Empress of Japan in 1914.

From the berth of able seaman in the British Columbia Coast Steamship Service to the responsible position of chief officer of the Canadian Pacific Ocean Services liner Empress of Russia within a period of twelve years is the splendid record of Capt. R. J. Hickey, son of Capt. Patrick J. Hickey, veteran of the C. P. R. coastwise service.

Capt. Edward Beetham, superintendent of the C. P. O. S. on the Pacific, announces the transfer of Capt. R. J. Hickey from the liner Empress of Japan to the Empress of Russia as chief officer.

Capt. Hickey, Jr., will go out as chief officer of the Empress of Russia with Capt. W. Dixon Hopcraft when the big C. P. O. S. liner clears next Thursday on her return voyage to the China coast.

Rapid Promotion. His rise in the service has been phenomenal and his many friends in Victoria will learn with genuine pleasure of his promotion to the chief officer's berth on the crack liner. Capt. Hickey, Sr., is about as well known as any skipper on the coast, having retired recently after many years of valuable service. He was so long associated with the bridge of the liner "Princess Victoria" that the traveling public even to-day think of the "Vic" as Capt. Hickey's ship.

Capt. Hickey, Jr., has had such a rapid rise that he eclipses the fame of his father in the years to come by commanding one of the crack liners in the trans-Pacific service.

Started Career in 1909. Capt. Hickey, Jr., started his sea career in 1909 when he joined the B. C. Coast Steamship Service as able seaman. He forged ahead, serving in various official capacities aboard practically every steamer in the coastwise fleet until he became first officer of the steamer Joan in 1914. In November, 1914, he transferred to the Canadian Pacific Ocean Services as third officer on the liner Empress of Japan, that the W. Dixon Hopcraft has always taken a personal interest in Capt. Hickey, Jr., and it was but a natural sequel to the association of the two officers on the Empress of Japan, that they should transfer together to the larger ship.

Capt. Hickey, Jr., is a native son.

PLAYER'S NAVY CUT CIGARETTES

In 1886 commenced the building of the fleet as it is known to-day—the steamer "Canada" making her first trip to Montreal that year. Three years later the White Star Line became associated with the Dominion Line and built the 15,000-ton steamers Megantic and Laurentic, both of which were especially designed for the St. Lawrence Route service, and since that date the two companies have maintained regular weekly sailings between Montreal and Liverpool during the open navigation season under the name of the White Star-Dominion Line.

The Regina and the Doric, sister ships of 600 feet length, have over 16,000 registered tonnage, which are now approaching completion, and the new Laurentic, which will replace the one lost during the war, is expected to be ready before the end of next year.

Fifty Years of Ocean Service With Canada

White Star Dominion Line This Month Observes Jubilee Year; First Sailings Made to Montreal in 1871; Modern Ships Now In Service.

The sailing of the liner Megantic, July 16, from Montreal to Liverpool marked not only the departure of Canada's largest steamer, but it also marks the month in which the fiftieth anniversary of the White Star-Dominion Line is being observed on both sides of the Atlantic.

The Dominion Line, which is now combined with the White Star Line insofar as Canadian traffic is concerned, commenced business under the chartered name of the Mississippi and Dominion Steamship Company. The first sailings of this line were made to Montreal in 1871, just fifty years ago.

Original Fleet. The original fleet consisted of the steamers St. Louis, Vicksburg, Memphis, Mississippi and Texas. This was back in the days when Boston and Baltimore were the winter ports but these were later replaced by Portland, Me.

In 1874 the steamers Dominion and Ontario were added to the fleet and in 1879 there came the Montreal, the Toronto, the Ottawa, the Brooklyn and the City of Dublin (renamed "Quebec"). In 1882 and 1883 the Sarnia and Oregon were added, these steamers being the first to have first-class cabin accommodation amidships. This feature alone is interesting, owing to the fact that to-day the White Star-Dominion Line maintains the lead which it established in those days, through the distinction of being the largest vessel sailing out of Montreal, but also is the only steamer carrying first-class passengers.

In 1886 the steamer Vancouver made her first trip to Montreal, under the Dominion Line's house flag, and in 1891 the fast yacht-like steamer "Labrador" was added.

Larger Liners. In 1886 commenced the building of the fleet as it is known to-day—the steamer "Canada" making her first trip to Montreal that year. ## AT PICNIC TO-DAY

Employees of W. J. Pendray & Sons and the British America Paint Company, together with their families, are holding their annual picnic to-day at Goldstream Falls. More than a hundred happy excursionists left the works on Belleville Street at 9:30 o'clock this morning, filling a long array of tallhoes to capacity. The sports programme is particularly fine and will provide something of interest for every moment from the time of arrival at the grounds until the return journey, which will commence at 4 p.m.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Garden Party.—Under the auspices of the ladies of the Metropolitan W. M. S., a garden party will be held at one home of Mrs. W. J. Pendray, 309 Belleville Street, on Tuesday afternoon, July 19.

St. John's Sunday School Picnic.—A special train will leave the interurban terminus of the B. C. Electric Railway, Douglas Street, on Wednesday, July 20, at 9 o'clock, for Deep Bay, returning at 7 o'clock. Others than members of the Sunday School should bring their own lunch and supper baskets.

St. Jude's Picnic.—The annual picnic of the St. Jude's Sunday School will be held on Wednesday next, July 20, at Fowl Bay. Children are asked to meet at the Gorge car terminus at 11 o'clock in the morning. Parents and friends are invited. The day will be spent in games, races and swimming.

Tribute to Memory.—Indefatigable as a worker for this city, and deeply versed in our problems, the city of Victoria and this Chamber of Commerce has suffered a severe loss in the death of J. J. Shalloos, said President J. H. Beatty last night at the quarterly meeting of the Chamber.

Students' Recital.—The charming rooms of the B. C. Academy were tastefully decorated last night, the occasion being a recital given by the pupils of Miss Kate McGreger's junior class. The majority taking part had only studied the one term. The results were very gratifying, some of the students having voices of considerable promise. After the recital refreshments were served by the senior class girls. The accompanists of the evening were Mrs. Moore and Miss Beckwith.

Choir Picnic.—The choir of the Emmanuel Baptist Church held their annual picnic on Wednesday last at the Cadboro Bay Beach. An interesting and enjoyable evening was the presentation of a silver cream and sugar set to Miss Nina Reynolds who has been associated with the choir for many years, and whose marriage is about to take place. Fred Parfitt, conductor of the choir, expressed his appreciation of the splendid service Miss Reynolds has given as a member of the choir. This was heartily endorsed by Mrs. Chapman and Mr. Sheepwash. The presentation was made by Miss Nina Rigby. The remainder of the evening was spent in games, after which a community sing was held around a huge bonfire until the late hour brought to a close a most pleasant evening.

PASSING OF PIONEER WIDELY REGRETTED

Mrs. James Bartholomew Stapledon Dies at Abbotsford

With the passing of the late Mrs. James Bartholomew Stapledon, widow of the late Bartholomew Stapledon, at the residence of her daughter Mrs. F. W. Rudge, Abbotsford, B. C., Thursday, Victoria lost another of its pioneers. The late Mrs. Stapledon had been suffering from partial paralysis for the past two years, having taken a severe stroke in the right side at that time. On Saturday last a second stroke took place, completing the paralysis. Death took place at the residence, and was in the nature of a merciful release from pain.

The late Mrs. Stapledon died at the age of 75 years, after a long life in which she had endeavored herself to all who had the pleasure to make her acquaintance. Of a most lovable disposition, Mrs. Stapledon figured in the home life of this city for many years, coming to this city from Quebec, where she was born in 1845. An invalid from heart trouble many of her days, the late Mrs. Stapledon was none the less a very prominent factor in the early days of this city, and was universally beloved. The late Mrs. Bartholomew Stapledon, well known on this coast and in the maritime provinces in his connection with the canneries, being for some time manager of the Skeena River Cannery of Turner Beeton Co., Ltd., predeceased his widow in 1913. Since that time the late Mrs. Stapledon resided with her daughter Mrs. Rudge at Abbotsford, and also in the northern interior of the province.

During the late war, Mrs. Stapledon, though invalid, took a deep interest in the welfare of the Canadian boys at the front and knitted hundreds of pairs of socks and woolen comforters for the soldiers on service.

Mrs. Stapledon was a sister of the late Mrs. L. U. Conyers of this city and survived by four daughters and two sons.

The daughters living are Mrs. F. W. Rudge and Mrs. Harry Berryman of Abbotsford, B. C.; Mrs. R. G. Johnston of Inverness, Skeena, B. C.; and Mrs. May Moody of Vancouver. The surviving sons are John Stapledon, of Station, and Carl, of Fort Street, and Burt Stapledon of Seattle.

The funeral will take place on Monday in Victoria, from the residence of Mrs. L. U. Conyers, 1490 Fort Street, the cortege leaving for the church at 3:45 p.m.

Known to a host of friends since her arrival in this city in 1882, the sympathy of the pioneers of this city extended to the bereaved.

Grass Fire Yesterday. — A small grass fire at 715 Catherine Street yesterday afternoon at 3:30 gave the department a run to distinguish the blaze. No damage was done by the outbreak.

BLAMES TEACHERS' CONSPIRACIES FOR SCHOOL "CRISIS"

Teachers Inefficient; Must Strengthen Staff, Says Principal

ADMITS CONDITIONS ARE UNSATISFACTORY

Teachers Combine to Support Inefficient Colleagues, He Charges

"The present crisis" at the Victoria High School is largely a result of the "intrigues and conspiracies" and the inefficiency of High School teachers, Dr. Alexander Robinson, principal of the school, declares in a letter which was read before the City School Board last night.

Dr. Robinson says that the critical conditions at the city's leading educational institution are due, briefly, to the following causes:

1. Inefficiency on the part of teachers and absence of esprit de corps among the students.
2. The tendency on the part of teacher bodies to combine to support inefficient teachers.
3. Learning that five of their number were to be dismissed, High School teachers demanded an investigation in order that they might "come back at the principal."

"Certain intrigues and conspiracies against the principal on the part of some two or three members of the staff," Dr. Robinson adds that the serious failure of High School students in matriculation examinations during recent years cannot be eliminated in future unless the staff is reorganized in answer to statements made in the report of special investigators who recently concluded a probe of the school, he says that he has always supported teachers who were right in punishing students and will continue to do so; that he refuses to be a "head policeman," however, and that where he is called upon to discipline and administration he will endeavor to correct them.

Defer Action.
As Dr. Robinson's letter did not reach the School Board offices until late yesterday afternoon the Trustees were not prepared to deal with it. Copies of the document will be sent to each member and action on the matter will be taken at a future meeting.

Dr. Robinson's letter follows: "Sir, I am in receipt of your letter of the 12th instant, with two inclosures, and beg to submit the following statement in reply.

"Far From Satisfactory."
Conditions in the Victoria High School have been for some years past far from satisfactory, owing largely to inefficiency on the part of some of the teachers. To this inefficiency is due to a large extent a low "pass list," a comparatively small attendance, and an absence of esprit de corps among the students. Last year, 1919-20, before I took charge of the school, the "pass list" of students matriculating into the University was very low. I cannot say what the results of the matriculation examinations just concluded will show, but satisfactory results cannot be secured unless the staff is materially strengthened in certain respects. I take this opportunity of deploring the tendency on the part of teacher bodies to combine in support of inefficient teachers. This tendency is fraught with the gravest danger to the future of our schools and the welfare of the children who are entrusted to the care of the staff. It is to action of this sort on the part of the Victoria High School teachers that I attribute the present crisis. The teachers learned with grave displeasure that the number had been notified by the Board that unless their work improved their services would be dispensed with at Christmas. They demanded an investigation in order that they might "come back at the principal, whom they blamed for the sending of these notices. They made no complaint either to trustees or principal regarding conditions at the school until June—until a few days after the notices had been received. I cannot believe that had general conditions been so unsatisfactory, as they have lately charged, I should have heard nothing of it from the teachers themselves, nor would the late municipal inspector, Col. Winapal, or the High School Inspector, Mr. Sullivan, both of whom have frequently visited the school, have refrained from calling my attention and that of the Board to any lack of discipline in the general management of the school.

"Self Reliant Citizens."
With regard to the matter of discipline, I have instituted a change in that respect. I am desirous that the training the students receive in the High School shall be such as will fit them to become self-reliant and self-governing citizens. To this end the discipline in High Schools should be different in method from that employed with the younger children of the Public School. This is in line with what is being done in larger educational centres during recent years. I desire that there should be a rigid or military discipline, but for instance, as the students changed class-rooms at the end of each recitation period they should be allowed recess periods en route and beyond demanding of them well-bred behavior at these recess periods I made no other rule.

Not "Head Policeman."
I have refused to act as head policeman of the school and have asked that the teachers desist from sending to me daily long "strings" of pupils for disciplinary purposes, but only such ones as they have difficulty in dealing with themselves. The result of these changes is a difference in the quality of the discipline, but that there is laxity in general discipline I emphatically deny. There is, however, and always has been under some of the teachers, poor discipline in several of the class-rooms.

When I took charge of the school I found a tendency on the part of several members of the staff to forget that school-building, equipment, principal and staff were there solely for the benefit of the students, a point of view which I still have great difficulty in correcting. I also endeavored to make the teachers understand that I would always support them in any difficulties with pupils when the teachers were in the right or when the point at issue was doubtful, but that I could not so support them when they were in the wrong. On the other hand, I always demanded respect and discipline as a matter of course from students and teachers. I regret that according to the report of the committee, some of the staff were of the opinion that I did not give them an undivided support on certain occasions, and shall in the future endeavor to correct that impression.

An "Unseemly Scene."
I am at a loss to account for the reference to the differences between principal and teachers before their assembly since I never presided at an assembly scene precipitated by one of the five teachers mentioned above, when he objected to an inspection by myself of his class, an inspection which I was trying to carry out in the kindest manner to himself.

In the matter of home-work and Christmas examinations, the investigating committee would, I presume, be the first to acknowledge that these are questions of opinion to-day among educational authorities. However, I intend in the future to talk these matters over with the staff and to give earnest consideration to their opinions.

Willing to Change.
I regret that my method of making announcements to the teachers at morning exercises should have caused any difficulty, and I shall adopt a different method of making such announcements in future. With regard to adverse reports on teachers' work by the principal, I entirely agree with the committee's opinion that the principal should intimate first to the teachers his points of criticism and give the teachers an opportunity of remedying these. Such has been my almost invariable practice in the past and will continue to be in the future.

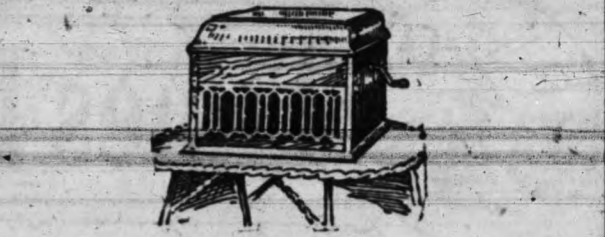

I shall endeavor, in conformity with the advice of the commission, to give the staff more definite instructions on all points of administration. I welcome the recommendation regarding the appointment of a vice-principal, but would ask the Board that I be consulted before such appointment is made.

"Intrigues and Conspiracies."
I regret to be compelled to refer to certain intrigues and conspiracies against the principal on the part of some two or three members of the staff. Such action militates against the success of the school and is the cause of much unhappiness. For the most part, however, I have to thank the staff for much kindness and consideration during the year.

Where I am conscious of faults in the discipline, administration and work of the High School, I shall wholeheartedly endeavor to correct these. I shall carefully weigh all the recommendations of the commissioners, and if I consider that their adoption will be in the best interests of the school, I shall not hesitate to adopt them.

May I ask that the members of the School Board take a greater personal interest in the affairs of the High School, that they visit it more frequently and endeavor to become familiar with the work of the principal and staff? Only in this way can the Board gain a comprehensive knowledge of the difficulties to be overcome before the school becomes an institution of which every citizen of Victoria may be proud.

Alexandra Lodge Picnic.—Princess Alexandra Lodge, Douches and Maids of England, will hold their annual picnic at Mount Douglas Park, Wednesday, July 20. Tallhoes will leave the library at 10 a.m. Tea, sugar, milk and hot water will be supplied on the grounds. Sports will be held during the afternoon. A cordial invitation is extended to all members.

Will All Nations Bury the Hatchet?

OW often have you delved into a book about ancient days, little ready, and put it down with the wish that you, too, might have lived in those days and shared the life that so interested you in the reading? Yet again how often have you had a similar wish after reading a fiction book about life, as a particular author thinks it will be, say in the year 1991? Then comes the thought that the child of 1991 will be reading about the curious age in which we all live now in 1921, and may wish too, that he, or she, might have lived in these days.

There have been many periods of the world when the change from one type of living to a totally different one took place with rapidity (though never suddenness in reality) the change, as it were, being at times speeded up and made more noticeable. This might well be classed, if we are to believe even half of what we hear, as a period of rapid change on this old world in which we live, and we may thank our destinies that we are living in such an interesting age.

The talk now about the nations of the world is sufficiently interesting to be well worth watching more closely than we are wont. For the first time, in our memories at any rate, the majority of the powerful nations of the world are actually talking about burying the hatchet. After the great war, hostilities between nation and nation ceased, but the world was a long way from getting out the pipe of peace in the true Indian fashion.

From the deliberations of big men in powerful nations may develop the burying of the war hatchet that has been sought by civilization, much as the ancients sought for the philosopher's stone. Instead of building war engine after war engine, one larger and stronger than the other, the world is talking about scrapping all war engines and getting down to peaceful trade and commerce one nation with the other.

The aim of the nations of the world for many a long year has been to build fast and strong to the end that little ship may be sunk by bigger ship, big ship destroyed by submarine, submarine by aeroplane; but now the world, after failing to find anything that would destroy the aeroplane effectively, is trying to do away with the horrible progression and agree that all nations should be friends.

We may not agree that this will work, and we may think it dangerous to throw away our arms in the hope that the other nations will do the same, but any way it goes it is a great age to be given the privilege of watching and taking part in, and even if we cannot sit with Alfred as he watches his burning eakes, or fly with celerity to the moon, we have at least much to interest us here in this age and time.

We hear our daddies and parents talking about abolishing armaments, we read that a conference has been called, but do we realize that this all vitally affects us? A dog, we know, will take a keen delight in frightening a cat to death, but we have known of dogs and cats that were raised together under the same roof without fighting. This, great men are telling us, is the chance for nations to bury their mutual differences, and all the dog nations live at peace with the cat nations, to the end that civilization may be advanced along peaceful and prosperous lines.

The world at war means an age of poverty and hardship for all, restless days and still more restless nights. The world in peace means happiness and prosperity, and the right to live as the nations of the world have never yet been able before our day.

If all this is brought about, we will have the honor of having seen the greatest change that has ever affected the world, and a renaissance of the good fellowship of man. Let us hope they will bury the hatchet, and smoke the pipe of peace.

Hawk's Bill; The Turtle and His Tortoise Shell

Tortoise shell apart from the commercial product which we have come to regard as the real article, is obtained from the back of the Hawk's Bill Turtle, a prominent member of the turtle family that, though not of use for food, is of great importance and the basis of a large industry in the production of the real tortoise shell for which we have many uses.

The Hawk's Bill Turtle is to be found even be welded together so that large surfaces may be covered with its delicate shade. This is done by scraping the edge of the single plate to a thin line, then placing one on that of another to just cover the edges. The whole is then heated and pressed together and in this fashion will become joined as if it were one piece. It is thus that the tortoise shell backed brushes and other articles are covered, and the poor Hawk's Bill Turtle sends its shell to the dresser of many a fine lady who does not know from whence it came nor does she care.

Wood Pulp Is Made Into Silk

In England, in the time of Henry VIII, if a man's wife wore a silk dress it was a sign that the man had furnished a war horse for the King, but to-day silk has become a little more common than that. Silk is roughly of two kinds: The silk that is obtained from the silk worm, or the real silk; and the silk that is made artificially from wood pulp.

Much of the scrub timber of this province is exported as wood fibre, and some of it finds its way back to our shores as artificial silk. The artificial product is manufactured in several countries—France and Japan among these—and is about 75 per cent in quality as related to the real silk. The manner of the making of this wood fibre silk is interesting.

The wood fibre, or pulp, is treated chemically until it becomes a gelatinous substance. It is then enclosed in a large tank, and compressed air is introduced. This tank forces the pulp through a filter and into a second tank, out of which lead hundreds of glass pipes of a very small size. The central aperture of these pipes is so small that it takes the twined strands of six of the streams to make up one silk thread. The thread is reeled into yarn, and the yarn woven into silk cloth. Much of this artificial silk is in use to-day, and it can scarcely be distinguished from the genuine article of the real and hard working little silk worm, who grows and feeds upon the mulberry blossoms of far away lands.

HE KNEW

Farmer (to boy in apple tree): "You young rascal, what are you doing in my apple tree?"
Small Boy: "Please, Sir, I'm frightening away the birds, they're such awful thieves."

We Add Comforts But With Complications

Imagine for a moment that you are in a country that has lost the art of making matches, and has none of these useful little articles in stock, what would be the first result? Suppose for the sake of argument that no more matches could be made or secured in that country, and that all there then were useless and would not light. What would be the result?

People with fires still, might well be forced to keep them going constantly, if they wished to eat, for all that is eaten to-day knows the fire at some stage of its making for our use. In time, here and there a fire would die out, people would not be able to find enough fuel to keep their fires alight, and in a very short while the fire would be back at the same status in which it was held by the ancients, a sacred thing to be guarded and used only by the highest of the high officials of their race.

Of course, the matchless country would go through an age of flint and steel lighting, and maybe use glasses to concentrate the rays of the sun to light its fires, but in the end it is reasonable to suppose that all fires and fire-making would become extinct, and the population of the unhappy state would be back again to a strictly raw diet. A horrible picture indeed.

Now turn the other way, we have progressed from the days in which fire was held sacred, and was very hard to secure for any use at all, to the days were we may carry a hundred fires in one small box—matches. Indeed we have gone further, for we do not turn a button and have all the heat we require at almost instant notice. Is it not possible to say that in the future our descendants will have an even greater control of the once sacred element, for they may carry the "button" with them, and have heat anywhere and at any time they may wish. This is an age of progress (as indeed all ages must be in the main) and that would be the next great development to render the lot of man on this world easier to support, for as we advance we lose certain disadvantages—and find it in the end—just about the same struggle as did our forefathers long long ago, until in the day when they have electric light and heat for the use of everybody to the degree that we have matches to-day, they may need that comfort to compensate them for the trials of living in that advanced age.

Naval Brigade Has Busy Week

Starting the week with a church parade to the St. James' Church, when a full division turned out, headed by the band, the Boys' Naval Brigade has put in a busy week of work and practice. Through the kindness of Captain Neourout, who supplied paint and materials, the brigade has been busy giving a touch of paint to the cutter and dinghy and now both boats are in first class shape, presenting a very neat and trim appearance.

Two boys of the local division are now ready for sea as deck hands, and it is expected that the call for their services will be made shortly, when they will ship in the Canadian Government Merchant Marine service, probably on the Canadian Observer from Vancouver to San Francisco in the coastal trade. The boys are still talking about the splendid time they had at the outing to Cordova Bay as guests of P. A. Raynor, the secretary of the Navy League, Victoria branch.

With the advance of the summer season all boys are taking keenly to boat pulling and the brigade has put up some first class crews for the cutter and gig. In recent regattas the Naval Brigade entrants have been successful in capturing

Encourage Junior Athletics

The offer of the Victoria and Island Athletic Association to the boys and girls of Victoria and district of a junior membership in the club for a nominal sum has been taken advantage of by upwards of 200 boys and girls, who are now enjoying themselves daily at the club's Summer home at Curtis Point.

The principal activities, consist of swimming, diving, water polo, boating, tennis, basket ball and gymnastics. Instruction is also being given in swimming by Ralph Alecock, and lessons in boxing are being conducted by Supt. W. H. Davies.

A splendid sandy beach is being utilized, and on very warm days it is crowded with boys and girls, who seem to be enjoying themselves immensely. It is the intention of the club to stage a canoe and swimming gala for the junior members before the end of the holidays, it is stated.

When Kitchen Cups Were Kingly Ransoms

In these days of modern chinaware and beautiful pottery, it is difficult to think of people using sea shells and flat stones for their drinking cups and roasting dishes, but probably the first dishes known to man were sea shells, and flat stones (both of which are to be found on the seashore, and the latter inland). In all the developments of science, the world has not yet been able to reproduce our porcelain—the glaze, surface and color that can be assumed by a common sea shell.

Pottery ware, that is, vessels made from clay, have been traced to very early ages in the period of man's habitation on the earth. A huge ten-foot pottery vase was found in Egypt some years ago, which was put down as having been manufactured about the year 4000 B. C., while countless other works of clay have been found of later periods, still, however, in the years before Christ was known upon earth. In Egypt to-day pottery of a kind is made—in all probability much like the pottery of ancient days—and the common "clattie," as it is called, dates its birth from a long line of potshards of the days of ancient Egypt.

The Chinese were the first, it is thought, to manufacture white dishes of any type, and it was not until about the eighteenth century that the kings of Europe could enjoy the same luxury. The art of the ancient potter has, through the centuries, been turned towards making the fine dishes and table ware that is in use to-day. The common kitchenware that is in use in the poorest home to-day is so perfect that it would have excited the wildest envy of the ancient kings, and had they been unable to replace it for half the worth of their realms.

Pottery is an art that has been highly developed and one that has handed down through the ages much of the science and lore of older days. Sculpture, painting, and designing of these modern days owe much of their beauty to the hand of the ancients, who first dabbled in wet clay and baked the result of their labors.

HOW AIRCRAFT FLY

We have scouted around the fringe of a modern aeroplane taking here and there a peek into its movements, and here and there learning the reason for its peculiar shape and size. We now come briefly to the engine, the power that drives the aeroplane through the air and so allows it to raise its immense weight off the ground. First let it be said that aeroplanes are built around their engines, that is, they are constructed to carry a type of engine that is known to give the results wanted.

A heavy duty engine is fitted into a machine that has been so constructed that it will fly long and steadily with that engine driving it through the air. A light engine, with a resourceful power, is fitted into a machine that will fly high and fast for a short period, and so on.

There are two main classes of heavier than air craft, those known as "pushers" and the others called "tractors". In pusher machines the engine is mounted in rear of the main wings and drives the machine forward by thrusting the air away behind, much as the propeller of a motor boat. Tractors on the other hand have their engines mounted forward of the main planes and suck air through their propellers, thus drawing the machine along after it.

Pusher machines are fitted with a skeleton body called a "nacelle," to carry the engine and pilot, while tractors have a "fuselage," that is an extended body running the entire length of the machine. Tractors are by far the most common in modern types of aircraft, and in general are much easier to construct with a view to giving the pilot a clear vision on every side of the machine.

Aero engines are of three main types, stationary, radial, and rotary. All three types have their special uses in the various types of aircraft built for modern use.

The stationary engine is used on nearly all large and heavy duty machines, and on many of the fastest scouts and bombers now made. It is built to carry heavier types of aircraft and is often used in banks of two or more, where more power is desired. One type of the famous Caproni machine carries no less than five stationary engines to drive its enormous weight through the air. These engines are cooled, fed and oiled much as the lighter types of automobile engines and are very efficient.

Rotary engines are built to rotate around a stationary crankshaft, that is, the crankshaft stays still and the cylinders revolve around it, firing in alternate numbers. They cool themselves by their path through the air, oil themselves, and are fed much as the stationary engine (with some mechanical differences that need not worry us here). Rotary engines are very light and give great speed and power for their own weight, thus they are used on small and fast machines, such as scouts.

Radial engines are almost similar in appearance to rotary engines, but they do not rotate, they are in a word a mixture of the stationary and rotary principles and have some advantages not to be found in either. They are used in light machines, but are not often used in modern aircraft of to-day. Radial engines, too, are light and give great power per weight but are not so effective. By far the greater number of commercial machines to-day have stationary engines of one design or another.

Can You Tell Your Way By The Stars?

How many of our little readers can look into the sky on a clear night and tell the names of the principal constellations? There is a great and practical use in being able to identify some of these stars. For instance, trappers in the woods have often saved themselves from being lost by being able to pick out the Pole Star, which we call the North Star, and guide their footsteps in the direction they wished to go.

Similarly navigators at sea find a great use in the sight of the Pole Star, and in many different ways it is a faithful friend to man in his many works. Astronomers will not need to look for such a "landmark" in the sky, for their instruments and calendars tell them where to set their telescopes to find what they are anxious to see, but for ordinary mortals a workable knowledge of the principal constellations is both of interest and of real use.

The Pole Star is found readily by catching sight of what we know as the big dipper, or Urus Major, the Great Bear, as this star group is often called. The name dipper describes the rough shape of the constellation which is fashioned after a flour dipper, with a curved handle and rather wide bowl. The two stars that form the end of the handle are called the pointer stars, and if a line were imagined in continuation of these two stars it would soon lead the eye of the observer to a very bright star standing well by itself in the sky. This is the Pole Star, and is a very true guide to the north point as far as direction in these latitudes are concerned.

The Pole Star belongs to a constellation called the Little Bear, which consists of itself and two guards. These guards are two stars set close together and almost at right angles to the imaginary line from the Big Bear to the Pole Star.

Take a look at the sky on a clear night and these groups will impress themselves on your memory in a short time, and in a manner that would never be accomplished by any written directions. Almost in the same part of the heavens is to be found the group of stars known as Cassiopeia, which are a group of little stars forming, in shape, the letter "W." The Pole Star lies midway between Cassiopeia and the Great Bear.

The elementary study of the stars will not at first impress you, perhaps, with the use of undertaking, but after a very little observation you will discover a real taste for a knowledge, elementary at least, of the heavens. Telescopes, though fascinating in this work are by no means necessary and all our little readers need to commence operations in this connection is a clear night, the average pair of eyes, the interest to learn, and a little patience.

Try to-night and see if you can find the Pole Star.

Forest Fires Need Little Start

A word of caution about picnicking and fires. This is the season of the year when forest fires break out and do so much damage. If you are picnicking be sure to see that when through with the fire, it is thoroughly out, beyond all possibility of relighting. A chance coal not extinguished may be fanned by the breeze until it throws off a spark which may set the adjacent underbrush on fire.

Once alight the underbrush will set fire to the pitch on the trees, and the makings of a forest fire are at work. Forest fires destroy timber valued at hundreds of thousands of dollars every year in this Province. They kill off birds and deer that are badly needed to preserve the wild game of this country, and besides all that they may be the means of taking human life.

Whole settlements have been wiped out by the blazing wood, which carries the fire often for miles in extent. Men have to fight the fire carelessness might create, and an extra minute to be sure that all is well will avoid all that damage. It is well worth while.

You would not be guilty of leaving a lighted match on the carpet at home where it would set alight to your house and burn it up, would you? These why leave lighted embers around to burn up the home of the wild creatures of nature who have a right to live as well as ourselves. We invade their homes for our own amusement, but we should be careful to see that we have no sorrow behind us. A little care will do wonders—and each must do his share.

UNFAIR ADVANTAGE

"To-morrow," said five-year-old Harold proudly to his teacher, "is my birthday."
"Why, Harold, it will be my birthday, too," returned the teacher.
The boy's face clouded for a moment and then he asked, "How did you get so much bigger'n me?"

BAPTISTS HEAR CONVENTION REPORT

Many Important Resolutions Adopted at B. C. Meeting

A very successful and well attended convention of the Baptist churches of the Province was held at Kitimat last month. Forty-two churches were represented and a very high standard was reached both as regards addresses and reports. Two of the delegates from Emmanuel Baptist Church, Mr. Wm. Marchant and Mr. J. R. Clements gave interesting reports of the proceedings at the morning service of the church on July 16, and this in some measure kept the church in touch with the work of the denomination.

The following resolutions were brought before the convention and after a discussion were passed:

Obituary
 Resolved that we express to the families in convention who have been bereaved of loved ones during the convention year our sincere sympathy and that we commend them to the God of all comfort who has assured us that "all things work together for good to them that love God."

Industrial Unrest
 Whereas it is everywhere recognized that deep and widespread unrest exists in the industrial world; resulting in great hardship and suffering among workers and their dependents; also causing recurring lock-outs and strikes, dislocation of trade and commerce and friction between employees and employers;

Resolved that the Baptist Convention of British Columbia in assembly records its unqualified support of any demands of labor that are just and its dissent from the idea that human labor is a commodity or article of commerce to be dealt with by the law of supply and demand.

Second, we urge upon the management of all industries (1) their obligation to promote the welfare and interests of those who serve them; (2) the wisdom of giving the workers a voice in determining the conditions under which their work is to be done and a proper share in the control of industry; (3) the right of employees to organize themselves and to deal through their chosen representatives with the management of the industries in which they are employed;

(4) the national extension of the cooperative movement in the fields both of production and distribution of goods; (5) the recognition of the industrial rights of women, the assurance to them of equal opportunities with men in technical and vocational training; the determination of wages on the basis of service and not upon the basis of sex, the establishment of healthful conditions of employment and an equal voice with men in the democratic control and management of industry; (6) the freeing of racial and alien people from economic discrimination and exploitation and, with a view to the securing of these and other such conditions on a permanent basis we would earnestly recommend to the Provincial Government the establishment of industrial councils or courts of arbitration wherein all interested parties would be represented on equal terms; where all labor disputes could be dealt with and the findings of such courts considered as binding upon all parties concerned.

Church Union
 Whereas the Baptist churches of Western Canada recognize the great desirability of Christian unity; and whereas there have been recently notable contributions to this great ideal in the pronouncements of the great Anglican Archbishop of Canterbury, London, England, as also in the discussions and fraternal approaches of leading Canadian denominations and churches;

Resolved that we, the Baptist Convention of British Columbia in session assembled declare:

First—Our earnest desire to draw closer to and have fellowship with other Christian, missionary enterprises and in efforts for the social betterment of all the people; and Second—Our desire to extend to brethren in sister denominations who are striving for the furtherance of Christian influence in the world through the cessation of denominational rivalry.

Third—That we earnestly commend to the denominational leaders who are seeking to promote a larger spirit of unity among the churches the desirability of establishing in each denomination a commission of inquiry and research to re-examine all standards of faith, doctrinal statements, and the ordinances of religion in order that the best conception of union be sought after and ultimately reached; and

Fourth—We would commend for the consideration of such leaders the formation of an inter-denominational council or parliament of churches in which great national problems could be discussed from a Christian point of view and pronouncements made upon the same and in which plans might be devised for greater cooperation and efficiency in the service which the Christian churches of Canada are seeking to render to the nation.

Prohibition and Government Sales of Liquors
 The Baptist Convention of British Columbia in meeting assembled hereby declares:

1. Its unwavering adherence to the principle of the total prohibition of the manufacture, importation and sale of intoxicating liquor and pledges itself to do all in its power by organization, education and other legitimate means to bring British Columbia into line with other great provinces in Canada where the principle of bone-dry prohibition has been successfully established.

2. That having regard to the late plebiscite in which a majority of the voters of the Province expressed themselves in favor of Government Control and sale of liquor this convention urges upon all ministers, Baptist churches and congregations to watch with scrupulous care any violation of the restrictive terms of the Liquor Act, and where discovered to take such action as may be deemed wise to protest against such violations.

3. The convention further places itself on record as absolutely opposed to permission being given, under any circumstances whatsoever, for the sale of liquor in any description and pledges its support to the Government in their avowed intention, as recently expressed by the Honorable the Premier, to enforce the statute in regard to this and every other particular so long as the same remains on the statute books.

4. The convention also declares itself as unalterably opposed to the principle of profit from the Government sale of liquor and strongly protests against the use of anticipated revenues derived from the same, being applied to schools or hospitals or for the relief of taxation.

Whereas the matter of the reconstruction of the world upon a permanent peace basis is the supreme question for the nations at the present time; and whereas it is our conviction that the adjustment of the great and perplexing world problems which are filling all nations with unrest can only be made by the true application of those spiritual forces which God has committed to the Christian church for the good of humanity.

Be it resolved that this convention of Baptist Churches in British Columbia in annual convention assembled express their fullest sympathy with and pledge its unqualified support to any policy which has for its object the general disarmament of the nations of the world.

Be it also resolved that a copy of this resolution be forwarded to the Right Honorable the Premier of Canada, Honorable the Minister of Militia, Honorable the Premier of the Province of British Columbia and the Honorable the Minister of Education of British Columbia.

Ministerial Disabilities
 Whereas there are disabilities upon the statutes of our Province affecting Ministers of Religion, especially in regard to the existing school law and practice;

Resolved that the Baptist Convention of British Columbia in meeting assembled hereby requests the Provincial Government to amend the several statutes as to place all Ministers of Religion upon an absolute equality with all other citizens.

Resolved further that a copy of this resolution be forwarded to the Honorable the Premier of the Province.

LT.-COL. G. A. WELLS NAMED WARDEN OF ST. JOHN'S COLLEGE

Lt.-Col. (Rev.) G. A. Wells, D.S.O., C.M.G., rector of St. Margaret's parish, Winnipeg, and late of St. Luke's, Cedar Hill, has been selected for the new post of warden of St. John's College, 'Col. Wells, whose resignation has already been placed in the hands of his vestry, will commence his new duties on September 1.

The appointment was made on the recommendation of the dean and chapter of St. John's Cathedral, and has met with the unanimous approval of the St. John's College council, the alumni of the Fort Garry diocese and the diocese of Rupert's Land.

In American circles generally the choice of Colonel Wells for the warden's post has met with the warmest commendation. It is pointed out that he is a graduate of the institution and held in the highest esteem by the faculty and the students.

Colonel Wells served with great distinction during the great war. When war broke out he was rector of the Anglican Church at Minnedosa, He assisted in raising the Fort Garry Hoop, with which he went to England, and was the first Canadian chaplain in France, crossing over with No. 2 Stationary Hospital. When the cavalry brigade reached the field of war he became a chaplain, later being transferred to the second Canadian Division, with which he remained and ultimately entered Germany. Colonel Wells returned to Canada in September, 1919, and for a time prior to being called by St. Margaret's he was rector of St. Luke's, Cedar Hill. In addition to teaching the S.O. and the C.M.G. he was four times mentioned in despatches.

REV. H. E. B. SPEIGHT TO KING'S CHAPEL

Rev. Harold E. B. Speight, of Berkeley, Calif., and formerly of the First Unitarian Church here, has accepted a call to King's Chapel, Boston.

REV. H. E. B. SPEIGHT
 ton, Mass., as a colleague of Dr. Howard N. Brown. Mr. Speight was in Boston in May, attending the annual meeting of the American Unitarian Association, and preached for several Sundays in King's Chapel. Mr. Speight was born in England thirty-four years ago. He was educated in England and Scotland, graduating with high honors at the University of Aberdeen. After graduating he was Assistant Professor of Philosophy at Aberdeen, then held a postgraduate course at Oxford University; from 1912 to 1914 was associate minister of Essex Church, the leading Unitarian Church in London, England. On account of ill health he resigned from that position and emigrated to British Columbia. He was minister of the Unitarian Church at Victoria, B. C., for a few months, and in October, 1918, became minister of the First Unitarian Church of Berkeley, Calif. He has made a notable success of his work in that important university town, where he has made a large name for himself as a preacher and administrator.

Mr. Speight has also been secretary of the Pacific Coast Conference of Unitarian Churches since 1918, and has been a lecturer at the Unitarian School for the Ministry at Berkeley. When this country went into the war he was made chairman of the Berkeley Chapter of the Red Cross and Red Cross Field Director. In August, 1918, he entered the Officers' Training Camp at Louisville, Ky., was granted American citizenship, commissioned chaplain, and sent overseas, where he served with the American Expeditionary Forces until January, 1919, being assistant senior chaplain at Base Section No. 1. His work as chaplain was highly commended by the staff and he was promoted to a captaincy. He now holds a commission as captain (chaplain) in the Officers' Reserve Corps, and he is chaplain of the Berkeley Post of the American Legion.

Mr. Speight will assume his duties at King's Chapel about October 1, serving jointly with Howard N. Brown, D. D., who has been the honored minister of the church for more than twenty-five years. Mr. Speight will relieve Dr. Brown of much of the administrative work of the church and will share the preaching with him.

Let Mother
 "Out"
 To enjoy Life

PERSUADE her to go out. Mothers are far too apt to stay in, even when the sunshine calls. Take her with you on those trips to the country. Really, she longs to go, but, with all the work of the household on her hands, she feels she must stay home. Induce her to quit the harder, heavier tasks. For example, she needn't stay in baking bread—Shelly's 4X Bread can be delivered daily to your door. Golden-brown loaves, crisply, thinly crusted, evenly baked. "Light" like Mother's; tender in texture, nutty in taste, yet with "body" that satisfies.

CHAMBER GIVES ARDENT SUPPORT TO LINEHAM PLAN

Trenchant Summary of Value of Scenery Wins Chamber of Commerce

Taking a far stronger stand than that adopted by its Board of Directors, an unexpectedly large attendance of the general membership of the Chamber of Commerce at last night's quarterly meeting unanimously endorsed the Tourist Exploitation plan advanced by Arthur Lineham stated by him in The Times last Saturday.

The Board of Directors had supported the principle of the scheme, but last night's gathering was emphatically in favor of the scheme itself as outlined, making this plain when President Beatty put the motion to a vote as being endorsement of principle, the members demanding that the scheme should be specified in the resolution.

Mr. Lineham scored most convincingly in his presentation of his idea, the gathering showing a compliment of intense interest throughout his address, the passage of the resolution of endorsement being followed with a burst of applause.

Blind to Mountains. In introducing his subject, Mr. Lineham stated that for twenty-five years the people of British Columbia had paid attention to the development of their timber, fishery and mineral resources, and neglected the biggest asset the Province possessed, the scenery. He pointed out that mountain tops and wonderful scenic beauties were the greatest feature of the Province, that it was in fact the Switzerland of North America.

By this neglect British Columbians had departed from the logical line of development, said Mr. Lineham, citing New Zealand as an example of what could be done in spite of isolation, 15,000 miles from any other centre of population, that Dominion having, by intelligent organization of its tourist service and capitalization of its scenery secured a population of 1,300,000.

Glaciers Outvalue Fields. "In this country 75 years' work have only cleared 4,000 square miles. We have most scenery, develop it. I want to see the mountain tops are worth more than potato fields if properly utilized," said Mr. Lineham, declaring that we would all be dead a long time before the mountain tops are worth more than potato fields if properly utilized.

Mr. Lineham then explained in detail the manner tourist bureaus would be organized and that he estimated that $150,000 would cover the yearly cost of organization and widespread advertising.

Apathy Amazes Visitors. "As the Switzerland of North America this Province would make a great appeal to 115,000,000 people of this continent who are too hot and ardent to look elsewhere to cool off, and they are coming to us. I want to see the mountain tops are worth more than potato fields if properly utilized."

Shining Beacons to Way. To doubters of success for such a scheme of the scenic travel Mr. Lineham pointed to Switzerland saying "Before tourist travel was organized and made easy for all Europe to go to and to be seen, it was the principal industry, one now almost forgotten."

Bathing Without a Beach. In 1898 Los Angeles started to advertise as a summer resort as well as a winter playground, having already built up a tourist trade worth $50,000,000 a year and had created more five industries than any other point on the Pacific Coast.

Alfred Carmichael moved the endorsement of the scheme, Alderman A. E. Todd seconded, in doing so pointing out that tourists result in residents, and residents bring in industry. In supporting the motion C. T. Cross warned the Chamber that it was an old habit with Victorians to pass the buck and then act as if they think we have done our duty.

Milwaukee, Wis., July 15.—Rumors of an impending affiliation between the Palm Olive Company, one of Milwaukee's largest industrial concerns and the Seaver Brothers Company of England, the largest soap manufacturers in the world, were partially confirmed to-day by officials of the Palm Olive Company.

FOUND MISSING BABY IN HOUSE

Miss Okel, 16.—Exhausted and hysterical after a fruitless 24-hour search for her missing baby daughter, thought to have been taken by a band of gypsies, Mrs. Sam Lankin of this city this morning threw herself across her bed in despair. Thereby she discovered the infant fast asleep on the floor between the bed and the wall.

A CLOSE RACE

There were many handsome prizes going for the youngsters, and the races were hotly contested.

MINISTER GRADES B. C. HIGHWAYS

The Hon. J. M. King, Minister of Public Works, returned to Victoria to-day and attended the meeting of the Cabinet after being absent on the Lower Mainland for more than a week.

The Minister at present is busy making classification of municipalities under the 1920 amendments to the Highways Act. So far the Minister has covered Burnaby, Coquitlam, Matsqui and Chilliwack with the object of determining what classification the highways of these municipalities should be placed in so that determination of the extent of Government assistance in construction and maintenance may be arrived at.

TEACHERS TAKING SUMMER COURSE VISIT ARCHIVES

Dean Coleman Speaks at High School; Coming Events Outlined

More than forty members of the teaching profession of British Columbia, here to take advantage of the Summer Extension Courses at the High School, this morning visited the Provincial Archives and made a most interesting inspection of the Provincial Archives.

The collection of old maps and records of early explorers were of particular interest to the party. Dean Coleman, who is in charge of the Provincial Archives, explained to the party the value of the collection.

The school extension of geographical knowledge of the Province, as shown by the collection of maps, was also of great interest, the session lasting from ten o'clock until midday, when the party visited the Provincial Archives.

In the course of an excellent address upon "Poetry and Childhood," Dean Coleman, of the B. C. University, charmed the attendants at the Summer school in the High School auditorium last night.

HEAR TEACHER TELLS CLASSES "QUEER THINGS"

Trustees to Confer With T. W. Cornett on Religious Charges

The School Board listened patiently last night to the charges of Rev. Joseph McCoy and F. W. Laing that attributed to Mr. Cornett, superintendent of one of the largest of the city's Sunday schools, Mr. Beckwith's daughter had studied under Mr. Cornett, and had told her father that Mr. Cornett never discussed controversial theology, but naturally taught the history of Christianity as that was in the curriculum.

"Camouflage." "The Board is throwing up camouflage," Mr. McCoy asserted.

Mr. Jay suggested that the matter be referred to the Municipal Inspector.

After Mr. McCoy and Mr. Laing had left Mr. Beckwith called the multitude of these gentlemen toward the Board outrageous.

When Mr. McCoy began to impress upon the Board its duty in regard to the religious charges, he immediately aroused Trustee J. L. Beckwith, "I'm not going to be lectured to," Mr. Beckwith exclaimed.

Mr. McCoy said that no teacher had a right to make the statements attributed to Mr. Cornett, but added that it was impossible to quote the teacher's exact language.

Suggests Friendly Conference. "Would it not have been a friendly act to have gone to the teacher and pointed these matters out to him?" Mr. Beckwith asked.

Mr. McCoy answered, "No, it's not my responsibility."

Mr. Draynor could not see how the Board could proceed without having before it an accurate report of Mr. Cornett's words.

"Well, the public will hold you responsible before very long," Mr. McCoy warned.

A Dangerous Thing. "If you can't prove your charges you shouldn't take your present position," Mr. Beckwith asserted.

Mr. Beckwith denied the charges against him, and especially a citizen like you, Mr. McCoy, I am intensely sorry you should put your signature to a letter in the papers which you are not prepared to substantiate before the Board.

During further discussion Mr. McCoy admitted that the teacher in question was Mr. Cornett and said that if Mr. Cornett denied the charges against him he would be satisfied.

"We have got to protect the teacher as well as the public," Trustee Ridgell pointed out. "We could not go ahead without witnesses to the teacher's words."

"If this Board investigated everything it heard, every rumor, we would not get anywhere," said Mr. Beckwith.

Mr. Laing said that it would be possible to secure the exact facts but if it were necessary to do this the evidence would be submitted to another tribunal.

"THE SKY PILOT" IS MAGNIFICENT FILM

Representatives of Local Societies at Private View at Royal Victoria

Representatives of the ministry, the Social Service Committee, the Kumtuka Club and other leading organizations were the guests of the management of the Royal Victoria Theatre this morning at a private view of the film "The Sky Pilot," from the famous story by Ralph Connor (Rev. C. W. Gordon, D.D.).

The production is entirely Canadian, with Canadian actors, and was taken in the country around Banff and Winnipeg. It faithfully reproduces the life in the cattle country of twenty years ago.

Particularly magnificent are the views of the scenery, which alone are worth seeing, while the story itself follows the book faithfully and portrays the vicissitudes in the career of the young preacher.
