A recent edit causes the left nav box turn into puzzle piece and comes out of its place

Pulling from left puts a contribution screen over the current article to see in-context possible contribution points.

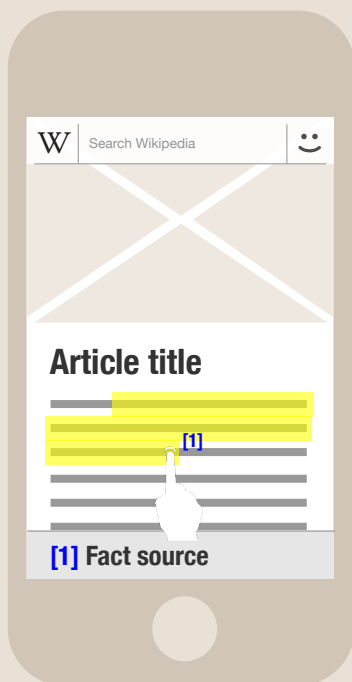

Drag the puzzle piece to areas where contribution indications are to start contributing Tapping on any part of the article brings up source/notes.

The superscript number is not the only target, the entire sentence/paragraph is = Bigger target & sign of credible info. Otherwise, put a CTA to add source.

Instead of “History” page, this is a page that shows how you jumped from article to article.
Timeline could be useful on the left.
