Lectori

Linguæ Anglo-Saxonicæ Studioſo,

S. P.

DUM antiquas quaſdam ſchedas idiomate Anglo-Saxonico conſcriptas forte verſarem, amice Lector, occurrebat mihi vetuſta hæc verſio Boethii. Quam ut ab ALFREDO, magno illo Anglo-Saxonum rege, adornatam intellexiſſem; illico, communicato cum amicis conſilio, de ea typis excudenda cogitabam; haud minus tranſlationis hujus ſuavitate ſingulari ac majeſtate vere regia ductus, quàm ipſius libri ſummo cum rerum tum verborum pondere ac præſtantia. Inſtituto verò huic noſtro ſtimulum addidit, quod paulo poſt intelligerem verſionem hanc regiam viro ſummo, linguæque hujus ſupra omnes mortales cultori ac promotori maximo, D. FRANCISCO JUNIO, adeo in deliciis fuiſſe, ut univerſam propria ipſius manu deſcriptam typis paraverit. Apographum hoc inter infinita alia κειμήλια in bibliotheca Oxonienſi reponendum curavit moribundus. Deſcriptum eſt ad antiquiſſimum codicem MS in hac Bodleiana bibliotheca, eique ad marginem adſcriptæ ſunt exemplaris Cottoniani lectiones variantes. haſce nos in hac editione ad imam paginam perpetuo ſubjunximus. In dictis ctis autem codicibus, illud in primis notandum eſt, quod in Bodleiano Boethiana metra oratione ſoluta redduntur; in Cottoniano verò, carmine quidem, quale ætas iſta ferebat, Anglo-Saxonico. Neque mihi ſane dubium, quin utraque iſta Boethianorum carminum verſio ab eodem prodierit ALFREDO: prior, cum adverſis preſſus ſenſum duntaxat auctoris exprimere ſatis haberet; poſterior autem, cum otium poſtea nactus, de poetica parte poetice qualitercunque reddenda cogitaret. Utcunque res habet; quod noſtri officii erat, utramque edendam curavimus; ſepoſitis in finem libri metris codicis Cottoniani; ita quidem, ut Anglo-Saxonicæ poeſeos ratio, ut ita dicam, ac forma, quoad ejus fieri poterat, exhiberetur; diviſis ſcilicet ac diſtinctis ſingulis verſibus, qui in exemplari MS continuâ ſcripturâ, poſita licet ad ſingulos verſus interpunctione, repræſentantur. De poeſeos quidem hujus indole ac genio haud aliud in præſentia habeo quod dicam, quam quod colorem quendam habeat à vulgari ac ſoluto ſermone inſigniter diſcrepantem; quanquam ad ὕψος Cædmonianum haudquaquam adſurgat. In opere hoc philoſophico Anglo-Saxonice transferendo, haud interpretem fidum (quem Horatius vocat) ſe geſſit rex maximus. ſubinde enim aliqua de ſuo interſerere ipſi viſum eſt, ut in ipſo verſionis veſtibulo; ubi pro deſcriptione Philoſophiæ Boethiana, hiſtorica quædam tradit de exilio & incarceratione auctoris. in reliquis liberiorem fere paraphraſten agit, & ad ſenſum magis quam verba reſpicit; Ciceronem ipſum imitatus, qui in orationibus Æſchinis & Demoſthenis Latine reddendis, eas convertiſſe ſe dicit non non ut interpretem, ſed ut oratorem; neque verbum pro verbo reddidiſſe, ſed genus duntaxat verborum vimque ſervaſſe; non annumeratis lectori verbis, ſed appenſis. Haud vero ſupervacaneum eſt, de codice ad quem noſtra hæc expreſſimus, ulterius notare, quod liber primus Boethii in editis, deſinit ad finem capitis ſexti in noſtro exemplari; ſecundus, ad finem viceſimi primi; tertius, ad finem triceſimi quinti; quartus, ad finem ſectionis quartæ capitis quadrageſimi; quintus ad finem uſque libri producitur. Vale, Lector erudite, & de lingua majorum noſtrorum patria uſque & uſque bene mereri perge.

Æthelwerdus, Chronic. l. 4. c. 3.

IN eodem anno [A. D. DCCCCI.] magnanimus transiit de mundo Aelfredus rex Saxonum, immobilis occidentalium postis, vir justitia plenus, acer in armis, sermone doctus; divinis quippe super omnia documentis imbutus. nam ex Latino, rhetorico fasinate, in propriam verterat linguam volumina, numero ignoto, ita varie, ita præopime, ut non tantum expertioribus, sed & audientibus liber Boetii lachrymosus quodammodo suscitaretur motus.

Wil. Malmesburiensis, de Gestis Regum Angl. l. 2. c. 4.

Habebat [Alfredus] ex sancto Dewi Asserionem quendam, scientia non ignobili instructum, quem Schireburniæ fecit episcopum. Hic sensum librorum Boetii de consolatione philosophiæ planioribus verbis enodavit, quos ipse Rex in Anglicam linguam convertit. ---- -- Denique plurimam partem Romanæ bibliothecæ Anglorum auribus [Alfredus] dedit, opimam prædam peregrinarum mercium civium usibus convectans; cujus præcipui sunt libri, Orosius, pastorale Gregorii, gesta Anglorum Bedæ, Boetius de consolatione philosophiæ liber proprius, quem patria lingua hand-boc. id est, manualem librum, appellavit.

Joan. Bromton, in Chronico.

Optimates quoque suos ad literaturam addiscendam in tantum [Alfredus] provocavit, ut ipsi filios suos, vel saltem, si filios non haberent, servos suos literis commendarent; fecitque Werefrethum Wigornienſem episcopum librum Boecii de consolatione philosophiæ, & libros dialogorum beati Gregorii, in Saxonicam linguam transferre.

Polydorus Vergilius, Anglicæ Historiæ lib. 5.

Dedit Aluredus jam viginti natus annos operam literis, atque ita doctus evalit brevi, ut divi Gregorii dialogos, opus Boetii de consolatione philosophiæ, & psalmos David, ex Latino in patrium sermonem verterit, quò à cunctis facile intelligerentur. licet dialogos & Boetii opus quidam tradant, ejus rogatu, Verefridum antistitem Vigornienſem transtulisse; quibus minus consentio, cum ipse sic eruditus esset, ut par sit credere, ejus fuisse opera. at psalmos, morte intercedente, non omnes omnino interpretatus est.

Joan. Lelandus de viris illuſtribus. MS. pag. 114.

Jam audiviſti, candide lector, quam candido Ealfridus erga literas animo fuerit: nec deſunt, qui prædicent eum, Oroſium, Boetium de conſolatione philoſophiæ, denique & Anglicam hiſtoriam à Beda Latine ſcriptam, in linguam tranſtuliſſe Saxonicam.

Joan. Baleus, de ſcriptoribus Britanniæ, centuria 2.

Ita doctus [Alfredus M.] evaſit demum, ut grammaticus, philoſophus, rhetor, hiſtoricus, muſicus & poeta non vulgaris haberetur. & ut patriam laboribus ornaret literariis, quædam opuſcula edidit, quædam ex Latino in vernaculum idioma vertit.... Tranſtulit vero in linguam Anglicam.... Boetium de conſolatione, lib. v.

Joan. Piſeus, de illuſtribus Angliæ ſcriptoribus. ætate decima.

Doctiſſimis porro ſcriptis ſuis apud omnem poſteritatem laudes immortales, nomenque nunquam interiturum [Alfredus] conſecutus eſt. Multa enim ipſe ſcripſit, multa aliena ex Latino in patrium idioma vertit. Nihil autem eorum quæ ſcripſit, in vulgus emanare permiſit, niſi prius viſum, examinatum, & approbatum ab archiepiſcopo Cantuarienſi Pleimundo, & à quibuſdam aliis epiſcopis, atque doctoribus eruditiſſimis.... ex Latina in Anglicam linguam vertit... ... Boetium de conſolatione, lib. v.

Fr. Junius F. F. in Anglo-Saxonicis monumentis Gloſſario Gothico præmiſſis.

Alvredus, Anglo-Saxonum rex inclytus, qui non minorem apud poſteros ex reverentia ſtudiis exhibita, quam ex regni adminiſtratione conſecutus eſt famam, tranſtulit Bedæ hiſtoriam gentis Anglorum, paſtoralia magni Gregorii, Boethium de conſolatione, Oroſium, ſoliloquia Auguſtini.

Boethium de conſolatione philoſophiæ rex Alvredus tranſtulit paraphraſtice. Deſcripſi ex Bodleianæ bibliothecæ codice MS. ac poſtea contuli cum altero melioris notæ codice Cottoniano. Anglo-Saxonica paraphraſis non ſequitur Latinum exemplar in libros & metra proſaſque diſtinctum, ſed totum opus in capita & capitum ſectiones dividitur.

Robertus Plott, in hiſt. nat. comitatus Oxon. c. 10. §. 118.

Wudufiokiam quod attinet, ſeu Wudeſtoc. Sax. ꝑuðeꝛꝛoc. h. e. locum ſilveſtrem, videntur hic ædes regiæ fuiſſe jam olim à tempore regis Ælfredi. ſiquidem apparet ex codice quodam MS. bibliothecæ Cottonianæ, ſub Othone A, illum ibi tranſtuliſſe in linguam Saxonicam libros Boetii de conſolatione philoſophiæ.

His aſſentiuntur alii complures eiſdem pene verbis. inter quos Foxus Martyrologus, Radulphus Holingshead, Joan. Spelmannus, & Ricardus Baker. &c.
