A GOOD OUTLOOK

DEVELOPMENT BOARD BULLETIN INDICATES PROGRESS ALONG ALL LINES

Since, January 1, 1914, says the February issue of Oakland Achievement, sixty-three new factories have located in Oakland. The list of their products ranges from ships and engines to macaroni and paste. Oakland has secured sixty conventions for 1915.

The Wasco News claims for Kern county the honor of having the largest rice field in California. It comprises two entire sections, or 1280 acres. It is controlled and operated by a Los Angeles capitalist and rice expert.

The Los Angeles Express says that 20,000 acres in the Antelope valley have been acquired by a colony of Socialists, operating as the Llano del Rio Co-operative Colony. Membership is limited to 1000 persons and all the activities of the colony are to be on a co-operative basis.

The United States department of agriculture reports that both long and short staple cotton in California yields 500 pounds to the acre, while in the next best record (that of Missouri) the yield runs only 325 pounds of long staple and 295 pounds of short. The price of short staple in California is about the same as elsewhere, but that of long staple is higher than in any state except Florida.

The wonderful California olive will this year be honored throughout the state and have its many virtues proclaimed from the platform and through the press. March 31st has been designated as California Olive Day and George C. Mansfield of Oroville is chairman of its publicity committee.

The James ranch of 72,000 acres, one of the famous ranches of the San Joaquin valley, is now being subdivided for settlement. An irrigation system is being installed and 30,000 acres will be placed on the market at once.

Albert Oswald of Hickman has been selected by Stanislaus county as its representative at the California development board's rooms in San Francisco. He will devote all his time to lecturing and to the task of swinging prospective settlers in the direction of Stanislaus.

The Exeter Sun is authority for the statement that one olive grower in that vicinity took nine tons of pickling olives from 96 trees (about one acre). They were sold at $140 a ton. Another man near Exeter produced about 2500 packed boxes of navel oranges from a five-acre tract. They sold at an average price of $1.25 a box.

For the year ending December 31 the following enormous quantities of dried fruits were shipped from the United States to foreign countries: Dried apples, 31,027,551 pounds; dried apricots, 16,541,222 pounds; dried peaches, 7,387,151 pounds; prunes, 35,228,737 pounds; raisins, 21,688,420 pounds. Of canned fruit $5,553,968 worth was exported during the year, mainly to Great Britain.

It is reported that 6,650,000 pounds of butter were produced in 1914 from 32,000 cows in the Imperial valley. The producing value of a three-gallon cow for one year is estimated as follows: Butter fat, $102; skim milk, $17.37; calf sold at two months, $7.50; manure value, $5; total production, $131.87.

According to Mr. Charles Donlan, president of the Ventura county Lima Bean Growers' association, the production of limas in 1914 was 1,500,000 bags of 80 pounds each, valued at more than $6,000,000. All available acreage will be planted this year and an even higher market price is expected on account of the European war.

Tobacco growers in the vicinity of Fresno have already contracted to furnish 70,000 pounds of tobacco to a new manufacturing plant which it is proposed to establish in Fresno. It is estimated that more than 200,000 pounds of California tobacco are within easy reach of the proposed plant.

On the original townsite of Cucamonga, San Bernardino county, is being planted what is said to be the largest lemon grove in the world. It will comprise 105 acres.

Mr. and Mrs. James A. Farrell of 123 East Broadway, with Mrs. F. L. Church and Mrs. Mary E. Edwards, enjoyed a very pleasant motor trip Sunday, leaving here early in the afternoon and going direct to Point Firmin, thence to Redondo and along up the coast to the different little towns and beaches, returning home in the evening in time for a sumptuous dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Farrell. Sunday was a pleasant day for riding and the only unpleasant weather was found at Point Firmin, where it was quite windy.

RELIGIOUS AWAKENING

OVER FIFTEEN HUNDRED CONVERTS AS RESULT OF BROWN & CURRY CAMPAIGN HERE

Brown and Curry concluded the grand evangelistic campaign in this city on Sunday. For four weeks, twice a day, services have been held in the large tabernacle erected by volunteer help on the corner of Maryland avenue and Third street. Never before has this section of California been visited by such a pronounced religious awakening, the audiences and response for conversions being uniformly large. Over fifteen hundred signed cards for conversion to Jesus Christ and a higher Christian experience. The singing by the great chorus of several hundred voices, assisted by the orchestra, contributed largely to the enthusiasm and success of the revival. On the financial side all local expense has been covered and at the services yesterday a splendid offering was lifted without effort for the support of the gifted evangelists. Commencing today, the tabernacle will be taken down by volunteer help, for which there will be great demand for several days. The material, cut and ready to be thrown together, has been sold for a revival at South Pasadena. The Brown and Curry team go north immediately for a campaign at Watsonville, later to return to Pasadena for union evangelistic services.

Many elements enter into the success of Brown and Curry. On the human side they are both men of remarkable personality and each is endowed with natural gifts for their respective vocations. Entirely different in personal appearance and disposition, in happy co-operation these men work together without a hitch or jar. Even their voices are so keyed that both can be talking, Brown to the audience in deep base tone and Curry in clear tenor, and there is perfect harmony, both being distinctly heard and understood. It is a fortunate duet for the making of which many years of experience has been required.

Taking these consecrated workers separately the contrast is striking. Brown is tall and slender and yet with broad shoulders and proportionate depth of chest. Curry is not quite as tall as his partner and is well rounded out to the degree of plumpness. Brown is warm and congenial and yet in spite of himself there is an apartness about him that suggests the snow covered heights of an Alpine peak, where the air is always clear and all above is blue and all beneath a glistening whiteness. Curry is a home body, manly and yet with the natural tenderness of a mother's heart. Brown is not a Campbell Morgan, neither is he an Abraham Lincoln, and still there is something about the man that constantly suggests both the famous English divine and the great American. Curry is a typical warm blooded southern gentleman with a heart as big as all outdoors, the tones of pathos in every Brown and Curry duet.

By grace divine these two mighty men of God have already accomplished a remarkable work and over them is arched the rainbow of promise of larger blessing to mankind. The pastors and churches of Glendale, Casa Verdugo and Tropic rise to do honor to these lovable men, and if the whole country round about were visited this day it would touch a heart of stone to hear the testimony of blessing that has come into homes during the past few weeks of San Fernando Valley's greatest revival of old time religion. Surely God is in this place.

The most striking feature of Rev. Brown's preaching is absolute fearlessness. What he so much admires in the Christ and the apostle Paul is what has largely moulded his character and preaching—fearlessness. Greatness has not made him fearless, but rather fearlessness has made him great. We venture the comment that much of the steel structure around which experience has built a Brown from Arkansas still remains to be appreciated, notwithstanding the many biographical sketches thrown in free in sermon and lecture.

That man is a great man who can stand upon the eminence of his own consciousness and, beholding the world arrayed for the hour against him—friends, material wealth and life itself to the vanishing point, with no destiny in time and yet with a grip on the eternities and a sublime willing sacrifice to age-abiding principles—calmly he folds his arms and closes his eyes to the night of time and with inner vision dreams of a personal, rational, essential, good universe, full of hope, confidence and love.

Owing to shortage of space the report of Friday's meetings did not appear in Saturday's issue of the Evening News.

WELL-KNOWN MAN DIES

R. C. STERNBERG SUMMONED BY GRIM REAPER EARLY SUNDAY MORNING

Richard C. Sternberg, familiarly known as "Dick" to nearly everyone in Glendale, where he was widely known and universally loved, passed to the life beyond at twenty minutes after three Sunday morning after a long and courageous struggle against the grim reaper. His death occurred at his home, 1226 Viola avenue, North Glendale, at the age of 40 years, 3 months and 21 days.

Richard Clark Sternberg was born at Marshalltown, Iowa, November 23, 1874, but had resided in this vicinity for the past twenty-four years. Before Glendale was a city he engaged in ranching in the foothill section. For the past eight years or more he was associated with Ezra F. Parker in the real estate and furniture business, retiring some months ago on account of ill health.

Mr. Sternberg was a prominent Mason in the valley. He joined Unity lodge in 1907, acted as secretary of the lodge for about three years and filled the offices of junior and senior deacon and junior and senior warden and was elected master of the lodge and served in that capacity for the year 1914. He was also a thirty-second degree Mason and Shriner.

Mr. Sternberg was of a social and friendly nature and greatly enjoyed the companionship of friends. He was one of the organizers of the Glendale Country club and was secretary of the club at the time of its organization.

Mr. Sternberg leaves surviving him his wife, formerly Miss Anna Levine, and three children—Elizabeth, aged eleven; Helen, aged six, and little Richard, Jr., one and a half years old.

Funeral services will be held Tuesday at half past two at the Masonic temple in charge of the Masons. The remains are at the Pulliam undertaking parlors, but will be taken to the temple at 12 o'clock tomorrow, where they will lie in state until the time of the services. Burial will be in the family lot in Grand View cemetery.

EMMA VAN DEISLEUIS

Emma Van Deisleuis was born on March 8, 1903, and died at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sikki Van Deisleuis on Stanley avenue in Eagle Rock March 12, 1914. The remains are in charge of the Pulliam Undertaking company. Funeral services are being held from the home this afternoon at 2 o'clock, with burial in Forest Lawn cemetery.

DEATH OF MRS. MOYSE

Mrs. J. Moyses of 910 West Fifth street, mother of Prof. George U. Moyses, principal of the high school, passed away at eleven o'clock this morning, after an illness of about three weeks. Funeral arrangements will be announced later.

P. E. CONDUCTOR ROBBED

This morning shortly after 12 o'clock when P. E. Conductor L. W. Laycock had changed his trolley and lights at the North Glendale terminal and was about to board the car, two masked bandits appeared and at the point of their revolvers requested Laycock and his motorman to hold up their hands. They had no alternative but to obey and the conductor was soon relieved of about $25. The men's watches or other valuables were not disturbed. The bandits made their get-away and the crew proceeded on the return trip to Los Angeles after reporting the hold-up. The robbers are still at large.

CHORAL CLUB CONCERT

At the grand concert to be given this evening by the Glendale Choral club under the direction of Prof. J. B. Poulin, the following program will be given: "Mortals Awake," Fred W. Peace. "Moonlight," Eaton Fanning. "Piano—Sonata," "Pathétique," Opus 13 (Beethoven), Mrs. LeRoy W. Bosserman (by request). "Miller's Wooing," Eaton Fanning. "My Lady Chlo," H. Clough-Leighter. Solo, "At Dawning" (Cadman), Roland Tomkins. Violin, Miss Lalla Fagge. Easter cantata, "Death and Life."

Miss Laura Jones and mother, Mrs. S. P. Jones of Los Angeles, were dinner guests at the home of Dr. and Mrs. A. L. Bryant of 421 Jackson street Sunday. A great bowl of wild yellow violets and ferns centered the table and lent their beauty to the occasion, and a delightful afternoon was enjoyed by all in this charming home.

$8000 FOR SCHOOL SITE

ADAMS STREET FRONTAGE WAS NOT INCLUDED IN OFFER TO SCHOOL TRUSTEES

At the meeting of the board of trustees of the Glendale school district last Thursday evening the question of making the purchase of the land for a school building site in the southeastern part of Glendale came up for consideration.

At the bond election about a year ago $8000 had been provided for making the purchase. Prior to the bond election W. W. McElroy gave a committee a price of $8000 on a certain parcel of land. Members of the trustees at last Thursday evening's meeting wondered if in the offer was included Adams street frontage, and it seemed that no one present was able to answer definitely, and thus the report appeared in the Evening News that it seemed to be the general understanding when the bonds were voted that the entire tract could be purchased for $8000.

Mr. McElroy and the committee to whom he gave the $8000 price say that the Adams street frontage was not included in the offer and the board of trustees now understand it in that way. The Evening News is pleased to make the above explanation.

GLENDALE HIGH BREAKS EVEN IN DEBATING

The Southwestern Debating League held its third and final series last Friday night, March 12. The question was "Resolved, That the permanent support of the Monroe Doctrine by the United States is the most effective means of maintaining international peace in North and South America."

At home, Glendale's affirmative team, consisting of Howard Stickney and George Dyer, was defeated by Lincoln's negative team. At Santa Ana, Glendale's negative team, Paul Brooks and Donald Cowlin, succeeded in winning all three judges' decisions from the Santa Ana affirmative.

This makes a good showing for Glendale when the fact is considered that none of the Glendale students had taken part in league debates this year. The league championship goes to Pomona.

"GARDEN SOLDIERS"

"Clean up, spade and dig" is the slogan selected by Oakland for the campaign toward a city beautiful—plans for which have been approved by the mayor and the city council. The ten thousand school children, organized some months ago as the Oakland Garden Soldiers, already have planted hundreds of thousands of scarlet geraniums along the principal residence streets of the city, and Mayor Mott now urges that property owners fall into line and work with the children toward the consummation of the project.

In a letter issued to the public, the mayor said: "Many plans for the beautification of the city and the adornment of its public places. To this particular end, there were organized several months ago thousands of school children into the Oakland Garden Soldiers. This large corps' special purpose was to provide for planting the main traveled thoroughfares with red geraniums. The project has been successfully carried to a point where several hundred thousand geranium plants, fully rooted, have been nurtured into growth by the children, who are now awaiting the signal to complete their work in this scheme of beautification."

"It now devolves upon the residents and property owners to do their part toward consummating the program. I am, therefore, urging your co-operation in that every resident along the main lines of travel shall clear the spaces in front of residences and stores, between sidewalks and curbs, of weeds and rubbish, turn the soil and have this area ready not later than March 27 to receive the plants. Planting will be commenced on March 29, continuing until completed. It is most important that the soil shall be made ready at least two days before the setting of the geranium shall have been started."

Mr. and Mrs. G. N. Lowe of St. Paul, Minn., were over night guests at the home of Rev. and Mrs. E. H. Willisford of 231 Orange street, the latter part of the week. Mr. and Mrs. Lowe are cousins of Mrs. Willisford and are taking quite an extensive trip via Denver, Los Angeles, San Francisco, and Vancouver, returning home in May via the Canadian Pacific. They also visited Mr. and Mrs. Walter Beideman of Pasadena, who were former residents of Glendale.

TROPICO ITEMS

SOCIAL AFFAIRS AS THEY ARE IN OUR SISTER CITY TO THE SOUTH

At the close of an unusually busy session of N. P. Banks Woman's Relief Corps held Friday afternoon in the G. A. R. hall, Mrs. Margaret Jenkins, president of the Kensington club and also vice-president of the Corps, announced that a luncheon had been prepared in the banquet room in honor of Mrs. Harriet Van Brocklin. Mrs. Van Brocklin, who has been the house guest of Mrs. Nina Richards of 306 Paloma avenue for several months, leaves for her home in Rockford, Ills., shortly, and as this charming visitor has endeared herself to the members of the Corps, as well as to the Kensington club members, this delightful luncheon, which came as a surprise to Mrs. Van Brocklin, was given. A large bouquet of violets was presented the guest of honor, and Mrs. Adelaide H. Imler, president of the Corps, in her usual pleasing manner extended a cordial greeting as well as a gracious farewell to this estimable lady, who by her charming personality and sweet smiles has won a place in the hearts of the members of the Corps. This visitor returns to her Illinois home with many pleasant memories of her visit in California, among which there will be none brighter than that of Friday afternoon.

Miss Elsie Anderson, assisted by Mrs. Eustace Benton Moore, will hold the regular monthly meeting of the Woman's Missionary society of the Tropic Methodist Episcopal church at the home of Miss Anderson, 510 Virginia place, Tuesday afternoon. Miss Anderson is arranging a most interesting program, among the interesting numbers to be a talk by Miss Northrup of Pomona, the national field secretary. Mrs. Eustace B. Moore is arranging the musical numbers that will intersperse the splendid literary numbers. Miss Anderson and Mrs. Moore desire a large attendance at this meeting, which promises to be most interesting and instructive.

Miss Violet M. Benner entertained sixteen of her friends at her home on Victor court with a violet birthday party in honor of her ninth birthday. Games, music and readings were enjoyed by the youngsters. The prevailing color was violet, as Miss Violet was born in the East and named after the little flowers as they came peeping out from the snow in the spring. The delicate perfume of violets wafted from the dining-room and gave pleasure to the occasion. Each little guest was given a bouquet of violets tied with violet and white ribbons. The prizes were violet satchel powder, wrapped in violet paper and tied with ribbon of the same color, and they were won by Florence Hopkins and Lucile Cook. Those present were Eleanor Bradford, Geraldine Meagher, Nan Fredericksen, Elsie Gould, Pauline Flanders, Lucile Cook, Gertrude Burch, Norma Caspar, Helen Franklin, Mildred Fischer, Mary Alice Ferry, Elizabeth Goodrich, Erma Lucas, Audrey Haynes, Verna Gracier, Florence Hopkins and Harold Benner.

A most enjoyable meeting of Chapter A-H, P. E. O. Sisterhood, was held at the home of Mrs. John A. Logan Friday afternoon. The rooms of Mrs. Logan's home had been most effectively decorated in yellow and white, the chapter colors. A dainty luncheon was also one of the pleasing features of the afternoon. The annual election of officers added much to the interest of the meeting and the following officers were chosen for the year: Mrs. W. H. Bullis, president; Mrs. John A. Logan, vice-president; Mrs. Leigh Bancroft, recording secretary; Mrs. W. C. Mabry, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Joseph H. Webster, treasurer; Mrs. I. B. Ludden, chaplain; Mrs. Andrew Stephenson, guard; Mrs. Charles A. Barker, journalist; Mrs. C. L. Chandler, organist.

Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Henry of Redondo spent Friday as the guests of their brother and sister, Charles H. Henry, city trustee, and Mrs. Henry, of North Brand boulevard.

Mrs. Lou Gregory of Los Angeles has been spending a few days in Tropic as the guest of her mother, Mrs. Augusta Haefke, 402 West Tenth street.

Mrs. L. S. Jenkins of Glendale avenue is entertaining as her house guest Mrs. Alice Morton of Pomona.

There will be a called meeting of the Epworth League of the Tropic Methodist Episcopal church this evening. This meeting which is for business only, will be held in the church auditorium and is called for eight o'clock sharp. A large attendance is desired.

UNANIMOUS SUPPORT

FAIR TREATMENT ACCORDED TO NEWS RESULT OF ADHERING TO BUSINESS PRINCIPLES

The Evening News has been published as a daily paper for more than a year and a half, and it is with pleasure the management announces that the support given it by the public has been very encouraging. The evening News is now going regularly into 1000 homes and in addition to that, it is read by many who are not subscribers.

It is not forced upon people. It is the aim of the management to have it delivered only to persons who are willing to pay the full subscription price for it. The Evening News publishing and printing plant is established so nearly as possible upon systematic business principles, believing that such a course is the only way a man can continue in business and give the service due patrons in a city of the standing of Glendale.

Newspaper work conducted on a higher plane should be carried on in the same logical, common-sense plan as any other successful business is carried on. It is the purpose of the Evening News to publish a paper that is fair to all, and show favoritism to none. The whole world cannot bring influence upon the publisher to cause him to declare right what he knows to be wrong, nor can he be influenced to declare wrong what he knows to be right.

Since engaging in business in Glendale The News has received fair treatment from everybody. The banks have dealt with us fairly. The clubs, churches and various organizations of the city have given us fair treatment. The city officials have recognized the Evening News as being a publication of reliability, and the business men have taken the same attitude. The Evening News looks for patronage only from the standpoint of merit and not on account of favoritism.

SOUTH DAKOTANS ENTERTAINED

A most charming though informal dinner was given Saturday by Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Ward, who are spending the winter at the home of their son and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Ward of 1551 Myrtle street. The dinner was for a number of friends from South Dakota who are spending the winter in Southern California, and the guests were Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Ties, Mr. and Mrs. L. Carney, Mrs. K. Bigelow, Miss Daisy Stackwell, Mr. Wm. Stackwell, Capt. Leo Foster, Mrs. A. Brown, Mrs. Earl Brown, Mrs. Baines and Mrs. Foster, all from Yankton, S. D.

The event was in the nature of a reunion and was greatly enjoyed by all. The house was profusely decorated in yellow spring flowers and the picturesque beauty of the surroundings delighted the Dakotans as they called to mind the icy weather of their own state.

YELLOW LUNCHEON

Mrs. C. B. Wilde of 228 North Louise street entertained with a beautifully appointed yellow luncheon on Friday at one. Beautiful spring-like daffodils graced the dining-room, while acacia blossoms were banded in the living-room. The table was in the prevailing color, with hand-painted place cards and dainty favors. Covers were laid for Mrs. R. E. Sen and Mrs. W. L. Fullmer of Williamstown, Pa.; Mrs. P. H. Stafford and Mrs. J. W. Stafford of Los Angeles, Mrs. Bethel Booth of Long Beach, Mrs. T. J. Keleher of Glendale and the hostess. The ladies spent the afternoon and in the evening their husbands joined them at dinner, after which five hundred was played until a late hour.

PI BETA THU

Mrs. Frank C. Ayars of 1314 Chestnut street entertained the Glendale members of the Pi Beta Theta sorority on Saturday afternoon in honor of her house guest, Miss Myla Parke of Chicago, who was a classmate of Mrs. Ayars in Lombard college, Galesburg, Ills. Miss Parke left today for Chicago, where she will complete her studies at the University of Chicago.

The house was decorated in olive green and gold, the Lombard college colors, and afternoon tea was served to Miss Maude Soper, Mrs. Charles Rathbone, Mrs. Perce Curtis and the honoree and hostess.

SUNDAY VISITORS

Daniel Carney and wife of Hollywood, I. T. Aney and family and Mrs. Emma Easton were entertained Sunday at the Dave Carney home on Louise street.

CHRISTIAN CHURCH MEETINGS

Supplementary to the tabernacle meetings, the Christian church will have a four-days' campaign of revival service, beginning tomorrow evening. The preaching will be done by Pastor Francis and the singing will be led by Mr. Jordan, the efficient leader of the choir and himself a fine soloist. It is hoped and expected that there will be a large ingathering of those who made confession at the Brown and Curry meetings and who expressed a preference for this church. Let every member rally around the pastor and do his duty in these four closing nights of evangelistic work.

The cheerful cuss is the helpful chap.

The growler greases the track of progress.

Good humor is a master mason in the building of betterment.

At the opening of the meeting a few minutes will be spent in discussing plans for funds for the new club house. The program will be roll call, answered by the name of a California author; Current Events, Mrs. S. W. Johnson; Poems from Van Dyke, Mrs. Rowe; "The Servant in the House," Miss Terry; "Everywoman," Miss Poppy. Miss Terry and Miss Poppy are teachers in the Glendale high school.

Politeness pays—yes, in forty ways!

Among the Tropico and Glendale young people who attended the musical given by Miss Thelma Stanton at her home in Eagle Rock Saturday evening, were Miss Catherine Phillips, Miss Marian Carmichael and Miss Marjorie Imler, Messrs. William Boede, Eugene Imler, John Stauffacher, Howard McGillis, Robert Cowlin and Ralph Carmichael.

Mrs. C. H. Henry of Brand boulevard is entertaining as her house guests, her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Kleinbans, who arrived Friday from their home in Tacoma, Washington for an extended visit with Mr. and Mrs. Henry.

Mrs. Mary Northup, national field secretary of the Home Missionary society of the Methodist Episcopal church, will be the guest of the Tropico Home Missionary society Tuesday afternoon. The society is to be entertained at the home of Miss Elsie Anderson, 510 Virginia Place, tomorrow afternoon.

NORTH GLENDALE

Mr. R. T. Burr and son, Mr. Chas. Burr of 823 Campbell street, returned last Friday night from San Francisco where they enjoyed spending a week viewing the exposition, reporting a very interesting and beautiful display of the world's best products.

Dr. and Mrs. J. E. Eckles of 920 North Central avenue entertained as their guests at a beautifully appointed dinner Sunday Mrs. Eckles' uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. George V. Dorsey of Bradshaw, Neb., who are at present in Los Angeles and Mr. and Mrs. Howard P. Alston of West Twenty-ninth street, Los Angeles.

Miss Beatrice Wells of Eagle Rock was the guest for the week-end of her aunt, Mrs. Robert Parnell of 1636 Ruth street.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Largey of Alhambra motored to North Glendale Sunday morning and were guests for the day of their daughter, Mrs. Louis Cadwallader of 1624 Ruth street.

Mrs. Robert Miller of 1604 Fairmont avenue entertained as her house guests for the week-end her mother and sister, Mrs. Helen Parks and Mrs. Helen Hogan of Los Angeles.

Mr. Jared Wenger of 819 Campbell street left Sunday for San Francisco, where he was to attend a three days' session of the Northern Retail Hardware association, now convening there. Mr. Wenger is secretary of the Southern association and with other delegates will represent the association in the northern city. He also will visit the exposition before returning home.

Friends of Dr. J. E. Eckles of 920 North Central avenue are congratulating him upon his securing the chair of general pathology and histology at the Pacific Medical college in Los Angeles, where he lectures before two classes daily.

CAMP-MEETING DATES FIXED

MOUNTAIN VIEW, Cal., March 15.—Dates of all the camp-meetings to be held in the states of California, Nevada, Arizona and Utah by the Seventh Day Adventists this summer were fixed by the Pacific Union Conference committee in session here last week. They are as follows:

Central California conference, Apr. 30 to May 9; Chico meeting, May 12 to 17; Southeastern California conference, May 13 to 23; Nevada mission meeting at Fallon, May 24 to 30; California conference, June 24 to July 4; Northern California, July 5 to 18; Northwestern California, July 22 to August 1; Southern California conference, August 12 to 22; Utah conference, August 30 to September 5; Arizona, October 7 to 17. Ten thousand dollars has been given by the Pacific Press Publishing association here to the Adventist colleges within its territory, to publishing work in China, Japan and Korea, and missionary work in foreign fields. The entire profit for the year on the Signs of the Times weekly, amounting to $2520, was given to foreign missions.

The sixty-six church schools, besides colleges and academies of the Seventh Day Adventists in this union field, including four states, are now using their own text books. One reason for this is that the Adventists have no faith in the evolution theory, believing as they do that God created the world in six literal days, in harmony with the Bible record. For this reason they do not accept certain geological theories concerning pre-historic ages of mankind, nor Darwin's theory that men sprang from apes. The Bible record of a great flood is sufficient explanation to them of the present broken and twisted strata of the earth.

THE PORTION OF THE FARMER

American farmers are evidently coming in for their share of benefits at last, in spite of the free trade tariff; for while the department of justice is investigating the high price of foodstuffs, with the idea that it can find some way to reduce them, the department of agriculture is sending out circulars to the farmers to prove the wisdom of the advice it gave them some months ago to hold back their products and get higher prices. The report shows that during January the farmers received an average of 11 per cent more than in December, while in ordinary years the advance is only 2 per cent.

Meats, eggs and butter, however, are lower. The fall in eggs simply indicates that the hens have begun work again. Meat is lower because the stock owners are unloading to escape the high price of grain—which will again result in higher prices a little later. Butter is temporarily off because of reduced consumption—partly at least accounted for by the lack of purchasing power in the great army of unemployed. It has left a surplus of winter butter to be disposed of before the spring increase appears. If these declines only meant something with a slight show of permanence, the democrats would instantly be claiming a reduction in the cost of living as the result of their policies.—Santa Monica Outlook.

PERSONALS

The state dairy inspector was in Glendale Saturday in pursuit of his duties.

Mrs. Henry W. Foote of San Diego is visiting her daughter, Mrs. John R. Barrows of 443 West Colorado boulevard.

Mr. and Mrs. Barnes and family of Pomona were Sunday guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wash Hunt of Second street.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Wilson from Boston will be guests tomorrow at the home Mrs. E. D. Yard, 127 North Maryland avenue.

Mrs. Brown and father, Mr. Baxter, spent Sunday afternoon with Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Newcomb of Sycamore Canyon road.

Mr. John R. Barrows of 443 West Colorado boulevard has just returned from a business trip of several days duration in San Diego.

The Wednesday Afternoon Thimble club will meet with Mrs. C. B. Wilde of 238 North Louise street on Wednesday of this week.

The executive board of the Parent-Teacher federation is meeting this afternoon at the intermediate school in their regular session.

Mrs. M. L. Tight of Third and Glendale avenue, is visiting at her ranch at San Jacinto. She will probably be away several days.

Mrs. Nora Woodworth of Pasadena is in Glendale today enroute to Denver, Colo., where she was called by the critical illness of her father.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred E. Landmann of Myrtle street motored to Riverside, where they spent a very pleasant week-end at the Mission Inn, returning Sunday evening.

Dr. D. R. Dungan of 731 Lomita, who recently returned from Mineral Springs, Texas, greatly improved in health, had a back-set Sunday morning and was unable to be up.

Mr. Clarence Cornell of Seattle, Wash., has been spending the past week with Dr. and Mrs. E. F. Archer of 616 Lomita avenue. Mr. Cornell is an uncle of Mrs. Archer.

Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Studder of North Oxford boulevard, Los Angeles, were house guests the later part of the week at the home Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Worley, 909 Chestnut street.

Harry Valiant, who formerly lived at 1554 Colorado boulevard and is now a resident of Los Angeles, fell from a street car in the latter city recently and hurt his back quite severely.

Mrs. R. P. Foss of 1460 Salem street will entertain Mr. and Mrs. Carlson of Avoca, Iowa, at dinner this evening, after which they will all attend the concert to be given by the Glendale Choral club.

Prof. Brahm van den Berg of Los Angeles will be the guest of Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Bosserman at the Glendale Choral club concert this evening. A number of other Los Angeles people will also attend the concert.

The Thursday Afternoon club of Tropico will meet this week at the home of Mrs. W. M. Kimball, 1303 Maple avenue. Hostesses will be Mrs. Robert Kimball, Mrs. C. O. Pulliam, Mrs. C. H. Woolsey, and Mrs. W. M. Kimball.

Ruth St. Denis and a party of friends from the Alexandria were dinner guests at beautiful La Ramada Sunday. Rumor has it that this charming and popular lady will come to Glendale where she will take a house and conduct a dancing class.

Frank Shumate of the Imperial valley, who came up a few days ago to see his mother, who was then very ill, was taken seriously sick himself Saturday and has since been confined to his bed at the home of John Jackson, his brother-in-law, at 1418 Milford street.

Mrs. Herman Paine of 109 South Maryland avenue underwent an operation Saturday morning at Thornycroft hospital. Last reports were that she was resting easily and would probably have a quick recovery. Her many friends join in hoping that she may soon be back among them.

Joe Bellu of 1641 Oak street, who is a trusted employee of Cunningham, Curtis & Welsh of Los Angeles, is some carpenter, if you only knew it. Having rented one of his places to a man who owned an auto, he turned to and in three days working at odd times he put up a very substantial garage.

Miss Edith Cowles of Los Angeles and Miss Lucy Nickerson of Venice spent Monday with Miss Marion Lane of Glendale.

Mr. Roy Hassan, the state dairy inspector, in company with the local dairy inspector, Chief of Police Herald, spent Saturday inspecting the dairies in Glendale and vicinity.

Mr. and Mrs. Felch of Los Angeles were dinner guests on Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Blake of 1546 West Fifth street on Sunday, and in the afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Felch, Mr. and Mrs. Blake and baby and mother, Mrs. M. Blake, all enjoyed a delightful automobile trip to Pasadena and surrounding cities.

EAGLE ROCK

The Woman's Guild of the Presbyterian church met last Thursday at the home of Mrs. McCamon of Royal drive. This was the time for the regular missionary meeting and the following officers were elected: Mrs. W. Koethen, president; Mrs. L. Kirkes, vice-president; Mrs. M. V. Shaff, second vice-president; Mrs. G. Candee, secretary; Mrs. C. LaPorte, treasurer.

The Congregational Missionary society will hold its meeting on Thursday afternoon at the church. A program is being prepared as well as the usual luncheon.

Friday afternoon a truckload of Occidental students enjoyed a most delightful outing at the Arroyo Seco. Various stunts and games were indulged in and about fifty young folks sat down around a huge campfire and enjoyed a "moonlight spread," after which the merry ones departed for their homes.

Mrs. Mayo and little son Harry of Kenilworth avenue spent one day last week on their ranch near Compton.

M. and Mrs. F. Hammer of Los Angeles attended the Brotherhood banquet here Friday evening. They were formerly residents of this city and their many friends were very glad to see them.

The Airdome theater, which will be conducted by James West, will probably be opened to the public the first of next week.

Rev. J. Brown of Los Angeles led the prayer meeting last Wednesday evening at the Presbyterian church. His wife and daughter accompanied him and enjoyed meeting former friends.

Rev. Albert J. McCartney of Kenwood Evangelical church of Chicago addressed the students, faculty and friends of Occidental college Thursday at the regular assembly.

Mr. and Mrs. Durnbaugh and children are spending some time at Long Beach visiting friends.

been ill and was unable to attend to his work.

Mr. Lemon, who had this route for the Glendale bakery, will be greatly missed as he has made many friends here during his daily trips throughout the city.

Friday evening was the "biggest and grandest" of all other previous nights for the Brotherhood, as it was then that the men showed their skill in decorating the hall and cooking and serving the menu. Indeed, it was a great surprise for the ladies when they went over in a body from the church and were led through the Brotherhood banquet room, which was certainly elegantly decorated. It seemed more like being out of doors under a real pergola. From the front to the back of the hall on each side were columns resembling marble and over these English ivy, fern and other dainty greenery was turned. Even a few Cherokee roses found space to twine about the columns. The electric light bulbs were artistically covered with green crepe paper cut so that it resembled green corn husks. Last, but not least, were the table decorations, consisting of red carnations and fern and at each place was a bunch of violets (even a pin to fasten them with). An electric lamp with a large red shade cast a rather subdued light about the room and greatly enhanced the beauty of the decorations. The men did well in serving the delicious supper, which consisted of roast lamb, mashed potatoes, gravy, peas, bread and butter, celery, coffee, cheese, pie, fruit salad, nuts, mints and even cigars (candy cigars) were not forgotten as the last course. The ladies heretofore had done the cooking and serving and had the impression that men didn't know how to, but have changed their opinions and proved the men as worthy as the women in getting up a "swell affair" as this was. Rev. Connaway gave a toast, and the ladies gave three cheers to the men for their splendid work. Then the people went across the street to the M. E. church, where Mr. R. Crandall showed a number of his color photographic slides and greatly pleased everyone. Mr. Crandall is a recognized photographer, taking excellent colored photos. Mr. Crow gave an address of appreciation and thanks to Mr. Crandall and the friends of the Brotherhood. This brought a most pleasant evening to a close.

All of the churches in Eagle Rock are busy preparing and training the children for the Easter programs.

The Chamber of Commerce held its regular monthly meeting last Thursday night and this was one of unusual interest and importance. Many very important matters were discussed, pending street improvements. It was about decided to give a banquet in the near future, but definite plans were not made.

NEW RESIDENTS

Mr. F. H. Rosenberger, recently of Los Angeles, has leased the residence property at 147 South Brand boulevard and is now a resident of Glendale.

Mr. Rosenberger has been engaged in the mining business for the past fourteen years and is a literary writer of some note, having written considerably for various newspapers and magazines.

After careful investigation of the various suburbs of Los Angeles, Mr. Rosenberger concluded that Glendale was the nearest his ideal town and is loud in his praise of our city and its beautiful surroundings.

Ridicule is the machine gun of fate.

STATEMENT OF W. E. EVANS CONCERNING HIS WORK AS CITY ATTORNEY WITH REFERENCE TO REGULATING WATER RATES AND SERVICE HERE FROM WHICH SUITS HAVE RESULTED

Prior to July 1, 1912, the Glendale Consolidated Water company, the Miradera Water company and the Verdugo Springs Water company had a rate of $1.50 minimum for 800 cubic feet and 8c per hundred cubic feet excess and, in addition thereto, the Consolidated Water company charged $20.00 for service connection and meter, the Miradera Water company and the Verdugo Springs Water company charged $15.00 for service connection and meter.

These three companies at said time had installed something over two thousand connections for all of which the consumers located on the various lines had paid at the rate above stated. The gross income at that time of these three water companies, was about $75,000.00 a year. I advised the board, after a lengthy investigation concerning the receipts and expenditures of the companies, to pass an ordinance reducing the rate from $1.50 minimum to $1.25 minimum and from 8c excess to 7c excess, and also prohibiting each of said companies from making any charge for service connection. This ordinance was accordingly adopted on July 1, 1912, and thereby saved for the consumers from ten to twelve thousand dollars for the year on their water rates and ultimately saved all future consumers the expense of paying for a meter and service connection.

The Glendale Consolidated Water company filed suit asking that the enforcement of the ordinance be enjoined; the other two companies obeyed the ordinance for the time being. The Glendale Consolidated Water company, after the city's appearance and preparation, abandoned the case and it was dismissed and the ordinance, so far as rates were concerned, was accordingly enforced for the year beginning July 1, 1912, and ending June 30, 1913.

The city of Glendale paid me the sum of $300 for my services in the above mentioned case.

The same ordinance was re-adopted on July 1, 1913, whereupon both the Title Guarantee & Trust company (having succeeded the Glendale Consolidated Water company) and the Miradera Water company filed suit against the city seeking to enjoin the enforcement of the ordinance. These two actions were prepared for trial on motion for injunction before Judge J. P. Wood and the city's showing in support of the ordinance was so conclusive as indicated by Judge Wood at the time of the hearing of the motion for injunction, that the injunction was denied and the cases abandoned by the water companies. I spent a number of weeks exclusively on the preparation of these two suits; had the assistance of three engineers for the purpose of going into the valuation and matter of construction of the water systems. The city paid me in these cases: Title Guarantee & Trust company vs. the city, $450; Miradera Water company vs. the city, $300; total, $750.

Attorneys Frederick Baker and Oliver O. Clark, after reviewing the work done by me, each wrote the board of trustees a letter stating that the sum of $750 for my services in these two cases was exceedingly reasonable.

In the early part of 1914 the board of trustees passed a resolution determining the necessity of the installing of certain fire hydrants throughout the city on the Miradera Water company and the Consolidated Water company's systems, said hydrants to be installed at the expense and under the supervision of the street superintendent of the city. We made demand on the two water companies above mentioned for the installation of the hydrants. They refused to install them unless the city would agree to pay them a stipulated rental of $1 per month, as I remember, for the use of the hydrants in addition to paying the costs of installation. The city refused to accede to their demands and instituted two suits before the supreme court of the state of California for writs of mandate requiring them to install the hydrants. I presented these matters before the supreme court in San Francisco and the alternative writs were granted and set for hearing in this city in March, 1914, when they were argued on motion for the permanent writs of mandate. The supreme court took the matters under advisement after I briefed the cases, but failed to render any decision before October, 1914, at which time the two water companies concerned sold their properties to the city of Glendale, thereby necessarily ending that litigation. The city of Glendale paid me for my services in these two cases $125 each; total, $250.

The various suits hereinbefore mentioned brought by the water companies for the purpose of enjoining the city from enforcing the ordinance pertained merely to the matter of rates and not service connections. The Title Guarantee & Trust company and the Miradera Water company in March, 1913, made known to the city their determination not to install any more meters or service connections without being paid $15 for same in advance by the applicant. It was my opinion that the jurisdiction in the matter of regulating the service connection lay in the railroad commission. The board directed me to institute actions before the railroad commission asking for a regulation of the two companies, requiring them to install at their own expense service connections and meters upon the request of any prospective consumers.

I felt sure that the fight once begun would not end short of the supreme court. The actions were instituted and tried out before the railroad commission and an order issued directing the water companies to make the service connections at their own cost and expense. The two companies appealed to the supreme court from the order of the railroad commission. This appeal was argued in San Francisco and later in Los Angeles before the supreme court, then briefed by the city attorney and the attorney for the railroad commission and submitted in October, 1913. It was taken under advisement by the court and the order of submission was set aside in January, 1914, and request was made for further briefs on the part of the attorneys. Whereupon we filed additional written briefs and the supreme court in August, 1914, handed down an opinion reversing the railroad commission's order as to the matter of jurisdiction, but holding that it was the duty and obligation of the water companies to install meters and service connections at their own expense and that the ordinance passed by the city of Glendale in July, 1912, was a valid and proper regulation. Whereupon the water companies are returning to the various consumers the amounts paid since July 1, 1912, down to the present, which will amount to more than $3000. These amounts are being paid to the consumers in part and $2185 has already been paid back. The result of this litigation was that we established the law governing the matter of water companies charging for meters and service connections and recovered for the various consumers in the city the amount paid by them since July 1, 1912, excepting in a few cases where payment was made to the Consolidated just before its foreclosure proceedings. The city paid me $750 for my services in these two cases.

In the early part of the year 1914, the water committee of the city of Glendale recommended that a petition be filed with the railroad commission asking that a value be placed on all the water companies' properties in the city of Glendale with view of the city purchasing same. Under direction of the board I filed the petition which covered the properties of each of the water companies. The railroad commission had these applications before it from about January to about July 1st. Three or four days were spent in taking testimony, then several weeks for briefing points of law, the main fight being between the city and the Verdugo Springs Water company, involving the matter of water rights, my contention being that the water companies were entitled to no valuation on their water and water rights which were to be turned over to the city. I based my claim in this matter on a late federal decision which was at that time before the United States supreme court on appeal. The Miradera Water company and the Glendale Consolidated Water company were apparently satisfied that I was right in my contention and did not introduce any evidence as to the value of water or water rights. The Verdugo Springs Water company did, however, contest this claim and introduced evidence as to the valuation of their water rights and only a few days before the railroad commission handed down its decision the United States supreme court reversed the case and held that the water companies were entitled to have a value placed on their water and water rights. The railroad commission followed the ruling of the supreme court and gave the Verdugo Springs Water company a valuation of $2000 per inch on ten inches of water, but the Consolidated Water company and the Miradera Water company were given nothing for their total of twenty-seven inches of water. You will note that the result was that the city benefited to the extent of getting twenty-seven inches of water valued at $2000 per inch for nothing. The Verdugo Springs Water company and the Verdugo Pipe & Reservoir company have not as yet turned over their properties to the city for the reason that the money has not been available with which to pay the valuations. The city paid me for my services in this matter $750.

In January, 1913, the Title Guarantee & Trust company and the Miradera Water company filed two actions against the city of Glendale attempting to enjoin the city from enforcing certain ordinances providing for the installation of fire hydrants and water pipes in the streets of the city. I prepared both of these cases, and on hearing of the motion for an injunction the motions were denied. At that time litigation concerning the same questions was started by the city before the railroad commission so these two actions were finally abandoned by the water companies. The city paid me $125 in each of these cases; total, $250.

Without going into minute detail the foregoing covers my work for the city in connection with the water problems. The result of each one of the matters in litigation was entirely satisfactory from the standpoint of the city. You will further note that this litigation began back in 1912 and ended in August, 1914. My fees were principally all paid in the latter part of 1914. During the period these matters were pending in court and before the railroad commission, I gave the major portion of my time to looking after them.

Monthly Salary

My salary as city attorney from the time I was first appointed in May, 1911, to May, 1912, was $50 per month. From May, 1912, to July, 1914, it was $85 per month. Since it has been $100 per month. I have conducted all the court work in the different condemnation proceedings without extra pay. I have furnished stenographers, stationery, stamps, etc., in all my work as city attorney, except in one or two condemnation cases the city paid for the stenographic work and stationery.

Very respectfully,
W. E. EVANS.

OUR PRESIDENTS

A few days ago there was printed in the Evening News a rhyme of grammar, which made the study of parts of speech such an easy affair that even a boy could remember it. Here is an easy way of remembering the presidents:

The first of our presidents everyone knows,
For yearly the fame of George Washington grows.
When eight years he'd served, John Adams served four,
Thomas Jefferson followed for eight years more.

James Madison next and then James Monroe,
Each sat for two terms; next for one term, you know,
Came an Adams again—John Quincy by name.
Andrew Jackson for two terms as president came.

Then Martin Van Buren four years held sway,
But William H. Harrison in one month passed away;
Gave place to John Tyler, who next took the seat,
And became president, the full term to complete.

James K. Polk for a term came from old Tennessee,
Then Zachary Taylor the next one you see;
But death ere two years called him from the race,
Millard Fillmore completing the term in his place.

Franklin Pierce, his successor, the next four years;
Then for one term James Buchanan appears.
Then Abraham Lincoln, whose first term was passed,
In guiding our country through war's fierce blast.

But his second term hardly begins when it ends,
And his murder brings grief to his millions of friends.
Andrew Johnson completed the unexpired space,
Then Ulysses S. Grant for eight years held the place.

Rutherford B. Hays for one term held the chair,
Though Democrats held his election unfair.
James A. Garfield the people next chose as their chief,
But though mourned by the country, his time was but brief.

For a murderer's hand shot the president dead,
And Chester A. Arthur was chief in his stead.
Grover Cleveland for four years next sat in the chair,
When Benjamin Harrison succeeded him there.

Four years in his turn in the seat to remain,
And when his term ended came Cleveland again.
For William McKinley one term's fairly o'er,
When the people have given him four years more.

Once more in our nation comes sorrow and grief,
An assassin strikes down our chief.
And Theodore Roosevelt assumes the command,
The latest executive here in our land.—By G. L. Couray.

It will be noticed that these verses were written several years ago and that Roosevelt's second term, William H. Taft and Woodrow Wilson have not been mentioned. But the imagination of the readers can readily supply them with rhymes for these three.

LOST—ONE RATTLENAKE

The following "lost and found" ad recently appeared in the Mena, Ark., Star:

My Tennessee diamond-back rattler, Bob, has left his usual haunts in my feed barn, Fourth and Pickering, and, being worth more than a half dozen cats in a feed barn, I will cheerfully pay a reward for his capture. Bob is perfectly harmless. One fang is extracted, the other broken off within half an inch of jawbone. He is 3 feet 7 1/2 inches long; five rattles; no button. Should you find Bob, do your best to get him in a box of some kind, then call 40 or 150, either one will get me, and I will come at once.

Glendale Evening News. The article in question is herewith completed.

The woman's meeting on Friday afternoon was opened by an inspiring song service under the matchless leadership of Prof. Curry. Rev. Edmond, the popular pastor of the local Presbyterian church and chairman of the executive committee of the Brown and Curry revival campaign, led in prayer, thanking God for the consecrated women of our community.

Curry at his little organ sang "Some Mother's Child," with the tenderness of a mother's heart. His is a winsome voice.

II Kings 4:26 was chosen as a text for the address on "The Ideal Woman."

Elisha and the Shunammite woman were converted into modern characters as the preacher dug into the condition of the home and the spiritual status of the twentieth century woman. Mr. Brown holds up a very high standard for womanhood and in so doing honors himself and all to whom he preaches.

One good sister, with much fear and trembling, remarked, "I would not like to have to cook a meal for Brother Brown." Had she more of the blood which leaps in the veins of the Irish she would rejoice at the privilege of cooking just one meal for the great evangelist and fixing him good. Well, forget it. Brown comes from the south where even hot biscuit and yellow butter can not kill the ideal woman and square deal man.

Altogether, the address to women was interesting and convincing. Worldly amusements came in for another round and the points were sharper than ever. Especially was the fact of personal influence over other lives driven home.

Occupying the central section of the tabernacle was a delegation of the well known Tuesday Afternoon club. Mrs. Mattison Jones, the gifted president of the club, led the body of ladies up the aisle to their reserved seats. Brother Brown was proud to have the distinguished body represented for wherever he goes the various societies which stand for high ideals never fail to rally to his support.

Again on Friday evening the crowd appeared in goodly numbers at the tabernacle. A special treat came through the service of song, old 132 shining out like the bright and morning star, sparkling high above all. And then there was the additional feature of a solo by Rev. John P. Hillis of Pasadena. Being the author of this telling hymn entitled, "Shall I Empty Handed Be?" added much to the interest of the sweet song so sweetly rendered. Brother Francis, beloved pastor of the Christian church, led in prayer.

Reverend Brown conducted his auditors through the vivid scenes leading up to the judgment and crucifixion of the Christ, and here it was where the gifted orator always shines. Christ on the cross, bleeding and dying for a lost world, praying, suffering, forgiving—there stood the tragedy of the ages and apart from any attempt of explaining the great mystery of the atonement, as optic nerve responds to light human hearts were made to respond to the blood of Calvary, to the washing away of sin and to the satisfaction of peace and rest in God.

The four classes gathered about the uplifted cross as in vision Christ hung there, heard with searching accents the preacher's text, "What then shall I do with Jesus which is called Christ?"

To the class who say we will not have this man to rule over us, Evangelist Brown exposed the principal cause to be sin in the life. To the class called neutral there came the message, "Neutral you cannot be." To the procrastinators who ever say, "Some more convenient time," was opened the way to hell paved with good resolutions.

All of the fourth class, they who have crowned Christ king, were confirmed and made happy in Jesus. It is the sensible, noble, brave and right thing to crown Christ king. Many came forward in the after meeting, each one with a different experience, but all resolved to realize the glorious destiny of man which is revealed in God's holy word.

In Tuesday's issue the final report of the campaign will appear, giving the history of Saturday and Sunday with brief outline of the sermons. There will also be an analysis of the secret of Prof. Curry's voice and messages in song.

BUY A BOX OF ORANGES

Southern California, as one of the greatest orange producing belts in the world, through its loyal citizens and commercial bodies is prepared to make the approaching Orange Day eclipse all other past Orange Days celebrations in the south.

One of the numerous features of the day will be the sale of cartons of oranges, containing one dozen, two dozen and three dozen of the choicest brands. These cartons, properly packed and ready for delivery, will be sent to any part of the United States or Canada, postage or express charges prepaid.

Last year thousands of cartons of oranges were sent east via the parcel post and express. This year a greater sale is anticipated and a number of the packing houses report large orders for the small cartons of oranges.

Tentative plans for the Orange Day celebration in Los Angeles include
