

IN MILITARY CAMP

BURT O. RICHARDSON TELLS OF LIFE AT PLATTSBURGH, N. Y. TRAINING CAMP

Burt O. Richardson, son of Mrs. Ella Richardson of 805 S. Central avenue, writes from Plattsburgh Military Training camp, on Lake Champlain, N. Y., in great spirits. He thinks the Preparedness movement is excellent and that the camp is a fine institution for young men or indeed for men of military age even up to the 45-year limit. He says:

"We are really working at Plattsburgh. Everything is order and discipline. All the officers are army officers and West Point graduates. We drilled today from 7:15 to 11:50 a. m. and from 12:35 to 5:15 p. m., which is almost ten hours. However I am enjoying it. This is the greatest Preparedness machine in the United States. By the time taps is sounded on the evening of Aug. 8, about 6000 of the best citizens of the nation will have been put through the mill and will have been guided along the first paths of preparation for the time, should it ever come, to render efficient service to their country."

"I have fallen in with an interesting, intelligent and jolly group of boys and am becoming so much attached to the camp that I will not care to leave. I have met fellows here from all over the country and from about every college. We speak to all and every one and acquaintances are easily made. I just came into town with Bill Lane, whose father is secretary of the interior in Wilson's cabinet."

"The camp publishes a newspaper entitled 'Camp News.' I do some writing for the paper and have been paid fairly well for it. Because of my previous instruction in military drill I have been able to obtain a sergeant's position, which is very good. Only about six are of higher rank in my company, which is B company of the 5th Regiment."

"Among the things that stand out so prominently in this worthy undertaking are sincerity of purpose, and the physical and intellectual fitness of the individual recruits. The first few days have developed a mutual admiration society, the members of which are the 'regulators' on the one side and the 'recruits' on the other. As in last camp 'co-operation' is the keynote. Confusion was conspicuous by its absence. Favored by delightful weather the work has been taken up in earnest and everybody is happy and cheerful. The rough places of the registration and assignment plans had all been smoothed down and everything worked in shipshape manner."

"Reveille is at 5:45 a. m., march at 5:55 a. m. and assembly at 6 a. m. Taps is at 1:30 p. m. Reveille, first call for mess and sick call are one hour earlier on Sundays and holidays. After breakfast there is an interval of about 40 minutes during which time the final preparations for the day's work are made and when assembly sounds at 7:30 every man is in his place and ready for the morning's work."

"Most of the men take elective work in the afternoon, which consist of additional courses in infantry, cavalry, field artillery, engineer corps, signal corps and medical corps. The attendants taking this work are assigned to the regular organizations for the afternoon period. The men find much pleasure in rifle practice on the range and in gallery practice."

"Immediately after reveille each man is required to make up his bed and arrange his belongings in a neat and orderly manner and police up in the immediate vicinity. The entire squad should then roll up the tent walls, weather permitting, and clean up all around the tent and the company street in front. The squad leader details one man daily as tent orderly and holds him responsible for the general cleanliness of the tent interior and surroundings."

"This movement for defense is one of the best things that has ever struck the country. If all our citizens who believe or profess to believe that an army of a million men can be raised between sunrise and sunset could come to this training camp and see the vastness of the utilities equipment and labor involved in organizing and training ten thousand men, they would have no trouble in making a complete revision of the situation."

CHILD CULTURE STUDY CIRCLE

The Child Culture Study circle, organized in connection with the United States Department of Education, met Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. H. W. Yarick, 1447 W. Third street. There was the usual attendance. The circle went on with the reading and study of "Child Nature" by Elizabeth Harrison.

WILSON AT FORD PLANT

JESSE E. SMITH TELLS HOW PEACE LOVERS OF DETROIT GREETED PRESIDENT

"During my recent visit to the various centers of Ford activity," said Jesse E. Smith, of the Glendale Ford agency, "I was fortunate enough to meet with President Wilson and to have a brief talk with him. Our conversation was confined to mere formal introduction and greetings. The president was fully occupied with important matters at that moment. He had come to Detroit to be present at the World's Salesmen's Congress."

"I happened to get into Detroit when the convention held its opening session at the Arcade Convention hall. The president and many others were guests at a luncheon at the Athletic club, at which I was also present. Afterward Mr. Wilson was the guest of Henry Ford at the Ford plant. He visited the works and watched with interest the process of manufacture of the autos which have made Detroit famous and saw a Ford machine assembled in record time."

"There were at least 75,000 persons surrounding the Ford plant when the president visited it. As he entered at the gates he saw in front of him a magnificent floral decoration with a great sign reading: 'Our hats off to the President who has kept us out of war.' The affection and respect with which the president was greeted were unmistakable."

"It was worth while hearing Wilson speak. He is no orator nor spellbinder, but his quiet and incisive speech was fully as impressive and likely to be more lasting in its effects than the periods of more ambitious wooers of the public ear. He was greeted with a storm of applause when he began. He said that the presence of the United States army in Mexico was with the desire to help, not for conquest. There was no mistaking the fact that for the time at least he made a profound impression. He will have strong support among the 35,000 Ford employees."

EXAGGERATED REPORT

Friends of Miss Florence Chadwick, well known in Glendale and Tropic, and a sister of Mrs. Robert Danner of 331 Gardena avenue, will be glad to know the reports in last night's Los Angeles papers of her near-drowning were very much exaggerated. Miss Chadwick was at Santa Monica with her mother. She was not feeling very well and thought a dip in the surf would be beneficial to her. She had no more than stepped into the water when she fainted. Her mother was able to assist her and she was soon revived, and was able to come to the home of her sister in Tropic the same afternoon.

The report that she was carried out to sea unconscious and rescued from the waves with difficulty, her life being saved only by a half hour's desperate fight with the pulmotor was entirely false. Miss Chadwick says that when she regained consciousness a man was bending over her with a glass of whiskey, which must have been the pulmotor referred to.

W. C. T. U. PICNIC

The Glendale W. C. T. U. will hold their annual all-day picnic on the beautiful grounds of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Brown, Sycamore canyon, Aug. 4. A hayrack ride will be provided for 10 cents each, round trip, starting from Baptist church, corner of Third and Louise streets, at 9:30 a. m., proceeding on Third street and picking up enroute those who are ready at various points.

Members of neighboring Unions, Good Templars, Prohibition club, Dry Federation, and all friends are cordially invited to join in the good time. Bring your lunch. Remember the date, August 4, and be on time, 9:30 a. m. Other transportation may be had by Eagle Rock car line on Second street. Get off at Sinclair avenue, go north short distance.

YOUNG CAMPAIGNERS

Father! Mother! A Young Campaigners Club has been organized with 25 members. We wish at least 100 or more. They meet next Friday p. m., July 28, at 3 o'clock, on Third street school grounds, to learn drills, yells, and songs under efficient leaders. Won't you let your children come and help to make California dry? No expense or obligation only to learn helpful things, Caps, pennants and song book furnished.

Help us enroll the children of Glendale in this effort to secure a clean state for them.

VICTIM IN OSTEOPATHIC TRAGEDY DIES

DR. WILFRED HARRIS OF BOSTON EXPIRES WITHOUT THROWING LIGHT ON TRIANGLE DRAMA

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)
BOSTON, July 26.—Dr. Wilfred Harris, president of the Massachusetts College of Osteopathy in Cambridge, died here this morning, without throwing any light on the tragedy that involved the lives of himself, Dr. Eldridge Attwood, who shot him, and Dr. Celia P. Adams, the woman in the case, who committed suicide. Attwood, the third actor in the triangle drama, is likely to lose his life also on a charge of murder. He has confessed that he shot Dr. Harris.

BRITISH DRIVE GERMANS OUT OF POZIERES

IMPORTANT VILLAGE NOW IN HANDS OF GEN. HAIG'S MEN—CRISIS IN GREAT BATTLE IS NEAR

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)
LONDON, July 26.—After three days of a most desperate attack on the village of Pozieres, in the course of which the British guns smashed and crumbled the masonry of the village into dust, the Australian and New Zealand contingents overcame the desperate resistance of the Germans, who had fortified the place till it fairly bristled with machine guns. The whole village is now in the hands of the British. This gives them a chance to advance still farther in the attack on the third line defenses of the Germans.

BERLIN ACKNOWLEDGES BRITISH ADVANCE

GERMANS CONFIRM STATEMENT THAT GEN. HAIG'S MEN HAVE MANAGED TO CARRY POZIERES

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)
BERLIN, July 26.—After a stubborn fight, in which the losses on both sides were very heavy, the British Australian and New Zealand forces managed to establish themselves in Pozieres. This news was given out officially today. The Germans are still confident, however, that they cannot be driven out of their third line defenses.

SAYS TROOPS ARE PROTECTING BORDER

PRESIDENT WRITES TO CORRESPONDENT IN INDIANA THAT THE MILITIA IS NOT MERELY AT DRILL

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)
WASHINGTON, D. C., July 26.—President Wilson writing to a correspondent, Mrs. Henry Smith, of Winamac, Ind., informs her that the United States militia are performing a service of the highest nature by protecting the United States border from Mexican raids. He states most emphatically that they have not been sent to the border merely for drill purposes.

INFANTILE PARALYSIS STILL HOLDS FIELD

NEW YORK CITY REPORTS 163 NEW CASES OF POLIOMYELITIS WITH NO END IN SIGHT

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)
NEW YORK CITY, N. Y., July 26.—The Medical authorities today reported 163 new cases of infantile paralysis in the city. The deaths numbered 35. The doctors are at loss how to get control of the epidemic. No satisfactory serum has been found and even the germ itself seems to be but imperfectly understood.

TURKISH TROOPS ASSISTING AUSTRIANS

SOLDIERS OF THE SULTAN HAVE BEEN TAKEN CAPTIVE BY RUSSIANS IN THE FIGHTING IN GALICIA

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)
COPENHAGEN, July 26.—It was reported here today that the Russians have captured a number of Turkish soldiers in the course of their operations on the Galician frontier. It is thought that the kaiser has ordered the Ottoman government to send troops as he himself has none to spare to help the Austrians. This is held to indicate a serious weakness in the armies of the Central Powers.

RUSSIANS ON THE ROAD TO CONSTANTINOPLE

GRAND DUKE NICHOLAS HAS FOUGHT HIS WAY TO ANGORA EASTERN TERMINUS OF RAILROAD TO CAPITAL

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)
PETROGRAD, July 26.—Duke Nicholas, who has been conducting the operations of the Russians in the Caucasus region, has reached Angora, the eastern terminus of the railroad to Constantinople, which city is the immediate objective of the Russian advance. The Turks are demoralized and are falling back with much loss in the face of the unprecedentedly speedy advance of the Russians.

TAX ON LAUNDRIES

W. E. HEWITT SAYS LOCAL INDUSTRY PAYS EQUALLY WITH OUTSIDE BUSINESSES

"Recently," said W. E. Hewitt, proprietor of the Glendale Laundry, "it has come to my knowledge that the Los Angeles and other laundries that are competing for a share of the laundry work of Glendale have been telling people that they are unjustly discriminated against in Glendale as they have to pay a license tax of $100 before they can do business here. The inference is even if they do not all boldly assert it that the Glendale Laundry is not paying this license fee."

"It should be understood by all people of this city that in accordance with the city ordinance on the subject the Glendale Laundry pays a license fee of $100 just as the outside firms do. There is no discrimination. If any business might object to a license fee that Glendale Laundry might; but it has never done so, in spite of the fact that it has to pay a fee equal in amount to that of its rivals from the city who take money out of Glendale, but beyond this license fee return nothing."

There is not a city round about that does not enforce a license fee on all laundries doing business in its midst, whether they are local or outside concerns. San Fernando imposes a license fee of $12 a year; Burbank, $24 a year; Tropic, $36; Los Angeles county, $24, and Los Angeles city, $120. It is seen at once that other cities are just as alive as is Glendale to obtain legitimate revenue from outsiders who exploit their custom; so that the outside laundries need not wonder that Glendale does likewise and is also impartial in its exaction of a similar license fee from its local people.

"When Glendale was a town of a few hundred inhabitants the Glendale Laundry was established at its present location on the corner of Columbus and Arden avenues. The business was managed by progressive men who built up a large patronage, securing business from the whole of San Fernando valley, from Los Angeles, Hollywood, Pasadena and all surrounding towns. Nineteen-tenths of the business was secured from outside territory; yet the laundry was always loyal to Glendale—all the supplies possible were purchased in Glendale and only home people were on the pay roll."

"Then outside capital entered the field and all city laundries made such a scramble for business that restrictive ordinances were passed in different cities to limit outside laundries. Although at an increased expense Glendale Laundry continued to hold its business on account of the superiority of its work."

"Glendale Laundry is a home institution. It is a heavy taxpayer. Its 40 employees spend the greater part of their earnings in Glendale. Its eight auto deliveries advertise Glendale in outside towns. It pays the same license fee of $100 as do outside laundries. The management feels that the people of Glendale should understand this and not be misled by statements to the contrary. The management is loyal to Glendale and is anxious that Glendale should be loyal to this, its own local industry, which is the largest industry in this city."

SPEND SUMMER HERE

Among those who are making their annual visit to Glendale are Mrs. E. H. Baird and daughter Arlene, of Dyersburg, Tennessee, who are visiting at the home of Mrs. Baird's parents, Mr. and Mrs. I. J. Spafford, 1420 W. Fifth street. They will remain in Glendale about two months.

This is the third successive summer Mrs. Baird and daughter have spent in Glendale and they appreciate the wonderful climate of Glendale especially this summer because of having remained in their Southern home until a later date in the season than usual, the weather being exceedingly warm at Dyersburg.

LIONS AT CAMP BALDY

Nimrods and campers in the vicinity of Mt. Baldy have been very much excited over the report that two large mountain lions have been sighted just at the foot of the "hog back." It is seldom that these big beasts come down so far in the canyon and as there is a bounty of $20 each for them they will not be allowed to remain long in the vicinity of the camp.

WEATHER FORECAST—Fair tonight and Thursday; cloudy along the coast; westerly winds.

OF VALUE TO VOTERS

P. S. McNUTT GIVES VALUABLE INFORMATION FOR THOSE WHO WISH TO VOTE

This is written not to get votes for any candidate but with the hope that it may be of service to you. It is one thing to have political rights but quite another thing to be conditioned so that we can exercise them. Much confusion exists as to voting at the primary election August 29. The primary is only to place persons on the party tickets for the November election. If each party had its own primary on a separate day, then it would be easy for us, but to save expenses we have them all the same day.

The Judges, and the county officers as supervisor and district attorney are called non-party offices.

Remember, the election boards are bound and limited by the registration records and by the tickets given them for you. There will be tickets for each party having candidates and on each one of these will be also not only the candidates of your party but the non-party candidates before mentioned.

You cannot declare your party and get any ticket you name as you did in May but the board will look at your registration; you can only get the ticket of the party named in your registration. If no party is given in your registration they will give you a non-party ticket having on it only the non-party officers as judges, supervisor and district attorney. It will not have places to vote for any candidates for Congress or the state legislature. If your registration shows a party not in existence what can you do? Why can you go home without voting at all?

You can change your registration without giving your reasons for it but it must be done this week as the books close on Saturday for the primary. The registration will not be of any value unless made since January 1, 1916. Some have the idea that since they declared a different party at the May primaries, from that given in the registration, that it is not necessary to register again, but this is not correct,—your declaration at the May primary was not a registration. Better see a register of voters this week. See the News for the names of those in Glendale.

EAGLE ROCK RAILWAY

The Glendale-Montrose railway is hard at work widening the gauge of its Eagle Rock branch. This work when completed will enable the cars on that branch to run down to Brand boulevard, along Glendale avenue and Broadway. As far as the work has gone it has consisted of the taking out of the old ties at certain intervals and the substitution of broad gauge ties. Before long the curve at the junction of Glendale avenue and Third street will be accurately ascertained and the broad gauge will be begun there. There will be no interruption of the traffic on the Eagle Rock line. As the broad gauge is installed from the Glendale avenue end eastward along Third street the standard cars will run out on Third street as far as the broad gauge extends. There they will meet the old cars which will stop where the narrow gauge extends. Bit by bit this place of exchange of passengers will be carried out until Eagle Rock is reached and the change of gauge is completed. The work of substituting broad gauge ties for narrow has now been carried on as far as Verdugo road.

AUCTION BRIDGE PARTY

Mrs. Hinchcliffe of 1226 Chestnut street entertained at a most enjoyable auction bridge party Tuesday, in honor of Mrs. Tillotson of Dinuba, Cal., who is at present visiting her sister, Mrs. Miner, of Los Angeles. The rooms were tastefully decorated with bouganvillea and the guests spent a pleasant afternoon. Those present were Mrs. Matthew Bedall, Mrs. C. M. Good, Mrs. D. H. Smith, Mrs. Susan Nethery, Mrs. Barnes, Mrs. V. Price Brown, Mrs. Herbert Smith, Mrs. Matson Morrill, Mrs. Herman Paine, Miss May McDermid, Miss Olive Williams, Mrs. Frank McKenney, Mrs. Charles J. Post, Mrs. C. O. Pulliam, Mrs. Clemens, Mrs. Andrew Hill, Mrs. Willis Kimball, Mrs. Robert Kimball, Miss Bell, Mrs. Wallace, Mrs. Schwab, Mrs. Swindell, Mrs. Ayars.

BEANS GO UP

With beans soaring in price as a result of the demand along the Mexican border, bean growers in the Chino, Walnut and Pomona districts will reap a crop estimated to be worth $40,000 this season.

FUTURE OF NATIONAL PARKS

Lord Bryce, formerly British ambassador at Washington, D. C., a man who is a better American than a great many Americans, the author of the only good history of this country, was greatly impressed by the wealth of natural scenery and natural wonders in the United States. Speaking of this he said: "The world seems likely to last a long, long time and we ought to make provision for the future. The population of the world goes on constantly increasing and nowhere increasing so fast as in North America. A taste for natural beauty is increasing, and, as we hope, will go on increasing. The places of scenic beauty do not increase; but, on the contrary, are in danger of being reduced in number and diminished in quantity, and the danger is always increasing with the accumulation of wealth, owing to the desire of private persons to appropriate those places. There is no better service we can render to the masses of the people than to set about and preserve for them wide spaces of fine scenery for their delight. From these propositions I draw the conclusion that it is necessary to save what we have got and to extend the policy which you have wisely adopted, by acquiring and preserving still further areas for the perpetual enjoyment of the people."

These words of Lord Bryce led Canada to enter this field of preserving natural parks for its people long before the United States took up the idea. That country set aside great areas for parks. The influence of these parks is far greater than might be imagined. They have a vast influence on the health of the people. No one can fail to note what an excellent thing the war in Europe has been for this country. From Glendale alone there have gone hundreds of people to visit Alaska, both last year and this year. The boats that carry tourists up the Inside passage and the boats that run to Valdez and the others that run to Nome have been so crowded this year that bookings had to be refused. Americans were seeing America as they had never seen it before.

This summer the Yosemite valley park has been a favorite touring spot. No fewer than 9688 people entered the park previous to July 1, this season. Five thousand six hundred and twenty-three traveled in stages of the Horseshoe line. Eight thousand of those who entered the park up to July 1 were tourists. This number can be greatly multiplied to show the number who will visit the park before the close of the season.

The influence of the national parks is wonderful. They lift the mind up to regions where the sordidness of the common laboring and struggling daily world is forgotten. They bathe the whole being in pure waters and cleanse and purify the soul from the stains of this mortal life. Not only is one in a higher physical atmosphere than when at the lower altitudes, but in the parks, amid the solitude and grandeur of Nature, one is lifted up into the higher regions where the purer spirits dwell.

It is a blessing that the country has seen fit to preserve as a heritage of the Nation these wonderful national parks which are the embodiment of all that is grandest in natural scenery and most impressive in their effect of any in the world. The fact that so many thousands have been compelled to visit their own country's natural parks has opened their eyes to the wonders they have missed during many a long year and it is likely that next year even if the war should cease the travels of this and last year will prevail on many parties to travel and see the marvels of the Yosemite, the Yellowstone and the Grand Canyon. That would probably mean the spending of $50,000,000 in this country that would otherwise go abroad.

PURCHASE OF THE WEST INDIES

Without much heralding in the newspapers the United States has concluded a treaty with Denmark for the purchase of the Danish West Indies. Those islands are to cost this country the comparatively small sum of $25,000,000. The probability is that they will save this country many more millions, perhaps billions, by preventing war. There have been propositions ere now looking to the purchase of the islands, but they have been turned down by congress which must ratify the treaty. The treaty must also be ratified by the Danish upper and lower chamber of the rigsdag.

In the United States the House of Representatives must concur in the ratification as well as the Senate. The Danish government also has signified that it will submit the question of the sale of the islands to the people resident on them. It is believed, however, that the people favor annexation and are quite willing to transfer their allegiance. In the treaty the United States is liberal enough on this point and will not demand that the people transfer their citizenship to the United States; they may retain their Danish allegiance and still remain on the islands and enjoy all the privileges that may result from the transference of the islands to the United States.

There are three principal islands in the Danish West Indies group. These are St. Thomas, from which comes the famous bay rum, a preparation for the hair, and many other pharmaceutical preparations and products of the chemical still; St. John and St. Croix. These islands are about fifty miles east of Porto Rico and would go well with that possession. They have harbors that are much needed as naval bases for the defense of the Panama canal. There is little doubt in the minds of the statesmen of this country that some of the European countries would like to challenge the United States' right to hold the Panama Canal. That waterway needs defense not only from guns on shore, but also from a mobile fleet and from a land army.

Apparently the government has become alive to the necessity of acquiring a naval base for that defense. St. Thomas, St. John and St. Croix are convenient and at the price of $25,000,000 would pay for themselves in the course of a few years.

The Germans are credited with having introduced in this war various new methods of fighting in contravention of the stipulations of the Hague convention. Among these have been the bombardment of undefended cities and villages, the killing of citizens for the purpose of intimidating others, the torturing of prisoners to obtain money, the use of destructive flames projected in front of an attacking force to a distance of fifty feet, the use of asphyxiating gases in shells, the use of shells that pour out volumes of tear-producing fumes, destroying the eyesight in many cases, the use of blinding shells of another kind. Latest of their devices, all of which have had to give way before the straight up-and-down charge with the bayonet on the part of their foes, are not to be compared in the matter of ingenuity with the use of bees which they have employed in East Africa. The beehives are in hollow logs placed in trees. These hives are attached to wires which when stumbled against by the British have sent the hives crashing to the ground and released swarms of angry bees which fought against their supposed assailants while the Germans added to the confusion by their fire. As usual the new device was a novelty but as far as having any effect on the British was concerned it merely made them remark somewhat casually that they "were having a hot time."

SPEECH RECORDER

A new alphabet is the latest contribution of science. Its characters are not arbitrary symbols of written speech, but nature's own letters definitely formed by her own laws.

Basing his experiments on the action of the phonographic stylus, which in reproducing human speech, writes its own records phonetically in microscopic characters so complicated that until now they have defied deciphering, John B. Flowers, an American phonetic specialist, has devised a system of reeds which he has successfully tuned to the different characteristics of the human voice. By connecting these reeds electrically he makes them operate the corresponding keys of a typewriter, so that when he speaks into the transmitter of his device the keys of the typewriter automatically respond and actually write his spoken words.

The record made by the machine is said to be fully as easy to decipher as that of a siphon recorder used in cable telegraphy. Should this instrument come into common use it is claimed that the average person would soon learn to read the natural phonetic writing, and it is conceivable that in time it might become a means of simplifying spelling.

ENGLISH IN PARAGUAY

Not long ago, the president of Paraguay issued a decree providing for the study of English in national colleges to be given the same importance as the other prescribed studies, and the teachers to receive the same salaries as those of other branches.

The president bases his action upon the recognized value of learning English—a value which is becoming more apparent to the merchants of South America. He also mentions that he has taken this step in conformity with the recommendation adopted by the recent Pan-American Congress in Washington. Many years ago English was taught in the colleges of Paraguay, but of late years it has been superseded by another foreign language.

A USEFUL WATCH

The two oldest inhabitants were very ignorant, neither of them being able even to tell the time of day. A friend of Uncle Ben's gave him a watch, of which he was very proud. One day, before the crowd at the corner store, old Pete, being slightly jealous of such wealth and wishing to embarrass his rival, said: "Say, Ben, what time have ye got?"

The other old fellow drew out his watch and turned its face toward his inquisitor. "There she be!" he exclaimed.

Pete was almost at a loss, but he made a magnificent effort and retorted: "Blame if she ain't!"

CALMING THE SEA BY AIR-BUBBLES

Philip Brasher, a young engineer and a graduate of Princeton University, said to himself not long ago, "If the wind makes the waves, why not use air in motion in another way to still the storm-tossed waters?" And the most astonishing part of this seemingly fanciful idea is that he has made it a fact. True, he has not calmed the tempest; but he has robbed the waves of their power to do harm, and has recently saved a costly pier that would, in all likelihood, have been smashed to bits or badly damaged by the billows. He was able to perform this seeming marvel at El Segundo, California, by means of a breakwater of bubbles.

This novel breakwater is nothing more than iron pipe laid upon the ocean's sandy bottom. It is pierced with small holes, from which streams of air-bubbles can rise surfaceward when compressed air is forced into the piping. The pipes are laid so as to rest right across the path of the oncoming waves, and the rising bubbles catch the waves before they can reach the pier, and rob them of their strength by upsetting the motion inside of the waves. The billows collapse like stricken giants, and then roll landward without power enough left to do the pier harm. "But," you will ask, "how can air-bubbles do what a big stone wall sometimes fails to do?"

To the eye, each wave seems to be a separate body of surging water, and apparently goes sweeping along. But this is not really the fact. The mass of the water does not move forward. A wave robbed of its internal motion collapses, and cannot pass on this motion to the water next ahead of it. In short, it cannot create another wave. The way to upset this internal motion, then, is to disturb or break up the body of the wave. Mr. Brasher does this by the explosive action of rising air-bubbles, and thus he halts the travel of the energy which causes wave after wave.—Robert G. Skerrett, in June St. Nicholas.

THE BAREFOOT TRAIL

Out of the dear front gate it ran, Into the sun of dew and tan; Traversed the dusty, peaceful street Arched by maples, in mem'ry sweet; Crossed the pasture with covered lush; Entered the copse, where thrilled the thrush; Rambled, loitered and played—and then Turned to mother and home again. Street and pasture and hill and vale— Such was the course of the Barefoot Trail; Pausing and veering for this and that— Now for a game of one-old-cat, Now for a rollicking butterfly, Now for a nest hung just too high, Now for a brookside haunt—and then Back to mother and home again.

Never a sun for this trail too hot, Never a nook that knew it not; Twisting and turning from scene to scene, It checked the realm of the gold and green. Passenger—courier boyhood slim; Passport—whistle and tattered brim; Province—to beckon afar, and then To lead to mother and home again. Many a secret and many a tale Ours who follow the Barefoot Trail; Wonders witnessed and marvels heard; Kinship of squirrel and hare and bird, The shortest route to the swimming-hole, The funny spoil of the swaying pole, Care-free triumphs and joys—and then Best—the "mother and home again." —Selected.

U. S. SHIPBUILDING

The United States shipyards are building on the average a new ship every day. It is a record never before equaled in this country, and is the result of the stupendous exports at a time when the world's commerce is upset. There are now in making, or under contract, 368 steel vessels.

Ships bearing the Stars and Stripes have more than doubled within the last two years, and the increase is still going on at high tide. Prior to August, 1914, less than a tenth of America's foreign commerce was carried on in American ships, but at the present rate of building new ones the future will see a great change.

A TALL WELL

The Honorable Victor Murdock, formerly of California, but now of Kansas, was one day expatiating upon the wonders of that State to a group in the House cloak room, and he told this tale:

"A stranger from the East was proceeding through a certain section of Kansas when he observed what seemed to him to be a tall chimney rising above the monotonous level of the prairie. "What is that chimney used for?" he asked the man with him, a native. "Somebody building a factory in this God-forsaken quarter?" "That ain't no chimney," said the other. "That's Hank Lewis's well. Cystone come along an' turned her inside out."

DOCTOR VOWEL

"Doctor Barton, warden of Merton College, Oxford, was the oddity of his time," says Tit-Bits.

"As he was a man of remarkable sympathy, people told him everything that happened. A gentleman, coming one day into his room, told him that Doctor Vowel was dead.

"What?" said he. "Vowel dead. Thank heaven, it is 'e, and neither 'u' nor 'i'!"

ENCOURAGING

Shortly after the death of Tennyson, one of his devoted admirers visited the little village where the poet had lived and died. The stranger entered into conversation with an old man, a native of the village, remarking sadly on the death of the poet.

"Aye, aye," answered the old man encouragingly; "still I mak' no doubt but the wife'll carry the business on."

Personals

Mr. and Mrs. O. A. Lane, Mrs. S. J. Lane and Mr. and Mrs. Frazee spent Sunday at Long Beach.

Mr. and Mrs. Spencer Robinson and family of 234 E. Ninth street, left Tuesday by automobile for a week's camping in the Big Bear lake region.

Mr. M. L. Baisley, who is a government agent on the Colorado River Indian Reservation at Parker, Arizona, is a visitor at present at the home of his sister-in-law, Miss Holm, 1545 Oak street.

The Rev. Dr. L. Ward, a former pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Glendale, is visiting some of his many friends in Glendale for a couple of days. He leaves Thursday for San Fernando.

Fred Wilkinson, 221 S. Central avenue, who was injured by having his arm caught in the wheels of a Gordon printing press, is reported as recovering favorably from the accident. The surgeons are now confident that they will be able to save his arm.

Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Beach of 333 N. Brand boulevard write from Augusta, Mont., where they have been since the vacation began, that the whole family is enjoying a fine time visiting old friends, hunting and in every way taking advantage of the fine season there. They will return September 1.

Mrs. Christian of Imperial valley, with her two babies, Grand and Dorothy, who are at present occupying the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Beach, 333 N. Brand boulevard, were delighted last week by the arrival of Mr. Christian from his ranch near El Centro. After remaining for some days in this city Mr. Christian left for the valley, Tuesday morning.

The Rev. R. W. Mottern and Mrs. Mottern, Mrs. Bryson and Mr. J. W. Imler, went Monday, as representatives of the First Lutheran church of Glendale, to meet the Rev. B. J. Snyder of Long Beach, president of the Lutheran synod, for the purpose of conferring with him concerning the purchase of a lot and the erection of a church building. The congregation already owns a valuable lot but is thinking of exchanging it for one of more central location.

Miss Alice Frank, Eagle Rock road, is meeting with much success in the management of the branch of the Egan school, which was recently established in Glendale. The ballroom dancing class in particular, which is conducted in Butler's hall, is attended to a great extent by young people as well as by children. It is likely that another class for older people will be established in the evening.

Mildred Meeker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Meeker, of 300 E. Colorado boulevard, was taken seriously ill Tuesday, with an attack of acute appendicitis. She was taken at once to Burbank hospital, where an operation for the removal of the appendix was performed. She recovered from the operation very quickly and is getting along nicely. The doctors say that another twenty-four hours without surgical attention would have been fatal.

ATTENTION YOUNG PEOPLE

All boys and girls between the ages of 12 and 20 who live in Glendale and do not attend any Sunday School, are especially invited to be present at the First Methodist church, Third street and Dayton Court, July 30 and again August 6 at 9:40. Cut this article out and bring it with you to give to the usher at the door as it will entitle you to a reserved seat. Tue-Thur-Sat-8

EXPERIMENT WITH ASHES

Santa Monica city officials have discovered that the ash from the municipal incinerator makes a fine fertilizer and offers it to any one who carries it away. The engineer in charge of the incinerator made experiments on his own garden patch and found that with the application of the ashes, the soil which was barren before produced vegetables of excellent size and quality.

TRIP TO MOUNT LOWE

Starting from Glendale Saturday night, about 11 o'clock, by automobile, a merry party of congenial people sped on to Sierra Madre, which they reached about 12, midnight. Getting out there they began the ascent of Mount Lowe. They found the road somewhat poor in places and at certain points clouds of mosquitoes made things lively. The summit was reached at 6:30 a. m. and the party visited all the spots of interest there, the camp, the hotel and the observatory. Some of them managed to secure some of the sleep of which their all-night journey had deprived them. By 4:30 they started on the descent of the mountain and by 10 p. m. were back in their Glendale homes.

TRI-CITY PROGRESS CIRCULATION

It is well for merchants of the Glendale community to bear in mind the value of the Tri-City Progress, the weekly edition of the Evening News, as an excellent advertising medium. The Tri-City Progress has a wide circulation in La Canada, La Crescenta, Littlelands and Sunland. The places just mentioned comprise communities of well-to-do people, and there is no reason why Glendale merchants should not have friendly business relations with them, and the Tri-City Progress is the only local newspaper that circulates quite generally in those beautiful valley cities.

SHOOTING PROTECTED BIRDS

On the complaint of Mrs. Nanno Woods, president of the Glendale Garden society, R. F. Wheeler, 1546 Patterson avenue, was informed by the police Monday that he must cease shooting birds in his garden. Wheeler declared that the birds were destroying his fruit. He was informed that such shooting was a violation of State law and city ordinance.

VACANT LOT EXHIBIT

Pasadena is going to have a vacant lot exhibit, says the Star-News. This does not mean that the vacant lots are to be made still more vacant by being dug up and transported bodily to the place of exhibit but rather that the vacant lot committee of the City Beautiful association is going to show what has been done for the beautification of vacant property in Pasadena. Not alone will the attractive side and good results be shown but there will also be a "chamber of horrors" where will be exhibited unsightly examples of uncultivated and uncleaned lots. Pictures will be used.

It is planned, among other things, to have a showing of what has and may be grown upon vacant property in the city, particularly such articles as can be cultivated by dry farming methods. It is said that this part of the exhibit will range all the way from grains to apples.

E. H. WESTON WINS HONOR

E. H. Weston, the photographer of Tropic, who has earned for himself a national reputation, by his original methods and artistic work, was today awarded further honors by the National Salon of Photographers, which is in session at present in Cleveland, Ohio. Mr. Weston has won one of the fifteen highest awards. This is the third consecutive time that he has been awarded this, the highest honor in the national field. At the close of Mr. Weston's demonstration of methods he was accorded a special vote of thanks and the eminent men present assured him that he had brought them a new message.

CALIFORNIA GIRLS WIN

Margaret E. Buell of Santa Paula and Gladys E. Murphy of Napa, two California high school students, have won signal honors in a national essay writing contest. Fannie Fern Andrews of Boston, secretary of the American School Peace League, has just notified Superintendent Hyatt at Sacramento of the remarkable success of these two young ladies, who are seniors in the high schools of their respective towns.

These prizes, known as the Seabery prizes, were offered to the high schools of the whole world and two of the three were captured by California girls, Miss Buell winning the first and Miss Murphy the third. The announcement of the awards was made public at the annual meeting of the League in New York July 10. It is an annual event, but the golden State has never won a place before.

PACKER MEETING

In the interest of Stephen C. Packer, candidate for Supervisor in the Fifth Supervisorial District, a meeting will be held in Horn Hall, Burbank, Wednesday evening, July 26, 1916, at 7:30 o'clock. The speakers will be Hon. W. E. Evans, A. T. Cowan, Dr. Jessie A. Russell and Mr. Packer.

In connection there will be a delightful vocal, instrumental and literary program given by Mrs. William Herman West, Mr. Herbert Henning and Mrs. Mary Cable.

"In moral warfare there need be no defeats."

NOTICE

Public notice is hereby given that the Board of Trustees of the City of Glendale did at its meeting on the 13th day of July, 1916, fix the time for hearing protests against the opening and widening of Sycamore Canyon Road, from Sinclair's Pumping Plant to South City Boundary line, as contemplated by Ordinance of Intention Number 295, for Thursday Evening, July 27th, 1916, at eight o'clock p. m. in the council chamber at the City Hall, Glendale. 282t5

LA CANADA

The La Canada Valley Improvement association held their regular meeting at the club hall Saturday evening. The vice-president, Mr. Johnson, presided. Mr. C. B. Anderson of our valley gave an exceedingly interesting and instructive talk on "Songs and Legends of Old Virginia." Mr. and Mrs. Beckman of Pasadena gave several vocal duets, which were greatly enjoyed.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Olsen and son spent Sunday at Lomita with friends.

Thursday, under the auspices of the Ladies' Missionary society, a large picnic was held at Brookside park. About 100 people were present and everyone had a grand time. In the afternoon a number of those present at the picnic spent the time in swimming in the magnificent plunge. At a late hour in the afternoon all the picnickers motored home, much to their displeasure.

Mrs. Rob. Waterman entertained a number of young people at her home Monday evening, in honor of her niece, Miss Ruthwen Waterman, from San Francisco. The guests sat under palm-covered pergolas, lit only by the stars overhead, and the glow of numerous jack-o'-lanterns. The time was spent in games, dancing and singing. After dancing delicious refreshments of punch and cake were served. Those who enjoyed Mrs. Waterman's hospitality were the Misses Flossie Quitzon of Los Angeles, Helen Cooper, Rowena Green, Frankie Welch, Gladys Granger, Henrietta Horne, Dorothy Lester, Edith Waterman, Lulu Green, Clara Armstrong and the honoree, and the Messrs. Roy Quitzon, Lloyd Pett, Edwin Cooper, Robert Cooper, Robert Horne, and Williard Barnum.

The C. E. society will take for the topic of their meeting Sunday evening: "How Missions are Blessing Our Nations," Luke 19:41-48. Mr. P. H. Johnson will lead the meeting. Let everyone come.

Mrs. Waterman and daughters, Misses Ruthwen and Edith, have been guests of Mrs. Rob. Waterman for the past week. Sunday Mrs. Waterman and daughters return to their home in San Francisco.

Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Williams have returned from a motor trip to Three Rivers. Mr. and Mrs. Welch and Miss Frankie Welch came back with Mrs. Williams and expect to stay some time in La Canada.

Miss Dorothy Lester spent several days of last week at Balboa.

Mr. Cornwell is having a new barn built on his ranch.

Mr. Ames of Pasadena spoke at the Congregational church Sunday morning on Prohibition. He urged everyone to do their part in making the State go dry at the next election. In his talk Mr. Ames told of the deaths, accidents, etc., that were due to the use of liquor. His talk was very convincing.

Charles Pate has moved into his new house on Hilyard street. Mr. Pate has been the carpenter of his house and so will appreciate it after long and hard labor.

Paul and Ruth Arvidson, from Northern California, are to spend several weeks with their grandmother, Mrs. J. W. Stultz.

W. G. McMullin has returned after a few days' visit in 'Frisco with his two sons. Mrs. McMullin expects to spend a greater part of the summer with her sons.

Mr. J. W. Cecil and family spent Sunday in Pasadena with friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Barnum and son Williard have moved into our valley. They have bought property on Haskell street, across from the property owned by Mr. Johnson. Mr. Barnum and family were residents here 17 years ago and the love for La Canada has always been so strong in their hearts that they have to return to our valley to make this place their future home. Everyone welcomes this family back.

Misses Margaret and Lulu Green have returned to their home after a sojourn of three weeks in San Francisco and other places of interest. The trip was grand and the Misses Green were quite fascinated with the north.

Miss Leona Gilhouse has been the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Will Hood for the past week.

Mrs. D. B. Scott, wife of the pastor, will give a travel talk in the church on Tuesday evening, Aug. 8, under the auspices of the Christian Endeavor society. She will give reminiscences of life in Northern India, based on a year's residence in the Himalaya mountains. Mrs. Scott is an unusually interesting speaker and has travelled extensively in foreign lands. She is a valuable acquisition to the valley and all are invited and urged to hear her and make her acquaintance. Musical features are expected.

SPIRITUAL CHURCH

The Harmonial Spiritual church of Glendale meets at the home of Mrs. E. Z. Barnett, 1209 Lomita avenue, every Thursday evening at 8 o'clock. Everybody welcome. tf-Wed

THE BEST OF IT

"This life is what we make it."
Yes, that is true, my dear,
And you have struck the keynote
Of great achievement here!

"This life is what we make it."
It is no use to fret,
But, up, with brave endeavor,
And work for what we get.

The strength of human goodness
Must ever conquer wrong,
And gloom will vanish quickly
Before a cheerful song!

"This life is what we make it"
'Tis true for us and yet,
Our Father's many blessings
Oh, let us not forget!

The glory of the sunset,
The magic of the dawn,
The diamond-tinted dewdrops
That sparkle on the lawn,

The music of the bird songs,
The whisper of the trees,
The daisy fields of springtime,
The singing of the breeze,

The stars of crystal whiteness,
That light the midnight sky,
And myriad forms of beauty
That all about us lie.

It makes our labor sweeter
And cheers us as we go
To think what wondrous kindness
Is round us here below.
—Young People's Weekly.

SCHOOLBOYS' MISTAKES

Schoolmasters treasure up "howlers," and the following are from the collection of an expert, says "Books of Today and Tomorrow":

"Polynesia is a group of small islands in the Pacific, which are under the protection of the British, otherwise they seem very quiet and peace-loving."

"If the earth did not revolt we should always have equal nights and days."

"The lungs are organs of excretion."

"The soul has two sides, a dark and a white, and it hides the white side."

A Birmingham kid remarked: "Parliament is a place where they go up to London to talk about Birmingham."

"How did William the Conqueror put down the rebellions of the English?" "He put them down in Domesday Book."

"Lampblack is a man who sees to the lamps."

"An insulator is a person who insults another person."

"The three highest mountains in Great Britain are Ben Nevis, Ben Lomond and Ben Johnson."

Before the building of the Panama Canal a vessel traveling from New York City to San Francisco, Cal., had to round the southern extremity of South America, the total distance covered being thirteen thousand miles. By way of the Panama Canal the distance is only about five thousand miles.—Exchange.

NOTICE

Public notice is hereby given that the Board of Trustees of the City of Glendale did at its meeting on the 13th day of July, 1916, fix the time for hearing protests against the opening and widening of Eighth Street, from the Easterly line of Glendale Avenue to the Westerly line of Verdugo Road, as contemplated by Ordinance of Intention Number 294, for Thursday evening, July 27th, 1916, at eight o'clock p. m., in the council chamber at the City Hall, Glendale. 282t5

A CATCH IN IT

A woman, wearing an anxious expression, called at an insurance office one morning.

"I understand," she said, "that for $5 I can insure my house for $1,000 in your company."

"Yes," replied the agent, that is right. If your house burns down we pay you $1,000."

"And," continued the woman anxiously, "do you make any inquiries as to the origin of the fire?"

"Certainly," was the prompt reply; "we make the most careful inquiries, madam."

"Oh!"—and she turned to leave the office—"I thought there was a catch in it somewhere."

KING GEORGE CHANGES HIS NAME

An alienist, while going through the insane asylum at Stockton, Cal., not long ago, came upon a man sitting in a brown study on a bench.

"How do you do, sir," said the alienist kindly. "What is your name, may I ask?"

"My name?" said the other, frowning fiercely. "Why King George, of course."

"Indeed!" replied the alienist. "But the last time I was here you were Theodore Roosevelt."

"Yes, of course," answered the other quickly; "but that was by my first wife."

"FLOWER STREET" IN HONG KONG

This rather unique street in Hong Kong is one of the brightest spots in the city and certainly at some hours of the day boasts the largest clientele. For a few cents a whole armful of magnificent blooms can be bought—chrysanthemums, daisies, lilies and various other flowers which do not grow in our part of the world at all. Baskets, wreaths, and different designs are made up of the beautiful blossoms and to walk down the road between them is like passing through an alley at a flower show in California. The rather somber background of leather-skinned Chinese humanity but adds to the picturesque brilliancy of the whole scene.—Selected.

THE OHIO RIVER DAMS

The American Boy describes Ohio's collapsible dams, whose immense leaves fold out of sight at the bottom of the river. The dams are being constructed by the United States government along the upper Ohio. The dams are expected to retain enough water during the dry months to float the coal barges down the river from Pittsburgh. During flood times, the fifty-four leaves are folded flat against the river bed by means of electricity. Beside each dam there is a lock through which boats may pass.

OIL FOR FUEL

The government of Uruguay has effected an important saving by substituting petroleum for coal in its extensive electric power house at Montevideo. Because of the shortage of coal, the government is aiming at further economy by converting two river steamboats, and fifty locomotives on one of the government railways, into petroleum burners.

"Never give unnecessary pain. The cricket is not the nightingale. Why tell him so? Thank yourself into the mind of the cricket. The process is newer and more generous, and is what charity demands."

IMPRESSIVE CEREMONY

Recently Franklin K. Lane, Secretary of the Department of the Interior of the United States, was in South Dakota conferring American citizenship on 186 Sioux Indians. An interesting ceremony took place, in which Secretary Lane pointed out the meaning of the privileges of citizenship.

Every Indian was called out by his "white" name and asked to tell his Indian name. When he did so he was handed a bow and arrow and directed to shoot the arrow. After he did this, the secretary said to him, "You have shot your last arrow. That means that you are no longer to live the life of an Indian. You are, from this day forward, to live the life of the white man, but you may keep the arrow. It will be to you a symbol of your noble race and of the pride you feel that you came from the first of all Americans."

Then calling the Indian by his "white" name, Secretary Lane said to him: "Take in your hand this plow," at the same time standing the plow in proper position. As the Indian took the handles of the plow, the Secretary said, "This act means that you have chosen to live the life of the white man and the white man lives by work. From the earth we all must get our living, and the earth will not yield unless man pours upon it the sweat of his brow. Only by work do we gain a right to the land or to the enjoyment of life."

Following this ceremony the Indian was presented with a leather purse, a small flag and a golden colored badge, the latter about the size of a quarter of a dollar, bearing the inscription, "A citizen of the United States." In the center of this badge is the miniature figure of an eagle bearing in his talons a great American flag. At the conclusion of the ceremonial the audience joined in shouting its greeting to the new citizens, hailing them by their "white" names.

IMPORTANCE OF RECENT TIMES

According to the announcement made by the Department of History and Politics at Princeton University, greater emphasis will be laid upon recent history of the United States in the future. The detailed treatment of the early colonial period will be omitted, and after a brief introduction the work will start at the pre-revolutionary period.

It is planned to take the classes to about 1832 in half a year and to devote the second term to a study of the history of the United States in comparatively recent times. This change will allow a more detailed treatment of recent history than was possible under the old arrangement. It has been felt by specialists in history for a long time that the period of United States history since the Civil War would be of greater value, especially in connection with certain other studies, such as politics and economics, for example, which depend to a large extent upon recent American history for their background.

The Glendale Evening News again calls attention to the fact that Saturday, July 29, is the last day to register in order to vote at the August primaries.

NEW THOUGHT FESTIVAL

The New Thought Center of Glendale announces a New Thought Festival on Friday, July 28, at La Ramada. There will be sessions at 11 a. m., 3 and 8 p. m. There will be a picnic lunch at noon or those attending may be served at the restaurant. Inspiring music is being arranged for each session.

The program will be as follows: 11 a. m.—Miss Julia Cooke, Field Lecturer and organizer International New Thought Alliance. Subject, "The New Birth." Mr. Ernest S. Holmes of Los Angeles, a teacher of unusual ability. Subject, "Spiritual Power."

3 p. m.—Mrs. Adiline Becker, minister Los Angeles Church of New Thought; inspiring and forceful teacher. Subject, "The Greatest Demonstration." Harold Palmer, Vice President International New Thought Alliance. Subject, "The Latest Thought Out."

8 p. m.—Rev. Henry Victor Morgan, editor New Thought Educator; minister Park Universalist Church, Tacoma; one of the best known New Thought teachers in the world. Subject, "How Thought Kills or Cures." GOOD NEWS

Push on and make the toil intense, Nor think of recompense. Rejoice! 'Tis thine the radiant right to live.

To love and give. Rejoice! Upon thy hill of toil Thy sons shall rise a man's height from the soil;

Rejoice, be ever young, Let only songs of hope and joy be sung. For fellow man toil on, nor look behind;

Look up amid the strife To that serene life, And guidance find. Be brave! The brave heart dares, Beats down the bar of Fate and onward fares—

Right onward fares to nobler domes than these, To wider harbors and to safer seas. —Fred Lewis Pattee.

Perseverance has amazing results. It produces such effects that men have almost agreed that even genius is only the faculty of taking infinite pains. The young man who decides to be a determined, hard, constant worker, and holds to that decision, will in the end break through every hindrance, for that is the rule of life. "Perseverance conquers all things."

Work is a guardian angel. Work turns the wilderness into a garden. Work does sometimes what even love cannot do: roots a man firmly in his place in the world and gives him the blessed sensation. This plot of ground in the wide immensity of earth was meant for me to grow in. —Robert Hichens.

"Can any girl tell me the three foods required to keep the body in health?"

There was silence till one maiden held up her hand and replied, "Yer breakfast, yer dinner and yer supper."

"JOHNNY APPLESEED"

In the David Archer Cemetery, near Fort Wayne, Ind., is the grave of John Chapman, known to all the country as "Johnny Appleseed." This quaintly erratic man roved over Ohio and Indiana a century ago carrying apple seeds, which he planted in the wilderness. The good results of his work have never ceased to this day. Recently a bronze tablet was unveiled in his honor. It is fastened to a big boulder six feet high. It bears this inscription: "Johnny Appleseed (John Chapman). Born in Massachusetts, 1776—Died near Fort Wayne, 1843. Buried in the David Archer Cemetery. Pioneer apple grower of Indiana and Ohio. The Indiana Horticultural Society, and all those who are trying to carry on the work he nobly commenced, join in dedicating this monument to the memory of his deeds." On the day of the unveiling of this monument the public schools of Fort Wayne were dismissed and the children attended the exercises. Johnny Appleseed is one of the romantic characters in the early history of the Ohio and Indiana country. A harmless eccentric, laboring in his humble way for the good of mankind, he wandered, crudely clad in sacking, the care of the Great Spirit, respected and unharmed by even the most savage Indians. This monument is well raised to the memory of so quaint a character.—Pittsburg Advocate.

STEAMING THE SOIL

A new piece of agriculture apparatus has been developed for the purpose of combatting destructive bugs and undesirable vegetable growth by an application of steam to the soil, penetrating some distance below the surface. The machine carries a steam-generating plant and moves over the surface on a large drum, which is fitted with protruding outlets in the shape of blades or spines. As the apparatus is drawn over the ground the spines imbed themselves in the soil, and while in this position the steam is released and penetrates the soil for some distance around the outlet, killing worms, bugs and the undesirable crop of weeds which seed themselves from one season to another.

WHEN BESTOWED UPON A FRIEND

True friendship necessarily requires patience: for there is no man in whom I shall not dislike something; and who shall not, as justly, dislike somewhat in me? My friend's faults, therefore, if little, I will swallow and digest; if great, I will smother them; however, I will wink at them to others, but lovingly notify them to himself. . . . Though time be precious to me, as all irrevocable good things deserve to be, and of all other things I would not be lavish of it, yet I will account no time lost that is either lent to or bestowed upon my friend.—Bishop Hall.

STOPPING WASTE

In a recent report the Department of Commerce at Washington advised that old correspondence of business houses hitherto burned should be saved. One large concern has about 500 tons of such material yearly which usually has been burned, but which now has been turned into a source of revenue.

SIMON LAKE'S NEW BOAT

Simon Lake, the inventor of submarines, has just taken out a patent on a new form of submarine boat that differs from the old in that it has no conning tower. Virtually the only use for a conning tower is to stabilize the boat. It contains a considerable quantity of air which makes it the lightest part of the boat and holds it on a level keel.

Mr. Lake's new device consists of two airtight and water-tight cylindrical tubes, one on either side, just above the water line when the boat is on the surface. These taper at each end and are filled with air. They are built in with the hull so as to make the top of the boat flat instead of round. Thus they give much more deck room and offer no obstructions to passage through the water, as does the conning tower.

AGRICULTURAL SCIENCE PAYS

A circular recently issued by the Missouri Agricultural Experimental Station records the results of a comparison made some time ago between two groups of farmers, namely: 554 who had received only a rural school education, and 102 who had received a greater amount of education extending, on an average, through two years of high-school.

From this comparison it appears that the better-educated farmer is making an income seventy-one and four-tenths per cent greater than the farmer with less education, and even after the labor income of the latter is adjusted, to allow for his smaller size of business, the difference still amounts to about forty per cent.

CAUTIOUS INDIANS

The San Blas Indians, who occupy the north coast of the Republic of Panama from a point a few miles west of the Gulf of San Blas to Cape Tiburon on the Columbia frontier, have become quite well known to dwellers in the canal zone, which they frequently visit. However, they are not pleased to receive visits in return. They have resolutely maintained their territory from foreign exploitation and kept control of their own affairs.

J. G. Steese, an American who has been investigating these people, says that they maintain an ancient custom of requiring the traders who visit their coast to return to their ships at sundown.

NEW ARGENTINE STAMPS

The Argentine government will issue a new series of postage stamps in commemoration of the centennial of the signing of the Constitution of the Argentine Republic. The stamps, from one-half centavo denomination to four centavo, will bear the bust of Francisco Laprida, President of the first Argentine Congress held in Tucuman in 1816.

The five-centavo issue will bear a picture of the signing of the constitution, and the remainder of the issue will be engraved with a new bust of General Josean Martin, the hero of the revolution which gave Argentine its independence.

The issue will number approximately 90,000,000 stamps, which were engraved by native artists at the Argentine government engraving office.

ADORNING THE BIRDCAGE

By MARGARET MASON

Little goldfish in a bowl, Birdies in a cage, You must now be all dressed up For it's quite the rage.

NEW YORK, July 26.—The modern woman, seeming surfeited with trimming herself and incidentally trimming her husband, has turned her attention to trimming up the household canary and the family goldfish. At least, if not the canary and the gold fish personally, she has their domiciles all dolled up.

Birdcages have become fantastic dreams of beauty and decorative art. No self respecting canary, linnnet, or thrush can be expected to trill in anything but a cage of rush or willow from the peasant realms of Europe, or a wire and lacquer cage from China's shores. Japanese reed cages also are permissible but birdie simply must have one of these three decorative influences for surroundings. Mercy! Just fancy how plebeian and inartistic nowadays would be that proverbial bird in a gilded cage. Cages are positively not being worn gilded this season.

Of the lovely willow cages, some of which are fashioned by peasant hands in the Black Forest and yet others in Brittany and probably most over in New Jersey or Brooklyn, there are those in the natural toned willow, those stained grass green and those enameled white or pastel pink or blue. Even these willow cages feel the Chinese influence, however, or at least their owners do, for milady hangs a Chinese jade bracelet to a short string of jade beads suspended from the middle of the cage for the songster to sway on in lieu of a prosaic swing. From the bottom of the cage she fastens with a thumbtack a Chinese tassel, green and gold.

The real Chinese cages are gorgeous in their scarlet green or black lacquer, ornate with gold. Round, oblong, square and octagonal they are, and some shaped like pagodas two or three stories high. In the finest cages the water and seed dishes are of carved jade or ivory, beads and tassels deck the outside and always there is the bracelet swing. As for the little fishes, red and gold, their crystal abodes are iridescent bubbles of antique Venetian glass or divers fantastic shapes. Some, high huge goblet shapes, others shallow bowls poised on slender stems, two handed Grecian urns of rainbow tinted glass and one, the quaintest of all, is a squat and sturdy crystal elephant.

Many of the round glass aquariums are raised on standards of carved or enameled wood and hand painted in water lilies and deep sea flora on the outside of the glass. Yet others simple and effective of line are the oblong and square aquariums, crystal clear. Feathery green water plants and the decorative branches of Chinese "Thousand-years-green" make a fairy forest for the fishes and most artistic and modern note of all in latest fish fashions are the marbles of green glass that strew the golden gravel floor in the bottom of every aquarium that is a la mode.

JENNY LIND'S RIVAL

Jenny Lind had a voice of such wonderful sweetness and purity that the name of the "Swedish Nightingale" was given her. She was also called the "Queen of Song." It is a pretty story that tells how she once met her rival, a bird, and, after being charmed by his song, yielded him first honors.

As she was out riding in the country with some of her friends, a beautiful bird, perched nearby, trilled out such a wonderful series of sweet notes that the great singer was astonished. Having the carriage stopped, she herself sang a few strains of her finest music. The beautiful bird arched his neck, listened quietly to the end, and then began to sing again in such a way that Jenny Lind clapped her hands for joy. Then again she sang, using some of her Tyrolese mountain strains. The bird answered back in its wonderful trills, until Jenny herself acknowledged that the pretty bird singer had really out-caroled her.—Our Dumb Animals.

AID FOR THE BACKWARD

First aid for boys, who have fallen down in their high school work and need coaching before the next school year begins, is to be given by the West Side Y. M. C. A. in New York City during its summer session. All high school subjects will be taught, and in addition those of the last years of the grammar schools, to help boys who wish to enter high school in the fall.

The subjects taught will be English, French, Spanish, German, Latin, history, algebra/geometry, trigonometry, bookkeeping, stenography, typewriting and other studies. The work will be nearly all personal instruction by small groups of teachers who know how to deal with scholars who need special coaching.

There are to be recreational features also in the gymnasium, swimming pool, and out-doors, and there will be a series of health talks to start the boys toward vigorous manhood.
