MORE TROUBLE OVER CITY YARDS

WHOLE MATTER WILL BE RE-CONSIDERED

Council's Right to Purchase Without People's Sanction Questioned by Alderman

The question of the pipe yard, which it was proposed to locate at the corner of Queen's avenue and Chambers street, and over which there has been so much discussion and petitioning, is still in a condition to receive ballots at the hands of adverse critics, since the conclusive defeat of the by-law to authorize the sale of certain city lots at Spring Ridge is in some quarters taken as a moral defeat of the council's intention.

Mayor Morley announced his intention of reopening the whole matter at last Friday's night's meeting of the council, and will post a notice on the bulletin board to give its reintroduction effect. It does not follow, of course, that another site will be selected for the pipe yard in view of the opposition to the present scheme; it simply means that the whole council will form itself into a committee of inspection for the purpose of looking over all the likely sites in the city.

Arising from the report of the city assessor and returning officer, who submitted the results of the by-law voting, the question was immediately taken up by Alderman Moresby, who suggested that the defeat of the by-law to authorize the sale of the Spring Ridge properties amounted to a moral defeat of the proposal to instal a new pipe yard in that district. He therefore desired to go on record as against the purchase of the other property going through. Further, more, he thought the city council was taking too much upon itself in spending so much money without submitting the proposal to the people. He was one of those who thought that the purchase of the new property depended upon the sale of the old, and he was sure that there were others in the council of a like opinion. He did not think it was right for the council to have inserted the sum of $45,000 in the estimates, so that they could buy the new property whether the by-law to sell the old property passed or not. He was certain that the original intention of the council was to set $20,000 aside in the estimates and then supplement that sum by the sale of the city lots, making the purchase of any new site for a pipe yard dependent upon the sale of the old property.

As against the present proposed site Alderman Moresby maintained that it would be much more profitable and certainly much more suitable to have the new city yard located on the water-front on a piece of property adjoining that on which the electric light plant was located. It would save a great deal of cartage and other transportation expenditure. He concluded his argument by pointing out that the mayor had the right to bring the measure back for reconsideration, and therefore he asked his worship to take that step as otherwise local action might be taken to quash the measure.

Mayor Morley and Ald. H. M. Fullerton endeavored to uphold the argument for the present site. His worship stated that there had been a whole lot of misunderstanding mixed with weak sentiment in the disposal of this matter. He did not like the idea of a few residents in any particular district coming out killing a measure that would doubtless prove beneficial to the whole community. That was a bad point in the voting, and unfortunately it could not be helped. Interest in these matters was so slight throughout the city that any particular locality could either carry or kill the by-law. It had been stated that the same would be detrimental to the work of the school. He thought that argument was ridiculous, as there would be practically no noise at all, and at any rate the pipe yard was so far removed from the schoolhouse as to render the latter quite impervious to such sounds as might emanate from the yard. Another argument was that it would cause the other properties in the district to deteriorate in value. That idea he also wished to combat. The buildings to be erected in the yard would be of a permanent nature, and as far from proving an eyesore to the district they would be an additional attraction. Then again it had been suggested that it was the council's intention to purchase the license of the Lion saloon. He declared that the council would not spend a single penny on the Potter license. As a matter of fact it could not. What the city would consider in purchasing the property would be its value. Personally he was not opposed to reopening the matter, but at the same time he looked upon it as a dangerous precedent.

Things were assuming a wordy aspect when Alderman Peden came to the rescue with the idea that the whole council should form itself into a committee and go on a trip of inspection some day this week with a view to locating the best site for the purpose of a city yard, and in the event of the present site winning out to stick by it. This suggestion met with general approval, and the proposed tour will likely take place to-morrow or Wednesday. In the meantime the notice calling for reconsideration will be posted on the board so as to be ready for any change of venue.

In connection with the proposal a communication was received from J. H. Peck and a number of others asking that, as the by-law to sell the property defeated, the by-law to purchase must stand discredited, and the appropriation of $45,000 in the estimates be withdrawn therefrom. The letter was filed.

KILLED THREE CHILDREN.

Woman, Driven Insane by Excessive Heat, Murdered Little Ones and Ends Own Life.

Lockney, Texas, July 2.—Driven temporarily insane by the excessive heat, Mrs. Maud McCarry, of Lockney, Cal., killed her three small children and ended her own life in a vacant house here. A searching party which scoured the countryside for the woman and children, thinking they were lost, found the bodies of the children in some woods near the vacant house and the body of the mother hanging to an unused windmill at the rear.

Mrs. McCarry was here on a visit to her mother, Mrs. R. M. Hamilton.

THE PRINCE OF WALES.

Alfred Leblanc, of France, was second, with an average of 75 miles, and the other by Sir Wilfrid Laurier, who said that Lord Strathcona and Mount Royal, High Commissioner for Canada, was about to resign.

THE DAILY TIMES

Published daily (excepting Sunday) by THE TIMES PRINTING & PUBLISHING CO., LIMITED.

TO-NIGHT'S MEETING.

The public assembly to be held in the Victoria theatre will be one which must appeal to all citizens of Victoria who are desirous of acquiring information on the hearing discussed the reciprocity issue and kindred political questions.

ILLTIMED DIGNITY.

The morning paper on Saturday tendered a gratuitous insult to the Times by asserting that "it is a matter of perfect indifference to the Colonist what its contemporary accepts."

The Times, acting on information and belief, refused to accept the statement of the morning paper and gave it ample opportunity to produce and publish the only possible proof of the truth of its assertions—a proof available to the Colonist but not to the Times.

yet much younger must enlighten our senior contemporary. The Colonist has a stock phrase which it keeps in type for use whenever it will sound good.

The Colonist can easily satisfy the public in this matter. Let it publish a statement authorized by Hon. W. R. Ross, commissioner of lands, showing that the sixty-six applications published in the editorial pages of the Colonist on Friday morning were bona fide applications duly accepted and authorized as proved and finished applications by the department and that the usual official notices of such completed applications were sent to these parties, or to some person or persons acting in their behalf, stating that all that would be necessary after the dates given would be the payment of the balance due and necessary to secure the Crown grants.

And while the Colonist is telling us this authoritatively it might courteously add why it omitted the sixty-seventh name from the list of those published and necessary to make up the 42,800 acres under the regulations of the land office. Not that it makes much difference in the case, but we have heard of a growing curiosity on the part of the public to know whether or not this odd section is in any way connected with the "internal management" of the Colonist, which, as the paper said, dictates its policy in explaining the attitude of the lands department on this issue.

The Times may as well intimate in the most polite and courteous way that one paper may suggest to another that the high and exalted attitude of self-righteousness which is assumed by the Colonist is not in favor with the public.

MORMON CONSISTENCY. The Mormon church leader persists in the statement that polygamy is no longer practiced among these aggressive people. The venerable president of that church, Mr. Joseph Smith, said at Washington last Saturday that "the man who is caught taking a plural wife is promptly excommunicated." President Smith stated that he still supports but "does not live with the wives he married prior to the decision of the United States Supreme Court—that polygamy was unlawful and before the church issued its irrevocable plural marriage. He stated that since his elevation to the presidency his whole effort had been directed to prevent plural marriages and to induce his followers to practice monogamy.

When he was asked if he personally thought it best that a man should have but one wife, this venerable husband of five and father of forty-three children made reply which would appear to be correctly characteristic of what has lately been considered the personal attitude of Mormons toward the law enforcing monogamy. He said: "In these days of the high cost of living there is no doubt that the average man is much better off with but one wife. If a man cannot support one wife decently it would obviously be impossible to support more. The women of to-day all demand that they must be dressed and fed and housed as well as possible, and the man with an average income would be in a terrible strait if he had several wives on his hands, all crying for the latest hats and gowns."

The more one hears of the deliverances of the patriarchs of this invulnerable church the less one is inclined to look with complacency at the fact that their numbers in Canada are being rapidly increased. When we elect our first Mormon member to a legislature or to parliament we shall have additional evidence of the ultimate aim of this cult in our Dominion. And that time may not be far distant.

IMPERIAL BANK OF CANADA.

Elsewhere in this issue of the Times appears the annual report of the proceedings of the thirty-sixth annual meeting of the shareholders of the Imperial Bank of Canada. It will be seen that the balance sheet accompanying the report shows net profits for the year ending April 30, 1911, of $241,692.18 and this after making due provision for all doubtful debts and contingent liabilities. Dividends were declared amounting to 11 per cent for the first three quarters of the year and 12 per cent for the last quarter, absorbing $625,427.59 of the net profits.

The directors recognize the able and efficient services of the staff making these conditions possible.

The Mail and Empire says: "Mr. R. L. Borden belongs to Canada, but to no interests in Canada or outside of it. There never was at the head of any party a leader more absolutely independent than he is." Now what do you know about that?

A new brain-twister has shot athwart the intellectual horizon of the mathematicians. It is as follows: The Dominion of Canada is 44 years old. Charlie wrote his first editorial when he was one-eleventh of the age he would be now if he had been born at the same time that the Dominion of Canada was born, and if the Dominion had been born twice as long ago as it was. How old was Charlie?

The Times thinks that in view of the fact that the Grand Trunk Pacific railway imported six more cars of lumber from United States into the Northwest that it would be a business-like proposition to abolish the duty of $1.25 per thousand feet on Canadian lumber going into the United States, so that our Canadian mills would have a fair chance of retaliating in the American market for lumber which is now closed against them.

In the Toronto News we read: "If the Conservatives force an election this fall, there will be no time for the redistribution and Toronto will therefore suffer by having a fewer number of representatives at Ottawa than she is entitled to. If, on the other hand,

The Government is given time to make the redistribution, all these districts will be reckoned as part of the city. Who is ruining this election business, anyway? The Mail and Empire fears that the Government will bring on election and the News talks about Conservatives forcing it. When it does come who will get the credit and who the blame? The Calgary News-Telegram suggests Mr. R. B. Bennett of that city as a substitute for Mr. R. L. Borden. It says of the Borden Calgary meeting at which Bennett spoke: "Bennett, it seems to us, is the western spirit incarnate, and the West, we know, is the future of Canada. The opposition cannot win this time. He must look to the future, and big in that future looms our fellow townsman and our vast prairies. We heard one observing chap remark that Bennett saved the night. The applause grew perceptibly fainter as Mr. Borden continued. The crowd interrupted Borden in a most graceful manner, compelling him to resume his seat, but the cheers for Bennett swelled louder than those for the leader, although the crowd had greatly dwindled. Doubtless the visitors noticed it. Give Bennett a few years of the responsibilities of leadership, and when the time comes for a change the people will be willing to accept it." All of which sug-

Automobiles Stolen. Chicago, July 2—Forty-nine automobiles, valued at more than $125,000, have been stolen in Chicago since June 1, according to the police records. The automobile thieves, according to the police, are of two classes, the "joy riders" and those who steal "to sell." The machines taken by the first class are usually recovered after they have been abandoned in some out of the way corner. Machines stolen by the professionals are never recovered by owners. Under the new law which will go into effect within a few days all automobile thefts will be classed as felonies, with penitentiary sentences as punishment. This is expected to have a tendency to decrease the thefts. TEL. 139. 618 YATES ST. The Best on the Market. LARGE LUMPS, per ton $7.50. SACK LUMP, per ton $7.50. NUT COAL, per ton $6.50. AMATEURS PLAY TO DRAW AT VANCOUVER

Victoria Outclasses Opponents in Defensive Work—The Score Was 3 All

Previous to the big encounter at Recreation park, Vancouver, on Saturday afternoon, Victoria and Vancouver amateurs engaged. Great interest was evinced in the event and the brand of lacrosse provided was quite up to expectations. When the bell rang in the final quarter the score was a tie, three all. The work of the visitors' defence and of McCarter, their centre, was remarked on by a great many of the spectators, the consensus of opinion being that with the opportunity both Vancouver and New Westminster have to watch the professional's Victoria should be able to defeat either of the other amateur teams, with ease. Victoria's defence work was splendid.

The teams were:
V. A. C.—Vernon, F. Matheson, Burns, McCraig, Donahoe, Paynter, E. Matheson, Gunn, Peacock, Murray, Wright, Crookall.

Victoria—Johnson, Sweeney, Dakers, Stiles, Okell, Brynjolsen, McCarter, Pettitrew, Humber, McDonald, McGregor, Clute.

New Westminster was beaten in the game played following this. Vancouver gaining a brilliant victory by three goals to one. W. E. Ditchburn and Phil R. O'Shaughnessy, of this city, referred to the satisfaction of both teams.

TRAP SHOOTING.

Victoria Three Wins Team Shoot With 56 Out of 60.

Vancouver, July 3.—T. Oliver, of Ladner, won the British Columbia coast shooting championship at the first trap-shooting tournament of the Vancouver Gun Club held at the Richmond traps on Dominion Day. He hit 48 out of the fifty targets.

The Victoria team, composed of Messrs. Crowe, Becktel, and White, won the team shoot with 14 out of 18. The high aggregate prize went to F. E. Ellis, who cracked 115 out of 125 birds. T. F. H. Crowe, of Victoria, was second with 115.

WINNIPEG MOTORIST IS ON PIONEER TRIP

C. S. Taylor Attempting Run
From the Prairie Capital to Victoria

Competing for a gold medal offered by the Victoria Automobile Association and attempting to make a trip by automobile from middle western Canada to the Pacific Coast, a trip which has never yet been made, C. S. Taylor of Winnipeg is now en route for Victoria, via Crow's Nest Pass, Idaho and Washington to Seattle, ferry to Victoria.

Besides the gold medal offered, the Winnipeg motorist will have the honor of making a pioneer trip that will, undoubtedly, in the future become a route of a great amount of transcontinental automobile travel. It is not doubted that, just as soon as the Canadian road is opened up, Canadian wheat farmers of the middle west will travel to the Pacific coast to escape the rigorous climate. The Canadian highway, when a few "bar" stretches are improved, will offer the logical route and in connection with the Pacific highway will furnish the longest continuous highway in the world, when completed. When the highway through Hope mountains is finished the Canadian route will not touch Idaho or Oregon.

Suit Soliloquy!
To Buy or Not to Buy—that's the Question!

W HETHER 'tis nobler in the mind to suffer the trash of "Bargain Sales" or buy a guaranteed "Fit-Reform Suit" and end a sea of troubles, and by the action also end the heartache, and avoid the shock of disappointment.
'Tis a consummation devoutly to be wished. To buy a suit at Eighteen Dollars elsewhere, and perchance get a poorer suit than we sell for Fifteen—aye, there's the rub!
When we have shuffled off this mortal coil, it matters not about our raiment—but, to-day, we are particular and that doth give us pause.
You may suffer the pangs of the law's delay and the insolence of office—they are but the heritage of man—but, when it comes to a man's attire we have the kind you want or we will our own quietus make.

MEAN MUSIC LOVERS
In the current Monthly Paper of St. Anne's, Soho, the clergy congratulate their flock that the offertories at the Passion music services were this year singularly free from bickers, counterfeit coins, tokens, detested foreign coins, and other miscellaneous items, "but regret to record" that "many people who had the best seats in the church passed up the plate as if it were an infectious object. Nowhere, as many secular journals have pointed out, can Bach's sublime Passion music be heard to such advantage as in the church which was the first in England to produce it. Yet we suppose if people wished to hear it in a concert hall they would not think of paying less than a shilling. But the collections at St. Anne's seem more satisfactory than in a Southard church, where the offertory recently contained a peppermint sweet wrapped up in paper, on which was written, "Please give this to the old chap with the bad cough."
"it was simply a question of veracity between us," said the oldest inhabitant. "He said I was a liar, and I said he was one." "Humph" rejoined the village postmaster. "That's the first time I ever heard of either of you telling the truth."

EAT CLAIMS

MANY VICTIMS

No Relief in Sight. Chicago, July 3.—Chicago sweated at a fevered rate today as the torrid wave which has held the city in its grip since Friday continued unabated with no relief in sight.

Philadelphia, July 3.—That Philadelphia and vicinity are in for another hot day was early indicated by the government weather bureau thermometer, which registered 91 degrees at 9 a. m., 4 degrees warmer than at the same hour yesterday. A high percentage of humidity added to the discomfort of the extreme heat.

Deaths in Missouri. St. Joseph, Mo., July 3.—Two deaths from the heat last night, following the season's hottest day of 104 degrees, were reported this morning.

St. Louis, July 3.—At 10:30 o'clock the temperature here was 94 and rising. Police reports show two dead from the heat.

GERMAN FORCE FOR MOROCCO

at Berlin, had a long conference with M. Deselves 16-day. Public opinion, as voiced by the French newspapers, does not appear inclined to be alarmed, in the belief that it will be necessary to await calmly and coolly a more precise statement from Germany. The reply of Foreign Minister Deselves, to Ambassador Von Schoenherk, to the Temps, is generally considered as expressing the sentiments of the public.

The Temps does not believe Morocco will ever again serve as a firebrand for European discord, and is of the opinion that the whole affair will be ended by negotiations.

France's attitude concerning German intervention in Morocco. As France was merely notified of the fact accomplished, namely, that a German warship had been despatched to Agadir, it is possible that this government will not send a reply to Berlin, but like Germany, will decide upon a course of action and then adopt it. It is not likely that, after consulting with Great Britain, France will send a warship to Agadir, as the Algerian authorities the police of the Moroccan coast by France, in conjunction with Spain.

Stocks Depressed. London, July 3.—The Moroccan scare, following the announcement that Germany would send a gunboat to Agadir, depressed the stock exchange at early trading. Consols fell 1/2 to 78 1/2. Paris favorites like Canadian Pacific, Finco and DeBeers gold shares and Spanish and Portuguese bonds were weak on sales from that quarter. The panic soon passed, however, and as noon a general recovery set in. Consols remained 1 1/2 lower. American securities hardened 1/4 to 1/2 from the lowest, although they were well below par.

To the Editor.—I am quite sure that anyone with an eye to the artistic can see at once how very attractive the slope below the street in front of the pagoda is. The center, say, could have the 'coat of arms' of British Columbia set out in plants giving the appearance of the imperial crown and the Union Jack one on either side. This would not at all be a difficult work for any one of the many clever florists in our midst. The spot so admirably adapted to such use is one of which any city might well feel proud.

JOURNALISTIC ETHICS. To the Editor.—Allow me to suggest that the editorial in the Colonist, this (Sunday) morning, entitled 'Journalistic Ethics', might aptly be reproduced as a press circular in the Times and other prominent papers, as your contemporary cannot monopolize the sentiments therein expressed. Should you approve of this idea I wish to call your attention to the remarkable flexibility of the ethics displayed in the following sentence, which is being held in position in the Times: 'Your contemporary states: "To print a false statement upon the editorial page of a newspaper is as bad as perjury, and infinitely meaner." In making this objectionable statement, the writer deliberately overlooks the violation of an oath and the solemn responsibility and blasphemy of any sane person calling upon God to witness what he swears to be true, knowing it to be false. I regret to say (fearing no contradiction and expecting none) this is not the first time your contemporary has treated crime with indifference, which was abhorrent to the entire Canadian press, irrespective of politics.

WHY? To the Editor.—In a recent issue of the Colonist that paper, speaking of reciprocity with the United States, says: "We have felt that a more equitable trade agreement might be advantageously made between countries as remote as Canada and the United States, and we for illustration, Argentina, they could not be negotiated between two countries separated by a whole continent without impairing the fiscal autonomy of the less populous country."

...mious across a whole continent without impairing the fiscal autonomy of the less populous country. Would the Colonist mind explaining why a more liberal view of feeling is held by an argument? Feelings are sometimes superinduced not by reason but by the force of habit. For instance, in a wide open ascription the Colonist is made a wide open ascription that Mr. Borden might be relied upon to do the right thing. Will the Colonist kindly tell us at what period in his career the leader of the opposition ever suggested or pursued a course or policy other than a merely negative one, and what evidence of astute statesmanship the leader of the opposition has at any time shown to warrant the statement that he may be taken for granted under all circumstances? LATEST Models in Embroidered
Muslin and Linen Gowns

BY MRS. A. T. ASHMORE.

All summer fashions in dress seem fascinatingly attractive in color and material, and no matter what style is chosen there is an air of daintiness and attractiveness that appeals irresistibly. Unquestionably bright sunshine and the summer atmosphere lend enchantment, but after the winter skies and the dark coverings of the winter clothes the relief of the transparent fabrics and their bright colorings is very great, and as the season advances and the thinner, more diaphanous looking frocks make their appearance surely no woman can be blamed for overrunning her dress allowance. All kinds of summer materials this season are good. The colors are unusually attractive and there are many different shades to choose from, and while all wash materials, embroidered linsens and muslins are in great demand chiffon, crepe de Chine and, in fact, crepe of all kinds are included in the list of the season's novelties. Satin is not so smart or, rather, not so popular as it was, and every effort is being made to relegate it to the background and to give the other materials a chance. Whether this scheme will succeed or not remains to be seen. In the meantime the women who have bought satin gowns need not feel discouraged with life, while the women who are now selecting materials can select something else.

Embroidered Linen Frocks.

The embroidered lingerie and linen gowns this summer are for some unknown reason more effective than ever, and this statement applies equally to the less expensive as well as to the very elaborate. The English eyelid embroidery and the cut work open designs are in great demand, but there are also most effective and beautifully embroidered designs in the so-called solid embroideries. All grades of material are used, from the heavy linen to the finest of batiste and handkerchief linen, and all kinds of laces are combined with the embroidery. Gaspere, filet, Valenciennes, silk and all are made up into the trimming of these gowns, while at the same time there are many of the smartest of the linen gowns that have no lace on them at all.

As has been so often stated this season, the lining of a different color is extremely fashionable, and this shows the pattern of embroidery, especially of the open work description, in the best manner possible. One way in which it is done is by lining the embroidery with black chiffon. This is lighter than the velvet, which, however, is greatly in favor, as is also black or colored satin. A charming little gown, extremely simple in design, but with the best of lines, furnish a good illustration of this fashion. There are two bands of embroidery on the skirt and these are lined with the black chiffon.

Belts Most Important.

A lot of attention is paid to the belt and sash or girle worn with linen gowns. This same gown has a most attractive sash with long ends that is made of deep rose satin, the ends of the sash embroidered in deeper tones of the same color and the embroidery on the sash itself of the finest workmanship. There is no other trimming on the gown, but this touch of color is exceptionally attractive, and if the black chiffon does not harmonize well then a satin the color of the sash is substituted. Velvet sashes are also used and the most expensive, and effective are of broad ribbons. These whether the white or the colored linsens are the more desirable, and it is doubtful whether the question will ever be decided, so the prudent woman included both in her outfit. There are so many good colors to be found in linen this year and so many different grades and qualities that it is not difficult to select what is becoming and useful, but the white linen gowns are always in fashion and have a certain individuality that makes them deservedly popular.

The lingerie gowns are evidently to be more popular than ever this summer. The great danger is of their becoming too popular, for they are made up of so many different qualities and often lace and embroidery, which, however, have a certain style, that the woman who wants to be considered distinctive in taste either buys the most expensive, thereby spending a great many dollars, or selects another material. Just because lace and embroidery are used in the manufacture of a gown it does not follow that it is a good investment, but when the materials are of the best and the shape and style follow suit the lingerie gown is one that the heart of a woman rejoices in. There are two things to be remembered about the lingerie gown, that its fashion does not change so markedly from year to year and that it will clean or launder indefinitely. This year the lingerie gowns are simple in design, the skirts are medium width, with bands of embroidery or lace, made to wear either with or without a fichu, and always with the handsome girle or sash as ready described.

Crepe de Chine Popular.

A most charming material is coming to favor again—the silk crepe and crepe de Chine. In the lighter weight it is especially well adapted for summer gowns and can be draped into the soft folds and lines that are so essential to the present style of dress. It is a fabric that might be said to be suitable for any sort of trimming and on which embroidery or lace shows to great advantage. It also is so beautiful in itself that it looks well without trimming, its color and texture being quite sufficient in most instances. The gowns that show fulness around the waist are readily carried out or treated in crepe de Chine, and one charming model in a pale rose pink has quite a lot of fulness below the high belt. This gown is trimmed with a most fascinating fichu of the finest net and lace, finished in front with a soft knot. The fichu falls over the wide, high belt of deep rose pink satin, on which are rhinestone buttons. It is a gown that can be worn in the afternoon or evening, but if worn in the daytime should have a transparent yoke of the finest net obtainable. There are few gowns more dainty and smarter than those of embroidered crepe de Chine and the crepe de Chine gowns trimmed with the embroidered net of fine quality or lace the same color as the gown. A model that has been deservedly popular is of the palest gray crepe de Chine, with the subtle effect. Absolutely simple in design, it has a distinction and originality that make it becoming to almost every woman, and while the original model as carried out would be extremely expensive it may be copied in inexpensive lace batiste or the less expensive quality of crepe.

Variety in Fashions.

The great variety that is displayed in the fashions this season is really astonishing. Given precisely the same color, and materials, the dressmakers are constantly evolving new styles that are absolutely unlike anything that has gone before. In this very treatment of crepe de Chine there is another model unlike in every detail the one just described, but which has an equally charming individuality of its own. It is trimmed with a wide band of net, richly embroidered in the finest of gray silk embroidery. This band goes diagonally across the skirt, and the upper part of the waist and the lower part of the sleeves are made of velvet or silk of a contrasting color give a certain note of distinction and originality if it is not desirable to keep in a dark color to good advantage, and has been made up in black with filet lace, white over black chiffon, to be extremely effective and becoming. This combination of black and white and white and black is one of the features of this year's fashions, and now the crepe de Chine combined with white filet proves an especially desirable thing to carry out the style.

For summer evening gowns crepe de Chine combined with voile, chiffon or the finest and sheers of lace net makes up most attractively, and a very charming simple evening gown of these materials can be made for surprisingly small cost. The upper part of the waist should be of the chiffon or net, and the lower skirt, if trimmed with a band of passementerie or of fotted or embroidered trimming, or even bead fringe, is becoming and extremely smart.

The Evening Chit-Chat

By Ruth Cameron

Molly, the little stenographer lady was busy. That's not an ordinary state of mind with her for Molly has an adorably upturned nose and a disposition to match. This night, however, Molly felt she had a grievance. Not against anyone in particular. Molly doesn't ever cherish that kind. But just against fate. "Well, I know really want to know I'll tell you, just what's on my mind big sister," she conceded finally after some rallying upon her low state of mind. "Big sister," by the way, is Molly's name for the lady-who-always-knows-somehow. "It was just a girl that I sat opposite on the trolley coming home that got me to thinking. Say 'big sister,' she was wonderful. You've read about people having eyes like stars, haven't you? Well, she really had them, black stars, not the kind that twinkle, but the kind that shine and shine and make you feel queer to look into them even if you're a girl too. And her hair was just one dusky massive coil and her skin was olive with the redness coming and going underneath all the time, and her nose was straight, the way noses ought to be, and her mouth, well I know if I were a man I simply couldn't see that mouth without wanting to kiss it. Somehow she just made me think of violin music and warm June nights and the time I went to grand opera and what I think Venice would be like, and popples, and well everything like that." Molly paused to think it over a minute. "Do you think it is becoming?" she asks, appearing in her newest gown. "Don't bother about that," gasped the friend. "It is perfect. It is simply delicious. My dear, it makes you look absolutely beautiful."

ute, her own grey eyes shining not so unlike the shiny kind of stars. "Well, as I was telling you big sister," she took up the thread of her tale. "It just came over me how wonderful it was to be like that, and how wonderful it was to think I never, never could be like that, to tell the truth, big sister, I suppose you think it's silly and borrowing trouble, but I just got to thinking that suppose I were engaged to a man and he liked me awfully, well and sometimes he should meet her or someone like her and see her a lot-well if he were a man and had any blood in his veins, how could he help thinking of her nights and violin music and popples, and what use would he have for people with crooked noses and silly dimples?" The lady-who-always-knows-somehow laughed gently at Molly-the way we all do sometimes, the laugh of love, rather than amusement. "Then she thought a minute. And then she said, 'Do you like moonlight, little sister?'" "Love it," said Molly, succinctly. "But would you like to live in a land where it was always moonlight?" "Oh," said Molly very quickly. "No-o-o," concluded Molly very slowly. "Neither would most of us," said the lady. "I'll tell you, I've thought about it, too, little sister, and this is the way I've thought it out."

"There are a great many kinds of people. There's the wonderful blood-stirring moonlight people, and beautiful brilliant, footlight people, and cuddly romantic firelight people, and dreamy aesthetic twilight people, and stylish conventional electric light people and lots of others like that. And then there's the plain daylight people, the kind Lincoln said God must have loved because he made so many of them. "Sometimes, when I see a particularly attractive example of one of the three kinds, I wish I'd been born that way, and then I know I shouldn't like to live all the time in moonlight or footlights or twilight, and I decide I'm willing to be just a plain daylight person after all. "And I very much suspect, little sister, that even if the 'man o' dreams' did admire the moonlight occasionally he'd never forget to go home and say his prayers of thankfulness that God gave him such splendid healthy happy daylight to live in."

"Thank you big sister," said Molly slowly. "I'll remember next time." "You're welcome, little sister," said the lady-who-always-knows-somehow. "What Cameron"

CORRIG COLLEGE ANNUAL AWARDS

Pass. Lists in Midsummer Examinations Show a High Standard of Excellence

The annual examinations were completed a week ago and the results and reports of the past term are now issued. The examiners, Ven. Archdeacon Scriven, Dr. N. Newnham Davis and D. C. Hughes, report favorably on the evenness and efficiency shown in the examination papers and congratulate those who are promoted on their well-earned distinction. The fact that in the upper school examinations, with a list of twenty subjects, four boys obtained an average of over 75 per cent, is highly encouraging to both masters and pupils, and forms an excellent criterion as to the quality of the work done in the past term. A detailed list of the boys who distinguished themselves in the examination is given below:

MANY ERRORS OF NEW REPUBLIC

Blunders of Portuguese Statesmen With First Taste of Liberty

The recent general elections in Portugal afford timely opportunity for a review of the conditions leading up to the result in the complete confirmation of the people of Portugal in republican ideal. For the benefit of those who have not followed matters closely it is necessary to go lightly over events from October 5 last to date, otherwise a full appreciation of the situation is impossible. On October 5, 1910, a republic was declared by means of the gross treachery of a prime minister who delivered his king and his country to a band of Republicans who could not have assumed power without the aid of the monarchists. It can only be said that some knew what was coming, and were either indifferent or afraid, and the others were taken absolutely off their guard. The army was also betrayed by its headquarters staff, and never had a chance of showing its loyalty to its king and to its oath of loyalty.

Thus we find a body of men placed in power by an act of treachery—not by the country's will. These men had a difficult task before them, though the finances of the country and its commerce generally were in a better condition than they had been for some years. The obvious policy was to show clemency to opposing views and to try to attract to the side of the government the more honest elements in the country for the purpose of evolving a policy of development without oppression. But they had made use of dangerous tools—those of the lower-grade Democrats—and found that instead of governing, they must obey those who had placed them in power. One of the first steps was the expulsion of the Jesuits, which, although it may have been necessary, was carried out in an unnecessarily brutal manner. Then came the law authorizing strikes, which has really placed the employer at labor at the mercy of those he employs and pays.

The law of landlord and tenant follows, by which the landlord has to submit to an entire alteration of his relationship towards his tenant without being consulted on the matter. Omitting sundry small decrees of the kind, we come to the decree of dissolving the means of avoiding all matrimonial ties—a law which has given great offence to the North and many of the provinces, and which was promulgated apparently to "regularize" the family irregularities of certain prominent Republicans and Freethinkers. The next action taken is to issue a decree of treason, whereby it becomes a crime to propagate, politically or otherwise, any views contrary to those held by the Republic. Then comes the election law, placing in the hands of the Republican "electors" the power of declaring who may vote and who may be a candidate.

Next comes the decree of separation of Church and State, which really amounts to the annexation of all church funds and properties by the state and must lead to the official stamping out of religion. Thus we arrive at the present crisis, and can realize why so many have left the country—why there are such persistent rumors of unrest and discontent. Not that the self-appointed government has been satisfied to act so injudiciously in internal affairs; we find the same want of knowledge of men and ways in its external dealings. The minister for foreign affairs warns foreign powers, through the press, that the Portuguese people are being kept in a fall with all diplomatic transactions, and that unfavorable action by any government will result in commercial loss to that government's trade interests. The prime minister has gone so far as to interview a reporter of a Spanish Republican paper and assure him that the Portuguese government are heart and soul with the Republican movement in Spain.

But it is with the elections one is now mostly concerned, which are to end that the country has declared in favor of a Republic. Let us pause and see how this result is arrived at. The treason law disposes of the monarchist at elections, so that only an independent candidate has an opportunity of standing. His career is a short one, for he is promptly arrested as a conspirator—a fate which overtakes the unfortunate cleric who protests against the law of separation. Yet the result obtained by these methods is to ensure recognition of the republic from Europe's civilized nations!

To further the cause of Republicanism daily arrests are made of persons supposed to be implicated in anti-Republican plots. These are the men who have preached freedom, equality, and fraternity, but who fail to practice it—London Standard.

The general council of Algeria has voted a prize of $20,000 for aviators. The prize is to be awarded to the first airman who carries a ton of war material a distance of 500 miles on one unbroken flight. The new prize is called the Belphegor prize, in honor of the late minister of war.

SECRET STORY OF LIFE OF WAGNER

Translation of Autobiography Throws Light on Character of Musician

A book published lately in Germany which appears now in England and which will soon be issued in three other languages—Richard Wagner's Autobiography—seems likely to take its place as one of the most remarkable curiosities in literature.

Authors of lives of Wagner have known vaguely of his existence, but his history was not made public until the issue of the late Mrs. Burrell's magnificent instalment of a projected life of Wagner, some five years ago. The author went into the matter of his production thoroughly, and proved by letters from Wagner to the printer that at least eighteen copies were struck off. For the work was at first supposed to exist only in three copies, one of which was presented to King Ludwig II. of Bavaria, one to Liszt, and one to Wagner himself.

Mrs. Burrell says that she herself became possessed of one copy, and gives its title-page and preface in facsimile. There is no publisher's name in the original book, which was issued in four volumes, corresponding with the four "books" of the present publication. By the kindness of the owner of one of the copies an opportunity has been given of comparing the original with the book now published at Munich; and it is recorded that extraordinary care has been bestowed on the work of making the newly-published book agree with the original in every way.

Not a word, not a letter, seems to have been altered, and the many mistakes in the spelling of proper names, the many errors of punctuation, and the curious style, so oddly at variance with Wagner's very characteristic idiom in writing German, all remain untouched. There is no explanatory note or preface, but only Wagner's own few words of introduction from which it appears that the memoir was dictated to Frau Cosima, and printed in so few copies in order that the greatest care should be taken to prevent its getting into unsympathetic hands or being regularly published until some time after my death.

After the book had been written Wagner sent the manuscript to France, where it was set up in type by compositors who did not understand the purport of the book. From the German type twelve copies were printed, and then the type was distributed. The plates and reticence that distinguish the original German publication have been followed in the translation, no translator's name being given, and nothing added but a very few editorial notes to explain certain phrases that may not be clear to the English reader. It is clear that the book has been translated by several hands, and it is also clear that all who have shared in the work are highly accomplished masters of their craft. The Literary Supplement of the London Times which has given very carefully into the work, says the two volumes are not only eminently readable throughout, but they follow the German with a faithfulness that is all the more successful because the spirit, rather than the letter has been transferred from one language to the other.

As a record of dates and matters of fact Mrs. Burrell proved by irrefragable documentary evidence that it was misleading in very many ways, even in that small portion of the life which her book covered. The date of his going to school, the form he gives of his own mother's name, and similar things, are none of them of very great importance, but it is not improbable that all the misstatements were confined to one portion of the autobiography. The book may be said to represent the career of Wagner as known up to the date when King Ludwig began to befriend, and when it first dawned on him and Frau Cosima von Bülow that they were made for each other. The record ends appropriately enough at the moment when all financial anxieties were at an end for Wagner.

As it was definitely not intended for the public eye at the time it was written, it is perhaps unjust to treat it as if the opinions expressed in it were uttered in a manner which generally still, when all excuses have been made, there remains the fact that the book is, unconsciously of course, the revelation of a character wholly lacking in many of the qualities which men respect and admire. One need not suppose that the conditions of his life at the time of writing could fall to influence his opinion of the people with whom he had been brought into contact during his earlier years; in particular, poor Minna's many shortcomings may—may, must—have seemed gigantic in the eyes of one who had finally separated his life from hers. But considering these very circumstances, the picture he gives of Minna, her various love affairs, her alleged lapses from moral rectitude (after as well as before marriage), is one that makes the reader wonder how any man worthy of the name could bring himself to relate them even for a distant posterity in a manner which, cynical and selfish.

That the wooing was mainly from her side; that he never really loved her; that her jealousies worried him as much as her own unfaithfulness; that he met made advances to him, but this does not prevent his showing up their weaknesses in the heartless style of a man so wholly self-centred that he cannot even imagine anybody else matting in the least.

AGA KHAN OF BOMBAY.

A picturesque personage who arrived in London for the coronation was his highness the Aga Khan of Bombay, head of the Ismaili sect of Mohammedans by right of his descent from All, the nephew of the great-grandfather of Mohammed. His territory is not very large, but the number of his followers is counted by hundreds of thousands. So great is his influence that his friendliness to British rule in India is of the greatest value to the government. He is a member of the most exclusive of London clubs, the Marlborough, to which King George belongs. The family of the Aga Khan came originally from Persia, but migrated to India some three generations back. Many of those who owe allegiance to him devoutly believe that he holds the keys of heaven. Many of the curious exercises of his position are never exercised by the present Prince. He has not, for instance, continued his fathers' practice of giving letters of introduction to the Archangel Gabriel in order to secure special consideration for his followers in the next world.

PASTOR RUSSELL COMING

Victoria will receive a short visit tomorrow from Pastor Russell, the famous preacher of Brooklyn, Tennessee, who is at present conducting a tour of 170 of the International Bible Students Society to the San Francisco convention. Pastor Russell, who rose to fame as the incumbent of the Brooklyn Tabernacle, Duluth, has accepted the pastorate of the London Tabernacle in addition.

His stay in the city will be very brief as he goes on to Vancouver to-tomorrow night. During his stay, however, he will give Victorians an opportunity of hearing his views upon the "Hereafter." The first time he delivered this address was on the Sunday following the death of King Edward VII. in the Royal Albert hall, London, and it has been acclaimed a wonderful exposition of the eternal problems.

The A. O. U. W. hall has been engaged for the occasion and it is certain that a large number of people will congregate there to hear the noted divine's discourse. The service begins at 8 o'clock.

WARRANT ORDERED FOR UNKNOWN ALDERMEN TO BE PHOTOGRAPHED

Defendant Fails to Appear— Bail Bonds Were Ordered— Estreated To-day

A bench warrant for the arrest of Frank Bullock, chief witness in the navy yard prosecutions, was ordered to be issued this morning by Magistrate James G. Gordon. In addition to the warrant for the arrest of the defendant, a warrant for the arrest of the bail bonds of $1,000 on which accused has been at liberty was ordered estreated.

Bullock was called on to appear this morning to answer the charge of attempted extortion laid against him by Andrew Bechtel, a director of the Victoria Machinery Dept., in which Bullock is alleged to have attempted to extort money from C. J. V. Spratt, managing director of the Victoria Machinery Dept. W. C. Morsey appeared for the prosecution and Bullock was not present and not represented.

The solicitor for the prosecution asked that the name be called three times outside the court. This being done, and Bullock failing to appear, the warrant was estreated and a bench warrant issued for his arrest. The bench warrant is for the sum of $1,000. The amount of the bond is $200. The bond is to be secured by a man and a woman who were formerly a resident of the restricted district, was presented on a charge of shoplifting from the store of Angus Campbell & Company. She stole a coat from the racks in the store Friday evening and was arrested on Saturday evening at the store. She is sentenced to one month's imprisonment.

F. Dodge, for driving a wagon belonging to Kirk & Company over Point Ellice bridge beyond a 25-cy pace, was fined $5. Fisher, for leaving a horse untied on the street, paid $5. Fred Mills, who used obscene language on the street Saturday, was fined $5, and in default one month. Frank Nicholas, a Greek fisherman, was fined $25, or in default one month, for carrying a sheath knife, and on the second charge against him, that of rape, was again remanded.

Mayor Morley is nothing if not persistent. At the Friday night's meeting of the city council he made a suggestion arising out of rather a humorous situation, which, if acted upon, would enable every citizen in Victoria to know his own alderman.

A resident in Victoria West, thinking that his property would be of value to the city, wrote the council offering it for sale, explaining in doing so that as he did not know who the alderman for Ward II. was, he was taking the liberty of sending his communication to the council direct. When the alderman had died away, the mayor naively suggested that it would be good thing to have the representatives of Ward II. photographed as they sat in council, so that the council would not be a mystery to the citizen.

The unnecessary nuisance of manholes and trenches, together with the unnecessary blocking of streets with sand and gravel, was dealt with by the council, and it was decided to have the police enforce the regulations regarding the protection of the public from the former, and to authorize his engineer to give instructions to his foremen to have the sand and gravel servance removed.

Now that the necessary bonds have been put up by the Canadian Mineral Rubber Company for the execution of the paving contract in the city of $41,000, cheque of the company for $41,000, which accompanied the tender, will be returned. The amount of the bond put up is $507,000, which is in excess of the twenty-five per cent of the contract price called for in the agreement between the city and the company.

Another matter in which the Canadian Mineral Rubber Company figured was the proposed erection by it of a small building near the junction of Dallas road and the southwest corner of Ross Bay cemetery, for the purpose of landing their material. The company wanted the city's permission to construct and it was readily granted on condition that the street was in no way impeded or interfered with. A derrick will also be erected below high water mark and the city will be entitled to the use of both of them at a nominal figure in the furtherance of the cemetery sea wall construction.

MAKING BUILDING RECORD

Monthly Figures Taken From Building Permits Show Steady Increase.

The building record in Victoria which was struck with the first month of the year continued with unabated vigor throughout June, although the figures returned for that period were not on a par with those of the previous month. The monthly returns showed $250,000, which, taken along with the returns for the previous months of this year, aggregates the grand total of $1,423,585. This figure compared with that registered for the corresponding period of last year, $1,202,235, represents an increase of twenty per cent, and compared with the figure reported for the same period of 1909 it represents an increase of over eighty per cent.

As already indicated the figures recorded for the past month did not reach those of the month of May, but it is expected that the present month will again set a new standard for the subsequent monthly returns to emulate. Ninety-three permits were issued by the building inspector during the month, as against sixty-seven for the same month last year. For the year to date no less than 644 permits have been issued, as against 519 for the first six months of last year. All the above figures clearly indicate that building operations in the city are steadily increasing in volume.

STEAMER STRIKES SKIFF; FIVE PERSONS PERISH

Cincinnati, July 3.—The climax of a day marked by four fatalities on the river near here, came last evening when the steamer "Edwin Queen" ran down a skiff containing three women and a man. The paddlewheel of the steamer hit the skiff and threw its occupants into the river. Alvin Soiffin of this city, was struck by the wheel and sank.

The accident occurred near a bathing beach and the other four were rescued by bathers, who swam to their assistance.

John Fischer, Cincinnati; Cora Stegman, Chicago; and Clyde Taylor, Cincinnati, were drowned near here. The drowning of Miss Stegman and Fischer was a double one. They were clinging to the Big Miami river near Miami town, and the cause upst.

WOMAN PERISHES

Hamilton, Ont., June 3.—Their skiff colliding with the steamer "Torbine," Edward Shepherd and his son had a narrow escape from drowning, while Mrs. Shepherd met death, her husband being unable to save her after having swam with his son to safety.

LEAPS TO HIS DEATH

Chicago, July 3.—An unidentified man committed suicide by jumping from the tenth floor of the Masonic Temple to the court below to-day. He was instantly killed.

EFFORTS TO END MINERS' STRIKE FAIL

Barrf, Alta., July 3.—At a meeting of the conciliation board held this morning, the operators and miners positively refused to accept the proposals of Chairman Gordon, made Saturday afternoon. The operators submitted a brief written rejection of the proposals stating that they contained terms and conditions to which they could not assent.

Mr. Stabbs, on behalf of the miners, said that they had no written statement to make, but were ready to state verbally that the mine workers could not consider the offer anyway as a basis of agreement.

A. J. Carter entered formal protest against the manner in which the Saturday proposals had been submitted, and stated that he could not consider the proposal as a fair one.

The board at once went into secret session instructing the 190 parties to return in a short time to meet again with the board. Later the board announced that the final report would be taken up at once and Chairman Gordon hopes to leave for Winnipeg to-night.

Dr. Gordon's proposal was as follows: Advance in day wages of 19 per cent, up to and including $5, and 5 per cent above that amount, a differential in all cases of 2 1/2 cents according to length of service. This is to be left to arbitration. Conflicting rates to remain unchanged. An advance in coal and tract rates at Lethbridge of 5 per cent, and reduction at other points making the rate proportionate to steam. All other matters in dispute to be disposed of as the board shall direct.

Dr. Gordon intimated that this was his final attempt to bring about an agreement.

WHY MEXICO REVOLTED

Summary of Reasons For Recent Revolution Led by Madero.
 "Summarized, our reasons, down in Mexico, for revolution, were as follows: Mexico is a mere monarch, and Diaz for its king, although it masquerades as a republic. We are republicans and want to live in a republic. The purpose of the revolution were, in short, the overthrow of Diaz and all the officials illegally named in the election of June, 1910; new elections, fair and legal. We advise the people to be silent about reforms until we have a government that can and will properly and honestly institute them. But, eventually, the things which Mexicans must have are these:
 "The right of education.
 "The freedom of the press.
 "The stoppage of the frauds of Diaz and his friends who, without right, have seized our property.
 "Cessation of imprisonment, or, worse, slavery in Yucatan, for those who venture to complain of sins of powerful men against the weak.
 "Some measure of respect by men in power for the purity of young native womanhood.
 "Honest elections.
 "We must have, in short, that freedom which is guaranteed us by the constitution of our nation.
 "We must have that which the people of your country are given without question; that which, were it refused, they would themselves obtain by force, even if that force should stain the white snowy stripes were stained until they were more sanguinary than the crimson of their fellows. You battled for your homes, your wives, your children and your liberty against a tyrant and you won. For the same things you battle against a tyrant and you win. We advise Madero, to Edward Marshall, in July 1910."—American Press.

TWO EARTHQUAKES CAUSE PANIC

Central California and Western Nevada Shaken—Excitement in San Francisco

San Francisco, Cal., July 1.—Two earthquakes—the heaviest since the big shock in 1906, and separated by only a few seconds—shook the central portion of California and western Nevada on Saturday. The first shock, experienced at approximately 2.01 o'clock, was followed within a few seconds by one of similar intensity, each lasting about five seconds.

Only trivial damage has been reported from any section, but in San Francisco and other cities in the affected area, panic seized upon crowds in stores and restaurants and there was a pell-mell rush from the large buildings.

The quake was felt to the northward of Sacramento in the Sacramento Valley, southwest as far as Fresno and to the east at Carson, and Reno, Nevada, the latter place experiencing the heaviest shock in its history.

Some slight damage was done to buildings in San Francisco. Heavy cones in the corner of the Mechanics Bank building were moved, slightly out of alignment; superficial cracks were made in several large office buildings, corners of the new post office building were disarranged, and minor damage was done to the interior walls of a number of other buildings.

Within a few seconds after the first shock many downtown buildings were depopulated in a wild rush to the streets. Telephonic and telegraphic service was suspended for some minutes because of the operators deserting their keys. Herbert Hadley, a lodging house inmate, fell dead of fright and some cases of hysteria or of cuts or bruises suffered in the semi-panic, were treated at the emergency hospitals.

Santa Rosa, which suffered a great or disaster in proportion to its size than did San Francisco in the catastrophe of 1906, scarcely felt Saturday's shock, further indicating that the seismic disturbance did not follow the lines of the old "fault."

San Jose, another heavy sufferer in 1906, reported that the shock was the sharpest experienced since that time, but that it did no serious damage. Stockton and Fresno, in the San Joaquin Valley were only frightened by the jarring, but there was in Sacramento, where the state offices were deserted in a trice as a result of the shake, the damage to buildings was trifling.

In Reno, Nevada, the shock was scarcely felt, but in Carson it was severe. The federal court was in session in the Nevada capital, and judge, jury and attorneys rushed post-haste to the streets.

At the Santa Clara College Observatory both reels were thrown off the seismographs. They were immediately replaced, but the records of the disturbance will be incomplete because of this. The observatory of the University of California, was stopped for the first time since the great earthquake of five years ago.

Word was received by the local weather bureau from the substation at Mount Tamalpais, 2,600 feet above the sea, to the effect that the sharpest shock had been felt there since the disaster of 1906. The mountain is close to the "fault" which opened during the 1906 quake.

BATTLE OVER THE VETO MEASURE

Report That Liberal Government Has Decided to Take Drastic Action

London, July 3.—Politics have forced to the front again, with surprising suddenness. After the truce during the coronation season, the case of the government versus the peers seems about to reach an acute stage. The radical newspapers assert that the cabinet, after careful deliberation, has finally decided to take drastic and final action, if the Lords persist in mutilating the veto bill with amendments.

Some of the radical writers claim cabinet authority for asserting that the government's plan is to announce that the cabinet has decided to call on the King to create 150 new peers unless the Lords except the veto bill. The object of this announcement would be to call a halt to the Lords before they plunge deeper into opposition.

That the cabinet has decided upon its plan of action appears undoubted. Whether it shows its hand as soon as the most ardent Liberals predict is questionable. It is possible that the cabinet will give the Lords time to send the bill to the House and then reject the amendments en bloc by one vote, declare its plans and perhaps give the House of Commons an opportunity to vote on the question of asking the King to use his prerogative to create Liberal peers.

From Conservative sources comes a different version of the cabinet's plans. The Globe claims the highest authority for saying that the government will ask the King to dissolve parliament.

The Conservative whip, Arthur Steel Maitland, also said that the government proposed to have another election in which the Home Rule question would figure. The Spectator, the organ of the most extreme Conservatives, says the Conservative members of the House of Commons privately admit that the Liberals would gain an increased majority if another election was held, and that Home Rule therefore would be certain.

DIVORCED AND REMARRIED.

Romantic Domestic Experiences of Couple Separated Thirty-Five Years.

A romance which had its commencement on the other side of the Atlantic many years since, had a happy culmination in Belleville, Ont. It developed in the most unexpected manner, so far, at least, as the story is concerned, namely, from the application by a man of mature years to a Belleville maker of marriage licenses for one of those documents which are an indispensable preliminary to the celebration of the matrimonial ceremony.

The man, accompanied by a woman, gave his name as Rice and that of the woman as the same. He was questioned by the issuer as to whether there was any relationship between the pair, and the woman intervened and told the story which follows, in substance:

"Some 35 years ago the couple were married in Scotland, and the woman, after several years of wedded unhappiness, secured a divorce about 20 years ago, and the custody of her two sons, one of whom's captain of an Atlantic steamer and the other-mate on a liner. The woman remained at home and the man went to the Western States. A few months ago the woman came over to Yarmouth, Nova Scotia, to visit relatives, and there was given information as to her former husband. The result was that they entered into correspondence, the old-time love was revived,
