DIVINES ASSEMBLE HERE TO DEBATE DEVELOPMENT IN RELIGIOUS THOUGHT

Pacific Coast Theological Conference Commences Sessions; Prominent People Are Attending From Both Sides of Border.

Just before the luncheon interval to-day the Pacific Coast Theological Conference, which is meeting at the First Congregational Church, rose and cheered Rev. John MacKay, D.D. formerly of Vancouver, and now of Winnipeg, a former executive officer of the conference who has come half way across the country specially to attend the function.

Most of the delegates are now in their places, but several have yet to come from the American side. The personnel of the gathering is notable, in that it includes men remarkable as divines, college principals, writers, and leaders in church work.

In the absence of the president, Principal W. H. Smith, of Westminster Hall, Rev. Dr. G. A. Landon, of Seattle, occupied the chair.

INTERESTING DISCUSSION

Two papers engaged the bulk of the time this morning, producing interesting discussions, and in connection with the remarks of Rev. Robert Connell, in a paper on the dramatic in religion, Rev. Dr. Samuel Weir, of Tacoma, advised the clergy to look into the question of motion pictures and dramatization of the scriptures on a commercial basis, pointing out that the producers were recognizing the value of the biblical stories as a basis of their productions for profit, and he praised one or two efforts which he named as successful dramatizations of the Bible.

A social function will be tendered to the delegates of the conference by the ladies aid of the First Church this evening. The local committee is working hard, and a number of leading local ministers are participating in the sessions.

DELEGATES Dr. Samuel Weir, of Tacoma, who came out two years ago to win the college of Puget Sound as Professor of Education and Psychology, is a native born Canadian from Middlesex County, Ontario, and is the second (concluded on page 2.)

COMPROMISE PLAN FOR REPARATIONS

Body Separate From Commission to Decide if Default Voluntary

Scheme Laid Before British Premier by French Cabinet Head

Paris, July 8.—A compromise plan for continuing the Reparations Commission in control of execution of the Dawes plan will be proposed to Premier MacDonald of Great Britain by Premier Herriot when the French and British Premiers meet this afternoon, it is stated. The Reparations Commission, under this arrangement, would decide whether Germany was in default, but a separate body would be created to determine whether the default was voluntary. A note explaining the French attitude on reparations, which Premier Herriot drafted in collaboration with his advisers, was approved by the cabinet to-day. After being presented to Mr. MacDonald, it will be sent to the various Allied Powers. (Concluded on page 2.)

SEEK SOLUTION ON PARK TAXES ISSUE

Conference Between City and Oak Bay Councils Held To-day

Possibility of Extending Principle of Victoria-Saanich Committee

As a result of the conference between representatives of the City and Oak Bay councils this morning it was resolved to seek a solution of the outstanding issues between the councils affecting taxation of city properties within the municipality on the same basis as that which has existed since 1917 between Victoria and Saanich. The city authorities suggested that after 1924 the Oak Bay district should come into the agreement, and that to see how the present management of public reserves in Saanich belonging to the two bodies is conducted, the Oak Bay council should attend the next meeting of the joint committee. It is not being considered possible to apply this solution to the issue of (concluded on page 2.)

Physicians in San Francisco to Be Put on Trial

San Francisco, July 8.—Indictments against nineteen physicians involving allegations that they operated "diploma mills" for the benefit of such operations, were voted by the San Francisco grand jury last night. Among them was Dr. Robert Adee, now under sentence for bribery in Missouri.

ST. LAWRENCE DEVELOPMENT PROBLEM FOR DECISION BY CANADIANS, STATES AIKINS

Quebec, July 8.—Sir James Aikins, Lieut.-Governor of Manitoba, in making his presidential address here at the inaugural meeting of the Canadian Bar Association, dwelt for the most part on the history of Canada from the time it extended from the Alleghenies and the Mississippi Valley to Acadia, giving a short account of the various battles and wars that had been waged and which terminated on the Plains of Abraham. He declared that "Canada has ceased to belong to the people of Britain or to the people of France, and neither does it belong to the absentee owners who have never been treated with any degree of courtesy, but it does belong from the Atlantic to the Pacific, from north to south and from the earth below to

B.C. BONDS OUTSTRIP ALL OTHER PROVINCIAL ISSUES WITH RECORD HIGH PRICE

British Columbia bonds to-day brought the highest price paid for the securities of any Canadian province in the last ten years.

Tenders received by Hon. John Hart, Minister of Finance, on the new provincial loan of $3,000,000 will enable the Government to borrow money at the remarkably low rate of 4.60 per cent. No other province has been able to secure funds at such a low rate in the last ten years.

The tenders which are under consideration by Mr. Hart now are on a 5 per cent. and a 4 1/2 per cent. basis. The Finance Department has not yet accepted any tender on the issue.

TOLMIE NEEDED TO RESCUE PARTY FROM WILDERNESS OF UNCERTAINTY AND DESPAIR

With Hon. S. F. Tolmie determined to remain in his present comfortable Federal berth but about to hurry westward to arrange for the appointment of a provincial Conservative leader, the Conservative Party in British Columbia is very much at sea to-day.

Apparently nothing has been accomplished by a conference of elected provincial Conservative Members here and by a further conference of Federal Conservative Members in Ottawa. The only result of these two meetings has been to eliminate from the situation Dr. Tolmie and Hon. H. H. Stevens, the only two men besides W. J. Bowser who are considered capable of leading the Party here.

250 WERE KILLED IN FIGHT IN BRAZIL

200 Reported Wounded During Uprising in the City of Sao Paulo

Strict Censorship Enforced By Government Makes News Scarce

Buenos Ayres, July 8.—Two hundred and fifty persons were killed and 200 injured during the insurrection which broke out in Sao Paulo, Brazil, Friday night, according to reliable information received here.

Buenos Ayres, July 8.—News reaching here concerning the insurrection at Sao Paulo, Brazil, continues vague and conflicting, due partly to the imposition of a censorship, but there is little doubt the movement is of considerable consequence.

Belated dispatches from the Brazilian capital tell of measures taken by the Government to put down the movement, the extent of which is belittled. One such message, quoting an official announcement, says: "The situation is favorable to the Government. The situation is calm here. In Sao Paulo the revolt, a small group in the Luz barracks, are surrounded."

MARJORIE LEEMING WINS FIRST MATCH

Toronto, July 8.—Miss M. Leeming, of Victoria, B.C., women's champion, to-day eliminated Miss H. Debrisy, of Toronto, winning two straight sets in the Canadian tennis championships here. The score was 6-0, 6-2. Miss Hitchens, champion of Mexico, defeated Miss M. Cole, Toronto, 6-0, 6-0.

W. A. Dyde, of Edmonton, was defeated in the men's open singles by W. Foley, of Toronto, 4-1, 6-3.

RAIN IN SASKATCHEWAN

Saskatoon, July 8.—A steady rain started here at 8:30 this morning and early reports indicated that it was general over a wide territory. It was the first cool day after two weeks of excessive heat.

To Decide Empire Representation at Allied Conference

London, July 8.—Whether the British Empire will be represented solely by Premier MacDonald, or whether Dominion representatives will be invited to the Inter-allied conference here on July 18, will be decided when the Prime Minister confers with the Dominion representatives. Premier MacDonald made that announcement yesterday. (concluded on page 2.)

IS FIGURE AT U.S. SOCIALIST MEETING; EUGENE V. DEBS

The Socialist Party of the United States is holding its National Convention in Cleveland and Eugene V. Debs is there. Debs, the only man who has five times a candidate for the presidency of the United States, will not be a candidate on November 4, for the Socialist Convention last night formally enlisted under the banner of Senator Robert M. La Follette, who was nominated a few days ago by the Conference for Progressive Political Action. Debs was released from prison December 25, 1921, after serving two years and eight months of a ten-year term for violation of the Espionage Act during the Great War.

U.S. DEMOCRATIC LEADERS CONFER AT CONVENTION IN EFFORT TO END DEADLOCK

Delegates This Evening Again Will Grapple With Task of Choosing Candidate for Presidency of United States; on Ninety-third Ballot Smith Had 355 1/2 Votes, McAdoo 314, and Ralston 196 1/4.

Madison Square Garden, New York, July 8.—Six more futile ballots to-day, bringing the total in the United States presidential nomination contest to ninety-three, found the Democratic National Convention adjourning for a six-hour recess, during which conferences were planned in the hope of finding some way through the whirlpool. McAdoo lines continued to disintegrate during the day's balloting. Governor Smith's forces held fast and the much-discussed and looked-for booming movement for Senator Ralston was actually developed on the floor. The word went out to flop the votes for Ralston and in to-day's balloting his place had risen to third in the list with a total of 196 1/4.

Trans-U.S. Air Mail Service is Paying a Profit

San Francisco, July 8.—The income of the Government from the first cross-continent air mail flight under the new day-and-night schedule was $2,340.48 and the expenses for that trip $1,770, according to an official report made by Postmaster James Power to the Air Mail Service. More than 8,000 pieces of mail were handled.

DEATH OF SON OF COOLIDGE BRINGS MANY MESSAGES

Calvin, Sixteen-Year-Old Boy, Died of Blood Poisoning

President and Mrs. Coolidge Have Sympathy of Millions of People

Washington, July 8.—The White House, scene of many of the nation's sorrows, again became a house of mourning to-day while the whole American people, it seemed, poured in their messages of sympathy at the death of President Coolidge's sixteen-year-old boy, Calvin, Jr.

Not since Lincoln's time had such a youthful member of a President's family been called by death, and never under more tragic circumstances. From the time young Calvin died at 10:20 o'clock last night in the Walter Reed Army Hospital, all through this forenoon and afternoon, there came messages from the stricken parents in their first great sorrow, callers to leave a word of sympathy and tributes to the plucky but always loving boy who had waged against death.

Wasted in strength by the ravaging spread of septic poisoning that resulted from an almost unperceived blister on his foot, developed while playing tennis a week ago, the boy fought a futile battle throughout yesterday. He collapsed early in the night and death occurred a couple of hours later.

The United States Democratic National Convention in New York adjourned last night as a mark of sympathy with the President and Mrs. Coolidge in their bereavement.

SORROW IN LONDON

London, July 8.—The death of Calvin Coolidge Jr. caused genuine sorrow here, not only among residents from the United States, but also among the British people and in the various foreign quarters of the city.

The flags on the U.S. Embassy and consulate were placed at half mast, while many flags on hotels and other buildings throughout London also were half-masted. By noon Ambassador Kellogg had received many messages of sympathy for President and Mrs. Coolidge from British officials, foreign embassies and legations and members of the American community.

U.S. World Fliers At Bagdad; Next Stop to be Aleppo

Bagdad, July 8.—The United States army airmen on a world flight arrived here to-day at 5 o'clock from Bushire, Persia. They will leave at 10 o'clock to-morrow for Aleppo, Syria.

Montreal Boy Employee of Store Robbed by Thugs

Montreal, July 8.—Two bandits yesterday seized thirteen-year-old Joseph Picard, a butcher's messenger while he was on his way to a bank from his employer's store, blindfolded him, dragged him into a lane and robbed him of $57.

Sharp Earthquake In South America; Some Damage Done

Buenos Ayres, July 8.—A sharp earth shock was felt at Cordoba at 4:45 p.m. yesterday, according to advices just received. The shock lasted five seconds and did minor damage.

LEAGUE GROUP IS INFORMED U.S. WOULD WELCOME PACT TO CONTROL ARMS TRAFFIC

Geneva, July 7 (Associated Press)—The United States Government is prepared to give appropriate consideration to any proposals and would welcome any draft convention for control of the traffic in arms and munitions which it could submit to Congress with good prospects of ratification. Hugh S. Gibson, United States Minister to Switzerland, declared at the opening session of the League of Nations commission on disarmament. The main purpose of the present meeting is to consider in detail the draft treaty for international control of such traffic elaborated by the sub-commission in Paris. A second draft convention to be discussed concerns the private manufacture of arms and munitions. It is based on a project submitted by Colonel Carnegie of Canada. Other questions include a plan of work by the special commission appointed to investigate the probable effects of chemical discoveries in war-time and the possibility of recommending the conclusion of regional accords between countries as a means of attaining reduction in armaments. Lord Cecil presided at the opening session yesterday, and playfully commended the United States Minister, "insofar as he can be considered one of our colleagues."

THOUSANDS OF SETTLERS WILL COME TO THIS COUNTRY FROM SWEDEN

New York, July 8.—Denied admittance to the United States by the new immigration law, Swedish migrants are planning to-day on his arrival here from Gothenburg.

Professor Bagge will represent his Government in conferences with Canadian officials at Ottawa and Winnipeg. The professor said that if the immigration law had not prevented them, about 20,000 Swedes would have come here this year. Only about 9,500 will be admitted, he said, and the remainder are seeking an outlet elsewhere.

STEAD CHALLENGES CANADIAN STATES MIGRATION FIGURES

People Returning to Canada at Rate of Several Thousand a Month, He Says

Balance of Trade and Population Now in Canada's Favor

Accuracy of the figures appearing in a press dispatch a day or two ago purporting to show the movement of Canadians to the United States and of Americans to Canada was challenged to-day by Robert J. C. Stead, director of publicity of the Canadian Department of Immigration and Colonization, who is in Victoria on a brief visit in connection with the work of his department.

The figures referred to were furnished from New York and showed an exodus of Canadians to the United States in the last four years amounting to 333,336, and an exodus of Americans to Canada in the same period of 17,325.

"It is no secret," said Mr. Stead to The Times, "that there has been a considerable movement of Canadians to the United States in the last two or three years to take advantage of the high wages prevailing there, particularly in the building trades and in the manufacture of automobiles. But there has also during the same period been a considerable movement of Americans to Canada, not as a rule, seeking temporary employment, but to become settlers and permanent citizens. Statistics of entering immigrants are carefully prepared by the Canadian Department of Immigration, and vary so greatly from those included in the dispatch from New York that no explanation of the discrepancy seems possible. As a matter of fact, as many immigrants enter Canada from the (concluded on page 2.)

Prince of Wales Will Visit U.S. as Well as Canada

New York, July 8.—The Prince of Wales will visit the United States in September and will attend the polo matches between Great Britain and the United States on Long Island, according to a Washington dispatch to The New York Times. The correspondent understands the Prince will visit the United States while on the trip to his Alberta ranch which he will make in the Autumn.

Boy Wounded By a Sting-ray May Lose Life

San Pedro, Cal., July 8.—Stung by a large sting-ray which had been left lying on a pier after it had been caught by a fisherman, John Rudan, a 12-year-old newsboy, to-day was suffering from a wound which physicians said might cause his death. The lad was stung yesterday when the sting-ray suddenly flopped in his direction in response to a poke with a stick. The shock of the sting caused blood to flow from the boy's nose and mouth.

Boy Prevented Dynamiting of House in Ontario

St. Catharines, Ont., July 8.—An attempt to blow up the residence of Mrs. C. E. Farmer here yesterday was prevented by Mrs. Farmer's son, who threw water on a burning fuse which led to a milk bottle loaded with dynamite. Mrs. Farmer heard someone walking on the porch and upon investigating saw a cloud of smoke rising from a long fuse surrounding the bottle.

Premier Receives Message Urging Reform of Senate

Ottawa, July 8.—Premier McKenzie King has received a telegram from the Saskatchewan Government urging reform of the Senate, but declined this morning to comment on it. The telegram was prompted by the action of the Senate in throwing out Canadian National Railway bills for branch lines in Saskatchewan.

RURAL CREDIT SCHEME WILL BE DISCUSSED AT PROVINCIAL AND FEDERAL CONFERENCE IN FALL

Ottawa, July 8.—The House of Commons Banking and Commerce Committee to-day rejected by a vote of twenty-seven to seventeen, a motion offered by G. G. Coote, Progressive, Macleod, Alberta, for the establishment of an emergency rural credit plan for the present year and adopted the motion of Dr. Matthew McKay, chairman of the sub-committee on rural credits, for the adoption of the sub-committee report against emergency provision for rural credits this year. Hon. James Robb, Acting Minister of Finance, who opposed the Coote motion, announced that the question of rural credits, with others, would be discussed with the provinces at a conference in the Fall. Dominion Urged To Follow Lead of Local T.V.A. Dominion Secretary at Ottawa Commends Action of Victoria Unit

The Tuberculous Veterans' Association held its regular monthly meeting in their quarters last night. Several matters of vital importance to the branch were discussed, including a telegram from the Dominion secretary at Ottawa, in which he announced that all the Tuberculous Veterans' Association branches throughout the Dominion had been advised to follow the example of the local unit in sending telegrams to all the Federal M.P.'s and Senators representing their constituencies, with a view to urging their support in connection with pensions and other matters affecting tuberculous ex-service men and their dependents.

ECZEMA IN RED PIMPLES On Face. Itched Badly. Cuticura Healed. "Eczema first began with an itching on my face. Little red pimples formed that itched very badly causing me to scratch. The scratching made the pimples large and red, and some began to burn and kept me awake for a while. My mother recommended Cuticura Soap and Ointment so I sent for a free sample which helped me. I purchased another case of Cuticura Soap and a box of Cuticura Ointment, and in a month I was completely healed." (Signed) Miss Edith M. Kelley, Rt. 1, Unity, Me., July 12, 1923. Daily use of Cuticura Soap, Ointment and Talcum helps to prevent skin troubles. Write for free booklet "How to Cure Eczema." Address: Cuticura, P.O. Box 1024, Lowell, Mass., U.S.A.

Several letters in reply to the telegrams in question were read to the meeting, and it would seem that the recommendations of the Ralston Royal Commission will receive better consideration when submitted to the Senate than was previously the case. A communication was received from the T.H. committee of the Victoria Women's Institute, which extended an invitation to the Tuberculous Veterans' Association members and families to attend a picnic at Willows beach, Wednesday, July 16. The members expressed their appreciation for the kind invitation and decided to provide taxi transportation for the purpose of conveying the patients of the T.H. MIGRATORY BIRDS PROTECTED BY LAW Killing of Loons, Grebes and Other Birds is Prohibited. Under the Migratory Birds Treaty Act the killing of loons, grebes and other migratory wild fowl is prohibited with strict penalties for non-compliance with the statute. Canada is a party to the legislation, which is rigorously enforced in the United States. Statistics prepared by the Victoria branch of the B.C. Game Association show vigorous action on the parts of the States of Illinois, Iowa, Indiana, Missouri and West Virginia in the enforcement of the regulations. Jail sentences of fifteen days and individual fines of $300 were imposed in many cases there prosecuted. The point arises through word brought to the city that loons on Island lakes are subjected to sniping on the part of travelers who are apparently unaware of the legislation. Under the Migratory Birds Treaty Act all classes of migratory birds are protected and legislation in this Province is no less strict upon the point. Fines and cessation of firearms are provided for offenders under the Act. Though the close season upon game birds is well understood the migratory birds measure is less known, and many offenders become such through ignorance of the instance of the law upon the point.

RAIN WELCOMED IN PRAIRIE PROVINCES Winnipeg, July 8.—Coming as a welcome change from the extreme heat of the past week, rain varying from slight showers to mighty more than one inch fell in Western and Northern Manitoba during the night and this morning. Southern Saskatchewan also enjoyed scattered showers.

ISLAND FIRES UNDER CONTROL

No Danger of Bad Outbreak if Wind Remains Calm; People Reassured

The fire which has been sweeping through the slashed land and wooded areas of the Mount Prevost vicinity near Duncan is now under control, the latest reports from the scene of desolation state. There are still about 200 men fighting the fire in the direction of Mount Prevost, and the workmen from the Hillcrest Mills are backing up their property to make safe the company's timber holdings and machinery in that direction. The fire has burned over an area about five miles long and three miles in width, but has not destroyed any great amount of timber. Hillcrest and Mayo Mills, the big holders in the neighborhood of the fire, report only slight losses. The flames swept over slashed land, for the most part, and when they got into the green timber were easily stopped, once the wind had dropped out. Farmers have not suffered so extensively as it was at first expected was the case. On the Bradley-Dyne farm over twenty acres of rye, which had just ripened and was ready for the scythe, was swept away at an astounding rate of speed, and about fifty or sixty head of goats were scattered through the surrounding country, but have once again been brought back to their home. It is impossible to estimate the loss sustained from the fire as yet, and although there is a great smouldering, deserted area of fifteen square miles, through and about the foothills of Mount Prevost, the timber loss is not extensive. According to popular opinion the fire owes its origin to clearing operations. A week ago last Friday the fire broke out afresh, and it had become serious by the following Monday. Over 150 fighters from the Mayo Mills went out to combat it, and with great success. They stemmed the tide of fire. But for the remainder of the week the remains of the conflagration smoldered in the sod and in out-of-the-way parts of the country. On Saturday a wind sprang up. It was a bitter, strong wind from the south and west. It fanned the smoldering ashes into blazing "once more, and bright red and yellow flames started into the undergrowth and fed on the dry plant life there. Gradually a column of smoke shut Mount Prevost from the view of the people of Duncan, as the wind swept the fire northward. People began trickling in to the town reporting approaching danger. There was general alarm, and five-fifteen were called out to fight for several hours there a mighty conflagration, until, on Monday, the wind had abated and the fire was well under control. There is no immediate danger from the flames. Unless the wind rises the fire can be stamped out without any great inconvenience.

Besides, Mr. Hinchliffe is not deficient of a "mixer" to have gained very wide popularity with his colleagues. He certainly lacks Mr. Pooley's popularity.

To the Editor—Your item in today's Times creates the impression that I was present when the discussion by the Chamber of Commerce on the "Harbor Board" took place. ### BRITISH UNDER U.S. QUOTA LAW

To the Editor—Your front page of today's issue, Saturday, July 5, carried a column under the above heading, giving information, which, to say the least, must have been very disturbing to those who, after long residence in Canada, find their citizenship is taken away from them, by another country. The writer would submit, Mr. Editor, that qualification for citizenship should be based upon service to the state, and many thousands more will find themselves in a similar position to the writer, who after long residence in Canada, and after rendering service to the state by fighting for Canada in France during the last war, finds that he cannot enter the United States to reside there, except under the British quota, while a man, who possibly through no fault of his own, did not serve overseas or render any other worth while service during the war, but through the fact that he was born in Canada, is able to enter the United States without question. The writer would like to see this matter taken up by the various returned soldier organizations in Victoria, and would suggest that if they were able to secure the services of the various posts of the American Legion, the full rights of citizenship in Canada, for which they have fought, would soon be given them. Do you not also think, Mr. Editor, that it would be good policy for our own Government to define what constitutes Canadian citizenship without having the same defined to us by another country. CANADIAN BY ADOPTION, Duncan, B.C., July 5, 1924.

TOLMIE NEEDED TO RESCUE PARTY FROM WILDERNESS

The Conservatives of British Columbia believe that Mr. Stevens did not support them loyally at the recent election and that his secret pact with the Provincial Party, revealed in these columns a short time ago, helped to overwhelm the Conservatives in Vancouver and elsewhere. What the Conservatives of British Columbia think of Mr. Stevens, in fact, is calculated to make Dr. Tolmie a bit wild with amazement and shock even that imperturbable statesman if he is really determined that his friend and colleague from Vancouver should accept the post which he has so persistently refused. IN LINE With Mr. Stevens out of the way Dr. Tolmie will have little material from which to model the leader of a successful Conservative Party, for such a purpose is notoriously lacking in all the necessary qualities. Here are the men from whom the Conservatives would choose a leader: J. W. Jones, North Okanagan; J. H. Pooley, Esquimalt; Joshua Hinchliffe, Victoria; W. McKenzie, Kelowna; Colonel Cyrus Peck, The Islands. Of these Mr. Jones is the only man who has made any impression on the Legislature. He has been almost alone in assisting Mr. Bowser in any way at all during the long years of opposition. But Mr. Jones is not considered a strong enough man to hold the party together. He would be a sad fall from Mr. Bowser's well-known ability. Nor does Mr. Pooley appeal to the Party as the Moses who can lead it out of the wilderness of the last election. Mr. Pooley is a popular man among his colleagues, but when that has been said there is not much more to say. Mr. Hinchliffe has assisted Mr. Bowser slightly in the role of an educational critic, as he is interested himself in much except his periodical attacks on the Government's educational policy. Besides, Mr. Hinchliffe is not deficient of a "mixer" to have gained very wide popularity with his colleagues. He certainly lacks Mr. Pooley's popularity.

U.S. DEMOCRATIC LEADERS CONFER IN EFFORT TO END DEADLOCK

McAdoo forces had suffered losses under the close of last night's balloting and today's opening. CHANCE FOR RALSTON John W. Davis closed well toward his high mark, standing at 68. Senator Ralston, beginning at a figure surpassing his previous high-water mark, was running in the lead, being voted on 98 to 1924. Senator Carter Glass in the meantime suffered a slump, losing in the aggregate forty votes. Much of his loss and the losses of others were due to the creations to the Ralston boom. The talk about the convention hall was going to be given its full chance to develop and if it did not do so the coalition forces would be centered upon someone else. O-day's adjournment came on the motion of George Brennan of Illinois, the leader for Smith, who wanted time for conference. When the ninety-third ballot was reached the convention had passed the former record by thirty-four. Till the present convention started its struggle the highest mark ever set at a national political convention in the United States was a fifty-nine ballots, the total in 1860, when Douglas was nominated.

STEAD CHALLENGES CANADIAN STATES MIGRATION FIGURES

United States in a month as these figures show for a year. NO PERMANENT LOSS Mr. Stead claimed also that the figures showing Canadians entering the United States did not show the permanent loss of Canadian population, as many of these eventually came back to Canada. Canadians are not subject to the United States quota regulations, and there is consequently a flow of labor southward whenever conditions in the United States are attractive. With changing conditions as which are now in evidence, this labor flows back to Canada. The Department of Immigration did not formerly keep a record of the movement, but beginning in April of this year the immigration inspectors at border points were instructed to make note of all Canadians who had been in the United States for more than six months and who are now returning to Canada. These records showed a return movement of Canadians during April and May of this year of approximately 8,000 persons. FLOW OF POPULATION "It is obvious," said Mr. Stead, "that there must always be a considerable flow of population back and forth between Canada and the United States. Such a flow, within moderate limits, is possibly good for both countries. But any impression that Canadians are leaving Canada in great numbers without any intention of returning is contrary to the facts. They are now returning at the rate of several thousand a month, and it would appear that the balance of trade in population, which has been against us for two or three years, is again about to turn in our favor."

Rome, July 8.—The Italian aeroplane expedition to the North Pole has been postponed until next year because of lack of time.

RURAL CREDIT SCHEME WILL BE DISCUSSED

The committee decided to report to the House on the rural credit question recommending that the investigation be continued by the Government and that legislation dealing with the subject be introduced next year. Chairman Vien announced that he was forced to ask Dr. Tory, president of the Alberta University, to continue his inquiry. $15,000,000 ASKED The Coote plan provided for an emergency vote of $15,000,000 for rural credit to continue in force for one year; that loans should be made through Provincial Governments; that the maximum loan to one farmer should be $5,000; that no loan should be more than 25 per cent of the land value and twenty-five per cent of the insured value of the buildings; that the interest charge should not be made one per cent above the cost to the Government of getting the money, and that the loans should be amortized over a period of thirty-five years.

TWO ALBERTA SCHEMES

Hon. J. A. Robb, Acting Minister of Finance, announced that Mr. Coote's province, Alberta, already had two rural credit schemes. Surely there was no emergency there. "We want the money," said J. T. Shaw, Independent, West Calgary. "I thought so," replied Mr. Robb. LAND BANK PLAN A. R. McMaster, Liberal, Brome, Quebec, was opposed to emergency loans. The $15,000,000 would be insignificant. The Federal Government money should not be loaned direct to the provinces or farmers, but should be made the foundation of land banks which could go out and get much more money. E. J. Garland, Progressive, Bow River, Alberta, pointed out that Dr. H. M. Tory, who had been the subject for the Government, had recommended emergency loans. "Many farmers are hanging on by a eyelash. Let us give them hope," he said. Hon. H. H. Stevens, Conservative, Vancouver, supported the amendment. Farmers were paying rates of interest not under 10 per cent. They could prosper, he said. They needed relief and the Dominion should provide it. He believed it could be done without involving loss.

COMPROMISE PLAN FOR REPARATIONS

Paris, July 8.—The projected note to the Allied nations setting forth France's views regarding reparation raised by the forthcoming London conference will form the basis of the interview here to-day between Premier MacDonald of Great Britain and Premier Herriot, says Le Journal. The paper adds that the note will be sent only after an agreement is reached between the two Premiers, and that it will thus become a Franco-British document. INVITED BY HERRIOT Meanwhile "Perlinax," political expert of The Echo de Paris, and his Poincarist compatriots are making capital out of both Mr. MacDonald's visit and his speech in the British House of Commons yesterday. They declare the announcement of his visit given out here yesterday made it appear that Mr. MacDonald was coming on his own initiative, whereas the British Premier stated to the Commons that he was going on the invitation of Mr. Herriot. "Perlinax" describes the invitation as a "desperate expedient" on the part of the French Premier, unable further to hide his "capitulation" at the recent Chevers conference with Mr. MacDonald.

SETTLEMENT DESIRED

London, July 8.—Premier MacDonald, accompanied by two secretaries and Sir Eyre Crowe, permanent Under-Secretary of the Foreign Office, left for Paris this morning for his conference with Premier Herriot. Prior to his departure, Mr. MacDonald talked with newspaper men regarding his visit, which he said must be taken as evidence of his earnest desire for a settlement of any misunderstandings which may have existed between Great Britain and France. If additional evidence of this were required it could be seen in the state of his hat, the Premier said, as he was not fit to travel. He looked worn and ill, showing distinctly the effects of the attack of bronchitis contracted during his recent Welsh tour of limits.

HOME BY THURSDAY

The time of his return is somewhat uncertain, depending largely on what happens, but he said it was necessary for him to be in London for a meeting of the House of Commons on Thursday. RAPID CHANGE London, July 8.—The new Anglo-French political impasse developed so rapidly that the United States Ambassador, Frank B. Kellogg, and the Embassy officials, who have been busy preparing for the participation of the United States in the London conference on July 16, have had difficulty in keeping abreast of events. Premier MacDonald's announcement in the House of Commons was Mr. Kellogg's first authoritative news from a London source that the Premier was going to Paris. The original news of Mr. MacDonald's visit came from Paris, and it don conference is endangered or that there is a likelihood of the meeting being transferred to another capital. They explain that Mr. MacDonald is going to Paris in response to Mr. Herriot's suggestion, and will do everything possible to "smooth the way for an Allied agreement in London. They emphasize that a postponement or change in meeting-place is hardly probable, as the conference has for its one and only purpose discussion and adoption of methods for making the Dawes' plan effective.

in accordance with the dictates of self-chosen political leaders. "We, the people, in our madness to make money, frequently forget our obligation of citizenship both to the state and the nation. TRAVEL FEE IS NEW GERMAN PLAN Berlin, July 8.—Germany's new regulation charging all Germans 500 marks, or about $125, for a visa to leave Germany has hit the exodus to adjoining countries where the exchange rates are better than in Germany and the prices less.

However, this new regulation has called forth loud protests from many sources. Students, teachers, artists and many others of limited means say it is no business for wealthy Germans who pay the fee and go abroad as usual to spend their money, but prevents persons of moderate means from making trips for study and recreation.

As a matter of fact, the Government has arranged to exempt students who can prove they are going abroad to attend some educational institution, and invalids and other classes are also exempted. But the difficulty of getting exemption are said to be so great that many persons prefer to remain at home rather than struggle through the red tape.

REFORM IT,

ANGERED by the action of the Canadian Senate in rejecting the bills for Canadian National branch lines in Saskatchewan, the Government of that province has sent a message to the Prime Minister of Canada urging immediate Senate reform.

Most provincial governments at one time or another have urged the overhauling of the Senate. Both of the major political parties have made Senate reform planks in their platforms on various occasions. There was a time when this fertile subject was conspicuously featured by members of the House of Commons, some of the most vociferous of whom, fatefully enough, eventually found their way into the same Senate, where they became the most trenchant exponents of its virtues.

The chief difficulty in the way of reform lies in the fact that any measure affecting the Senate would have to receive its concurrence. It requires no strain of the imagination to picture what would happen in the Senate to a bill, though unanimously passed by the House of Commons, providing for the reform of the second Chamber of Parliament. The messenger who carried the bill from one House to the other might have to borrow a suit of armor from the Tower of London before he started out.

Notwithstanding the difficulties in the way, the Senate should be reformed. It is the most undemocratic parliamentary institution in the world. There is nothing half so reactionary in any other English-speaking country. Great Britain is a very conservative nation which likes to retain its ancient institutions, but if our Senate existed there it would have been reformed years ago; certainly its power of veto over legislation adopted by the elected representatives of the people in the House of Commons would have been curbed.

This is not to say that there are not many able, conscientious and patriotic Senators at Ottawa, for there are. Collectively, however, the Senate is the chief citadel of special privilege in this country. It is the happy hunting ground of powerful minority interests when there is any popular legislation, passed by the House of Commons, to be nullified.

The Senate should be made elective, its members sitting for a term of years. It then would be more responsive to the will of the people who pay for its maintenance. As it is now, it is an appointive body whose members sit for life and some of whom feel they can ignore or override the popular will without suffering any disturbing consequences.

All that would be needed to ensure the reform of the Senate would be a general election with the question as the main issue. The party which went to the country with the determination to perform this duty would be returned by a tremendous majority.

WORST ADVERTISEMENT

THE worst advertisement for the business sagacity of Canadians is the record of forest fires. What's the use of begging immigrants to throw in their lot with us, if we are such wretched housekeepers as to turn five million acres of timberland into charcoal and firewood as we did during the Summer of 1923? Every immigrant on the farm is a prodigious user of forest materials. If we outlaw the forest we outlaw the farm, a procedure that has taken place already in scores of Canadian districts. Seventy per cent. of the farmers of Quebec get a substantial part of their livelihood from work in the woods. The length of life we guarantee to our forest estate is precisely the measure of the life of agriculture in Quebec, New Brunswick, and a considerable portion of Ontario and British Columbia.

The public is absolute arbiter of the forest. Whether we shall sweep down-hill or make the forest redeem our war debt and put us on the high road to prosperity depends on the deliberate decision of the thousands of Canadians who, for work or play, enter the woods and leave a path of red flame behind them. Fire is the killer of industry, the exiler of workmen. Its ravages make the devastation of axemen seem paltry. It lays low ten trees to the axemen's one. It destroys not alone the tree but the soil and postpones for half a century the ability of an area to grow more trees of the kind we want.

The people of Canada own 85 per cent. of the forest lands and, at the same time are wiping off the ledger of national assets more than five million acres of forest lands a year. This is a day of rising forest values, when every district that possesses forests will pull to itself new industries, new population, based entirely upon the world scarcity of timber supplies.

A hundred years ago a forest fire was perhaps excusable, but in 1924 the humanest conflagration is little short of treason. Hundreds of good fellows who would consider themselves blacklisted forever if they burnt down the Methodist Church on Main Street have yet to experience the first twinge of conscience when their camp fire or cigarette sets ablaze a township of century-old spruce or pine.

STILL FIGHTING

WHEN General Primo de Rivera and the other army chiefs in Spain turned the Government out last Fall it was pretty plain that corrupt politics and mismanagement in Morocco were the root causes of the bloodless revolution.

It was recognized at the time that if there had existed any sort of responsible body of public opinion a war reminiscent of a former national crusade against the infidel Moor—a war, by the way, hated because it serves no real public interest, and has cost the country thousands of dead and an empty treasury—never could have lasted as long as it has done.

Nearly twelve months have elapsed, however, since de Rivera telephoned King Alfonso that he and his military colleagues were loyal to the dynasty but after the Government's scalp, and the latest news from Morocco indicates that several hundred Spanish soldiers have been slaughtered by their own artillery, while another column has been ambushed by the Moors.

Spain's dictator does not seem to have brought about peace and reforms which his lofty manifesto led the world to believe would be quickly accomplished, and if public consciousness has been lacking in the individual Spaniard up till now the fortunes of war may prove it before long.

COMING BACK TO CANADA

ONE of the most interesting of recent announcements to come from the offices of the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau is that which indicates that many former British Columbians who joined the procession to California, and other parts of the United States, some time ago are now in a hurry to return and find employment in this Province.

Inquiries of this kind are more significant and convey more to the average mind than statistical reports on economic conditions. These are the human documents which reveal deep disappointment and confessions of poor judgment.

There is nothing surprising about the turn of the tide. It was not to be expected that any part of the country to the South of the line could continue to find employment for an indefinite number of people from Canada and elsewhere. Booms are only temporary things and when they reach their climax the slump comes at express rate. This is what has happened down in California.

News of the plight in which some Canadians are now finding themselves is reaching other parts of Canada besides Victoria. What Winnipeg is experiencing is reflected in an editorial reference in a recent issue of The Manitoba Free Press. In part it says: "A good many of those who left Winnipeg last year to make their fortunes down South will have to walk back if their friends who stayed with the old town do not send them money to bring them home."

Meanwhile the Department of Immigration at Ottawa has had to ask for special reports of people returning because the influx has grown so enormously during the last three or four months.

Some of the hopes that a number of politicians expect to realize after July 14 will be bitter pills.

One of these days the National Democratic Convention in New York will select a candidate for the presidential elections.

Premier MacDonald informed the House of Commons yesterday that the British Government does not intend to proceed with the Channel tunnel project. He is wise in his day and generation. A few hundred thousand houses are still wanted.

The New York World is responsible for the decision of the Democratic party to hold its presidential nomination convention in the big Atlantic metropolis. The World is a great newspaper, which exercises a tremendous influence for good, but this time it has made the mistake of its life. Not only has the deadlock in the convention seriously impaired the prospects of success for whoever may be chosen as the candidate, but it may split the Democratic party.

WORLD TRADE TANGLED

From The Standard Free Press It is necessary to look for a reason for the increased prices of meat here, which are not dictated, as many people think, altogether by the caprice or cupidty of dealers. Wool is now at an extremely high price in Australia, and this is having the effect of inducing pastoralists to hold their sheep as long as possible for wool growing, with the result that animals are only coming forward in small numbers for slaughtering. The trade of the world is one interlaced tangle, and we are paying more for our meat because other parts of the world are short of wool for clothing.

Dr. Frank Crane on "Impatience"

(Copyright)

THE one quality that best marks a soldier of the ideal is patience.

Of course, he needs vision, he needs courage, he needs persistence, but all of these may easily be spoiled unless he has patience.

Rabindranath Tagore says: "The power of money has opportunities of immediate satisfaction, but the power of an ideal must have infinite patience."

The man who enlists under the banner of the ideal shall never see victory. For in idealism there is no victory, only betterment.

Because ideals come to fruition by growth, the God of this world is a gardener. He is not an architect.

The idealist has become God's partner, for he has glimpsed a great truth, and every truth is a programme of Deity.

God, it has been said, does not pay every Saturday night.

Hence there is no reward for the idealist, no goal, no hour of triumph.

The only reward he can have is the joy of his efforts, the thrill of self-giving, the angels' joy of knowing that the thing he champions is eternal and cannot fail.

He does not get his satisfaction from arriving, but in traveling. His is "the pleasure of going on," as Tennyson says.

He is a member of a city, that shall one day be victorious; there is no room in idealism for the army symbol. For an army exists for the purpose of gaining territory, destroying opponents or accomplishing some end of State; while ideals exist only for the benefit of the people who hold them.

The soldiers of an army take a city, or a region, or a place among the army's best men; the hosts of the ideal seek no city, only to make a better host.

Almost all great causes are staid by impatience.

The French Victory at Ticonderoga

CARILLON, Ticonderoga! interchangeable names for that famous point of land with its fort at the southern end of Lake Champlain, land drenched with blood of British heroes and of French, what memories of glory and of matchless courage they carry to both French and British armies! Here on July 5, 1758 was fought a battle, a splendid victory for a small French army, a defeat for British arms through the incompetence of their general, but an awe-inspiring display of the superb courage of the British common soldier.

Major-General Abercrombie commanded a force of fifteen thousand British, six thousand British regulars, nine thousand American militia, the largest army thus far assembled on this continent, moving against Canada by way of Lake George, Lake Champlain and the Richelieu River. His path was blocked by Fort Ticonderoga where the outlet from Lake George enters Lake Champlain. Here the Marquis de Montcalm had arrived at the end of June to check the British. His forces amounted to less than four thousand effectives, but his chief concern was to rebuild the fort which had been in process of rebuilding for two years and past to be practically untenable. The incompetent, corrupt French colonial engineers in charge had squandered and embezzled the vast sums of money provided by the Home Government. The place was quite unfinished and what work had been done was largely bad and wrongly planned.

In this extremity Montcalm had suddenly decided on an entirely new system of extemporized defences. All through the daytime of July 7 and till late at night the whole French army had labored at feverish speed. Under the direction of Montcalm and of his engineers the French regulars, the militia and the militia bounding the plateau west and northwest of Fort Ticonderoga. Then they piled up a rough but effective, zigzagging breastwork of logs, nine feet high and looped, in some places reinforced with stone. In front of this the slopes were cleared of brush, the trunks pointing outward, leafy tops stripped, intersecting branches sometimes sharpened. Close in front the sloping ground was thickly planted with a jungle of shaped boughs all interwoven. In one day Montcalm's army had constructed a defence superior to that on which the second regiment of engineers had been working with vast outlay for two years and more.

BRILLIANT as was this last moment effort, it was but a desperate position that Montcalm held. Abercrombie had fifteen thousand men. He could have left a force of 500 to hold Montcalm while he marched his main body overland past Ticonderoga to a point where Lake Champlain is very narrow, and then completely cut Montcalm's communications with his base in Montreal, and so shortly starved him into surrender. Abercrombie had an overwhelming superiority in heavy artillery. He could have brought this up and blown Montcalm's musket-proof defences into splinters. Or he might have planted batteries on Mount Defiance overlooking the Ticonderoga plateau and have shelled the inside of the breastwork with that period's equivalent of shrapnel.

Abercrombie, however, did not stop to think of any of these things. His second-in-command, the young Brigadier-General Howe, the brains of the expedition and the idol of the officers and men, had been killed in a slight skirmish with the French advanced post two days before. The general was unequal to the situation. Having heard a rumor that there were six thousand men arriving at the fort and three thousand more arriving, he was in such a hurry that he could not wait to bring up his artillery. He ordered a frontal attack with the bayonet.

The splendid British regulars charged through that frightful tangle of trunks and boughs and sharpened stakes up that slope. The French fire burst upon them in a terrible storm. Disordered by the obstacles, cut to pieces, slaughtered as they struggled, they fell back. Abercrombie, remaining safely a mile and a half in rear at the crossing of the stream, and apparently never seeing what he was asking his men to do, ordered them to charge again. Six times they were driven back, stubborn redcoats charged the sun and sunset at the orders of their stupid general, and they were nobly supported by the American militia. Astonishing feats of war were performed, but by dusk the jungle field held only the British dead. The army had retreated, having lost nearly two thousand regulars. Abercrombie broke up camp in panic and fled toward the upper end of Lake George. Henceforth the colonials called him Mrs. Nabbycrombie.

Abercrombie need not have felt himself defeated. He had thirteen thousand troops remaining, but he had lost all presence of mind. He had been so completely routed that he had erected on the battlefield a great wooden cross and whose Latin inscription gave the glory to God.

As for the principle of authority it is dead. Duke of Northumberland.

$6,000 OFFER FOR RACING PRIVILEGE DRAWS CRITICISM

Where Are the $20,000 Offers of a Year Ago? Asks Alderman Dewar

Council to See Oak Bay Regarding Unpaid Taxes Due To-day

The City Council met the Oak Bay Council to-day in an effort to unravel the tangle of taxes on the Willows Park which the B.C. Agricultural Association has failed to pay to Oak Bay in accordance with the agreement under which the Victoria Council agreed to the association taking over a lease on the park.

The association has money to pay the taxes, but to do so would deplete its treasury to the extent where it would be unable to carry on, members of the association on the City Council last night stated, and put it up to the city to foot the bill until the association refunded it after the next fair, or suspend the show.

The price of $6,000 for the racing privilege this season drew strong criticism from Alderman Dewar who compared it with $20,000 which he said was offered last year.

A report on estimated receipts and expenditures was submitted by the association officers.

TERMS OF AGREEMENT

The Oak Bay taxes were not paid, the mayor stated, in reviewing the report. The park had been leased on a two-year term, part of the agreement being a nominal rental and the B.C. Agricultural Association to pay the taxes which amounted roughly to $2,500. He was approached about a month ago with the statement, they wanted the city to pay the taxes. He was later presented with a cheque which included the taxes on the Willows along with other Oak Bay taxes, but he did not think it was within his power to sign the cheque and had refused to do so.

Alderman Dewar drew attention to the terms of $6,000 for the racing privilege and asked why the Agricultural Club had been left off with that amount.

Alderman Sargent, referring to the taxes, said they were an obligation on the city and called attention to a five per cent penalty clause if the taxes were not paid by Tuesday. There was a ten per cent penalty if they were not paid by October.

BREACH OF CONTRACT

"It will form a breach of contract and cancel the agreement if the association does not pay them, will it not?" asked Alderman Todd. "No time limit for the payment of the taxes had been set, the Mayor replied.

"If the taxes are not paid by the city, the association will have just about enough money to pay them," said Alderman Ker, "but then it would not have enough money to carry on with, and the fair would have to be abandoned. It is a question whether it is better for the Agricultural Association to continue or for the city to hold the fair. If the association is allowed to proceed this year it will probably be able to refund the taxes at the end of the year."

"It is a question of whether you can have a fair without horse racing," said Alderman Ker, "if you do not have horse racing you will get a corporal's guard there. If you must have the agreement, if the money to run. With regard to the amount paid for the racing privilege we had in the past $20,000 because there was nothing better offered. If there had been anything better offered we would have taken it."

THE RACING PRIVILEGE

Alderman Woodward said he was of the opinion that an assurance had been given when the agreement was signed that the grounds were renewed that there would be no horse racing at the fair this year, but Alderman Andros took exception.

"The alderman played safe and said both things," said Alderman Woodward.

"Ah! you need experience!" said Alderman Andros.

Alderman Sangster said there were two things to do—carry on or quit—and he did not think it was his duty to do that any more, and he did not think anyone else was.

It is strange that last year we were offered $20,000 for the racing privilege and this year we are offered less than half," said Alderman Dewar. Alderman Sangster—"Quit that stuff!"

"It is not stuff. The offer was made to this council," replied Alderman Dewar. As regards the fair he charged it was a futile year.

"No, that is not so," said Alderman Sangster.

"It was," charged Alderman Dewar, "the agricultural end was a side issue to the horse racing."

"Who said so?" asked Alderman Sangster. "Some of your friends?"

"That's the trouble, there are too many critics," said Alderman Sangster.

Alderman Todd expressed surprise that the amount of the taxes was in the city estimates. "I cannot think how the economy committee missed it."

The Mayor—"We certainly did." "It almost looks as if it were slipped in intentionally," remarked Alderman Todd.

Alderman Sangster—"You are wrong, Alderman."

HOW ITEM APPEARED

The Comptroller stated that the amount was included in a lump sum for "taxes outside of Victoria." He made a mistake in that he had not read the agreement with the Agricultural Association at the time he put it in the estimates. The amount, however, has been submitted to the full council, he said.

An equal distribution of the expenses of the fair over the Greater Victoria area was advocated by Alderman Todd.

Receipts for the forthcoming exhibition were estimated by the association at $25,000, including $4,500 from the Department of Agriculture, $2,162 from the Provincial Government and $8,000 from the Country Club. An estimate of $2,741 to put the grounds and buildings in order for the August fair was presented.

Ups and Downs of Life Aply Shown in "Broadway After Dark"

"Broadway After Dark," the screen version of the Owen Davis play showing at the Dominion Theatre, is said to be an honest attempt to reveal via the screen the soul of a city, to show that beneath the outward glare and glamour of the Great White Way human hearts are the same.

Into the making of this picture has gone the direction of Monta Bell, a sterling all-star cast, and a great story. It is a simple story, but replete with intimate touches of Manhattan life which covers every phase of it, from the lowest to the highest points.

The great Actors Equity Hall, attended by every Broadway celebrity, is shown in every detail, fashionable "studio parties" are contrasted with the existence of the "hall-room" boys and girls.

The Broadway portrayed in this Warner Brothers production is the Broadway known through fiction and observation, where flaming signs scintillate and where life is glowingly incandescent.

What happens after a pampered son of wealth forsakes his giddy moth-like life, and betakes himself to the cheap boarding house where struggling actors put up a decent front, is shown in this picture. Ralph Norton shows a little slaver, Rose Dulane, down on her luck, and shadowed by a detective for an unfortunate old crime. Ralph takes her back to his layer of society to discover whether or not clothes are everything. Then enters the love element.

The brilliant cast is headed by Adolphe Menjou, Norma Shearer, Carmel Myers, Anna Q. Nilsson and Willard Louis.

serve to make a delightful performance in which there is an almost continuous laugh. Ernie Petch is a Scotsman of parts with a wife who rules him with a rod of iron, taken by Eileen. Reginald Hincks and Peggy Lewis are respectively Mr. and Mrs. Stonehatchel, a couple who are not without their quarrels. Will Marshall is the cop-cum-politician of the village with a political machine, while Frank Allwood is the dandy newspaper reporter. Altogether it is a show which is different and well worth seeing.

Lewis Stone and Alma Rubens Play Lead in "Cytherea"

An unusual story, alive with the spirit of romance and adventure; settings and exteriors of rare beauty; perfect acting and direction, and a theme of universal appeal. That is the irresistible combination in "Cytherea." Goddess of Love, which opened at the Capitol Theatre yesterday for a six-day engagement.

It is a First National picture, presented by Samuel Goldwyn, and was produced and directed by George Fitzmaurice. The cast includes such popular players as Lewis Stone, Alma Rubens, Norman Kerry, Irene Rich, Constance Bennett, Betty Bouton, Charles Wellesley, Lydia Yeaman, Titus, Peaches Jackson and Mickey Moore.

"Cytherea" is a masterly romance, a genuine reflection of life, appealingly human and splendidly enacted, the spectators will see themselves in the characters that move across the screen, as realistic as their portrayal. Lewis Stone, than whom there is no more finished actor, is seen as the husband who, although his hair is graying in the vicinity of the temples, has never lost his spirit of romance. Irene Rich, as the wife who pays more attention to her household duties than to keeping her husband's love, has a role that only an accomplished actress such as she could handle with fidelity.

Alma Rubens, is cast as the woman in whom the diseased husband sees his ideal. So strong is the love that she bears toward each other that they sacrifice the regard of relatives, friends and the world in general, and seek a haven in which they and the elusive joy which had been denied them.

Joseph Hergeshelmer, the author, has woven a poignant drama, the

SUPERANNUATION OF TEACHERS REFUSED

Council Fails to Adopt Recommendation of School Trustees

Suggestions of the Board of School Trustees that two teachers employed in schools of the city be placed on retiring allowances on the order of $750 annually and the other $600 annually failed to secure the endorsement of the City Council last night. The fact that there was no superannuation scheme in force was put forward as the reason why the council would take no other action than receiving and filing the letter of the School Trustees.

One of the teachers is aged sixty-five years and has had thirty-five years service in Victoria, his present salary being $1,175. The other is sixty-seven years of age, has had twenty-one years service. His present salary is $2,800.

Sub-section three of section fifty of the Public Schools Act states "the Board of School Trustees may with the approval both of the Council of Public Instruction and of the Council of the Municipality make a retiring allowance to any teacher whom it retires from its service for reason of ill-health or old age."

"Why should we start this sort of thing," asked Alderman Andros. "If they want a superannuation scheme we would be prepared to go into it, but this is not the way to do it, to single two men out in this way. I am not familiar with the personnel of the teachers, but to my knowledge there are four or five others in a similar position. It is only reasonable to assume that men who have made some preparation for the future."

Alderman Woodward said there was no doubt that the absence of a superannuation scheme was keeping men in the city who would pay for this city best to retire. To vote down this report would probably mean to keep the men in the service after they became unfitted for duty.

Dancing Girls Were Home Sick for Lights of Paris After Film

The settings and scenic effects used in "While Paris Sleeps," which is now showing at the Playhouse, are considered artistic and realistic achievements developed under the master hand of Maurice Tourneur.

The story is laid in Paris, and no effort or expense was spared to reproduce a replica of the streets, boulevards and cafes of that famous French city.

What is considered one of the features of the picture is an elaborate street scene in which can be seen the quaint and picturesque streets lined on either side by typical French dwellings. The lights of the little French shops and cafes are seen gleaming through the night with members of the populace rushing hither and thither, and an occasional cab making its way through the narrow streets. It has been said that persons contemplating a trip to Paris could save money by seeing this picture.

"While Paris Sleeps," Mr. Tourneur is strict for realism and insisted on the masonry and walls of the buildings being built of soft brick and cement.

In the ballet scene an entire company of dancing girls cavort on a stage fashioned in typical French style. Many of the girls who took part in this scene have actually appeared in revues in Paris cafes and cabarets and they expressed themselves as experiencing a slight twinge of homesickness at the realistic atmosphere which prevailed throughout the filming of the picture.

CONFERENCE OPENS WITH FINE SPEECH

Dr. W. T. Brown, of Toronto, Gives Illuminating Talk at Conference

Delegates to the Pacific Coast Theological Conference in Seattle heard with interest and pleasure the address of Dr. W. T. Brown, M.A., Ph.D., of Toronto, where he is professor of Ethics in Victoria College of the University in that city, which was the feature of the programme for the opening night of the conference.

Dr. Brown's topic was "The Religious Spirit of Our Age," of which he said that the church throughout the Christian world was steadily progressing towards better understanding, mutual confidence, understanding and cooperation.

"There was a time, he said, when there was the bitterest enmity between the different religious sects and beliefs, but the time had come, he believed, when the Christian men and women saw the good in the beliefs of one another and were content to let fellow beings worship as each saw fit. Religious intolerance was becoming more and more a thing of the past, and such conferences as those present were attending, he asserted, encouraged this finer, higher spirit of understanding and cooperation."

INFLUENCE OF THE WAR

Possibly, the war has brought people closer together. But religion was upon the path of progress before that terrible upheaval which convulsed the world was felt. Otherwise it would have ceased to be true religion. Wherever one might go, it was possible and not at all uncommon to find men and women of various sects and beliefs rubbing shoulders in their various walks of life, and working for the good of themselves and fellow men, although each might follow the inclinations of his or her own mind. There was a time, he said, when there had been in the past, he believed, and this was lessening perceptibly through the years.

Dr. Brown said a few words relative to the growth and success of the Theological Conferences of the past, and foresaw a great and promising future. The Pacific Coast Conference was organized in 1911, and had been holding annual assemblies each year in the middle of the Summer, first in Canada and then in the United States.

The conference delegates were greeted at the First Congregational Church by Mayor Reginald Hayward, who spoke to them a few words of official welcome on behalf of the city, saying that he and in fact all Victoria, appreciated the value of the work they were accomplishing and the greatness of their effort, and he heartily commended them upon their motives. He added that he admired their taste for having chosen Victoria as their city of convention.

Rev. Dr. G. A. Landen and Principal W. H. Vance replied fittingly to the Mayor's remarks and Secretary J. R. Robertson read some interesting foreign correspondence to those assembled.

A. V. THOMAS

As was naturally to be expected Cliff Denham, the new manager of the Capitol Theatre, in the recent appointment in place of that excellent organist, Percy S. Burraston, who is now playing in one of the Capitol Theatres in Eastern Canada, and maintaining the high standard of musical efficiency of this house, has found a worthy successor in A. V. Thomas, its present music director.

Mr. Thomas is an ideal "movie" house organist. He is a musician to his finger tips, and he abounds in those natural gifts which somehow or other are not the prerogative of everybody in the sphere of art. For after all, and in music particularly, no amount of hard work and study, even under the best masters, can accomplish the greater things in this divine art without the possession of this "nature gift." To the discerning one, and it must not be forgotten that people are more observing than we are apt to believe, many a judgment has been vindicated in the several expressions of opinion, and the flattering reception that has been accorded this organist since his recent appointment. His playing is of high order. As the sibs at the console of the organ he seemingly obtains the results that cannot fail to give satisfaction. Those who follow picture scene and music "motif" closely must be impressed with the fact that he selects his music in a masterly fashion as to its adaptability, and its conjunction to the very spirit, surroundings and character of the picture. "Why not play," he says, "the movements of the great symphonies of the masters when the opportunity—and there are many—occurs?" And again, "Why play some cheap light number, when the picture has such an unlimited store of wealth." His daily programmes, too, are carefully fashioned, assisted no doubt by his inherent natural musicianship. His top selection, color schemes and tonal effects are apt and delightful to hear, and his organ "attentions" to the multitudinous, and oftentimes peculiar situations of the picture, are timely, skillful, vivid and appropriate.

BEDTIME STORY

Uncle Wiggily and Mr. Twisty-Tail

(Copyright, 1924, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate) By Howard M. Garis

Uncle Wiggily was hopping along the path in Woodland one day when he saw Dr. Possum coming out of the pen house in which lived Mr. Twistytail, the gentleman pig, with his wife and two little pigs, named Curly and Floppy.

What are you laughing at? asked Uncle Wiggily.

Wiggily, you are a dear, good, jolly sort of a chap. Go in to see Mr. Twistytail, tell him a funny story, make him laugh. It will do him more good than all my medicine.

"Please do," begged Dr. Possum. "My goodness, but it's hot!" said the bunny as he sat in his bungalow, looking from the window and trying to think of something funny to make Mr. Twistytail laugh so he would get well. It grew hotter and hotter. Uncle Wiggily looked from the window and saw Jackie and Peetie Bow Wow, the puppy dog boys, going along the path, wagging their tails from side to side.

SCOUTS OFF ON EXTENDED TOUR OF ISLAND CENTRES

Picked Patrol Will Give Scouting Demonstrations And Renew Friendships

A picked patrol of scouts of Victoria and District troops will leave Victoria at 7 a.m. to-morrow on a 300 mile cycle tour of the Island before returning on July 23.

Assistant District Commissioner H. T. Ravenhill will be in command of the patrol. He will be accompanied by Assistant Cubmaster L. Dods, of the 17th Epping Forest Troop, England, and eleven picked boys from city and outside troops.

The composition of the cycle patrol follows: Asst. District Commissioner H. T. Ravenhill; Asst. Cubmaster L. Dods, 17th Epping Forest Troop, England; Patrol Leaders Arthur Stark, Harold Crawford, Jack Miller, of St. Mary's Troop; Patrol Leaders Seymour Archibald, Warbrick Deans, of Collegiate Troop; Patrol Leader Robert White, of James Bay Troop; Patrol Leaders Percy Dutton, Brian Trolan, Walter Walsh, of Fairfield Troop; Patrol Leader Donald McDonald, Scout Gordon Douglas, of Sidney Troop.

The tour is undertaken in the interests of island scouting. It will, plan its organizers, serve as a means of bringing Victoria and Island units into closer touch. The city boys will learn much from the up-land scouts, and in return will give demonstrations of the latest methods of scouting. The tour is being eagerly anticipated alike by the participants and the up-land scout units. In a sense it is a return visit of the city scouts for the visit of the up-country brethren during the stay of the British Special Service Squadron at this port.

WATER WAGON IN HIGHWAY SMASH

Esquimalt Driver Injured When Hurled to Roadbed From Municipal Carrier

Serious injury to an employee and the loss of a municipal water wagon was reported to the Esquimalt Council in session last night, following an accident last week. The fire-ton vehicle was crossing the street car track outside the Municipal Hall when it was struck by an oncoming car and bowled off the road. Seated in the high seat was Alexander, who was hurled to the ground. He dislocated a shoulder and sustained two broken ribs. The wooden tank was splintered into matchwood and the two tons of water flowed out in a stream.

The report of Engineer H. F. Bourne last night showed that the driver was employed as temporary help, and would come under the Workmen's Compensation Act. The water cart was purchased in 1912 at a cost of $600, but could not be replaced at that figure to-day. The matter was referred to the municipal solicitor for report.

Progress to the extent of $1,800 has been made on the War Memorial Park. It was reported, and the work of planting left over until the cessation of the dry weather. Work will proceed with the grading of park roads and fencing.

An offer from the William Fitzherbert Bullen estate, through Alexis Martin, trustee, was entertained in preliminary discussion. The offer is that of a free grant of 1.5 acres of land near Constance Cove with the condition that the corporation maintain the property as a public park in perpetuity.

The park would be a memorial to the memory of the late Mr. Bullen, whose life and interest in Esquimalt contributed greatly to its upbuilding. It was pointed out, Councillor Fomenko pointed out that acceptance of the offer would entail the forfeiture of $500 in taxation every year, and that improvements to the property to make it a park would cost money. The councillors expressed themselves as sensible of the generosity of the offer, but wished legal advice as to the terms of the agreement. Councillor Mesher wished to know if permission could be secured to collect a "gate" at any game held in the park. The offer was tabled, while a by-law for its acceptance was ordered prepared as a tentative measure. The council found itself at variance on the duties of a municipal solicitor and a further conference will take place upon this point.

PRESENTS REPORT ON IMMIGRATION

Council Committee Urges Careful Selection at Port of Embarkation

Careful examination on every point of all applicants for admission to Canada at the port of embarkation rather than at the landing place in Canada, was recommended to the City Council by the legislative committee last night. Reporting on a letter from Mayor Hill, of Toronto, which has also been reported upon by the Trades and Labor Council and the Chamber of Commerce, the committee suggested that in accepting immigrants the Government of Canada should exercise every care neither to crowd Canadian workmen out of the United States border to search for work or create unemployment difficulties, nor to arise through immigration policy of the Government municipalities should not be asked to bear the expense of securing persons, preferably from the British Isles, especially adapted to successful agricultural life to fill up the vacant and fertile lands in western Canada.

As a means of keeping settlers on the land and Canadian citizens in Canada, the Dominion and Provincial Governments, Chambers of Commerce, merchants and consumers generally should co-operate in making agriculture and horticulture profitable as possible by looking to the welfare of rural life, especially by improvement of conditions of transportation, marketing, and loyalty to Canadian products.

PHILOSOPHICAL INQUIRY UPON THE NATURE OF DEITY

Eminent Scholar Delivers Address to Theological Conference

Says Antecedent Trust is Fundamental to Knowledge And Life

"The fact of intelligent creation is essential, the manner of creation is indifferently," said Rev. Dr. Samuel Weir speaking at the Pacific Coast Theological Conference here this morning on the "theistic problem" as affected by recent philosophical tendencies. Dr. Weir, who is professor of education and psychology in the college of Puget Sound, stated that the universe rightly interpreted was the revelation of perfect moral personality, and the system of physical changes in human beings is based only on the basis of communication, but the field in which "we work out our moral destiny."

The speaker gave a splendid resume of modern philosophical thought, quoting Dewey, Bergson, James and other thinkers as to the way in which humanity should consider God in His Being and in His relations to the world in which we live. The speaker questioned whether they should consider creation as going on now, and God himself as growing and perhaps limited. The trend of the paper was to support the personality of God, and the sense of belief in a definite creation.

He concluded a scholarly summary of the thesis as follows:

SEEKING THE IDEAL "Now in order that moral trust may be ultimately justified not only must there be a measure of freedom of the personality as self-active and responsible, there must be ground for hope that somehow and somewhere the ideal in personal character is realizable. When we seek the ideal of virtue, the perfection of character, are we following an uncertain light, a vain hope? This is not true in final reality. The ideal is not a mere attainment to a survival of that which is worthy to endure under conditions where the perfect pattern may be realized.

"That such an ideal may have philosophic support and validity, there must be a permanent recognition, a perfect coincidence of virtue and happiness. The idea that one might be damned for the glory of God is utterly abhorrent to a moral trust in the universe. Happiness is not conceived simply as a reward of righteousness, happiness and virtue are ultimately one and inseparable.

SACRIFICE "In the moral conception, there will be a reconciliation of the universal and particular in human ends. Sacrifice, self-limitation by the individual, will find not an arbitrary reward, but enrichment of the individual through conformity to universal ends. Jesus did not state an arbitrary rule of his authority, but a universal philosophical truth when he said that 'whoever will save his life shall lose it, but whosoever will lose his life for my sake and the Gospel, he will save it.' And we add, find it enriched with all the richness and goodness of the Divine moral order. So sacrifice has its philosophical significance and its end as its reward is universal good-will. The synthesis of such opposites is possible only in an ideal moral-world-order, in which the entrance through the narrow gate into the broad highway of universal love. Herein shall we lose our life to find it.

THE PRIMARY FAITH "Such an ideal world-order must be conceived as real—a faith founded on most reasonable considerations, or a primary faith in the ethical goodness of the universe, supported by reasonable considerations of its implications. "Our human anthropomorphic interpretations may not represent ultimate reality, but they are the only way to have faith in the form of human reason misrepresent reality, or cannot be trusted, we are forced back upon probability, as the basis of all reasoning and all interpretation, even that of daily life. An antecedent trust is therefore fundamental for knowledge and life; why not recognize the validity of that interpretation, which the reasonable implications of that faith are set forth as the guide to a large faith which gives recognition to the moral values and hopes to conserve these values."

TO OPEN SHOW ON FRIDAY AFTERNOON

Flower and Vegetable Exhibition Will be Held Here

On Friday at 2 o'clock Mayor Hayward will open the early vegetable and flower show of the Victoria and District Gardeners' Association. This is an initial effort to enable primary producers to show plants and vegetables which would be over by the date of the B.C. Agricultural Association's show. When the society decided on the dates of the July show it was not known when the B.C. Agricultural Association would stage its exhibition, which has usually been in September, though this year it is nearly a month earlier. However, the show will catch the summer flowers, the early vegetables and the soft fruits. The season is a very difficult one, owing to excessive drought and insect infestation largely accentuated by the lack of rain. It is not yet apparent how far these detriments will affect the exhibits.

BRITISH HALF-MILER WINS CLASSIC TO-DAY

Lowe Runs Away From Americans in Final of 800 Metres; Stallard Set Early Pace and Lowe Went Through to Win; Coaffee and Hester Qualify for Semi-finals of 200 Metres; Abrahams Wins Heat in Fast Time in Dash.

Colombes, July 8.—Great Britain conquered the United States in the feature event of the Olympic Games for the second straight day when D. G. Lowe, teammate of Harold Abrahams, winner of the 100-metres yesterday, led a brilliant field to the finish in the 800-metre final event this afternoon.

It was the teamwork of the Britons that gave them the victory, for H. B. Stallard, the favorite, set a terrific pace for three-quarters of the way when Lowe came through with a burst of speed and finished only a half-second slower than the time of Meredith's world record.

800 metres final.—D. G. A. Lowe, Great Britain, first; Marc, Switzerland, second; Schuyler Enek, Penna. State, third; H. B. Stallard, Great Britain, fourth; William B. Richardson, Leland Stanford, fifth; Dodge, Oregon, sixth; sixth. Time one minute 52 2-5 seconds.

Two Canadians, Coaffee and Hester, qualified for the semi-finals in the 200-metre event.

Paris, July 8.—The standing of the Nations in the Olympic track and field championships at the end of two days of competition is as follows: United States 5 1/2, Finland 4 1/2, Great Britain 2 1/2, Sweden 1 1/2, France 7, Hungary 7, New Zealand 4.

The fractional points for the United States and Great Britain were awarded under a decision of the track jury last night, dividing the three points for fifth and sixth places in the 400-metre hurdles because of the showings made by Charles Brooks, U.S.A., and the Englishman, Blackett, both of whom had previously been ruled out because of faults while running.

Colombes Stadium, July 8.—Cyril Coaffee, Western Canada's Olympic sprinting ace qualified for the 200-metre race to-day. He ran second in the qualifying heat, being beaten by Hayes Norton of the United States. The time of the heat was 21 4-5 seconds.

Olympic Stadium, Colombes, July 8.—To-day's programme in the Olympic games at Colombes consisted of the 110-metre hurdles.

Summary, 110-metre hurdles, two to qualify, first heat—George Guthrie, Ohio State, first; Jandera, Czechoslovakia, second. Time 15 4-5 seconds.

One hundred and ten-metre hurdles, fifth heat—Dan Kinsey, University of Notre Dame, first; Sempe, France, second. Time 15 2-5 seconds.

Two hundred-metres, sixth heat—Jackson Scholz, New York A.C., first; Hester, Canada, second. Time 22 2-5 seconds.

Two hundred-metres, seventh heat—Abrahams, England, first; Charles W. Paddock, United States, second. Time 22 1-5 seconds.

Two hundred-metres, thirteenth heat—George Hill, University of Penn., first; Matthews, Great Britain, second. Time 22 2-5 seconds.

Paris, July 8.—First place in the Olympic clay pigeon trapshooting competition was won yesterday by the United States team with a score of 363. Canada and Finland tied for second place with scores of 360, and will shoot off this morning.

Belgium won the shoot-off of her tie with Sweden, taking fourth.

Paris, July 8.—France beat the United States to-day in the first match of the semi-final round of the Olympic fencing competition, nine to six, with one match tied.

St. Cloud, France, July 8.—Great Britain's Olympic polo team yesterday defeated the Spanish team ten to three.

AMERICANS PROTEST Paris, July 8.—The American Olympic committee yesterday afternoon lodged a protest against the decision of the jury in putting back Charles Brooks of Iowa, from second to fifth place in the 400-metre hurdle race through his disqualification. The protest was considered too great. According to the rules governing such protests in the Olympic games the committee deposited 100 francs. The protest was disallowed, without undue delay, but the deposit thus far has been retained.

TILDEN WINS EASILY St. Louis, July 8.—William T. Tilden, champion of Philadelphia, defending champion, easily defeated Joe Smith, St. Louis district junior champion, in the first match of the third day's play in the national clay court tennis tournament at the Triple A. Club here yesterday. The score was 6-0, 6-0.

AGED MAN ENDED LIFE WITH BULLET

Eric Erickson, Powell River, Borrowed Neighbor's Rifle And Shot Himself

Vancouver, July 8.—Too old at seventy-five years to earn money, his cache of gold coins used up, Eric Erickson, old-timer of Lang Bay, Powell River, borrowed a rifle and committed suicide last week.

This is the report brought yesterday by Constable D. C. Campbell of the Provincial Police, who came south after a search with a bloodhound for the old man's gold cache.

Erickson stepped off the boat from Vancouver last Wednesday, tramped to the ranch of Fred Goldsmith, a neighbor, and asked for the loan of his Ross rifle to hunt a cougar. Shortly afterwards Goldsmith heard a shot in the woods behind the ranch and found Erickson crouched in a thicket with the butt of the gun between his knees and a great wound in his head.

Constable Sutton, summoned the coroner. The verdict of the jury, brought in Thursday, was "suicide while in a state of mental despondency."

STRIKE SITUATION STILL UNCHANGED

Mill Workers Ask For Board of Arbitration to Settle Wage Issue

The strike situation in the plant of the Canadian Puget Sound mill remained virtually unchanged to-day except for a general feeling that an amicable settlement would be reached before long.

J. D. Klesinger, manager of the mill, stated that from the operating point of view the situation was unchanged.

At a meeting of the striking hands in the Trades and Labor Hall last evening the workers reviewed their stand on the arbitration as provided in the following resolution: "Whereas notice of wage reductions has been served upon the employees of the Canadian Puget Sound Lumber Company, by the management; "And whereas the wages of laborers already existing (up to July 4) have ranged from 25 cents to 35 cents per hour; "And whereas these wages are much below those existing in other industries in the locality, and are much below the standard fixed by the fair wage officer in this district; "And whereas the cost of living figures as given in The Labor Gazette show conclusively that a standard of comfort cannot be maintained on even the present scale of wages; "And whereas further reductions will inevitably impair the health and well being of the employees and their families; "And whereas the lumber industry has just passed through several years of unprecedented prosperity, and is therefore well able to meet a period of depression; "Therefore this mass meeting of the company's employees affirms its determination to stand firmly for the maintenance of the wage scale hitherto existing until such time as the whole subject has been submitted to a board of arbitration as provided by the Industrial Disputes Act; "Mechanical ratings, it is understood, were prepared to accept the cut in the scale of the laborers remained as it was before the walk out. The men are willing to submit their case to arbitration and offer to return to work if in the meantime no change is made in the salary scale. Meanwhile the strike proceeds without incident or disorder.

SAYS VICTORIA IS BOUND TO DEVELOP WITH COAST TOWNS

California Builder Now Here Predicts Certain Growth

"Whether you try to make Victoria a tourist centre or an industrial city, its fate will eventually become commercially important and that within the next few years. It is impossible for Victoria to stand still while every other city on the Pacific Coast develops as commercial enterprises are looking to the Pacific Coast to a greater extent than ever. This view of Victoria is given by L. H. Branson, of University Avenue, Berkeley, a contractor in the California, who is a visitor at the Curtis Point Auto Camp.

FINE HOMES

As a contractor Mr. Branson took a great deal of interest in the homes of Victoria. "It is the first time I have been here, but I have been in twelve years," he said. "Business is good in Berkeley as a result of the recent fire there. In fact it is so good that I have been looking for a contractor to look to new fields, but if I were doing so, Victoria would look good to me. I have only one objection, but that is the lack of reverted lands and empty house problems. In driving around the city, however, I have noticed that the stucco type of California bungalow which is practically the only type built there now is becoming popular here and I have not noticed any of the other types of California bungalow. I have no hesitation in saying that speculative building in modern bungalows and the remodeling of some of the old properties would prove profitable in this city.

"It must only be a matter of a few years before these opportunities are realized. Victoria is well known in the South and with property values and factory sites rising in price as the cities grow there, Victoria is bound eventually to form the result of the development on the Pacific Coast. Big cities are not a necessity for industries, although industries make the big cities, and the even climate of the coast is more appealing to the factory owners from the point of economy than the East with its extreme temperatures.

Mr. Branson incidentally referred to a recent article in The Ladies' Home Journal, where British Columbia was described as "the most beautiful picture as the black spot of the continent, and sordid pictures of the ravages of liquor were painted. "I have been a standing witness of the picture as a drunken man since I came to the city."

Mr. Branson took exception to reference to a boom in the South. "It is no boom. It is a natural development. Why shouldn't the Coast develop with a few cities? We have the resources, and it has the transportation facilities. There will be no bursting of the bubble. Capitalism is investing money heavily themselves to permit a slump."

PLACE IN FAITH OF THE DRAMA

Value of Pageantry to Religion is Emphasized by Rev. R. Connell

"There is a growing movement," said Rev. Robert Connell to the Pacific Coast Theological Conference this morning, in speaking on the subject, "The Dramatic in Religion," "towards a freer drama outside the church. It is a drama in which the people shall take a more important part than that of mere spectators. The idea of sacred drama is becoming increasingly popular, and are not infrequently of a religious nature. Such are the church history or the activities of the mission field. Morality plays engage the co-operation of a lesser number of people, but approach more nearly the idea of sacred drama. The religious drama will have as its core the profound verities of the soul's life in relation to that divine order in which the spirit of God moves. "The ancient corporate rites are yet the best we have, though they may require from time to time enrichment or pruning of the accessories. They have been a standing witness of the importance of the appeal through senses other than the ear or in addition to it. Visible appeals, especially of a corporate character, awaken curiosity, and arouse attention in a high degree. They have their danger. It lies in an excessive use. The stirring of deep emotion without the turning of it into channels of practical energy, enfeeblies both feeling and will."

MOTION PICTURE USES

He proceeded: "To-day the world is being appealed to through eye gate as never before. The motion picture is seizing the opportunity as she should, or realizing the usefulness of a method so old and yet so young. There are many needs to meet of individuals and groups, and it will require as intense a study at least of requirements and potentialities as is given by the movie-director in advertising and in the great business. Outside of worship the dramatic will probably find its best expression in plays of the morality type, and in the most part of the representation of Biblical scenes in literal rendering."

PAGEANT VALUE

"How far these extra liturgical manifestations of the drama should place in sacred buildings is a matter to be decided by taste and by the type of play. Probably the first step would be the pageant with its elasticity of numbers, its comparative indifference to spectators and its appeal to commemorative imagination. In it the church's life, experience and activities could be set forth in their unforgetable ways.

"Here our long distance from religion in too many of our churches, could take her place once more as the handmaiden of the holy house. By beauty of form, color and sound wedded to fitting gestures or chosen words, men and women and little children shall learn great truths by which to live and die, and as the world itself is the stage of the human drama, where our lives are the vehicles and representations of spiritual powers, so the spectators of the drama, in these partial plays, shall learn some secret of the greater whole and enact their parts therein."

Mr. Connell traced the history of the mystery plays of the middle ages and their influence on human understanding of the infinite.

OFFICIALS' REMOVAL WILL BE DEBATED

Commons Committee to Take Up Proposal Affecting Pension Men

Members Reverse Decision of Chairman at Session in Ottawa

Ottawa, July 8.—By a vote of eight to three, the House of Commons today reversed the decision of Chairman J. J. Denis, who ruled that the motion of L. W. Humphrey, Progressive, Kootenay West, recommending the removal of the members of the Pension Board was out of order because it did not come within the scope of the reference to the committee.

It was agreed that the Humphrey motion should stand over for discussion.

W. T. Caldwell, Progressive, Victoria and Carleton, N.B., moved that the chairman's decision be reversed.

Chairman Denis held the question was within the scope of the reference to the committee. The Pension Board was an independent body holding office similar to judges, being removable only by the governor-General on the advice of the Senate and House of Commons.

Mr. Humphrey said that in view of the fact that the House had been retained and accepted on the subject of the motion, discussion of the dismissal of the Pension Board was quite in order.

A. Speakman, Progressive, Red Deer, Alberta, supported this view. J. Arthur, Conservative, Parry Sound, and G. Black, Conservative, Yukon, supported the chairman of the ground that it was a matter for action by the Government and not a parliamentary committee. What evidence had been given was available for the Government, it was pointed out.

FIRE MENACE LESS

According to a report received by the officials of the Esquimalt and Nanaimo Railway Company this morning the menace from the forest fire on Mount Prevost is considerable less to-day. For the past three days a forest blaze has been sweeping the side of the mountain, but to-day in the slackened wind, the danger grows less. Fire fighters, after almost continuous hardships, are still battling with the blaze.

OPEN SEASONS FOR BIG GAME IN B.C. FIXED

Government Makes Careful Regulations to Govern Sportsmen

Regulations governing the shooting of big game in British Columbia were fixed by the Government by Order-in-Council to-day. Carefully arranged open seasons are allowed on most big game animals in various parts of the Province where they are plentiful.

The whole province, for the purpose of new regulations, is divided into three areas, northern, eastern and western. The northern district includes the electoral districts of Atlin and all that portion of the province lying to the north of the main line of the Canadian National Railway, formerly known as the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway, and to the east of the summit of the Cascade Mountains. The eastern district includes all that area lying to the east of the summit of the Cascade Mountains and south of the main line of the Canadian National Railway, formerly known as the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway. The western district includes that area lying to the west of the summit of the Cascade Mountains and south of the electoral district of Atlin.

Moose and caribou bulls over one year of age may be bought and sold in Atlin and Omineca from October 1 to December 15, subject to the bag limit provisions. The same rule applies to bear in the northern district from September 1 to June 30 and in the eastern district from September 15 to June 30.

AMERICAN ATHLETES PUSH FAR TO FRONT

Win First Three Places in Shot Put as Well as Broad Jump at Olympiad

Olympic Stadium, Colombes, France, July 8.—Making a clean sweep of the first three places in the shot put and sending the Stars and Stripes up three stadium masts for the first time, the United States today swept into a commanding lead in the Olympic track and field championships. The twenty-one points gained in this event ran the total for the United States up to thirty-eight or nearly double Finland's total of fifty-four.

Clarence Houser, the California collegian, gave the United States its second successive triumph of the day by winning the shot put after Dehart Hubbard, of the University of Michigan, had captured the broad jump.

The great victory of D. G. A. Love, of Great Britain, in the 800-metre run, with four United States stars trailing him, was the chief feature of the track events of the third day of the Olympic competition, and put Great Britain into third place.

The standing of the nations now in the United States 48, Finland 54, Great Britain 24, Sweden 14, 4.

EDMONTON GIRLS FOR FRANCE.—Canadian basketball champions photographed in Toronto on their way to Europe where they will meet teams representing England and France in exhibition games, as basketball is not on the Olympic programme. Back row, left to right: Frank Branton, James Somers, Fred Johnston, president Ontario A.A.U.; Percy Page, H. Nixon, Elwood Hughes and A. W. Steele, Secretary A.A.U. Front row: Mrs. Page, Nellie Perry, Connie Smith, Mary Dunn, Abbie Scott, Helen McIntosh, Dot Johnson and Daisy Johnson.

CAUSES FLURRY IN CYCLE CIRCLES.—Bill Taylor, member of the Canadian Olympic bicycle team of 1920, whose riding has been one of the sensations of the new speed track opened in Toronto, photographed with "Dutchy" Martin.

SHE'S SPEEDY.—Rosa Grosse, Toronto girl, is joint holder of the world's 100-yard record for women.

CANADIAN OLYMPIC BOXERS.—Six of the squad of eight boxers who will represent Canada in the Olympic tourney in Paris the middle of next month, and two amateur officials. From left to right, standing: J. H. Crocker, Secretary of the Canadian Olympic Committee; Cliff Graham of Toronto, lightweight; Harry Henning of Toronto, middleweight; Agnew Burle of Toronto, featherweight; Lew Black of Toronto, middleweight; Jackie Johnston of Toronto bantamweight, and A. C. Steel, Secretary of the Ontario Branch of the A.A.U. of C. Sitting: Johnny MacGregor of Hamilton, flyweight; Dug Lewis of Toronto, welterweight; Sam Rennie of Montreal, flyweight, and Micky McGowan of Montreal, featherweight; and Gene Clay of Toronto, featherweight, sent by private subscription, were absent when the photo was taken.

SAFETY FIRST!—Funny looking outfit this man is wearing. It's a new life preserver for army and navy aviators flying across water. The suit is lined with padded kapoc, a French material that is much lighter than water.

Mrs. Will J. White

LIONS ROAR THEIR APPROVAL OF CANADIAN BEAUTY.—The fame of Canada's beautiful women is by no means localized. More than 2,000 Lions from all parts of the United States and Canada roared their approval of the decision made that Mrs. Will J. White, of Toronto, was the most beautiful woman present at the recent international convention of the Lions in Omaha.

AS A HUSBAND HE COULD NOT COME UP TO CARUSO.—Dorothy Caruso Ingram, her daughter Gloria and Captain Ingram, from whom she has recently separated.

CAUGHT BY HUSBAND.—Madame Loranda Piccio, formerly Miss Batchelder of Chicago, daughter of a millionaire Louisiana lumberman, and now divorced wife of General Count Pier Ruggiero Piccio, head of the Italian air forces. Custody of the couple's infant boy was given to the mother. A few weeks ago the count had the child kidnapped while it was walking in the Bois de Boulogne, Paris, with its nurse. A bribe of 100,000 lire recovered the child from the new nurse, however, and the mother was fleeing with the child for Corsica in an open saloon when she was overtaken as the result of a pursuit made by five military planes and police patrol boats.

WOMAN HACKED TO DEATH.—Left: Mrs. Lorraine Bowman, aged twenty-three, who was found hacked to death with a hatchet at her mother's home Monday morning last week. Mrs. Bowman is holding her little girl, who crawled downstairs with her face and dress bloodstained. Right: Mrs. Charles Fisher, Mrs. Bowman's mother, who rushed upstairs and found her daughter dead. Lorne Bowman, husband of the dead woman, is under arrest.

"DARK STORK"—Uncle Jim Democrat, a former slave who ran for the doctor on the night Wm. G. McAdoo was born in Cobb County, Ga., and who wanted to be on hand when McAdoo was proposed as a presidential candidate at the Democratic Convention.

BLINDFOLDED GIRL DRIVES THROUGH CROWDED STREET.—Called the girl who sees without eyes, Miss Kodah, of New York, recently demonstrated her capabilities of sightless vision by steering her automobile and guiding it carefully through the maze of traffic. She drove a five-passenger car with three people as passengers occupying the rear seat, and her eyes were blindfolded and inspected by the officials who witnessed the demonstration in New York.

COLLAPSES.—Dr. Fred Torrance, former veterinary director-general of Canada, who died suddenly in Guelph while sitting at the wheel of his automobile.

SEES OPERA'S FAULTS.—The enormously popular soprano, Amelita Galli-curci, is not blind to the imperfections and peculiarities of opera. She says that New York opera audiences are made up of fashionables and foreigners, chiefly the latter.

NOW BUSINESS MAN.—Sir Eric Geddes, formerly first lord of the Admiralty and Minister of Munitions and Transportation, who has arrived in New York on a brief business trip.

GREAT CONVENTION.—Scene on the campus of University College, Toronto, when 2,000 social service workers from all over America, and from the continent gathered at the opening of the international convention now being held in that city. The attendance of delegates has since risen to 4,000. The visitors were welcomed by Sir George Foster and Sir Robert Falconer.

Love Stakes

By MILDRED BARBOUR

A WARNING Jeannette Amory was the least embarrassed of the three who stepped from Hugh Sheldon's car and found herself confronting his sister-in-law.

"You don't think, then," she said abruptly, "that it might indicate a mutual lack of interest?" "Fiddledicks! If you weren't exclusively interested in each other, you'd be looking out twenty-odd years ago."

GUINARD PLANS TO GIVE FAST SERVICE

New Arrangements Are Announced by C. A. Whitelock C. A. Whitelock, B. C. manager of the Cunard line, who was in the city today on business announced two additional cruises that the Cunard line has arranged. The Mauretania, he stated, will leave New York on February 14 and the Mediterranean cruise, while the Tuscania will sail from New York on January 25 on a cruise to the West Indies.

"I know," agreed Hugh soberly. "I'm a realist. There are days when I'm fairly fagged for companionship. Tell me, Natalie—would you be away for a couple of weeks and ought to notice any change—do you think Harriet is better—or worse?" "Better. Infinitely much better."

ADVICE FROM A STRANGE SOURCE Robert Amory looked his young hostess over critically, while the servants deftly moved the soup course. In her high-carved chair at the head of the dinner table, whose soft candle light glowed on satin damask, orchids, crystal and fragile plate, she looked like a young queen presiding at an imperial banquet.

BUSH FIRE AT METHOSIN Special to The Times Langford, July 8.—A bush fire broke out in the Methosin district on Saturday, which threatened the farms owned by R. I. Van der Byl, H. R. Hammond and Mrs. Tocher, the vicinity of the fire being on the hills immediately at the back of this section. The fire warden lost no time in rounding up men from different parts of the district, who successfully fought the conflagration, and by the evening the fire was reported well under control.

MOTOR PASSENGER LINER AORANGI

NOTABLE CEREMONY AT LAUNCHING OF AORANGI

Motor Passenger Liner Built on Clyde for Sydney-Victoria-Vancouver Service, is Largest and Most Powerful Ship of Her Type Yet Constructed.

Reproduced on this page is a picture of the launching on June 17 of the giant motor passenger liner Aorangi, built at the Goven plant of the Fairfield Shipbuilding and Engineering Company to the order of the Union Steamship Company of New Zealand and which, on completion, will be operated in the Canadian-Australasian Line service between Sydney and Victoria.

The Aorangi will be the largest and most powerful vessel of her type afloat and will also be the first ocean-going ship to be propelled by Diesel engines on four shafts. The recent launching ceremony was a notable event. Sir Alexander Kennedy, chairman and managing director of the building firm at a subsequent banquet, proposed the toast of "Success to the Aorangi." The toast was replied to by Sir James Mills, K.C. M.G., chairman of the Union Steamship Company, and Charles Holdsworth, managing director.

Mrs. Holdsworth, who sponsored the new liner, was presented with a diamond spray by the builders and a brooch by the owners.

The Aorangi is a 22,000 ton liner of the quadruple-screw type and almost as large as the C.P.R. liner Empress of Canada, the largest liner afloat on the Pacific. The contract marked a great step forward in motorship construction, and the second stage of its progress was reached June 17 when the vessel was launched with ceremony before a large number of guests. The launching ceremony was performed by Mrs. Holdsworth, wife of the managing director of the Union Steamship Company.

The name Aorangi is taken from the Maori name of Mount Cook, New Zealand and is also named after the vessel of the same name, formerly in the company's service. The vessel will be engaged in linking up on the all red route between Victoria, Vancouver, the Fiji Islands, Honolulu, Auckland, N.Z., and Sydney, N.S.W., and being the fastest vessel on this service will be a link in the quickest route-chain between the Antipodes and the Motherland. The Aorangi is 400 feet long, 72 feet breadth, 45.5 feet depth and 22,000 displacement. Accommodation has been arranged for 440 first class, 202 second class and 200 third class passengers, together with a complement of 330 officers and crew, despite the elimination of practically all firemen and trimmer ratings.

The vessel's dimensions are as follows: Length 400 feet, breadth 72 feet, depth 45.5 feet and tonnage 22,000 displacement. Accommodation has been arranged for 440 first class, 202 second class and 200 third class passengers, together with a complement of 330 officers and crew, despite the elimination of practically all firemen and trimmer ratings.

PALATIAL SALOONS

Already a short description has been given of the ship's various saloons and staterooms. To this, however, might be added that in addition to the first class dining saloon deck in Louis XVI style the other first class saloons have been given careful attention and will be finished on equally artistic lines. The other first class public rooms are grouped together with, through communication on the promenade deck. One of the largest and best appointed of these rooms is the first class lounge hall, which is of Georgian decoration. The adjoining smoking-room is designed after the Jacobean period with centre skylight rather originally treated with bodily carved roof trusses with heraldic shields. The two veranda cafes have been treated as garden cafes. The music-room or ladies' room has also been treated in Louis XVI style. There is also a large nursery. The writing-room is furnished with a desk, a typewriter, and other rooms include a well-equipped dressing-room. There is a light airy gymnasium paneled in teak wood. There are eight special cabins—each with well-appointed marble-lined bathrooms attached, situated on the principal promenade deck, paneled and luxuriously furnished in different period styles including an Empire suite, an Adam's suite, a Louis XVI suite, an Elizabethan suite, a Queen Anne suite, a Regence suite, a Sheraton suite and a Jacobean suite.

The second class rooms consist of a large dining saloon, smoking room, lounge and a separate ladies' room. These compartments are paneled and decorated with the same taste that marks the first class compartments.

The third class public rooms consist of a large dining saloon, a large smoking room and a lounge, all paneled in teak wood.

No less than eleven per cent. of the first class passengers will be accommodated in single berth cabins and seventy-six per cent. in two berth staterooms, the few remaining being accommodated in three berth cabins, while the convenience and comfort of family parties has been respected by the introduction of communicating doors.

The sleeping apartments of the ship have both natural and forced ventilation, while all of the first class and most of the second class are also equipped with electric cabin fans, bells and telephones.

CARGO SPACE

The ship will carry about 225,000 cubic feet of general cargo and parcels, and about 90,000 cubic feet of refrigerated cargo, including fruit, meat and dairy produce.

An advantage of the application of the internal-combustion engine to ship propulsion is strikingly illustrated by the fact that the Aorangi's bunkers contain sufficient oil fuel to carry her over the round voyage from Victoria to Sydney, N.S.W., and back, a total distance of 15,000 nautical miles.

To make propelling machinery is of the Fairfield Suler type, there being four distinct sets of six-cylinder engines having cylinder diameters 27 1/2 inches by 39-inch stroke. These engines develop each about 3,000 I.H.P. at full load, and they are designed to give the ship a speed of over eighteen knots an hour.

It has been arranged to run a specially conducted excursion by the Cunard liner Andania from Halifax on December 8 to Plymouth, Cherbourg and London. It is also announced that with the addition of the new liner Aurania to the New York-Quebec service the company is now in a position to maintain a weekly service to the south as well as to the north of Ireland. Other liners operating in this service are the Franconia, Scythia and Laconia.
