To my dear father,

DOCTOR JAMES ANDERSON,

who was so fond of kindred, and loved them so well, who, while in life, kept in touch with them, and was so much interested in the Genealogical History of his Antecedents and their Descendants, this volume is most respectfully and affectionately dedicated. I have ever cherished the memory of my sainted father and mother along the checkered scenes of life, and now in old age, the memory of them is a solace and comfort to me.

GRANT JAMES ANDERSON.

“ALL HONOR TO ANDERSON BROTHERS.”

Though I have written up this Genealogical History, and have confined myself almost entirely to genealogical lines, I feel that I cannot close without honoring my father, Dr. James Anderson; also his much beloved brother, Thomas Anderson, for they were so much devoted to, and attached to each other; and as I was young when father died, my dear, sweet and best stepmother any one ever had, filled or more than filled, a mother's place, if possible. Yet my fatherless heart went out to my dear uncle and his most noble wife; yes, I loved dear Uncle Thomas and Aunt Anna, and their children loved me as a brother. I want to say right here, the two brothers mentioned above were grand, noble men—far above many of their fellowmen—and were influential citizens wherever they lived. Many kindred of whom I might make honorable mention, but I forbear, for my heart is too full; and this is not a biographical history.

Gardner Ancestry.

MR. GARDNER, SR., his wife's name unknown, his Christian name also unknown. Only two of his children known to the writer. They were old settlers of Warren County, Ga.: Prior Gardner and Sterling Gardner. Prior's descendants unknown.

STERLING GARDNER was born about 1760, married Miss Neal, sister of Elisha Neal. We only know six of their children:

1. John Gardner, born November 17, 1801; married Emily Beall.
2. Caroline Gardner, born June 15, 1803; married Lawrence Smith.
3. Fannie B. Gardner, born May 5, 1805; married Alvis Stafford.
4. Sterling Gardner, born June 2, 1808; married Priscilla Neal Beall.
5. Susan Gardner, born February 12, 1811; married Davis Jenkins.
6. Mary Rose Gardner, born January 4, 1815; married Thomas Gibson, father of Col. Obadiah Crawford Gibson.

STERLING GARDNER, that was born about 1755 or 1760, was a Revolutionary soldier. He died about 1843; his wife, who was Miss Neal, died in 1842.

As two sisters, daughters of Robert and Elizabeth Beall, married each a Mr. Gardner, and their quite numerous descendants related to the Bealls—also to the Gardners—it seemed fit to the writer to enter all the Gardner descendants we could find, in this volume, though they are not related to all of the Beall family.
