TEACHERS GO TO INSTITUTE NEXT WEEK

High School Board Met to Discuss New Bond Issue

MADRIGAL CLUB PLEA Can Have Auditorium If No Admission Charged to Public

High school trustees who met Tuesday evening were called upon to act on the request of the Madrigal club for the use of the high school auditorium for a club concert, and in that connection found it necessary to re-establish a previous ruling received from the office of the county superintendent that the use of the auditorium cannot be granted for a paid entertainment unless a rental is charged. This ruling has inadvertently been overstepped recently and the board decided it must hereafter be enforced. The request of the Madrigal club was therefore granted on condition that no admission be charged.

Official notices from the office of the county superintendent were read announcing a teachers' institute Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of next week, and a meeting of the California Teachers' association, southern section, also a meeting of county teachers at the Bible Institute. A notice was also included declaring Monday, January 2, a legal school holiday.

The board was advised that the employment of an additional English teacher would be necessary after January 2, but no teacher was selected. An application from the Business and Professional Women's club for another gymnasium class on Thursday evenings was considered and action deferred for further information.

Various details in connection with the high school bond election to be held December 29 were considered and the board voted to invite all architects interested in plans for a high school to register with Principal Moyses, who would notify them when they could meet with the board and present their qualifications for such work.

The sum covered by the proposed school bonds upon which a vote will be taken on the 29th, provides a surplus which can be used for plans and specifications which will be a guide to the board in any subsequent call for bonds to provide the buildings which will be required for the improvement of whatever site may be selected if the bonds are voted. In the opinion of the board considerable time may be saved by having this preliminary architectural work done as speedily as possible for both the information of the board and of the electors.

DOG KNOWS WHAT TO DO WHEN HE GETS OFF FEED

SAN JOSE, Calif., Dec. 14.—W. A. Ames is owner of a dog diagnostician. The dog recently has been suffering severe pain as a result of an accidental injury, and has been treated several times by a local veterinarian. Now when there is anything the matter with him the animal immediately hunts up the doctor. Ames says his dog knows exactly what causes his trouble and often is able to indicate to the doctor just what is the matter.

Blessed Friendship You Can Possess It If You Care for It

"If friendship is the wonderful thing you know it to be," says James W. Foley in "The Listening Post" tonight, "and if friends are to be admired and loved, as they should be, it is well to remember that it is yours to have that distinction and admiration and affection if you wish."

An Mr. Foley says it is simple enough and in his article he tells you how and this is the answer: "Just be the kind of friend it warms your heart to read about."

Simple enough, isn't it? Henry James in his news comments on the editorial page speaks of several cases of swindling brought to light and the offenders immune to justice. And he wants to know. Dr. Frank Crane in his column writes of the Russian intellectuals. There are good, straight from the shoulder editorials and other features of interest on the editorial page. You ought to read it.

DIPHTHERIA HERE SAYS HEALTH DEPT.

Cautious Parents Watch Children When Sore Throat Appears

According to officials of the health department, Glendale is threatened with an epidemic of diphtheria. The number of cases reported to the department indicates that the disease is spreading. One official of the department said that if the schools were not preparing to close next week for the Christmas vacation, it is possible that the health department would have to take steps to close them in order to prevent the spread of the disease. Mothers are warned not to delay in having a culture taken of their children's throats at the first complaint of sore throat. A little precaution may prevent a serious illness and possible death. Diphtheria moves to a crisis faster than any other disease, with the possible exception of pneumonia, and for this reason officials of the health department urge that at the first indication of sore throat the department be notified.

GIVE $84 FOR CURTAIN

Forbid Sale of Red Cross Xmas Seals in Local Schools

At the meeting of the board of education Tuesday at Intermediate, a committee from the Broadway school composed of Mrs. Mary Oden Ryan, principal, Mrs. Francis Wilkinson, president of the Broadway P. T. A., and Mr. Wilkinson, was given a hearing on a request for an appropriation of $84 to complete a fund needed for the purchase of a curtain for the Broadway school stage. The balance of the purchase price had been provided by the school Parent-Teacher association. The board gave sympathetic ear to the appeal and appropriated the $84 which will be a Christmas gift to the school.

The board considered the Red Cross Christmas seals and decided they would not allow their sale in the school. Bids for the Maple Avenue school site which has never been improved and which had been platted into eleven lots, were opened and the bid of E. S. Ballenger of Riverside of $6675, being the highest, the board voted to accept it. Bids for minor school supplies were also opened and awarded. The matter of removing stumps on the Cerritos Avenue campus was discussed and left to the discretion of President David Hibben and Superintendent White.

TWO NAVY MEN GET WORST OF FIGHT IN SAN PEDRO

Marine Is Killed by Taxi Driver Early Today

SAN PEDRO, Dec. 14.—Delbert M. Swegle, a private in the marine corps stationed aboard the U. S. S. Connecticut, is dead, and Samuel Gellgo, a sailor aboard the U. S. S. Pennsylvania, is in jail following an attempted holdup early this morning on Harbor boulevard. Swegle and Gellgo hired a taxi cab driven by R. Michael to take them to Wilmington. When at a point about two miles from San Pedro the marine seized Albert Morrell, a companion of the driver riding on the front seat, from behind and choked him, while the sailor struck the driver on the head with a blunt instrument. Michael, dazed, drew a 45 pistol from under the front seat and began shooting over his shoulder. The first bullet struck Swegle behind the right eye and emerged behind the left ear, killing him instantly. During the excitement the big touring car ran off the highway and crashed into the front of a dwelling.

Gellgo fled from the scene, but was apprehended 20 minutes later by William Russell, a taxi driver residing in Lomita. The sailor was turned over to the police and booked on suspicion of highway robbery.

Education of Our Youth Only Issue In Bond Vote

By JOHN H. GERIE Prosperity Editor Glendale Daily Press

The measure of Glendale will be taken December 29. On that date the BIGGEST OF ALL ISSUES will be voted upon by Glendale citizens. It is the issue of EDUCATION—the issue of the future.

As Glendale voters that day so may the Glendale of year ahead be gauged. For the men and women who will direct the affairs of this valley city, by then a commercial metropolis perhaps, in the years to come, will have been fashioned by the mills of learning that the voters of this year 1921 will have set in motion.

It is a most serious issue that Glendale squarely faces and if, by any chance it fails to carry, a blow will have been dealt the prestige and the prosperity of this fair city, which will come smashing around the ears of the sons and daughters of those who may have wilfully blocked the wheels of progress.

Glendale in its marvelous population hurdling has pitifully outgrown its present high school building and equipment. It must provide NOW, while blocks of land are still possible to acquire, for high school buildings and equipment based upon a population of 50,000.

Two favorable sites are under short option. They are the LAST AVAILABLE of the size required anywhere near the center of population, present or future. To purchase one of these sites and prepare for building thereon the voters of the Union High School district are asked to cast their ballots on a high school bond issue of $85,000.

That is the issue and the ONLY ISSUE! The registered residents of the district, inclusive of Eagle Rock, are simply asked to vote the money so that the boys and girls of Glendale and vicinity may continue to receive free education on a par with that open to every boy and girl in every other California school district.

The question of site, upon which the voters may express their preference on the ballot, simply as a guide to the High School Board, has nothing at all to do with the issue. It will be decided by the board IF THE BOND ISSUE CARRIES!

The only issue is this: DO WE WANT OUR BOYS AND GIRLS TO HAVE THE SAME EDUCATIONAL ADVANTAGES ENJOYED BY THE BOYS AND GIRLS OF PASADENA AND HOLLYWOOD?

If we DO we will vote YES on the bonds. If we are willing that our boys and girls shall play second fiddle to other boys and girls we will vote NO on the bonds.

That and nothing else is the issue. The way we vote will be a TEST OF OUR OWN INTELLIGENCE! The two sites under consideration, one of which will be selected by the High School Board IF THE BOND ISSUE CARRIES, are about equally situated so far as relation to center of Glendale population is concerned. For each some advantages are claimed over the other. These will be presented in more detail in these columns later.

The J. R. Gray site on the west side is bounded by Patterson, Kenilworth, Doran and Chester streets and contains about 20 acres, but necessary street work may curtail this to about 18 acres. It is under option for $75,000.

The Lukens site on the east side runs 1035 feet on Broadway and 1000 feet on Verdugo boulevard to within 150 feet of Colorado street. It contains about 21 acres and $12,000 already has been expended in street work. It is under option at $77,500.

These are the main facts concerning the two sites. If you are interested take a look at each and state your

BUSINESS OF GETTING FUND UP TO WOMEN

Business and Professional Women to Put on Tag Day

SATURDAY, DEC. 17TH Mrs. George Moyses Made Fine Address to Members

Following the regular session of the women's gymnasium class in the girls' gym at Glendale high Tuesday evening, which is composed largely of members of the Business and Professional Women's Club of this city, the club met in the chamber of commerce, with the president, Mrs. Margaret Biggs, presiding.

Secretary James Rhoades of the chamber of commerce explained the character of the service asked of the club in the request that it take charge of tag day, set for next Saturday, to secure money for the Glendale float to represent the city in the Pasadena tournament of roses. By vote, the club endorsed the action of its executive committee in agreeing to conduct tag day, and Dr. Laura Brown, who had been named by the committee as general chairman, announced that 11 to 14 stations on busy corners in various parts of the city would be established for tag day workers during the day, and three or four stations in the neighborhood of places of amusement would be occupied during the evening. Her plan provided for day work from 10 to 5, in relays of 2 to 4 hours' duration, and that no young girls be asked to work in the evenings; also that all girl workers during the day be under the supervision of a captain of years and experience, in other words, that they be well chaperoned. Received with favor was the suggestion that club members canvass their neighbors for contributions to the float fund before turning over to tag day.

Dr. Brown took the names of volunteers for service and stated that she would announce her full staff within the next two days. By special request, Mrs. George U. Moyses addressed the club relative to the coming election to vote on school bonds in the sum of $85,000 for a site. She vividly pictured the congestion of the school plant designed to accommodate 600 to 800 pupils, which now has an enrollment of over 1100. She mentioned the fact that the student increase over last year was 40 per cent; that class rooms are crowded beyond their seating capacity and students are required to take their nooning in relays; that the work of the school may not be interrupted by the school and class rooms be occupied constantly. What the school will do when the 150 new students enter at the mid-year term, she said had not been determined by the harassed trustees, nor how they would meet next year's increase. The only solution that had occurred to her was double school sessions, since work can hardly begin earlier than it is doing now at 8 a. m. The double sessions will be complicated by the demands of the night school, which now has an enrollment of 400 and will probably be materially increased next year.

Her plea was for votes for the bonds, irrespective of site, which she said the board was pledged to leave to the judgment of the people as shown by their preferential vote. The East and the West welfare associations, which are boosting for the two sites, could inform them relative to the merits claimed for each. With the best possible speed in providing a new high school plant, it could not be ready for service under two years, she declared, and by that time, if the present growth is maintained, the school will have an enrollment of 2000 students.

Miss Sara Pollard, chairman of the gymnasium committee, stated she had received assurances from high school authorities that an additional evening class in gym work would be provided after Christmas if the enrollment was sufficient to justify it.

BUY STAMPS AT BRANCHES OF POSTOFFICE NOW

The Glendale Daily Press today took up with the local postal officials and with Postmaster O'Brien in Los Angeles, the matter of relieving the congested condition in the Glendale branch postoffice caused by the holiday rush to mail packages.

After conference with local officials, who were powerless to add to the service, the Glendale Daily Press representatives went to Los Angeles and in an interview with Postmaster O'Brien, obtained what will be ample relief to handle the holiday business.

Arrangements were made by Postmaster O'Brien to have a clerk in a store in Glendale who will sell stamps and weigh packages and give that much aid to the public. This will relieve conditions at the postoffice greatly.

J. R. Grey, owner of the building in which the postoffice is quartered has kindly granted permission to the Grey & Willis real estate offices where the clerk will be stationed. This is immediately adjoining the postoffice on the north. Mr. Grey has also given the use of a large back room to the postoffice during the holiday rush.

BRANTING THINKS LEAGUE FINALLY BE THE GOAL

Prime Minister of Sweden Reviews President's Peace Plans

(Copyright 1921 by United Press.) If President Harding organizes a series of international conferences, they will merge eventually with the league of nations to work toward the common objective of world peace, Hjalmar Branting, prime minister of Sweden, declares in an article written for the United Press. This is the first comment of his kind from the chief cabinet officer, a league of nations member, on the achievements of the Washington conference.

By HJALMAR BRANTING Prime Minister of Sweden (Written exclusively for the United Press.)

STOCKHOLM, Dec. 14.—"We who belong to the league of nations look upon President Harding's initiative as an action for the promotion of world peace parallel to the effort the league of nations is making with the same object in view. Success of one, therefore, is in a sense also success for the other, and if President Harding's initiative were to result in a series of conferences, then it can only be a question of time when common form will be found for that common work."

Even those who did not look forward to the conference of the great powers at Washington with too great expectation are bound to learn with all the more satisfaction of every progress made or seemingly about to be made by the conference toward closer cooperation and a better understanding among these world powers.

"At the outset of the conference, I dispatched a message to President Harding on behalf of the Swedish government expressing a sincere desire that the all-important and far-reaching work of the conference be successful."

"With regard to the question of reduction of armaments on the sea, there seems still to exist some uncertainty, although the reported fact that the United States has already reduced its various budget is a big step forward and the daring first initiative of Secretary of State Hughes certainly will not fail to have its effect on the coming decisions, as it already has made a deep impression on the public mind all over the world."

"Unfortunately, the reduction of armaments on land appears to have been put aside on this occasion, but in that respect perhaps the firm attitude by the smaller nations within the league may have some results in that direction in which the opinion of the working masses of all countries, great as well as small, is moving with growing determination. We in Europe recently were reminded of this opinion by statements issued by the English labor party by the International Trade Union organizations in Amsterdam, and by the last conference board of the Second Internationale at Brussels."

DETECTIVES LOOK INTO BURGLARY

On Monday night burglars entered the home of Mrs. Biumenthal on the corner of Central avenue and Burchett street and completely ransacked the house. An inventory of the goods has not been taken and no estimate of the value of the loot can be made. Detective Sergeant Delgado and Herda are investigating the case and say that the burglars forced an entrance to the house by prying a rear window open with a screw driver.

ARTISTS HERE TUESDAY CLUB FINE PROGRAM

Musical Numbers Were Gems Heard by Hundreds

BRIEF BUSINESS MEET

Progressive Club Presents One of Best Programs of Season

A red letter day was provided for members of the Tuesday Afternoon club in the program given by the trio of professional artists, Alma Bright, pianist; Earl Mansfield, cellist and Constance Belfour, soprano.

It was delightful in its variety and in the very modern character of its interpretations. Mr. Bright excels in soft shadings and delicacy of sentiment and revealed himself as a wonderful accompanist in Miss Belfour's concluding numbers where he played the obligato for "O, Lovely Night" (Ronald) and "Ave Maria" (Bach-Gounod), sustaining the singer and yet subordinating his instrumentation to a charming background of sound. For both himself and Miss Belfour it was the climax of a very beautiful program in which Miss Geiger was also heard to great advantage, not alone as an accompanist but as a soloist in the "Ballade I Op. 23" (Chopin) and in the novelty, sextette from "Lucia" (Leschetizky), arranged for left hand.

His pleasure in the news when Mrs. Charles Hutchinson, the president, announced that the artist had recently become a member. The program opened with the serious number "Sonata, Op. 36" (Greig) by Mr. Bright and Miss Geiger, who later played a Spanish Dance of subdued gaiety by Popper, a cello air by Wolf-Ferrari, and the unusual "Orientele" (Cris), which the audience especially enjoyed. Likewise the lovely, haunting

RAY OF HOPE LOOMS FOR BURCH IN NEW EVIDENCE TODAY

George Deering Gives Lie to Testimony of State's Witness

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 14.—Defense counsel for Arthur C. Burch, accused murderer, were jubilant today over the unexpected testimony of George Deering, which branded much of the previous testimony against the collegian as false. Deering was the first man to reach the body of John Belton Kennedy after he had been shot down in an ambush at Beverly Glen on the night of August 5. He told a story differing in vital details from the sensational description of the crime given by Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Besenty, who arrived at the body soon after Deering.

His assertion that Madalynne Obenchain was hysterically crying: "Oh, my God! Why did they do it?" substantiated Mrs. Obenchain's statement that young Kennedy had been shot down by two "ragged phantoms" and militated against the state's theory that Burch killed Kennedy under Madalynne's direction.

With Deering held in reserve, the defense organization prepared today to strike another blow at the prosecution's structure of circumstances. Evidence of Attorney Paul Schenck will demand that the state produce the note Madalynne is alleged to have written and dropped near Kennedy's body. Although a photograph of the supposed note was published in a newspaper here, the note itself is strangely lacking as an exhibit. The message, signed "A Friend," reads: "Be very careful. You are being watched."

Deputy District Attorney Asa Keyes resisted preliminary efforts by the defense to force exhibition of the note, if it exists.

NAME FLOWER AFTER J. HAM OF WHISKER FAME

CHICAGO, Dec. 14.—Since the days of the Spanish-American war the silky beard of J. Hamilton Lewis, former United States senator, has been eulogized. But it remained for a horticulturist to say it with flowers. A chrysanthemum which was said to resemble perfectly the "fine silky texture and cerulean hue" of the former senator's beard was in the recent exhibit of the Allied Florists of Chicago. It was called "Jim Ham Lewis."

"Making Him Comfortable"

NATIONAL DUTY TO AGED VETERANS

By FILLMORE M. BRIST

How often we have heard it said: "There's nothing more that we can do for him but to make him comfortable that his last hours may be free from suffering and want." How aptly this old saying now applies to the old veteran who offered his life, that the Union might live, who gave the best days of his life when in the midst of his education, practically unfitting thousands for a continuation of schooling; as the high cost of living then was enormous, and money cheap, and the country deeply in debt and it required the combined effort of all the people to produce and to build up what had been neglected for four long years of warfare, in which the country was drained of its resources; but no complaint was made, the returning volunteers went manfully to work and in a few short years, some 14 I think, the new currency that had been down to less than 50 cents on the dollar was brought to par and the country resumed specie payments.

At this history, facts undeniable and no rush of clamor was made by the returned soldier for pensions, except in extreme cases, and many years passed before just measures were enacted for the relief of thousands who were taking on the "decline" as an "aftermath" of army life, much of which was without a murmur, but which in after life broke out in a complete wrecking of the once robust system.

The vast majority of the veterans of '61-'65 are past the three-score and ten, the allotted time of life, and a large majority with no means of support but the pension given every 90 days by our government, which action and policy of "90 days" cost the destitute old veteran about 20 percent; as no merchant will sell as cheap at 90 days credit as he will for spot cash; and there's many an occasion when if the "old boy" had the cash in his hand he could take advantage of the market and buy many articles of food and clothing much cheaper than on 90 days' credit.

It may be true that many of these old men are in moderate circumstances and some may be independently rich, yet it's undeniable, for it is well known that the vast majority have nothing in the world but the pension of the government that their sacrifices helped to preserve and to maintain. Why should the lawmaker of today hesitate to legislate for monthly payment of pensions, or to increase the rate now received from $50 to $72 per month? It is true that our country is today staggered under the heaviest load of indebtedness that it ever carried, but a fraction of one-cent tax on the excess profits of the American profiteer, which was unjustly ex-

REAL SAND STORM SHOWN IN SHEIK

Wonderful Picture Making Big Hit at T. D. & L. Theater

If you want to witness a typical sandstorm of the Sahara desert in all its fury, without undergoing the discomforts of being in its path, you will find a most realistic desert tornado in "The Sheik," George Melford's new production for Paramount, showing at the T. D. & L. theater beginning today.

In the filming of this scene, it was proven that the ingenuity of man can harness the elements and turn them loose in their wildest fury. A desert site was chosen some sixty miles from Hollywood, Calif., where the picture was produced and a big wind machine, consisting of a powerful motor and a large airplane propeller, was stationed beside the camera. As the motor revolved the propeller it blew the sand out over the camera lens, producing an effect exactly like a real Sahara sandstorm.

"It was no fun," declared Agnes Ayres, who plays the principal feminine role and Rudolph Valentino, who portrays "The Sheik," "to stand out in front of that wind and be peppered by sand, and at the same time trying to enact a scene for the picture."

What is the essence of comedy? Buster Keaton, now appearing at the T. D. & L. theater, in his latest "First National attraction," "The Boat," was asked that question the other day.

"It's the human element that makes comedy," said Buster. "There can be just as much humor in a comedy as in a tragedy. The comic is only the other side of the shield of the tragic. A grin is merely the antithesis of a scowl; laughter is but the opposite of tears. If certain human emotions cause the one, the emotions that cause the other, must also be human. Impossibilities never occur in life, and they should not occur on the screen. This obtains in either comedy or drama.

"Then there is the little touch of human nature, the kindly act, the flash of romance, the homely bit of sentiment—things that fit well with humor, but which keep the picture within the bounds of humanity. Above all always be natural. There you have what I believe real comedy!"

Listening in on Eve

Trials of Their Lives

"I think college is going to be perfectly wonderful this year," said the girl in the black sweater, enthusiastically. "There is the dandiest bunch of freshman girls and we're going to get all the best ones for our sorority!"

"Don't rush any red-headed ones," begged the girl with the appealing eyes. "They are so ruthless. It was a red-headed girl who got Tod Beetles away from me and—"

"You'd had him for six months, anyway," objected the girl whose hair waved naturally, "and you know Tod never sticks longer than six months to any one girl. He says he isn't going to marry till he is making $10,000."

"I'm so glad I got into Professor Binson's class," interrupted the girl with the careful complexion. "I think he is perfectly extraordinary and it is such a privilege to hear his lectures on—well, I have not just found out just what they are on, but I never saw such eyes in a man's head, girls! And the car he drives—"

"I suppose," suggested the little bit of a girl, "that you expect to go driving in that car, don't you? Well, he's never taken a girl out in it yet."

"I am quite indifferent to knowing Professor Binson socially," said the girl with the careful complexion in dignified remonstrance. "I expect to get a great deal out of the course under him. I am trying to make the most of my college experience—"

"Oh, so are we all!" said the girl in the black sweater. "You must, every one of you, be extra nice to that little Buntion girl, because we must get her to join us, and they have no gorgeous country house, and billions of money—"

"I wonder whom Tod Beetles will rush this year?" mused the girl with the appealing eyes. "Of course, nothing on earth would make me pay the slightest attention to him, no matter how crazy he was about me, but I'd just like to know I never really cared a thing about Tod, because he is not at all the type of man to interest me. I think he is really very crude, to put it plainly. And terribly spoiled, because he is so much run after. Why, if I ran after a man the way some of the girls do, I—"

"Don't worry," said the girl with the careful complexion. "He never rushes the same girl twice, so you're safe!"

"Of course, you are not able to judge how Tod would feel if he really cared deeply for the girl," the young woman with the appealing eyes told her kindly, as though repressing what, she might have said. "That might make a difference, you know! But there is no chance for Tod, so far as I am concerned, and I sincerely hope he will get interested elsewhere, because I do hate hurting a man's feelings! Why, it about spoiled my whole summer remembering how actually pathetic he looked when I told him firmly last spring—"

"Professor Binson," dreamily said the girl with the careful complexion, "has the richest voice, and there are such tones in it when he speaks to some people!"

"I told Tod," pursued the girl with the appealing eyes, "that there wasn't a bit of use and that he needn't think every girl in the world was ready to fall for him! There is nothing like good, wholesome interference to attract a man of that type."

"You must have overworked it," suggested the little bit of a girl. "Or else you didn't do it enough—something went wrong, didn't it? Because I never saw a man crazier about a girl than"

CITY SCHOOLS ARE INTERESTED IN THORNYCROFT

Pupils Hold Bazaar for Benefit of Disabled Men Here

Pupils in the Sixty-first street school, Los Angeles, have taken a great interest in the disabled veterans at Thornycroft and have given many proofs of their interest. The ex-service men have responded and sent beautiful letters to the school which have greatly delighted the children. The move to a bazaar held at the school last Friday at which articles contributed by pupils and parents were sold and a collection taken which netted the sum of $36, one visitor giving $10.

More than 100 glasses of jelly have been sent by the school to Thornycroft. The $36 will be applied on the book fund of the veterans.

Mrs. Margaret Horrell Smith is principal of the school and she and her mother, Mrs. Horrell, have been ardent workers for the service men.

CERRITOS GIRLS WON ON MONDAY

Triumph Over Columbus School by Fine Score of 30 to 12

The interschool series of volleyball games for girls of the lower grammar school grades ended Monday afternoon with a championship game between the two teams who had been visitors in the series, the Columbus and Cerritos on the Cerritos grounds.

Miss Ruth Bailey, playground director at Columbus school, went with her team accompanied by Miss Lorraine Mitchell, principal, and Miss Vesta Bigelow. The visiting team was composed of Fannie Clark, captain; Naida Taylor, Helen Daniels, Helen Hill, Dorothy Leslie, Barbara Baker, Maurine Strong, Clara Roberts, and Laura Hoover.

Mrs. Irene Reynolds is director of the volleyball teams of Cerritos, and the team which played Columbus was captained by Louise Kopp, the other players being Mary Jane La Point, Miss Nakamura, Marie Palmer, Annie Berman, Dorothy Johannau, Dorothy Newton, Mildred Beaty and Lillian Sternberg. The game ended with a score of 30 to 12 in favor of Cerritos.

The first teams of Cerritos and Intermediate, composed of girls of the seventh and eighth grades who played against each other, now stand two and two in the score of games. That championship is to be played off Thursday afternoon on the Cerritos grounds and is likely to prove a pretty contest, as both schools have strong teams. Miss Gladys Sharpe is the coach of the intermediate team.

The sale of the first, second, third and fourth units of FAIRVIEW was remarkable, AND WE HAVE SOLD 35 LOTS IN THIS 5TH UNIT IN 4 DAYS. We believe we can safely say that no subdivision in the Glendale district has ever been sold in so short a time. You ask why?

Because it is in a beautiful, almost ideal location in the most rapidly growing section of Glendale, and is being sold at prices so low and terms so reasonable that almost everybody who hears about it and really wants a home, feel that they cannot miss the opportunity.

To appreciate the value of what we are offering, we would only ask that a prospective purchaser examine all nearby and far away property and make comparisons as to the desirability price, terms, restrictions, etc.

Such a comparison cannot fail to convince that the lots we are offering in FAIRVIEW are wonderfully reasonable in price for this class of property.

Temporary homes under suitable restrictions are permitted. Come out to FAIRVIEW today. Bring $50.00 and get a lot. Drive out West Broadway and San Fernando Road to Vine Avenue (opposite F. L. Robbers Busy in Glendale Sunday
Robbers entered the home of W. Parris, 1648 Kenneth road some time between 4 p. m. Sunday and 7 a. m. Monday and took two valuable rugs and a phonograph. The family were away from home when the robbery was committed and entrance was gained by prying open a window. C. Duchane, a gardener employed at the Parris residence, was the first to discover the robbery and report it to the police. Detective Sergeant Herda was detained to investigate the robbery.

HOME NURSING and HEALTH HINTS

By M. JESSIE LEITCH

Food Accessories

The Smith family was gathered around the evening lamp which in this instance centered the big supper table. The linen was white and spotless. The silver was old and very shiny, and the blue dishes were still interesting to the younger members of the family, who never tired of the story of the willow tree and the beautiful princess on the blue belt bridge.

The Smiths were typical Americans of the type still in existence out on the level stretches of prairie, between the east and the west and just beyond the portals of the big cities. The afternoon meal was still an event of the day, and the Smiths had a weekly wash day, and made their own bread.

Also, their father and James, the eldest son, were given to instructive reading. And sometimes they read things that really were instructive.

Reprimanded by Her Brother
So it came about upon this particular night, that Myrtle, who was 12, received a reprimand from James, her eldest brother, when she shook salt and pepper very generously over her food and helped herself liberally to mustard and grated horseradish.

"You are ruining your stomach, covering good food with such things," he protested. Whereupon Myrtle added more salt to her mashed potato.

"I am sure the potatoes were salted, dear," said Myrtle's mother, for she wished to avoid a debate upon salt and pepper. Sometimes James managed to upset the calm of the family circle by his very kind of information, which he had a habit of thrusting upon his sisters, especially.

"It's all habit," said James wisely. "Green vegetables contain mineral salts. What more do you want?"

More About Condiments
Myrtle was about to answer back, resentfully, when her father said:

"It's just a question, James, as to what extent condiments on the function of the body."

"What are condiments?" asked Myrtle.

"There are a real many," her father said.

"All highly seasoned sauces, spices, and additions to nutrition may be called condiments, or food accessories. Mustard, horseradish, pickles and relishes, pepper, salt and vinegar are the best known. Salt is, of course, a food. So we cannot ban it altogether. But it should be used in moderation."

"But salt, used to excess, beyond the needs of the body, and to

CATHOLIC CHAPEL OPENS ON SUNDAY

Tujungang Business Men Take Up Road Matter at Luncheon

TUJUNGA, Dec. 14.—The first service at the new Catholic chapel on Manzanita drive will be held Sunday morning at 10 o'clock.

Work on the new mission at Manzanita Park will begin next June. John S. McGroarty is engaged in making preparations for that event which will be a notable one in the annals of Tujungang.

The luncheon of the Business Men's Association at Insley's on Monday was well-attended. Don S. Campbell was appointed a committee of one to co-operate with Sunland and Hanson Heights securing work on the Roscoe road out of Sunland.

PLAYING SAFE
LODI, Calif., Dec. 14.—Orders for all buses of the Lodi union high school to come to a full stop before crossing any railroad tracks have been issued by Principal William Mack. Parents, pupils and drivers have been asked to co-operate in insuring safety for the pupils, and has asked all violations of the ruling be reported.

OSTEOPATH HAS "TAKE" ON FINGER

DENVER, Dec. 14.—Dr. James F. Walker, osteopath, vaccinated his patients against black smallpox, if they insisted, although he could not endorse such treatment for himself. During one of the operations the tiny glass tube broke and a silver stick in Walker's finger. That was three days ago. Today he had the usual chills and fever of an excellent "take" on his finger tip.

THRIFT BONDS TO BE PUT OVER BY TREASURY DEPT.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14.—A new thrift bond drive will be started by the treasury department at once, it was learned today. Bonds of $25, $50 and $100 denominations will be offered to the public. The thrift bonds are similar to the thrift stamps sold by the government during the war. A bond purchased for $20 will in five years be worth $25.

DISARMAMENT ON LAND NOT GIVEN DUE NOTICE

Bryan Wonders Why Germany Doesn't Speak Up on Her Plans

By WILLIAM JENNINGS BRYAN (Copyright, 1921, by United Press)

It is a wonderful month—epoch-making in the world's history—that the arms conference has spent in working out a solution of the peace problem. It is hard to realize that only a month ago, the world was startled by the proposed scrapping of half the battleship tonnage of the leading nations. It took a while for the people to grasp the situation, but in a week's time the nations settled down to the new program and began to suspend work in the shipyards.

Then followed Briand's statement of France's position, which seemed to hold progress in the direction of land disarmament. This is the only thing that has been disappointing during the entire conference. Those on the inside may be maturing a plan for dealing with the military establishment of the world, but the general public is in doubt.

It is even intimated that the subject will be turned over to the next conference without any action being taken. It is strange that so direct a challenge to the new German republic has not brought forth an answer.

France charges Germany with contemplating another war and on that ground justifies herself in keeping a considerable army ready to repel invasion. Is it not possible to put the question directly to Germany? A negative reply accompanied by willingness to join the other nations in any guarantees deemed essential to peace would enable the conference to go ahead and provide for a land reduction in line with the naval reduction.

Why the delay? But while the reduction of land forces is at a standstill, the conference has been making splendid headway in ironing out the problems of the Far East. China's demands have received consideration and a number of conclusions have been reached which improve the relations between Japan and China.

GIRL, 19, SHARES BODY WITH CHILD, 4

Miss Bernice Redick

COLUMBUS, Ohio—Bernice Redick will soon regain sole possession of her own body, according to Dr. H. H. Goddard, psychologist, announcing the case of a strange dual personality in the life of Bernice. The girl, formerly a high school pupil, was brought to the Juvenile Research bureau here for treatment. She possessed of two distinct personalities. In a single day she changed back and forth eleven times from a four-year-old girl to her normal self, a nineteen-year-old girl. The four-year-old said her name was Polly. She talked baby talk and played with baby toys. When she was her own normal self she had no recollection of the Polly personality. She is now undergoing hypnotic treatment, and her complete recovery is expected within a short time.

XMAS RECESS.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14.—Senator Curtis, Kansas, republican whip, has offered a resolution in the senate providing for a Christmas recess from December 22 until January 3. Action on the measure is expected late in the day.

SKELETON FOUND WITH CENT IN HAND

WALLA WALLA, Wash., Dec. 14.—The skeleton of a woman holding in one, bony hand a copper cent bearing the date 1875, turned up by a plow in the Riverview section recently, again opens the battle historians have waged over the possibility of Indian massacres in this vicinity in addition to the Whitman tragedy. The skull appeared to have been beaten in with a heavy club. Old timers incline to the belief that she was the wife of a pioneer and died in an obscure raid on a settlement here. Excavations are being made in a search for other skeletons.

If it wasn't for the happening of the unexpected life would be terribly monotonous. It doesn't always pay to be good, and it never pays to be bad.

ONE OF THOSE SKY GAZERS PREDICTS WAR IN 1926

Says 1926 Trouble Will Make World War a Baby Scrap

LONDON, Dec. 14.—The irrefragable astrologer apparently places little reliance on the Washington Disarmament Conference, for he predicts a real world-war in 1926—Anglo-Saxondom against a Mohammedan-Bolshevik alliance. This is not political or armament-maker's scaremongering, it is written in the stars and planets. So says "Sepharia" in the "British Journal of Astrology." "Sepharia" proceeds to prove his contentions by elaborate charts and explanations of planetary conjunctions, star movements, etc., and for a bright, hopeful to beat. The writer disdains drawing individual horoscopes, and makes only a passing reference to the various nasty things that will happen during the next four years. He concentrates on 1926, a year "destined to shake the world to its foundations, both physical and political." It coincides with the conjunction of the planets Mars and Mercury in the world horoscope.

Summarizing "Sepharia's" program for that year, the poor old world is due for: Plague, famine, flood, shipwreck, naval disaster, rioting, revolution, and "wide-spread decimation" of the people. The list will be completed by Armageddon, and the entry (six years later) of the Mighty One of Israel.

The great and final conflict will be waged against Mohammedanism allied with Bolshevism and will be fought in the direction of Palestine, the last struggle being staged to the north and west of Jerusalem. Four great powers will be ranged against the Anglo-Saxon forces from all parts of the earth. A British-Israel victory is predicted and in 1932 Universal Peace, for whoever may survive.

ADDRESS MAIL IN FULL SAYS JACKSON

D. Ripley Jackson, Glendale's new postmaster, wishes to ask the public to kindly help the postal employees in every way possible during the Christmas rush. So many times mail is received with only the name and town address on it. He asks that every particle of mail have the street address and the number on it in order to make prompt deliveries possible. If only the name and city are written on the name in the city directory, which takes a great deal of time, when there are hundreds of pieces of mail addressed this way every day. The reason for asking this is because there are a number of new clerks up at the postoffice and they are not familiar with the people as were the older ones.

Dr. Lorenz's New Method Is Aid to Crippled Children

Great Bloodless Surgeon Says His Science Has Been Revolutionized Since Day When He Operated for Lolita Armour in Chicago

NEW YORK, Dec. 14.—Dr. Adolf Lorenz, noted surgeon, who met with rebuke from surgeons in Chicago, is going to remain in America and continue his work of aiding crippled children.

Dr. Adolf Lorenz

To the crippled children of America, Professor Adolf Lorenz, master of bloodless surgery and specialist in joint diseases, is offering aid. It is such aid as was brought to the crippled daughter of a millionaire packer eighteen years ago, when Dr. Lorenz was brought from Vienna to Chicago by J. Ogden Armour to enable his little daughter, Lolita, to gain use of her limbs.

And it is even more than that, since Dr. Lorenz declares his methods in bloodless, harmless surgery have been revolutionized since those days.

The noted surgeon is sixty-eight years old now. He looks at Santa Claus might if he were able to add distinction to benevolence—white beard, rosy, clear skin, light blue, keen eyes.

Great Changes in Everything "Those eighteen years have brought great changes—yes, indeed," Dr. Lorenz began. "But what a change in New York City! This is truly the 'City of Light.' Paris used to be called that, but in that respect it cannot compare with modern New York. 'Life here is all in a tumult; it is terrible and bewildering to me. The rush, the hustle and the noise. It is undoubtedly bad for the nerves of New Yorkers, but they seem to survive.' Dr. Lorenz will continue for some time the clinic begun by him at the Hospital for Joint Diseases. Scores of crippled children come to the great surgeon there, and it is estimated that nearly seven hundred letters a day have been received at the hotel where he is staying.

Other people may say, 'Do you want to take a chance and have an operation?' Well, there is no risk attendant here.

"But your poor New York children—so many of them—thrown all in a heap by infantile paralysis. I am using some new methods and experiments to assist them.

"Limbs can be straightened by 'manual traction' and mechanical means. Eventually 'transplantation' can take place. Healthy muscles can be as easily removed from a healthy limb and placed in a sickly one as rosebuds can be grafted and replanted. Hip-joints that are deformed can be set straight—that has always been my specialty.

Great Suffering in Vienna

"But there is also suffering in my home—Vienna. The dearth of supplies continues. The decreased value of the kronen prevents buying even such supplies as are offered in the shops.

"War profiteers, of course, live in a shameless splendor. The brain workers are badly off, class, to which I was supposed to belong (with a laugh) has lost everything."

At this point Dr. S. Weyman, whom Dr. Lorenz has appointed as his assistant, said that the great surgeon was not worth even one thousand dollars today.

"My fortune is reduced to one thousandth of what it was formerly," he said. "It cost me two and a half billion kronen to come over to America.

"Austria has about enough supplies to last out a month. It is not a fertile land, but mountainous—what fertile provinces we had we have lost."

"We must import three-fourths of all our needs, and these three-fourths must be bought in the world markets with our worthless kronen, six thousand of which would barely buy one dollar."

"We owe much to your fine American Relief Administration, to the Jewish Relief and the Red Cross."

Affraid of New York Subway "Would I like to live in New York?" Dr. Lorenz smiled. "Well, I like America, but the hustle of this city terrifies me. As for that subway that rumbles under the ground, I would never trust myself to go down with its crowds. I know I should never, never come out alive."

Dr. Lorenz spends four and a half hours a day at the clinic at the Hospital for Joint Diseases, where an entire floor has been placed at his disposal.

"In Chicago I went to see Mrs. John J. Mitchell, who was Miss Lolita Armour when I knew her," declared Dr. Lorenz. "I was invited to her wedding, but couldn't come on at that time."

At the time Dr. Lorenz performed an operation on Lolita Armour and effected a cure he became internationally famous.

Smith, 228 South Brand boulevard, agent in Glendale for the Willys-Knight and Overland cars. At the left of the door as you enter a room of paper with a Christmas design has been constructed. Breaking its way through the front wall of this room is a beautiful, "spanking new" Willys-Knight, which Mr. Smith declares, is the finest car in its class made, and which is as good as any car made regardless of price. It certainly presents a beautiful appearance as it "forces" its way out

PORTO RICAN COMMISSION WILL GIVE GOVERNOR REILLY OPPORTUNITY TO RESIGN OR WILL HAVE HIM FIRED

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14.—Formal charges against E. Mont Reilly, governor of Porto Rico, will not be preferred against him by the Porto Rica commission, if the administration will remove him, a member of the commission said today. This answer was given Secretary of War Weeks in response to a request that the charges be dropped. Weeks' reply was understood to be that the administration will do whatever is fair. If Reilly is not removed, the charges against him would be made public in detail and pressed. A delegation of seven Porto Ricans, headed by Antonio Barcello, president of the Porto Rican senate, is in Washington to protest to President Harding against the return of Governor E. Mont Reilly to Porto Rico as governor. They object to what they term the autocratic attitude of the present incumbent in the governor's chair. In the photograph, sitting, left to right: Felix Cardova Bavia, commissioner of Porto Rico in congress; Senator Antonio Barcello, Senator to right; Felix Cardova Bavia, commissioner of Porto Rico in congress; Raphael Zeunelra. Below, in the insert, is Governor Reilly, to whom they object.

Mr. Robinson is introducing a new department, rather an innovation in Glendale. They have established, for the convenience of their patrons, a packing and mailing department, where special attention is given to the sending of gifts to any city in the United States. Just select the present you wish to send—leave the address with Mr. Robinson and your package will be carefully and attractively wrapped and mailed by parcel post, prepaid. There will be no extra charge for the packing or shipping—nothing over the regular purchase price of the article. If you're in doubt as to just what you wish to send "Him" for Xmas—stop at Robinson's—for they'll be glad to suggest just the appropriate remembrance. And then, they also have merchandise orders of all denominations for those who are undecided.

IT SEEMED TO ME TODAY, as I wended my way through the shops and stores thronged with holiday shoppers, that the Glendale merchants must have conspired with old St. Nicholas himself in making this a veritable Toyland! There are all sorts and kinds of wonderful toys to bring happiness into the lives of the little tots. Fairy land they'd call it—and right they are, too! I'm bringing you word of some of the "wonders" I found in our Glendale shops, but oh! there are so many more lovely things that I can only suggest that you include in your shopping list the ones represented here. They all have something to show you!

WHAT A UNIQUE, yet helpful combination of departments! At the YARBROUGH HAT SHOPPE, 108 West Broadway, after you've selected your new hat, you may have Miss Bernice parcel your hair and dress it in a becoming style. Miss Bernice has just come to Glendale from Hollywood and opened a shop with Mrs. Yarbrough. She specializes on marcel waving and hair-dressing, and is truly an artist in her line.

FROM NOW UNTIL XMAS," said Mr. Hatz, of HATZ'S SHOP FOR CORRECT WOMEN'S WEAR. "Only one thought is uppermost in this shop—and that is to give helpful, personal service to gift shoppers." In their attractive shop at 132 S. Brand Blvd., Hatz's are able to offer immediate, careful service by trained salespeople, as well as a wonderful assortment of acceptable gifts. Theirs is a cozy, pleasant place in which to do one's shopping, where you can make a deliberate, unburied selection. Next time you're down that way stop in. You'll find so many lovely suggestions for the holidays that I know you'll thoroughly enjoy it.

Worn emery paper should never be thrown away. Instead, place the used paper in a warm oven for a few minutes and much of its former rough surface will be restored.

SHE WILL SURELY appreciate a box of gift stationery from BOTT'S BOOK STORE, 113 South Brand Blvd. They have a wonderful stock of paper and correspondence cards in all of the pastel shades which immediately characterize their user as a woman of refinement and individuality. The prices vary according to size and quality—but they are all unusually reasonable!

TODAY I'M BRINGING welcome news for those women who would have luxuriantly beautiful hair! Mrs. Billig, of the BROADWAY BEAUTY PARLOR, 214 East Broadway, has secured the agency for Hair-a-gain! Hair-a-gain, as your probably know, is a wonderful scalp and hair shampoo, for it is the best remedy imaginable, for baldness, dandruff, falling hair, itching scalp, dry or oily hair, or even to restore the color to gray hair! An unhealthy head is absolutely unnecessary, for Hair-a-gain is excellent for all diseases of the scalp!

WHAT WOULD DELIGHT the youngsters more than a Columbia tricycle? WM. A. PFEIFFER, 141 South Brand Blvd., is showing a complete line of tricycles, with ball bearing wheels and bicycle spokes at very reasonable prices.

A WEE LITTLE ROCKER, just like mother's—is a wonderful gift for the little lady. You'll find them among the popular grass furniture at the ENTERPRISE FURNITURE CO., 216 East Broadway. They also have a convenient writing desk in either mahogany or walnut, just the thing for Mother. Then, there are good-looking mahogany telephone stands, cedar chests, piano lamps, with gorgeous silk shades—in fact, everything in the line of useful as well as beautiful gifts!

NURSE RABBIT OPENS A SQUIRREL HOSPITAL

By JOHN BARTON (Copyright, 1921 by Associated Newspapers) It was the home Nibble had dug for Maltie Kitten. (Little did he think it would ever be a squirrel hospital!) "Quiet! That's not much of a bed to be quiet on." "It's all right," said the brave squirrel. "Only it's rather sick and stuffy. I guess I'm not used to an earth hole." "That isn't the earth's fault, then," returned the bunny. "Barth holes are all right. I've lived all my life in one. Let's see what's wrong." She began to house-clean. "What's that? A mouse bone? A crawfish shell! Dirt! Dust! Mould! Spiders! Oh Maltie Kitten, what housekeeping!" She sent every thing flying. Then with Ripple

BEAVER'S HELP she whisked in a bed of grass, springy, soft and sweet scented. Next they washed the patient with tender tongues. Not till every bedraggled hair was smooth in place did they help her to climb in and settle down. "Now," said Silkears, "don't tell me you don't feel like eating." "I believe I really do," breathed the squirrel. "I do believe I could eat a hickory nut if I could gnaw it open."

"My teeth are working," Ripple saw this was her turn. "Which is the tastiest tree?" In no time at all she was back with a whole mouthful all nicely shucked. Just one crunch of her fine big teeth split open each shell. She had a whole row of milky nut meats under Madam Chatter's paw when Chiz called her to start home.

"How kind you are!" sighed the grateful widow. "How very kind. And how I'm going to miss you when you're gone." "The joke is," said Silkears, triumphantly. "I don't go. See this tunnel behind you? It runs right to my hole. I can come down it any time you call. Now go to sleep and get well." And she, tipped off to remind Dr. Muskrat about the poultice.

FLOAT FUND WILL BE INCREASED

Chamber Getting Lines Set for Success of Big Publicity Stunt

New contributors have added $17 to the fund that is being raised for the float to be entered in the Pasadena Tournament of Roses. The additions to the honor roll are: E. U. Emery, $10; Frank B. Myers, $5, and Ernest A. Moulton, $2. At the meeting of the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce Tuesday it was voted that the chamber contribute $300 to the fund.

Tuesday night the float committee met the Glendale Business and Professional Women's club to ask their co-operation in putting over the campaign. The plans were exhibited to the members and were approved by that organization. The club decided to hold a tag day Saturday, December 17, to get funds for the completion of the float. This tag day will be in charge of Dr. Laura Brown, who will arrange all details of the campaign and will assign the teams and their captains to the various districts of the city.

To augment the fund being raised for the float, Dr. Jessie Russell has been appointed to arrange with Manager Howe of the Glendale theatre for a benefit show to be given at that theatre. The proceeds of which will be turned over to the float committee to be used in decorating the float. This benefit show will be a matinee performance and the date will be announced later.

The float committee elected J. M. Rhoades, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, treasurer of the float fund. All contributions to the float fund should be mailed to the Chamber of Commerce to Mr. J. M. Rhoades or taken in to the chamber personally.

ARTISTS HERE IN CLUB'S CONCERT

"Melodei" (Massinet) and a Hungarian Rhapsodie also by Popper. Miss Balfour's golden voice, as usual captivated her audience. Besides the closing numbers mentioned she was heard in "Care Selva" (Handel), "The Nightingale and the Rose" (Rimsky-Korsakov) and Cadman's "Welcome Sweet Wind." The entire program delighted all present and members were enthusiastic in their expressions of pleasure.

A comparatively brief business session preceded the music at which Mrs. A. M. Williams, general chairman of the club bazaar reported net returns of $526. Mrs. R. E. Chase, curator of the Drama Section reported that in spite of heavy expenses for theater rental and properties necessary to artistic production, she was able to turn over to the club treasurer as net returns from the three one-act plays produced by her section, $150. In accepting the check Mrs. Hutchinson voiced the sentiment of the club when she declared that the success in an affair of that kind and cents, that the club had reason to be exceedingly proud of the artistic manner in which the dramas were staged and the talent displayed by its members, and no apologies were called for because the returns were less than the section had hoped to realize. Mrs. Chase stated that the section had been asked to give the plays at Radondo and would therefore be able to make another gift to the club house. She also expressed the hope that the club would not be short-sighted in its plans and make the mistake so many clubs have made of too small an auditorium, in its new club house.

Mrs. Oliver Clark, the secretary, then read the terms under which the executive board of the club had agreed to sell the three lots it owns on Brand boulevard (subject to the ratification of the club membership) to Endicott & Larson and C. R. Bussell, (less the 3 2-10 feet which the owner for $750), for a price of $30,000 net to the club, the buyers to assume the $9,000 mortgage and to pay the balance of $21,000 in cash, and to have a ninety day option in which to complete the transaction for which a deposit in cash of $500 would be made. If at the end of the ninety-day period the sale had not been completed, the $500 would be forfeited to the club.

Following this explanation, on motion of Mrs. Mattison B. Jones, the club voted unanimously in endorsing the action of the board, and copies of the resolution to sell the three lots and also the fraction of one of the lots were circulated for the signature of members.

The president then announced the receipt of a check from Chas. B. Guthrie for $400 representing the commission that he was entitled to on the sale of the Central avenue lot bought by the club, and that he wished to donate it towards the club house. In appreciation of the gift the club gave a rising vote of thanks.

The president also stated that the board was paying off the mortgage on the fourth lot it had purchased on Central avenue and would have its club site free and clear with a substantial balance left in the treasury. She added that Architect Alfred Priest would soon be prepared to submit plans of the proposed club house.

LIKE FATHER, LIKE SON.

The triumph of young Jake Schaefer, son of the famous wizard, in the world's championship 18.2 ball-line billiard tournament, will do much to stimulate interest in the sport. The continued supremacy of Willie Hoppe for the last fifteen years was very discouraging to others. Hoppe monopolized the sport since he won the title as a boy from Maurice Vignaux in Paris, and his many youthful aspirants.

Like father—like son. Young Jake bears his name nobly. He is twenty-six years old, and was born in Chicago. His father, the recognized genius of the game, caused several drastic innovations in it, and brought it to the high standard it now enjoys. Every advancement that has been made in carom billiards is due to the wizard's startling conceptions and amazing skill. Every restriction excepting the large anchor box, seven inches square, introduced from straight rail to ballline, was designed to check his operations.

Until after his father's death, in 1910, the Schaefer's of the present did not take to billiards seriously. The father wished the son to engage in another pursuit. The young man did not develop rapidly. Within the last year, because of the closing of an academy in San Francisco, where he was employed, playing three cushions and red ball, he applied himself to ballline, and made sensational strides. In a match of 4,800 points, 18.2, for $500 a side, played at Maurice Daly's, he defeated Edouard Horemans, and incidentally scored the highest run ever made in competition, 436.

master General Hays is now seeking to build up in the postoffices of the country.

"It is mine and I hope it shall be the ambition of every postmaster and postal employee," he writes the postmasters, "to give postoffices and postal stations so much character that they will be the pride of the community in which they are located."

"Postoffices," like people, he says, "are judged by first appearances. A clean orderly lobby commands the respect of the public and is indicative of the quality of service rendered by that particular office. The same psychology applies within the office. Postmasters are, therefore, urged to give constant attention and care, both to the interior and exterior appearances of their offices."

Postmaster's Office Door Must Swing Wide Open

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14.—An open door policy for the postoffice. That's the latest order promulgated from the headquarters of the postal system here by Postmaster General Will Hayes.

"An open door to the postmaster's office for public and employees," is the way the postmaster general phrases it.

His aim, he announces, is to bring close co-operation between postmaster, staff and the public. The door must swing outward as well as inward, too, he says.

"The way to convince the public that I'm right in my premises is for the postmaster to get out and get in personal contact with the patrons of his office," the advice reads, showing them how they may improve their own service by closer co-operation, with the agencies offered by the postoffice and complaints they may have and attend to same promptly and satisfactorily.

School houses in cities throughout the country will probably be used extensively by the postoffice department this year in distributing the great volume of Christmas mail.

Plans for carrying out this scheme, which was found very effective in one city where it was used last year, are now being worked out at the postoffice department here. Postmasters are being requested to get in touch with school authorities where the plan is deemed practicable.

The residential section of the cities, according to the scheme, will be laid out in units with the school as a center. The mail for these units will be sorted at the main office at night and carried on trucks of the main office to the schools in the morning, where it will be delivered by carriers on foot.

This plan, which proved the cleanest, fastest and cheapest ever used in the office where it was tried out last year has several advantages, the postoffice department states.

It is particularly advantageous in the colder regions where vehicles are detained by snow and deliverymen are slowed up on account of the cold as it permits supervision of the deliverymen, many of whom at this season are new and unfamiliar with the city and waste time searching for locations. Another advantage is the economical one of saving vehicle hire.

Fashions for Americans

Women are just beginning to realize the varied and attractive possibilities of ribbon as a dress fabric or dress trimming, and this season sees some lovely evening gowns in which gorgeous ribbons play an important part. The one shown in the sketch features a spangled bodice with long side panel of ribbon forming a train, the skirt being a dainty pannelled affair of chiffon.

One of the advantages of using ribbon for panels, trains, etc., is that its edges are all finished, it supplies its own lining, usually, and it is really rather a time saver for the home dressmaker. Then, too, ribbons come in such lovely and unusual colorings and designs that very unusual gowns may be made from it.

Fur and fabric coat manufacturers find ribbon very desirable in dressing up the linings of these garments. Sometimes a coat will be lined with plain satin, crepe de Chine or other silk fabric, with a deep border of gorgeous brocaded ribbon finishing the bottom, front edges, and if flared sleeves are used the edges of the sleeve lining.

Handsome brocaded ribbons are also very effective in the development of vests, waistcoats and other dress accessories.

A very smart and graceful dinner gown recently seen, in which ribbon played a part, was of American beauty chiffon cut with round neck, short sleeves and a straight skirt with cascade drapery at one side. Gold and black brocaded ribbon was used to form two front panels reaching from the skirt hem to the bust line, and a girde of ribbon was caught about the waist and fastened at one side, two loops of the ribbon drooping over the cascade side drapery of chiffon.

LONDON VAMP WILL COPY HER U. S. COUSINS

LONDON, Dec. 14.—The mode for debutantes is to be soft, soothing, sneaky, alluring, tigerish. London demoi saltes will copy the American vamps.

"Complexion, coiffure and dress will all combine to produce the tigerish effect," said one. "The walk, too, should be slow and possess a feline grace and allurements."

Eyes must be large, eyebrows slanting upwards like the Chinese, hair dark and sleek, dresses dark and clinging, with perhaps one deep red rose. Cheeks, instead of being a delicate refreshing rose, must have a marble pallor. And the lips must be very red.

Perhaps some of the spare henna pots and lip sticks left over from the Vampire Era in the States will find a market over here.

YAP AGREEMENT IS VICTORY FOR U.S. SAYS WRITER

Japanese Play Fair With All Nations in Disposal of Yap Isle

By J. W. T. MASON
(Written for the United Press)

The Yap agreement is another victory for American diplomacy, and at the same time is evidence of the desire of Japan to make concessions for preserving international good will in the Pacific. The Japanese government not only has played fair with the United States, but has been generous in its acceptance of changed conditions in the Paris conference. Japan has even consented to make the prohibition amendment of the American constitution applicable to the natives of Yap. Nothing could show more good will on the part of a foreign nation than the acquiescence in America's latest doctrine.

Japan's proprietary interest in Yap under the mandate grant of the allies is not destroyed officially by the new agreement. But unofficially Japan permits America to become a silent partner, without executive right, through which interests are akin to a shareholder. Japan's consent to the clause formally granting to America a copy of the Tokyo government's reports on Yap is further recognition of America's stockholder status. It is a significant fact that the first Pacific settlement after the announcement of the four power treaty, has been made with such a spirit of friendship. It means that the new diplomacy in the Pacific is taking the direction of amity instead of enmity.

There are many sick-of-home voyagers on the sea of matrimony.

Foley's Friendly Fancies

RED-BLOODED STUFF
I'm a Poet of Men and no shamming,
I'm shavless and shirtless and tough,
I write all my poems full of damning,
I'm great for this red-blooded stuff,
I'm a drawing-room, clean-collar hater,
I'm strong for the pine-boughs at night,
I go to the edge of the crater
And dip up hot sulphur and write.

The manhood up in me is welling,
And my primal instincts are rife,
I fill all my poems full of helling,
And eat all my pie with a knife,
You may think I'm shamming or stalling,
But I swear by my soul it's not so,
It's the cave-man in me that is calling
And where it may call me I go.

You may think my labor is easy,
But try it—you'll find it no joke,
To be unwashed and dirty and greasy
And homeless and vagrant and broke.
When the coyotes hear me, helter-skelter
They break for the prairies to hide,
I'm all a wild rapture and wailer
Unspeakeable way down inside.

I'm no mean, despicable craven
Who cringes each day in a bath,
I'm a being untamed and unshaven,
And I damn and I hell in my wrath.
Conventional folks, how I hate 'em,
And flay with lines lurid and rough,
I rack them and scold and berate 'em,
I'm the Poet of Men, and I'm tough!

I'm no scared and skippy rabbit
Who writes down his stanzas with ink,
I'm strong for the cave-dwelling-habit,
And a soul-stirring gulp of strong-drink,
I'm not manicured, barbered and laundered,
I'm no peddler of piffle and punk,
I write Songs of the Road and I've wandered,
And I'm strong for this red-blooded bunk.

LADY DRYDEN IS PULLETH WITH WORLD RECORD

SANTA CRUZ, Cal., Dec. 14.—"Merriman Pullet No. 75," the Babe Ruth of poultrydom, has been out-Ruthed, by Lady Dryden, Lady Dryden, a barred Plymouth Rock hen, has established a record by laying her 322nd egg in a year. The Merriman pullet's record was 313. Lady Dryden was entered by the Oregon Agricultural College. Her achievement is a world's record for Barred Rock hens. Even the hens of Petaluma, Cal., famed in story and fact, although they have laid eggs in a more freakish and fanciful manner, have, so far as is known, failed to equal this record. Lady Dryden even failed to take a day of rest on Sundays, according to her record. In February, 1921, despite the fact that it was not Leap Year, she threw an extra egg for good measure, laying two in one day. The Merriman pullet broke the record by one egg. She established the record at Pu-yallup, Wash. Lady Dryden's record was: January, 27; February, 29; March, 27; April, 27; May, 27; June, 29; July, 28; August, 28; September, 28; October, 22; November, 25; December, 25.

GUESTS WILL NOT BE HARMED IN RAID

Official Says Bootlegger Is the Man He Is After Now

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 14.—The thirsty in the region are having sighs of relief. Assistant United States Attorney General Robert H. McCormack has issued an announcement saying he will refuse to prosecute guests arrested in prohibition raids. The prohibition enforcement office recently announced it would arrest all guests as well as proprietors and waiters in raiding places where liquor was being served.

"I am after bootleggers," announced McCormack. "There is nothing in the Volstead Act even hinting that it is legal to arrest the guests at an establishment which is being raided. I am convinced that such a process will do far more harm than good in the enforcement of the Volstead act. The word possession means more than the mere taking in the hand of the thing 'possessed.'"

PINAFORE WILL BE STAGED BY LEGION

Los Angeles Post to Complement Fleet During Next Week

All is in readiness for the grand opening on Monday night of the all-star revival of Gilbert and Sullivan's favorite opera, "Pinafore," staged by the American Legion in compliment to the fleet. Day and night rehearsals have been in order all this week until Director W. G. Stewart announces that his production here will rival the one he staged at the New York Hippodrome in 1914. Although this is an American Legion benefit, it is not an amateur affair in any sense of the word, but is being staged with the California Opera Company as the basic structure, and such well-known screen stars as Clyde Cook, Fox comedian, Larryemon, Vitagraph comedian, Dush, Farum, Lucile Rickson, Al St. John and others playing the important roles on special nights.

Hazel Eden, the prima donna, was featured for three years with the Boston and three years with the Chicago Grand Opera company. Marie Horgan, who plays little Buttercup, is well-known in the operatic world, as is Earl Meeker, who plays the part of the captain. Jim Donnelly, who plays Dick' Dead Eye and Melba France Barr, who will alternate with Hazel Eden as Josephine. An unusually large and tuneful chorus will be one of the features.

Each night two of the battleships in Los Angeles harbor will be complimented and several boxes set aside for the officers and a block of seats for the men. On Christmas eve the winner of the cinema queen contest will be crowned, and will play her first role—that of Santa Claus—giving away the $2,000 automobile and other prizes to those who voted in the queen contest. The winner will be featured in a photoplay written by H. C. Wiltner, the famous author, for the benefit of the legion.

Carrie Jacobs Bond, the composer, has written a new march song dedicated to the legion, which will be sung for the first time at the opening night of "Pinafore," and thereafter will become the national anthem of the ex-service men.

The week before Christmas is going to be another fleet week in Los Angeles, and a gala seven days. The legion invites everybody to share in the festivities and at the same time help along their clubhouse fund.

Special Committee.—A special committee has been appointed by Mrs. H. E. Bartlett, chairman of the Glendale chapter, American Red Cross, to secure Christmas donations for the disabled veterans at Thornycroft. The committee is composed of Mrs. Archie Parker, Mrs. P. Wells, Mrs. Lillian Dow and L. T. Rowley, and home-made jelly is one of the things desired.

Tool Thieves.—Tool thieves are active again in Glendale. J. A. Givens and J. N. Smith, employees of the Horth Construction company reported to the police this morning that a quantity of tools, their own personal property, had been stolen during the night from a house on which they were working at the corner of Concord and Doran streets.

After all, there's nothing worth worrying about.
