

GRAVE CHARGES AGAINST CONSERVATIVE CANDIDATE

W. W. B. McInnes Brands G. H. Cowan as Traitor to Tory Party--Insight Into Ill-Famed Green-Caron Affair.

(Special to the Times).
Vancouver, Oct. 3.—Before an overflowing audience in the city hall last evening the Liberal candidate, W. W. B. McInnes, branded George, H. Cowan as a traitor to the Conservative party and the McBride government. Mr. McInnes pulled off his accusation of Mr. Cowan with great gusto and brought down the house in an enthusiastic outburst. His denunciation of Mr. Cowan followed his picking to pieces of the speech delivered by the Conservative candidate in the city hall on Thursday evening when the alleged triumphal procession of empty carriages conveyed Mr. Cowan and his friends to the meeting place.

Mr. McInnes charged that really Mr. Cowan had placed himself in the position of an Absolute Traitor to his own party by his action in the Green-Caron affair last year. He challenged Mr. Cowan or his friends to contradict the statements he was about to make and declared that if they did contradict them he would produce documentary evidence to prove that his charges were correct.

Mr. McInnes said that Mr. Cowan, wishing certain concessions in the way of land in the country, had gone to Mr. Green, then Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works, demanding that he be given these concessions, knowing at the same time that they could not legally be granted. But Mr. Cowan also had in his possession all the facts of the Green-Caron deal, in which, as Mr. McInnes put it, the act had been strained by Mr. Green to give lands of great value to the Yellowknife-Caron company. Then he charged that Mr. Cowan really held the pistol to Mr. Green's head to force him to make law in the manner indicated or he would expose Mr. Green and the government to the country. Then there occurred hurried conferences of the party and finally an arrangement was made by which it was understood that by virtue of Mr. Green resigning no exposure of the matter would be made. Mr. Green did resign, but Mr. Cowan brought certain documents relating to the matter to Vancouver and

Had Them Photographed
In order that later they might be served up to press the country against the McBride government. At the same time Mr. Cowan furnished information regarding the matter to the enemy and even though he might afterwards have wished to recall it he was unable to do so. Many Conservatives were in full possession of the facts. Finally the matter was arranged and Mr. Cowan was given the city solicitorship in Vancouver at a salary far higher than was ever before paid to any civic official.

"In real warfare what would they do with a man like that," exclaimed Mr. McInnes.

CLOSE STRUGGLE FOR BASEBALL PENNANTS

Leading Teams in National League Are Still Neck and Neck.

New York, Oct. 3.—Greater uncertainty than ever over the ultimate outcome of the almost unprecedented close race for the National League pennant has come as a result of yesterday's overturn in the relative standing of the three leading teams. Through a double-header victory Pittsburgh squeezed into first place with a lead of less than a full point over New York, and Chicago in third place is only a single point lower down in the percentage table.

Even though in second place New York has a slight advantage as she has still four games to play before the close of the season while Pittsburgh and Chicago have only two each. Should New York win all four games the pennant would go to the Polo grounds for another year, even if the other teams played faultless ball in their remaining scheduled games. Pittsburgh to-day again will try her strength with St. Louis from whom she took the double-header victory yesterday, while New York plays at Philadelphia and Chicago at Cincinnati.

Totals still hold the top place in the American league with 4 points lead over Cleveland. Chicago, by its defeat yesterday, is 13 points behind the Tigers. The leading team will be on its home diamond to-day, where it will meet St. Louis, while Chicago will play Cleveland.

WINNIPEG'S HIGHLANDERS.

(Special to the Times).
Winnipeg, Oct. 3.—A Highland regiment was organized here last night with D. C. Cameron, Liberal candidate in Winnipeg, as an active colonel, Manager McHale, of the Home Bank, as major-general, while Sir Daniel McMillan and Wm. White, second vice-president of the C. P. R., will be given official positions.

RUTHLESS ACT OF MOTORISTS

TOURING CAR KILLS MAN, THEN SPEEDS AWAY

Number Injured When Struck by Machine in Brooklyn Street.

New York, Oct. 3.—One man was killed, a woman, probably fatally injured, twelve other men and women slightly hurt and four autos more or less damaged in a series of early morning accidents in a few minutes' time. The driver was Edward Ryan, of Brooklyn, and the woman most severely hurt is Miss Josephine Wagner.

They were struck by a big touring car which tore through Livingston street, Brooklyn, early to-day while Ryan and Miss Wagner were on their way home from an entertainment. Ryan was instantly killed and Miss Wagner sustained a fractured skull and other injuries. The driver of the big car, which was occupied by several men and women, turned his power to the highest notch after bowling over Ryan and Miss Wagner, and sped away in a few minutes' time, pursued by several men, who were held up at Brooklyn bridge and the occupants arrested.

The car stopped by the police had both lamps intact, while the car which struck Ryan and Miss Wagner lost one of its lamps in the collision.

CLAIM MAGNA CHARTA HAS BEEN VIOLATED

Unusual Appeal From Judgment in Ontario Mining Suit

(Special to the Times).
Toronto, Oct. 3.—The Florence Mining Company has filed a notice of appeal from the judgment of Justice Riddell in an action against the Cobalt Lake Mining Company. The plaintiffs claim the right to about half the Cobalt lake, which was sold to a syndicate from which the defendant sues for $1,055,000, on the ground of the prior discovery by one Green, who assigned the right to the Florence Mining Company. Plaintiffs' appeal to the rights, by the Magna Charta provisions, which are embodied in the N. N. A. Act, the rights of which they claim to have been violated by Ontario legislation.

REAR-END COLLISION

C. P. R. Brakeman Pinned Beneath Wreckage of East Selkirk.

Selkirk, Man., Oct. 3.—A rear-end collision between two westbound freight trains occurred on the Canadian Pacific at East Selkirk this morning, in which George Bailey, of Kenora, was seriously injured and two others badly cut and bruised.

CANDIDATES SELECTED WEST OF GREAT LAKES

Conservatives Have Yet to Nominate in Winnipeg—Campaign in Brandon.

(Special to the Times).
Winnipeg, Oct. 3.—When the Conservatives of Winnipeg have nominated candidates of each party will be in the field for every constituency west of the Great Lakes.

Mr. Root, Conservative candidate in Red Deer, has gone to his farm, practically retired from the contest with Dr. Clark, Liberal. R. D. Wallace, an Independent-Conservative in Brandon, has entered a vigorous campaign against T. M. Daly. The Conservatives will probably nominate J. A. M. Alkins, C. P. R. solicitor, to-morrow, but have also in view Alex. Hagar, chairman of the liquor license board.

WIFE ON EACH CONTINENT.

Quebec, Oct. 3.—Thomas Garbett, an Englishman, was arrested yesterday on a charge of bigamy. Last November he married the daughter of a saloon-keeper named Prebette, and it is alleged he has a wife living in England.

MAD CAREER OF RACING AUTOISTS

DYING MEN AND WRECKED MACHINES LEFT AS TRAIL

Prudence Thrown to Winds in 24-hour Contest at Brighton Beach.

Brighton Beach Race Track, N. Y., Oct. 3.—With a trail of injured and dying men and hopelessly wrecked racing machines behind them, six of the twelve autos which started in the 24-hour race at the Brighton Beach race track last evening, were still in the mad whirl at 8 o'clock to-day. Apparently prudence had been cast to the winds and no chance was considered too great, no danger too menacing to the daring pilot at the steering wheels of the flying machines. As a result all previous records had been left far in the distance and it was apparent that if the terrific speed of the leaders was maintained to the end, 100 miles would be added to the previous record.

The four leaders at the end of the tenth hour were in advance of the best previous mark from three to forty-three miles. This was not accomplished, however, without a fearful array of accidents, in which drivers and mechanics escaped death by the narrow margin.

In the third hour a piling-up of racing machines going better than 55 miles an hour was reported as a result of a crash being thrown into confusion by the crossing directly in the path of M. C. Fickett, special patrol officer. Three of the cars managed to avoid the dodging machine, but Robertson's machine struck him with fearful force and hurled him sixty feet. He was picked up unconscious and is now in a critical condition at a hospital. All the other injured are drivers and mechanics of the racing cars, none of them are seriously hurt.

"IMMORAL" PLAYS.

Toronto Chief of Police Answers Dr. Chown's Complaint.

Toronto, Oct. 3.—Writing to the legislative committee of the city council in reference to Rev. Dr. Chown's complaint of immoral plays and posters, Chief of Police Grassett said that while some performances and posters were objectionable he learned of none that were immoral or obscene.

TO SETTLE IN VICTORIA.

(Special to the Times).
Winnipeg, Oct. 3.—Mr. and Mrs. John Douglas, who have been well known in Winnipeg for many years as active evangelistic workers and members of the Maryland Methodist church, are leaving this city to take up their residence in Victoria. Next Sunday evening's service in the Maryland church will be the occasion of a commemorative farewell to be conducted by Mr. Douglas.

LIBERAL CAMPAIGN.

Sir Richard Cartwright to Speak Next Thursday in Toronto.

Kingston, Ont., Oct. 3.—Sir Richard Cartwright will speak in Toronto on October 9th and discuss all the political issues of the day. He is in fine health. He will address other meetings, but his programme is not yet mapped out.

SCOUTS REPULSE OUTLAW MOORS

Manila, Oct. 3.—A delayed report received to-day from the island of Mindanao tells of a battle between scouts and outlaw moors, in which more than a dozen casualties occurred. An outpost company of scouts was attacked on Keilley road by a band of fifty moors. In the first sudden onslaught one of the scouts was killed and two were wounded. The company rallied, however, driving off the superior force with a loss of nine natives killed and several wounded.

BLOW TO LOCAL OPTION.

(Special to the Times).
Winnipeg, Oct. 3.—Temperance people received a heavy blow to-day. A petition was forwarded to the government recently for holding a local option vote in thirty-six municipalities, but the high legal council states that thirty of these were filed a few days too late.

HURRICANE IN BAHAMAS.

Several Vessels Blown Out to Sea— Number of Lives Lost.

Nassau, New Province, Bahamas, Oct. 3.—A hurricane swept over New Providence on Thursday. There was no serious damage done ashore, but several vessels were blown out to sea, and it is estimated that six lives were lost.

Damage in Hayti.
Willemstad, Island of Curacao, Oct. 2.—The captain of the Dutch steamer Prins Wilhelm Y., which arrived here to-day, reports that while in the roadstead of Jammel, Hayti, Sept. 23th, a storm caught his vessel. He cut the cable of the starboard anchor and left the harbor without having received his clearance papers. He reports that considerable damage was done on the island of Hayti.

DISASTROUS FIRE IN BOSTON SUBURB

Hotels and Summer Cottages Wiped Out—Pecuniary Loss of $175,000.

Boston, Mass., Oct. 3.—Cresthall and Ocean View hotels with three large summer cottages occupying one of the most beautiful spots on the crest at Winthrop beach, were totally destroyed by fire early to-day with a loss estimated at about $175,000. Fifty guests at Cresthall and thirty at the Ocean View escaped and some from the Ocean View were able to save a part of their effects.

The fire started at daylight in the kitchen of Cresthall. A strong northeast wind swept the flames directly down the beach and only the timely arrival of aid from Boston, Chelsea and Revere, it is believed, saved a large part of the valuable ocean front property from destruction.

RALPH SMITH DEFINES HIS ATTITUDE TO LABOR

Liberal Candidate for Nanaimo Has Always Been Friend of Workingmen--Instructive Addresses at Campaign Meeting in Ladysmith.

(Special to the Times).
Ladysmith, Oct. 2.—The Liberals of Ladysmith held the first meeting of the campaign in the opera house to-night. Messrs. Smith Curtis, John Oliver and the late member for the division, Ralph Smith, had been invited to speak. Smith Curtis, however, failed to appear, and the platform was taken by Messrs. Oliver and Smith. The opera house was well filled, and towards the close of Mr. Smith's address the audience, stirred by his ringing, optimistic speech, were roused to an intense pitch of excitement.

W. G. Fraser took the chair and the speakers were listened to with the greatest attention. There were, however, interruptions and the Socialist candidate made a most dramatic appearance. Mr. Parker Williams was seated right in front but at the commencement of the meeting Mr. Hawthornthwaite stalked down, and Mr. Oliver had proceeded in his speech to the point at which he took up the records of the three candidates. He dealt with the Socialist representative first, and was discussing the Kaiser Island deal, which he described as a flagrant and scandalous piece of robbery. Mr. Hawthornthwaite had voted for that deal, he said, on a premeditated arrangement with the McBride government when there came a deep voice from the back of the hall saying: "And that statement is a deliberate lie," and Mr. Hawthornthwaite stalked down, the side aisle amid cries of "order" and cheers from his followers present.

"Now you have made that statement go ahead and prove it," he said, and for a moment there was wild confusion.

Mr. Fraser appealed for order, but with very poor success. The something was attempted during Mr. Smith's speech, but he is too old a campaigner to take these things quietly and he quickly succeeded in putting Mr. Hawthornthwaite in the wrong with the audience. At the end of Mr. Smith's speech questions were called for, and Mr. Hawthornthwaite asked for permission to address the audience. This Mr. Smith refused to grant and the meeting ended in rousing cheers for the Liberal candidate.

W. G. Fraser briefly introduced John Oliver, the member for Delta.

John Oliver, M. P. P.

Mr. Oliver began by remarking that he was a comparative stranger as this was his first appearance on a public platform in Ladysmith. He was pleased to see so many people present, when the destinies of the government of Canada were shortly to be decided. He appeared as a supporter of the Liberal government at Ottawa, and began by a discussion of the tariff question. Seventeen years ago the Conservatives were in power, and they had then no

PICKLE FACTORY GUTTED.

CHARGE MADE IS COWARDICE

OUTCOME OF DISASTER
TO STAR OF BENGAL

New York, Oct. 3.—Lots of New Yorkers may have to go without pickles this winter, owing to a fire that occurred at Hickville, I. I. At 8 o'clock flames were discovered in the big pickle factory of Aiert & Maguire, and despite the frantic efforts of the firemen the entire plant, one of the largest in the country, was destroyed.

Forty tons of sauerkraut was roasted to black cinders. Thirty tons of pickles, averaging 1,000,000 pickles to the ton, or 30,000,000 pickles in all, were destroyed. The savory smell of hot sauerkraut and pickles was felt all over the island of Long Island. The fire lighted up the sky for miles around.

EXCLUSION OF PRIEST LEADS TO TUMULT

Strange Scene During Session of Women's Catholic Order of Foresters.

Detroit, Oct. 3.—A tumultuous scene occurred at yesterday's session of the Biennial convention of the Women's Catholic Order of Foresters, when Rev. Father McCorry, from the platform, denounced High Chief Ranger Mrs. Elizabeth Rodgers for having ordered priests to be excluded from the convention. Supporters of Mrs. Rodgers declared that the temporary exclusion of Father McCorry and another priest yesterday was due to a mistake of the door tenders. Father McCorry, however, declared that the colored waiters who had acted as door tenders had insulted him and laid violent hands on him at the order of the high chief ranger. The accused violent incident in a tumult of re-terminations among the delegates, Mrs. Rodgers was assisted from the room in a fainting condition.

protective tariff. There was a period of depression and in 1896 the people decided to have a change. The Liberal policy was then met with all kind of pessimistic prophecies. The Liberal government did not begin in a hurry or rush into hasty and ill-considered legislation. They appointed a commission which travelled the whole length of Canada and gathered in all the evidence that could be given. The results were then revised, and a tariff for revenue purposes imposed. The result was more than satisfactory. Taxation had been reduced and revenue had trebled. The Tories had charged that the Liberals had taken from $1,500,000 to $2,500,000 more than they should have taken from the people of Canada. They had a complete answer to that charge in the fact that there was $20,000,000 more in the savings banks than there had been prior to 1896, and in the chartered banks over $400,000,000 more than in 1896. (Applause.) If the Liberals had taken more money from the people the money had returned to the people in the ratio of one dollar for every ten dollars that the tariff had worked to the benefit of the people.

Take the money that had been expended. Look at the money that had been expended in the development of the country, and in the improvement of waterways. The government had in some cases in this connection spent ten dollars to every one expended by the Tory government. PECULIAR CLAIM IS BEING PUT FORWARD Ground Upon Which C. B. Bratton's Action is Based.

To-day the statement of claim was filed in the registrar's office in the case of Bratton vs. Martin. This case is a peculiar one and its outcome is awaited with interest. The action is being taken on behalf of Charles B. Bratton, who was confined in jail on suspicion that he had something to do with boundary lines in this city. His complaint is that Mr. Justice Martin did not make an order setting him at liberty as soon as Bratton thinks should have been done. The statement is a rather interesting document and reads as follows: The plaintiff is an insurance agent, and resides in the city of Victoria, in the province of British Columbia. The defendant is a pulse justice, and as such, one of the Judges of the Supreme Court of British Columbia. The defendant is a public ministerial and administrative officer of the Dominion of Canada, in the province of British Columbia, and as such charged with a duty of hearing in British Columbia applications for summonses for writs of habeas corpus as aforesaid. The defendant in such capacity as aforesaid wilfully refused to discharge such duty as aforesaid or to hear an application in British Columbia or otherwise for a summons for a writ of habeas corpus at the instance of the plaintiff, as hereinafter set forth. That on the 6th, 7th, 8th, 9th, 10th and 11th days of August, A. D. 1908, the plaintiff was a prisoner in the provincial jail, at the city of Victoria, under and by virtue of a warrant of commitment, given under the hand and seal of George Jay, Esq., police magistrate in and for the city of Victoria, in the province of British Columbia, on the 26th day of June, 1908, at the city of Victoria, whereby the keeper of the said jail was commanded to receive the plaintiff into his custody in the said jail, and there safely keep him until he should be thence delivered by due course of law. That on the 6th, 7th, 8th, 9th, 10th and 11th days of August, A. D. 1908, the plaintiff applied to the defendant in his capacity as a pulse justice and public ministerial and administrative officer as aforesaid for leave to move and obtain his habeas corpus and to hear an application therefor, and the defendant wilfully refused and neglected to hear or allow any or either of the said motions on the said days or upon any other day or days to be made, and although the defendant was then and there notified that such proposed application and order to be made thereon had been assented to by the honorable the attorney general for the province of British Columbia, and all that was required of the defendant was his signature to a formal order of release, the defendant still so wilfully neglected and refused. The plaintiff says that the defendant is liable to pay to him the sum of $500 under and by virtue of the provisions of an act for the better securing the liberty of the subject and for prevention of imprisonments beyond the seas, passed in the 31st year of the reign of King Charles II, and shortly described as 31 Car. II, Ch. II, A. D. 1679, and known as the Habeas Corpus Act, for such wilful refusal. The plaintiff says that the defendant in so wilfully refusing, failing and neglecting to perform the functions of his office as aforesaid is liable to the plaintiff for such wilful refusal, failure and neglect, irrespective of such statute. The plaintiff therefore claims $500 penalty under the said act, damages, costs of this action, and such further and other relief as the nature of the case may require. J. A. Atkin represents Bratton in his case. Four out of five loaves of bread made in England are of foreign wheat.

The fall of snow is unprecedented for this time of the year. TRAGIC ENDING TO ROMANCE. New York, Oct. 3.—Despondent because of his dark prospects for the future, Francis Kearns, 23 years old, shot his fiancée, Miss Margaret St. Clair, 25 years old, after taking her to a lonely spot in the east meadows in Central Park late last night, and then tried to kill himself by firing a bullet into his head. The girl will recover, but the young man will probably die. The Cunard line has advised E. E. Blackwood, their local agent, that the S. S. DEATH CAPTURES PUGET SOUND PIRATE "Pig Iron Kelly" Was Well Known Character Throughout Northwest.

(Special to the Times). Port Townsend, Oct. 2.—"Pig Iron Kelly," an old time smuggler and known in every part of the Northwest as a waterfront pirate, died Sunday of heart disease aboard a fishing schooner at Oak Bay. Kelly is not his name and it is said that a revelation of his identity would create a sensation throughout eastern Canada. Kelly derived the title of "Pig Iron" from stealing from the Ironclad smelter, when that plant was first operated. He has been chased by every customs official and revenue cutter on Puget sound for twenty years. Kelly came to the fish trap at Oak Bay in a small rowboat. He has traveled and made his home in this kind of craft for several years.

TRIMS SAILS TO MEET POLITICAL GALE Henri Bourassa Declares His Attitude During Present Campaign.

Montreal, Oct. 3.—Announcing his attitude towards federal politics, Henri Bourassa at the National last night declared he would not take any direct part in the campaign. The reason was, he did not wish to compromise those of his Liberal and Conservative friends who would come forward to shake hands with each other after the long political warfare and unite in supporting him for the provincial campaign. He did not wish to compromise his Conservative friends in the provincial elections by turning towards Sir Wilfrid Laurier, and similarly he did not wish to compromise his Liberal supporters by going to the side of Mr. Borden. He would, however, support M. Giroux, the Conservative candidate in St. James.

"CONGO WILL BE AVENGED." State Issues Official Document Deprecating "Falsehoods" Circulated in Anglo-Saxondom. Brussels, Oct. 3.—The Congo Independent State has published its last official document. This consisted of a long reply to the attacks on the administration of the state emanating from abroad. The communication says that the charges that King Leopold crunched himself in the Congo are untrue, and that His Majesty always was disinterested in carrying out the great and troublesome task of governing the state. The document deprecates and protests against the "falsehoods and legends" circulated in England and the United States with regard to cruelty and abuses in the Congo, and says in conclusion: "His Majesty will judge severely these deceiving critics, and the Congo will be avenged."

INTERESTING THEORY OF LOCAL METEOROLOGIST

F. Napier Denison on Effect of Atmospheric Pressure on the Globe's Surface.

An interesting theory substantiated by considerable data based on wide investigation is embodied in a paper by F. Napier Denison, of this city, which was recently read before the Royal Astronomical Society of Canada at a meeting held in Toronto. The paper is on the effect of atmospheric pressure on the earth's surface, and the theory is the outcome of an exhaustive study of the results achieved from a close observation of the workings of Professor Milne's seismograph and an instrument which Mr. Denison has invented himself. The paper which occasions considerable interest in the east is given in part as follows:

The object of the following notes is to bring before the members of the Royal Astronomical Society of Canada an account of certain earth movements observed on the Pacific coast, which it is hoped may tend to explain the cause of some terrestrial phenomena not fully understood and also lead to a further investigation of the subject.

In the autumn of 1893 a Milne horizontal pendulum was installed at Victoria, B. C., in connection with our meteorological service, and from then to the present time continuous photographic records have been obtained from it.

Apart from the shorter period undulations as earthquakes, tremors, etc., so graphically shown upon these traces, the writer became intensely interested in observing remarkable "wanderings" of the horizontal pendulum, first in one direction and then in the other, often lasting for days, and sometimes sufficient to necessitate adjusting the leveling screw to keep the free end of the boom of the centre of the photographic paper.

Thinking these movements were caused by changes of atmospheric pressure, the writer has kept a continuous daily record of these "wanderings," large and small, of the pendulum, and for several years beginning with January, 1899, he has tabulated and plotted a curve of these movements. By studying this curve in conjunction with the weather charts of the Pacific coast for the same period the following information was obtained:

When the barometer is high over the Pacific slope from British Columbia to California, and low over the adjacent ocean, the horizontal pendulum is deflected towards the eastward. When the barometer is high off the coast and low over the Pacific slope, the movement is towards the westward.

The greatest movements occur during the stormy winter months, and the least during the summer type of almost continuous fine weather. These movements often commence some hours before the local barometer indicates an approaching change of air pressure.

In June, 1901, a paper by the writer, entitled "The Seismograph as a Sensitive Barometer," was read at a meeting of the Royal Meteorological Society, London, and in the autumn of the same year I had the privilege of personally presenting further data on the same subject to the British Association meeting held at Glasgow, and also to the pleasure of laying these plotted curves before Sir George Darwin at Cambridge. He was surprised to observe such large movements of the horizontal pendulum under changes of air pressure, and the small effect due to the rise and fall of the ocean tides in this vicinity. He advised me to obtain more data, and to install a horizontal pendulum to swing north-south in order to study this direction of tilting along with the present east-west pendulum and the general changes of atmospheric pressure.

Although the writer has succeeded in keeping a continuous record of the movements of the east-west pendulum, it was not until January, 1907, he was enabled to personally construct a simple form of Milne pendulum and set it to swing north-south in the basement of the post office building upon the solid rock, and about 500 feet distant from the east-west pendulum. From then to the present time interesting results have been obtained from these instruments.

I take pleasure in bringing before this society plotted curves showing the daily movements of both pendulums, and the mean daily temperature from February 1st, 1907, to January 31st, 1908. The vertical lines indicate twenty-four hour periods and the horizontal ones millimetres; the upper curve represents the movements of the east-west pendulum whose period of vibration is fifteen seconds and its angular value 0.73. The intermediate curve shows the movements of the north-south pendulum which has only a ten-second period of vibration is not so sensitive as the east-west instrument. The lower curve gives the mean daily temperature.

In studying these curves one cannot fail to observe a remarkable correspondence between the two pendulum plots, that is when the east-west pendulum swings west, the north-south moves northward, and when the east-west swing is pronounced, the other instrument travels to the southward.

Before describing the distribution of barometric pressure prevailing during several typical cases shown in these curves, the writer has found that when the barometric pressure is greatest from California northward to the Canadian prairie provinces, and low over the North Pacific coast and British Columbia, the east-west pendulum moves east and the north-south instrument south.

When a vast area of high barometric pressure spreads south-easterly across Alaska to British Columbia and low barometric pressure prevails to the southward of this province, we find the east-west pendulum swings to the west and the north-south one to the north, that is to say, both pendulums move in the direction of the greatest load on the earth's surface due to differences of atmospheric pressure.

Mr. Denison here gives a few examples which are demonstrative of this interesting phenomena and which show that the two instruments, although with different movements, work in harmony. Continuing he states:

At Victoria, situated upon the southern end of Vancouver Island, the movements of these pendulums demonstrate a tilting of the earth in a westerly in the direction where the pressure of the atmosphere is greatest.

These pendulums often commence and continue swinging in a certain direction hours and sometimes more than a day before the barometers along the Pacific coast indicate the approach of great cyclonic or anti-cyclonic areas from the ocean.

These peculiar movements are greatest during the stormy weather of winter and least throughout the summer, when the changes of barometric pressure are small throughout the Pacific slope.

To arrive at the true connection between pendulum movements and air pressure changes, the latter must be studied with charts covering areas of from one to two thousand miles in extent, otherwise the local atmospheric conditions may appear to cause a contrary tilting effect to that indicated by the pendulums.

The loading of the Pacific slope during the winter months with heavy rains and the pressure of snow to the westward of this. The curve for the first half of March, 1907, is a good illustration of this action.

From a careful perusal of the east-west Milne photographic record, the diurnal movement is found to be well marked upon fine days, and either absent or hardly so during overcast and rainy weather.

The loading effect upon the coast, due to tidal action, is only noticeable upon the records, chiefly during the summer months, when little differences of barometric pressure prevail and when extensive fogs obscure the horizon.

When great differences of air pressure are taking place over the Pacific slope, the tidal effect upon the pendulum is completely masked by the greater deflecting force.

In conclusion, it is the writer's intention of increasing the value of future local observations of this phenomenon by installing another horizontal pendulum at the city of Vancouver, and through the courtesy of the Grand Trunk Pacific engineers at Prince Rupert another under their supervision at that northern town.

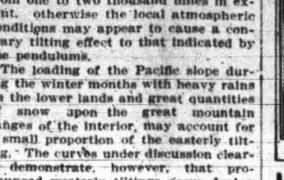

It is hoped the above notes may throw further light upon a subject treated by Sir George Darwin, Prof. Milne and others and may lead to a more complete study of this most interesting subject in other portions of the scientific world.

We heard during the past session perhaps more about the Ross rifle than anything else. Aim at every week we had had a debate to show that the Ross rifle was dangerous and defective. The whole Conservative party worked behind these accusations, with one exception, an honorable exception. Col. Hughes, the member for Victoria and Halliburton, had always stood by the Ross rifle, and to-day we had the testimony of British experts that the Ross rifle was the best weapon of the kind in existence. There was a scandal which had exploded. The Hodgins scandal had also been exploded. And so it will be with all the other scandals. I have no doubt whatever that the day will come when dead and gone Laurier will be held up as a model and as a pattern of virtue.—Sir Wilfrid Laurier.

THE MEMBER'S RECORD.

The establishment of wireless telegraph stations in this province is one of the outstanding features of Mr. Templeman's record. Previous to the installation of this system telegraphic communication between Victoria and Vancouver and the West Coast was very uncertain and shipping men were imperfectly informed of the movements of vessels and the weather conditions on the coast. The wireless telegraph stations established on the Atlantic seaboard had proved very successful and Mr. Templeman concluded that they would be very important factors in the scheme of navigation improvement he was inaugurating on the Pacific coast. While acting Minister of Marine he gave instructions to the government superintendent of wireless telegraphs to proceed to British Columbia and at once have five stations erected at Victoria, Pachuca, Estevan, Cape Lazo and Point Grey. This was done as promptly as a very energetic superintendent could do it, and the five stations were soon in successful operation. It was while carrying out this plan that Mr. Templeman resisted the demand of the Marconi Company for a close monopoly of wireless telegraphy in Canada. The company had an arrangement with the government for the operation of wireless stations but from that arrangement the very essential requirement of intercommunication with other systems of wireless telegraphy was omitted. An act was passed providing that companies must take out licenses before they could operate in Canada, and the essential feature of that license was that there must be intercommunication with other systems. The Marconi Company declined to accept the principle of intercommunication and instituted action against the government. Mr. Templeman, however, was sure of his ground and the action never came to a head. The Shoemaker system was adopted for the Pacific Coast stations, which are operated by the government. They exchange messages with all vessels and stations equipped with apparatus, irrespective of the system used, which is absolutely and vitally necessary to the proper safeguarding of life and property. Provision has been made for more stations farther north. Those already erected have proved of considerable utility in reporting shipping, weather conditions and other marine intelligence. It is a source of deep satisfaction to the people of this city that the wireless telegraph system installed on this coast was fathered and carried out by Mr. Templeman.

TIMBER LIMITS A CONTRAST.

The charge of the Conservative press that the Liberal government had given away timber limits in the great Northwest was gaily, jauntily, wantonly flung out, but like the boomerang, it returned to smite the accusers with a vengeance. Since 1896, when the present government attained power, it has sold only 6,458 square miles of timber limits, and it received therefor the sum of $325,578. In addition to this sum the government receives a ground rent of $20,000 a year and also a stumpage of 50 cents a thousand feet. The Liberal government has not given away one single acre of timber, and it never sold an acre except at public competition and to the highest bidder. Let us go back a few years and see what the Conservatives did with timber lands when they were in power. We find such a record of legalized robbery, of damnable prostitution of power, as would make a California or Oregon land thief blush for very shame. A systematic process of looting began in 1878 and continued until 1896. During this period the Tories disposed of no less than 29,822 square miles, or 18,766,690 acres of timber limits. Of this vast area no less than 23,857 square miles or 15,351,050 acres were given away, not one cent of bonus being paid therefor. It is pretty safe to assume, however, that large contributions were made by many of the grantees to the party corruption fund, but this was only another crime added to the original. The persons who received these timber limits were Conservative members of Parliament, Senators, defeated candidates, party-workers, prominent supporters of the party throughout the country, and other obsequious, knee-crooking knaves who could bring their base blades of servitude and present it to the dispenser of fat things. You will not find the name of a single Liberal in the long and shameful list.

In one year alone, 1883, no less than 10,326 square miles, or 6,608,640 acres, were given to these men or supple conscience who had wiped all scruples from their souls. During this year alone the quantity of timber limits given away would make a strip three miles wide reaching from Halifax to Vancouver. It is no wonder that these political libertines wish to get into power, that they may once more gratify their unshamed avarice.

Before us lies a list of about fifty names of the beneficiaries of the Conservative timber limits policy. Let us mention a few with the acres they received: Shields, Haggart and McLaren, 100 miles; Mr. Haggart was Minister of Railways and Mr. McLaren a Senator.

J. G. H. Bergeron, M. P., 50 miles. Mr. Bergeron accompanied Mr. Borden on his western trip as expounder of purity and exhibited himself as an example thereof.

Hon. D. Tisdale, Minister of Militia, 50 miles.

Hon. W. E. Sanford, Senator, 50 miles.

Dr. W. H. Montague, Minister of Agriculture, 50 miles.

Senator Muirhead, 50 miles.

Adam Brown, ex-M. P., 50 miles.

But we need not prolong the list.

What a fine lot of patriots and how they loved their country, loved it by the square mile, loved it in blocks of square miles; and how they yearn to show their love once more just as they did before. How they would like to batten and fatten themselves and live in idleness on the luxury of unearned things.

Let it not be forgotten that it was the Conservative Minister of Justice who held the grab-bag. Angela and ministers of grace defend us from ever again experiencing that kind of dispensation of justice.

FOSTER AGAIN.

The fact that Mr. Foster has not appeared on any public platform with Mr. Borden has caused much comment. Nearly everybody has reached the conclusion that there was a breach between the two, and many Conservatives were rejoicing in this belief. They expressed regret that it had not taken place long ago when it would have helped the party. To throw him over now seemed like swapping horses when crossing the stream. These rejoicings were premature. Mr. Borden has at last spoken and given his co-adjutor a qualified endorsement. At the Toronto meeting in Mr. Foster's own constituency the latter did not even appear. But Mr. Borden said: "I have the honor and pleasure of knowing Mr. Foster in public life for twelve years, I have yet to know where any man can place his hand on one spot in Mr. Foster's public career which was not straightforward, honest and creditable to himself."

Mr. Borden by some very convenient sort of reasoning has evidently persuaded himself to consider Mr. Foster's actions with reference to the Forester's trust funds as no part of his public career. An hour or two before Mr. Borden's Toronto meeting the Montreal Star, one of his strongest and ablest supporters, said: "The Liberal press is constantly asking why Mr. Foster does not accompany Mr. Borden on his tour. We are even told that Mr. Foster, who is the Conservative candidate for one of the Toronto constituencies, will not appear with his leader at the big Toronto meeting. To these questions neither Mr. Borden nor Mr. Foster offers any reply. But it is surely to Mr. Borden's credit if this divorce be of his making—that he declines to preach his policy of purity from a platform upon which sits, ready to speak after him, the man who, as manager of a trust company, poured the funds in his keeping—the trust funds of the widow and the orphan—into a speculation for his own personal profit."

The Toronto News which is at the present time the most ably edited Conservative paper in Canada, said of Mr. Foster on June 15th, 1907: "Mr. Foster, as the Conservative candidate in North Toronto, will urge the electors to condemn at the polls the reckless handling by the government of the public funds, he will talk of the decline of the contract system of purchase, of the alienation of public lands to speculators, of the outfit of the steamer Arctic and of the furnishings of the ice-breaker Montcalm. His whole argument will rest on the fact that the government is extravagant with its money, careless of its future obligations and 'good' to its friends. Moreover, he will show that all the money pouring into the Ottawa treasury, at the rate of over $1,500,000 a week, comes from the people of this country, and is held in trust by the administration for the public good. And all this will be true."

"Let the men of North Toronto be urged, as a protest against this extravagance, to elect Mr. George E. Foster, ex-manager of the Union Trust company. It was Mr. George E. Foster who was unable to see any conflict of duty in his dual position as manager of this company, and partner in a western land company which used Union Trust money to carry on its speculative and hazardous business. It was Mr. Foster who believed, or affected to believe, that the mere transfer of money from the Independent Order of Foresters to the Union Trust Company left that money free for speculative investment, that it ceased to be held in trust for the assured in the Independent Order of Foresters. It was Mr. Foster who knew perfectly well the laws of this country concerning the investment of trust funds, and who violated those laws by borrowing money on behalf of a syndicate from the Union Trust Company, of which he was manager, on the security of stock in a speculative land company. Later the present Supreme Chief Justice insisted on the return of the stock, and the substitution of a mortgage."

"It was Mr. Foster who, in the face of these undeniable facts, alleged with the most remarkable assurance that the insurance inquiry was instituted solely to injure him, and that it probed unduly into his private business. And it is a man of such remarkable obliquity of moral vision and such a superb quality of 'nerve' who asks for election as a condemnation of the mishandling of trust funds by the Ottawa administration. Mr. Foster would have made a better figure before the public if he had admitted the impropriety of his part in a man, instead of walling about political persecution and private business. It is not private business to handle trust funds. It is public business, and the more public it is the better for the owners of the money."

The News has never taken back one word of that article. It now maintains a mastery but unscrupulous silence as to Mr. Foster, and its editor, Mr. Willison, sat on Mr. Borden's platform and heard him give Mr. Foster the certificate of character quoted above. It remains to be seen if it will have the audacity to support him in North Toronto again.

THE HODGINS CHARGES.

It was hard, cruel hard, on our contemporary, after it had acted as midwife at the birth of the Hodgins infant and subsequently as its wet nurse, that the poor thing should be slain by its alleged author. It reminds one of the pathetic ballad about the beautiful Nancy Bell and the gallant Lord Lovell. Who laid himself down in the grave by her side. With a struggling gulp and a gurgle. Gave three kicks, two hops, sung a song, blew his nose. Heaved a sigh, and then died in the struggle, 'uggle, 'uggle, 'uggle, 'uggle. Heaved a sigh and then died in the struggle.

Once more our contemporary desires to change the subject. It forsakes its former love, the tariff, will not look at it, smile on it or even speak of it. Whence this fickleness? Poor old N. P. Is there 'none so poor' to do it reverence? The Colonist prefers to switch off to what Sir Richard Cartwright and Sir Wilfrid Laurier said about Conservative expenditure in the days when the revenue did not pay running expenses, when we had to borrow money to keep house, when we had nearly two millions less population than we have now, and did one-third of the business. Will our contemporary never wake to a knowledge of the fact that the Canada of to-day is not the Canada of Conservative days?

With characteristic "modesty" and hyperbole—the Colonist takes upon itself credit for Dominion government works in this province. The admission that there is any credit due some one—even itself—is quite a concession, because we have been so frequently told that these works were merely "matters of routine." We are wondering now if it was the Colonist which forced the signing of Magna Charta and drafted the Declaration of Independence.

The death occurred this morning at the Royal Jubilee hospital, of Samuel Totterdell. Deceased was a native of Taunton, Somersetshire, Eng., and was 61 years of age. The late gentleman was a farmer at Wellington and was attending the fair held here last week when he was taken ill. The remains were removed to the Hanna Undertaking parlors, where they were prepared and forwarded at 3 o'clock this afternoon for interment at Wellington.

Are They Fresh?

THAT'S IT!

A drug may be pure—that is, it may not be diluted by adulteration—but unless it is fresh, it is not advisable to use it; for many drugs deteriorate with age.

All our drugs are watched and carefully checked as to age limit, and we do not use any stale drug in prescription work or for any purpose about our store. A drug must be fresh or we will not use it.

Remember this when you have a prescription to fill or wish to buy any drugs.

Workman at Smith's Hill Injured By Blast.

E. Woodcroft, one of the city workmen engaged on the excavation work on the site of the Smith's Hill reservoir, had a narrow escape from death or serious injury yesterday afternoon. He was springing a hole, as it is termed, enlarging a drill hole by the exploding of a small charge so as to admit of a larger charge than usual being used to loosen the rock. He had attached and lighted the fast fuse and was in the act of tamping down the sand on top when he noticed that the fuse was burning very much faster than it should.

Woodcroft jumped back on the instant, but was a little too late. The sand and dirt blown out from the hole struck him with great force on the forehead, cutting and scorching his face and filling his eyes. His fellow-workmen picked him up and one ran to telephone the police and Coroner Hart. It was found on Dr. Hart's arrival that Woodcroft was not much hurt, and when the dirt was washed out of his eyes they appeared all right. He will be able to return to work in a day or two.

—The collections in the inland revenue department for the past month were as follows: Spirits, $11,286.26; malt, $3,237.13; manufactured tobacco, $2,423.02; raw leaf tobacco, $974.12; cigars, $384.10; other receipts, $629.72. Total, $18,919.35.

—The funeral of the late William Steinberger, of Saanichton, took place this morning at 8:30 o'clock from the parlors of the W. R. Smith Funeral Furnishing Company, and at 9 o'clock at St. Andrew's Roman Catholic cathedral where the Rev. Father Laiterme officiated at the graveside. There was a large attendance of friends and many beautiful floral offerings were sent. The following acted as pallbearers: W. Young, W. B. Smith, Mr. Ray and R. Lewis.

—Harvest Thanksgiving services will be held in St. John's church on Sunday next as follows: Holy Communion, 8 a. m., morning prayer; Holy Communion, 11 a. m.; children's flower service, 2:30 p. m.; evensong, 8 p. m. Any children and their parents who would like to attend the flower service will be made heartily welcome. The children are requested to bring either fruit or flowers which will be afterwards distributed in the hospitals. The collections during the day will be of a special character and in aid of the heavy taxes upon the church. The choir have been very busy preparing special music for the festival, and Mr. Jennings Burnett's new evening service will be sung at evensong.

HAD NARROW ESCAPE.

Workman at Smith's Hill Injured By Blast.

E. Woodcroft, one of the city workmen engaged on the excavation work on the site of the Smith's Hill reservoir, had a narrow escape from death or serious injury yesterday afternoon. He was springing a hole, as it is termed, enlarging a drill hole by the exploding of a small charge so as to admit of a larger charge than usual being used to loosen the rock. He had attached and lighted the fast fuse and was in the act of tamping down the sand on top when he noticed that the fuse was burning very much faster than it should.

Woodcroft jumped back on the instant, but was a little too late. The sand and dirt blown out from the hole struck him with great force on the forehead, cutting and scorching his face and filling his eyes. His fellow-workmen picked him up and one ran to telephone the police and Coroner Hart. It was found on Dr. Hart's arrival that Woodcroft was not much hurt, and when the dirt was washed out of his eyes they appeared all right. He will be able to return to work in a day or two.

EXPENSES OF SUNDAY-GAMES TO COME UP

Soccer League Officials to Discuss Expenses of Trip.

Among other business, Sunday football will again come up for discussion at the meeting of the Victoria District Association Football League to be held on Monday night at the Victoria West Athletic Club hall, with the question of financing the team which is due to go to Ladysmith on Sunday the 18th of the month. At the last meeting of the association a proposal was mooted for a smoking social to take place during the coming week for the purpose of raising funds to finance the trip of the local team to Ladysmith. Details in connection with the proposal will be discussed and the question as to whether the local men will support the proposal sufficiently to defray the expenses of the trip or whether the members selected to play the Sunday game will prefer to pay their own expenses, will be considered. The league at the present time, it is stated from the reports of the last meeting, is not overburdened with funds, and some finances will be required to send the team to Ladysmith. The entrance to the Pacific Coast League trained the expenses of the local league considerably and the support received at the games so far this season has not been large enough to defray the necessary expenses that have been required to date. The trial match drew a very small attendance, there not being about thirty people present, the best men in the league can be got together to pay their own expenses, the league officials are proposing the smoker, which they will use every effort if it is brought to a head to make a success of. The fares alone for the trip will amount to about $40, without the expenses incidental to the accommodation of the men while at Ladysmith, so that there will have to be a large support that the members of the league clubs can secure. As there are a large number of the players who are against Sunday games, it is doubtful if they will feel it in accord with their principles to support the means of sending the team away for the Sunday game. Failing this there will be no other means at hand but for the players themselves to finance their expenses, which will be a bar to the best team going. Without the very strongest team, however, it is practically useless for the local men to go up as after their match against the Ladysmith last Saturday, when they were kept the whole afternoon from scoring, the Ladysmith people will have a win recorded before the match takes place.

With the departure of the Shearwater in the course of a few weeks, the Esquimalt team will lose several good men, but there is the arrival of the Egeria, which will take place before the departure of the Shearwater, from which the Esquimalt team may possibly be strengthened. Secretary Locksley has recently received an application from the Egeria men for admission to the league, but so far the executive has taken no action in the matter. The advance of the season will be a bar to the admission of another team into the league, so that it is more than probable that the places of the men who go out on the Shearwater will be taken by the men arriving on the Egeria.

In the Pacific Coast League schedule the next game is set for Saturday, October 10th, when the Vancouver and Seattle teams will play at Vancouver. The following Sunday the Seattle team will play at Nanaimo, where they will be up against a hard proposition.

WEEK-END SPORTSMEN GO OUT IN NUMBERS

Sidney Answers for Small Bags—Duncans Sends Best Reports.

This morning's train took out a full passenger list of game hunters bound for points far up the line, the majority of them being booked for Duncans, a side of which place there appears to be very few birds. Several of the sportsmen who were out Thursday and returned to the city yesterday morning have left again for the woods with the intention of visiting other parts in the search of sport. Mr. Chailoner and party left for Duncans, from where reports are that there is good sport. From this district, however, the optimistic reports are that five good bags have been obtained numbering in all about 150 birds for parties numbering perhaps thirty men in total. However, reports are that bags of moderate size can be obtained and with this end in view the train took out a crowd this morning.

From Saanich there is a report that birds are scarce and that sportsmen who go in that direction must go far out for game, as the birds are not to be found this side of Sidney. W. Fairall yesterday brought in from this district twelve cock pheasants, three grouse and nine quail while another bag from the same district made up thirteen quail and eight pheasants.

Toronto Will Go After the Trophy With New Boat Next August.

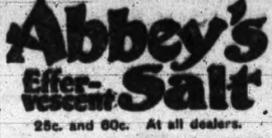

The Royal Canadian Yacht Club, of Toronto, will build a challenger for the Canada's cup, and a series of races for the international silverware will be sailed next August. A Jarvis, one of the best informed yachtsmen in Toronto, will sail the new yacht, which will be designed by Bingley Benson, a marine architect of Toronto. The boat will be built right in Toronto.

The cup is now held by the Rochester Yacht Club. They won it in 1903, and have hung on to it ever since, despite a couple of challenges. The last boat to sail for it was Mr. Cawthra Mulock's Adèle, and she was badly trimmed by Sanson. The contest was sailed off Charlotte last summer.

GEORGE PARIS WILL NOT BE REMOVED

Vancouver Lacrosse Club President Upholds Big Colored Man.

Notwithstanding the request of prosecutor W. G. McQuarrie, of New Westminster, for the immediate removal of George Paris as trainer for the Vancouver Lacrosse Club, the officials of the local club state that Paris will remain with the club and continue to train the players. In the police court at New Westminster, Mr. McQuarrie pressed Mr. Russell, counsel for the defence, to give his word that Paris would be removed from the position of trainer of the Vancouver club.

In connection with the attitude of the Vancouver club, Mr. Barry has forwarded the following letter to the Vancouver News-Advertiser:

To the Sporting Editor, News-Advertiser—Sir: I noticed that Mr. W. G. McQuarrie, the prosecutor in the case against Geo. Paris, asked for the dismissal of Mr. Paris from the Vancouver club. This is something that we will not do as we have always found Mr. Paris to be a gentleman while in the employ of the Vancouver Lacrosse Club, and in my opinion Mr. McQuarrie has unmitigated presumption to ask for such a thing. Yours, etc., M. J. BARR, President Vancouver Lacrosse Club, Vancouver, October 1, 1908.

THE CLANNA

Given a colored legislature or a majority of colored men elected to fill the office of law-makers in a southern state, where the race color is drawn tighter than the hangman's rope, and conceive that the colored men then did their worst in the way of legislation instead of their best, and you have the foundation on which "The Clansman" is built as produced at the Victoria theatre last night. The drama centres round the happenings between the whites and the colored race of the state of South Carolina, and is the dramatization by Thomas Dixon, Jr., of his two novels, "The Leopard's Spots," and "The Clansman." It portrays the plottings of a colored legislature in power, and the effects of some supposed laws which would follow should the colored population of the south ever become the power for which it is said they are working. The drama shows from its portrayal last night, however, that there are good negroes, good white men and women, and bad negroes and also very bad white men. The story also delineates the character of the colored race very plainly, no is it behind hand in also picturing the cowardice of the white man. There are several colored characters in the cast, played by white men with more success than colored men could handle them. The character of Eve, by Maud Durand, as the colored retainer of the Cameron house, is undoubtedly a piece of work that will command itself to all who are fortunate enough to crowd into the theatre to-night.

Alex, the colored sheriff under the new regime, never an old-fashioned negro, who like Alex cannot forget the customs of the Cameron house where they were born, both give clear and faithful characters and provide the humorous portion of the play. The leading character of Miss Lynch, the colored governess, is in the hands of Charles J. Wilson, who made it all that it is conceivable a colored governer could be, even at his best.

Eugene Hayden, as Elsie Stoneman, takes the leading character of the motherless daughter of the radical leader, who looks for equality and social equality of the whites and the colored races till Lynch, the colored governor proposes to marry Elsie, when the radical leader proves extremely radical and refuses to listen to such a proposal in the character of Miss Hayden's triumph. The organization of the clan of white men for clearing up the colored race government and for assuming control again adds to the drama of the play and brings about the climax when lovers meet and villains die, and the curtain runs down.

"The Clansman" is a strong drama, strongly presented and characterized. The separate parts are in capable hands in every instance, and there is not a weak character in the cast. The Victoria theatre last night was without a vacant seat and evidence was on hand that there will not be a vacancy in the theatre to-night when the drama is played for the second time. "The Clansman" is perhaps the best that has come to Victoria since "The Virginian."

NEW RECORD RECORDED.

Swimming at Liverpool recently, David Billington broke the world's 400 yards record by 3 2-5 seconds; his time being 5 minutes 23 4-5 seconds.

—Rev. H. L. Stephens, of Toronto, is announced to preach in the Church of Our Lord on Sunday morning next. Mr. Stephens is a speaker of great power and depth of spiritual insight and interest in his visit is aroused.

—Christian Science services are held in the K. of P. hall, corner of Pandora and Douglas streets, Sunday mornings at 11 o'clock. Subject to-morrow, "Unreality." All are welcome.

—Liberal voters, who have changed their residence from one part of the city to another during the past three years will confer a favor on the campaign committee, and assist in the work if they will call at the rooms on Government street and give the secretary their new address.

the biograph will be especially good and of a very laugh-provoking nature. The titles are "A Doctor—Quick!" and "The Suicidal Poet." All of which with a possible added feature, will make up a programme that looks very good. To-night will be the last performance of this week's very entertaining show.

"The Flaming Arrow."

American plays by American authors should ever be interesting events in a community where Americanism is a dominant characteristic. In presenting "The Flaming Arrow" by Lincoln J. Carter, the American author, at the Victoria theatre on October 15th, the theatregoers will have a chance to see an art creation worthy of the sort. The characters are fitly and ably taken by people who know their business, some of the cleverest actors before the footlights being included in the cast.

The play is one that will live as long as the American drama is in existence. It tells in the best style and most interesting and graphic manner the life of the Indian and inhabitants of the western border. The comedy is unique and original; the character is dramatic and consistently wrought up and the love scenes sweet and romantic. It is essentially the great story of the play that has made it such a long life and it will be a difficult matter on some other author's part to produce a parallel as good as this play.

"The Time, the Place and the Girl."

One of the comedy complications of "The Time, the Place and the Girl" is formed when all the principal characters find themselves manacled in a state of quarantine authorities. They organize a commonwealth with one of the members as governor and much fun is inspired by the incident which are developed by his rebellious subjects. The possibilities of this situation include the greatest action from the young woman whom he desires to marry. This record-breaking success will be seen at the Victoria theatre on Wednesday, November 2nd.

THE NEW GRAND.

Acts to be seen for the last time to-night at the New Grand, are The Cycling Leaders; Adams and Guhl, "The German Explorers"; Arnold and Ethyl Grazer, musical act and toe dancing; Rosa Roma, violinist, and Al. Coleman, dialect comedian, besides the Musical Teachers' singing pictures.

For next week a strong bill will include the marvelous sister, Ylerone, the world's greatest globe rollers, who do most wonderful acrobatic feats, white poised on the rolling spheres; Edward Tolly and Winifred Williams in their own comedy picture act, "The Music Teacher"; Rafferty and Lewis; Miss Castell, female baritone; Merode, Roman ring artist; Thos. J. Price, in a new illustrated song; new moving pictures entitled, "A Mother-in-Law and Artist's Model," and "Twist Love and Duty," and a comedy in the way of an overture, which is expected to make a hit. This is a beautiful selection entitled "Traum Der Sennin," (for which, by the way, there is no sufficient English translation), on a Columbia graphophone, kindly furnished by Fletcher Bros. with orchestral accompaniment by Prof. Negel's all-star players.

"Paid in Full."

Wagenhals and Kemper announce an elaborate production of the great play of contemporary American life, "Paid in Full," by Eugene Walter, at the Victoria theatre on October 15th. In the presentation that Wagenhals and Kemper offer they will have one of the most notable acting companies in America, and the production here will be as complete as that given for nine months at the beautiful Astor theatre, New York, and for five months at the Grand Opera House, Chicago. "Paid in Full" has been endorsed by the critics as the greatest play since the days of "The Banker's Daughter" and "Jim the Penman."

What to look for Where to find it

By all odds, the most important thing to remember when buying underwear is to look for the Pen-Angle trade-mark. Picture shows you where to find it. Every garment so trade-marked is guaranteed perfect in material and making. If it isn't, the dealer will hand you back your money. You risk nothing when you buy Pen-Angle underwear. Pen-Angle is made for men, women and children, in many fabrics, weights and form-fitting sizes. The Pen-Angle line contains the garments that will best suit your requirements at this season, and every other season of the year. Your dry goods dealer or gents' furnisher will show you Pen-Angle Underwear.

What is New Life?

NEW LIFE is a herbal remedy, hid for ages from white man's knowledge, locked in Nature's wild and guarded laboratory, known only to the wandering Indian tribes of the interior, and now—scientifically prepared and placed upon the market—it is the world's greatest remedy for Indigestion, Constipation, Dyspepsia, Flatulency and all ills which can be attributed to any derangement of the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels.

Our Faith in its Merits is Built on Nothing Less than Accurate Knowledge of What it Does.

Our plan of making its merits known is by offering to young ladies special prizes for a little effort in this connection, and by giving to each purchaser of NEW LIFE an opportunity to win a splendid prize.

Round each bottle of NEW LIFE is wrapped two coupons. One is good for 100 votes in favor of the lady you desire to aid in winning the contest. The other entitles you to an estimate on the total votes cast during the contest.

The Full Prize List for Ladies is:

A $1,500 MASON & RISOCH GRAND PIANO
 To the lady polling the largest number of votes as the most popular lady in British Columbia.

A $500 HEINTEZMAN PIANO
 To the lady polling the next largest number of votes in the same contest.

A $400 KARN PIANO
 To the lady polling the third largest number of votes.

To the person, man or woman, boy or girl, who estimates nearest to the total number of votes cast during the contest we will pay $500, $200, $100, and FORTY (40) FIVE-DOLLAR GOLD PIECES, respectively, for the forty-three nearest to correct answers.

AUSTRALIAN TRADE INJURIOUSLY AFFECTED There Has Been a Falling Off for the First Five Months of Year. The Australian Commonwealth trade for the first five months of the years 1907 and 1908 was: Imports, Exports, 1907 .. 130,222,884 129,659,173 1908 .. 88,069,149 24,511,971 The decline in imports for the month of May is very considerable, having been $3,240,713 as against $5,903,345 in May of 1907, says J. Larke, Canadian trade commissioner in his last report. The decrease in exports amounts to about the same extent—$699,000. The decrease in exports has been in other merchandise than wool, very much larger than is indicated by the figures, as there was an increase in the exports of gold of nearly $2,550,000. The principal decreases are as follows: Wool, 13,377,911; wheat and flour, $1,951,395; butter, 1,282,615; other merchandise, $1,849,229. These figures give a fair indication of both the character of the trade and of what it is likely to continue to be for the balance of the year. Rain has improved the outlook of both the pastoral and agricultural interests, but there is still a division of opinion as to whether or not the wool shear this year will be equal to that of last. South Australia is an exception, having the prospects of an unusually good year in all its industries. Queensland is very fair.

LOCAL STOCKS ARE CHANGING HANDS A Number of Sales Reported by City Firms.

Prices were somewhat firmer in local and B. C. stocks this week, a large number changing hands at slightly advanced prices. Among the coal stocks Royal Collieries seems to be the favorite, it reaching the high mark this week by reporting a sale at $2c. Nicola Valley Coal & Coke changed hands the beginning of the week at $2, and shows a tendency of becoming stronger. International Coal & Coke advanced three points.

Coppers are all weak, and offerings were made that week, or two ago would have been eagerly snapped up. B. C. Copper was down to $1.50 the first part of the week, but has since advanced to $1.75. A report has been received that Dominion Copper is in the receiver's hands. This news was quite unexpected on account of the general weakness of the copper market.

Others, with the exception of Canadian Northwest Oil, have been very quiet. Sellers of American-Canadian and Western Oil dropped several points, but met with no response from the buyers. Canadian Northwest Oil has gradually risen from the low prices which prevailed a week or so ago, and which were due entirely to manipulation. There are plenty of buyers of this stock, but sellers are scarce. The bears have had their turn and were quite successful for a few days, but conditions have righted themselves and the stock is today bringing good prices.

Coeur d'Alene were very active all week, a large number of sales being recorded. Missoula Copper changed hands at 4c, and Nabob at 2c. On account of the many inquiries, Coalt stocks will hereafter be listed on the Vancouver Stock Exchange and will be quoted here.

YOUNG LAD KILLED IN TRAGIC ACCIDENT About to Unload Gun When Weapon Discharges Into His Breast.

Rosland, Oct. 2.—Chester David McKay, a young lad, met with a tragic death on Monday while hunting. A charge of bird shot from his own gun was accidentally discharged into his breast and he died instantly. In the forenoon Robert Mitchell and Chester started on a hunting trip on Mount Christy mountain. Game was plentiful and blue grouse, which they were after principally were not found. They shot one rabbit. At noon they arrived at a spring near the Evening Star mine. There is a curbing and covering over the spring, which stands about a foot and half above the ground and about two feet above the water. They laid their guns on the curbing and after they had drank from the spring Robert Mitchell sat down on the curbing to rest after the arduous walk through the brush, which they had just finished. While McKay stood up opposite to him on the curbing Mitchell thought it would be a good plan to unload his gun, and taking it up from where it rested on the curbing he extracted the shells. McKay asked Mitchell for some tobacco for the purpose of making a cigarette, and the latter gave him what he asked for. At that moment McKay stretched out his right hand for his gun, presumably for the purpose of unloading it. He caught hold of the weapon by the muzzle and drew it in that position towards him. As he did this the weapon was discharged. It is presumed that the discharge was due to the hammer coming in contact with some projection on the curbing. The charge entered the breast and made a clean cut hole about the size of a silver dollar. Without uttering a word McKay fell back and it is thought he was dead before his body reached the ground. Mitchell was horrified at the suddenness of the tragedy and endeavored to resuscitate his companion. As his efforts were fruitless he ran to his home as fast as he could and got his father and brother Harry, who hurried with him to the scene of the tragedy. The deceased lad was the stepson of Rupert Bulmer, and would have been sixteen years old on the 23rd of next December. He was born at Fairview, B. C. For several years he attended the public schools of this city, which he left about a year since. For a time he was employed at the Rosland Engineering Works, and since he quit

SLOW RECOVERY IN THE IRON MARKET Pig is Rather Quiet—Better Demands in Some Other Lines.

STUBBORN INDIGESTION ONE WHO HAD SUFFERED FOR YEARS CURED BY DR. WILLIAMS' PINK PILLS.

There he has been seeking work in the mines, but failed to secure employment owing to his being too young for such jobs as are available. He was a member of the bugle corps attached to a Company of the 102nd Regiment. He was a lad of an amiable disposition and was a favorite with a large circle of the larger boys of this city. The symptoms of stomach trouble vary. Some victims have a ravenous appetite, while others loathe the sight of food. Often there is a feeling as if weight on the chest, a full feeling in the throat. With others there is an intense pain and feeling of nausea after eating. Sometimes gas presses on the heart and leads the sufferer to think he has heart disease. Sick headache is another frequent and distressing symptom. Mr. Alex. McKay, McLellan's Mountain, N. S., says: "For years I was a great sufferer from indigestion, which was gradually growing worse and worse, and it would be impossible for me to tell how much suffering I endured. At different times I had treatment from three good doctors but it did not help me in the least. Then I began trying all sorts of advertised medicines and took ten packages of one medicine specially intended for dyspepsia, but with no better result. I had practically come to regard myself as incurable, and to feel that I would be a continuous sufferer, when one day I read in a newspaper of the cure of indigestion through the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and I made up my mind to give them a trial. I had used nearly five boxes before they began to help me, but I do not wonder at this as my case was an odd one. In all a dozen boxes of the pills, and they cured me completely. I can now eat anything I raise on the farm for man to eat and have no longer the pains and discomfort I had endured for years. It is several years now since I was cured and I have never felt a symptom of indigestion since. I am well known in this locality and you are quite at liberty to use what I say in the hope that it will benefit some other sufferer." All medicine dealers sell Dr. Williams' Pink Pills or you can get them by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont. No. 12 committee, Victoria West, of the Liberal organization, will meet in the committee room on Monday evening.

WORLD'S OVERSEA TRADE.

Reduced Turnover. But Britain Still Leading.

Britain's supremacy in the overseas trade of the world is again exemplified in a board of trade return just issued, says a London exchange. The figures given in the return represent the imports and exports of several countries during the first half of the present year as compared with the corresponding periods of the two preceding years.

In all the five leading countries, quoted below, except the United States, the imports represent articles for home consumption, and in all cases the exports are of goods of home production. The Belgian returns are for principal articles only:

Six months.	Imports.	Exports.
United Kingdom	£259,910,000	£189,903,000
Germany	204,254,000	140,530,000
United States	108,844,000	180,148,000
France	121,944,000	104,327,000
Belgium	68,077,000	50,597,000

It will be seen at a glance that Britain's huge aggregate £449,003,000 (re-exports excluded) far exceeded the total imports and exports of any other country. German coming next with £256,358,000. The well-known trade shrinkage this year was of an all-round character, all the above countries exhibiting declines of both imports and exports as compared with the first half of 1904.

Steamer Marama, which sails for Sydney, Australia, the beginning of the week, is about full of passengers, large numbers of them taking this route from San Francisco.

British steamer Halewood is expected to arrive within a few days in ballast from Panama to await order. R. P. Ribbet & Co. are her agents.

EE A MOTHER'S EE HAPPY THOUGHT.

A lady writing from Ireland says: "I went to see my sister's baby, who was very ill indeed. She had been up for nights with his without sleeping, and he was crying all the time as well as having pain. The doctor told her he could do nothing except put him in a warm bath, which gave him a little ease for the time being."

I thought of STEEDMAN'S SOOTHING POWDERS which I used for my own children, and next day I sent some to my sister, when she gave the child her a powder, according to directions. For the first time for a fortnight she and the baby, and, in fact, all the household, had a good night's sleep, and the little fellow has continued to improve ever since.

These powders do not contain poisons, are they a narcotic, but they act gently on the bowels, thus relieving colic, flatulence and preventing its complications, etc.

Please notice that the name STEEDMAN is always upon with EE.

NO DEFINITE DEAL FOR STEAMER ATLANTA

International Navigation Co. Looking for Suitable Vessel.

Word has been received by the local office of the International Navigation Company, from their president, Joshua Green, stating that up to the present the Atlanta has not been purchased. At the same time there is a representative of the company in England trying to buy a suitable fast vessel for the Vancouver, Victoria and Seattle route. No definite deal has, however, been made as yet.

The rate war to the Sound is still continuing at a loss, it is reported, to both of the companies concerned, but neither is ready to give way. The International Company has determined to fight it out and their intention is to purchase suitable steamers in order to make the competition even keener than at present.

TO CONTROL WAGES.

Longshoremen's Union to Be Formed to Include All Coast Cities.

The meeting of the longshoremen at Portland last week will probably result in the formation of a union of these to govern hours of labor and working conditions as well as the question of wages at all the Pacific coast ports, Vancouver, Victoria and other coast cities. The plan of the convention is to amalgamate all unions from Vancouver to San Diego and establish uniform conditions of labor. It is stated that the amalgamated unions will back Vancouver in case of disputes, and that the Vancouver rate for stevedore work will be raised to meet the Seattle and Portland rates.

MARINE NOTES

The Liverpool barque, Carnedd Llewellyn, which has been posted as missing with all hands, carried a crew of 26, and proceeded from Swansea to Santiago, Chili, and thence to Callao, Peru, where she loaded nitrate for Paimouth, leaving on February 19th. The vessel was spoken four days later, and has not been heard of since. It is believed that she sank off Cape Horn either from collision with an iceberg or during a gale.

There have not been as many Chinese pay the five hundred dollar tax for admission to the country during the past month, only twelve arriving. Several hundred, however, took outward passage to China and paid the regular dollar charge. The following are the customs collections for the month: Duty, $33,630.32; Chinese, $4,500; other revenue, $20.25. Total, $40,150.64.

For their part in the collision between their respective steamers in Seattle harbor recently, Capt. Hendrickson, of the Sentinel, and Capt. McAlpine, of the Chippewa, have had their licenses suspended for 30 days. The inspector found that both of the officials were to blame, and that had proper judgment been exercised the mishap might have been avoided.

The following changes are announced in the C. P. R. coast steamboat service: The Queen City, commencing at once, will leave Vancouver at 10 o'clock a.m. Thursday, making the same stops as heretofore, but going only to Hardy Bay. The stops at the Rivers Inlet canneries will be made hereafter by the steamer Amur, leaving Victoria on the 1st and 15th of each month.

Capt. Robert Dunham, master of the steamship Rosanoke, is seriously ill at his home in Portland, with typhoid pneumonia. Capt. Dunham was forced to leave his ship immediately on her arrival in Portland and his place was taken by Chief Officer Black. Captain Black will command the Rosanoke until Capt. Dunham is able to return to duty.

The steamer Indianapolis, operating between Tacoma and Seattle, is to be installed with a wireless apparatus by the United Wireless Company. According to Manager Galbraith, of the wireless company, the equipment is all ready and will be placed in position next week.

The Merchants' Exchange has received a cable dispatch from Manila stating that the United States steamship Tarlac was caught in a gale on September 23rd and driven ashore on Borongan Island, one of the Samoan group. It is thought the vessel will be a total loss.

During the heavy gale, the barquentine Alta, which has been anchored in the Burrard Inlet, dragged her anchor early yesterday morning and brought up abreast of Gore avenue slip. The scow on which she has been loading pigs went along with her.

The fisherman named Gosling and Ramsay picked up a yacht which was adrift on Burrard Inlet yesterday morning. It is an open boat, about 30 feet long, with new sails.

The old torpedo boat Albatross, which was sold when the Esquimalt naval station was closed, and which ran on a rock in English Bay a short time ago, has gone to pieces. The hard blow on Thursday night sealed her fate.

The steamer Manhattan has arrived in Vancouver from Hecate Straits with 100,000 pounds of halibut.

New York, Oct. 2.—Arrived steamers: La Lorraine, Havre; Lucania, Liverpool; St. Andrew, Antwerp.

HUMBOLDT TO BE REPAIRED AT SEATTLE

Salved Steamer Went to Puget Sound Under Her Own Steam.

The steamer Humboldt has gone to Seattle for repairs. All day yesterday the wrecked steamer lay in Esquimalt Harbor at Bullen's wharf, while temporary repairs were made. Her mate previous to sailing, declared that she was staunch enough to go to San Francisco and that he could take her there. The president of the owning company, Max Kalish spoke in high praise of the work of the B. C. Salvage Company. The Humboldt crossed to the Sound under her own steam and made excellent time.

BLUEJACKETS ARE ON THEIR WAY HERE

A party of Ninety Expected About the End of the Month.

A party of ninety bluejackets will leave England on or about Oct. 15th for Esquimalt and are expected to arrive here at the end of the month. The day following their arrival, H. M. S. Shearwater will pay off and will be recommissioned for another term of service on this coast. Commander Crawford, when interviewed this morning, stated that he would remain in command at this station but that as far as the other officers were concerned he had as yet received no notification from the Admiralty. The bluejackets who are coming will relieve others on the Shearwater who are due for home having fulfilled their term at Esquimalt. With the new arrivals the Shearwater will have a full complement as a number of her present crew have only recently come to Esquimalt and have yet some time to run in the service on this station.

Diver just ready to descend to examine hull of steamer Humboldt, at wharf of B. C. Marine Railway Company.

CITY OF PUEBLA BROUGHT BIG CARGO

San Francisco Liner Arrived From South Last Night.

The steamer City of Puebla arrived in last night from San Francisco, carrying a large list of passengers, to the number of 57. Of these were for Victoria; Mrs. G. A. Boothus, Thomas Fowler and wife, G. A. Rutherford and wife, and nine second-class passengers. She also brought a large quantity of fruit and vegetables and other food products for local merchants. The steamer left this morning for the Sound.

U. S. S. GEORGETOWN HAD BAD TRIP

The following wireless message was received by Stephen Jones, of the Dominion hotel, at 5 o'clock last night from the steamer Portland, on her way from northern ports to Seattle, where she arrived about midnight:

S.S. Portland, Friday, 5 p.m. Best wishes by wireless. We met the U. S. S. Georgetown at Ketchikan. She had a bad trip down and lost one of her boats, which was washed overboard near Cape St. Elias. Among the prominent passengers aboard the Portland are Major Bell, U. S. Inspector general, department of Columbia, who has been inspecting army posts in Alaska; Major Richardson, superintendent road commissioner, was aboard from Cordova to Juneau. Several miners aboard who have had very successful seasons. Make reservation for Charles Barrington and wife, who come over on Sunday boat from Seattle. Will arrive in Seattle to-night at midnight.

With the arrival at Liverpool of the Anchor liner Castalia Captain Sharfo Aberly brought to a success close a sea career of over forty-five years, thirty years of which have been spent in the service of the Anchor line in their regular trade between England and India. He has carried 3,200 passengers between India and England without accident, and navigated the Suez canal over 100 times. He has also been instrumental in saving life at sea, and a jeweled loving cup was presented to him by the Austrian government for rescuing the crew of an Austrian vessel in the Bay of Biscay.

FREIGHT POLICIES OF TRANSCONTINENTAL ROADS

U. S. Lines to Suspend Publication of Far Eastern Tariffs--C.P.R. Files Rates.

New York, Oct. 2.—At sharp difference in freight policies between the Canadian Pacific railroad and all American transcontinental companies carrying freight to the Pacific seaboard for transshipment to the open ports of Japan and China, it is likely to be brought to the front again by a step taken yesterday by the Canadian company, which filed with the Interstate commerce commission in Washington, its preliminary through rates on cotton piece goods between points in the United States and ports in the Orient, such rates showing the proportionate charges for carriage inland and for sea carriage. The Canadian Pacific company filed this rate in compliance with the strict letter of the rule 8, tariff circular 15 A, which was promulgated by the commission on April 15th, and which becomes effective on November 1st.

This ruling of the Interstate commerce commission, against which there has been great protest on the part of the American roads carrying through shipments to the Orient, provides that all railroads receiving through freight for a foreign port shall publish their through rates to such port with the distinct specification of what it costs to move such freight through the territories of the United States.

Since the Interstate commerce commission has no jurisdiction over ocean carrying rates the American roads which compete with the Canadian Pa-

Synopsis of Canadian Northwest Homestead Regulations.

Any even numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba or the Northwest Provinces, excepting 3 and 21, not reserved, may be homesteaded by any person of age, to the extent of one-quarter section, of 160 acres, more or less.

Application for homestead entry must be made in person by the applicant at the office of the local Agent of the Sub-Agent.

Application for entry for inspection made personally at any Sub-Agent's office may be wired to the local Agent by the Sub-Agent, at the request of the applicant, and if the land applied for is vacant receipt of the telegram such application is to have priority and the land will be held until the necessary papers to complete the transaction are received by mail.

In case of "personation" the entry will be summarily cancelled and the applicant will forfeit all priority of claim.

An application for inspection must be made in person. The applicant must be eligible for homestead entry, and only one application for inspection will be received from an individual until that application has been disposed of.

A homesteader whose entry is in good standing, and not liable to cancellation, may, subject to approval of Department, relinquish it in favor of father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister, but to no one else, on filing declaration of abandonment.

Where an entry is summarily cancelled, or voluntarily abandoned, subsequent institution of a new entry by the same person will be null and void.

Applicants for inspection must state in what particular the homesteader is in default, and if subsequently the statement is found to be incorrect in material particulars, the applicant will lose all prior right of re-entry, should the land become vacant, or if entry has been granted it may be summarily cancelled.

DUTIES.—A settler is required to perform the conditions under one of the following plans:

(1) At least six months' residence upon cultivation of the land in each year during the term of three years.

(2) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased) of a homesteader resides upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for such homestead, the requirement as to residence may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

(3) If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead, the requirement may be satisfied by residence upon such land.

Before making application for patent the settler must give six months' notice in writing to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa, of his intention to do so.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTHWEST MINING REGULATIONS.

COAL.—Coal mining rights may be leased for a period of 21 years, at an annual rental of $1 per acre. Not more than 2500 acres shall be leased to any individual or partnership.

At the rate of five cents per ton shall be collected on the merchantable coal mined.

QUARTZ.—A person of legal age, or over, having discovered mineral in place, may locate a claim 150 x 150 feet.

The fee for recording a claim is $5.

At least $100 must be expended on the claim each year during the term of the lease, or in lieu thereof, when $500 has been expended or paid, the locator may, upon having a survey made in compliance with other requirements, purchase the land at $1 per acre.

The patent provided for the payment of a royalty of 25 per cent. on the sales.

Fluorite mining claims generally are not leased.

An applicant may obtain two leases to mine for gold of five miles each for a term of twenty years, renewable at the discretion of the Minister of the Interior.

The leases shall have priority in operation within one season from the date of the lease for each five miles. Rental $100 per annum for each mile of river leased. Royalty at the rate of 25 per cent. collected on the output of gold.

W. V. COY, Deputy of the Minister of the Interior.

H. B. Chausseron, Commissioner of the Department of the Interior, this arrangement will not be paid for.

GOVERNMENT ST., VICTORIA, B. C.

OVER THE TEA TABLE

The friends of Miss Violet Patton will be glad to hear she is improving nicely after going through a serious operation at the St. Joseph's hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. C. K. A. Moorhead, of Alberni, are guests at the Empress.

The Countess of Warwick, for many years noted for her Socialistic tendencies, is now renouncing them in favor of the more amusing occupation of horse racing, and has just had her racing colors registered.

Mrs. J. H. Harris, of 362 Seymour street, Vancouver, announces the engagement of her daughter, Rose, to Mr. I. Lancaster of Victoria.

Mrs. S. H. Brown of Vancouver, has come to Victoria to make her home with her daughter, Mrs. J. S. Gordon.

Mrs. J. M. MacGregor, of Vancouver, is visiting friends here.

Mrs. J. E. Church and family leave on the Governor this evening for Berkeley, California, where they will make their home. The home on Fort street has been taken by Mr. Archibald.

Mr. and Mrs. McAdam and Miss Bailey, of this city, were guests at a very fashionable wedding which took place in Mount Pleasant Methodist church, Vancouver, on Wednesday last, the contracting parties being Miss Florence May Bruce and Mr. Le Roy Dolson.

Mrs. Leighton, of Savonnas, and Mrs. Wade, of Kamloops, who have been visitors here and in Vancouver for the past month, have returned home.

T. M. Henderson, who was here a few days ago attending the fair and renewing his acquaintanceships in Victoria, is returning from active work in the drug company which absorbed that of Henderson Bros. some years ago. Although his general health was much improved as a result of the year's furlough given him by the company, the bereavement of the past summer has impaired his health and he felt he could not continue his active connection with the firm in which, however, he retains his interest. He expects to spend the winter in Florida. On leaving, he was presented with a diamond pocket and suit case by members of the staff.

Mrs. E. J. McFeely, of Vancouver, is still a guest here. Mr. McFeely returned home on Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Lambly, of Inverness, Quebec, spent Thursday with their son in this city, returning in the evening to Vancouver where they are attending the Methodist board of missions.

Miss Brownhill, of Vancouver, is visiting friends in the city.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Crasbie, of Vancouver, are guests at the Empress.

Hon. F. J. Fulton, K. C., went to Vancouver yesterday.

W. R. Roebuck left this morning via

THE DOCTORS SAID "THERE MUST BE AN OPERATION"

"FRUIT-A-LIVES" SAVED MRS. MCCREADY UNTOLD SUFFERING AND ALMOST CERTAIN DEATH.

"Publish this for humanity's sake," writes Mr. C. McCreedy, of Putnam, Ont., in his letter to the owners of "Fruit-a-lives." Physicians said that only an operation could save his wife's life. But again "Fruit-a-lives" proved its wonderful powers. The doctors were wrong—Mrs. McCreedy is to-day well and strong—and "Fruit-a-lives" have made friends of every one for miles around Putnam.

"Dear Sirs,—My wife suffered for over a year from indigestion and bowel trouble. Several doctors treated her for this trouble and advised her that only an operation would save her life, as they stated it was a tumor that was causing the trouble. The operation was to cost $200, and while she was debating in her own mind about being operated on, she was advised to try "Fruit-a-lives," which I procured for her from our local merchant. From the first box she improved and after having taken four boxes she is completely cured and is now as well as ever.

"I decided then that "Fruit-a-lives" was the most wonderful remedy in the world and it certainly saved my wife's life. She still takes one tablet every night, we also give them to the children with excellent results, and they have to thank "Fruit-a-lives" for the fact that their mother is now with them. They fully expected she would be in her grave. Publish this for humanity's sake."

(Sgd) C. MCCREADY.
For Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Constipation and Biliousness—for all troubles due to defective action of Bowels, Kidneys and Skin, "Fruit-a-lives" is a certain cure. These tablets are made of fruit juices and flavors, are pleasant to take and quick to act. Trial size, 25c—regular size, 50c, a box of 6 for $2.50.

At all dealers or sent on receipt of price by Fruit-a-lives Limited, Ottawa.

the Charming and C. P. R. on a business trip to Toronto.

Mr. John Coats, the president of the Ottawa Gas Company, who is paying a visit to the coast is at the Empress.

Admiral Boardman and family arrived from England yesterday, and are staying at the Empress. They expect to be here for some time.

Miss Muriel Murray and Miss Lilian Chapman, of Toronto, who have been visiting friends here, left this morning for home via the C. P. R.

Mrs. W. S. Beckwith is enjoying a visit with her mother, Mrs. Geldut, of Wifredo, N. S., whom she had not seen for over twenty years.

The annual meeting of the Alexandra Club, which was to have been held Monday afternoon next, has been postponed for two weeks, owing to the death of Mrs. Joan Dunsmuir.

Miss Edith Davis has taken Mr. Goward's cottage on St. Charles street.

Mr. and Mrs. Bradley Dyer, of Saturna Island, were guests of Dr. and Mrs. Hasell last week.

Miss Tilton, of Seattle, is visiting friends in town.

LADY GAY.

WOMAN.

Woman!
What a creature, what a feature
In the land!
Ofttimes fair to the beholding,
Sometimes fury-like with scolding;
Her's to kindness, her's in blindness,
Her's in sadness, her's in gladness;
Oft beguiling, with her smiling,
Man,
Her's to sting through weal or woe,
Her's no weariness to know,
Her's to dust and her's to sweep,
Her's the house to tidy keep;
Her's to bake and her's to sew,
Her's no leisure 'er to know;
Her's like butterfly to live,
And 'er use no record give
Save ornament.
Her's to aspire, her's to desire;
Her's to believe, her's to deceive;
Her's to be fooled, her's to be scolded
To patience.
Now upon the piano playing,
Now into the kitchen straying;
Now man's seat in street car taking,
Now at home, his coffee making,
Now with eyes so soft and tender,
Now with form so tall and slender,
Now with eyes of anger flashing
And with tongue so madly lashing
Man.
Now in student's gown and cap,
Now in dainty hat and wrap
On the street.
Now the maid with lovers many,
Now the wife, not wanting any
Save the one,
Eyes of black and eyes of brown,
Eyes that smile, and eyes that frown,
Eyes of blue and eyes of grey,
Eyes that many things can say
Has a woman,
Her's to soothe the brow of anguish,
Her's on pouch of pain to languish
Often,
Her's the faith that never falters,
Her's the love that never alters
Once 'tis given,
Sometimes bad, oftentimes good,
Ofttimes gracious, sometimes rude;
Oft by herself, but by man understood
Never,
Sweet and human, such is
Woman.

The first question should ask herself before adopting a new color is, will it be becoming to me? Blue seems to be the color in the ascendant at present and it comes in so many new shades that one or other will be becoming to either blonde or brunette. The blue or violet eyed blonde of the pink and white type will find the turquoise tone perfectly adapted to her, whether as a trimming or as entire garment.

The blonde with brown eyes may wear a darker shade of turquoise, the lighter tones of duck's wings and the pastel blue dashed with green.

The blonde who has high coloring needs very careful dressing, otherwise she is apt to look coarse and frowzy, especially should the hair be of a bright red or golden shade.

She should choose a subdued tone of peacock if she would look her best, or if a pale shade is preferred, a pastel blue will be better than a true turquoise.

For the colorless blonde, warm peacock blues—not too dark in shades, as any tone of deep green has a tendency to increase the palor of the skin—will be the better choice.

A deep (not dark) shade of duck's wing will become this type and so will a tone of turquoise that contains more than green.

Navy blue may be worn by every kind of blonde, and the same may be said of the brunette.

In choosing shades from the new color the genuine brunette, dark-haired and dark-eyed, with rich color in cheeks and lips, may wear any of the peacock shades, the paler turquoise and the duck's egg blue.

The fair brunette, with dark hair and blue eyes, will be wise to choose the turquoise shades rather than green tints, look pretty in this kind of brunette.

The creamy brunette can wear only the very palest shades of duck's wing and duck's egg blue. Turquoise is apt to make the skin look sallow unless it is exceedingly white.

Brown comes next in favor to blue, and here the brunette is favored above the blonde. If possessed of a good complexion, she may wear any shade of brown from cream to seal. Golden browns, chestnut browns, golden tans and champagne tints will alike become her. Deep red tans and red shades of brown will impart a warmth to the sallow-skinned brunette, and the golden browns should be the choice of the creamy brunette.

The dull orange tints and the chamomile shades that are included in the browns will be immensely becoming to brunettes.

The browns that suit blondes are the rich, deep, dark shades. Lawns should never be worn; neither should light browns, golden browns, or the tan tones. Ash blondes with pink cheeks and red lips belongs to the only type that can wear golden brown successfully.

The woman who is neither light nor dark may choose golden brown, but all fawns or tans must be strictly avoided, as they are too nearly akin to the color of the hair to be successful.

Down on the wharf the other day motley groups of Indians, returning from hop picking in Washington state, were waiting for the various express wagons to transport them and their belongings to their various destinations. It was noticeable that when there was any space to spare on the wagon, the Siwash invariably planted himself comfortably thereon, leaving his kiootchman, often with a papoose slung over her shoulders in a shawl, and a heavy basket in either hand, to trudge behind. It was also noticeable that when a number of little boys and girls were trudging along together, the girls in every case were laden with the baggage, leaving the boys free to enjoy themselves. "Truly," thought I, "there is nothing like early training." But to and behold! when I reached Government street I met a happy pair; the kiootchman was smiling the happy expansive smile that is wrought not to come off, and she had gold filling in her teeth; more wonderfully still, her husband was arming her aloing "a la Anglaise," and holding for her a bag of chocolates out of which she was helping herself with a frequent, "Truly," thought I, "life is full of contradictions." They may have been on their honeymoon trip, but if so, they were anything but a youthful couple, so it may be that civilization has done something more for the Indian, than predispose him to tuberculosis.

THE GREAT BEYOND
At the ceremonies in connection with the Simon Fraser centenary at New Westminster a poem was read written by W. J. Dowler, city clerk of this city. Mr. Dowler has ability as a writer of verse, and the following is that written by him for the occasion referred to:

This day recalls to mind the man a valiant Scot, who he was "brought" to this land through this land from mountain pass to sea,
Explored the wilds which ne'er before the feet of white man trod,
And served, more nobly than he knew, his country and his God.
No minister transient shrines his bones, or guards their last repose;
Unheeded of the summer's heat, or winter's chilling snows,
They rest beneath a robe of green which wraps a gentle mould,
Beside the dust of wife and kin, in Cornwall's burial ground.
The night wind whispers o'er his grave her secrets of the past,
Above, the silent stars look down through spaces deep and vast,
The breath of eve bedews the sward which soft the moonlight creeps,
Near by, the broad St. Lawrence to the ocean grandly sweeps.
So runs the race of man on earth, of prince, or pauper he,
Forever flows the stream of life, to ward a shoreless sea;
Think you that soft the moonlight creeps, and daring quest, and energy sublime,
Shall find no gateway of escape beyond the bounds of time?
Displace an atom of the air, 'tis felt the world around,
Speak to the soft in undertone, the planets hear the sound,
Flash but a thought upon the mind, and to new life is born,
And arid deserts are transformed to waving fields of corn,
And yet no arrow wings its bird unheeded the bow in bent,
No great achievement ever crowned a life of dull content;
The man of action feels the spur of unattained desire,
It burns, unceasing, in his breast, like lambent flames of fire.
An undiscovered country lies beyond the sunset's rim,
The voices of its mountain streams are calling unto him,
What though grim perils crowd the way, and ills that none can shun,
Immortal is the life of man until his work is done.
Not brave is he who knows no fear, but he whose spirit spurns
The craven thought, his fear subdued, and resolutely turns
His footsteps to the path, his gaze upon the distant goal,
Where glory waits to crown the faith of every noble soul.
Thus Simon Fraser's spirit yearned to view the wonders of the West,
He launched his frail canoe upon the torrest's foaming crest,
And swift as wing of passing bird its water bore him on,
Through raging cataracts and floods, where canyons gape and yawn.
Fierce, hungry rocks, his frantic bark, stood ready to devour,
New dangers rose on either side, and hung on every hour;
Above, he saw the shafts of lightning, sending heaven's floor,
And heard the solemn echoes of the thunder's roar.
The river tribes beset his path with snares on every hand,
Arrayed against his onward course the force of their command,
Withheld the food he craved, refused the aid he sought, by day,
Around his camp they stalked at night, to plunder, or to slay.
Still on he pressed, despite his fears, despite his wily foes,
Who strove, with energy and might, his journey to oppose;
On through the storm and stress, the rain and mist, until at last
The gloom and terrors of the way were safely overpast.
Behind—the grand cathedral towers of earth, majestic, rose,
On whose eternal, sun-crowned spires the snows of time repose.
Before—he saw the bosom of the great Pacific gleam,
And stood, like one enchanted, midst the splendors of a dream.
His work was done. The stream he sailed a hundred years ago,
Was destined to enshrine his name, long as its waters flow;
Perhaps, in some sublime sphere his noble spirit soars,
And, through illimitable space, The Great Beyond explores.

at the residence of Mrs. Harrison, 1223 Harrison street, Tuesday next, October 6th, at 3.30. All members and all those wishing to join the order are urgently requested to be present.

Palms for Victoria.
Speaking with a Times representative, Mr. T. P. director, who is now in the city, said, "Why don't you grow palms in Victoria? Stock here would go up ten points if you did, and there is no reason at all why certain varieties should not be grown successfully. I grow them on my estate in Ireland, where the climate is exactly the same as here. The excellent palms, and aurs, bambos, are both handsome trees and if a few plants of each sort were set out in your parks where they would be sheltered by the larger trees, they would spread and develop in a surprisingly short time, and Victoria stock would, certainly go up ten points. It might be necessary to protect the trunks with matting during the severest part of the winter, but that would be all."

Victoria Nurses' Club.
The meeting of the Victoria Nurses' Club will be held in the club room, 1099 Johnson street, Tuesday next, October 6th, at 3.30 prompt.
All visiting nurses cordially invited.
Meeting of W. C. T. U.
The W. C. T. U. meeting, held Wednesday afternoon, was largely attended and increased interest was shown in the carrying on of the work. Seven new members were received, and a prominent member from Washington was present.

The committee in charge of the refreshment tent at the fair reported a success of $1000.
The society has resolved to double its membership during the coming winter and to make the Loyol Temperance League a feature of their programme. The need of educational temperance work among the children was emphasized, and earnest efforts will be made to forward it.
Mrs. Spofford has planned a vigorous local option campaign, and left Thursday to federate the temperance forces in every district in the province as a local option committee.
An itinerary has been planned for Miss Maircutt to cover five months. The details of her campaign in Victoria are being arranged.

Musical Club.
The Ladies' Musical Club are holding the first concert of the season this afternoon in St. John's hall. The programme is an exceptionally good one and should attract a large audience.
Mrs. Foley, so well and favorably known as Miss Lugin, will be heard for the first time since her marriage. Mrs. Harry Foley will sing Schubert's "Vandere" in German, and will also sing a duet, "Ständchen," with Mrs. Davis, who also contributes a vocal solo, "Miss Muriel Hall," a favorite with music loving Victorians, will play Henselt's "If I Were a Bird," on the piano, and Miss Miles and Mrs. Hermann Robertson, two artists whose talents are too well known to need comment here, will contribute the programme with Mendelssohn's brilliant and exacting "Capriccio," for two pianos.
The new president of the club is Mrs. Frank Barnard, who succeeds Mrs. Day. Miss Dorothy Day, of Rockland avenue is the honorary secretary. Those who are not members of the club but wish to attend the concerts may arrange to do so by addressing any of the members.

Alexandra Club.
As a tribute of respect to the memory of the late Mrs. Dunsmuir and an expression of sympathy with her family, the members of the Alexandra Club, of which Mrs. Henry Croft is president, have postponed the annual meeting of the club, originally fixed for Monday next, until Monday, October 19th.
The local Poultry and Pet Stock Association will hold its annual show in January from the 25th to the 28th. The judges will be W. H. Denny, of New York, for the poultry, and Thomas Wilkinson, of Nanaimo, for the pigeons and pet stock. The arrangements will be made in a few days.

AFTER THE STORM

CHAPTER II.
"Mamma, this is Mr. Howard," announced Beth with quaint childish courtesy, as having spied her new friend entering their gate, she ran to meet him, and slipping her hand into his, led him to where her mother sat, making a pretty matronly picture framed by the drooping, tasseled branches of a birch tree.

"I must think you for saving this venturesome little girl of mine from a dangerous fall," Mrs. Rosstur said holding her hand for a moment in a close, firm clasp.
At the sound of his voice, Mrs. Rosstur's face paled and she looked at him nervously. "You reminded me for the moment of someone whom I used to know," she said, trying to steady her voice and leaning so heavily on Beth's shoulder that the child looked up in surprise, "but we see so few honest hearts that I have become fanciful and unstrung, I think."
"Have you been here long?" and again an indescribable something in the stranger's voice made the woman wince.

"Only about ten years by the calendar," she answered with a sigh, "but it seems to me sometimes as if I had lived here always and that the former part of my life must have been a dream. You are familiar with the Lotus Eaters, I suppose?"
"The stranger nodded comprehendingly."
"Well, sometimes I think I resemble them and ask nothing of the world but just to be let alone. You know how Tennyson puts it:
"Let us alone. What is it that will let? All things are taken from us, and he to forego it."
"Portlance and parcels of the dreadful past. Let us alone. What pleasure can we have To war with evil? Is there any peace
In dreaming of the climbing wasp?
All things have rest, and ripen toward the grave.
In silence, ripen, fall and cease:
Give us long rest, or death, dark death."
"That is how I have felt for ten years, and I have lived the life of a Lotus Eater on this peaceful island; now I am filled with a strange unrest. I feel that for the sake of my children I must go out, and face the world again, but I dread it, unaccountably for the world has been cruel to me, cruel, cruel."

The stranger's eyes searched the beautiful, troubled face, and for a moment neither spoke; then, Mrs. Rosstur recovered herself with a start and her face crimsoned with annoyance.
"Pardon me," she said hurriedly, "for intruding my personal troubles, I don't know what tempted me to do so, but in an unaccountable way you reminded me of one I knew well in happier days and it seemed such a relief to speak out freely to any one after so many years of repression."
"Will you be coming" with me just as quick as you can," called a despairing voice through the trees, to the little group under the molasses tree. "I am in de kee an' de molasses run'ning away shut like noddings!"
Involuntarily the man and woman looked at each other and laughed as Mrs. Limburner's molasses smeared figure waddled away, and Mrs. Rosstur was able to say in her natural voice, "I must ask you to excuse me while I go to that poor woman's assistance."
"May I not go too and see if I can help locate that devil?" the stranger asked, seeking an excuse to linger longer in the society he found so attractive.
"You wish," she answered smiling, and started for the gate, followed by Beth.
As the three entered the door of her kitchen, Mrs. Limburner jerked from the floor, four-year-old Carl, who stretched at full length by the overflowing keg, was revelling in molasses. He promptly suspended a howl of expostulation when his mother took off her slipper, and wiping his weeping eyes with a pair of sticky lats, began licking more molasses off the window sill where it was mixed with some scattered matches and a mouse trap which had seen active service.
The twins, their hair plastered close to their heads and their impulsive faces transformed by molasses and slatternly clothing. In striking contrast to her stood Mrs. Rosstur, clear-eyed, capable, handsome, and ddy in her dress; strong both mentally and physically as the other woman was weak. "It would be everything of nothing, with her," he thought, "I must take no chances."
"Ach mein goodness but I had de troubles," said the perplexed housewife, tears streaming down her heated face.
"Your molasses has soured," said Mrs. Rosstur, restraining a desire to laugh, "put some baking soda into it. Oh mercy! not so much!" as the other, rejoiced at finding a solution of the vexing problem, was throwing in nearly a pound, "just a little bit. Now, take it outside quick for it will foam up worse than ever for a few minutes."
"Relating the keg Mrs. Limburner started for the door; stumbling just as she reached it, her burden went rolling and thumping down the steps leaving a foamy streak of molasses in its track. "There is a leaf in it," she said solemnly, dropping her jaw in awe, as the keg by a strange freak came to terra firma right side up.
Mr. Howard followed Beth as the child picked her way daintily out to the front yard, a disgusted look on her expressive little face. "My mamma never gets her kitchen in a mess, like

EXPERIENCE IS BETTER THAN ARGUMENT

The world-wide fame of Mother Seigel's Syrup is based on the evidence of men and women whom it has cured of indigestion, biliousness, constipation, headaches, sleeplessness, flatulence, nervous depression, anemia, and other disorders of the stomach, liver and kidneys. Compounded of roots, and herbs, Mother Seigel's Syrup contains digestive ferments and gentle tonics for the stomach, liver and kidneys. These qualities render it invaluable to all who, through unhealthy surroundings, sedentary occupation, worry, overwork, or climatic changes, lack the vitality which only good food, well digested, can supply. When you are tormented with indigestion, so that you can't eat, can't work, can't think, can't sleep, you should at once give Mother Seigel's Syrup a trial. Tens of thousands of people testify to the curative qualities possessed by Mother Seigel's Syrup because it has cured them. Profit by their experience!

Here is some proof:—Mr. Christy Battersow, Mabou, Inverness Co. N.S., writing on August 13th, 1908, says:— "About eighteen months ago I took a severe cold, while at work near Marble Mountain, C.B. Neglect brought on frequent headaches, a racking cough and a sore side. While visiting a friend at Lake Umbagog, I was induced to take Mother Seigel's Syrup. In a short time my cough vanished and apart from obtaining a cure, I increased my weight by thirteen pounds."

was only a starter. The bonuses were to be continued, and thus the Island & Vancouver would all be linked up with the Grand Trunk Pacific. While all these works had been going on, the Liberal government had only increased the public debt by $2,000,000, while the Tory government, during their years of office, had increased it by $115,000,000. The surplus in that time had been $20,000,000. Here was proof that the tariff policy of the government had been beneficial to the people.

were on the stump against the Laurier government. These ministers of the crown were neglecting their duties to help overthrow the Laurier government. There was also an attempt being made to make the question of Better Terms a partisan one. It was not Premier McBride who was sent to Ottawa by a unanimous resolution of the provincial House. They differed as to methods, and would still differ, but the question was still not a partisan one. The statement had been made that British Columbia had paid $25,000,000 into the Dominion treasury. Where was the proof of it? The cause of better Terms was not helped by gross exaggeration. He had been called a traitor to his province for making such a statement. He replied that the traitors were the men who incited discontent and incited public feeling without having just grounds for doing so. (Hear, hear.) Mr. McBride laid his case for the ernals raised it to $100, and after appointing a second commission and considering its findings, raised it to $500 a head tax. Sir Wilfrid Laurier had redeemed his pledges, and this legislation had proved effective until last year. As for the Japanese, the government had followed the recommendation of the commission. The question had never been pushed, but in 1907 some thousands of the Japanese had come into British Columbia. Mr. Oliver charged provincial officers with introducing Japanese immigrants, to say they were bound for San Francisco, not for Vancouver, and this was how the Japanese were landed in British Columbia by means of provincial officers. He then went into the Gotoh incident, and argued that the contracts could not be persuaded the Japanese authorities that Japanese immigrants were wanted by the Canadian people. He then went into the government had got $10,000. Where had the rest gone, and yet the Socialist had supported the government. Mr. Shepherd was a man he did not know personally, but he was the Conservative candidate, and he believed had been brought out by the McBride government. He was, therefore, a supporter of the acts of the McBride government and must share the responsibility. Mr. Smith had been connected with labor movements ever since he came to the country, and he was certain, by perseverance, honesty, thrift and industry, he had built himself up to his present position. These same abilities applied in other directions would have brought him much greater financial results. He knew personally that Mr. Smith had, on more than one occasion, refused lucrative positions, because he had felt he was serving the people, and so long as they wanted him to represent them, he would continue to do so. He was the proper man to represent them.

Ralph Smith. Ralph Smith began by saying that a little electricity had crept into the meeting. He, however, was prepared to base his appeal to the electorate on the outline of his party and his own records. His strongest plea had been the records of his party and his own in going through the constituency. So far as he was concerned he had made it clear that in mastering his opponents he had spoken of them as representatives of a party and not as individuals. He deprecated the introduction of personalities. He was appealing to the constituency for the third time. The first time his friend Mr. Hawthorthwaite was his agent and supporter, and if he looked at the question right he thought that Mr. Hawthorthwaite had not done so well. He had now two candidates to fight, and he believed he would be returned again. (Applause.) He relied upon his record and would put the questions before them as plainly as possible and was prepared to abide by their decision.

Mr. Hawthorthwaite was the Socialist candidate and there was no objection to that. But he had never hesitated to state his objection to state socialism. He had considered the question, and concluded it was not a good thing, and he had a right to state his objections. At one time there was a Socialist candidate in the House of Commons. There was not a Socialist candidate in every province as had been promised, and even in an industrial city like Victoria the Socialists had not been able to get a candidate. He asked what could Mr. Hawthorthwaite do if he were in the House of Commons. There were only two parties, and he supported the Liberals. Mr. Hawthorthwaite could occupy no middle position and must go with one of the parties. If he did not he could do nothing at all. He could not even vote, and the suffrage of the constituency would be null and void.

Turning to Mr. Shepherd, Mr. Smith said he was an honorable man, but he stood as a Conservative and must take the criticism attaching to his party. Let him state that not a party he had known was as good as it ought to be. A party government was failible just as its units were failible. A reasonable man had only to do the best thing he could. He had been surprised at the record given him by Mr. Hawthorthwaite. He thought that that record ate companies and speculators, while less than 10,000,000 acres had gone to homesteads. The Liberals on the other hand had only made grants to private companies of 2,000,000 acres, while 35,000,000 acres had gone to settlers and homesteads. Yet today the Conservatives are criticising the land and immigration policy of the Liberal government. From these figures you must conclude with me that the Conservatives in these criticisms are rank hypocrites.

Mr. Oliver then went on to deal with the northwest country, and to show what immense developments had taken place. The prosperity of British Columbia largely depended on the crops of the Northwest. Owing to a partial failure of the crops last year the lumber industry had suffered a paralyzing depression. Now, he was happy to say, province before his fellow premiers. The question was discussed four days, and Sir Wilfrid Laurier admitted there was a claim for adjustment. Premier Whitney, a Conservative premier, had suggested $100,000 for ten years, and he had been charged with being the tool of a Liberal plot. If the British Columbia case was lost, then the blame should fall upon the man who had charge of the case. They had democratic institutions, and he asked them, even if the case for British Columbia was just, could the Liberal government override the voice of over 80 per cent. of the people of the country, and yet the adjustment suggested had been sanctioned by premiers representing over 90 per cent. of the people of Canada.

Mr. Oliver then went over the Conservative record and asked what the provincial acts that had been disallowed in which Mr. Bowser came in for scathing criticism. He dealt with the Bowser bill, and traced Bowser's connection with the firm for which Gotoh was contractor. If the stigma attaching to the Conservative party from these facts was to be removed the rank and file would have to depose their leaders.

Touching on the Japanese treaty, Mr. Oliver said that the treaty conferred no privilege upon the Japanese that they did not previously enjoy. He denied that Mr. Bowden had ever made any move to defeat the ratification of the treaty. He appealed for what was right. The Japanese government would not agree to a treaty which embodied such a prohibitive emigration clause. Would England agree to a treaty with a foreign country which reflected upon that this year there had been a good crop and the lumber industry was already reviving. Again, there was a demand for British Columbia fruit in the Northwest countries. Now British Columbia fruit could not be sent to Europe. A prohibitive tariff prevented it from going over the boundary line. Consequently the Northwest territories formed the only market, and the vigorous development of the Liberal government had provided a growing market for the product of British Columbia.

Conservative government had done for British Columbia during their term of office. Could any man tell him of a single wharf that they had built for the purpose of exporting fruit? He had never met one who could. Now look what the Liberal government were doing all round, the dredges they had going, the wharves that had been built and then compare this activity and development work with what the Conservatives had done when they had the chance. (Applause.) Mr. Oliver then went into the history of the question of Oriental immigration. During the first 26 years of confederation the Conservatives put on a head tax of $50. The Lib-

WOMAN'S BACKACHE

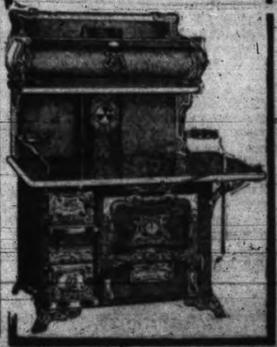

The back is the main spring of woman's organism. It quickly calls attention to trouble by aching. It tells, with other symptoms, such as nervousness, headache, pains in the loins, weight in the lower part of the body, that a woman's feminine organism needs immediate attention. In such cases the one sure remedy which speedily removes the cause, and restores the feminine organism to a healthy, normal condition is LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND. Mrs. J. A. Laliberte, of 84 Artilerie Street, Quebec, writes to Mrs. Pinkham: "For six years I have been doctoring for female weakness, heart and nervous liver and kidney trouble, but in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I can safely say I have found a cure. I was continually bothered with the most distressing backache, nervousness, and bearing down pains, and I kept growing more and more nervous. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound relieved me of all these distressing symptoms and made me a well woman. I would advise all suffering women, young or old, to use Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."

Among the Churches

Church of England.
The Rev. R. Connell, who has been acting rector of St. Saviour's church, Victoria, B.C., for the past eight months, leaves to-night by the steamer Governor for Gilroy, California. Mr. and Mrs. Connell made many friends during their stay in Victoria, and they will be followed by the good wishes of the congregation.

The annual harvest home services in connection with St. Barnabas church are fixed for Thursday, October 8th, and the following Sunday, October 11th. There will be a specially interesting musical programme. The rector, Rev. E. G. Miller, has been welcomed home by members of his congregation and has resumed his work in the church. His report of the great congress in London was much appreciated by those who heard him last Sunday.

In St. John's church to-morrow special harvest home services will be held.

REV. JAMES ALLEN, M. A., General Secretary Home Department of Laymen's Missionary Movement, One of Local Speakers.

An offering is asked for the purpose of meeting the heavy burden of taxation laid upon the church. The rector hopes to have a thanksgiving offering that will completely meet this demand, and thus relieve the church for a further effort in this direction.

Reformed Episcopal.

Church of Our Lord.—The congregation are anticipating a rich treat at the morning service when the sermon will be preached by the Rev. H. L. Stephens, of Toronto, a member of the Christian Alliance. Mr. Stephens is a man who is doing a noble work in the city of Toronto, and is a preacher of more than ordinary ability. In the evening the rector, Rev. T. W. Gladstone, will preach upon the "Bread of the Widows' Son at Nain." The sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be dispensed at the morning service.

First Church.—Last Sunday a most successful children's day was held in the First church. The day was most profitable and enjoyable both to congregation and children. In the morning the pastor, Rev. Dr. Campbell, gave an address to the parents and Sunday school workers from the words of David, "Come, ye children, hearken unto me and I will teach you the fear of the Lord." This should be the motto of all parents and Sunday school workers, and by placing this as the ideal before all those who had to do with children, better work could be done for God and for the children themselves. In the afternoon the scholars assembled in the auditorium of the church, and the programme prescribed by the general assembly for children's day was followed. The address was given by the Rev. Dr. Spencer of Emmanuel Baptist church, and was a very practical address to the children upon the theme, "What we are and what we have." Many pointed truths were driven home by taking illustrations and the speaker held the attention of the children throughout. The contribution to the children's day fund of the general assembly was a very liberal one.

To-morrow evening the Rev. R. P. MacKay, general secretary for foreign

AN EVENING WITH THE MASTERS.

How few of our men have had the opportunity to hear really good music. The great pianists visit only the largest cities, and then give perhaps half a dozen recitals each season. Yet many men would ask nothing better than to hear the best music in their own city.

"If I could only play." One does not need years of practice to become a master of the piano. If the love of music is there, the New Scale Williams Player Piano provides the means of enjoying everything in music.

A man, who knows nothing of the technique of piano playing, can reproduce the world's masterpieces of music with the New Scale Williams Player Piano. With one of these wonderful instruments in the home, a man may enjoy anything and everything that can be played on the piano.

missions of the Presbyterian church, will be the preacher, Dr. MacKay has recently returned from a tour of the missions of the Presbyterian church in India, China and other parts of the world and his information is therefore fresh and comes to him first hand. He is one of the strongest preachers in Canadian Presbyterianism, and is certainly the best informed on all missionary topics.

Last Monday evening there was a very interesting session of the First Presbyterian Club, when a paper was read by Mr. Jameson on John Knox and Scotch selections were sung by Mr. Fraser. The second part of the programme was Canadian in spirit. Mr. Perry sang "The Maple Leaf," the Rev. Dr. Campbell gave two readings illustrating past history and telling of future prospects of the country, and D. A. Fraser recited a much admired original poem. The meetings of the club are held every Monday in the school room of the First Presbyterian church, and the public are cordially invited to the sessions.

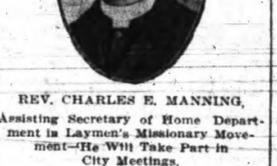

The Ladies' Aid of the church will hold its regular monthly meeting in the lecture room on Wednesday afternoon at 3 p. m.

St. Andrews.—The preachers for to-morrow are the Rev. R. P. MacKay, the eminent general secretary for foreign missions of the Presbyterian church; and the Rev. J. L. Stewart, Methodist missionary from China. The congregation are looking forward to a good day with these visiting preachers.

The meetings of the laymen's missionary conference are to be held in the school-room of St. Andrew's church, the trustees having kindly consented to the use of the building for this purpose.

Methodist.—The pastor and workers of the Metropolitan church are much gratified with the success attending the special services for young people last Sunday evening. The congregation taxed the capacity of the building and the large men's choir led the singing with a heartiness that was very enjoyable. The singing of the male quartette was greatly appreciated and the possibilities of the congregation, in the musical line were demonstrated in no uncertain way by that part of the service last Sunday evening. The sermon preached by the Rev. T. E. Holtung was exceedingly appropriate and touched the hearts and lives of many hearers.

Last Monday evening the members of the Epworth League held an enjoyable social at the Royal Cafe, through the kindness of Miss Elliott. The evening was spent in the usual social way and refreshments were kindly provided by the hostess.

To-morrow the annual Sunday school rally will be held. There will be a special musical programme led by the orchestra, and addresses will be delivered by Mr. N. Shakespeare and the pastor. The workers in the Sunday school are looking forward to a record attendance, and it is hoped that at least 600 will be present.

The services to-morrow will be of a special nature. In the morning the Rev. W. R. Young, D.D., of Montreal, will preach and in the evening the Rev. Dr. Ryckman. These men are well known orators of the Methodist church in Canada and are on the coast in connection with the meetings of the general board of missions of the Methodist church.

Centennial.—To-morrow is the anniversary of the church and there will be special services both morning and evening. The Rev. R. J. Elliott of Waterloo, Ont., will preach in the morning and the Rev. W. R. Young, D.D., of St. James' church, Montreal, in the evening. These preachers are both of them pupil orators who have occupied some of the largest churches in the East, and they will delight the congregation and inspire to better work for God and humanity. The musical part of the services will be of an interesting nature, and the anniversary of 1906 will be full of interest and enthusiasm. On Tuesday evening the annual congregational supper and concert will be held. The ladies will serve supper in the school room from 6 to 8 p. m., and the concert will be given in the church proper. A very good programme of music has been prepared, and it is expected that the evening will be a very pleasant and profitable one. The collections of Sunday will be devoted to the trust funds of the church, and the management are asking for the usual liberal offering.

On Monday evening the Young People's Society will meet in their monthly consecration meeting. A special address will be delivered by the pastor, Rev. S. J. Thompson. It is hoped that every member of the society will be present.

Victoria West.—Last Sunday was rally day for the Sunday school, and there was a record attendance of scholars and visitors. A special programme was rendered and proved to be of real interest. An address was given by the pastor, Rev. A. E. Roberts. The congregation are looking forward to the visit of the Rev. Dr. Ryckman, a veteran of the Methodist church in the East, and the Rev. H. H. Irish, B. A., a volunteer for the foreign mission field who is on his way to China to take up his work in the province of Su-Chuen. These men will occupy the pulpit to-morrow. Dr. Ryckman in the morning, and Mr. Irish in the evening.

James Bay.—The Rev. G. R. B. Kinney, B.A., pastor, returned this week from an extended trip through the mountains of British Columbia. Mr. Kinney was on an exploration trip through the mountains of British Columbia, and enjoyed a very happy trip.

In connection with the various Methodist churches in the city the James Bay pulpit will be supplied with visiting preachers from the general board of missions. The Rev. H. H. Irish, B. A., will preach in the morning and the Rev. R. J. Elliott in the evening.

First Church.—The congregation of First church will in future worship in the Victoria hall on Blanchard street. It has been found difficult to get the A. O. U. W. hall ready for the services after its continual use during the week. The building committee are looking into the question of the new building and hope soon to make a report that will enable the congregation of First church to have a splendid church building which will be a credit to the city and give ample accommodation for the many interests which are gathering around the growing church.

To-morrow the preachers for the day will be the Rev. J. L. Stewart of China, in the morning, and S. J. Moore of Toronto, in the evening. These brethren are here in connection with the meetings of the laymen's missionary movement, and will render splendid service to the church.

The Men's Baracca class meets in No. 1 hall, A. O. U. W. building, at 2.30 p. m., led by the pastor, Rev. C. Burnett. This (Saturday) afternoon the football club recently organized, is playing their first match in the Victoria intermediate league. They play the Esquimalt football team.

Preparations are being made for the Harrow anniversary to be held on October 15th. It is expected that there will be bumper meetings and much enthusiasm. A copy of the complete programme will be given later.

Tabernacle Baptist.—The congregation expect to enter their new edifice at the corner of Cook and Fort streets to-morrow and hold the services there. The building is not quite complete, and the dedicatory services will not be held for a few weeks. At to-morrow's services the congregation will be pleased to hear Mr. Jas. Ryrie, the noted layman from Toronto. Mr. Ryrie is here in connection with the laymen's movement meetings and will be heard during the week at these conferences.

Emmanuel church, corner of Cook street and Chatham street.—It will be a special day to-morrow, S. J. Moore, a large manufacturer, president of the Metropolitan bank Toronto, and an enthusiastic Christian, will preach at 11 a. m. and Rev. A. E. Armstrong, of Toronto, secretary of the laymen's missionary movement, will preach at 7.30 p. m. The public of this district are earnestly invited to hear these gentlemen and to do all they can to influence a large attendance. They are both men of eminent gifts.

On Monday night the first of a series of five lectures will be given by Miss Ada Murcutt. The subject of the subject will be "How the Other Half Lives," illustrated by fifty beautifully hand-painted lantern slides, and followed by others each night at 8 o'clock. Men and women cordially invited.

The Baptist Young People's Union of Emmanuel church elected officers on Thursday evening last. The officers are: S. Woodward, president; R. Sanderson, vice-president; Percy Huggert, secretary; Miss May Wood, treasurer; Miss Irene Pickard, organist. The Monday night meetings promise to be of interest and value to this district.

Congregational.—The Young People's Society are making an effort to insure the success of the recital to be given by the Misses Adams on October 13th. The Adams sisters are known as the Lilliputian Sisters, being of dwarf build. They are splendid singers and reciters, and their programme is said to be second to none on the entertainment platform. The evening will be a unique one if for no other reason than the fact of the difference in size of the two sisters. The Misses Adams do not have to depend upon this difference for their success, as their programmes are well worthy the attention of every one. It is hoped that the building will be crowded to hear these talented performers.

Delegates from the laymen's missionary convention will preach to-morrow both morning and evening.

W. C. T. U.

The W. C. T. U. mission on Yates street, will hold a pound party on October 16th. The many friends of this very worthy institution are reminded of the date and asked to keep it in reserve so that they may attend and bring their useful offerings with them.

The ladies who had charge of the tent at the exhibition are much gratified by the result of their efforts. The tent was well patronized by the visitors and the refreshment tent netted a handsome sum to be devoted to the local option campaign now beginning in the province.

The visit of Miss Murcutt to the city is being looked forward to with real interest. The programme of Miss Murcutt's meetings to be held in Emmanuel Baptist church next week leaves nothing to be desired, and it is hoped that the building will be taxed to its utmost to hear this famous lecturer.

Salvation Army.

All are invited to attend the evangelistic service which is to be held in the S. A. hall, 1412 Broad street, to-morrow at 7.30 p. m. Staff-Captain Hayes will speak, subject, "The Man With Two Destinies." Captain Knudson will sing "Drifting Away From God." Others will speak briefly during the service. The songsters will also take part. The public is asked not to forget the time and place. Everyone come.

CITY LAYMAN'S MISSIONARY MOVEMENT

Local Churchworkers Will Conduct an Aggressive Campaign During Coming Month in Connection With Important Departments of This Work.

The Laymen's Missionary Movement is to open a campaign in this city in the St. Andrew's Presbyterian church to-morrow and will continue for the next three days of the week. This evening at 8 p. m. a preparatory prayer-meeting will be held in the Y. M. C. A. rooms.

The local executive committee is composed as follows: Capt. D. McIntosh, chairman; A. J. Bruce, secretary; A. T. Frampton, A. H. Harman, R. S. Day, W. B. Fisher, R. W. Coleman, A. C. McNeil, Dr. Russell, E. Baynes Reed, David Spender, J. T. Devalle, J. Gilbert, J. McLorie, D. Fraser, R. C. Horn, H. S. Crotty, H. O. Litchfield.

The finance committee is as follows: R. B. McMicking, Presbyterian; A. C. Mayor, Congregational; H. S. Crotty, Church of England; A. T. Frampton, Reformed Episcopal; J. T. Devalle, Methodist; A. C. McNeil, Baptist; A. J. Bruce, Y. M. C. A.

The music committee is composed of R. B. McMicking and A. J. Bruce.

The Laymen's Missionary Movement has been introduced into several cities and towns in the older parts of Canada. Wherever it has entered it has been the means of greatly intensifying missionary zeal. Men have had their spiritual life quickened, their conception of the mission of the church to the world enlarged, and their interest in the expansion of Christ's kingdom made more practical. In these places better means of educating the people on home and foreign missions are employed; and scriptural, business-like and systematic methods of giving are being introduced. Already congregations are doubling or tripling their missionary contributions—in many cases even more generous offerings are being made. Though the largest results of this movement are spiritual, yet it is interesting to note the greatly increased standards of missionary giving for 1908 set by some of the cities touched by this movement.

To Cure That Pain in the Back

Be warned in time. Don't neglect that biting backache—those sudden twinges of pain in the back—dizzy spells—and trouble with the bladder and urine. They all tell their own story—of weak, irritated or diseased kidneys. Surely you know the danger of neglecting the kidneys. Diabetes, Dropsy and Bright's Disease usually follow neglected kidney trouble. That pain in the back proves that your kidneys are affected. Now—right now—is the time to take Gin Pills.

34 John St., Hamilton, May 4th. Being a sufferer from my kidneys and subject to fits of dizziness in my head for some time, I did not seem able to get anything that would do me any good. I saw in the paper something relating to Gin Pills and I got a sample box and they benefited me so much that I bought some and am taking them regularly. They have worked wonders in my case and I can conscientiously recommend them to any sufferer from kidney trouble. Yours truly, Sgd. GEO. A. BROWN.

Remember there is no trick in buying Gin Pills. If, after taking one box you do not feel that you have gotten your money's worth in better health, or if after taking 6 boxes you are not completely cured, take the empty boxes to your dealer and he will promptly refund the money. No affidavit is required. We will rely on your honesty and take your word for it.

Now—for your own peace and comfort, won't you give Gin Pills a chance to cure you? Sold by all druggists and medicine dealers at 50c. a box—5 for $2.50 or sent direct on receipt of price.

We give you a chance to test Gin Pills at our expense. Sample Box sent, free of charge, if you mention this paper.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

A NATION AT ITS BEST.

The International Sunday School Lesson for October 4th is: "David Brings the Ark to Jerusalem." II. Samuel, 6.

By William T. Ellis.

A curious phase of the jubilation in Turkey over the granting of constitutional government has been the emphasis that has been laid upon the religious side of this momentous trade. Moslems and Christians have suddenly become as brothers. When Ottomans of all names got together in New York a few weeks ago for a celebration, the point most emphasized was religious liberality. It is more than a coincidence that religion seems inseparably bound up with the crisis of every nation's history. In the commonplace days of humdrum prosperity religion may be subordinated; but in the epochal periods which shape the future it is to the fore. Many of the greatest wars recorded have had their genesis in religious questions.

The enlightened judgment of the world-to-day opposes any alliance of church and state; but it discerns with equal clearness the need for the church in the state. Religion is vital to progress. The real estate man may not be theologian, or even historian; but when they advertise, as they commonly do, the presence of churches in the neighborhood they are booming, they show knowledge of human nature and of those conditions which universally make for prosperity.

As the old kingdom of Israel, united under King David, entered upon its most glorious era, it was first of all concerned about the conservation of its religion. This period showed Israel at its best. First outstanding, of course, was the man David. You cannot have even religious revival without a man behind it. The Almighty Himself seems unable to fulfill His purposes without mortal help. David, the man, is the explanation of the greatness of Israel at this time. He had captured the ancient stronghold of Jerusalem, and meant to make the city his capital. He could not help imposing his own personality upon the place; for a man is bigger than a city. The world is filled with places of pilgrimage that are notable simply because of their association with some one personally. To the end of time, Jerusalem will be remembered and honored as "The City of David."

Piety Plus, Common Sense.

It was a wise political move for David to make Jerusalem his capital. The city was just within the borders of Judea, but also close to the borders of the northern kingdom. As a commentator has said, "This would conciliate all parties and be a bond of union since it was the centre of the district within which had been wrought out the life and history of the twelve tribes. A circle of thirty miles, radiating with Jerusalem for a centre, embraced almost every name and almost every achievement in Hebrew history." "As a military post it was unrivaled. It was the Gibraltar of Palestine." In his choice of a city, as in his general procedure upon assuming the throne, David displayed strategy of the first order. He is a splendid model for the modern statesman. He did not needlessly antagonize anybody, and he went out of his way to make a good impression upon the people; for their favor was his most direct path to the achievement of his patriotic purposes. A certain conspicuous character in the politics of the United States, a man of unquestioned virtue and ability, is widely opposed because he cannot "get along" with people. He maintains the role of a Crusoe marooned on an island of virtue in an ocean of politics.

iniquity. Not so David. He was careful to cultivate many counsellors, and he sought advice widely before proceeding to any important action. So "whatsoever the king did pleased all the people."

Welcomed a Nation Into Oneness.

It is easier to build a capital and to create an army, as David did, than to unify a people. He had been chosen ruler of many divergent interests. His problem was to present some dominant and unifying ideal that would weld them into oneness. Naturally, this ideal was religious. The strongest sentiment of mankind concerns its religion. Myriads of men who scarcely ever give a thought to the church or to their faith, would instantly face the fathers in a danger. So David summoned Israel to rally round the ark. He designed to make Jerusalem, as it quickly became, the religious capital of the chosen people. No other city has so deeply won the spiritual allegiance of so widely separated a race, or held it for so long, as the City of David, to which, to this day, the eyes of Jews in exile everywhere turn longingly.

A Vital Religious Appeal Always Awakens Response.

In our own day, the men who strike boldly into the realm of spiritualities get a hearing. Certain charlatans and mountebanks, who perceive this truth to which some recent preachers of the gospel are blind, are a large following by their insistence upon a life of the spirit. Wherever men hear the note of fresh, actual religious truth sounded, thither will they rally, even as Israel resorted to the Ark.

A Historic Chest.

Israel's history was wrapped up in that small oblong box called the Ark of the Covenant. What the Declaration of Independence is to the United States, the Ark was to Israel—their most precious national possession. Therein were the tablets of stone containing the Decalogue which had been borne down from Mount Sinai by Moses. Therein was the pot of manna. Therein was Aaron's rod that budded. Therein was the Book of Law. There was the Mercy Seat, overshadowed by the wings of the Cherubim. This was the Ark that had gone before the marching children of Israel and opened the waters of Jordan. It was the Ark that had put to flight the enemies of the kingdom. As the visible emblem of the presence and leadership and covenant of Jehovah, the Ark held a unique place in the life of the chosen people. All that the recovery of the Holy Sepulchre meant to the Crusaders, and more, the removal of the Ark to Jerusalem meant to the children of Israel. For seventy years it had been lying in partial neglect. Part of the time it had been in the hands of the Philistines. Now it was in the house of Ahinabab, eleven miles southwest of Jerusalem. Its absence from the tabernacle at Shiloh, and its neglected condition, indicate the low state of religion in the kingdom. After its installation at the centre of worship by David the Ark became a revered and honored object. When the city was destroyed by Nebuchadnezzar, the Ark disappeared. There are many persons to-day, as there have been through all the centuries since, who cherish the inextinguishable hope that, like many lesser treasures of antiquity, the Ark will one day be found and restored to the people of the covenant-keeping God.

Death for the Profane.

There are right and wrong ways of doing everything, from driving a tack to ruling a nation. In the first removal of the Ark, David showed inconsiderateness and haste and a desire to hold the centre of the procession himself. He neglected the divine ritual and the directions for the treatment of the Ark. There was plenty of pomp, but a lack of reverence, and adherence to the law in the removal of the sacred object. It was treated like a mere chest of gold, or any other common treasure. When the oxen which drew it stumbled, Uzzah put forth his hand to steady the burden—which never should have been carried, except on the shoulders of Levites.

For this act of indiscretion he was smitten dead.

By this terrible retribution David and the nation were sternly reminded of the awfulness of God. Even the king in his exaltation seems to have forgotten the greatness and glory and majesty of Jehovah, of whom it is written, "Holy and awesome is His Name." The progressive Christians who are turning their churches into concert halls, and who are "popularizing" Christianity by cheapening it, need to study this tragic episode of Uzzah. There are some persons who pervert the sacredness of the national flag more clearly than they do the sacredness of the things of God. Significantly the record runs: "And David was afraid of Jehovah that day"; a wholesome experience for the popular and successful king.

Correcting a King's Blunder.

Terrified and mystified by the death of Uzzah, the removal of the Ark was halted, and it remained with the house of Obadedom for three months. David's blessing of that household, David seeing this, would not be without the favor that followed the presence of the Ark of the Covenant. So he organized a great religious festival, this time taking heed to obey the divine directions. Properly formally was observed throughout. David divided the honors and responsibilities with other men. The priests were invested with the dignity which belonged to them. A spectacular procession and ceremony, with music and dancing, was arranged, the Ark being conducted with all the pomp and reverence that its sacredness merited.

I have seen in Japan religious festivals when the Shinto ark from the temple was carried in great processions, with music and shouting and dancing and crowds of people lining the highways. Similar, but on a vastly greater scale, was this procession to Jerusalem. It was the greatest day in David's life, and perhaps the greatest day in old Israel's history; for the truth runs forever, that a nation is at its best when God and religion are given their right place in the right way.

YOUNG PEOPLE'S SOCIETIES

PROMISING AND PAYING.

These Comments on the Uniform Prayer Meeting Topic of the Young People's Societies, Christian Endeavor, Baptist Young People's Union, Epworth League, etc., for October 4th, "Topic," "Songs of the Heart," X. Our Vows and Their Fulfillment." P. 116. By William T. Ellis. Whatever is right to do, is right to promise to do. Small purposes beget small lives. Most persons need to aspire and to resolve more greatly. The familiar exhortation of Holmes is still a needed appeal: "Build these more stately mansions, O my soul. As the swift seasons roll; Leave thy low-voiced past; Let each new temple, nobler than the last, Shut thee from heaven with a dome more vast, Till thou at length art free, Leav'st un-resting sea. When mortal's plans encompass God, then life becomes divine. A sublime rule of conduct is to live one's life with respect to God; to strive to do, in the familiar words of the Christian Endeavor pledge, "Whatever He would like to have me do." Vows made to Jehovah lift the character to a higher plane; he who holds converse with the Almighty must conduct himself as befits his station. . . .

Most of us need an obligation to keep us up to the level of our best. One man says that he can save money only by contracting for life insurance, building association shares, etc., the dues of which must be met. Another says that the only way he can accomplish the full measure of work of which he is capable is by definitely promising to do it at a stated time; thus he calls his honor to be the spur to his industry. Likewise, few of us would do the measure of Christian service that we should, except we enter into covenant with the Lord so to do. A vow is an aid to efficiency. . . .

Only the person who reverences his own honor should enter into any covenant, either with man or with God. . . .

In religion, not to do as thou sayest is to unsay thy religion in thy deeds, and to undo thyself by doing.—R. Venning. . . .

"Man is one world, and hath another to attend him," declares the poet. In that world is only a servant, the real life is lived. That it is which feels and loves and hopes and fears and suffers and enjoys. In that realm God walks, "Christ in the spirit of mortals hold converse with the Spirit of God." The dignity and honor of this privilege may not be lightly esteemed. It is a great thing to be permitted to enter into covenant relations with Jehovah; to have familiar intercourse with the King of Kings is a prize beyond any that makes earthly courtiers covetous. The simple truth that it is possible for man to make vows unto God is in itself a wonderful theme for contemplation. . . .

God helps those who want to help Him. He loves to answer such prayers as that of Miss Havergat: . . .

"Lord, speak to me, that I may speak In living echoes of Thy tone; As Thou hast sought, so let me seek Thine erring children, lost and lone. . . .

"O lead me, Lord, that I may lead The wandering and the wavering feet; O feed me, Lord, that I may feed Thy hungering ones—with manna . . .

"Oh strengthen me, that while I stand Firm on the Rock and strong in Thee, I may stretch out a loving hand To wrestlers with the troubled sea. . . .

"O teach me, Lord, that I may teach The precious things Thou dost impart; And wing my words, that they may reach The hidden depths of many a heart. . . .

High pledges precede noble endeavors. A pledge is not a weight about one's neck, but a ladder beneath one's feet. A vow is often a debt. It was when he contemplated the goodness of God to him, asking himself: . . .

"What shall I render unto Jehovah, For all His benefits to me?" that the Psalmist cried, gratefully and reverently: . . .

"I will pay my vows unto Jehovah." A fair promise of loyalty and service is only an honorable return for benefits conferred. Because God has, according to His covenant, done great things for us, we should be willing to pledge our best to Him. . . .

O Jesus, I have promised To serve Thee to the end; Be Thou for ever near me; My Master and my Friend; I shall not fear the battle If Thou art by my side. . . .

O Jesus, Thou hast promised To all who follow Thee That where Thou art in glory There shall Thy servant be; And Jesus, I have promised To serve Thee to the end; O give me grace to follow My Master and my Friend. . . .

—Rev. John E. Bode. SEVEN SENTENCE SERMONS. Make yourself necessary to somebody.—Emerson. . . .

A man has just as much religion as he can command in the time of trouble.—Andrew Fuller. . . .

Prayer is the breath of God in man. Returning whence it came.—Anon. . . .

The prepared sphere awaits the prepared worker.—F. B. Meyer. . . .

So long as one does not despair, so long as one does not look upon life bitterly things work out fairly well in the end.—George Moore. . . .

The Christian pupil might be properly called the upper house in the parliament of world politics.—Assistant Attorney-General Trickett. However it be, it seems to me, "The only noble to be good; Kind hearts are more than coronets. And simple faith than Norman blood."—Tennyson. . . .

There is a certain young man of parts who was the despair of his family and friends. He seemed incapable of manuring to manhood's nobleness. Carefree, irresponsible, idle, and foolish, he gave every promise of a wrecked life. Then he committed what some esteemed his crowning folly, by getting married. It seemed almost a crime for such a heedless, shiftless, pleasure-loving youth to assume the cares of a home. The unexpected happened, though, in conformity with one of life's deep laws. The marriage vows brought the young man face to face with his manhood obligations. To the amazement and delight of all, he fronted his own duties and shouldered his own burdens. A year of life under wedded vows has "made a man of him." His natural abilities have been given opportunity to develop. Responsibility has assailed and strengthened him; and the young man who was his family's care and problem has now become its pride. From the beginning of time this has been the effect of solemn vows, honestly assumed.

Westminster Abbey was recently the scene of a notable meeting, reported in the interior of the representatives of forty-three national religious societies, who organized a Sunday observance alliance. The Archbishop of Canterbury presided, and all the Free Churches were represented, the Roman Catholic and Labor Party co-operating. An independent Greek church has been organized in the Canadian Northwest among 150,000 Ruthenian settlers, according to the Congregationalists. The church has now more than forty buildings, with twenty-two ordained ministers, organized on Presbyterian lines. Formerly many of these people belonged to the churches of the Greek rite which acknowledge the Roman authority. The average depth of the English Channel is 135 feet.

DR. FLETCHER GIVES ADDRESS

ON NATURE STUDY TO LOCAL TEACHERS

Inspiring Talk Much Appreciated by Institute Yesterday.

The members of the city Teachers' Institute turned out in full force to hear Dr. Fletcher, Dominion Ornithologist yesterday afternoon and they were not disappointed. The address given by the professor was not a formal one nor was it particularly logical but it was one of those happy talks for which the doctor is noted. The subject was Nature Study, one of the difficult subjects from the teacher's point of view. Its value and the method of study in a very general way were dealt with. It was, however, Dr. Fletcher's manner, his easy flow of words, his quaint expressions, and above all, his optimistic altruistic tone which captured the city teachers and made them resolve on and all that they would henceforth be students of nature even if they had never been so before.

"Twenty-five years ago I helped in the starting of the Natural History Society in this city, which has resulted in the establishment of the present provincial museum," said Dr. Fletcher in opening. "This institution should be visited by everyone, student and teacher.

"Teachers often object to teaching Nature study, and that is quite natural," continued the doctor. "For one reason it is quite impossible to teach Nature study. It is possible to teach natural history, but that is quite another thing. Natural history is often a dry subject when studied as a dry science, but when it is brought near home and studied in connection with the habits of the creatures and their relation to man, then it becomes intensely interesting." This the speaker illustrated by reference to a stuffed specimen of an eagle which he found in the room. While natural history often dealt with rare specimens, nature study dealt with the common things around them. The common things, he went on to explain, were usually the most important, and therefore nature study was most important. The scope of the nature studies which he found for wherever he turned he would find objects for study.

Continuing the doctor said: "It is not necessary in studying nature to keep in mind all the facts in connection therewith. If you do you become a naturalist. The training is in getting the information. In the mental attitude which is necessary to assume, as it has to do with everyday subjects, the pupil often thinks nature study very plain. Text books are necessary here as in other branches of study but the main thing is to teach the boys and girls to see and think. Not only to see with their eyes, for if only that is done it is of little value. There is the deeper sight which it is necessary to cultivate.

"The mental attitude of the nature student is one of inquiry. No matter how common the thing is there is always much to learn about it. Even the commonest things are only half known. It is impossible then to teach nature study. All the teacher can do is to be a student with his pupils. It is not necessary to study animals, or birds, or any other particular branch. One may be taken just as well as the other.

"Nature study gives power. It also tends to accuracy. Nature study wakes people up. Many of the boys and girls who are most interested are the worst in school. Bad boys usually have foolish fathers. The eyes and mind are so active and wide awake that they cannot sit still in school. They are always on the move and become very troublesome to the teachers. Nature study often proves very useful to these boys. It is impossible to set examinations on this subject for the reason that the only examiner must be the student himself. The study, however often proves to be the bond of sympathy between the teacher and pupil. When this sympathy is established the teacher can do something which can be done in no other way.

"I cannot imagine anyone living in this beautiful province or yours without being a nature student. When he looks at those beautiful Olympic mountains, at the glories of sea and stream and of the forests, for which British Columbia is so noted above other parts of the Dominion, one cannot conceive that there should be any who are not students of nature, and if there are how much they must miss! The world is a beautiful thing and it is the greatest thing in life to get into sympathy with it."

Turning then to the subject of birds the speaker classified them as useful, injurious and neutral. He stigmatized bird-killers as ignorant murderers. Insects were classified in a somewhat similar way, but the difficulty, he said, was that people did not know when, or not they were beneficial or injur-

CITY COUNCIL MET AS A COMMITTEE

Widening of Portion of Government Street Was Discussed.

The streets, bridges and sewers committee met last night for the first time in two weeks, last week's meeting having been put off on account of the fair.

Among other small works decided upon was that of the immediate repairing of the older pavements so as to have them in good shape before wet weather sets in.

A number of owners on Government street were present to discuss the widening of that street between Toronto and Niagara streets. Negotiations have been going on for a considerable time, the owners being anxious to have the widening done before the permanent works which the city is going to undertake on that part of the street are commenced.

The owners suggested some time ago that those on both sides of the street should give seven feet of their property between Niagara and Simcoe streets and ten feet between Simcoe and Toronto streets, estimated to be worth about $6,000, and that the city should bear the cost of the improvements, which will cost about $7,000. Last night the suggestion was made by members of the council that if the city would expropriate the land at a value to be settled, the owners should be willing to have the work done as one of local improvement, two-thirds of the cost borne by the proprietors and one-third by the city. This proposition will be considered by the owners and they will advise the city of their decision.

lous. Many of the birds that were killed as injurious were very beneficial and it was the duty of the nature student to find out these things. They should not listen to ordinary report which was usually misleading. As an illustration of his meaning he told of the beneficial work done by insects in turning fallen trees back again to soil. When, however, the tree was required by man the same insect that was beneficial was declared injurious.

"In the Northwest," said the entomologist, "there are caterpillars, commonly known as cut worms. Some of these feed on wheat or oats and are said to be injurious. American species of the same caterpillar feeds on morning but lamb's quarter, a bad weed in that neighborhood, and so, of course, these insects are beneficial. All depends upon the point of view.

"The house fly is probably one of the most injurious insects in the world. In the great Spanish-American war there were 454 men killed from bullet wounds. There were, however, 5,200 who died of typhoid fever carried to them by houseflies. In General Oka's army there were only 40 deaths in nine months on account of the splendid sanitary arrangements. In the United States civil war 8,000 persons were said to have been killed but 126,000 died from disease caused largely by houseflies. In the Crimean war 4,602 were killed but 37,000 died from disease. Right here in Victoria you have one of the most celebrated men in the world, Dr. Ronald Ross, who has spent years in the study of the malarial fever and allied diseases. He was associated in this with Dr. Ronald Ross.

"It is an undisputed fact that disease is carried by mosquitoes. Yellow fever, one of the most virulent diseases, is carried in no other way. At one time the malarial fever was impossible to work on the Campaign in Italy without being overcome with fever. Then it was made compulsory to use mosquito netting and to wear gloves, and the disease has almost disappeared. Sierra Leone, which at one time was known as the white man's graveyard, has by draining and thus destroying the breeding places of the mosquitoes, been converted into a health resort. These things are cited to show what great issues depend on little knowledge. When it is considered that one-tenth of all the agricultural products in the world are destroyed by insects and another tenth by fungus growths, making in all one-fifth of loss, it is seen how important this is. Had Leonidas Hubbard only known the common facts about the country through which he was traveling he would not have starved to death. Covering the whole of that country is a layer of Iceland moss which makes an excellent food and will sustain life for a long time."

The speaker then dwelt upon the ruthless destruction of game and other birds as well as of the big game of the country, inveighing against the senseless brute who was always wanting to go out and kill something. Nature study, said he, teaches not to destroy indiscriminately; it teaches in precision, system, care, and makes study charming and delightful. He advised all as Canadians to take up some branch of natural history and to study with their pupils.

At the conclusion of the address a cordial vote of thanks was extended to Dr. Fletcher and also to Algernon R. Dobson and Mrs. Staneland, who had contributed musical selections.

Dr. Fletcher left for Nanaimo this morning for the purpose of inspecting the orchards of the Indian farmers in that neighborhood.

NATURE GIVES REMEDY FOR CONSTIPATION

There never was a disease but what nature provided a cure. Constipation is one of the most prevalent disorders of the human system. Nearly every body suffers more or less from this complaint.

A simple and effective cure for constipation is two Figlets before breakfast and after bedtime each day for a few days only. Figlets are Nature's remedy for constipation. Sold at all good drug stores, 25 in aluminum boxes for 25 cents.

Liberal voters, who have changed their residence from one part of the city to another during the past three years will confer a favor on the campaign committee and assist in the work if they will call at the rooms on Government street and give the secretary their new address.

Half the people in the world die before the age of sixteen. Only one in a hundred lives to sixty-five.
