A SELECT LIST
OF
Works or Editions
BY
WILLIAM CAREW HAZLITT
OF THE INNER TEMPLE
CHRONOLOGICALLY ARRANGED
1860—1889.

1. History of the Venetian Republic; Its Rise, its Greatness, and its Civilization. With Maps and Illustrations. 4 vols. 8vo. Smith, Elder, & Co. 1860.
A new edition, entirely recast, with important additions, in 3 vols. crown 8vo, is in readiness for the press.
2. Old English Jest-Books, 1525-1639. Edited with Introductions and Notes. Facsimiles. 3 vols. 12mo. 1864.
3. Remains of the Early Popular Poetry of England. With Introductions and Notes. 4 vols. 12mo. Woodcuts. 1864-66.
4. Handbook to the Early Popular, Poetical, and Dramatic Literature of Great Britain. Demy 8vo. 1867. Pp. 714 in two columns.
5. Bibliographical Collections and Notes. 1867-76. Medium 8vo. 1876.

This volume comprises a full description of about 6000 Early English books from the books themselves. It is a sequel and companion to No. 4. See also Nos. 6-9 infra.

"There never was a more accurate and painstaking bibliographer than Mr. Hazlitt, nor is there any bibliography of English literature which can compete with his works. I have found from personal experience that they are absolutely necessary to the English collector."—BERNARD QUARITCH.

These and the three following items are the result of more than thirty years' continuous labour, during which the author doubtless has had submitted to his notice more English book-rarities than any other bibliophile in Europe. There are several thousand of articles in this work, which may be regarded as an appendix to the bibliographical account of Early English Literature.

6. Bibliographical Collections and Notes. SECOND SERIES. 1876-82. Medium 8vo. 1882.

Uniform with First Series. About 10,000 titles on the same principle as before.

"I very respectfully, yet with cordial pleasure, submit to such sections of the educated and reading English community in the United Queendom, the States of America, and elsewhere, as feel an interest in that early literature, which ought to be dear to the entire English-speaking race, a Third and Final Series of my Bibliographical Collections and Notes, forming (with my Handbook), the fourth volume of my achievement in this province of research.

"The objection to the multiplication of alphabets by the sectional treatment, which I have adopted since the appearance of the Handbook in 1867, is a very valid objection indeed from the point of view of the consulter. But as this has been, and remains, a labour of love, and as the cost of production was a grave problem, I simply had no alternative; and to the suggestion which I offered in a prior Introduction, that, after all, these serial volumes might be regarded in the same light as so many catalogues of public or private collections, I have now the gratifying announcement to add, that a complete Index to the Handbook and the three Series of Collections and Notes is in preparation by Mr. Gray of Cambridge, who has most generously volunteered to do the work, and will form a separate volume, to be published by Mr. Quaritch, when it is completed.

"I have incorporated (generally with additions and corrections) in my volumes by degrees nearly the whole of the Bibliotheca Anglo-Poetica, Corser's Collectanea (excepting, of course, the lengthy and elaborate extracts and annotations), the British Museum Catalogue of Early English Books to 1640, the Typographical Antiquities of Ames, Herbert, and Dibdin, the Chatsworth, Huth, Ashburnham, and other private cabinets, and the various publications of Haslewood, Park, Utterston, and Collier.

"Since the Second Series came from the press in 1882, several large private libraries have been dispersed under the hammer, and all the articles previously overlooked by me have been duly taken up into my pages. I may enumerate, for example's sake, the celebrated collections of the Earl of Jersey, the Earl of Gosford, Mr. James Crossley of Manchester, Mr. Payne Collier, the Duke of Marlborough, Mr. Hartley, Mr. N. P. Simes of Horsham, Sir Richard Colt Hoare, Mr. Michael Woodhull, Sir Thomas Phillipps of Middle-Hill, the Rev. J. Fuller Russell, Mr. Henry Pyne, and Professor Solly."—Preface to Second Series.

"Mr. W. C. Hazlitt's second series of Bibliographical Collections and Notes (Quaritch) is the result of many years' searches among rare books, tracts, ballads, and broadsides by a man whose speciality is bibliography, and who has thus produced a volume of high value. If any one will read through the fifty-four closely-printed columns relating to Charles I., or the ten and a half columns given to 'London' from 1541 to 1794, and recollect that these are only a supplement to twelve columns in Hazlitt's Handbook and five and a half in his first Collections, he will get an idea of the work involved in this book. Other like entries are 'James I.', 'Ireland,' 'France,' 'England,' 'Elizabeth,' 'Scotland' (which has twenty-one and a half columns), and so on. As to the curiosity and rarity of the works that Mr. Hazlitt has catalogued, any one who has been for even twenty or thirty years among old books will acknowledge that the strangers to him are far more numerous than the acquaintances and friends. This second series of Collections will add to Mr. Hazlitt's well-earned reputation as a bibliographer, and should be in every real library through the English-speaking world. The only thing we desiderate in it is more of his welcome marks and names, B.M., Britwell, Lambeth, &c., to show where all the books approaching rarity are. The service that these have done in Mr. Hazlitt's former books to editors for the Early-English Text, New Shakespeare, Spenser, Hunterian, and other societies, has been so great that we hope he will always say where he has seen the rare books that he makes entries of."—Academy, August 26, 1882.

7. Bibliographical Collections and Notes. A THIRD AND FINAL SERIES. 1886. 8vo.

Uniform with the First and Second Series. This volume contains upwards of 3000 Articles.

"Mr. Hazlitt has done much work during the last thirty years, and some of it has been bitterly attacked; but we venture to think that the debt of gratitude which all students of Old English literature owe to him for his bibliographical collections must remain in the most enduring opinion of his labours. We would bid all readers who care for the books of the past read the practical, manly, and comprehensive introduction prefixed to this volume. It forms one of the best pleas for the study of English literature which we know; and coming close upon the important speech of Mr. John Morley, it takes up a phase of the subject not yet adequately recognised. The academic side has been put by Mr. Morley, the practical by Mr. Hazlitt: 'The England in which we dwell is one with the England which lies behind us. So far as the period which I comprehend goes, it is one country and one race; and I do not think that we should precipitately and unkindly spurn the literature which our foregoers left to us and to our descendants for ever, because it may at first sight strike us as irrelevant to our present wants and feelings. . . . The considerer of modern opinions and customs is too little addicted to retrospection. He seems to be too shy of profiting on the one hand by the counsels or suggestions, on the other by the mistakes of the men who have crossed the unpassable line, who have dealt with the topics and problems with which we have to deal.' These are stirring and sensible words, and we should much like to see them more widely distributed than the limited issue of this volume will allow.

"It is impossible, in a short notice such as we can only give, to do justice to the contents of this work. The titles of every book or tract are given in full, having been transcribed by Mr. Hazlitt himself; and there is often appended to the entry interesting information about the condition, history, and, above all things, the present locale of the book. Such work as this requires labour, and skill, and knowledge of no ordinary kind. Now that Mr. Bradshaw is dead, there are few indeed who possess these qualities, and apparently only one who puts them at the service of his fellows. It has been often said of late that the bibliographer and indexer are more needed than the book-writer; and if this is true, as we are inclined to think it, Mr. Hazlitt's work must, in relation to the age in which it is produced, be awarded a very high place. It enables us to ascertain what has been done in English literature, and therefore ought to enable us to do our work so much the better. Almost all departments of study are now occupied as much with a reconsideration of old facts as with the discovery of new, and for this purpose such books as Mr. Hazlitt's are indispensable. We are happy to say that a competent Cambridge student has undertaken to compile an index to the four volumes of bibliography issued by Mr. Hazlitt, and that this will be published by Mr. Quaritch as soon as it is ready."—The Antiquary, April 1887.

8. Bibliographical Collections and Notes. Supplements to the Third and Final Series. Medium 8vo. 1889. Pp. 181 + 8.

9. A General Index to Hazlitt's Bibliographical Works (1867-89). By G. J. GRAY. Medium 8vo. 1889. About 400 pp.

This invaluable volume will assist the student and collector in using the several volumes of which the Series now consists, and will enable him to ascertain at a glance whether and where a book, tract, or broadside is to be found. It is a labour which Mr. Gray has undertaken con amore, and reflects the highest honour on his industry, discernment, and literary zeal.

* * * All these books are now on sale by MR. QUARITCH.

10. Memoirs of William Hazlitt. With Portions of his Correspondence. Portraits after miniatures by John Hazlitt. 2 vols. 8vo. 1867.

During the last twenty years the author has been indefatigable in collecting additional information for the Life of Hazlitt, 1867, in correcting errors, and in securing all the unpublished letters which have come into the market, some of great interest, with a view to a new and improved edition.

11. Inedited Tracts. Illustrating the Manners, Opinions, and Occupations of Englishmen during the 16th and 17th Centuries. 1586-1618. With an Introduction and Notes. Facsimiles. 4to. 1868.

12. The Works of Charles Lamb. Now first collected, and entirely rearranged. With Notes. 4 vols. 8vo. E. Mozon & Co. 1868-69.
13. Letters of Charles Lamb. With some Account of the Writer, his Friends and Correspondents, and Explanatory Notes. By the late Sir Thomas Noon Talfourd, D.C.L., one of his Executors. An entirely new edition, carefully revised and greatly enlarged by W. Carew Hazlitt. 2 vols. 1886. Post 8vo.
- 13a. Mary and Charles Lamb. New Facts and Inedited Remains. 8vo. Woodcuts and Facsimiles. 1874.
The groundwork of this volume was an Essay by the writer in Macmillan's Magazine.
14. English Proverbs and Proverbial Phrases. Arranged alphabetically and annotated. Medium 8vo. 1869. Second Edition, corrected and greatly enlarged, crown 8vo. 1882.
15. Narrative of the Journey of an Irish Gentleman through England in 1751. From a MS. With Notes. 8vo. 1869.
16. The English Drama and Stage, under the Tudor and Stuart Princes. 1547-1664. With an Introduction and Notes. 4to. 1869.
A series of Reprinted Documents and Treatises.
17. Popular Antiquities of Great Britain. I. The Calendar. II. Customs and Ceremonies. III. Superstitions. 3 vols. Medium 8vo. 1870.
Brand's Popular Antiquities, by Ellis, 1813, taken to pieces, recast, and enormously augmented.
18. Inedited Poetical Miscellanies. 1584-1700. Thick 8vo. With Notes and Facsimiles. 50 copies privately printed. 1870.
19. Warton's History of English Poetry. An entirely new edition, with Notes by Sir F. Madden, T. Wright, F. J. Furnivall, R. Morris, and others, and by the Editor. 4 vols. Medium 8vo. 1871.
20. The Feudal Period. Illustrated by a Series of Tales (from Le Grand). 12mo. 1874.
21. Prefaces, Dedications, and Epistles. Prefixed to Early English Books. 1540-1701. 8vo. 1874.
50 copies privately printed.
22. Blount's Jocular Tenures. Tenures of Land and Customs of Manors. Originally published by Thomas Blount of the Inner Temple in 1679. An entirely new and greatly enlarged edition by W. Carew Hazlitt, of that ilk. Medium 8vo. 1874.
23. Dodsley's Select Collection of Old Plays. A new edition, greatly enlarged, corrected throughout, and entirely rearranged. With a Glossary by Dr. Richard Morris. 15 vols. 8vo. 1874-76.
24. Fairy Tales, Legends, and Romances. Illustrating Shakespear and other Early English Writers. 12mo. 1875.
25. Shakespear's Library: A Collection of the Novels, Plays, and other Material supposed to have been used by Shakespear. An entirely new edition. 6 vols. 12mo. 1875.
26. Fugitive Tracts (written in verse) which illustrate the Condition of Religious and Political Feeling in England, and the State of Society there, during two centuries. 1493-1700. 2 vols. 4to. 50 copies privately printed. 1875.

SELECTIONS FROM PRESS OPINIONS:—

"A perusal of Mr. W. Carew Hazlitt's book is calculated to make both parents and boys thankful that they live in an age of comparative enlightenment. The work does not profess to be an exhaustive one, the object being 'to trace the sources and rise of our educational system, and to present a general view of the principles on which the groundwork of this system was laid.' In pursuing this plan the writer has succeeded in producing a book, which, though dealing with what some readers may consider rather a dry subject, is full of curious and interesting information, judiciously arranged and pleasantly conveyed."—Morning Post.

"This book contains a great deal of very curious information. After an introductory chapter on the system of teaching in the good old times when holidays were unknown and stick ointment laid the basis of all culture, an account is given of the various vocabularies, glossaries, and colloquies in use in mediæval times. Some interesting and amusing details are also given of sixteenth century school-books, and Mr. Hazlitt sketches the scholastic work done by Erasmus, Colet, Linaere, Lily, Ruddiman, and others, and gives us an insight into the methods followed in such schools as St. Paul's and the Merchant Taylors' Institution. . . . One of the most interesting chapters in the volume is that on female education."—Glasgow Herald.

" . . . Mr. Hazlitt knows his subject, and he also knows how to write. No small praise."—St. Stephen's Review.

" . . . Some of Mr. Hazlitt's pages are occupied with the humorous side of school life; and as he tells a story well, these portions of the book come upon one with singular pleasure."—Antiquary.

"Mr. Hazlitt has evidently a favourite speciality in school-books. He has collected them, we should judge, with a good deal of zeal, and has acquired a really considerable amount of knowledge about them, &c."—Spectator.

FROM THE PREPACE:—

"My main object has been to trace the sources and rise of our educational system, and to present a general view of the principles on which the groundwork of this system was laid. So far as I am capable of judging, the narrative will be found to embody a good deal that is new and a good deal that ought to be interesting.

"The bias of the volume is literary, not bibliographical; but its production has involved a very considerable amount of research, not only among books which proved serviceable, but among those which yielded me no contribution to my object.

"When we regard a History of English Literature, and the works which either constitute its principal strength and glory, or even such as, rather from the circumstances connected with them than their own intrinsic importance, lend to it a certain incidental or special value, it becomes natural to inquire by what process or course of training the men and women whose names compose the roll of fame became, or were aided at least in becoming, what they were and remain."

PREFATORY WORDS.

THE spontaneous proposal of Mr. Gray of Cambridge to prepare, as a labour of love, a General Index to my Bibliographical Works, is answerable for the deviation which the present Supplements to my Third and Final Series of Collections and Notes mark from the settled purpose which I had formed of printing no more titles on a sectional plan.

The dispersion of several important libraries during the last two or three seasons had involved, almost as a necessity, an accumulation at Barnes, where I live, of much new matter of interest, as I make it my unchangeable practice to let no book, if I can help it, pass through the auction-room unexamined and uncatalogued; and in addition, the rarities in the Lists published by the Trade, both in London and the provinces, may be said almost as a constant rule to fall under my notice.

In this manner it is easy to perceive how, in the course of about two years of unusual activity among the auctioneers, some 2000 fresh items might accrue; and seeing the excessively arduous process of bringing them together, and the risk of destruction by fire, I deemed it, on the whole, advisable to go to press once more, especially as by such a course the matter constituting this Appendix would be incorporated with Mr. Gray's Index.

The principal collections which have come into the market since I issued my last volume are those of Mr. R. S. Turner, Mr. Gibson-Craig, Baron Seillières, the Earl of Aylesford, and the Earl of Hardwicke.

The opportunity afforded to me by these and other sales has fructified in a large accession of entries in the Early English, the Anglo-Gallic, and the Scottish Series, as well as to the stores of works on Great Britain and Ireland of an historical, devotional, or literary character printed abroad.

The authorities at the British Museum have continued to shew me every possible courtesy in examining books in that institution; but the curators of our university and college libraries are, I am bound to say, less attentive to the wants of workers like myself, and their organisation is, as a rule, of the most rudimentary character. Even at the Bodleian, since the regretted death of Dr. Coxe,* I find a singular and lamentable backwardness on the part of the keeper to assist a gratuitous and national undertaking like the present, although my labours ought to be viewed with exceptional indulgence, as conducive to the facilitation of research; and I cannot avoid feeling that I should have experienced greater consideration from Sir Thomas Bodley than it pleased Mr. Nicholson on a particular occasion to pay me, where the application for help was of a perfectly legitimate and very modest nature. The Rev. F. Madan is personally most obliging, where I have occasionally applied for some piece of information. Non cuivis homini contingit adire Oxoniam. I can scarcely be expected to travel to Oxford for the verification of a few words in a title, or for the collation of a tract. After all, I hope that Mr. Nicholson, as he grows older, will grow wiser. At present, he must be regarded as a novice.

* My respected acquaintance, the late Dr. Coxe, spared no pains to satisfy my occasional inquiries; but I believe that he once good-humouredly wondered if Mr. Hazlitt thought that he was there specially to act as his assistant.

Nor must I omit the obligation under which I am always lying to my good friends the London booksellers—Mr. Quaritch himself, ever most liberal in the loan of any treasures which he acquires, Messrs. Jarvis & Son, Mr. Henry Gray, Mr. Leighton of Brewer Street, and many others. Messrs. Sotheby, Wilkinson, & Hodge also continue to give me every facility for inspecting the countless rarities of which I, and through me the public, owe our common knowledge to their courtesy.

I have already dwelled on the considerable aid which I have all along derived from those gentlemen whose specialism it is to form collections on particular lines; and the notable and increasing library of my friend Mr. Henry Stopes, of Upper Norwood, in the department of books illustrative of wines and other liquors in all their stages of development and application, has proved of very essential service to me. Within the limits which Mr. Stopes has thought fit to lay down for himself, some of the most instructive literature occurs—contributions of former times to topics of social interest and to many branches of economics. We see on Mr. Stopes's shelves numerous publications, not necessarily of a costly character, which shed light on the ideas of our ancestors relative to such peculiarly human subjects as agriculture, gardening, cookery, the cultivation of the vine and hop, and a variety of suggestions, counsels, and lessons which might often be of value to ourselves.

In the later instalments of my work there have been very large additions to the division dealing with law and jurisprudence, in which I feel a rather warm interest. Our statute-book has been simplified and improved, and the members of the legal profession are no doubt, as a class, men of purer and higher character than in the old time. Yet there is an atmosphere of reverential awe enveloping passed generations of lawyers of exalted rank and repute, like Littleton, Coke, Bacon, and others, which has disappeared for ever; they lived before social barriers had been broken down, and the fallacious and destructive religion of social equality and manhood-right had obtained even a hearing, much less that firm grip on our system which is going to be the gravest problem of Great Britain's future.

With reference to entries in my pages from time to time relating to the literature of the Society of Friends, I wish it to be understood that I limit myself to such as have some interest independent of the Society, which has, as is well known, its own excellent bibliographer.

It is to be expected that, after some thirty years' researches into this subject, there should be a perceptible shrinkage in the occurrence of books and pamphlets, still deficient in my volumes. There are one or two private libraries within my actual knowledge which are very likely to contain works or editions of works not yet submitted to my inspection, and stray relics are always cropping out, often from the most improbable quarters. Nor can I be otherwise than well aware that in the British Museum itself the means exist of supplying an infinite number of lacunæ, if my leisure had permitted an exhaustive transcript of works deposited in that institution. My readers will agree with me that this is an inevitable incidence; and a further labour in which I find myself perpetually engaged is the rewriting of the faulty articles in my Handbook (1867), borrowed from sources of which I did not then, or till long after, fully appreciate the untrustworthiness. Among the matter which I have thus been diligently superseding, it is my duty to mention the musical bibliography of the late Dr. Rimbault, the miscellaneous Early English titles furnished by the late Mr. Collier, and the whole of the information which I was unwise enough to transfer to my own pages from the Manual of Lowndes.

Nevertheless I have, after careful consideration, thought it best to amalgamate with my alphabet such portions of the editions of Ames's Typographical Antiquities, by Herbert and Dibdin, as I had not already obtained in the ordinary way, and as seemed to me sufficiently authentic and satisfactory to be of value to my consulters. The number of entries owing their presence in these pages to such a resolution, in addition to a few from Maskell's Centuries, 1843, will be found to be extremely moderate, since so much of the earlier bibliographical work was executed on a principle of which I cannot approve.

The items thus derived at second-hand are carefully distinguished, those from Maskell by a †; those from Herbert by a *; those from Dibdin by a . I was very unwilling to borrow from the last-named authority; but he registers the particulars of certain articles then in the possession of Heber, and of which I have so far failed to discover the present whereabouts.

One moral deducible from this extensive, yet still imperfect, accumulation of Early English literature is the vanity of human ambition in aspiring to collect, even regardless of outlay, the printed remains, if merely within certain lines, or on one or two specific topics; and again, we are able to see from this Bibliographical Series how far short of completeness such libraries as those of Lord Oxford and Mr. Heber fell, after a lifetime and a large fortune expended in each case in the acquisition of everything which was procurable by public or private purchase. It has been only by a process of combination that I have achieved the progress which is here observable; it has only been by calling into requisition the resources of the British Museum, all the provincial libraries, including those of Oxford and Cambridge, all private gatherings, and all the contents of the auctions during upwards of a quarter of a century.

The range of subjects continues to retain the same width as in my former alphabets; and I need scarcely observe that I take up articles into my pages quite irrespectively of their commercial value. A volume worth sixpence may easily be of far greater intrinsic importance than one which realises under the hammer a thousand sixpences. The professional collector will, I apprehend, be surprised, should my books fall by accident in his way, at the space accorded in them to publications of bygone days, which have become commercially waste paper. To suit his requirements, pieces of old literature must cut a respectable figure in the auction-room, and be conspicuous features in all prices-current. His shelves are filled with convertible chattels. He principally affects authors in the best morocco; for they are the safest goods to back.

[It had been anticipated by MR. GRAY that his Index would be finished in October last, and my original SUPPLEMENT was accordingly printed in time to fall into it. But MR. GRAY found, in the first place, that the task which he had imposed on himself was a far heavier one than he calculated, and secondly, he became, I am sorry to say, indisposed. The consequence has been that a very serious delay has occurred in the completion of the Index, and concurrently the residues of the large libraries of MR. GIBSON-CRAIG and MR. TURNER, as well as an important portion of that of the EARL OF HOPETOUN, have passed under the hammer. So far as the majority of our old families is concerned, they have ceased to take any pride in the possession of fine or rare books, as well as of any other negotiable effects. They leave that pursuit to the more cultivated among our own bourgeoisie and to the richer citizens of the United States, whose competition is already exercising a prodigious influence on the prices of certain classes of books, partly, no doubt, from the practice of employing commission agents, who come into conflict with the ordinary trade. But it struck me as a symptom that the ancient sentiment was not quite extinct here when Sir Charles Isham of Lamport refused £500 for his copy of a little volume containing "Venus and Adonis" and the "Passionate Pilgrim." How many noble lords of a certain type would have jumped at this offer! "Noblesse oblige" is a phrase which begins to bear a new sense.

I seemed scarcely to have any alternative but to annex from the above-mentioned and other incidental sources all that I had not so far properly and fully described. There was not very much in the concluding fortnight of TURNER'S sale; the third and last part of CRAIG yielded a considerable crop of publications, previously unregistered by me, on TRADE, as well as of books written and printed by Scotchmen abroad, illustrating the intimate relationship which formerly subsisted between Scotland and the Continent.

The arduous and irksome nature of a bibliographer's labours must render it plain that the liberality of Messrs. JARVIS & SON in facilitating my examination of all their old pamphlets, chiefly belonging to the period from the Civil War to the end of the reign of William III., was a service of a highly appreciable character. The process has enabled me to fill up many a gap in the grand edifice which it has occupied me so long to build up, and of which the magnitude is perhaps rendered less conspicuous by the sectional treatment adopted, not from choice, but from necessity.

I regret the dual alphabet, which has been under these unforeseen circumstances created; but at the same time every item will be incorporated with the General Index to the entire Corpus of my Bibliographical labours.

BIBLE.

Sacræ Bibliæ Tomvs Primvs [et Secundus.] London, T. Berthelet, 1535. 4°.

The Vulgate version. See Reliquiæ Hearnianæ, 2nd ed., i. 18. Hearn quotes, under date of July 30, 1705, a letter from Wanley, keeper of the Harleian Library, to Dr. Charlett, in which he describes a copy, though imperfectly, and in a note Dr. Bliss, editor of the Reliquiæ, completes the account from a copy, wanting title and preface, in the Bodleian.

From these two sources we glean the following particulars:—

Sacræ Bibliæ Tomvs Primvs, in Quo Continentvr, Quinqve Libri Moysi, Libri Josuæ, et Judicum, Liber Psalmorum, Proverbia Salomonis, Liber Sapientiæ, et Novum Testamentum Iesv Christi . . . [Col.] Londini, Excudebat Thomas Bertheletvs Regivs Impressor. Anno MDXXXV. Mense Ivl. 4°. Title and preface (wanting in copy referred to): Tabula Historiarum, 8 leaves: the work, 304 leaves, the last blank. The New Testament commences on XXiii. col. b. This is Bliss's mode of conveying bibliographical information.

Wanley states that in the preface, which he supposes to have been written by the King himself, the rest of the Scriptures are promised. The announced and implied second volume probably included the Apocrypha, or it would have been more slender than the first, and, which is more singular, the New Testament would, if it had appeared, have been interposed.

Herbert, p. 425, gives the title with some literal variations. He cites the Bodleian copy, but does not say that it was titleless.

IMPROPRIATION.

Impropration Purchased by the Commissioners sitting at Goldsmiths-Hall, For Compositions with Delinquents. By Ordinance of both Houses of Parliament. With a List of the Names of such Persons from whom they have purchased any Revenue for Augmentation of the Maintenance of Preaching Ministers. In several Parishes within the Kingdom. Published for the satisfaction of those whom it doth concern. London: Printed by Richard Cotes. 1648. 4°, A—D 2 in fours.

The List is very curious from the familiar names in it.

INFORMATIO PUERORUM.

Libellus qui Informatio Puerorū appellatur . . . [Col.] Impresse in ciuitate Londōn. Per Richardum Pynson. 4°, 17 leaves.

Described by Dibdin from a titleless copy belonging to Heber. Dibdin supposed it to be an edition of the Vocabula of Stanbridge; but from the extracts which he furnishes it seems to correspond with the Informatio Puerorum, of which it is perhaps another and unknown impression.

INFORMATION.

True Information of the Beginning and Cause of all our troubles: how they have been hatched, and how prevented. Wherein we may see the manifold contrivances and attempts of forraigne and home-bred Enemies, against the Parliament, Kingdom, and purity of Religion. And how all their Endeavours whether by Force or fraud, never prospered. A Work worthy to be kept in Record, and to bee communicated to Posterity. The people that will not understand shall fall. London, Printed in the Yeare 1648. 4°, A—D in fours: E, 2 leaves: F, 4. With a series of copperplate engravings in the text.

This was probably published by T. Jenner, or at all events it is the prototype of the illustrated tracts with his name as the stationer.

INNOCENT VIII.

*Our holy fader the Pope Innocent the viij. To the perpetual memory of this hereafter to be had / by his propre mocion without procurement of our souerayn lord the Kyng. . . . [A declaration as to the marriage of Henry VII. and Elizabeth of York. 1487? London, W. Caxton?] A broadside.

Folio, A—G, 2 leaves each, A 1 blank, A 2 with title, G 1 not marked, G 2 blank. In verse. B. M. and H. Stopes, Esq.

This appears to be the earliest printed account dealing with what is now one of our most important seaports and commercial headquarters. In a MS. narrative (printed in Halliwell's Palatine Anthology, 1850), showing the state of the place in 1704, we get an extraordinary idea of its growth in a couple of years. In the Stopes copy of the pamphlet before me, which is uncut, and finer than the only other I have seen, that in the British Museum, Liverpool is described as already threatening to eclipse Bristol.

It concludes with "The Publican his Dream," which, like the remainder, is in verse.

LANGTON, CHRISTOPHER.

LAWES, HENRY AND WILLIAM.

Choice Psalms . . . 1648.

At a sale at Puttick's in March 1887 a copy of this book was sold, divided into four volumes, and having in each an inscription as follows : "Solus Deus ptector Meus W. Fiat Volvntas tua Lavs deo. Ex dono Jhs Linn : " The last sentence is in a different hand, probably that of the giver, but the rest appears to be the autograph of Mildmay Fane, Earl of Westmoreland. On the flyleaf of the Bassus part occurs : "This Muscical Set of Bookes composed by Mr Lawes are humbly and freely presented to the Right Honourable Mildmay Earle of Westmorland, as a Small addition to his new erected Library and as a Monument of my affection to the Muses from His most humble and most affectionate Servant Iohn Lynn."

Lord Westmoreland's inscription is partly in capitals, and the words LAVS deo doubtless allude to the composer.

In this copy a portrait of the King, instead of being worked, as in the Huth one, on the back of the title to Cantus Secundus, faces it as in the other portions.

MANUALE.

Manuale ad vsū ecclesie Sarisburiensis. Jam recens impressum: ab erratis et mendis emunctissime vindicatum pro Jacobo Cousin. Anno. M.ccccc.xxxviij. 4°. With the music.

The copy examined ended imperfectly on y 7.

Manuale ad vsum per celebris ecclesie Sarisburiensis. Londini noviter Impressum Anno Domini. M.D.LIII. [Col.] Manuale ad secundum [sic] vsum ecclesie Sarisburiensis, tam in cantu q̄z in littera diligentissime recognitum: & nusq̄z ante hac eliminatus impressum. In quo ea que seruat ecclesiasticus ritus ordine congruo connectuntur. 4°, a—p in eights: q, 10 leaves. Finely printed in red and black, long lines, with the music.

Manuale ad vsum per celebris ecclesie Sarisburiensis: Londini recenter impressum necnon multis mendis tersum atq̄ emendatum. Anno Domini . 1555. 4°, a—p in eights: q, 10.

This appears to be mainly the same impression as that of 1554. Both are, I apprehend, merely the Rouen edition of 1554 with a London title-page.

MANWOOD, JOHN.

A Treatise of the Lawes of the Forest: . . . London, Printed for the Societie of Stationers. Anno Dom. 1615. Cum Priuilegio. 4°. ¶ and *, 8 leaves each: A—Kk 4 in eights, Kk 4 blank.

This edition, published after Manwood's death, contains additional pieces found among his MSS., as is stated in a short but interesting preface.

MARBECKE, JOHN.

The lyues of holy Sainctes, Prophetes, Patriarches, and others, contayned in holye Scripture, so farre forth as expresse mention of them is deluyered vnto vs in Gods worde, with the interpretacion of their names: Collected and gathered . . . M. to the Reader, 5 leaves: B—X in eights: Y, 4. Black letter.

MARDELEY, JOHN, of the Tower Mint.

A Ruful complaynt of the publyke weale to Englande. [Col.] Imprinted at London by Thomas Raynald. [About 1547.] 4°, 4 leaves. In 4-line stanzas.

At the foot of the sixth page occur the initials J. M., probably John Mardeley. The last stanza is—

“God saue Edward our kyng
And hys counsellers so worthye and send theym grace to help thys thinge
For the weale of the communalteye.”

The Errata occur at the bottom of the seventh page. The tract is remarkable for the paucity of stops.

MARGARET, ST.

The [Life of Saint Margaret. This title is in a scroll over a woodcut occupying the rest of the page. At the end occurs:] Thus endeth the lyfe of saynt Margarete Emprynted at London in the pultry at the stockes at the longe shoppe by saynt myldredes church, By Iohn Mychell. 4°, A—C in fours.

Sotheby's, Dec. 23, 1887, in Lot 3302, much mutilated. The woodcut on title is repeated on the back; it represents the Saint attended by the Lion.

MARGUERITE D'ANGOULÈME, Queen of Navarre.

*A Godly Medytacyon of the christen sowle, concerninge a love towards God and hys Christe, compyled in frenche by Ladye Margaretequene of Nauerre, aptelie translated into English by the ryght vertuose lady Elyzabeth daughter to our late souerayne Kyng Henry the viii. Whereby it will appear of what great Authority this Court hath been in all Times. London, Printed for Robert Crofts at the Crown in Chancery-lane. 1663. 12^o. A, 8 leaves, including frontispiece (A Perpetual Almanac with the Crown and C. R. 2^d beneath) and an Explanation of it: A, repeated, 12 leaves : B, 12 : no C : D, 4. B. M.

This is an interesting and most rare little volume, and appears to be the only separate account of this ancient tribunal, which had its analogues in other countries, and over which the celebrated Sir Thomas Littleton presided in the time of Henry V. I can trace only one other copy besides that in the British Museum.

†MARTIAL, JOHN, LL.B. and Student in Divinity.

Impresse London without Tempell barre in Saynt Clement parysshe be me Julyan Notary dwellynge at the sygne of the thre kynges. [1504.] 4°, 307 leaves.

On the back of the title is an Almanac for 19 years from 1503. In Herbert's time a copy on vellum was in the possession of the Rev. Mr. Masters. Dibdin notices a similar one in the Towneley Collection; and he also considers the hook as evidently of foreign execution.

*[Hore beatissimæ virginis Mariæ in verum usum Sarum. At the end occurs:] Hore . . . quā plurimis Bibliæ historiis decoratæ . . . Impresse quidem Parisiis in officina industrii calcographi Nicolai Preuost Impensis vero fidelissimi Mercatoris Francisci Byrkman civis Coloniensis & apud eundem venundantur Londonii apud Cæmeterium Sancti Pauli. Anno Dñi. 1527. die 18 Julij. 4° or small folio, 222 leaves.

Herbert describes this from Dr. Lort's copy, which wanted the title.

*Hore beate marie virginis ad vsum insignis ac preclare ecclesie Sarū cū figuris passionis mysteriū representātibus recenter additis. [This title is in red and black over the printer's device, name, and a copy of verses. On the back of the title is the Table to find Easter. At the end occurs:] Impresse Parisius per Johānē bignon pro honesto viro Richardo fakes Lōdon librario / & ibidē cōmorāte cymiterio sēti Pauli sub signo A. B. C. Agenda form, L in twelves.

The Table is from 1521 to 1538.

Hore beate virginis Marie (ad vsum sacrosante ecclesie Sarum) iam sequuntur. [This title occurs at the head of the lunar calculations for 1533, the copy employed having lost the title. PATRICK, ST.

Saint Patricks Purgatory. [This is a headline on B 1 of a volume, of which I have not seen any other copy hitherto. London, about 1635.] 4^o, [A]—S in fours. B. M.

The authorship is doubtful; but it seems likely that it was written by the William Stuart who subscribes a letter to Viscount Ely, Chancellor of Ireland, and the other Lords Justices, stating that he had received a letter from Lord Balfour, directed to himself and others, ordering them to seize the Cave to His Majesty's use. The Order follows, dated Sept. 13, 1632, and is succeeded by a letter from the Bishop of Clogher to Archbishop Usher, describing the place. His lordship speaks of the Cave as "a poore beggerly hole, made with some stones, layd together with mens hands without any great Art."

London, Printed for Christopher Hussey, at the Flower-de-Luce in Little-Britain. 1698. 4°, A—D in fours. Dedicated to Sir William Husler, M.P.

AINSWORTH, W.

Triplex Memoriale : the substance of three Commemoration Sermons, preached at Halifax in remembrance of Mr. Nathaniel Waterhouse, with an extract out of his last Will and Testament. York, . . . 1650. 8°.

This book occurred in the Crossley sale, No. 13; but I failed to take a note of it, and have not been able to trace it since. Crossley's had on the title the autograph of Thomas Lister. The present makeshift account is from the auctioneer's catalogue. Unknown to Mr. Davies. Mr. Crossley says, "It is by far the rarest book connected with Halifax."

ALCHEMY.

A New Light of Alchymie : Taken out of the fontaine of Nature, and Munnall Experience. ANTIDOTE.

The Cabinet of Mirth : Or The Antidote against Melancholy. Compounded of Merry Tales, Jests, and Bulls. London, Printed for John Playford at his Shop in the Temple, 1674. 8°, A—G 3 in eights, sign. B omitted. With the same engraving on title as in the editions of 1661, 1669, and 1682.

The Preface is subscribed Tho. Jordan in this issue. In the others the work is anonymous; yet it was published by the same person as the editions of 1669 and 1682, so that it can scarcely have been one of Jordan's hugging productions; nor, if the book had been his, was he the man to have withheld his name when it appeared before.

ARCANA.

Curiosa Arcana : Being Curious Secrets, Artificial and Natural. In Three Parts. . . . From the last Edition in French; which contains near as much more as any other former Edition. To which is added, A Supplement of Divers Curiosities by the Translator. The Whole Illustrated with Copper Plates, adapted to the several Subjects. London: Printed for T. N.

and Sold at the Ring in Little-Britain ; where may be had Hartmans Preserver of Health. . . . Price Five Shillings. With plates at pp. 36, 77, 82, 85, 87, 107, 125, and 138. In two columns.

Probably translated and compiled by Thomas Tryon. A very curious volume, lent to me by Mr. John Addison, of Fulham. It embraces Cookery, Medicine, Gardening, Wines, the Mechanical Arts, &c.

ARMIN, ROBERT.

Foole Vpon Foole, or Six Sortes of Sottes, shewing their liues, humours and behanours, with their want of wit in their shew of wisdom. Not so strange as true. Written by one seeming to haue his mothers witte, when some say he is filld with his fathers fopperie, and hopes he liues not without companie. Clonnicco del Curtanio Snuffe. London Printed for William Ferbrand, dwelling neere Guildhall gate ouer against the Maidenhead. 1600. 4°.

See Halliwell-Phillipps' Outlines of the Life of Shakespeare, 6th ed., i. 295-6. My very old acquaintance the author, shortly before his death, afforded me an opportunity of examining for bibliographical purposes all his early English books at Brighton and Brompton; but I overlooked the present volume, taking it to be the impression of 1605.

It differs materially from the latter in the title itself, which describes Armin as taking the part of the clown at the Curtain in 1609, whereas the copy of 1605 mentions him as thus engaged at the Globe. A Calendar of Shakespearean Rarities, by J. O. H. Phillipps, 1887, No. 751.

Armin, doubtless, also wrote the Quips upon Questions, 1600, which I incautiously followed Mr. Collier in my Handbook, 1867, in giving to John Singer the actor.

don, about 1680.] 8°, A—T 3 in eights, T 3 occupied by a notice, besides four plates, consisting of figures of Charity and Time, a view of Highgate Ladies' School, and a frontispiece with butterflies and verses. B. M.

The text begins on p. 79, the matter preceding being a series of letters addressed by Blake to various ladies of rank, who were patronesses of the Ladies' School at Highgate, where he was housekeeper. There is no regular title. The present copy appears to have belonged to the author, who has filled up in MS. the names of the benefactresses to the institution, including the Dowager - Countess of Northumberland, Lady Falkland, Lady Clayton, &c.

The leaf at end begs donors to take a receipt on the back of the plate of Time or Charity, sealed with the seals of the Treasurer, Housekeeper, and Registrar; which may account for the scarcity of the volume in a complete state.

Cicero. Londini in Ædibus Thomæ Wight. Cum Priuilegio. Primo Ianuarij 1600. Folio. Title and Prefaces, 4 leaves: A—Uu in fours: Xx, 6 leaves. B. M.

This, though not so stated on the title-page, is the first of a series of volumes published between 1600 and 1615, containing the eleven parts of Coke's Reports. A complete set is in the Museum.

Collation: Le Second Part des Reportes, 1602, 6 prel. leaves and A—Aa 2 in fours: Le Tierce Part, 1602, 4 prel. leaves and B—Aa in fours: Le Quart Part, 1604, A, 4; B, 6: A (repeated)—Ii in fours: Quinta Part 1606 (described in C. & N. 3rd S. Suppl. p. 23): La Size Part, 1607, 11 prel. leaves: A—O in sixes: La Sept Part, 1608, a—c in sixes: f, 4: B—H in sixes: I, 3: La Hvict Part, 1611, ¶ and ¶¶ in sixes: A, 4 leaves: B—Gg in sixes: La Neuf^{me} Part, 1613, a—c in sixes and A—Aa in sixes: La Dix^{me} Part, 1618, a—c in sixes, d, 8, A—Z in sixes, Aa, 7: La Vnz^{me} Part, 1615, A, 8 leaves, B—S in sixes.

Though I have not yet seen it, the 10th Part was doubtless printed before 1618. The 11th was reprinted in 1619. The whole is a rich treasury of information on all questions connected with early jurisprudence, and is of considerable archæological value.

COOKE, JOHN, of Gray's Inn.

Vnum Necessarium: Or, The Poore Mans Case: Being An Expedient to make Provision for all poore People in the Kingdome. Humbly presented to the higher Powers: Begging some Angelicall Ordinance, for the speedy abating of the prises of Corne, without which, the ruine of many thousands (in humane judgment) is inevitable. In all humility propounding, that the readiest way is a suppression or regulation of Innes and Ale-houses, where half the Barley is wasted in excesse: Proving them by Law to be all in a Præmunire, and the grand concernment, that none which have been notoriously disaffected, and enemies to common honesty and civility, should sell any Wines, strong Ale, or Beere, but others to be licensed by a Committee in every County, upon recommendation of the Minister, and such of the Inhabitants in every Parish, where need requires, that have been faithful to the Publike. Wherein there is a Hue-and-Cry against Drunkards, as the most dangerous Antinomians: And against Ingrossers, to make a dearth, and cruell Misers, which are the Caterpillars and Bane of this Kingdome. By John Cooke, of Graies Inne, Barrester. Prov. 11, 26. He that withholdeth corne, . . . London, Printed for Matthew Walbancke at Grayes Inne Gate. 1648. 4°, A—K 2 in fours. H. Stopes, Esq.

Puttick's, Jan. 31, 1889, No. 664, misdated in catalogue 1656. I suspect this to be the identical copy which occurred at a previous auction, and was then erroneously described as of 1636. The third figure of the date is a broken or partly-erased letter; and the same is the case in that in the British Museum. Sanders was not a printer or publisher at Glasgow till after the Restoration; nor was there printing there before 1638.

The Works of . . . Sir David Lindsay . . . Edinburgh, Printed by the Heirs and Successors of Andrew Anderson, . . . 1709. 12°, black letter, A—L in twelves. B. M.

The Paradyse of daynty deuyses . . . 1576.

Sotheby's, Feb. 14, 1889, No. 659, a copy wanting A 4, and having other leavesslightly defective. It was misdescribed as "probably unique," although the owner might have known that it was not so, and the auctioneers ought certainly to have been aware that such a statement was erroneous and misleading, since at the Heber sale George Ellis's copy sold for £16. The latter is now, I believe, at Britwell, and I personally informed the artist who executed the facsimile of the missing leaf, that there was a duplicate of this volume in existence.

Herbert, in his edition of Ames, describes "the next earliest edition," that of 1577, from a copy then belonging to Sir John Hawkins; but that impression, so far as I know, is not in the British Museum, which only possesses the issue of 1596. This appears to be a second serious error in the catalogue. Nor do I see the validity of the farther assertion that "every possible search has been made for it in both public and private libraries without success." Nor do I believe that it was "bound by F. Bedford." I know that Bedford's private library was sold after his death in 1884. However, under the auspices of these romantic allurements, the item realised a large sum.

I challenge every alleged fact published respecting it:—1. That it was probably unique. 2. That every possible search had been made for a second copy. 3. That the missing leaf was supplied in facsimile from the next earliest edition in the British Museum. 4. That it was bound by F. Bedford.

incarnati. M.D.LIII. Cvm priuilegio . . . Folio. B. M.

The Table occupys four leaves; the remainder of the volume consists of the original editions from the press of Grafton bound up together.

A Table to all the Statutes made from the beginning of the raigne of Kyng Edward the .vi. vnto this present .xii. yeare of the reigne of oure moste gracious and soueraigne Ladye Queene Elizabeth. In ædibus Richardi Tottelli. Cum priuilegio. Folio. B. M.

The Table makes six leaves; the rest of the book is a collection of the separate impressions printed by Grafton, Cawood, &c., of the Statutes within the specified period.

There is no doubt that these year-books were kept in print, and that there was scarcely any of which there are not repeated issues. Large editions were also probably made, and copies are still sufficiently common.

Anno Primo Edwardi Sexti. Statvtes made in the Parlamente begon at Westminster the fowerthe daye of Nouember, in the firste yeare of the reigne of our moste dreade Soueraine lorde Edward the .vi.
